Something New! The Kindergarten Quilt

"Grown Up Folks" can recall to mind how, when they were "Little Folks," they used to beg their father or mother to read some more stories from "Mother Goose's" books. Such wonderful stories they are—"The House That Jack Built," "Little Bo-Peep," "Cock Robin" and so forth. But parents can't read Mother Goose Melodies all the time-other matters demand their attention. So a clever chap invented the Kindergarden Quilt-a picture book quilt having illustrations of the Mother Goose Melodies, also the alphabet and numerals woven in the cover—to take the place of the book and incidentally use as a crib cover.

These quilts come in pink, blue or white, have a fine finish, are 45x54 inches in size.

The Fishery Poachers.

Several encounters on Lake Erie between the Canadian revenue cruises and poaching American fishing tugs occurred last week. These have become so frequent as to cause a grave international question. It is not denied that the fishing tugs which were fired upor last week by the Vigilant had their nets spread in Canadian waters. The fishing companies in Buffalo and Erie, Pa. claim that their officers have instructions not to cross the boundary line, but there is more than a suspicion that the captains of these fishing tugs feel free to take any risks and are rewarded if they make a good haul, without being closely questioned. Apparently the danger of poaching adds zest to an employment which is naturally a venturesome one. Unfortunately there is no way of marking the international boundary in the great lakes, and if poachers choose to claim that they were within their rightful waters it is difficult to produce evidence to the contrary.

There should be some onus on the federal or state authorities across the line for the good behavior of American fishermen. The latter may play the pirate with impunity so long as they keep out of sight of the Canadian cruisers, and in the event of pursuit they are perfectly safe and may keep their booty if they can manage to cross the line into their own waters. The American authorities should lend effective aid in policing the lakes. It is suggested by a Washington newspaper that the Canadian fisheries should be open to all comers upon payment of a fee by outsiders. This would be unjust to the Canadian fishermen so long as the Canadian side is the better fishing ground. The remedy must begin with the assimilation of the fishery laws of the two countries. The American fishermen are tempted to poach in Canadian waters because their owr waters have become comparatively depleted by excessive fishing, in the absence of the wholesome restraints to which Canadian fishermen are subjected. Unless joint action is taken the fisheries of the great lakes will be annihilated. Conferences have been held between representatives of this Province and of the bordering states, but the American fishing companies have a powerful political pull and have so took from the church five tons of silver of Ontario, in his report a year ago, urged immediate intervention on the part of the two countries to prevent the extermination of an industry which might be established on a basis of permancy and increased productiveness.

Pocket Patriotism.

A healthy and wholesome chorus of dissent has followed Mr. Bickerdike's assertion that the British cattle em bargo is undermining Canadian loyalty Mr. Bickerdike, who is one of our most useful public men, could not have the aspersion he was casting character of the Canadian is accorded favors in the Brit Canadians had reason to blush, also, when some politicians and newspapers argued that Canada's services in the South African war established a claim to preferential treatment which should be pressed upon the mother country.

The British Empire will not be held together by this huckstering spirit Those who make such appeals are placing a low estimate on loyalty and im perial sentiment. The mass of the British people are opposed to any scheme of preferential trade, chiefly because it involves a tax on foodstuffs a matter upon which the working classes feel very strongly. They would be exceedingly bitter toward this country if we threatened them because they refused to tax their food for the selfish advantage of Canada, or if we sought to exact such a price for our assistance in the Boer war The cattle embargo is another question which the British people believe to be their own affair. The British authorities have lately given Canadian cattle a large proportion of all the hospital a clean bill of health; but they main- to be Canadian it begins to look as if tain the embargo against every coun- the Brooklyn institution believed in try, as a measure of protection for going the whole way. We have an open market in Great Britain for every product but live cattle, and we impose a tariff on nearly every product that Great Britain wishes to sell us. We are surely not so picayune and peevish as to menace the mother country with disloyalty because she chooses to consult what she believes to be her own interests. If Canada ever withdraws from the Empire, which is improbable, it will not be over a two-penny matter 91 in January next; Lord Brampton, 88 spring from motives which will be worthy of a self-respecting people.

the fame of Cornell on the Hill. That France who annually visit our shores lecture room. He may never succeed in risk of mal de mer is what deters the thousands who consider a visit

M. Cabon, in a recent speech, said he hoped the construction or a channel tunnel would be the outcome and de-velopment of the growing friendship of the two peoples. At the time when the construction of this project was last under serious consideration it was proved that so far from there being any serious engineering difficulties, the stratum of chalk which ran from one shore to the other was ideal for tunneling through; and the improvements in tunneling work since then-during the past quarter of a century-have proposition still easier. It was mainly on military grounds that the scheme was at that time rejected. Since then, however, the positive never cost half as much as and perfected that most of the objections put forward in 1882 may either be considered to exist no longer, or to have been modified to such an extent as to merit careful reconsideration.

Although the means for flooding or destroying the tunnel was then considered, they occupied only a secondary place, and it is in this direction that I consider that the conditions have been altered. The means at the disposal of engineers for both blowing up and flooding the tunnel now are such that they would be quite independent of the capture of the Dover end, and the strength of the fortifications there would be a matter of altogether secenemy the tunnel could be destroyed and the 30 miles of its extent flooded

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,-

The most interesting information presented to the Special Committee on telephone conditions was the evidence regarding the remarkable development which has taken place in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and some parts of Michigan. The distinctive feature of conditions in these States is that this extraordinary growth is not in the cities and towns but in the

The most striking feature is the fact disclosed in evidence. that the extension of the telephone to farmers in those States has been the work of the tarmers themselves, and that the development has been very largely in harmony with and encouraged by the affiliated companies of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, commonly called the American Bell Telephone Company.

It has been so often reiterated or implied that all, or most of the Farmers' lines in the United States were connected with the systems built up by Independent Companies that it has been generally accepted as a fact. Promoters of Independent companies have included these lines in their statistics for purposes of comparison, and have classed them as their own. As a matter of fact the Farmers' telephone lines are a distinct class of "Independents," very largely connected with the exchanges and long distance lines of the operating Bell Companies.

An official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, stated, under oath, that hundreds of thousands of farmers owning, operating and controlling their own lines, especially in the States above referred to, were connected with the Bell systems under mutually satisfactory working arrangements and that the number of such connections are

This official announced that it was the policy of the Bell Companies of the United States to encourage, and, when required, to aid, farmers in providing telephone service for themselves, and in every case where the lines and equipment were suitable, and were non-competitive, to give them connection with the Company's lines and exchanges at the bare cost of operating, and the regular charge for Long Distance tolls.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada has been experimenting for the past twenty years with the problem of rural telephony, and though conditions are different here from what they are in the densely populated States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, yet we have come practically to the same conclusion as our neighbors—that this is largely a work for the farmers themselves. We have already connected with nearly forty such systems, lending them aid the of experienced men, and in other ways assisting in the improvement and maintenance of their lines and instruments; and we have yet to hear the first complaint that the arrangement given them is not satisfactory.

We shall continue the consideration of this matter.

King Street Ratepayers Discuss Young Mother Worked in the Tenders for Asphalt Pavement.

King street, which seems to have been born with a legacy of paving troubles, has again come to the fore in the paving game. Some time ago the people petitionmore than $1 60 a yard. The city engineer found that the pavement at this price would not be of the standard thickness, so he prepared special specifications for the work. Now the bids have come in, and at a meeting of the council tonight it is probable the contract will be awarded. It is understood that only one firm has bid on the work, and this firm is the Barber Paving Company. It is further understood that the figures are $1 58 and $1 85 a yard.

For the former figure the Barbers guarantee to lay a pavement with a four-inch base, a one-inch binder, and 1½ inches of For $1 85 a yard they agree to lay a pavement with a five-inch base, a two-inch binder, and a two-inch surface of asphalt. Both pavements are guaranteed for ten years.

On Saturday night a number of King On Saturday night a number of King street ratepayers met in City Engineer Graydon's office and discussed the tenders. It was pretty well agreed that the proper thing to do would be to secure the heavy pavement, as the one at $1.58 a yard would prove most unsatisfactory.

Possibly they may be over-enthusiastic, but it cannot be denied the slow side. Only one record was of the larger cities. It is a game admirably fitted to the American temperament, containing lots of action, and being withal a game of skill. To play the game successfully a player must begin young, and, having acquired the skill, he must keep himself in the best of condition in order to keep in the front rank. It is moreover a sport which the man who works at the desk all the week can go out and play, and in this it fills a long felt want for the fall and early spring months.—Chicago Tribune.

Nelson drew the color line on Gans, but Saturday Twin Sullivan made it quite unnecessary. He made Gans look very easy.

JOCKEY LYNE'S GOOD WORK ON BIG TRACK

New York, Sept. 16.-Not less than 25,000 persons attended the races at Gravesend today. The Junior Champion Stakes for 2-year-olds, about six furlongs, which was worth $11,775 gross, provided the most sensational race of the day, even though there were only five starters. H. P. Whitney's Pegasus and Juggler, both sons of Hamburg, were made the choice at 4 to 5, with James R. Keene's Kuroki, by Commando, backed down to 16 to 5, and Senator McCarren's Voorhees going up to fives. The start was a beauty. O'Neill was the first to show with Voorhees, who ran neck and neck with Pegasus for a quarter of a mile. Then Lyne took the atter up and Martin challenged with Kuroki, who ran his best race of the When they hurried into the stretch Voorhees had a slight advantage over Kuroki and both were under a heavy drive. He stepped the distance in the fast time of 2:06, which is fourtifths of a second slower than the track record. Buttling, a 10-to-1 shot, second, and Coy Maid, third. Buttling went to the front at the start and set a pace, leading by 1½ lengths in the run down the back stretch. Rounding the far turn, Lyne, on Alwin, sent him up to the leader. "If any man's work shall be burned, e shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved, yet so as by fire."-I. Corinthians iii., 15. The meaning and significance of the above difficult text were clearly pointed out by Rev. G. B. Sage, in his sermon n St. George's Episcopal Church, West ondon, last evening. He showed that he text referred to Christians only. "Believers are so happy at being saved by Christ's atoning blood," said Mr. Sage, "that they are apt to forget Charleworth Meakins, of Hamilton, has succeeded Walter Percival as leading the unbeliever, but also for him who our text that some men's works shall not endure, but they themselves shall be saved. Mr. Sage explained that in the chaper from which his text was taken the postle was using the houses of his day as an illustration. He pictured man building a house for his own use and making it out of wood, hay and stubble, the common materials of the day, and of discovering some night that was on fire. The man would escape himself "out of the midst of the fire, or, as it is expressed by the text, "so as by fire." but his house and goods would be burned. When Paul told the Christians to build their spiritual houses out of "gold, silver and precious stones" he was probably thinking of
