WANT THEM TO GO

Pekin Authorities Anxious to Get Rid of the Legationers.

Unsafe for Them to Remain—The Allies Resting B-fore Again Advancing.

London, August 13, 3.30 a.m.—"The sooner we can be got out of this better, for it is convenient for the Chinese government and unsafe for ourselves." This is a message received last evening from Sir Robert Hart, dated Pekin, Aug. 5, and sent in cipher to the Chinese maritime customs office in London. Commenting upon it the Morning Post says: "It would seem to indicate that the Chinese government is anxious for the safety of the foreigners, or at any rate, anxious to get them safely out of Pekin, while Sir Robert Hart evidently expects that they will get out sooner or later." Sheng, director-general of railroads and telegraphs, according to a Shanghai despatch to the Standard, expresses grave fears for the safety of the members of the legations when the defeated Chinese troops return to the capital.

The Austrian naval commander reports to Vienna that the allies decided to rest for three days after the taking of Yang Tsun.

A despatch to the News agency from Tien Tsun says: "Junk and stores block the river beyond the advanced posts of the allies for a considerable distance; but the dryness continues and the country is in good marching order, subsidiary dikes having made the enemy's damming ineffective."

A Washington despatch says a message has been received from Conger as follows: "Pekin, August 4.—We will hold on until your arrival. Hope it will be soon. Send such information as you can.—(Signed) Conger."

Various rumors to the effect that Prince Tuan and his followers are preparing to leave Pekin in case the allies should succeed in getting near the capital.

Speaking at a Primrose League demonstration at Eagle's Cliffe, Lord Londonderry expressed a hope that when the allies reach Pekin the first step will be the punishment, not as in the past, of a few subordinates, but of the mandarins and others high in authority. There, he was of opinion, all vengeance ought to end.

graph to the Governments of the several powers concerned for the immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations pending negotiations, which he is hereby authorized to conduct for the settlement of whatever questions may have to be dealt with. The questions to be severally considered in a satisfactory manner, and the result of the negotiations reported to us for our sanction. Respect this."

While it is conceded by the Washington officials that the conferring of plenipotentiary authority upon Earl Li to negotiate with the powers for a settlement of existing troubles is a step in the right direction, it by no means is assured that the U. S. Government will consent off-hand to open negotiations with the distinguished viceroy. The demands of this Government upon China have been made plainly and without equivocation. They cannot be misunderstood.

London, Aug. 13.—John Stuart, Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post, sends the following to that paper:—The Boers say that President Kruger is contributing to the election expenses of Mr. Bryan between half and three-quarters of a million sterling. They also say that Mrs. Webster Davis (former assistant secretary of the interior of the United States) has received £15,000 toward the expenses of the American campaign.

London, Aug. 12.—The War Office to-day received the following message from Lord Roberts:—

"Pretoria, Aug. 11.—The enemy is fleeing in front of Kitchener and Methuen's forces. Early this morning he was trying to cross the railway at Wouterdorp Station, where he was engaged by Smith-Dorrien."

"Methuen, on Aug. 9, fought a rearguard action near Buffelschok. He captured six wagons and two ambulances."

In spite of the fact that Gen. Christian De Wet is in full flight, South African telegrams announce a hurried exodus of civilians from Mafeking, and that Lord Edward Cecil is preparing to stand another siege.

Hunter reports that 130 burghers, with upwards of a million rounds of ammunition, surrendered Aug. 8, and Aug. 9, Cloet, a member of the Volksraad, was a prisoner with Hunter.

The Rev. Peter Macquoen, in a letter dated Machodorp, S. A. R., June 21, 1900, says he was taken prisoner by the British when they captured Pretoria, and the army officials wanted to send him home. He refused to go, and, seeking a favorable opportunity, escaped out of their hands and walked to Machodorp, a distance of one hundred miles where he arrived in good health. He is an American.

to the right when ordered to the left. The France, which was of 313 tons displacement, was a recent addition to the French navy. Out of the France's crew of 56 fourteen were saved. The losses included three officers, Capt. Mandis Du Fleix, the second lieutenant and the chief engineer, Admiral Fournier, in a despatch from Cadix, says that at the time of the accident the Brennus was steaming ahead of the France on the left. The flagship and the torpedo boat destroyer were exchanging luminous signals when the latter approached too near the Brennus. The captain of the France ordered his helmsman to steer 20 degrees to the left, while he increased speed. The man misunderstood the order and steered to the right, which brought the destroyer under the ram of the Brennus, her frame being cut in twain.

A HORSE THIEF'S

Sudden Flight Leads to an Exciting Chase.

He Left the Animal and Vehicle Behind—Comes From Near Sarnia.

St. Thomas, Aug. 13.—A stranger drove up to the hotel-keeper in Hawtry, a small place on the Michigan Central, Saturday about noon, and tried to dispose of a horse and rig. The proprietor, however, thought the price too high, and declined to purchase. The stranger then offered to sell the outfit at a much reduced price to several others standing around. This aroused suspicion, and they frankly accused him of horse stealing. Without a moment's hesitation the stranger jumped from the rig and made for the woods, followed by several men. The chase got so hot for the fugitive that he threw off a coat he was wearing, to enable him to make greater speed. The coat contained a note book, bearing the name of James Fry, and showing that he had worked a short time for Abraham Jones, Sarnia. It also contained a map of several counties, with the different roads marked. The thief made good his escape. The horse and outfit was the property of Mr. Pullen, Aylmer, and was stolen from his stable on Friday night.

Various rumors to the effect that Prince Tuan and his followers are preparing to leave Peking in case the allies should succeed in getting near the capital.

Speaking at a Primrose League demonstration at Eager's Cliffe, Lord Londonderry expressed a hope that when the allies reach Peking the first step will be the punishment, not as in the past, of a few subordinates, but of the mandarins and others high in authority. There, he was of opinion, all vengeance ought to end.

CHINA FOR PEACE

Li Hung Chang Appointed Plenipotentiary

To Act for the Emperor—Full Powers Conferred Upon Him by the Edict.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—Indications of the desire of China for a peaceful settlement of her difficulties have been multiplying for several days. Official evidence of that desire was presented to the department in the form of an edict, promulgated by the Emperor Kwang-Hsu, appointing Earl Li-Hung-Chang an envoy plenipotentiary to negotiate with the powers for an “immediate cessation of hostilities” pending a solution of the problems which have grown out of the anti-foreign uprising in the Empire. Earl Li is to act directly for the Emperor, and a fair inference is that whatever terms of settlement he may reach with the powers will be approved by the Imperial Government.

The Chinese Imperial edict is as follows:—“In the present conflict between Chinese and foreigners there has been some misunderstanding on the part of the foreign nations, and also a want of proper management on the part of some of the local authorities. A clash of arms is followed by calamitous results, and a rupture of friendly relations, which will ultimately do no good to the world. We hereby appoint Li-Hung-Chang as our envoy plenipotentiary, with instructions to propose at once by telegraph to the Governments of the several powers concerned for the immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations pending negotiations, which he is hereby authorized to conduct for the settlement of whatever questions may have to be dealt with. The questions to be severally considered in a satisfactory manner, and the result of the negotiations reported to us for our sanction. Respect this.”

While it is conceded by the Washington officials that the conferring of plenipotentiary authority upon Earl Li to negotiate with the powers for a settlement of existing troubles is a step in the right direction, it by no means is assured that the U. S. Government will consent off-hand to open negotiations with the distinguished viceroy. The demands of this Government upon China have been made plainly and without equivocation. They cannot be misunderstood.

BOODLE FOR BRYAN.

Coom Paul Alleged to Have Put up a Large Sum For His Election.

London, Aug. 13.—John Stuart, Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post, sends the following to that paper:—“The Boers say that President Kruger is contributing to the election expenses of Mr. Bryan between half and three-quarters of a million sterling. They also say that Mr. Webster Davis, former assistant secretary of the interior of the United States) has received £15,000 toward the expenses of the American campaign.”

ENEMY IN FLIGHT

With Kitchener and Methuen in Close Pursuit.

Mafeking May Have to Stand Another Siege—Burghers Still Surrendering.

London, Aug. 12.—The War Office to-day received the following message from Lord Roberts:—

“Pretoria, Aug. 11.—The enemy is fleeing in front of Kitchener and Methuen's forces. Early this morning he was trying to cross the railway at Waverden Station, where he was engaged by Smith-Dorrien.”

“Methuen, on Aug. 9, fought a rear-guard action near Buffelsbosch. He captured six wagons and two ambulances.”

In spite of the fact that Gen. Christian Dewet is in full flight, South African telegrams announce a hurried exodus of civilians from Mafeking, and that Lord Edward Cecil is preparing to stand another siege.

Hunter reports that 130 burghers, with upwards of a million rounds of ammunition, surrendered Aug. 8, and Aug. 9, Cloet, a member of the Volksraad, was a prisoner with Hunter.

The Rev. Peter Macqueen, in a letter dated Machadodorp, S. A. R., June 21, 1900, says he was taken prisoner by the British when they captured Pretoria, and the army officials wanted to send him home. He refused to go, and, seeking a favorable opportunity, escaped out of their hands and walked to Machadodorp, a distance of one hundred miles, where he arrived in good health. He is an American.

COSTLY BLUNDER.

The Captain of a French Torpedo Boat Signalled to the Left

And the Helmsman Sent Her to the Right With Tragic Results.

Paris, Aug. 13.—During manoeuvres of the French fleet off Cape St. Vincent a collision occurred between the first class battle ship Brennus, flying the flag of Vice-Admiral Fournier, commander of the fleet and the torpedo boat destroyer Frames, the Frames sank immediately. The accident was due to the fact that the Frames turned to the right when ordered to the left. The Frames, which was of 313 tons displacement, was a recent addition to the French navy. Out of the Frames's crew of 56 fourteen were saved. The losses included three officers, Capt. Maubis Du Fleis, the second lieutenant and the chief engineer, Admiral Fournier, in a despatch from Cadix, says that at the time of the accident the Brennus was steaming ahead of the Frames on the left. The flagship and the torpedo boat destroyer were exchanging luminous signals when the latter approached too near the Brennus. The captain of the Frames ordered his helmsman to steer 30 degrees to the left, while he increased speed. The man misunderstood the order and steered to the right, which brought the destroyer under the ram of the Brennus, her frame being cut in twain.

A HORSE THIEF'S

Sudden Flight Leads to an Exciting Chase.

He Left the Animal and Vehicle Behind—Comes From Near Sarria.

St. Thomas, Aug. 13.—A stranger drove up to the hotel-keeper in Hawtry, a small place on the Michigan Central, Saturday about noon, and tried to dispose of a horse and rig. The proprietor, however, thought the price too high, and declined to purchase. The stranger then offered to sell the outfit at a much reduced price to several others standing around. This aroused suspicion, and they frankly accused him of horse stealing. Without a moment's hesitation the stranger jumped from the rig and made for the woods, followed by several men. The chase got so hot for the fugitive that he threw off a coat he was wearing, to enable him to make greater speed. The coat contained a note book, bearing the name of James Fry, and showing that he had worked a short time for Abraham Jones, Sarria. It also contained a map of several counties, with the different roads marked. The thief made good his escape. The horse and outfit was the property of Mr. Pullen, Aylmer, and was stolen from his stable on Friday night.

Three young men of Windsor, Ross, Rhodes and Barr, sailed up the Detroit river on Saturday, and when returning were struck by a squall which capsized their boat. The boys clung to their craft for an hour, when they were rescued by a passing steamer. They lost their bicycles and everything on board.

MANY COMPLAINTS.
We received several communications endorsing Chairman Austin's complaints regarding the late I.O.O.F. excursion and as the writers all agree unanimously with Mr. Austin it is unnecessary to publish their letters in full. Delays on excursions are of course unavoidable. For instance, had the Shenango left Cleveland on time at six, the hour announced, several hundred people would have been left behind, many not turning up until 6:30. But the delay on arriving at Rondau was uncalculated for and most exasperating. To keep twenty-two crowded cars of excursionists waiting from 11:40 at night until 1:05 a. m. simply to permit the engines to be used for shunting shows such palpable incompetency on somebody's part that we have no doubt the genial manager of the Lake Erie will thoroughly investigate the matter, place the blame where it belongs and take such steps as will prevent such a thing ever occurring again.

THE POLICE COURT.

A Number of Minor Cases Come Before Mayor Smith and Squire Kerr.

Mayor Smith and squire Kerr meted out justice at the police court this morning in the absence of Magistrate Houston and in order that they might make a good beginning an unusually large number of offenders graced the dock.

Out of consideration for the new regime Senex Bannister whose acquaintance with the methods in vogue at the palace of justice is by no means limited, became responsible for one case and did his best to put on another. Senex charged Joseph Kovinsky, the iron seller, with using grossly indecent and insulting language towards himself on Saturday, and desired that the said Joseph Kovinsky should be made to repent of his indiscretion. He also had a complaint concerning a horse deal which was not entertained.

John Evans was charged with stealing a coat from Nathan Roe, of the Montana House, on July 11th. He was arrested in Wallaceburg by Chief Cape and Officer Dodson brought him in yesterday.

Grace Smith, colored, appeared on the charge of vagrancy. She was arrested on Saturday.

Neut Bellair was charged with the theft of some fishing nets from Captain Greenwood. All offenders were remanded until Wednesday morning.

SCOTTISH GAMES

Final List of Competitors Present to Attend Them.

Will Prove a Success in Spite of the Disagreeable Weather—Notes of the Day.

The annual Caledonian Games, under the auspices of the Sons of Scotland, were held to-day. The day opened anything but propitious but the Scotchmen were out early and hard at work, exhibiting that ardent and enthusiasm that characterizes their work in everything they undertake. In the early morning, some time before five o'clock, a number of ardent sons of the thistle assembled at Athletic Park and put up the tents for the competitors and roped in the ring. The party was composed of R. M. Paxton, John Darling, John Cummings, Mr. Bartlett, John Longwell and Wm. Robertson. The grounds were found quite dry and in splendid condition. Having completed their labors these workers then went to assist the railway committee in meeting the trains and welcoming visitors. In order that no mistake might be made and that the Scotchmen might be easily recognized they all wore hats of a bright tartan. Wm. Robertson was asked what tartan it was. He took his headgear off and casually looking at it said that it resembled the Robertson plaid as much as it did the Macleod, but it better be the Robertson, and so it was called. The color was striking and visitors had no trouble in distinguishing their clansmen the moment the stations were sighted. The railway committee, which had the task of meeting the trains, were P. D. McKellar, James Waugh, Hugh Macdonald, Robert Riddell and Chief F. W. Charteris.

A FINE FIELD.
A. C. Gordon, the genial Toronto Scot, was master of ceremonies for the day, and was bustling about with his usual pent up enthusiasm.
"We have a fine field of athletic competitors that ever contested for muscular supremacy in Canada," said Mr. Gordon. "We expect to have all kinds of records broken. Amongst the athletes, I have already seen C. J. Currie, of Detroit; Gideon Perry, of Hamilton; Geo. Stewart, of Toronto; R. N. Harrison, of Toronto; John Cameron, of Detroit; J. O'Neil, of Ridgewood; John Jones, of Buffalo; George Hall, of Galt, and Walter Scott."
"Then there are Pipts Murray and Beaton, of Toronto; Melzod, of Buffalo; Frazer and Johnson, of Montreal. The men dancers who have put in an appearance are some of the best in America, including such men as Johnson and Frazer, of Montreal; Murray and Ronnie, of Toronto, and Tommy Campbell and Willie McPherson, of Hamilton. There are also some thirty or forty girl dancers. I haven't the slightest hesitation in saying that the games will be the most successful ever held in Canada."

The judges for this afternoon are J. J. Macdonald, Toronto; Dupon Macmillan, Dutton, and W. W. Gordon, Glencoe. The Metropolitan Band, a fine musical organization from Detroit, and the Windsor Pipe Band arrived in the city on the 9:03 a. m. train from the west, and all morning discoursed music in Tecumseh Park.

At one o'clock the competitors of the Metropolitan Band and the Sons of Scotland assembled on the park and marched to the Athletic grounds.

SPRINGS OF HEATHER.

lar looked splendid in his Scotch cap. Don't forget to-night's entertainment on Athletic Park.
Curry Bull had a kilt on that was just killing. He nearly kilt half the Scotchmen who saw him. It was said that the shade of Rob Roy Macgregor came all the way from the realms of the blest to see Curry's kilt, but this report could not be verified.

Chief F. W. Charteris was busy all morning marshalling his clans. The effervescent music of the pipes roused the martial ardor and enthusiasm of every Scotchman. There were several playing different tunes at the same time. It was perfectly delightful.

Warden Davidson was early on hand sporting his colors.
The crowd was not as large as favorable weather might have brought up, but still there were a large number of strangers in town.

FELL OUT OF A WINDOW.

Miss Oral Nesh, the twelve-year-old daughter of John Nesh, Joseph street, came within an ace of losing her life last night in a very peculiar manner. She was sleeping in an up-stairs room having her bed near a window. In the middle of the night while still sound asleep she in some way got through the window and fell to the ground a distance of about 20 feet, landing in the middle of a small patch of grass.
The place where the child alighted was between a fence and the house the space between the two being but a few feet wide. Had she struck the fence in her descent the result would probably have been fatal. Mr. Nesh hearing the noise made by his daughter's fall went out and found her lying silent. It was at first thought that she had been seriously injured but a close examination failed to show any hurt beyond a few bruises. Her escape was truly a miraculous one.

New York, Aug. 13.—A special cable to the World, dated Chefoo, Aug. 9, via Shanghai, says: "A terrible mistake occurred at the taking of Yang Tsun. DIED IN BUFFALO.

Word has been received from Buffalo of the death there on Friday last of Mrs. D. A. Williamson, who about a year ago removed with her husband and family from this city. Mrs. Williamson had been in poor health lately, but her death was both sudden and unexpected. The funeral took place on Sunday at Buffalo. The deceased was a sister of Capt. Patterson, of this city, and of Dr. Patterson of Buffalo. She was also a sister-in-law of Charles Williamson, grocer, of Chatham. Her husband and two grown-up daughters survive the deceased.

M. C. Dickson, district passenger agent of the G. T. R., has just issued four handsome new folders descriptive of the summer resorts of Ontario, access to which may be gained by the G. T. R. lines. Each of the folders is profusely illustrated in half-tone colored engravings, and this, with the reading matter, gives the reader the best possible information as to the beauties of the Highlands of Ontario. One of the pamphlets deals with the Kawartha lakes, another with the Lake of Bays, a third with the Georgian Bay, and the fourth with the Muskoka lakes.

HARRIET HUBBARDAYER.

Train the Children to Have Joyous Faces If You Wish Beautiful Sons and Daughters.

A woman physician, who points with pride to the charming faces of her three beautiful youngsters, declares that it is the parents' fault if children do not have beautiful, frank and sunny faces. I am very much of this lady's opinion.

Children reflect the emotions, the manners and characteristics of their elders.

If we watch them carefully—these little ones—we will find them reproducing our own pictures, or the pictures that we present to their infantile minds.

If we remove from baby life all painful sensations, all deceit and trickery, we shall be repaid by little faces that will be frank and open, the outward symbols of fearless and happy contentment.

Occasionally I receive letters from distracted mothers who tell me most extraordinary tales of baby depravity.

Recently one such afflicted parent wrote me that her little daughter, eight years of age, was so headstrong and so untruthful it would be impossible to keep her at home.

This mother, in the letter, assured me that this example of juvenile turpitude was an inexplicable problem in her family.

She proposed to send the child to a school of correction, and the very manner in which she suggested effecting this arrangement proved to me conclusively that the little girl had seen before a child reaches the age of twelve the general expression of the face has been impressed upon it. If the eyes have acquired a deceitful look and the mouth has learned to pout and assume sullen lines, it is a wonder that she has not been contracted or dilated at the nostrils through successive fits of anger or apprehension, the seal has practically been set upon the countenance for life, and although it is still possible to diminish the undesirable expressions somewhat, it is more difficult each year goes by, and I assert with all possible confidence that it is positively not to be done while the characteristics which have produced the repellent expression still dominate the face.

Mothers who wish beautiful sons and daughters would do well to remember these facts.

WHAT A WOMAN THINKS

A man's best friend is his own industry.

A woman's loyalty is often found beyond comprehension.

The girl who is born in May should wear an emerald.

Of the opinions we express, how many are absolutely truthful?

Most women will jump at a mouse, yet many wear a rat in their hair.

Women either elevate a man a little nearer heaven, or drag him down a little nearer hell.

Her Electric Spark.

"Mille!"

The young linenman twirled his hat in his hand in an agitated manner.

He spoke in a voice that seemed to have a tendency to get away from him.

"Mille, the fact is, I—I—there's something I've been wanting to tell you a long time, but I can't seem to fetch it. When you look at me like that, you know it breaks me all up."

"I've been coming here so long that I oughtn't to be afraid I reckon but—"

"But you know how it is—or maybe you don't know. I thought I could say it all right when I came in but you're a little the livid so hard when I—"

"He came to a dead stop."

"Mille!" he exclaimed in desperation, "I'm short-circuited! I've burned out a fuse!"

"Jerry, are you trying to ask me to marry you?"

"-yes!"

"-yes, of course I will, you foolish boy!"

And love's current flowed unobstructedly again, lighting up with its pure radiance the rose-embowered pathway that, etc., etc.

His Request.

"Pardon me," said he, meeting her on the sands, "but are you not the young lady to whom I was engaged last summer, at this very place?"

"I do—I mean I am," she replied, somewhat flustered.

"Then," said he, "perhaps you recall the sweet little verse in which I proposed to you."

"It still haunts in my heart," she said, with a sigh, or maybe it was the rustling of her silk skirt.

"Ah! Then would you mind repeating it to me. I have forgotten it, and as it worked so well I wish to try it on a young lady from Chicago who is here."

Cesar's Dignity.

It was observed among the shades who gathered on the banks of the Styx that Julius Caesar and Horatius did not speak.

"What's wrong, Julius?" asked Seneca, "why do you give Horatius the glassy eye?"

"Humph!" wheezed the shade of Caesar, "do you think that one of the royalty will hold converse with a common bridge tender?"

PATENT GRANTED.

Jacob Colby received to-day from the Dominion Department of Patents at Ottawa the patent for his improved hay and stock rack. Mr. Colby has been working on his invention for the last two years and his efforts have at last been crowned with complete success. The new rack has been tested and works in such a satisfactory manner that Mr. Colby and four assistants could not make them fast enough to supply the demand this year during hay-making time. The department has assured the inventor that nothing of its kind equal to the improved rack has yet been seen there. John W. White, Mr. Colby's solicitor, who was instrumental in applying for one in the United States as soon as practicable. The inventor is now engaged in exhibiting the result of his genius to companies interested in the manufacture of agricultural implements.

WHO IS WHO.

When Herbert Hall Winslow wrote "Who is Who," he designed a legitimate comedy along dramatic lines, and with a plot replete with the most farcical situations. When the management organized this company for a tour in Winslow's work, they soon found that farcical comedy needed vaudeville relief, and they at once interpolated numerous specialties. The first edition of one of the merriest and brightest and most tuneful farce comedies before the public. Besides those inimitable comedians, Chas. Adams and John McMahon, the company numbers over twenty people and includes such well known ones as Harry N. Welch, Maurice Rene Coste, Chas. E. Adams, Arthur E. Bone, Herbert Hancock, W. W. Sharp, Charles Drew, Lottie Fremont, Roby Lytton, Fannie Bernard, Zella Clayton, Sadie Hart, Whitney Sisters, Battie Durand, Helene and Carrie Powers. With this ensemble of talent they have set their laugh-making entertainment in a special scenic frame and dressed it in a lavish manner. This organization will be seen at the Grand Opera House Monday, Aug. 20.

ERIEAU NOTES.

Miss Lulu Deming, of Leamington, is visiting Miss Alice Samson, Drumtochty Lodge.

Miss Lola Dunkley is visiting her cousin Miss Grace E. Jones.

Alderman and Mrs. Taylor Sunday with School Trustee Will E. Campbell, at Glenville.

Graham Smith, who has been visiting at the Bothy, Sandy-Knowe, returned home to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Merritt and family, are residing at Outlaw Inn.

Hereafter, a feature of the good things to be enjoyed at the Eau will be the weekly impromptu concert and dance given on Saturday evening at the pavilion by the Erieau orchestra.

The first of the series was presented on Saturday night before an audience comprised of nearly 200 of the cottagers and campers. The orchestra, under the leadership of Lester Heath, rendered several fine selections, which were followed by rag-time coon songs, sung by Geoffrey O'Hara, as only he can sing them. The renditions of "Ain't we no messenger boy," and "Hugh McKenough" called forth loud applause and several encores were demanded. The Erieau male quartette contributed several warm numbers, the most popular being "George Washington was a fine young man" and "I am so dry."

The program was a grand cake walk by Messrs. Heath and Riddell, which caused endless fun. The orchestra then took up a position in the middle of the floor and the young people danced as long as it suited them.

In spite of the gloomy weather, Rev. Canon Thompson's weekly service drew a large congregation at the pavilion yesterday afternoon.

The choir was considerably assisted by the voluntary efforts of some Chatham young men, and consequently the service was made much more interesting than previous ones. The text was as usual, from the book of Job, and although the sermon was cut rather short, account of an approaching storm, the reverend brother made good use of the short space of time.

Consequently his oratory was very effective, and when the hat had gone round it was joyfully announced that the collection had reached the unprecedented amount of $174, which was later increased to $175.

Sunday is generally the biggest day at the Eau, but yesterday the sun deaver to hide his diminished head and general dampness was the result. Rain fell upon the slightest provocation, and the wind beat without intermission against the houses built upon the sand. The first shower descended at about 10 a. m. while the "Baden-Powell" and the "Velma" were out, the occupants of both boats receiving a good drenching. Rain followed rain at intervals during the entire day, till the final visitation beginning at 8 p. m., and extending far into the night. Some good fishing was done yesterday, but the sailors were obliged to content themselves with a day of newspapers and magazines.

A. L. and Mrs. Shambles spent Sunday at Erieau.

DROVE TO MITCHELL'S BAY.

Over twenty members of the Canadian Order of Foresters of this city drove out to Mitchell's Bay yesterday and participated in the church parade of the Dover lodges. The Chatham contingent was in charge of Secretary F. W. Ward. Upon their arrival a fine dinner was served for them in the lodge room. The parade which included eight Foresters was led by Chief Ranger C. W. Raymond. The service was held in Hugh Allen's grove, Rev. E. F. Clarke officiating. He preached from Corinthians 17, 5, "No man liveth to himself." At the conclusion of the sermon the Chatham brethren partook of supper and then had a pleasant drive back to the city.

DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price.

By

dry goods dealers, grocers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers.

Announcements of these comparatively worthless

reprints are very misleading; for instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe, they are all, from A to Z.

Reprint Dictionaries,

phototype copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which in its day was sold for about $6.00, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to these imitations, being

Long Since Obsolete.

The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Genuine Edition of Webster's Un-abridged Dictionary, which is the only meritorious one familiar to this generation, contains over 200 pages, with illustrations on nearly every page, and bears our imprint on the title page. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitations.

Valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised successor, the name of which is WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY.

MULTIPLEX TELEPHONY.

Plan to Send several T-1-phone Messages Over Wire at the Same Time Has Been Solved.

The problem of using a single wire simultaneously for telephonic and telegraphic work has long been solved, as has also the use of a single wire for simultaneously carrying a number of telegraphic messages which is in practical use, but how to use a wire for carrying several telephonic messages at the same time is yet a theoretical problem. A device which has not been actually tested, is described in Cosmos. It has been demonstrated that a sound which is continuously interrupted at the rate of not less than 32 times a second, is perceived by the human ear as a continuous sound. The plan, therefore, is to place some form of mechanical interrupter in the line to be multiplexed which will make this number of vibrations per second. During the intervals this circuit is broken it is switched on to other transmitters, which simultaneously have practically a continuous through connection to other points. It is necessary, however, to have a second similar and synchronous interrupter at the far end of the line, and the difficulty in maintaining these interrupters in synchronism, or in step, is the chief difficulty of the practical solution of the problem.

MAGIC OF FIGURES

A Trick in Simple Subtraction That Will Fuzzle Everybody.

You can never tell what figures will do. Of course they are truthful if properly handled, but some of them are capable of the most bewildering antics. Here is a method by which figures may be made to tell secrets in a way that will astonish those who are not informed about how to do the "figuring."

Ask some person to put down unknown to you a number composed of three figures (say 762). Tell him to transpose the figures (making 267) and to subtract the lesser from the greater. Then ask him to tell you the first figure of the result, and you can tell him the entire number. For instance, your first number in the present example is 762, which transposed makes 267. Subtract 267 from 762 and you have 495. The only figure you are told is 4, the first of the result. All you have to do is to subtract 4 from 9, which will give you 5, the last figure, and the central figure is always 9. So your number will be 495. This is true in all cases where only three figures are used in making up a number. The central figure will always be 9 when the transposed number is subtracted from the original number, and the two end figures when added together will make 9. So, knowing either the first or last figure of the result you can give the entire number.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Lord Roberts' Tribute.

Private Edward Craig, of "G" Co., in a letter to his brother at St.
John, N. B., says: "The men have shown that the Canadians are no cowards. What better proof of the unity of the Empire than to see that dead on the battlefield? Men of one blood, of different countries, have come to Africa to show to the world that they could die side by side for the one flag. Monday morning, February 19th, showed Gordons, Corn-walls, Lincolnshires, Shropshires and Canadians on the velvet side by side.
Who can say they died in vain? They have made glorious history, and we who have lived through it are pleased to have fought along with men of a great people." He adds this interesting incident: "After speaking for a time to the regiment Tuesday morning, Roberts met and halted rather a motley crew of us as we were returning from the trenches, where we had been sent for our blankets, etc.

"Who are you?"
"Canadians," said a lad.
"Canadians, you have done splendid work," said "Bobs."

The Sjabbok.

A Cape Town correspondent of The Boston Transcript writes: "We asked one of the white refugees how the natives were treated by the Boers, and she said, 'They were sjamboked, and some have thus been whipped until they died.' She said that many natives were hired to work for a month and at the end of it if they asked for money they were sjamboked instead of paid. There must be Boers and Boers, though they all undoubtedly use the sjambok upon the slightest occasion. This weapon is a long whip which will snap like a pistol when brought down in an uplifted hand. It is made from the hide of the rhino-eros and polished till it looks like amber. It is very tough and durable and is used upon animals and natives and also upon the criminals in the Transvaal."

One Way of Preparing Eggs.

Any one who has ever been ill has a keen and realizing sense of how wearisome the eternal diet of broths and eggs may become and how necessary it is that everything should be prepared in as appetizing a manner as possible. One good way of preparing an egg is to separate the white from the yolk, keeping the latter unbroken. Add a pinch of salt to the white and beat it to a stiff froth.
Put it in a very small baking dish and drop the yolk in the centre.
Place the dish in a hot oven for a few moments. Add a bit of butter and salt and pepper, if that is allowed.

Use Feeders for the Bees.

For all heavy feeding some kind of feeder should be used. Little wooden troughs are best, and may be made any size desired. The best kind is a two-inch block guttered out by cutting heads or wobble saws, cutting slots half an inch wide, and leaving stationary centers of an eighth of an inch thick to give bees a foothold, which keeps them from drowning in the syrup. When open troughs are used, some floating material should be placed on the syrup to answer this purpose.

Science and Skill.

The progressive druggist should be thoroughly conversant with the science of the profession he follows and skilled in its minutest details. We are practical chemists and druggists; our dispensing department is so managed and fitted up that accuracy is continually guaranteed. We respectfully solicit a visit.

For the Weak and Run-down.

We call special attention to Faine's Celery Compound, our best selling medicine. It is a true health and strength restorer for weak and rundown people. It gives that buoyancy of spirits and nerve energy that are so needed in the hot and depressing winter. Faine's Celery Compound stands far above all other remedies for the cure of disease.

A Husband's Oversight.

There is a young man in the Pension Office who is buying a house on the installment plan at a town somewhere between this and Baltimore, and his dear little wife lives out there in a morning gown to go out again on the 5:30 train, when his day's work is done. A few days ago he met an old friend from Chicago, and yielding to the entreates of that old friend, he decided to spend the evening in town. He was so afraid wife would feel hurt if he knew that he had deliberately planned an evening's good time without counting her in that he inanfully resolved to deceive her. Accordingly, as he came away from the office he went to a telegraph office and sent this message to her:

"Unavoidably detained. Missed 5:30 train. Will be out later."

It was a great deal later when he reached his happy home. While met him at the door, and there was a look in her eye that every married man learns to know and instinctively to dread.

"Did you get my message, precious?" he asked, as he kissed her tenderly, holding his breath meanwhile as a precautionary measure.

"Yes, dear," she made answer, and when a woman calls her husband
"dear" that way, you can cut loose from the Weather-Bureau and prognosticate a few things on your own hook. "Yes, dear," I received your message. Here it is."

There is was, sure enough. It was marked as plain as could be. "Received at 4:23." He hadn't thought of that.

Why He Was Anxious.

Wills Archbishop, French was dean of Westminster, he delegated Canon Cureton to preach at the Abbey on a certain saint's day. On such days the boys of Westminster school attended service, and after service had the rest of the day as a holiday. While Mr.
Cureton, on the morning of the day he was to officiate, was looking over his sermon at the breakfast table his son asked in a tone vibrating with anxiety:

"Father, is yours a long sermon today?"

"No, Jimmy, not very."

"But how long? Please tell me."

"Well, about twenty minutes, I should say. But why are you so anxious to know?"

"Because, father, the boys say they will thrash me awfully if you are more than half an hour."

They Try to Smuggle.

The number of well-to-do people who try to smuggle things here from Europe," said an attaché of the embassy to a New York reporter, recently, "is surprising even to us.
Why," he continued, "I have known of people whose incomes are princely, trying to bring in a few trinkets free of duty, that were hardly worth bringing here at all. There is a sort of charm to many people in the idea of evading the duty that I can't understand; but many people who would fling away tens of dollars, would take great risks to make a dollar or two by smuggling."

Sociological Discussion.

"I notice," said the first post office loafer, "that as soon as a man gets to be about thirty years old it takes a good deal of his time to explain to his friends why he ain't married."

"Yes," said the other one, "that's so —in case he's single. But in case he ain't he's puttin' in the time tryin' to explain to himself why he did marry."

"DROP THAT CIGARETTE."

And Mr. George Gould Quickly Did As He Was Told.

A New York correspondent writes to the Chicago Times-Herald: "Drop that cigarette, Mr. Gould," exclaimed E. H. Harriman, chairman of the executive meeting of the Board of Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad, a few days ago. He was speaking to George J. Gould, the millionaire director of the company, the man whose father some years ago made a clean sweep of every director in the corporation, from Charles Francis Adams down, because they had displeased him.

Mr. Gould looked astounded. He glanced out of the window of the company's office to see if the world had come to an end.

"I mean it," said Mr. Harriman, severely. "I have just issued an order prohibiting cigarette smoking by any employee of the Union Pacific Railroad: You are an employee of the company—you get $10 every time you come here. So kindly put away that cigarette."

Millionaire Gould recovered from the state of daze into which he had been thrown. Then he slowly dropped his cigarette.

Then Mr. Harriman, who objects to smoking of any kind, announced that he thought men should not be directors in companies and make rules for others if they can't obey the rules themselves.

The Cleveland Star.

A van laden with lamp glasses had collided with another vehicle in the Strand, creating a tremendous crash.
Lamp glasses, though expensive to buy, are very cheaply manufactured, but the bystanders were quite awestruck by the damage done, and considerable sympathy was felt with the driver. An elderly gentleman, of benevolent aspect eyed the driver compassionately, and then said: "My poor man, I suppose you will have to make good the loss out of your own pocket?"

"Ah, that I shall," returned the van driver, dejectedly.

"Well," said the generous philanthropist, "hold out your hat. There is a shilling for you, and I dare say some of these gentlemen will give you a helping hand, too."

The van driver held out his hat, and the sympathizers contributed liberally. And when the contributions ceased he emptied the contents into his pocket, and with a knowing wink to a friend among the bystanders, pointed to the retreating figure of the disinterested philanthropist, and said slowly: "Ain't he a cute 'un.
That's our governor."

Should Old Sermons Be Burned?

Should the preacher burn his old sermons? The question is asked us many times. The answer depends on the sort of preacher. If he is one that has grown we should say no, decidedly. If he is the other kind, let him burn them, by all means. Some sermons, no doubt, are good enough to preach again to a congregation, and such as are not may be very profitable to an audience of one—the preacher himself. If they are very thin and limp and tame, they are likely to be all the more suggestive in the light of fuller knowledge and experience the things they tried to say can be better said. Why not say them better, and thus by the stronger years of ministry atone for the weakness? Many a sorry skeleton can be nourished into robustness by the developed mind.—New York Exam-

A Famous Rose Grower.

The death is announced of Mr. Ben Cant, the premier rose grower of East Anglia, or, for the matter of that, all England. In 1899 his farm (which has been located at Cloucheter for over half a century) carried off the six great trophies opened to the grower of roses. When Mr. Cant saw or heard of a new rose he spared no expense to obtain it. Perhaps his greatest "hit" was made in 1883, when he secured three roses from M.
Laffay, which have never been excelled—viz., Gloire de Dijon, Jules Margottin, and General Jacquemont.
During a long life Mr. Cant had won 2,080 silver cups, pieces of plate, and first prizes. He leaves two sons in the business.

A Virtuous Beggar Story.

An absolutely irritable man left his house one morning to attend a race meeting some distance off, says the London Globe. In order that he might have enough money to pay his hotel bill he took a sovereign in the corner of his handkerchief. In the train he drew his handkerchief from his pocket and noticed the knot in the corner. "Now," he said to himself, "what was I wished to remember?" Much thought failed to enlighten him upon the point, and at last in a fit of passion he hurled the handkerchief out of the window.
Then he remembered.

Remember this: No other medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. When you want a good medicine, get Hood's.

Nothing betrays a greater ignorance of the world, the human heart, and of good manners, than the assumption of a self-sufficient, dictatorial tone of conversation.
