West Huron in the Commons,
M. C. CAMERON, Q. C.

West Huron in the Legislature,
HON. A. M. ROSS.

"The Boobles Brigade Must Go."

"THE OLD CHIEF STILL LEADS."
Saturday last M. C. Cameron again received the unanimous nomination for the House of Commons for West Huron, amidst the enthusiastic cheers of his old-time supporters and many new ones. With earnest work on the part of the Reform electors of West Huron, the nomination of Mr Cameron practically secured his election. During the past four years the venality, corruption and fiscal policy of the Government have alienated the sympathies of many of their former warm supporters; and today West Huron instead of being a Conservative constituency, as was originally intended by the gerrymander, is a pronounced Reform riding.

So much is this the case, that were it not to endeavor to put Mr Cameron to the expense of an election in the riding, no Tory candidate would be placed in the field. West Huron was looked upon as a reform hope by Reformers in 1882; today it is admitted by Conservatives to be a lost cause. The nomination of M. C. Cameron inspires his friends with confidence, and fills his opponents with despair. His progress on the platform is an undoubted fact, and his success in the past is an earnest of the time to come. His ability is admittedly great, and his readiness is equal to any emergency. With his political experience of twenty years at his back, his unbroken record in the interest of stalwart Reform, the confidence of his friends and the fear of his opponents he holds a winning hand, and the coming election will prove that he has not only the confidence of West Huron, but that he holds that confidence by a stronger tenure and an increased majority.

HON. A. M. ROSS.
The nomination of Hon. A. M. Ross by the West Huron Reform convention on Saturday last will prove satisfactory to the Reform electors of West Huron and to many of the Conservative party who recognize worth and appreciate ability. The present member has represented the constituency in the Legislature since 1875, and during that time has worked upward and onward from the floor of the House to a seat in the Cabinet. His re-election for the constituency is an assured fact, for the electors of Huron, irrespective of politics, are proud of their member, the Treasurer of Ontario. His address of acceptance, before the convention, bristles with facts and figures which will prove useful to all who favor the principles of honest government and provincial rights.

SCOTT ACT ENFORCEMENT.—Thos. McGillicuddy, of the Goderich Signal, dropped in to see The Times last Thursday evening, while on his way to Zealand. Mr McGillicuddy has been going through Turnberry township stirring the people about the Scott Act and showing cause why a police magistrate should be appointed. On Monday of last week he held a meeting in Bluevale, on Tuesday night in Eadie's church, on Wednesday night in Gemmill's church, and on Thursday night in Zealand. On each occasion he was greeted by large audiences, and great interest was manifested in the work. The addresses were excellent ones and are said to have had a good effect upon those who heard them. Mr McGillicuddy is an able speaker in general, but when it comes to talking temperance he is hard to beat. He has done good service in the interest of the cause in this county.—Wingham Times.

WHAT'S UP?

A Hard "Send-Off" to the Two-Legged Hog.

A Man Who Knows all about the Animal Gives It Away—Something that has Dynamic in It.

—This man Sam Jones, who is preaching down at Toronto, will have to be choked off, or some of the neighbors will get worked up against him. One thing is certain: if he lived in Goderich and talked as he does he would hurt some of our local gentry's feelings. An attack of delirium tremens would be made on him through the columns of the Almanac, or a resolution would be submitted to the Guelph conference asking that body to issue an injunction restraining the redoubtable Sam from personally attacking some of the yeomanry of the section. I endorse the rev. Sam in his remarks on this question, however, and as I strained myself laughing at the Almanac's "jim-jams" last week, I will write the balance of this week's article with a scissor from Sam Jones' Toronto discourse: It'll be easier on me, and won't hurt Sam Jones or annoy the neighbors:

An old brother said to me one day, "I can't get 'em to come and hear me preach. They won't come." "Well," I said, "if you had a drove of hogs and you call 'em up a few times and pour a bucket or two of water over them and send them off, why when you call 'em again they'll just say 'Baw' from some place." "Did you see them a bucket of water every time you call them, they'll soon get so they'll just stay there and wait for you." Well, sir, that old fellow's mad with me to this day. He said I compared human beings with hogs. But sometimes a fellow ain't mad about what he's mad about. Did you ever notice that? Let's get truth so that we can hold it to. Now taking a practical and common-sense view of this whole business, we may say that if a man does confess his sins, that is proof he is quit to them, for a man will not confess before he is quit. I'll show you. You get

THAT RED NOSED GENTLEMAN at the back there and ask him does he drink whisky? He'll tell you "no," because he don't know one thing from another. I want to see one man drink whisky and never tell me he's about it. I'll give you a ten-dollar bill for him, but you have to get somebody to prove your veracity. I made a proposition once at a meeting that any man who drank whisky and never told his wife and a honest man jumped on him. "Old fellow, you're a bachelor, I'll lay my life." And so he was. (Laughter and applause.) Well you take that man who has been.

DRINKING WHISKEY TO EXCESS, and make him quit it and give his heart to God, and then, every time he gets up and says, "Brethren, I was the worst drunkard you ever saw. I drank and debauched myself till I was a disgrace to my family and to the community." He is quit now. How do you know? Because he confesses. Whenever a man goes to confessing, that's the best proof he's quit. Take that old man there. He's a gambler and a blackleg. Ask him: "Do you gamble?" He says, "I don't know one card from another." Let him get religion and then he'll say, "Brother, I was the worst gambler in Toronto. And my pants, above all things in the world, got me home with your breath stinking with beer and whiskey. Don't do that. A man who innocents children call him father, and whose wife calls him husband, goes home and sits down in the family circle, and

MEMBERS OF THE CHURCH were to quit drinking you'd shut up half the barrooms in town before Christmas. (Laughter and applause.) Now sir, what made them laugh at that? Because it was true. (Renewed laughter.) I mean all the churches of this city, for more than half the adults of this city belong to churches, and many a one of them likes the "creatur" so well to this day that they never have quit drinking it. If you saw whiskey you will reap drunkards. Oh, withhold the seed, and never scatter another. God deliver old Canada from whiskey now and forever. (Amen, and applause.) I have no special temptation to leave America, but I would like to see the world wide where it was uncommittal to make it, or sell it, or drink it. I would like to live in just such a settlement. Brethren, America has

GOT TO BE REDEEMED FROM WHISKEY, and I believe the day is not very far distant when our children will look back on these days when we legalized the traffic and wonder why their parents even legalized such an infernal traffic.

(Loud applause) Now, old fellow, you clap your hands like that outside and you'll do good. (Renewed applause and laughter.) Now whiskey, reap drunkards! And don't you know, my brethren, every barroom in this city is the recruiting office of hell, and going round inveigling your own children into hell. Well, my brethren in the social world, where does the drunkard come in as a necessary part of the concern? What is a drunkard good for as a drunkard? Is he good for anything in good citizenship, for anything to bless the community? Well, when the prodigal had wasted all what did he do? "Joined himself to a citizen of that country." It ain't long after a boy throws away Bible and prayers before he joins himself to a citizen of that country—the devil—and goes to work for him. "And he sent him into his field to feed swine." Remember this was a Jew, and could you give a Jew a lower down job than feeding hogs? What a disreputable job for a Jew! And there is a good deal of Jew about me.

I DON'T GO MUCH ON HOGS, live or dead, two legs or four. And at last he fain would have filled himself upon the hogs what the swine did eat. He fed the hogs on hogs, and then ate a wicked husband, say to me, you can't put up at fine residences every night, and the proprietor wanted not to take his money he would get very indignant, and insist upon paying. His feelings would be hurt. Many a sinner gets his feelings badly hurt. I've had the wife of a wicked husband say to me, "Mr. Jones, my husband's coming to hear you tonight, and I hope you, won't say anything to hurt his feelings. He had his feelings hurt once in a sermon, and wouldn't let me go to church again for a long time." Lord, his mercy! That fellow's headed for the hog-pen sure enough. (Applause.) There's many a man in this country.

IF YOU DON'T HURT HIS FEELINGS the devil will get him." Later on in his sermon Sam Jones again alighted on the matter of hurt feelings, and said:—"If a fellow is going to a hog pen you can't put up at fine residences every night, and the proprietor wanted not to take his money he would get very indignant, and insist upon paying. His feelings would be hurt. Many a sinner gets his feelings badly hurt. I've had the wife of a wicked husband say to me, "Mr. Jones, my husband's coming to hear you tonight, and I hope you, won't say anything to hurt his feelings. He had his feelings hurt once in a sermon, and wouldn't let me go to church again for a long time." Lord, his mercy! That fellow's headed for the hog-pen sure enough. (Applause.) There's many a man in this country.

THE SITUATION IN QUEBEC.
At the time of writing, it looks as if the Tory government of Quebec has been defeated. Mr. Mercier appears to have a clear majority of votes, independent of any "doubtfuls." If the defeat of the Ross-Tailon government means anything, it means a rout for the Tory party in Quebec at the next election. The Hamilton Spectator (Tory), had the following in an editorial the day before the election:

"If the Ross government be defeated, the Conservatives will be still further injuriously affected by the defeat: we may expect that fewer Conservatives will be elected to the Dominion Parliament than to the Legislature. If, on the other hand, the Ross government be sustained, we may anticipate that Conservative prospects will be improved by the fact."

On Monday the Spectator, which appears to be the only Tory newspaper which has not lost its head as well as its heart, in an article on the situation in Quebec, said:

"It is not yet possible to say with any degree of certainty whether the Ross-Tailon government has been sustained or has been defeated. Our impression is that it has—that, without waiting for the result in the single constituency yet to be heard from, the Riel-Rouge party has elected 33 of the 65 members composing the Assembly, with a probability that one of the independent members will swing to the Riel-Rouge. No good will come from misrepresenting the matter. The fact will not be changed by asserting now that this man or that man will support or will oppose the present government. All we can do is to state the truth so far as it can be known, and to await the meeting of the Legislature to verify the result. The Toronto Globe makes up quite a majority for the Riel-Rouge party by including among its supporters the Bleus who opposed the Ross government on the Riel question and the Rouges who supported it on that question. There are several men who cannot be placed with any degree of certainty; and it is just possible that at the present moment some of these gentlemen are not quite sure how they will range themselves."

The parties stand in Quebec at present as follows:

|---------------|----------|
| Liberals | 35 |
| Conservatives | 25 |
| Independent | 4 |
| To be elected | 1 |
| Total | 65 |

Hon. Mr. Mercier at last accounts claims that he has at least 38 solid supporters, or a majority of 11.

CAMERON AND ROSS.

To Again Represent West Huron at Ottawa and Toronto.

Liberal Convention at Goderich—Famously Vindicated—splendid Speeches by the Candidates—West Huron Solid for Reform and Progress.

The Convention which met in the Temperance Hall last Saturday to nominate candidates for the Commons and Legislature from West Huron in the Liberal interest was composed chiefly of intelligent and prosperous farmers. The meeting was a unit on the men chosen, and the principles advocated by the Reform party. The chair was occupied by Chas. Girvin, reeve of West Wawanosh. The convention was in every sense a most respectable gathering. Besides the leading Reformers of Goderich present we observed the following, among other delegates from outside points:—
Angus—Donald McIntyre, J. G. Murdoch, Wm. McIntosh, John Gibson, Jos. Griffin, J. Murdoch, J. F. Andrews, H. Matheson, Dennis Sullivan, Morzan Dalton, John Long, R. Harrison, Jacob Crozier, Jeremiah Flynn, Wm. Malouff, Joseph Malouff.

Colborne—Wm. Young, sr., A. Sands, D. McKinnon, James Stewart, A. McKinnon, John Snyder, D. Cummings, Peter Green, Alex. Glenn, T. Gledhill, Thos. Morris, W. M. Mohring, Arch. Malloy, John Morris, John Buchanan, James Jenkins, Duncan McLaren, Henry Morris, Thos. Sallows, Alex. Robertson, F. Blair, C. Young.

GODERICH TOWNSHIP—Jos. McCusker, H. Hincks, A. D. Purvis, R. Jennings, S. Wallace, R. McCullagh, W. Henderson, Geo. Cox, Peter McDougall, John Torrance, Horace Newton, W. Moran, H. Elford, T. Match, C. McGregor, W. Morgan.

WEST WAWANOSH—Jas. Ross, John Washington, Walter Taylor, C. Girvin, reeve.

EAST WAWANOSH—Robt. McGowan, Jr., Wm. E. Brown, Alonzo Parker, Jas. Brown.

CLINTON—A. McMurchie, Dr. Worthington, Jas. Smith, A. Mackenzie, A. H. Manning, W. Cuts, R. Holmes, Jos. Rowell, D. McCorvie.

BLVTH—Dr. Sloan, J. W. Shaw, J. Morgan.

After a few words from the chairman it was Moved by C. Seager, seconded by R. Harrison,

That this convention desires to express its emphatic condemnation of the many outrages perpetrated upon the people of West Huron by the Ottawa Government, and especially the rev. Mr. Jones, and to rebuke the people of their rights to a free expression of their opinions at the polls by means of those infamous measures, the Gerrymander Act and the so-called Franchise Act.

Mr. C. Seager backed up his resolution by a vigorous denunciation of the Franchise Bill. He said that by the Gerrymander Act, the rights of some of the constituencies were stifled by "hiving," and by this later Act it was sought to affect the vote of the individual voter. For two reasons the Franchise Act had failed of its purpose in West Huron:—

1st, because the revising barrister had neglected to place on the rolls some of the names of those who were entitled to do anything that would displace him for the benefit of Sir John A. Macdonald (applause); and 2nd, the Liberals had watched the revising barrister's clerk and the other Tory agents very closely. The Reformers had put on 481 names and knocked off 140, making a total change of 621 names. The Tories had also made some gains. The cost of the revision of the Dominion voters' lists in West Huron had been $809 to the Reform party privately, independent of its share of the public cost of salaries, printing, etc. The act must be voted out at the first session of the new Liberal parliament. (Applause.)

Moved by Dr. Sloan, seconded by R. Holmes,

This convention of the Reformers and electors of West Huron desires to place on record its high appreciation of the good and noble service rendered to this Dominion by our beloved Edward Blake, and to express its entire confidence in him and approval of his leadership.

Dr. Sloan, in speaking to the motion, referred to the Pacific Scandal, the Gerrymander and the Franchise Bill as samples of the political fruit borne by the Tory tree in Canada. He condemned Sir John A. Macdonald's action in the boundary question. He spoke in high praise of the Reform leader, Hon. Edward Blake, as an able and pure statesman. He said that Mr. Cameron deserved credit for his courage in looking the Tory dealers in timber limits straight in the eyes in the House of Commons and saying "You, and you, and you," as he pointed to them, "are guilty men." (Applause.) He admired Mr. Cameron's courage, and said his presence in the House was a necessity. (Applause.)

Moved by A. H. Manning, Clinton, seconded by D. McGillicuddy.

The Hon. Oliver Mowat and the Government of Ontario are entitled to the gratitude of the people of this Province for their able, progressive and economical administration of its affairs for so many years; for the many great measures of reform they have placed upon the statute books; and their eminent and successful efforts in the cause of provincial rights and the advancement of the prosperity of this great Province.

Mr. A. H. Manning, in a brief and eloquent speech, said a number of good things. He said that Mr. Cameron had been elected by the Clinton majority last time, and if he depended upon Clinton again, he would be certainly returned. (Applause.) He paid a high tribute to the prosperity of Ontario under Reform

Government, and eulogized Hon. A. M. Ross, the able Provincial Treasurer. No serious charge had ever been proved against the administration of Mr. Mowat and Mr. Ross. (Cheers.) He was confident of the return of Messrs. Cameron and Ross. (Applause.)

All the resolutions were unanimously and enthusiastically adopted.

Mr. D. McGillicuddy followed in a few appropriate and hopeful words. He thought that they could add a cipher to Mr. Cameron's majority and turn the 29 into 290. (Laughter and applause.) Hon. A. M. Ross was the man for the position he held, and his return by a big majority was a certainty. With such a team as Cameron and Ross we can defy the world. (Applause.)

Moved by Mr. A. McMurchie, deputy reeve of Clinton, seconded by Mr. Joseph Griffin, reeve of Ashfield.—That M. C. Cameron, M. P., be the nominee of this convention for representation in the Dominion House of Commons.

When the resolution was put, the entire delegation leaped to its feet and cheer after cheer filled the hall.

Moved by Mr. Wm. Young, ex-reeve of Colborne, seconded by Mr. J. G. Murdoch, of Ashfield.—That Hon. A. M. Ross, treasurer of Ontario, be the next standard bearer for West Huron for the Local Legislature. Carried amid tumultuous applause.

A delegation consisting of Mayor Horton and Messrs. Robert Harrison, of Ashfield, and Elijah Martin, of Goderich, was appointed to wait upon the nominees and inform them that they were the choice of the convention.

On the arrival of the candidates there was a scene of wild enthusiasm. The entire gathering arose, and cheer after cheer rent the air.

MR. CAMERON'S SPEECH.

M. C. Cameron, Q. C., M. P., in rising was greeted with cheers. He said: I thank you very cordially for this renewal of your confidence. It is a bright spot in any politician's life, and there are not many, when he finds he retains the confidence of those he represents. I am under an obligation to the people of West Huron. Four years ago I very reluctantly accepted the nomination of the Liberal party in West Huron. It was considered a forlorn hope. But the best soldiers were generally ready for the forlorn hope. I do not claim that I am the best soldier, but the Liberals of this riding proved themselves to be the best soldiers, and we wrested the constituency from the hands of the party whose interest it had been gerrymandered. (Cheers.)

I felt reluctance in entering the contest in 1882, I feel almost more reluctance now. I had about made up my mind to cease my connection with active political affairs. I have been in parliamentary life for 10 years, many of them in the shades of opposition, battling for the welfare of the country. But as time was beginning to silver my hair, I thought it was right that younger men should enter the ranks of our fighting men, and bear the standard for the Liberal party in this constituency. I had communicated this intention to others, among them the honored leader of the Reform party. That great statesman replied that he was the leader of the Reform party largely through my instrumentality, and that he relied upon my aid in the contest near at hand. In response to this I said that in my next letter, and having stood side by side with him for years, I would not now desert him in this supreme moment, when victory was at hand. (Cheers.) Today I received the following telegram from our beloved leader:

Toronto, Oct. 16, 1886.
M. C. Cameron, Q. C., M. P.
Warmest thanks for your consent. My congratulations to you.

EDWARD BLAKE.

After the applause with which the reading of the telegram was greeted had subsided, Mr. Cameron continued: Every man in this hall is acquainted with the frauds, the corruption, the speculations and the robbery of the Tory party of Canada. If this were a mixed audience, or an audience of Tories, or, as they call themselves, Liberal Conservatives, I might expose the maladministration of the Dominion Government more fully than I have need to do today. It is almost a waste of time to address a Reform Convention on these questions, yet it would perhaps be well to point out the reasons why the Liberals in the House of Commons had taken the firm stand they have shown against the Administration at Ottawa for the past seven years. Canada today stands in such a position that it becomes the plain duty of every man as a Canadian and a lover of his country to take a bold and determined stand upon the question of honesty and justice in the administration of the Government of the land. (Loud applause.)

If the affairs of the country are managed for another term of years as they have been in the past seven years by this corrupt and imbecile Government, the national debt is to be increased as it has been of late, this Canada of ours will be unworthy of any patriot. (Hear, hear.)

Let me glance briefly at this question of the national debt. In 1868, the first year of confederation, Canada's debt was $93,000,000. After six years of Tory misrule it was in 1874 $141,000,000, an increase of $48,000,000. The Reformers came into power with the debt as last named, and left office after a term of five years with an increase of $33,000,000; but $30,000,000 of this were obligations left as a legacy by their predecessors. When the Tories returned to power in 1878-9, the debt was $174,000,000. Today that debt reaches the enormous amount of $295,000,000, a further increase of $121,000,000. This condition of affairs should not be tolerated. (Hear, hear.) A country like ours cannot stand such a strain long. The defeat of the Mackenzie Government was an injury to the country. Mr. Mackenzie has been hounded by the Conservatives as a dishonest man; although today even their Chieflain has been forced to admit publicly that the ex-premier was an honest politician. (Cheers.)

The annual expenditure of the Dominion is also an exhibition of Tory mismanagement and extravagance. In 1868 the annual expenditure was $13,000,000. In 1874 it was $22,500,000, an increase of $9,500,000 in six years. After five years of a Reform Government, Mr. Mackenzie left the annual expenditure at about the same rate as it was when he assumed office. This year the annual expenditure has reached $35,000,000, an increase of over $17,000,000 from 1878 to 1886.

In 1868 the tariff was 17 1/2 per cent, now it reaches 35 per cent; yet last year in spite of the high tariff there was a deficit of $2,357,000. This year the deficit is unknown, although there will likely be one. There is an interesting exhibit of Tory financial management. We were assured in 1878, when the Tories returned to power, that everything would be prosperous and flourishing. They actually claimed that the price of wheat would be increased for the farmer. Well, wheat then commanded $1.25; to day it is 72c, a bushel. If the Tories are satisfied with that change in price, well and good. (Laughter and applause.) It is not hard to satisfy some of them. (Renewed laughter.)

Under the Tory Government at Ottawa there has been a most systematic and gigantic fraud in the management of our affairs from the Atlantic to the Pacific. There has been a regular and wholesale stealing from the public purse by that Government and its supporters, in the way of favoritism in contracts, timber limits, and the peddling of railway charters. I was dared in the press to make these charges on the floor of the House; but I did so, and up to the present hour no full and satisfactory contradiction has been made by the guilty members of Parliament, simply because they could not do so. (Cheers.)

I have repeated every charge in the House of Commons, and have given the page in the Blue books for each of the recipients of timber limits. The most powerful defence some of them could set up was to question the accuracy of their own blue books. (Laughter and applause.)

No only have they been guilty of public speculation and private stealing, but the Tory members have contrived to get into snug Government berths every degree of family relation, from a brother or cousin, or brother-in-law, down even to a forty-second Scotch cousin. (Loud laughter.) The nepotism of the Tory party is notorious.

Right at home there is Mr. Farrow, with a brother in the customs, and two sons in Government positions as mail clerks; and any son under age will be given a Government place, if the Tory Administration is not defeated before he attains his majority. (Laughter.)

Sir John A. Macdonald is not free from nepotism. He has a brother-in-law superannuated, and he has in office a nephew, and the nephew of his wife. His son Hugh Macdonald, and young Tompa were appointed collectors of the C. P. R. land department, with a salary of $5,000 a year each, simply because they were their fathers' sons. Lady Macdonald had also been presented with a diamond necklace by the C. P. R. Syndicate.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell has given public positions and money to a son, the son's father-in-law, two brothers-in-law, and a brother.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau has three brothers, besides other relatives, feeding at the public crib.

Sir Hector Langevin has looked after the interest of every Langevin and every relative of a Langevin in need of a position.

Hon. John Costigan's relatives, like Hon. Mr. McLellan's, are faring well at the public expense.

Sir Leonard Tilley has not less than sixteen relatives at the crib. (Laughter.) Amidst considerable merriment Mr. Cameron read the list of the ex-Finance Minister's relatives. When the list of relatives runs out, said the speaker, the wife's relatives are taken up, and so the shameful nepotism goes on extending until it reaches a degree that is disgusting to contemplate.

But this is merely a part of the extravagance and of the waste. The public offices at Ottawa are crammed with civil servants, for many of whom offices have been specially created. You cannot live long in Ottawa without jostling against some of these personages. We are compelled to pay large sums yearly for extra clerks. In 1878, when Hon. A. Mackenzie quitted office, there were 493 Government employees in Ottawa. In 1885 there were 812. Salaries had increased from $5,613 to $723,487.

During the last year $200,000 has been paid toward the support of the Conservative press, from the Montreal Gazette to the Goderich Star. Among some of the papers getting an extra share of pap the following deserve to be quoted:—

|--------------------|----------------|
| Montreal Gazette | $13,000 |
| Toronto Mail | 11,000 |
| Hamilton Spectator | 7,000 |

POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE.

The Press, Politics and Party Leaders.

From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

The public reputation by Sir John A. Macdonald, in his speech at London, of responsibility for the opinion expressed by the chief newspapers of the Conservative party is naturally an interesting topic of discussion; and the subsequent action of the Toronto Mail in declaring itself to be no longer a strictly party paper has given increased interest to the subject.

But whatever may have caused the Mail's recent departure, we hail it with real satisfaction, not because of any party advantages it may bring, but because of its comparative little moment to the public—is an event of the first importance in the history of Canadian journalism.

And then it is only just to say that while the Liberal Press of the country has in the past proved itself to be more independent than the Conservative Press, the same is true of the Provincial Press of both political parties, as compared with the Metropolitan, or city press.

SCOTT ACT CONVENTION.

East Huron Temperance Workers' Council.

Last Wednesday afternoon a temperance convention of persons interested in this noble cause was held in the Town Hall, Brussels, the President Rev. A. Y. Hartley, of Bluevale, in the chair.

At this juncture of the meeting a telegram was sent to the Attorney General asking if a writ could be issued to appoint a Police Magistrate for the riding, without salary.

Reports of progress were made by the vice-presidents from each municipality in the matter of local organization in the shape of electoral unions.

Moved, seconded and carried, that we adopt the platform of the Dominion Alliance in reference to Electoral Unions, and that Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, of Toronto, be invited to deliver the address.

A public meeting was held in the evening, and the Town Hall was well filled with an attentive and very appreciative audience.

The meeting was, without doubt, the best held in Brussels for the past 10 years, and good cannot help but result from it.

First, get your gun and load it. Put the powder in first and the shot on top. Of course, when you have emptied your gun, and are in a hurry to get in another shot, load it vice versa.

When you are in the field always carry your gun with both hands set—there is no knowing when you may flush game.

AN INDIAN LEGEND.

How the Nisqually Tribe Was Saved from Extinction.

The Great Beast with an Evil Eye—The Saviour of the Tribe—Evil Wrought by the Curiosity of a Woman—A Strange and Fantastic Story.

Always having felt an interest in the aborigines of this Territory I made it a point in early times to gain all the information I could of their origin and habits.

A great many years ago—so many that I cannot enumerate them—the tribe became so numerous that they ate up all the game and fish, and then they turned cannibals.

Nothing but pure extracts from plants and herbs were used in preparing McGregor's Lung Compound, the modern and now popular remedy for Colds, Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.

A slim young man in the height of fashion was violently sneezing in a car, when a companion remarked, "Aw, Charles, dear boy, how d'ye catch that dreadful cold."

The Dimensions of Heaven.

A popular periodical publishes the following interesting paragraph, the idea being to endeavor to show in some way the dimensions of heaven.

Twelve thousand furlongs equal 7,920,000 feet, which, being cubed, is 496,793,088,000,000,000 cubic feet.

"Well, well—the world must turn upon its axis, and all mankind turn with its head or tail; And live and die, make love and pay our taxes."

After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Toothache, Headache, Lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly.

When we say McGregor's Speedy Cure is the only perfect cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion and Impure Blood, we are telling plain facts.

Nothing but pure extracts from plants and herbs were used in preparing McGregor's Lung Compound, the modern and now popular remedy for Colds, Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.

Freeman's Worm Powders are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children or adults.

"HANG THE BABY."

"Then you won't go, Alice?" "No, Herbert—I am so sorry—but the baby!"

"O, hang the baby!" and Herbert flung out of the room, slamming the door behind him.

Alice stood looking at the door, growing whiter and whiter. Then she gave a heart-breaking cry, and fell on her knees by the cradle, and hid her face in her hands, sobbing bitterly.

She had looked forward so long to this particular party. It was given by Mrs. Mountjoy, one of the leaders of society, and all that was eminent in politics, diplomacy or literature, as well as distinguished in the fashionable world, were sure to be there.

Herbert had said such beautiful things in her trusting girlishhood. "Never should their lives run in separate channels, as those of some married people of their acquaintance did—never a joy be accepted that did not make them one—never a barrier should come between them."

fra. "It won't do to let him get the upper hand. Ah! I have it! I've thought of a splendid plan. A charming, delightful plot."

And she clasped her hands in prayer. "O, Mabel, what is it?" and Alice sat down at her sister's feet, gazing in her face with expectant smiles. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm not going to do it. I shall stay here and watch the baby. You are to go to the party."

"Mabel! Impossible!" "Quite possible. In fact, it must be done. You must let Herbert see that you are as pretty as anybody, and quite as much to be admired. It is decided. You are to go to the party and play a part. Let me arrange the program."

"But, Mabel, I haven't a dress prepared—or anything. I gave up going a week ago, you see, when baby was threatened with the croup."

"Pshaw! You shall wear one of mine—one of the most bewitching, bewilderment of dresses—bought from my last allowance from Uncle Curtis. Only to see it will throw you into ecstasies. Worth never composed any thing more lovely. I want to see it on you. Come, come, call your maid; I am all impatience. We'll shame your bad husband into good behavior, see if we don't. No irresolution. I will stay at home and fancy myself mistress here, and count your pictures, vases and pretty things and catalogue them, so as to make mamma happy with a letter tomorrow.

Order John, or Jack, or Bill, or whoever your coachman is, to get the carriage—if that is impossible, send for a cab."

Herbert, like many handsome society men, was a little spoiled and selfish, without knowing it. He loved Alice devotedly; but he was not unwilling to receive the sweet smiles and honeyed words of others, while, with a man's inconsistency, he was not desirous that his wife should play the part of a married belle. It was while he was dancing with one of the most noted and beautiful women of the metropolis, who was willing to listen to his nonsense, that Herbert, looking up from the face leaning against his shoulder, while the dreamy waltz music "thrilled the heart sensitive to sadness as to joy," encountered the sparkling face of his wife and saw her arrayed in the freshest and most graceful costume in the room. She was moving quietly along with an escort in uniform.

"Pray, don't stumble," said his partner pettishly, for at that moment the grand repose of her manner was gone, and the lady on his arm might have been made of wax or any other ductile material for all he cared now.

"How the dickens came she here?" he muttered to himself as he led his partner absent to a seat, deaf to all her pretty words, blinded to her fascinations. It certainly is Alice—but that dress—the prettiest thing here! And I left her quiet determining not to come. I don't understand it. Dancing with that puppy, Guineet, too! She knows I hate him!"

rupture but for the determined calmness of Alice, who took everything as a matter of course. One glance in the beautiful nursery unsealed his eyes. There, by the fire, sat Mabel in all the abandon of a neglected toilet, her luxuriant tresses falling in glossy freedom over her shoulders, while the little fellow on her lap clutched at one long, shining curl, crowed and laughed as well as he could for aunt's smothering kisses. A sudden revulsion of feeling came to the father's heart at the sight of the sweet home picture.

"Ah! I know who contrived the plot!" he said. "But I am glad to see you, nevertheless."

"Wasn't she the belle of the ball?" asked Mabel, saucily. "There's no doubt of that. At any rate, I didn't get a chance to dance with her."

"Of course. Who ever heard in society of dancing with one's wife?" she said, sarcastically. "I see that she followed my directions implicitly. You must learn that a house divided against itself can not stand—that is, if one half is flirting at a party and the other half at home crying her eyes out."

"O, Alice—were you, really?" "I should think so, were I as sure you that I myself saw half the house dissolved in tears, and so wretched that—"

"O, Mabel, do hush!" said Alice, imploringly. "Traitor, do you turn on me?" exclaimed Mabel, with mock displeasure. "My child," she went on, tossing the crowing cherub, "tell your selfish papa that he also has some obligations, and that, if you had known that you were to be the bone of contention in this family, you'd have staid in the garden of angels, where you were wanted."

And that night she tapped on the door of Alice's room and looked gaily in. "Wasn't I right?" she asked.

And she was right, for Herbert was strongly affected by this audacious outburst; but it had the effect of leading him to see his duty in a new light. It taught him to reflect; it opened his eyes to his selfishness and made him, from that evening, a better and more considerate husband. Six months after that time Alice was dressed for a party. But this time the party was to be given in her own house and in honor of Mabel's marriage. Even the bride did not look lovelier; for nothing now ever occurred to mar Alice's happiness; and happiness, after all, is the best preservative of beauty.—Detroit Tribune.

HIGHLY DEMONSTRATED. Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Go to a drug store and buy a 10 cent or 25 cent bottle. Polson's Nerviline. BAKING LOVE'S ASHES.

"My cousin, Miss Eden, Mr. Scott." "Such an introduction is not necessary, Bertie. It is not so long since Mr. Scott and I were friends, that I am not likely to be forgotten by you."

And the graceful belle held out a white hand, at the same time giving Lee Scott a very gracious smile.

He bent quickly over the jeweled fingers, then relinquished them. "I have not forgotten," was all he said. But something in his even tones, something in his gray eyes, made a slight color come slowly into Miss Eden's fair cheeks for a moment, as she stood there in the summer sunset.

Had he too vivid a memory of that hour spent by them once beside the sea, when, in answer to his spoken love she whispered her own, and the world seemed fair as a paradise to them? It was only three years before, and she had not forgotten.

Did the calm words mean that he remembered as well another hour, scarcely a month later, in which she claimed her freedom, and gave back his ring because a hoary millionaire had suddenly become her sutor?

She could read nothing in his calm face, as he stood on the wide veranda beside her and exchanged commonplace with the woman who had once been his promised wife.

"It was too bad that I broke with him," she told herself, "but I was sure that I could obtain old Norcross's million. Who would dream that little May Jackson would walk off with the prize. And now Lee has inherited his fine estate adjoining aunt's, he has forgotten his old fancy for me."

But whether or not he had she could not discover in the half hour he spent with herself and cousin on the veranda.

Before leaving he invited them both for a sail on the narrow, which made her hopeful.

with gentleness in his own, spoke quietly to Lasca.

"Since the pain is past, why speak of it?" he questioned. "I will prove how truly you are forgiven by me by taking you into my confidence. It is the hope of my heart to some time call you cousin."

The fair face paled, grew suddenly ashen eyes under that faint shadow of primrose cast on it by the firing of the parol.

"Is it—Bertie?" Miss Eden managed to ask evenly. And as he bent his head, she turned her eyes away. "She is good and true; worthy of your love. Heaven grant that you both may be happy!" she said in unflinching tones.

And he did not know that she was looking, with aching heart and burning eyes, on the dead ashes of the love which she had hoped to win back to living flame.

"Sing another of your ballads for us, please, Mr. Scott," Bertie said, presently, after a silence.

And Lasca stood up suddenly in the boat, "Wait until you have changed places with me cousin," she said.

While the change was being effected, Lasca, in passing her cousin, left a light kiss on her cheek.

"You are very pale, Lasca," Bertie said, with solicitude. But Lasca smiled as she took the seat her cousin had vacated.

I never had such bloom as yours, dear," was her reply. Then Lee began his song, and as it swelled out clear and free, ringing far over the sunlit waters, Lasca Eden bowed her golden head and her lips moved in—prayed, was it?

SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofula. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting result than any medicine I have used.—E. Haines, No. 14ndale, O.

CAMERON AND ROSS.

And so on down to the Tory organ in this town. The Tory lawyers have also been provided for, some $100,000 having been put in the way of Government supporters who were anxious to render legal services to the administration. If I cannot prove everything I charge against the Government in the way of unnecessary or unfair expenditure, then I will withdraw from West Huron and let a Tory take my place. (Cheers.)

Mr. Cameron then went on to show the number of Tory members of parliament who were making money out of the bonuses given to railways by the Government of which they were supporters. In 1884 the Government granted $8,976,000 in railway bonuses. Of this, Ontario received $637,000, while the other provinces got $8,339,000. In 1885 $7,999,300 more were given in bonuses. Ontario got $409,300, and the other provinces $7,590,000. In 1886 about $10,000,000 were given in bonuses, divided principally among ministers or followers of the Government. Hon. Messrs. Cameron, Chapleau and Pope had got enormous sums for roads in which they were interested. Hon. F. White's brother and Hon. H. Langevin's relatives had also got vast sums. Peter White, Darby Bering, James Beatty (the Boy), Hector Cameron, Dr. Ferguson, John Haggart, S. Hesson, Dickson, Rykert, Dr. Hickey, Dalton McCarthy (the Bachelor), J. G. Abbott, Chas. McIntosh, J. J. G. Abbott, Patrick Burns and other members have been getting bonuses in money and lands, chiefly in money, for railways in which they were interested. It has been a most shameful system of brokerage. Now, I ask the people of this country, can you expect an honest parliament, can you expect honest legislation, and honest expenditure of public moneys, can you expect anything else but corruption and plunder, when members of the crown and members of parliament vote sums of money into their own pockets in so shameful a manner? (Applause.) As well might you expect to get a pure stream from an impure fountain; or to turn darkness to daylight when the mid-day sun was shining. (Applause.) These men cannot do anything else than they are doing because they are bought. Tory jobbers hanging around the doors of parliament at Ottawa have been given timber lands in the disputed territory. If the Ontario Government does not do something to check this plundering of the Province, then I ask, will they never again receive my support. (Cheers.)

But the corruption has not been confined to railway bonuses, timber lands, coal lands, grazing lands, mineral lands in the Northwest, and timber reserves in the disputed territory. Other avenues have opened to the greed of the Tory member of parliament. There are other ways by which the "Boodle Brigade" captures spoils. Donald McMaster trades his professional and political influence with the Government so that violators of the customs laws may escape a fine, and in some cases, get it. Chapleau, or some of his immediate friends, gets $10,000 for handling a claim against the Government by Ripley & Smith. S. Hesson, gets two sons in the customs house, and a brother-in-law a timber limit. Dalton McCarthy gets a brother appointed a judge; and also a brother-in-law a judge. John Whyte's "Blind Shares" is a notorious specimen of venality and political barter.

The Mail on Thursday last contained the following editorial item:—"The Tories who are yet permitted to possess a character must look out. I say in reply to the Mail, and I say to the Tory members of parliament, that I don't know a single one of them who has a character to lose. (Laughter and applause.) Their characters are all gone long ago. (Renewed laughter.) These men disputed my facts, and when I showed them that the statements were contained in the blue books, they actually disputed the correctness of their own blue books. That's rather hard on Government books. (Laughter and applause.)"

I now come to the "testimonial" phase of parliamentary corruption. A contractor named James Goodwin, (now dead, and I trust at peace), had a claim of $10,000 against the department of Public Works. He subscribed $1,000 towards a testimonial to a cabinet minister, and got $5,374 for his claim—a rather good investment for his $1,000. H. T. Boomer had a similar claim. He gave $1,000 and got $5,000. Charles Lewis tendered for a C. P. R. contract, and was rejected on the ground that having failed on a previous contract, he had no right by law to get any new contract. He subscribed $1,000 and got the contract for new parliamentary buildings. A man named Clemons had for years been casting anxious eyes on a Senatorship, and couldn't get it. He subscribed $1,000 to a testimonial, and now is basking on the crimson seats among the ghosts in that place of political decrepitude. (Laughter.)

Amidst uproarious laughter he described how with a $42,000 house and $15,000 a year, Sir Chas. Tupper, our High Commissioner to Great Britain, had been piling up costs as "extras." The inventory of these extras was as follows:—Carpets, $1,200; refrigerator, $900; (two) baby's cot; 3 doz port glasses, 3 doz sherry glasses, 4 doz champagne glasses, 4 doz tumblers, 4 quart decanters, 4 pint decanters, 2 quart glasses, 8 Carafes, 8 other decanters. All was done in lordly style, but what do the temperance electors think of it? (Laughter and applause.) $500,000 was annually spent in emigration by the Dominion Government, and three fourths of the money was actually thrown away. The emigration agents did not send out the class of men we need in this country, men who are willing to go out into the forest, and the broad prairies and new out or plough away a home and competence for themselves. But they sent out persons taken from the gutters and the noxiousness of London and other large cities of England and Ireland, and even the Mail had to cry out against the class of emigrants who were crowded into Conway street, Toronto. We also sent out persons taken from Paris. For five years all that these French emigration agents have been able to do besides drawing their snug salaries, has been to send out one emigrant. (Laughter.)

The Chinese question has been handled by the Government in a way; that is, they had a commission appointed, with Hon. Mr. Chapleau and Nicholas Flood Davin in it. They issued a report of their work, but the only thing of note in all the pages of that costly blue book was the way in which they told that they had not time to visit the public schools of British Columbia, but they had spent one evening in a house of prostitution. (Shame.)

A deputy-speaker was appointed to favor a man who had been promised a cabinet position, but who dare not face his constituents, and Mr. Daly got an extra $2,000. Martin J. Griffin, an editor of the Mail, by his abusive writing had made himself obnoxious even to his own party, and he was made a "joint-librarian"—one was enough before—at a salary of $3,000 a year.

The Franchise Act will cost the country about $1,000,000. We all know how it has cost us heavily in West Huron to look after the lists, apart from the regular expense through the officials. And what is the need of it? Why, they see the absurdity of the thing, and even the Mail says that it is too expensive and ought to be repealed. (Cheers.)

The very thing we were fighting against for three long months, the Tories now admit is wrong. (Applause.) They will soon be taking credit to themselves for doing away with this obnoxious bill. Whenever the Tories find anything unsatisfactory, they turn around and adopt our platform, and claim it as their own. (Laughter.)

I now come to Indian questions. It costs us annually to keep our red-men some $1,125,000. I pointed out in the House several times that the money was being given to the men in a way which there was as a rule men who were wholly unfit for the position. I pointed out that one English snob was living in open adultery with three young Indian squaws right under the shadow of the mission house. I pointed out also that many of the men who were in the mission schools were being sold to lewd fellows for sums ranging from $15 to $20. These charges were never answered. When I was 24 hours out of Ottawa, Sir John A. Macdonald said he would answer them in a pamphlet, but he has not done so, and he never will, because the terrible charges cannot be successfully answered. (Cheers.)

Lieutenant Governor Dewdney had said that the expenses in feeding and clothing the Indians were only $454,000, and could only account for that amount. I asked in Parliament if the government would account for the other $600,000? (Applause.) These Indians had been abused and neglected. Some had been starved to death, and others frozen to death. Clergymen of all the religions, and of various sects, Protestant and Catholic, had remonstrated with the authorities. Want of good food had caused disease, and the disease had developed into an epidemic. The money voted by Parliament was being stolen. By Indian Treaty No. 6, $27,420 had been given to the Indians for agricultural implements, and only 4,618 acres were under cultivation. (Laughter.) The Indians under Treaty No. 4 numbering some 6,886, cultivated 1000 acres, and the Indian account for three years is charged with implements, etc., costing $27,441. One band in one year had bought for them 50 plows, 320 hayforks, and 320 scythes; and in the following year 63 plows, 140 scythes, 140 forks; and the year after $2,209 were spent for plows, and $5,490 for implements. (Loud laughter.)

In three years $337 had been spent in agricultural implements for Indians. In one year $26,312 was paid for the travelling expenses of Indian agents. Why, if every Indian agent in the service of the Government were to travel continually, and do nothing else, the real cost of traveling would be as high as that. (Applause.) Here are some curious items:—Sik handkerchief for agent 90c; (laughter); repairing boots $7.75; foot ball $5; magic lantern $84.15; Venetian blinds for office, $453; superintending Indians fishing, $135.16. Why, gentlemen, an Indian agent would be about fishing than any white "instructor" can tell him. (Laughter and applause.)

In three years one Indian band was charged with $2,029 for garden seeds; enough to stock every garden from Winnipeg to the Rockies. It took $7,500,000 to crush the late rebellion caused by the Tories. Now, I do not justify the rebellion, but I say this, and I say it boldly as I said it on the floor of the House, that if any rebellion was justifiable that half breed rebellion was. For seven years these poor half breeds had petitioned the Government for redress, but no reply was given them. Missionaries of every religion had besought the Government to do something for these unfortunate people; but no answer, no satisfaction was given to these remonstrances. The Northwest council, a sort of local parliament, had solemnly resolved, by the assembly of the half breeds had wrongs that needed to be redressed; and still there was no reply. The mounted police officers for three years in every report they made, drew the attention of the Government to the need of righting these wrongs. Mr. Pierce, an Indian commissioner, also asked that the appeals of the half breeds should be heard and settled. To all of these requests—these warnings—the Government turned a deaf ear, and it was not until these cheated and neglected men got behind their Sleds and their Winchesters, and the atmosphere fairly vibrated with the sound of the gathering storm, and the echo of musketry and the deep thunder of the artillery boomed along the Saskatchewan, coursed down the Red River, and reverberated eastward till it was echoed and echoed in the corridors of the startled House of Commons in Ottawa, that the Government awoke—awoke like Rip Van Winkle after his twenty years' sleep, to find only the broken stock and rusted barrel of his gun, and the skeleton of his dog. (Loud applause.)

The rebellion had been provoked by cruel and callous neglect. The Mail admitted that. But what did the Government say when they saw that the fire of rebellion had got into the prairie? Did they say we have been neglecting these half breeds? Did they say to the half-breeds, you have been wronged; lay down your arms, and the justice that is given to you? No. After the outbreak, a commission was sent up, and some of the wrongs were righted by 2,000 words. Being issued to the half-breeds south of Clarke's Crossing; but at the same time the rifles and cannons and the galling were doing the Government's work north of that point. And so I say, that if ever a Government was responsible for a rebellion, and should be tried, convicted, sentenced and executed, it is the man whom I arraigned in the House of Parliament, and whom I today arraign before my constituents. (Cheers.) Do they deserve support? (No, no.) And I say most emphatically, No. The news we get from every point is encouraging. All along the line—from New Brunswick, from Nova Scotia, and last from good old Quebec (cheers)—the provinces are stepping into place. The fields are whitening for the harvest, and at the next election we will come home rejoicing bearing the laurels of victory with us. (Applause.)

I could touch upon other points, but time permit, and when I get the Tories before me I will not fail to touch them. (Laughter.) A Government cannot be good all over the country while it is bad all over the world. (Applause.) The history of that little incident which recently occurred in the Senate, is one that illustrates the tactics adopted by the Premier to keep himself in power. It is a disgraceful page. Sir John A. Macdonald gave a promise to Hon. John A. Macdonald, that he would resign the Cabinet. A certain portion of the community, powerful in the Tory party, objected. Sir John at once sat down and wrote a letter to the Catholic bishops saying it would not do to put Mr. O'Donohue in just then, but that arrangements would be made to appoint Senator Frank Smith in Mr. O'Donohue's place, and the former would make way for the latter "when they thought the time opportune." O'Donohue got a seat in the Senate, but he was deceived about the Cabinet seat, and so were the bishops. And I say to the Catholics of West Huron, whether they are Irish, or Scotch, or German, they will be unworthy of their names if they do not resent this insult. (Applause.) All creeds and races can join in fraternal sympathy to work and vote for an honest, truthful and consistent man like Hon. Edward Blake. (Cheers.)

And now, in conclusion, I confidently and earnestly ask all before me, in this stormy hour of Canadian history, to hurl from place and power those men who for eight years have misruled the country, and to have the central power restored to be sure to divide the resources of the country between their camp-fellows and dead-beat supporters. (Applause.) Put these men from power, and hand the government of the country over to Hon. Edward Blake, the most able, eloquent, and consistent statesman like Hon. Edward Blake. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

MR. ROSS'S SPEECH.

Hon. A. M. Ross on coming forward was greeted with applause, he said as his remarks he would be very brief in his hour late. He thanked the convention for their unanimous nomination. The reformers of West Huron had great reason to be proud of their record and the advance that reform principles were making in the Riding. When the redistribution was made in 1874 and a third member given to Huron, the West Riding was looked upon as the most doubtful of the three; indeed the Tories had looked on the place as safe for their party but the Reformers carried it by a fair majority, electing him by a majority of 94. We had carried it by increased majorities at the two succeeding elections and he was satisfied that, with the same zeal and earnest work, we would carry it at the following election by a larger majority than we had on any occasion. When Sir John carved up Huron by his gerrymander bill of 1881 and hived all the Grits, as he thought, in South Huron, he thought he had made a safe Tory seat in the West, but he did not reckon on the plot of the West Huron Reformers. Changing Mr. Cameron for their standard bearer, they had captured and held for four years the supposed Tory stronghold and under the same captain they intended to hold it for another five years. The occasion was such a high tide, he thought appropriate that he should give some account of his stewardship and review some of the legislative and administrative work since the last election. Time however, would not permit him to do so. He could just touch upon some of the work he had done in the Department. The great industry of Agriculture, under his charges Commissioner of Agriculture, and he had endeavored in all cases to meet the views of advanced agriculturists in every thing that might tend to benefit the farmer. At their request he had framed and passed a more stringent law for the destruction of noxious weeds; also one for the greater protection against the spread of infectious diseases in animals. He had, last session, amended and consolidated into one act the acts bearing upon agriculture. He had made important changes in the management of the Agricultural College, which he was sure would popularize that institution. He had appointed an Advisory Board of practical farmers to assist him in managing the college and, and had made that Board non-political; and he hoped by these means to free the institution from the political attacks to which it had sometimes been subjected. He had recognized the growing importance of our dairy industry by appointing a Professor of Dairying and establishing a model creamery at the farm, where all who desired to take up this co-operative system of butter-making might be instructed in the most improved methods of manufacture. He had established farmers' institutes, or farmers' associations for mutual improvement and discussion, and the success which had attended them had been beyond his expectations. Health matters were also under his charge, and he thought he could point with pride to the splendid work done last year by the Provincial Board in protecting the Province from the spread of that loathsome disease, small pox, which had so seriously stricken the sister Province of Quebec. In his capacity as Treasurer he thought he had maintained the character of the Mowat Government for economical administration. No opponent of the Mowat Government had attempted to charge the Government with any dishonesty, and the contrast between the financial record of that Administration and that of Sir John Macdonald, which Mr. Cameron had just been laying before them, ought to be noted by the people. He saw that in the contest in Quebec, on many platforms the economical administration of the Reform Government in Ontario was contrasted strongly with the more lavish and expensive Tory administration in Quebec, and Reformers ought to be proud of that contrast had helped the cause of Liberalism in that Province. He would give them some of the points of comparison both with Quebec and with the period of civil government, which expenditure had increased. In 1873, the year Mr. Mowat took office, the expenditure was $1,731,750; in 1885, $3,155,652; or an increase of $1,423,902—equal to 82 per cent. In the Dominion the expenditure in 1873 was $19,174,648; in 1885, $35,037,084; or an increase of $15,862,436—equal to 83 per cent. During the same period civil government, which included all the salaries and contingencies of the Departments, had increased in Ontario 5 per cent; in Quebec 40 per cent and in the Dominion 51 per cent. Legislation had increased in Ontario 5 per cent and in Quebec 13 per cent. At Winchester, Springs, was still making that same bald comparison of the total expenditure of 1871 under Sandfield Macdonald and the expenditure now, without giving his hearers the particulars of the increase—which his own lieutenants in the House have admitted to be useless and unfair. That increased expenditure was in reality a distribution to the municipalities of moneys not required for other purposes of Government. He would give them some of the items. We were giving now $242,258 a year more to schools, $83,215 more to agriculture, $54,161 more to hospitals, $442,147 more to relieve the localities from the care of the insane, the blind and the deaf and dumb, paying over to the county treasurers $50,874 more towards local administration of justice, and in 1885, $1,215,000 more to roads in the county of $4,333; in 1885 there were 95, costing $11,800. Of blind the Government took charge of none in 1871; in 1885 there were 6 costing $1,251. Of deaf and dumb there were 3 in 1871, costing $925; and in 1885 11, costing $1,813. They were aware that the central power and reformatory were established to relieve the municipalities from the maintenance of short term prisoners. In 1871 the Government was not relieving the county of any of these. In 1885 there were 4 costing $633. In 1871 the grants to schools in Huron were $85,954; in 1885 the county got $118,864. In 1871 the county did not receive a dollar for mechanics' institutes; in 1885 it got $2,052. The grants to agricultural schools in 1871 were $1,400; but we are giving $2,100 now. In all these matters the Government has increased the county of Huron was now receiving $15,934 a year more than in 1871; or the county had got since Mr. Mowat increased these grants $180,851 more than if they had been continued at the same amount as in 1871. Now, Mr. Meredith condemns the increase in the Dominion, and he would reduce these grants if he were in power. He (Mr. Ross) doubted if the people of Huron would approve of that policy. (Applause.) Before leaving financial matters he wished to refer to some very extraordinary charges in the account of the Provincial Treasurer as in the past, and prophesied that, if they did so, victory awaited the cause of Reform in this section by larger majorities than ever before. (Loud and prolonged applause.)

fully settled. He reminded his hearers that while Mr. Mowat had been charged by his opponents with keeping this question open for political purposes, he declared that the reference to the Privy Council should cover all the points at issue, but Sir John refused to submit the boundary between the Northwest Territory and Ontario, or the ownership of the lands, and to put a stop to the uncertainty as to titles of land in the awarded territory, which is retarding settlement. Mr. Mowat has been compelled to bring a suit against one of the parties to whom Sir John had made grants of timber. The Court of Chancery has given decision in favor of the Province, but Sir John would not accept that decision, but took it to the Court of Appeal. The Court of Appeal also decided in favor of the Province. Still Sir John would not accept and he is carrying it to the Supreme Court. From there, I suppose he will take it to the Privy Council, but he will be beaten in the end, as he has been beaten before. And why is all this consideration and delay? It is, that he may in the meantime make use of his assumed authority to fraudulently grant these lands of the Province to his political favorites as the purchase of their support. One would have thought that after the decision of the Privy Council in 1884, awarding the territory to Ontario, he would have held his hands, but the returns to parliament show that he has actually assumed to make one hundred of these grants since that decision was made. Another reason he may have for making delay is that he knows Mr. Mowat will, so soon as the Provincial title is affirmed, repudiate all his fraudulent grants and so long as Mr. Mowat is Premier of Ontario these grants will never be confirmed, while if he could induce the electors to accept Mr. Meredith he should count on the past, and to his discredit, as in the past, and to his discredit, even if that bidding should be the despoliation and alienation of the Provincial territory. The speaker then closed with a ringing appeal to the electors of West Huron to stand shoulder to shoulder in the cause of good Government as in the past, and prophesied that, if they did so, victory awaited the cause of Reform in this section by larger majorities than ever before. (Loud and prolonged applause.)

The Harvest.—Owing to the dry season the harvest was early, a good deal of wheat being cut in July, and while the different samples are good, the yield was light in this district; but very good where there was more rain. The fall show at Whitewood on Oct. 1st, was a success. On account of the dry season the samples of garden vegetables and field roots were not so numerous as last year, but some good samples were shown, together with a good display of native fruit and pickles, butter and cheese, home made wine, and some good samples of red and yellow tomatoes, grown in the open air. While the inside show was not up to last year, there was a great improvement in the horses shown, some fine colts being on the ground; also a goodly number of cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry. There is a good deal of dissatisfaction throughout this North West on account of the way we are being used by the Dominion government. While, according to the census (which, if it was all taken like it was here, was not the true number in the N. W. at that time), we had a population of some twenty odd thousand whites, besides Indians. According to the standard of British Columbia, we are entitled to more than four members; a half a lot being better than none, but Sir John stated while in this country that there would not be an election before the general elections, therefore in all probability this country will not be represented for another year. There is also an agitation to form a Provincial government instead of the present N. W. Council, which is needed, as by all accounts some money goes where it ought not to. To give an example, last Christmas, when the members of the Council dispersed, there was money to give each member, about $400 being devoted to the agricultural societies in their districts; but in Sept. they each received $100 from the Lieut. Governor, also a statement that that was all the funds. Where did the balance go to? Whitewood and this district received a flying visit from Sir Richard Cartwright a short time since. He is the owner of 10,000 acres in this settlement. The country has been deluged by eastern M.P.'s this summer, most of whom passed through on a Pullman, and will know no more about this country than before they came. A. B. P.

NORTHWEST TERRITORY.

Clearings from the New Land.—More Government Peculation.

MONTGOMERY, N. W. T., Oct. 20, 1886.

To the Editor of The Signal.

Sir,—I suppose a little news from this country will be of interest to your numerous readers, therefore I send a few items.

The Harvest.—Owing to the dry season the harvest was early, a good deal of wheat being cut in July, and while the different samples are good, the yield was light in this district; but very good where there was more rain.

The fall show at Whitewood on Oct. 1st, was a success. On account of the dry season the samples of garden vegetables and field roots were not so numerous as last year, but some good samples were shown, together with a good display of native fruit and pickles, butter and cheese, home made wine, and some good samples of red and yellow tomatoes, grown in the open air. While the inside show was not up to last year, there was a great improvement in the horses shown, some fine colts being on the ground; also a goodly number of cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry.

There is a good deal of dissatisfaction throughout this North West on account of the way we are being used by the Dominion government. While, according to the census (which, if it was all taken like it was here, was not the true number in the N. W. at that time), we had a population of some twenty odd thousand whites, besides Indians. According to the standard of British Columbia, we are entitled to more than four members; a half a lot being better than none, but Sir John stated while in this country that there would not be an election before the general elections, therefore in all probability this country will not be represented for another year.

There is also an agitation to form a Provincial government instead of the present N. W. Council, which is needed, as by all accounts some money goes where it ought not to. To give an example, last Christmas, when the members of the Council dispersed, there was money to give each member, about $400 being devoted to the agricultural societies in their districts; but in Sept. they each received $100 from the Lieut. Governor, also a statement that that was all the funds. Where did the balance go to?

Whitewood and this district received a flying visit from Sir Richard Cartwright a short time since. He is the owner of 10,000 acres in this settlement.

The country has been deluged by eastern M.P.'s this summer, most of whom passed through on a Pullman, and will know no more about this country than before they came. A. B. P.

A POON POTATO CRAB.—A farmer near Benmiller planted a half acre of potatoes this year, and got a return of one pair full of the "murphies." He doesn't think much of the season so far as potatoes are concerned.

About a week ago Wm. Cruise, of lot 1, con. 3, E.D. Colborne, discovered a curiosity in the shape of a bird's nest suspended by a string between the limbs of a tree. The string was manufactured by the bird from cotton and wool, and showed considerable ingenuity. The curiosity is on view at Mr Cruise's house.

The many friends of Dr. March Green and his esteemed wife, will regret to learn of the death of their second daughter, Maud, from diphtheria, in their new home, Grinnell City, Iowa. Mr Green was at one time a resident of Goderich.

Goderich Township.

Geo. Green, of the Bayfield con., was presented with an address and a pair of gold rimmed spectacles, and his wife with a valuable silver butter dish and knife, on the eve of their removal to a farm near Goderich. Mr Green has been a class leader and S. S. superintendent for some years, and he and family carry with them the best wishes of their old neighbors.

DEATH OF MR WM. McDONALD.—The following obituary notice from the Galt Reformer refers to a son of the late Wm. McDonald, of Port's Hill, and a brother of Capt. McDonald and Mrs. Joseph McCuskey, of this township:—This gentleman, who had been confined to his house for the past few months, from disease of the liver and kidneys, passed away on Sunday evening last, in the 52nd year of his age. The deceased was a native of the North of Scotland, but came to this country when quite young, his father's family settling in the county of Huron. Some thirty years ago he took up his residence in Galt, and was resident of this town up till the time of his death. He was a stone cutter by trade, and for many years worked for the late John Scott, of the Galt marble works. Being a skillful workman he had from time to time charge of several important public works, and was foremost at the building of the International bridge at Buffalo, and of the Grand Trunk bridge at Gannanquo. He was also employed on the Welland canal for several years, and superintended various works for the Grand Trunk. Being a shrewd business man, and earning high wages, by judicious investments he accumulated a handsome competence, and leaves his family well provided for. He was a member of the town council some three years ago, and took quite an interest in municipal affairs. The deceased leaves a widow and a young family of four sons and one daughter. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon last, to the Galt cemetery.

LETTERS ON HOME RULE.—Rev. Dr. Burns will deliver his celebrated lecture on "Home Rule for Ireland" in Acheson's hall on Friday evening next, the 26th inst. We can promise a treat to all who go. We understand that among the audience will be a number of Irish Catholics from Ashfield and Wawanago, with whom the eloquent Methodist teacher, by his large heartedness and liberality of thought, is as a favorite. Dr. Burns comes west to cultivate a brotherly feeling among Canadians and British people of all creeds and classes. All creeds and classes will therefore greet him.

WRECK OF THE RATHBUN.—The schooner Rathbun struck against the north pier on Wednesday night while trying to make the harbor. Her masts were by the board, and she drifted helplessly along, and went ashore near the breakwater at the mouth of the river. She is a total wreck, the storm having broken her up badly. She had on board a cargo of 285 tons of coal for Oulivie & Hutchison. The vessel was owned by Wm. Lee, and was uninsured, as was also the cargo. The crew escaped to shore, the cook being assisted by the life boat. The Rathbun was sailed by Capt. Norman McDonald.

SCHOOL BOARD.—A special meeting of the School Board was held last Wednesday evening, Oct. 13, Mr. Malcolmsen in the chair, members all present. Moved by Mr. Ball, seconded by Mr. Nicholson, that all the teachers in the Central School be re-engaged at present salaries. Moved in amendment by Mr. Butler, seconded by Mr. Craik, that the Board advertise for teachers for all the departments of the Public Schools. The amendment was lost and the original motion carried, only one trustee dissenting. Previous to putting the motion, Inspector Tom was called upon to speak of the work in the Central School. The gentlemen spoke in the highest terms of the work in each department, and concluded by saying that he thought the B. and could not better itself by a change. Moved by Mr. Ball, seconded by Mr. Nicholson, that Miss Watson be re-engaged at $250, Miss Cooke at $225, Miss Wilson at $225, and that the remaining appointments remain over till the December meeting—carried. The Board then adjourned.

Fort Albion. W. Smale has gone to A'penna. W. W. Hawkins has gone to Blind River, Algona, for the winter. George McElen left for Saginaw recently.

Mrs. McMillan, sr., is, we are sorry to learn, seriously ill. Edward Martin has returned from a two weeks' trip through the wilds of Muskoka. Mr. Martin, who intended spending the season in hunting, reports game as being very scarce, indeed, with the exception of deer, which are not very numerous, there is nothing worth mentioning. As for fish, there are none. Wages for lumbermen vary from $16 to $24 per month, according to quality, we suppose.

The recent wind storm did considerable damage to fences, orchards, etc., in this neighborhood. Rauld Graham had one of the chimneys on his dwelling blown down. Our Kingsbridge friends were greater sufferers, the barns of Dennis Sullivan, Wm. McCarty and Simon Stiles being unroofed.

Wm. Murdoch and W. S. Gordon are adding new buildings to their property. David McGill's new house is rapidly approaching completion. It will be a credit to our thriving burgh.

Miss Emily Hillier, Goderich, and Miss Elie and Hillary Horton, Leeburn, took in our church opening and tea-meeting last week. They seemed to enjoy their trip.

D. G. McKenzie and Robt. Pickering, who have spent some months in Manitoba and Dakota, have returned, looking as hale and hearty as ever. Mr. Pickering especially seems to be greatly in love with the Northwest.

CHURCH OPENING.—On Sunday, 10th inst., our new Methodist church was opened and dedicated for service. Rev. Dr. Griffin, Guelph, preached able sermons both morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Nugent, Lucknow, conducted service very efficiently in the afternoon. On Monday evening following a grand tea-meeting was given. Tea was served in the old church, and the intellectual feast in the new one. Excellent addresses were given by the Rev. Messrs. Barnaby, Lounds, Sanderson, and Moss. Splendid music was furnished by the church choir. Proceeds for tea-meeting and collections on Sunday, over $100.

On Sunday, 17th inst., the opening services were continued, when Rev. Mr. McDowell, Wingham, occupied the pulpit morning and afternoon, and Rev. Mr. McDonald, Presbyterian minister, Ashfield, preached at night. On Monday evening, Rev. Mr. Turk, Goderich, gave his excellent lecture, "The World's Leaders," which was highly appreciated by all. The church cost $1,300, and is almost clear of debt.

Miss Scott, of Peterboro, is visiting friends in and around Saltford.

HYMNICAL.—On Thursday evening of last week a large and well selected assembly of people from all parts of the township, and from other places, collected at the house of Joseph Goldthorpe, to witness the ceremony by which his eldest daughter was united in marriage with Edward Straghan, of Colborne. Shortly after the guests had arrived the Rev. Mr. Johnson, of Goderich, stepped into the room destined for the ceremony. Soon afterwards the groom's party, accompanied by a large number of guests, arrived. The bride, leaning on her father's arm, appeared. The ceremony passed off quietly, after which the guests retired to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared. After ample justice had been done to this, the tables were cleared, and the party whiled away the time by whirling in the mazy circles of the dance until morning, when all departed wishing the bride and groom many happy years. The many and valuable presents to the bride showed in it a slight degree of levity upon which she was held by her friends. The grand parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. McLaren, were present, looking hale and hearty. (A second account, well-written, arrived after this was in type.)
