CHAPTER XXXII.

"Rosie is my mother since she is his," she tells herself in her loyal love, "and I will obey her, and be loving to her, and defend her to the utmost of my power. My home shall always be hers, and, if I had to work for my daily bread, she should—she should still—have the best I can give her. Her dear sake as well as her own."

She carries the dainty supper most carefully, and places it on a small tray.

"Thank you, James," she says, "I will take up to Lady Nora myself; I thought to sit with her for a while. Cousin Wilnot, will you and aunt have some wine or a little jelly?"

"No, thank you," Mrs. Sarjent answers, frigidly.

"I will, thank you, cousin, though we had an excellent supper at twelve," Wilnot says, cordially, helping himself, though he is neither hungry nor thirsty.

Yolande thanks him with a most graceful look, she carries off Lady Nora's supper tray.

Lady Nora has thrown off her odalisque dress, pulled off her turban and pearls and false platts, and, wrapped in her wadded silk dressing gown, is lying back moodily in a chair, gazing absent and frowningly at her dressing table, strewn with jewels and lace and withered flowers, while her

Does Baby fret?

In the majority of cases it is a question of food. Either the diet of the mother who is feeding her child is insufficient or unsuited to her peculiar need, in which case Virol will help her, or the food substituted for that living liquid is unsuitable to the needs of the child.

More than 3,000 Infant Welfare Clinics and Public Health Authorities are meeting these difficulties by supplying Virol the food specially designed by Medical Experts to meet the needs of growth and development. Virol contains those vital principles that enable the body to transform food into living tissue. Virol is such a palatable and delicate preparation that it is assimilated by the weakest digestion.

The Cancer Menace

FOURFOLD INCREASE IN SIXTY YEARS.

CHRONIC IRRITATION AS ONE OF THE CAUSES.

The melancholy fact is disclosed in a memorandum issued by the Ministry of Health that Cancer has increased fourfold in a little more than 60 years. This memorandum has been prepared in view of the great and increasing amount of suffering and death due to the disease in this country, the public concern which is evoked by its prevalence, and the failure so far to find a preventive or cure for it. The object is to summarize present knowledge with regard to the incidence of cancer and to offer for the consideration of local health authorities some suggestions which it is hoped may be useful to them in their efforts to inform public opinion on this important subject.

After reviewing the characteristic features and the natural course of the disease, the memorandum deals with the extent of cancer mortality and its increase, in a population of 87,858,443 persons in England and Wales in 1921, a total of 48,022 deaths were attributed to cancer. These figures imply that out of each average million persons 1,315 died of cancer. The death rate per 1,000 of the population attributed to Cancer in England and Wales has gradually increased since 1851-60. To some extent this fourfold increase is due to the fact that a larger proportion of the population than formerly is now of those ages at which deaths from cancer commonly occur, but, when full allowance has been made for this

Ageing of the Population

In the space of two generations, the recorded mortality has trebled. It has long been a matter for discussion, continues the memorandum, to what extent this increase has been due to improved diagnosis and more accurate certification of cause of death, but, while little doubt can exist that these facts have been contributory, it has now been recognized that they will not account for the whole of the recorded increase. During the period of 20 years from 1901 to 1921, in which cancer increased by 20 per cent, the general death-rate fell by 32 per cent, and that of infants by 45 per cent, and that from tuberculosis by 38 per cent, while substantial declines were recorded with respect to most other causes of mortality. The most rapid increase in the death-rate from cancer, according to latest available returns, is occurring in old age. Regarding proclivity to the disease, the memorandum points out that hereditary predisposition to cancer has not at present been proved to be of any practical importance in man, that it cannot be ascertained with scientific authority that the use of any particular article of food increases the liability to cancer or prevents it from appearing, that no known drug or preparation will prevent its appearance or cure it when present, and that no danger of cancer has been proved to result from inhabiting houses or districts in which cancer happens to have been exceptionally common.

There is almost dismay in her incredulous cry, for she can feel that to Lady Nora her news is neither glad nor good; and almost as she speaks Lady Nora pushes her caressing arms away coldly and rises to her feet.

"No, Yolande, dear," she replies frigidly and deliberately. "I am not glad. Why should I be glad to know that my poor boy is struggling in hopeless poverty here in London, when I know that you, his wife, who ought to consider him first of any in the world, have put it out of your power to help him in any way? Unless his father's family assist him to regain his proper position," Lady Nora adds, bitterly, "I see no hope for him but to struggle on for the best years of his life."

"Did you know," Yolande asks, staring at her and breathing fast—"did you know Dallas had returned? You don't seem surprised."

"Of course I knew he had returned," Lady Nora answers coolly, meeting the passionate flash of Yolande's eyes with a smile of defiance. "My boy was not likely to leave his mother, whom he knew loved him so dearly, without any knowledge of his whereabouts."

"And you never told me," Yolande cries, in an anguish of reproach, "though you knew that he was never out of my thoughts, that I never ceased yearning for a sight of him—for any news of him—that my heart was breaking for him!"

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often suffer from, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the Buffalo Times about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. Adams, 311 Erin Road, Medina, N. Y.

Feels Like Girl Sixteen

Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Nellie Dobey, 18 Skuse Park, Rochester, N. Y.

Special Cancer Committee or otherwise—might periodically undertake a review of such nestions as the following:—

1. Improving the local facilities for clinical consultations and for pathological examinations.
2. Improving the local facilities for cancer treatment (operating or provision of X-ray and radium apparatus) and considering the adequacy of arrangements for this purpose at hospitals, local institutions, etc., which serve the area.
3. Improving the facilities for transport of patients.
4. Arranging locally for post-graduate demonstrations, lectures, or courses in cancer for medical men practicing in the area.
5. Arranging locally for the education of the public, as indicated.

Referring to causes of the disease, the memorandum states that certain varieties of chronic irritation are more liable to be followed by cancer than others. Thus, in the lip, long-continued irritation by a clasp pipe is particularly dangerous; in the tongue, irritation by a jagged tooth or badly-fitting tooth-plate; while workers in tar, such as bricklayers, workers with asphaltum or paraffin, chimney sweeps, and mule-splinters in cotton mills are apt to suffer from cancer in special parts of the body as a consequence of repeated irritation by the particular agent concerned. For the prevention of cancer the following advice is given:—

Rough stumps of teeth should be removed, and badly-fitting dentures replaced.

It pipe-smoking is found to produce soreness on a spot of the lip or tongue it should be given up.

Constipation should be corrected.

When clothing irritates the body it should be altered.

Early operation has so far been found the only successful method of treatment.

Carnation Milk

"From Contented Cows"

From the Heart of Canada's Best Dairy Lands

CARNATION Milk comes from the fine dairy counties. It is tested rigidly for purity and for richness, about 60% of the natural water content is taken from it by evaporation. Then it is sealed fresh in containers and sterilized.

Open a can when you need it. The milk is still fresh and sweet. It has the creamy consistency you will enjoy in coffee or tea, on cereals or fruit.

Add water to Carnation Milk—a little more than an equal part and you have milk of natural consistency. It is safe—absolutely. But more than that, it's convenient, economical—your grocer supplies you! Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

The Carnation Cook Book contains many a good recipe. Write for a copy to-day. Free on request. Try this recipe yourself.

CREAM FILLING

One-third cup flour, 1 1/2 cups water, 2/3 cup Carnation Milk, 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoonful vanilla. Moisten the flour with a little cold milk, add this to the hot milk mixed with the water. Cook 15 minutes in double boiler. Beat the eggs, add sugar and salt. Add to them the hot liquid, return to double boiler and cook until egg thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and when cool add flavoring.

bec yesterday with 948 passengers, 256 cabin and 692 third class. The passengers comprised 98 returned Canadians, 70 returned Americans in the cabin, and 230 in the third class booked for the United States, while there were landed for immigration inspection and railroad transportation to Ontario and the western provinces, 438 new colonists from Scotland and Ireland.

The Marburn staged an ocean race with the White Star-Dominion Line steamer Doric, to the delight of the passengers. The Doric-left Glasgow fifteen minutes before the Canadian Pacific-steamers. The latter, however, passed ahead before reaching Father Point, where they both came to anchor, but the Doric got her anchor lifted first and got away followed by the Marburn, which again passed the Doric. On reaching the Fort of the Lower Traverse the two boats again came to anchor. The Doric again succeeded in lifting her anchor first and reached Quebec a few minutes ahead of the Marburn.

Among the prominent passengers on the Marburn was Judge A. E. Sutherland of the New York Supreme Court, who is returning home from a three-month holiday in Europe. Judge Sutherland said he did not make any study of the political situation there as he did not think it right for an American to be injudicious in European affairs.

Cleopatra Washed Her Face This Way

She used Palm and Olive oils, the same rare oils which are blended in Palmolive. She knew that to have a fresh fine skin, thorough cleansing was necessary. The crude combination of Palm and Olive oils which was the best that even royalty could then obtain is now brought to perfection in Palmolive.

The girl of today, if she would be beautiful, follows Cleopatra's practice. Every day she cleanses the skin thoroughly with mild Palmolive Soap. Never does she accumulate and clog the pores of the skin. She knows that this starts irritation and blackheads, pimples and other blemishes result.

Palmolive with its mild creamy lather is lotion-like in its action. It freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.

Thus a great luxury may be enjoyed at the price of ordinary soap. You can pay more, but you can't get a finer, milder cleanser.

You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first-class dealers.

MARKET REPORTS

Indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite miners last year has not been made up, and American coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product. We advise our customers to book their requirements as soon as possible.

Spain Under Military Regime.

Berkeley California Swept by Fire--The Irish Parliament will Meet To-Morrow--Prince of Wales at Work on His Ranch--Anthracite Strike is Over.

SWEPT BY FIRE.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 17. Two unidentified students of the University of California were killed when they fell through the burning roof of a house to-day, and scores of injured are reported to be in Berkeley general hospital as a result of a fire which at five o'clock this afternoon had destroyed hundreds of homes and doomed the business section of the city and entire residential section of North Berkeley. The fire started in the bush of the Contra Costa County hills and swept over the ridge into the University City. Dynamiting was resorted to in a desperate effort to check the flames. At five o'clock the business buildings on University Avenue and Sattuck Avenue in the heart of the city were ablaze. A fierce north wind was blowing.

SPANISH POLITICIANS TO BE EXPELLED.

PORT VENDRES, Sept. 17. The Military Directorate formed as a result of last week's revolution, has decided to expel thirty-one of Spain's leading politicians, including former Premier Sanchez Guerra and several prominent Liberals and Catalanist Syndicalists, it is learned from advices coming over the border. The expulsion will occur this week. The Military regime is refusing to have anything to do with politicians or parties. Senator Ventosa, former Spanish Minister of Finance in several cabinets, was stopped at the frontier while endeavouring to reach France and advised he would be detained until the military regime had decided his status.

SPAIN UNDER MILITARY DIRECTORATE.

MADRID, Sept. 17. King Alfonso has signed a decree dissolving parliament. No disturbance and little excitement has been caused by the establishment of the military regime and the publication of decrees by the new Government. For the present General Primo Rivera is the only responsible person in the country which thereby become law. As the country is now governed by a military directorate Primo Rivera's title appears to be President of the Military Directorate, instead of President of the Council of Ministers. The Foreign Ministry and Ministry of War will be retained but it is understood all other Ministries and sub-Secretariats have been suppressed. The various departments will be under control of a higher Government official to be chosen by seniority. He must, however, submit all matters to the President of the Directorate for decision. The Military Directorate will begin rigid economies in National expense, but without prejudicing the functions of the administration. Rivera has notified all captains and commanding generals and the general staff of the army that he has taken the oath of office as President of the Directorate and has appealed to the patriotism of the people, the army and navy that they maintain discipline and loyalty to the new Government.

IRISH PARLIAMENT MEETS TO-MORROW.

DUBLIN, Sept. 17. The new Parliament will meet Wednesday. The House, without the 44 Republicans, contains 109 members among whom President Cosgrave has 63 definitely pledged supporters. The embarrassment caused by the absence of nearly one-third of the members elected, constituting the second largest party has reawakened the activities of the peace makers who will attempt to establish a working arrangement between the Government and its Republican opponents and as an initial step will ask for immediate release of 29 members in jail.

MINERS RETURN TO WORK.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 17. Anthracite mine workers in convention to-day ratified the new agreement entered into between the representatives of the United Mine Workers and the coal operators and voted to return to work Wednesday morning. Anthracite mining has been suspended since September 1st.

PRINCE AT HIS RANCH.

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Sept. 17. The special train bearing the Prince of Wales and party arrived here Sunday evening. The Prince will spend a care free holiday at the E. P. ranch which he purchased during his official visit in 1919. The ranch is situated at Pekisko, about twenty-six miles southwest of here.

PRINCE A WORKER.

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Sept. 17. Lord Renfrew, Prince of Wales, spent all the morning from eight until twelve of his first day on his ranch working with the other hands to fill a big silo with sunflowers to provide winter feed for blooded cattle and live stock. He put on old work clothes and led the actual work of chopping up the sunflowers and filling the silo with a vim that kept the other men hustling to keep up with him.

"MORNING STAR" GREETED HIS BROTHERS.

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Sept. 17. Ranchers and towns people accorded Lord Renfrew a royal welcome when the special train pulled into the depot yesterday. For the first time since his arrival in Canada the Prince walked from the depot platform to the main street of the town unaccompanied by either secret service men or policemen. As the Prince reached the street, David Bearspaw and Red Cloud, minor chiefs of the Stoney Indians from the Morley reservation were waiting to greet him. Bearspaw spoke in perfect English. "Greetings, Chief Morning Star. Your brothers of the Stoney salute you." The Prince answered, "Morning Star is proud to greet his brothers." The Indians were very much pleased with the Prince's reply. Later the Prince proceeded to his ranch by motor car.

A GOOD SIGN.

GENEVA, Sept. 17. The Italian and Juro-Slav Governments have filed with the Secretary of the League of Nations for registration and publication the Treaty of Rapallo signed in 1920 and the complementary convention of Santa Margherita of 1922, which provided the terms of settlement of the Fiume affair. League circles interpreted this action, which conforms with Article 18 of the covenant as a favorable sign indicating the probability that the Fiume controversy would be settled by direct negotiations between the two governments.

STORM OVER ITALY IN LEAGUE COUNCIL.

GENEVA, Sept. 17. "Stormy" was the word employed Sunday in summarizing the session of the Council of the League of Nations which was hurriedly convoked Saturday night and which did not adjourn until early Sunday morning. The ses-tion was devoted to the delicate question of how to deal with Italy. The Gracco-Italian conflict now has been happily settled, say the delegates who have foregathered in Geneva, and hanks to the motive power of the League of Nations backed by world opinion, but they declare Italy has defied the League and that Assembly should take some action calculated to reinforce the prestige of the League.

UNDER MILITARY CONTROL.

OKLAHOMA, Sept. 17. The spotlight of national interest turned to-day upon this city, which is in the second day of martial law. The military have superseded the police and machine guns are trained on the City Hall. The Grand Jury has been cancelled and military tribunal set up instead, and citizens are being led when to get up and when to go to bed. Governor Walton declared in the martial law proclamation that Oklahoma City was the headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan and it was here the sovereign power of the State was defied when the Grand Dragon of this semi-military organization publicly proclaimed in substance that the Sovereign State of Oklahoma could not break the power of the Klan.

BACK TO STANDARD TIME AGAIN.

LONDON, Sept. 17. Daylight saving in Great Britain ended at three o'clock Sunday morning.

MASKED BANDITS MAKE BIG HAIL.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 17. Ten masked bandits armed with automatic shot guns and revolvers, held up the Wayside Inn, a roadside house three miles from here, early Sunday, and after robbing approximately one hundred and seventy-five patrons and a gambling game in the rear of the place, escaped with cash and jewelry amounting to fifteen thousand dollars.

Fiume's Governor.

ROME, Sept. 17. General Piardino, third in command of the Italian Armies, has been appointed Military Governor of Fiume.

RIOTING IN RUHR TOWNS.

DUSSELDORF, Sept. 17. Labour troubles continue at Dortmund, Hoerde, Witten and Duisburg. A serious riot occurred in a Dortmund factory yesterday. The police were obliged to open fire, killing two and wounding seven.

REVOLUTION IN TRANS-JORDANIA.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 17. Authoritative reports say a revolution has broken out in Trans-Jordania against Emir Adullah. Advices from Jerusalem on Sept. 16 reported a revolt by 8,000 Arabs under the leadership of Sheik Es Salt. The rebels at that time submitted an ultimatum in which they demanded an equitable system of taxation, expulsion of all foreigners and the formation of Parliamentary Government.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK FELT.

EUREKA, Calif., Sept. 17. Shahrp earthquake shock was felt here to-day, beginning with mild vibrations, accumulating in violence, and ending abruptly.

TWELVE KILLED IN FLOOD RIOTS.

LONDON, Sept. 17. Twelve persons were killed and fifteen wounded during a demonstration against the high price of food at Swan, Bradenburg Province, when fighting occurred between police and demonstrators, says a despatch from Berlin.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

HALIFAX, Sept. 17. The schr. Review, Capt. W. A. Beattie, of Pictou, now one hundred and twenty days out from Halifax for Demerara with lumber, has been given up as lost with all hands. With Capt. Beattie, as a sailor, was his son Angus. Capt. Beattie was eighty-two and bore a notable record as a deep sea navigator.

COMMUNISTS ARRESTED.

BARCELONA, Sept. 17. The principal leaders of the revolting Communists and Bolsheviks have been arrested and others are fleeing towards the French frontier, which is being closely watched.

FREE TRAFFIC RENEWED.

MAYENCE, Sept. 17. The Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission has decided to allow free traffic between occupied territory in Rhineland and unoccupied Germany, beginning at once.

MARCONI JOINS FACIST.

MILAN, Sept. 17. At his own request Signor Marconi, inventor, has been admitted to the Fascist organization of this city.

Cash's Tobacco Store, The Last Sentence.

"On one occasion Lord Chief Justice Russell was listening patiently to a long winded address which an ex-convicted prisoner was delivering, the purport of his remarks being to prove that he was an injured innocent. Lord Russell gave him every attention, but happening not to catch the last few words, he said: 'What was your last sentence?'"

Serve corned beef tongue in gravy with diced mushrooms.
Cream mustard dressing seems quite a natural affinity to cabbage salad.
Rice will add bulk to a hearty salad without noticeably changing the flavor.
Potatoes are as delicious scalloped with tomatoes as they are with cheese.

Paint or varnish can often be removed from glass with a hard pencil eraser.
Top steaming clam broth with whipped cream slightly sprinkled with paprika.
A little dried-preserve ginger gives a delicious flavor to a baked rice pudding.
Serve baked cucumbers with drawn-butter sauce flavored with lemon juice.
Lima beans have an unusual piquancy of flavor when served in tomato sauce.

Just before serving raisin cream pie lightly pile on it some sweetened whipped cream.
Freeze orange custard and garnish with sections of oranges and whipped cream.
Rice cakes are delicious fried in bacon fat and served with crisped slices of bacon.
Tomato jelly for canapes should be made beforehand and allowed to set quite firmly.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER.

What a mysterious and wonderful, rebellious and maddening power memory is! I have been struggling with all my might to make my memory yield up to me the third line of a nonsense rhyme I used to know. And I simply can't get it no matter how hard I try to force my mind to pursue the lost fragment.

You know what the feeling is. I have a sense that what I want is lying around the corner from me, that I can almost catch hold of it a little harder. But I can't.

Why can't I get hold of it now? Why should it come back to me when I am trying to get hold of it?

A Million Chests of Drawers. Sometimes it seems to me that memory is like a million chests of drawers in one's brain. Each impression is tucked away in one of those drawers, and we have a card index to some of the drawers, but not to others. And so, just as it is household affairs, we lose some fact and can't find it until we accidentally come across it when we are hunting for something else.

But that isn't a satisfactory simile either, for think how many times impressions come to us when we aren't hunting for anything.

More Like the Tide. More as if some tide had carried them away and then washed them up again. Sometimes I will be sitting at my typewriter or on a train, and absolutely without any connection, so far as I can see, some scene from my childhood will flash into my mind. Frequently it is a perfectly insignificant scene, one that so far as I know I have no reason for remembering. I will see the kitchen of the farmhouse where I used to go for milk; I will see the face of a substitute teacher whom we had for a short time and who made, so far as I know, no great impression on me; I will see the bit of roadside where we stopped when on a trolley ride and waited to take the car back the other way.

As far as I know, these are absolutely insignificant and totally irrelevant bits.

What Power Is It? What brings them to me? What carries away the things I want to remember?

Shall we ever learn to control and get full use out of the storehouse of the mind, to throw away the bitter memories and keep the sweet ones, to be able to bring forth without any effort anything that the storehouse contains, and perhaps to shut-off thoughts at will as we shut our eyes?

An absurd question, you say. Of course we shan't. Yet consider the infinite possibilities that the study of the wave lengths of either vibrations have taught us.

We find that sound is one vibration, light is a swifter one, electricity and the X-ray still swifter. Between these wave lengths are many more whose manifestations we do not understand. Who knows what undiscovered controls over our own powers may not lie in that unexplored land?

German Spy Dies Unknown in England.

Herzhay, Notorious Betrayer of Dreyfus, Succumbs to Influenza—Secluded Exile—None Passed in or Out and Identity Carefully Hidden.

No one in the Hertfordshire village of Harpenden, England, suspected that Count Jean de Vollemont, a resident in Milton road, who was buried in the parish churchyard three months ago, had anything to do with the famous Dreyfus case, which in the 'nineties held the attention of all Europe. Still less was it dreamed that he was Commandant Esterhazy, the German spy in the French Army who secured the conviction of Alfred Dreyfus, a brother officer in the Artillery, for high treason and his banishment to Devil's Island. But the secret he kept so carefully behind an assumed name and title during all the years he lived in the village has at last come to light.

Esterhazy settled in Harpenden about seventeen years ago, first occupying a small villa and then moving to a detached house of fair size near the Midland station. He took no part in the social life of the village and as there was several Continental residents his foreign extraction aroused no particular notice. His second wife, a Frenchwoman, Countess Alice de Vollemont, received no visitors and paid no calls. The servants employed were not local girls. For the first five years of his life the exile left his quarters very infrequently.

An Unnamed Grave.

During Esterhazy's last illness the vicar of St. Nicholas' went to the Count's house on more than one occasion, but was not admitted. When Esterhazy died on Whit-Monday of pneumonia following influenza, the funeral—which was of the quietest nature—was conducted by the Roman Catholic priest, Father Longstaff. Yesterday the news of de Vollemont's real name and history having leaked out, there was a pilgrimage of visitors to the grave, which lies without a headstone, unmarked and unadorned except for the two clusters of scarlet geraniums placed there by his wife three weeks ago. The house in Milton road and the furniture have been sold, and Mme. Esterhazy has removed to London.

Story Recalled.

Esterhazy's death recalls one of the most amazing dreams of military life ever presented on the European stage.

Muscular Pains and Rheumatism are Quickly Relieved by DR. CHASE'S LINIMENT

At all Druggists.
GEORGE S. DOYLE, Distributor.

The quiet old gentleman whose charming manners impressed those among whom he had lived at Harpenden was really the man who wrote the "bordereau" or memorandum containing French Army secrets, which had been handed over to the German Military Attaché in Paris, and in connection with which the unfortunate Captain Dreyfus was convicted of selling information to Germany.

Esterhazy joined the French Army soon after the Franco-German War, and attained the rank of Captain in 1888, subsequently becoming commandant of the 14th Regiment. It was afterwards alleged that he was in the pay of the German Military Attaché in Paris, Colonel Schwarzkoppen, and supplied him with secret information about the French Army. When the "bordereau" was found in Colonel Schwarzkoppen's overcoat pocket it was said to be in Dreyfus's handwriting, and Dreyfus was found guilty and sent to Devil's Island, the French penal colony in French Guiana.

Some two years later Colonel Piquart of the French War Office came across a suspicious telegram card from Schwarzkoppen to Esterhazy, and suggested to his superiors that Dreyfus should be retried. Piquart was removed from his post, but Dreyfus's brother charged Esterhazy with being the writer of the "bordereau." Esterhazy replied that Dreyfus had tried to imitate his handwriting. He demanded a court martial and was acquitted, while Piquart was arrested. Then Emile Zola took up the case and solemnly accused French Ministers and officers of taking part in a great conspiracy against an innocent man. Zola was prosecuted and had to take refuge in this country.

Colonel Henry's Suicide.

Soon afterwards Colonel Henry, who had succeeded Colonel Piquart at the War Office, was arrested, and was alleged to have forged one of the letters used in the case. Colonel Henry cut his throat in prison. A re-hearing of the Dreyfus case was undertaken by the Court of Cassation. Esterhazy, who had left France, returned under a safe conduct to give evidence, but again disappeared before his examination had been completed. He was declared by the court to be the author of the bordereau. This was in 1898. Dreyfus was taken back to France, re-tried at Rennes, and again convicted, with "extenuating circumstances." It was not until some eight years later that the Supreme Court declared Dreyfus to be innocent, and he was restored to his rank and regiment. Esterhazy afterwards admitted that he wrote the bordereau, but asserted that he had done so with the orders of a superior officer, with the object of detecting the traitor.—Exchange.

The Next Great Invention

The next great invention will be the radioscope. It will reproduce by wireless distant events within ten or fifteen seconds after they happen. It will develop its film direct from the receiving reel and the record will be made by the simple application of radio tone and vibration to kin-tones of light and shade. Wizards are now working to win first place with this wonderful next invention. Yet some poor and unknown youngster may be the one to succeed. You never can tell!

The Shark Sucker.

The shark sucker, a defenceless and retiring fish, fastens itself to the surface of the voracious shark, but it is not harmed by the shark, and the shark sucker does no harm to the shark, except to retard its motion. Shark suckers are carried about by sharks often to great distances. They attach themselves by a large sucking disk on the top of the head, which is a modified spinous dorsal fin. If the shark is caught and drawn out of the water, these fishes often let go and plunge into the sea, swimming away with great celerity.

This fish is found in Europe, on the coast of New York, in the West Indies, in California, and in Japan, but is nowhere abundant.

Ivory Staircase.

IN HOME OF NOTED N.Y. BANKER. Mrs. Otto Kahn, wife of the New York millionaire financier, boasts of an ivory stairway in her Fifth Street manison. It was acquired after much difficulty and cost a small fortune, but it was Mrs. Kahn's particular idea and was arranged under her personal direction. It is placed in her living room and while it is wonderfully decorative and an object of interest, its chief purpose, it is said to serve as an escape for the hostess in case she wishes to reach the main hallways.

FOOTBALL.
The Guards and Feldians will play the Cup game to-night at St. George's Field, provided the contest has been dealt with. At St. Bon's Football Grounds the T. and Holy Cross will compete in one of the closing games of the Junior League. It will be necessary for the Holy Cross to be victorious if they are to be in the finals with the Cadets and Wesley.

COMING BY SILVIA.
The Newfoundland Track Team who competed in the Canadian championship are returning by the Silvia and will arrive here early Thursday morning. It was suggested that both the Holy Cross and Bell stay over for the Silvia Marathon, but in view of the fact that their manager, Mr. J. P. Challen, could not remain in St. John's, it was decided that they should be gained by their staying over at considerable expense to compete for the trophy offered by the Silvia Herald, as no title is at stake for this event.

Editor Sportographs.
Dear Sir—By kindly correcting the statement that Gower Stone led the field for the first two laps in the three mile race at the Guards Sports, and stating that it was Ralph who took the lead, you will greatly oblige.
Yours sincerely,
W. J. M.

DID NOT COMPETE.
Owing to an injury to his foot Cecil Foster, Canada's premier sprinter and holder of several records, was unable to take part in the Canadian Championships.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.
Editor Sportographs.
Dear Sir—Jack Kavanagh is arranging a relay team of old-timers to take the young fellows in the A.A.A. Labor Sports. Will Wall, who never had the pleasure of beating me, says he will run a mile with me with a little practice. I would like to inform you through your columns that I am only too ready to accommodate him and a gold medal is offered to the winner and a silver medal for second. If the A.A.A. want a grilling, this should be some attraction.
Yours truly,
ARTHUR WHEELER,

RAPS HOLY CROSS.
Editor Sportographs.
Dear Sir—On my way home last night I heard that the Holy Cross Juniors have made protest against the Silvia for the goal scored off-side in last week's game. I think so I wonder where the sportsmanship of the Holy Cross team and others concerned comes in. I do not see it, if others do; and I may say that the goal scored against the Cadets was not the only one scored in that game, but the Cadets did not protest. There seems to be no sportsmanship attached to the Holy Cross team. I am,
Yours obediently,
JUNIOR CADET.

THE FIRPO-DEMPEY FIGHT.
Fido Grounds, Sept. 11.—Jack Dempsey to-night retained his world's heavyweight title, knocking out Luis Firpo, the Wild Bull of the Pampas, in the second round of one of the loudest, fastest and most spectacular fights in the history of pugilism. The champion felled his Argentine challenger five times in the first and three in the second round before a fight that opened to the jaw sent Firpo down for the last time. But in the three minutes and 57 seconds of a whirlwind terrific mauling, Dempsey himself once was knocked clear through the ropes on top of the press benches and groggy under a bombardment of mighty rights, once sank to his knees. Before Firpo went hurtling down to defeat, carrying with him shattered hopes of a continent, he gave a vast, frenzied throng of 35,000 of the most thrilling and courageous ring exhibitions of all time. Frenzied, bloody and groggy, he showed his marvellous stamina by coming back with a whirlwind, crushing drive toward the close of the first round that had the title holder tottering close to losing his crown than at any time in his career. Firpo fought the best fight of his career. The challenger's mighty right was never mightier. Against the relentless power and versatility of the champion's furious attack he went down, but in defeat he gained more glory than in any battle of his career. He was beaten but his menace to the heavyweight throne was not removed. From the top of the first round these two scowling giants tore at each other with attacks of unrestrained savagery. Firpo was the first to land as they came to close quarters, but in a flash the champion plunged, shot in a right on his body and left to the chin, sending the challenger crashing to the floor. Instantly dazed, but with eyes staring, Firpo rose to his feet after a short count and rushed back. Again he was met with a withering drive and went down for the second and third times. Blood flowed from his mouth, he was stunned and Dempsey let loose the most terrific power of his swings as he reaped victory. Firpo went down, twice more and both times it seemed the end had come. But after taking a count of nine on his fifth knock-down, the challenger suddenly sprang at his adversary like a wounded tiger, an infuriated jungle beast. Swinging with stall-like rapidity and sledge-hammer power the famous right thrust that had brushed aside before and swept him to fame, the Argentine rushed at his adversary. Caught unawares by this stunning comeback of the powerful foe he believed he had beaten into submission, Dempsey reeled under the assault. A right to the side of the head sent Dempsey to his knees and as he rose another swing knocked him from his feet and through the ropes on top of the newspaper men huddled at the edge of the ring.

Dempsey's knees wavered as he climbed back in. He clutched to save himself, Firpo could not follow up his advantage and the bell ended a round that will go down as one of the most sensational of all fighting history with both gladiators on their feet.

Unleashed for the second round, they leaped at each other once more. Dempsey again was the quicker on the attack and Firpo again went down under the crushing blows of the champion. He arose only to go down once more. Now there was no doubt of the outcome. The challenger, Mead and tottering, forced himself to his feet, carry on largely by instinct. Dempsey stepped in, whapped his left to the body and then a short right to the chin that sent Firpo sprawling on his back, staring vacantly at the glare of lights overhead.

The Argentine tried feebly to turn over to gather strength to rise. His fighting heart called him back to the fray but the body that had withstood one of the most terrific assaults the ring has ever known could not respond. He lay flat until the count of ten after 57 seconds of the round had elapsed, and was helped to his corner by the victorious champion.

Then that vast throng, whipped to a pitch of excitement by the sensational struggle of these two slugging gladiators gave vent to an ovation that echoed and re-echoed from Coogan's Bluff as Dempsey's hand was raised in victory. Ring-side spectators rushed for the ring, some hurled three rows of press benches to get at the champion and lift him to their shoulders. For a moment it seemed that the frenzy might assume the proportions of a riot, but the police, after a struggle, gained control. Dempsey won because he was the "Dempsey of Toledo," the smashing, mauling, relentless assailant who battered Jess Willard into submission four years ago and ascended the heavyweight throne. Firpo proved himself a dangerous challenger, despite the brevity of his stay against the champion, but his inexperience, the lack of an all-round fighting equipment to reinforce his powerful right, caused his downfall in the face of Dempsey's superior speed and generalship.

Dempsey gained a fortune, with his victory to-night, for he will receive close to half a million dollars as his share of the gate receipts, estimated at $1,270,000 by Promoter Tex Rickard.

The champion's share, 37 1-2 per cent. of the gross receipts, approximately $480,000, while Firpo, whose share was 15 1-2 per cent, will receive about $160,000, twice as much as he got for any previous bout.

Round One—Dempsey missed a left and Firpo dug a right into the body sending him to his knees. Dempsey felled Firpo with a left hook to the chin, but he was up after taking a count of one.

When he got up, Dempsey sent him to the floor for the second time with a hard right, but he did not take a count.

Dempsey knocked him over for the third time. When he got up, Jack chased him to a corner, knocking him down again.

After being felled for the fourth time, Firpo knocked Dempsey through the ropes, and Dempsey came back groggy.

Firpo pounded Dempsey on the jaw with sledge-hammer rights, bringing blood from his mouth. Firpo also bleeding when he went to his corner.

Round Two—Firpo swung a right to Dempsey's back. Dempsey hooked a left to the chin. Jack drove both fists to the body and Firpo fell to the floor.

Firpo groggy and bleeding, staggered into the centre of the ring. Dempsey hit him with a left hook to the chin and a right to the same spot, knocking him flat. He rolled over on his back with blood trickling from his mouth, remaining in the same position while the referee swung the count over him.

Dempsey nervous, rushed over and helped pick up his fallen foe and then trotted to his corner.

The Promoter says:—
Tex Rickard who promoted the Dempsey-Firpo bout to-night, announced at the close of the drama that he was ready to settle another between the champion and his Argentine challenger next summer and a bout between Firpo and Harry Wills, American negro. Of the contest Rickard said:
"It was one of the greatest fights in the history of the ring. It gave me the thrill of my life."
Jack Dempsey admitted to-night after his victory with Luis Angel Firpo, that he never had received such a soaking in his life. "I won as I thought I would," said Jack, "but I can truthfully say that I never had such a fight in all my life. When he socked me on the chin in the first round, knocking me through the ropes after I had knocked him down I thought my finish had come."
"Firpo was dangerous every second. I hit him with everything I had and I certainly was surprised when he continued to crawl off the floor."
"He is game and the hardest fighter I ever met. It was the first time I was knocked down since I became champion and I'll never forget it. I saw eight million stars when I got that punch on the chin that came nearly knocking me out of the ring."
Luis Angel Firpo was as silent and sombre in his defeat to-night as he had been in his moments of greatest victory. He sat in his dressing room after the bout in an apparent daze, unable to realize the swiftness with which he had been beaten.
At first he refused to talk, but at a moment, he mumbled:
"I did the best I could. Dempsey was the better man. I never have felt such blows as he gave me."

CANADIAN DOCTOR REPORTS ON SPALLINGER TREATMENT AT GENEVA.

TORONTO.—(Can. Press)—A cure for consumption of which serious note is being taken by medical men of prominence is arousing widespread interest. While "cures" for consumption which fail to vindicate the statements of their backers come not infrequently, it is claimed that medical men of standing use such strong terms as are used by Dr. H. B. Jeffs, formerly of Toronto, and now Canadian immigration adviser in London.

in his report on the Spallinger serum and its effects on consumptive cases.

According to a special cable from London, Dr. Jeffs, who is a son of Dr. W. H. M. Jeffs, of this city, reports as follows:
"My colleagues and I are of the opinion that in Spallinger's methods we have advanced into a realm quite unexplored by any other observer. We have no hesitation in stating that Spallinger is working along lines which, if fully developed, will bring the treatment of tuberculosis into the same plane as the treatment of diphtheria and tetanus. Spallinger's work is a great one, and will, I am sure, do more to alleviate the sufferings of those afflicted with consumption and eradicate the tubercle bacillus, in one year, than all the present day methods in 100 years."

Under instructions from the Ottawa Government Dr. Jeffs visited Spallinger at Geneva, accompanied by Dr. Jones, of London, representing the British Government. His remarkable statements, therefore, follow a close investigation of the Spallinger treatment.

The Spallinger serum has never been used in Canada, according to Dr. W. J. Dobbie, Medical Superintendent of the Western Sanitarium and Dr. Fitzgerald, of the Connaught Laboratories, who were asked about it yesterday. Both medical men stated that the cabled opinion of Dr. Jeffs on the Spallinger serum was more enthusiastic than that held by the medical profession in Great Britain.

Hottest Place on Earth.

Discussing the hottest place on earth, a "Returned Exile" writes: "When travellers from the deserts of Sindh, the banks of the Zambezi, and the back blocks of Queensland begin to compare thermometer readings it is probable that none will yield pride of place until the highest figures known to the meteorological science have been reached and surpassed.

In India, Jacobabad has an evil reputation, but there the retired Indian Colonel is beaten on his own ground, as I can claim to have spent a fortnight at Bhikarpur in June, the hottest month of 1905, one of the worst years on record.

Bhikarpur is not many miles from Jacobabad, and, having no garrison, has not acquired similar fame, but is even more sultry, being surrounded by trees which keep off the breeze that might otherwise bring a breath of early morning coolness from the desert.

When I was there the mercury on several occasions touched 128 degrees in the shade, and for more than ten days on end never fell below 100 degs. at any moment of the day or night.

Contrary to popular belief, the most intense heat is not to be found near the Equator, and often outside the tropics altogether. The highest reading in my experience—131 degs.—was taken in Manchuria, but that was in a railway carriage between Port Arthur and Harbin, and would not be accepted as "official."

Further north still, at Blagoveshensk in Siberia, where the thermometer in winter falls to 60 degs. below zero, extreme heat is common in the summer, but for brief periods.

But so far as human comfort is concerned (the thermometer is a very poor indicator, and the figures are hardly worth arguing about. In the sticky heat of large cities in July it is possible to be almost melted at 90 degs., while 110 degs. in the dry Sahara is perfectly bearable.

To vary an old saying, "A woman is as cool as she looks, and a man as hot as he feels."

The Housing Problem

MEASURES TO ABATE THE EVIL.

Of recent years the functions of the State have been widely extended, and within its activities have been included what hitherto would have been considered unwarranted interference with the liberty of the subject. Owners of factories, for instance, are to-day compelled to carry out certain regulations and to submit to official inspection; the income tax collector can delve into the innermost recesses of our private affairs; in other countries parents, willing or unwilling, have to send their children to school; the authorities can interfere in our domestic affairs if in any manner they are objectionable to our neighbors, and in a hundred ways the State exercises a care over its citizens as a father over his children. We no longer look upon it as an interference but as beneficial to ourselves and in the interest of the general public.

In nearly every democratic country the same principle has been applied to the housing problem, and the conditions which were caused by the war—restriction in building activities, enhanced prices of everything and particularly of rents, the increased number of marriages, the influenza epidemic, and the demands of returned soldiers, enlightened by what they had seen and learnt in other countries—awakened the State to a full sense of its responsibility in the matter.

Sir William Hearst, Prime Minister of Ontario, in referring to this matter in 1918 said: "The more investigations I make, and the more consideration I give to the housing problem, the more important it appears to me, and the greater appears the necessity for immediate action." It has been argued with much force that as it is not a war problem only, it is largely if not entirely an industrial and national one, and that so far as public credit might be required to meet the situation, the responsibility rests with the Dominion Government.

Speaking from our own experiences during a three and a half years search for a residence of almost any kind, we were forced to agree with the builders that they could not afford to erect houses for rental. The workman's plight was equally apparent in as much as he was asked to do the impossible by paying in rent for a suitable house an amount altogether out of all proportion to his earning capacity. Another phase of the situation, and the one with which we had the least sympathy, was the excessive rents or prices demanded for houses which could be better designated as hovels unfit for human habitation.

The plan adopted in Ontario to meet the difficulty, when the Federal Government had voted the money for the purpose was to distribute the amount among the municipalities which could build themselves, or loan it to building companies or to individuals. This plan was based on the practice already operative in New Zealand and in England, with modifications to suit local circumstances. There was no semblance of charity associated with the idea. The whole transaction was maintained on a business basis. In New Zealand a small deposit having been made, the money was loaned for a period of years at 7 per cent. per annum. This was afterwards modified somewhat. In England about 70 per cent. of the cost was advanced at current rates, and in Ontario even a larger proportion of the total cost was allowed at 5 per cent. for periods varying with the different class of building. A mortgage was taken against the loan, and the owner of the house was encouraged to pay off his obligation by a reduction in the rate of interest as the amount was brought down.

Of course under such a plan the State or the Municipality as the case may be lays down certain regulations. For example, the privilege is not extended to those who are in receipt of a salary which is sufficient to enable them to provide houses for themselves. The maximum loan is fixed, the conditions under which buildings may be erected, their situation and their specifications are determined. Certain regulations with regard to heating, lighting, and ventilation have to be observed; houses can only be built on suitable sites, and must have water and sewerage connections.

Such a scheme put into practical operation in St. John's, and wherever it is possible in the outports, would confer upon the people an incalculable boon. A beginning was made in the city a few years ago by the Council and by certain citizens, but for reasons that need not be gone over again the movement hung fire and then died. Elsewhere the plan has been eminently successful; there have been few bad debts and in many cases the full amount of the loan has been paid back in a short time.

A necessary preliminary to such an undertaking in St. John's is the extension of the car line. Already the town is congested, and there are not sufficient open spaces. Factories, laundries and even stables are actually connected with private residences in the middle of the town. With the extension of the tram service not only would the unsanitary conditions be improved, but the value of real estate would be enhanced, houses at present isolated on account of the absence of means of transportation would become more valuable, and the service itself would be of practical benefit and a far more valuable asset to its owners.

Sudden Death of Sir Walter Davidson.

Yesterday, his Excellency Sir W. L. Allardice received a cable message stating that Sir Walter Davidson, Governor of New South Wales, had died suddenly at Sydney.

American Schooner Lost Anchors.

Capt. Abram Kean who was at Carmanville in connection with the American schooner Copperfield returned yesterday by S.S. Sun. The Copperfield whilst anchored near Pickford Island came near drifting ashore and was only saved by the assistance of some local motor boats. Later, when it was desired to tow the vessel to Carmanville, it was found that both anchors had fouled and in consequence the cables had to be slipped. Captain Kean was at the scene in the interest of the underwriters.

The Passing of Sir Walter Davidson, K.C.M.G.

The news received over the cable yesterday to the effect that Sir Walter Davidson, K.C.M.G., had died suddenly in Sydney, N.S.W., will be received with the deepest regret by the whole community. During the years of his administration in Newfoundland by the devoted interest that he took in our general welfare, and the wholehearted manner in which both he and Lady Davidson associated themselves with every social movement that was undertaken during his term of office, he established for himself a name in Newfoundland history that generations to come will recall with the greatest regard and respect.

Shortly after his arrival the ominous cry of war sounded throughout the world with paralyzing effect. It was a moment when a strong man was required at the head of affairs and one who could by his grasp of the situation and by his ready resource and courage galvanize into life and action the people in his care. Newfoundland was fortunate in having as her Governor such a man. Stimmed by his example, and roused to the necessity of immediate action, the people throughout the island responded in a manner that was fully in keeping with the best traditions of the race from which they had sprung. As year followed year and the strain and anxiety grew greater, so did his strength and energy seem to increase, and he in the midst of the struggle in the end of knowing that his work had been successful and that he had won the esteem of those over whom he ruled.

Following his term of office here he was selected by the Imperial Government to fill a similar office in New South Wales at a time when conditions were critical in that country. Well might he have advanced a plea for rest after his strenuous years of service, but such was not Sir Walter Davidson's way. He threw himself into the work and undiminished by criticism or even by violent opposition to what he knew was the right course to pursue, he persevered and eventually proved even to his opponents that he was their friend.

At the earnest request of the people of New South Wales his tenure of office was extended, and now just as he had decided to take his well earned rest, part of which he hoped to spend in Newfoundland, the call elsewhere came suddenly and, like the great soldier that he was, Death found him at his post.

From every section of the community will go out deep felt sympathy to Dame Margaret, who, during the whole of that trying period, proved such a worthy helpmate in all that he undertook, and who so well fitted to aid and assist in such duties. The message of sympathy of His Excellency the Governor will find an echo in the heart of every Newfoundland.

Sir Walter Davidson was born sixty-four years ago at Killybegs, County Down, Ireland. He was a Cambridge man, and entered the Civil Service in Ceylon in 1880, where he occupied various positions of great responsibility throughout a period of twenty years. From 1902 to 1904 he was Colonial Secretary in the Transvaal Administration. The next eight years were spent as Governor of the Seychelles Islands. In 1913 Sir Walter came to Newfoundland, leaving New Zealand, prior to assuming his Australian Governorship. He was twice married, his widow being a daughter of the late General, the Hon. Sir Percy Pettibone, and closely connected with the noble families of Denbigh and Bath. Two daughters of the second family survive and one son of the first.

Scientific Lecture to the Board of Trade.

Professor Huntsman, Director of the Atlantic Biological Station, St. Andrew's, New Brunswick, gave a very interesting lecture on the scientific investigation of the fisheries before a large gathering at the Seaman's Institute to-day. His Excellency the Governor presided. The lecturer was introduced by Mr. I. O. Outerbridge, President of the Board of Trade. His Excellency as head of the community extended a hearty welcome to Prof. Huntsman, and his co-adjutor Mr. Gardner, who represents Newfoundland through the International Committee of Deep Sea Investigation. His Excellency expressed his pleasure at our being on the right track at last to obtain accurate information in regard to what has been and still our greatest asset.

Professor Huntsman in his opening remarks referred to the hospitality he enjoyed both on the Newfoundland and Labrador coasts. He pointed out at Red Bay where in spite of the hard conditions of life of the people were exceptionally kind. The New Brunswick station, he said, had sent out this season two ships (one a motor boat to the Bell Isle Straits and this returned with a good voyage the objective being fish, bait and date in reference to currents. The study of the latter, he said, was of prime importance to us. During the course of his investigation drift bottles had been put out of St. John's from S.E. Digby and on South West Coast from S.E. Kyle. The bottles put out near St. John's drifted into St. Mary's Bay, but the only others found that drifted on the coast were put off at Iceland showing that the current does not go westward beyond St. Pierre. The outstanding result on the West Coast showed that one bottle went up the straits to Flower's Cove. This summer investigation also showed that there was a great difference in the temperature of the waters on both sides of the straits and indications were noted of a circulation of the water both north and south through the straits. The results might be summarized as follows: That the movement in the straits at flood tide are north, at ebb tide they are stronger on the south. The rate being 6 miles in the tide going north, and 9 miles coming south on the Labrador side. The fog was 50 per cent. greater on the north side. There was also a marked contrast in the temperature of the water and the climate both were higher on the south side. Dr. Huntsman exhibited a number of bottles containing the actual life found in these two currents. In the water from the Arctic were mostly jelly fish and in that from the gulf there was red fish. Another bottle he exhibited showed caplin fry. These were taken at St. Anthony Bay. It is surprising the importance of the movement of the food of certain species of the latter, namely codfish as we know it here. Rock cod which is abundant in Arctic waters and never seen South of Nova Scotia and the third the true tomcod—one of these taken in Big Bay was exhibited. The true codfish will not inhabit the warm water of the tom cod's habitat nor the cold water of the rock cod. The lecturer stated knowledge as to temperature of the waters is of importance for us and it is we are to make any advance, organization is necessary. Canada he said was a demonstration that the work was important. They had two scientific stations one on the East and another on the Pacific Coast and they were now erecting additional stations. At the conclusion of Dr. Huntsman's lecture Mr. Gardner gave a short address which was greatly appreciated.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

REVOLUTIONARIES IN TRANS-JORDANIA DEFEATED IN SANGUNIARY FIGHT. JERUSALEM, Sept. 18. Latest accounts concerning an attack by tribesmen on camp of Emir Abdullah in Trans-Jordania are to the effect that revolutionaries surrounded Amman early Sunday morning and cut telephone and telegraph wires. After fierce engagement revolutionary tribesmen were routed, fled southward toward Mehadia, leaving eighty-two dead including some of their chiefs.

FURTHER DETAILS OF BERKELEY FIRE.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18. Thirty families in the residential district of Berkeley burned to the ground at three-forty-five to-day and the wind had swept the flames to within three blocks of the University of California where five thousand students are in attendance. Four city blocks were being wiped out and the fire was headed towards the business section.

Toll Great Bell of St. Paul's Only for Royal Family.

The great bell of St. Paul's, London, England is tolled only on the death of a member of the royal family in the line of descent from any English sovereign. The honor is paid only to a member of the royal family who could under any circumstances succeed to the throne. This rule does not apply to the consort of the sovereign, or of a prince or princess on the steps of the throne. The booming of the great bell of St. Paul's was the first intimation of the death of the Prince Consort, which occurred at 11 o'clock on the night of Saturday, December 14th, 1841. Outside the royal family the only persons for whom the bell is tolled are the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, the Dean of St. Paul's, and the Lord Mayor of London dying in his year of office. The bell tolled in great honor at the death of the royal family the Home Secretary at once communicates with the Lord Mayor, desiring him to convey news to the Dean of St. Paul's with a request that the great bell may be tolled. The bell is tolled at intervals of a minute for an hour.

A drunk who was disorderly on the public street was fined $2. A motorist was fined $10 or 30 days for driving at a speed dangerous to the public. The evidence showed that the car was driven through Topsail and up over the hill at 30 miles an hour. The speed was verified by Inspector General Hutchings, who stated that he attempted to overtake the accused. At the start the cars were 75 yards apart and when a stop was made the accused's car was about 100 yards ahead. During the chase the Inspector General's speedometer registered 11 miles per hour.

Is London Too Big?

Better Transport May Split the Metropolis up into a collection of Garden Cities.

It is on record that in the days of Queen Elizabeth, more than three centuries ago, her statesmen consulted with the Queen on steps to be taken to prevent London, increasing from its then "prodigious" size. Yet, two hundred years later than that, South Lambeth was still a health resort, and Chelsea a country village, while the biggest farm in Middlesex lay all along the north side of what is now the Marylebone Road.

To-day London is so vast that no man can tell where she begins or ends. So-called Greater London contains nearly eight millions of inhabitants, and is spreading steadily in every direction.

The administrative county, called the County of London, contains 117 square miles and about 650,000 houses, sheltering five millions of people. It has 2,500 miles of streets, 329 railway stations, 144 local governing bodies, and it costs 26 millions sterling to administer.

While the size of administrative London is definitely fixed, Greater London extends constantly. It has more than doubled in size in the past fifty years, and every extension of Metropolitan or other suburban railways makes it jump afresh. After the check in building caused by the war, it is now growing at the rate of about four thousand houses yearly.

What is to happen? Will London go on growing in the future at the same rate as in the past? If so, what will be the effect upon its inhabitants and upon the country at large?

It is said that a country family settling in London dies out in three generations. That may have been true in the past, but to-day the health of London is improving at a marvelous rate.

Drainage, on which twelve millions has been spent in the past fifty years, is well-nigh perfect; the water supply is better than that of any other great city. Year by year the death-rate falls, and even during the present century it has dropped from 17 to about 13 per 1,000, a record many a health resort might envy.

The only threat to the health of Londoners to-day is from smoke and smoke-made fog. But the ever-increasing use of coal gas and electricity is steadily lessening this danger, and it seems reasonable to suppose that London will become smokeless within the next fifty years.

At the same time, the increasing facilities of rapid transit are beginning to drain the congested centres, where the population is 51 to the acre, into the outer rings, where there are only 55 persons to the acre.

And speaking of these facilities, the time is bound to come—it is not so far off, either—when aerial travel will become so safe and so cheap that people whose business takes them every day to the city will be able to live a hundred miles away as easily as they can now live a tenth of that distance.

When that time arrives, London will cease to grow as it is growing now. The crowded suburbs will open out, the monotonous rows of packed little villas will vanish, and instead of the present gigantic octopus of brick and mortar, we shall see a wide area of farm and grass land dotted with glorified garden cities.

Great Variety Show at the Crescent.

SINGING AND DANCING BY PAT HARRINGTON.

Last night's big variety show at the Crescent was well up to expectations, the novelty songs by Pat Harrington being of a high nature. His step dancing was a feature of the bill. The ball solos by Jack Cronan was indeed an enhancement to the quality of the programme, whilst the piano accompaniments by Al Pittman was up to the usual high standard.

Wm. O'Leary Cabanne has achieved one of his greatest screen successes in "At the Stage Door," last night's attraction at the theatre. As the title intimates the story depicts a vivid picture of these life. The story has to do with the experiences of a young and beautiful girl who loses her sweet-heart to her younger sister and then goes to New York and gets a job in the chorus of a musical comedy show.

Watch for the big Amateur Contest at this theatre on Friday night. Three cash prizes will be given. The fun show of the season—no one will miss it.

Mary Carr Triumphs in Fox "Silver Wings."

FAMOUS SCREEN MOTHER REPEATS HER FORMER SUCCESS IN NEW PICTURE.

It was distinctly a Mary Carr night at the Majestic Theatre last night. Not only did the famous mother of "Over the Hill" score a distinct personal success as the star in her latest super-production, "Silver Wings," presented by William Fox, but at the close of the photographs found the audience adoring the picture a well deserved ovation. It left no doubt as to the esteem in which she is held by the public not only as one of the screen's great mothers, but a splendid, capable actress to boot.

In fact, it is the pleasure which is derived from watching the work of Mrs. Carr that is one of the incentives in viewing "Silver Wings." It is certainly a well done picture with Mrs. Carr in the stellar role. She is at all times an appealing figure who possesses a true understanding of the mother's heart and the rare ability to convey that understanding to the screen. She is also ably supported by an excellent cast and the photography is flawless throughout the entire production.

Mrs. Carr's role is that of a mother and devoted wife who assumes upon her husband's death, the care of a fairly profitable business he has built up and the care of her two sons and a daughter. In the prologue she is shown during the early days of her marriage, later as a prosperous business woman and then as a forsaken woman.

Her two sons furnish a splendid example of the contrasts of character within a family. One is slow and plodding, but sincere, and the other—albeit the favorite of his mother—is lazy and deceitful, and, as is always the case, eventually brings disgrace upon his mother. The daughter, over the protests of her worthless brother, marries for love, but is forced to leave her family.

In time the entire family has left the mother, who is forced into bankruptcy. Step by step we see the family become reunited after the keen realization that fidelity to their mother is a sure sign of happiness.

Get-Rich-Quick Women.

Eye Likes Her Little Finster; Sometimes She is Even a Bigger "Plunger" Than Adam.

The evidence before the Tax on Betting Committee has shown that bookmakers now do an enormous business with women of all classes and ages.

It might be added that women now form a large percentage, probably a majority, of the advertising tipster's clients. This does not necessarily mean that women are more creditous than men, but they are rather new to the racing game.

Women argue that the same tipsters go on advertising in reputable papers year after year and claiming winners under heavy forfeit if contradicted. Surely, say women, here is a quick road to fortune.

The tipster's winners are genuine enough, but none the less there is a "catch" to which few women "tumble."

In water-tight compartments Here is an example from a sporting paper. Tipster A advertises that he gave "Chatmet" to all his "over-night letter" clients. Tipster B also claims "Chatmet" as a winner, but in this case it was B's "one-horse wife" clients who received the "good thing."

The tipster's followers are in so many water-tight compartments, there are those who want letters—weekly or overnight—but no wires, and there are those who want wires but no letters. There are many varieties of wires, and to each set of clients the tipster, without necessarily being dishonest, can send a different horse. With so many chances it would be surprising if he did not find the winner with fair frequency, though only one set of clients benefits.

Women are particularly attracted by the "send no money" tipster. His tips are free, provided you agree to return him the odds to 50, or whatever it may be, when a winner is sent. For example, if you get a winner at two to one you must remit him 10.

It sounds fair enough, but the snare is that the tipster shares your winnings but not your losses. Suppose on three of his tips you have 21 each. The first two lose and you are 23 down. The third Inns at Mongolia.

In Mongolia there are four distinct grades of inns. First comes the ordinary inn, where mules and donkeys, horses and their owners can be accommodated more or less comfortably. Next there is a smaller type of hostelry, where foot-passengers stay. Then comes the "camel inn," where only the "ships of the desert" are received, because these ill-tempered brutes are so vicious, biting and kicking all who approach, that they have to be kept apart from other animals. In the more settled localities custom requires their drivers to travel with them only at night, and to keep them shut up in their own inns by day.

Finally, there are the "pig inns." Their courtyards are filled with low troughs where four-footed guests are fed.

Old Country Soccer.

(Montreal Star, Sept. 17.)
There was a truly extraordinary state of affairs in Old Country soccer on Saturday, no fewer than 31 games being drawn, the most meritorious on the English First Division probably being Chelmsford United's divide with Newcastle United who give evidence of being a really great team this season. So well have Sunderland been going that it was not entirely unexpected that they should triumph over Birmingham, but you have to keep in mind that the Brum men have been playing real good football. Burnley have not found their feet and I should imagine it would be some little time before Dantle Walker is "acclimatized" to the English style of football.

I should imagine Jimmy Lawrence will be in doldrums over his team. It is not the usual Preston way to bow the knee week after week, and the club is not in position to pay for additional players, in fact, they are in debt. It is a perplexing situation.
In the Second Division the most surprising result was the defeat of Manchester United. Bury had not given evidence of ability beyond their mediocre usual, and, no doubt, they will be plumping themselves to-day. It is quite clear that the one-time erratic South Shields have settled down to a more consistent game. You don't get points easily from Barnsley, believe me. It was a noteworthy fact that no one single Second Division Club lost at home, rather unusual you will admit.

In the Scottish League there is one manager who will have sleepless nights this weather, I refer to Allick Bennett, of the Third Lanark. His team, it is apparent have not found their feet after their trip to the Argentina. I should imagine they will be dead stale. It is all very well to sojourn for a week or a fortnight on the "Continents," but to suspend practically the whole close season touring is bad policy, and is bound to make the men stale when they come to tackle serious league work.
Clydebank are going to have a hard job to keep their place in the First Division. Not having a grand stand, they are deprived of much needed revenue in consequence. They fell to Falkirk at home, but it will be observed that Alrdrie still kept on doing it. Their win was the best of the day.

Strange isn't it that Motherwell do so well against Patrick Thistle. No sooner do they leave Fir Park and step on the field at Firhill than they seem to consider that the points are just as good as annexed. The old saying "Horses for courses," perhaps. UNO.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS OF OLD COUNTRY SOCCER.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Can. Press)—Results of Association Football League games played yesterday were:—

ENGLISH LEAGUE.

First Division.
Arsenal, 4; West Ham United, 1.
Birmingham, 0; Bolton Wanderers, 3.

THIRD DIVISION.

Southern Section.
Aberdare, 1; Brentford, 2.
Northampton, 0; Bristol Rovers, 0.
Norwich, 0; Watford, 0.

In an Inter-city Association game, Glasgow defeated Sheffield by a score of two goals to one.
Plymouth defeated Coventry in a Rugby Union game by 6 to 4.

(Montreal Star, Sept. 10.)

Despite all the gloomy forecasts—quite a change from the usual order of things—football is booming in the Old Country. As you will have noticed, there have been quite a number of surprising results on both sides of the Tweed. Birmingham so far have proved that they are a team to be reckoned with. They meet Sunderland to-morrow, and somehow I am inclined to the view that this game will end in a draw, or a win for the north country men. Notts Forest have not been hitting it off too sweetly, and they stand a poor chance of beating Burnley at home. Chelsea have not been able as yet to set the Thames on fire. They meet Aston Villa, and the Villa will win. When Everton meet Blackburn Rovers meet, it is always a conundrum "who will win?" Don't be surprised if this clash should end in a draw. The Goodison Park team certainly have the advantage of home soil, but the Rovers are always capable of so much. Manchester City are shaping nicely, as was only becoming now that they have got into a new home, a stadium good to hold a 90,000 crowd. When they meet Bolton Wanderers it is always a tight game, and if City were always the goods at Clayton, my choice is the cupholders to-morrow.

Newcastle United are doing awfully well. They are to beat Sheffield United, and Huddersfield will have to go some to get even a point from Notts County. Liverpool have not started too promisingly. Neither have Preston North End. The twins meet to-morrow. Take the Liverpool ticket. And you might as well have some confidence in Middlesbrough. They journey to the "Smoke" to meet the Spurs, and they always do well there. Last season the Yorkshire men won by 2-0. Trust West Bromwich to give Arsenal a nasty smack, but don't rely upon West Ham. May be wrong, of course, but to my thinking Cardiff City will beat them.

You have gathered perhaps these days just gone that I think Manchester United will make a big splash this year. I am positive they will. Bury may be lucky and get a point against them, but the learning is much the other way. Neither Coventry City nor Bristol City have started too well. Take Allick Raisbeck's men to win. Crystal Palace hang up against Fulham. Put that down as a draw. Derby County are pretty sure to win; Hull City are a stone certainty; Leicester City will get a point from Leeds United; but don't you have too much faith in Oldham. Bradford City are all out for promotion. All clubs are, of course, but they seem to have got a nice team together. Stockport will have to go the distance, of course, but they seem to have got a nice team together. Stockport will have much to do to beat the Vale, but if they are careful they ought to get them. Stoke to beat Blackpool. The season's, according to report, are not likely to prove the same "surprise packet" that they were last season.

The Scottish League fixtures are interesting. Ayr United have to meet Aberdeen. The Granite City men won't lose. Your boots on that. The erratic Clyde ought to account for Kilmarnock, but methinks Falkirk will put it over Clydebank. You must remember that Jimmy Hay, the manager of the Clydebank Club, has not much cloth to make a tailor's model out of. Dundee are likely to win over Third Lanark, but it is to be feared that Hamilton will not get the better of Raith Rovers. The great Edinburgh "Derby" between Hibs and Hearts is due. The game is at Easter Road. A draw is the usual result here, but I am inclined to favor the Hearts. Rangers will triumph over Morton. Sure thing. Don't be surprised if Motherwell gives the knock to Patrick Thistle. Celtic will have an easy lapse, but they will beat Queen's. Alrdrie journey to Paisley. The Saints no doubt have hopes, but take the Omlans to win. It is a great programme to-morrow.

P.S.—I am asked this: "What do you think of the captain of a team who will not accompany his boys in the same conveyance?" I don't know to whom this refers. That, however, matters little. The answer to the question is that I would buy him a bottle of scent.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS OF OLD COUNTRY SOCCER.

LONDON—Results of Association Football League games yesterday were as follows:—

THIRD DIVISION.

Southern Section.
Merthyr Tydvil, 3; Exeter City, 0.
Newport City, 3; Portsmouth, 1.
In the Northern Rugby League, Traunere defeated Halifax by 3 to 0.

Protect us From Our Friends.

COMMUNISTS GUARD LENINE BETTER THAN CEAR WAS GUARDED.

Lenine has ruled Russia for five years; yet comparatively few Russians have seen him personally. According to an Austrian newspaper it was in Easter in the old days to watch the Czar taking the air in the park of Tsarskoe Selo than it has been for the past five years to catch a glimpse of Lenine's face at the Kremlin and at Gorki, his summer home near Moscow, where he, his wife, and his only daughter live a modest, almost peasant-like family life.

A bodyguard of trusted Communists watches over him day and night. On public occasions the gloomiest, searching glance of the commander of this guard hovers incessantly over his entourage.

At the time of his last public appearance that stern shadow stood beside him. When he concluded his address, and a violent tumult of applause shook the hall, a group of loyal friends quickly encircled him, and no stranger or suspected person could approach. He was hastily spirited away through a dark passage and down a narrow stairway to the motor car that bore him off at a furious pace to the security of his suburban retreat.

Spiritual Healing.

REMARKABLE SCENE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

"Spiritual healing is a live thing," declared a preacher in ringing tones at a service in Westminster Abbey. Some members of the congregation were blind, and were led to their seats by friends, while others were dumb. The sermon was preached by the Rev. R. C. Griffith, vicar of St. Martin's, Norwich, who has conducted faith-healing services all over East Anglia. "I have seen blind men regain their sight," declared the speaker. "I have known a man shoot up an arm which was withered for 18 years, and have seen cancer cured within 20 minutes. Faith returns not only to the healed, but also to those who are not healed. In East Anglia, where I have just been working, thousands have waited from nine o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night in the streets, kneeling outside the little shrines where hands are laid on the sick. They watched people who were stone deaf healed within a few minutes, and returning thanks publicly. I was talking to one of the leading surgeons in the Cancer Research Fund a few days ago. He said to me: 'There is something about cancer that we know nothing about. What are you, as a representative of the church, doing about it?' I told him that in my opinion a day should be set aside on which every one throughout England should pray that this unknown 'something' might be revealed." Many people went to ask advice of Mr. Griffith after the service. "People are healed every week in Norwich," declared Mr. Griffith. "We hold services in churches or on village greens, and hundreds of people come from every part of England. The services are of the quietest possible character, and there is no choir. Six or seven people pray earnestly all the time, and it is better if the sick people can be prepared before the mission. I have a small bowl of oil, specially blessed by the bishop of the diocese, and I rub this oil over their temples and foreheads. Some time ago a worshipper came whose head was swathed in bandages. He had an abscess which protruded from his eye, but the moment he reached home and took off the bandages the abscess had gone down, and not a trace of it was left. The Rev. Arthur T. Dence, who carries on the same work in Devonshire was a helpless invalid, suffering from acute arthritis, until the Rev. John Mallard laid hands on him and cured him completely."

Oysters are now in season. Chop a few cooked ones into an omelet mixture just before cooking.
If you wish your cinnamon rolls to be of uniform size bake them in flat-bottomed muffin tins.

Lecture to the G.W.V.A. on the B.E.S.L. Conference

G. J. WHITTY, O.B.E., M.C., who, in conjunction with Capt. A. E. J. Fox and Lieut.-Col. T. Nangle, C.F., represented the G.W.V.A. of Newfoundland at the recent Conference of the British Empire Service League held in London.

Last night's illustrated lecture to the War Veterans by Capt. Gerald Whitty, O.B.E., M.C., Secretary of the G.W.V.A., attracted a large audience. The lecturer held the attention of the gathering not only by the interesting matter contained in his address, but also by his delivery which included every point clearly and which in the most graphic manner took his hearers once again over the well known ground.

The B.E.S.L. of which His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is Patron and Field Marshal, Lord Haig is Grand President, represents some million ex-service men, and is active interest that His Royal Highness and Lord Haig have taken in the welfare of the Veterans has been fully illustrated. An appeal for funds on Aug. 4th last met with a generous response, and in 4 days the sum of $150,000 was contributed to aid those who were unemployed, in addition numerous offers of employment were renewed.

SPOILT! NOT LIKELY.

You never have your films or prints spoilt at Tooton's. There is no store in town that has such up-to-the-minute apparatus for Developing and Printing.

The recently installed new plant for developing prevents any defective negatives, and the printing from negatives is only carried out by thoroughly proficient workers.

To get your films satisfactorily developed—perfect prints from the negatives, and promptness, you'll find it best to go to the Kodak Store.

the League of Nations, and the re-adjustment of Pensions to N.S.R. Royal Reserve men. In connection with the latter there was every reason to believe that the drawbacks which at present exist would be removed. The balance of the Medals for the N.S.R. Naval Reserve would shortly be issued, and prize money in arrears would be paid in due course.

Great praise was expressed for those responsible for the "Veteran" which compared favourably with any other magazine published "by the different organisations. Various functions were attended by the Delegates, and in particular was the luncheon tendered by the N.S.R. G.W.V.A. mentioned.

The activities of the G.W.V.A. were further extended by the formation in London of a branch, the first president of which was Captain J. E. J. Fox.

A high tribute was paid to Capt. Victor Gordon, acting High Commissioner, not alone for his help in connection with the Conference, but also in connection with the good work he is doing to promote the welfare of Newfoundland.

In concluding Capt. Whitty extended his thanks to all those who had shown hospitality to the N.S.R. delegates.

PILGRIMAGE TO FRANCE.

It was my privilege to pay a visit to the battlefields in France and Belgium, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. T. Nangle, C.F., whose work in connection with our graves and Memorials is so well known. In making this pilgrimage to the graves of our dead, I was satisfying a great desire. Six days were spent in touring the various areas in which the Regiment fought and it proved most interesting, apart from the sad aspect. The reconstruction in the devastated areas is proceeding rapidly, this being due to the wonderful effort put forward by the French and Belgian people. It is almost impossible to visualize places familiar to members of the Regiment as they were when they knew them and as they appear now. The Cemeteries, some 3,000, are rapidly being completed. It will, however, take a number of years for the Imperial War Graves Commission to complete the enormous task they have undertaken. Most of the Cemeteries near the Main Road in the Ypres and other sectors have been completed, graves are in position in those Cemeteries and everywhere is quietude and peace. Those Cemeteries are truly God's Acre and a worthy resting place for our Glorious Dead.

BEAUMONT HAMEL PARK ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE THE MOST UNIQUE AND ORIGINAL MEMORIAL IN FRANCE.

As you are, no doubt, very much interested in the Newfoundland Memorials now being erected in France and Belgium, I should like to tell you what progress has been made to date, and my impressions on visiting Newfoundland's Memorial Park at Beaumont Hamel. The first intimation I had that I was approaching the entrance to our Park was the large sign boards, three of which are placed at the various entrances. The notice is painted in clear and white and reads, "Newfoundland Memorial Park Beaumont Hamel." The work on the Park is progressing very favourably. As will be remembered the purchase price allocated by the Newfoundland Government was $10,000 with $5,000 additional for the completion of the Park. This sum has since been augmented by $5,515.00, which sum was collected by the Beaumont Hamel Collector's Committee from the citizens of Newfoundland. This amount, making a total of $15,515.00, will be sufficient to complete the Park. Eighty-four acres of land has been purchased. Ferro Concrete posts are being placed around the Park which will carry the fencing and wire netting necessary to prevent vermin from damaging the surrounding crops. The fencing will be edged inside and at intervals, Lombardy poplars will be placed. The main entrance is from the road, known during the war as "St. John's Road," which runs from Ocean Villiers to Hamel. The design of the entrance is now being worked out consistent with the finances available. Other entrances will be constructed on side roads and at paths leading to places of interest outside the Park. Near the Main Avenue will be placed the 29th Divisional Memorial. This Memorial will take the form of a simple granite boulder with the Red Triangle in Mosaic. The main avenue circularises the base of the mound upon which the Caribou is to be erected. A spiral path leads from the base of the mound to the top, the outside being faced with rock so as to present the appearance of a natural boulder. The trenches are being kept in their original condition, dug-outs are being restored. Both German and British will present the same conditions as during the war. Non-combatant visitors will be afforded an unique opportunity of viewing the battleground as it actually existed on July 1st and during the war. The roads to the Park are being put in condition by an arrangement between the Newfoundland Government and the Commune in which those roads lie. Much assistance has been received from the Mayors and Commune Officials. Recently a considerable number of War Trophies including heavy guns were obtained from the French and British Governments. Those guns will be placed in the actual German Gun Pits within the Park. Beaumont Hamel Park is the only Park of its kind under construction and is already attracting hundreds of visitors so much so that taxi drivers and guides have resented bringing tourists and pilgrims to the Park on account of so much time being spent inspecting the trenches, etc., the drivers thereby losing on the fare. No finer tribute to the splendid idea of memorializing Beaumont Hamel could be paid them than that recently by the War Office when it sent 1,000 Officers and Cadets to the Park to learn the lessons of the war and particularly those which applied to July 1st. The staff employed on the Park is most efficient and doing its work well. As many as forty are employed at various periods. The labour is cheap and reliable. Mr. Rud. H. K. Cochius, who visited St. John's recently in connection with the Memorial, has shown great energy and enthusiasm regarding the horticulture work, nursery for Newfoundland Seedlings and the project in general. Beaumont Hamel Park, when completed, will be a Memorial second to none. In years to come much more costly Memorials of greater architectural and sculptural beauty may be erected by the Nation, but none will be more unique or appealing to future generations than the simple original tribute made by Newfoundland to its gallant sons who died at Beaumont Hamel on July 1st, 1916.

OPENING CEREMONY.

It is hoped to have the Cemeteries in the Beaumont Hamel Park areas completed this year. It is the intention to have the names of our fallen who died in all theatres of war and whose graves are unknown inscribed on tablets, which will be placed in suitable place in the Park, possibly on the entrance gates. The Park should be completed next year and an invitation will be extended to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales to perform the opening ceremony and unveil the Memorials. This ceremony will be arranged to coincide with the visit of the Newfoundland Pilgrims. The Memorials include the N.S.R. Caribou, 29th Divisional Memorial and possibly the 101st Scottish Division Memorial. The Caribou, when erected, will be visible from practically all parts of the Somme Battlefields.

GUEDECOURT MEMORIAL.

Next we come to Guedecourt Memorial. This Memorial is erected on a splendid site that which marks the most advanced position attained by the Regiment during the Guedecourt Battle. The Monument is plainly visible from the Albert-Baspume-Perronne Road, the objective of the Les Transloy Ridge Battles. Colonel Nangle is now awaiting for the planting season to complete this Memorial.

MASNIERES MEMORIAL.

The location of this Memorial is ideal. It is situated on the Cambrai-Perronne main road, which runs between Paris and North Eastern France. The boulders for its base were obtained from the Ardennes, and weigh approximately 28 tons each. The Caribou being set on the top of a natural rock crag. The plot surrounding this Monument is beautifully laid out. Newfoundland seedlings and flowers are growing well and the Memorial is the centre of attraction to the village of Masnieres and the town of Cambrai.

COURTRAI MEMORIAL (Belgium).

This is the only Memorial to be erected in Belgium to commemorate the achievements of the Regiment in Flanders. It is situated just outside of Courtrai on the main West Flanders Road marking the actual spot where the Regiment crossed the Lys and the final advance in 1918. The Caribou will be placed in position some time this year and when the Monument is finally completed it should prove a fitting remembrance of our men who fought and died in Belgium. MONCHIELE-PEBEX MEMORIAL. This Memorial is the last to be erected and so work has, as yet, been done on it. This has been due to the fact that the location is in the centre of the ruins of Monchy which are now being cleared away. The site was, at one time, occupied by an old Monastery, which in later years was used as a farm house. This farm when occupied was reconstructed as a fortress with solid reinforced concrete. It is the intention to preserve the ruins as much as possible and mount the Caribou on them. Iron spalls will be placed on the dug-outs and cellars to prevent unauthorised egress. A gate will be affixed to an entrance and some responsible person in the village will have the custody of the key, so that visitors may inspect the dug-outs. The four feet of the Caribou will rest on an armoured plated observation plate looking out towards Infantry Hill.

COMMEMORATIVE PLAQUES IN CATHEDRAL.

The Memorial Plaque placed in Amiens Cathedral to commemorate the deeds of our men during the Somme Battles is a splendid piece of workmanship, simple and dignified in contrast to some of the more expensive tablets erected by other Dominions. The location of the tablet is excellent, and it is viewed by all visitors to this splendid Cathedral. It is, I understand, the intention of the Government to place Memorial Plaques in all the Cathedrals in the other battle areas where our Regiment fought as soon as the Cathedrals have been restored.

NEWFOUNDLAND HAS CARE FOR HER GLORIOUS DEAD WELL.

During the course of my Pilgrimage to France and Belgium I was very much impressed by the splendid efforts put forward by the Newfoundland Government through its representative, Colonel Nangle, to perpetuate the glorious memory of our men who died during the War. It was indeed good to feel that one belonged to a country which had done so much to perpetuate her dead. Our Memorials in France and Belgium are unique; they are the admiration of hundreds of thousands of pilgrims and tourists. Statuary and architectural gems may always be seen in the big cities of the world—but the massive stee Caribou standing erect on a National Red Cross emblem of our country and acting as a sentinel, is a thing to be proud of and evokes the profound admiration of those who are fortunate enough to visit it. The small parks surrounding the Memorials are beautifully laid out. Newfoundland seedlings, spruce, fir, etc., predominate. When the Lombardy Poplars attain their full growth it can be said without fear of contradiction that Newfoundland will indeed have Memorials which should spread throughout the world the fame of the men from Newfoundland who fought during the war. Again when it is remembered that countless thousands of pilgrims from all countries have visited the Battlefields and will continue to do so in years to come, it can readily be seen that in those Memorials Newfoundland has done well to perpetuate its warrior sons.

PILGRIMAGE 1923.

Colonel Nangle, C.F., is completing provisional arrangements for the Newfoundland Pilgrimage to the Battlefields in September 1923. Area centres such as Ypres, Cambrai, Arras and Amiens will be created, and Pilgrims desiring to visit graves in those areas will be afforded every opportunity of seeing the desired graves. A specially prepared booklet is being prepared by Colonel Nangle which shows the location of every one of the 101 Cemeteries in which Newfoundlanders are buried. This will greatly facilitate their location. Colonel Nangle has informed me that he is now in receipt of the total cost to cover a pilgrimage of 500 people, and that the proposed figure already named viz: $300 per head will be sufficient to have the trip materialise. Newfoundlanders who propose joining the Pilgrimage are assured of a most wonderful and interesting experience. The hotels and hostels in the devastated areas are quite comfortable and prices reasonable. The roads are in good condition and no undue hardship is to be met with.

in travelling. During the next few years the reconstruction work which is rapidly being done will have repaired much of the damage done during the war. Nature is kind in clothing the scars of war. However, there is much to be seen. The British Government is rebuilding the Main Gate at Tynes at the Memorial to the 26,000 officers and men who died in the Ypres salient. Memorials are being erected in some hundreds of places by Governments, divisions and others. One of the most striking Memorials is that erected by the 9th Division—a Scottish Cairn—on the Arras-Douai Main Road. The inscription reads:

REMEMBER WITH HONOUR THE 9TH SCOTTISH DIVISION WHO ON THE FIELDS OF FRANCE AND FLANDERS 1916-1918 SERVED WELL.

The Newfoundland Regiment served with this famous Division and a large boulder is placed near the Memorial, having the crest and name of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment carved thereon. The Canadian Memorial at St. Julien is a splendid piece of sculptural beauty, depicting the head and shoulders of a soldier with hands resting on a rifle reversed. This Memorial commemorates the splendid work of the Canadians in withstanding the first gas attack at St. Julien 1915. At Poelcapelle the French Government has erected a splendid Memorial to Capt. Guynemer, the famous French aviator who brought down some 70 German air-planes. He was killed on September 11th, 1917. Surrounding the pedestal is a large stone in an attitude of flight. This is the work of the French Government's identification mark. One is seriously surprised to see the many Memorials erected which mark points of great interest, where some of the most severe struggles of the war took place.

NEWFOUNDLAND NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL.

The plans for the Newfoundland War Memorial are now finally completed and are in the hands of the granite people, who are submitting costs covering Norwegian, Italian and Cornish granite. As soon as the question of cost has been decided, the granite work for the pedestal and the front facings of the platen will be commenced. In company with Colonel Nangle I visited some of the granite quarries in London, and ascertained that it will be possible to have the granite cut and ready for shipment during March month. The sculptor, Mr. Basil Gotto has the figure of the soldier completed. It is a splendid piece of work. The expression and pose being one of determination. An immediate start is being made on the main piece of statuary, which is a female form representing "Newfoundland." A model has just been found, after much difficulty, and the work should progress favourably. Later the statuary of the Soldier will be commenced, and it is the opinion of the artist and architect, as well as that of Colonel Nangle, that notwithstanding the almost unsurmountable difficulties to be met with, the Memorial will be ready for unveiling on July 1st. As you are already aware, Lord Haig has accepted an invitation extended to him to unveil the Memorial. It is hoped to have other distinguished officers connected with the Regiment present from the Old Country at this Ceremony. Plans are now being drawn up for a worthy reception to Field Marshal Earl Haig and party.

MRS. ELLEN BARRON.

Three passed peacefully away, at Riverhead, St. Mary's, on August 28th, an old and highly respected resident in the person of Mrs. Ellen Barron, wife of the late John Barron, at the ripe old age of 72 years. Left to mourn their sad loss are 1 son, 2 daughters, several grandchildren and numerous friends, who will be sorry to learn of her passing. Being of a kind and loving disposition, her loss will be keenly felt by all with whom she came in contact. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place at Riverhead on August 30th and her remains were laid to rest in the family plot in the little R.C. Cemetery. May her soul rest in peace.—COR.

FRANCIS WALSH.

On Saturday, Sept. 8th, the Feast of the birthday of Hoelva's, Queen. Death, the stern destroyer of old and young alike, visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walsh, Forest Road, and snatched from their midst their angel boy, Francis. Early in the summer he underwent an operation for Appendicitis at the General Hospital, and it was fondly hoped that in time and with care his darling would regain his wonted strength, but Providence willed otherwise. "Frank," as he was familiarly called, was possessed of a beautiful, gentle disposition, which endeared him to all who came in contact with him, and he was a universal favourite. His untimely death, at the early age of eleven years is therefore a heavy crushing blow to his fond parents, his loving sisters and little brother, and the sympathy of all will go out to them in their hour of bitter sorrow. Many were the tokens of love and esteem for the dearly loved Frank, but none more touching than that of his little class-mates, who had the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass offered twice for the repose of his dear soul, and who formed a guard of honour at his funeral. Ireland's Poet, the immortal Thomas Moore, has said:

"From Love's shining circle The Gems drop away." So this "gem," too rare and precious for our dreary earth, so truly styled "a vale of tears," before being blighted by sin was transported to Paradise to bloom forever in "God's own garden," and unite with the angels in chanting His praises for a glorious eternity. May his dear soul rest in peace. Amen.

Many Uses for Seaweed.

It is generally known that certain seaweeds are used for food, but the making of dye from seaweed is a new discovery due to the war.

A beautiful green dye is obtained from a seaweed found on the Welsh coast, and stuff dyed with it was shown at a recent meeting of the Welsh Industries Association.

A Japanese seaweed known as "Jugamo" provides a fibre which can be spun and woven exactly like cotton. The weed is first boiled in an alkaline solution, and afterwards bleached. The weed being a common one, the discovery may prove very valuable.

Chinese doctors have been successful in curing certain skin diseases with extracts from seaweeds. Exports in this direction are now being carried out in Paris and other European cities.

An excellent size is prepared from seaweed, which is used largely for sizing string. All the post office string made in English prisons is sized with this preparation.

For packing purposes, seaweed is being used in continually increasing quantities. Seaweed, when dried, is extraordinarily light and elastic, and admirably adapted for packing delicate china and works of art.

During the war, when Venice was being bombed by Germans and Austrians, the masterpieces of painting and sculpture which could not be removed were protected by bags of seaweed. Tons were used in the safeguarding of St. Mark's Cathedral.

Withbourne Notes.

In the account of the wedding of William Drower in my last notes, the Christian name of the bride was inadvertently misstated, and should have read Hazel Clarke (and not Sade), as appeared in print.

Rev. W. R. J. and Mrs. Higgett arrived here on a visit on the 8th inst and enjoyed a week of rest and relaxation in the invigorating air of Withbourne. Mr. Higgett captured some dozens of trout during his stay. During the absence of the incumbent at Topsail, Mr. Higgett kindly supplied at St. John the Baptist Church. The Rev. gentleman and his wife left for town on the 15th ult, where they spent a week with Canon and Mrs. Jeeves at the rectory before returning to Harbor Grace.

Rev. C. and Mrs. Jeffery returned home on the 4th after a weeks' visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. A. Jeffery at Topsail and a flying visit to St. John's.

On Sept. 5th, the Garden Party, previously advertised in the Telegram materialized. The day chosen was cool, but fair throughout, and the sun shining forth at noon made the afternoon quite pleasant for tea out of doors and the various sports. The tea tables were set out in Loch Leven House grounds (kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. John Sparkes) and with spotless napery, etc., and an abundance of beautiful flowers looked very inviting; and the various food stuffs provided, sandwiches, cakes and pies, fresh raspberries and ice-cream and fragrant tea, were done ample justice to. The following ladies comprised the Tea Committee:—Mrs. H. Mercer, Miss Jeffery, Mesdames Geo. Sparkes, A. Peddie, J. Gosse and J. Rogers. Mrs. S. Sparkes and Mrs. H. Leslie kindly provided the ice-cream, and sold over $10 worth during the afternoon and evening. Miss M. Reid, C.E. Teacher, sold oranges and candies. Miss B. Sharpe took charge of a huge Bran Pie, and a "guess cake," which was finally attested off by Rev. W. R. J. Higgett in a very taking and energetic manner when all guessing proved futile. A "grab bag" carried round by Master Ray Sparkes was soon emptied of its contents.

Among the members of the Sports Committee were:—H. Mercer, Church Warden; Geo. Sparkes, W. Larner and J. Rogers, who proved themselves to be very competent in arranging matters and carrying through the programme of sports successfully. Mr. J. Rogers (War Veteran) superintended the rifle-shooting. At 8.45, when the shades of evening were gathering, Rev. Mr. Higgett in a few well chosen words thanked the members of the Tea and Sports Committees, and lusty cheers for one and all ended a pleasant day. The proceeds, in aid of the new Church Organ Fund, amounted to over $55, and will help to swell the "nest egg" in the Bank for the same worthy purpose. Best thanks are due to friends for donations of money, flowers, cakes and candy, etc., both in and outside St. John's church congregation.

Miss Mabel Reid, of Hearst's Dollight, arrived on Sept. 3rd to teach in the C. E. School, and opened school the same day.

The Angel of Death visited this settlement on the 13th inst and took from our midst Amelia Marvin, widow Mrs. Marvin was called to her rest after an illness of many months duration, patiently borne. She leaves two sons, Frederick and Hubert, and many relatives at New Harbor (her native place) to mourn their sad loss. Mrs. Marvin was Secretary of the C. E.W.A. and a willing worker when health permitted. The funeral took place on the 15th ult. from St. John's Church, the members of the C.E.W.A. attending. May she rest in peace in the Paradise above.

Miss M. Cooke (Postal Telegraph) is now taking a vacation and is relieved by Miss George.

On Sunday evening, 9th inst., an unfortunate accident occurred here. Arthur Brown, son of Mr. Archibald Brown, fell from his carriage in some unaccountable way and sustained a compound fracture to his leg. He was proceeding to his home at Blaketown at the time. First Aid was rendered by Messrs. Larner and Mercer and the Doctor wired for. We hope for his speedy recovery under our good doctors care and skill.

Mr. Gordon Sparkes arrived home from Indian Bay on Saturday's East bound express. We understand he will go to the West Coast later on to take charge of a telegraph office on or near the Humber.—COR.

25 U.S. SAILORS DROWNED—WAR-CRAFT ALL TOTAL LOSSES.

LINER CUBA SUNK.

LAST DESTROYER BECOMES RESCUER BY STRANGE CHANCE.

SANTA BARBARA—(Can. Press)—Seven United States navy destroyers and the Pacific Mail liner Cuba were wrecked yesterday morning and last night. The navy vessels crashed on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguello Light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, and the passenger steamer on a reef off the south end of San Miguel Island, 35 miles off this port.

Twenty-five enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

The Cuba was reported to have sunk during the night, but all passengers and members of her crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the destroyer Reno, or are on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil tanker, W. S. Miller, with the exception of Capt. C. J. Holland, the purser, steward, and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard a shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Dense fog was the cause of both disasters. The destroyers Chamuncey, Woodbury, Fuller, S. P. Lee, Nicholas, Young and Delphy, were all beached within a few minutes of each other, according to naval officers.

The flotilla of which the wrecked craft formed a part was in command of Captain Edward Watson, commanding officer of the Delphy and was on a practice cruise.

Trapped Asleep. The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young when that vessel struck and were drowned when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

More than five hundred men were rescued from the wrecked destroyers which last night were reported to be pounding to pieces on the rocks.

Of the survivors, fifteen of the seriously injured were brought to the Santa Barbara county hospital here. One hundred others were cut and bruised in their swim to safety over the jagged rocks. The destroyers were travelling in formation at 20 knots an hour in a heavy sea and dense fog when the leading vessel crashed.

Carried ahead by a strong tide, the others piled on the beach in succession. The boats last night lay in line along the shore at intervals of 250 feet. One of them, the Chamuncey, was resting high on the rocks.

Only one body had been recovered last night. The seas were running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

The rescue of most of the crew of

The Young was effected when Boat-sweeper's Mate Peterson took a line aboard, and swam with it to the Chamuncey, fighting against the rough sea and strong tides. Peterson reached the Chamuncey exhausted.

With the line secured between the two ships, all remaining members of the crew made their way ashore, as the Chamuncey was beached on the mainland.

A twist of fate that sent the destroyer Reno, tearing southward at 20 knots an hour to the west of the channel islands instead of down the Santa Barbara channel, according to her schedule, saved 33 survivors from the wreck of the mail liner Cuba from at least certain death at sea, according to the Reno's commander, Lieut.-Commander J. R. Barry. The Reno, after grouping her way southward through the fog banks, reached San Pedro harbor yesterday with the passengers and crew of the wrecked Cuba.

Lost in the fog and headed due west for the open sea in the belief that they were bound for the mainland, two of the Cuba's boats were sighted late yesterday by the Reno as she was speeding through the fog on her annual full power trials. Chance sighting of the first lifeboat through a rift in the fog was all that saved the Cuba's ill-fated passengers, declared Commander Barry. He said:

"We were making 30 knots and were hitting it up since we left Puget Sound for San Diego. We were scheduled to have passed down the inside of the channel, but the fog was so thick that I decided to stick to the outside for safety. About three o'clock yesterday morning we sighted a small boat on our beam. We thought it was a fishing boat at first, but as we dashed by I saw it carried too many persons for such a craft. Three miles farther out we passed a second boat and knew that they were in distress. Our speed was so terrific that we were forced to make a long circle of more than five miles to slow down before we reached the first lifeboat. In charge of the Cuba's chief engineer, W. J. Owens.

Going to China.

"Owens had his craft, as well as the one following him, headed directly west, in the belief that they were going East. He gave us an idea where the Cuba was piled up and an hour later we found her, down by the head and heavy seas piling over her.

"The passengers, women and children, wearing coats and over-clothing of the ship's officers, were lying in bedraggled heaps about the beach."

Fog and lost bearings, aggravated by the lack of wireless to ascertain compass bearings, was responsible for the accident, according to the officers of the Cuba.

The Cuba has been on the run between San Francisco and Central and South America ports for some time. She is a steel twin screw steamer of 3,148 tons, built in 1897 by Blohm and Voess, of Hamburg, and originally was known as the Colbenz. As one of the German steamers seized when the United States entered the war she was renamed the Sachem.

The management of the Nickel sprang a pleasant surprise on its patrons last night, when Miss Margaret Frerer with Miss Nellie Maunder rendered the popular duet, "Humoresque." Miss Maunder is a well known local Contralto whose beautiful voice has been a great addition to many a local recital and concert and last evening she scored the big success of her career before an immense gathering that applauded to the echo. Miss Maunder's splendid voice blended remarkably with Miss Frerer's and they were compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Margaret Frerer solo numbers last evening were "A Birthday" and "Lilac Tree" and the reception tendered her was indeed enthusiastic accompaniments were in the hands of Prof. W. Moncrief MacLeod.

The management regrets to announce her engagement this as she returns to New York where she continues engagement with the son Records. Her stay here has been a source of pleasure to herself as to her many friends who have been royally entertained by such a treat of vocal music and she has with her the whole-hearted approval of St. John's. To-night the mentioned programme will be presented, and we advise all who love music to take in this unusual event.

International Race Dates Are to be Set Soon.

The International Fishermen's Races will be held this year off Halifax Harbor during the last two weeks in October, the exact dates to be set later.

Such was the decision arrived at by the trustees of the International Fishermen's trophy at a meeting held at the Board of Trade rooms yesterday.

Last year there was a request from Lunenburg, asking that the Nova Scotia Fleet Races (which are also the elimination races to select the Canadian defender or challenger, as the case may be) be held this year off Lunenburg. The Nova Scotia Fleet Cup trustees are now in communication with the Lunenburg members of the race committee, and if it is still the desire to have the Fleet Races sailed off that port this year, the request, it is announced, will be acceded to.

For the information of those not fully conversant with the details of the fishermen's schooner races, a word of explanation is offered:

There are two trophies donated by The Halifax Herald and The Evening Mail. One trophy is emblematic of the International honors of the North Atlantic, which trophy is now held by the schooner Bluenose, of Lunenburg. To compete for this trophy, vessels must be eligible, that is to say, must conform with the stipulations of the trophy deed of gift as to dimensions, sail area, date of construction, service of the deep-sea fishing banks, etc.

The second trophy is emblematic of the honors of the Nova Scotia Fishing fleet. There are only two conditions attached to competition for the Nova Scotia Fleet Trophy. One is that the vessel must be a bona fide Nova Scotia fisherman. The other is that the competing vessels must draw their power of propulsion from sails alone. Date of construction, dimensions, sail area, time of sailing for the banks—none of these regulations that apply in the case of competition for the International Trophy apply in connection with the Nova Scotia Fleet Races. Any Nova Scotia sailing fisherman is eligible to compete.

Both trophies are, of course, now held by the Bluenose.

The International Trophy has been competed for and won as under:

1920—Esperanto (United States) against Delaware (Canada). Won by Esperanto. Race sailed off Halifax.

1921—Bluenose (Canada) against Elsie (United States). Won by Bluenose. Race sailed off Halifax.

1922—Bluenose (Canada) against Henry Ford (United States). Won by Bluenose. Race sailed off Gloucester.

The annual International races, dated from 1921, will be held alternately in the waters of the two countries. This year, as said, the International series is to be sailed off Halifax.

From now on active preparations for the contests will be gone forward with.

"Flighty" Wives.

WOMEN TO BLAME FOR DOMESTIC UNHAPPINESS.

Are the young women of to-day unfit to become wives? Are wives to blame for most of the domestic unhappiness which is clouding so many lives?

One of Tottenham's magistrates, Smellie, believes that, "as a rule, the wife is to blame."

Another woman magistrate of great experience, Mrs. Margaret Wynne Nevins, supports her, though refusing to admit that all the fault is on the wife's side.

"I think there is a great deal of truth in what Mrs. Smellie says," Mrs. Nevins told the Daily Sketch.

"Still, I do not think it is fair to place all the blame on the women. My experience as a magistrate shows me that it is very difficult to judge whether it is the husband or the wife who is at fault."

No Preparation for Marriage.

"I don't think anyone wants to take any responsibility or do any work since the war, but I think it will right itself; in fact, it is getting better now."

"During the war a large number of girls had plenty of money and liberty, and, to them, married life is hard in many ways, because they have had no preparation for it."

"Sympathy, patience, and forbearance are everything in married life, and these the young people of to-day do not seem to have."

"Though it is not fair to put all the

VILLAGES WHICH ARE TERRORISED BY LIONS.

Nothing impedes the march of civilization in the Tanganyika—formerly German East Africa—region so much as the stubborn belief of the natives in witchcraft. Strenuous efforts are now being made by the Government authorities to stamp out these barbarous usages, by making witchcraft a punishable offence. To the influence of the medicine men, states an official report just issued, may be attributed to barbarous practice of infanticide which prevails among the Wapare in Moshi district. Children born with some abnormality are considered by the diversity of mentality for a great diversity of reasons—such as the cutting of the lower before the upper teeth, or the offspring of parents who have failed to undergo initiation into certain tribal ceremonies—are done to death by deliberate starvation and neglect, suffocation, poisoning or injury at birth, or, if a less obvious method is required, by exposure to the unhealthy climate of the low country. In general, the parents would not of their own accord abandon such children, and in many cases have preferred to give them away to strangers, but they are more or less compelled by popular opinion or by the fear of incurring blame for any general misfortune that may befall the community such as a drought or an epidemic. When the elders of the tribe were addressed on the matter there was a decided tendency to recognise its evil and to adopt more enlightened ideas, but a few were against the addition of the custom on the ground that the destruction of the tribe would certainly follow. According to these sages, life is altogether too precarious, and the number of acts or omissions which they can cite as being fatal is amazing; even to plant a tree was pronounced to be equivalent to

DOOMING ONESELF TO DEATH

The Wachaga and Wazigua, who also practised these abominations at one time, have seen the folly of their ways and have abandoned them, an example likely to be followed in the near future by their neighbours, the Wapare. Many of the tribal chiefs, it is stated, are uneducated and unworldly and accustomed to beer-drinking, bhanga (hashish) smoking and hunting, and are unwilling to report or suppress the evils to which they themselves are addicted. In certain districts game multiplied during the war, while lions, which acquired a taste for human flesh during the campaign, have retained that taste which they frequently satisfy at the expense of human life. Their boldness is incredible, and whole villages have been terrorised by their presence, but, as they lie up in dense bush in the day-time, their extermination by native trappers trained and sent out for the purpose is a matter of difficulty. In the first half of the year rewards were paid for the destruction of 300 lions and 500 leopards. In Babors district alone 67 people were killed by lions, and it is estimated that there were other casualties which were not reported. Elephants, particularly, do great damage to crops, often ruining a whole plantation in a single night, or, entering the villages, they strip the roofs of grain stores and scatter or consume the contents. A most interesting discovery was made in the Kondoa district of a number of rock paintings similar to those which the bushmen have left in various parts of South Africa. It has hitherto been supposed that such paintings did not exist north of the Zambesi. Animals, only are depicted, and are outlined in red pigment which, though exposed to the elements, remain clear and distinct except where chipped off by human vandals. The paintings are undoubtedly the work of a tribe of bushmen of which all traces and even tradition has been lost.

Susu in Port.

S.S. Susu, Capt. Roberts arrived from the Pogo Mail Service yesterday bringing the following passengers:—Mrs. C. Moore, and child; Miss E. Pardy, Nurse Harvey, Nurse M. Miller, Nurse Scammell, Miss M. Newell, Miss Woodrey, Miss Hallett, Miss P. Goodyear, Miss E. Vincent, Messrs. C. Woodrey, Capt. A. Keen, W. Perry, H. J. Miller and A. Guy. The ship brought along a shipment of 300 barrels whale oil for transshipment to Boston. The oil was manufactured by the Mtd. Whaling Co., which began operations this season. Their two steamers Cashelet and Cabot securing 65 fish to-date.

Household Notes.

Chili canned corned beef before it is removed from the can and it will taste more evenly.

Just before serving spinach sprinkle it with a little lemon juice and melted butter.

Lobster salad will have an unusually nice flavor if a little dried pineapple is added.

If an ice pick is used, two or three doughnuts can be lifted from the hot fat at one time.
