The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

La Bibliothèque de la Ville de Montréal

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La Bibliothèque de la Villa de Montréal

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents.
Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à pertir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diegrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

TO THE

HE Manuscript of this Journal hapning to fall ento my Hands, and having shewn it to some Persons well vers'd in these Affairs, they were of Opinion it deserv'd to be printed; especially at this Time, when Travels are so much in Request, and in Regard this is now seasonable, on Account of the Description it gives of the famous River Missispi and of the Country of Louisiana, where it is intended to make great Settlements. Besides, this Relation is uncommon, curious and ingaging, both in Regard to the Honour and Advantage tage of the Nation, for as much as it contains the Attempts and the bold and glorious Undertakings of our French Adventurers, who not fatisfied, like others, with discovering the Borders and Coasts of unknown Countries, proceed to penetrate into the Inland, through a thousand Dangers and Hazards of their Lives. Is it not very commendable in them, to make us fully acquainted with that great remaining Part of the World, which for so many Ages continued unknown to our Forefathers, till about two hundred Tears ago Christopher Columbus discover'd it, and Americus Vespufius going over soon ufter, gave it his Name, causing it to be call'd America? One of those whom I desired to peruse this Manuscript, has a little polisb'd it, pursuant to the Orders I received; and he baving been a considerable Traveller, was a proper Person to judge of and put it into a Dress fit to appear in publick. The Letter he writ to me, being not only instructive, in Relation to the Journal, but of Use as a curious Supplement to it, I thought the inferting of it would be acceptable. follows.

SIR,

ou an w SIR,

Return you your Manuscript; the Reading of it has reviv'd the Satisfaction I once took in my Travels; it has oblig'd me to read over again those of several Persons, who have writ of Canada, and carry'd me in Imagination through those vast, barbarous and unknown Countries, with much more Ease and less Danger than was done by the Hero of this Relation. He certainly deserves that heliourable Title, and having read his Adventures, I could not forbear saying with the Poet

Illi robur & as triplex Circa Pettus erat.

For what an extraordinary Strength, what a Vigour of Body and Mind was requisite for him to project, to undertake and to go thro' with so unusual, so bold and so difficult an Enterprize: A Discovery of above eight hundred Leagues of parbarous and unknown Countries, without any beaten Roads, without Towns, and without any of those Conveniencies, which render Travelling more easy in all other other Parts. All the Land-Carriage is reduc'd to walking afoot; being often without any other Shoes but a Piece of a Bullock's Hide wrapp'd about the Feet; carrying a Firelock, a Snapfack, Tools and fome Commodities to barter with the Natives. It is true that accidentally and but very rarely a Horse is found to help out a little.

If they must venture upon the Water, there are only some wretched Canoes, made either of the Barks of Trees or of Bullocks Hides, and those they must often carry or drag along the Land, when the Falls of the Rivers obstruct making use of them. All the Bed is lying on the bare Ground, exposed to the Inclemencies of the Air, to be devour'd by Alligators and bit by Rattle Snakes; without Bread, Wine, Salt and all other Comforts of Life, and this for some Years. The Diet altogether consists in a poor Pap or Hasty-Pudding made of the Meal of Indian Corn. Fin half broil'd or ill boil'd, and some Beef or wild Goats Flesh, dry'd in the Air and Smoke. Besides, what a Trouble is it to invent Signs to be understood by so many feveral Nations, each of which has it's peculiar Language? All this an Adventurer must resolve with himself to go through, who designs to make Discoveries in Canada; and it would be hard to believe this this, did not all those who write of it exactly agree in this Particular.

However that Country is good and pleasant, at least towards the South, which is what is here spoken of. The Temparature of the Climate is admirable, the Soil excellent for Tillage, and it is extraordinary fertil in all Sorts of Grain and Fruit; which appears by those the Land produces of it felf in great Plenty. The Hills and Woods produce Timber for all Uses and Fruit Trees, as well of cold as hot Countries. There are Vines which want but little Improvement; there are Sugar-Canes, large Meadows, and navigable Rivers full of Fish. It is true they are inlested with Alligators, but with a little Care they are to be avoided; as may the Rattle-Snakes, which are extraordinary venomous, but never bite unless they are There are thousands of wild Bullocks, larger than ours, their Flesh good, and instead of Hair, they have a Sort of curl'd Wool extraordinary fine. There are Abundance of Deer, wild Goats and all sorts of wild Fowl, and more especially of Turkeys. As there are Poisons and Vehoms, so there are immediate and wonderful Antidotes.

We must not look there for rich and stately Cities, or losty Structures, or any of those Wonders of Architecture, or the Remains and ancient Monuments of the Vanity of great Men; but we may there admire Nature in its beautiful Simplicity, as it came from the Hands of its Creator; without having been alter'd or deprayed by Ambition or Art.

But is so vast and so beautiful a Country only for Beasts, Birds and Fishes! O inconceiveable Wonder! There is an infinite Number of People, divided into Nations, living in Cottages made of the Barks of Trees, or cover'd with Reeds or Hides, when they are not abroad at War, or Hunting, or Fishing, almost naked, without any other Bed but a Bullock's Hide, or any Houshold-Stuff but a Pot or Kettle, an Axe and some Platters made of Bark. They take their Sustenance, as it comes in their Way, and like the Beasts; they have no Care, do not value Wealth, fing, dance, smoke, eat, sleep, hunt, fish; are independant, make War, and when an Opportunity offers, take Revenge of any Injury in the most cruel Manner they are able. Such is the Life of those Savages. Tho' there be some in the Southern Parts, not quite fo stupid and brutal as those in the North, yet they are both Savages, who think of Nothing but what is present, love Nothing but what is obvious to the Senses, incapable of comprehending any Thing that is Spiritual; sharp and ingenious in what of the Vay there admplicity, as ts Creator; r depraved ul a Cound Fishes! O re is an inled into Naof the Barks ds or Hides, ar, or Hunted, without 's Hide, or t or Kettle, ade of Bark. s it comes in ; they have fing, dance, re indepenn Opportuny Injury in e able. Such Tho' there ts, not quite h the North, ho think of t, love Nothe Senses, any Thing ingenious in what what is for the own Advantage, without any Sense of Honour or Humanity; horribly cruel, perfectly united among them-Telves to their Nation and their Allies; but evengeful and merciless towards their Eemies. To conclude, their Shape, tho' hideous, shews they are Men; but their Genius and Manners render them like the worst of Beasts.

A modern Author, who has liv'd in Canada, and in other Respects has writ well enough, has perhas fancy'd, he might listinguish himself, and be thought more La Hon-Inderstanding than other Men in discove- ged Difing the Genius of those People, by assign-course ng more Ingenuity and Penetration to with a Sahe Savages, than is generally allow'd wherein be hem. He sometimes makes them to argue renders oo strongly and too subtilely against the ridiculous Mysteries of Christian Religion, and his Relation has given just Occasion to suspect. hat he is himself the Libertine and Talkng Savage, to whom he has given the irtful Malignity of his Notions and Aruments.

As for the Genius of the Savages, I am of Opinion, we ought to believe the Mislioners; for they are not less capable than other Men to discover the Truth, and they have at least as much Probity to make it known. It is likely, that they, who have for an hundred Years past, wholly apply'd themselves, according to the Duty of their Function, to study those poor Images of Men, should not be acquainted with them? Or would not their Conscience have check'd them, had they told a Lye in that Particular? Now all the Missioners agree, that allowing there are fome Barbarians less wicked and brutal than the rest; yet there are none good, nor thoroughly capable of fuch Things as are above the Reach of our Senses; and that whatfoever they are, there is no relying on them; there is always cause to suspect them, and in short, before a Savage can be made a Christian, it is requisite to make him a Man; and we look upon those Savages as Men, who have neither King nor Law, and what is most deplorable, no God; for if we rightly examine their Sentiments and their Actions, it does not appear that they have any Sort of Religion, or well form'd Notion of a Deity. some of them, upon certain Occasions, do fometimes own a First or Sovereign Being, or do pay some Veneration to the Sun. As to the first Article, they deliver themselves in fuch a confuse Manner, and with so many Contradictions and Extravagancies. that it plainly appears, they neither know nor believe anything of it; and as for the fecond, it is only a bare Custom, without any serious Reslection on their Part. The Naeives of Canada

A miserable Nation, more void of the Light of Heaven, and even that of Nature. han so many other Nations in the East Indies, who, tho' brutal and stupid as to he Knowledge of the Deity, yet are not vithout some Sort of Worship, and have heir Hermits and Fakirs who endeavour by the Practice of horrid Penances, to gain the Favour of that Godhead, and thereby hew they have some real Notion of it. Nothing of that Sort is to be found among our American Savages, and in Conclusion, may be said of them in General, that hey are a People without a God.

Our French, who are born in Canada all of them well shap'd, and Men of Sense nd Worth, cannot endure to have their savages thus run down. They affirm they re like other Men, and only want Education and being improv'd; but besides that we may believe they say so to save the Honour of their Country, we advance nothing here but what is grounded on the Report of many able and worthy Persons. who have writ of it, after being well inform'd on the Spot. We are therefore apt to believe, that there is a Distinction to be made at present between two Sorts of Savages in Canada, viz. those who have been conversant among the Europeans for sixty or eighty Years past, and the others who are daily discover'd; and it is of the latter that we speak here more particularly, and to whom we assign all those odious and wretched Qualities of the Savages of North America; for it is well known, that the sirst Sort of them, as for Instance, the Hurons, the Algonquins, the Iroquois, the Islinois and perhaps some others are now pretty well civilized, so that their Reason begins to clear up, and they may become capable of Instruction.

Amazing and incomprehensible, but at the same Time adorable Disposition of Divine Providence! We see here a vast Tract of the Earth, of an immense Extent, of a wonderful Soil for Tillage and Fertility in all Sorts of Fruit and Grain; of an admirable Temperature as to the Air, which appears by the very numerous Inhabitants being scarce subject to any Diseases, and in that the Sex, which among us is weak, is there Strong and Vigorous, bringing forth their Children with little or no Pain, and fuckling them amidst Labour and Fatigues, without any of those Miseries they are liable to in our Countries. Yet that vast and beautiful Country, describ'd in this Journal, so much favour'd with Worldly Bleffings, has been for fo many Ages destitute of the Heavenly.

The infinite Numbers of People inhabiting it are Men, and have scarce any thing but the Shape; they are God's Creatures,

Those who have the Courage nd Boldness to travell through the Counies of fuch Savages, and those who read e Relations of fuch Travellers, ought take Care how they make any rash Rections upon this Point, or pry too deepinto it; for they may chance to lose emselves in their Thoughts. The shor-It and the fafest Course is, in such Cases, adore the inconceivable Profoundness of e Creator's Wisdom; to give a Check all our Enquiries and Curiosities, with e Apostle's Exclamation, O the Depth of Riches both of the Wisdom and Knowledge God! How unsearchable are his Judgments his Ways past finding out! And never sling to return Thanks to his Goodness, having so abundantly supply'd us with Light and Grace, to conjure him to part the same to those poor distress'd Aricans, and that he who is Almighty, will of oseStones makeChildren of Abraham. This Christians are oblig'd incessantly to ay for, because as Brutish and Stupid as oseSavages are they are still our Brethren. ce like us descended from Adam and traordinary Toils, go to find out for us, not only numerous Objects of our Curiolity and Admiration, which were before unknown to us, but who also discover to us a numerous Kindred, which is not ever the less such, for having been so long unknown to us. What if it be brutal and indocible, it will be the more Meritorious to Labour at Civilizing of and making it capable of receiving the Lights of Reason and of Faith. We can never sufficiently ex. press our Gratitude to those who apply themselves to the making of new Discoveries; the more Difficulties that attend them, the more we are beholding to those who undertake them. Supposing that Avarice, Ambition, a restless Temper, or a desperate Fortune, are very often the Occasions of such Undertakings; yet God who can draw Good out of Evil, makes all those Passions subservient to his Glory, and the Salvation of his Elect, and if long Travels do not commonly make Saints d the Travellers, it is their own Faul However, they at least prepare the Wall to the Sanctification of fo many Barbar ans, beating a Road for the Missioner who go to instruct those People. Thus a World is beholden to them; the Sal yages for the Knowledge of God that procur'd them; and we for finding b their Means an infinite Number of Peop befor

Granting that the faid Travellers are ot fometimes exact, or agree among emselves in their Relations, their Deriptions and their Maps; this must be an navoidable Fault in Discoverers; but ven that is advantageous to the Publick, br as much as their Successors are excited examine those Points more strictly, to orrect, explain and ascertain those Miakes.

In acknowledgment therefore of the Serce done us by those Illustrious Adventurs and to make them some Sort of mends for their Sufferings, let us transit their Names to Posterity in our Writgs; let us applaud their Actions when e read them, and let us commend their elations. This here, most certainly derves to be read and commended, for it is urious, Extraordinary and Tragical. It also, as has been said before, ingaging, at is Conjuncture, when there is a Design making Settlements in those Countries, mentions, the Confequence whereof ay be most Honourable and Advantages to the Nation. The Travel thro' that ountry is one of the greatest and most full f Difficulties that has been perform'd; he Relation of it being made by an Eye Witness Witness, and in a natural, plain and particular Manner, deserves to be credited; but being only a Journal, it is not capable of admitting of Ornaments or Embellishments. The Reader will be pleas'd to excuse the Repetition of the same Words in it, on Account of the Impossibility of doing otherwise, and will think it enough that the Barrenness of the Narration is made Amends for by the Curiosity of the Subjects. I am of Opinion the small Notes I have added will not be displeasing, because they explain some Particulars, which are not very intelligible to such as are not us'd to read many Travels.

After having faid the Good and the Bad of this North America, mentioning the Beauty and Excellency of its Climate and the Brutality of its People, and recited the infinite Hardships, those who design to travel must resolve to undergo, I am of Opinion it will be proper to fay fomething of the late Monsieur de la Sale, who is the principal Person, and as it were, the Hero of this Relation, tho' having been murdered by his own Men, he fell the unfortunate Victim of the Discovery here treated of. It is also convenient to make known what went before that, which is contain'd in this Journal, and the present happy Consequence of that fatal Enterprize

Here

Here follows what I have of my own particular Knowledge, and by what has been written.

Robert Cavelier, commonly call'd Account of Monsieur de la Sale, a Native of Roan, Monsieur fagood Family, having been educated de la Sale n Piety and Learning, went over very young into Canada and took Delight in Frade, but more in Projects of new Difcoveries up the Inland of those vast Counries. Intending to settle there and make hat his Country, he purchased an Habitation in the Island of Mont-real, where as been built the second Town of Canas, fixty Leagues above Quebeck, which the Capital, being also a Bishoprick, nd the Residence of the Governor, the ntendant and the supreme Council, there are but only those two Towns in he Country, besides some Villages. They re both seared on the great River of St. Laurence, which coming from the S. W. s form'd or increased by the Waters of ive prodigious fresh Water Lakes, runing out one into another, and through hem it passes to run down to discharge felf in the Ocean, at a very spacious Mouth, making Way for the Ships that design to penetrate into Canada.

Many Discoveries had been made to the Northward, before Monsieur de la Sale's Sale's Time; because there being Plenty of very good Furs, the Traders of Quebeck and Montereal, by Means of the Adventurers call'd Wood-Men, from their traveling thro' the Woods, had penetrated very far up the Country that Way; but none had advanc'd far towards the South or South-West, beyond Fort Frontenec. which is on the Lake Ontario, the nearest this Way of the five great Lakes. However, upon the Report of the Natives, it was supposed, that great and advantageous Discoveries might be made. There had been much Talk of the rich Mines of St. Barbara, in the Kingdom of Mexico, and some were tempted to give them a Visit.

River Missippi, which it was supposed might fall into the South Sea, and open a Way to it. These Conjectures working upon Monsieur de la Sale, who being zealous for the Honour of his Nation, design'd to signalize the French Name, on Account of extraordinary Discoveries, beyond all that went before him; he form'd the Design and resolv'd to put it in Execution. He was certainly very fit for it, and succeeded at the Expence of his Life; for no Man has done so much in that Way as he did for the Space of twenty twenty Years he spent in that Employment. He was a Man of a regular Behaviour, of a large Soul, well enough learned, and understanding in the Mathematicks, designing, bold, undaunted, sexterous, infinuating, not to be discouag'd at any Thing, ready at extricating himself out of any Difficulties, no Way apprehensive of the greatest Fatigues, wonderful steady in Adversity, and what was of extraordinary Use, well enough versed in several Savage Languages. le la Sale having such extraordinary Taents, whereof he had given sufficient roofs upon feveral Occasions, gain'd the steem of the Governors of Canada; and Messieurs de Courcelles, Talon and de Fronten employing him in Affairs for the conour and Advantage of the Colony.

The Government of the Fort of Fronte- is made ac, which is the Place farthest advanc'd Proprietor mong the Savages, was committed to of Fors im, and he going over into France, in nac. ne Year 1675, the King made him Prorietor of it, upon Condition he should ht it into a better Condition than it was, hich he did, as foon as return'd to Caada. Being also furnish'd with better Accounts of that Country, than the Fables that were then publish'd, by the Name of a Voyage of the Sieur Joliet, he was well receiv'd at Court, and dispatch'd with the necessary Orders for proceeding on his Discoveries.

His Repusation makes Enemies.

The great Reputation Monsieur de la Sale had gain'd, and his mighty Projects, occasion'd a Jealousy in some and Envy in others. His own Countrymen thwarted his Designs; but he surmounted all those Obstacles and return'd into Canada, about the Year 1678, with the Chevalier Tonty, an Italian Gentleman, a Person of Worth and that had ferv'd, whom he gain'd to his Enterprize. He also pick'd up in the Country forty or fifty Persons fit for that Expedition, and among them were three Recolets, whom he carry'd over to try what might be done as to Christianity among the Savages; was well acquainted with, and had a just Esteem for the Virtue, the Capacity and the Zeal of those good, religious Men, who [xix] who alone first undertook the Mission into that new World, and who being feconded by others, have carry'd it on there, with fo much Edification.

Monsieur de la Sale having spent two Years in going and coming, still thwartd by those who envy'd him in the Counry, to fuch a Degree, that had it not been for an Antidote, he must have dy'd could not order his Affairs and begin his Expedition till the Year 1682. He set out at length, and to the End his Discovery of the Miffifipi might be compleat, caus'd Father Hennepin, a Recolet, ith some others, to travel to the North-source of ard, that they might find out the the Missi. ource of that River, and they found it, bout the 30th Degree of North Latide. For his own Part, he proceeded the Westward and found the River of he Islinois, which he call'd the River of Islinois eignelay, and following its Course, River. came into the Mississipi, where the other discharges it self. He then concluded he had no more to do, but to run down its Mouth, whether in the South Sea the Gulph of Mexico. At length, the Course of the Missispi convey'd Monsieur de la Sale to its Mouths, as falling into the Gulph of Mexico in two Streams, and he arriv'd there in the Month of April 1682 or 1683, for the Dates of those who have writ concerning it, make either of those Years. He stay'd there some Days, to take Observations and place some Marks which he might know again, when he return d. Being satisfied with having found some Part of what he fought, he return'd the same Way he had gone, and came again to Quebeck in Canada, in order to go over to France, and thence to make a Tryal to find that Mouth of the Miffifipi by the Gulf of Mexico, which he had already discover'd by the Way of Canada, and to fecure it; for he thought it much more advantageous to know it by the Way of the Sea, than to go thither by Land, because the Voyage through Canada is much longer and more troublesome, and can be perform'd but once a Year, whereas by the Way of the Bay of Mexico it is not longer, but is much more commodious, and may be perform'd in

These Considerations mov'd Monsieur de la Sale to take another Voyage into France, where his Expedition having been commended and his new Project approv'd of, the King order'd him Vessels to return and carry on his Enterprize, the Particulars whereof are to be found in this Journal. That Affair, so well begun, seem'd to promise very advantageous Consequences; but it miscarried through the Persidiousness and Villany of that noble Adventurer's own People.

Otwithstanding the late Monsieur de la Sale's Voyage had a most unfortunate End, as to his own Person, yet that will not hinder Posterity, from ever allowing him the Title of a most renowned Traveller.

The History of his Enterprize will be acceptable to future Ages, for laying before them, the extraordinary Genius, the invincible Courage, and the undaunted Resolution of such a Man, who could contrive and execute

And in regard that the Particulars of e Discovery of those large and immense rovinces, will always be the Object of cubus and understanding Persons, it is not be wonder'd, that after what has been it by Father Hennepin, a Recolet, the bevalier Tonty and some others, we here w publish an Historical Journal of the st Voyage Monsseur de la Sale undertook into e Gulf of Mexico, to the Country of ouisiana, to finish what he had projected his former Voyage, had not the Trea-enery of his own Men cut him off.

This Journal of Monsieur Joutel, where-Monsieur Tonty makes mention in the ook that has been printed of the last iscoveries in America, Folio 319, has s peculiar, that it exactly contains what med to Monsieur de la Sale, Day by Day, that fatal Voyage, since his Departure om Rochelle to his Death, and till the eturn of his Brother Monsieur Cavelier e Priest, Monsieur Cavelier his Nephew, e Reverend Father Anastasius, the Relet, and the said Sieur Joutel, who in Order to return to France, took that long Journey by Land, from the Gulf of Mexio to Canada, being a Traft of above 00 Leagues.

PREFACE.

Many Adventures of all Sorts, most of which are Tragical, will please the curion Reader; and above all he will admire the Protection of Divine Providence, in Con ducting and Preserving that small Com pany throughout those vast Regions, and a mong so many barbarous Nations.

We do not here pretend to Criticise upa the Work of Father Hennepin, or that Monsieur Tonty; but even their own Fall vourers cannot take it ill, that this Author does not sometimes say as they do; that h plainly delivers what he saw, and that he exposes to publick View all the Truths h was an Eye Witness to, without magnifyin or inventing.

It is nevertheless true, that they may be all excus'd as to some Particulars; Father Hennepin and Monsieur Tonty may have feen some Things, that did not come to the Knowledge of Monsieur Joutel; but there is a Fact of great Consequence in the History of Monsieur de la Sale, which must not be pass'd over in Silence.

It is, that Monsieur Tonty, in his Book affirms, that Monfieur de la Sale at length found the Mouth of the Missispi, and Monsieur Joutel afferts the contrary, and says, No that is so far from being true, that during his last Progress towards the Cenis, when the faid Sieur Joutel was with him, and had

d never been parted, Monsieur de la Sale's incipal Care was to enquire of all the Naons they pass'd through, where the Missiswas, and could never hear any thing of that this is evidently made out, because Monsieur de la Sale had found the Mouth that River, he would infallibly have en another Way, and other Measures, and the Appearances are on this Side, as may feen in this Relation.

However, this must be said in Behalf of onsieur Tonty, that he deliver'd it upon Report of Monsieur Cavelier the Priest. Brother to Monsieur de la Sale; which insieur Cavelier might have Reasons to out they had discover'd the Missipi, in the same Views as oblig'd him to sonbis Brother's Death.

Now in regard we shall see Monsieur de la e, for some time ranging along the Coasts North America, to find out the Mouth that River, it will be proper to inform se who have not seen his first Voyage, and w them how it hapned that his Search ov'd in vain, and he was oblig'd to land another Place.

After Monsieur de la Sale had discover'd at vast Continent, which is a Part of North America, from Canada, by the Way Montreal, going up the River of St. aurence, then through the Country of the Iroquois, the Islinois and others, all which he call'd Louisiana, his Design was to find a shorter and a safer Way, than that he had Travell'd by Land.

For this Reason it was, that having upon his first Discovery found the great River, call'd by the Barbarians Missispi or Mechasipi, according to Father Hennepin, la and to which he gave the Name of Colbert, he M guessing by its Course that it fell into the Bay of Mexico, he resolved with himself to find out the Mouth of it.

In short, he ran down that River, with more Danger and Toil than can be imagin'd, found it parted into two Streams and follow'd the sa that which was most to the Northward, to the grees Place where it is lost in the Sea. He took here the Latitude that Mouth lay in, and found too. it was between 28 and 29 Degrees North, as Monsieur Joutel affirms he heard him say. He lest Marks there, return'd the same Way to Canada and thence into France, well pleased with his Discovery, which would have been very glorious, had he succeeded in his second Voyage.

But whether he did not take his Measures same right, when he made his Observations asbore, wards or whether that River disgorges it self at a flat Coast, and only leaves some inconsiderable Mark of its Channel for such as come by Sea; it is most certain, that when he

If that he so, Monsieur de la Sale was very near it and even pass'd along before both the Mouth, but unfortunately, without perceiving them which was the main Cause of his Death and the Ruin of his Enterprize.

To conclude, it must be granted, that a the Return of that small Number of Person, from a Country so remote and through so ma ny Dangers, is a visible Effect of the Di vine Protection; so it is also an Effect of Heavenly Justice to have preserved those Witnesses, and to have brought them Home into Monsiuer de la Sale's Country, to retrieve his Reputation, which had been sully's by his Enemies.

Monsieur de la Sale would have been caken for a Dreamer, and even for an Impostor; his Enterprize had been condemn'd, and his Memory blasted; but God would not permit the Honour of a Man of such singular Merit to suffer; it pleas'd him to preserve and bring Home unquestionable Witnesses, who, by Word of Mouth and other undoubted Proofs of the notable Discoveries made by Monsieur de la Sale, have stopp'd

Notwithstanding these cogent Reasons, Mr. de Beaujeu was positive to pass further on in the Night, weathering the Island Tortuga, which is some Leagues distant from Port de Paix and the Coast of Hispaniola. He also pass'd Cape St. Nicolas, and the 26th of the said Month, we put into the Bay of Jaguana, coasting the Island Guanabo, which is in the Middle of that great Bay or Gulph, and in Conclusion, on the 27th we arriv'd at Petit Gouave, having spent 58 Days in our Passage from the Port of Chef de Boin, near Rochel.

This Change of the Place for our little Squadron to put into, for which no Reason could be given, prov'd very disadvantageous; and it will hereaster appear, as I have before observ'd that those Misunderstanding among the Officen insensibly drew on the Causes from whence our Misfortune proceeded.

As soon as we had dropt Anchor, a Piragua or great Sort of Canoe, came out from the Place with Twenty Men, to know who we were, and hail'd us. Being inform'd that, we were French they acquainted us, that Monsieur de Cussy was at Port de Paix with the Marquis de St. Laurem Lieutenant General of the American Islands, and Monsieur Begon the Intendant, which very much troubled Monsieur de la Sale, as having Affain of the utmost Consequence to concert with them; but there was no Remedy, and he was oblig'd to bear it with Patience.

In the mean Time, the Sick suffering very uch Aboard the Ships, by Reason of the Heat, and their being too close together, the Solers were put Ashore, on a little Island, near sit Gouaves, which is the usual Burial-Place of People of the pretended Resormed Relin, where they had fresh Provisions, and ead baked on Purpose, distributed to them for the Sick, I was order'd by Monsieur de Sale, to provide a House for them, whither y were carry'd, with the Surgeons, and sup-'d with all that was requisite for them.

Some Days after, Monsieur de la Sale sell dancrously ill, most of his Family were also sick. Violent Fever, attended with Lightheadedselfs, brought him almost to Extremity. The ofture of his Affairs, Want of Money, and the Veight of a mighty Enterprize, without knowing whom to trust with the Execution of it, and him still more Sick in Mind, than he was his Body, and yet his Patience and Resolution firmounted all those Difficulties. He pitch'd pon Monsieur le Gros and me to act for him, aus'd some Commodities he had Aboard the hips to be sold, to raise Money; and through Ketch taken by the Spaniards.

Whilst he was in that Condition, two of our Ships, which had been separated from us on the 18th of September, by the stormy Winds, arriv'd at Petit Gouave on the 2d of October. The low conceiv'd on Account of their Arrival, wal much allay'd by the News they brought of the Loss of the Ketch, taken by two Spanish Piraguas: and that Loss was the more grievous, because that Vessel was laden with Provisions, Ammunition, Utenfils and proper Tools for the fetling of our new Colonies; a Missortune which would not have happen'd, had Monsieur de Beaujeu put into Port de Paix, and Messieurs de St. Laurent, de Cussy, and Begon who arrived at the same Time, to see Monsieur de la Sale did not spare to signify as much to him, and to complain of that Miscarriage.

Monsieur de la Sale being recover'd, had several Conferences with these Gentlemen, relating to his Voyage. A Consult of Pilots was called to resolve where we should touch before we came upon the Coast of America, and it was resolved to steer directly for the Western Point of the Island of Cuba, or for Cape St. Antony, distant about 300 Leagues from Hispaniola, there to expect the proper Season, and a fair Wind to enter the Gulph or Bay, which is but Two hundred Leagues over.

The next Care was to lay in Store of other-Provisions, in the Room of those which were lost, and Monsieur de la Sale was the more preffing for us to imbark, because most of his Men deserted, or were debauch'd by the Inhabitants of the Place; and the Vessel call'd P Aimable,

We fired several Musquet Shots to call them, which they did not hear, and I was order'd to expect them ashore, with 30 Musquetiers to attend me. They return'd the next Morning with much Trouble.

In the mean Time, our Soldiers, who had good Stomachs, boil'd and eat the Alligator, Monsieur de laSale had kill'd. The Flesh of it was white and had a Taste of Musk, for which Reason I could not eat it. One of our Hunters kill'd a wild Swine, which the Inhabitants of those Islands call Maron. There are of them in the Island of Santo Domingo, or Hispaniola, they are of the Breed of those the Spaniards lest in the Islands when they first discover'd them, and run wild in the Woods. There are Abundance of Parrots, larger than those at Petit Gouave, a great Number of Turtle Doves and other Birds, and a Sort of Creatures resembling a Rat, but as big as a Cat, their Hair reddish. Our Men kill'd many of them and sed heartily on them, as they did on a good Quantity of Fish, wherewith that Coast abounds.

We imbark'd again, as soon as the two Men who had stray'd were return'd, and on the 8th; being the Feast of the Conception of the Blessed Virgin, sail'd in the Morning, after having heard Mass, and the Wind shifting were forc'd to steer several Courses. The 9th we discover'd

The next Day, being the 15th, Monsieur de la Sale sent some Men ashore, to try whether could fill some Casks with Water. They ought Word, they had sound some in the

This was all the Provision we found in that Place, by which in Mistake in appears, how much Monsieur Tenti was misso form'd, fince in his Book, Pag. 242, he fay: we found in that Island several Tun of Spanish Wine, good Brandy and Indian Wheat, which the Spaniards had left or abandon'd; and it is meer Invention without any Thing of Truth.

Monsieur Tonti's Account of this Voyage.

I was to have gone with them, had not an Indisposition, which I first felt in the Island of Pines, and afterwards turn'd to tertian Ague, prevented me. Therefore I can give no Account of that Island, any further than what I could see from the Ships, which was Abundance of that Sort of Palm-Trees, in French call'd Lataniers, fit for nothing but making of Brooms, or scarce any other Use That Day we saw some Smoaks, far within the Island, and guess'd they might be a Signal of the Number of our Ships, or else made by some of the Country Hunters, who had lost their Way.

The 27th, Monsieur de Beaujeu sent the Chevalier d'Aire, his Lieutenant, and two Pilots to Monsieur de la Sale, to conclude upon the Course we were to steer, and it was agreed we should stand West North West till we came into suffathom Water; that then we should run West and when we had discover'd the Land, Boat should be sent to view the Country. Matter being thus agreed on, we tail'd again, sounding all the Way for the more Security, and about ten, were in ten or eleven Fathom Water, the Bottom sine greyish Sand and owzy. The 30th, the Chevalier d' Aire and the fed Pilot of the Joly came aboard us to conand adjust by our Recknings what Place might be in, and they all agreed, according Monsieur de la Sale's Opinion, that the Cur-currents: ts had set us to the Eastward, for which Reawe held on our Course, as we had done the before to the N. Some of those who were in Monsieur de la Sale's Boat, and the foremost, went ashore and faw a spacious plain Country of much Pasture Ground; but had not the Leisure to make any particular Discovery, because the Wind freshning, they were oblig'd to return to their Boat, to come aboard again; which was the Reason why we did not go quite up to the Shore, but return'd with them to our Ship. All that could be taken Notice of was a great Quantity of Wood along the Coast. We took an Obfervation and found 29 Degrees 10 Minutes of North Latitude.

The Second, there arose a Fog, which made us lose Sight of the Joly. The next Day, the Weather clearing up, we fir'd fome Cannonshot and the Joly answer'd, and towards the Evening we perceiv'd her to the Windward of We held on our Course, making several Trips till the Fourth in the Evening, when being in Sight and within two Leagues of the Land, we came to an Anchor to expect the Joly, Upon Advice, that the Bark la Fan. 1685 Belle had discover'd a small Island, which appear'd between the two Points of a Bay, Monfieur de la Sale sent a Man up to the round Top, from whence both the one and the other were plainly to be feen, and according to the Sea Charts we had with us, that was suppos'd to be the Bay of the Holy Ghoft.

The Ninth, Monsieur de la Sale, sent to view those Shoals. Those who went reported there was a fort of Bank, which runs along the Coast; that they had been in one Fathoni Water and discover'd the little Island before-mention'd, and as for the Sand Bank there is no fach thing mark'd down in the Charts. Monsieur de la Sale having examin'd the Recknings, was confirm'd it als Opinion, that we were in the Bay of Apalache, and caus'd us to continue the same Course.

The Tenth, he took an Observation and found 29 Degrees 23 Minutes North Latitude. The eleventh, we were becalm'd, and Monsieur de la Sale resolv'd to go ashore, to endeavour to discover what he was looking for; but as we were making ready, the Pilot began to mutter because five or fix of us were going with Monfieur de la Sale, who too lightly alter'd his Defign, to avoid giving Offence to brutish People. In that Particular he committed an irretrieveable Error; for it is the Opinion of Judicious Men, who, as well as I, faw the rest of that Voyage, that the Mouth of one of the Branches of the Missipi River, and the same whose Latitude Monsieur de la Sale had taken, when he travell'd to it from Canada, was not far from that Jan 1685. that Place, and that we must of Necessity be near the Bay of the Holy Ghost.

de la Sale's

Mistake.

It was Monsieur de la Sale's Design to find that Bay, and having found it, he had refolv'd to have set ashore about thirty Men, who were to 'rave follow'd the Coast on the Right and Lett, which would infallibly have discover'd to him that fatal River, and have prevented many Misfortunes; but Heaven refus'd him that Success, and even made him regardless of an Affair of such Consequence, since he was satisfy'd with fending thither the Pilot, with one of the Masters of the Bark la Belle, who return'd without having feen any Thing, because a Fog happen'd to rife; only the Master of the Bark said he believ'd there was a River opposite to those Shoals, which was very likely, and yet Monsieur de la Sale took no Notice of it, nor made any Account of that Report.

The Twelfth, the Wind being come about we weigh'd and directed our Course S. W. to get further from the Land. By an Observation found 25 Degrees 50 Minutes North Latitude, and the Wind shifting, and the Currents, which set from the Seaward driving us ashore, it was found convenient to anchor in four or sive Fathom Water, where we spent all the Night.

The Thirteenth, we perceiv'd our Water began to fall short, and therefore it was requisite to go ashore to fill some Casks. Monsieur de la Sale propos'd it to me to go and see it perform'd, which I accepted of, with six of our Gentlemen who offer'd their Service. We were very near the Shoar, when we difcover'd a Number of naked Men marching along the Banks, whom we suppos'd to be native Savages. We drew within two Musket Shots of the Land, and the Shore being flat, the Wind fetting from the Offing, and the Sea running high, dropt our Anchors, for Fear of staving our Boats.

When the Savages perceiv'd we had stopp'd, they made Signs to us with Skins, to go to them, shew'd us their Bows, which they laid savages down upon the Ground, and drew near to the came to the Edge of the Shore; but because we could not Boat. get Ashore, and still they continued their Signals, I put my Handkerchief on the End of my Firelock, after the Manner of a Flag, and made Signs to them to come to us. They were some Time considering of it, and at last some of them ran into the Water up to their Shoulders, till perceiving that the Waves overwhelm'd them, they went out again, fetch'd a large Piece of Timber, which they threw into the Sea, plac'd themselves along both Sides of it, holding fast to it with one Arm, and swiming with the other; and in that Manner they drew near to our Boat.

Being in Hopes that Monfr. de la Sale, might get some Information from those Savages, we made no Difficulty of taking them into our Boat, one after another, on each Side, to the Number of five, and then made Signs to the rest to go to the other Boat, which they did, and we car- Carred ry'd them on Board.

Monsieur de la Sale vas very well pleas'd to fee them, imagining they might give him fome Account of the Piver he fought after; but to no Purpose, for he loke to them in several of the Languages of the Savages, which he knew, and made many Signs to them, but still they understood not what he meant, or if they did comprehend any thing, they made Signs, that they knew nothing of what he ask'd; so that having made them smoak and eat, we shewed them our Arms and the Ship, and when they faw at one End of it some Sheep, Swine, Hens and Turkeys, and the Hide of a Cow we had kill'd, they made Signs that they had of all those Sorts of Creatures among them.

> They went and join'd the others who expected them, and were making Signs to us to go to them; but not being able to make the Shore, we stood off again and return'd to our Ship. It is to be observed, that when we were carrying them back, they made some Signs to us, by which we conceiv'd they would fignify to us that there was a great River that Way we were pass'd, and that it occasion'd the Shoals we had feen.

The Wind changing, the same Day, we fan. 1685 weigh'd Anchor and stood to the Southward, to get into the Offing, till the 14th in the Morning, when we were becalm'd. At Noon, we were in 28 Degrees 51 Minutes of North Lautude. The Wind freshned, and in the Evening we held on our Course, but only for a short Time, because the Wind setting us towards the Shore, we were obliged to anchor again, whereupon Monsieur de la Sale again resolved to send Ashore, and the same Persons imbark'd in the same Boats to that Effect.

We met with the same Obstacles, that had hinder'd us the Day before, that is, the High-Sea, which would not permit us to come near Bullocks. the Shore, and were obliged to drop Anchor in fourteen Foot Water. The Sight of Abundance of Goats and Bullocks, differing in Shape, from ours, and running along the Coast, heighten'd our Earnestness to be Ashore. We therefore founded to see whether we might get to Land by Stripping, and found we were on a Flat, which had four Foot Water, but that beyond it there was a deep Channel. Whilst we were confulting what to do, a Storm arose, which oblig'd Monsieur de la Sale to fire a Gun for us to return Aboard, which we did against our Inclination.

Monsieur de la Sale was pleas'd with the Report we made him, and by it, several were encouraged to go Ashore to hunt, that we might have some fresh Meat. We spent all that Night, till the next Morning, in Hopes of returning foon to that Place; but the Wind changing, forc'd us to weigh and fail till the Evening, when we drop'd Anchor in fix Fathom Water.

Fan. 1685 The Land which we never departed from very far, appear'd to us very pleasant, and having lain there till the 16th, that Morning we fail'd W. S. W. We weather'd a Point, keeping a large Offing, because of the Sea's beating upon it, and stood to the Southward. At Noon, we were in 28 Degrees 20 Minutes of North Latitude, and consequently found the Latitude declin'd, by which we were sensible, that the Coast tendred to the Southward. At Night we anchor'd in fix Fathom Water.

> The 17th, the Wind continuing the same, we held on our Course S. W. and having about Ten discover' a Sort of River, Monsieur de la Sale caus'd Ten of us to go into a Boat, to take a View of that Coast, and see whether there was not some Place to land. He order'd me in Case we found any convenient Place, to give him Notice either by Fire or Smoke.

Second landing.

We set out, and found the Shoals obstructed our Descent. One of our Men went naked into the Water to found that Sand Bank, which lay between us and the Land; and having shewn us a Place where we might Pass, we, with much Difficulty, forc'd our Boat into the Channel, and fix or feven of us landed, after ordering the Boat to go up into that which had appeared to us to be a River, to see whether any fresh Water could be found.

As foon as we were landed. I made a Smoke to give Notice to Monsieur de la Sale, and then we advanc'd both Ways, without stragling too far, that we might be ready to receive Monfr. de la Sale, who was to come, as he did, foon after, but finding the Surges run high, he re-

We walked about every Way, and found a dry Soil, tho' it feem'd to be overflow'd at fome Times; great Lakes of falt Water, little Grafs, the Track of Goats, on the Sand, and faw Herds of them, but could not come near them, however we kill'd fome Ducks and Bustards. In the Evening, as we were returning, we mis'd an English Seaman, fir'd several Shot to give him Notice, searched all about, waited till after Sunset, and at last hearing no Tidings of him, we went into the Boat to return Aboard.

I gave Monsieur de la Sale an Account of what we had seen, which would have pleas'd him, had the River we discover'd, afforded fresh Water: He was also uneasy for the lost Man; but about Midnight we saw a Fire Ashore, in the Place we came from, which we supos'd to be made by our Man, and the Boat went for him as soon as soon as it was Day on the 18th.

After that, we made feveral Trips, still steering towards the S. W. and then ensued a Calm, which oblig'd us to come to an Anchor. Want of Water made us think of returning towards the River, where we had been the Day before. Monstr. de la Sele resolved to set a considerable Number of Men Ashore, with sufficient Ammunition, and to go with them himself, to discover and take Cognizance of that Country, and order'd me to sollow him. Accordingly we sail'd back, and came to an Anchor in the same Place.

All Things necessary for that End being order'd on the 19th, Part of the Men were put into a Boat; but a very thick Fog rising, and taking Jan. 1685: taking away the Sight of Land, the Compass was made use of, and the Fog dispersing as we drew near the Land, we perceiv'd a Ship making directly towards us, and that it was the foly, where Monfr. de Beaujeu commanded, which rejoic'd us, but our Satisfaction was not lasting, and it will appear by the Sequel, that it were to have been wished, that Monsieur de Beaujeu had not joyn'd us again, but that he had rather gone away for France, without ever seeing of us.

His Arrival disconcerted the Execution of our Enterprize. Monst. de la Sale, who was already on his Way, and those who were gone before him, return'd Aboard, and some Hours after, Monst. de Beaujeu sent his Lieutenant, Monst. de Aire, attended by several Persons, as well Clergymen as others, among whom was the Sieur Gabaret, second Pilot of the Joly.

Commanders as Vaviance.

Monsieur d' Aire complain'd grievously to Monsieur de la Sale, in the Name of Monss. de Beaujeu, for that said he, we had lest him designedly; which was not true, for as I have said, the Foly lay at Anchor A-head of us, when we were separated from her; we fired a Gun to give her Notice of our Departure, as had been concerted, and Monsie. The Beaujeu answer'd it; bessides that, if we had intended to separate from him, we should not have always held our Course in Sight of Land, as we had done, and that had Monsieur de Beaujeu held the same same Course, as had been agreed, he had not been separated from us.

There were afterwards several Disputes between the Captains and the Pilots, as well Aboard Monsieur de la Sale, as Aboard Monsieur de Beaje bout set the Co affirming that the others,

The former of those Notions prevail'd, They pass whence, upon Reflection, Monsieur de la Sale the Mouth concluded, that he must be past his River, of the Miswhich was but too true; for that River emptying it self in the Sea by two Channels, it follow'd that one of the Mouths fell about the Shoals we had observ'd the fixth of the Month; and the rather because those Shoals were very near the Latitude that Monsieur de la Sale had observ'd, when he came by the Way of Canada to discover the Mouth of that River, as he told me several Times.

This Confideration prevail'd with Monfieur de la Sale to propose his Design of returning towards those choals. He gave his Reasons for fo doing and exposed his Doubts; but his ill Fortune made him not be regarded. Our Pasfage had taken up more Time that had been expected, by Reason of the Calms, there was a considerable Number of Men aboard the Joly, and Provisions grew short, infomuch that they faid it would not hold out to return, if our Departure were delay'd. For this Reason Monsieur de Beaujeu demanded Provisions of Monfieur de la Sale; but he asking enough for a long Time, Monsieur de la Sale answer'd, he could only give him enough for a Fortnight, which was more Time than was requisite to reach the Place he intended to return to; and that besides Fan. 1685 he could not give him more Provisions, without rummaging all the Stores to the Bottom of the Hold, which would endanger his being cast away. Thus nothing was concluded, and Monfieur de Beaujeu return'd to his own Ship.

Third Landing.

In the mean Time, Want of Water began to pinch us, and Monsieur de la Sale resolv'd to fend to look for some about the next River. Accordingly he order'd the two Boats that had been made ready the Day before, to go off. He was aboard one of them himself, and directed me to follow him. Monsieur de Beaujeu also commanded his Boat to go for Wood. Way we met the faid Sieur de Beaujeu in his Yaul, returning from Land, with the Sieur Minet, an Ingenier, who told us, they had been in a Sort of falt Pool, two or three Leagues from the Place where the Ships were at Anchor, we held on our Way and landed.

One of our Boats, which was gone ahead of us, had been a League and a half up the River, without finding any fresh Water in its Channel; but some Men wandering about to the right and left, had met with divers Rivulets of very good Wath wherewith many Casks were fill'd.

We lay ashore, and our Hunters having that Day kill'd good Store of Ducks, Bustards and Teal, and the next Day two Goats, Monsieur de la Sale sent Monsseur de Beaujeu Part. We feasted upon the rest, and that good Sport put several Gentlemen that were then aboard Monsieur de Beaujeu, among whom were Monfieur du Hamel, the Ensign and the King's Clerk, upon coming ashore to partake of the Diversion; but they took much Pains and were not fuccessfull in their Sport. In the mean Time many Casks were fill'd Fan. 168c with Water, as well for our Ship as for Monfieur de Beaujeu's. Some Days after Monsieur d' Aire the Lieutenant, came ashore to confer with Monsieur de la Sale, and to know how he would manage about the Provisions; but both of them persisting in their first Proposals and Monsieur de la Sale perceiving that Monsieur de Beaujeu would not be satisfied with Provisions for 15 Days, which he thought sufficient to go to the Place where he expected to find one of the Branches of the Miffispi, which he with good Reason believ'd to be about the Shoals. I have before spoken of, nothing was concluded as to that Affair. Monsieur d' Aire return'd to his Captain, and Monsieur de la Sale resolv'd to land his Men; which could not be done for some Days, because of the foul Weather; but in the mean Time we kill'd much Game.

During this little Interval, Monsieur de la Sale being impatient to get some Intelligence of what he fought after, refolv'd to go himself upon Discovery, and to seek out some more useful and commodious River than that where they were. To this Purpose he took five or fix of us along with him. We fet out one Morning in so thick a Fog, that the hindmost could not perceive the Track of the foremost, so that we

We travel'd till about three in the Afternoon. finding the Country for the most Part Sandy, Account of little Grass, no fresh Water, unless in some sheCountry Sloughs, the Track of abundance of wild Goats, Lakes full of Ducks, Teals, Water-Hens, and having taken much Pains return'd without Success.

The

The next Morning, Monsieur de la Sale's In. dian, going about to find wild Goats, came to a Lake, which had a little Ice upon it, the Weather being cold, and Abundance of Fish dying about the Edges of it. He came to inform us, we went to make our Provision of them, there were some of a prodigious Magnitude, and among the rest extraordinary large Trouts, or else they were some Sort of Fish very like them. We caused some of each of a Sort to be boil'd in salt Water, and sound them very good. Thus having Plenty of Fish and Flesh, we began to use ourselves to eat them both, without Bread.

Whilst we liv'd thus easy enough, Monsieur de la Sale expected with Impatience to know what Resolution Monsieur de Beaujeu would take; that he might either go to the Place, where he expected to find the Missipi, or follow some other Course; but at last, perceiving that his Assairs did not advance, he resolv'd to put his own Design in Execution, the Purport whereof was to land one hundred and twenty, or one hundred and thirty Men to go along the Coast and continue it, till they had sound some other River, and that at the same Time the Bark la Belle should hold the same Course at Sea, still keeping along the Coast, to relieve those Ashore in Time of Need.

He gave me and Monsieur Moranget, his Nephew, the Command of that sinal Company, he surnish'd us with all Sorts of Provisions for eight, or ten Days, as also Arms, Tools and Utensils we might have Occasion for, of which every Man made his Bundle. He also gave us written Instructions of what we were to do, the Signals

We took our Way along the Shore. Our Men fent first Day's Journey was not long, we encamp'd by Land on a little rising Ground, heard a Cannon shot, so diservished made us uneasy, made the Signals that verhad been appointed, and the next Day, being the 5th, we held on our March, Monsieur Moranget bringing up the Rear, and I leading the

I will not spend Time in relating several perfonal Accidents, inconsiderable in themselves, or of no Consequence, the most considerable of them being the Want of fresh Water; but will procced to say, that after three Days March we found a great River, where we halted and made the Signals agreed on, encamping on a commodious Spot of Ground till we could hear of the Boat, which was to sollow us, or of our Ships.

But our Provisions beginning to fall shorts and none of our Ships appearing, being besides apprehensive of some unlucky Accident occasion'd by the Disagreement between Monseur de la Sale and Monser. de Beaujen, the Chief of our Company came together to know what Resolution we should take. It was agreed, that we should spare our Provisions to endeavour to go on to some Place where we might find Bullocks; but it was requisite to cross the River, and we knew not how, because we were too many of us, and therefore it was decreed to set some Carpenters there were among us at Work to build a little Boat, which took them up the eleventh and twelsth of February.

Feb. 1685.

The 13th, we were put out of our Pain by two Vellels we discover'd at Sea, which we knew to be the Joly and la Belle, to whom we made our Signals with Smoke. They came not in then, because it was late, but the next Day being the 14th in the Morning, the Boat, with the Sieur Barbier and the Pilot of the Bark la Belle come up, and both sounded the Mouth of the River.

They found on the Bar, from ten to twelve Foot Water, and within it from five to fix Fathom; the Breadth of the River being about half a Quarter of a League. They founded near the Island, which lies between the two Points of the Bay, and found the same Depth. The Boat of the Joly came and founded on the other Side of the Channel, and particularly along the Shoals, I know not to what Purpose. The same Day, Monsieur de la Sale, for whom we were much in Pain, came also, and as soon as he arrived, he caus'd the Boat to be laden with fach Provisions as we stood in Need of but the Wind being contrary, it could not come to us till the next Day, being the 15th.

That same Day, Monst. de la Sale came Ashoar to view the Place and examine the Entrance into the River, which he found to be very good. Having consider'd all Particulars, he refolv'd to send in the Bark la Belle and l' Aimable, that they might be under Shelter, to which Purpose, he order'd to sound, and to know whether those two Vessels could both come in that same Day. Monsieur de Beaujeu caus'd also the Place to be founded, and lay Ashoar on the other Side of the River, where he took Notice eturn'd there were Vines which run up the Trees, like Ont

Monsieur de la Sale order'd us immediately to handle our Arms, and to march with Druins beating towards the Savages, who feeing us in that Posture, fac'd about and went off. Monsieur de la Sale being desirous to join those Savages, to endeavour to get some Information from them, order'd Ten of us to lay down our Arms and draw near them, making Signs to them, at the same Time, to come to us. When they faw us in that Posture and unarm'd, most of them also laid down their Bows and Arrows and came to meet us, carrefling us after their Manner, and stroaking first their own Breasts and then ours, then their own Arms and afterwards ours. By these Signs they gave us to understand that they had a Friendship for us which they express'd by laying their Hands and N on their Hearts, and we did the same on our told us Part.

Monsieur de la Sale was glad to be rid of Feb. 1685 those People, because he was willing to be prefent when the Flyboat came in; but his ill Fate would not permit it. He thought fit to go himfelf along with those Savages, and we follow'd him, thinking to have found our Men in the same Place where we left them; but perceiv'd on the Contrary, that the Savages had carried them away to their Camp, which was a League and half from us, and Monsieur de la Sablonniere, Lieutenant of Foot, being one of those the Savages had taken with them, Monfieur de la Sale resolved to go himself to fetch him away, an unhappy Thought which cost him dear.

As we were on our Way towards the Camp of the Savages, happenning to look towards the Sea, we saw the Flyboat P Aimable under Sail, dhip for us, which the Savages who were with us admir'd. their Hands and Monsieur de la Sale observing it narrowly, same on our told us, those People steer'd wrong, and were flanding towards the Shoals, which made him t along with very uneasy, but still we advanc'd. Their Camp.

Feb. 1685. However we were gone too far to return; our Men must be had, and to that Purpose, we must proceed to the Hut of the Commander in Chief.

> As foon as we arrived there, Monfr. de la Sale was introduc'd; many of the Indian Wemen came in, they were very deform'd and all naked, excepting a Skin girt about them, which hung down to their Knees. They would have led us to their Cottages, but Monfr. de la Sale had order'd us not to part, and to observe whether the Indians did not draw together, for that we kept together, standing apon our Guard, and I was always with him:

Their En. Bertainmens.

They brought us fome Pieces of Beef, both fresh and dry'd in the Air and Smoke, and Pieces of Porpois, which they cut with a Sort of Knife, made of Stone, fetting one Foot upon ir, and holding with one Hand, whilst they cut with the other. We faw nothing of Iron among them. They had given our Men, that came with them, to eat, and Monfr. de la Sale being extraordinary uneasy, we soon took Leave of them to return. At our going out, we obferv'd about forty. Canoes, some of them like those Monfr. de la Sale had seen on the Missipi, which made him conclude he was not far from it.

L' Aimable caft away.

We foon arrived at our Camp, and found the Missortune, Monsr. de la Sale had apprehended, was but too certain. The Ship was stranded on the Shoals. towards the Passage mark'd out, whilst the Feb. 1685 wicked Captain cry'd, Come no nearer, which was to steer the contrary Course; the same Captain's Carelefness in not dropping his Anchor, as soon as the Ship touch'd, which would have prevented her sticking aground; the Folly of lowering his Main-Sheet and hoisting out his Sprit-Sail, the better to fall into the Wind, and secure the Shipwreck; the Captain's refusing to admit the Pilot of the Bark la Belle, whom Monsieur de la Sale had fent to assist him; the founding upon the Shoals to no Purpose, and several other Circumstances reported by the Ship's Crew and those who saw the Management, were infallible Tokens and Proofs, that the Mischief had been done designedly and adviseably, which was one of the blackest and most detestable Actions that Man could be guilty of.

This Misfortune was io much the greater, because that Vessel contain'd almost all the Ammunition, Utenfils, Tools and other Necessaries for Monsr. de la Sale's Enterprize and Settlement. He had need of all his Resolution to bear up against it; but his Intrepidity did not forfake him, and he apply'd himself, without grieving, to Remedy what might be. Men were taken out of the Ship; he desir'd Monsieur de Beaujeu to lend him his long Boat, he Ship was to help fave as much as might be. gan with Powder and Meal. About thirty Hogwho had not sheads of Wine and Brandy were saved, and hat Purpole; Fortune being incens'd against us, two Things Main-top, contributed to the total Loss of all the rest:

Feb. 1685.

The first was, that our Boat, which hung at the Stern of the Ship run A-ground, was mallciously stav'd in the Night, so that we had none left but Monfieur de Beanjeu's. The fecond, that the Wind blowing in from the Offing, made the Waves run high, which beating violently against the Ship, split her, and all the light Goods were carry'd out at the opening, by the Water. This last Missortune happen'd also in the Night. Thus every Thing fell out most unhappily, for had that befallen in the Day, Abundance of Things might have been faved.

> Whilst we were upon this melancholly Employment, about an hundred, or an hundred and twenty of the Natives came to our Camp, with their Bows and Arrows. Monsieur de la Sale order'd us to handle our Arms, and stand upon our Guard. About twenty of those Indian mix'd themselves among us, to observe what we had faved of the Shipwreck, upon which, there were several Sentinels, to let none come near the Powder.

The rest of the Indians stood in Parcels, or Pelotons. Monfr. de la Sale, who was acquainted with their Ways, order'd us to observe their Behaviour, and to take Nothing from them which nevertheless did not hinder some of our Men from receiving fome Pieces of Meat. Some Time after, when the Indians were about departing, they made Signs to us to go a Hunting with them; but besides that, there was suffcient Cause to suspect them, we had enough other Business to do. However weask'd, whether they would barter for any of their Canoes, which they agreed to. The Sieur Barbier went along with with brod

Some Days after, we perceiv'd a Fire in the Country, which spread it self and burnt the dry Weeds, still drawing towards us; whereupon, Monfr. de la Sale made all the Weeds and Herbs that were about us, be pull'd up, and particularly all about the Place where the Powder was. Being desirous to know the Occasion of that Fire, he took about twenty of us along with him, and we march'd that Way, and even beyond the Fire, without feeing any Body. We perceiv'd that it run towards the W.S. W. and judg'd it had begun about our first Camp, and at the Village next the Fire.

Having spy'd a Cottage near the Bank of a Lake, we drew towards it, and found an old Woman in it, who fled as soon as she saw us; but having overtaken and given her to understand, that we would do her no Harm, she return'd to her Cottage, where we found some Pitchers of Water, of which we all drank. Some Time after we saw a Canoe coming, in which were two Women and a Boy, vvho being landed, and perceiving wve had done the old Woman no odd Sala. Harm, came and imbraced us in a very particular Manner, blowing upon our Ears and making Signs to give us to understand, that their People vvere a hunting.

A fevy Minutes after, seven or eight of the Indians appeared, vvbo, it is likely, had hid themselves among the Weeds when they savv us coming. Being come up they faluted us, after the same Manner, as the Women had done, which made us laugh. We staid there some · Time with them. Some of our Men barter'd Knives

For this Reason they carry'd me and all that evere veith me, our Meat every Day.

During this time it was that l'Aimable opening in the Night, the next Morning we saw all the light Things that were come out of it floating about, and Monsieur de la Sale sent Men every Way, who gather'd up about 30 Casks of Wine and Brandy, and some of Flesh, Meal and Grain.

When we had gather'd all, as well what had been taken out of the Ship-wreck'd Vessel as what could be pick'd up in the Sea, the next Thing was to regulate the Provisions we had lest proportionably to the Number of Men we were; and there being no more Bisket, Meal was deliver'd out, and with it we made Hasty Pudding with Water, which was none of the best; some large Beans and India Corn, part of which had taken wet; and every thing was distributed very discreetly. We were much incommoded for want of Kettles, but Monsieur de Beaujeu gave Monsieur de la Sale one, and he order'd another to be brought from the Bark la Belle, by which means we were well serv'd.

We were still in want of Canoes. Monsieur de la Sale sent to the Camp of the Indians to barter for some, and they who went thither observ'd, that those People had made their Advantage of our Ship-wreck, and had some Bales of

They also saw Bits of Iron of the Ship that was cast away, and return'd immediately to make their Report to Monsieur de la Sale, who said we must endeavour to get some Canoes in Exchange, and resolv'd to send thither again the next Day. Monsieur du Hamel, Ensign to Monser. de Beaujeu, offer'd to go up in his Boat, which Monsieur de la Sale agreed to, and order'd Messieurs Moranget, his Nephew, Desloges, Oris, Gayen, and some others to bear him Company.

No fooner were those Gentlemen, who were more Hot than Wise, landed, but they went up to the Camp of the Indians, with their Arms in their Hands, as if they had intended to force them, whereupon several of those People sied. Going into the Cottages, they found others, to whom Monsseur du Hamel endeavour'd to signify by Signs, that he would have the Blankets they had found restor'd; but the Missortune was, that none of them understood one another. Camp.

Thus Night came upon them, which oblig'd those unexperienc'd Canoe Men, being thoroughly tir'd, to go ashore to take some Rest. and the Weather being cold, they lighted a Fire, about which they laid them down and fell asleep; the Sentinel they had appointed doing the same. The Indians returning to their Camp, and perceiving our Men had carry'd away two Canoes, some Skins and Blankets, took it for a Declaration of a War, refolv'd to be reveng'd, and discovering an unusual Fire, prefently concluded that our Men had halted there. A considerable Number of them repair'd to the Place, without making the least Noise, found our careless People fast asleep, wrap'd up in their Blankets, and shot a full Volley of their Arrows upon them all together on a Sudden, having first given their usual Shout before they fall on.

Sleuss Oris and Defloges kill'd.

The Sieur Moranget awaking with the Noise, and sinding himself wounded, started up and sir'd his Piece successfully enough, some others did the like, whereupon the Natives sted. The Sieur Moranget came to give us the Alarm, though he was shot through one of his Arms, below the Shoulder, and had another slanting Wound on the Breast. Monsieur de la Sale immediately sent some arm'd Men to the Place, who could not find the Indians, but when Day appear'd, they sound the Sieurs Oris and Desloges dead upon the Spot, the Sieur Gayen much hurt, and the rest all safe and sound.

This Difaster, which happen'd the Night of the 5th of March, very much afflicted Monsieur de la Sale; but he chiefly lamented Monsieur Desloges a sprightly Youth, who serv'd well; but in Mort, it was their own Fault, and contrary to the Charge given them, which was to be watchful and upon their Guard. We were under Apprehensions for Messieurs Moranget and Gayen, lest the Arrows should be poison'd. It afterwards appear'd they were not, however Monsieur Moranget's Cure prov'd difficult, because some small Vessel was cut.

The Consequences of this Misfortune, togtther with the Concern, most of the best Persons who had follow'd Monsieur de la Sale were under, supported the Design of those who were for returning to France and forfaking him, of which Number were Monsieur Dainmaville, a Priest of the Seminary of St. Sulpice, the Sieur Minet, Engineer and some others. The common Discourses of Monsieur de la Sale's Enemies tending to discredit his Conduct, and to represent the pretended Rashness of his Enterprize, contributed confiderably towards the Defertion; but his Resolution prevailing, he heard and waited all Events with Patience, and always gave his Orders, vvithout appearing the least discompos'd.

He caus'd the Dead to be brought to our Camp, and bury'd them Honourably, the Cannon supplying the Want of Bells, and then consider'd of making some safer Settlement. He caus'd all that had been fav'd from the Shipvvreck, to be brought together into one Place, threvy up Intrenchments about it, to' secure his Effects, and perceiving that the

Debates between

In the mean Time, Monsieur de Beaujeu was the Com. preparing to depart: The Chevalier de Aire manders. had many Conferences with Monsseur de la Sale about several things, the latter demanded of Monsieur de Beaujeu, particularly the Cannon and Ball which were aboard the Joly, and had been design'd for him; which Monsieur de Beaujeu refus'd, alledging that all those things lay at the Bottom of the Hold, and that he could not rummage it without evident Danger of perishing; tho', at the same time, he knew we had Eight Pieces of Cannon and not one Bullet. I know not how that Affair was decided be-

His Crew follow'd him, contrary to what Monsieur de Beatjeu had promis'd, that he would not receive a Man of them. All that Mon-Mr. de fieur de la Sale could do, tho' fo much wrong'd, leaves bim was to write to France, to Monsieur de Saignelay, Minister of State, whom he acquainted with all the Particulars, as I was inform'd, when I return'd, and he gave the Packet to Monsieur de Beaujeu, who sail'd away for France.

Having lost the Notes I took at that time, and being forc'd to rely much upon Memory for what I now write, I shall not pretend to be nat time, Memory nd to be any any longer exact in the Dates, for fear of Mar. 1685 mistaking, and therefore I cannot be positive stothe Day of Monsieur de Beaujeu's Departure, but believe it was the 14th of March, 1685.

When Monfr. de Beaujeu vvas gone, we fell to Work to make a Fort, of the Wreck of the A Fort Ship that had been cast away, and many Pieces built. of Timber the Sea threw up; and during that Time, several Men deserted, which added to Monsieur de la Sale's Affliction. A Spaniard and a French Man stole away and sted, and were never more heard of. Four or sive others follow'd their Example, but Monsieur de la Sale having timely Notice, sent after them, and they were brought back. One of them was condemn'd to Death, and the others to serve the King ten Years in that Country.

When our Fort was well advanc'd, Monstrate la sale resolv'd to clear his Doubts, and to go up the River, where we were, to know whether it was not an Arm of the Mississippi, and ac-Monstrate which Number were Monstrate Cavelier, his Bro-goes to distor, and Monstrate Wonstrate both Priests, two the River. Recolet Fryars, and several Voluntiers, who set out in five Canoes we had, with the necessary Provisions. There remain'd in the Fort about an hundred and thirty Persons, and Monstrate la Sale gave me the Command of it, with Orders not to have any Commerce with the Natives, but to fire at them if they appear'd.

Whilst Mons. de la Sale was absent, I caus'd an Oven to be built, vwhich vvas a great Help to us, and employ'd my self in finishing the Fort, and putting it in a Posture to with-stand

Mar. 1685 stand the Indians, who came frequently in the Night to range about us, howling like Wolves and Dogs; but two or three Musquet Shots put them to Flight. It happen'd one Night, that having fir'd fix or seven Shot, Monsieur de la Sale, vyho vyas not far from us, heard Resurns them, and being in Pain about it, he return'd with fix or feven Men, and found all Things in a good Posture.

He told us he had found a good Country, fit to fow and plant all Sorts of Grain, abounding in Beeves and wild Fowl; that he design'd to erect a Fort farther up the River, and accordingly he left me Orders to square out as much Timber as I could get, the Sea casting up much upon the Shore. He had given the same Orders to the Men he had left on the Spot, seven or eight of whom, detach'd from the rest, being busy at that Work, and seeing a Number of the Natives, fled, and unadviseably left their Tools behind them. Monsieur de la Sale returning thither, found a Paper made fast to a Reed, which gave him Notice of that Accident, which he was concern'd at, because of the Tools, not so much for the Value of the Loss, as because it was furnishing the Natives with such Things as they might afterwards make Use of against

This Fishery, which I caused to be often follow'd, was a great Help towards our Subfistance.

About that Time, and on Easter-day that Year, an unfortunate Accident befel Monsieur le Gres. After Divine Service he took a Gun to go kill Snipes about the Fort. He shot one, which fell into a Marsh, he took off his Snake Shoes and Stockings to fetch it out, and re- le Gros, turning, through Carelessness trod upon a Rattle Snake, so 'call'd, because it has a Sort of Scale on the Tail, which makes a Noise. Serpent bit him a little above the Ankle, he yvas carefully dress'd and look'd after, yet after having endur'd very much, he dy'd at last, as I shall mention in its Place. Another more unlucky Accident befell us, one of our Fishermen swimming about the Net to gather the Fish, was carry'd away by the Current, and could not be help'd by us.

Our Men sometimes went about several May 1685 little Salt Water Lakes, that were near our Fort, and found on the Banks a Sort of flat Fishes, like Turbots asleep, which they struck

Providence also shew'd us that there was Salt made by the Sun, upon several little Salt Water Pools there were in divers Places. for having observ'd that there grew on them a Sort of white Substance, like the Cream upon Milk, I took Care every Day to fend and fetch that Scum off, which prov'd to be a very white and good Salt, whereof I gather'd a Quantity, and it did us good Service.

judg'd they were pursued by the Indians, and came for Refuge to the Fort, and to give me Notice. Accordingly some Time after, we discover'd a Parcel of Natives, who came and posted themselves on an Eminence, within Cannon Shot, some of them drew off from the rest and approach'd the Fort by the Way of the I caused our Men immediately to handle their Arms, and wet Blankets to be laid on our. Huts, to prevent their being burnt by the Fire the Savages sometimes shoot with their Arrows. All this Time these who had separated themselves from the rest, being three in Number, still drew nearer, making Signs for us to go to them; but Monsieur de la Sale had forbid me having any Commerce with them; however, fince they had neither Bows nor Arrows, we made Signs to them to draw near, which they did without hefitating.

We went out to meet them, Monsieur Moranget made them fit down, and they gave us to understand by Signs, that their People were hunting near us; being able to make no more of what they faid, Monfieur Moranget was for

I made Signs to them to be gone, which they did as fast as they could, some small Shot we fir'd into the Air making them run, and a Cannon Shot, I pointed towards the rising Ground, where the rest were, put them all to Flight.

These Accidents made us double our Guards. since we were at open War with that crafty Nation, which let flip no Opportunity to furprize us, and therefore Penalties were appointed for such as should be found asleep upon Sentinel; the Wooden-Horse was set up for them without Remission; and by Means of such Precautions we fav'd our Lives.

Thus we spent the rest of the Month, till the Beginning of June. In the mean Time, Monsieur de la Sale had begun to make another Settlement, in the Place he before told us of, looking upon it as better, because it was further up the Country. To that Purpose he sent to us the Sieur de Villeperdry with two Canoes second and Orders for the Sieur Meranget to repair to Settlement him, if he were recover'd, and that all the Men should march, except 30 of the ablest to make a good Defence, who were to stay with me in The rest being seventy Persons, as the Fort. well Men and Women as Children, set out with the Sieur Meranget; and we being but a small Number remaining, I caused the Fort to be brought into a less Compass, to save posting fo many Sentinels.

Fuly 1685 Provisions, which a greater Number has more Difficulty to be supply'd with, and which we had Plenty of, by Means of Hunting and Fishing, those being our principal Employments, and we liv'd well enough contented, expecting to be remov'd. However there were some Malecontents, who refolv'd to defert; but finding a Difficuly to put it in Execution, for that they could neither get Arms, nor Powder nor Ball, because the Sieur le Gros and I kept all lock'd up, and were very vigilant, that none might be lavishly spent, they took the cruel Resolution to rid themselves of us.

> That bloody Massacre was to begin by me, when I was asleep, and then to proceed to the Sieur le Gros, who lay in the Magazine, or Warehouse, and was in no Condition to defend himself, because his Leg was still swolen, and put him to much Pain. The Execution was to be by stabbing. One of the Conspirarors reveal'd this to the Sieur Davault, a Hunter, who immediately came and accquainted me. I did not just then take Notice of what I had been told; but in the Evening, when they return'd from hunting, I caused one to be secur'd, who presently confess'd all. His Accomplice was also seiz'd, and it was very troublesom to secure them till the Time when we should remove.

About the Middle of July, the Bark la Belle came and anchor'd near us. An Order was brought me from Monsieur de la Sale, directing me to put aboard it all the Effects that were in our Fort, to make a Float of the Timber I had caused to be squar'd, if Time would permit, if not to bury it in the Ground. The Float was begun with immense Labour: but the Weather proving very Stormy, and holding very long, I was oblig'd to canse what had been done to be taken in Pieces, and to bury the Timber in the Sand, the best we could, that the Natives might not find it.

We then fet out towards the Place where the Indians had been encamp'd, when Monsieur Fort abande la Sale went the first time to see them. We'don'd. found no Creature, and lay there that Night. and so proceeded along the Sea Coast, without any Accident, to the Camp of the Sieur Hurie, which was a Post in the Way, where Monsieur de la Sale had order'd all our Effects to be laid up. It had no other Inclosure but Chests and Barrels; but there was nothing to fear from the Europeans.

We spent the Night at that Post, and two Canoes coming thither the next Morning, I Ill Poflure went aboard one of them, with Part of my Sesslement Company, and join'd Monsieur de la Sale the next Day, at the Place where he had resolv'd to make his new Settlement. I gave him an Account of all that had happen'd, and was amaz'd to see Things so ill begun and so little advanc'd. As for the Plantation, the Seed and Grain put into the Ground, was either lost through Drought, or eaten by Birds or Beafts. There were several Dead, and among them the Sieur de Villeperdry; many fick, and of that Number Monsieur Cavalier the Priest; no Shelter but a little fquare Place stak'd in, where the Powder

Fuly 1685 Powder was and some Casks of Brandy; many other Inconveniences there were, which made all Things appear in a miserable Condition.

It was requilite to think of building a large. Lodgment, Monsieur de la Sale design'd it, but the Difficulty was to get proper Timber for Building. There was a little Wood, where a good Quantity might be had, but it was a League up the Country, and we had neither Carts nor Horses to carry it; however Monsr. de la Sale sent Workmen thither, with others to guard them. The Trees were cut down and squar'd, but the Carpenters were so ignorant, that Monfr. de la Sale was forc'd to act the Master Builder, and to mark out the Pieces for the Work he design'd. Some of those Pieces of Timber were dragg'd to the Camp, over the Grass and Weeds the Plain was cover'd with; afterwards the Carriage of a Gun was made use of; but all cost so much Labour. that the ablest Men were quite spent.

This excessive Toil, the poor Sustenance the labouring Men had, and that often retrench'd as a Penalty for having fail'd in doing their Duty; the Uncasiness Monsseur de la Sale was under to see nothing succeed as he had imagin'd, and which often made him infult the Men, when there was little Reason for it; All these things together afflicted very many so sensibly, that they visibly declin'd, and above thirty Carpenter dy'd. The Loss of so many Men was follow'd by that of the Master Carpenter, who was returning one Evening with me; but I happening to step sside to kill some wild Fowl, when I came to our Habitation I found him not, and it was never known what became of him; an Accident

Notwithstanding all those Disappointments, enough Timber was carry'd or rather dragg'd, to build the House Monsieur de la Sale design'd, and he was himself the Architect. He mark'd out the Lengths, the Tenants and Mortises, and made good the Defect of the Workmen and calling to Mind that I had bury'd several Pieces of Timber at ourffirst Habitation, which might be of Use, he order'd me to take two Canoes and 20 Men, to go fetch them, in the Bark la Belle, which was with us.

Being come to the Place, we found the Natives had discover'd our Timber, and carry'd away some Planks, to pick out the Nails there were in them, which they value very much, to point their Arrows. We labour'd to make a Float, loaded the Bark la Belle with the rest of the Planks and other Effects, and fet out again. Some of the Natives appear'd whilst we were at Work, but seeing us advance towards them, with our Arms in our Hands, they fled.

We return'd fafe to Monfiett de la Sale, who secondset. was glad to fee us, tho we had loft one of the tlemens. Monsieur de la Sale Studying all Ways to find out the River Missipi, imagin'd it might fall into the adjacent Bay, and refolv'd to go view all the Coasts about it, and to make use of the Bark la Belle. Accordingly he der'd me to repair to the said Bark, with and a Canoe, into which he put his and other Effects in several Chests.

That short Voyage was very troublesome to us, by reason of the soul Weather, with contrary Winds and Storms, which had like to have overwhelm'd us, and what was still worse, we did not find the Bark, where we had left her. We went on a League further, to no Purpose, and Provisions beginning to fall short, because we had been six Days on the Way, instead of three, we resolv'd to return to the Place from whence we came.

Monsieur de la Sale seeing us return at a distance, came to meet us. Our Report troubled him for the Bark, which he stood in need of, so that he resolv'd to go himself to seek her, imbark'd in a Canoe, and fent me another Way, in another. After having wander'd about all that Day, the next Night and the Day fol- the lowing, we at last perceiv'd her, where she lay lost. under Shelter in a little Creek, having been in Danger of Perishing by the foul Weather we had been in, and had lost her Boat, which was

The Bark was also discovered by Monsieur de la Sale, who was on the other side, which made him draw near and land, whence he sent his Canoe to the said Bark, and Monsieur Moranger who commanded it, went aboard to meet him. The Loss of the Boat troubled Monsieur de la Sale, I sent a Canoe to bring him, but to no Purpose; however the Trunks were put aboard the Bark.

He was pleas'd to Honour me with the Command, during his Absence, and lest me an Inventory of all that was in our Habitation, consisting of Eight Pieces of Cannon, two Hundred Firelocks, as manyCutlaces, an Hundred Barrels of Powder, three Thousand Weight of Ball, about three Hundred Weight of other Lead, some Bars of Iron, twenty Packs of Iron to make Nails, some Iron Work and Tools, as Hatchets and the like.

As for Provisions, all that were left me amounted to twenty Casks of Meal, one Cask and a half of Wine, three Quarters of a Cask of Brandy, and for living Creatures some few Swine, a Cock and a Hen; which is very thort of what has been Publish'd by the Author of a Book entituled. Monfr. de la Sale farther order'd me not to receive any Man of those he took along with him, unless they brought an Order from him in Writing; nor to hold or admit of any Communication with the Natives, but rather to fire upon them, and some other Particulars he shought fit to be observ'd. He had made himself a Coat of Mail with small Laths, to secure himself against the Arrows, which he took along with him, he also took the Canoes, and promis'd to fend me one back. Five Cannon Shot were the Signal of his Departure.,

He took his Way along the lower Part of the River, to march by Land along the neigh-lasalegoes bouring Bay, which was call'd of St. Lewis, the out to dif-Canoes keeping within Sight. Our Provisions being very small, and it being requisite to spare them, for the Sick, we were oblig'd to apply our selves to Fishing and Shooting. Both of them at first prov'd very unfuccelsful, especially the latter; because we were not yet well vers'd in them, and Monfieur de la Sale had taken our Huntsman along with him; but at length, Necellity made us more expert. Nov. 1685 Hunter dies with Cold.

Some Days after, the Canoe Monfieur, de la Sale had promis'd me, arrived with three Soldiers, who brought us the News of the Loss of the Huntsman Monsseur de la Sale had taken along with him, and who had been found dead with Cold in a Ditch, where he had lain down to rest after hunting, which troubled us all very much. They also inform'd us, that Monfr. de la Sale advancing towards some Dwellings the Natives had abandon'd, after a small Refistance, some of whom had been wounded as they fled, they had taken and brought a Girl and a Woman, who was shot thro' the Thigh, of which she dy'd.

The Canoe was a great Help to us to carry what we kill'd, which being brought to our Habitation, found Employment for all Persons, some to flea, others to cut up, and others to dry it. At other Times, I fet some of our Men to throw up a Trench about our Habitation.

Thus we spent our Time, till about the Fan. 1686 Middle of January, 1686, when being all, one Byening, in our Mansion, the Sentinel came in to acquaint me, that he heard a Voice towards the River; some Men rar hither immediately. and found a Man in a Car. crying, Dominick, which was the Name of young Duhaut, who was with us. The Sight of that made me apprehensive lest some Disaster was befallen Monsr. de la Sale. I drew near, and perceiv'd it was Duhaut the Elder, that was return'd.

> I ask'd, him whether he had any Letters from Monsieur de la Sale, he answer'd, he had not. It gave me some Uneasiness, considering I was forbid admitting any Man without an de laSale.

Monfr. de la Sale, having staid some Time on the Sea Shore, near the Place where the Bark was at Anchor he refolv'd to try the Anchoring Places of the Coasts round about, to know how near the Bark le Belle might come. To that Purpose he sent the Pilot with 5 of the best Men to found ...

The Pilot did as he was order'd, he founded and observed the proper Places to come near seweral Coasts. At Night he and his Men be- billed by ing in all likelyhood tir'd, they thought fit to go Natives. Ashore and lie upon the Land. They made a Fire, perhaps to dress some Meat; but negleding to fland upon their Guard, they were furpriz'd, and all fix of them kill'd by the Savages; who also broke their Canoe, and thus reveng'd themselves for the Irruption Monsr. de la Sale had lately made among them.

More Time being elaps'd than Monsieur de la Sale had allotted those Men to return, he grew uneasy, and went himself along the Coast, to fee if any News could be had of them, and keeping along the Shore, he found the fad Remains of those unfortunate Wretches, whose Carcasses scatter'd about, were torn and almost devour'd by Wolves or wild Dogs, a Spectacle which went to his Heart.

However this Loss, which afflicted him, and particularly for the Sake of the Pilot, who was an able Man, did not quite cast him down; but exerting himself against his Misfortunes, he 50.1686 caus'd Flesh to be dry'd, and with that and the other Provisions he victuall'd the Bark la Belle. He caus'd it to advance into the Bay, put a good Number of Men on Board to secure it, among whom were Monsieur Chedeville, the Priest, and Planterose of Roan, and order'd them not to ftir from that Place till they heard from him, and not to go Ashore, unless with a good Guard and necessary Precautions.

Next, he chose out Twenty Men, imbark'd on two Canoes he had left, and being come Ashore, caus'd the Canoes to be sunk in the River, and every Man to take up his Bundle, confisting of Arms, Tools, some Utensils for the Kitchin, a few Goods, to trade with the Natives, if he should find any sociable, and so advanc'd into the Country, to try if any

La Maligne River.

Notice could be had of the Missispi. After several Days March, they came to a good pleasant River, which they afterwards call'd la Maligne. Monsieur de la Sale marching at the Head of the Company, and having order'd Monsieur Moranget to keep in the Rear; it happen'd that Duhaut stopping to mend his Snaplack and his Shoes, which were in a bad Condition; the Sieur Moranger coming up, commanded him to march, he defired him to ftay a little. Moranget would not, but held on his Way; Duhaut follow'd some Time after, but having stay'd too long, he could not overtake the Company, and found himself about Night fall in a Plain full of Weeds, where there were several Tracks of the Way Cattle had gone, but knew not which of them to take. In the Morning he shot again, spent the Day and Night again in that Place, fo that not Strange knowing what to do, he return'd the same Advenue Way he had gone, and after a Month's March, for he travell'd only by Night, for Fear of meeting with the Savages, living upon what he kill'd with much Difficulty and Danger, having before spent all his own Provisions; at length after most unaccountable Hardships and Sufferings, he arriv'd at the Place where the Canoes had been funk. He took one of them up, with incredible Labour, and too long to relate, and so came to our Habitation of St. Lewis. Thus it pleas'd God that he who was to be one of the Murderers of Monsieur de la Sale, should come off fafe, and furmount almost infinite Dangers.

This Account, which feem'd to carry the Face of Probability, prevail'd with me to receive the Sieur Duhaut, and in Reality I could do no otherwise, and I made it my Bufiness to examine into his Behaviour, but could find Nothing to lay to his Charge. We continued some Time longer as we had been before; during the which, I caus'd another fittle Wooden Structure to be made, of Timber, I had got together, and in it I lodg'd the Women and Maidens by themselves. Having hitherto faid Nothing of the Situation of our Dwelling of St. Lowis, nor of the Nature of the Country we were in, I will here venture upon a plain but true Description.

We were in about the 27th Degree of North Latitude, two Leagues up the Country, near the Description of the Country Lewis. The Land.

Turning from the West to the Southward. there appear'd other Plains adorn'd with several little Woods of severalSorts of Trees. Towards the South and East was the Bay, and the Plains that hem it in from the East; to the Northward, was the River running along by a little Hill, beyond which there were other large Plains, with some little Tusts of Wood at small Distances, terminating in a Border of Wood, which feem'd to us to be very high.

Living Creatures.

Between that little Hill and our Dwelling, was a Sort of Marsh, and in it Abundance of wild Foul, as Curlies, Water-Hens and other Sorts. In the Marsh there were little Pools full of Fish. We had also an infinite Number of Beeves, wild Goats, Rabbits, Turkeys, Bustards, Geese, Swans, Feldifares, Plovers, Teal. Partridges and many other Sorts of Fowl fit to eat, and among them one call'd le grand Gosser, or, the great Gullet, because it has a very large one; another as big and Fleshy as a Pullet, which we called the Spatula, because it's Beak is shap'd like one, and the Feathers of it being of a pale Red, are very beautiful.

As for Fish, we had several Sorts in the River and in the Lakes I have mention'd. The River afforded a Sort of Barbles, differing from ours ... Roundness, in their having three Bones sticking out, one on the Back, the others on each Side of the Head, and in the Flesh, which

The Sea afforded us Oysters, Eeles, Trouts, a Sort of red Fishes and others whose long, sharp and hard Beak tore all our Nets.

We had Plenty both of Land and Sea Tortoifes, whose Eggs serv'd to season our Sauces. Tertoifes. The Land Tortoises differ from those of the Sea, as being smaller, round, and their Shell more beautiful. They hide themselves in Holes they find or make in the Earth. It was looking for these Tortoises, that one of our Surgeons, thrust his Arm into a Hole, and was bit by fome venomous Creature, which we Suppos'd to be a Sort of Toad, having four Feet, the Top of his Back sharp and very hard, with a little Tail. Whether it was this Crea- Venomous ture, or a Snake, his Arm swelled very much, Creasures. however he was cured by fuch Applications as were made Use of; but it cost him a Finger was cut off.

They generally lye among the Brambles, where they make a Noise by the Motion of two Scales they have at the End of their Tail, which is heard at a confiderable Distance, and therefore they are call'd Rattle-Snakes. Some of our Men had eaten of them and found their Flesh was not amis, and when we had kill'd any of them, our Swine made a good Meaking Spain and the contraction

This Creature has very hort Legs, infomuch that it rather drags along than walks, and it is easy to follow the Tract of it, either among the Weeds or on the Sands, where it has been. It is very ravenous, and attacks either Men or Beafts, when they are within Reach in the River, and comes also ashore to seek for Food. It has this particular Quality, that it flies from fuch as pursue. and pursues those who sly from it. I have shot many of them dead.

The Woods are composed of Trees of several Sorts. There are Oaks, some of them ever green and never without Leaves; others like ours in Europe, bearing a Fruit much like our Galls, and lose their Leaves in Winter, and another Sort not unlike ours in France, but the Bark of them thicker, these as well as the second Sort bear au Acorn, differing from ours both in Taste and Bigness.

There is a Sort of Tree, which bears small Berries, which, when ripe, are red, and indifferent pleasant. It bears twice a Year, but the fecond Crop never ripens. There is another Tree, bearing a Fruit not unlike Cassia, in Taste and Virtue.

There are others of the Sort I had feen in the Islands, whose Leaves are like Rackets, whence the Tree bears the Name. The Blossoms grow out about the Leaves, and of them comes a Fruit somewhat resembling Figs, but the Leaves row Frais and the Fruit are full of Prickles, which must

I have seen some Trees resembling the Palm whose lofty and long Branches spread like that call'd the Latanier, bearing a Fruit, said to be indifferent good. Others the same Sort, but whose Leaves are like Gutters, harsh and so sharp pointed, that they will pierce the thickest Stuffs. This Tree has a Sprout on the Top, which shoots out Flowers in the Shape of a Nosegay, of a vehitish yellow, and some of them at the Top of that Sprout have fixty or eighty Flowers hanging down, not unlike the Flower de Luce, and after those Flowers follows a Fruit as long as a Man's Finger, and thicker than the Thumb, full of little Seeds, so that there is scarce any Thing but the Rhind fit to cat, the Taste whereof is fweet and delicate Mulberry Trees are numerous along the Rivers, their Fruit is smaller, but sweeter and more delicious than ours; their Leaves are beautiful and large, which would be of good Use for feeding of Silkworms.

The Plains are strew'd with a Sort of small Plants; Sorrel, the Leaf whereof is like Trefoil, and the Taste of it sharp like ours. There are Abundance

Nothing is more beautiful than to behold those vast Plains, when the Blossoms appear; a thousand Sorts of different Colours, whereof many have an agreeable Scent, adorn those Fields, and afford a most charming Object to the Eye. I have observed some that smelt like a Tuberose, but the Leaf resembles our Borage. I have seen Primroses, having a Scent like ours, African Gilliflowers, and a Sort of purple wind Flowers. The Autumn Flowers are almost all of them vellow so that the Plains look all of that Colour.

Monfieur de la Sale had been now long gone, and we began to be in Pain for him, when about the Middle of March 1686, happing to be on the Top of the House, I spied seven or eight Persons coming towards us. I presently ordered eight arm'd Men to follow me. go

They were in a bad Condition, their Cloaths Monfieur ragged, Monfieur Cavelier's fhort Caffock returns. hung in Tatters; molt of them had not Hats. and their Lines was no better; however the Sight of Monfour de la Sale rejoyc'd us all. The Account he gave us of his Journey reviv'd our Hopes; the had not found the fatal River, and we thought only of making ourselves as merry as we could. Only the Sight of the Sieur Duhaut interrupted it for some Time. Monfieur de la Sale ask'd me in an angry Manner, why I had receiv'd him, and Duhaut having given his Reasons, as I and my Men did; we were all fatisfy'd.

The next Day, the Sieurs le Barbier, Bihorel, le Peris, Cavelier, the Nephew, the Surgeon The Bark and others, whom Monsieur de la Sale had fent loft. to find out and carry Advice to the Bark la Belle, return'd, and faid they could not find her, which was another fresh Cause of much Uneasiness to Monsieur de la Sale. He had been guilty of the Fault of putting aboard her, his Cloaths, his > Linen, his Papers and all his best Effects, of all which he was then in the utmost Need. Besides, that Lois broke all the Measures he had concerted during his last Expedition, because he had resolv'd to cause the said Bark to go up one of the Rivers he had discover'd, to advance towards those Nations, with whom he had F 2

March 1686. contracted some Friendship, and to send me in the same Bark, with his Nephew Moranger, to the Islands to seek for some Assistance, or else to return by Sea to look for his River.

All these Designs being disappointed, he refolv'd to set out a second Time, and travel by Land, to find out his River. He staid to rest him a while, and to provide for his Departure, but having neither Linen nor Cloaths, I supply'd him with some I had; I also afforded some Linen to Monsseur, Cavelier, his Brother and Monsseur Moranger, his Nephew. All I had was at their Service, and I depriv'd myself of all that was fit for them, even to ten or twelve Pounds of Strings of Beads and some Knives and Nails, which Monsseur de la Sale took.

The Sieur Dubaut, having several Effects, as Linen, Hatchets and other Tools and Commodities, which had been sav'd from the Shipwreck, Monsieur de la Sale took Linen to make Shirts, for such as wanted, as also the Tools they stood in Need of. The Cloaths belonging to Messieurs Thibault, le Gros and Carpentier, who were dead, were also distributed. A great Belt I had, serv'd to make Shoes for Monsieur de la Sale and Monsieur Cavelier.

All Things being thus provided, Monsieur de la Sale took twenty Men along with him, among whom were Monsieur Cavelier his Brother, F. Anastasius a Recolet, Monsieur Moranger his Nephew, the Sieurs Bihorel, le Clerk, Hurier, Duhaut the younger, Hiens his Surgeon, and his Servants. He lest behind those, who were not fit to undertake that second Journey, among whom were little Monsieur Cavelier his Nephew, the Sieur Barbier, Canadien and some others.

others. Each of the Travellers made up his Apr. 1686 Pack, and they fet out towards the latter End of April 1686, after having given me the neces-Tary Orders, and we parted without Ceremony, Monsieur de la Sale desiring it should be so.

Some Days after he was gone, I heard a Voice towards the lower Part of the River, crying twice Qui vive, or who are you for. I made that Way, and perceiv'd the Sieur Chedeville a Priest, the Sieur de la Sablonniere, and fome others of those who had been put aboard the Bark la Belle, and were now in a Canoe. I ask'd abruptly what was become of the Bark, and was inform'd, our continual Misfortunes still pursuing us, that it had run aground on the What was other Side of the Bay. I caused the Canoe to Saved of be unloaded, there being in it, among other the Bark Things, Monsieur de la Sale's Cloaths, Part of his Papers, some Linen, a small Quantity of Beads and thirty or forty Pound of Meal, which was all they had left.

The next Day, Monsieur de Chedeville told me the Particulars of that Misfortune, and said, How the That having been some Time with the Bark, in the Place where Monsieur de la Sale had appointed them to wait, their Water falling short, they had thought fit to fend the Boat ashore, with four or five Casks to fill; that the Sieur Planterose went in it with fix of the best Men. That towards the Evening they saw the Boat coming back, but the Wind being contrary and Night coming on, they put out a Light, which going out and the Captain neglecting to put up another, in all Likelyhood the Boat could not fee the Bark, and they never heard of it after, nor

May 1586 nor of any of those in it, who it was probable had all perish'd.

That nevertheless, they continued some Days in the same Place, during which Time three or four of their Men died; and at last, having no Water, they eat up their Swine, before they died with Thirst, and resolved to weigh Anchor and draw near to the Dwelling; but having few Hands and those spent, and to add to their Missortune the Wind proving contrary, they were drove to the other Side of the Bay, where they run aground.

That having no Boat, nor Men enough to land their Effects, they had endeavour'd to make a Float with some Casks and Planks, but that being ill made and join'd together, the first that went upon it had perish'd. That having made another Float better fastned together than the first, they had by that Means faved some Sails and Rigging, several inconsiderable Things, Linen, Cloaths and Papers belonging to Monsieur de la Sale and others, and then stay'd Ashore, expecting to hear some News, and had found a Canoe, being the same that was before loft on the Edge of the Bay, which had been drove to the other Side; and that Provifions at last beginning to fall short, they went aboard the faid Canoe and came to us; fortunate in that they had not been discover'd by the Natives, during their Stay Ashore, which was for the Space of three Months, and in finding the Canoe to bring them back.

When Monsieur de la Sale went away, the Sieur Barbier had taken upon him to go a hunting, as also to provide Bark to cover our Houses, instead of Hides, because the Sun drying

The Natives having discover'd the Concealment, had taken away some Pieces of Linen and Iron Tools, which they very much co-

The Sieur Barbier after his Return, continuing his Exercise of hunting, happen'd to meet with a Parcel of the Natives, some of whom had Firelocks, which they had taken from our Encounter Men, and with which they made some Shots at with the him, but very weak; and he firing three or four Natives Shot at them they retir'd. He was then in a Canoe on the River, and design'd to have gone upwards; but that Rancounter having oblig'd him to take another. One Shot the Sieur Barbier made, put them all to Flight again; he held on his Way and return'd to our Habitation.

Some Days after, we perceiv'd a Herd of Bullocks flying, and guess'd they were pursu'd by the Savages, which afterwards appear'd to be true. Some of them drew near to our Habitation, but a Cannon Shot, I pointed towards the Gang of them, and a Musket-shot Mon-

When the Sieur Barbier went out a Hunting. I commonly fent with him some Women and Maids, to help the Hunters to dress and dry the Flesh; but being inform'd that he us'd to flip aside from the Company, with a young Maid he had a Kindness for, and which gave Occasion to some well-grounded Railleries; the faid Barbier being told I was acquainted with that Affair, came and spoke to me in private, desiring Leave to marry that young Woman, I made some Difficulty of it at first, advising him to stay till Monsieur de la Sale return'd; but at last, considering they might have anticipated upon Matrimony, I took the Advice of the Recolet Fathers, and of Monsieur Chedeville the Priest, and allowed them to marry. Monsieur le Marquis de la Sabloniere following this Example, ask'd the same Liberty, being in Love with a young Maid, which I absolutely refus'd, and forbid them feeing one another.

Some Time pass'd in which Nothing happen'd to us worth observing; however, I will mention two Things which befell our Recolet Accidents Fathers. One was, That Father Anaftasius, concerning being a hunting Bullocks with me, and coming sbeRecoless too near one I had shot, and was fallen, the Beaft, as much hurt as he was, started up, attack'd and threw him down; he had much ado to get off, and I to rescue him, because I durst not shoot for Fear of killing him. came off.

About the same Time, most of our Men seeing Monfieur de la Sale did not return, began Duhaut to mutter. The Sieur Duhaut, who perhaps had Endea. been the first Fomenter of those Discontents, casion & back'd the Complaints of the disgusted Party, Muting. promis'd them great Matters under his Conduct, and offer'd to supply them with such Effects as he had in Possession, endeavouring, as I suppose, by those Means, to gain their Affections, for a mischievous Design, which it is likely he had even then conceiv'd.

It was not long before, I had Intimation of the whole Affair, and I had done Monseur de la Sale a fingular Piece of Service, had I then put to Death the Person, who was to be his Murderer; but I rested satisfy'd with giving him a severe Reprimand, and threat'ning to cause him to be secur'd if he persisted, being able to do no other under my preient Circumstances. However, I talk'd to all concern'd, and put them in such Hopes of Monsieur de la Sale's Return, and that Things would foon change to their Satisfaction, that they were all pacify'd.

But in Regard, that Idleness often occasions Uneafiness and Impatience, I us'd all possible Means to keep them employ'd, in the most obliging Manner I could, setting some to cut down the Bushes about our Dwelling, others to hew down Trees, that hinder'd the Prospect, others mow'd the Grass, that fresh might grow

Whilst we thus pass'd away the Time the best we could, Monsieur de la Sale had pene-Sale's Dif. trated very far up into the Country, inclining towards the Northern Part of Mexico. He had travell'd through feveral Nations, the Inhabitants whereof were, for the most Part, fociable, and had concluded a Sort of Alliance with them, and particularly with the Cenis and others whose Names I shall mention. He had discover'd charming Countries abounding in all Things that could be wish'd, as well for Sustenance, as for making of easy Settlements, and after he and his Nephew Moranget had escap'd two Dangerous Sicknesses, he return'd to our Habitation, with five Horses he had purchas'd, and arriv'd at it in August 1686.

Hearing of his Voice, I was one of the first His Return that ran towards the River: We took our Canoes to bring him, his Luggage and some Provisions over, and the Horses swam. We were extraordinary glad to see our Commander in Chief return safe, tho' his Journey had not advanc'd his Design. Monsieur de la Sale had not found out his River, nor been towards the Islinois as we had hoped. Only eight Men return'd with him of twenty he carry'd out, and all the visible Advantage of that Journey consisted in five Horses, laden with Indian Wheat, Beans and some other Grain, which was put into the Store.

Monfr. de la Sale ask'd me, as foon as he came, whether the Sieurs Clerc, Hurie, Duhaut the 7 Men loft younger and two others were come, because and 4 dethey fers.

We were alfo inform'd, that the Sieur Bihorel, had ftray'd and was loft, so that there had been no News of him fince; that one of Monfr. de la Sale's Servants had been dragg'd down to the Bottom of the Water and devour'd by an Alligator, and that four others had deferred and abandoned Monfieur de la Sale, when he was about the Country of the Cenis.

This was a very difmal and deplorable Ac- M de la count; but the even Temper of our Chief made Sale reall Men easy, and he found, by his great Vivacity a sbird Exof Spirit, Expedients, which reviv'd the lowest pedition. Ebb of Hope. He rejoiced at the Return and Sight of M. Chedeville, he was pleas'd at the Recovering of his Cloaths and Part of his Papers; and after some Time of Rest, he propos'd to undertake a journey towards the Islinois, and to make it the main Business, by the Way, to find the Missipi; but it was thought proper to let the great Heats pais, before that Enterprize was taken in Hand.

In the mean Time, he gave Orders to stake about a Place to make a new Magazine, or Storehouse. He put to that Use the Timber I had caus'd to be cut, and would have more provided for the same Use. Detachments being fent to work, seven or eight of our Men, who were sent with the Sieur Barbier, were discover'd by the Savages, who being superior in Number, made as if they would hem them in; but each of our Men having taken a Tree upon their Shoulders and fir'd their Pieces, which made

There being every Day some Discourse of the Journey to the Islinois, Monsieur de la Sale ask'd me one Day, whether I would make one of the Company, and go by the Way of Canada to France for Succours. I assured him I vvas entirely devoted to his Will, and would faithfully attend him. Then he began by Degrees to provide what he thought necessary for that Expedition. I had two Pair of Sheets, which he took, to make him Linen. Canvas Cloaths yvere made of the Sails of the Bark la Belle. The Sieur Duhaut having Linen, he took some to distribute among several Persons. Thus he hasted on the Execution of his Design, but an Accident put it off.

Nov. 1686

It was occasion'd by a Flux which troubled Monsieur de la Sale, vvho having told me he could not perform that Journey, as long as he continu'd in such Condition, I offer'd to undertake it for him, if he would allow me his Indian, and about fifteen Men; but he answer'd, That his Presence was requisite among the Islinois, and that it was requisite his Brother should go to Thus he refus'd my Offer, and could not shun the ill Fate of that Journey.

Monsieur de la Sale being recover'd of his Indisposition, Preparations were again made for his Journey; but we first kept the Christmas Holy-Days. The Midnight Mass was solemnly fung, and on Twelve-Day, we cry'd, The King drinks, (according to the Custom of France) tho' we had only Water: When that was over we began to think of fetting out. Monsieur de la Sale gave the Command of the Settlement to the Sieur Barbier, directing him vvhat he vvas to do and observe in his Absence.

We carried along with us Part of the best Things every Man had, and what was thought vould be of Use, wherewith the five Horses vvere loaded, and vve took our Leaves with fo much Tenderness and Sorrow, as if vve had all prefaged, that we should never fee each other more. Father Zenobius was the Person who express'd is to me most signisicantly, faying, He had never been fo fenfibly touch'd at parting with any Body.

We vvent that Day to the Place vve call'd le Roucon, because there, vve had often dry'd Flesh, (which the French call Boucanner from the Indian Word) This Place was not far from our Habitation. The 13th, we cross'd a Plain, about two Leagues over, where we faw feveral Herds of Beeves and Flocks of Goats, Turkeys, Bustards, and other Sorts of Wild Fowl. We met with Marshy Lands, which tired our Horses, and came to a Wood that terminates the Plain, across which, runs a Branch of a River, full of Reeds, by Monsieur de la Sale call'd the Princess's River. That Branch joins the other, and they both fell together into the Bay of St. Lewis.

The 14th, the Rain ceasing, we travell'd over another spacious Plain, vyhere there is a Multitude of Beeves and Wild Fowl. We saw several Tracks, leading every Way, made by the Bullocks, of which we saw several Herds, some moving on hashily, and others running out-right, which made us suppose they were drove by the Natives. In short, having halted to help up one of our Horses that was sallen, we saw an Indian following them very close. Monsieur de la Sale caus'd a Horse to be immediately unloaded, which a Man mounting, rode after, overtook and brought the Indian.

When the Savage saw himself among us, he concluded he was a lost Man, he quak'd for Fear, and not without Reason, for most of our Men had resov'd to kill him; Monsienr de la Sale oppos'd it, alledging, that vve vvere but a small Number, that very sew were lest behind at the Habitation, and therefore vve ought not to render our selves odious to the Natives, but to use them kindly, that we might have Peace; an infallible Maxim, the Practice of which might have been fortunate to him, had he sollow'd it sooner.

He therefore caus'd a Fire to be made, gave him to Bat and Smoke, and afterwards a Bit of Roll-Tabacco, and forne other Trifles. Monfieur de la Sale gave him to understand, that he came not to hurt any Man, but to fettle Peace in all Places, and so dismiss'd him. The Indian recover'd himself a little of his Fright; but being still dubious, what his Fate might be, he at first walk'd away gently, still looking about him, and when at a good Distance, made off as fast as he could. We held on our Way, and foon after faw another Indian running after the Bullocks. Monsieur de la Sale caus'd him to be taken, brought to us, and treated as the first had been.

We had not gone far before we spy'd a Company of Natives coming towards us, on our left, but we held on our Way, till they were over against us, when Monsieur de la Sale caus'd us to halt. The Savages feeing us halt, stood still also, which Monsieur de la Sale perceiving, he laid his Firelock on the Ground, and advanc'd towards them, making Signs to him that Commanded them, who was a handsome Man, to draw near. That Indian came forward, and was follow'd by the rest, all of them Caresfing us after their Manner, which we return'd the best we were able, and then made them Smoak.

Next Monsieur de la Sale gave them to understand, that we were going towards the Cenis, that we defir'd to be at Peace with them all, and that we would return to our own Country. whence we would bring them all they had Occasion for. Then every Man went his own Way: We advanc'd half a League farther, to get into a Wood, where Monsieur de la Sale had encamp'd when he went that Way before; we cut down Trees to secure our Post, and lay there that Night.

Before our Intrenchment was finish'd, we dilcover'd, first one Indian, then two, and afterwards three, coming one after another; which giving Monsieur de la Sale some Jealousy, he caus'd us to handle our Arms, with Orders to stand upon our Guard, for fear of being surpriz'd, and went towards them. They fignify'd to him, that their People had told them, we did not hurt any Body, which was very well, and that they were come to see us. They were entertain'd as the others had been, and then Signs were made them to withdraw, because Night drew on, and having observ'd, that they took Notice of our fortifying our selves, vve kept a good Guard all the Night, vvithout any Disturbance.

The Pifteenth, we march'd on, intending to find out a Ford, in the River call'd of the Princefs. vvhere Monsieur de la Sale had pass'd before; but missing of it, and the River being swollen, vve vvere oblig'd to go up higher, sometimes crossing curious Meadows, and sometimes Woods of tall Trees of several Sorts, but all Young of the same Thickness and strait, look- Country. ing as if they had been planted by a Line. Thick Woods.

We also met with some Woods so thick, that that it was requisite to hew a Passage for the Horses. Towards the Evening we kill'd a Bullock, and went to incamp in a little Coppice, with our usual Precautions.

The 16th, we continued our Journey, still following the River upwards, and from Time Wildrowl. to Time meeting the same Sort of Pasture Grounds and the Obstacles of Woods, where we were fain to cut our Way through, which fatigued us very much; but the Plenty of wild Fowl, and particularly of Turkeys, whereof we killed many, was an Ease to our Sufferings, and Help to bear our Toil with more Satisfaction.

An Indian Village 4. bandon'd.

The 17th, was a very toilsome Day's Journey. by Reason of the Woods and Rivulets we were to cross; after which we came to a little Hill, on which there were 2 or 300 Cottages of the Those Huts were like large Ovens, Natives. confifting of long Poles fluck in the Earth in a Circle, and joyning above to make the Dome or round Top. They had been a Dwelling of the Natives, who being gone, had carry'd away the Hides that cover'd them, and the Mats which are us'd to hang the Insides, and to make their Beds of.

After a March of some Hours, our Indian having found a Herd of Beeves, we kill'd seven or eight, took the best of the Meat, and held on our Way across a Wood. We forded a Branch of the River, and proceeded to the Bank of another, the the Bottom whereof being foul, we incamp'd on the Edge of it, and the Rain falling

The 19th, the Rain ceasing, we proceeded through a thick Fog, and over Places where the Water was often up to our Knees, and fometimes higher; which, together with our being forc'd to cut the Way athwart the Bushes, with our Hatchets, gave us inexpressible Trouble, and it had been much greater, had vve not resolv'd to follow the Ways beaten by the Bullocks, vyhom a natural Instinct alyvays leads to those Parts which are easiest to pass.

We were not free from another Inconveniency in those Tracks, which was their being full of Water and very rugged, a Thing no Way agreeable to our Shoes, which were no Buskins of other than a Piece of Bullocks Hide or Goats 'AW Hides of Skin quite green, whereof we made a Sort of shoes. Buskins, to serve instead of Shoes, but when those wretched Boots were dry'd by the Heat, upon our Feet, they hart us very much, and we were often oblig'd to fet our Feet in the the Water, to soften those Buskins. However, we march'd all the Day, notwithstanding all those Inconveniences, without finding a proper Place to incamp, and at last came to a River, whose high Bank afforded us a Spot to rest on.

The 20th, a small Rain did not obstruct our March, and having cross'd a Wood, half a League athwart, and a Marsh of the same Extent, we came into a large Plain, cut across by great Tracks of Bullocks, which went towards the River, and made us suppose there might be a Ford. We follow'd that Way, but found the River so swollen, and its Stream so rapid, that it was impossible to cross it, but were o-

blig'd

Fm. 1687 blig'd to halt upon its Bank, whence we went to hunt Bullocks, whereof we had no Want, nor of Turkeys and other wild Fowl.

The 21th, we proceeded up that River, and found a narrow deep Place, near which we hew'd down a Tree, making it fall so as to reach from the one Bank to the other, in the Nature of a Plank, and handed our Baggage from one to another over it. The Horses swam over and we incamp'd on the other Side, near a very beautiful Plain.

Hebahamo, Indian Nation.

Whilst we were hewing down some little Wood to intrench ourselves, we heard a Voice, whereupon handling our Arms and going to the Place where we heard it, we saw a Company of fifteen Savages, who were coming towards us, and made Signs to us to go to them, laying down their Bows, in Token of Peace. We also made our Sign to them to draw near, they did fo and careis'd us after their Manner. We made them sit down and smoke, after which, Monsr. de la Sale began to converse with them by Signs, and by Help of some Words of the Language of the Cenis, which he was skilful in, he understood, that these were their Neighbours and Allies; that their Village was not far off, and that their Nation was call'd Hebahamo. Some small Presents were given them and they withdrew, promising to return the next Day.

The 22th, our Horses being spent and hurt, and we much tir'd, the Day was given to Rest, and the Natives did not fail to come, being twenty five in Namber, some of whom had Bucklers or Targets made of the strongst Part of the Bullocks Hides. They gave us to understand, that they were ingag'd in War towards the NW.

Monfr. de la Sale took several Words of their Language, which is very different from that of the Cenis, and more difficult. As for their Customs, they are much alike. Infine, having shewn us. that towards the N.W. we should meet with Plains, where the Way would be casier, and we should shun the Woods, we gave them to eat, and some Presents, and they took Leave of us. A Rain falling and holding all the Night, we did not march the 24th. The 25th, we travell'd not far, by Reason of the Rains continuing, and that there were several Rivers in the Way much swollen.

The 16th, we proceeded on our Journey, and came to the River call'd la Sabloniere, from the many Sand Banks there are in it. The 27th, departing from it, we came to another little narrow River, but very deep; going up higher we found a Ford, and went to incamp beyond it, in a little Wood, where we had a very bad Night, because of the Rain which fell again, and the overflowing of the River, which oblig'd us to make a little Sort of Scaffold, to lay our Powder and Cloaths on that they might not be wet. The next Day being the 28th, observing that the Water was still rising, we decamp'd to go a League farther, to a higher Ground, where we made a great Fire to warm and dry us.

We took Notice the Country was very good, the Plains extending as far as the Eye could reach, and adorn'd with many little Coppices, affording a very agreeable Prospect. We march'd over Part of them the 29th and 30th, after 3 Hours

The next Day, being the First of February 1687, Monsieur de la Sale left me to guard the Camp, and took along with him, Monsieur Cavelier his Brother and seven Men, to go see whether he could find any Body in several Gottages our Hunters had discover'd. He found twenty sour or twenty sive of them, built round like those I have before mention'd, standing on a rising Ground, almost encompass'd by the River, in each of which there were four or sive Men, and several Women and Children.

The Savages were somewhat surprized at Monsieur de la Sale's coming; however they receiv'd him in friendly Manner, and conducted him to their Commander's Hat, which was immediately fill'd with People, who came to see him. The Elders came together there, Bullocks Hides were laid upon the Ground, on which they made Monsieur de la Sale and his Company sit. They gave them hung Beef to eat, and then signify'd to them that some of their Allies had given them Notice of our being in the Country, and that we were

It being late when Monsieur de la Sale return'd, Feb. 1687 we staid there the rest of the Day, and several Indians came to see us, in Hopes of receiving some Present, offering us Bullocks Hides dressed, which we would not burden our selves with.

The Second, we fet out again, and halted fome Time in that Village, where by the Way we barter'd for some Collars, or a Sort of Knots made of Bullocks Hides well dress'd, which the Natives make Use of to carry their Burdens, whether of Wood, Utensils, or the Meat they They prov'd of Use both to us and our Horses, because the Thongs of those Collars ferv'd to make fast our Burdens.

We proceeded on our Journey, through a Country pleasant enough, but Sandy, and hav- la Maing cross'd a large Plain, came to the Bank of ligne River. a fine River, call'd la Maligne, or the Mischievous, because in Monsieur de la Sale's former Journey, an Alligator devour'd one of his Servants, who was swimming over it. This River is as wide as the Seine at Roan, seems to be very navigable and has a very pleasant Country about it. We incamp'd in a little Wood adjoining to it, and bark'd the Aspen Trees to hut.

Our Hunters kill'd Beeves, wild Goats, Turkeys and other Wild-Fowl, and among the Indian rest some Creatures as big as an indifferent Cat, Rass. very like a Rat, having a Bag under their Throat, in which they carry their Young. They feed upon Nuts and Acorns, are very far, and their Flesh is much like Pig.

Hard by there, we found a Place where Monsieur de la Sale, in his former Journey had hid some Parcels of Strings of Beads in the Trunks of Trees, and we rested there till the Eighth of the Month. During that Time, no

Feb. 1687 Day pass'd without seeing some of the Natives. who fometimes spent the whole Day with us, and faid they were of several Nations. made them smoke, and always gave them some imall Prefeuts. They admir'd that after we had writ down some Words they spoke to us, we repeated them, looking on the Paper.

Portable Canoe.

· Whilst we staid, Monieur de la Sale set Men at Work to make a portable Canoe, of long Poles, hew'd and joyn'd and then cover'd with Bullocks Hides sew'd together, having pull'd off the Hair or Wooll, as it may be call'd there. That Canoe was of great Use to us, to cross Rivers as well for our selves as for our Baggage, but the Horses swam over.

The Ninth, we put our Canoe into the Water, and pass'd the River in it, and incamp'd half a League from thence, on Account of the Grafs. which our Horses stood in Need of to recover themselves a little. The Tenth, we held on our Journey, croffing several spacious Plains, the Grass whereof was burnt, whence Monsieur de la Sale concluded, that there were many Narives thereabouts. He thought it convenient to provide Store of dry'd Flesh, for Fear we should not find Game in the Country we were going to enter upon, and accordingly caused several Beeves to be kill'd for that Purpose.

For that Reason, we continued there till the 12th, when we went and incamped on the Bank of a River, which Monsieur de la Sale had in his former Journey call'd d'Eure. At Night there arose a Storm, follow'd by Thunder and Rain, which swell'd the Streams, and obliged us to flay there. The 13th and 14th we cross'd four or five large Rivulets, and then a fine

The 15th, we travel'd along a fine Meadow, then over Plains that had been burnt, and at Night went to take our Rest on the Bank of a fmall Rivulet, about which we faw feveral Footsteps of Natives, which made us conclude we were not far from them; and therefore we doubled our Guard, to prevent being furpriz'd.

They had not gone half a League before they spied Horses and a Number of Cottages, without being themselves feen by the Savages. That Village stood on the Side of a Hill, and contain'd about forty Huts. standing together, besides several others stragling.

When Monsieur de la Sale enter'd the Village. the Savages feeing him, came to meet and con- Monsieur duct him to the Cottage of their Chief, where de la Sale mell re-he and his Company were seated on Bullocks ceiv'd by Hides. The Elders being come, he fignify'd the Nato them the Occasion of his Coming, as he had sivesc. done to the other Nations, with which they seem'd to rest satisfy'd. Some Presents were made them, according to Custom, and they offer'd him a Quantity of Hides, which he refus'd, telling them, that when he return'd from the Cenis he would trade with, and furnish them with all they had Occasion for. They confirm'd 1687 what the others had told us, concerning a Nation, where some of them had been, the Men whereof were like us, meaning the Spaniards. He nam'd to them the Nations we had pass'd through from our Dwelling of St Lewis, to the River Maligne, which we had lately pass'd. The Names of those Nations are as follows.

Names of Nations or Tribes.

The Spicheats, Kabayes, Thecamons, Theauremets, Kiahoba, Choumenes, Kouans, Arhan, Enepiahe, Ahonerhopiheim, Korenkake, Korkone, Omeaoffe, Keremen, Ahehoen, Maghai, Thecamenes, Otenmarhem, Kavagan and Meracouman. These are the Nations that lay on our Road; those on the West and North West of the said River, were the Kannehonan, Tehaka, Pehir, Coyabegux, Onapien, Pichar, Tohan, Kiasses, Chanzes, Tsera, Bocrettes, Tsepehoen, Fercouteha, Panego, Petao, Petzares, Peifacho, Peihoum and Orcampion.

Those we were with then, were call'd Teao, whom we had not before hear'd nam'd. talk'd of a great Nation call'd Ayona and Canobatino, who were at War with the Spaniards, from whom they stole Horses, and told us, that one hundred Spaniards were to have come to join the Cenis, to carry on that War, but that having heard of our March, they went back. Monfieur de la Sale gave them to understand, that we were at War with the Spaniards, and that we fear'd them not; and that he was fent on their Account by the great Captain of the World, who had charg'd him to do them all Good, and to assist them in their Wars against fuch Nations as were their Enemies.

Those Savages gave Monsieur de la Sale Notice, that he would find three of our Men among the Cenis, which put him in Hopes they

He propos'd to them to barter for Horses; but they had caus'd them to be convey'd out of the Way, for Fear we should take them away, excepting only one Bay, which Monsieur de la Sale agreed for and return'd to

The 17th, we pass'd a small River, with some Difficulty, and incamp'd beyond it. The 18th, one of our Horses going along the Edge of an upright Bank, fell into the Water, and came off with only a Hurt on the Shoulder; but we were fain to unload him, and distribute his Borden among us, every one making a Pack; and thus we cross'd a curious Plain, diversify'd with Woods, Hills, Rivulets, and delightful Mea-

The 19th, we travell'd along the Tops of those Hills, to avoid the Bottoms, and found a Difficulty to get down, by Reason of the Rocks we met with at the End of them, and a River we were to cross. Whilst we were passing that River, we heard Dogs hunting the Bullocks, two of which coming near us, one of them was shot dead. The Natives who vvere hunting spying us, sent out two of their Number, who creeping from Tree to Tree, drew near, and then stood still, vvithout daring to proceed any farther. We made Signs to them to come, which they did, and we made them smoke, till Monsieur de la Sale return'd, being gone a little Way to observe the Body of those People.

When come, he told them, he would entertain Peace with them, that we were going to the

Feb. 1687. the Cenis, and he believ'd, that these very Men were of their Nation, because they had their Accent and some of their Words. They told him their Village was near that Place, and bore us Company to our Camp, where after some small Presents given them, they were dismis'd.

Account Native.

The 20th, Monsieur de la Sale sent Monsieur given by a Moranget and some others to the Village of those Natives, to try whether they could barter with them for some Horses. In the mean Time two Savages came to us, one of them being the same that was with us the Night before, and they express'd much Friendship for us. That particular Indian told us, his Name vvas Palaquechaune, that they were Allies to the Cenis, that their Chief had been among the Choumans, with the Spaniards; that the Choumans were Friends to the Spaniards, from whom they got Horses, and added some farther Particulars. which the others had before fignify'd to us; for that we had good Reason to judge we were not far from North Mexico.

> He also told us, that the Choumans had given their Chief some Presents, to perswade him to conduct us to them; that most of the said Nation had flat Heads; that they had Indian Corn, which gave Monsieur de la Sale Ground to believe, that those People were some of the same he had seen upon his first Discovery. That same Native had a very fine Goat's Skin, which I purchas'd of him for four Needles, after I had shewn him hove to use them, and that Skin vvas of good Use to make us Shoes instead of

Some Time after, Monsieur Moranger return'd, gave Monsieur de la Sale an Account of his short Journey, and said, That one of the Natives, vwho save us the Night before, came to ranget's
meet and conduct him to the Chief's Cottage, where forty ancient Indians were, by vwhom he had been kindly receiv'd. That the Chief had in his Hand a Reed, at the End whereof was made fast a Leaf of a French Book, which he had an extraordinary Respect for. That they had been made to sit on Bullocks Hides, and treated with dry'd Beef.

That after thele first Ceremonies, the Chief had given them to understand, that some of their People had been conducted by a Man like us, to our Habitation, and that the said Man had promis'd to bring them to talk with us, in order to treat of Peace; but that on the Contrary, we had fired on them and kill'd one of their Men, which had oblig'd them to kill the Man that led them, and that then they return'd. It is not improper here to put the Reader in Mind, that I have before mention'd this Accident, when the Sieur Barbier croffing the River in a Canoe, was call'd upon by some Perfon, who was among the Natives on the Bank of the River, vvho had made two Shots, as it had been only the Priming of a Piece, which the Sieur Barbier had look'd upon as an Insult, and therefore he had also fir'd, with all the other Particulars, as mention'd before; an Accident that happen'd for vvant of understanding one another; vyhich, together with Monfr. de la Sale's forbidding us to have any Communication with the Natives, was very prejudicial to us afterwards.

After

94 Feb. 1687

After much other Discourse, Monsieur Meranges having given them some small Presents, they made their Return in Bullocks Hides, and Goats Skins well dress'd. He ask'd them for some Horses to barter; they answer'd, they had no more than what they stood in Need of. We immediately proceeded on our Journey, and that Day being the 21st, went to incamp at the Edge of a Wood.

The 22d, we went up to an Eminence terminated by a Rock, at the Foot whereof ran a little River, the Bottom whereof was all of flat Rocks, fit for Building. Thence we descry'd two Natives driving of Bullocks, which made us stand upon our Guard, and it appear'd to be our Indian, who had met another, with whom he had been acquainted among the Cenis, and whom he had brought along with him.

Three lost French Men beard of.

Monsieur de la Sale was very glad to see him, and remember'd he was one of those of whom he had purcha: da Horse. He ask'd several Questions of him, and among the rest, whether he had not seen the four Men who deserted in his former Journey, or heard any Talk of the others, to whom he had given Leave to return to our Dwelling. He answer'd, he had seen one among the Cenis, and two others among the Assonis; but that he had not heard of any more, and that they must needs be dead; as also the Sieur Bihorel, who was likewise mention'd to him.

He further told us, that there were four or five Cottages thereabouts, in which about Fifteen Men resided. At Night he went away. Our Indian had kill'd a Cow at a great Distance and shot her quite through, at which the other,

The 23d, we pass'd by the Cottages we had been told of, where the Natives were with their Wives and Children. Monsr. de la Sale caus'd us to halt in the Village. We were well receiv'd, they presented us with dry'd Beef, and we return'd it in some Knives. We saw two Horses, one of them a little grey, indifferent handsome. They told us they would soon depart that Place, to go join their Companions, who were in War with their Enemies. The rest of our Men being come up, we went on to incamp a League from thence, on the Bank of a Rivulet, and at the Foot of one of the highest Mountains in the Country.

Unloading our Horses, we perceiv'd there wanted a large Axe, which serv'd us for hewing down of Trees. Monsieur de la Sale sent his Indian to demand it, at the Village we came from last, the Savages said they had not seen it, and it was lost. He brought back Word, that the Savages had told him, that if we would stay for them, they would go along with, and they us the Work shew us the Way.

However, we went on the 24th, and incamp'd on the Edge of a Marsh. The 25th, the Rain hinder'd us from Marching. The 26th, Monsseur de la Sale perceiving how difficult and dangerous it was to cross that Marsh, sent his Indian to the others, to know whether they really design'd to go with us. They answer'd, we must return thither to join them.

The

Mar. 1687 The 27th. we decamp'd, in order to it; but took another Way to go meet the Indians. The 28th. we saw them marching at a Distance. One of them was detach'd to come tell us, that he would shew us the Way to cross the Marsh. and wewent on and incamp'd at the Foot of the high Mountain I have spoken of-

The first of March, we join'd the Indians, on the Edge of the Marsh, which we had just cross'd, where the Rains kept us till the Fifth, during which Time we went to find out where we might pass a rapid Torrent, that discharges it self into the River call'd of Canoes, which we pass'd the 6th, in the Canoe we had made, and which did us good Service, to pass other Rivers we met with the 7th and the 8th on our Way.

River of Canoes.

The 9th, we did not stir, because of the Rain. The 10th, incamp'd on the Bank of a small River, which we cross'd the 11th, and the same Day another River, and incamp'd on the Bank of it, and found it adorn'd with very fine Mulberry Trees. The 12th vve cross'd another River, and incamp'd near it. The 13th, came again to the River of Canoes, so call'd by Monsieur de la Sale, because he the first Time put Canoes into it, at his former Journey. We pass'd it the 14th, and incamped on the other Side where we again join'd the Indians.

The 15th, we held on our Journey with them and found a pleasanter Country than that we had pass'd thro'; and Monsieur de la Sale having in his former Journey hid some Indian Wheat Provisions and Beans, two or three Leagues from that bid, spoils. Place, and our Provisions beginning to fall short, it was thought fit to go to that Place. Accor-

The 16, in their Return, they met with two Bullocks, which Monsieur de la Sale's Indian kill'd, whereupon they fent back his Footman. to give him Notice of what they had kill'd, that if he would have the Flesh dry'd, he might send Horses for it. The 17th, Monsieur de la Sale had the Horses taken up, and order'd the Sieurs Moranget and de Male and his Footman, to go for that Meat, and fend back a Horse Load immediately, till the rest was dry'd.

Monsieur Moranget, when he came thither, Discontent found they had smoak'd both the Beeves, tho occasion'd they were not dry enough; and the said Sieurs Moran-Liotot, Hiens, Duhaut and the rest had laid aside ge:. the Marrow-Bones and others to roast them, and eat the Flesh that remain'd on them, as was usual to do. The Sieur Moranget found fault with it, he in a Passion seiz'd not only the Flesh that was smoak'd and dry'd, but also the Bones, without giving them any Thing; but on the contrary, threatning they should not eat so much of it, as they had imagin'd, and that he would manage that Flesh after another Manner.

This passionate Behaviour, so much out of Conspiracy Season, and contrary to Reason and Custom, Monson, de touch'd the Surgeon Liotot, Heins and Duhaut la Sale. to the Quick, they having other Causes of Complaint against Moranget. They withdrew, and resolv'd together upon a bloody Revenge; they agreed upon the Manner of it, and concluded they would murder the Sieur Moranget, Mon-Geur

The Indian and the Footman never stir'd, but the Sieur Moranget had so much Vigour as to fit up, but without being able to speak one Word, and the Assains obliged the Sieur de Marle to make an End of him, tho' he

This Slaughter had yet fatisfy'd but one Part of the Revenge of those Murderers. To finish it and secure themselves it was requisite to destroy the Commander in Chief. They consulted about the safest Method to effect it, and resolve to go together to Monsieur de la Sale, to knock out the Brains of the most resolute immediately, and then it would be easier to overcome the rest. But the River, which was between them and us, being much swollen, the Difficulty of passing it made them put it off the 18th and 19th. On the other Hand Monsieur de la Sale was very uneafy, on Account of their long Stay. His Impatience made him refolve to go himself to find out his People and to know the Cause of it.

This was not done without many previous Tokens of Concern, and Apprehension. He feem'd

When he came near the Dwelling of the Murderers, looking out sharp to discover fomething, he observed Eagles fluttering about a Spot, not far from them, which made him believe they had found fome Carrion about the Mansion, and he fired a Shot, which was the Signal of his Death and forwarded it.

The Conspirators hearing the Shot, concluded it was Monsieur de la Sale, who was come to feek them. They made ready their Arms and provided to surprize him. Duhaut passed the River, with Larcheveque. The first of them spying Monsieur de in Sale at a Distance, as he was coming towards them, advanc'd and hid himself among the high Weeds, to wait his passing by, so that Monsieur de la Sale suspecting nothing, and having not so much as charg'd his Piece again, saw the aforesaid Larcheveque at a good Distance from him, and immediately ask'd for his Nephew Moranget, to which Larcheveque answer'd, That he was along the River. the same Time the Traitor Duhaut fired his Piece and thot Monfr. de la Sale thro' the Head, so that he dropp'd down dead on the Spot, without speaking one Word.

Father Anastasius, who was then by his Side, food stock still in a Fright, expecting the same Fate, and not knowing whether he should go forwards or backwards; but the Murderer Duhaut put him out of that Dread, bidding him not to fear, for no Hurt was intended him; that it was Despair that had prevail'd with him to do what he saw; that he had long desired to be revenged on Moranget, because he had design'd to ruin him, and that he was partly the Occasion of his Uncle's Death. This is the exact Relation of that Murder, as it was prefently after told me by F. Anastasius.

His Ch1racter.

Such was the unfortunate End of Monsieur de la Sale's Life, at a Time when he might entertain the greatest Hopes, as the Reward of his Labours. He had a Capacity and Talent to make his Enterprize successful; his Constancy and Courage and his extraordinary Knowledge in Arts and Sciences, which render'd him fit for any Thing, together with an indefatigable Body, which made him furmount all Difficulties, would have procur'd a glorious Issue to his Undertaking, had not all those excellent Qualities been counterbalanced by too haughty a Behaviour, which sometimes made him insupportable, and by a Rigidness towards those that were under his Command, which at last drew on him an implacable Hatred, and was the Occasion of his Death.

The Shot which had kill'd Monsieur de la Sale, was also a Signal of the Murder to the Assassins for them to draw near. They all repair'd to the Place where the wretched dead Corps lay, which they harbarously strip'd to the Shirt, and yented their Malice in vile and opprobrious Barbarity towards the dead Body.

In Conclufion, they dragged it naked among the Bushes, and left it exposed to the ravenous Wild Beafts. So far was it from what a certain Author writes, of their having bury'd him and fet up a Cross on his Grave.

When those Murderers had satiated their Murderers Rage, they fet out to come to us at our Camp, return to with the dry'd Flesh, which they had caus'd to be brought over the River by the Indians, who had been Spectators of the Murder and of all the inhuman Actions that had been committed, with Amazement and Contempt of us. When they were come to the Camp, they found Messieurs Cavelier, the one Brother, the other Nephew to the murder'd Commander, whom Father Anastasius acquainted with the dismal End of our Chief, and enjoyn'd them Silence, which it is easy to imagine was very hard upon them; but it was absolutely necessary.

However, Monsieur Cavelier the Priest, could not forbear telling them, that if they would do the same by him, he would forgive them his Murder, and only desir'd them to give him a Quarter of an Hour to prepare himself: They answer'd, They had Nothing to fay to him; that what they had done was the Effect of Despair, to be reveng'd for the ill Usage they had

He found me on a little rising Ground, where I was looking upon our Horses as they graz'd in a little adjacent Bottom. His Intelligence struck me to the Heart, not knowing The Author whether I should fly or stay; but at length, having neither Powder nor Shot, nor Arms, and the said Larcheveque giving me Assurances of my Life, provided I was quiet and faid Nothing, I committed my felf to God's Protection, and went to them, without taking any Notice of Dehaut, puff'd up with his new gotten Authority, procur'd him by his Villany, as foon as he faw me, cry'd out, Every Man ought to command in his Turn; to which I made no Anfwer; and we were all of us oblig'd to stiffe our Resentment, that it might not appear, for our Lives depended on it. However, it was easy to judge with what Eyes Father Anastasius. Messieurs Cavelier and I beheld these Murderers, to whom we expected every Moment to fall Sacrifices. It is true, we dissembled so well, that they were not very suspicious of us. and that the Temptation we were under of making them away in Revenge for those they had murder'd, would have easily prevail'd and been put in Execution, had not Monsieur Cavelier, the Priest, always positively oppos'd it, alledging, that we ought to leave Vengeance to God.

We decamp'd the 21st, with our Indians, and Mar. 1687 march'd with such a heavy Rain, that we were oblig'd to halt on the Bank of a great Stream, where one of the Natives that had left us, arriv'd with his Wife. We went on the 22d and 23d, and pass'd the River, where Father Anastasius, Monfieur Cavelier and I, who could not fwim, had been drown'n, but that the Natives assisted and fav'd us. The 24th, we went on thro' a marshy Country, never quitting a small Path which led to the Village of the Cenis, till the 28th, when we rested on the Bank of a River Cenis Ri. of the same Name, tho' about ten Leagues di- ver. stant from the Village.

We had hop'd to ford that River, as Monsieur .de la Sale had done, when he return'd from that Country; but it was fo swollen, that there was no doing it, and we were forced to make a Canoe of Bullocks Hider. Whilst we were employ'd at that Work, the Indians swam over and went to give Notice to the Cenis of our Arrival.

We found the Country pleasant enough about that River, tho' the Land did not feem to be any of the best; but still it was delightful to the Eye, well planted with fine Trees of several Sorts, among which, is one that Monsieur de la Sale had nam'd Copal, being very beautiful, Copal the Leaves of it between those of the Maple Tree. and the Lime Trees in Resemblance, and from it comes a Gum, of a very agreeable Scent. In the same Place we saw a great Tree, on which the late Monsieur de la Sale had caus'd Crosses and the Arms of France to be carv'd. 1 - 22 (21) 1 .

Mir. 1687.

The Hunting of Bullocks had fail'd us, and we had seen none from the Place where our late Leader had been murder'd. Thus our Provisions began to fall short, and it was resolv'd on the 29th, to fend some Men before, to the Village of The Author the Cenis, to know, whether they had any Indian jent to the Corn, and were willing to barter for it. I was Cenis for appointed, with the Surgeon Liotor, the Tof-Provisions. seers, and Hiens, who was a Buccanier, Monsieur de la Sale had taken up at Petit Gouave, to go with him upon this Expedition. I was very unwilling to undertake that Journey, with a Murderer and two of his Companions, of whom I was suspicious; but it was very requisite to obey, and Duhaut having all the Effects in his Possession, alledging, that a great Part of them belong'd to him, he gave us some Axes and Knives to barter for Indian Corn, as also for Horses, if any were to be had, and accordingly we pass'd the River. We found the Country made up of several little Hills, of an indifferent Height, on which there are Abundance of Wallnut-Trees and Oaks, not so large as what we had seen before, but very agreeable. The Weeds which had been some Time before burnt by the Natives, began to spring up again, and discover'd large green Fields very pleasing to the Sight.

Toe Coun-Bry deferib'd.

When we had travell'd some Time, we discover'd three Men a Horseback, coming towards us from the Village, and being come near them, saw one dress'd after the Spanish Fashion, with a little Doublet, the Body wherof was of blue, and the Sleeves of white

We presently concluded clad like a he was a Spaniard, and the rather because we spaniard. had been told, that some of them were to come to join in League with the Cenis, against an Enemy Nation, and we were at a Nonplus; for if we fell into their Hands, we must never expect to get away, but be condemn'd to ferve either in the Mines, or in the Quarries, in the Kingdom of Mexico, for which Reason we provided to give the pretended Spaniard an unkind Reception, and then to make the best of our

Way back. Being come up to him, I spoke some Words of Spanish and Italian, to which he return'd no Answer; but on the contrary, made use of the Word Coussica, which in the Language of the Cenis, signifies, I do not understand you; which Answer of his remov'd our Apprehensions. The two others were quite naked, one of them being mounted on a fine grey Mare, and on her were besides two Panniers, handsomly made of Reeds, sull of very fine Meal parch'd, or roafted. A ter several Questions, to which we had no very satisfactory Answers, we lighted Fire to make them smoke, and then they presented us with the two Panniers full of Meal, giving us to understand, that their Chief expected us in the Village, and having fignify'd, that they were fent to meet us, gave them fome Knives and Strings of

We ask'd them, whether they had any Men among them like him that was a Horseback in the Spanish Habit, they answer'd, there were two in a Neighbouring Nation, call'd Affony, and that he who was clad, had been in their Country, and brought thence the Cloaths we faw him wear. That Man then hew'd us a Spanish printed Paper, containing the Indulgences granted to the Missioners of New Mexico. After this they left us to go on, to our People, for which Reason I writ a Note, giving an Account of our having met them.

We alighted to eat, and let our Horses graze on the Bank of a Rivulet; but it was not long before the same Natives, who had been with us before, appear'd again hard by us. We made Signs to them to draw near and eat with us; which they did, and then went along with us towards the Village, which we would not go into, because it was Night. Being come up to us in that Manner, he that conducted us, made a Sign for us to halt, vehich when we had done, all the old Men lifted up their Right Hands above their Heads, crying out in a most ridiculous Manner; but it behav'd us to have a Care of laughing. That done, they came and imbrac'd us, using all Sorts of Endearments. Then they made us smoke. A French and brought to us a French Man of Provence, Man avvho vvas one of those that had forsaken the mong the late Monfieur de la Sale, at his first Journey.

The vyhole Company conducted us after the same Manner, to their Chief's Cottage; and after we had staid there a short Time, they led us to a larger Cottage, a Quarter of a League from thence, being the Hut in wwhich they have their publick Rejoycings, and the great Asfemblies. We found it furnish'd with Mats for Indian Enus to fit on. The Elders seated themselves round tertainabout us, and they brought us to eat, some ment. We propos'd it to the Elders, vvho would needs go along with us, attended by a great Number of Youth, and having got ready our Horses, we set out for that Place.

By the Way, we faw feveral Cottages at certain Distances, stragling up and down, as the Ground happens to be fit for Tillage. The Field lies about the Cottage, and at other Distances there are other large Huts, not inhabited, but only ferving for publick Assemblies, either upon Occasion of Rejoycings, or to confult about Peace and War.

Huts and Families in them.

The Cottages that are inhabited, are not each of them for a private Family, for in some of them there are fifteen or twenty, each of which has its Nook or Corner, Bed and other Utenfils to its felf; but without any Partition to separate it from the rest: However, they have Nothing in Common besides the Fire, which is in the Midst of the Hut, and never goes out. It is made of great Trees, the Ends whereof are laid together, fo that when once lighted, it lasts a long Time, and the first Comer takes Care to keep it up.

Manner of Building.

The Cottages are round at the Top, after the Manner of a Bee-Hive, or a Reek of Hay. Some of them are fixty Foot Diameter. In Order to build them, they plant Trees as thick as a Man's Thigh, tall and strait, and placing them

They have also some small Baskets made of Canes, serving to put in their Fruit and other Provisions. Their Beds are made of Canes, rais'd two or three Foot above the Ground, handsomly fitted with Mats Beds. and Bullocks Hides, or Goats Skins well cur'd, which serve them for Feather Beds, or Quilts and Blankets; and those Beds are parted one from another by Mats hung up.

When the Land has been thus Women fow till'd or broke up, the Women Sow and Plant the Indian Corn, Beans, Pompions, Water Melons, and other Grain and Garden Ware, which is for their Sustenance.

Indians disfigure

The Indians are generally Handsom, but disfigure themselves by making Scores, or Streaks on their Faces, from the Top of the shemselves. Forehead down the Nose to the Tip of the Chin; which is done by pricking the Skin with Needles, or other sharp Instruments, till it bleeds, whereon they strevy fine Powder of Charcoal, and that finks in and mixes with the Blood within the Skin. They also make after the same Manner, the Figures of living Creatures, of Leaves and Flovers on their Shoulders. Thighs, and other Parts of their Bodies, and Paint themselves, at has been said before. with Black or Red, and sometimes both together:

The Women are generally well Shap'd, and Women, would not be disagreeable, did they adhere to Nature; but they Disguise themselves as ridiculously as the Men, not only with the Streak they have like them down their Face, but by other Figures they make on it, at the Corners of their Eyes, and on the other Parts of their Bodies; whereof they make more particular Show on their Bosom, and those who have the most, are reckoned the handsomest; tho' that pricking in that Part be extremely painful to them.

They Sow and Plant, when the Land has been broke up, and in short, do almost all that is requisite for the Support of Life.

I did not observe that those Women were naturally given to Lewdness; but their Virtue Their Geis not Proof against some of our Toys, when baviour. presented them, as Needles, Knives, and more particularly Strings of Beads, whereof they make Necklaces and Bracelets, and that Temptation is rarely resisted by them, and the less because they have no Religion or Law to prohibit that vile Practice. It is true their Husbands, when they take them in the Fact, sometimes do punish them, either by Separation or otherwise; but that is rare.

The Country of those Indians being generally subject to no Cold, almost all of them go naked; Habit. unless when the North Wind blows, then they cover themselves with a Bullock's Hide, or Goat's Skin cur'd. The Women wear nothing but a Skin, Mat, or Clout, hanging round them like a Petticoat, and reaching down half way their Legs, which hides their Nakedness before and behind. Manners.

As for their Manners, it may be said of these as of all other Indians of that great Continent, that they are not Mischievous, unless wrong'd or attack'd; in which Case they are all Fierce and Revengesul. They watch all Opportunities to be Reveng'd, and never let any slip, when offer'd, which is the Cause of their being continually at War with their Neighbours, and of that Martial Humour, so Predominant among them.

Religion.

As to the Knowledge of a God, they did not feem to us to have any fix'd Notion of Him; it is true, we met with some on our Way, who as far as we could judge, believ'd, there was some Superior Being, which was above all Things, and this they testify'd by lifting up their Hands and Eyes to Heaven, yet without any Manner of Concern, as believing that the said exalted Being does not regard at all, what is done here below. However none of them having any Places of Worship, Ceremonies, or Prayers, to denote the divine Homage, it may be said of them all, that they have no Religion, at least those that we saw.

Ceremo.

However, they observe some Ceremonies; but whether they have any Regard to a real or pretended Superior Being, or whether they are only popular, and proceeding from Custom, is what we were not able to discover. Those Ceremonies are as follows. When the Corn is ripe, they gather a certain Quantity in a Maund or Basket, which is placed on a Sort of Seat or Stool, dedicated to that Use, and serving only upon those misterious Occasions, which they have a great Veneration for.

This seems to be in the Nature of Offering up or Bleffing the first Fruits of their Harvest.

At their Assemblies, when the Sagamite, or Pottage, which is the most essential Part of their Meal, is boil'd in a great Pot, they place that Pot on the Stool of Ceremony above mention'd, and one of the Elders stretches out his Hands over it, muttering some Words between his Teeth for a considerable Time, after which. they fall to eat.

When the young Folks are grown up to be fit to go to the Wars, and take upon them to be Soldiers, their Garment, confifting of some Skin, or Clout, together with their Bow, Quiver and Arrows, is placed on the aforesaid Stool, an old Man stretches out his Hands over them. mutters the Words as above, and then the Garments, Bows, Quivers, and Arrows are given to the Persons they belong to. This may be compar'd to Something of a Ceremony of Knighting among them. The same Ceremonies are us'd by them in the cultivating of their Tabacco. Grain and Product, but particularly of the Tabacco, whereof they have a Sort, which has smaller Leaves than Ours; it is almost ever green, and they use it in Leaves.

This is what we observ'd among the Cenis, whose Customs and Manners differ very little from those of other Nations, which we had seen

M2r. 1687 before and faw afterwards. As to the Point of Religion, it is not to be infer'd from what I have said above, that there is none throughout that valt Continent: The Account I have given only regards those Nations we saw; there may be others that have some Worship, and I remember I have heard Monsieur de la Sale say, that the Nation call'd Takensa, neighbouring on the Islinois, ador'd the Fire, and that they had Cottages which they made use of, as Temples.

Nation, what is meant

Before I conclude this short Account of the Religion, Customs and Manners of the Cenis, which belong'd properly to this Place, it is bere by it. fit here also to observe, that the Word Nation, is not to be understood, among those Indians, to denote a People possessing a whole Province, or vast Extent of Land. Those Nations are no other than a Parcel of Villages, dispers'd for the Space of twenty or thirty Leagues at most, which compose a distinct People or Nation; and they differ from one another rather in Language than in Manners, wherein they are all much alike, or at least they vary but little, as has been mention'd above. As for the Names of them, here follow those of such as we travel'd through, or were near the Way we held from our leaving our Habitation near the Bay of the Holy Ghost, till we came among the Cenis.

Names of Nations.

The Spicheats, Kabayes, Thecamons, Thearemets, Kiabaha, Chaumenes, Kouans, Arhau, Enepiaho, Ahonerhopiheim, Koienkahe, Konkone, Omeaosse, Keremen, Ahekouen, Meghty, Tetamenes, Otenmarhen, Kouayon and Meracouman. All these Nations are on the North of the River called la Maligne.

This last Nation borders upon the Cenis, at the Entrance into whose first Village I left my Reader, to give an Account of the Inhabitants, and thither I return, to proceed with my Relation and our Journey to the Village, the French Man who liv'd among the Natives was to conduct us to.

We arriv'd there at Night, and found other Elders coming out to meet us, much after the same Manner as the others mention'd before. They led us to their Cottage, made us fit down on Mats and smoke, but not with so much Ceremony as the others. That done, it was Time for us to take our Rest, having given them to understand that we were weary.

The French Provencal would needs have us go to his Cottage, that is to the Hut where he French bad his Dwelling; for, as I have faid, there Entertainare several Families in one of them, and that ed by the was one of the greatest in the Canton, having been the Habitation of one of their Chief's, lately deceased.

They allotted us a Place there, for our Goods and Packs, the Women immediately made Sagamite or Pottage, and gave it us. Having eaten, we ask'd the French Man whether we were fafe, and he answering we were, we lay down, but yet could not fleep found.

The next Day, being the first of April, the Elders came to receive and conducted us to the Cottage where we had been the Day before.

After I 2

Apr. 1687 After the usual Ceremonies, we traded with them for Corn. Meal and Beans, giving in Exchange for the same, Needles, Knives, Rings and other To . We also purchased a very fine Stone H' e, that would have been worth twenty Pistoles in France, for an Ax.

The Day was spent in driving our small Bargains and gathering Provisions, which the Women brought. When that was done, it was agreed, that I should remain there, to lay up more Store, and that the others should return to our Company, which we had left near the River, to carry the Provisions and satisfy them they might come safely.

Tho' I thought my felf not over secure among the Indians, and besides had the Dissatisfaction of understanding none of their Language; yet was I not unwilling to stay, that I might have an Opportunity of seeing the two other French Men, who had forsaken the late Monsieur de la Sale, when he first travell'd into that Country, that I might enquire of them, whether they had heard no talk of the Miffispi River, for I still held my Resolution of parting from our wicked Murderers.

As foon as they were gone, I gave a young Indian a Knife, to go bid those two other French Men come to me, and whilst he was going I drove on my little Trade for Provisions, and had frequent Visits from the Elders, who entertain'd me by Signs, with an Account of their intended War; to which I still answer'd, nodding my Head, tho' very often I knew not what they meant. It was some Difficulty to me to secure my small Merchandize, especially at Night, for the Natives were covetous of them. This

I follow'd, and looking stedfastly on him, he knew and spoke to me, throwing his Arms about and embracing me, and then made himself known to be one of the French Men I had fent for.

We fell into Discourse, I ask'd him for his Comrade, he told me, he durst not come, for Fear of Monfieur de la Sale. They were both Sailors, this Man. who was of Britany, was call'd Buter; the other, of Rochelle, Grollet. They had, in that short Space of Time, so perfectly enur'd themselves to the Customs of the Natives, turn'd sathat they were become meer Savages. They vage. were naked, their Faces and Bodies with Figures wrought on them, like the rest. They had taken several Wives, been at the Wars and kill'd their Enemies with their Firelocks, which had gain'd them Reputation; but having no more Powder nor Ball, their Arms were grown nseless, and they had been forc'd to learn to shoot with Bows and Arrows. As for Religion, they were not troubled with much of it, and that Libertine Life they led, was pleafing to them.

I acquainted this Man with the unfortunate Death of Monfr. de la Sale, his Nephew and the rest, at which, he was surpris'd and concern'd. at least in outward Appearance. I ask'd him. whether he had not heard talk of the Missipi ; he told me he had not; but only that there was a great River forty Leagues from thence towards the N.W. where the Natives faid there were many Nations along its Banks. That made me believe, it was the very River we were in Search of, or at least that it must be the Way to come at it. I gave him to eat, and we went to Rest.

The next and the following Days, I continu'd trading, and the Elders their Visits, and their Discourse by Signs, concerning their intended War. Some of them gave me to understand, that they had been among the Spaniards, who are nevertheless about two hundred Leagues from them. They spoke some Words of broken Spanish, as Capita, instead of Capitan, a. Captain, and Cohavillo instead of Cavallo, a Horse, and so of some others. Buter, the French Man return'd to his Dwelling, I gave him some Strings of Beads for his Wives, and desir'd him to fend the other French Man to me.

In the mean Time my being alone, as to any Person I could converse with, grew very irksome to me, and I know not whether an old Man did not perceive it; for he thought it brought to would be proper to bring a Companion, to dithe Author vert me, and at Night I was surpris'd to fee a young Maid come sit down by me, and to hear the old Man tell me, he had brought her to be my Wife, and gave her to me; but I had far different Thoughts to disturb me. Thus I continu'd, without hearing any News, French till the Sixth of April, when the two French Men, Men like I have spoken of, came both, in the Indian Indians. Drefs, each of them having only a Clout about him, some Turky Feathers on their Shoulders, their Heads and Feet bare. The latter of them whose Name was Grollet, had not consented to have his Face mark'd like the other, nor to cut his Hair after the Indian Manner; for those People cut off all theirs, except a small Lock on the Crown of the Head, like the Turks, only some of them have small Tresses on the Temples.

I repeated to them the Narrative of Monsieur de la Sale's unfortunate Story. They confirm'd what I had been told before, that the Natives had talk'd to them of the great River, which was forty Leagues off, towards the N. E. and that there were People like us, that dwels on the Banks of it. This confirm'd me in the Opinion, that it was the River so much sought after, and that we must go that Way to return to Canada or towards New England. told me, they would willingly go with us. defired them to keep it fecret, which they did not, for being inform'd that Monfieur Cavelier and the others were coming, they went to meet them, and I was again left alone.

Name, from whence we came; defigning, as surn to the they pretended, to build a Boat there, to carry them over to the Islands of America; an impracticable Notion, for all our Carpenters were dead, and tho' they had been alive, they were so ignorant, that none of them would have known which Way to go about that Work; besides that, we were destitute of all Necessaries for that Effect. However we must obey, and fet out with our Provisions. The Rain having detain'd us the 9th on the Way, we could not come up to them till the next Day, being the Tenth.

Father Anastasius gave me the Confirmation of that Design, and farther told me how roughly they had been treated by those Murderers fince my Departure. I know not what it was that mov'd them to it, but they had resolved to seperate themselves from those Villains, and that we should eat apart, viz. Monsieur Cavelier the Priest, F. Anastasius, young Cavelier and I, which was very agreeable to us, because at least we could talk freely, which we durst not do before; but at the same Time they allow'd us no more Frovisions than would suffice to keep us from starving, without giving us Share of any Flesh, tho' they often kill'd.

Our Tyrants still holding their Resolution to return to our former Habitation, thought they had not Horses enough, and therefore deputed four of their Number, one of which was the French Man half turn'd Indian, to return to the Village of the Cenis and endeavour to barter for

At the same Time we agreed together Apr. 1687 to let those Gentlemen know, that we were too much fatigued to return with them to the said Habitation, and were resolved to remain in the Village of the Cenis. Monsieur Cavelier undertook to be our Speaker, and to defire Dubaut, who was Master of all, to give us some Axes, Knives and Strings of Beads, Powder and Shot, offering to give him a Note of his Hand for the same.

To conclude, Monsieur Cavelier made the Design of Proposal to Duhaut, disguis'd it the best he was the Murable, and Dubaut took till the next Day to re- devers. turn his Answer. He consulted with his Companions, and acquainted us, that they would deal handsomely by us, and give us half the Effects and all the Axes, intending to make the most Speed they could, to get to our former Dwelling, and to put in Execution what they had before defign'd, as to the Building of a Bark. But in Case they could not succeed; for want of Necessaries, they would immediately return to us and bring F. Zenobius along with them. who would be ferviceable to us, because, having been with Monsieur de la Sale upon his first Discovery, he understood the Language of the Nations about the Missipi River. That whilst they were upon that Journey, we should take Care to gather a Stock of Provisions, and that if they succeeded in building the Bark, they would fend us Word, that we might repair to them. Apr. 1687

We stay'd there some Time, expeding those who were gone to the Cenis, they staying longer than was requisite for that fourney. The overflowing of the River was their Pretence, but the true Reason was the Women; who as I have faid, are not fo forward as to offer themselves, but on the other Hand will not be over difficult in complying for some little Present, and those who were fent did not grudge their Time. the mean while the Posture of our Affairs changed, as follows.

Murderers Change

One of our half Savage French Men, whom I had acquainted with our Defign to go find the their Mind. Mississippi, communicated it to Hautet, telling him all the Particulars he had before acquainted me with; whereupon Dubaut chang'd his Mind, as to the Design of going to the Habitation of St. Lewis, refolving to follow our intended Way and execute our Project. He imparted his Thoughts to his Companions, who were of the same Opinion, and all of them acquainted us, that they were ready to put in Execution the Enterprize we had form'd.

This Change troubled us very much, there being nothing we coveted more than to part with those Miscreants, from whom we could at a long Run expect no better Usage than they had afforded our Commander and his Friends. However, it was still requisite to dissemble, there being no other Remedy at that Time: But God's Justice provided for and refcued us. We continued in that Camp all the remaining Part of April, expecting the Persons that had been fent to the Cenis, and Duhaut intending to begin to put in Execution his Design of going to find out the Missipi, with us, made

We staid three Days longer in that Post, at Murderers the End whereof, he we call'd Larcheveque, one differ in of those that had been sent out, cross'd the Opinion. River. He was Duhaut's Creature, and an Accomplice in the Murder of Monsieur de la Sale. He inform'd Dubaut, that one they call'd Hiens, who was also one of our Messengers, and had stay'd on the other Side of the River, had heard of Duhaut and the rest altering their Re-

Murders.

After we had been some Days longer in the same Place. Hiens arriv'd with the two half Savage French Men and about twenty Natives. He went immediately to Dubaut, and after some Discourse, told him, he was not for going towards the Missipi, because it would be of dangerous Consequence for them, and therefore demanded his Share of the Effects he had feiz'd upon. Dubaut refusing to comply, and affirming, that all the Axes were his own; Hiens, who it is likely had laid the Design before to kill him, immediately drew his Piftol, and fired Hiers it upon Duhaut, who stagger'd about four Paces kills Dufrom the Place and fell down dead. These Murders committed before us, put me into a terrible Consternation; for believing the fame

May 1687 fame was delign'd for me, I laid hold of my Fire-Lock to defend my felf : but Hiens cry'd out to me, to fear nothing, to lay down my Arms, and affur'd me he had no Defign against me; but that he had reveng'd his Master's Death. He also satisfy'd Monsieur Cavelier and Father Anastasius, who were as much frighted as my felf, declaring he meant them no Harm, and that tho' he had been in the Conspiracy, yet had he been present at the Time when Monsieur de la Sale was kill'd, he would not have confented, but rather have obstructed it.

Liotot liv'd fome Hours after, and had the good Fortune to make his Confession; after which, the same Ruter, put him out of his Pain, with a Pistol-Shot. We dug a Hole in the Earth, and bury'd him in it with Dubaut, doing them more Honour than they had done to Monsienr de la Sale and his Nephew Moranger, whom they left to be devour'd by wild Beafts. Thus those Murderers met with what they had deferv'd, dying the same Death they had put others

Hereupon, Heins took upon him to speak. and said, he had promis'd the Natives to go to the War with them, and design'd to be as good as his Word; that if we would expect his Return, we might by that Time consider which Way he would move, and that in the mean Time we might stay in the Village among the Cenis. This was resolv'd on; we loaded all our Effects on our Horses, and repair'd to the same Place and the same Cottage, where we had been before, the Chief of it assigning us the one Half to lodge and lay up our

The late Monsieur de la Sale had often told us, that the Women bewail'd those that were to be kill'd; but we were inform'd, that they did so, when they call'd to Mind some who had been flain in the former Wars; which dispell'd our Apprehensions. However we were uneasy, because those old Men and Women examin'd us every Morning and Evening when we perform'd our Devotions.

> We laid hold of that Opportunity to give them to understand, that we paid our Duty to one God, the only Supreme Sovereign of all Things, pointing to Heaven, and endeavouring in the best Manner we were able, to signify to them that he was Almighty, that he had made all Thiogs, that he caus'd the Earth to produce it's Fruits to prosper, and the Growth of it, which maintain'd them to thrive; but this being only by Signs, they did not un-

The 18th, we were surprized to see several May 1687. Women come into our Cottage, their Faces Women reall besmear'd with Earth, and they set up their joice at Throats, finging feveral Songs as loud as they vistory. were able, whereof we understood not one Word. That done, they fell a Dancing in a Ring, and we could not tell, what to think of that Rejoicing, which lasted full three Hours; after which we were inform'd, they had receiv'd Advice of the Victory obtain'd by their Warriors over their Enemies. The Dance concluded, those in the Cottage gave some Bits of Tabacco to those without.

The same Day, about Noon, we saw him that had brought the News, who affirm'd they had kill'd at least Forty of their Enemies. After the Rejoicing, all the Women apply'd themselves to make ready their Provisions, some to pound Indian Corn, others to boil Meal, which they call Grouller, and others to bake Bread, to carry to the Warriors. They all fet out the 19th to meet them, and we thought it in Policy convenient to send Meat to our Men which was done by the French Man of Provence. who went with the Women.

That same Day, at Night, the Victorious Army return'd, and wve vvere inform'd, that their of the Bat. of the Women.

The other Woman was kept to fall a Sacrifice to the Rage and Vengeance of the Women and Maids; who having arm'd themselves with thick Stakes, sharp Pointed at the End, Conducted that Wretch to a By-Place, where each of those Furies began to torment her, fometimes with the Point of their Staff, and fometimes laying on her with all their Might. One tore off her Hair, another cut off her Finger, and every one of those outrageous Women endeavour'd to put her to some exquisite Torture, to revenge the Death of their Husbands and Kinsmen, who had been kill'd in the former Wars: fo that the unfortunate Creature expected her Death Stroke, as Mercy.

At last, one of them gave her a Stroke with a heavy Club on the Head, and another run her Inbumani- Stake several Times into her Body, with which she fell down Dead on the Spot. Then they cut that miserable Victim into Morsels, and oblig'd some Slaves of that Nation, they had

and glorious Memorials of their Victory.

The next Day all those Savages met in their Chief's Cottage, whether all the abovemention'd Heads of Hair were carry'd in State. Then they made extraordinary Rejoicings in that Cottage, whence they went to the Huts of the other Prime Men, to perform the same Ceremony. This Rejoicing lasted three Days, our French Companions, who had been the Cause of their Victory, being call'd to it, and highly entertain'd, after their Manner. It will not be disagreeable to the Reader, that I here particularly describe that Ceremony, which after having been perform'd in the Cottages of the Chief Men, was repeated in ours.

In the first Place, the Cottage was made very clean, adorn'd, and abundant of Mats laid on the Floor, on which the Elders, and the most considerable Persons sate; after which, one of them, who is in the Nature of an Orator, or Master of the Ceremonies stood up and made a Speech, of which we understood not a Word. Soon after that Discourse was ended, the Warriors arriv'd, who had flain any in Battle, marching in their proper Order, each of them carrying a Bow and two Arrows, and before every one of them went his Wife, carrying the Enemies Head of Hair. Two little Boys, whose Lives they had spar'd, as has been faid before, one of them who was wounded being a Horseback, clos'd the Procession; at the Head whereof, was a Woman carrying a large Reed, or Cane in her Hand.

As they came up to the Orator, the Warrior took the Head of Hair his Wife had

When the Ceremony was ended, they ferr'd up the Sagamite, in the Nature of Hasty Pudding, which those Women had provided, and before any one touch'd it, the Master of the Ceremonies took some in a Vessel, which he carry'd as an Offering to those Heads of Hair. Then he lighted a Pipe of Tabacco, and blow'd the Smoke upon them. That being perform'd, they all fell to the Meat, Bits of the Woman that had been sacrific'd, were serv'd up to the two Boys of her Nation. They also serv'd up dry'd Tongues of their Enemies, and the whole concluded with Dancing and Singing after their Manner: After which, they went

There was no Talk of our Design till those Rejoycings were over, and I begn to conceive good Hopes of our Success. The two Murderers, Teissier and Larcheveque, who had both a Hand in the Death of Monss. de la Sale, had promis'd to go along with us, provided Monss. Cavelier would pardon them, and he had given them his Word so to do. In this Expectation we continu'd till the 25th, when our French Men, who had been at the War, repair'd to our Cottage, and we consulted about our Business.

Hiens and others of his Gang, disapproving May 1687. of our Design, represented to us such Disficulties as they look'd upon to be unfurmountable, under which we must inevitably perish, or at least be oblig'd to return to the same Place. Hiens told us, that for his own Part, he would not hazard his Life to return into France, only to have his Head chopp'd off, and perceiving we answer'd Nothing to that, but that we perfisted in our Resolution. It is requisite then, said he, to divide what Effects remain.

Accordingly he laid aside, for F. Anastasius, Hiens Messieurs Cavelier, the Uncle and the Nephew, gives the othirty Axes, four or five Dozens of Knives, an thers what bout thirty Pounds of Powder and the like be pleases, Quantity of Ball. He gave each of the the rest of others two Axes, two Knives, two or three the Effects. Pounds of Powder, with as much Ball, and kept ! the rest. As for the Horses, he kept the best and lest us the three least. Monsieur Cavelier ask'd him for some Strings of Beads, which he granted, and feiz'd upon all the late Monfr. de la Sale's Cloaths, Baggage and other Refects, besides above a thousand Livres in Money, which belong'd to the late Monfr. le Gros, who dy'd at our Dwelling of St. Lewis. Before our Departure, it was a sensible Assliction to us, to see that Villain walk about, in a scarlet Coat, with gold Galons, which had belong'd to the late Monfr. de la Sale, and which, as I have faid, he had feiz'd.

After that, Hiens and his Companions withdrew to their own Cottage, and we refolv'd Mr. Canot to put off our Departure any longer. Ac- bisCompany cordingly, we made ready our Horses, which part from much alarm'd the Natives, and especially the the others. K 2

May 1687 Chief of them, who said and did all he could to obstruct our journey, promising us Wives, Plenty of Provisions, representing to us the immense Dangers, as well from Enemies, who furrounded them, as from the bad and impaffable Ways and the many Woods and Rivers we were to pass. However, we were not to be moved, and only ask'd one Kindness of him, in obtaining of which, there were many Difficulties, and it was, that he would give us Guides to conduct us to Cappa; but at length, after much Trouble and many Promises of a good Reward, one was granted, and two others went along with him.

All Things being thus order'd for our Departure, we took Leave of our Hosts, pass'd by Hiens's Cottage and embrac'd him and his Companions. We ask'd him for another Horse, which he granted. He defired an Attestation in Latin of Monsieur Cavelier, that he had not been concern'd in the Murder of Monsieur de la Sale, which was given him, because there was no refuling of it; and we fet forward without Larcheveque and Meunier, who did not keep their Word with us, but remain'd among those Barbarians, being infatuated with that Course of Libertinism they had run themselves into. Thus, only seven there were only seven of us that stuck together set out for to return to Canada, viz. Father Anastasius,

After the first Day's Journey we incamp'd on the Bank of the River, we had left not long before, lay there that Night, and the next Day, cut down Trees to make a Sort of Bridge or Planks to pass over it; handing over our Goods from one to another, and swimming over our Horses; which Work we were frequently oblig'd to repeat, and as often as we had afterwards Occasion to pass Rivers on our Way, which we held on till the 29th, every Day meeting with some Cottage, and at last, a Hamlet or Village, into which we went, and the Indian Inhabitants told us, they were call'd Nahordikhe, and that they were Allies to the Cenis.

We barter'd with them for some Provisions, and their Chief offer'd to go with us as far as the Assonys, who were not farther off than about Nahorthree Leagues, which he accordingly did; but dikhesand it happening to rain when we came thither, Affony and the Assonys having had no Notice before hand, we found but indifferent Reception.

However, we were conducted to the Chief's Cottage; the Elders had Notice given them, they resorted thither, and when our Horses were unloaded, and our Goods plac'd in a Corner of the Cottage, which the Chief had allotted us, we gave them to understand, that our Intention was to go farther, to fetch Commodities to trade with them, at which they were pleas'd. pass'd without any Disturbance.

The next Morning the Elders came to us again. They had provided Mats without the Cottage, and made Signs to us to go thither and fit down upon them, as we did, leaving two of our Company to guard the Baggage. We repeated to them what we had faid the Night before, and made them some Presents of Axes, Knives, Strings of Beads and Rings. They signify'd they were forry we would go away, and endeavour'd the best they could, to make us sensible of the same Obstacles the others had signify'd to us; but it was all in Vain; however, vve stay'd till the first of June, all the vvhile bartering and gathering the best Stock of Provisions vve could.

who were to conduct us only a small Way, and who accordingly soon lest us, whatsoever Promises we could make them. They departed to return Home, promising they would come to us again. We encamp'd that Night on the Bank of a Rivulet.

The 14th and 15th, we held on our Way, Bad Ways; frequently meeting with Sloughs, which very much fatigued us, because we were oblig'd to unload our Horses for them to pass, and prevent their sticking in the Mire and fat Soil, whence we could not have drawn them out, and consequently we were fain to carry all our Luggage on our own Backs.

Whilst we halted about Noon, that our Horses might graze, as was usually done by us, we discover'd our two Assony Indians returning towards us, at which we were much rejoiced, because they had a better Notion than ourselves of the Way we were to go. We made them eat and smoke, and then set out again.

The 16th, we came to a great River, which we pass'd as we had done the first, and after that, met with very bad Ways.

The 17th, one of our Company being indispos'd, we could not set out till Noon, and held on till the 21st, crossing several Sloughs and Rivers, and then one of our Indians being out of Order, it oblig'd us to stay on the Bank of a River we had pass'd. The other Indian seeing his Comrade sick, went a Hunting, and brought a wild Goat; for there are many in that Country. The 22d, our Indian being fomewhat recover'd we decamp'd and proceeded along a better Way and pleafanter Country, than that we had left behind, and as we enquir'd the best we could of those our Indians, concerning the Neighbouring Nations and those we were going towards, among others they nam'd to us, that they call'd Cappa. M. Cavelier told us, he remember'd he had heard his late Brother Modieur de la Sale name that Nation, and say he had seen it as he vvent from Canada towards the Missippi. This put us in Hopes, that we should succeed in our Discovery.

Fine Mea.

The 23d, being near a Village, we had been in Search of, one of our Indians went before, to give Notice of our Arrival. In the mean Time vve cross'd most lovely Plains and Meadows, border'd with fine Groves of beautiful Trees, vvhere the Grass vvas so high, that it hinder'd our Horses going, and vve vvere oblig'd to

When we were within Half a League of the Village, we saw an Indian, mounted on a large grey Mare, coming along vvith our Native, to meet us, and were told, that Horseman vvas the Chief of the Village, attended by some others of the same Place. As soon as that Chief came up to us, he express'd very much Kindness and Affection; vve gave him to understand, that vve did no Body any Harm, unless we were first attack'd. Soon after, a Number of them came, and ha- M. Caveving join'd us, fignify'd, that they were come lier and to carry us to their Village. Tho' we were much out of Countenance at that Ceremony, seven of the prime Men among them would have us mount on their Backs or Shoulders. Monsieur Cavelier being our Chief, mounted first, and then the rest did the fame.

As for my own Part, being of a pretty large Size and loaded with Cloaths, a Firelock, a Case of Pistols, Powder and Ball, a Kettle and other Implements, there is no Doubt but I made a sufficient Burden for him that carry'd me, and because I was taller than he and my Feet would have hung upon the Ground, two other Indians held them up for me; so that I had three to carry me. Other Indians took hold of our Horses to lead them, and in that ridiculous Equipage we arriv'd at the Village. Our Carriers, who had gone a long Quarter of a League, had need enough to rest, and we to be set down, that we might laugh in private, for it behov'd us to take Care not to do it before them.

Speeches made to them.

After this second Ceremony, the Chief made Signs to us, to fit down on a Sort of little Scaffold, rais'd about 4 Foot above the Ground, and made of Wood and Canes, where when we were plac'd, the Chiefs of the Villages being four in Number, came and made Speeches to us, one after another. We listned to them with Patience, tho' we understood not one Word of what they faid to us; being tir'd with the Length of their Harangues, and much more with the violent Heat of the Sun, which was just over our Heads.

When the Speeches were ended, the Purport whereof, as near as we could guess, was only to affure us, that we were very welcome; we gave them to understand, that we were going into our own Country, designing to return speedily, to bring them several Sorts of Commodities and fuch Things as they should stand in need of.

Next, we made them the usual Prefents of Axes, Knives, Strings of Beads, Needles and Pins, for their Wives, telling them, that we return'd we would give them when more.

Their Ensertainmens.

We farther fignify'd to them, that if they would afford us some Corn or Meal, we would give them other Things in Exchange, which they agreed to. After this they made us eat Sagamite, or Hasty-pudding, Bread, Beans, Pompions and other Things, which we had sufficient Need

The 24th, the Elders met again in our Cottage. We gave them to understand, they would oblige us, in furnishing Guides to conduct us to the Village of Cappa, which was in our Way; but instead of granting it, they earnestly intreated us, to stay with them and go to the Wars against their Enemies, having been told Wonders of our Firelocks, which we promis'd to do when we return'd, and that it should be shortly, and they seem'd to rest satisfy'd.

Thus our Hopes increas'd, but the Joy it occasion'd was allay'd by a dismal Accident that befell us. Monsieur de Marle, one of the prime Mr. de Men of our Company, having Breakfasted, Marle would needs go Bath himself in the River we drown'd. had pass'd the Day before, and not knowing how to swim, he went too far and step'd into a Hole, whence he could not recover himself, but was unfortunately drowned. Young Monfieur Cavelier, having been told that Monsieur de Marle was going to Bath himself, ran after him, and coming to the River, faw he was drowning, he ran back to acquaint us: hasted thither with a Number of Indians, who were there before us; but all too late, some of them div'd, and brought him up dead from the Bottom of the Water.

Fune 1687 His Fune. 74%.

We carry'd him to the Cottage, shedding many Tears, the Indians bore Part in our Sorrow, and we paid him the last Duties, offering up the usual Prayers; after which he was buryed in a small Field, behind the Cottage; and whereas, during that doleful Ceremony, we pray'd, reading in our Books, particularly Monfieur Cavelier, the Priest and Father Anaftasius, the Indians gaz'd on us with Amazement, because we talk'd, looking upon the Leaves, and we endeavour'd to give them to understand, that we pray'd to God for the dead Man, pointing up to Heaven.

Humanity dians.

We must do this Right to those good Peoof the In- ple, as to declare, that they express'd fingular Humanity upon that doleful Accident, as appear'd by the sensible Testimony of their Actions, and all the Methods they us'd to let us understand how great a Share they bore in our Sorrow; which we should not have found in several Parts of Europe.

Indian Ceremony to

During our short Stay in that Place, we obferv'd a Ceremony that was perform'd by the Chief's Wife, viz. that every Morning she went to Monsieur de Marle's Grave, and carthe Dead. ry'd a little Basket of parch'd Ears of Corn to lay on it, the meaning whereof we could not understand. Before our Departure, we were inform'd, that the Villages belonging to our Hosts, being four in Number, all ally'd together were call'd, Affony, Nathofos, Nachitos and Cadodaquio.

Village call'd Cadodaquio, and were conducted to the Chief's Cottage, who receiv'd us courteoully, being a'Friend to him that went with us It was requisite to unload our Horses to lie there, and we fignified to the Chief, that we flood in Need of Provisions. He spoke to the Women, who brought us some Meal, which we purchased with Strings of Beads, and the Chief who conducted us thither, took his Leave.

Having no Design to stay there any Time we had defired the Chief to appoint some Perfon to guide us to the Village call'd Cahainihoua which was in our Way. It happen'd by good Fortune, that there were then in that Place some Men and Women of the said Village, who who were come to fetch some Wood, fit to make Bows, there being Plenty of that Sort of Trees they make them of, about the Village w were in. We fignify'd our Defign to them and they gave us to understand they would be glad to bear us Company. We observ'd, that there was a Difference between the Language of those People and the Inhabitates of the Village we vvere in, from that of the Cenis, and that they had some peculiar Ceremonies, one whereof is, that when the Women have their Terms, they leave the Company of their Husbands and vvithdraw into other Cottages appointed for that Purpose, which no Person is to come near, upon Pain of being reputed unclean.

Those Women have their Faces still more ornaments disfigur'd, than the others we had feen before; of Women. for they make feveral Streaks, or Scores on them, whereas the others had but one. They adorn themselves with little Locks of fine red Hair : which they make fast to their Ears, in the Nature of Pendants. In other Respects they are not difagreeable, and neither Women nor Maids are so ill-natur'd as to make their Lovers pine for them. They are not difficult of Access. and they foon make a Return for a small Prefent.

The Men wear their Hair short, like our Capucins, they anoint it with a Sort of Oyl, or Greafe, and curl it like Snails, after which they strew on it a Sort of Down, or Lint, died red, as we do Powder, which is done when they defign to be very fine, in order to appear in their Assemblies. They are very fond of their Children, and all the Way of chastifing them they use, is to throw Water at them, without ever beating or giving them ill Words.

The Indians that were of the Village of Cohainihous and to conduct us thither, not being ready to set out on Wednesday the 2d of July, as they had promis'd, a young Indian offer'd himself, saying, he would conduct us safe thither, and we set out with him, still directing our Course towards the N. E. We kept close along the same River we had cross'd, and sound it very pleasant and navigable, the Banks of it cover'd with sine Trees of several Sorts.

We had not travell'd above a League, before our Guide gave us to understand, that he had forgot a Piece of hard dry'd Skin he had to make him Shoes, which he would go fetch and return to us, pointing to us with his Hand, which Way we were to go, and telling us we should soon come to a River.

This sudden Change in the Indian was somewhat surprizing and very much perplex'd us; however we held on our Way, and soon came to the River he had mention'd to us, which was very pleasant and deep. We cross'd it the next Day, on a Sort of Float, which we made with much Toil and Labour, and our Horses swam over. Some Time after we were passed, we saw the Indians coming, who had promised to bear us Company, and were glad to find our Float, to cross the same River, as they did, and proceeded on our Journey all together.

The 4th, 5th and 6th, we did the fame, crossing a very fine Country, but water'd by many Brooks, Streams and Rivers. We found Abundance of wild Goats, Turkeys and other wild Fowl, whereof our Indians kill'd many.

On the 6th, whilst we halted on the Bank of a River to eat, we heard the Tingling of some small

He made Signs for us to come to him, and gave us to understand, that he was fent by the Elders of the Village, whither we were going. to meet us, carefling us after an extraordinary Manner. I observ'd that it was a Spanish Blade he had, and that he took Pleasure in ringing the Hawks Bells.

Having travell'd about half a League with him. we discover'd a Dozen of other Indians coming Kind Retowards us, who made very much of and con-ception. ducted us to the Village, to the Chief's Cottage, where we found dry'd Bear-Skins laid on the Ground, and they made us fit on them, where we were treated with Eatables, as were the Elders after us, and a Throng of Women came to fee us.

The 7th, the Elders came to give us a Visit, bringing us two Bullocks Hides, four Otters Skins, Presents. one white Wild-Goat's Skin, all of them vvell dry'd, and 4 Bows, in Return for the Present we had before made them. The Chief and another came again some Time after, bringing two Loaves, the finest and the best we had yet seen. They look'd as if they had been bak'd in an Oven, and yet we had not observ'd, that there were Ovens among any of them. That Chief stay'd with us some Hours, he seem'd to be very ingenious and discreet, and easily understood our Signs, which were most of the Language vve had. Having order'd a little Boy to bring us all vye had Occasion for, he vvithdrevv.

The Ceremony of the Pipe.

Towards the Evening, we were entertain'd with a Ceremony we had not feen before. A Company of Elders, attended by some young Men and Women came to our Cottage in a Body. finging as loud as they could roar. The foremost of them had a Calumet, so they call a very long Sort of Tabacco Pipe, adorn'd with feveral Sorts of Feathers. When they had fung a vvhile, before our Cottage, they enter'd it, still finging on, for about a Quarter of an Hour. After that, they took Monfieur Cavelier the Priest, as being our Chief, led him in solemn Manner out of the Cottage, supporting him under the Arms. When they were come to a Place they had prepared, one of them laid a great Handful of Grass on his Feet, two others brought fair Water in an Barthen Dish, with which they wash'd his Face, and then made him fit down on a Skin, provided for that Purpole.

When Monsieur Cavelier was seated, the Elders took their Places, sitting round about him, and the Master of the Geremonies fix'd in the Ground two little wooden Forks, and having laid a Stick across them, all being painted red, he placed on them a Bullock's Hide, dryed, a Goat's Skin over that, and then laid the Pipe thereon.

The Song was begun again, the Women mixing in the Chorus, and the Concert was heightned by great hollow Calabashes or Gourds, in which there were large Gravel Stones, to make a Noise, the Indians striking on them by Measure, to answer the Tone of the Choir; and the pleasantest of all was, that one of the Indians plac'd himself behind Monsieur Gavelier to hold him

That Concert was scarce ended, when the Master of the Ceremonies brought two Maids, the one having in her Hand a Sort of Collar, and the other an Otter's Skin, which they plac'd on the wooden Forks abovemention'd, at the Ends of the Pipe. Then he made them sit down, on each Side of Monsieur Covelier, in such a Posture, that they look'd one upon the other, their Legs extended and intermix'd, on which the same Master of the Ceremonies laid Monsieur Covelier's Legs, in such Manner, that they lay uppermost and across those of the two Maids.

Whilf this Action was performing, one of the Elders made falt a dy'd Feather to the back. Part of Monfieur Cavelier's Head, tying it to his Hair. The Singing still continu'd all that Time, so that Monfieur Cavelier grown weaty of its Tedionspels, and asham'd to see himself in that Posture between two Maids, without knowing to what Purpose, made Signs to us to signify the same to the Chief, and having given him to understand, that he was not well, two of the Indians immediately took hold of him under the Arms, conducted him back to the Cottage and made Signs to him to take his Rest. This was about Nine in the Evening, and the Indians spent all the Night in Singing, insomuch that some of them could hold out no longer.

In the Morning they return'd to Monfieur Cavelier, conducted him again out of the Cottage, with the same Ceremony and made him it down, still singing on. Then the Master of the Ceremonies took the Pipe, which he fill d

About Nine in the Morning, the Sun growing very hot, and Monsieur Cavelier being bare Headed, made Signs that it did him Harm. Then at last they gave over finging, and conducted him back into the Cottage, took the Pipe, put it into a Case, made of a Wild-Goat's Skin, with the two wooden Forks and the red Stick that lay across them, all which one of the Elders offer'd to Monsieur Cavelier, assuring him that he might pass thro' all the Nations that were ally'd to them by Virtue of that Token of Peace, and should be every where well receiv'd. We then made no longer Question, that we were near what we had been so long looking after. We entreated the Elders to appoint some Men to conduct us. promising to reward them well, which they granted, and we fet out the 11th, to the great Sorrew of those good People, who had entertain'd us so courteously.

cultivated by the Inhabitants. They fow but little of our Wheat, and are satisfied with Indian Corn and Caffabi Root, whereof they make Cakes, as is practis'd in the Islands. Their Trees and Fruits are the same as in other hot Countries. About the Town of Veracruz, there are Bushes of a Sort of Thorn, without Leaves, among which grows an extraordinary Plant; for tho' it has but a small Stem, it shoots out Leaves of a Cabbage Green, as thick as a Man's Finger, which grow out, one at the End of another, in the Shape of a Racket, and the Plant itself is so call'd. From those Leaves there grows out a Sort of red Figs, very juicy, with Seeds like those of the Pomgranate; the Juice is of a Violet Colour, but unfavoury. There is a Sort of Flies that cleave to it and are so fond of the Taste of the Fruit, that they burst and drop down dead. They are carefully gather'd and dry'd, and are the Scarlet Dye, call'd Cochinilla, which is brought into Europe, and makes that beautiful Coloar. The Birds and Beafts are much the same as in other Countries of America. There is a Sort of Bird, all red, which for that Reason is call'd the Cardinal; this they often tame and teach to fing like a Canary Bird. This is what I have been told concerning the Town of Veracruz.

As for the Havana, a Town and Port no less famous, in the Island of Cuba, belonging as well as the other to the Crown of Spain, it stands towards the Western End, and on the North Side of that Island, almost under the Tropick of Cancer, and about four or five hundred Leagues on this Side of Veracruz. It is large and beautiful; the Port good, secur'd by two Forts on the two Sides, and Brass Guns, from twenty four to thirty fix Pounders, the Entrance fo narrow, that only one .Vessel can go in at once. The Town is encompass'd by a good Wall, fortify'd with five Bastions, furnish'd with Cannon. The Streets are all as strait as a Line, and level, the Houses very handsome, but ill farnish'd. the Midst of it is a fine Square, the Buildings about all uniform. The Churches are magnificent, and enrich'd with Gold and Silver, Lamps, Candlesticks, and Ornaments for the Altars. There are some Lamps curiously wrought, which weigh two hundred Marks of Silver, each Mark being half a Pound. The Revenue of the Bishoprick amounts to fifty thoufand Crowns, and he who enjoy'd it in the Year 1703, as I was inform'd by my Friend. who gave me this Account of what he had feen, was the greatest Ornament of that City, for his Virtues and Charity, being fatisfy'd with Necessaries, and spending all the rest upon the Poor, and in repairing decay'd Churches. Tho' Strangers are prohibited to trade there, yet it is easier carried on than at Veracruz. The Inhabitants are more familiar; the Women have more Liberty, yet they do not go Abroad without their Veils to wrap and hide them. Many of them speak French, and dress after the French Fashion, and some of our Nation have settled themselves there. When my Briend was there, a magnificent Festival was celebrated for fifteen Days successively, in Honour of K. Philip the Fifth, and Monsieur du Casse being then there, with his Squadron, the City desir'd him to join with them. To that Purpose, he set favory. The Inhabitants are Spaniards.

We have thought fit to describe those two famous Ports of the Bay of Mexico, as well because it has not been so exactly done before, as in Regard that the Settlement which is going to be made in Louisiana, may have some Dependance on them; for the Havana lying in the Way, those who perform the Voyage may have the Conveniency of taking in Resreshments there, of putting in for Shelter in soul Weather, and of careening or resitting. As for the Veracruz, tho' farther out of the Way, the Correspondence there may be advantagious for the Securing of the Colony of Louisiana.

the Securing of the Colony of Louisiana. But how can that fail of succeeding, under the Conduct of Monlieur Crozat, who has the Charge of that Enterprize, and whom Providence feems to have in a Manner ingag'd to advance in Wealth and Honour, to the Amazement of the World, and yet free from Envy, from Jealoufy, and from any Sort of Complaints. There is therefore no Reason to presage otherwife than well of the Event of this Affair; the Bleffings God has pour'd down upon all his former Undertakings, seem to be a Security for what is to follow. There is Reason to hope for still greater Blellings on this Project of a Settlement in Louisiana, as being equally advantagious to Religion and the State; for the pro-

nagating of the Knowledge and Service of God

among an infinite Number of Savages, by Means of the Missioners, who are to be sent to and maintain'd in those vast Countries; the Planting of the Faith in that new World, only the Name whereof is known to us, and the Reducing of it to be a Christian and a French Province, under the Dominion of our August Monarch, and to the eternal Memory of his Reign, will be the Consequences and the Fruits of Monsieur Crozat's Care and Expence, the Glory of his Enterprize, the Security of the large Fortune he has made in this Life, and what is rare among such rich Men, the Earnest of much better in the Next. Heaven grant our Hopes and Wishes may be answer'd.

The Letters Patent granted by the King of France to M. Crozat.

France and Navarre: To all who shall see these present Letters, Greeting. The Care we have always had to procure the Welfare and Advantage of our Subjects having induced us, notwithstanding the almost continual Wars which we have been obliged to support from the Beginning of our Reign, to seek for all possible Opportunities of enlarging and extending the Trade of our American Colonies, We did in the Year 1683 give our Orders into NORTH AMERICA.

to undertake a Discovery of the Countries and Lands which are situated in the Nothern Part of America, between New France and New Mexico: And the Sieur de la Sile, to whom we committed that Enterprize, having had Success enough to confirm a Belief that a Communication might be settled from New France to the Gulph of Mexico by Means of large Rivers; This obliged us immediately after the Peace of Ryswick to give Orders for the establishing a Colony there, and maint aining a Garrison which has kept and preserved the Possession, we had taken in the very Year 1683 of the Lands, Coasts and Mands which are situated in the Gulph of Mexico, between Carolina on the East, and Old and New Mexico on the West. But a new War having broke out in Europe shortly after, there was no Possibility, till now, of reaping from that new Colony the Advantages that might have been expected from thence, because the private Men, who are concerned in the Sea Trade, were all under Engagements with other Colonies, which they have been obliged to follow: And whereas upon the Information we have received concerning the Disposition and Situation of the said Countries known at present by the Name of the Province la Louisiana, we are of Opinion that there may be established therein a considerable Commerce, so much the more advantageous to our. Kingdom in that there has hitherto been a Necessity of fetching from Foreigners the greatest Part of the Commodities which may be brought from thence, and because in Exchange thereof we need carry thither nothing

o feek arging terican Orders ed to grant the Commerce of the Country of Louisiana to the Sient Authory Crozat our Councellor, Secretary of the Houshold, Crown and Revenue, to whom we entrust the Execution of this Project. We are the more readily inclined hereunto, because his Zeal and the singular Knowledge he has acquired in maritime Commerce, encourage us to hope for as good Success as he has hitherto had in the divers and sundry Enterprizes he has gone upon, and which have procured to our Kingdom great Quantities of Gold and Silver in such Conjunctures as have rendred them very welcome to us.

FOR THESE REASONS being desirous to shew our Favour to him, and to regulate the Conditions upon which we mean to grant him the faid Commerce, after having deliberated this Affair in our Council, Of our certain Knowledge, full Power and Royal Authority, We by these Presents signed by our Hand, have appointed and do appoint the faid Sieur Crozat solely to carry on a Trade in all the Lands possessed by Us, and bounded by New Mexico, and by the Lands of the English of Carolina, all the Establishment, Ports, Havens, Rivers, and principally the Port and Haven of the Isle Dauphine, beretofore called Massacre; the River of St. Lewis, heretofore called Missisipi, from the Edge of the Sea as far as the Minois; together with the River of St. Philip, heretofore called the Missourys, and of St. Jerome, heretofore called Ovabache, with all the Countries, Territories, Lakes within Land, and the Rivers which sfall directly or indirectly into that Part of the River of St. Lewis.

The ARTICLES.

I. Our Pleasure is, that all the aforesaid Lands, Countries Streams, Rivers and Islands be and remain comprised under the Name of The Government of Louisiana, which shall be dependant upon the General Government of New France, to which it is subordinate; and surther, that all the Lands which we possess from the Islinois be united, so far as Occasion requires, to the General Government of New France, and become Part thereof, reserving however to Ourselves the Liberty of enlarging as We shall think sit the Extent of the Government of the said Country of Louisiana.

II. We grant to the said Sieur Crozat for Fifteen successive Years, to be reckon'd from the Day of Inrolling these presents, a Right and Power to tre sport all Sorts of Goods and Merchandize from France into the faid Country of Louisiana, and to traffick thither as he shall think fit. We forbid all and every Person and Persons, Company and Companies of what Quality or Condition foever, and under any Pretence whatever, to trade thither, under Penalty of Confiscation of Goods, Ships, and other more severe Punishments, as Occasion shall require; for this Purpose we order our Governours and other Officers commanding our Troops in the faidCountry forcibly to abet, aid and affift the Directors and Agents of the faid Sieur Crozat.

III. We permit him to fearch for, open and dig all Sorts of Mines, Veins and Minerals throughout the whole Extent of the faid Country of Louisiana, and to transport the Profits thereof into any Port of France during the faid

IX. We will cause to be deliver'd out of our Magazines to the said Sieur Crozas, 10000 Weight of Gunpowder every Year, which he shall pay us for at the Price that it shall cost us, and this for so long Time as the present

Privilege shall last.

X. The Wares and Merchandize which the faid Sieur Crozat shall consign to the said Country of Louisiana shall be exempt from all Duties of Exportation, laid or to be laid, on Condition, that his Directors, Deputies or Clerks, shall engage to give within the Space of a Year, to be reckon'd from the Date thereof, a Certificate of their Unlading in the said Country of Louisiana; under Penalty, in Case of Contravention, to pay the Quadruple of the Duties, referving to our selves the Power of giving him a longer Respite in such Cases and Occurrences as we shall think proper.

XI. And as for the Goods and Merchandize, which the Sieur Crozat shall cause to be brought from the faid Country of Louisiana, and upon his Account, into the Ports of our Kingdom, and shall afterwards cause to be transported into Foreign Countries, they shall pay no Duties either of Importation or Exportation, and shall be deposited in the Custom-House, Warehouses of Ports where they shall arrive, until they be taken away; and when the Deputies and Clerks of the faid Sieur Crozat shall be minded to cause them to be transported in-Foreign Countries, either by Sea or Land, they shall be oblig'd to give Security to bring within a certain Time, a Certificate from the iast last Office, containing what they Exported there, and another Certificate of their unlading in Foreign Countries.

XII. In Case the said Sieur Crozas be obliged. for the furtherance of his Commerce to fetch from Foreign Countries some Goods and Merchandize of Foreign Manufacture, in order to TRANSPORT them into the faid Country of Louisiana. He shall make Us Acquainted therewith, and lay before Us States thereof; apon which we, if we think fit, will Grant him our Particular Permission with Exemptions from all Duties of Importation and Exportation, Provided the said Goods and Merchandize be Deposited afterwards in our Custom-house Ware-houses until they be Laden in the Ships of the said Sieur Crozat, who shall he obliged to bring in one Year, to be reckoned from the Day of the Date hereof, a Certificate of their unlading in the faid Country of Louisiana, under Penalty, in Case of Contravention, to pay quadruple the Duties: Reserving to our selves, in like Manner, the Liberty of granting to the faid Sieur Crozat, a a longer Respite, if it be necessary.

XIII. The Feluccaes, Canoes, and other Veffels belonging to us, and which are in the faid Country of Louisana, shall serve for loading, unloading and transporting the Effects of the said Sieur Crozat, who shall be bound to keep them in good Condition, and after the Expiration of the said Fifteen Years shall restore them, or a like Number of equal Bulk and Goodneis, to our Governor in the faid Country.

We proceeded on, continually undergoing the fame Toil, till the Seventh, when, we faw the first Bullock, we had met on our Way, since our coming among the Accancea's. The Indians, who had a great Mind to eat Flesh, made a Sign to me, to go kill it. I pursu'd and Shot, but it did not fall, the Indians ran after, kill'd, and came to tell us it must be parch'd, or dry'd, which was accordingly done. I must here take Notice of a Ceremony our Indians persorm'd, when they came near the Bullock, before they

In the first Place, they adorn'd his Head with some Swans and Bustards Bown, dy'd red, and put some Tabacco into his Nostrils, and between the Clefts of the Hoofs. When they had flead him, they cut out the Tongue, and put a Bit of Tabacco into its Place; then they stuck two Wooden Forks into the Ground, laid a Stick across them, on which they plac'd several Slices of the Flesh, in the Nature of an Offering. The Ceremony being ended, we parch'd or dry'd the best Parts of the Beast and proceeded on our journey.

We held on our Way till the 14th, vvhen vve met a Herd of Bullocks, whereof we kill'd five, dry'd Part of them, and proceeded till the 18th.

The 19th, we came to the Mouth of the River, call'd Housbache, faid to come from the che River. Country of the Iroqueis, towards New England. That is a very fine River, its Water extraordinary clear, and the Current of it, gentle. Our Indians offer'd up to it, by Way of Sacrifice, some Tabacco and Beef Steaks, which they fix'd on Forks, and left them on the Bank, to be difpos'd of as the River thought fit. We observ'd fome other Superstitions among these poor People, one whereof was as follows.

There were some certain Days, on which Indian they Fasted, and we knew them, when assoon Fast. as they awak'd, they befmear'd their Faces and Arms, or other Parts of their Bodies, with a .. flimy Sort of Barth, or pounded Charcoal; for that Day they did not eat till Ten or Eleven of the Clock at Night, and before they did eat they were to vvipe off that Smearing, and had Water brought them for that Purpole. The Occasion of their Fasting was, as they gave us to understand, that they might have good Success in Hunting, and kill Abundance of Bula locks

We held on our Way till the 25th, when the Indians shew'd us a Spring of Salt Water, salt Water within a Musket Shot of us, and made us go Spring. ashore to view it. We observ'd the Ground M 2

Aug. 1687 about it was much beaten by Bullocks Feet, and it is likely they love that Salt Water. The Country about, was full of Hillocks, cover'd vvith Oaks and Wallnut-Trees, Abundance of Plum-Trees, almost all the Plums red and pretty good, besides great Store of other Sorts of Fruits, whose Names vve know not, and among them one shap'd like a midling Pear, with Stones in it as big as large Beans. When ripe it peels like a Peach, the Taste is indifferent good, but rather of the Sweetest.

> The 27th, having discover'd a Herd of Beeves, we went ashore to kill some; I shot a Heifer, which was very good Meat, we put a Board the best of it, and held on our Way till the Evening, when we encamp'd on an Island, where we observ'd an Alteration in the Humour and Behaviour of our Indians. This put us under some Apprehension, and the more, for that he who was reckon'd an Hermaphrodite, told us, they intended to leave us, which oblig'd us to fecure our Arms and double our Watch during the Night, for Fear they should for sake us.

With that Jealousy we proceeded on our Journey the 28th and 29th, coasting along the Foot of an upright Rock, about fixty, or eighty Foot high, round which the River glides. Held on the 30th and 31st, and the first of September pass'd by the Mouth of a River call'd Misfouris, whose Water is always thick, and to which our Indians did not forget to offer Sacrifice.

However our Indians paid Homage, by offering Sacrifice to that Stone; tho' we "endeavour'd to give them to understand, that the said Rock had no Manner of Virtue, and that we worship'd something above it, pointing up to Heaven; but it was to no Purpose, and they made Signs to us, that they should die if they did not perform that Duty. We proceeded, coasting along a Chain of Mountains, and at length, on the 3d, left River of the Missipi, to enter the River of the Ili- thellinois nois.

We found a great Alteration in that River as well with Respect to its Course, which is very gentle, as to the Country about it, which is much more agreeable and beautiful than that about the great River, by Reason of the many fine Woods and Variety of Fruit its Banks are adorn'd with. It was a very great Comfort to us, to find so much Ease in going up that River, by Reason of its gentle Stream, so that we all ftay'd in the Canoe and made much more Way.

Thus we went on till the 8th, without stopping dies of catany longer than to kill a Bullock, and one of ing ram our Indians, who had a craving Stomach, having Suct. eaten some of its Suet hot and raw, was taken very ill, and died of it, as I shall mention in its Place. 101 11 11

The 10th, we cross'd another Lake, call'd Primitehouy, re-Terna turn'd to the River, and the 11th, faw Bidians before us, incamp'd on the Bank of a River, whereupon we ftop'd and made ready our Arms. In the mean Time, one of them came towards us by Land, and we put on our Cange towards him.

Meeting with Iffinois.

When that Indian was near, he flood gazing on us, without speaking a Word, and then drawing still nearer, we gave him to understand, that we were fent by Monfieur de la Sale, and came from him: Then he made Signs to us, to advance towards his People, whom, he went before to acquaint with what we had faid to him, so that when we were come near them they fired several Shot to falute us, and we anfwer'd them with our Firelocks.

After that mutural Salutation, they came into our Canoe, to fignify, they were glad to hear News of Monsieur de la Sale. We ask'd them; What Nation they were of; they answer'd. They were Islineis, of a Canton call'd Cascasquia. We enquir'd vehether Monsieur Tonty was at Fort Lewis; they gave us to understand, that he was not, but that he was gone to the War against the Inoquois. They invited us Ashore, to go with them to eat of such as they had, we thank'd them, and they brought us some Gourds and Water Melons, in Exchange for which, we gave them some parch'd i consignation and and Flesh. On Sunday, the 14th of September, about two Fors Lewin the Afternoon, we came into the Neigh- is among bourhood of Fort Lewis. Drawing near, we the Illinois were met by fome Indians that were on the Bank, who having view'd us well, and understanding we came from Monst. de la Sale, and that we belong'd to him, ran to the Fort to carry the News, and immediately we faw a French Man come out, with a Company of Indians, who fir'd a Volley of several Pieces, to falute us. Then the French Man drew near, and defir'd as to come Ashore, which we did, leaving only one in the Canoe, to take Care of our Baggage; for the Islinois are very sharp at carrying off any thing they can lay their Hands on, and confequently, nothing near fo honest as the Nations we had pass'd thro'.

We all walk'd together towards the Fort, and found three French Men coming to meet us, and among them a Clerk, who had belong'd to Arrival as the late Monfr. de la Sale. They immediately FortLewis ask'd us, where Monfr. de la Sale was, we told them, he had brought us Part of the Way, and left us at a Place about forty Leagues beyond the Cenis, and that he was then in good Health. All that was true enough; for Monfr, Cavelier and I, who were the Persons, that then spoke, were not present at-Monst. de la Sale's Death;

sept. 1687 he was in good Health when he left us, and I have told the Reasons we had for concealing his Death, till we came into France.

> It is no less true, that Father Anastasius, and he they called Teiser, could have given a better Account, the one as an Ere Witness. and the other, as one of the Murderers, and they were both with us; but to avoid lying, they said Nothing. We farther told them, we had Orders to go over into France, to give an Account of the Discoveries made by Monsieur de la Sale, and to procure the sending of Succours.

At length, we enter'd the Fort, where we found and furpriz'd several Persons who did not expect us. All the French were under Arms Reception. and made several Discharges to welcome us. Monsieur de Belle Fontaine Lieutenant to Monsr. Tonty, was at the Head of them and complimented us. Then we were conducted to the Chappel, where we return'd Thanks to God, from the Bottom of our Hearts, for having preserv'd and conducted us in Sasety; after which we had our Lodgings assign'd us, Monsr. Cavelier and Father Anastasius had one Chamber, and we were put into the Magazine, or Ware-house. All this While, the Natives came by Intervals, to fire their Pieces, to express their loy for our Return, and for the News we brought of Monsieur de la Sale, which refresh'd our Sorrow for his Misfortune; perceiving that his Presence would have settled all Things advantageously.

The Day after our Arrival, one of the Indians, who had conducted us, having been fick ever fince he eat the raw Beef Suet, I mention'd before, died, and his Companions took away

As far as we could gather by half Words dropp'd there by one or other at the Fort. Something had been done there prejudicial to the Service of Monfr. de la Sale, and against his Authority, and therefore some dreaded his Return, but more especially a Jesuit was in great Consternation. He was fick, Monsieur Cavelier, Father Anastasius and I went to visit him. He enquired very particularly of all Points, and could not conceal his Trouble, which we would not feem to take Notice of.

Our Design being to make the best of our Way to Canada, in Order to set out Aboard the first French Ships that should Sail for France, we enquired how we were to proceed, and met with several Difficulties. The Navigation on that River was very dangerous, by Reason of Falls in the the Falls there are in it, which must be carefully avoided, unless a Man will run an inevitable Hazard of perishing. There were few Persons capable of managing that Affair, and the War with the Iroquois made all Men afraid.

However the Sieur Boisrondet, Clerk to the late Monfr. de la Sale, having told us he had a Canoe, in which he defign'd to go down. to Canada, we prepared to make use of that Opportunity. Care was taken to gather Provisions

Sept. 1687 visions for our Voyage, to get Furs to barter as we pass'd by Micilimaquinay. The Visits of two Chiefs of Nations, call'd Cascasquia Pereneria and Cacabonanous discover'd by the late Monsieur de la Sale, did not interrupt our Affairs, and all shings being got ready, we took Leave of those we left in the Fort. Monsieur Cavelier Writ a Letter for Monsieur Toney, which he left there to be delivered to him, and we repair'd to the Lake to imbark.

It would be needless to relate all the Troubles and Hardships we met with, in that Journey, it was painful and fruitless, for having gone to the Bank of the Lake, in very foul Weather, after waiting there five Days, for that M. Cave- foul Weather to cease, and after we had imbark'd, notwithstanding the Storm, we were oblig'd to put Amore again, to return to the Place where we had imbark'd, and there to dig a Hole in the Earth, to bury our Baggage and Provisions, to fave the Trouble of carrying them back to Fort Lewis, whither we return'd and arrived there the 7th of October; where they were furprized to fee us come

> Thus were we oblig'd to continue in that Fort all the rest of Autumn and Part of the Winter, to our great Sorrow, and not for much for our own Disappointment, as for being, by that Means, obstructed from sending of Succours, as foon as we had expected, as well to the said Fort, as to those French of our own Company, whom we had left on the Coast of the Bay of Mexico,

It was then the good Season for shooting. oa. 1687 Those Gentlemen at the Fort had secur'd two good Indian Sportsmen, who never let us want for Wild Fowl of all Sorts; besides we had good Bread, and as good Fruit, and had there been any Thing to drink besides Water, we had far'd well. The Leifure we had during our Stay there, gave me an Opportunity of making the following Remarks, as well of my own Obfervation, as what I learn'd of the French refiding there.

Fort Lewis is in the Country of the Islinois and feated on a freep Rock, about two hundred peferip.

Foot high, the River running at the Bottom of Lewis and

it. It is only fortified with Statement Bottom of Lewis and it. It is only fortified with Stakes and Palisades, the Country and some Houses advancing to the Edge of the about it. Rock. It has a very spacious Esplanade, or Place of Arms. The Place is naturally strong, and might be made for by Art, with little Expence. Several of the Natives live in it, in their Hots. I cannot give an Account of the Latitude it stands in, for Want of proper Instruments to take an Observation, but Nothing can be pleasanter; and it may be truly affirm'd, that the Country of the Islanois enjoys all that can make it accomplished, not only as to Ornament, but also for its plentiful Production of all Things requilite for the Support of human Life.

The Plain, which is water'd by the River, is beautified by two small Hills, about half a League distant from the Fort, and those Hills are cover'd with Groves of Oaks, Walnut-Trees and other Sorts I have named elifewhere. The Fields are full of Grass, growing up very Lime and high. On the Sides of the Hills is found a Clay for gravelly Bricks, &c.

It

0a. 1687 gravelly Sort of Stone, very fit to make Lime for Building. There are also many Clay Pits, fit for making of Earthen Ware, Bricks and Tiles, and along the River there are Coal Pits. the Coal whereof has been try'd and found very good.

Mines.

Produtt.

There is no Reason to question, but that there are in this Country, Mines of all Sorts of Metals, and of the richest, the Climate being the same as that of New Mexico. We saw several Spots, where it appeared there were Iron Mines, and found some Pieces of it on the Bank of the River, which Nature had cleanfed. Travellers who have been at the upper Part of the Missispi, affirm they have found Mines

there, of very good Lead.

That Country is one of the most temperate in the World, and consequently whatsoever is fow'd there, whether Herbs, Roots, Indian, and even European Corn thrives very well, as has been try'd by the Sieur Baifrondet, who fow'd of all Sorts, and had a plentiful Crop, and we eat of the Bread, which was very good. And whereas we were affured, that there were Vines which run up, whose Grapes are very good and delicious, growing along the River, it is reasonable to believe, that if those Vines were transplanted and pron'd, there might be very good Wine made of them. There is also Plenty of wild Apple and Pear Trees, and of ieveral other Sorts, which would afford excellent Fruit, were they grafted and transplanted.

All other Sorts of Fruit, as Plumbs, Peaches and others, wherewith the Country abounds, would become exquisite, if the same Industry were

As for the Manners and Customs of the Isli- Manners nois, in many Particulars they are the same as stoms of those of the other Nations we have seen. are to carry very far to their Dwellings, and

The Islinois have but few Children, and are Children: extreamly fond of them; it is the Custom among them, as well as others I have mentioned, never to chide, or beat them, but only to throw Water at them, by Way of Chastisement.

The Nations we have spoken of before, are Thieving. not at all, or very little, addicted to Thieving; but it is not so with the Islinois, and it behoves every Man to watch their Feet as well as their Hands, for they know how to turn any Thing out of the Way most dexterously. They are subject to the general Vice of all the other Indians, which is to boast very much of their Warlike

08. 1687. Warlike Exploits, and that is the main Subject of their Discourse, and they are very great Lyars.

Care of the Dead.

They pay a Respect to their Dead, as appears by their special Care of burying them, and even of putting into lofty Coffias the Bodies of fuch as are considerable among them, as their Chiefs and others, which is also practifed among the Accancea's, but they differ in this Particular, that the Accancea's weep and make their Complaints for some Days, whereas the Chahouseness and other People of the Islinois Nation do just the Contrary; for when any of them die, they wrap them up in Skins, and then put them into Coffins made of the Barks of Trees, then fing and dance about them for twenty four Those Dancers take Care to tie Calabashes, or Gourds about their Bodies, with some Indian Wheat in them, to rattle and make a Noise, and some of them have a Drum, made of a great Earthen Pot, on which they extend a wild Goat's Skin, and beat thereon with one Stick, like our Tabors.

Prefents to the Dead.

During that Rejoicing, they throw their Prefents on the Coffin, as Bracelets, Pendants, or Pieces of Earthen Ware, and Strings of Beads, encouraging the Singers to perform their Duty well. If any Friend happens to come thither at that Time, he immediately throws down his Prefent and falls a finging and dancing like the rest. When that Ceremony is over, they bury the Body, with Part of the Presents, making choice of fuch as may be most proper for it. They also bury with it, some Store of Indian Wheat, with a Pot to boil it in, for fear the dead Person should be hungry on his long Journey; and they repeat the same Ceremony at the oa. 1687. Year's End.

A good Number of Presents still remaining, Game of they divide them into several Lots, and play at the sint. a Game, call'd of the Stick, to give them to the Winner. That Game is play'd, taking a short Stick, very smooth and greas'd, that it may be the Harder to hold it fast. One of the Biders throws that Stick as far as he can, the young Men run after it, snatch it from each other. and at last, he who remains possess'd of it, has the first Lot. The Stick is then thrown again. he who keeps it then has the second Lot, and so on to the End. The Women, whose Husbands have been sain in War, often perform the same Ceremony, and treat the Singers and Dancers whom they have before invited.

The Marriages of the Islinois last no longer, Marriages than the Parties agree together; for they freely part after a Hunting Bout, each going which Way they please, without any Ceremony. However, the Men are jealous enough of their Wives, and when they catch them in a Fault, they generally cut of their Noses, and I saw one who had been so serv'd.

Nevertheless, Adultery is not reckon'd any Adultery. great Crime among them, and there are Women who make no Secret of having had to do with French Men. Yet are they not fufficiently addicted to that Vice to offer themselves, and they never fall, unless they are sued to, when, they are none of the most difficult in the World to be prevail'd on. The rest I leave to those who have liv'd longer there than I.

How the Travellers liv'd.

We continu'd some Time in Fort Lewis, without receiving any News. Our Business was, after having heard Mass, which we had the good Fortune to do every Day, to divert our selves the best we could. The Indian Women daily brought in something fresh, we wanted not for Water Melons, Bread made of Indian Corn, bak'd in the Embers, and other such Things, and we rewarded them with little Prefents in Return.

M. Tonty comes so Fort Le. Wif.

War with the Iro. quois.

On the 27th of October, of the same Year, Monsieur Tonty return'd from the War with the Iroquois. Our Embraces and the Relation of our Adventures were again repeated; but still concealing from him, the Death of Monsieur de la Sale. He told us all the Particulars of that War, and faid, That the Iroquois having got Intelligence of the March of the French Forces and their Allies, had all come out of their Villages and laid themselves in Ambush by the Way; but that having made a sudden and general Discharge upon our Men, with their usual Cries, yet without much Harm done, they had been repuls'd with Loss, took their Flight, and by the Way burnt all their own Villages. That Monsieur d' Hennonville, chief Governor of New France, had caus'd the Army to march, to burn the rest of their Villages, fet Fire to their Country and Corn, but would not proceed any farther. That afterwards he had made himself Master of several Canoes belonging to the English, most of them laden with Brandy, which had been plunder'd; that the English had been sent Prisoners to Montreal, they being come to make some Attempt upon the Islinois,

We continued after this Manner, till the Dec. 1687. Month of December, when two Men arrived, They came to from Montreal. Notice to Monfr. Tony, that three Canoes, laden with Merchandize, Powder, Ball and other Things, were arriv'd at Chicagon, that there being too little Water in the River, and what there was being frozen, they could come down no lower; so that it being requisite to send Men to fetch those Things, Monfr. Tonty defir'd the Chief of the Chabenanous to furnish him with People. That Chief accordingly provided forty, as well Men as Women, who fet out with some French Men. The Honesty of the Chabouanous was the Reason of preferring them before the Islineis, who are naturally Knaves.

That Ammunition and the Merchandize were Feb. 1688. foon brought, and very feafonably, the Fort being then in Want. We stay'd there till the End of February, 1688, at which Time we fix'd our Resolution to depart, tho' we had no News from Canada, as we expected. We found there were some Canoes ready , to take that Voyage, and we laid hold of that Opportunity to convoy each other to the Micilimaquinay, where we hop'd to meet some News from Canada.

Monsieur Cavelier the Priest, had taken Care, before the Death of M. de la Sale, his Brother, to get of him a Letter of Credit, to receive either a Sum of Money or Furs in the Country of the Islinois. He tender'd that Letter to M. Tonty, who believing M. de la Sale was still alive, made no Difficulty of giving him to the Value of about 4000 Livres in Furs, Castors and Otter Skins, a Canoe and other Effects, for which, the faid

We

Mar. 1688 Monfr. Cavelier gave him his Note, and we prepar'd for our Journey.

I have before observed, that there was a Jefuit, whose Name was Dalouez at Fort Lewis, and who had been very much surpriz'd to hear that Monfr. de la Sale was to come in a short Time, being under great Apprehensions on Account of a Conspiracy intended to have been carry'd on, against Monfr. de la Sale's Interest. That Father perceiving our Departure was fix'd, mov'd first, and went away foremost, to return to Micilimaquinay; fo that they were left without a Priest at Fort Lewis, which was a great Trouble to us, because we were the Occasion of it, and therefore those, who were to remain in the Fort, anticipated the Time, and made their Easter, taking the Advantage of the Presence of F. Anastasius and M. Cavelier.

The Travel continue d.

... At length, vve set out the 21th of March, from Fort Lewis. The Sieur Boisrondet, who was desirous to return to France, join'd us, we imbark'd on the River, which was then become navigable, and before we had advanc'd five Leagues, met with a rapid Stream, which oblig'd us to go Ashore, and then again into the Water, to draw along our Canoe. I had the Misfortune to hurt one of my Feet against a Rock that lay under Water, which troubled me very much for a long Time; and we being under a Necessity of going often into the Water, I fuffer'd extreamly, and more than I had done fince our Departure from the Gulph of Mexico.

We arriv'd at Chicagon the 29th of March, and our first Care was to go feek vyhat vve had conceal'd at our former Voyage, having, as was there faid, bury'd our Luggage and Provi-

Tonty had fent from the Fort, during the Winter Season, to know whether there were any Canoes at Chicagon, and whom he had directed to see whether any Body had medled with what we had conceal'd, and he made Use of that Advice to rob us.

The bad Weather oblig'd us to stay in that Place, till April. That Time of Rest was advantageous for the Healing my Foot; and there being but very little Game in that Place, we had Nothing but our Meal or Indian Wheat to feed on; yet we discover'd a Kind of Manna, which was a great Help to us. It was a Sort of Trees, Sweet Wa. resembling our Maple, in which we made Inci-Tree. sions, vyhence flow'd a sweet Liquor, and in it we boil'd our Indian Wheat, which made it delicious, sweet and of a very agreeable Relish.

There being no Sugar-Canes in that Country, those Trees supply'd that Liquor, being boil'd up and evaporated, turn'd into a Kind of Sugar somewhat brownish, but very good. In the Woods we found a Sort of Garlick. not fo strong as ours, and small Onions very like ours in Taste, and some Charvel of the same Relish as that we have, but different in the Leaf.

The Weather being somewhat mended, vye imbark'd again and enter'd upon the Lake on the 5th of April, keeping to the North Side to shun the Iroquois. We had some Storms also, Quinetoand saw swelling Waves like those of the Sea; nan River. but arriv'd safe the 15th at a River call'd Quinetonan, near a Village whence, the Inhabitants depart during the Winter Season, to go a Hunting, and relide there all the Summer.

The Sport is not there as in those Countries from whence we came; but on the Contrary, very poor, and we found Nothing but some very lean Wild Goats, and even those very rarely, because the Wolves, which are very numerous there, make great Havock of them, taking and devouring great Numbers after this Manner.

How Wolves catchGoats

When the Wolves have discover'd a Herd of Wild Goats, they rouse and set them a running. The Wild Goats never fail to take to the first Lake they meet with. The hunting Wolves, who are used to that, guard the Banks carefully, moving along the Edges of them-The poor Goats being pierc'd by the Cold of the Lake, grow weary and so get out, or else the River swelling forces them out with its Waves, quite benumm'd, fo that they are eafily taken by their Enemies, who devour them. We frequently faw those Wolves watching along the Side of the Lake, and kept off to avoid frightning them, to the End the Wild Goats might ouit their Sanctuary, that we might catch some of them, as it formetimes fell out.

The 28th, we arriv'd among the Poutouatannis, which is half Way to Micilimaquinay, where we purchas'd some Indian Corn for the rest of our Voyage. We found no News there from Montreal, and were forc'd to stay some Time to wait an Opportunity to go down the River.

Those Fathers have each of them the Charge of instructing a Nation, and to that Effect have translated the proper Prayers into the Language peculiar to each of them, as also all other Things relating to the Catholick Faith and Religion.

They offer'd Father Anaftafius and Monsieur June 1688 Cavelier a Room, which they accepted of, and we took up our Lodging in a little Hovel some Travellers had made. There we continued the rest of May and Part of June, till after the Feast of Whitsontide. However they live on them, and besides they have Fish they catch in the Lake, for Flesh is very scarce among them.

On the 4th of June, there arriv'd four Canoes, commanded by Monsieur de Porneuf, coming from Montreal, and bringing News from the Marques & Hennonville, and Orders to fend to the Settlements which were towards the Lake des Puans and others higher up, towards the Source of the River Calbert, to know the Posture and Condition of Affairs. We prepar'd to be gone with the two Canoes. Monfieur Cavelier bought another, to carry our Baggage, and left Part of his Furs with a Merchant, who gave him a Note to receive Money at Montreal. I did the fame with those few Furs I had, the rest of them having been left at Micilimaquinay:

Fuly 1688

We took Leave of the Jesuits, and set out in four Canoes, viz. two belonging to Monsieur de Porneuf, and two to Monsieur Cavelier, one of which had been brought from Fort Lewis, and the other bought, as I have just now said, we being twenty nine of us in those four Canoes. We row'd on till the 24th, when Monsieur de Porneuf lest us to go to St. Mary's Fall, to carry the Orders given him. The 25th, we got out of the Lake of the Islinois, to enter that of the Hurons, on the Banks whereof stands the Village, call'd Tessalon, where Monsieur de Porneuf came again to us, with a Canoe of ming, of the same Order of the Recolets, has done it more largely, he seems to be well acquainted with the Country, and had a great Share in those Discoveries; but the Truth of his Relations is much controverted. It was he who went to the Northward, and towards the Source of the Miffispi, which he calls Mechafpi, and who printed, at Paris, an Account of the Country about the River, giving it the Mame of Louisiana. He ought to have stopp'd there, and not to have gone, as he did, into Holland, to set forth another Edition, very much enlarg'd, and perhaps not so true, which he dedicated to William the Third, Prince of Orange, and afterwards King of Great Britain. An Action for a Religious Man no less ridiculous than extravagant, not to give it a worse Name; for after many great and tedious Encomiums given that Protestant Prince. he exhorts and conjures him to turn his Thoughts towards these wast Countries, as yet unknown, to conquer them and fend Colonies thither, to make known to those Savage Nations the true God and his Worthip, and to preach the Gospel. That good Religious Man, whom many have falfly thought, on Account of that Extravagancy, to have renounc'd his Religion, did not consider what he said, and consequently has scandalized the Catholicks. and tarnish'd the Hugenots with Matter of Laughter; for is it likely, that they being Enemies to the Roman Church, would employ Recolets to go preach up Papery, as they call it in Ganada? Or would they introduce any other Religion than their own? Can Father Hennepin be excuseable in this Point?

In fine it appears, by all that has been write by those several Persons concerning that Enterprize, that the Murder committed on the Person of Monsieur de la Sale was the Occasion of its miscarrying; but that which obstructed the making of some Provision in that Case was. the faid Murders being conceal'd for the Space of two Years, and that the Spaniards of Mexico having been inform'd of all the Affair, sent M. de la Men, who carry'd off the weak Garrison Monfieur de la Sale had left in the Fort built by

They also entirely raz'd that Fort, fo that Seven or Eight Years elaps'd, till Monsieur de Hiberville, a Gentleman of Canada, and a Person of Capacity and Conrage, samons for his notable Exploits in Hudson's Bay and other Parts, refolv'd to reassume and revive that Proiect. He came over into France upon that Defign, and made an Armament about the Year 1698, fet out and fail'd to the Gulf of Mexico, Being an able Seaman, he fearch'd along the Coast se narrowly, that he found the Mouth for the Miff of that fatal Miffifipi and built a Fort on it, leaving Men there, with a good Quantity of Ammunition and Provisions, and return'd to France, intending to go back with a Reinforcement, as he did, and having penetrated far into the Country, discover'd several Savage Nations, and join'd Friendship and Alliance with them. as also built another Fort, which he left well stor'd with Men and Necessaries, return'd into France; but attempting a third Voyage, he dy'd by the Way, and thus, for want of Relief and Sup-

But God has now provided for it, and it is the Concern of Heaven, for if France is interested on Account of the Temporal Advantages it expects, the Church is so in like Manner, for the Conversion of the Indians it hopes will follow. Accordingly, Providence has taken the Affair in Hand, having rais'd the Man, who is the fittest to revive and support so important a Project. This is Monsieur Crozat, Secretary to the King, a Man of singular Worth, very Intelligent, Well-meaning, and prodigiously Rich, who without going out of his Closet, has been the Occasion of many notable Voyages by Sea, and all of them foccess-To him, his Majesty, by his Letters Paful. tent, bearing Date the 14th of Septemb. 1712. has granted the fole Power to trade and fettle M.Crozat Colonies in the Countries describ'd in this plant Colo-Journal, and which are known to us by the nies and Name of Louisiana and the River Mississi, from Trade in hence forward to be call'd the River of St. Lewis. Louisiana? The Grant is made to him for 15 Years, under feveral Conditions mention'd in the faid Letters Patent, which have been made publick.

And whereas such a Grant cannot subsist without Blacks, he is also allow'd to send a Ship to Guinea to purchase them. They may perhaps find there the famous Black Aniaga, Brother to a King of Guinea, whom Captain Delbee brought over into France, above Thirty Years ago. The King was pleas'd to have him Educated, Instructed and Baptiz'd, the Dauphin being his Godfather; then put him into his Troop of Musquetiers, and afterwards made him a Captain in his own Regiment, where he ferv'd Honourably. Being desirous to see his own Country again, where he promis'd to promote the French Trade, and the fettling of Mis-ABlack sioners, his Majesty loaded him with Prefents, and order'd a Ship to carry him back to Guinea; but as soon as he was there, he no longer remember'd he had been baptiz'd, and turn'd again as perfect a Black, as he had been before. A Friend of mine, who was an Officer aboard a Ship, and hapned to be on that Coast in the Year 1708, had two or three Interviews with that Black, who came aboard him. He was a great Man in that Country, for his Brother was King. He express'd much Gratitude for the Kindness that had been shewn him in France, and was extraordinary Courteous, and made great Offers to those aboard the Ship, and to all such of the Nation as would go into Guinea.

This Navigation to Louisana will farther procure us a free Resort to the two famous Ports of the Gulf of Mexico, viz. The Havana and Veracruz, where Strangers did not use to be admitted, and which we knew only by their Names and their Situation in our Maps:

Veracruz in New Spain.

The latter of those Towns is the Port of New Spain, at the Bottom of the Bay or Gulf, in 18 Degrees of North Latitude, Seated in a Sandy Plain, encompass'd with Mountains; beyond which there are Woods and Meadows, well Stock'd with Cattle and wild Fowl. The Air is very Hot, and not Healthy, when any Winds blow, except the North, which rifes commonly once in Eight or Fifteen Days, and holds for the Space of Twenty Four Hours, blowing blowing so hard, that there is no going ashore from the Ships, and then the Cold is very piercing. When the Weather is clear there plainly appear, on the Road to Mexico, two Mountains rising above the Clouds, and forty Leagues distant, all cover'd with Snow. Streets of Verucruz are streight as a Line; the Honses are handsome and regular; the Fortifications next the Land inconfiderable, but the Front of the Town next the Sea forms a Semicircle, with a little Fort at each Hnd. Directly before that Front, a Quarter of a League out at Sea, there stands, on a Spot of Ground, inaccessible, by Reason of the Breaking of the Sea, a strong Citadel, well built and furnished with all Necessaries, a good Garrison and double Batteries of two hundred Pieces of brass Cannon. Ships cannot anchor any where, but between that Citadel and the Town; besides that, it requires several Precautions, because it is difficult coming to an Anchor.

Most of the Inhabitants are Mulattoes, that is of a tawny dark Colour, who live most upon Chocolate and Sweetmeats, extraordinary sober, and eating little Flesh. The Men are haughty, the Women keep retired above Stairs, not to be seen by Strangers, and feldom going abroad, and then in Coaches or Chairs, and those who cannot reach to it, cover'd with fine silk Veils, which reach from the Crown of their Heads to their Feet, leaving only a small Opening on the Right Side, for them to see their Way. In their own Apartments they wear nothing but a Smock and a silk Petticoat, with gold or silver Laces, without any Thing on their Heads, and their Hair platted with Ribbons, a gold Chain about their Neck, Bracelets of the same and Pendants of Emeralds in their Ears. They could well enough like the Behaviour and Company of the French, but that the jealous Temper of the Men obstructs them. There being a Picture of Philip King of Spain, now reigning, aboard the Ship in which my Friend was, who gave me this Account, the People swarm'd aboard to see it, they were never satisfy'd with gazing at it, and there was a most magnificent Festival kept in the Town, on Account of the Birth of the Prince of Assurias.

They understand Trade very well, but are sloathful and averse to Labour, fond of State and Ease. They wear great Strings of Beads about their Necks, their Houses are full of Pictures and Images of Devotion, decently furnish'd with Purceline and China Goods. The Churches are magnificently adorned with Plate.

All Strangers are forbid Trading there, yet fome come by Stealth and deal Underhand, by Means of Presents made to such Persons as can favour them. If those Mulattoes call themselves white, it is only to honour themselves and by Way of Distinction from their Slaves, who are all Blacks, and having got much Mony by their Labour, ransome themselves and sometimes become considerable Merchants.

The City of Mexico, Capital of the Country and the Residence of the Vice-roy, is about eighty Leagues distant from Veracruz, to the Westward, the Way to it very bad and ill furnish'd with Provisions. That Country would be better in some Parts, were it well cultivated by the Inhabitants. They fow but little of our Wheat, and are satisfied with Indian Corn and Caffabi Root, whereof they make Cakes, as is practis'd in the Islands. Their Trees and Fruits are the same as in other hot Countries. About the Town of Veracruz, there are Bushes of a Sort of Thorn, without Leaves. among which grows an extraordinary Plant; for tho' it has but a small Stem, it shoots out Leaves of a Cabbage Green, as thick as a Man's Finger, which grow out, one at the End of another, in the Shape of a Racket, and the Plant itself is so call'd. From those Leaves there grows out a Sort of red Figs, very juicy, with Seeds like those of the Pomgranate; the Juice is of a Violet Colour, but unfavoury. There is a Sort of Flies that cleave to it and are so fond of the Taste of the Fruit, that they burst and drop down dead. They are carefully gather'd and dry'd, and are the Scarlet Dye, call'd Cochinilla, which is brought into Europe, and makes that beautiful Cologr. The Birds aud Beafts are much the fame as in other Countries of America. There is a Sort of Bird, all red, which for that Reason is call'd the Cardinal; this they often tame and teach to fing like a Canary Bird. This is what I have been told concerning the Town of Veracruz.

As for the Havana, a Town and Port no less famous, in the Island of Cuba, belonging as well as the other to the Crown of Spain, it stands towards the Western End, and on the North Side of that Island, almost under the Tropick of Cancer, and about four or five hundred Leagues on this Side of Veracruz. ful; the Port good, secur'd by two Forts on the two Sides, and Brass Guns, from twenty four to thirty fix Pounders, the Entrance fo narrow, that only one .Vessel can go in at once. The Town is encompass'd by a good Wall, fortify'd with five Baltions, furnish'd with Cannon. The Streets are all as strait as a Line, and level. the Houses very handsome, but ill farnish'd. In the Midst of it is a fine Square, the Buildings about all uniform. The Churches are magnificent, and enrich'd with Gold and Silver, Lamps, Candlesticks, and Ornaments for the Altars. There are some Lamps curiously wrought, which weigh two hundred Marks of Silver, each Mark being half a Pound. The Revenue of the Bishoprick amounts to fifty thoufand Crowns, and he who enjoy'd it in the Year 1703, as I was inform'd by my Friend, who gave me this Account of what he had feen. was the greatest Ornament of that City, for his Virtues and Charity, being fatisfy'd with Necessaries, and spending all the rest upon the Poor, and in repairing decay'd Churches. Tho' Strangers are prohibited to trade there, yet it is easier carried on than at Veracruz. The Inhabitants are more familiar; the Women have more Liberty, yet they do not go Abroad without their Veils to wrap and hide them. Many of them speak French, and dress after the French Fashion, and some of our Nation have settled themselves there. When my Friend was there, a magnificent Festival was celebrated for fifteen Days successively, in Honour of K. Philip the Fifth, and Monsieur du Casse being then there, with his Squadron, the City desir'd him to join with them. To that Purpose, he set ashore žnto

We have thought fit to describe those two samous Ports of the Bay of Mexico, as well because it has not been so exactly done before, as in Regard that the Settlement which is going to be made in Louisiana, may have some Dependance on them; for the Havana lying in the Way, those who perform the Voyage may have the Conveniency of taking in Resreshments there, of putting in for Shelter in soul Weather, and of careening or resitting. As for the Veracruz, tho' farther out of the Way, the Correspondence there may be advantagious for the Securing of the Colony of Louisiana.

But how can that fail of succeeding, under the Conduct of Monlieur Crozat, who has the Charge of that Enterprize, and whom Providence seems to have in a Manner ingag'd to advance in Wealth and Honour, to the Amazement of the World, and yet free from Envy, from Jealousy, and from any Sort of Complaints. There is therefore no Reason to presage otherwife than well of the Event of this Affair; the Bleffings God has pour'd down upon all his former Undertakings, seem to be a Security for what is to follow. There is Reason to hope for still greater Blellings on this Project of a Settlement in Louisiana, as being equally advantagious to Religion and the State; for the propagating of the Knowledge and Service of God among among an infinite Number of Savages, by Means of the Missioners, who are to be sent to and maintain'd in those vast Countries; the Planting of the Faith in that new World, only the Name whereof is known to us, and the Reducing of it to be a Christian and a French Province, under the Dominion of our August Monarch, and to the eternal Memory of his Reign, will be the Consequences and the Fruits of Monsieur Crozat's Care and Expence, the Glory of his Enterprize, the Security of the large Fortune he has made in this Life, and what is rare among such rich Men, the Earnest of much better in the Next. Heaven grant our Hopes and Wishes may be answer'd.

The Letters Patent granted by the King of France to M. Crozat.

France and Navarre: To all who shall fee these present Letters, Greeting. The Care we have always had to procure the Welfare and Advantage of our Subjects having induced us, notwithstanding the almost continual Wars which we have been obliged to support from the Beginning of our Reign, to seek for all possible Opportunities of enlarging and extending the Trade of our American Colonies, We did in the Year 1683 give our Orders to undertake a Discovery of the Countries and Lands which are situated in the Nothern Part of America, between New France and New Mexico: And the Sieur de la Sile, to whom we committed that Enterprize, having had Success enough to confirm a Belief that a Communication might be settled from New France to the Gulph of Mexico by Means of large Rivers; This obliged us immediately after the Peace of Ryswick to give Orders for the establishing a Colony there, and maintaining a Garrison which has kept and preserved the Possession, we had taken in the very Year 1683 of the Lands, Coasts and Islands which are situated in the Gulph of Mexico, between Carolina on the East, and Old and New Mexico on the West. But a new War having broke out in Europe shortly after, there was no Possibility, till now, of reaping from that new Colony the Advantages that might have been expected from thence, because the private Men, who are concerned in the Sea Trade, were all under Engagements with other Colonies, which they have been obliged to follow: And whereas upon the Information we have received concerning the Disposition and Situation of the said Countries known at present by the Name of the Province la Louisiana, we are of Opinion that there may be established therein a considerable Commerce, so much the more advantageous to our Kingdom in that there has hitherto been a Necessity of fetching from Foreigners the greatest Part of the Commodities which may be brought from thence, and because in Exchange thereof we need carry thither nothing but Commodities of the Growth and Manufacture of our own Kingdom; we have refolved ed to grant the Commerce of the Country of Louisiana to the Sient Authory Crozat our Councellor, Secretary of the Houshold, Crown and Revenue, to whom we entrust the Execution of this Project. We are the more readily inclined hereunto, because his Zeal and the singular Knowledge he has acquired in maritime Commerce, encourage us to hope for as good Success as he has hitherto had in the divers and sundry Enterprizes he has gone upon, and which have procured to our Kingdom great Quantities of Gold and Silver in such Conjunctures as have rendred them very welcome to us.

FOR THESE REASONS being desirous to shew our Favour to him, and to regulate the Conditions upon which we mean to grant him the said Commerce, after having deliberated this Affair in our Council, Of our certain Knowledge, full Power and Royal Authority, We by these Presents signed by our Hand, appointed and do appoint the faid Sieur Crozat solely to carry on a Trade in all the Lands possessed by Us, and bounded by New Mexico, and by the Lands of the English of Carolina, all the Eflablishment, Ports, Havens, Rivers, and principally the Port and Haven of the Isle Dauphine, beretofore called Massacre; the River of St. Lewis, heretofore called Missifipi, from the Edge of the Sea as far as the Islinois; together with the River of St. Philip, heretofore called the Missourys, and of St. Jerome, heretofore called Ovabache, with all the Countries, Territories, Lakes within Land, and the Rivers which of all directly or indirectly into that Part of the River of St. Lewis.

The ARTICLES.

I. Our Pleasure is, that all the aforesaid Lands, Countries Streams, Rivers and Islands be and remain comprised under the Name of The Government of Louisiana, which shall be dependent upon the General Government of New France, to which it is subordinate; and surther, that all the Lands which we possess from the Islands be united, so far as Occasion requires, to the General Government of New France, and become Part thereof, reserving however to Ourselves the Liberty of enlarging as We shall think sit the Extent of the Government of the said Country of Louisiana.

Fifteen successive Years, to be reckon'd from the Day of Inrolling these presents, a Right and Power to transport all Sorts of Goods and Merchandize from France into the said Country of Louisiana, and to traffick thither as he shall think sit. We forbid all and every Person of Louisiana, and to traffick thither as he shall think sit. We forbid all and every Person and Persons, Company and Companies of what Quality or Condition soever, and under any Pretence whatever, to trade thither, under Penalty of Consistation of Goods, Ships, and other more severe Punishments, as Occasion shall require; for this Purpose we order our Governours and other Officers commanding our Troops in the said Country forcibly to abet, aid and assist the Directors and Agents of the said

Sieur Crozat.

III. We permit him to search for, open and dig all Sorts of Mines, Veins and Minerals throughout the whole Extent of the said Country of Louisiana, and to transport the Profits thereof into any Port of France during the said
