

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN.

GEORGE ARLISS IN "THE DEVIL" TONIGHT

Imperial Theatre Showing One of the Really Big Films of the Year—Refined, Powerful Presentation.

People who know the difference between good acting and mediocre stagecraft, people who appreciate plays and books of real literary value, people who like to see or hear a preachment when it is finished and cultured, are those who will delight in the masterful portrayal of Satan by George Arliss, noted English star, at the Imperial tonight and tomorrow.

"The Devil" is a sumptuously staged play to begin with, its atmosphere and settings being laid in the affluent and wealthy classes of Paris. In fact it is a European story and the modern Satan, the suave, ingratiating meddler is a Dr. Meuller, quite well known in smart circles for his "fatherliness" to all and sundry. Mr. Arliss is simply the acme of artistry in this difficult and unpopular role. His devilish fury in the final scene is truly marvellous.

The Imperial presents "The Devil" not only as an extreme novelty in cinematographs but as a valuable contribution to the art memories of those who like the better things. Though belonging to the highest priced list of films the Imperial will exhibit this masterpiece at usual prices, the travel views, etc., preceding the chief item on the bill, as usual.

FEATURE ACTS AT OPERA HOUSE

Howard and Fields Have a Great Comedy Offering—There Are Also a Spectacular Acrobatic Deonstration and Other Interesting Bookings—New Bill Tomorrow.

Any person wishing to enjoy a good hearty laugh should not fail to see Howard and Fields, assisted by Oscar Lee, at the Opera House this evening.

FOUND!

A Large Sum of Money can be Saved by Using Smoky City Cleaner. It Thoroughly Cleans Wallpaper, saves cost of Papering.

They are presenting a unique comedy skit, "A Ragtime Dining Car," in which the two colored waiters and a passenger regale the audience with amusing antics, classy singing, dancing, etc.

From an acrobatic and equilibristic standpoint it would be hard to excel the clever work of Evelyn De Lyons and Company, who give a thrilling demonstration of difficult and spectacular feats.

George F. Hall, famous comedian and entertainer, also appears in an offering consisting of comic songs and stories and other pleasing features.

Darby and Brown, with comic repartee and classy instrumental selections, have been making a great hit; while Geo. and Ross Llewellyn have been well received in a comedy variety offering, "The Grocery Store." There will also be another episode of "Bride 13," and a reel of current events.

The new programme, which will be presented tomorrow afternoon and evening, will be as follows:—The Four Orphan Girls who are offering "A Bouquet of Song," which is teeming with harmony; Gallagher and Foley, in comedy singing and breezy conversation; The Three Keville's "Trick Billiardists and Comedy Purveyors" of an unusual kind, who are on a world's tour; Lucy Bruch, "The Little Gypsy Fiddler"; Bert Home and Betty Wager, in a snappy singing and comedy skit, "Come on Red." There will also be another episode of the serial drama, "Fighting Fate."

The pupils of the Tuesday and Friday evening dressmaking classes of the vocational course presented a silk umbrella to each of their teachers, Mrs. I. Bath and Mrs. M. C. Corkery, on Friday night, after the closing exhibition. The presentation was made as a mark of appreciation of the teachers' work.

"QUEER BIRD" WAS ONLY A PROFESSOR

Patrolman Investigates Report of Man Sleeping Under Tree in N. Y.

New York, April 18—An elderly man in tattered cap and suit sat motionless under a tree at 257th and Broadway when a mounted patrolman, informed that a queer stranger had been sleeping three days, approached.

"I'm interested in birds," the old man said, particularly in the domestic affairs of the pair of robins above us. I have enjoyed their acquaintance three seasons."

He launched them into the story of a row that was being waged in the nest, the result of the laying there of a cuckoo's egg. "The male bird wanted to throw it out but the female chirped 'no' and has hatched it. I am waiting to see what will happen next."

"Queer things, birds," "Yes, said the patrolman, "and the folk hereabout think you're somewhat of a queer bird, too."

"How very extraordinary," replied he of the tattered clothing. "Here's my card." The patrolman read: "Professor Malcolm Oglivvie, New York Ornithological Society"—and rode on.

BROUGHT HER CHILDREN

Woman Juror Had No One to Care for Them

London, April 18—One of four women jurors called on to serve in Aberdeen Sheriff Court brought with her two children, stating that she could not leave them at home, as she had no one to look after them in her absence. The children were present in court while their mother sat in the jury box.

At the close of the court the woman, besides claiming traveling allowance and subsistence for herself, asked that the railway fares of the children should be paid also. The court officials, after consideration, refused to allow the children's expenses.

Bill's dead—pass the hat!

"SO poor old Bill is dead! I'm downright sorry. He was one of the best of fellows—a great spender and one of the biggest-hearted men that ever lived. Sure, I'll chip in."

"How much have you got there—$242? My! that won't go far with the widow and three children. Only $242! Poor old Bill!"

Your name may not be Bill—but if you dropped off to-morrow, would your family be provided for? Or, would some kind friend have to pass the hat?

You don't care what happens after you're gone? Yes, you do. You don't want to leave your loved ones to the tender care of friends or relatives who probably have troubles of their own. And you don't need to. If you are now in good health and will agree to deposit with us a portion of your savings for a few years we will undertake to pay a regular monthly income to your widow—an income which will commence at your death and continue as long as she lives.

Just write your name and address on the coupon and mail it to us. Then we'll send you our booklet which tells all about it. There's no obligation involved.

VICTIMS OF ROBBERY ON FRENCH TRAIN
Paris, April 18—Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, widow of the American publisher, and her companion, Miss Mand Alice Macarow, were victims of a robbery on a train on its way from Cannes to Paris, says the Continental edition of the Daily Mail. Miss Macarow awoke during the night and saw a man fumbling at her baggage. He fled, dropping a jewel case, but carrying with him a very valuable gold clock.
Miss Macarow pursued him down the corridor of the car, but he escaped.

HERE'S SOMETHING NOT MANY MEN CAN DO

Have you ever heard a man speak in such a forcibly compelling way that every word he utters grips your utmost interest so that you strain your ears not to lose a syllable?

The kind of man makes you remark when you get home "oh, say, you just should have been there this afternoon, it was simply wonderful, I wouldn't have missed it for anything." That describes Dr. Vincent of New York to a T, he's a most wonderful orator, world famous a man in a million—his coming here to speak in the Imperial Theatre next Sunday afternoon and its not going to cost anything to hear him.

He's going to say a few things about the vital problems of the present day in such a way as to arouse first your astonishment and then your utmost breath taking interest. There's going to be a full Imperial orchestra, massed city choirs, special singers 'n' variety, starts at 8.30.

ST. JOHN-TRURO EXPRESS TRAIN IN COLLISION

Amherst, April 17.—A two track road is not security against collisions. An investigation is being made of a crash on Friday, when the St. John-Truro train No. 18 ran into a locomotive of the Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Company at Maxton. The pilot was broken off the engine of the St. John train and the other locomotive was badly damaged. The St. John train was delayed an hour as a result. No one was injured. The private engine had been using the westbound C. N. R. track in the yard to load freight on its own cars.

"WAIST LINE" SOCIAL

Dominion Lodge, I. O. G. T., No. 445, entertained about 100 of its friends at a "waist line" social in its hall in Murray street on Friday evening in aid of the Wright Street Memorial Home for Children. A pleasing programme was carried out as follows: Piano solo, Miss V. McLaughlin; reading, Miss Florence Johnston; piano solo, Miss Nellie Scribner; solo, Miss Josephine Murray; solo, Mrs. Ernest Chapman; duet, Mrs. McKane and Miss Crandall; reading, T. B. Brown. B. Bloomfield Jordan gave a brief outline of the opening of the Memorial Home and an interesting talk on "Temperance, the past and present, in Canada, U. S. A. and Europe." The committee in charge was Miss M. Anderson, convener; Mrs. B. L. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. G. Lemon, Mrs. McKane, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. T. B. Brown. B. L. Kirkpatrick, chair, templear, presided. About $25 was realized and will go to the Memorial Home. Admission was charged at one cent per inch of the waist measurement of each patron.

WORKED SIXTY YEARS, STILL A YOUNG CHAP

Newspapermen are noted for not "watching the clock" when working, but few of them can equal the record revealed by this incident.

Business men yesterday were discussing John Lang, circulation manager and later assistant manager of The Toronto World. They were figuring how long he had been with the paper. "He has been with The World for thirty years," said one.

"No, sixty years," was the opinion of another.

"It can't be sixty years," objected the first. "Mr. Lang is still a young man." "I tell you it is sixty years," said the second man. "He worked there every day for thirty years, but he worked every night, too, and that makes sixty years."

SELLING PULP AT LESS THAN COST

Striking Statements Made by Angus McLean of Bathurst on General Situation.

(Bathurst Northern Light.)

There is not much hope for improvement either in the local or in the general industrial situation until such time as the accumulations of stock acquired by jobbers and middle men during the high price regime are worked off upon the public. After that the channels of trade may be cleared of the wreckage but not before, and in the meantime it is difficult to foretell what depths of trade depression may not be sounded.

That, in brief, is the opinion of Mr. Angus McLean, of the Bathurst Lumber Company, who left town at the beginning of the week on a business trip to Ottawa.

"I have made it a practice to get orders regardless of the price," said Mr. McLean, "and yet, we are only shipping an occasional car load. We are selling our pulp today at a price that is 80c less than it cost to manufacture last December, and we have all kinds of the December stock on hand. We are actually selling pulp for less than it costs us to produce simply in order to get business and even at that we are not moving a third of what we produce. There is a glut of pulp in the market, and the result will be, once we have filled every available corner with the other two-thirds, can be readily understood."

No European Market.

"While making worldwide inquiries for markets I ascertained that there was a glut of pulp in the market, and it was to be sold at a very low rate. I offered it at a price that was ridiculously low, a price that would not return what it is costing to produce sulphite today. I wanted the order to relieve the congestion of our fast-filling stores. In due course the answer was called back, and it was to the effect that neither France, Belgium or Holland would be in a position to buy pulp, at any price, before June."

Entering upon a discussion of the contributory causes to this unparalleled situation Mr. McLean stated that the jobbers and retailers were evidently making no reduction in the selling price of paper, and he had no doubt that the same policy is being adopted by the jobbers and retailers in other lines. Illustrating his point Mr. McLean said:

"Last week we had a shipment of toilet paper, which, as you know, is of a very cheap quality, and the price of it was about 35c per pound, which is equal to about $700 per ton for pulp, and the price we are getting for our pulp—and pulp of a quality much too superior to be manufactured into the paper I am referring to—is less than $70 a ton. Take another example: We got in some scribbling pads, and the price ran to something like forty cents a pound, which is equal to something like $800 per ton for pulp. The cost in the manufacture has to be considered, of course, but in no case is that likely to exceed ten per cent. There is a glut of pulp in the market, and the result will be, once we have filled every available corner with the other two-thirds, can be readily understood."

DEPLORES CLERGY IN BUSINESS

Bishop Lawrence Addresses Annual Convention of Episcopal Church.

Boston, April 18.—Bishop William Lawrence in his annual address to the Massachusetts diocesan convention of the Episcopal church deplored the number of clergymen who were mixing business with Holy Orders to the detriment of the church and the clergyman.

Their number was startling, he said, and the condition was one which he regarded as symptomatic of a let-down of the standards of high devotion, industry, self-sacrifice and efficiency.

"The figure may be no greater than in other callings from which many men drop out," said the bishop. "But the priest of the church is consecrated to life service and if for good reasons he must drop out and take up another life work, should he not ask to be released from

UNUSUAL PROBLEM FOR PARIS POLICE

Husband Found Wife Wounded on Floor in Middle of Night.

Paris, April 18.—The French police have just been asked to solve an unusual problem.

A reputable bourgeois named Courrelange awoke at an early hour of the morning to find his wife was no longer by his side. Going to an anteroom he discovered her lying senseless on the floor with fragments of a plaster statue beside her. She bore a number of small wounds on the right hand which seemed to be made by the sharp point of scissors, and her long black hair was cut short.

Revived by her husband, she explained that she heard a noise in the anteroom and going to investigate found two masked men there, one of whom struck her on the head with the statue, after which she remembered no more. Not only had her husband heard no sounds of a struggle—which he told the police was perhaps due to his habit of taking a sleeping draught—but Mme. Courrelange's mother, who slept in an adjoining room and is a very light sleeper had not been disturbed. Yet the mother found 200 francs missing from a bag at her bedside, which was the only thing she had in the house.

The family dog had raised no alarm, but the porter at the door of the building remembered seeing one man—two-slink out about four a.m.—Both husband and wife enjoy the esteem of their neighbors and there has been no breath of gossip against either. The police, who were at first inclined to talk about a "cinema romance," now take the matter seriously, but admit themselves baffled. Meanwhile the story is prominently displayed by leading newspapers and the public interest is widely aroused.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

While a demonstration was in progress on Saturday afternoon by the invasion of the Fraser mills, at Chatham Head, by some of the men who are refusing to work, one man was struck on the head by a block of wood. He was not injured seriously.

Roderique Laleprian, Hugh Wood and William McPassery were arrested on Saturday on a charge of theft from the general store of Joseph Faimone, Newcastle. Several articles are said to have been stolen from the store.

Thousands assembled at the shrine of St. Joseph's on Mount Royal, Montreal yesterday afternoon, at the pilgrimage arranged by the Knights of Columbus to commemorate the year 1921 to St. Joseph, who, fifty years ago, was chosen by Pope Pius IX at the patron saint of the Catholic church.

FOUNTAIN PEN SAVED LIFE OF LISBON JUDGE

Lisbon, April 18.—Attempts to assassinate the judges and members of the Tribunal of Public Defence continue. Several of the members of the court already have been killed or wounded.

The latest attempt was made on the life of Dr. Ferreira de Sousa, one of the judges who was shot as he entered the gate of his own garden. His life was saved by the fact that the bullets aimed at his heart pierced a pocketbook and was stopped by his fountain pen, the bullet falling harmlessly into its pocket where it was found.

The police attribute these attacks to members of the Young Syndicalist's Association.

THE JUNE CENSUS AND AFTER.

In an article on the Canadian census to be taken in June the Ottawa Journal says:

The census of 1891 revealed a population for the Dominion of 4,833,239. In 1901 it had risen to 5,871,915, and ten years later to 7,200,000. There is considerable speculation as to what will be the figures for 1921, and they have been conservatively placed at 8,700,000. They are roughly assumed to be 9,000,000 for the purposes of many official statistical calculations, and that total may be sustained by the actual count in June. It must be remembered, however, that the long interlude of the war was adverse to growth in population. Immigration from Europe was wholly stopped for several years, and a check was also placed on the inflow from the United States. The sales of land by the Canadian Pacific during 1920 rather indicated, however, that the movement from across the border had been resumed. An inspiring feature of recent census takings has been the showing with respect to production and resources in money. No farther back than 1891 the capital invested in manufacturing plants was $398,218,000. By 1915 this year it had grown to $1,994,108,272. This year it will undoubtedly exceed $2,500,000,000; for our industries have been moving ahead very rapidly during the past six years. In available money, it is encouraging to remember that since 1891 the deposits in our banks have grown from $148,266,908 to well over $2,000,000,000, or by approximately 1,250 per cent. In a word, we have developed our national potentiality very materially, and our reasons for a courageous looking into the future are genuine and substantial.

The most important consideration in regard to the coming census is that it be accurate. So far as St. John is concerned the citizens do not believe an accurate census was taken in 1911. Many people were living out of town, and were not enumerated as citizens of St. John. The civic authorities should interest themselves in the matter. The enumerators should be competent persons, and their work should be thoroughly done. There has been a substantial increase in population in the last ten years, and the city should get full credit for the same. Just how much the province may have increased is another question. In rural sections there has been a decline, for the trend cityward has been constant. These provinces, however, are not alone in that respect. The New England states have gained very little in population in the last ten years. Last month Mr. W. S. Rossiter, who is described as the ablest American student of population movements, made an analysis of conditions in Vermont, and urged that a state commission be appointed to consider the situation. A summary of his statement says: "Vermont's population is now 652,421, about 8,500 less than in 1910. The absolute increase in the ninety years 1830-1920 was approximately that of the ten years 1790-1800. If the nation had grown no faster than Vermont, it would now have 16,000,000 people. The rural communities are the ones that are dying. In 1850 one-third of the townships had less than 1,000 inhabitants, and now the fraction is one-half. Mr. Rossiter finds there are about 160,000 native Vermonters living outside the state."

But neither does Vermont stand alone. We quote again: "Other New England states have found in the census figures a decided shock. In the last decade New Hampshire's population increased less than 3 per cent and Maine's but 3.5 per cent. Mr. Rossiter deplors a decrease of 11 per cent in the number of Vermont's farms. But it was much greater in Maine—almost 20 per cent. He states that Vermont had fewer horses, sheep, and less poultry last year than in 1910. In Maine there were one-eighth fewer horses and one-fifth fewer sheep. In Connecticut and Massachusetts rural population continues steadily to fall."

Gov. Hartness of Vermont believes there is a remedy for this condition of affairs. "He believes that agriculture can be made more attractive by state interest in marketing, transportation and warehousing; that the state's employments should be called upon to find openings for young Vermonters; that a campaign should be conducted to stimulate Vermont manufacturing, and that systematic effort should be made to attract immigrants, especially rural."

On a Connecticut state building at a national exhibition once appeared this inscription:—"Connecticut's best crop is her sons and daughters." The problem now is to keep the sons and daughters at home to build up their own state. We have that problem in the maritime provinces. Whether a provincial commission such as is urged in New England states would find a solution is an open question; but our statesmen could approach no problem that is of greater importance to the provinces.

Halifax Chronicle:—"Officials of the Ontario Safety League express great satisfaction in the reduction of automobile fatalities on the streets of Toronto for the first three months of 1921, compared with the same period in 1919 and 1920. The result shown is attributed to general safety education and to the work of the Vigilance Committee of the League in curbing reckless driving."

THE INTERNATIONAL COURT

The minister of justice introduced in the House of Commons at Ottawa last week a bill to authorize ratification of the constitution of a permanent court of international justice. We quote from the Montreal Herald an interesting article explanatory of the bill and what it means:

"This is a very important matter, regarded by some as a more effective means to preserve the peace of the world than the League of Nations. It has, moreover, received the unanimous approval of the League, the first steps having been taken by the Council of the League. Early last year the Council summoned a committee of ten of the leading jurists of the world at Brussels, where they were in conference for six weeks. They agreed with unanimity on a proposal for a permanent court of international justice, and their conclusions were endorsed, with a few amendments, by both the Council and the Assembly of the League and referred for ratification to the member States of the League. If they approve of it and ratify it, a permanent court is called into being, consisting of eleven judges, which sits continuously, with power to take into account and settle disputes between the nations of the earth. The United States, though not a member of the League, approves of such a court. If Canada ratifies the statute constituting the court it will make the twenty-fourth member of the League that has done so, and there is little doubt that the remaining members of the forty-seven comprising the League will also validate the court. In this way alone the League of Nations has brought about a revision from the method of brute force for the settlement of international disputes to a method of settlement by a permanent tribunal of the first judges of the world."

The people of Ontario today will decide whether the importation of liquor into that province is to continue, or whether it is to be prohibited by law. The campaign has been very bitter throughout, and it is fair to assume that a large vote will be polled. The Liberty League, which opposes prohibition, has been very active, but did a great deal of injury to its own cause by its intolerant methods, and especially by using as one of its spokesmen the anti-British editor of a Chicago paper whose articles on England roused the resentment of every loyal citizen of Canada. It would not be surprising if the prohibitionists won by a very large majority."

The state of affairs in Monaghan, Ireland, is revealed by the cold blooded murder of a woman by the republican party, and the fact that neighbors dare not remove her body because of the terror inspired by the Sinn Fein. Such methods will not bring peace to that distracted country, no matter by whom they are practised."

Ottawa Journal:—"When Sir George Foster goes on the temperance platform now he must feel that it is a many old love," writes Hayden Church from London. "He has been writing a history of the Irish Guards, the famous regiment in which he lost his life in the war. I hear that Kipling will soon be paying a visit to France. It is a pathetic circumstance in this connection that the grave of his boy who has never been located."

"I am told, by the way, and I believe I am the first to make the interesting fact public, that since about the middle of the war, Kipling always has gone about with a fetish or mascot—a volume of his own novel, 'Kim,' in a special leather case. It was sent to him by a French soldier who was carrying it in action in a pocket over his heart. A bullet knocked the soldier down and when he regained consciousness he found that it had driven his Croix de Guerre into the book, which acting as an armor plate, had saved his life. So he sent it gratefully to the author."

A VISIT TO GERMANY. A delegation representative of the Birmingham section of the British Industries Fair, which has just returned after a visit to Leipzig fair and Lyons fair, has issued a report in which they express the conviction that the German people are better clothed, better shod and more plentifully fed than many of the allied peoples. During a long journey from Cologne to Leipzig they reached the conclusion that not an inch of soil remained uncultivated, not a single sign of war was to be seen, but only an industrious and apparently prosperous people. In the towns through which the delegation passed there was much more activity in house building and decorating than in England. The impression the delegation got was that Germany was industrially strong, and economically sound, notwithstanding the purely political reasons. During the journey they frequently were forced to remark that the only doubt they had was as to the adequacy of the indemnity."

LIVINGSTONE ACCEPTED BY INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION ELECTED IN CAPE BRETON. Sydney, N. S., April 18.—Dan Livingstone of Westville has just received his commission as district board member of the United Mine Workers from International President John L. Lewis of Indianapolis. This is taken to mean that the international executive regards Livingstone as elected, and that the protest of some locals in favor of Silby Barrett will not result in a new election."

Worth More. An impossible person approached the secretary of his club. "I want you to resign, sir," he said. "I have been deliberately insulted by one of the members. I was sitting in the smoking room, when Colonel came up to me and said: 'Welcome, sir.' 'Sir, I will give you one hundred dollars if you will resign your membership in this club.' Now, what ought I to do in the matter, sir?" "Resign, sir," said the relieved secretary with alacrity. "Hold on for a better offer."—London Tatler.

Mistaken. A farmer's daughter started to practise singing in private. One day her father came from the field unexpectedly. "What's that extraordinary noise?" he inquired. "That, dear," replied his wife proudly. "I am cultivating my voice."

A Poser. "Father, what is it?" "It says here, 'A man is known by the company he keeps.' Is that so, father?" "Yes, yes, yes!" "Well, father, if a good man keeps company with a bad man, is the good man bad because he keeps company with the bad man, or is the bad man good because he keeps company with the good man?"

A Barrie Story. A well known actor falling suddenly ill, his understudy was requisitioned to play his part in one of Barrie's plays. The understudy was immensely elated at the idea and sent telegrams to all the leading dramatic critics and to others interested in the stage notifying them of the fact. Barrie happened to be at the club one afternoon when someone asked him if he had received a telegram from the gentleman in question. "Yes," answered Barrie, "I did."

GRUESOME PARADISE. (London Daily Telegraph.) After a life spent during three years of Soviet rule Russia lies dying before the eyes of a helpless world. What was to have been the triumph of Marxism Socialism has become a disaster, which has brought in mental and physical suffering many millions of human beings, besides sweeping away all the foundations upon which their prosperity rested. Wilson, Lenin, Trotsky and Chicherin seized the reins of power towards the close of 1917, they proclaimed a communistic government with a constant assembly of the people, and the last of the great masses of Russia, whether living in the towns or engaged in various agricultural pursuits in the countryside, were to come into their own. What has been the sequel?

TOO MANY PARDONS. (Toronto Mail and Empire.) Plans for the new branch technical school in Riverview were approved at yesterday's meeting of the advisory industrial committee of the board of education. Specifications will be immediately prepared with, and it is expected that tenders will be called for by the second week in May. The new building, which will be situated on the west side of Greenwood avenue, about a block north of Danforth avenue, will be a two-and-a-half story brick building. The estimated cost is between $600,000 and $700,000. As shown by the preliminary plans it will be close to the site of the site of the present Central Technical School, and will follow that building in general lay-out. There will be a large assembly hall, seating 800, and the building will be provided with a gymnasium in the basement. Although the plans have yet to be approved by the government, and finally by the board of education, it is not expected that there will be any material alteration.

A GREAT SURGEON. (The N. Y. Times.) According to the books, Dr. Robert Abbe is 70 today. He was born and educated in New York. He is one of the great lights of surgery. He has been surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital for more than a generation, to the New York Cancer Hospital for nearly a generation. He is consulting surgeon at number of other hospitals and he has been a lecturer on or professor of surgery at two or three of our great medical schools. He was a co-worker with Mme. Curie and her monumental discovery. His life has been totus tere atque recondus, a brilliant and beneficent record of devotion to science and the relief of human suffering. Amid the procession of louder names the quiet generals of the unending war against disease are too often forgotten. The more reason for some expression of public gratitude to "him who wears today the glory of his seventy years."

LONG LIVED FAMILIES. Cyril Maude's mother, who just died at her home in South Kensington, London, formed an interesting link with the past. Her father-in-law, Captain Francis Maude, R. N., was born in 1798 and survived until 1886. Captain Maude's father, the first Lord Hawarden, was born in 1729, and his grandfather, Sir Robert Maude, in 1673, the three generations thus covered 213 years. Lord Hawarden, at the age of fifty-two, married a bride (his third wife) still in her teens, who survived until 1851. Thus, 122 years elapsed between the birth of the husband and the death of his widow. The record of the Cokes for longevity is even more remarkable than that of the Maudes. The present Lord Leicester's grandfather, Coke of Norfolk, was born in 1703, whilst his father died so recently as 1909, the two generations extending over a period of 187 years.

APPROPRIATE PUNISHMENT

(New York Times.) A Sinn Feiner who interrupted a speaker at the all-American mass meeting in Philadelphia was not put out of the hall. He was simply held in his place and compelled to listen to some straight American talk. "I want this man," said the speaker, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, "to hear what my brother had to say on 'Sinn Feinism.' Then she read out the right Rooseveltian remarks about the Sinn Feiner who acts against America because he hates England. It was an unusual punishment, but it was appropriate and just. If Colonel Roosevelt himself could have been present to put his personal emphasis into his language, the disturber might have been tempted to cry out, with one of old: 'My punishment is greater than I can bear.'"

The method is capable of wider application. On the anniversary of our going to war with Germany, an Irish-American member of the Rhode Island Legislature introduced a set of resolutions. They had the president Harding of the state's continued loyalty to American principles. This was the way to remove any doubts on that subject which the president might have felt. Then they went on to assert that the General Assembly of Rhode Island demanded the liberation of Ireland "from alien rule." The heroic Irish member went down on a point of order. But wouldn't it have been better to order him to keep his seat while the clerk read to him the Constitution of the United States, Washington's Farewell Address, and what President Harding himself has said about not thrusting our diplomatic fingers into the hot Irish stew?

BACK TO JOURNALISM.

(Toronto Globe.) John Lewis, who has rejoined the staff of the Globe, entered its service in 1883 as a reporter, and for twelve years, between 1890 and 1902, was one of its editorial writers. He was engaged in similar work on other Canadian journals until about a year ago, when he became editor of Liberal publications in connection with the National Liberal committee at Ottawa. His relations with the latter body were friendly and pleasant, and his reason for terminating them was the stronger attraction of his old calling as a newspaper man. His first editorial work was done as assistant to E. W. Thomson, now of Ottawa, and the late Edward Farrer. During the greater part of the time the late John S. Williston and his colleagues were John A. Ewan and T. S. Wood, two old and valued friends, who have since passed away. Mr. Lewis is the author of the Life of George Brown, in Morang's Makers of Canada, and of the political history of Canada from confederation to recent years, in the Glasgow series, "Canada and Its Provinces." He is contributing regularly to the editorial columns of the Globe.

HEALTH PROGRAMME FOR PUBLIC HEALTH

Nova Scotia Pursuing a Progressive Policy — Health Centre and Nurses

(Halifax Chronicle)

In a more comprehensive review of the public health than perhaps the House of Assembly ever listened to, Mr. E. H. Armstrong, Minister of Public Works and Mines, spoke for an hour yesterday afternoon. He dealt principally with the reports of the Public Health Officer for the province, and the reports of the Humane Institutions, but took occasion to pay eloquent and enthusiastic tribute to the wonderful work of the Red Cross Society, making a special appeal for its support in money and membership. Mr. Armstrong said that the review of the work which this Society does for the public health of Nova Scotia every man, woman and child should pay their dollar toward its membership, many paying double. The object of his speech, his directness and earnestness when dealing with the public health problems which the public health programme was to entail, and the depth of public opinion supporting this programme, strongly impressed the audience and well filled galleries which lined the hall.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Armstrong declared that the public health was more vital and more important than education, that a sound mind and a sound body made for only a better life which could make for success in men and women. For that the public must be prepared to pay. It was of the problems which must be met with by the Provincial Legislature, must be approached with courage and determination. The economic loss from diseased and defective people directly and indirectly was enormous and incalculable.

Mr. Armstrong dealt in turn with the reports. That referring to humane institutions, their efficiency, and policy, were matters of no little concern. A survey of these institutions during the year had been made under Government auspices by the experts of mental hygiene. Sufficient of the report was made to the government to indicate the present system of County Asylums, as administered by Counties, is open to many objections and can be remedied by the adoption of a new system. The main feature in the Public Health programme for public health clinics is the appointment of County Public Health Nurses, and the partition of the province into health divisions, and in-charge of public schools. The effecting of this programme had been very much facilitated by the cooperation of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Under to carry out the work in Nova Scotia, there were three proposals:—

- 1.—Sound public opinion in support of the programme.
- 2.—Trained public health nurses.
- 3.—Money.

Mr. Armstrong said that the public health programme, health care were inaugurated. As a result of their work, it was estimated that 800 people had been brought into the programme either directly or indirectly. Nova Scotia was the first Province or State in America to embark on such a scheme, and the whole continent was watching the experiment. To obtain the health nurses, Dalhousie University inaugurated the first course of training public health nurses in Canada. So great was the interest which had been aroused that the Rockefeller Foundation contributed $200,000 for the establishment of a new health centre. This will serve as an out-patient department in connection with the Victoria General Hospital. It will be a distinct unit of Dalhousie University and will give facilities for the first time offered in America. In order to establish County nurses the Red Cross had set aside $25,000 to provide for such nurses under the jurisdiction of the Provincial Health Officer.

In order to make the legislation of 1919 effective Health County Clinics were necessary.

Hants County First

Hants County was the first to establish a Health Clinic. Venereal Disease treatment centres were being established throughout the Province. During the past year 12,000 school pupils particularly in rural districts have been examined. A very small proportion of them had been found free from defect, which was an alarming condition. Parents as a rule when notified of the conditions very readily co-operated in remedying the defects.

Mr. Armstrong called particular attention to the need of enlarged laboratory accommodations and facilities. He said that it will be difficult for the Government to withstand the pressure which is being brought upon it to provide the With regard to County Homes the report made by the experts of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene was strongly condemnatory of the system of the County caring for the insane and advocated the centralization of the insane in two Provincial institutions to be called hospital centres. These would replace the County Asylums and ultimately absorb the present hospital for the insane at Dartmouth. There was also the matter of provision for the feeble minded. He spoke with the utmost sympathy in regard to the problem and its solution, which might possibly be found in the proposed farm colonies for the County insane.

WHITE SLAYER IS GIVEN TEN YEARS

New York, April 17.—Benjamin Weinstein, a self-confessed white slayer, has been sentenced to serve ten years in the state prison for having kept as prisoner in tenement rooms in East Eleventh street Caroline Gray, aged eighteen, of Roanoke (Va.), from the day after Christmas until Jan. 10, when she was rescued by police.

EMPEROR'S BODY TO GERMANY

The body of the former Emperor of Germany, Augustus Victoria, was taken from the castle at Doorn, Holland, yesterday, and placed on the train which will carry it to Potsdam. The procession was very impressive. The former emperor and his sons were all attired in the full uniform of the Prussian guards, their helmets crepe-covered. When the body reached the station the ex-emperor went on the train and stayed for a few minutes, and then returned to Doorn. He will not be permitted to accompany his wife's body to Potsdam, where it will be interred.

RECENT DEATHS

The death of Miss Josephine E. Murray, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Murray, of 22 Clarence street, occurred on Sunday in the seventeenth year of her age. Sincere sympathy will be extended to the bereaved family. Miss Murray was widely known and very highly regarded by a large circle of friends including her high school companions and she will be greatly missed. Besides her parents, she is survived by three brothers, Harold, Edmund and Roy, all of St. John, and by three sisters, Mrs. D. J. Dougherty, of St. John, and the Misses Mabel and Beatrice, at home. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning from her parents' residence to the Cathedral for requiem high mass.

The death occurred on Saturday evening at the General Public Hospital of Harry Hurwitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hurwitz, 22 Long wharf. The late Harry Hurwitz was in the seventeenth year of his age and had been admitted to the hospital several days ago suffering from acute appendicitis. An operation was performed but it was unsuccessful. He was a bright and popular young man and was a member of the Y. M. H. A. orchestra. He had just received a certificate from the Modern Business College shortly before being stricken with appendicitis. He leaves to mourn, besides his parents, one brother, Isadore, and one sister. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon.

A TRAGIC WEEK—END IN IRELAND

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, April 17.—The first execution of a woman in the strike between the discordant factions in Ireland is announced. She was taken from her home in the Scotstown district of Monaghan today and shot and killed on the bank of the river.

The woman, whose name was Kitty MacCarroll, belonged to the farming class.

Priest's House Burned.

Cork, April 17.—A dozen houses were burned yesterday in Ballyculligott, County Kerry, including a presbytery in which priests resided, following the shooting to death of Major MacKinnon, commander of a company of auxiliaries, on the Tralee golf course Friday afternoon. There have been no reprisals in Tralee, where the military took charge of the town. All the shops have been closed and business suspended.

TWO MINISTERS
IN THE LIMELIGHT

Ballantyne's Fleet Now Under Scrutiny in the Halls of Parliament.

H. L. DRAYTON NEXT
His Budget Will Be Scrutinized
as No Previous One Ever Was.

By M. GRATTAN O'LEARY.
HAT President Wilson once called "pitiless publicity" is being bestowed these days
upon two leading ministers of the Meighen government—Sir Henry
Drayton and Mr. C. C. Ballantyne.
Sir Henry will come under scrutiny with his budget, and
perhaps with his tariff proposals,
the annual statement of the mercantile marine has turned the searchlight upon Mr. Ballantyne. Both are ministers who, although having played prominent parts in other spheres of action, possess a limited
experience in parliamentary life. Mr.
Ballantyne represents that development
of the war—the business man in government. It is an idea which has hardly justified the rosy expectations of its authors, as witness
the fate of the air and shipping
boards under the respective control
of Mr. Ryan and
Mr. Hurley in the
C. O. Ballantyne United States, not to mention the failure of the transport ministry under Sir Eric Geddes in Britain.

In a very special sense Mr. Ballantyme is the author and father of the Canadian Mercantile Marine. It was his idea, it has been nurtured and developed under his special care;
and blame for its failure or praise
for its success will be almost completely his. Mr. Ballantyne entered Union government—the only ships being built in Canada were being built by the British government. The capital was British, except that it was loaned by Canada,
and the ships were for British use.
Mr. Ballantyne changed all that. He conceived the idea that it would be better for Canadians if they owned
their own ships and their own
cards to build ships for themselves,
and so he cleaned up the Imperial Navigation Board and in his first session in the house laid the legislative seed of the Canadian Mercantile Marine. The wisdom of his policy was challenged. Many thought that Canada should keep out of the shipbuilding business altogether leaving it to Britain; others thought that the policy should be confined to outfitting ships for the needs of the war alone.
But Mr. Ballantyne had no fears. Not only did he think it proper that we should build ships for war requirements; he boldly proclaimed it his policy to build ships for themselves,
trade holding that peace would bring famine in ocean tonnage, and that only those nations which had shipping to carry their exports could hope
to compete in the struggle for world trade. And so in the last year of the war and since forty-eight ships were built and organized into the Canadian Government Marine.

Went on Building Ships
LAST year the policy achieved a success. Freight rates were high and cargoes plentiful, and the war's statement showed a balance on the right side of the ledger. The critics however were not silenced.
They pointed out that rates were bound to drop, that this year shipping would be more plentiful and competition more keen, that the dislocation and upheaval in Europe would ruin
international trade and that shipping
rates would decline; and they urged
the minister to get rid of his fleet before it was too late. Mr. Ballantyne, however, was not impressed. The surplus of his own business inflexibility compared with men who are wont to regard as mere politicians, he repeated his predictions about only those nations which had ocean tonnage getting rich—and went on building ships.
During the past year, however,
world conditions were not as satisfactory. In the U.S. and Sweden and England there was a surplus of ships
and freight rates declined by twenty-five per cent. Shipping values fell almost with a crash and severe losses were sustained. Canada's fleet could not and did not escape.
Although not affected to the same extent as shipping in other countries,
there were many idle ships and empty bottoms and because that were nearly empty. Mr. Ballantyne
however on Wednesday came to parliament claiming a surplus. His critics contend however that on the contrary there has been a loss. Mr.
Ballantyne's claim of 2.65 per cent
earnings on an investment of fifty millions is admitted, but they say,
this money was raised by victory
loans and the Government is paying five and a half per cent for it there is really a loss of one and a half millions. Then again ships were built at a cost of $131 per ton. Today the cost is not more than $60.
So that the amount he gives for depreciation, and which must be deducted from net earnings, is well below the real depreciation. Finally the statement is only up to December 31, 1934 and the worse period of depression has been since then, several of the ships being tied up at docks
in Halifax now.
Nor is the criticism being confined to the opposition alone. Mr.
Ballantyne, in many ways a likable personality, has defects which hardly make for popularity in the house. If there is one thing more than another to which the Commons takes umbrage, it is to an assumption of superior wisdom on the part of a comparative newcomer. Mr. Ballantyme may not mean to assume a superior attitude, but he has all the vanities of the self-made man, and

Sir A. S. Griffith-Boscawen
NEW British minister for agriculture. Sir Arthur commanded the Third Battalion, R. W. Kent regiment and later commanded a battalion of the Hampshire regiment,
with rank of lieutenant-colonel.

There are times when his portenous gravity "gets on the nerves" of the house. Such an occasion was his recent speech on Mr. McMillan's
resolution requiring members of a cabinet to resign directorships when,
after attacking the proposition, he himself a director in a number of big companies) he solemnly spoke of
"men who had made a success in life
being called to the service of the state."

Proud of Amateurishness
LIKE most ministers who enter
the cabinet without an apprenticeship in the house, Mr. Ballantyne is amateurish in parliament. Of this,
however, he is probably proud, for he makes little effort to conceal his dislike for mere parliamentary style. He likes for more parliamentary style, becoming more plentiful with the passing years, which is a little concerned
with parliamentary accomplishments
as it is with mere moral issues or abstract principles. Whether in the improvement of the old school,
upon the class of statesmen which
had its traditions rooted in the past,
oratory, and which measured success
by standards other than material
progress, remains to be seen.
Inclined more toward the old school than the new, Sir Henry Drayton, "He who would be a success must have twice the merit of his predecessor," said a famous Frenchman. Sir Henry has not yet won the approval of his colleagues. Sir Thomas White, but he has

The startled urchin looked up,
puzzled, and then replied, "It makes

King as a Playgoer,
Likes Comedy Best

Drama a Close Second—Here
are Plays That His Majesty Saw.

THE King's visits to London
theatres during 1934 numbered sixteen, as compared with eighteen in 1933 but the Royal Family
as a whole has done more play going
in a year than in any previous period
since the accession. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York particularly have shown a partiality for the theatre, which is likely to prove an increasing benefit in the future to the entertainments industry.
The following plays were witnessed
by His Majesty in 1934:

Play	Theatre	Date
Mr. Pin Passes By	New Garrick	Feb. 14
The Shop	Strand	March 1
The Young Person	Queen's	May 2
Guilt	Albany	May 2
The Man Who Came Back	Oxford	June 5
The Grain of Mustard Seed	Ambassadors	June 2
The Garden of Allah	Drury Lane	July 1
The Mystery of St. James	St. James	Aug. 11
At the Gate	St. James	Aug. 11
French Leave	Apollo	Dec. 2
A Night Out	Winter Garden	Dec. 2
Brown Sugar	Garrick	Dec. 11
The Wandering Jew	New	Dec. 11

The King's preferences as a playgoer, judging by his theatre attendances in the past two years, are first
for a comedy or farce, next for a serious play and last for a musical play.
Excluding the Russian Ballet, which he saw at the Empire in November,
His Majesty witnessed in 1934 and 1935 fifteen comedies and farces, ten serious dramas, and five musical comedies.

Lord Shaughnessy's Sick Colt
Was Quebec's Best Thoroughbred

George Ham Tells How Silk Bird Became a Winner—Yet, His Lordship Never Bet on Him.

THE way in which Lord Shaughnessy, ex-president of the C.
P. R. came to win the King's Plate at the Woodbine in 1916 is related by George Ham writing in Maclean's Magazine in the following words:
With the sole object of encouraging the thoroughbred horse industry
in the province of Quebec, Lord Shaughnessy not only became a member of the then newly formed Montreal Jockey Club, but also imported a fashionable bred race mare
from the province of Ontario.
Although highly recommended this mare "Silk Bird" finished in most of her races a very bad last. In one when she had galloped past the stand probably thirty lengths behind the other starters. Charles M. Hays then president of the G. T. R., who was standing beside Lord Shaughnessy, remarked, "That's a fast mare you have, Shaughnessy."
"Yes," replied Lord Shaughnessy,
"she's about as fast as a Grand Trunk train."
After her unsuccessful racing career, "Silk Bird" was placed in the stud. Her first foal, a filly named "Lisla Hosi," seemed to inherit the mother's blood. She became ill as a yearling, was sick as a two-year-
old, and the following season—died.
The morning after she "kicked out," Tom Callery, his secretary told his owner, came out well shod. No better indication could be had of the loyalty and affection for "the big boss" than by the manner in which all those under his lordship pulled so well heartedly and so constantly, in good years and bad,
for the success of the Shaughnessy
colored gold and scarlet.
Whenever and wherever they appeared on the Canadian tracks. On race days the secretary was bombarded
with telephone calls from vice-presidents right down to call boys, enquiring as to the colt's chances, his vendition, the name of the jockey, etc., etc. But as Lord Shaughnessy knew Shaughnessy told his secretary to do whatever he pleased with the colt.
This colt, that had been named "Silk
Bird," eventually got to the races.
Before the first start his secretary

Japanese Prince To Break Old Tradition

Heir Apparent's Visit to England Will Be First of Its Kind Ever Made.

IT has now been definitely decided that the Crown Prince of Japan
will visit England this summer.
Londoners, accustomed to welcome
potentates and princes from many hands may not, however, immediately understand the extraordinary significance of the crown prince's tour.
No Japanese emperor, no crown
prince, has ever left the country.
Even in the days of the Shogunate usurpation of the civil power, the religious sanctity of the emperor was never questioned. The most vénérable dynasty in the world was as jealously guarded then as before or since. Great nobles fought indeed,
for the right to administer the state,
but none ever attempted the impetu-ous of arrogating to himself the heaven-ordained functions of the emperor.
The tradition applies in only less degree to the next in succession to the throne.
Small wonder, then, that conservative opinion in Japan has caused at the suggestion that the crown prince shall go abroad. The people generally have hailed the proposal with enthusiasm. Never has so many Japanese eyes and feet turned Britanward as since the armistice in the world war.
Students, professors, great merchants, men of affairs of all kinds have traveled to London in search of new knowledge and friendship. Now,
as a climax of regard, is to come the crown prince.
The visit is timed, whether intentionally or otherwise, to accord with the meeting in London of the imperial conference of the overseas Japanese. It is this conference that will speak
the deciding word in the matter of the renewal or the form of renewal
of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.
FLAVELLE RETIRING.
POSSIBLY John Dundas Flavelle,
to give his full title to the chairman of the Ontario Board of License Commissioners, who is retiring in June, is best known as a currier. In this sport he possesses a national reputation. He has held office as president of the Ontario Curling Association and has repeatedly taken Lindsay links to Winnipeg to compete for the Grand Challenge Cup,
the blue ribbon of Canadian curling.
To say that he has won this coveted trophy several times is to witness to his skill as a player. Frequently, it is said, he has paid all the expenses of the Lindsay players on this western trip.
Mr. Flavelle has also indulged in golf with fair success and is a good hand at billiards. Some years ago he was proficient at tennis. I think no unusual thing in Lindsay, before
he became head of the license board,
to find him down at his office at 5 a.m. in order to get through early with his work so that he might have the afternoon free for some of the games he loved.

Gandhi, Leader of India's Revolutionists.

GANDHI IMPERILS
BRITAIN IN INDIA

The Revolutionary Leader Does
Not Believe in Civilization
Or Machinery.

THE great dependency of India
is facing to-day a supreme crisis in her history. Recent articles by F. W. Wilson, of the London Daily News, George F. Arthur, of the New York Herald, and others
who have studied the question,
throw new light on the situation and they all emphasize the power of Gandhi, the Hindu leader of the revolutionists.
Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi is to-day an open threat against continued British rule in India.
Heretofore, nationalistic movements have been opposed by the Muslims and by the low caste Hindus, who have not relished the prospect of being subjected to the harsh and arbitrary rule of the high caste Hindu. It was from this rule that British control rescued them.
The appeal to religious prejudice
has served a portion of the Moslem leaders from their opposition to nationalism, while the influence of Gandhi, leader in the movement
against the British, has succeeded in developing a nationalistic sentiment
among a portion of the low caste Hindus.
It is this strange influence which Gandhi exerts which makes him so dangerous an element from the British viewpoint. Gandhi is 61 years old and is described as an extreme religionist with a sweetly beguiling tongue. Although he walks about like a mendicant, with bare feet and the clothing of the humblest, his influence extends from the bottom
strata of society upwards.
Scorns Modern Inventions
IN the industrial city in which he lives his home he has developed a social culture in which he finds
a great satisfaction in primitive agriculture and in the simplest forms of industry. The machine is discarded and the hand is exalted in their ideal of industry. He wants to banish all foreigners and go back to conditions as they were before British rule in India.
Gandhi, the man of mystery in dreaming India, describes himself in this sentence:
"Most religious men I have met are disguised in disguise. I, however,
wear the guise of a politician,
am at heart a religious man."
While scorning modern inventions Gandhi is understood to utilize railroad trains and automobiles in traveling about India, spreading his doctrine wherever he can, with the result that his popularity appears to have attained almost Messianic proportions.
At a congress held in Nagpur at the close of last year Gandhi, while pleading for non-violence called for the destruction of the British Empire and declared that success of the movement might involve "wading through oceans of blood." This was but a sample of the utterances that were made at this congress, which declared loyalty to Great Britain optional and constitutional methods
matters of expedience. The congress declared for non-co-operation with the British government in the establishment of its new system and for non-co-operation with the British under any form, except in the case
of schoolboys under 16 years of age.

LAPORTE'S ACTIVITIES

SIR HORMISDAS LAPORTE, of Montreal, who is mentioned as possibly running for the St. Antoine seat rendered vacant by the resignation of Sir Herbert Ames, once before tried to get into the house of commons. In 1897 he contested the Richelieu constituency, but was defeated. Parliamentary honors are about the only kind he has not garnered since he started out life as a clerk in a retail store. He started humbly, but worked fast. By the time he had a retail store of his own; at the age of 31 he was a member of the wholesale grocery, of which he is still president. He has given himself freely to the organization of the city. His surplus energy finds an outlet in educational and philanthropic work. He is a member of the board of Catholic school commissioners and an administrator of Laval University.
He is a member of both Notre Dame and Montreal General Hospitals. During the war he served with pay as a member of the military purchasing commission of Canada
and as a member of the Canadian War Trade Board.

INDIA'S NEW VICEROY
RAN AWAY TO SEA

OF legal luminaries, past and present, the most dazzling is Lord
Reading, the new viceroy of India.
As a boy he was far from brilliant,
but he had no advantage in regard to birth or influence.
"Isaac, you will go to the devil,"
his schoolmaster once told him.
With a taste for boyish adventure
he ran away to sea. He served on the Blair Athol, trading to Rio Janeiro with coal. For a while he returned to office work as a clerk
on the stock exchange. But so strong was the call of the sea that he was dismissed with difficulty by his mother from joining another ship.
Young Rufus Isaacs decided on a legal career when he was twenty-four and a day that brought him a billion was his day for rejoining. When he became solicitor-general in 1910,
it was estimated that his private practices were bringing him in $150,000
a year. In the same year he was appointed attorney-general, and three years later lord chief justice. He made his name in the "Whitaker-Wright case" in 1903.
Lord Reading has an unrivalled
knowledge of finance, while his high diplomatic gifts were emphasized during his mission to America. He is credited with the remark that there are but three things essential to success at the bar: "The first is high animal spirits, the second is high animal spirits, and the third is high animal spirits. If in addition, a young man can make the trouble to read a little law, I think that will not impede his progress."

PLEASANT ANYWAY.

"GLAD to see you" is one of the little white lies that are worked overtime.

THE CONFESSIOAL: Uncensored Talks With Big Men About Themselves

"I'll make no bones about it,"
said Sir Sam, while resting at the King Edward on the way home for Easter, "the reception gave me in the House a couple of weeks ago un-nerved me; and it isn't any yet to Samuel to be himself again."

"But they were applauding sym-
pathetically on both sides of the House,
weren't they?" I suggested. "Yes,
my boy; very sympathetic; but I'm too old a Parliamentarian dog not to know that they were kind to an old man. And I don't like the idea of being in the aged class. The truth is that the boys merely confirmed
what the doctors have been telling me for some time. They say I must take care of myself, or pretty soon
there won't be anything to take care of. So I've put away the idea of doing very much more in politics.
Canada needs a man of action; but he can't be Sam. Hughes any more.
My role in the future will be that of the kindly philosopher who hasn't an enemy in the world. That's pretty hard to believe. As I can't come back with horse, foot and artillery, I'm inclined to think that political resurrections anyway, aren't much good."

"I often admired the way you stood up, Sir Sam," said I.
"To tell the truth, I did myself. Did you ever see such a government?"
"As which?"
"The one I was in, and the same
one when I wasn't in. I had all kinds of trouble with nearly all the bunch before the war and during the war. Once I gave up hope of being in Borden's Cabinet—in 1911 you know. Long before that I had had Borden's promise that I would be minister of militia if he came into power during my lifetime—which sometimes didn't seem at all likely,
but he tried to sidetrack me. As Brenton McNab says, he doesn't know what gratitude is. At last I talked straight to him and if you must know he took me in, thinking
it would be more troublesome to leave me out. We spent more money on the militia before the war than had even been spent by Canada in any similar period. I saw the war coming long before the other fellows did;
but they wouldn't let me get ready,
but when it did come I had my chance and I took it. It doesn't matter whether you give me the credit
for it or not; the fact remains that Valcartier was my work; and the sending of thirty thousand men
across the ocean in one convoy without a man must have some sort of a moral safety valve. Washington did, so I've got a complete company. Some bishop came to Val-cartier to complain of something or other I had or hadn't done. I gave him a piece of my mind. If it didn't do him any good, it at least enlarged his mind a little. I'm a little big, but I'm worth while."

"You mean the bishop coming to see you?"
"No, my boy; I mean the way I talked to him. He came with a fellow in this town—W. H. Orr; do you know him?"
"Very well."
"He comes from Durham county,
like the Husheses. He knew my father and mother, and all of us.
During the war somebody told him I had learned to swear. He refused to believe it of a youth who had had Methodist upbringing. I had."

THE new Chinese ambassador in London, Mr. Wellington Koo, has a pretty wit.
Someone read aloud to him a paragraph from a newspaper about a Chinaman who committed suicide by
"eating gold-leaf."
"Don't know why that should have killed him," remarked one member of the company.
"Ah, possibly, he was overwhelmed
by a consciousness of inward gilt," suggested Mr. Koo.

Royal Tram Tickets

THERE are still preserved carefully at Buckingham Palace two tram tickets to which considerable interest attaches. They are the first ever issued by the London County Council when its electric tramway service was instituted. They were purchased by King George and Queen
Mary, who inaugurated the service,
and were punched in their presence
by Mr. John Burns at that time the head of the now defunct local gov-

HEREDITY AND CHILD WELFARE

(Contributed.) In the first place it is a well recognized fact in biology that life is passed on from generation to generation through the medium of a material substance which is known as germ-plasm. This is the substance that the parents contribute to the formation of the child, and which is started on its process of growth and development at the moment of impregnation. The germ-plasm of each animal grows into the likeness of the parent, and not only that, but the germ-plasm of particular parents tends to grow into a more or less composite likeness of them. And so we see at once that the child is not a separate and distinct individual, unrelated to other individuals, at that there is a very material bond of physical relationship to its parents. To that extent it is circumscribed in its aptitudes for growth and development. The germ-plasm contains within itself the developmental necessity which takes blue eyes, the child will have blue eyes; just as other necessary tendencies each their expression in the fact that it has hands, arms, feet and legs, heart, lungs and all the rest of its physical being. So its relationship to them is one of inevitability in character or pliable or fixed—tempered is something that is still as possible to foreshadow and may be dependent not at all on hereditary tendencies, as we shall see later. In the same way that the parents of the child have passed on to it through the germ-plasm an inheritance from the past, so the child, when it grows up and ages an adult, becomes a parent and passes on the same inheritance to its own, an inheritance that links it, rough them, to the future as though parents it is linked to the past. Therefore the child cannot be truly considered as an individual in the sense which that term is ordinarily used, at is, separate and distinct from other individuals. Heredity (then, is seen to furnish a qualifying aspect to the possibilities of growth and development. It is coming, in these days, however, to think of heredity as being much more restricted in its possibilities for limitation. It is true that many students of heredity believe that all sorts of mental qualities may be traced directly from the parents. These physicians, however, who deal with the problems of mental illness see, on the contrary, these peculiarities passed on because, as a part of the child's environment, they are impressed upon it during its developmental period. I emphasize this view because it has been found possible to largely modify so many personal traits. Heredity is an explanation is therefore looked upon somewhat askance because it serves a block efforts at improvement. If a certain trait is hereditary, why, that's the end of it. There is nothing to be done. So frequently, though, something is done that this explanation is better and more put aside as inadequate. But heredity sees to it that the child is furnished with all the characteristics that will make it true to type. This is a necessity, for any material departure from the type would make it impossible for that individual to become an intimate member of the social group—the herd—as to be able to develop to the best advantage. Heredity therefore provides for the essentials. But the mood of the individual, optimistic or pessimistic, his amiability or irascibility, his general tendencies to honesty or otherwise, all these and many more qualities are not essential for the preservation of the life of the individual, nor do they add to the assurance of its transmittal to a future generation, therefore they may well be left to the mercy of individual circumstances, which in the first instance are due to the influence of home life and the example of the parents. So we see, as previously indicated, heredity is coming to be less and less of a satisfactory explanation for character traits of all kinds, because, in the first place, such traits belong to that region which may reasonably be supposed to be modifiable and not so necessary in its make up to be a fixation of heredity; and, secondly, because so many character traits can actually be modified by treatment, while an explanation resting in heredity would close the door to all effort. The psycho-analyst sees in these first four years, or thereabouts, or infancy the period when the fundamentals or character are laid down and therefore sees in these years both the material for therapeutic effort and the golden period of educational possibilities.

Man in Jail is Not A. J. Small

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Harrowfield, Ont., April 17.—Dennis P. Brannigan, manager of the Grand Opera House, Kingston, visited the jail at Verona yesterday afternoon where a mystery man, thought to be Ambrose J. Small, missing theatrical magnate, is being held by the police on a charge of vagrancy, following his apprehension Friday night. Mr. Brannigan, who was intimately acquainted with Mr. Small, declared that the man held was not the missing theatrical owner.

ROYALTY NOT WANTED

Presence in Austria Punishable by Imprisonment. Vienna, April 18.—A measure making the presence in Austria of a former king a felony, punishable by from one to five years' rigorous imprisonment, has been forced through the constitutional committee by the combined Pan-German and Social Democratic vote. Passage of the measure by the National Assembly is considered assured.

The original language of the bill as framed by the Socialists, specifically named the Hapsburgs, but the measure was modified so as to stipulate all persons banned by the statutory law. The bill also provides imprisonment for anyone aiding, abetting or harboring such persons. A clause added to the measure makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by from six months to one year in prison, for any person to use publicly a former title of nobility or to permit himself to be so addressed in the presence of a third person. The clause is aimed at the growing renewal of the use of titles in social intercourse.

The first annual meeting of the maritime executive of the Canadian Air Force Association was held on Saturday afternoon in the office of his honor, Lieutenant-Governor Fugate, who is the honorary chairman of the provincial branch. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year and the election resulted as follows: Chairman, W. H. Dennis, of the Halifax Herald; vice-chairman, Flying Officer A. McGregor, D.F.C., of Havelock; secretary, H. R. Stewart, of Charlottetown.

FREEDOM OF CITY VOTED TO VIVIANI

New York Mayor, However, is Forced to Send Emergency Message Before Honor is Conferred—Opposed by the Socialists.

(New York Times.) The aldermen yesterday voted the freedom of the city to Rene Viviani, former premier of France and special envoy of that country to the United States, but only after Mayor Hylan had sent an emergency message to the board requesting that the honor be given to the distinguished visitor. As in the case of Professor Einstein last week, there was an objection to the bestowal of the honor, and immediately the board had to take special measures.

The Socialist members, led by Alderman Backerman, objected to the granting of the city's freedom to M. Viviani, and the board took a recess for ten minutes to enable the mayor to prepare the emergency message. When the session came to a vote it was carried by fifty-two to five, Alderman David J. Stewart, Republican of Brooklyn, voting with the Socialists in the negative. In explaining his vote, Alderman Backerman called Viviani a "renegade Socialist" and declared he was once head of a labor organization in France, which was similar to the I. W. W. organization in this country. "I don't think it will be a great honor to Viviani if that resolution is carried rough-shod through this board without discussion," said the alderman. "I cast no reflection on the people of France for whom I have the greatest admiration, but anybody who knows the history of this man Viviani knows that he was formerly a leader of an element in France which is identical with the I. W. W. in this country."

Falconer Wants His Name on It. "The same Viviani then became a traitor and a renegade to the Socialist party and was expelled from the party," said Alderman Bruce M. Falconer, who had objected to a similar resolution giving the freedom of the city to Professor Einstein and Dr. Weizmann last week. "Under these circumstances I am compelled to vote no."

When the resolution was read it bore the name of Alderman Quinn as introduced. Alderman Bruce M. Falconer, who had objected to a similar resolution giving the freedom of the city to Professor Einstein and Dr. Weizmann last week, insisted that the resolution regarding Viviani was partly his and that his name should go on it. He said his name had been put on the resolution and he wanted to know why it had not been read.

Vice-Chairman William P. Keaneally, who was the chair, asked the clerk why Falconer's name had not been read and was informed that Alderman Finn had told him not to read it. The chair called upon Alderman Quinn for an explanation and the alderman said: "In introducing this resolution without consultation with anybody, because I thought it fitting that Viviani, one of the best known citizens of France, should receive this honor. Later Commissioner Grover A. Whalen came in and asked if such a resolution was to be presented and if there was any objection to immediate consideration. Falconer then asked the commission if he had any objection to his name going on the resolution and the commissioner said he had none. I have no objection to Alderman Falconer's name being added to the resolution and I hope no alderman will be so small as to object to immediate consideration, no matter whose name is on the resolution."

It was then that Alderman Backerman objected, and although both Democrats and Republicans appealed to him to withdraw his objections, the Socialist remained firm. The board then took a recess for ten minutes and President La Guardia went to the mayor and had him prepare an emergency message. "My reason for asking for your consideration today," the mayor said in his message, "is that our distinguished visitor will remain but a few days in our midst."

In explaining his vote Alderman Falconer insisted that with Alderman Quinn was responsible for the introduction of the resolution, but no attention was paid to his statement and the resolution will be printed in the minutes of the board with the name of Alderman Quinn as the introducer.

The serves vase which M. Viviani mentioned in his speech at the City Hall last Thursday as having been sent to the City of New York as a gift from France and which had been sent to Washington by mistake, had arrived and had been placed in the mayor's reception room.

"Father, didn't you ever get licked when you were a boy?" "Indeed I did." "Well, then, what's the use trying it on me?"

WHISKY BRINGS $90 A GALLON IN MAINE

Easier to Get in Bay State—Says Federal Prohibition Officer. Portland, Me., April 18.—With alcohol selling at $90 a gallon in Bangor, as compared with $15 in Massachusetts, and whisky bringing $90 a gallon, and watered at that, George K. Christie of Haverhill, Mass., Federal prohibition enforcement officer, is of the opinion that the law is being enforced well in this state. He declares that the published statements that Aroostook County is overrun with liquor are untrue. Whisky, he says, is much easier to obtain in the Bay State than in Maine.

FRANCE TO ABANDON WILSONIAN LEAGUE

Paris, April 18.—Following the reception of a summary of the message of President Harding in Paris, the French Foreign Office instructed the French representatives on the League of Nations at Geneva gradually to reduce France's participation in the work of the league. The idea is to make the league a mere instrument for the execution of the treaty. This is regarded in diplomatic circles as a formal abandonment by France of the Wilsonian league and as an indication that France is willing to participate in a new association as foreshadowed by President Harding.

Beautifully Knit from the Softest Wool

FINER children's stockings than these cannot be made. For there is no finer wool than the soft, silky Australian lambs' wool from which we spin the yarn. And there is no better process than ours of knitting that lovely yarn into hosiery. Little Darling Stockings are made especially for babies and kiddies up to seven. Soft and warm, silken heel and toe. Not a fear of chafing—knit closely, but affording perfect ventilation. You will admit you never saw anything finer in infants' clothes. Little Daisy Stockings are made in sizes up to twelve years. They have extra strength in heel and toe. There is unusual wear, as you know, in these famous stockings. And there is the protecting warmth that romping, tireless legs must have. A wide range of colors—dainty shades, and dark—or fast black. Ask for Little Darling or Little Daisy where you buy your children's clothes. Write to us if they cannot supply you.

LOCAL NEWS

LIKELY FREED THIS WEEK.
It is expected that the efforts to float the stranded steamer City of Colombo will be successful this week. Delivery is to be made at New York.

NAVY LEAGUE.
It has been announced that the Dominion executive of the Navy League will meet in Halifax on June 1. Two or more representatives of the New Brunswick executive will probably attend.

LAST OF SEASON.
The C. P. O. S. liner Malta is due here tomorrow night at ten o'clock from Liverpool with 514 cabin and 1,422 steerage passengers. She will dock at Nos. 2 and 3 berths, Sand Point, and the passengers will be sent forward to their destinations on Wednesday in four special trains. This is the last scheduled C. P. O. S. liner here this season.

THE IMPOCO.
J. C. Chesley, local agent of the marine and fisheries department, has received word that an effort was to have been made on Saturday by a wrecking company of Halifax to float the steamer Impocho, which is stranded on Blonde Rock Ledges, but owing to unfavorable weather conditions they were unable to work. The attempt will be made today or tomorrow.

AGAIN POSTPONED.
Owing to Chief Justice McKeown being engaged elsewhere, the Aberley case was further postponed today. In the case of Mott vs. Higgins, application was made today before Chief Justice McKeown for leave to deliver interrogatories. E. C. Weyman is for the plaintiff, and M. G. Teed, K. C., for the defendant.

FLOUR LOADING.
The secretary of the board of trade has received from Montreal notification that the Canadian National Millers Association of that place will hold a conference on May 4 at which will be discussed the practicability of and progress made with mechanizing flour loading equipment. Prominent engineers will be present from the United States and the matter will be thoroughly gone into.

FREED AND AWAY.
All of the passengers, stewards and stewardesses, who were quarantined on Partridge Island since the arrival of the C. P. O. S. liner Scandinavia about five weeks ago, were released today and left on the regular outgoing trains for their destinations throughout Canada. There were 106 in the party. Three passengers are still in quarantine, one convalescent from smallpox and two from bronchitis. The three remaining were brought to West St. John at 5 o'clock this morning on the tug Gopher.

MISS HELEN HARTSHORN
Early this morning, after a lingering illness, Helen, youngest daughter of George A. and the late Annie Hartshorn passed away, aged 20 years. There are left to mourn, besides her father, two sisters, Alice and Annie and five brothers, Edward, George, Frederick, Howard and Roy, all of this city. Miss Hartshorn was a member of Portland Methodist Sunday School and when in her health was a faithful member of her class. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones. Funeral will be Wednesday at three o'clock from her father's residence, 68 Harrison street.

RELATIVES HERE.
Friends of Stanley B. Dixon were shocked to learn of his death, which occurred early this morning at his home in Lower Norton. Mr. Dixon had been ill only a week and his death came suddenly today. He was a life long resident of Lower Norton and was a prosperous farmer. He is survived by his wife, one young daughter, three brothers, including Murray Dixon, clerk with T. McAvity & Sons, this city, and Percy, also of St. John; and one sister, Helen, residing here. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at Lower Norton. The sympathy of many friends will be extended to the bereaved family.

MONCTON MARKET PRICES.
Transcript, Saturday: A large number of country people were in the market today. Eggs sold at 30c. a dozen. Butter was very firm, the opening price being 60c. a pound, but later in the day selling became slower, the price dropped to 55c. a pound. Potatoes were 80c. a bushel; carrots, 60c. per peck; parsnips, 70c. per peck; beef, 12 and 15c. for light quarter, and 12, 16 and 17c. for the heavier grades; pork, 22c. by the carcass; veal, 14 and 18c. fowl, 50c. per pound; maple syrup, $2.30 a gallon; maple candy, 60c. lb.; maple sugar, 40 and 50c. Farmers are now only receiving 2 and 2c. a pound for cow hides, Calfskins 7 and 8c. lb.; sheepskins, 25 and 30c. Wool, washed, 14c.; unwashed, 10c.

INQUIRY FROM BROTHER.
The secretary of the board of trade received a letter this morning from the brother of Henry Hick, of Alberta, who contracted smallpox and died of the disease while quarantined on Partridge Island. In his letter the brother asked if the wife and three children of the dead man were receiving proper attention, and if they were well supplied with money. He also inquired if the body might be disinterred and taken home. The secretary found that Mrs. Hick and her three children had left the island this morning and were at the immigration sheds on the west side waiting to go west tonight. They had plenty of money. With regard to the removal of the body, since the man died of an infectious disease permission must be obtained from Ottawa before it could be disturbed.

DIED IN CHARLESTOWN.
Many friends here will be sorry to learn of the death of Jeremiah Kelly, who passed away on Sunday in Charlestown, Mass. The news came to his brother Alphonsus, 45 Magasine street. Mr. Kelly left here some twenty-five years ago and made his home in the United States. He succumbed to double pneumonia. When word of his illness reached here his mother, Mrs. Annie Kelly left for Boston and was with him when he died. Mr. Kelly was a son of the late Jeremiah Kelly and is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susie McGovern of St. John, and ten children. He also leaves his mother, three brothers and four sisters. The brothers are Alphonsus, Fred and Wilfred, all of St. John and the sisters are Marjory, in Boston, and Dora, Irene and Florence, at home. The late Vincent Kelly, who gave his life in the war, was a brother. Alphonsus Kelly will leave for Boston this evening to attend the funeral.

C. P. R. TRAINS

General Change in This District Effective on May 1—What is Planned.

A general change of time on the Eastern lines of the C. P. R. will become effective on May 1. On the New Brunswick district the changes will affect every train.

McAdam express, No. 101, will leave at 6:05 a. m., instead of 6:20 as at present. Returning from McAdam, No. 102 will arrive here at 9:25 instead of 8:25 p. m.

The morning train to Boston will not be put on until 25.

The night train out of here for Boston will leave at 5:45, and will make only one stop, Fredericton Junction, en route to McAdam. Passengers for intermediate points will be required to travel on the local Fredericton train. The train from Boston will arrive here at 11:45 a. m.

There will be two Montreal trains, No. 15, leaving at 8:45 p. m., due to arrive in Montreal at 8:10; and No. 39, leaving at 6:30 p. m., due to arrive in Montreal at 11:30. Returning train No. 40 will arrive here at 6:15 a. m., and the second at 12 o'clock, noon.

Passengers from Fredericton Junction for intermediate points to McAdam Junction will be required to travel on No. 15. There is a feature in connection with this which gives patrons an opportunity to make connections north and south of McAdam.

Trains north and south of McAdam will leave on practically the same schedule as last summer, with the exception that there will be a greater spread of time between departures from St. Stephen, St. Andrews and Woodstock. This was arranged in order to accommodate business men there, who will be enabled to receive their mail and answer in time to catch the trains for Montreal and Boston at McAdam Junction.

On the St. Andrew's branch there will be one train each way until June 20, when it is expected a double service will be inaugurated.

On the Shore Line a train will leave here at 9:20 a. m., and is due to arrive in St. Stephen at 9 p. m. A train will leave St. Stephen at 8 a. m., and is due here at 2:30 p. m. This will enable passengers traveling from intermediate points to St. John to make much better time than formerly.

Under the new arrangements there will be a train leaving here for Fredericton at 6:05 a. m., 8:45 p. m., 4:10 p. m., and 6:30 p. m., making direct connections into Fredericton. Returning from Fredericton, the morning train will be placed back to the service and will leave there at 6:10 a. m., and be due to arrive here at 7:50 a. m. There will also be the usual connections with the Montreal and Boston trains arriving here at 11:45 and 12 o'clock, noon. No. 102 will leave Fredericton at 7 p. m., and be due here at 9:25 p. m.

On May 1 a partial suburban service will also be effective. A train will leave Welsford at 6:40 a. m., and will depart in the evening at 6:10. The Saturday noon train will also be placed in service. This will continue until May 22, when the full suburban service will be inaugurated. Full details of the suburban changes will be advertised.

LABOR TROUBLE IN FREDERICTON

Breaks Out At Victoria Mills Over the Ten-Hour Day.

Fredericton, N. B., April 18.—Victoria mills of the Fraser Companies, Limited, in this city are shut down today as a result of the inauguration of the ten-hour day. The only work being carried on is by foremen and a crew loading cars, who are working on piece work, being paid by the car.

The main mill has not been running, but the planing mill has been working intermittently and a crew have been engaged in making repairs and getting ready for the season's operations. The loading crew, it was said by union officials, had decided to work out the present orders, but would quit work at 5 p. m. instead of working ten hours. Whether they will undertake further work was said to be undecided.

The Fraser Companies said it was true they had laid off the men because the union had voted to work only a nine-hour day.

Officials of the union declared that under no circumstances would they return to the ten-hour day.

MISS CARTER IS HYDRO SECRETARY

Personnel of N. B. Hydro Commission Complete—The Contracts Still to Be Let.

At the last meeting of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, the personnel of the commission was detailed as follows: Chairman, Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, of Shediac; member and chief engineer, C. O. Fos, of St. John; member, L. A. Dugal, of Edmundston, and secretary, Miss Royce Carter of St. John.

The members of the commission will meet in St. John on Tuesday or Wednesday to open the tenders for the construction of the generating station at Musquash. D. Sheppard and P. H. Mitchell, of Toronto, consulting engineers, will be in the city for the meeting. The granting of this contract will clean up practically all the contracts, with the exception of the switching equipment, erection of the towers for the transmission line, the sub-station at Fairville and the surge-tanks at the power house. A crew of men is now at work clearing the right of way for the transmission line from Musquash to this city.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE

Montreal, April 18.—During the first half hour the local stock exchange gave every indication of being no better than it was last week only three of the principal issues appearing. Brompton was unchanged at 33. Breweries was fractionally stronger at 40 3/4. Biordna, whose drop was a feature of Saturday's trading, was even weaker this morning, opening a quarter point below its close at 90 3/4, and then sagging another quarter to 90 1/2.

Furniture that is Built for the Future

The difference between furniture of transitory value and furniture of permanent worth and beauty often lies in the small details of construction not apparent to the casual observer, but which are the fundamental factors that enter into all furniture offered by this store.

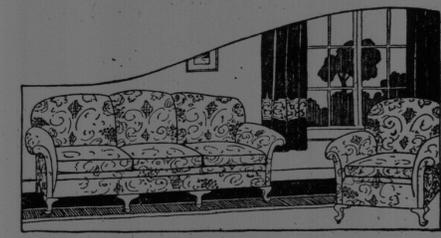

The value of good furniture is two-fold—the dignified, definite purpose in the home and the beauty which never grows monotonous, but which is endeared by association.

This has its present application in the Chesterfield suites—(now getting so deservedly popular) which we are in an unsurpassed position to offer.

Perhaps you'd like to see the suites "in the flesh" as it were?

EXPECT DEFICIT OF $10,000 ON HARBOR IN 1921

Estimates of Revenue and Expenses Presented to Council

Letter from Power Company on West Side Track Matter - Paving Tenders for Douglas Avenue - The C. P. R. Bridge Question.

At this morning's committee meeting of the common council, two tenders for the paving of Douglas avenue were received and referred to the road engineer for report. An estimate of expenses and revenue for the harbor department, showing a projected deficit of $10,000 in the year's operation was presented by Commissioner Bullock. A letter from L. R. Ross regarding the removal of the tracks from Queen square, West St. John was read and ordered to lie on the table.

Harbor Estimates.

Commissioner Bullock presented an estimate of the expenses and revenue for the harbor department for 1921. The total estimated expenses amounted to $308,974. Revenue was placed at $190,000, which with an amount of $8,600 in amounts to be bonded, would leave a deficit of $10,974.

Estimated deficit - $10,974.

Speaking about the item of extra insurance, Commissioner Thornton said he was under the impression that the addition of new fire boxes, fire extinguishers and other equipment in the west side sheds would reduce the premium. Mr. Bullock replied that it was the ruling of the ramp for the C. P. R. that had increased the insurance rate. He said that it was his intention that all buildings in the future should be more substantial and of fireproof construction.

West Side Track.

Commissioner Fink read a letter from L. R. Ross, president of the New Brunswick Power Company, regarding the request to remove the rails from Queen square, West St. John. He said that the act provided for the removal of the tracks in St. James street, but, on account of a sharp turn at the corner of Watson street, it was not advisable to take the street cars that way. The alternate route was along St. John street, which would necessitate the filling of deep ravines. He estimated that the cost of the change would be $2,814.18. The receipts on this line averaged $34.29 a day, while the cost of operation averaged $63.54 a day.

On motion it was decided to lay the matter on the table until the mayor and commissioners had looked over the proposed routes.

Rising to a question of privilege, Dr. Fink said that in the Evening Times of April 15, an editorial appeared under the heading "Up To The Council," in which it was stated that "the city solicitor never gave an opinion that would justify a neutral attitude on the part of the city council concerning this matter" (the C. P. R. bridge question).

"This statement," he said, "would lead to the conviction that we were, to put it in a mild way, playing with the truth." He said that the statement should not be let go unchallenged. He presumed that the editor was a good citizen and had no intention to place the mayor and commissioners in such a position. He said the editor's action was indiscreet.

The mayor said the action was unreasonable and he had asked for an explanation, which he hoped to get in a few days.

Letters from the N. B. Telephone Co., N. B. Power Co., Western Union Telegraph Co. and C. P. R. Telegraph Co., acknowledging receipt of copies of a resolution passed by the common council regarding the marking of poles, and stating that the matter was being given attention, were read and ordered acknowledged.

Report of Ferry Accident.

The superintendent of ferries reported that on April 4, the Ludlow going into the east side floats struck Thorne's wharf and did some damage. The accident was due to the refusal of the vessel to work. The defect, he said, had been remedied. Mr. Bullock said the damage would amount to about $800.

Renewal from May 1 was recommended of all last year's leases with the exception of the McAvity warehouse in water street, until May 1, 1922.

On motion of Commissioner Fink it was decided to grant permission to erect an electric sign at the corner of Union and St. Patrick streets, under the usual conditions.

An application from the Maritime Garage to erect a gasoline pump at the head of Rodney street, was referred to Commissioner Fink.

DR. ABRAMSON REPORTS ON CASE

Moncton Man Suffering From Sleeping Sickness He Says; House Quarantined.

(Moncton Transcript, Saturday)

A quarantine has been placed on the residence of W. D. Marrs, 64 Enterprise street. The ban was made effective on Friday by the Board of Health, following a verbal report from Dr. Harry L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, St. John.

A later communication from Dr. Abramson confirms the report of Mr. Marrs being a victim to sleeping sickness. At times he is conscious and at other times semi-conscious, but is said to know at all times what is going on. On Friday morning the patient ate a good breakfast, but was reported this morning as not being so well. The quarantine will be in effect for some period. Mr. Marrs is a C. N. R. conductor, running on a northern express. A local physician pointed out to the Board of Health this morning that the disease was contagious, and patients were ordered isolated. In former years it was limited to tropical Africa, but is gradually spreading.

The physician pointed out that the symptoms of the disease were irregular in their onset. The second stages showed slowly increasing lethargy and more or less nervous symptoms. It was first known in 1901, the germs being found mostly in the cerebro spinal fluid and in the enlarged lymphatic glands and circulating blood. Irregular fever is one of the definite symptoms of the disease.

DROPS HER BABES INTO ARMS OF A POLICEMAN

New York, April 18—Mrs. Marie Mioré saved her three babies from possible death by fire today by dropping them, one by one, from the second story of her blazing bedroom in Brooklyn, into the arms of Patrolman Glander. The mother then came down the fire escape, just as a spurt of flame shot through the window where she had been standing.

HAVE A KNOTTY PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Constantinople, April 16—Invitation by the Angora assembly of the Turkish Nationalist government to the Sultan to visit Anatolia, has brought the crown council here face to face with a dilemma. If the Sultan should accept the invitation it is feared he will become a puppet in the hands of the Nationalists. If, on the other hand, he remains in Constantinople, the Nationalists may proclaim a new sultan.

It is argued by the Nationalists that they have been recognized by France, Italy and Soviet Russia. They contend that Turkish prestige has thus been re-established, and that the Sultan has an opportunity to strengthen the position of the Caliphate with the 300,000,000 of Moslems.

PERSONAL

Miss Zita MacDonald, of Douglas avenue, left on Saturday evening for New York, where she will visit relatives.

WRANGLER SETS UP A GOVERNMENT

France Hears of Move in Constantinople and is Not Pleased.

Paris, April 18—General Wrangel, former head of the South Russian government in the Crimea, has established a so-called Russian government at Constantinople, according to a semi-official French announcement yesterday. He is attempting, the statement says, to maintain his Crimean troops as an army, opposing the efforts of the French military authorities to repatriate the refugees or send them to Brazil or elsewhere, so that they might earn their own living.

Formal announcement has been made that the French recognition of the government of South Russia as a de facto authority ceased when General Wrangel was forced out of the Crimea by the Bolsheviks and that the general's men were to recognize his orders. The relief afforded these refugees is declared to have cost France more than 200,000,000 francs during the last five months, and that she has received as security the general's ships and some merchandise, the whole worth hardly one-fourth of that.

The French government, in agreement with the other powers, it is said, considered General Wrangel's men only as refugees, whom it fed through humanitarian motives, and cannot tolerate their existence as an army on Turkish soil, this being a violation of the armistice and endangering the security of Constantinople.

Therefore it feels that the men must be repatriated, the statement of General Wrangel and his staff.

SERIOUS FOR THE SOLDIERS

Veterans' Secretary Presents Case Before Committee in Ottawa.

Ottawa, April 18—(Canadian Press.) That unless a remarkable revival was shown in business, minimum of ten million dollars, and a maximum of twenty million would be necessary to provide relief for soldiers in Canada during the next winter, was stated before the special parliamentary committee in soldiers' civil establishment this morning by C. G. MacNeil, dominion secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association. He said the crisis in the unemployment situation was at hand, and would reach its peak during the winter months. Last winter, soldiers believed to have been in comfortable circumstances were found on the verge of starvation, and were given a "crust of bread" in their homes.

He urged a comprehensive scheme for loans, for homes and education and industrial enterprises, immediately productive.

Mr. Cronley, chairman, recognized the importance of this and said details would have to be considered by the committee.

Mr. MacNeil also asked for certain amendments to facilitate the payments of pensions.

TWELVE IN THE POLICE COURT

"From a stranger, Your Honor," was the answer given the magistrate this morning in the police court when he asked ten men charged with drunkenness where they got the "stuff" that brought them there. Twelve arrests were made by the police over the week-end. After a severe lecture on "alloys, bootleggers and women" they were marched downstairs to await the pleasure of the court as to what the fines shall be.

Samuel Keirstead, pleaded not guilty to stealing a quantity of junk, valued at $18, the property of J. S. Gregory. He was remanded for witnesses.

Harry Andrews, pleaded guilty to assisting and being James R. Vaughan. He was remanded for sentence.

George H. Brooks and George W. Lord on suspicion of breaking and entering the warehouse and stealing whisky, were again before the court but the case was postponed until Friday afternoon.

Lord is also on suspicion of stealing coal from the Dominion Coal Company. G. Earl Logan appeared for the defence and H. H. McLean, Jr., for the prosecution.

Harry Kent reported for selling lemon extract unlawfully, was to be in court this afternoon.

TARIFF BILL IS NOW IN SENATE

May Set Back Knox Peace Resolution—House Deals With Immigration Restriction.

Washington, April 18—The emergency tariff bill passed by the house last week, began its course in the senate today with the opening of limited hearings before the finance committee on certain provisions of the United States valuation section.

Chairman Penrose said that the measure probably would not be reported out before late in the week, although it is hoped to press it to final action before the end of next week. This programme may involve displacement of the Knox peace resolution, which the foreign relations committee will take up on Wednesday with plans for an immediate report. Debate on the resolution is scheduled to follow disposal of the Colombian treaty which, under agreement, will come to a vote on Wednesday.

The house was prepared today to take up the immigration restriction bill. The immigration committee was ready to report the bill, which leaders plan to put through before the end of the week in the same form as vetoed by President Wilson.

THE COAL STRIKE

A meeting of the parliamentary labor committee and the trades union congress will be held on Wednesday, and it is believed that at this meeting some programme may be formulated for presentation at next Friday's conference of miners. The parliamentary labor committee has in the past been servicable as an intermediary in labor disputes, its only failure to function occurring during the crisis last week.

This failure, however, is understood to have resulted from the reluctance of some of the most influential members of the committee to do anything which might identify the parliamentary arm of the labor movement with the general strike policy.

It is estimated that the eighteen idle days in the coal pits have deprived the nation of 11,000,000 tons of coal, with serious reaction on various industries, recovery from which is daily growing more difficult.

MEMORIAL PARADE HERE ON NEXT SUNDAY

A memorial parade of returned soldiers will be held on next Sunday morning to commemorate the anniversary of the second battle of Ypres, which took place on April 22, 1915. According to arrangements, uniforms are optional and the men will form up at the old court house where officers in charge will give them instructions after which they will march to divine service at two of the city churches.

The second battle of Ypres was the first battle in which the deadly German gas was used. On this occasion the Canadians covered themselves with glory and withstood the attack, but not before many brave lads were stricken by the gas. Definite arrangements as to what churches the men will attend have not yet been made.

JAPAN'S NOTE RE ISLAND OF YAP

Says U. S. Must Prove Wilson Reservation and Supreme Council Decision.

Washington, April 18—To maintain its position with regard to the Pacific island of Yap, the U. S. government would have to "prove not merely the fact" that President Wilson made reservations concerning it, but also that the supreme council "decided in favor of those views," says the Japanese government in a note under date of February 26, made public today by the state department along with other correspondence between the two governments regarding Yap.

"It must also be remembered," Japan says, "that if a decision in favor of the exclusion of the island of Yap—a question of grave concern to Japan, and one on which the Japanese delegation invariably maintained a firm attitude—had really been made, as it is implied by the argument of the U. S. government, at the meeting of (the supreme council) May 7, 1919, at which Japan was not represented, it could not but have been regarded as an act of entirely bad faith."

It was to this note that Secretary Hughes replied, the same time sending notes to the government of Great Britain, France and Italy.

"He declared that the U. S. was unable to agree with Japan's contention that in order to maintain its position it would have to 'prove' not only that President Wilson made reservation regarding Yap, but also that the supreme council adopted those views.

"As no treaty has ever been concluded with the U. S. relating to the island of Yap," Mr. Hughes added, "and as no one has ever been authorized to cede or surrender the right of interest of the United States in the island, this government must insist that it has not lost its right of interest as it existed prior to any action of the supreme council or of the League of Nations and cannot recognize the allocation of the island or the validity of mandate to Japan."

Japan has not as yet replied to this communication.

MANY LIVES LOST

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Memphis, Tenn., April 17—Incomplete reports from the six states swept late Friday and Saturday by storms showed tonight a death list of 97 with 20 seriously injured and nearly thirty suffering lesser injuries. Property damage, it was estimated, will run into the millions, and when relief parties report isolated sections it is feared that the death toll will amount still higher. As compiled tonight by states the death list was:

Texas 9; Arkansas 66; Mississippi 8; and Alabama 14. In Arkansas the injured list has reached 71 tonight.

INTRUDER IN GARAGE GETS A SHRAPNEL CHARGE

Trap Set for Burglar Works Well—Suspect Arrested in Hospital.

New York, April 18—An improvised shrapnel composed of buckshot with a liberal charge of gunpowder, concealed in a cash box in the safe in a garage here yesterday resulted in the arrest of a man charged with burglary.

Twice recently the garage has been visited by robbers. The owners then hit upon the scheme of placing the powder and shot in the box in such a manner that upon opening it, the charge would detonate, projecting the shot in a shower.

Early yesterday the watchman heard a loud report. Upon entering the office of the garage, he found blood on the floor. The robber, however, had disappeared, but had failed to gather up the money in the cash box.

Detectives notified the hospitals to be on the lookout for any one applying for treatment of buckshot wounds. Late in the day Jos. Schmidt applied to a hospital for treatment and was found to be suffering from several wounds, apparently inflicted by buckshot. He was placed under arrest.

Resignation of Bonar Law at an Awkward Time For Government

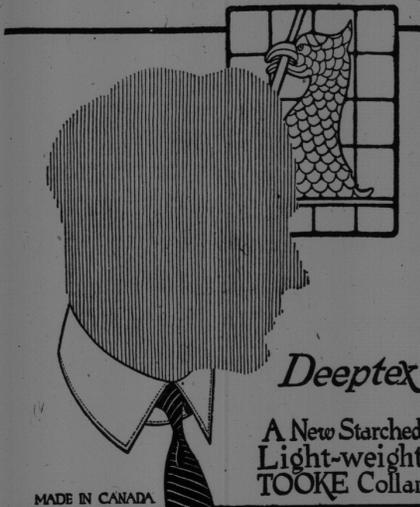

Much Now Depends on Manner in Which Lloyd George and Austen Chamberlain Work Together

(From Our Own Correspondent.) London, March 24—The most awkward thing about Bonar Law's resignation, without in the least attempting to belittle that gentleman's eminent services to his country and his party, was the moment of its enforced necessity. Because it was an enforced necessity, there is not the smallest truth in any of the widespread rumors now going round some of the clubs and newspaper offices in London about camouflaged expediency. It is simply a breakdown in health, long over-taxed and none too robust, that has brought about the present emergency, and Mr. Law was on the most cordial terms with the prime minister, and in full working agreement with him and the rest of his more important cabinet colleagues, when the doctors ordered him to throw up his work and take an imperative rest.

Apart from the fact that Mr. Law's special intellectual and temperamental equipment made him peculiarly admirable as a working partner in co-operation with the present prime minister at the head of the existing coalition government, his sudden retirement just now was an awkward contingency. The coalition is in the midst of its most critical and trying session, and experiencing the full force of its innumerable enemies' attacks from within and without. Moreover, Lloyd George and Mr. Law were actively in the midst of the most crucial and delicate efforts to form up their respective party followings into a more permanent and welding organism, with a view to the inevitable day when it will become necessary once more to challenge opinion in the country.

Mischief-Makers Disappointed. The opponents of the prime minister and the mischief-makers who, for personal reasons, hate and detest the coalition, have not failed to make the most of such an opportunity as Mr. Law's sudden exit from the active political arena presented. No doubt they will try to work all the damage possible before the new leader of the Unionist party in the house of commons gets firmly in the saddle, but the meeting at the Carlton Club rather effectually squashed some of these machinations in the bud. Mr. Chamberlain's election was carried unanimously and without any hostile demonstration. There was not even an attempt, as we were promised there might be in some journals, to get the election postponed. The malcontents were overruled completely, and so far as the Unionist party in the house of commons is concerned, their numbers and influence are alike insignificant.

Relations With the Premier. What will now develop depends entirely on the manner in which Mr. Chamberlain works in with Lloyd George and how his followers in the house of commons support their new leader. That the prime minister will have little difficulty in hitting it off with his new partner is almost certain. Mr. Chamberlain is, in some respects, much more fully in sympathy with Lloyd George than Mr. Law was or is. On the question of Ireland, for instance, probably Mr. Chamberlain is much more of the prime minister's way of thinking than his predecessor. He is not more distant from the prime minister's angle of view should romp home. Thirteen years ago there was a famous Grand National win by Rubbo, which made the fortunes of a few lucky plungers who backed it, notwithstanding that the animal had been between the shafts of a dog-cart, after having done duty in a railway omnibus. Three years later there was another remarkable winner in the person of Glenside, which finished twenty lengths ahead of anything, as the result of being the only horse that did not come a cropper at one or other of the jumps, out of a field of twenty-six. Glenside had only one eye—a circumstance that should have propitiated the superstitious. Of course, sporting men are cram-full of such legends about crooks winning big events, and the Derby is a famous festival for outsiders, a notable example being the London cab-horse, Signifinetta, about which they still talk reverently in the East End bar parlors.

MENTAL DEFECTS IN SCHOOL CHILDREN "The prevention and correction of mental defectiveness," says the P. S. Public Health Service, "is one of the great public health problems of today. Its influence is continually cropping out. For instance, recent studies have shown that feeble-mindedness is an important factor in prostitution, and that a marked proportion of juvenile delinquency is traceable to some degree of mental deficiency in the offender."

It is a pity Any Time failed to win the Grand National, not merely because so many ex-servicemen, just for old time's sake, put their money on the attractively-named animal that Colonel Little bought two years ago from an army draft for £60, but also because it would have been quite in the poetic fitness of things that an unpedigreed horse

N. S. MAN KILLED Bridgeport, Conn., April 17—Hugh McKay, aged forty-three, a native of Lake Ainslie (N. S.), while riding in a motor cycle with his wife, was instantly killed when their machine was struck by a street car. Mrs. McKay was seriously injured. McKay was an electric linesman and a son of the late Neil McKay, of Scotsville (N. S.). USE The Want Ad Way have been carried into practical effect if there had been a continuance of the business boom we knew in 1920. But the cry for economy brought down Sir Eric's plans like a pack of cards. He himself attributes his failure to one word—the word "grandiose." As applied to the programme of the ministry of transport, it was fatal at a time when all the politicians and nearly all the press of Great Britain were in full hue and cry after the elusive hare, economy.

Sir Eric's Future. It would be a mistake to imagine, however, that it was the failure of his transport schemes that led Sir Eric to announce his impending retirement. Under the pledge of secrecy he told a friend of mine many months ago that he intended to retire this year, though his hope then was that before he made his exit from the parliamentary stage his transport scheme would be an accomplished fact. Sir Eric frankly detested the house of commons. In his own line he is unquestionably a big man, and his patience to endure meekly the barkings and yappings of the parliamentary terriers who make their name at St. Stephen's by snapping at the heels of ministers.

Grandiose. Sir Eric Geddes, I hear, will be offered the dignity of a peerage when he retires from politics a little later in the year. Apart from the fact that he is on terms of very close personal friendship with Lloyd George, no one will question that he has thoroughly well earned this distinction. All engineers are agreed that he did excellent work in reorganizing the railways behind the western front, and though his plans for reorganizing our own transport at home on a national basis were not fated to be successful, many experts still believe that they were well conceived and might even

Paris and London. At the St. James' Club, where diplomats do most foregather, there is much talk about the efforts of the Germans to reopen negotiations with London and Paris with a view to a compromise on the question of reparations. It is unlikely that these efforts will succeed until Germany is in a position to send someone to meet us who really has some authority. Dr. Simons had practically none. If Lloyd George and M. Briand could thrash matters out with Herr Stinnes they would know where they stood, because Herr Stinnes is the real dictator of Germany at the present moment. Together with a group of powerful promoters he rules everything. There is no government worthy of the name, and ministers have to take their orders from these captains of industry, who are carefully fomenting the cry that Germany is starving, while they export eggs themselves to Holland for their own profit.

HALIFAX MEN SAY MAYFLOWER O. K.

Halifax, April 17—That the schooner Mayflower recently launched at Essex (Mass.), as a contender for the honor of representing the United States in the international schooner races of Halifax next autumn, is a fishing vessel of the New England type, is the opinion of Halifax yachtsmen who inspected the vessel last week.

RACHEL Centenary of Famous French Actress—Was Honored by Royalty.

A few days ago there occurred the centenary of the birth of an actress who was to the first half of the nineteenth century what Bernhardt was to the last half. She too was a Frenchwoman and her name was Rachel. We suppose that seventy or eighty years ago nothing would have been much more difficult than to convince the theatre goers of the day, whether in France, in Austria, in Russia or in England, that the fame of Rachel would not outlive her generation, and that nobody would read the penographic written of her while she lived and dominated the stage of Europe. Indeed, the truth is that about the only thing written of Rachel which is remembered, even by the studios, is an opinion of this superlative vamp set down by a little Yorkshire governess, to wit Charlotte Bronte. Writing in the New York Times, Helen Bullitt Lowry says that all other contemporary articles about Rachel read like the ravings of a madman. She seems to have hypnotized the critics. Nobody could find any fault with her. Alone of her generation Charlotte Bronte pierced her soul.

Bronte's Opinion. She wrote: "I had heard this woman termed plain, and I expected harshness and grimaces, something large, angular, salow. What I saw was the shadow of a royal Vaseline, a queen once fair as the day, turned pale now like twilight and wasted like wax in a flame. For a while—for a long while—I thought it was only a woman, though a unique woman, who moved in might and grace before the multitude. By and by I recognized my mistake. Behold I found in her something neither woman nor man. In each of her eyes sat a devil. Those evil forces bore her through tragedy, her up her feeble strength—for she was but a frail creature, and, as the action rose and the stir deepened, how wildly those evil forces shook her with their passions of the pit. They wrote Hell on her straight, haughty brow.

Suffering had struck that stage empress. She stood locked in the struggle, right in resistance. She stood, not dressed, but draped in pale antique folds, long and regular like sculpture. Vaseline was not good, I was told, once on the theatre, she leaped to fame, after a apprenticeship of playing a fiddle and dancing on the streets of Paris. For twenty years thereafter she was the reigning queen of the European theatre. Kings descended from their thrones to do her homage. "You are weary," said the Czar of Russia. "You are weary," said the Emperor of Austria. The Carolina gave her what was reputed to be the costliest set of furs in the world. Historic jewels were showered upon her. Frugally she disposed of them and like a dutiful daughter divided the plunder with her father and mother. Queen Victoria threw a flower from her own bouquet and gave her a private audience, at the end of which she remarked, "What a sweet, modest girl!" therein displaying less than her usual shrewdness. Rachel she left the august presence doing a sort of a can-can she would have been disillusioned.

Haired by Intellectuals. Unquestionably she was a great artist, though her conquest of crowned heads does not necessarily prove it. She was hailed by the creative artists of the period. Victor Hugo, Theophile Gautier, and Dumas reckoned her one of the great intellects and paid their court to her as humbly as the meanest squire for her favors. Perhaps without knowing what she was about Rachel did have an influence upon French art. She checked the movement toward romanticism which flowered in England but withered in France. She played in the stern old Greek classics and gave popularity to the sentimental. This is all the more curious when it is realized that Rachel was always partly literate. She had not the ignorance that is possible in a great singer who happens to have a marvellous voice but little comprehension of the meaning of the writers of her songs. Rachel had a quick intelligence, a powerful imagination, and marvellous imitative faculty.

A Race With Consumption. Her innumerable intrigues were known in her lifetime, but apparently they did not detract from her reputation. She had a long procession of lovers. She hooked them shamelessly, and shared her spoils with her parents. The most noted of them was Count Walewski, himself the product of such a union as he and the actress entered upon, his father being Napoleon and his mother the beautiful Pole. She had a son by him, but did not grieve long when the count announced that it was time he got married seriously. She consoled herself with another. Her later years were tragic. Her whole life had been a race against consumption. Never end of her career her speeches would frequently be interrupted by spells of coughing. Eventually she could not speak above a whisper. It is related that the last time she visited Paris she went by night to the closed theatres which had witnessed her triumphs and stood before each of them in silence for a moment. Then she drove home never again to breathe the open air.

BODY OF EMPRESS TAKEN TO POTSDAM

Former Kaiser Not at Station But Stays in House at Doorn.

Doorn, April 18—The funeral train bearing the body of former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany to Potsdam left the little station at Maarn, three miles from here, at 7.45 a. m. Former Emperor William did not go to Maarn to see the train leave, but remained at the house of Doorn in company with his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia. Princess Louise, daughter of the late empress and General von Gontard, chief of the household, were the only ones present to see the funeral car leave.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE CHARGE AGAINST DEAF MUTE FAILS

New York, April 18—Albert De Mentone of Philadelphia endeavored on Saturday to secure the arrest of Maurice Harbaugh, a deaf mute, on a charge of using abusive language. It is alleged that Harbaugh, using his fingers as a medium of speech, referred to Mrs. De Mentone, as "one swell kid," and made various remarks concerning the lady's physical characteristics.

MUCH ICE REPORTED IN GULF OF ST. LAWRENCE

Montreal, April 17—Much ice is reported from the Gulf of St. Lawrence by the Canadian Government steamer Stanley and the steamer W. H. Tilford, bound for Quebec.

SERIOUS TIME IN ITALY'S ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Rome, April 18—Street fighting, revolver duels and the sacking of buildings in various parts of Italy are continuing to enliven the electoral campaign. The general strike continues in Leghorn. The printers are refusing to print even the Fascist organ. The postal employes remain at work.

DOG GETS MEDAL

London, April 18—The medal of the National Canine Defence League has been awarded to a Great Dane dog named Quondon Lucas. His owner was walking along a dark road when the dog suddenly rushed along at a full gallop, pumped at him and threw him into a hedge. A second later a motor car rushed by. The dog was struck and badly injured.

NO PETROL FOR THE RECKLESS

Vienna, April 18—So many people have been killed and injured recently by reckless driving in Vienna by taxicab drivers and chauffeurs that the police have adopted the drastic measure of depriving of petrol all licensed taxicab drivers who knock down a pedestrian.

TO JAIL IN STYLE

London, April 18—In future city of London prisoners will ride in a handsome motor car, more suggestive of an up-to-date ambulance than of the old Black Maria. Painted chocolate brown with black panels it is a three-ton car, with cubicle accommodations for twelve prisoners.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN presents PAULINE FREDERICK in MADAME X

What's in a Name? Sometimes Tragedy. She Called Herself "Madame X" but 'twas only a cloak to hide her real identity. Brought to justice before her husband's bar, defended by her own son for a crime committed to save her husband's career—such is the great undertheme of "Madame X," presenting Pauline Frederick as Jacqueline Floriot.

Handiest of Fruits—

Just slice an orange or two and place on leaves of lettuce—in a jiffy you have delicious salad.

Sprinkle sliced or cut-up oranges with shredded cocoanut or sugar—and there's a dessert that everybody likes.

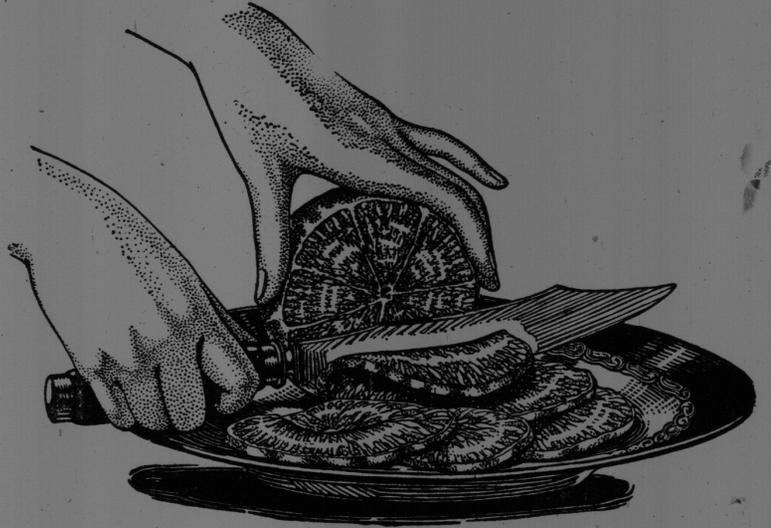

"Five-minute" dishes we call them. Ready in a trice for a quick lunch, on matinee days or maid's day out—or when unexpected guests drop in.

What other fruit is so convenient, so versatile, so good?

* * * *

Keep a dozen Sunkist oranges always in the house—to save time, to have luscious foods, to be ready for emergencies, and to benefit the family's health.

Sunkist Oranges slice best because they are practically seedless. Sweet, juicy, tender, firm—they make most tempting foods.

Ask your dealer for them. Get them in the tissue wrappers stamped "Sunkist."
