Canada in the War

Dr. W. B. McVey returned home yesterday from Halifax where he succeeded in qualifying as a lieutenant and also as a captain, having taken double examinations, in the army medical corps. He has volunteered for foreign service.

About twenty men have been recruited to the overseas contingent by German street Baptist church, Rev. P. S. Porter in his sermon yesterday morning, announced that he also said that the soldiers next Sunday would attend that church for divine service.

Their fellow employees in the N. B. Telephone Co., on Saturday night tendered a banquet to Percy Hill and Roland Smith who have volunteered for foreign service with the 20th battalion. Each received a gold wrist watch from the company assembled, presented on behalf of those present by O. J. Frazer, general superintendent. A. B. Hopkins directed the programme. The affair was held in Bond's restaurant.

A government statement says that in the canteen for the Canadians in England only light beer is sold.

The Artillery

An appointment of distinction has been given the command of the division—ammunition column, an office usually conferred only on a lieutenant-colonel. Capt. W. A. Harrison will go as adjutant, and Lieut. Donald F. Pidgeon as quartermaster. Lieut. Col. Armstrong had a query on Saturday as to the possibility of his forming a complete field battery, and he is of the opinion that he could easily raise the desired number if authorized to do so. There are twenty-four artillery officers to select from to man the battery if it is raised here.

Church Parades

The men of the battalion marched to church yesterday morning, the Protestant members to Trinity were very few. Dean Lundy, of Halifax, gave a stirring sermon and the Catholic members under Captain Keefe to the Cathedral where Rev. C. J. McLaughlin addressed them in complimentary tones.

In the afternoon the men attended the mass meeting in the Imperial Theatre

GERMAN CRUISER COMPELLED NEUTRAL SHIP TO GIVE UP COAL

London, Nov. 30.—Reuters' Christiania correspondent says that a cablegram received there from Antofagasta states that a German cruiser stopped the Norwegian ship Helicon in Chilean waters and compelled her to give up her cargo of coal.

WAR NOTES

It is officially announced in Petrograd that heavy German losses have been sustained in east Prussia, but no mention is made of the capture of two German army divisions as reported in the London and Paris papers.

A letter dated Nov. 19, from England, says that there has been a steady stream of territorialists into France from the training camps at England following Lord Kitchener's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London.

Dr. J. A. McDonald, editor of the Toronto Globe in a speech before the Toronto University Alumni Association of Chicago on Saturday said that Von Bernhardt, retired German general, had visited San Francisco in May, 1913, and at a secret meeting had outlined to some 800 German residents of that city the plans for the present war. Leading German citizens of San Francisco deny that any such plans were told of except in a general way and that the meeting was not secret.

DESPERADO ONCE DUKE?
Man Who Killed Himself in Philadelphia Had Been in Austrian Army
Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—The body of a man who shot and seriously wounded Morris G. Conroy, a wealthy manufacturer, in a hotel here and then committed suicide has been identified by Patrick Devine, a wharf watchman, as that of a man he pulled from the river a few nights ago and rescued from his troubles. The stranger had told Devine that his name was Paul Schmidt and that he was an Austrian, and he had recently come to this city from Galveston, Texas. He said that he had been drinking heavily and had decided to end his troubles.

"Fritz Capello, Reichgraf von Wickenburg, Lieut. K. U. K. Troisième, Landesschützen Regiment No. 8, Innsbruck" is written on a memorandum found in the pocket of the dead man. From this the police believe that the man was in the Austrian army and enjoyed the title of duke. Across the back of the memorandum, however, is written the word "Cashier, 1911," which shows the police say that the man was dishonorably discharged from the army three years ago.

The last words of the desperado, as he faced Mr. and Mrs. Conroy in their room in the hotel and demanded money and jewelry were: "I am wanted by the New York police, but I don't care what becomes of me."

Letter heads from several hotels in New York were found in his possession as well as also memoranda showing expenditures made in New York city within the last few days. From these the police believe that he had committed a crime in that city and detectives from there will view the body in an effort to identify it. There were a few Mexican coins in his pockets.

RECENT DEATHS

John McGoldrick
John McGoldrick, one of the best known men in the city, died last evening at his home in Rockland road, after an illness of only a few weeks. Mr. McGoldrick for twenty-seven years was representative of Stanley Ward in the city council, and held many offices in City Hall, including deputy mayor, chairman of safety board and board of public works. He also ran for commissioner when the commission form of government was introduced in 1910, but was defeated.

Mr. McGoldrick was in his sixty-second year. He was the oldest son of the late Patrick and Catherine McGoldrick and was the last of four sons. He leaves to mourn, his wife, one son—Harry, and three daughters: Jennie and Marion at home, and Mrs. Frank Mullin, of Paddock street. One sister, Mrs. M. A. Morgan, New York, also survives. Rev. Thomas McGoldrick, a brother, died ten years ago. The other two brothers, Frank and Patrick, have been dead for some years.

Mr. McGoldrick was a life-long resident of the city, as was his father. The latter had been engaged in the iron and metal business, and John succeeded him thirty-five years ago, four years previous to his entrance into the common council. Several years ago John McGoldrick's son, Harry, became associated with him, and recently has been conducting the business himself.

The late John McGoldrick was widely known for his spirit of friendliness. He made a great number of friends during his life and retained most of them, at least. He was always ready with assistance where he was in any way able to give it. He was commissioner of the free public hospital for twenty years and was also a member of branches C. M. B. A., the Elks and other organizations.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence, 185 Rockland road.

Captain R. H. Fleming.
Captain Robert H. Fleming, harbor master for the port of St. John, died suddenly yesterday morning at his late residence, 11 Pagan Place, after a brief illness. The late Captain Fleming is survived by two sons, A. E. Fleming, local agent for the Eastern Steamship Company, and Fred A. Fleming, electrician with the C. P. R., and by one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Hastings, of San Francisco. Mr. Fleming, who was in his 60th year, was one of the best known navigators in the city and had been enjoyed the esteem and confidence of a wide circle of business men in his long, honorable career of thirty years in shipping. He was appointed harbor master in 1908. He commanded a number of well remembered steamers in the bay service, including the steamers Empress, Secret, and City of Montserrat. The latter, it will be remembered, was wrecked off Yarmouth, several lives being lost.

The funeral will take place from his late residence this afternoon. Service will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Cs. Sarah Marshall.
Mrs. Sarah G. Marshall, widow of the late Hon. Robert Marshall, of this city, died in New York on Saturday after a brief illness. She had gone there about six years ago and since had been in a large hospital. The body is to be brought here for burial and the funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the home of W. C. Whittaker, 249 Charlotte street, who is a relative.

She was a daughter of the late Peter Bernard. Older folk remember that Capt. Searnell, R. N., a son-in-law of Peter Bernard, died and was to have been buried on the day of the St. John fire. The house caught fire and the body was removed to another, which also was soon in flames, and the body was then taken to Hazen's Castle to await burial.

Many will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Wilson, wife of Thomas H. Wilson, druggist, in Fairville. She passed away at noon yesterday after a lingering illness, which had not developed into a serious nature until very recently.

Besides her husband she leaves to mourn one daughter, Mary Ethel, and

OLD MAN DROPS DEAD AFTER LEAVING PRISON

Waujuin, Wis. (Nov. 30)—The wish of David Jacobs, 60 years old, who had passed twenty years in state's prison for murder, that his life should not end within the walls was granted on Thanksgiving Day, only to be followed by the old man falling dead a few moments after eating dinner with his son at a local restaurant outside the prison.

A parole from the governor had been granted and the son arrived to accompany his father home.

"We will have a Thanksgiving dinner here first, father, because we cannot arrive home in time to eat with the folks," said the son.

The two went into a restaurant together. As they left the father dropped dead.

The Evening Times and Star

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE WAR NEWS. All eyes are still turned to Poland, where a tremendous battle, which some observers claim will be one of the decisive battles of the war, is still in progress.

Fundy service between St. John and Digby. He was an able and careful navigator, in whom the travelling public had the fullest confidence; and since he has filled the office of harbor master his duties have been performed to the satisfaction of the city council.

BRITAIN HELPING FRANCE. The Times has received a letter of appeal from the British Ambulance Committee of the French Red Cross Society, which shows how generously the English people are giving assistance to their Allies in France.

It was at the closing exercises of one of the public schools in Boston that Marjorie was reading a composition of her own on "Gran's Work in the Civil War." She got on most creditably until she reached Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House.

MORE WILL BE NEEDED. The task of recruiting in New Brunswick will not be completed when the ranks of the 29th Battalion have been filled. Lord Kitchener will still want more men, after all that are now in training have gone to the front.

It was an amateur performance of "The Pirates of Penzance." The policemen's chorus having been encored twice, a third encore was demanded. This was the cause of some misunderstanding behind the scenes, and, after a delay, one solitary man in blue faced the footlights.

THE RESPONSE. The response of the young men of New Brunswick to the call to arms has been worthy of the best traditions of the descendants of the Loyalists, and all other subjects of His Britannic Majesty in this province.

Every citizen familiar with civic affairs in St. John under the regime of the old city council will mourn the passing of Ex-Alderman McGoldrick, whose ready wit enlivened so many council meetings, and whose hold on the affections of the people in Stanley ward no opposition could ever break.

THE DEATH ROLL. Death has removed two more familiar figures from the life of the city of St. John. Mr. John McGoldrick and Capt. R. H. Fleming were both widely known, and had for many years occupied positions of prominence that brought them into close touch with the people.

GERMANY AND TURKEY EXCHANGE HIGH OFFICIALS. Berlin, Nov. 30.—Field Marshal Baron Von Dergoltz has been relieved from his position as military governor of the portion of Belgium under German control and attached to the remainder of the war to the entourage of the Sultan of Turkey.

A was an Allemand who went out to slay, B the brave Belgian who stood in his way, C was the culture he thought to impose, D were the duffers he led by the nose, E was an eagle turned into a vulture, F was the fruit of that sort of culture, G were the Germans, once men of good fame, H were the Huns which they quickly became, I the Imperial bully and boss, J is John Bull who gave him a toss, K is the Kaiser whose rage knows no bound, L poor Louvain, which he razed to the ground, M stands for many a braggar bad man, N stands for Nietzsche, a wicked mad-man, O the old prigs who put darkness for light, P the professors who teach black is white, Q is the question, What moved them to do it? R is the road by which they will rue it, S is the superman, haughty and high, stands for Treitschke who taught him to lie, U were the Uhlans' mid heaps of the slain, V were the victims who pleaded in vain, W the War-lord, his crest in the air, X is the exit, crestfallen and bare, Y the poor youths he beguiled to their fall, Z stands forever the end of it all.

LIGHTER VEIN. It was at the closing exercises of one of the public schools in Boston that Marjorie was reading a composition of her own on "Gran's Work in the Civil War." She got on most creditably until she reached Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House. She then related how Lee wore his sword and was handsomely attired in full uniform, "while Grant," she announced, "had on nothing but an old, ragged union suit."

AN AFTERNOON FROCK

to development in striped velvet or serge, made with swathed girde bodice and circular skirt.

This model in striped velvet shows a clever adaptation of the new deep swathed girde and the short, circular skirt. A cheaper material than velvet for developing the frock would be striped serge or silver striped voile, the latter of which comes as low as 75 cents a yard. Five yards of 44-inch material are needed to develop the design. One yard of 30-inch lace is needed for the transparent sleeves.

Before starting the waist have a fitted lining of percaline or lining moire. One yard will cost about 15 cents. It is used to line the bodice and may be very scant at the bustline with plain lines at the shoulders. For upper part of waist close under-arm seams as notched; then close shoulder seam. Find center front by large "O" perforations; then gather lower edge between double "T" perforations. Sew flare collar to neck and arrange waist on lining, centers and under-arm seams even. Stitch lower edge along crossings of double "O" perforations in underbody and tack shoulder seams together.

Close sleeve seam and finish lower edge with a bias fold of silk or satin; then sew into armhole with as little fullness as possible. Now close under-arm seam of swathed lower part of bodice as notched. Turn hem in front; then turn under upper edge on slot perforations. Arrange on underbody, centers and under-arm seams even; stitch lower edge together. Bring single small "O" perforations at upper edge to corresponding perforations in underbody and tack.

An open-mesh lace to match the sleeves make an effective collar. The shirt is perfectly plain and quite full. The greater the originality of a frock, of course the more it is prized. Woman is fairly put to it to express her own personality in her dresses this season, with so many different offerings before her. It is not the approved out of the pattern set the popular material that gives the gown its indefinable air of correctness. It is the wearer's personality.

BODY OF MISSING WOMAN FOUND PARTLY UNDER THE ICE OF A POND

Marlboro, Mass., Nov. 29.—The long-continued search for the body of Mrs. Walter C. Springer, who disappeared from her home, 1.8 Church street on the night of Nov. 17 has met with success. Deputy Sheriff A. J. Adams, one of the searching party, discovered the corpse under the ice of Fort Meadow Pond.

The tragedy shared by many is that death was accidental. It has been known that Mrs. Springer had been subject to fainting fits and it is supposed that one of these overtook her on the fatal Tuesday night when she left her home for a walk. It is believed that she wandered about in dizziness for some time and by accident came to death in the pond.

Mrs. Springer was highly accomplished and a popular favorite in the city. She was an active member of the local Women's Club. She was born in Hudson, thirty-five years ago. Her husband is assistant superintendent of a local factory, and a member of the Elks, Masons and other societies and organizations.

The discovery brings to an end one of the most remarkable searches ever known in this part of Massachusetts, during which all citizens were stirred to activity at one time, so wrought up were they over the woman's disappearance. Even the pond had been repeatedly dragged.

Deputy Sheriff Adams first saw the body while walking along the shore. One arm and the knees were protruding from the thin coating of ice on the pond at a point about 200 feet from shore. He went some by automobile and, clad in his rubber boots, returned, taking the body ashore out of the one and a half feet of water with much difficulty.

Associate Medical Examiner Dr. J. J. Kelly decided that the woman met her death by drowning.

COULD NOT GO TEN STEPS FOR THE PAIN IN HIS KIDNEYS.

When you get a pain in the back you may rest assured that it comes from derangement of the kidneys, for were they not something wrong with the kidneys the back should be strong and well.

Doan's Kidney Pills regulate the kidneys, and there is no further excuse for any kidney trouble to exist. What more needs to be said? While Doan's Kidney Pills are not a "balm for every ill that flesh is heir to," they are a positive, never-failing remedy for every disease that has its inception in the improper action in those delicate little filters of the blood, the kidneys.

Mr. Adlard Cleroux, Hganville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for four years. They were so bad, at times I could not go ten steps for the pain they caused me. My doctor could not do me any good. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought five boxes, and now I have been cured for over three years. I will recommend them to whoever may be suffering from kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c per box; 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's"

TWENTY THREE LOSE LIVES IN EARTHQUAKE

Western Greece and Ionian Islands Shaken—Mountain Crumbles and New Ones Appear

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Twenty-three persons were killed, and some others injured in the earthquake on Friday, in Western Greece and the Ionian Islands, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens.

On the island of Santa Maura the mountain of Pelekou collapsed and crumbled away for a distance of nearly two miles, and the waters of the Ionian Sea penetrated the valley to the extent of about 125 acres. New small mountains appeared at different points on the island.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

Kept Her Locks Dark, Thick, Glossy, With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though at home is messy and troublesome. For 20 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyley's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyley's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

WOMAN SCHOOL MISTRESS HOME AFTER TRYING TIME IN GERMANY

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Benefiting by the decision of the Germans to allow English women to leave the country, Miss Stephen, a London school teacher, is here after four months' detention in Hanover. Miss Stephen and a companion at first remained at their pension, but were later required to enter a convent, owing to the strong feeling against the British. Both ladies are suffering from a bad breakdown, owing to the nervous tension under which they lived.

It is understood that they were frequently insulted and threatened, both by crowds at Hanover and by soldiers en route. Their mental anguish was rendered greater by the newspaper stories of defeats of the British and their allies.

Was Troubled for Years With Kidney Disease

And This Treatment Cured Me—This Statement Endorsed By a Baptist Minister.

The great majority of people are familiar with the extraordinary curative powers of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. But for the benefit of those who are not so fortunate as to have been cured by them, I will state that I was actually cured.

The case described in this letter was an extreme one, and the writer was in a very low condition when he began the use of these pills. The cure was so marked that Mr. Mosher's pastor did not hesitate to vouch for his statement.

By their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure in Co. Lim. ed. Toronto.

MR. MOSHER writes—I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and truly believe there is no medicine to equal them. I was troubled for years with kidney disease, and this treatment has cured me. When I began to feel from my bed to a chair, now I can go to the field and work like any man. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are an excellent medicine.

This statement is certified to by the Rev. E. H. Jont, Baptist minister of Brockville, Ont., being the action of liver, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure Constipation, Headaches, Chronic Indigestion, Kidney Disease, Liver Complaint and Backache. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers.

Mary Boyle O'Reilly Sends Alarming News of Situation at Belgium's Beautiful Capital

Miss O'Reilly Vividly Describes Misery and Famine—A Loaf of Bread a Day, No Butter, Milk or Eggs and no Fuel, Death Penalties, That is the Life of the Terrorized Inhabitants of Belgium's Metropolis Under Stern Rule

This map shows the territory and distance the forces of the Allies must travel before reaching Brussels, now held by the Germans.

Notes—The facts in this story were accumulated by Mary Boyle O'Reilly while practically a prisoner of war in the Belgian capital. On her return to London she wrote the story. Later information was supplied her by messenger from a personal friend, a Red Cross nurse who remained in Brussels. The messenger has since been caught and placed under military arrest.

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly) (War Correspondence by Mail)

London, Eng., Nov. 9.—Life in Brussels is a most intolerable one. The public clocks, all set at German time, complicate daily life. The spectacle of Belgian prisoners led through the Sunday crowds by grinning guards invites to outbreaks. Thousands of Landsturm are whistled together in the public squares to hear accounts of the latest German victories. "Important decrees" in German, French and Flemish announce that Brussels is now a German city, Belgium a German province, with threats of severe reprisals for overt acts.

All intents and purposes Brussels is besieged. Since Aug. 29 it has been cut off from the world. No newspapers are published. In the midst of alarms local farinaceous foods for the aged or the invalids.

On October 1 the coffee and potatoes gave out. On October 10 the supplies of salt and yeast were exhausted and the population faced famine. Soap cannot be obtained at any price, coal is hardly obtainable and daily the terrified citizens are requisitioned from their scanty stores for the benefit of the German soldiers.

There is no flour for sale in Brussels, a city of 600,000 people, not counting the refugees from the Belgian border. All the flour at hand has been requisitioned by the communal authorities who sell only to the bakers under agreement that bakeries shall sell only one day's dose to each inhabitant.

The daily bread of besieged Brussels is a one-pound loaf, black and unshaded. It is made of rye and wheat. The rye is a coarse, "good bread" for the soldiers. Two weeks ago when the daily ration was one pound of rye bread, four ounces of wheat and potato meal, mixed, the ambassador obtained from Field Marshal von der Goltz permission to send emissaries into Holland for food supplies. But the Hollanders, taxed with a million Belgian refugees, refused to export food.

On Verge of Reign of Terror

Brussels is continually on the verge of a reign of terror. Three months ago all arms were commandeered; men found in possession of a fire arm are instantly shot. At night the streets are kept dark and citizens are warned to keep within doors. Sentries guard the street corners clearing the way for military motors with lifted rifles. Maxim guns with crews lying beside them hold every square. Hussars billeted beyond the barriers plunder the suburbs, soldiers practice shooting in public daily.

The burgomaster and three leading citizens are held as hostages, their lives being forfeited if a single civilian lift hand against the invader. All youths of an age to join corps or to be useful to the Germans are held as prisoners of war on parole and the fathers who allow grown sons to leave the city are punished with death.

"Brussels deserves no consideration whatever," declared Field Marshal von der Goltz, the German governor of Belgium, in a proclamation, "the resistance of the Belgian army to the Landsturm merits severe reprisals. If the slightest hostile act is committed by citizens will burn the city to the ground. Mark that well."

Should the war tide return to Belgium the Germans are forced to evacuate Brussels, then the fate of the city is sealed. Brussels is a city set upon a hill, open, unfortified, of no military importance; its 600,000 citizens helpless prisoners of war. Guns are entrenched on the Royal Park, the trees round the Castle of Tervuren have been felled to brace fortifications, 300 infantry protect the general staff.

The colossal Palais de Justice on its elevated plateau looks like a fortress, with machine guns placed to sweep the principal streets and windows blocked by sand bags. The Gare du Midi and the Gare du Nord (railway stations) are now cavalry barracks, the Bourse and the general post office infantry casernes with filled kitchens established in their courts, the palace of the king has clothes lines strung across its court yard and cooking cauldrons ranged along its facade.

Public Buildings Mined

Every public building except the 13th century cathedral of Ste Gudule and the historic town hall has been mined to facilitate their speedy destruction. I have been informed by a reliable friend who remains in Brussels for humanity's sake. Anything may happen. The tension grows daily worse. The bravest hearts are cold with apprehension. Every sign indicates that Brussels is falling. The army of occupation declare quite frankly that the city will be defended from the allies at any cost, that they are prepared to burn Brussels "if necessary."

The slightest emergency might serve to fire the city. It would be an easy matter for a brigade of incendiaries to set Brussels ablaze in an hour. Already bearers of heavy tubes of petrol have sprayed inflammable liquid on doomed buildings.

So certain are the citizens that the fatal day approaches that they have secretly cut off the gas supply, blocked cellar windows with sacks of earth filled

TEACHER-MOTHER ROUSES SYMPATHY OF NATION IN FIGHT FOR RIGHT

New York, Nov. 30.—While Mrs. Lorna Wagner, a New York high school teacher, is taking care of her new-born baby, the press of the nation and the people, too, are discussing the right of the board of education to suspend her because she lived up to her belief that teachers should not be barred from motherhood.

The board refused to give Mrs. Wagner leave of absence and suspended her because she remained out of school. She will ask the courts to decide her right to leave of absence.

Australian and New Zealand Navy Capture German Samoa And Run Up Flag of British Empire on Two Islands Adjoining United States' Possessions at the Equator—First Real Story of War in

(By Robert Wilson Crane) Author of "The Cannibal Islands of the Twentieth Century." (Special War Correspondence)

Melbourne, Nov. 1.—(by mail).—In the name of an "eastern theatre of war" and "western theatre of war" do not overlook the Pacific theatre of war.

Australia and New Zealand have already changed the map of the world, their expeditionary force running up the flag of the British empire on the German islands of the Samoa group, next door to the United States' possessions.

Upolu, where Robert Louis Stevenson spent the last five years of his life, and Savail, the giant of the group, both strategic naval bases for Germany, were captured by the Australians and New Zealanders without firing a shot.

The world has learned the story from meagre headlines, but it is now possible to relate this interesting and history-making effort in detail.

The advanced detachment of the New Zealand expeditionary force, ordered to seize Samoa, left Wellington, New Zealand at dawn on Saturday, August 15, long abandoned wells against the destruction of the water works. The military governor ordered all fire apparatus to concentrate in the heart of the city and surrender to the garrison. A handful of fire captains refused to obey. They were speedily placed under arrest and their places taken by the Landsturm who discovered that the fire chiefs had taken the precaution to render their heavy engines immovable.

Today the invested capital is entirely unprotected against fire. Should the retreating Germans re-enter the city and the allies arrive before the gates a few torches will bring the doom of Brussels.

and the Melbourne came up soon. They in turn waited for the Montevideo. All the ships, eight in number, were now assembled and as they moved off in the evening light to take up position in line ahead the scene was quite inspiring. The long line swung out across the ocean at 11 knots bound for Fiji.

Fiji was soon reached and at anchor in the harbor of Suva was found the Japanese collier Fukuoku Maru, and it was learned that she had been coaling the German cruisers at the Caroline Islands just before the declaration of war.

In the early dawn of Sunday morning, August 30, the fleet got its first glimpse of German Samoa. The American island of Tutuila was out of sight, away to the right, but presently the southeastern corner of the island of Upolu, with its beautiful, fertile, wooded hills wreathing their summits in the morning mists appeared.

The white line of surf was breaking along its coral reef. This was historic Upolu, the home of Robert Louis Stevenson, the scene of wars and rebellions and international schemings, and the scene also of that devastating hurricane which wrecked six ships of war and ten other vessels and sent 140 officers and men of the German and American navies to their last long sleep. The rusting ribs and plates of the Adler, the German flagship, pitched high inside the reef, still stands out as a reminder of that memorable event.

The Psyche went on ahead, and, after the harbor had been swept for mines, she steamed in under a flag of truce and delivered a message from Rear Admiral Sir George Patey, demanding the surrender of the town. The Germans, who had been expecting their own fleet, were surprised with the suddenness with which an overwhelming force had descended upon them, and decided to offer no resistance to a landing.

Captain Marshall promptly made a signal to the ships to steam to their anchorages; motor launches, motor surfboats and ship's boats were quickly launched and the men began to pour over the ship's sides and down the rope ladders into the heaving boats.

In a remarkably brief space of time the covering party was on shore, officers and men dashing out of the boats up to the knees, and sometimes the waist in water. The main streets, the cross roads, and the bridges were quickly in possession of the British, with their Maxims and rifles, and then, one after another, the motor boats and launches began to tow strings of boats crammed with the men of the main body towards the shore.

The bluejackets of the beach party, who had already landed, urged them forward by word and deed in cheery fashion, and in a remarkably short time Apia was swarming with troops.

Guards were placed all about the government buildings, and Colonel Logan, with his staff, was soon installed in the government offices.

Lieutenant Colonel Fulton dashed off to the telephone exchange and pulled out all the plugs, so that the residents could hold no communication by that means. In his own house and the offices of the government were also sealed without a moment's loss of time. An armed party was dispatched along a bush road to take the wireless station, the tall, latticed iron mast of which were festooned above the trees some three or four miles inland, on the lower slope of the hills, in the direction of Papeete—a famous sliding waterfall.

Next morning the British flag was hoisted with all due ceremony. The troops were drawn up in three sides of a square facing the court-house—the seat of the new government. Inside the square, and facing the flagstaff, were the senior naval officers, commanding the New Zealand naval division and the other commanders of the fleet with their staffs.

On the left the high chiefs, Tanu Malietoa and Tamasese—who had been specially invited by Colonel Logan to attend the ceremony—with other high chiefs, made a picturesque group. Fifteen years previously I had seen the young King placed on his throne at Mulimau, near Apia, with the representatives of the allied fleets of Britain and America and the civil authorities of these nations in attendance.

Field Marshal French's Report

London, Nov. 29—Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the field, speaks in an optimistic vein concerning the position of the Allies in a report issued today by the official press bureau. The report covers, in a general way, the activities of the British troops from Nov. 11 to 20.

Summing up the situation in concluding his report Field Marshal French says: "As I close the despatch, signs are in evidence that we are possibly in the last stages of the battle from Ypres to Arras. For several days past the artillery fire of the enemy has slackened considerably, and his infantry attacks have practically ceased."

MURDER TURNKEY AND BREAK JAIL

Jailer Also Beaten Insensible by Two Indians in Pembroke, Ont., Lockup.

Pembroke, Ont., Nov. 29—Robert Coxford, turnkey of the Pembroke county jail here, was murdered, and William Brown, the jailer, lies at death's door as the result of a successful attempt at jail-breaking by two Indians, Peter White-Duck and Anthony Jocko, late this afternoon.

The redskins were being held pending trial on a charge of theft from Grand Trunk freight cars at Golden Lake. Both got clean away, and the country side is being scoured by armed posse of special constables and citizens in search of the desperadoes.

HAD DYSPEPSIA

So Bad Could Not Take a Drink of Water Without Suffering.

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much. Drink too much. Use too much tobacco. You make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of a short time before dyspepsia follows.

smashing blow on the head, fracturing his skull. Death ensued in a few minutes. Aroused by the sound of the fall, Judler Brown rushed to the scene, seizing the first available weapon he could find, an iron poker. Inside the corridor the Indians were waiting and Brown was soon overpowered and the poker wrestled from him. He was beaten into insensibility with this implement, and the Indians, likely believing him dead, made their way through the door entering the corridor, and then escaped by the main entrance to the county building.

The schooner R. P. S., Captain William Tupper, is missing and grave fears are entertained for the safety of the captain, his crew of three men and C. L. Pickett and A. E. Messinger, of Tupperville (N. S.), who were passengers. The schooner, a craft of 100 tons net, left Digby on Monday, Nov. 23, for St. John with a cargo of apples and has not since been reported. As the weather was rough on the day of the vessel's departure, the fact that telegrams and telephone calls to points along the coast have failed to bring word of the arrival of the schooner is causing friends of those on board considerable worry.

A Canadian Drink "Made in Canada"

OUR great national drink, GIN, is of French origin. The name itself is derived from the French word Genievre, meaning juniper. Little wonder that the French-Canadians love so well good gin, an ancient French drink, not only as a beverage but for medicinal use. They have had its value implanted into their minds through many generations. Gin has taken a place in the world of French-Canadian drinks that nothing will ever eradicate.

There are hundreds of thousands of cases of gin drunk in the Dominion every year. Of this only about 60% is made in Canada. The remainder comes from Europe. Some of it comes from England, but the vast bulk of imported gin—the popular drink of this country—comes from continental Europe—from the theatre of the great war.

Canada produces in RED CROSS GIN a liquor that is infinitely better than any imported gin. It is the only gin made in Canada. It is made in bond, and not allowed to be sold to the consumer until it has matured for years. Being thus under the supervision of the Canadian Government you have an absolute guarantee of its age as a beverage. Look for the Government label on every bottle showing its maturity.

You have no such guarantee with foreign gin. A gin made in continental Europe may be bottled and shipped to Canada a few days after its manufacture. It bears no label guaranteeing maturity.

Canadians should stand together

"Canada for the Canadians" is the slogan that is gaining daily force. Buy "Made-in-Canada" goods—keep your cash in Canada. Apply this to Gin. Insist on getting RED CROSS GIN, not only because it is home manufactured Canadian liquor of reliable quality, but because you have an absolute guarantee of maturity under the seal of your own Canadian Government.

Ask always for RED CROSS GIN and insist on getting it.

Montreal

Important!

On the first of January next the name "RED CROSS" GIN will be changed to "GOLD CROSS" GIN. Under the new name GOLD CROSS, the present purity, food, medicinal and beverage value of this splendid gin will be maintained. It will simply be the old favorite RED CROSS under the new name GOLD CROSS.

OUTDOOR WINTER SPORTS SADLY NEGLECTED IN U. S.; CANADA REVELS IN 'EM AND GROWS HEALTHY

Hugh Fullerton is Going to Get Canadian Winter Sports Stars to Tell How to Play Their Games

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.) Winter sports in the United States, for some unaccountable reason, fail to hold the interest of the people. Few, in proportion to the population, seize the opportunity to enjoy skating, snow shoeing, sledding or the games played on ice and snow, and it seems, watching these games, that the greater majority of those who play or watch are of foreign birth. It seems strange that the old-fashioned, hardy, outdoor sports of winter fail to attract the American youth, and that just north of us, in a more rigorous and forbidding climate, it seems as if the entire population turns to outdoor sports, more even in winter than in summer. I have watched and wondered at the Canadians in their outdoor sports and pastimes and often tried to explain for myself why we do not engage in them to a greater extent. Canada is the home of outdoor sports. They play more games, and at times, it appears to me, better games, than we do in the states. They have all our games and some vastly more exciting than either our baseball or football, hardy "man's game games."

SHORT TABS FOR ALL-ROUND SPORTS

Those fellows who scoff at the idea that New York, Chicago, San Francisco or New Orleans can go dry must have had a shock when they read the news from Russia.

Our regard for the sportsmanship of baseball and the moral value of the higher education is much enhanced by the announcement that football coaches are forced to practice in the dark to keep rival spies from stealing their signals.

The first fall went to Prokes in 32 1/2 minutes with a body hold. McDonald evaded matters with a similar hold in 24 1/2 minutes. The Greek took the third fall in two minutes.

Lord Londsdale's Advice "Play billiards," says Lord Londsdale, "if you would enjoy good health and there is no such thing as indigestion for him who follows up a hearty dinner with half an hour with the cue and ironies." And all this is not hard to understand. The digestive processes of the body are at their best during a period of comparative relaxation and light exercise. No other diversion is so conducive to such a state as a game of billiards. This is why the billiard room in the home of the Englishman always adjoins the dining room. Billiards as a recreation therefore becomes a part of the meal.

The strenuous life especially demands relaxation. The less strenuous forms of exercises are preferable. Aside from the physical benefits there is a mental training in a billiard game which is remarkable. It is a question of angles and curves. There is no better training for the student of geometry. Not long ago a prominent professor of an eastern university advised all of his students in mathematics to play billiards. Out of a class of 40 there were 20 who failed to pass their examinations. Among those who failed, 19 declined to take the advice of the instructor.

F. J. Patterson, a New Brunswick man, who is principal of the DeLoraine school, Montreal, has received the Canadian Royal Humane Society medal for saving a boy named Leslie Mills from drowning last fall.

Alfred De Oro, world's champion 8-cushion billiard player has a backer who is confident that De Oro can defeat Melbourne the English champion, at English billiards. The only condition De Oro's backer makes is that the latter have three months to practice at the game. The backer offers to wager from $1,000 to $10,000.

And speaking of Peter Jackson, Davies told a story, that showed the class in Jackson. "Peter went into a cafe in San Francisco and asked for a drink. Been constituted Peter's simple wish. 'Thrust me you $20,' said the bartender, sneeringly. Without batting an eye Peter went down in his pocket, put two $20 gold pieces on the bar and said pleasantly: 'Have a drink yourself!'

Harry Stone, a New York boxer, is a fortunate fellow in regard to making weight. He will box any welterweight in the world and he near the weight. He can also without much trouble make the lightweight limit, which gives him a chance to box in that class when he cannot get any matches against welters. The fee record and recommendation he brought back from Australia are enough to convince Boston fans that he will give Gilbert Gallant a hard argument when they meet at the Atlas A. A. tomorrow night. Besides being a boxer who has the stamina and physique to stand up and take any welton, Stone can deliver some himself with both hands. As a rugged boxer he compares well with Gallant and from indications, the latter is going to have a hard task when he faces Stone.

The latter is after the title in both light and welterweight divisions and he figures he is more entitled to the latter title than any one else. In Australia he defeated the welter champions of England and Australia. Stone says Gallant is a better boxer he believes Gilbert will eventually get at the top of the class.

SACRIFICE IN THIS WAR TIME

Strong Sermon by Rev. Mr. Barracough in Centenary—A Motto Suggested

Last evening in Centenary church the Rev. W. H. Barracough addressed a large audience on "Making the Great Sacrifice," taking as his text the words of St. Paul as found in Acts 20:24: "Neither count I my life dear unto myself."

The underlying principle of Christianity is sacrifice, said the speaker. "Jesus Christ proclaimed it unceasingly with a full understanding of its meaning for him. He would not be turned aside. He knew that 'He must suffer many things and be rejected and be crucified.'"

The world has made progress by the sacrifice of devoted souls. Almost all walks of life have furnished names for this long honor roll. Many of them were voted fools and fanatics because of their devotion to an idea or an ideal.

The editor of the London Chronicle spoke thus, the other day: "Belgium maintains her unconquerable soul, but only at a terrible price. It is a price she pays with a glad pride. She has suffered and is suffering for France, for England, for humanity. A whole nation has undergone a Calvary for the redemption of Europe and the world."

"We mustn't belittle the sacrifice," says Dr. W. B. Coghlin in a recent issue of the Christian Guardian. "We must not take one atom from the glory of it, even though we deplore it and shed bitter tears that it should have to be done. When a man lays down his life for a cause we must take off our hats as in the presence of a hero's deed. He has done all that he can, he has made the great sacrifice."

"May I ask, are we not all called upon to make the great sacrifice, the sacrifice which Belgium has made, and which we who are at the front are making, and every new recruit is prepared to make—to count not our lives dear unto ourselves?"

"This has a much broader application than pressing into the firing line of the present conflict, also a great many must never have the opportunity. Perhaps no class are more truly making the great sacrifice than the mothers and wives of the soldiers who are at the front. 'Greater love has no man than the love of the mother who gives her son's life to her country.'"

"And what of those who, by reason of years, or physical weakness, or congenital duties are not able to go to the front? Is it impossible for them to make the great sacrifice? There are some for whom it is a greater sacrifice to remain at home than to go. 'Without detracting from the supreme duty of the moment, it is well for us to remember that there are other ways of proving our loyalty and of making sacrifice for our country besides serving on the battlefield. To give one's life a living sacrifice for the nation's good, to assail the hypocrites of the age, to defy the opinions of the unreasoning, who crown with their adulations today and cry 'Crucify Him' tomorrow; to ring true in every time of testing; to ring true in the words of the young French-Canadian doctor who was ministering to the wounded British marines outside Antwerp. It was suggested that he should withdraw from the danger zone, and he went out into the post of duty and danger, saying: 'I am here to serve.' It is the motto of the Christ. To adopt it will lift us above the pettiness, the misunderstandings, and enable us to stamp some small part of this sin-cursed earth with the image of God."
