In the third bout with the felle Kengleron received an inch deep wound in the forearm and the aviators were declared reconciled.

RELATIVES SEEM NOT ANXIOUS TO CLAIM WEALTH OF HERMIT James McGovern of New York Found Dead in Bed in His Uncared for Home—Was a Rich Man

New York, July 10.—It is not often that a reclusive of presumably large means dies intestate and a bachelor, without his relatives falling all over themselves to get a slice of the pie, yet such is the case of James McGovern, "the hermit of East 103rd street," who passed away last week in his quiet, secluded home at No. 164 East 103rd street without a friend near.

McGovern went to bed on his last night on earth in apparently good health. In which he kept the fire going, even in torrid weather. He was a sufferer from rheumatism and he huffed his fire as closely as he could, so as to keep the fire going, even in torrid weather. The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMERON

WE hear a great deal in these days about the power of mind over matter. That is a splendid reality for us to keep in mind, but I think that it is well we should not forget the power of matter over mind. A friend of mine has a brother who has always been an abnormal, if silent, almost morose man. He would never go out into society at all, and even in his own family circle was always the silent member and would be most uncomfortable if anyone tried to make him take part in the conversation. A few months ago, this brother had an illness and the doctor who was called declared that he was then, and must have been for years, in a physical state far below the normal. Outdoor treatment and a course of exercises were prescribed. The man took them and has already gained many pounds and says he is feeling better than he ever did before in his life. Incidentally, his sister tells me, he has become another man in a social way. You see, the unnaturally retiring disposition was not wholly a matter of the mind. It was also of the body. As soon as a body becomes normal, then the mind is pretty apt to become normal also. We are nowadays, that we can make our bodies healthy by thinking healthy and happy thoughts. That's a very good plan of course. But I think one ought not to forget the other side of the picture—that we will be apt to think healthy and happy thoughts naturally if our bodies are healthy. If you feel yourself less interested in life than other people seem to be— If you feel nervous and irritable— If you can't think quickly— If you get to thinking about nerves and wondering if you have them— And if a thousand other similar "ifs"— In nine cases out of ten there is something wrong with your body or the way you are treating it. Perhaps you aren't outdoors enough. Perhaps you aren't sleeping enough. Perhaps your liver is not of order. Perhaps you are packing your days too full. Or perhaps in some one or two or ten of a thousand other possible ways you aren't giving your body a square deal. Of course the mind reacts upon the body but so does the body upon the mind. To learn to prize "wealth as potential source, reputation as latent influence, leisure for the light and ease, power for the heavy, the life it can give for the good it can do and HEALTH AS CONTAGIOUS HAPPINESS," was the prayer of a certain great man. I quote it, both for the beauty of the whole thought and its acknowledgment of the causal relation between health and happiness—not happiness and health.

La MARQUISE de FONTENAY Why Mr. Gladstone Was Never Raised to the Peerage—Jilting of Minister Recalls Others in High Social Standing

(Copyright, 1911 by the Brentwood Company.) Lord Liverpool, whose half-sister Lady Constantine Foljambe has created so great a sensation in London by failing to appear at the altar on the day set for her wedding to a country village parson with an annual salary of less than $1,000 a year, was twenty-two years her senior, is comptroller of the royal household after having been raised to the peerage as Viscountess of Ireland. It is ridiculous, however, to predict that he will be called upon to resign his office at once. The Viscountess of Foljambe's husband, the late Viscount Foljambe, was a member of the Chamber of Deputies, is descended from Guy de la Tremouille, who was one of the leaders of the First Crusade, and was the duke of Normandy, and the duke of the Aragon Kings of Naples in 1291. The new duke is a man of about forty-five, and is the son of the late duke, Frederick Pitt-Rivers, owner of the vineyards producing that most royal of all claret wines, the Chateau Margaux, regent of the Bank of France, and one of the leading financiers and bankers of Paris. The great-grandfather of the duke was one of the pages of King Louis VI, and of Queen Marie Antonette and a man of twenty at the time of their execution. Two of that duke's brothers, grand-uncles therefore of the present duke, namely, the Abbe de la Tremouille, and the Prince de Talmond, were guillotined during the days of the terror, the former in Paris, the latter in Lyons, where his head was stuck on a pike at the city gate. The principal home of the dukes de la Tremouille is the stately chateau de Serant, a grand old place in the Department of Maine et Loire, built in 1546 by the same architect who designed the chateau of Chenonceaux and the Tuilleries, and which, surrounded in style with stately courtyards, towers and wings, surrounded by a moat, dominates the valley of the Loire between Angers and Nantes. The chapel contains the famous tomb of the Marquis de Vaubrun, in black marble, which is justly regarded as the masterpiece of Coysevox. The chateau early in the eighteenth century, through its purchase by Francis James Walsh from the Duchesse d'Estrees, came into the hands of the Walshes, Irish Jacobites, who after the deposition of James II of England and the battle of the Boyne, secured letters of marque from him authorizing them to fit the privateers to prey upon and destroy English shipping.

The earlons conferred upon Francis Walsh by King James was of course not recognized by England, and to compensate him for this, Louis XIV created him Comte de Serant. The Walshes continued to own the chateau of Serant until about a quarter of a century ago, when, at the death of Count Ludovic Walsh de Serant, his line, it was found that he had

King Edward revived in his favor his maternal grandfather's earldom of Liverpool, the bestowal of this distinction serving to recall the fact that it was as Earl of Liverpool that the late William Pitt, Gladstone was at one moment on the point of being raised to the peerage. There was a time when he was not only willing, but even anxious to wind up his wonderful career in the House of Lords, providing that the earldom bestowed upon him could be that of Liverpool, a city with which he was so greatly identified by family and political associations. It was only when he found that there were insuperable obstacles to his taking the title of Earl of Liverpool, that he declined to consider any further the idea of accepting a peerage, and made up his mind to die as he had lived—plain William P. Gladstone.

The obstacles were in the form of objections raised by Cecil George Foljambe, maternal grandson of the late of the Jenkinson earls of Liverpool, and father of the present Lord Liverpool. It is a matter of unprinted law in England that no newly created peer should select as his title one which has belonged to a family which is still in existence and which has expectations of having the dignity in question revived in its favor by the crown. The first of the Jenkinson earls of Liverpool commanded the Royal Horse Guards at the battle of Dettingen, famous as the last battle in which a king of England took actual part, George II, participating in several of the cavalry charges. This earl played a notable role in politics during the reign of George III. His son, the second Earl of Liverpool, was secretary of state for foreign affairs and prime minister of England for seventeen years, and it was his half-brother and successor who was the third and last Lord Liverpool of the Jenkinson line.

Other Jiltings in High Society There are many precedents for Lady Foljambe's action in breaking off her engagement on the very morning of her wedding. Thus, there is the instance of Lady Florence Dacre, who jilted Henry Chaplin in that way to wed the fourth and last Marquis of Hastings, the latter being subsequently completely ruined by the victory of Chaplain's horse, "Hermit," at the Derby of 1868. Thus there is the case of Lady Mabel Bruce, sister of the fourth Marquis of Ailesbury, who abandoned her fiancé, a brilliant and distinguished officer of the British army, on the morning of her wedding day, in order to contract a far less happy marriage with Robert Siewer, a man of most unenviable record, so much so, that his presentation at court has been publicly cancelled, and he himself warned off the turf by the stewards of the Jockey Club. Lord Minister's sister, Lady Lilian Fitzclarence, is now the wife of Captain William A. Boyd, of the 2nd Life Guards, and her runaway marriage to him took place on the very day set for her wedding to another.

Great Crowd Assembles for Arrival of S. S. Empress of Britain at Quebec—Soldiers of Coronation Contingent on Board

Quebec, July 9.—As the stately ocean liner Empress of Britain swung into her dock this evening, the band of the coronation contingent played O Canada, and the large crowd of people which had assembled on the dock sent up three hearty cheers of welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the soldier boys of the dominion who have been representing Canada at the coronation of King George.

The cheers were answered by a will by the bronzed boys who swarmed all over the forward decks. They looked perfect pictures of physical manhood and seemed to be delighted to be once more in Canada, even though their experiences on the other side have been most notable and where they have been almost overwhelmed with kindness and honors.

There was a double interest in the arrival of the Empress for on board were also Canada's premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. E. F. Brodeur. The Liberal leader landed immediately after the ship had moored, and he was given a most enthusiastic reception on shore by the cheering and the inter-continental premier, Maurice Drouin, of Quebec, and other notables.

He was at once escorted to the carriage of Lieutenant-Governor Langelier, and accompanied by Captain Victor Pelletier and Major A. Del Panet, A. D. C.'s to his honor, and his worshipful the mayor, at once proceeded to the various trains which are to convey them to their homes in all parts of the country.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a guest at the Chateau Frontenac, where he was joined by Lady Laurier.

TRADES AND LABOR CONGRESS CALL ISSUED

Convention in Calgary on September 11—A List of Important Matters Prepared

The twenty-seventh annual session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will convene in Page Hall, Seventh avenue, East, Calgary, at 10 o'clock Monday morning, September 11, and will continue in session from day to day until the business has been completed.

This meeting promises to be one of exceptional interest to the organized labor bodies of Canada because of the many important matters that will come before it for consideration. Each year has witnessed a wonderful growth in the interest and difficulty of the problems to be dealt with by the congress, and the Calgary convention will be no exception.

Among the subjects to be discussed are:—

The constitution of the Federation of Labor Unions of Canada.

The immigration law.

The eight-hour bill.

Payment of wages on railways, fortnightly.

The Winnipeg street railway strike.

The work of the strikes in Nova Scotia.

The western coal strike.

The union of the provincial federations, notably that of Columbia.

The abolition of Chinese tax and substitution of agreement or understanding, as in Japan.

Industrial labor exchanges.

The arrest of McNamara.

Non-observance of municipal fair wage clauses.

The attempt upon the part of Russia to secure the surrender of Federenko.

The judgment of the United States Supreme Court in the Gompers case.

In addition to these, there are many other matters of vital and everyday interest to the workers. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that every affiliated body should be well represented.

In summing up this convention, the executive council says: "It cannot too strongly emphasize the necessity of a large representation of delegates at Calgary. Times are progressing and the labor movement must inhibit some of the freshness and vigor that animate our western brothers. The problems of the movement are becoming more complex and require the best efforts of the best minds."

SUSSEX MATTERS

Sussex, July 9.—The church service and parade which was planned for 10 o'clock this morning on the camp grounds was cancelled on account of rain which began to fall at 9:30 and lasted until 11:30. The remainder of the day was beautiful. At 12 o'clock a general inspection was made throughout the lines by the staff officers. A drinking fountain is soon to be installed at the corner of Broad and Main streets opposite the post office, and the fund for the same is under the auspices of the Ladies' Art Club. Saturday was a big day in connection with this fund, and proved a grand success. The committee in charge were Mrs. W. B. McKay, Mrs. E. G. Landelowe, Mrs. H. White, Mrs. J. T. Prescott, Miss Nettie Campbell, Mrs. J. R. McLean, and Mrs. J. E. Keith.

I. C. R. Station Agent Sherwood, his wife and two daughters are ill, supposed to be the result of ptomaine poisoning.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE

From present indications it appears that the 1911 session of this school, which will open in Fredericton on Wednesday, will have a record attendance. One feature which has attracted a large number of teachers is the offer of money scholarships which have been donated by friends of the school and others interested in education.

About fifty scholarships will be awarded, some of $10 and some of $20. A few scholarships are given for teachers from certain districts, but the majority are open for competition amongst all the students.

The Board of education has granted the use of the Provincial Normal School for the meetings and overflow classes will be accommodated in the city High School.

In addition to the classes and lectures, field work and excursions will be indulged in.

The U. N. B. Senate will also tender the students a garden party in the beautiful grounds of the college.

It isn't the truth that hurts. It's the people you tell it to.

KING AND QUEEN GET HEARTY WELCOME BY PEOPLE OF DUBLIN

Dublin, July 9.—King George received a royal welcome to Dublin today. The king, accompanied by the queen, the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, arrived at Kingspiter harbor on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, last night. The royal party entered the capital where they were received by the Lord Mayor of Ireland and other officials. The king, living up to his reputation, wants to see all parts of the empire and most of his life in it, and the scotch of one of the busiest days of his life, looking over that portion contained within the boundaries of the city of Dublin. Several functions this afternoon he drove to Phoenix Park, to see the races for the King's Cup. He was enthusiastically cheered. He arrived just in time to see Richard Croker, Lord Mayor of Dublin, and the former Manxman chief enthusiastically cheered. The king attended the opening of a play-center in the poorest and roughest district in Dublin. It was a time of the greatest anxiety for the police before the king's arrival. The police and crowds had several encounters, in one of which a sergeant's arm was broken. Troops were brought up but they were not required. As soon as the king appeared, the people, who are perhaps the poorest of his subjects, were carried away with enthusiasm and gave him by far the most cordial reception of the day. Men and women, who had been jeering the police and soldiers broke into hearty cheers which continued throughout the district. The king and queen, although tired, showed their great pleasure at this occasion which was entirely unexpected in that quarter. The citizens of Dublin continue to give ample evidence of their affection and loyalty to King George. The king's movements are watched everywhere by enthusiastic crowds. This morning they majestically attended service in St. Patrick's cathedral, where they were received by the most Rev. Joseph Ferguson Peacock, Lord Archbishop of Dublin. The Right Rev. John Baptist Crozier, Bishop of Down, preached the sermon. In the afternoon the royal party motored to Mayo College, fifteen miles from Dublin, where they were received by the Lord Lieut. of Ireland, the Earl of Aberdeen, Mrs. Birrell, wife of the chief secretary for Ireland, Cardinal Logue, Archbishop of Armagh and Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, and the Most Rev. Wm. J. Walsh, archbishop of Dublin. Their majesties inspected the college with the greatest interest. They signed the visitors' book and took tea. Afterwards they visited the royal hospital and other institutions.

Winds Interfered With Aviators Berlin, July 9.—Violent winds today prevented the aviators, Bruno Buschner, Vollmuller, Laitach and Noale from attempting the last lap of the German aviation circuit which is from Hahnemannstadt to Berlin. If possible a start will be made tomorrow.

Champion of Canada
Ottawa, July 9.—Charlie Murray, professional of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, won the open golf championship of Canada. The third and fourth rounds of the 72 hole play, which decided the end of the month which twenty-two of the finest professional players in the Dominion participated, closed at the Ottawa links today. Murray, who had turned in a card of 151 the previous day, doing the third round in 84 and the last in 78, thus securing for the 72 holes a grand total of 314. Dave Black, the great link player from the River St. John, proved a big surprise on the day, making the last round in the remarkable low total of 76 and finishing up just in back of the new champion. Percy Barrett, of Lambert, took third with 318, while Karl Kaffer, Ottawa, and George Cummin, Toronto, tied for fourth with 321.

Boxing Notes
A southern club is planning to bring together Ray Brown and Young Ernie. Kid Lee is of the opinion that he could hold Jimmy Walsh to a pretty even break in a short contest.
Barney Ford and Unk Russell of Philadelphia, two old-timers, are going to fight it out for the old-timers' championship in Philadelphia tomorrow night.
Johnny Glover and Johnny Stewart will meet at Augusta on a date to be determined later. They were to have met July 4, but on account of the extremely hot weather Manager Hanks decided to postpone the bout.
Boston Herald—A $30,000 purse with a $10,000 side bet is out of striking matters for a Johnson-Pat Curran bout at London, which is supposed to come off some time next month. Curran is labelled England's best heavy-weight. Johnson is said to weigh in the neighborhood of 290 pounds with his exhibition with Marty Curran, his sparring partner, he paid particular attention that Curran did not score too hard to the misdirection. Johnson is going the pace and the first real good man that comes along will have the opportunity of this life, but it will hardly be Pat Curran, who had a hard time holding men like young John L. Sullivan and Jim Rogoh to 20-round draws.

ALFALFA GROWN PROFITABLY IN KINGS
J. D. Seelye of Havelock Has Little Gold Mine in His Plot—Expects Three Crops
(Special Record)
That alfalfa culture is one of the most profitable undertakings in which a farmer can engage is being demonstrated by J. D. Seelye, of Havelock, in a most convincing manner. It is only a little over a year ago that this progressive resident of the county turned his attention to the alfalfa and under the guidance of C. W. Colbough, he has succeeded in raising as good a plot of the fodder as one would care to look at. Mr. Seelye is most enthusiastic over his experience so far and proposes to sow a six acre plot this year. The ground is being prepared for the seed and the overtopping to be able to advance the most skeptical next year that alfalfa is the best money maker for Kings county that can be taken up.
A record representative called on Mr. Seelye recently and the exhibit of alfalfa shown was one of the best seen hereabouts. The ground on which it was growing was inoculated with bacteria supplied by Mr. McDougal and the results have been astounding. Mr. Seelye took off his off one-sixteenth of an acre from his plot and carefully weighed the crop, which showed a yield of 455 pounds, or 7,280 pounds the acre. And this, it must not be forgotten, is only the first crop.

The second growth is already over a foot high and Mr. Seelye is producing in this way three crops and then have sufficient growth to protect his roots from the frost. With an equal production for the remaining two cuts this will mean a production of nearly 11 tons to the acre or a yield of 21,840 pounds. This is a yield that will make most farmers sit up and think but the result is still more marvellous when measured in dollars and cents. The value of 11 tons of alfalfa, reckoning will feed as worth $28 per ton, is $298.80. That is what Mr. Seelye is producing in comparison with the production of considerably less than two tons of hay from the average acre in Kings county. Why just stop and consider what the increase in production means? A dairy farmer with 20 acres of alfalfa could be one of the best fed men in New Brunswick.
If alfalfa can be grown on anything like the scale that has been reached by Mr. Seelye, the province has the best beaten for miles. The production of this wonderful plant is one of the most important questions before the farmers of this section of Canada. It may take some time to get the results that are desirable and care to call a little more attention and care to grow alfalfa successfully but the prize is well worth striving for and Mr. Seelye has set a pace that should be followed.

The prize winners were George W. Hazen, first, spoon, 84 points; A. G. Staples, second, cash prize, 85 points; N. J. Morrison, third, cash prize, 90 points.
Mr. Hazen won a spoon on legstap of 8 per cent from Mr. Staples. The fourth and last match of the league will be shot next Saturday afternoon when all members are expected to be present.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN; WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER
THE UNIQUE
The management of the Unique do not hesitate, when introducing Miss Betty Dawn to their patrons, in placing her at the head of a long list of successful vocalists. She is a lyric soprano with a range below to F, above high C, and with a charming personality. The little lady has an extensive repertoire and during her stay will be heard in popular as well as the dear old melodies. She will make her first appearance this afternoon. An exceptionally strong picture program will be offered by mention. For there will be a Tanqueray drama, "The Step-Mother." It is a tale of a good step-mother, the children fight, she gets the right chance at first, but she won't then over in a most unexpected manner. Next comes the Week-end of happenings in Europe, and to crown the bill the Lyric Company will offer an Indian drama in five acts entitled "Ogallala" which will illustrate the Indian characteristics as they are commonly understood.

It has been a long time since a good musician has been heard at the Lyric Theatre. To give variety the management have booked for the first three days of the week, Jack Macy, a clever musical artist and one who is expected to please immensely. Mr. Macy is a master hand at playing the guitar and piano and will exploit his talents with some of the old-time classics. The picture program for today claims Edison's pathetic drama, "The Tramp and the Girl" and Selig's comedy, "Jim and Joe," as features.
THE GEM
A beautifully tinted production by the Pathé Company, showing the dramatic opera "Seramis," is to be given at the Gem Theatre today and tomorrow and is expected to prove a great feature for the opening bill. It is elaborate in detail and is a fine reproduction of the well known opera, telling in the style of a story of the handsome sylvan queen, "Seramis," and the supreme command which she issued over a great country in a short time, although but a rustic maiden when found by King Ninas.
Three very pleasing comedies, "Dave's Love Affair," a funny story with a tinge of heart interest and "The Laundry Lady's Luck," another scream maker. The Edison company furnishes a comedy drama of the life of a penniless boy, a very pretty story of an attractive and appealing nature in "Mike, the Miser," and the question asked "at its close is 'Was he a Miser or Not?'" Bob Delay will open a limited engagement, singing "Mary, You're a Bird, Now." The orchestra has some new numbers.

THE STAR
In their advertisement in tonight's issue, the Star Theatre calls the attention of its patrons particularly to the drama entitled "Lost and Won." This picture, which is produced by the Selig Company, is a romance of the California oil fields, and the location from which the picture was taken is the big Lake View oil gusher district of California, which was struck at the recent date of March 12, 1910. "Outlaw and Child," a western drama by the Father Morrissey, the learned priest-physician, realized that many of the difficulties and troubles of this world are due to indigestion. He believed that to get a proper mental and spiritual attitude, a normal digestive apparatus is very helpful. The good Father therefore gave much study to the important question of the stomach.

His famous prescription, "No. 11," for dyspepsia, consists of simple tablets, never compounded from the materials of a laboratory. NURSE WILL GET $5,385
Boston, July 10.—Miss May B. McNaughton, who gave up her position as a salesgirl in a local jewelry store in 1908 to become nurse, housekeeper and travelling companion of Mrs. Isabelle M. Holt until her death in April, 1910, has been awarded $5,385 by Judge Bell in the superior court against Michael J. Sugrue, administrator of Mrs. Holt's estate.
Mrs. Holt, who lived in the Back Bay in New York during that period, had had a will drawn up giving all her property to Miss McNaughton, but had not signed the will. Mrs. Holt left an estate of about $10,000.
Miss McNaughton sued for $5,385, claiming that Mrs. Holt had made a contract to pay her $25 a week if she gave up her position and went with her as nurse, housekeeper and companion.
Judge Bell found that the contract price, if made, was abandoned and that during the later years of Mrs. Holt's life Miss McNaughton was expecting a legacy in satisfaction of anything due her. He allowed Miss McNaughton $20 a week for the last six years of Mrs. Holt's life.

Twenty Years Estranged Over Name for Baby, Parents are Re-married
Des Moines, Iowa, July 10.—William R. Oswald, of Chicago, and Mrs. Nellie L. Oswald, have been remarried by a justice of the peace here. Mr. and Mrs. Oswald were divorced twenty years ago, following a quarrel over the name of their newly born son. The son who caused the trouble affected the reconciliation.
The father wanted the baby named William, after himself, while Mrs. Oswald contended that the infant should be christened Chester.

CHINESE AND GIRLS ARRESTED IN RAID IN NORTH END LAUNDRY

Police Arrest Quartette and Fines Totalling $125 Are Paid—Visit of Police in Early Hours This Morning

Sergeant Joseph Scott and Policemen Ira Perry and George Totten raided a Chinese laundry at 175 Main street, between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning and arrested Tom Buw the proprietor, Harry Fow, Ethel Leonard and Bessie Hartney. The quartette were taken to the north end police station. Buw was charged with keeping two girls in his place for immoral purposes, while the other and the two girls were charged with being inmates of the house.

The police had complaints about Buw's laundry which is almost opposite the car sheds in Main street, and on Saturday night kept a close watch on the place. About midnight the two girls entered the store and did not come out. The raid was made soon after 3 o'clock and the policemen found the two girls and the celestials there. They were arrested, and in the police court this morning all four pleaded guilty to the charges against them. The girls took things quite calmly and laughed at the evidence of Policemen Totten and Scott.

The court room was crowded with Chinese. One of them was called upon to act as interpreter. Fow could not speak very much English. Acting Magistrate Henderson heard the evidence, fined Buw $50 for being the proprietor of the house, and the other three $25 or two months in jail. Buw had a consultant with his comptroller and managed to raise enough money to pay all the fines, $125 in all.

The two girls have been in the city for some time. The Hartney girl has only one arm, having had the other arm in an accident. She claims to come from Fredericton, while the other girl says Boston is her home.

Clarence White and James Boyd were fined $4 each for drunkenness, and Cornelius O'Leary, John Weathers, Samuel Carson and Harry Griffiths were fined $8 each for a like offence. Acting Magistrate Henderson presided at this morning's court.

MANY PAY TAXES AND SAVE DISCOUNT

Saturday was the last day for the taking advantage of the discount on the county taxes, and County Secretary Kelley said this morning that more money had been received than in many years. The taxes in the county are lower this year than has been the case previously, and the people in general paid up in time to get the discount. Through additional sources of revenue, such as the N. B. Telephone Co., W. U. Telegraph and C. P. R., the county has been enabled to reduce the taxation considerably.

Today was a very heavy day in the chamberlain's office. At the noon hour particularly, between 12 and 2 o'clock, there was a great rush of people anxious to save their discount. The last day for the opportunity of saving the discount on the city taxes is Tuesday, July 18.

The executive of the St. John Canadian Club is trying to arrange to have General Botha, Premier of the South African Republic, visit the city today, en route to Halifax, to visit his brother, the Rev. George Carson. He will return later in the week, and will probably spend a day at Sussex with the family of John Spurr, who are en route to Augusta, Me., to visit his sister, Mrs. Van Allen.

Mr. Carson's brother, William, is in Calgary, and an older brother John is also in Alberta. They have been in the west many years, and have been very successful.

Mr. Carson told the Times that crop prospects were never better in the west than they are now, and the grain is ripening earlier than usual. He looks for an immense grain crop.

SALVATION ARMY FAREWELLS

In special services held at the Salvation Army station yesterday, several of the officers who have served during the last year, farewelled at large meetings. The following said good-bye to their charges last evening—Capt. and Mrs. Adamson, of Charlotte street; Capt. Bowring and Lieut. Hardy, of the Main street barracks; Capt. Kean and Lieut. White, also of Main street, but recently of the Mill street barracks, and Capt. Rowe and Ensign Green, of the Carleton Army Depot.

Brigadier Adby will return by the S. S. Prince Rupert this evening to make the final arrangements for the transfer of officials.

HOW IS THIS FOR ROAD WORK?

The Hazen road policy is providing the people of Renfrew with a fruitful topic of discussion. Nearly three weeks ago road workers went there and dug out the ditches, throwing the mud into heaps in the road. Then they went away. If two teams or a team and an auto meet on this road one must take the ditch or the mud heap. It is assumed that the intention is to have the heaps spread over the road and gentlemen of a sporting bent are laying bets whether it will be done this fall or next spring. Driving parties are bitter in their complaints of the condition of the road.

BOY SCOUT SAVES LAD'S LIFE

BODY OF MAN FLOATING IN BAY OF FUNDY

Lorneville Fishermen Bring it Ashore and Notify Coroner Macfarland—Identity Not Yet Established

The body of a man was found floating this morning in the Bay of Fundy, a short distance below Partridge Island, by some fishermen from Lorneville. The body was badly decomposed, and showed the effects of having been in the water for some time.

Thomas Galbraith, one of the party in the boat, notified Coroner Macfarland, and he will examine the body this afternoon. He gave orders for it to be kept where it had been towed ashore by the men. It is not known whose the body, but a guess was made this morning that it was that of the sailor Smallbones who was drowned off Partridge Island some weeks ago. Another guess was made that it was the body of Robert Burns, the late caretaker of the Suspension Bridge.
