Without answering, she walked to a cabinet that stood in the window, un-locked a drawer and drew out several sheets of filmsy white paper, crumpled in places and closely covered with writing. Without a word she carried them back and held them out.

He took them in silence, scanned them, then looked up.
In a long, worthless pause their eyes met. It was as if each looked speechessly into the other's heart, seeing the easiens, the contradictions, the shert-comings, that went to the making of both. In that silence they drew closer together than they could have done through a torrent of words. There wonder if any woman in the world would have done otherwise! I crum-pled up the papers just as they were and carried them to my swa roam." From the first to the last word of Eve's story Loder's eyes never left her face. Instantly she had finished his voice broke forth in irrepressible ques-tion. In that wonderful space of time he had learned many things. All time he had learned many things. All his deductions, all his apprehensions, had been scattered and disproved. He had seen the true meaning of Lillian Astropp's amused indifference—the indifference of a variable, dippent nature that, robbed of any real weapon for mischief, soon three of a game that promises to be too ardmens. He saw all this and understood it with a rapidity born of the moment; nevertheless, when five ceased to greak the question that breks from him was not connected with this great discovery—was not even suggestive of it. Quietly and yet quickly she turned, her whole face transfigured by a light that She had lowered her eyes as he came toward her. Now she lifted them in a swift upward glance. For the first time since he had entered the room a whole face transfigured by a light that seemed to abline from within—some-thing singularly soft and tender. "There's no need to say anything," she said simply, "be fine it know." It came quietly, as most great reve-lations come. Her voice was low and free from any excitement, her face beautiful in its complete unceasaclousalight look of personal doubt and un-easiness showed in her face. "Why?" she said. "I—I don't understand." For a moment he answered nothing. He had found his first explanation over-whelming. Now suddenly it seemed to him that his present difficulty was more impossible to surmount. "I came here tonight to tell you semething," he be-gan at last, "but so far I have only ess of self. In that supreme moment all her thought, all her sympathy, was for the man—and this suffering. "We never make so colossal a mis-take as when we imagine that we know ourselves. Months ago, when your husband first proposed this scheme to me, I was, according to my own con-ception, a solitary being vastly ill used by fate, who, with a fine stoicism, was ading a clean life. That was what believed, but there, at the very out set, I deceived myself. I was simply a man who shut himself up because he cherished a grudge against life and who lived honestly because he had a constitutional distaste for vice. My first feeling when I saw your husband was one of self-righteous contempt, along. I have often marveled at the over me at sight of him—the violent desire that has possessed me to look away from his weakness and banish the knowledge of it-but now I under Humanity is really much simpler than we like to think, and human impulses have an extraordinary fundamental connection. Weakness is egotism, but so is strength. Chileote has followed his vice; I have followed my ambition. It will take a higher judgment than yours or mine to say which of us has been the more selfish man." He paus-ed and looked at her. She was watching him intently.

Some of the meaning in his face had found a pained, alarmed reflection in her own. But the awe and wonder of the morning's discovery still colored her mind too vividly to allow of other considerations possessing their proper value. The thrill of exultation with which the misglyings born of Chilcote's vice had dropped away from her men-tal image of Loder was still too absorb-ing to be easily dominated. She loved, and as if by a miracle her love had been justified! For the moment the been justified! For the moment the justification was all sufficing. Something of confidence, something of the innocence that comes not from ignorance of evil, but from a mind singularly uncontaminated, blinded her to the danger of her position.

some aid, some expression of opinion, became gradually conscious of this lack of realization. Moved by a fresh impulse, he crossed the small space that divided them and caught her "Eve," he said gently, "I have been trying to analyze myself and give you the results, but I shan't try any more. I shall be quite plain with you. "From the first moment I took you husband's place I was ambitious. You unconsciously aroused the feeling when you brought me Fraide's message on the first night. You aroused it by your words, but more strongly, though more obscurely, by your underlying antagonism. On that night, though I did not know it, I took up my position; I made my determination. Do you know what that determination was?"

She shook her head.
"It was the desire to stamp out Chil-cote's footmarks with my own, to prove that personality is the great force interest.
"First came the wish for your re

"First came the wish for your respect, then the desire to stand well with such men as Fraide-to feel the stir of smulation and competition—to prove myself strong in the one career I knew myself fitted for. For a time the second ambition overshadowed the first, but the first was bound to reassert itself, and in a moment of egotism I cancetved the notion of winning your enthusiasm as well as your respect."

ACUTE PAINS IN THE BACK Caused by lumbago, a form

As the attacks come on quite insquent and are so torturing, this disease met much loss of time and money as was the endurance of much suffering, victim needs to be told that linimer plasters and outward treatment will cure the disease. This kind of treatments is merely a waste of time and money. It trouble is really a species of muscurheumatism, and is due to poor blood, and only be cured through the blood. can only be cured through the blood is for this reason that Dr. Williams P. Pills are so successful in curing trouble, and those who are afflicted be abould lose no time in giving the Pill trial. If the treatment is persisted in disease will be driven from the systand the cure be made permanent. substantiation Mrs. Alfred Derby, E. ville, Ont., says: "A few years ago I stacked by excruciating pains in the b which the doctor called iumbago. I not able to do a bit of work about not able to do a bit of work about the house, and suffered dreadfully every time I moved about. I took the doctor's medicine all winter, and used liniments, without getting any relief. In a thoroughly discouraged condition I began using Dr. Williams Pink Pills. After using six boxes I was better and able to do all my own work, and have not been afflicted with the trouble since. I now always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those alling."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.00 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The contention raised by Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore of Toronto, that the British law does not recognize a proxy marriage, has not worried van Hessen in the least. He stated last night that he was well aware that such an objection might be raised, as it was the first time such a case had occurred in clus country, but he gave the smiling assurance, that he, will remarry his wife on her arrival; on Condition of the content of the condition o his skull.

Rsymond Donovan, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Denis, Donovan, of middle street, South Boston, fell two stories Monday afternoon in the ton Boyle O'Relly School on Dorchester streat- and suffered fracture of the skull.

The boys of the school were going out to recess and the little Donovan boy saw a larger boy stradile the balustrade and slide down. He thought he could do the same thing and he climbed up, unseen by any of the teachers. He did not go far down the balustrade before he fell over to one side and dropped to the cellar, striking on his head on the asphale floor. Teachers heard him scream and picked him up unonscious. He was taken to the City Hospital.

S P. C. NOTES. The Society looking after many matters.

More funds needed.

The S. P. C. has adopted a novel scheme in Dartmouth of protecting the horses that come from Preston. Yesterday a horse was found in a forge which had ome in from Preston and it was so weak that it fell over twice when being shod by the blacksmith. Bystanders who noticed the condition of the animal telephoned at once to the S. P. C. and Thompson White, who has been helping the Society materi-ally in Dartmouth, took the horse into his stables, where it was given two square meals. It was found that the animal was very old and not able to properly feed. A veterinary surgeon was sent for, and an inspection will be made of the arimal to inspectors will be nated to the arima to see if anything can be done for it. Two other horses from Preston, were also taken possession of by the Society and were properly fed at the expense of the owners. It is felt that in this way the owners will realize their duty towards the dumb servants.

DARTMOUTH NEWS The new ferry dock .- Wedded at Christ

The building of the new ferry dock in Halifax is being proceeded with as rapidly as possible, searcity of help being a big drawback to quick completion. The south side is practically finished and work has been going on on the north side for about a week. As soon as a large enough portion of the north side is completed, the bridge will be ahirted to the new dock, as it will be impossible to com-about three weeks.

The plans for the new station house are not yet complete, and it will probably 56 some time before work on that building is begun. In this connection it is probable that bonds will have to be issued to pay for construction, as the amount woted for the doak will be pretty well used up. It is the intention of Mayor Williams to have a public meeting called shortly to discuss this question, as well as any other matters considered necessary in connection with town affairs.

The marriage took place at Christ church, at 6.30 o'clook last evening, of Miss Jeanet Hunt, daughter of William Hunt, Water street, to James Dauphinee, son of Levi Dauphinee, St. Margaret's Bay. Rev. S. J. Woodroofe performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Alice, and was attired in a blue tailor-made suit, with white hat. William McLeman was groomsman. The groom is an employee at McEimon's mill. A number of wedding gifts were received by the happy couple, who will reside on Water street.

OMAHA, Neb., May 15—Reports received early to day show that the tornado which formed in the couthern part of Seward County last night took a toll of 17 lives, injured 40 persons, and destroyed property valued at $250,000.

At least three towns, Seward, Tomaro and McColjet, suffered from the elements, the greatest destruction being at Seward, where eleven persons were killed and thirty injured. At Tomaro, four lives were lost and much property destroyed. At Seward [much greater destruction was averted by the fact that the tornado crossed only a comparatively small part of the town instead of sweeping across the more densely populated ections two blocks south.

The property loss in that diy is estimated at $100,000.

Music as Aid to Work. Music as Aid to Work.

Sir Laurence Gomme, London, statistician and archaeologist, regards music as an aid to work. He relates that at the beginning of his official career he used to add up huge columns of figures for statistical purposes by the simple process of doing the task to a Gregorian tune, and that he was always correct in his totals.

"Poor Whites". Not Wanted. The Town Council of Johannesburg, South Africa, has agreed to raise the wages of all unskilled men in its employ who now receive five shillings a day to six shillings. The wages of men who are receiving more than five shillings, are to be increased by sixpence a day up to a maximum of 2s. 6d. With a view to preventing Johannesburg becoming, more than it is now, the dumping ground for poor whites, the resolution was taken that employment should not be given to any new applicants who are unable to prove that they have been domiciled in the municipality for at least twelve months. The Town Council of Johannesburg

Padlocked the Door. Padlecked the Deer.

When refused admission to the Labor party's conference in Manchester, Eng., recently a party of militant suffragettes speedily held an amusing, if ineffective, revenge, by eluding the police and stewards, and, slipping a heavy chain through the handles of the doors and fastening the ends with a patent pedlock. All attempts to break the chain or force the padlock failed, and a blacksmith with an axe had to be called to reopen the door. Meanwhile, unaware of the fact that they were imprisoned, the delegates were acclaiming the rights of women to the franchise.

Orespect Of Jahn w Sected Steep.

This Locathing the Bishop of Landon recently effected a marvelotic cure in the case of a fifteen-year-old gift subtering from a nervous breakdown. When his lordship resched the sick chamber in response to the mother's request, he found that the little one had been raving and shricking in delirium all the afternoon, and it seemed unlikely that he would be able to pray for her without frightening hes.

BISHOP OF LORMON.

As he stepped to the bedside, however, an extraordinary thing happened. "Do you know me, dear?" he said. "Yes, said the child, as she slipped her hand into that of the bishop. What followed is thus described by his lordship: "She had not slept for a long time. With the mother and the nurses I knelt at the bed. We had two prayers; then I anointed her on the forehead with oil, prayed for a blessing on it, placed my hand upon her head, and gave her the blessing, and at that moment she sank back into a deep sleep and slept for hours during the night, and, thank God, if it is His good pleasure, she is now on the high way to recovery. I knew that evening that Jesus was personally with us, and I could not help thinking it was very much like the raising of Jairus' daughter over again."

A Labouchere Anecdote Labouchere anecdote which has been done to death is given in A Labouchere anecdote which has not been done to death is given in the new volume of recollections by Sir Henry Lucy ("Toby, M.P."), to whom it was told by Labby himself. It concerned the younger son of a peer, who thought that a berth in the Diplomatic Service was as desirable a place as any for one who took life rather easily. He knew nothing of the special subjects upon which the pre-liminary examination was based, but there was at least the promise of a lark. As far as he could make out, he did not supply a single correct answer to the long list of questions. Nevertheless, he came out first in the competition. The was a surprise even for a confident young lordling. Meeting one of the examiners + a dinner a few days later, he ventured to ask how the thing came about. "We at once saw you knew nothing," was the reply. "But your manner was so free from constraint under what to some people would have been peculiarly embarrassing circumstances that we said to each other, "That's the very man to make a diplomatist. So we gave you a start on your career."

A Clever New Burglar Trap A Clever. New Burglar Trap.

An ingenious device is the invention of William Norreys, of Yattendon road, Horley, England. It consists of a false floor, which may be constructed in front of the counter or whatever other part of the shop or office a thief might be expected to stand upon. This floor, which covers a pit, is supported by projecting pins, which can be withdrawn into their sockets by means of a lever worked by a brass rail on the shopman's side of the counter and running along the whole rail on the shopman's side of the counter and running along the whole length of it. The floor being set free to fall, the thief upon it sinks quickly into the pit, alighting upon spring or pneumatic shock-shorbers, that he may not be injured. His weight works another lever, which causes a aliding door to close over the mouth of the pit. The device can be set a night for burglars or safe-breakers, the retaining pins being so adjusted that the false floor will fall under the added weight of a burglar.

The church of the little village of Iken, Suffolk, Eng., possesses what is probably one of the most unique alms dishes to be found in the kingdom. Inlaid in the centre of the woodwork is a piece of the actual bell-metal which was salved from the great fire at York Minister when that famous peal was entirely destroyed some years ago. At the time the disaster occurred the then vicar of Iken procured a small piece of the molten metal and had it preserved in the manner described, as a memento of York's unfortunate conflagration.

(From & Toronto Paper TIDE OF IMMIGRATION. The Total For 1912 Equals Population

The Total Par 1912 Equals Population of New Brunswick.

Immigration added to the population of Canada during the past fiscal year the squivalent of the whole-population of New Brunswick, with fifty thousand souls to spare to make another city the size of St. John or London, Ont. The total influx of new citizens for the twelve months was 402,432 greater by fourteen percent, than the previous high record of 1912-19. Of the newcomers, 150,542 were British, an increase of nine percent, over the preceding twelve months; 139,092 came from the United States, an increase of four per cent, over the preceding twelve months; 139,092 came from the United States, an increase of four per cent, and 112,531 came from the countries, an increase of thirty-seven per cent. For every twenty of the population of Canada one newcomer was absorbed in the countries of the same steady rate of growth in the influx of new citizens from older and less fortunate lands. The Immigration Department expects the total for the current year to pass the 450,000 mark, although the present financial stringency, felt especially in western Canada, is checking somewhat the influx of farmers from the western American States. At present the tide of new settlers is rolling in, at the Atlantic portals at a rate of considerably over one thousand per day. The new Austra Canadian cervice, operated by the C.P.R., is bringing tens of thousands of hardy and industrious newcomers from central and eastern Europe. They are sinding ready smaloyment as railway navvies in the west. contractors are eagerly anapping up

Aid For Farmers.

More than $2,506,000 is expended annually by the Dominism Department of Agriculture in carrying on work in the interest of the farming community. This large amount of money is divided among several branches to carry on the special duties with which they are entrusted. The experimental farms seek to folive problems in all phases of agriculture, etc.; the seed branch works to encourage the use of only cocd seed; the live stock branch endeavors to increase the profits of the stock raise; the health of animals branch aims to protect our herds and ficcins from disease; the dairy and cold storage branch does much to help the dairy men and fruit growers, while the to-baceo division endeavors to find out and teach which are the best kinds of tobacco and the best ways of treating the crop in Canada.

While all, inconsciously, perhaps, reap benefits from this work, much of it, more especially that of an investigational nature, is useful only to those who learn for themselves the lessons from any profit by it. The publications are sent out to all persons who apply for them to the publication branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.
