MUTILATED BODY FOUND ON A DUMP.

Torso of a Murdered Man Found by Children in a Rubbish Heap in Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—On one of the city dumps last night was discovered by children, a human torso, including the thorax and shoulder, the identity of the person is shrouded in mystery. There was not a shred of clothing attached to the torso, it was turned over to the police and removed to the morgue. The most striking discovery was a bullet which the coroner thinks caused death. The postmortem held by Coroner Sigstein showed that the body was that of a murdered man. It also developed that the body had been embalmied. The theory that the body had been cut up in a medical school and then discarded, hence being hauled to the dump, was scouted by the coroner. The body showed curious marks of mutilation in that the head and arms had evidently been pulled off or cut rudely. The coroner holds that it is the portion of a body of a man and that his weight was probably 140 pounds. As to his age it was not possible to tell.

"You are younger than me"—should be "than I."

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Very important it is in this age of competition to have a clear cool head, a strong heart and steady nerves. Too much rush and bustle, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart and nerve system will not stand it—he gives them too much work to do. Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social life. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, specks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.

THAT WASTED FEELING.

A communication to a magazine published for girls begins: "The year is waning; the night will, robed in darkness, will soon fill the forest with its funeral dirge. All about you Nature in every phase is bringing in her store of gifts, the labor of the past year is now to be reaped. Is not your heart heavy with the memory of wasted hours? Does the brain of unshaven and unclean, seedy and very shabbily dressed. He stood disconsolately on a street corner, she had had a bad day of it and was wondering where there was a corner where the nickels and dimes would flow more plentifully. As he was about to cross the street he noticed a kindly, motherly-looking woman approaching. Assuming a most woe-begone, destitute expression, he took his stand on the curb, and tentatively proffered his greasy palm. He was not disappointed. She produced a nickel and said: 'Now I want you to understand that I am giving you this not because I think you may be starving or from any foolish notions of charity, but simply because it gives me pleasure to do so.' 'Well, mum,' he replied, 'if you look at it that way, why not make it a dime and have a real jolly good time?' BRITISH SAILORS SAVE LIVES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Sailors from the British cruiser Cumberland today saved the lives of fourteen persons on their way to view the combined fleets in the North River. When the boat, which had come from Staten Island and contained eight men, three women and three children, capsized while going about a pulling boat from the Cumberland went to the rescue and succeeded in bringing all safely to shore. E. Dimmick, a seaman on the Bedford, jumped overboard and rescued a boy who was thrown into the water by the swamping of a small boat alongside the ship.

6,000 LOST CHILDREN IN NEW YORK YEARLY.

Italians and Jews Divide Honors, Losing Between Them About Two-thirds of Total.

The number of children lost in the course of a year varies considerably, says Pearson's Magazine. The largest number of children ever sheltered at the Central Office in the course of a year was in 1882, the year of the Columbian celebration, when, during twelve months, more than 6,000 children were under Mrs. Travers' care.

Fullly two-thirds more children are lost during the summer than during the winter, and at the time of the Italian feast of St. Rocco, celebrated in June, the press of parents waiting on the steps of police headquarters is so great that, according to the officer who tends the door, "you have to drive them down so you can come up." Indeed, Italians divide with Jews the honors of losing their little ones. About two-thirds of all the children lost may be safely given to these two.

But the "state day" of all the year is the first opening of the public schools, after the summer vacation. Many little ones go to school for the first time, and are too small to find their way home at noon; so the mother doubtless gives the teacher very explicit directions to keep "Rebecca" or "Rebecca" until home at noon. Now to the bewildered teacher, all pupils, at first, appear alike; therefore it is not strange that she fails to remember which is the kept till called for," so, when school is out, many little ones find themselves in the street, not only totally ignorant of how to reach home but frequently of where home is located. They wander aimlessly about, sometimes covering most surprising distances, and finally, tired out and discouraged, they begin to cry. Here some officer takes a hand, and, by night, the majority of them will be enjoying the city's hospitality at the Central Office.

TIME SPENT AT A MIRROR.

German statisticians with no great burden of serious work on their shoulders have been calculating what parts of a woman's life is spent in looking at herself in a mirror. She begins as a rule at six years. From six to ten she has a daily average of seven minutes. From ten to fifteen she devotes a quarter of an hour to her glass. At twenty she certainly spends thirty minutes daily admiring herself, and when past twenty a whole hour. The statisticians are tactful enough not to say when a woman begins to take less interest in her personal appearance, but women more than sixty years old do not, they say, spend more than ten minutes daily at their mirrors. All this time reckoned up—it is a single sum in multiplication—makes 7,600 hours, of about twenty months, at the mirror. They then proceed to compare the time which a man—a German man—devotes to this occupation, and comes to the conclusion that his average is seven months.

The German Emperor not long back received a peculiar present—a pair of scissors, but so exquisitely made as to be valued at nearly $500. A steel merchant was the giver. He had the Emperor's portrait and some celebrated historical buildings engraved on the scissors. The engraver is said to have worked five years at his task.

FIGHTING CONSUMPTION.

The board of health and various charitable organizations in New York are conducting an active, intelligent campaign against consumption and are meeting with encouraging results. One of the most recent moves has been the preparation, by a committee of the Charity Organization Society, of a set of simply worded rules for the guidance of working people, which is issued in the form of a neat, four-page, card folder, bearing on its outside cover the injunction: "Don't Give Consumption to Others. Don't let Others Give it to You."

Inside are directions for preventing consumption, and instructions as to right living. The familiar counsel against expectation is impressively conveyed and there is advice not to sleep, live, or work in rooms which are without fresh air.

About 35,000 copies of this little circular, bearing the imprint of this committee and of the Committee on Sanitation of the Central Federated Union of New York, have been distributed, printed in German, English and Bohemian. The circulars of similar tenor issued by the New York Department of Health, are printed in nine languages besides English.

This department is carrying on a consistent campaign against consumption, of which the salient features are: compulsory notification and registration of all cases; visitation in their homes by physicians or trained nurses of every case of tuberculosis not under the care of a private physician or in a public institution, as soon as such case is reported; thorough disinfection at public expense of rooms vacated by consumptives either through death or removal; supply by the sanitary authorities of suitable food, especially milk and eggs, to patients in destitute circumstances who cannot be removed to an institution; and enforcement of the ordinance against spitting in public places.

The New York Board of Education is also doing good service by circulating among teachers of the public schools a pamphlet, which describes plainly the teacher's opportunities and responsibilities in the prevention of tuberculosis. Considerable care is taken in this pamphlet to show that consumption is not a contagious disease. Simple directions as to the need of fresh air, nourishing food and household cleansing are also included.

In addition to all this educational work the city government has recently authorized the building of a sanatorium on one of the loftiest hills of Staten Island. The estimated cost of the work is $2,000,000, of which $500,000 has already been appropriated. The architect's plans call for a series of ward and single-room pavilions, distributed on the arc of a circle with the administration buildings as a centre—an arrangement insuring a maximum of sun and air, since the pavilions face south and are protected on the north by woodland. The buildings, which will stand on land already owned by the city, could be completed within two years of the letting of the contracts.

Already this campaign has resulted in a fall of the tuberculosis death rate more rapid than in any other great city in the world, and the medical authorities are confident in time of practically stamping out this plague, which, though now the most prevalent of all contagious diseases, is by all odds the most preventable.

ONE GOVERNMENT RAILWAY.

The latest blue book dealing with the operation of the stock-owned railways in Victoria, Australia, further confirm the wisdom of the government in establishing an independent management under an expert railway man.

The substantial results gained have been achieved without increasing freight rates and notwithstanding an increase in wages, and they are attributable only to efficient and economical management. Thus a total reduction of twenty per cent. has been made in train mileage since Mr. Tait took charge, while at the same time gross revenue receipts from this source have increased by over six per cent., while the gross revenue per train mile was the highest since 1877; and the net revenue itself the largest yet earned—$306,459 more than in the first year of the present administration, and $1,858,251 above that of any year prior thereto—while the percentage of working expenses, 52.23 of the gross revenue, is the lowest since 1873. The interest charges in the railway debt were paid in full for the year 1902-3, a result not obtained since 1884, and also for the year 1904-5.

The net deficit on the operation of the system when Mr. Tait took over the control was $2,000,000, and now, not only has this been wiped out, but funds are provided for paying in full interest charges on capital account, and these state-owned railways have become an actual source of revenue.

A TIGHTENING MONOPOLY.

The purchase of the Carleton Electric Lighting Company's plant by the St. John Street Railway Company, which is apparently an event of the near future, is the natural conclusion of the penny-wise-pound-foolish action of the common council a few months ago. It was an understood thing at the time that if the city did not seize its opportunity to take over the west side plant at a fair valuation, that company was doomed to extinction or absorption by the wealthier corporation on this side of the harbor. Had the city acted then—even if the purchase did not include exclusive rights in Carleton—it is highly probable that the Street Railway Company would have entered the field over there as a competitor. But as soon as the city let the change go this company made immediate preparations to extend its operations and has apparently accomplished its end already by securing a solid monopoly of public and private lighting all over the city, with the exception of the North End Street Lighting Plant, and this would be handed over to it some of these past-holding aldermen had their way.

The whole property of this Street Railway Company rests on privileges given it gratis by the city of St. John for which neither the corporation nor the citizens get anything in return except what they pay exorbitant prices in good cash for doing that time the power of the octopus to exact more and give less is increasing. The time is not far away when the people will demand a remedy and those in authority who are putting that remedy farther out of reach will suffer for it.

MR. TARTE AND CORRUPTION.

Mr. Tarte moralises on the disclosures which have been made by the contest of Mr. Gallery's election in Montreal. The evidence does not surprise Mr. Tarte.

"Money, liquor, liquor, money!" says Mr. Tarte. "Hardly any one cares to be a candidate without obtaining in advance a guarantee of a fixed sum which three and a half quarters of the time is not sufficient and has to be increased the day before the election."

Mr. Tarte says that in Montreal $10,000 is a moderate sum, and that some divisions reach that amount. Parties obtain their funds from large corporations, from big and little contractors, from merchants, from the clergy, from the press, from the public affairs, and take the part in campaigns that they ought to take, the country, which describes plainly the nature of the national representation, and relieve the political leaders of the humiliating necessity of seeking contributions from sources that are often compromising.

Mr. Tarte goes to argue that the increase in the salaries of the members of the cabinet would tend to bring men of great weight and worth into public life.

The former minister does not support this last contention with much argument. It is not at all clear that he is right. In fact, it seems quite unlikely that the increase in the rewards of members of parliament and ministers will result in the corrupt expenditure which candidates make in order to become members and ministers. We should expect the influence to work the other way.—Sun.

LABOR TALKS.

MILES, THE MASON, AND THE PROFESSOR.

Prof.—You complain about your taxes and want me to go with you to the Board. No, Miles, it serves you right. It is your own fault that you have to pay $3 or $10 this year. Yes, I know you pay the house taxes when you pay the rent and that your children had to leave school a fortnight. You stand at the corner and growl, but you don't come and help when needed. Next month the Taxation Commission will be open to hear views on taxation. Will your representatives at the Trade and Labor Council be there? Oh, you don't believe in the Trade and Labor Council—more disagreement. Hard to break a bundle of sticks, easy to break one. No wonder the provincial government scorns the labor men when such a strong union as the masons gets on its high horse and won't meet with the others. You need a Joshua to sound his horn and break down your pride. Miles—What good would it do us to belong to the Trades and Labor Council? It just gives a chance for two or three to go off to Toronto as deputies.

Prof.—Then why don't you send letter men to do the work? Small wonder the rich man says, "the workers were born to work and the thinkers to think." Who can blame the government for sending their fingers at your words resolutions? Yet, Miles, it is strange that men like you who build their lives on a pretty stiff rent as well as ahead, Masons must be like the Chinese, who built the great wall and kept behind it. You are scattered all over the city and you are not together. You are not together and you are not together. You are not together and you are not together. You are not together and you are not together.

Short Talks on Printing

In looking over the advertising pages of the leading magazines one invariably runs across a sentence something like this: "Illustrated booklet sent on request," "Catalogue Free," or "Send for Booklet!"

How many manufacturing industries, business houses, or business institutions in St. John follow up their advertising in this manner? Very few, and it's the few that are reaping the harvest.

Think this over, and if it interests you, call us up on Phone 25, and we will call on you with samples of Catalogues and Booklets we have printed—which have proved profitable business-bringing investments.

Prof. Oberlander, the famous German comic illustrator, celebrated his 60th birthday recently. Since 1863 few numbers of the "Fliegende Blätter" have appeared without a picture by him. The Prince Regent of Bavaria is one of his greatest admirers, and often invites him to dinner. He is happiest, however, in his home circle. He has never had an atelier outside of his home, and says he profoundly pities the painters who are away from home all day long and from morn to eve see nothing of their families.

LILLIPIUANS SAY GOOD-BYE.

The Pollard Lilliputian Opera Co. are now in Halifax, where they open an engagement tonight in the Academy of Music. The company was without doubt one of the best musical organizations who have ever visited this city. The Lady Slavey was the bill presented on Saturday night, and at the close Jack Pollard on behalf of the company said a few words of farewell and expressing the hope that they would again visit this city. Then, while all the company crossed hands, Miss Eva Moore came forward and sang "Auld Lang Syne." The audience arose and gave three cheers for the youthful performer. The Neptune and Beaver clubs celebrated the Saturday game by being present in a body. The Neptune came from their way from the river in the pit and the Beavers the first row in the balcony. Bouquets were presented to the leading ladies by both clubs tied with their colors.

At the close of the performance the youthful company went to the depot where they took the 11:25 train for Halifax. While the youngsters were on their way from the depot they passed an old woman coming along with a heavy basket, and Miss Olive Moore, aged ten, who had been highly honored in the number of bouquets, stopped, and with a smile and a bow, presented her with the flowers. The woman was seen later walking down King and holding up admiringly the carnations tied with the Beaver colors.

LONDON STYLES IN MEN'S CLOTHES.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—That modern tailoring has been raised to an exact science, if not a fine art, has been demonstrated by an exhibit, held in the offices of the "Tailor and Cutter."
Many examples of the work of masterly cutters were shown, and every stitch is a thought; trousers which defy microscope and compass to detect any imperfection, solid tunics calculated to rouse the exacting experts of the Pall Mall—these and many other tributes to the genius of gifted wielders of needle and "goose," are being shown to the best advantage.
Lay minds are shown that in the charm that can be infused into ladies' tailor-made costumes, and a man's hunt hat suit, another exhibit of a suit with silk of the same color and decorated with gilt buttons bearing mystic initials, was pronounced by experts to be "a perfect work."
"More changes are made in overcoats," observed Mr. Weston, "than in any other garment worn by men. The fashion for this year is a Chesterfield type, very close fitting at the waist, stream down the centre of the back and a long slit reaching to a point seven or eight inches below the waist. A considerable amount of "springs" is given to the coat at the hips, so that a kind of petticoat effect is produced."

A COMMON CASE.

(Haverhill, Mass., News.)
The Rev. Dr. E. A. Horton told a story about a long-winded member of the legislature. The legislator was making a political address in a town not far from Boston, and the people were gathered in the town hall to hear it.
"He had been speaking quite awhile," said Dr. Horton, "when an old Scotchman walked out of the hall. At the door one of his countrymen was waiting with his back to drive the orator to the station."
"Is he done yet, Sandy?" asked the Scot on the box.
"The old man turned around, 'Aye,' said he; 'he's done lang ago, but he will na stop.'"

THINK OF IT.

Wiggs—I hear there's a new arrival at your house. I congratulate you.
Wiggs—Throw in a little condolence on the side. There's been two arrivals.
Wiggs—Twin?
Wiggs—No. The baby and my wife's mother.

FREIGHT HANDLERS AFTER MORE PAY.

A delegation to Ottawa representing the I. C. R. freight handlers of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia is a possibility. The wage question is the reason. The local union, No. 8, held a good meeting here yesterday in their room, Charlotte street, the vice-president in the chair and this matter was taken up.
The pension fund was debated on and the question of better wages for the freight handlers was gone into vigorously. Letters from Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec and several from Nova Scotia unions in sympathy with the St. John men were read. It is likely the delegation from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will meet the government next January.
The men receive $1.40 a day and claim the insufficient, and not in comparison with the pay of others.

The tallest soldier in the German army, who was enlisted recently, is 7 feet 10 inches in height and his weight is 255 pounds. He adorns the ranks of the First Regiment of footguards.

POLAND WILL NOT SHARE IN REFORMS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—An official communication issued this morning recalls the fact that the imperial ukase of Dec. 25 last established bases for the gradual renovation of the civil life of Russian subjects and points out that the measures adopted in pursuance of that ukase affected equally the Polish people.
By participating in the great creative work the Polish people would consequently have gradually attained the ulterior progress of the Polish nation with the aid of the electoral institutions. Forgetting the past, the sons of the past, the politicians who are directing the national movement, have been holding revolutionary meetings, have held processions carrying Polish flags and singing revolutionary songs until the government has now decided that as long as these disturbances continue these districts will receive no benefits resulting from the manifesto. These districts are now declared to be in a state of war. The proclamation concludes that the future of the Polish people thus depends upon themselves.

REGENT DEATHS

MRS. M. S. HOCKEN.
CHATHAM, N. B., Nov. 12.—Mrs. M. S. Hocken, died suddenly of paralysis of the brain on Saturday. She was apparently in her usual health and was preparing to go up town when taken ill and passed away within an hour.
The deceased was a daughter of the late Arthur Wright, of St. John. Her mother, brother and Miss Peters, of St. John, and Richard Hocken, of Moncton, arrived this morning. The body will be taken to St. John Tuesday morning for burial.

JAMES VINCENT HOGAN.

The death of James Vincent Hogan occurred at a late hour last night. He was 22 years of age and was the son of John Hogan, of Smithtown, Kings county. He leaves, besides his father and mother, three brothers and seven sisters. Two brothers are William, of Washington, D. C., and John and Frank, of this city; and the sisters are Mrs. Frank Pakulski, of Kelly, Me., Mrs. Michael Conners, of Carleton county; Mrs. James O'Brien, of Millville; Mrs. Hugh O'Brien, of Thistleville; and Mary, Serana and Letitia, at home. Mr. Hogan had been ill but a week. He was proprietor of a boarding house at the water works extension at Loch Lomond.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

On Saturday a married vs single association football match was played near Courtenay Bay by the boys of the Cotton Mill. It was a good, clean game all through, only three fouls being given in the hour and a half's play. The clever passing of the man was a revelation to the usual kick and rush style, each player placing the ball to his man promptly and with judgment. It ended in a tie.

The married men—Fisherwick, goal, Holden and Tennant, backs, Blake, Marsden and Woodard, halves, Fazackerley, Costello, Bromfield, Collier and Simpson, forwards.
Score: married, 3 goals, single 3 goals.

NEW FERRY GETTING DIRTY.

The regular patrons of the ferry are happy to have such an excellent steamer as the Ludlow to travel on, but many claim that there is yet one more extra to make the boat perfect and that is cleanliness. There is considerable brass work about the cabin doors and other parts of the boat which have never been cleaned since the boat was launched, and the paint in the cabins are getting dirty, while the easy seats in the cabin might be kept clear of dust. It has been suggested that if these small matters are not looked after the Ludlow will soon look as dirty as the old Western Extension.

F. A. DYKEMAN & CO.

A mistake occurred in an advertisement of this well known dry goods house by which the price of an article of women's wear was made to read 30c, which should have been 28c. The typographical error is regretted by the proofer.

NEVER TOO OLD FOR PUBLIC DUTY.

First Judge—Well, we'll soon be 70, and then we'll be retired on account of the age limit.
Second Judge—What shall we do then?
First Judge—Perhaps we can get on the police force.

The revival services which were held all last week in the Douglas avenue Christian church, will be continued this week, except on Saturday evening. Last night one convert was immersed. Rev. J. P. Floyd is assisting Rev. Chas. B. Appel in conducting the services, which are quite interesting. In January Rev. Mr. Floyd will commence a series of protracted meetings in his own church, that on Coburg street.

FIRE INSURANCE RATE CUTTING.

The regular meeting of the New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters was held this morning in their new offices on the corner of Canterbury and Church streets. Routine business was transacted.

The advent of several non-tariff combines into the province has caused quite a flutter among the tariff companies and there are many complaints from sub-agents in the smaller cities and towns of the province saying that they find it almost impossible to hold their present business. The underwriters have not grappled with this matter yet, but when they do it is expected there will be lots of excitement as there seems to be a great diversity of opinion as to what course the board should take.

DANGEROUS BUILDING STILL STANDS.

A special committee of the safety board, together with the mayor recorder, director and building inspector, that have had in hand the consideration of what is to be done with the condemned dwelling on North street, that the council have talked so much about, should have met this morning but failed to do so, as the recorder could not be present. The building is still sticking together, but is getting more dangerous every day.

BAPTIST MINISTERS AGREE WITH MR. COHOE.

His Ideas Concerning the Readjustment of South End Baptist Churches Endorsed by United Baptist Meeting.

The United Baptists of St. John met this morning in the board room. Those present were: President, Rev. Dr. Manning, Revs. Dr. Gates, F. S. Bamford, D. Long, F. E. Bishop, R. W. Ferguson, D. Hutchinson, F. J. Stackhouse, A. B. Cohoe, A. J. Prosser, F. D. Small, A. B. McDonald, E. D. Miller and Dr. Black.

The Rev. A. B. Cohoe reported that he preached in Fredericton for the Rev. Mr. McDonald.

The Rev. A. J. Prosser reported his visit to Nova Scotia. He preached in the United Baptist church, at Chatham, N. S., Sunday, Nov. 6. He reported that the churches in Nova Scotia are voting on the basis of unity as they have opportunity. The general impression is that it will be consummated in August next.

The report of the programme committee was read by the Rev. F. J. Stackhouse and agreed upon.

The Rev. F. E. Bishop, of Fairville, read a paper on Edward Irving and the Apostolic Church. It proved to be a most instructive subject, and was well worthy the careful consideration of the conference. He was heartily thanked by the brethren.

ITALIAN LABORERS THREATENED MURDER.

Attached Patrick Barry With Shovels and Axes—A Revolver Stopped Them—Arrests Will Follow.

Patrick Barry, an engineer on the Mooney section of the water works, accompanied by John Connor, who is a bearing house at the works, arrived in the city this morning to swear out warrants against John Julian and another whose first name is Ambrose. Mr. Barry says that the Italians were all under the influence of liquor yesterday while at work and that Julian claimed that he (Barry) refused to allow some cones to be placed in the engine room. Julian made an assault on him. Other Italians came to the aid of Julian and Barry was forced to run to the boarding house for safety and went to the kitchen. Julian was armed with a shovel and a stone while the man called Ambrose had a hatchet. The Italians made a charge of two doors in the boarding house, smashing them in and all the time threatening to kill Barry. The infuriated Italians reached the kitchen where Barry was seeking safety. Mr. Connor took a hand in the affair, and when Julian and the others broke into the kitchen they looked into the barrel of a business like revolver which Mr. Connor was holding. They then retired and did not work during the afternoon. The men in question are wanted in the general section and are expected that policemen will be sent out this afternoon to make the arrests.

On Wednesday morning they have an engagement to play the Knights of Columbus procession to the cathedral, where a high mass will be celebrated, the occasion being the first anniversary of the organization of the order in St. John. On that occasion the preacher will be Rev. Father Macmillan, of P. E. Island.

IMPROVING THE ELAINE.

The river steamer Elaine, which has retired from service for the season, being raised by the Hamstead, will shortly undergo a thorough overhauling and improving. Chief among the changes will be the installation of a new boiler, much stronger and larger than the present one. It is expected it will add at least a mile or two to the swift little steamer's speed, making her the fastest of the small fleet, and quite equal to the Victoria. During the season now ended the Elaine had more or less difficulty with her boiler, which formed considerably, having a retarding effect upon her speed.

FORGERY CASE POSTPONED.

The case against Charles Thompson charged by H. Barber with forging was to have been resumed at the police court this morning. Scott E. Merrill asked for a postponement owing to Mr. McKeown being absent from the city. The case was postponed until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Thompson was again allowed his liberty on the same bail, $2,400.

The freak boat built by Elitha Ross for Capt. Ellis, which was badly damaged when being taken through the falls and left lying on the rocks at Cushing's mill with a hole in her bottom, was taken off at flood tide. The accident happened when the boat was being taken through the falls with Mr. Flaherty and T. L. Lantalam on board, when she got too near Mill Point and struck on a reef.

TOOTH HINTS!

"When ought we to go to the dentist?"

Many think it unnecessary to devote particular attention to the teeth until the appearance of the mouth is affected by damaged, decayed or broken teeth. Others give their teeth no attention till pain compels them.

The stupidity and short-sightedness of either policy is evident.

Every one who thinks a moment on the subject knows that we cannot masticate our food satisfactorily if one or more of the teeth are tender, inflamed, decayed or otherwise out of working order; and that if this be the case the mouth requires immediate attention.

HEADACHES!

No doubt there are other causes for headaches than fatigue of the eye muscles, but when so many cases respond with such quickness to treatment based on this hypothesis it is advisable that all sufferers should try spectacles or eye glasses if defects that are remediable with glasses can be found.

Our opticians will tell you if such defects are present.
