FOWLER HAS "BRAIN STORM" OVER INSURANCE REPORT

Wildly Excited at Member's Reference to the Use of Foresters' Funds

Abuses the Royal Commission and Declares the Members Were in Their Dotage--Foster Joins in, Too, and Calls Aylesworth a Conspirator--Indescribable Scene in Parliament.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Ottawa, April 11.—In the house of commons this morning, Mr. Fielding, replying to a question by Mr. Hughes, said that efforts would be made to obtain all the necessary information as to the practicability, cost and maintenance of a tunnel between P. E. Island and the mainland.

Mr. W. F. MacLean enquired how the government were meeting their obligations.

Mr. Fielding said that a loan for about $10,000,000 at 4 per cent. was maturing on the first of May, and arrangements were being made to extend it for four years. There never was a more unfavorable period than the present for financial negotiations.

Mr. Paquet (L'Islet) protested against a remark of Col. Hughes in the recent immigration debate regarding clerics, and called upon him to withdraw it.

On the house going into committee of supply, the debate on the insurance commission was resumed. Mr. Leanoz, since, characterized the minister of justice's defence of the commission as lame. The government was surprised because the member for North Toronto had been courteous towards the commission at the close of his examination, but that was only what could be expected of a party that went into jubilation when it was found that the finance minister was not so black as his associates. From first to last the commission was nothing more than an attempt to blackmail Mr. Foster's character, and he thought that there would be no honest Liberal in the country who would not condemn the comparison drawn by the minister of justice between Mr. Foster and the late manager of the Ontario Bank when he had been challenged by Mr. Foster to point out a single illegality.

Mr. Foster said the report of the commission contained the greatest falsehoods and misrepresentations for its bulk of any document or book he had ever seen in his life. The whole of the report so far as it concerned him was one tissue of falsehoods and misrepresentations.

Mr. Foster declared that he and his associates had purchased their lands from the Canadian Pacific in the open market on the same terms as anyone else and was proceeding to argue that they had the same right to do so as anybody else. Mr. Martin, of Montreal, made some remarks which were inaudible in the galleries. This provoked Mr. Foster's anger, who shouted that the honorable gentleman's remark was "scandalous, false and untrue."

Immediately there was an uproar. Cries of "order" came from the Liberal benches, to which Mr. Foster retorted that "the jerks could hold but that he did not care."

Mr. Aylesworth rose to a point of order that the expression "scandalous, false and untrue" was unparliamentary and should be withdrawn.

Mr. Bennett shouted: "You can't put in the gag today, and Mr. Foster yelled: "You are not under a royal commission now."

Mr. Martin explained, in French, that he had objected to men taking the trust funds of a corporation like the Foresters for private speculation.

Mr. Foster moved that the first words of Mr. Martin be "taken down," and then the storm burst in all its fury. Cries of "take it back," "coward," "bully," and so on were heard from the Conservatives.

Mr. Foster said that Mr. Martin's words were "a scandalous, lying assertion," and when Mr. Aylesworth rose to a point of order, Foster shouted in a voice vibrating with passion: "See the conspirator! There stands the conspirator!"

Mr. Aylesworth demanded that the expression "scandalous, lying assertion" be withdrawn. The deputy speaker, Mr.

FIFTEEN ROASTED TO DEATH IN C. P. WRECK

Train Ditched and Two Tourist Cars and Inmates Consumed--Terrible Scenes of Injured Pinned Down and Slowly Burned to Death--Nearly 100 Injured.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Fort William, Ont., April 11.—One of the worst wrecks in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway occurred early yesterday morning near Chapleau, about 200 miles east of here.

Fifteen persons are dead and at least twenty injured. The dead were all hurled up in the coaches and identification has thus been rendered difficult.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail which derailed the train, two tourist cars, in which the killed were all located, rolling down a steep embankment into a little lake below. The overturned coaches at once caught fire and the unfortunate passengers who were pinned beneath the wreckage, slowly roasted to death.

Four little children and seven women are said to have been victims, and the

HEARD THEIR SHOUTS

Cries of Frank Fillmore and Murray Siddall Reached Watchers at Amherst Point Late Last Night, and Boats Are Searching for Them.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Amherst, N. S., April 11.—News was received here this evening that Frank Fillmore and Murray Siddall, of Westmorland Point, while out gunning at Aulac, were carried out into the bay on the ice. Telephone messages were sent to Sackville and to Amherst for the people along the shore to be on the look out for them. At last a party from Amherst Point organized a search party and are trying to secure a boat to try to locate them along this shore.

They were heard shouting for help off Amherst Point this evening and great excitement prevails, because if they drift out to sea there will be little hopes of saving them.

Mr. Fillmore is a son of W. P. Fillmore, of Westmorland, and is married with a family. Siddall is a son of George O. Siddall, of Westmorland Point, and is unmarried.

A message to your correspondent from three boats had left government wharf at that place searching for the missing men but as yet no word has been received of them.

A later message states that the men have passed Mimetic wharf and that the watchers there heard them shouting and that boats were following them.

Ira Banks Injured in City Road Thursday.

Struck to the ground by a heavy bale of excelsior which he had been endeavoring to raise to the top of C. J. Elderkin's mattress factory, 290 City Road, Ira Banks, a laborer, was quite badly injured Thursday afternoon. He was using his own strength as motive power with the aid of some pulleys and for some reason the rigging gave way and the heavy bale came tumbling down, striking the unfortunate man on the head, and crushing him to the earth.

He was released from his painful position by fellow employees and conveyed to the hospital in the ambulance. Early this morning he was reported to be resting comfortably and his early recovery is looked for.

Jury Thirty-one Hours Out and Unable to Reach a Verdict

Judge Orders Them Locked Up Till 10.30 O'Clock Friday Morning--Prisoner's Wife and Family Keenly Disappointed at No Decision After Their Long Wait in Court Building--White's Slayer Still Confident of Result--All Sorts of Rumors About Vote of Jurymen.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

New York, April 11.—Thirty-one hours of deliberation and no verdict. Such was the condition of affairs at 11.40 o'clock tonight when the Thaw jury was ordered locked up for a second night at the criminal court building. The fact that they had not been able to agree after devoting so much time to a study and discussion of the case, has given rise to the belief that the trial will end in a disagreement and the whole affair will have to be gone over again.

Although the twelve men have thus far failed to reach a common opinion and Justice Fitzgerald has not given up hope of having a verdict rendered. As yet Denning B. Smith, foreman of the jury, has not complained to the court that the jurors are unable to reach an agreement, and until he does so, it is not likely that Justice Fitzgerald will discharge them.

The general impression prevails that if the twelve men are unable to agree at the expiration of forty-eight hours they will be released from further service. The very fact, however, that no intimation has been received from the jury room that the men are unable to agree has been construed by many who have followed the proceedings closely as an indication that a verdict will eventually be reached.

Prisoner's Family Crestfallen.

The mother, wife and two sisters and brother of the defendant were in the criminal court building up to the last minute and when it was finally announced that the jury had been locked up over night and there was no longer any prospect of a verdict before tomorrow, they returned to their hotel crestfallen. They had hoped and looked for a decision to be reached another night in doubt and anxiety was received with keen disappointment.

Twice today the twelve men who took their places in the jury-box more than two months and a half ago, filed into the court room and asked the assistance of the court in an endeavor to bring about an agreement.

They appeared vast and haggard after wrangling through all of last night in the study little conference room at the criminal court building, with only hard chairs and one long table provided for their comfort. The jurors wanted to hear what Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton had been allowed to testify to as to Thaw's condition the night of the tragedy; they wanted to hear what Evelyn Nesbit Thaw had said as to her husband's conduct that evening; they wanted to hear repeated again the conversations Thaw had with James Clinch Smith just before he committed the homicide; they wanted to hear several portions of the summing-up address by Delphis M. Delmas, he read, Justice Fitzgerald called a halt. He admonished the jurors that they were to be guided only by the evidence and were not entitled to hear again the closing speech of the lawyers.

Harry Thaw's family—his white-haired mother, his pale young wife, his sisters and brothers, remained at the court house until late in the night. They visited the defendant on several occasions in the prisoner's pen on the floor above the courtroom. Their purpose was to cheer him, but he appeared by far the most cheerful of the group. The man's confident air seems never to leave him for any great length of time and a buoyancy of spirit is nearly always apparent. Few men accused of murder in the first degree have awaited the sealing of their fate with the calmness and the happy-go-lucky manner which has characterized Harry Thaw since the jury retired at 5.17 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

Many Rumors About Jury's Vote.

There were all sorts of rumors and guesses in the air today as to how the jury stood. There were more different reports as to the results of the ballots than there could possibly have been, test votes taken. None of the reports had any degree of authority. Some were uttered in jest by prominent figures connected with the trial, and occasionally these were taken in deadly earnest by persons who overheard them.

The action of the jury in twice going before Justice Fitzgerald and to have certain portions of the testimony read to them was widely commented upon and naturally caused much speculation. It seemed evident that the jury's deliberations were hanging upon the question of the sanity or insanity of the defendant as shown by the defence.

The jury showed an almost startling familiarity with the evidence and the testimony they desired to hear again today was given in part by persons who were not referred to in the summing-up speeches either by Mr. Delmas or District Attorney Jerome.

From the manner in which the jurors wished to go over the evidence in all its detail, it was surmised that a verdict, if reached at all, would be predicated entirely upon the evidence and not upon "the unwritten law."

Justice Fitzgerald spent the entire evening in his chamber awaiting the pleasure of the jury.

Couldn't Hear Delmas' Speech Again.

All of these requests were gladly granted by the court, but when foreman Denning B. Smith, on behalf of the jury, asked that certain portions of the summing-up address by Delphis M. Delmas, be read, Justice Fitzgerald called a halt. He admonished the jurors that they were to be guided only by the evidence and were not entitled to hear again the closing speech of the lawyers.

Harry Thaw's family—his white-haired mother, his pale young wife, his sisters and brothers, remained at the court house until late in the night. They visited the defendant on several occasions in the prisoner's pen on the floor above the courtroom. Their purpose was to cheer him,

LORD CROMER RESIGNS EGYPTIAN POST

Parliament Started by News of His Retirement on Eve of New Policy in Nile Country--Secretary Grey's Tribute--Sir Eidon Gorst to Succeed Him.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

London, April 11.—Foreign Secretary Grey made the most unexpected announcement in parliament (today) that Lord Cromer, Great Britain's great plenipotentiary on the Nile, had resigned. It had been known for some time that the health of Lord Cromer, who has been British agent and consul general in Egypt since 1883 was affected but there was no idea, when he issued his voluminous report on the progress of the administrative departments of the Egyptian government early this month that his retirement was impending.

Secretary Grey, on making the announcement and ex-Premier Balfour, who followed him, spoke with deep emotion of Lord Cromer's unexampled services to the empire and voiced the nation's regret at his leaving his post during such a difficult period, the foreign secretary declaring that it was the greatest personal loss the public service of the country could suffer. The retirement of Lord Cromer will involve no change in their policy with regard to Egypt. This was explicitly stated by Secretary Grey. Sir Eidon Gorst was appointed to succeed to the post in Egypt on the advice of Lord Cromer, whose complete confidence he possessed. He takes up a difficult task but will assume the work with the full approval of official circles both in London and Cairo.

Sir Eidon has had twenty years experience in Egypt, first in the diplomatic service and afterwards from 1880 until 1904 in the service of the Egyptian government. He had charge successively of nearly all the great administration departments, and had close personal relations with Lord Cromer.

Those bridges were to be of three kinds—stone foundation with steel superstructure, stone foundations with covered wooden superstructures, and wooden foundations with covered wooden superstructures.

The second part of the bill provides for an issue of debentures to retire the $107,000 of over expenditure of the board of works and the $22,000 over expenditure of the provincial hospital so that these institutions may start with a clean sheet also for the interest that has been paid on the bonds of the N. B. Railway Co. Co. Co.

Another feature of the bill is to authorize the receiver general to make an agreement with the finance minister of Canada to set aside out of the subsidy of $129,000 a sufficient sum to pay the interest on these debentures the rate of interest of which is not to exceed three per cent.

At the instance of the Hon. Mr. Pugsley an amendment was added to enable a municipal council to order an assessment against any parish or town in the county which was indebted to the municipality.

WILL MAKE A TWO YEARS' TEST OF SEWAGE IN RIVER

Legislature Votes 27 to 16 to Permit Fredericton to Use the St. John

Will Have an Expert Analyze the Water Before and After to See the Effect--Will Spend $2,000 Boring for Artesian Wells in Sunbury--Judicature Act, New Brunswick Telephone Co. and Other Important Measures Agreed To.

Fredericton, N. B., April 9.—The house met at 3 o'clock. On the third reading of the Fredericton sewerage bill Mr. Hazen said:

The question is put in a form to move an amendment which I hope will commend itself to the good sense of the members of this house. This bill has already been three times discussed and I do not propose to take up the time of the house at any length. It is evident that there has been a great difference of opinion in regard to it among honorable members and considering the great importance of the subject I move that the further consideration of the bill be postponed until the next session of the legislature.

George F. Hill. Hon. Mr. Hill—I did not intend to speak any more on this subject, but I consider that this proposition is the most absurd that ever I heard of. It asks that the city of Fredericton shall be kept for another year in its present unsanitary condition. That after spending thousands and thousands of dollars in a sewerage system to promote the health of the city it shall be allowed to lie idle.

A Two Years' Test. Hon. Mr. Robinson then moved the following amendment to the amendment: Moved by Hon. Mr. Robinson, seconded by Mr. Murray: That the order for third reading be rescinded and that the bill be referred back to the committee of the whole house with instructions to report to the committee of the whole house on the expiration of two years from the first day of June next the Lieut. Governor in council may by order in council prohibit the city from continuing to discharge sewage into the river from and after the period of one year subsequent to the passing of such order in order to enable the city to provide septic tanks and filtration beds if the lieut. governor in council should decide to require the same also to amend the bill as to provide that the lieut. governor in council may cause chemical and bacteriological tests of the water of the river below the city of Fredericton to be made from time to time with a view to ascertaining what effect the discharge of such sewage matter has upon the petability of the water of the river and also to provide that it shall be the duty of the lieut. governor in council to appropriate a sum not exceeding $2,000 for the purpose of sinking test wells at such points in the counties of Sunbury and Queens as the lieut. governor in council may determine upon the advice of an expert well borer in order to ascertain whether a suitable and abundant supply of water for domestic purposes can be obtained by the boring of wells.

Hon. Mr. Robinson. In moving this amendment I may say that I am of the same opinion as the member for Charlotte. The house has already decided this question and passed the bill and we should accept the decision of the house but as there has been doubt as to the effect of this measure, it seems to me it would be advisable to have the putting sewage into the river should be limited while certain tests are being made and I trust that this will be considered a proper solution of the difficulty.

Mr. Farris. Hon. Mr. Farris—I think that the amendment moved by the leader of the opposition is a very reasonable one, during which time the necessary tests can be made and I am of the opinion that if the sewage once goes into the river it will never be stopped.

Premier Thinks Compromise Fair. Hon. Mr. Pugsley—I may say that in the first place I oppose the resolution of the member for York, but that resolution after being warmly debated was carried by a vote of 23 to 19. That I think might be taken as the deliberate expression of a majority of the members of the house. In accordance with the resolution I introduced a bill to give effect to it and this bill has been carried by the house. If the amendment of the leader of the opposition is voted down we must assume that the house would vote down any similar amendment and that the bill will be carried. In that case where would be the interest of the people of whom the commissioner of agriculture speaks? If this bill is passed it will be the law of the land for the time to come but considering the great interest involved I feel it my duty to vote for the amendment of the hon. member for Westmorland to limit the time and to enable enquiries to be made as to the effect of the sewage on the river. That I think is the only reasonable and sensible course.

Mr. Carpenter Protests. Mr. Carpenter—The premier has stated that the first vote on this matter, which was taken the other day, expressed the deliberate opinion of the members of this house. I take exception to that statement, for I found that a large number of members were pledged to the resolution before it was brought down. It was, therefore, not a well considered vote, while the second vote on the motion was. As far back as 1898 a law was passed giving the people of Fredericton an opportunity to put in a sewerage plant. This question was twice referred to the people and they were divided in both cases they declined to do so. It was not until 1902 that a council was elected which was willing to grapple with the situation. They asked for legislation to enable them to put the outlet of the sewers half a mile nearer the intake than the first bill provided. The bill was passed subject to the approval of the board of health. The board refused permission and their verdict was sustained by the government, and therefore I say that this city has nothing to complain of on this side of the house, as the representative of a county whose members have supported the government for the past ton from continuing to put sewage into the river. With regard to the proposal which we made to give the city $2,000 or $3,000 a year for the expense of purifying the water, the mayor and other members of the city council represented to us that owing to local conditions the cost of maintaining such a plant would be much greater than the amount that could be afforded, while it was extremely doubtful whether such a plant could be kept in proper order owing to the severity of the frost.

Mr. Tweeddale. The origin of this whole question was the resolution presented by the hon. member for York in regard to the unsanitary condition of Fredericton. Typhoid prevailed to such an extent that people were afraid to send their children to school and the conditions were remedied these educational institutions would have to be removed. The citizens of Fredericton were roused to action and a bill was introduced to prohibit the discharge of sewage into the river. Their intention to do so was widely published in the newspapers, but no person in Fredericton or in the county of Queens entered into contract for the expenditure of $75,000 on a sewage plant, but there was no sign of any opposition until Mr. Hazen introduced a rider to the bill referring the matter to the board of health. The majority of the members of the house have voted in favor of the bill and the board of health should have the right to put their sewage into the river.

The government has a mandate from the legislature to pass this bill and should have put it through as a government measure. The house must legislate for the whole province, and not for a few of the people of Sunbury, but we must look further and consider the situation from every point of view. For the purpose of purifying the river water the people of this city have expended $40,000 for a filtration plant, but the people of Sunbury say they will swallow up the bill and not put any more in.

The legislature has already given power to the towns up river to have water works. These towns are developing rapidly and increasing in population, while the down river counties are stagnant, are going back. I think that the government has done wisely in bringing forward this proposition, and I shall vote for it.

Robert Maxwell. Mr. Maxwell—When this resolution was first brought up I thought that a great injustice would be done to Fredericton if, after the enormous sums they spent on their sewage system, they would be prevented from putting their sewage into the river; but I have thought since that Fredericton should have accepted the offer of the government to assist in establishing septic tanks for the purification of the sewage. I find also that all down the river there is a great deal of alarm at the effect that this sewage will have on the water, and on the ice which is taken care of for purifying the sewage without undue expense to Fredericton. It should be noted that the amendment is brought forward to be voted down, and therefore I will vote for the amendment of the leader of the opposition to postpone this bill for a year.

Mr. Clarke. Mr. Clarke—I have made up my mind to vote for the amendment. I voted for the resolution, but I have since changed my views on the subject in consequence of the great difficulty that surrounds the getting of water to the people down river. I think the amendment should be accepted, because it does no injustice to the city of Fredericton.

Mr. Hazen. Mr. Hazen—if the amendment is carried it kills for all time the rights of the people down river. I must ensure the conduct of the leader of this house who, no doubt, wrote the judgment confirming the action of the board of health and now supports a proposition to put the sewage into the river for at least three years. How does this business of limiting the time of placing sewage in the river simply a pretence.

Mr. Pugsley. Mr. Pugsley—I do not think that the government will feel itself bound by this decision. It is absurd to say that if this amendment is passed the government will have to work naturally and be lessened with advancing years, and it must be kept in mind that we are now introducing a new system of water works in the city of Fredericton which is constantly increasing, and I feel certain that seven judges will not be found who will agree with this proposition.

Mr. Hazen's Amendment. It is absurd to say that if this amendment is passed the government will have to work naturally and be lessened with advancing years, and it must be kept in mind that we are now introducing a new system of water works in the city of Fredericton which is constantly increasing, and I feel certain that seven judges will not be found who will agree with this proposition.

27 to 16 for Sewage Test in River. The vote was then taken and the hon. Mr. Robinson's amendment was carried by a vote of 27 to 16.

Yes—Hon. Messrs. Robinson, Pugsley, Sweeney, LaBlouie, Jones and Hill, and Messrs. Allen, Whitehead, Copps, Scott, Burr, Campbell, Barnes, Currie, Lovell, Ruddick, Tweeddale, Smith, Burns, Young, Johnson, Lantana, Burgess, Leves, and Goggin. No—Hon. Messrs. Farris, Messrs. King, Ryan, Carpenter, Goggin, Robertson, Hazen, Fleming, Grimmer, Clarke, Morrissey, Glasser, Maxwell, Poirier, Hart, Morrison-16.

Judicature Act. The house went into committee to consider the judicature bill. Hon. Mr. Pugsley—I have asked for this bill to be recommitted to the committee of the whole house with instructions to report to the committee of the whole house on the expiration of one year.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley—It is important that all the up river counties and who I find now reversing his former views. So also with regard to the change of opinion of the member for Charlotte. But I do not intend to impugn the motives of any gentlemen. I have no doubt that they are acting conscientiously. To me it makes no difference what others may think for I shall discharge my duty according to the law, convictions. No doubt there will be disappointments, no matter how the vote may go.

The leader of the opposition refers to the judgment of the government. On the appeal from the decision of the board of health I recognized, as I do now, that if the people below use river water an injury will be done to them. But today we are obliged to consider this matter from the standpoint of what this house has already done in passing the bill and if we limit this privilege and make such a change, as is proposed in the amendment, we shall be lessening the evil and paving the way for better conditions. It is greatly in the interests of the people all over the province that the city of Fredericton should be in good sanitary condition, for students come here to the University and Normal School by hundreds and the representatives of the house have also to spend several weeks every year. We must also consider the rights of the people who live in the up river counties for if we prohibit Fredericton from putting its sewage into the river we must expect that the people of Westmorland and other towns from draining into the river. I, therefore, think that the proposition put forward by the member for Westmorland is a reasonable one and should be adopted. We do not propose to bore wells on every man's farm, but merely to make tests in suitable places and if we find that the sewage of Fredericton is endangering the public health then it can be stopped by order in council. Prof. Starkey, in his evidence, said that the water now was unfit for use and that it should be boiled. If it is shown that the water is not materially worse than it is at present then there will be no reason for preventing Fredericton from continuing to put sewage into the river.

Mr. Tweeddale. The origin of this whole question was the resolution presented by the hon. member for York in regard to the unsanitary condition of Fredericton. Typhoid prevailed to such an extent that people were afraid to send their children to school and the conditions were remedied these educational institutions would have to be removed. The citizens of Fredericton were roused to action and a bill was introduced to prohibit the discharge of sewage into the river. Their intention to do so was widely published in the newspapers, but no person in Fredericton or in the county of Queens entered into contract for the expenditure of $75,000 on a sewage plant, but there was no sign of any opposition until Mr. Hazen introduced a rider to the bill referring the matter to the board of health. The majority of the members of the house have voted in favor of the bill and the board of health should have the right to put their sewage into the river.

The government has a mandate from the legislature to pass this bill and should have put it through as a government measure. The house must legislate for the whole province, and not for a few of the people of Sunbury, but we must look further and consider the situation from every point of view. For the purpose of purifying the river water the people of this city have expended $40,000 for a filtration plant, but the people of Sunbury say they will swallow up the bill and not put any more in.

The legislature has already given power to the towns up river to have water works. These towns are developing rapidly and increasing in population, while the down river counties are stagnant, are going back. I think that the government has done wisely in bringing forward this proposition, and I shall vote for it.

much. He thought much more good would be done through institute speakers and distribution of public pamphlets among the farmers in the county.

Mr. Ruddick and Mr. Legeze agreed with the idea. Hon. Mr. Farris said the department had employed a practical poultry man as an institute speaker last year and he had produced excellent results. He was only too glad to distribute pamphlets and to visit the country. Personally he could not see such practical benefit from fattening stations.

The committee decided to recommend the distribution of practical pamphlets on poultry raising among the farmers of the province, said pamphlets to be printed in English and French. Mr. Legeze referred to the proposed importation of draught horses and wished to know how these horses were to be distributed among the farmers.

Hon. Mr. Farris said that question had not been finally settled but he thought there would be at least two sales by auction probably at Fredericton and Moncton where the same county would be represented. He thought this would be the best place. It would not be advisable to have too many auctions as there would be fewer buyers than would be needed. Mr. Carpenter's experience was that if the agricultural societies were allowed to compete with the farmers for possession of mares the farmer would have no chance.

After some further discussion the matter was allowed to drop. Hon. Mr. LaBlouie said he would like to see some good seed grain and would like to see the government purchase high class seed grain and resell it to the farmers at cost price to help them to get a better crop.

Mr. Ruddick agreed he would like to see help given to the little mills throughout the province so that farmers might be able to get their wheat ground readily. It was no use growing good wheat if they had to feed it to the stock afterwards.

Hon. Mr. Farris reminded the last year the government had agreed to build a mill and that the government would give it the authorized bonus when qualified to receive it.

Hon. Mr. Farris desired to call the attention of the farmers of the province that he had had a letter from the deputy minister of marine and fisheries stating that he had a large quantity of fish scrap fertilizer for disposal at the factories at Canso and Shipigan at $30.

The committee then adjourned. Fredericton, N. B., April 10.—The house met at 3 o'clock. Mr. Allen made the following inquiries: Is it the intention of the government during the present session to make any addition to the legislative library building or to provide better accommodations for the numerous natural history specimens now in the departmental building?

Hon. Mr. Pugsley—The question of building an extension to the library has been more or less engaging the attention of the government for some time past. We realize the necessity of making better provision for the numerous natural history specimens now in the departmental building?

MY SOUL AND I

'Stand still, my soul, in the silent dark I would question thee, Alone in the shadow drear and stark With God and me!

'What hast thou done, O soul of mine, That thou tremblest so? Hast thou wrought His task and kept the line He bade thee go?

'Alas, thou tremblest!—well, I see Thou art heaven-bound, Is it so hard with God and me To stand alone?

'Ah, soul of mine! Ah, soul of mine! Thy deeds are well; Were they wrought for Truth's sake or for thine? My soul, pray tell.

'Go to, go to! for thy very self Thy deeds were done; Thou for fame, the miser for pelf, Your end is one!

'Ah, soul of mine! so brave and wise In the lie-storm loud, Fronting so calmly all human eyes In the sunlit crowd!

'Now standing apart with God and me Thou art weakness all; Gazing vainly after the things to be Through Death's dread wall.'

DELMAS' CLOSING APPEAL FOR THAW VERY DRAMATIC

Pictures White's Murderer as Knight of Old in Rescuing Evelyn Nesbit

Declares the Prisoner Was Afflicted With "Dementia," But Under Every Law, Written or "Unwritten," His Deed Was Justified.

New York, N. Y., April 9.—One more day and the coaching chapter of the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White will have been written into history.

With an oratorical appeal to both the written and "unwritten law" for the justification of his client, Delmas, the California attorney, concluded his exhaustive summing up address to the jury this afternoon.

With the exception of the moments when he was reading from testimony Mr. Delmas' speech today was one continued effort.

He threw about the form of Harry Thaw the cloak of chivalrous knightliness, and in a three or four hour address is expected to make a plea which will be accepted one of the best efforts of his life.

Justice Fitzgerald would not say today whether or not he would charge the jury directly following the district attorney's closing remarks, but the general impression is that he will do so.

With the dramatic emphasis Mr. Delmas cried out that the American beheld Stanford White on the Madison Square park garden the story of his wife's wrongs overcame him.

He declared the burden of proof as to Thaw's sanity at the time of the homicide rested with the prosecution, which had failed to make out its case.

Mr. Delmas came at last to his "ten law." He declared the experts had been at a loss to classify the form of insanity from which Thaw suffered.

"I will suggest to you," he declared, "insanity which had been recognized in every state of this union. It is the species of insanity which makes the American believe his home, his wife, his daughters, are sacred, and that whoever stains the virtue of his threshold violates the highest of human laws."

Twice during his closing remarks, Mr. Delmas was interrupted by Assistant District Attorney Garvan, Mr. Jerome being absent from the court room all day.

Mr. Delmas resumed his argument, saying that the man's conviction was based for two days preparing his argument.

heart rang a voice: 'You can never forget; you can never forget that little innocent one that is gone from you forever and has returned to the clutches of those who ruined her.' And this was Harry Thaw's mental condition.

Mr. Delmas had from Evelyn's testimony regarding her meetings with Thaw; how she refused for a time to see him; but finally how they met and she discussed the stories she had heard.

"The man pledged to the woman before Almighty God, that all through life he would protect her, and his efforts to secure the cooperation of the district attorney and have White punished.

Mr. Delmas repeated Evelyn Thaw's statement that she believed Thaw was insane on the subject of White, this added: "The man who brooded on this subject for three years and had pictures of dreadful horrors haunting his mind and in the stillness of the night, could not be human to retain the calmness of reason.

W. T. STEAD SHOCKS THE METHODISTS... London Editor's Talk to Pastors Attending Conference Bristles With Bluntness

SAYS HE PREFERS CATHOLICS... "Amens" Uttered in Response to His Remarks Bring Out Surprising Rejoinder.

(New York Herald.)... One of the time honored institutions of the Methodist church, the presiding elder, was attacked in a memorial to the New York Conference, in session in Union church, in West Forty eighth street, yesterday.

Mr. William T. Stead was introduced and said in part: "I believe the Methodists of this country are somewhat better than those in my own country. Over there, in some respects, there is a tendency among some to think that frequenting saloons, playing cards for money and visiting disorderly houses is no bar to the Christian life.

Now, I want your assistance to ask the Church of Christ to rally as one man to one end. I will confine the rest of my address to that one end. It is now two months until the Hague Peace Conference. That conference is not to abolish war, nor is it to disarm the nations, but you might unite on the one thing it is for. I don't want to condemn war. The one thing that has interested me in this conference is the Hague conference heretofore has been the lack of sense—practical sense—employed. They say war should be abolished—that is, they say we should have no wars. "I don't believe that, but I think we ought to find out before we do cut a brother's throat if there is not some other way of showing our brotherly love without cutting his throat.

"Are you American churchmen—you members of the church of Jesus Christ in America—willing to take action to obtain the enactment of a law as an international statute, and say that there shall be a momentary pause before the dogs of war are unleashed?"

"Amens! Amens!" came in a chorus from all over the church.

WOODSTOCK ANXIOUS TO RETAIN INDUSTRY THREATENING TO MOVE... Willing to Guarantee $50,000 Bonds of Dunbar Sons Co., Ltd., if They Will Remain and Enlarge Plant.

Woodstock, April 9.—The people of this town are getting anxious over the possible removal of the works of A. Dunbar Sons Co., Ltd. A largely attended meeting of the board of trade was held in the council chamber last night, with President Shearman in the chair. Addresses were made by the members of the company, and its solicitor, J. N. W. Winslow. The latter said at least $50,000 capital would be required by the company right away. How the town might raise that amount was a question for the meeting to decide. From past experience the town would likely not be in favor of a bonus; individuals in town might raise that amount, but the more likely way would be for the town to guarantee the bonds of the company, and as the legislature would prorogue on Thursday, it was necessary to get the bill down by Wednesday and the solicitor-general thought he might, on the grounds of urgency, press it through the house.

Offers had been received by the company to remove its plant to different cities, but it did not remain in Woodstock, it would go either to St. John or Fredericton, where in each place it could get the capital up to $100,000. Even with a crew of less than fifty, it pays out in wages $22,000 yearly, but the plant was not large enough for the vast amount of work the firm could get. It was decided in future, if the firm remained here, to employ a crew of less than fifty.

On motion of W. W. Hay, seconded by James Carr, the mayor was requested to call a meeting of the town council today to consider the question of guaranteeing the bonds up to $50,000. The meeting was held as requested, and the board, with the exception of Com. Haggman, decided to ask for legislation to enable it to guarantee the bonds. The bill is being prepared this afternoon by Messrs. Hartley and Winslow, and will be forwarded to Fredericton tomorrow, with the hope that it will pass the house before prorogation.

NO MAINE OUTLET FOR THE C. P. R. Canadian Institution Cannot Divert Business From Canada If It Would.

(Bangor News.)... Columns after columns of dreams upon dreams have been sent from time to time, all about the possibility of a new outlet for the Canadian Pacific railway in Maine.

This great terminal has been located in a remote spot on the coast of Maine, Rockland—in fact it has been a very long time since the Canadian Pacific railway has been located in Maine. It is a fact that the Canadian Pacific railway has been located in Maine for a long time.

"There is nothing in it, nothing in it," repeated Mr. MacNicol when first questioned. "I wanted a low pretty badly," said Captain Phipps today, "but the terms offered by the steamship were such as I could not stand for. I figured I could get the breaker without her assistance, and I did it."

Upon the Aurora's arrival at Philadelphia the plight of the Rothsey was reported. On Monday an ocean-going tug was sent from Philadelphia to search for the schooner. When the tug arrived at the breaker's work, the schooner was found. The schooner was a wonderful place, where very fine wages might be had for the asking, and where there were wonderful things to see and do. She had known Eddie, as she called him, or called him—they don't speak now—all of two weeks, and she knew that what he said must be true. And so the two came to town on Friday night, all prepared to see the wonderful things and to do the most wonderful of that fine job which would surely be within a few hours at the most.

Eva has seen some wonderful things since her arrival, but they differ in kind, perhaps, from what she had expected. Her father, who is in the town police force of Yarmouth, let her go down to the white goods factory.

Yarmouth Girl's Adventure. Eva Redding, a dark eyed, slim, pretty little girl of seventeen, from Yarmouth (N. Make Sure of Success... AFTER spending all the time and money necessary to properly prepare the soil and after finishing the work of seeding, you cannot afford to take any chances on harvesting the crop.

It has been well said of the McCormick combine: "You see them wherever you go, and they go wherever you see them." This is a well deserved compliment to the reliability of the McCormick combine. The McCormick combine is a complete harvester, binder, mower, conditioner, sweeper, and stacker. It is a complete line of tillage implements, including seeders, cultivators and all seeders, smoothing, spring-tooth and disk harrows, land rollers and soilers. Also gasoline engines, cream separators, hay presses, sleighs and manure spreaders. The McCormick combine is the O. K. line and is standard with the seal of excellence. For detailed description of any or all of these machines, see illustrated catalogue. Call on the local McCormick agent for information, or write nearest branch office for catalogue.

LOVE-SICK YARMOUTH GIRL STRANDED IN NEW YORK... Deserted by Beau Who Accompanied Her to Look for Work and Get Married

Without Money or Shelter Pretty Eva Redding Sought Lodging in Police Station Where She Told Her Story—Will Be Sent Back to Her Relatives—Captain Phipps of St. John Had a Tough Time Making Port With Disabled Schooner Rothsey.

New York, April 10.—Captain Phipps, of St. John (N. B.), brought the three-masted schooner Rothsey to port in town today, after a tremendous buffeting by storms, which struck the vessel while bound from Palenque, Santo Domingo, to New York, with a cargo of sugar. The preliminary gale was encountered off Cape Hatteras on March 15, when a northeaster with a force of 40 miles an hour came along, and after fighting it for some time, the Rothsey's jibboom was carried away.

Without much of the way of headwinds, there was little chance for progress. The schooner fell into the trough of the sea continually, and drifted to the southward more than twenty-four hours. More favorable weather was met with then, but on March 22 another gale arose, the wind blowing with hurricane force.

Captain Phipps and his eight men were then pretty well worn out with the arduous task of working the schooner. The storm of the 22nd hurled vicious seas aboard the drifting vessel, and one of them, sweeping her fore and aft, tore the helm from the wheel and threw him violently against the rail. This big sea unhappily struck the rudder, and with a crash the rudder went. Captain Phipps was facing a difficult situation.

The hurricane continued to drive the Rothsey off shore, and before the storm's abatement she was in latitude 71, about 200 miles off the coast. She rolled and drifted in the gulf stream for two days, but Captain Phipps is nothing if not an ingenious skipper, and after the weather improved he got all hands busy making repairs. By various devices the rudder was rigged again so that the schooner would steer. It was a long job rigging up the chains and making the rudder fast. Finally the work was done, however, and with a few yards of canvas in the place of the lost headsails, the vessel commenced work a devious passage back to the coast.

By March 29 she was about 100 miles southeast of Cape Henlopen, and on this date the Rothsey was spoken by the Norwegian steamship Aurora, from Mexican ports for Philadelphia. A good deal of signalling went on between the disabled schooner and the Aurora, but finally the steamship stood off to the northward and the Rothsey continued her slow course towards the Delaware Breakwater.

"I wanted a low pretty badly," said Captain Phipps today, "but the terms offered by the steamship were such as I could not stand for. I figured I could get the breaker without her assistance, and I did it."

Upon the Aurora's arrival at Philadelphia the plight of the Rothsey was reported. On Monday an ocean-going tug was sent from Philadelphia to search for the schooner. When the tug arrived at the breaker's work, the schooner was found. The schooner was a wonderful place, where very fine wages might be had for the asking, and where there were wonderful things to see and do. She had known Eddie, as she called him, or called him—they don't speak now—all of two weeks, and she knew that what he said must be true. And so the two came to town on Friday night, all prepared to see the wonderful things and to do the most wonderful of that fine job which would surely be within a few hours at the most.

Eva has seen some wonderful things since her arrival, but they differ in kind, perhaps, from what she had expected. Her father, who is in the town police force of Yarmouth, let her go down to the white goods factory.

RAISES INTERESTING QUESTION OF STATUS OF NEW BRUNSWICK TEACHERS

Special Order of Board of Education Does Away With Normal School Entrance Examination for Westmorland Young Woman Seeking Advance of Class—May Lead to New Regulation for Second Class Teachers Who Want Advancement.

While in the city on Tuesday Dr. J. R. Inch, chief superintendent of education, was asked with regard to the position of a young lady, at present enrolled in the Provincial Normal School as a member of the first class and who will take the final examinations for first class license in June, yet who has not passed the preliminary or advance of class examination as required by a regulation of the board of education.

FIFTEEN ROASTED TO DEATH IN C. P. WRECK

The dead number fifteen, six women, three men and six children. The wounded number nearly forty, some seriously. One man was pinned by the feet between two coaches and slowly roasted to death, although the rescuers worked with burned and bleeding hands in their work of mercy.

FOWLER HAS 'BRAIN STORM' OVER INSURANCE REPORT

After Mr. Lefurgy had spoken the chairman was about to call the item carried when Mr. Foster arose and said that the debate was only beginning. He intended carrying it on as long as he could, because the more it was discussed the better he liked it.

GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case. There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their age.

At the time I suffered greatly from my heart and nerves, and the symptoms of breath was so bad I could scarcely do my housework. A friend of mine advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did and I only took them for a short time before I was better.
