Provisions of the Proposed New Measure.

Great Amnesty Demonstration in Dublin—20,000 Men in Line

The French Navy Now Includes 422 Fighting Ships.

Unlooked-for Escape of 57 Men from a Burning Mine—No Hope for the Rest.

Linoleum Factories Burned.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The linoleum factories at North Allerton, Yorkshire, have been burned. Loss, £60,000.

Will Likely be Paid.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Chronicle expresses the belief that the next budget will provide for the payment of all members of the House of Commons.

Disgraced.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The decree is officially published announcing the removal of the name of Dr. Cornelius Herz from the roll of the Legion of Honor.

Money for Germany's Navy.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The budget commission of the Reichstag is rapidly voting the new credits for the navy under the impulse of Chancelior Von Caprivi's declarations that there is danger of a coalition of the fleets of France, Russia and Denmark.

French Wine Duties.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—At a Cabinet meeting today, Mr. Deville, Minister of Foreign Affairs, announced that the Dominion of Canada had reduced duties on French wines in exchange for concession by France of the minimum traffic on certain articles of Canadian production.

Germany's Army Bill.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The Reichstag committee on the Army Bill has concluded the general debate on that measure, and discussion of the several clauses is now in order. The closing debates showed an increased disposition to accept the Government's proposals.

Another Arrest.

ROME, Jan. 28.—A fashionable milliner named Cupi has been arrested for complicity in the bank frauds. He has been the creature of Signor Cuciniells, manager of the Bank of Naples, who, although 74 years old and of proverbial austerity, has led secretly a most depraved life.

Snow Up to the Housetops.

ODESSA, Jan. 29.—Enormous quantities of snow have fallen in the valley of the Dneiper, in the Crimea and in other parts of Southern Russia. In the valley of the Dneiper the snow is on a level with the housetops. In one province 100,000 sheep have been killed.

The French Navy.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—M. Thompson, chairman of the committee on naval estimates, stated to the Chamber that the French Mediterranean squadron was now superior to the Italian Mediterranean squadron, and that France's northern squadron would soon equal the entire German squadron. France now has 422 fighting ships, he said, and the number will be increased to 515 by 1897.

Great Demonstration in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—The amnesty demonstration here to-day has surpassed all expectations. More than 20,000 men with bands and banners marched in the torchlight procession this evening. John Redmond, Dr. Kenny, Pierce Mahoney and Jas. Egan, who was recently released from Portland prison, addressed a great meeting at the custom house. The speakers emphasized the necessity of securing the release of the rest of the Irish political prisoners.

Nothing in It.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The significance of the Czarewitch's visit is a mystery. Many persons attribute to the visit an international importance such as is attributable to no diplomatic event since the Kronstadt demonstration. The majority, however, incline to the opinion that the relations between Germany and Russia will remain substantially unaltered, and that beyond a slight clearing of the atmosphere in which the houses of Hohenzollern and Romanoff move, the exchange of courtesies in Berlin will prove resultless.

The Gooch Divorce Case.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Another divorce case in high life is attracting attention here. The plaintiff in the action is Lady Alice Gooch, who asks the divorce court to grant her a separation from her husband because of his adultery. Sir Alfred, in his defense, makes counter charges of adultery against Lady Alice, declaring that she has had illicit relations with Capt. Eden. He furthermore pleads as a bar to her action that she condoned his violations of the marriage vow. Lady Alice denies the charges made by her husband, and alleges that instead of Capt. Eden being a favored lover of hers he was her persistent persecutor. Sir Alfred does not deny that he had many mistresses, but alleges that his wife knew this, and condoned his offenses. After considerable evidence was taken today the case was adjourned.

A Peaceful Outlook.

HAMBURG, Jan. 28.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Hamburger says at the recent dinner given in Emperor William's honor the Czar toasted Emperor William with great cordiality.

At the birthday banquet in Altoona last evening Gen. Count Von Waldersee, in responding to the toast to the Emperor, made significant remarks as to the Army Bill. He said after mature consideration and hearing from experienced men, the Emperor had made his demands upon the nation with the sole object of preserving the integrity and peace of the Empire. The Emperor's demand had met with some opposition, but it was to be hoped the crisis would be happily passed. It would be passed happily if all Germans were as faithful to the Emperor and the Empire as were the people of Schleswig and Holstein. In that case the crisis would have served merely to increase the prestige of the fatherland, as nobody would then dare to make an attack upon Germany, and peace would be assured for many years.

A Roaring Furnace.

BUDA-PESTH, Jan. 29.—A partially successful effort was made Friday night to rescue the men who were entombed by the explosion in a coal mine at Toked, Grau. Fifty-seven of the men were taken from the mine by means of a shaft that had not been used before for a long time. Flames immediately followed the explosion, and despite the efforts to extinguish them they gained in volume. After the 57 men were saved the fire reached the shaft through which their rescue was effected, thus precluding all hope of getting out the other men in the mine. There are 73 men still in the mine. They are beyond all doubt dead, as the whole interior of the mine is a roaring furnace, and it would have been impossible for them to have found shelter. Two of the men who volunteered to enter the mine in the efforts made to rescue the miners lost their lives. Altogether about 100 men have perished in the disaster.

The Home Rule Bill.

LONDON, Jan. 29. — Following is a synopsis of the new Irish Home Rule Bill: The power to enact laws on the following subjects, among others, is retained by the Imperial Parliament: Treaties and other relations with foreign states; the imposition or any legislation relating to duties of customs and duties of excise as defined in the act. A sub-clause retains to the Imperial Parliament control for five years over land legislation.

The Irish Legislature is restricted from passing any laws respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercis thereof or imposing any privilege or conferring any disability on account of religious belief, or abrogating or derogating from the right to establish or maintain any place of denominational education or denominational istitution or charity or prejudicially affecting the right of any child to attend a school receiving public money without attending the religious instruction at that school.

The Queen retains the same prerogatives with respect to summoning, proroguing and dissolving the Irish legislative body as the Queen has with respect to the Imperial Parliament. The Irish legislative body can continue for five years, and no longer, from the day on which it is appointed to meet. The executive government of Ireland is to continue vested in her Majesty, and to be carried on by the Lord-Lieutenant in behalf of her Majesty.

The ninth clause of the bill, relating to the constitution of the Irish legislative body, differs in one important respect from the bill of 1886. The bill of 1893 provides that the legislative body shall consist of a first and second order, but instead of providing that the orders shall deliberate together, as in the bill of 1886, it provides that they shall sit and vote separately, thus constituting two distinct Houses of the Legislature. If the result of the voting brings the two orders into collision then the question at issue is to be referred to a joint committee of both Houses. If the question still remains undecided through inability to agree, then the question at issue may be referred to the people. The new bill thus provides for a popular reference.

The tenth clause substantially provides that the Upper House, or first order, shall include 103 members—75 elective and 28 peerage members. The elective members are to be possessed of property in real estate, or partly real and personal, bringing in an income of at least £200 a year, or if only personal, then bringing the same income, or being of the capital value of £4,000 or upward, free of all charges. Ireland is to be divided into two electoral districts for the first order, each elector to be an owner or occupier of some land or tenement within the district of a net annual value of £25 or upwards. The term of an elective member of the first order is ten years; 37 or 38 to retire every fifth year. The peers are to be the 28 Irish representative peers. The peerage representation in the first order is to last for not longer than 30 years from the appointed day of organization, when the places of all peerage members are to be vacated or filled by elective members. Dissolution of the legislative body is not to vacate the offices of the members of the first order.

The second legislative body is to consist of 204 members to be chosen by existing constituencies in Ireland, two by each constituency with the exception of the city of Cork, which is to be divided in two divisions and two members chosen by each division. An important new clause provides that 103 members of the Imperial Parliament shall be elected by the existing constituencies. These members shall vote on all questions reserved by the Imperial Parliament from the Irish legislative body and may also sit in the Irish legislative body if elected thereto, as well as in the Imperial Parliament.

The annual contribution of Ireland, on account of the national debt, is reduced to £733,000; army and navy, £833,000; imperial civil expenditures, £55,000; Royal Irish constabulary and Dublin metropolitan police, £500,000; for reduction of the national debt, £180,000. These are great reductions from the bill of 1886.

Duties of customs and duties of excise collected in Ireland are applied to Irish charges, and any excess applied as part of the public revenues under control of the Irish Government.

The Irish land commission is to remain in existence until all charges payable out of the church property in Ireland and guaranteed by the treasury are fully paid. Subject to any existing charges on the church property, such property shall belong to the Irish Government.

It shall not be lawful for the Irish legislative body to adopt or pass any vote, resolution, address or bill for the raising or appropriation for any purpose of any part of the public revenue of Ireland or of any tax duty or impost except in pursuance of a recommendation from her Majesty signified through the Lord Lieutenant.

The exchequer division of the high court of justice is to continue to be a court of exchequer for revenue purposes, and any vacancy occurring in the court is to be filled by her Majesty on the joint recommendation of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain.

The Dublin metropolitan police is to continue subject to the Lord Lieutenant for a period of five years, or until the Irish Administration will guarantee that an adequate local police system has been organized.

The Royal Irish constabulary while it exists is to continue subject to the control of the Lord Lieutenant, but the Irish Legislature may provide for the establishment and maintenance of a police force in counties and boroughs in Ireland under the control of the local authorities.

There is an entire clause (22) which gives the Crown the right to veto all bills of the Irish Legislature and gives Irish representative peers the right to sit in the House of Lords at Westminster and vote on all imperial questions. The functions of the Lord Lieutenant are the same as in the bill of 1886, and the judiciary is to remain for five years under the control of the Imperial Government, then to pass under the control of the Irish Government. Other provisions are similar to the bill of 1886.

Hawaii's Monarchical Government Set Aside.

With Little Ceremony and Scarcely Any Bloodshed.

The Queen Retires—The Cabinet Run Away—Commissioners Sent to Washington to Arrange for Annexation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 28.—The Hawaiian steamer Claudine arrived at this port at 2 o'clock this morning with the news of a revolution at Honolulu. The revolutionists have succeeded in overthrowing the Government of Hawaii, and the United States troops have been landed. A provisional government has been established, and a commission headed by Mr. Thurston came in on the Claudine, en route to Washington, with a petition to the American Government to annex the Hawaiian Islands to the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—Mott Smith, the Hawaiian Minister, has received an official dispatch confirming the report that the Hawaiian Government has been overthrown, and that commissioners from the new Government are on their way to Washington from San Francisco to ask that Hawaii be annexed to the United States. Mr. Smith is now at the State Department waiting to advise the Secretary of State of the information he has received. The State and Navy Departments have been officially informed of the revolution.

THE CAUSE.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 28.—A dispatch received by Charles Brewer & Co., of this city, gives the additional information that the revolution in Hawaii occurred on Jan. 14, and was caused by an attempt of the Queen to abrogate the constitution and promulgate a new one. The people then dethroned the Queen and placed S. B. Dale at the head of the Provisional Government. President Dale, the dispatch states, has been recognized by all the Powers.

THE BEGINNING OF THE TROUBLE.

The first intimation of the trouble came on Jan. 15, when the Queen tried to get the Cabinet to sign a new constitution that disfranchised all foreigners and put the whole Government in the hands of native politicians. The Ministers refused, and when threatened by the Queen they fled for their lives. They returned later and induced the Queen to postpone the coup. There was a public meeting in front of the palace. The Queen announced the failure of her plans, and a native orator demanded the lives of the Ministers.

Early in the evening the citizens met and formed a committee of public safety. On Jan. 16 a mass meeting was held in the armory. At about 5 p.m. the United States steamer Boston landed 300 men fully armed, who marched to the office of the consul-general of the United States. The marines were sent to the American legation, while the sailors marched out along Merchant street with two Gatling guns and camped for a time on private grounds. They stayed ashore all night. All day on Tuesday, the 17th, the community was in a state of expectancy, looking to the committee of public safety to do something to end the tension.

A REVOLUTIONARY PROCLAMATION.

The committee on public safety, accompanied by members of the Government about to be formed, proceeded to the Government Buildings, where a proclamation was read which set forth the following points:

"1. The Hawaiian monarchical system of government is hereby abrogated.

"2. A Provisional Government for the control and management of public affairs and the protection of the public peace is hereby established, to exist until terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated and agreed upon.

"3. Such Provisional Government shall consist of an executive council of four members, who shall administer the executive departments of the Government with an advisory council of fourteen, who shall have general legislative authority.

"4. All officers of the Government are to exercise their functions except the Queen, Marshal Wilson and the Cabinet."

THE QUEEN RETIRES.

The Provisional Government and Cabinet went to the palace and submitted their plan to the Queen. She refused at first, but finally retired to her country residence, and her troops surrendered.

After the issuance of the proclamation the new Government called for volunteers, who assembled fully armed to the number of 500. The old Government surrendered without striking a blow, although it had about 400 men under arms and a battery of Gatling guns.

The Provisional Government promised peace. The Government assumed formal control of the palace and barracks.

The ex-Queen retired to her private residence at Washington Place, and the Government has granted her an honorary guard of sixteen men. The household guards were paid off to Feb. 1 and disbanded.

A strong force of volunteers took possession and was left in charge of the palace, barracks, police headquarters and other Government buildings. At headquarters the military organization was rapidly pushed forward, and volunteers continued to pour steadily in from all quarters. It was not apprehended that any difficulty would arise upon the other islands.

ALMOST A BLOODLESS REVOLUTION.

The revolution was almost a bloodless one. Only one man was hurt, a native policeman, who was shot by Mr. Good. Good was in charge of a wagon containing a supply of ammunition for the revolutionary volunteers.

The new constitution which was brought out by the Queen granted her almost absolute power and disfranchised the white voters. The natives themselves, as a rule, are not in favor of the ex-Queen's plans. She is supported by a certain clique of about twenty, who are anxious for political power. The Queen is jealous of the power of the whites, and is an ambitious, scheming woman, badly advised. Under the old regime she had no cause to complain. She enjoyed an income of between $75,000 and $100,000 with no responsibility, but she undertook to mix in politics and got the worst of it. The Queen was supported by her favorite, R. B. Wilson, the marshal of the kingdom, and the Government troops. Wilson swore in a number of deputies and in all the Queen's forces amounted to about 400 men. The Queen's plan was clever, but she lacked the nerve to carry it out. She waited until after the Legislature had adjourned, and then got twenty natives and dressed them up in long-tailed coats. She gave them a petition for a new constitution which they did not understand. Everything went according to programme until the members of the Cabinet refused to be dismissed.

SEEKING ANNEXATION.

The steamer Claudine was chartered and left Honolulu on the morning of Wednesday, Jan. 18, with the five commissioners aboard, instructed to proceed to Washington and negotiate a treaty of annexation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Charles L. Carter, one of the commisioners to Washington, appointed by the Provisional Government at Hawaii, made the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The object of our visit to Washington is to have the United States to take possession of the Hawaiian Islands; we want to join the Union. Not as a State, however, but under a territorial or district form of government. A government like that of the District of Columbia, with the addition of a Governor appointed by the President, is preferable for many reasons. There is such a large number of Chinese and other cheap laborers on the islands, who cannot be trusted to vote intelligently, that if universal suffrage were declared, the whites, who represent almost the entire business interests of the country, would be outvoted and powerless. An entire new system of government must be built up, and the only way is to have the United States take charge. It must come to this or the whites must leave the islands. Their interests are too great, however, for them to give up without a struggle, and the revolution was the result."

SPECULATION.

The interview between Secretary of State Foster and Dr. Smith, the Hawaiian Minister, continued for some time. At its close Secretary Foster went over to the White House and had a conference with President Harrison. While of course no statement of the policy to be pursued by the United States in the matter will be made at least until after the arrival of the commissioners from Hawaii, it may be said that the visit of the Hawaiians will hardly be successful if the purport thereof has been correctly stated. Aside from the innovation upon the policy of the Government since its organization which the annexation would be, the interests of other countries in the Sandwich Islands are too large to permit on the part of the Government of those nations an acquiescence in such annexation. It would involve consequences that the United States would not care and which its long-settled policy forbids it to assume.

In the executive session Senator Morgan announced the intelligence of the Hawaiian revolution. Although it could only be considered in an informal manner, a debate was at once precipitated that occupied the greater part of the secret session. Generally the speeches seemed to favor annexation or the establishment of a protectorate. In opposition to these views it was asserted that the debt of Hawaii amounted to more than $3,000,000, which was sufficient to cause this Government to halt before assuming that load. It was also stated by other senators that when we secured our coaling station at Pearl River years ago there was an agreement under which England, Germany and the United States and the other great Powers agreed that they should keep their hands off and permit Hawaii to run her own affairs.

U. S. VESSELS SENT TO HONOLULU.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The flag ship Mohican and the war ship Ranger, now at Mare Island, have been ordered to sea immediately. The Mohican will go direct to Honolulu. The Ranger will proceed to San Francisco and await further orders.

The commissioners from the Hawaiian Islands to negotiate for annexation to the United States will reach Washington on Friday.

S. B. Dole, now President of the Provisional Government of Hawaii, is the son of one of the late American missionaries to Hawaii, is a graduate of Williams College, and has been second associate justice of the Supreme Court of Hawaii. He is a scholarly man of acknowledged legal and judicial ability.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Great banks of snow rested on the roof of the Manufacturers' Building at the World's Fair and caved a hole about 16x600 feet in the east annex or nave yesterday and caused about $100,000 damage. AFTER TEN YEARS.

A Case Where Justice Was Not Only Blind, But Deaf and Dumb.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—A curious case of miscarriage of justice has just been brought to light. In October, 1882, W. J. Shaw—now a resident of Brantford, then a wholesale grocer in this city—placed with a quantity of other goods some $1,400 of silverware for safe keeping with a well-known firm of this city. He received back the various goods save the plate, but denied receiving this. The firm claimed it was returned, and a lawsuit took place, which resulted in a verdict for the defendant—the firm which had received the goods for storage.

A week or two ago this firm moved into new quarters, and took with them a black covered box which had stood neglected in a corner for years. Curiosity as to what it contained caused it to be opened and the long-lost silverware was found. It had never been returned to its owner.

Mr. Shaw was in the city yesterday and received the plate.

A Seven-Years' Sentence.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Seven years at hard labor was the punishment inflicted yesterday upon Frederick Mesiterwill, the man convicted of causing the death of Mary Estelle Dunlevy.

Mr. Blaine's Burial.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Mr. Blaine's funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Cleveland said Saturday that he would not attend the funeral of Mr. Blaine on account of pressure of business.

The Nova Scotia Coal Bill.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 29.—The coal bill passed through committee of the whole House with amendments on Saturday, and will be read a third time Monday. A bill to incorporate the Dominion Coal Company was introduced in the House. Incorporators are named Whitney Pearson, of Boston, and W. B. Ross, of Halifax.

The Stockholm City Safe.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 29.—The Furness Line freight steamer Stockholm City, which it was feared was lost, has put in at Halifax with one of her crank shafts broken and her machinery otherwise damaged. She was bound from London to Boston, and was 27 days out.

Was There a Mistake in the Check?

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Robert Hall is suing the Jacobs & Sparrow Opera House for $5,000 damages. He claims that he purchased a ticket for a seat on the floor of the house and occupied it for one act. On going out he received a check, but on returning, when he presented the check he was told to go upstairs. This he refused to do, and the result was a row, at the end of which he was ejected by the aid of a policeman. Hence the action.

An Honest Man.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—John Campbell, messenger of the Chatham National Bank, while riding on a Broadway car between the bank and the United States express offices on Wednesday, lost a package containing $5,000. Though Campbell was not suspected of any under-handed work in connection with the loss of the package and could not be held responsible for it, he made good the amount to the bank out of his own pocket. Messenger Campbell said yesterday he had almost given up hope of recovering the money. He is a comparatively poor man.

Casualties in Canadian Waters.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—The total number of casualties to vessels in Canadian waters and to Canadian vessels abroad last year was 122, representing a tonnage of 47,073, compared with 260 vessels of 72,300 tonnage the previous year. The amount paid in bounties to fishermen of the Maritime Provinces has decreased from $163,573 in 1877 to $156,891 during 1892. In 1891 the amount paid was $156,891. Last year 108 United States fishing vessels took out licenses under the modus vivendi, paying $13,410 therefore, compared with 98 vessels which paid $11,098 the year before.

ALMA COLLEGE.

Important Action on Its Behalf Inaugurated Here.

Joint Meeting of the Advisory Committee of the London Conference and the College Executive—$25,000 to be Canvassed for to Meet the Debt.

A joint meeting of the advisory committee of the London Conference and the executive committee of Alma College was held Friday in the parlors of the Queen's Avenue Church. The following members of the executive were present: Colin Macdougall, Q.C., J. H. Coyne, M.A., Principal Austin, B.D., Principal Shepherd, Rev. J. G. Scott, president of the conference. The following members of the advisory committee were present: T. McCormick, Rev. J. W. Annis, M. A., Rev. R. J. Treleaven, Rev. J. R. Gundy, Rev. B. Clement. The following ministers of London were present for advice and consultation: Dr. Antliff, Rev. Chas. Smith, Rev. W. Rigsby, Rev. C. E. McIntyre, Rev. Jos. Philp, B. D., Rev. Mr. Marshall, Rev. Mr. McVitty, Rev. Jas. Ward, B. A.

Rev. J. G. Scott, president, was called to the chair. After devotional exercises by Rev. J. R. Gundy, the secretary of Alma College gave his report of circuits visited and results of his canvass to date. Some seven or eight of the weaker circuits were reported as canvassed and others partially. After long and thorough discussion it was, on motion of Rev. J. R. Gundy, seconded by Rev. J. W. Annis, resolved that a united and earnest effort be made to raise, within one year, at least $25,000 in cash and subscriptions payable within four years for payment of the college debt.

It was then on motion resolved to distribute this amount over the various districts, and such apportionments were made.

It was resolved that the president of the conference shall call the district meetings for ratification of these apportionments and any necessary action in the canvass prior to the canvass of the districts.

On motion it was resolved that the financial secretary of the college and either the president of the conference or the principal of the college should visit the district meetings called for the above purpose. The order in which the district meetings should be called and the meetings canvassed was left to the president of the conference, the principal of the college and the financial secretary.

It was also ordered that the executive committee should prepare and publish a statement of the financial condition of the college, its work and claims for use in the canvass, and that at the close of the canvass a printed list of subscribers be published.

The principal reported that the college was now in affiliation with Victoria College, and arrangements were being effected for conducting both junior and senior matriculation examinations in June of each year in Alma College under special examiners appointed by Toronto University.

The enrollment to date this year had reached 150; the receipts were in advance of any preceding year, and the work in all departments most encouraging.

The session, which lasted over three hours, was characterized by great earnestness and unanimity, and manifested loyal devotion to the college. The work of the financial secretary in the London district has been encouraging.

CANADA'S FUTURE.

Prof. Goldwin Smith on His Favorite Topic.

A Review of the Political Situation at the Present Time.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—The chief features of the meeting of the Continental Union Club, in the Forum, corner Gerrard and Yonge streets, last night, was a lecture by Prof. Goldwin Smith. Mr. Elgin Myers, Q.C., was called to the chair.

Prof. Goldwin Smith said: In accepting the honorary presidency of the association, I warned you that my day for active participation in any movement was past, though I hope that my day for shrinking from the avowal of my sincere convictions will never come. You will not have been surprised, therefore, at my absence from meetings. But I am now leaving Toronto for a time, and I wished to meet the association and say a word before my departure. I am going to Washington. I go there every year at this time for climate and society. Washington is no longer merely political. It is a beautiful city, and is fast becoming the center of society on this continent. So nobody need think I am going to take part in a plot for the annexation of Canada. That plot, I suppose you are aware, was a sheer figment got up for an electioneering purpose, and by means and instruments which honor disclaims, though they have unfortunately become familiar to a certain set of our public men and a certain section of our press. When people talk so much about the old flag, let them remember that it is a flag of honor, and that there are practices which it refuses to cover. I am always being charged among others with taking part in a conspiracy with the Americans to force Canada into Political Union by denying her the commercial advantages of trade with the United States. I was the president of the Commercial Union Club, the object of which was to obtain for Canada all the advantages of trade with the United States, leaving her perfectly free in regard to political relations. I did for Commercial Union all that I could do with tongue, pen and purse. We got so far by the help of our American friends that a resolution in favor of the measure was virtually approved by the House of Representatives unanimously, and by the Senate with only one dissentient voice. Bear this in mind when you are told that the Americans are deadly enemies, eager to swallow us up. Commercial Union was discarded and Unrestricted Reciprocity was adopted as the Liberal platform because it was said that Commercial Union treated Great Britain as a foreign country and discriminated against her. As though we did not treat her as a foreign country by levying protective duties on her goods! As though we did not discriminate against her by levying higher duties in proportion on the sum of her goods than on the sum of goods imported from the United States! The decision against Commercial Union was due, it is understood, to the influence of politicians trained in the school of Mr. George Brown, who said that to speak of commercial independence for Canada was treason. Unrestricted Reciprocity there was never a chance of getting. Three Ministers from Ottawa came to Washington when I was there to negotiate for reciprocity, after telling us at the election that it was of no value to us and that England was our true market. They had beforehand made themselves unacceptable to the Washington Government by their appeals to mistrust and dislike of the Americans at the time of the election, and by the misrepresentation which had then been put forth regarding the action of the American Department of State. They proposed to the Americans reciprocity in those articles which suited Canada, with a proviso that there should be no discrimination against Great Britain; in other words, that the Americans should bind themselves not to do anything at variance with the interest of their chief commercial rival. They must have known what the answer would be. I then did my best with all the American friends I had to get the door kept open in the report on the conference to friendly and bona fide negotiations; and there were some words in the President's message to that effect. Does anyone suppose I was in favor of the McKinley Bill? I wrote against it as strongly as possible over my own name. Not that the McKinley Act was pointed against Canada. It was simply like our own N. P., a protectionist measure. The special object was to rope in the farmer, who had begun to suspect that he was paying for the system. In all the discussions of the measure in Congress, and afterward in the Presidential election, nothing was said about its effect on Canada. So with regard to the Canadian railways; if anything is done it will be done in defense of American railway interests, not out of hostility to Canada. Besides the C. P. R. has been politically most aggressive. The Canadian High Commissioner the other day threatened New York with a blow at her trade which was to be dealt through the Canadian Pacific. After this, what do you expect? It is true that since the anti-American demonstration of Sir John Macdonald and his party at the last election there has been observable among American statesmen, irrespectively of party, a growth ... ing determination not to foster the grow... in the northern part of their continent o... power hostile to the American Repu... which at some future time may be ... source of war. This is not my doing, ... the doing of anybody who shares ... views. What should induce a man a... time of life, after bearing, I hope, ... character among my fellow-citizens, t... my old age and soil my reputation, b... gaging in clandestine and treaso... plots? Political Unionism is not the ... to knighthood. It is my settled convi... that by the present system, while ce... interests, official, commercial, or ... are favored or flattered, the people o... are being deprived of the fair ea... their industry and driven from ... homes. Therefore, in common with ... I advocate a change. I advocate i... you do, and, as I trust you always will ... openly and above board, as well as by la... ful means. To bring the question ... Continental Union, with the consent ... the mother country before the Canadia... people and prepare the people for the vo... is the object of this association. Nobody can say that it is an unlawful object, as long as it is fairly and constitutionally pursued. I shall not attempt to go over the whole ground of controversy again. Suppose the schism of our race had never happened. Suppose these provinces had remained united to their own continent, would anybody but a lunatic dream of tearing them away from it and attaching them politically and commercially to a nation on the other side of the Atlantic? Where it would be lunacy to divide, is it not wisdom to unite? We are told that by entering the Union we should forfeit our self-government, our political power, our dignity, and even our land. Why should this be true of the State of Ontario any more than of the State of Ohio? Of self-government we should have more than we have now. We need not even lose anything of our special characteristics and traditions. NEW ONTARIO.

The Valleys of the Goulais and Batchewana.

The Country North and West of the Sault.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER.

I have noticed with a good deal of pleasure that people living in different parts of Algoma are commencing to write to the newspapers about the agricultural resources of this great district and about the many opportunities and inducements Algoma offers to the intending settler and colonist; but so far I have read nothing in any of the papers about the Goulais Bay district or the country north and west of the Sault. There is room in the townships north and west of the Sault and in the valleys of the Goulais and Batchewana Rivers for thousands and thousands of settlers. There are already a good many settlers living in what is known as the "Goulais Bay Settlement." The first settler located in the settlement some eight or nine years ago, and we have now upward of 200 inhabitants, prosperous and doing very well. We have as fine soil as can be found anywhere in the world. A settler can find any soil he may desire, from a rich, sandy loam to a heavy clay. The townships of Vankoughnet, Fenwick and Haviland are already partly settled; but there is still room in those townships for a good many more settlers, and the townships of Pennefather and Dennis, to the south of them, have as yet only one of two settlers and contain magnificent land. In fact, all the townships between, say, Ryan and Palmer townships, north and west of the Batchewana River and Sault Ste. Marie, contain excellent land. They are well watered by several rivers and creeks, the two largest being the Goulais and Batchewana Rivers, flowing in a westerly direction through the township, the latter emptying into Batchewana Bay on Lake Superior, about 35 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, and the former emptying into Goulais Bay about 25 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie. They are also well watered by the Harmony and Cranberry Rivers, and a large number of smaller streams and spring creeks, giving an abundant supply of pure water. The climate being a very healthy one for man and beast and the country not being subject to disastrous storms in summer or blizzards in winter, it will easily be seen that for sheep and cattle raising this country offers far greater inducements than any other fields of emigration. Thinking that my own experience in Algoma might be profitable, I beg to send you a few facts. Being left in my youthful days without any of this world's goods, I, like many others, began to think how I was going to make an honest living,. Well, I had to commence at the lowest step of the ladder and hire out till I earned enough money to start on a small rented farm in the county of Wellington. I was not successful in that venture. I gave up that farm and rented another in the same county; I did a little better on this farm, but I found I could not get ahead. About this time I began to get anxious—as my family were growing up—to procure a home of my own. At that time there were a great many going to the State of Michigan, and I with seven others thought we would see what the prospects were in that State. They did not suit us. I returned home, dissatisfied with many of the American laws and customs, and moved to the county of Simcoe on a rented farm. It was not many years, however, ere I began to see that I could not make or save the price of a farm by renting one, and being anxious to get a home for myself and children I sold my effects and moved to what is now known as "The Goulais Bay Settlement" where I now reside. I bought 160 acres, and since then another 130 acres. There was not one tree chopped on any of the land. We have now 73 acres cleared, a clear deed of the property, and not a cent of incumbrance against it; with sufficient stock to use all the feed we can grow. Besides all this we have raised twelve children all healthy and living. Now, I think, when you consider the short time I have been here (it will be only eight years the 20th of next May), and the improvements that have been made in that time by a novice in farming, who came here with hardly any money at all, there would be no fear but that an Englishman, Scotchman, Irishman or old Ontario farmer, having a practical knowledge of farming, joined with little means or capital, would succeed as well as I have done; and I may say that there are others who have done still better with even still smaller means, and I can mention their names if necessary. With regard to the climate, I like it much better than lower Ontario; we do not suffer as much with the cold as in lower Ontario. This may appear strange to some, but I do not fear successful contradiction in making this statement. As a proof of what I say I have been for a number of years carrying the mail to and from the town of Sault Ste. Marie, which is 26 miles distant by the mail route, and in five years I have never been delayed by the cold or frost-bitten in the least, although driving twenty miles without a halt each time. The summers here are pleasant and healthy, owing to the breeze off Lake Superior. We are blessed with the best watered country in the world. The farms are scarce in Algoma where there is not a good living spring of pure water or running brook. Fever, malaria and ague are unknown. All kinds of crops do well here. Wheat, spring and fall, oats, barley, buckwheat, corn, tomatoes, apples, crab-apples, plums, cherries, currants of different kinds, raspberries, strawberries, etc. As to roots I never saw them equaled anywhere. The potato crop is always an excellent one, and the turnips, mangels, parsnips, carrots, etc., cannot be beaten anywhere. Some people seem to have an idea that Algoma may be subject to frost in summer, the same as in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories and Northwest States. This is a mistake. In my eight years experience at Goulais Bay we have never been injured with the frost but once, and that was last season, when we planted some potatoes in low new ground. The ground was too low. We should have known better than to have planted them there. I may say, in reference to this low ground that we drained it since at a very little expense. There is very little low ground in the country and none but what can be easily and cheaply drained. The summer frost mentioned was not a general thing in the neighborhood, or even with us, as we had excellent crops on all the rest of the lands; and this is the only instance in eight years where I ever saw anything suffer in Algoma from summer frost. We have two schools in the settlement which, are at present sufficient for the requirements of the settlers. As regards taxes, we have only school taxes to pay, which is only a mere trifle, in comparison with what we had to pay in the older settled parts of Ontario. Our market at Sault Ste Marie cannot be equaled anywhere, as the following prices for a few of our products will show: Butter, 18 to 25 cents per pound, generally about 25 cents; eggs, 15 to 20 cents per dozen; potatoes, 40 to 60 cents per bushel, and other products accordingly. I might say that these are not the extreme prices, but the average prices the whole summer through. At other times in the year the prices are often a great deal higher. In winter, the lumber camps around us buy from us of course a large amount of produce at good prices and so we have a home market right near us.

I am glad to know that steps have been taken by the different agricultural societies and farmers' institutes in the district to try and bring to the notice of the world the many opportunities and inducements Algoma offers as a field for immigration and colonization. The formation of the "Algoma Colonization Society" was a step in the right direction. A committee, composed of the directors of the different agricultural societies and farmers' institutes was formed last year to collect statistics as to the markets in and imports into the district, and the condition of the settlers already in the district, and general information as to the advantages of this country for immigration and colonization. The committee have just published the results of their inquiries in a pamphlet or book, and they have appended to it a good map showing the townships between the Batchewana River and Sudbury, including St. Joseph Island and the Manitoulin. This map will be found very useful to the incoming settler. The reader will notice in looking at the map that the townships around Goulais Bay, Pennefather, Fenwick, Haviland, Vankoughnet, etc., are marked on the map, and that "The Goulais Bay Settlement," is also marked thereon. The pamphlet will be found to contain a large amount of general information, and every one interested in the development of this great district of Algoma should procure a copy of it. The title of the pamphlet is "Algoma Farmers Testify," and I see by the newspapers that the Dominion Government have sent a supply to Sir Charles Tupper, the High Commissioner for Canada, London, England, and that the Ontario Government have sent a supply to their agent, Mr. P. Byrne, agent for the Ontario Government, Liverpool, England, so that people in the old country can get a copy of the pamphlet by writing to or calling upon either of these gentlemen. People in Canada and the United States can obtain copies of the pamphlet on application to Fred Rogers, Esq., B. C. L., barrister, etc., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., who is a director of the Eastern Algoma Agricultural Society, and who is secretary of the committee I have mentioned.

As to the size of Algoma: I notice in a recent paper that it is 800 miles long, extending from the French River on the east to the boundary of Manitoba on the west, and that it is 400 miles wide, extending from the Salt Water at James' Bay on the north, to Lake Superior, the River St. Mary and Lake Huron on the south, and that it contains 200,000 square miles, of which fully half are arable and contain the best soil for general agricultural purposes, and that a large proportion of the other half are magnificent sheep and cattle raising lands. Algoma is more than twice as large as the whole of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales and the islands adjacent thereto. It will thus be seen that the people of Algoma are not overstating matters when they claim that there is room in this great district for the landless folk and the homeless folk of older Canada and Europe. It contains the nickel supply of the world, and gold quartz, iron, copper, silver, platinum, asbestos and other minerals are being discovered all along the north shore, north, west and east of the Sault. Algoma contains the finest pineries in America; the finest merchantable maple, birch and other timbers, immense fisheries, and a very healthy climate for man and beast.

I will be glad to answer any inquiries that may be made of me personally or by letter. Sault St. Marie is within 24 hours' travel from either Montreal or Toronto, so that this district is easily, quickly and cheaply reached. ANDREW MCAULEY.

BELLEVILLE'S SENSATION.

Suit for Alimony that Attracts Much Attention.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 29.—A writ in a suit for alimony has been issued in this city this week which will attract much attention. The plaintiff is Mrs. James Clark Allen, of Cornwall, formerly Mrs. P. D. Conger, of Belleville, and the defendant is Dr. Wm. Cox Allen, her husband, who is at present collector of customs at Fort McLeod, in Alberta. The plaintiff asks for $100 a month.

Mrs. Allen is well known in Belleville, where she is highly connected. Her former husband, the late P. D. Conger was a successful drygoods merchant in this city, subsequently removing to Toronto where, for several years, he carried on a large coal business. At his death he left his widow a considerable estate. Some time in November, 1890, while visiting friends in Cornwall, she met Dr. Allen, a well-to-do widower. Their courtship was brief, and in consequence of his residence at Fort McLeod he pressed a speedy wedding, which accordingly took place at Napanee on the 11th of December of the same year. After a protracted honeymoon they journeyed westward to their future home. Their domestic relations do not seem to have been of the most pleasant nature, and after a short season of married life, Mrs. Allen returned to her friends in the east. From correspondence in the possession of the plaintiff it would seem that the doctor was of a suspicious turn of mind and jealous of his wife. Plaintiff makes several claims accusing her husband of infidelity.

The defendant is a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, and has been a resident of Canada several years. He was mayor of Cornwall for ten years and was police magistrate. Some weeks ago he brought action against the plaintiff on account of $87 58 for goods bought during their honeymoon, but was defeated in the suit.

The plaintiff was formerly a Miss Bogart, of Belleville, and is a cousin of ex-Judge Clarke, solicitor for the C. P. R. She is also related to Judge Dean, of Lindsay, and is connected with some of the best families in Ontario. She has attained considerable notoriety as an authoress, and her frequent contributions to the press under the nom de plume of "Marian" have met with favorable notice. The plaintiff is 52 years of age, while the defendant is a man somewhat her senior, although still vigorous and well preserved.

ALKALINE TREATMENT

All Schools of Medicine are taught that there can be but two causes of disease, Acids and Alkalies, and where there is one case of alkalinity there is a million of acidity. The Alkaline Treatment discovered by Professor Brunton, the Canadian Chemist, neutralizes the acid which is the cause of every known disease. Stimulates the blood vessels, restoring circulation. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Paralysis, Eczema, Sour Stomach, Kidney Troubles, Indigestion, Debility, any form of Blood Poisoning, etc., are treated successfully. There are two preparations, internally to purify the blood through the stomach, externally to absorb the impurities through the pores of the skin; they are each 50c. Oct. 5, 1892.

To the Histogenetic Medicine Association, London, Ont.

Gentlemen,—Desirous of giving expression to my gratitude for the unexpected happy results of your treatment, I certify that I am now over 70 years old, and was suffering for over six months from what four medical men of repute in this city pronounced cancer of my left breast; was under their treatment for this disease for some time. Two of the doctors finally came to my house to perform an operation, which I declined on account of my nervousness and hopeless condition. I then, through persuasion, visited a well-known "cancer curer," and remained under his severe treatment for over three months, but all to no purpose. I was getting worse all the time, and became totally despondent, selling my property at a sacrifice and preparing for the worst, when, thanks be to God, I heard of the wonderful cures brought about by your treatment, and decided to visit your office, where I was carefully examined by your consulting physician, who gave me such encouragement that I went under his treatment some three weeks since, and now find myself completely cured and the open black ulcer wholly healed up, my general health good, gained in flesh and as hearty as ever I was in my life. Yours truly, CATHERINE KEENAN.

Medical examination and consultation at the office free. All diseases treated and cured at a later stage than by any other system. Send for free book. Outside patients treated at their homes by means of a question sheet.

"The Advertiser" is an organ of news and of thoroughly independent opinion. The ADVERTISER alone is responsible for opinions expressed in these columns.

"The Advertiser" advocates Continental Free Trade, free trade with Great Britain, free trade with the world.

"The Advertiser" looks forward with hope to Canada's future as that of an Independent Canadian Nationality, in equally friendly alliance with the United States and with Great Britain, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States. As to Imperial Federation, sometimes spoken of, the ADVERTISER as yet has seen nothing proposed that bears any stamp of practicability, and in any case infinitely prefers the grander and more really hopeful scheme of a federation of the English-speaking peoples of the world. Towards this consummation a large stride would be taken by a Confederation of the English-speaking people of the North American Continent.

"The Advertiser" advocates prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor; and all expedient general legislation and persuasion in the meantime.

"The Advertiser" is an advocate of equal rights for women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work.

"The Advertiser" is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. Those bodies which are now nearest should unite first. Under the present system there is an unjustifiable waste of men, means and effort. The ADVERTISER will endeavor to promote the movement for Christian union not alone by direct appeal and argument, but by seeking to present the best rather than the worst side of each denomination.

"The Advertiser" advocates Obligatory Voting as both necessary and practicable. Nothing would so much purify electoral contests. Nothing would so much enforce the idea that the franchise is a duty, not a chattel.

MEETING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Ontario Legislature will not meet till the beginning of March, owing to the fact that the Legislative chamber in the new Parliament buildings will not be completed by the contractors until that time. This is a rather late date, but it is not every day that the Legislature undertakes to "flit." The fact that the Imperial and Dominion Parliaments will be in session at the same time will rather overshadow the Legislature; but Mr. Mowat and his zealous colleagues have been on deck during the year, and no one has any reason for believing that a prolonged investigation into the affairs of the Province will be required. As for new legislation, while there are a good many private bills, it is not expected that much public legislation will be deemed necessary this session. We trust, however, that the Administration will make a radical improvement in the system of voters' list revision. One man one vote and residential suffrage are all right, but an easier and more efficient method of revising the lists is required.

AS VIEWED ABROAD.

Dun, Wiman & Co.'s Bulletin of Friday last has this to say regarding the new London and Port Stanley Railway deal:

"Although the road is a short one, this new lease is likely to have an important bearing on the distribution of coal, as well as pig iron and other products of Ohio, among the towns of the western peninsula, as it is intended to transport these commodities in cars across Lake Erie from Cleveland to Port Stanley; and the new company have, we are reliably informed, acquired the Grand Trunk Railway ferries which plied at Point Edward for this purpose. There is a good impression in some quarters that the Grand Trunk Railway is in sympathy with this new lease, as it enables them to get rid of their now useless ferries at a good round sum, and they will retain a considerable share of the hauling from London, which will be made the distributing point."

Robert Stone, chief constable at Perth for fourteen years, died there Friday afternoon.

THE GREAT BRITISH STRUGGLE.

The Imperial Parliament meets on Tuesday next, and one of the most exciting and momentous sessions of modern times is sure to follow. To-day the Queen held a council at Osborne to finally consider the Speech from the Throne. It is a mere formality, but her Majesty has to be shown the contents of the bill of fare before it is placed in the hands of her faithful Commoners. She privately intimated to Mr. Gladstone her desire to excuse him the trouble of the journey to the Isle of Wight, and the Earl of Kimberley accordingly headed the deputation of the Privy Council that waited upon her Majesty. Such consideration for the comfort of her chief adviser was to be expected of the Queen, nevertheless it must not be supposed that the Grand Old Man is not in wonderfully good repair at this time. Though in his 83rd year, and having broken the record of all previous Premiers of the country in the length of his service as such, Mr. Gladstone has recently caused it to be published that his reported suffering from ill-health was entirely unfounded, and that he expected to meet Parliament as in past sessions.

The Liberal leader will go to Parliament with his majority cut down from 40 to 35, but this set-back has been caused by the election courts, and the bye-elections are expected to improve his position. There are at present nine elections pending. In North Meath, carried by a Nationalist at the general election; in Burnley, a strong Gladstonian constituency; and in Rochester, an old Conservative city, it is believed the bye-elections will not alter the complexion of the representation. In South Meath, the Parnellites have a fighting chance, as the Nationalist only won by 82. Walsall, formerly a Liberal borough, was carried by a big Conservative majority at the general election, and it may now reverse that decision. In Huddersfield, the Liberals may lose the seat for special local reasons, but they hope to gain in Pontefract and Hexham, carried by small Conservative majorities last year. Thus Mr. Gladstone's majority may be slightly increased, but there will not be much change.

As to the legislation, the Irish Home Rule Bill will undoubtedly be a feature, but its consideration will not be completed before the House will be called upon to pass important measures for the reform of the electoral laws, for the radical improvement of the liquor laws, for amending the law of conspiracy, which still favors unduly the employers; extending the liability of employers for accidents to workmen, and creating special courts to which industrial disputes may be referred without resort to the crude method of strikes; for extending the principles of self-government by local boards; and, finally, Scotland and Wales are to have certain local grievances remedied.

The House of Commons will be asked to consider these measures before the Home Rule Bill is finally passed upon, and if self-government in local affairs is denied Ireland by the House of Lords, as is threatened, and a new verdict on the right of titled obstructionists to prevent the mandate of the electors from being carried out is insisted on, the responsibility for the delay in passing all the measures brought forward will be thrown upon the barnacles. How will it all come out? is the conundrum that will for some time to come puzzle not only the legislators in the old land, but the reading public the world over.

MGR. SATOLLI'S MISSION.

There seems to be some doubt as to whether the jurisdiction of Mgr. Satolli, the delegate of the Pope to the United States, is to be extended to Canada. That can only be ascertained when the full instructions accompanying the appointment of Mgr. Satolli as permanent delegate to the United States are received.

The powers of the Delegate appear to be very large—practically as large as those of the Pope himself, for he is one who, trusted by the Pope, is sent out to do and decide as the Pope would himself have to do and decide were he able to act in person.

To the Catholics of the United States it seems to mean a good deal in one or two ways. Suppose a priest considers himself unjustly treated by his final superior, he can still carry his case to Rome. But this last court of appeal may be his resource only in a nominal sense, for it costs money to go to Rome, and the difficulties do not end with that. But with the Pope's Delegate in one's own country, it is the case of the final and distant court coming to the appellant, instead of the appellant being necessitated to go to the final and distant court.

The great mass of the Catholics of the United States, certainly the great mass of the laity, and the great mass of the clergy below the highest ranks—and doubtless many even of the bishops—though not all, are desirous that they should no longer be under the organization of "a missionary country," and should become a canonically-governed country.

The difference is this: In countries where Catholics are ruled by canonical law the working clergy have certain specific rights, certain settled positions, from which they cannot be deprived except for sufficient and definite cause. They are subject, it is true, to the superior ecclesiastic, but are not entirely at the mercy of the caprice of any individual. In a missionary country the bishop is practically absolute. He can remove a clergyman beloved by his flock at a moment's notice. This power of sending this clergyman here and another there, without even assigning a reason, is, it can at once be seen, a tremendous unchecked power to put into the hands of weak human nature.

With Mgr. Satolli's coming the working priests and Catholic laity of the United States believe that the institution of canonical governance—in other words, home rule, ecclesiastically—will not be long delayed.

The establishment of canonical governance in Ontario is as earnestly desired by the great majority of the working priests and laity of this Province. They regard the missionary organization stage as a badge of inferiority. They, too, desire ecclesiastical home rule—the ceasing to be governed under a missionary organization, and the establishment of the regulation of their affairs by canonical law.

Every organization in these days must submit itself to the democratizing spirit of the age—and of this no one appears to be more sensible than the present occupant of the Vatican.

PAYMENT OF MEMBERS.

The cabled announcement that the British Chancellor of the Exchequer will provide in his next budget for the payment of imperial members of Parliament is another indication of the democratic tendencies of the age. In the past, the British member of Parliament has been compelled not only to pay a portion of the expenses of holding the election, which in Canada are defrayed out of the public purse, but he has received no indemnity whatsoever for his services while in Parliament. The consequence has been that unless a man's constituents raised a fund for him, as has been done in the case of several miners', potters', and agricultural labor members, he has been compelled to maintain himself, often for six or eight months at a time at his own expense. Thus practically no one but a rich man could go to Parliament. If members are paid, as is the case in the majority of Parliaments, the House of Commons will become more and more a democratic chamber, and the last vestige of class privileges may soon be swept away. The motherland keeps advancing.

A TERRIBLE INDICTMENT.

The Dominion Inspector of Penitentiaries, in his annual report, makes the declaration that the Dominion has become the dumping ground for the criminals and children of criminals of the old world slums. He says:

"Of late years, our penitentiaries have had a most undesirable because a most hardened and irreclaimable class of criminals added to their numbers. This is particularly the case at Kingston and St. Vincent de Paul, where those Cockney sneak thieves and pickpockets referred to are numerous. These pests, gathered from the slums of St. Giles and East London, after short terms of so-called probation in a certain notoriously mismanaged refuge, are periodically shipped out to Canada as immigrants deserving of encouragement and support. With very few exceptions—as the police of our cities and towns know—these street Arabs from Whitechapel and Rotherhithe and Ratcliff, and other like haunts of vice repeatedly returning to their old habits on arriving in Canada, and, as a consequence, become a burden and expense upon the taxpayers of the Dominion, in our reformatories, jails and penitentiaries. Steeped as they have been in crime, from infancy, because inherited, they are found to be the most troublesome and worst conducted convicts that reach our penitentiaries. Their evil influence in corrupting others is potent and pernicious. The general verdict of the chaplains and the other prison officers regarding those youthful imitators of Fagin and Bill Skyes is most unfavorable. They consider them dead to all good influences, and that their reformation is hopeless. In order to protect the community against the depredations of such thoroughly trained malefactors, and our youth, especially, against the evil effects of their example and influence, it were advisible that effectual means be adopted to prevent mistaken philanthropists, abroad and at home, aiding and encouraging the transplanting to Canada of exotics so upas-like and so unsuited to the soil and moral atmosphere of the country."

This report will set many people thinking who have hitherto failed to aid in the movement to prevent Canada from being injured by the policy complained of. It is unfortunate that the authorities in Ottawa should have gone hand-in-glove with the old world professional philanthropists and shirking boards of guardians in this work of sending to Canada persons who have been criminals or the children of criminals. The Administration at Ottawa has spent large sums of money in bonusing and otherwise encouraging the professional philanthropists to engage in the work that has produced the fruits so strongly set forth by their own officer, the inspector of penitentiaries. This Mr. Carling and other officers of the Government have done, despite the protests of many taxpayers in the country, and notwithstanding the crowded state of the labor market. In the last fiscal year for which a report has been given (1891-92) no fewer than 1,350 children of this stamp were brought to Canada, with the countenance and by the financial aid of the Dominion Government, and for some years previously the importations were about as large. How long is this system to be tolerated?

MR. TARTE, M.P., whose right to a seat in Parliament was attacked in much the same way as was that of Mr. Hyman, member-elect for London, has been found duly elected. A second Judge Elliot has not been found in Canada—not even in the Province of Quebec.

"German Syrup"

The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees. The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expells them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.

DISCARD THE USE OF THE WHIP.

It is a noticeable fact that the most successful drivers of trotting horses seldom use the whip. Even when hard-fought races are on and sensational finishes are made the extreme limit of speed is secured without the use of the lash. There is a lesson in this, not only for the drivers of trotting horses, but for those who handle any kind of horses. With the proper training a draft horse will reach the limit of his power and exert every muscle in his body under kind treatment as quickly as he will when abused with the whip. A horse that will respond to the request for his best effort in a kind way is one that can be depended upon under any and all circumstances. It is the fault of the driver in nine cases out of ten when the use of the whip is made necessary. When horsemen once understand that kind words are worth more to urge a horse to his full capacity in any direction, the use of the whip will be very limited.—[Lewiston Journal.

Ottawa Citizens in Their Best Clothes—The Governor-General's Drawing-Room Draws the Usual Crowd.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Mr. Laurier arrived here to-day, and although not in as good health as his friends would wish, he is well enough to be in his place to-morrow.

The annual drawing-room, which is held at the opening of Parliament, made Capital Hill last night lurid with gaiety. It was a brilliant function, during which between 400 and 500 men and women dressed in their best clothes were presented to the Governor and Lady Stanley, and passed out of their presence with the memory of vice-regal acknowledgments stiffly bowed.

Mr. Moncrief arrived here to-day and began at once to set his wires for the defense of the oil industry, against which his friends Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Brodeur have notices of motion on the paper.

Referring to the dispatch from Paris stating that the French Government had offered to give Canadian imports the benefit of the minimum tariff in return for concessions by the Canadian Government in the shape of reduced duties on French wines, Hon. Mr. Ives, President of the Council, said the announcement was premature. The requisition, however, had been discussed. It is contended that the minimum tariff would only benefit the Canadian exportations of dairy products and lumber.

MEDICOS MYSTIFIED!

The Case of Young Tucker at Toronto,

Who Lived Three Months With a Knife, Fork and Spoon in His Stomach—Death and Post-Mortem Examination of the Patient.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Three months ago one of the inmates of the Toronto Asylum swallowed several articles of cutlery. Yesterday the man died. His name was Wm. Tucker, a son of Rev. Mr. Tucker, a retired minister living on Henry street. Up to Thursday the man suffered not the slightest inconvenience or pain, but on that day he was seized with inflammation of the lining of the bowels, and he died on Friday.

On Saturday Drs. Caven, Weir and Robertson performed a post-mortem, Drs. Lind, Young and McCall being also present.

The spoon and knife were almost entirely eaten away, but the fork, also electroplated, was very little corroded. The knife and fork were still in the stomach, but had ulcerated its wall and broken through. The spoon had taken the natural course toward the small intestines. That he lived so long is one of the greatest miracles in medical history.

The knife was 9½ inches long, the spoon 6 inches and the fork 7½ inches. The knife and fork went down handle first and kept that position. Tucker had also swallowed a three-cornered piece of glass which stuck in his windpipe. He was 23 years old.

CULLED AND CURTAILED.

News of the Day Without Note or Comment.

The visit of the Czarewitch to Berlin came to an end Saturday night.

The loss by the burning of the Detroit High School on Friday was about $150,000.

The Erie car works (limited), at Erie, Pa., a plant representing $500,000 investment, was seized by the sheriff on Saturday night upon executions amounting to $102,000.

Balthazar Hauser, aged 75, suicided on Saturday, by hanging from a fence in the rear of his house on Garden street, Albany, N. Y. He had been melancholy. A wife and eight children survive him.

The New York Legislature has sent to the governor a bill appropriating $700,000 more for the "completion" of the capitol building, which has already cost over $20,000,000 and twenty years of time.

There is evidence of much bad feeling among the managers of the United States Publishing Company, whose combine in July, 1890, with a capital of $3,250,000, was regarded as a "cheap novel trust."

WORK AND WAGES.

End of the Granite Cutter's Strike—Serious Trouble at Dunkirk, N. Y.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 29.—After a bitter fight that has lasted nine months and has kept 400 men out of work most of that time, the granite cutters of the Big Stony Creek quarriest will probably return to work Monday.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Sheriff Jenner, of Chautauqua county, has come to the conclusion that the strike at the Brooks locomotive works is so serious as to warrant his calling on Brigadier-General Doyle for troops.

The strike, which started a month ago, was caused by the riveters in the boiler department refusing to work under two contractors whose names are Kane and McNamara, alleging inhuman treatment on the part of the contractors. About 600 men are out of employment in consequence. The Brooks people engaged Philadelphia men to take strikers' places, and hurried them inside the works, and they do not go outside the gates. President Hinman says threats are made against the works and against the employes, and he has asked the protection of Sheriff Jenner.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Col. Fox sent Sergt.-Major Stuart to Dunkirk to investigate the situation. He reported that the strikers were quiet, and that there were no indications of violence against persons or property.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29.—Andrew Carnegie, in an interview to-day, said he came to Pittsburg to try to bury the past.

Found Dead.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Geo. Grover, British royal commissioner to the World's Columbian Exposition, was found dead in his room in the Virginia Hotel this morning. Heart disease the supposed cause.

Never Be Without It.

Athletics are now having a full share of public attention in the sports on land and water, and Mr. E. J. Wade, London Athletic Club, London, Eng., says: "My sprained leg was cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Athletes should never be without it." It is the preferred remedy with sportsmen, as it is the best. All athletes use it.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

"The duty at present runs all the way from 5 to 100 per cent., nay, more in some cases," said D'Alton McCarthy at Stayner. "Do you know what that means? It means that when you buy $10 worth of goods you pay $20 for them."

‡‡‡

Rev. John McNeill does not see his way to accept the invitation to succeed Rev. Jackson Wray at Whitfield Tabernacle, Tottenham Court Road. After conducting another mission in Ireland, he will proceed to Chicago, as already mentioned, to assist Mr. Moody at the special services to be held in connection with the World's Fair.

‡‡‡

Mr. Gladstone, the great English statesman, is reported as saying recently: "The older I grow, the more confirmed I am in my faith and religion." And not only so, but he added: "I have been in public life 58 years, and for 47 years in the Cabinet of the British Government, and during those 47 years I have been associated with 60 of the master minds of the country, and all but five of the 60 were Christians!"

‡‡‡

Mr. Villiers, the "Father of the British House of Commons," has just attained his 90th year. He fought his first battle at the polls in 1826, when George IV. had yet some years to reign, and when Canning led the Commons, and has been a member of the House of Commons continuously for more than 66 years. He was one of the pioneers in the agitation to secure freedom of trade for the motherland.

If any believer in the worthiness of street beggars would disabuse himself of his impression let him try the experiment of taking the name and address of all who apply for alms and sending a note of the case to some charitable organization for investigation. Nothing so quickly cools a beggar as the proposal to do him this service, and a New Yorker, who for six months stuck to this policy says that during the whole period no beggar turned out to have given a true address.

The Christian World, London, says: "Miss Wesley, granddaughter of Charles Wesley, has presented to Rev. Allen Rees the hymn book used by the poet of Methodism himself, and another used by his wife. They are of peculiar interest, the first-mentioned having a table of contents in Charles Wesley's handwriting, together with six manuscript hymns not as yet published. Mrs. Wesley's book bears date 1749, and Charles Wesley's 1775. Mr. Rees intends to present them to the trustees of Wesley's Chapel, City Road."

‡‡‡

"The United Metropolitan Improved Hot Muffin and Crumpet Baking and Punctual Delivery Company," mentioned in "Nicholas Nickleby," was not so much of a caricature after all. There is a society now organized in London commonly referred to as the U. C. P. D. N. R. L. T., the full name of the organization being "The United Committee for the Prevention of the Demoralization of the Native Races by the Liquor Traffic." Englishmen have a strong penchant for giving societies a name that will epitomize their whole scope and history.

‡‡‡

A common effect of long attention to a new subject is that the mind is put to a strain and the subject presents itself in dreams until it becomes an annoyance. The experience of a beginner in type-writing was, he says, that when he had finished practice for the night and had gone to bed the keyboard got in front of him, and he was plagued almost into a delirium by a desire to spell out certain words on it. Often his fingers would work, unconsciously, as if picking out letters on it, just as violinists and pianists are often seen to thrum on imaginary instruments. As he gained facility the nightly appearance of the keyboard grew shorter, and at length ceased altogether.

Prof. Garner, who is in Africa inquiring and experimenting concerning monkey speech, writes to the Balloon Society that he has already gathered much valuable data and is making a beginning of his real work. He wrote from Libreville, French Congo, and said he had access there to a fine young chimpanzee and had promise of two young gorillas. The belief that the monkeys talk is very general among the natives and residents of the interior. He has also gathered much quaint folk lore concerning the apes. He was going on a trip up the Gaboon River, and then to Chanon, a town in the bush about three hours' journey from Libreville, on the south side of the river. His contempleted route thence is overland via Cape Lopez to the Sette Come and Angovie, returning to Angovie River and up that valley overland to the Middle Congo Basin, down the north side of that river to the cost. He hoped to leave in January and complete the journey by August or September, 1893, and then return homeward.

One of the results of the Columbian celebration has been the organization of a number of civic, commercial, and industrial societies for the purpose of celebrating, by the erection of poles and the raising of flags on the anniversaries of "peace events," the establishment of democratic ideas and governments. The first pole and flag will be raised on the Highlands of the Neversink, the first point of land seen on entering the harbor of New York. Another will be placed by the side of the first French lighthouse in the English Channel, on which the flag of the French Republic will always be kept flying. On the most conspicuous mountain in Switzerland another pole will always carry the flag of the Swiss Republic. At the entrance to the harbor of Rio Janeiro a pole is to be placed bearing the flag of the Republic of Brazil. Another pole, to bear the flag of the American Republic, is to be placed in the harbor of San Francisco.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 27.—There were but 9 milch cows offered on St. Gabriel market today, and as the demand was much greater than the supply, prices ruled pretty high. A superior cow was sold for $60, 4 good cows went at $54 each, 2 others for $95 each, and 1 common cow for $40.

Apples.

As proof of the improved state of the market on the other side, orders have been received here and filled during the past few days, a lot of three cars of choice Russets, comprising 330 barrels, being sold at 14s per barrel, c. i. f. Liverpool. In former years considerable quantities of choice Northern Spies and Russets used to be sold in this market, but there are now comparatively few held over for this trade, owing to the fact that bananas seem to have taken the place of apples in the spring of the year. A few fancy varieties are of course held for this trade; but the great portion of the stock here will have to find an export outlet.—[Montreal Trade Bulletin.

Eggs.

The supply of eggs to different markets is strangely varied. In London there have been too many, mostly Russians, and reductions have been conceded. In Liverpool supply and demand have met, and Canadians are the same as last week. At Glasgow only Hungarians compete with Canadians, and the latter are selling at 9s 6d to 10s 6d per 120, while in Hull the dearth is so great that it is expected almost famine prices will rule presently if there is no advancement of landings. —[Trade Bulletin.

Barley Markets.

BUFFALO, Jan. 27.—Barley quiet to-day; some inquiry for good grades, but buyers' views are below quotations, and until they get a little closer or the pressing necessities force maltsters to sort up there will be no particular activity. The stock of choice barley is pretty scant in any case. At Oswego and Albany—Markets nominally unchanged. Nothing doing.

—Capt. and Mrs. Miller were farewelled at the Salvation Army barracks last evening.

—Miss Hawkshaw, of Exeter, called on London friends Saturday on her return to Detroit.

—The January thaw was not very violent, nevertheless a number of cellars were flooded.

—The Globe Casket Company has added to its number of employes. There are now nearly 100 persons at work.

—The repairs to the jail have been completed, and Governor Kelly will return from Robinson Hall Chambers to his former home this week.

—Complaint is made of lack of caution on the part of C. P. R. people at the crossing of Waterloo street. On Saturday evening as the 7 o'clock train was switching backwards to the main line, several pedestrians were almost run down by the train, there being no watchman or signal at the crossing.

—Mrs. Catharine McIntyre, relict of the late Donald McIntyre, died yesterday at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. John Cushing, 247 Oxford street. Deceased was an old resident and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. Three children survive her—Peter, Daniel and Mrs. Cushing, all of this city.

—One of the brightest minds in the Baptist Church is Rev. B. D. Thomas, B.D., of Toronto, who yesterday preached at the anniversary services of the Talbot Street Baptist Church. Morning and evening, particularly the latter, the congregations were unusually large. Dr. Thomas' sermons, while polished and scholarly, were affecting and powerful Gospel pleas. He will lecture to-night in the church on "The Men of the Age." It is said to be a brilliant effort. The anniversary tea will be held prior to the address.

The Late George T. Watson.

The funeral of the late George T. Watson, the M. C. R. brakeman who was killed at Tilbury Center last Wednesday, took place from the residence of his father, Hamilton road, on Saturday. About 100 railway employes in regalia, including a number from St. Thomas, walked. The brethren of Forest City, Eureka, Dominion and Chorazin lodges, I. O. O. F., were also largely represented in the funeral cortege. Deceased was highly respected, as was shown by the large attendance at the last sad ceremony.

Bidding Them Good-bye.

Rev. Joseph Philp, of the Centennial Methodist Church, preached his farewell sermon last night, prior to his departure for the Holy Land this week. His text was taken from Numbers, x., 29, "We are journeying unto the place, of which the Lord hath said, 'I will give it you.'" The sermon was an eloquent one, containing as it did interesting reference to places about to be visited by the pastor in his journeyings, and words of counsel for the guidance of his flock during his three months' absence. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at the close of the evening service, after which a reception service was held and a number received into the church. The very best of supplies have been procured for the pulpit until the pastor's return in May. An "Au revoir social" will be held in the schoolroom on Tuesday night, when Mr. Philp will take formal farewell of his friends.

Prof. Alexander.

Another crowded house greeted the professor in Victoria Hall Saturday night. The talk was on "How to read character," and any one present who did not know something about character reading at the finish of the lecture could not have been listening. The speaker showed how it was possible to read a man's character from his cast-off boots, from his manner of wearing his hat, from his walk, and last but not least, from his handshake. It was even possible to tell whether a man was married or not by his actions. If a man and woman were going along and the man had his arms full of parcels and then was gallantly trying to hold the umbrella and assist the lady at the same time, well, they were—not married. But, on the other hand, if a man and woman were crossing a field and the man was several yards ahead of the woman, and the latter had a parasol, a bandbox, a birdcage and a baby in her arms, and was trying to climb a stile, and had got to the top but was not sure which side she would come down on, and the man turned around and growled, "Come on, for goodness sakes, how slow you are, and it's dinner time," then you know they are married.

A feature of the evening was a recitation by the professor's wife, Mrs. W. G. Alexander, entitled "The Bobolink," which was given with marked ability, and was evidently much appreciated by the audience. To-night's talk is on "Phrenology in the home, or how to train children."

BENEATH THE ICY WAVE.

Two Young Ladies Immersed in the Thames—They Bear the Trying Ordeal Without Flinching.

About 200 people gathered on the banks of the Thames, in the vicinity of York street bridge, yesterday afternoon, to witness a somewhat unusual event, that of a midwinter baptism. Two young ladies, about to ally themselves with the Church of the Latter Day Saints, were the candidates for immersion, and they bore the trying ordeal unflinchingly. The river, owing to the recent thaw, was open, but immense ice floes floated past, and despite the bright sun the wind blew keen and sharp. The proceedings were under the direction of Elder Howlett, and prayer and singing marked the commencement. After the baptism, prayer was offered and another hymn was sung, after which the entire party repaired to the little Latter Day Saints' mission on York street near the bridge. At the church the candidates, the Misses Montgomery, were confirmed by Elder Howlett, assisted by Elder Wm. Corbett.

A Munificent Gift.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The contribution of $500,000 for the new Cathedral of St. John the Divine still remains anonymous. At a meeting of the trustees yesterday J. Pierpont Morgan reported that the gift had been accepted, and the balance of $170,000 due on the cathedral site had been paid.

Two Brothers in a Mad House.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 27.—A well-to-do farmer of Queen's county died and left all his estate to his son John, who was well off, disinheriting another son, Patrick, who was poor. The father's injustice drove Pat insane, and Pat's ravings so preyed upon John, who feared that he would lose the bequest, that he, too, lost his reason. Both were sent to the same insane asylum.

Temperance in Railway Service.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Jan. 28.—Division Superintendent Dixon of the Illinois Central has commenced an active enforcement of the rule forbidding employes of the road to frequent saloons and gambling houses. Superintendent Dixon devoted one entire evening to making the rounds of all the saloons and gambling joints in this city, accompanied by a policeman, and carefully made notes of what he saw. The next morning a number of railway boys making this their headquarters were informed that their services were no longer required.

Biliousness Cured.

Gentlemen,—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for biliousness and find it the best remedy for this complaint. I used several other remedies but they all failed to do me any good. However, it required only two bottles of B. B. to cure me completely, and I can recommend it to all. Yours truly,

Virgie's Inheritance.

CHAPTER XXV.

SIR WILLIAM BECOMES GUARDIAN.

Very distressing were the thoughts of the young baronet, who had so suddenly returned to his home and been stricken with illness.

He had been sick at Alexandria when he received the document notifying him that Virgie was seeking a divorce.

He was absolutely paralyzed as he read it and saw by the date that it would be utterly impossible for him to reach America in time to stay the proceedings.

He could not even reach England in season to cable for that purpose, and he was so overcome by the knowledge and his own helplessness, as to render him unable to travel for a couple of weeks longer.

One thing gave him some satisfaction. He at least knew that Virgie was in San Francisco, and that she must have been residing in the State for some time to allow her the right to apply for the divorce there. She must have been there even while he was searching for her, and it seemed terribly cruel to him that he should have missed her.

But he resolved that he would find her yet, if she lived. Poor darling! what a bitter lot had been hers during this last year, believing what she must of him. It should not go on, however; he would seek her and vindicate himself; he would prove to her that he had never wavered in his truth to her in spite of all the evidence against him. He would prove his love for her, and he would win her again, even though the dread decree had been pronounced, bring her back with him to Heathdale, and they would be happy yet.

And his child—the precious little one whom he had never seen— his heart cried out for her with an uncontrollable yearning —his baby! his miniature Virgie!

Thus, as we already know, he went directly to Heathdale, where he arrived on the very evening that Lady Linton had received the papers announcing that his wife had secured a decree of divorce.

He was very wretched in spite of his sister's hearty welcome and efforts to render him comfortable; and during her absence from the room to see that something unusually nice should be prepared for him, anxious bitter thoughts crowded his mind, and he rebelled against the arbitrary weariness and lassitude that bound him, as with chains of iron, and compelled him to rest.

Gradually, however, his glance began to wander around the familiar room, lingering now upon some picture, now upon some rare article of virtu, each endeared by peculiar associations, until at length it rested upon the table and that document, which his sister had dropped and forgotten in her surprise at his appearance.

Its likeness to the one he had previously received startled him.

He arose and went forward to examine it. Its postmark told him at once whence it had come.

A deathly paleness overspread his face; a horrible numbness fell upon his heart.

With trembling hands he tore it open, and one glance was sufficient to tell him the nature of its contents.

It was the one bitter blow too much, even though he had half suspected it, and, with a despairing cry that would have melted the hardest heart, "Lost! lost! Virgie, my love!" he fell prone upon the floor, clutching that fatal paper in his grasp.

Long weeks of watching and anxiety followed—weeks during which Lady Linton began to fear that she was paying dearly for her plotting and treachery, even though her son might become the master of Heathdale in the event of her brother's death.

But he did not die. His constitution was naturally rugged, and by the end of winter, after many alternations of hope and fear, he slowly began to rally.

As soon as he was able to be dressed and sit up he began to talk of going again to America.

Of course Sir Herbert Randal vetoed such a proposition at once.

"You are not to stir outside the grounds of Heathdale for three months at least," he said, decidedly.

"But I must, Sir Herbert. You have no idea how much is at stake," the sick man pleaded.

"You must not. I cannot help how much there is at stake," returned the physician, firmly. "I have had hard work to get you up, even so far, from this nervous prostration, and the least excitement or imprudence will cause a dangerous relapse."

And so with despair at his heart, Sir William was obliged to submit.

He tried to write to Virgie, intending to send a letter to her through the lawyer whom she had employed and whose name had appeared in connection with the papers he had received, but he could not; he found that his brain was too weak to permit of the framing of even a sentence, and he knew that he could never plead his case successfully in such a state.

He shrank from asking any one else to write for him; his sister he knew was not in sympathy with him, and he would not confide in her.

When his mind had become strong enough to realize what was going on about him, he had one day asked Lady Linton to bring him both documents that had come to him from America.

She obeyed him, making no comment, though her manner betrayed that she knew well enough their character.

He told her to lock them in a certain drawer which no one was ever allowed to open save himself.

She did so in his presence, and earnestly hoped, as the key clicked upon them, that the episode in her brother's life was buried for all time.

But she was not long in finding out that she was to be disappointed.

As summer advanced Sir William gained more rapidly, and by August he was pronounced comparatively well, although he was still but the ghost of his former self.

Then he announced his determination of again crossing the Atlantic, and Lady Linton's heart failed her. Would he never relinquish his chase after that miserable girl?

She earnestly pleaded that he would not leave home again.

"I must," he replied, sternly. "I must find my wife."

"Your wife!" she retorted, losing all patience; "you have no wife."

"Be still, Miriam," he commanded, growing frightfully pale. "I see you know what has occurred, and though the law may have succeeded in breaking the tie between us, yet in my heart I claim Virgie as my wife just as truly to-day as she ever was. I will search the world over for her: if I find her the law will give her to me again, for I believe that she is still true to me, whatever she may think of me; if I do not find her, I will live and die cherishing her image alone."

Lady Linton knew that he meant what he said.

"That will be bad for Sadie's hopes," she thought; "but doubtless Percy will be the gainer, unless he succeeds in finding that girl. I never believed his pride would let him go chasing after her like this."

The last of August found him again on the ocean.

The voyage proved beneficial, and he was in much better health and strength when he landed in New York than when he left England.

He proceeded directly to San Francisco as fast as steam and wheels could take him, determined to seek out Mr. Templeton, Virgie's lawyer, who, he believed, would tell him where she could be found.

But a terrible disappointment awaited him there.

Mr. Templeton had retired from business at the beginning of summer, and, with his family had gone abroad for an indefinite period.

He could not even obtain his address, and was thus prevented from communicating with him by letter.

Then he began another wearisome search. Day after day he haunted the streets of the city. He inquired, he advertised, and used every method he could think of to acertain where his darling was, but without avail, for, as we know, she had gone into the country on Little Virgie's account, while Mr. Knight was away on a trip to British Columbia, or he might have seen Sir William's advertisements, and helped him in the matter so near his heart.

About the middle of October he decided to go once more to her home among the mountains of Nevada, hoping to learn something of her there.

But, of course, he did not, and he finally came to the conclusion that she must have left California after obtaining her divorce. At last he thought she would leave San Francisco, for he knew that there were unpleasant associations connected with her past life there, and he did not believe she would like to make her home in that city, where disagreeable rumors might still exist. But, still resolving to find her at any cost, he turned his face in another direction, and began anew his wanderings up and down the land.

Three weary years he spent thus, following every clew, but all to no purpose. Then, saddened and dishartened, he was compelled to give up the chase and return to Heathdale, for his estate demanded his personal attention.

Mrs. Farnum and her daughter were full of hope, after learning that the decree of divorce had been granted, that the beauty and belle would at last succeed in securing the prize she so long coveted.

Every art was made use of to captivate the wealthy baronet, but it was evident that his heart was irrevocably fixed—that he had no intention of ever marrying again. Finally the disappointed girl gave her hand to a rich, but aged and feeble lord, and tried to satisfy her heart and ambition with the golded husks thus achieved.

A bottle of Angostura Bitters to flavor your lemonade or any other cold drink will keep you free from Dyspepsia, Colic Diarrhea and all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine Angostura, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Road agent (entering the car and pointing two revolvers at the passengers)—Everybody throw up their hands. Shell out all yer vallyblen. Get a move on, now! Mrs. Flickers (taking her first railway ride)—Hiram, that must be one of the Pullman car porters we've read about.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing nd curing all affections of the throat and unge, coughs, colds, bronchitis' etc.

"Marvelous man, that Grigsby, marvelous man!" "Why, I thought he was a very commonplace fellow." "No, indeed; why, he always has money on the day before pay day."

"Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia."—Mr. Samuel T. Casey, Belleville, writes: "In the spring of 1884 I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, which gradually became more and more distressing. I used various domestic remedies and applied to my family physician, but received no benefit. By this time my trouble assumed the form of dropsy. I was unable to use any food whatever except boiled milk and bread; my limbs were swollen to twice their natural size; all hopes of my recovery were given up, and I quite expected death within a few weeks. Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY having been recommended to me, I tried a bottle with but little hope of relief; and now, after using eight bottles, my Dyspepsia and Dropsy are cured. Although now 79 years of age I can enjoy my meals as well as ever, and my general health is good. I am well-known in this section of Canada, having lived here 57 years; and you have liberty to use my name in recommendation of your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, which has done such wonders in my case." 1

Miss Bewty (romantically)—Men never do brave deeds nowadays to show their love for women. Mr. Best—They don't, eh? Don't they marry them?

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

A man has been arrested in Germany for selling adulterated wheat. That article is not always what it is cracked up to be in this country.

A mans' wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

She—Maude? Oh, she's one of the friends of my youth. He—I didn't take her to be as old as that.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Mrs. Gofrequent—My husband is a bear on 'change. Mrs. Flyabout—So is mine. Never gives me a cent.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you

Odd as it may seem, the professional lady-killers seldom sleigh their girls.

A NERVY CASHIER

Foils the Bold Scheme of Two Bank Robbers.

The Desperadoes Captured After They Had Killed One of Their Pursuers.

WAVERLY, Kan., Jan. 29.—At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon two robbers entered a city bank, and covering Cashier Duvall and his assistant with their revolvers, ordered them to hand over the cash. While they were thus engaged Mr. O'Neil, a merchant, entered the bank for the purpose of making a deposit. At the risk of his life Cashier Duvall called out to him to alarm the citizens. The robber who was guarding the cashier leveled his revolver as though he would shoot, but for some reason he changed his mind. Mr. O'Nell ran across the street and gave the alarm. The robbers ran for their horses, which were in the alley behind the bank, closely pursued by a number of citizens. Foremost in the chase was A. P. Ingleman, and as the first of the robbers leaped into the saddle he turned quickly and fired at Ingleman and sent a ball through his heart, death being instantaneous. A fusilade of shots followed, but the robbers succeeded in getting out of town unharmed.

A posse of citizens followed in pursuit and were joined by others on the way. About two miles from Lebo the robbers were caught and surrounded, and after more firing, in which both of their horses were shot dead, they surrendered, their ammunition being exhausted. Many shots were fired on both sides, but with the exception of the killing of the horses no damage was done. The robbers were taken to Lebo, where they were bound hand and foot and left in custody. The sheriff will take charge of the men. The amount of money the robbers got is small. They have been identified as Billy Tanner-man and Frank Lewis, both of Melevern, a town in Franklin, the adjoining county. Ingleman, the citizen who was shot, leaves a wife and several children, and was in poor circumstances.

BECAME A VAGABOND.

Death of the Late Mme. Anna Bishop's Husband.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—"Baron" Schmitz, who was the husband of the once famous cantatrice, Lady Anna Bishop, was known fifteen years ago as a prince of good fellows, not only in this city, but in almost every part of the world. Martin Schultz, a decrepit vagabond, died of typhus in Riverside Hospital on Wednesday, having been infected by disease in some of the lowest haunts of the city, having descended to this depth after squandering the fortune his wife had left to him. He had relatives who gave him money to the last and implored him to live with them, but he resisted their entreaties, preferring cheap lodging houses to the shelter of his friends' homes. He was knocked down at the entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge last Saturday afternoon and taken to Chambers Street Hospital with a broken shoulder. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital the next day, and last Monday typhus developed. He was then transferred to Riverside Hospital, but the disease, combined with the injuries he had received, proved too much for his shattered constitution, and he died. He was 70 years old.

A Missionary's Experience.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28.—A missionary named Sam T. Wood, who has been laboring among the Indians east of here, was brought into the city this morning with both his feet badly frozen. On Christmas day, while crossing Lac Seul, he lost his way and was compelled to sleep out on the ice during the night. The cold was intense and his feet became frozen. In the morning he was found by some natives and taken to their hut, where he remained until he was taken to the railway and sent into the city. It is probable that he will lose both feet.

Use the Best.

Its a good motto. It is particularly good when applied to anything which we use daily at our own meals. Bread may truly be called the staff of life and we cannot be too careful as to what we put into it. Good health is of too great importance to be trifled with, and biscuits or pastry made with the alum powders which are so commonly sold in this country, are very injurious, leading to dyspepsia and numerous other troubles resulting therefrom. The pure cream of tartar and soda baking powders are healthful in every respect. In this class of powders the Pure Gold brand has obtained the highest position and is always reliable. d

—A correspondent writes: "I see it stated that the City Council sent a request to the Board of Trade to send a delegate to Ottawa to interview the Government in favor of getting a grant to put Port Stanley harbor in proper shape, and it was stipulated by the council that he should not go at the expense of the city. I desire to ask if the City Council delegates are to go at expense of the city? I believe they are. If so, why should there be a discrimination against the Board of Trade delegate? If there is any reasons for sending delegates, and I presume there are, one delegate should be just as worthy of having his expenses paid as another, seeing all would be on civic business. I am not a member of the Board of Trade, but I do not think it a proper thing to treat that important body in this way."

Woodmen of the World.

The executive council of the Sovereign Camp of Woodmen of the World has been in session in Omaha. The secretary's report showed that 62,485 members had been added to the Sovereign jurisdiction during the past year, and 4,300 had been added to the Pacific jurisdiction. Losses to the amount of $106,500 were paid during the year by the Sovereign jurisdiction, and 49 monuments were erected over the remains of deceased members. The committee made an important addition to the rules of the order by adopting the "paid-up policy" plan of the old line insurance companies. All members who will hereafter join the order between the ages of 16 and 33, and remain consistent members for 30 years, will be excused from paying dues thereafter and will be given life membership certificates, entitling them to all benefits. Some Strange Misnomers.

Much of the Russia leather comes from Connecticut, Bordeaux wine from California, Italian marble from Kentucky, French lace from New York, and Spanish mackerel from the New Jersey coast. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes from Buffalo, N. Y., but there is nothing in its name to criticise for it is truly golden in value, as thousands gladly testify. Consumption is averted by its use, and it has wrought many positive cures. It corrects torpid liver and kidneys, purifies the blood, banishes dyspepsia and scrofula, renews the lease of life, and tones up the system as nothing else will do. What is more, it is guaranteed to do all this, or the price is refunded.

It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

Theatrical News of an Interesting Local Character.

The Great Keene at the Grand Monday—Coming Attractions—The Young Liberals at Work.

Robert Fulford is seriously ill.

The Digby Bell Opera Company has had crowded houses in Montreal all this week.

Wm. E. Pond, father of Major Pond, the well-known agent, died on Jan. 14, aged 85 years.

A. H. Knoll and Mary McNeill, the cornet players, are with a variety company.

Several companies booked for London have canceled, but Manager Roote has yet a good list in his date book.

The Digby Bell Opera Company will appear at the Grand on Feb. 8. He and his wife, Laura Joyce Bell, are old favorites.

Thomas Davis, of Litt & Davis, proprietors of "The Stowaway" which appears in London on Feb. 7, is laid up with a severe sprained ankle.

London will have a run of light opera the week of Feb. 13. The Nelson Opera Company have been secured, and they will appear in several light operas at popular prices. The company numbers 30 people, and are artists of known ability. The principal characters are assumed by the Nelson family, who played with the Holman Opera Company when that organization was in its prime.

Tom Keene is always a welcome visitor to London, and in no role is he a more general favorite than in "Richard III.," which he will present at the Grand Monday night. Mr. Keene's company is large and efficient, and a capital performance of this great tragedy may be expected. He is said to be in splendid health, and to have played wherever he has appeared with more energy and vigor than ever before.

Why do people not get to the theater before the rise of the curtain? At both of Grossmith's performances this was very noticeable. The curtain was pulled up at 8:15 on the first night and as late as 8:30 several came in. Now, this is very annoying. In performances of this kind, where all attention is needed to catch the drift of the entertainment, the straggling in of a late comer, besides causing annoyance, is very troublesome. If a train goes out at a certain time a person will be on hand, if going away. They should remember the same on going to the theater.

That sterling English melo-drama, "The Stowaway," will be the attraction at the Grand on Tuesday, Feb. 7. This great play is now in its sixth season, and has as yet shown no signs of diminishing in popularity. This season it is entirely replenished with new and gorgeous scenery and effects, making it practically an old favorite in a new dress. Manager Davis has always observed one principle in the production of "The Stowaway," and that is, that no play can be successfully presented without the players, the result of which is, that he has always produced this piece with great success, owing to his always having a capable company. This season the cast includes several of the members of the original company.

The Young Liberals are enthusiastically at work preparing another of their delightful performances. The chorus has been picked and includes the best voices in the organization. Bright and catchy music has been secured from metropolitan sources. Arrangements have been made to costume the first part gorgeously, so that the curtain, as usual, will roll up on a scene of splendor. The second part will be in keeping, and the drill corps are well under way already. The show will be given late in February or early in March. Mr. Fred. L. Evans, the talented leader of the Grand Opera House orchestra, will be the musical director. He is the right man in the right place.

The Lillian Lewis Company are in Mexico.

J. K. Emory, who was with Rhea for twelve years, lately joined Nat Goodwin's Company.

Ramsay Morris' Comedy Company produced a new play, "The Judge," at Cincinnati on Monday night. It is less boisterous than "Joseph." Geo. Giddens, the comedian, made a hit in the character of the old Judge.

WHAT MEANS THIS STONE?

The following beautiful poem, entitled "What Means This Stone?" was written recently by Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop, the gifted orator and president of the W. C. T. U. in Michigan, who lectures in the Dundas Street Center Methodist Church on Friday evening next. It has reference to the corner stone of the great union to which she belongs, on which is inscribed its motto, "For God and Home and Native Land:"

Along the misty stretch of time
A million bells peal out their chime,
A million bells of every clime,
And silver tongue;
They ring from steeples tall and fair,
They sound from turrets carved and rare,
And over altars steeped with prayer
For ages long;
Till at his shrine a vanished time
Thrills into song.

The world has reared its temples old,
In ages dim and days of gold,
And evermore in reverence wrought
Its highest faith, its deepest thought,
Its strongest love and sacred pain,
In marble white of holy fane.
Then ring sweet bells of olden years!
With joyous tone:
A morning breaks, a promise cheers,
A newer temple Woman rears
For God and Home.
And, as the world's slow vision clears,
Comes to her own.

Upon the years that are to be,
There glows a radiance fair to see;
There dawns the coming century
Of truth and right;
The clouds are lifting from the skies,
From valleys dim the mists arise,
Before the morn the midnight flies,
And all is light.
The gate of hope now softly swings,
Above its arch a great bird sings,
The shackles fall, of might and wrong,
And all the world breaks into song.
Ring, temple bells, from steeples gray!
In gladness ring!
Love's golden day is on the way,
And Christ is King!

Between the darkness and the dawn,
The days to come, the cycles gone,
The age of love and age of brawn,
Is laid this stone:
On which shall rise a temple set
Like jewel in a coronet;
In purpose high unrivaled yet
By shrine or throne.
Its walls rebuke the blighting shame
That, sheltered by a legal name,
Now dims a nation's fair renown
And tears her holiest altars down.
Our ensign here in faith we rear—
Henceforth this place is battle ground.

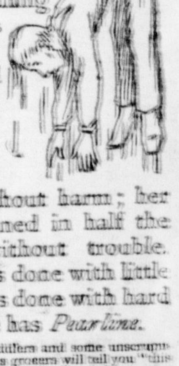

From fair foundations wide as love,
To slender turret far above,
Shall into stone arch be wrought
The glory of prophetic thought;
And throned upon the graceful height,
Its emblem true shall stand in light
Serene and fine.
A woman's figure, calm and fair,
Outlined against the upper air,
With hands uplifted as in prayer.
Who builds this shrine
Saw age divine
Come swiftly on to human kind.

Beyond the shadows long and dim,
Upon the future's golden rim,
We lay the stone and raise the hymn
Prophetic, grand.
Abide in strength, O jeweled stone!
For thou art set for God and Home,
For feet that stumble, hearts that moan,
In all the land.
Abide in strength before the gates
Where God's eternal promise waits.
We give thee to thy mission sweet,
With lavish wealth of love complete,
Nor count the sum.
Who knows but on this altar-place
May shine the glory of His face,
When Jesus comes!

He—I love you, dearest, and I never shall love you one whit less. It shall be my purpose as long as I live to make you happy and contented. She—Yes, yes; I've been married before. Let us come down to something practical. How much are you going to allow me per week for spending money?
