DELEGATES, WHITE, BLACK, TAN, FROM STATES AND PACIFIC ISLES, SWARM IN CHICAGO HOTELS

Last Week the Instructed Delegate Had His Day, This Week the Uninstructed at Republican Convention Will Have His Innings.

SCENE AT THE CONVENTION HALL PROMISES TO RIVAL PANDEMONIUM

Special Correspondent of The Advertiser Gives a Vivid Pen Picture of the President-Nominator, What He Looks Like and How He Acts, Explaining Method By Which the Candidate Is Selected.

Special to The London Advertiser and The Toronto Star By H. F. Gadsby.

Chicago, Ill., June 17.—Last week we had the contested delegate and his friends. He was steam-rolled to the number of two hundred and thirty-three, and you can tell him by the crease down the middle, where the wheel went over him. Ordinarily he would go home as soon as his case was settled, but this time he is going to stay and see the thing through. He stays over. You bet your life he does, to swell the grouch against Taft and the cheers for Teddy. Therefore, add two hundred and thirty-three to the general confusion.

TURN OF THE UNCONTESTED.

This week the uncontested delegate is with us, two thousand one hundred and fifty-six strong. He is spread over many hotels where the toothpick is used freely in public, and some exclusive ones where it is not. There is a scattering few of him for LaFollette and Cummins, but mostly he is for Taft or Roosevelt. So long as a Roosevelt delegate can keep his mouth shut, which is not more than half a minute by the clock, there is no way of telling him from a Taft booster, although the same committee that did the steam-rolling is said to have had an idea of running the wheel over its own delegates and embossing them with the Taft monogram, so they would be marked against stealing. But calmer counsels prevailed.

THE ALTERNATES.

Of the two thousand one hundred and fifty-six delegates, ten hundred and seventy-eight are alternates. They have seats in the convention hall, but they do not vote. They share in all the alarms, double the panic, multiply the favor by two, and shine with a reflected glory like the moon. One of the alternative's chief duties is to take up the task of drinking drinks where the full delegate left off, the full delegate having but little to justify his name if he is to be on the job every time the division bell strikes. The delegates are either district delegates or delegates at large, the latter being delegates elected by the state as a whole. Incidentally there are some delegates at large who should not be. There are also delegates from the territories and delegates from Hawaii and the Philippines. In short, there are white, black, red, tan and yellow delegates—all shades of opinion—and Chicago will be run dead when this motley bunch of noisy people packs up and goes home.

FIFTY-NINE VARIETIES.

Counting the states and territories together there are almost as many varieties of delegates as there are of our Heinz highly-popular pickles. There are two lady delegates from California, and two and a half Jew delegates, the fraction being due to an Irish mother who somehow or other got away from the Democratic party.

AT THE COLISEUM.

After this classification of delegates it should be easy for the Canadian reader to pick his way through the convention proceedings without a diagram if he will only remember that there are, besides delegates in the hall, five hundred and fifty newspaper men, fourteen hundred platform guests, seven thousand audience, twelve hundred Taft-appointed sergeants-at-arms, and two hundred and fifty police. If he will also keep in mind that each of the delegates has a chairman and badges and a rah-rah shout, and that the band is playing whenever the orators are not spouting, and that the marching dubs insist on yelling their heads off—if he will bear in mind all these special disturbances, and then add fifty per cent for general uproar, the scene in the Coliseum will be as clear to him as Toronto water when the intake pipe shifted.

As a rule delegates in the United States are from thirty-five to forty-five years of age. In Canada the average is at least ten years higher, which accounts for the difference in common sense, habitual reticence and other qualities on which we pride ourselves.

TWO KINDS OF DELEGATES.

Delegates are broadly divided into instructed and uninstructed. The instructed delegates vote as their districts have told them. The uninstructed vote as they please. It is a joke to say that some of the instructed delegates are the most uninstructed, according to our way of using the word, and some of the uninstructed are the most enlightened delegates, and supposed to be more open to conviction, but the instructed delegates are just as apt to be carried off their feet by a whirlwind like Theodore Roosevelt. What are the functions of a delegate? His chief function is to say yes to anything that any of the numerous committees sitting behind closed doors may cook up for him. Also, he is entitled to convention tickets for his friends, and if he is the right stripe of delegate that helps to pack the convention for the right candidate (this is the only place the common people get a look-in), it has about the same influence on the convention that the chorus had to the Greek tragedy. It whoops it up along the line of the keynote speech. His third function, and not the least important, is to become the victim of the ravenous press which serves him up as campaign chuckles, sidelights, wind from the storms, and other features.

DUTIES OF DELEGATES.

One of the first things the delegate does after he shakes hands with his hard-mouthed political leaders, and picks out his state headquarters from the maze of placards in the hotel lobby and gets used to bellboys that look like brigadier-generals, and doorkeepers that look like the Sultan of Zanzibar, and the young princes in gold lace and white gloves who wave him to elevators and spittoons and things, one of the first things he does after he can find his way round without a guide, is to give interviews to the reporters. If he is big enough he will either pose for or dodge photographers—but he will certainly be interviewed. He must expect that. It is part of the American public man's training to stand and deliver whenever a newspaper man springs a question or a note-book. He has been brought to it, so it comes easy. He may say nothing, but he will always make a few remarks. As the vein of the people is supposed to be anecdotal he is always asked for a funny story. To give him credit he always comes to the scratch, even if he has to work an old Abe Lincoln wheeze over again or go back as far as Marcus Aurelius epigrams to adapt something. If he hasn't a funny story about him he must have a bright paragraph, a snappy comment, or a sparkling bon mot concealed on his person, and the reporter doesn't leave till he gets it. If the delegate cannot deliver the goods he is doomed. He has discredited the wit of the state he comes from, and he will never be elected again.

WHY HE IS FOR ROOSEVELT.

I met a delegate in the Congress Hotel last night, who said he was going to be Secretary of Agriculture in the Roosevelt cabinet. It wouldn't be fair to mention names.

"I am opposed to Taft," he explained, "because he is a Unitarian. I believe Roosevelt made a mistake in naming Taft four years ago, and I want him back to eat some of his own soup."

DELEGATES AMUSE THEMSELVES.

Delegates are driven to desperate straits to amuse themselves. They have even been known to visit the Chicago Museum of Art, which has plaster of paris reproductions of all the best statues, and is dreadfully elevating. Failing other pleasures some delegates have their nails manicured whether they need it or not, while others take four bottles of Budweiser instead. Rumor has it that some delegates can be bought. We take the word of both sides for that. If they can the price depends on their race, breed, color, and previous condition of servitude.

Talking of color, the negro delegate is there in sufficient quantities to tinge politics. He ranges from the deepest ebony to a light cafe au-lait, from the swell Pullman car porter, handsome and young, to the venerable patriarch in a broad-brimmed straw and a Prince Isaac's frock coat. Most of the colored brethren belong to the officeholders' union and root for Taft, but they are fairly impressionable. They expect to sway the colored brother because he is a good swayer when the right kind of argument comes along. The colored delegates does not shoot craps in the Congress Hotel alley, but otherwise he is true to type. He has a characteristic appetite for big words and fried chicken.

Off duty, the delegate is somewhat at a loss what to do. He samples the various restaurants and makes himself sick with the strange food. He tries new brands of cigars. He gets wise to the last cocktails if he is a Southern delegates, and can't get mint-juleps—too slow a drink for Chicago. He takes the next best thing, whiskey straight. The whiskey makes him feel good, and he wants to sing. He does does. His song, is "The Bar-Tangled Banner." He drifts from one hotel lobby to another making speeches. This is only natural, because there are two thousand one hundred and fifty-six delegates, each with a speech, and as they can't all be made in the convention they must explode some place else. Every delegate is a first-class spieler or he wouldn't be a delegate, and can be relied on to use the justly celebrated English language with ease and freedom whenever he is called on, and often when he is not.

"Texas is for Taft," says the long-haired Stetson hat to a knot of listeners gathered round him. Texas is 1,200 miles long and 1,600 miles wide. You could put Illinois in a corner of it. It's so big that it takes you four days to go any place. There are two million Republicans down there who will vote for Taft and——."

Yes, says a Roosevelt booster, "and how many votes in the electoral college?" After which the argument takes new ground but does not flag.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

BOUNCED DOWN STAIRS FOR "SASSING" COURT

John McAuley Found Guilty of Fighting in King Street on Saturday.

John McAuley, who was found guilty of fighting with J. Cruickshanks on King street on Saturday night, objected so strenuously to being fined $5 in police court this morning that it was found necessary to send him down to the cells for a time to permit his temper to cool. Cruickshanks was not considered the aggressor, so he was let off at $3, which he paid quietly.

McAuley, however, discussed the matter from every angle with the magistrate, and finally in handing over the money, which was supplied to him by his father, remarked with emphasis that "It's quite a bit to pay for doing nothing."

"If you don't behave yourself I'll make that fine $10," he was told, but replied in a surly manner that he could go to jail. He knew best, for before he could offer further parley he was bounced down the back stairs into the cells. His father was permitted to follo whim, and in a short time reported to the court that his son was willing to depart quietly. He was permitted to do so.

HUSSARS MEN DISSATISFIED WITH PAY ALLOWED FOR HORSES

COL. H. R. ABBOTT, Commanding the First Hussars.

Only $1 Per Day Set Aside Against $1.25 Given Army Medical Corps.

NO. 1 CAMP IS A SHORT ONE

It Will Last But 12 Days While That of No. 2 District Is for 16 Days.

A great deal of dissatisfaction prevails among the First Hussars, who left this afternoon for Goderich, where they will go into camp for 12 days. They have two reasons for complaint. The first is regarding the pay allowed the men for horses.

The Army Medical Corps, whose camp just closed, were allowed $1.25 per day for each horse. The Hussars are allowed $1 per day, a difference of 25 cents.

"That does not seem fair to us," said one officer. "Here we have a much better class of horse than the Army Medical Corps, and still the latter are allowed 25 a day more. You will find no better-mounted regiment anywhere than the First Hussars, and still we receive much les money than do the Medicals. No wonder we are sore. It is not just."

A 12-Day Camp.

The second complaint is on the duration of the camp. The second division, which includes Toronto and that district, the camp lasted 16 days, while the camp for the first district is for 12 days only. This is not considered a square deal by the men of the First Hussars, and it is likely that more will be heard of this matter before long.

Two squadrons of the Hussars entrained at the Fair grounds for Goderich, "A" squadron was in command of Major Wood Leonard, and "B" squadron was in charge of Major A. E. Reason and Capt. C. H. Reason. There are exceptionally well mounted.

Two other squadrons, one frrom Wallaceburg and the other from Chatham, joined the others in London, and both were taken to Goderich by special train.

Lieut.-Col. H. R. Abbott is in command of the regiment, and went north with the men. It is probable that Lieut.-Col. T. S. Hobbs, honorary colonel of the regiment, will spend some days with the men during the manoeuvres.

Col. Abbott Pleased.

Col. Abbott is delighted with the men. They are first-class soldiers, well mounted, and the majority of them have had considerable camp experience. He expects the men to give a good account of themselves.

"We expect a good camp," said Col. Abbott. "We have the Hussars practically at full strength, and the majority of them are men of experience. All are exceptionally well mounted, and I anticipate that all will make a good showing. There will be plenty of hard work, but I have the boys who can do it."

MOTOR CYCLES CAUSE PEOPLE TO COMPLAIN

Machines Without Mufflers Are Raced On Streets and Noise Is Aggravating.

Ald. Hubert Ashplant has determined to bring to the attention of the police and the city council the question of regulating motorcycle traffic in London. There are very many of the machines in this city now, and there apepars to be no effort being made to keep the motorists within the speed limit. It is a common thing on Dundas street, between Adelaide and Wellington, to see motorcycles travelling at a speed of 30 miles an hour or more, and few if any of the offenders have been brought into court.

The motorcycles for the most part are not equipped with mufflers, and one motorcycle will make more noise than ten automobiles.

In other cities such machines have to be equipped with mufflers to abate the nuisance. On Sunday the congregation of Dundas Centre Methodist Church was greatly disturbed by racing and noisy motorcycles.

AIMED AT A CAT AND STRUCK WOMAN

Clarence Street Lady Had No Intention of Smiting a Neighbor.

Mrs. Amelia Hambly, of Clarence street, who was charged by Mary A. Kennedy with committing an assault that occasioned actual bodily harm, explained before Police Magistrate Judd this morning that the rock that hit Mrs. Kennedy in the mouth was intended for a cat, and the magistrate, realizing that most women are remarkable for the reason that they cannot hit what they aim at allowed the defendnt the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charge. It was thought that if Mrs. Hambly had really thrown the stone at Mrs. Kennedy the latter would not have been injured.

PARLIAMENT HAS NOT AUTHORITY TO PASS THE LANCASTER BILL SAYS THE SUPREME COURT

Decision Means That in the Matter of Marriage the Jurisdiction Is Entirely With the Provinces as Maintained By Quebec.

ALL MARRIAGES BY PRIEST OR MINISTER ARE VALID IN LAW

Counsel for Government Will Immediately Appeal to the Privy Council From Judgment of the Supreme Court—Ne Temete Case Referred to in Judgment.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 17.—The supreme court of Canada this morning gave judgment on the marriage case referred to them by the Government, and arising out of the Lancaster marriage bill of last session. The supreme court decided that Parliament has not the authority to pass the Lancaster bill, which means that the jurisdiction is entirely with the provinces. The court also declared that the law of Quebec does not render null and void any mixed marriage, whether performed before a Roman Catholic priest or Protestant clergyman. The Government will immediately appeal to the privy council from the judgment rendered from the supreme court this morning.

A marriage between Roman Catholics in Quebec solemnized by a Protestant clergyman cannot be declared invalid by the courts, Justice Anglin dissented from this view.

The Questions.

Following were the questions on which the supreme court was asked to decide:

Question 1 (A)—Has the Parliament of Canada authority to enact, in whole or in part, bill number three of the first session of the twelfth parliament of Canada, intitled "An act to amend the marriage act?"

(B)—If the provisions of the said bill are not all within the authority of the Parliament of Canada to enact, which, if any, of the provisions are within such authority?

Question 2.—Does the law of the Province of Quebec render null and void, unless contracted before a Roman Catholic priest, a marriage which would otherwise be legally binding, which takes place in such provinces?

Question 3—If either (A) or (B) of the last preceding question is answered in the affirmative or if both of them are answered in the affirmative, has the Parliament of Canada authority to enact that all such marriages, whether (a) heretofore solemnized, or (b) hereafter to be solemnized, shall be legalized or binding?

Conditions of the Bill.

The Lancaster bill on which the marriage reference was based provides as follows:

1—The marriage act, chapter 105, of the revised statutes, 1906, is amended by adding thereto the following section:

2.—Every ceremony or form of marriage heretofore or hereafter performed by any person authorize to perform any ceremony of marriage by the laws of the place where it is performed, and duly performed according to such laws, shall everywhere within Canada be deemed to be a valid marriage, notwithstanding any differences in the religions of the persons so married and without regard to the religion of the person performing the ceremony.

3. The rights and duties as married people of the respective persons married as aforesaid and of the children of such marriage, shall be absolute and complete, and no law or canonical decree or custom of or in any prov-

LAID IN WAIT FOR THIEVES BUT THE BIRDS WERE WARNED

Attempt Made to Steal 600 Pounds of Brass from G. T. R.

A daring attempt to steal about six hundred pounds of brass from the Grand Trunk carshops was discovered a couple of nights ago, and as a result the arrest of a young East London man, and possibly one or two others is expected.

The fact that the brass had been taken was not known to the officials, but by accident one of the employees came upon several wheelbarrow loads deposited under a loading platform on Campbell street.

It was decided to leave the junk and to await the coming of theleves at night, but while one of the men turned up and was recognized, he was able to make away again.

It is said that he is one of a gang of six men. A piebald pony is supposed to have been used to carry away the metal at nights. The G. T. R. say that they are annually robbed of tons of brass in East London.

LAKE ERIE COAL CO. ANXIOUS TO GET A REPLY FROM THE CITY

L. and P. S. R. Board Will Hold Session to Consider Local Matters.

There will be a meeting of the London and Port Stanley board on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock to discuss general business.

It is stated that the real reason for calling the meeting was because of the fact that the Lake Erie Coal Company, who made an offer some time ago to electrify the London and Port Stanley road, were anxious to know what the board was going to do in reference to the matter. They would like to have an answer to their proposition, and have so intimated to the board.

It is not likely that any definite assurance will be given the coal comapny that their offer will be seriously considered at this time. The report of Engineer Gabey, and other engineers employed by the hydro-electric commission on the electrification of the line to the port is due now. It was stated that the report would be ready in a short time, but in the meantime nothing will be done.

No Word From the C. N. R.

No word has been received at the city hall from the Canadian Northern Railway regarding their application for the lease of the road. It was announced that a definite proposition would be forthcoming shortly, but up to the present time nothing has come to the city hall, and no person seems to know when anything will arrive with which the London and Port Stanley board can deal.

It is understood that both the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific are watching the negotiations with the deepest interest, and the statement was made that the Canadian Northern would not be allowed to gain possession of this line without competition from them. At the present time the C. P. R. and the G. T. R. control practically all the freight for the Canadian West, and they will not share the territory with another line if they can prevent it.

MIDDLESEX REGIMENT OFF ON THEIR MARCH TO GODERICH

So Much Work On Farms, Etc., That Corps Is Not Up to Strength.

Several companies of the Twenty-sixth Regiment left London this afternoon for Lucan Crossing, where they will commence this evening their long tramp to the camp grounds at Goderich.

The two companies from the Muncey and neighboring reserves arrived in London early, The Muncey Band, all of whose members belong to the Twenty-sixth Regiment, paraded the street, and created a good impression.

Capt. H. A. Stevenson, who commands "A" Company, composed of Muncey Indians, has forty men in his company. They are all good, strong young fellows and looked fit for duty.

The Strathroy company came in at noon, and the Glencoe company arrived after 11 o'clock. The Lucan, Alisa Craig and other companies, went direct to Lucan Crossing, where they were joined by the more southern companies.

According to the officers, the Twenty-sixth is not up to its usual strength. There is too much work to be done on the farms, and it was almost impossible to get the young men away. The lateness of the season also had its effects. At Muncey men were very scarce, 100 Indians having been taken to Port Stanley to work on the new waterworks.

Captain A. Roy Routledge, paymaster, and Capt. Milligan, adjutant, went north early today to join the staff of Lieut.-Col. Robson, the commanding officer.

TWO HUNDRED ARE DEAD BY A QUAKE IN ALASKA

The Total Population On Shelikof Has Apparently Perished.

Cordova, Alaska, June 16.—The relief tug Redonda reported from Karluk yesterday that there was no sign of life on the mainland this side of Shelikof Strait in the vicinity of the mountain, virutally confirms the fears that the mainland villages with a total population roughly estimated at 200 perished in the disaster.

All efforts have failed to obtain news from the Government station at Afognak on the island of the same name, which lies just north of Kodiak Island and anxiety is increasing concerning the plight of Superintendent Heidmann and a large force of men who maintained the fish hatchery there.

MRS. ASQUITH BOXED EARS OF SUFFRAGETTE

Another Version of the Sensational Attack Made On British Premier.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 15.—The suffragettes' version of the amazing scene at the India office last night when a militant suffragette who had obtained admission to the reception held by the Premier in connection with the King's Birthday, assaulted Mr. Asquith and tried to tear the epaulettes from his shoulders, is issued today by the Women's Social and Political Union.

To the details already published the suffragettes add another scene, but fail to identify the actors. According to the Women's Social and Political Union, the woman had assaulted Mr. Asquith, and while being bundled out encountered Premier and Mrs. Asquith a second time. She went up to the premier and was telling him he could not be allowed to hold these public functions without interruption until he had given votes to women, when the premier struck her a hard blow on the arm with his cocked hat, which buckled up under the stress of the contact. Mrs. Asquith followed this up by also attacking the woman and boxing her ears.

WRECK IN SWEDEN, EIGHTEEN KILLED

Linkoeping, Sweden, June 16. — Eighteen persons were killed and sixteen injured in a collision which occurred last night between a mail train proceeding to Stockholm and a freight train at Malmslaett station. Among the victims was a daughter of the late Auguste Strinjdberg, the novelist. The first sleeping car of the express was completely wrecked and two others were badly damaged.

Two of the injured died tonight, bringing the total up to twenty.

TUMULT AT CANTON

Revolutionary Movement Causes Considerable Fighting in Streets.

[Canadian Press.]

Canton, June 15. — The disbanded troops, who, before their enlistment in the revolutionary army, were pirates, and a Manchu society, which has been organized to oust the military governor of this city, started a day or two ago a revolutionary movement, which resulted in considerable fighting in the streets of the city last evening.

Groups of regular soldiers pursued a number of rebels past the foreign concession, firing indiscriminately, killing and wounding several onlookers.

The situation has become worse here owing to the depreciation of 30 per cent in the value of the Government notes.

Disease Germs Everywhere

The death rate is higher in spring than at any other time of the year. For this there are two reasons: the air is laden with disease germs, the human system is in a rundown condition and not able to fight off disease.

Pure, rich blood is the greatest of germicides. This fact is now generally conceded by medical experts. Get the blood rich and you afford to the body the most certain means known of fighting off disease.

Many people have reason to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for making their blood pure and rich and enabling them to ward off the ills and weaknesses of spring.

It is truly wonderful the benefit obtained by a few weeks' treatment with this great food cure. The nerves are strengthened, the vital organs are better able to perform their natural functions and the system is benefitted in every way.

BABY CARRIED A MILE BY CYCLONE IN TEXAS

Twenty-Six Lives Lost and Many Towns Were Wrecked.

Kansas City, June 16.—Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and many injured by a storm that passed over Central West Missouri late Saturday, demolishing buildings, tearing down wires and leaving the smaller towns and country homes completely wrecked.

From meagre reports that have been received, it is believed that the storm that struck Kansas City late yesterday, causing the death of two persons and doing damage amounting to many thousands of dollars, swept to the south through Bates County, where it left a trail of death and destruction.

The path of the storm here was half a mile wide and five miles long. Between Merwin and Adrian 19 persons were killed. At Creighton, in Cass County, two are known to be dead, while at Leeton, in Johnson County, two are dead, and unverified reports say others have been killed.

In the country between Merwin and Adrian the storm came up suddenly and swept clean its path through the northern section of the country.

When Henry Cameron and three of his children were killed, the wind picked up another child and carried it away. The baby was found today a mile from home, uninjured. The bodies of Gibson and Fred Groves were found more than a mile from their home, where they were when the storm struck. In another place the storm, in passing over a farm, killed 50 head of live stock, but did no other damage.

Throughout the stricken district wires are down, and communication is carried on by messengers.

Relief trains have been sent from Windsor, Warrensburg and Sedalia to the country, and from Sedalia many undertakers were asked to hurry to the scene.

NEW ARMY DIRIGIBLE

Largest Balloon Ever Built in Italy Has a Successful Trial Flight.

Bracciano Flying Grounds, near Rome, June 16.—A new army dirigible balloon went through its trial flight here yesterday. The flight, which lasted an hour, was very successful.

The new dirigible is the largest ever built in Italy, having a volume of 12,000 cubic metres and being equipped with two 120-horsepower motors.

During the flight experiments were made with guns which were carried in the basket. These guns were fired at a captive balloon. The minister of war was present throughout the trial flight.

NO DECISION YET AS TO ELEVATORS

Roblin Says Report That They Had Been Leased Is Incorrect.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, June 15.—When questioned today as to the correctness of rumors that the Government had decided to lease its elevators for a term of five years for $90,000, Sir Romond Roblin stated that any report that the elevator question had been settled was incorrect. Sir Romond also stated that the Government had not made any decision with regard to the telephone rates. There should be reason to believe that the existing rates will not be increased.

OVER-CONFIDENCE WAS CAUSE OF A WRECK

Conductor of Train Wrecked at Nipigon Says He Ignored Warning.

Nipigon, June 16.—Assumption that all was well, the mistaking of "O" for "U" over the telephone, and the disregard of a message by the conductor of the eastbound freight, since he had his clearance order, were the alleged causes of the wreck by which four lives were lost at Red Rock. The facts, which came out at the inquest held here by Coroner Laurier yesterday morning, showed that the accident was the result of taking too much for granted on the part of various employees of the company. The bold statement was made by Conductor Dennis Degan, of extra 1,675, that he cleared from Pearl because he felt that a message which he received there and which should have held him at that point, was "phoney."

The events of the inquest were dramatic, and the climax arrived when Degan confessed that he had pulled out with the message that should have held him, and would have prevented the wreck, held in his hand. A further shock came when the fireman, Robert Winters, called from the back of the room that this message, the document fraught with so much importance, had been thrown away by Engineer Ross, who was one of the victims. Crown Attorney Langworthy declared that the track must be searched until this document was found.

Conductor Degan, after giving his evidence, asked to be allowed to make another statement. He then said that he had told the operator at Pearl that the rear end of his train was foul of the east end switch at the station.

During the course of the inquest there was not a word spoken of the accident itself. Nothing was said of the manner in which three men met death instantly; of young Allan, who, scalded, fearfully, crept from beneath the wreck and endeavored to throw his burning body into the lake. The fireman of the light train did not tell how he had been on the boiler tying the broken bell rope and was just getting down when the crash occurred, or how Engineer Ross met his death.

HIT BY CHAUFFEUR.

Montreal, June 15. — After knocking down Arthur Lapointe last night on St. Catherine street, a chauffeur put on more speed and raced away. Fortunately the number of the car was caught, and the police are now making an investigation. Lapointe was taken to a city hospital, suffering from injuries to his spine. It is thought that he will recover.

ROYAL COACHMAN DEAD.

London, June 16. — Thomas Bernham, 61 years old, for 17 years the royal coachman, died yesterday of apoplexy at Windsor Castle. He accompanied Queen Victoria abroad and also the late King Edward. The latter was a great admirer of his skillful four-in-hand driving.

A WEAK, ACHING BACK CAUSED HER MUCH MISERY

Could Not Work and Had No Ambition For Anything.

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Mrs. W. R. Hodge, Fielding, Sask., writes:—"A few lines highly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. For this last year I have been troubled very much with nasty sick headaches, and a weak, aching back which caused me much misery, for I could not work and had no ambition for anything. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I kept me from sleeping at nights, I tried many kinds of pills and medicines but it seemed almost in vain. I began to give up in despair of ever being well and strong again, when a kind neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and am thankful for the relief I obtained from them, for now I am never in trouble with a sore back or sick headaches. I will always say Doan's Kidney Pills for mine, and can highly recommend them to any sufferers."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

STRIKERS FAMILIES IN "HUNGER MARCH"

Parade Through Streets of London and Collect Contributions.

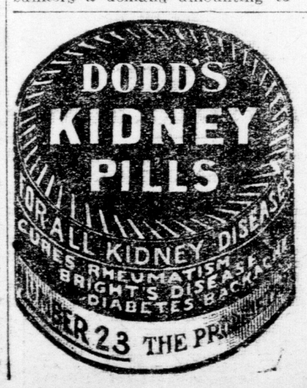

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 15. — Several thousand wives, mothers and children of the striking dockmen and transport workers today paraded through the streets from the East End to Trafalgar Square on a "hunger march."

They solicited funds along the route, and collected considerable in contributions.

BREAK OVER LOAN.

Peking, June 15. — A break between the "four nations" banking groups and the Chinese Government is imminent. The finance minister today sent to the bankers a demand amounting to an ultimatum that they agree to deliver 6,000,000 taels on Monday, and an additional 15,000,000 before the end of the month, and guarantee to finance China's needs throughout the negotiations for a larger loan.

BOULEVARD RAILS ARE OLD FASHIONED

City Asking Citizens to Remove Them and Beautify Their Premises.

All boulevard railings throughout the city will be taken down, if the parks commissioners have their way.

Already requests have been made to many citizens to remove them, and in all cases these have been complied with. The rail around St. Peter's Cathedral and the bishop's residence have been taken down, and this has been the case in other portions of the city.

Chairman Philip Pocock, of the water commission, is assisting Mr. John Marr, chairman of the parks commission, in the work.

Superintendent Dilger and Mr. Emery B. Hamilton left for Detroit today to look over the parks of the city, and on their return, a definite plan for improving the city streets and parks will be decided on.

The board of works will turn their lot at Thames and King streets over to the parks commission within a short time. The stables, etc., of the board are located on it now, but these will be removed to the M. C. R. roundhouse property on Waterloo street.

The parks commissioners will make a small park of this place, and every effort will be made to beautify it.

A survey of the city trees has been made by Superintendent Dilger and Mr. Hamilton, and late in August a staff of men will be put to work properly fixing them. Mr. Dilger is confident of making decided improvements in the appearance of many of them.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION.

Kingston, Ont., June 15.—Louis Persse, aged 30, foreman on the C. P. R.'s new line at Echo Lake, west of Parham, Frontenac County, was killed as the result of a premature explosion of dynamite. He had filled five holes and was filling a sixth when the explosion occurred. The deceased had been engaged in the work of loading dynamite holes for several months past, and was considered an expert. The verdict of the coroner's jury was "Death from explosion," the evidence indicating that the affair was of an accidental nature.

A "LITTLE NATIONALIST."

Montreal, June 15. — That the late W. S. Gilbert's contention in comic opera, that every little child born in England, is either a little Liberal or a little Conservative, has a local application, is proved by a reference to the birth certificates, filed at the city hall. A number have lately come in in which the word "Nationalite" has been erased, and either the word "Liberal" or "Conservative" inserted. In one case a fond parent made it "Nationalist."

REV. MR. INKSTER TO 7TH REGIMENT

War Is Inevitable and Canadians Should Be Prepared, Said Minister.

TURN OUT A GOOD ONE

Men Made a Fine Appearance as They Marched From the Armories to First Presbyterian Church.

The Seventh Regiment attended divine service in the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Over three hundred men were in line, and their smart appearance was most favorably commented upon. Lieut.-Col. A. M. Smith, first commander of the regiment after its reorganization, was present, and Lieut.-Col. J. W. Little, honorary colonel, also turned out. The full quota of officers was present, and few men were missing from the lines.

Rev. J. Gibson Inkster preached a strong sermon, making an appeal to young men to join the regiment. He pointed out the advantages that would come from being attached to such a corps. His text was taken from II. Timothy, ii., 3: "Endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

War was inevitable, declared the preacher. There always had been war. There were rumors of war at the present time, and there would be war in the future. The nation must be prepared for it.

Not a Chip on Shoulder.

"I do not mean by this that we should be going about with a chip on our shoulder," said Mr. Inkster. "We should not be continually looking for trouble, but we should be prepared for it when it does come."

The militia was placed in the same category as the police. The latter were not to make trouble, but to prevent trouble. They were to preserve peace. An army was necessary to prevent war.

"The day is coming when there will be no need for a policeman," said Mr. Inkster. "It will not come to pass in your day or mine, but it is coming. I have been informed that there are professional soldiers in England who are constantly trying to encourage war with Germany. That is not right, and such men do not represent the true ideal of a soldier. These men for the sake of advancement or personal gain would force two great nations into a most disastrous war, terrible no matter who was the victor. We are at peace now, and we hope long to remain at peace."

A Plea for Men.

Rev. Mr. Inkster paid a tribute to the Seventh Regiment, which had sent its men, either at home or abroad, to fight for the integrity of the Empire.

He made a strong plea for young men to join the Seveth Regiment. The training received by being a member of such a regiment was such that all young men should covet it. The men were taught obedience, respect and reverence for authority, and the work made him stronger physically. There was need of these things in modern life. There was a surprising lack of respect for age and authority. It was his advice to all young men to join the regiment. It would keep them away from places that did not make for their physical and moral good, and in the regiment they would receive a good training.

Mr. Inkster advised the members of the regiment to stand up for what was right in peace and war. They were to teach by precept and example obedience and reverence to authority, and furthermore they were to use all their influence to have others join the Seventh.

He asked them all to be good soldiers of Jesus Christ. There had been good Christians in the army, and he hoped there would be more.

Special music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of Mr. Vivian Reeve. Solos were sung by Miss McBride, Miss Cullis, Mr. Bruce Smith and Mr. Ed Crawford in excellent voice. During the offertory the Seventh Regiment Band under Bandmaster Slatter rendered a fine selection.

LONDON, MONDAY, JUNE 17.

THE MARRIAGE DECISION.

The Supreme Court of Canada has adjudged the Lancaster bill to be outside the purview of the Dominion Government.

The judgment is no surprise. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden, Sir Alan Aylesworth and Mr. Doherty—the prime ministers and ministers of justice respectively, in the past and present governments—took the same view. The decision that the question belongs to the jurisdiction of the provinces, is a corollary.

The Lancaster bill, in effect, asked that any marriage ceremony performed by any clergyman or official authorized to solemnize marriage in any province, should be declared valid. There has been no question of the validity of any such marriage outside of Quebec. As to Quebec, the court has decided that a marriage between two Catholics, or a mixed marriage—the marriage of a Catholic and a Protestant—performed by either a Catholic or Protestant clergyman, is not invalid under the laws of that province. This corresponds with the judgment of Justice Charbonneau in the Hebert case.

The whole matter goes to the Privy Council for an authoritative decision, if, indeed, it can be authoritative when the questions are so academic in their character. The carrying of a concrete case, like the Hebert case, to the Privy Council, would be more certain to clear the air. This is indicated in Justice Anglin's remarks.

STILL AGAINST THE WESTERN.

The denial, for the time being at any rate, of a specialist's certificate to Miss Valerie Carrothers, is one more cruel injustice on the part of the Education Department to the Western University and its graduates.

Miss Carrothers went out of the Western in 1911 with first-class honors in English. She was permitted by the dean and instructors of the Faculty of Education to do the work and try the final examination for a specialist's certificate in English and history. It is not denied that she was successful in both term work and examination. But she is given only an ordinary high school teacher's certificate.

The teachers in the Faculty of Education are evidently satisfied with Miss Carrothers' work. Dr. Pyne does not himself know enough about educational matters to determine whether Miss Carrothers ought to be a specialist in English or in kindergarten or in domestic science. Dr. Colquhoun is only a secretary who has to answer "I don't know," when asked whether Western honor degrees have at last been recognized for specialist standing. He has to find out from somebody and answer later. Who is this somebody behind the scenes, whose persecution of Western University and its graduates has come to be mere obstinate vindictiveness? It would be interesting if he would condescend to write a letter to Miss Carrothers explaining to her candidly and fully why she should not be allowed standing as a specialist in English and history. What has she done or left undone that this person should say, "No, you shall not be granted the qualification that will enable you to head a department in a Collegiate Institute?"

Dr. Seath knows nothing about Western University and its graduates except by hearsay, and that from its small circle of enemies. Let him ask even the staff of the Toronto educational faculty whether Miss Carrothers is fit for the standing he refuses her.

Amidst the disappointment over this matter, there is, however, perhaps some ground of hope. It seems that since Miss Dearness was refused her rights in 1906 no Western graduate till this year has been even permitted to take the examination for specialist's standing. This tyranny was relaxed in the case of Miss Carrothers. Like Miss Dearness she did herself and the Western credit, proving that the small university can turn out as good a product as the big machine in Queen's Park, Toronto. If after years of exclusion, the rule has been relaxed this year, and if Miss Carrothers is still to be denied her hard-earned rights, then she is the victim of a shameful mockery. It can hardly be believed that the department will much longer persist in its present attitude. The relaxation in Miss Carrothers' case gives reason for hope that she will yet be righted and the university freed from the disabilities that have rested upon it.

Such an eventuality will be in the interests of the whole province, which needs more good teachers than it has. The Government forces graduates of the Faculty of Education to pledge themselves to teach a year in Ontario before going elsewhere. Why not help the supply of first-class teachers also by an increase of university facilities for producing them? Why try to drive every high grade student in Western Ontario to Toronto University, which is overcrowded? The Government may well pause over this question.

LAW VERSUS BEATTIE.

Mr. Bonar Law in a speech at Glasgow, published in Saturday's Advertiser, dilated upon Canada as a growing outlet for British goods. The picture was designed to tickle the eye of the British manufacturer and artisan.

British imports into Canada have increased threefold since the British preference, a fact cited by Mr. Law in support of a policy of imperial preferential trade. But few Canadian manufacturers have had any affection for the preferential feature of the Canadian tariff. After its adoption, the whole weight of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was exerted to secure higher duties on British textiles. Many members of Parliament and many captains of industry are even now openly or covertly hostile to the preferential idea. Their attitude is that of the member for London, Mr. Beattie, who said in the House on July 28, 1911:

"I am told by our people in London, Ont., that there are many agents coming in from England, and selling manufactured goods, the same as they make (in London, Ont.) right at their doors. While I am in favor of the British preference, I think it should not be raised so high that it will hurt people in our own country. There is no better Imperialist in this House than I am; at the same time, I am for Canada first; I believe we should protect our own people first, and that we should not allow people of other countries to come in here and take away that which belongs to the workingmen in our own factories."

Mr. Beattie's brand of Imperialism is undoubtedly that of the bulk of the industrial interests which are the mainstay of the party in power at Ottawa. They would resolutely oppose any extension of the British preference. They are complaining even now of "agents who come from England" and sell British goods "right at their very doors." Yet these agents represent the commercial Imperialism which Mr. Law and his party are preaching in the old land. They profess to see a great victory for Imperial preferential trade in the triumpho of the anti-reciprocity party in this country, but they do not tell the British manufacturer and workingman that the same party will not open the door wider to British products. On the contrary, they seek to feed the hopes of British producers with prospects of further tariff advantages in the Canadian market, as a consequence of the defeat of reciprocity—that is, the defeat of the only Canadian party really favorable to a substantial British preference.

Another batch of tariff changes by order-in-council! What's the House of Commons for?

The conditions in Chicago are highly inflammatory, and the colonel has no intention of acting as fire-extinguisher.

The United States is at the boiling point, and the election is five months' away!

What a glorious, inspiring, victorious slogan, Premier Whitney would have in: "Abolish the Little Room Behind the Bar!"

Mr. Borden says the naval question "bristles with difficulties." Yes—difficulties for Mr. Borden. That is the penalty for making it an election dodge.

The situation at Halifax, where hundreds of office-seekers are dogging the heels of Mr. Borden, is a disgrace to that city. Whether Canada shall be disgraced by it depends upon Mr. Borden himself.

Roosevelt was welcomed in Chicago by countless thousands of cheering admirers, and stood up in his automobile all the way from the station to his hotel. To a sensitive, shrinking nature like the colonel's, it must have been martyrdom. It is one of the penalties he must pay as the savior of his country.

SOLDIERS OF MODERN GREECE.

[Christian Herald.]

The street scenes of Athens are extremely interesting to the new arrival. The women of the better class affect a funereal black, for the most part, at least, in this year of our Lord 1912. What it may be next year I would not venture to predict. But there are enough other people on the streets to relieve the sombre effect. The soldiers are particularly picturesque. Many of them wear the kilted and fluted white skirt that comes nearly to their knees, while their legs are encased in heavy white stockings or leggins reaching to their hips. This costume, which terminates in brown Turkish slippers, extravagantly turned up at the toe, which is surmounted by a big black ball of worsted, gives these sons of Mars a singularly unwarlike, not to say effeminate, aspect. But there are other soldiers in blue and butternut uniforms of the ordinary type, while the officers, as in other lands, are birds of gorgeous plumage.

A GREAT PIECE OF PROSE-POETRY.

(Psalm cvii., 23-30.)

"They that go down to the sea in ships and occupy their business in great waters; these men see the works of the Lord and His wonders in the deep. For at His word the stormy wind ariseth, which lifteth up the waves thereof. They are carried up to the heaven and down again to the deep; their soul melteth away because of the trouble. They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wits' end. So when they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, He delivereth them out of their distress. For He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still. Then are they glad, because they are at rest, so He bringeth them into the haven where they would be."

TWO FAMOUS ISLANDS.

(Ave Maria.)

Among the thousands of tourists who every year congregate at the fashionable resorts of the French Riviera there are few who have not at one time or another visited the two islands of Lerins that lie in sight of Cannes—Ste. Marguerite and St. Honorat.

Both are interesting. The mysterious "Man with the Iron Mask" is the hero of Ste. Marguerite, where his narrow cell is still shown; but it is the other and smaller island that deserves the name of a record of heroic deeds; and from this seagirt rock barely four miles in length, came forth generations of wise and holy men, who greatly contributed to the civilization of mediaeval Europe.

ELECTIONS GALORE.

[Winnipeg Free Press.]

With elections called in New Brunswick and imminent in Saskatchewan, the twelve months from the early summer of 1911 to the early summer 1912 will make a new record for political activity in Canada. In addition to the Dominion contest, every province in Canada, with two exceptions will have gone through an election within this period; while in the case of Alberta there have been during the year nine contested by-elections. Of the six elections already held, four resulted in Conservative and two in Liberal victories. While Canada is undoubtedly passing through a period of Conservative dominance, there are not lacking signs that the Liberal party still has many elements of strength. Since Canada is governed by the party system this is well; too great power is a test which no political leader can stand. With the contests in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick over, Canada should have respite for a period of years from the turmoil of politics. Excepting Manitoba and Alberta no elections will be due until 1916. The people would welcome a period of comparative political peace. They have had their fill of conflict and excitement.

WHY THIS CHANGE?

[Montreal Gazette.]

Several organizations at Caledonia, Ont., have decided to abandon the Dominion Day celebration and to hold a union demonstration on July 12 instead. Now July 1 is the birthday of Canada as at present constituted and is duly honored—at least in Montreal and other Quebec points. What has a Canadian to do with July 12, anyway?

KEEPING CLEAN.

[Washington Star.]

An anecdote about the late Rear-Admiral Melville was told the other day at a Washington club.

"Melville, one stormy morning at sea," said the narrator, "had occasion to rebuke a young officer for wearing soiled gloves.

"'But, sir,' the young officer remonstrated, 'the men have been so overworked in all this dirty weather one couldn't ask them to wash gloves.'

"'Melville took a pair of perfectly clean gloves from his pocket.

"'Here, wear these,' he said quietly. 'I washed these myself.'"

DIED WITH HIS DREAMS

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Not long since, a mute, inglorious philosopher, a possible Kant, Hegel, or Spencer, died in a New York Hospital. Many years ago he graduated from a tack factory to study philosophy in the classes of William James, the Harvard professor, who himself passed into the great beyond a year or so ago. Jas. B. Peterson, the tack man's name, had a morbid desire to absorb all systems of philosophy, ancient and modern. Professor James never had a more eager student, but, alas, when Peterson went out into the world he could not make a living! He was not content to go back to the tack factory, for he believed that he had within him the supreme message for mankind on the great problems. He could not waste his time in manual labor; it was his business, nay his duty, to reside in public and college libraries, overhauling learned tomes, ever accumulating knowledge, ever getting ready to write the book that would startle the learned world. But how was he to earn his bread? To his impractical, visionary soul other scholars owed him his living while he was engaged upon his life work. So, whenever he ran out of funds, he applied to Professor James or to Professor Marquand of Princeton, or to Richard Watson Gilder, the late editor of the Century Magazine. These three men, dreamers themselves, knew how to appreciate a brother dreamer; so between them they supported Peterson for many years. When James and Gilder died, Professor Marquand bravely and generously stuck to the task and provided the ex-tack maker with the wherewithal to meet his simple needs. So Peterson read on and on.

But a fatal illness fastened upon the spare frame of the old man. He was taken to the hospital, and in his delirium he kept talking about his magnum opus, that great work which he was now ready to complete.

"My magnum opus," he whispered, between struggles for breath, "ah, yes, it is in my room at the Mills hotel. It is half done, half done. A great work it will be—a surprising work. Yes, yes, beyond Spencer. Finish it in two weeks when I get out of here. All in manuscript now and all—"

But he died with these aspirations on his lips. Now he has come upon the great reality, that which is the absolute, the great secret which only dead philosophers can only know. But he has left behind him on earth other mute, inglorious philosophers. Nearly every librarian in this country could point out to you a peculiar snowy-haired philosopher of the Peterson type, who comes to the building every day, always sits in the same place and calls for the mustiest folios in the stock room. Years ago, in Toronto, I remember that every time I visited the Reference Library I found Peterson's double there, an unkempt, burly old gentleman who always came in at a certain hour, called for the same dry-as-dust commentaries, and settled down to his unbending task. That threadbare coat, that unshorn head, those steel spectacles, and the mysterious soul behind them filled me with pity. And yet, why should I have looked upon him with compassion? Even the starving philosopher feeds, perchance, upon more delicious banquets and sees more glorious visions than Dives or Rockefeller.

BASEBALL BENEFIT FOR PRIVATE PINEL

London Directors Grant Use of Tecumseh Park to the East End League.

TWO GAMES ON JUNE 29

Funds Received Will Be Devoted to Good Work of Making South African Hero's Lot Easier.

Mr. E. S. Shaw, secretary-treasurer of the East End League, has received word from President Samuel Stevely of the London Baseball Club, stating that the directors had unanimously decided to grant the use of Tecumseh Park on Saturday, June 29, for the purpose of transferring the league's games to the park as a benefit for Private Archie Pinel. The East End League officers will meet tonight for the purpose of completing the arrangements.

The action of the directors of the London team in granting the grounds is appreciated by all of those who have been interested in the worthy cause of assisting the unfortunate South African veteran. That the games will be well patronized and a considerable amount realized is reasonably certain. The teams will be the McClary and Hyman nines in the first game, and the Ramblers and Hydro teams in the second game. The London team will not be home all next week, and undoubtedly the amateur games will receive large patronage from the regular patrons.

BLANEY IS GUILTY, BUT WILL MAKE RESTITUTION

Stole $100 in Money and a Gold Watch From Railwaymen in This City.

Norman Blaney, a young man who was arrested at Carling's Heights on Saturday, where he was encamped with the Army Medical Corps, Toronto contingent, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Judd this morning to charges of stealing a gold watch from Percy E. Perrin, of the G. T. R. depot ticket office at London, and $100 in cash from Peter Inkster, G. T. R. crossing watchman at Adelaide street, this city.

Blaney offered to make restitution, and was remanded until Friday for sentence at his own request.

The watch and fob were left in a vest pocket hanging in the ticket office on the night of Feb. 15 by the owner, Mr. Perrin. During his absence, Blaney, who was then employed on the Grand Trunk was admitted to the office as he stated that he wanted to use the phone to learn from the east end offices how he "stood out." It was then that he slipped the timepiece from the vest pocket.

The theft of the hundred dollars from Mr. Inkster was committed in a similar manner. Blaney was left in the shanty by Mr. Inkster, who had occasion to go out for a moment. In the meantime Blaney went through his coat pocket's and removed the roll of money.

The prisoner stated today that the money is being sent up from Toronto, and that he is willing to make restitution if the court will consider this a mitigating circumstance.

DELEGATES IN CRASH.

Chicago, June 17. — More than 100 passengers, including several convention delegations from Georgia and a number of visitors to the convention were bruised and cut in a railroad accident this morning, when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train ran into several empty cars just outside the union passenger station. No one was seriously injured, and after receiving first aid from railroad physicians, the delegates and the other passengers went to their hotels.

LIBERAL CLUBS CO-OPERATING

In addition to the various Reform Associations throughout Western Ontario, a number of cities have Liberal Clubs, and the active co-operation of these is being sought by the London Liberal Club in making the Dominion Day demonstration a big success.

Secretary McEachren, of the Harriston Liberal Club, was in the city Saturday and assured the local committee that upwards of a hundred might be expected from Harriston, Palmerston and adjoining towns.

The Woodstock Liberal Club has been invited to join in the movement, and a meeting will be held there the middle of this week to discuss possible arrangements.

As the committee is extending a general invitation to the ladies to be present, this will be an additional inducement for out-of-town Liberals to attend in large numbers.

WINGHAM SOLDIERS ARE OFF TO GODERICH

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, June 17. — B Company of the Thirty-third Regiment left today for Goderich, where it will go under canvass for two weeks. The company was composed of 37 privates and three officers, Capt. G. A. Vanstone being in command, assisted by Lieuts. Sinclair and Campbell. The men have been drilling steadily and are certain to make a fine showing.

Mayor George Spotton is ill at his home here with a slight attack of fever. Mr. King, of London, is looking after the schools in Mayor Spotton's absence.

A large crowd witnessed a fast game of baseball between the high school and factory nines, in which the former won by a score of 8 to 7. Ummpire McLean gave every satisfaction. The band was in attendance and rendered a fine programme. The teams lined up as follows:

High School—Johnston, catcher; Geddes, pitcher; Buchanan, first base; Wilson, second base; Treleaven, third base; Day, shortstop; Haines, centre field; Elliott, left field;; Hamilton, right field.

Quite a number of people took advantage of the I. O. O. F. excursion to Detroit, taking the train to Goderich, and then the steamer Greyhound to the City of the Straits.

The employees of the local factories took up a subscription for Mrs. Thornton, who lost her husband recently.

The second artesian well which is being drilled is now at a depth of 180 feet. Mr. Davidson expects a good flow of water pretty soon.

The water mains which are being put down on Francis and Edward streets are about completed and will be finished this week.

The Children's League of the Methodist Church was held yesterday. All the little girls carried flowers, which were placed around the pulpit. Special music by the choir was given, and the services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Rivers, of Ripley. Quite a number of flowers were given to the hospital, and also to houses where there are sick people.

Flower day was celebrated in the Baptist Church, and the services were conducted by Rev. G. V. Collins. After the evening service a large number of flowers were sent to the hospital for the patients.

Mrs. P. Chevalier and daughter Idele, of Maple Creek, Sask., are the guests of Mrs. Chevalier's sister, Miss N. Wade.

The Seaforth football team came here recently and were beaten by a score of 2 to 0. The Wingham boys have the cup in view, and are getting into trim for the Brucefield team, who are going to try them this week.

Miss Flaherty and Miss Lloyd, two young ladies who were hurt in the runaway recently, are recovering nicel.

Mrs. Wm. Sneath is still in the hospital, but is doing nicely.

LABOR DEPT. RETURNS

Disputes Throughout Canada Showed Considerable Increase During May.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, June 17.—Returns issued by the Labor Department show that disputes in Canada increased considerably during May, but that conditions compare favorably with the corresponding month last year. There were 29 strikes reported, compared with 19 during the preceding April and 14 during May of last year. About 200 firms and 4,000 employees were involved, the loss of time to employees being approximately 60,000 working days, compared with a loss of about 150,000 during the preceding month and 299,400 during May of last year. Many of the disputes were due to failure to reach new agreements and were of short duration.

MARRIED TO A TURK

[By Winnifred Black.]

(Copyright 1912.)

Miss Margery Somebody Something, of Devonshire, England, has fallen in love with a Turk and run away and married him, and now she's gone to Turkey to wear a veil and anklets, and live in a harem, and learn to like sweetmeats flavored with perfume, and be a real harem heroine. How romantic—for a few weeks!

The Turk is a very handsome Turk and very well educated—and, oh!, he did make such desperate love—said he'd die if Margery Somebody Something didn't marry him right then and there—gave her rubies as big as pigeon's eggs and emeralds the size of thimbles, and he fairly hung her in diamonds the very week they were married.

And then—he's so divinely jealous—almost died of fury when the waiter asked her what she would order next, and threatened to commit murder if she allowed her own first cousin, who had been brought up in the same house with her, ever to speak to her again. Delicious, delightful, glorious—for a few minutes.

But afterward?

Poor little Margery Somebody Something. I wonder how long it will be till she will give all the emeralds in Turkey to see one honest English face, and how long will it take her, I wonder, to hate the very sight of anklets and to wish she had never been born, when she has to sit on a cushion and smile at the antics of a greasy bedizined dancing girl, who makes perfectly shocking eyes at the handsome Turk right before her very eyes?

Life in a harem? How romantic it does sound—fountains, bulbuls, black slaves, the clash of anklets, the swish of tinselled veils. But how stupid, how wearingly, maddeningly stupid it must be after the first twenty-four hours.

No one to talk to but the handsome Turk, and he doesn't care much to hear women talk, thanks. No papers to read, no books, no friends, no travelling, nothing but sweetmeats and veils and perfume and—the Terrible Turk.

Mystery, seclusion, secrecy—how well they sound in a book, and what a bore they always are in real life. Mysterious people are never clever people, they are just dull and very often cruel, that's all.

The dark flashing eyes that are so alluring before marriage can become a frightful nuisance after the wedding ceremony if they never do anything but flash. And, putting everything else aside, oh, Margery Somebody Something, didn't you realize in the least the terrific effect of centuries of absolutely different training?

Why, it's hard enough to get over the fact that your husband likes hot biscuits when you like "light bread," as he will persist in calling it, though everyone knows or should know that bread is bread, and biscuit biscuit. It's difficult enough to get on with a Westerner who is always finding some excuse for "shedding" his collar, if you happen to be New England born and want every stick in the woodpile as straight as a string.

Put to marry a man of different nationality, different training, different ideals, even different taste in clothes, and quite, oh, quite, different notions of the proper thing to eat for breakfast, is a much more serious matter.

Oh, little Miss Margery Somebody Something, my heart fairly aches for you this very hour, it does, indeed!

What are you doing now, pray tell? Having paint an inch thick smeared all over your face, fresh English complexion to please your lord and master? That's what he is over there, you see; not just a plain husband, but a lord and master.

Are you begging him humbly to let you go out with a eunuch for a toddle—just a little pitiful, veiled, swaddled toddle—in a walled garden somewhere, where you can't see a soul but the old toad who lives under the great red-flowered bush by the water gate?

Is your mother-in-law living with you in the harem, and how many favorites are there there now? None, and you reign alone?

Well, it's early yet, and you are, they say, very pretty; you haven't cried all the blue out of your poor eyes yet—poor thing; poor, little, foolish thing.

Little Miss Margery Somebody Something, tell us, pray, what do you expect, and why in the name of common sense do you expect it?

You are as foolish as the man I know who has just married a little goose of a flirt just because she has pretty hair and a dimple, and who is beginning to blame her for not knowing what he means when he talks about the "higher destiny of man."

How ever did any of us get the idea that it was? That's what always puzzles me.

A WALL MOP.

A mop of cheesecloth strips, an inch and a half wide and eight inches long made fast to a light handle is the best thing for keeping a papered wall clean. Brush the paper well with it twice a month. Every spring and fall mix cornstarch, whiting and powdered Fuller's earth to equal parts, dip the mop into the powder, and rub walls and ceiling well with it. Then shake all powder from the mop, cover it with a damp flannel. Go all over the wall again, wiping in long straight strokes.

CORRESPONDENCE

Edited by Cynthia Grey.

Her Best Friend Is Mother.

Dear Miss Grey: I have never written to you before, so could you please answer these questions for me? 1. I would like to get my best friend a birthday present. My friend is my mother. What do you think she would like? 2. I am fifteen years old, and the other girls my age tease me because I have not got what they call a "fellow." Mother says that I should not talk about such silliness yet. What would you advise me to do or say to them, because they often hurt my feelings with things they say about me. 3. I have spots come out on my face, which is very disagreeable. What would you put on them? I am too young to use powder and paint on my face, am I not? 4. I have dark brown eyes and hair, and a light complexion. What are my colors? Thanking you in advance, I remain. Yours truly, LAURA.

A.—1. How about a photograph of yourself, surrounded by a neat little frame? A nice box of stationery for her own personal use would doubtless be acceptable. Or a bottle each of cologne water and her favorite perfume, would make a dainty gift. 2. Little girl, I should like to shake hands with you for realizing that your mother is your best friend. I wish every girl of your age who reads this page had as much sense as you on the "boy" question. I know it is not pleasant to be thought different from the others, but endeavor to keep on feeling that you are in the right, and then you should not have any difficulty in knowing how to answer them if they tease. 3. These blemishes are undoubtedly caused by impure blood, and I really think you should get a tonic from your doctor. Remedy the trouble from the inside, and by all means do not try to conceal the spots with paint, as that is apt to produce much worse results later on. 4. Copenhagen and King's blue, and dark brown.

Going to New York.

Dear Miss Grey: Noticing the queries in your column, we too, would like to ask you one or two things that trouble us. 1. I am going away for my vacation to New York State, and for summer wear must choose between a raincoat and a linen one. Which would be most convenient for me to get? 2. I have fair hair, medium complexion, and blue eyes. What colors should I wear? 3. My friend has dark brown hair, gray-brown eyes and medium fair complexion. What are her colors? 4. I have a blue silk dress and wish to wear a lace hat with it. Am I too big to wear a hat in bonnet style? I am fifteen. 5. Does the use of cocoa butter cause hair on the face? 6. My friend's mother does not wish her to wear corsets until she is at least sixteen. Do you think it advisable to wait that long? She is fourteen. 7. I was at a dance one night last month, and while there one or two boys asked me to dance and when I said yes, they said "Never mind." I felt hurt. Do you think they did it to tease me? Hoping you will excuse us for our very long letter, and answer our rather lengthy questions as soon as possible. Yours truly, TWO CHUMS.

A.—1. I should judge that the raincoat might prove the most useful. 2. Almost any color except red should be becoming. 3. Grayish browns would doubtless be favorable colors. 4. No. 5. Yes. 6. I think your friend's mother is right. A girl invariably has much better health in later years if she is not cramped too early in life by a corset. I presume she is wearing a hygienic waist of some variety. People's opinions differ very much upon the corset question. Many women of 40, of excellent figure, have never worn corsets. 7. Quite probably, but I cannot say.

Aids to Tourists

Those who are contemplating a trip abroad this summer and desire to save expense will find the following hint of great help:

When touring from place to place it often becomes a difficult matter to have laundry done properly.

It may be washed in your rooms, and as it does not require ironing, it saves expense. Combinations, night gowns and blouses, all may be made of cotton crepe.

If you follow this suggestion you will not regret having done so.

Troublesome Pronouns

We have all been told, "This is strictly between you and I," and have writhed under the confidence. We have overheard some super-elegant person say, "He saw she and I," but this was an extreme case. Why "I" should be considered more refined than "me" is hard to understand, but, possibly, it is a revolt against the expression. "Me and him was doing so and so," which is heard among those who make no pretense of speaking correctly—who, in fact, are unaware there are differences of speech.

To this latter class belong the peasantry whose grammatical errors have grown into a dialect, and who, instead of being nerve racking, are curious and amusing. Following is the evidence of a Somersetshire peasant, in a certain trial, which resulted in a verdict for manslaughter: "He'd a stick and he'd a stick, and he hit he and he hit he, and if he'd hit he when he hit he, he'd ha killed he and not he he."

A foamy omelet is easily made, taking one egg for each person to be served and adding an extra one or two for good measure. Beat the yolks of the eggs well, adding pepper, salt and a tablespoon of milk for each egg yolk. Then beat the whites of the eggs until they are stiff enough to turn the plate inside down, fold them quickly into the yolks and put in a frying pan, already hot, with melted butter in it.

Get large, firm tomatoes and cut the centres out, replacing them with bread crumbs, a bit of green pepper, a little onion, salt and pepper. Put them in a baking dish with a little water and let them bake until soft.

The lettuce may be served with French dressing and with crackers and cheese as an adjunct.

Buy from the bakery a round sponge cake (they are very inexpensive) and split it in the middle, fill in with mashed strawberries and powdered sugar, together with a layer of whipped cream. Spread more berries and cream on top, and you will have a delicious dessert.

Favorite Recipes

Individual batter puddings steamed in cups are never more delicious than at this season, when they can be served with strawberry sauce.

Batter Puddings.

Sift a pint of flour with two rounded teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Repeat the sifting once or twice. Then rub through the mixture a teaspoonful of butter and add a little milk, enough to make a batter of the consistency of soft biscuit. Butter little custard cups and lightly dredge with sugar. This fine sprinkling of sugar over the butter will, when the puddings are turned out, give them a fine glazed surface. Put a big spoonful of the dough into each cup. Steam the little puddings for twenty minutes, taking care not to look at them during that time nor to disturb them in any way. Do not let the water under the steamer cease to boil for a minute. It should keep up a constant boiling.

Strawberries may be stirred into the batter before cooking if desired. In that case an ordinary hard sauce may be preferred in place of a strawberry sauce. Raisins or preserved cherries, or in fact any preserved or fresh fruit, may be used if preferred.

Strawberry Sauce.

For a strawberry sauce cream a cupful of sugar with half a cupful of butter and stir in mashed strawberry pulp to make a bright red mixture. Some palates will prefer a cupful of berry pulp for every cupful of sugar and half cupful of batter. If the berries are sour, more sugar in proportion will have to be used. The juice of preserved or canned cherries makes a sauce that is suitable when cherries are cooked in the pudding.

Sweet Omelet.

For this dessert a delicate sweet omelet is spread before folding with a strawberry mixture prepared as follows: Mix two ounces of powdered sugar with a pint of very ripe strawberries. Add a teaspoonful of vanilla essence and two tablespoonfuls of water. Mix all well together and let the mixture stand for fifteen minutes. After spreading over the omelet and folding, let it stand for just half a minute and turn it out on a hot dish. Sprinkle two tablespoonfuls of sugar over the omelet and glaze the surface with a salamander.

The following is a famous French chef's way of preparing an omelet to use with this strawberry filling: Break eight fresh eggs into a bowl. Add a half a gill of cream, two saltspoonfuls of salt and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Beat the whole briskly for two minutes. Heat half an ounce of butter in a frying pan and turn the eggs into it. Beat them with a fork for about two minutes and then let them rest half a minute.

It is a good plan to use only part of the berries in the omelet and serve the rest as a garnish around it.

Fruit Fritters.

A batter that is good for fresh fruit fritters calls for one pint of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one of sugar, one of cream of tartar, with half a teaspoonful of soda, one egg, half a pint of milk and one tablespoonful of olive oil. Sift together the flour, cream of tartar, soda, salt and sugar. Add the egg, after beating it light, to the milk, then stir them into the flour and other dry ingredients. When the batter is light and smooth stir the oil into it and it is ready for use.

EASY INK ERASER.

A blot of ink on your paper may be easily removed by means of one of those little emery cardboard strips that are used for manicuring the nails. Just rub it lightly over the ink after blotting carefully, and it will remove every trace yet leave the paper in good condition.

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

WOMEN AND WAR

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

We women teach our little sons how wrong
And how ignoble blows are; school and church
Support our precepts and inoculate
The growing minds with thoughts of love and peace.
"Let dogs delight to bark and bite," we say;
But human beings with immortal souls
Must rise above the methods of the brute
And walk with reason and with self-control.

And then—dear God! You men, you wise, strong men,
Our self-announced superiors in brain,
Our peers in judgment, you go forth to war!
You leap at one another, mutilate
And starve and kill your fellow men, and ask
The world's applause for such heroic deeds.
You boast and strut; and if no song is sung,
No laudatory epic written in blood,
Telling how many widows you have made,
Why, then, perforce, you say our bards are dead
And inspiration sleeps to wake no more.
And we, the women, we whose lives you are—
What can we do but sit in silent homes
And wait and suffer? Not for us the flare
Of trumpets and the bugle's call to arms—
For us no waving banners, no supreme,
Triumphant hour of conquest. Ours the slow,
Dread torture of uncertainty each day;
The bootless battle with the same despair,
And when at best your victories reach our ears,
There reaches with them to our pitying hearts
The thought of countless homes made desolate
And other women weeping for their dead.

O men, wise men, superior beings, say,
Is there no substitute for war in this Great age and era? If you answer "No,"
Then let us rear our children to be wolves,
And teach them from the cradle how to kill.
Why should we women waste our time and work
In talking peace, when men declare for war?

Homey Hints

TO REMOVE RUST.

Keep a piece of coarse sandpaper near the kitchen sink and use to scrape bottoms of cooking utensils. It will also remove rust from irons, knives, or burned grease from top of steel range.

HANDY TO RIP.

A busy sewer will find a steel crochet hook quite as good as a patent ripper for pulling out bastings.

PREVENT TEARS.

To prevent tears in children's underwaists where the garters are fastened, stitch a stout tape from the armhole down to the first button; slip on a brass ring, then fold the tape and stitch back to armhole. Then fasten pins to this ring.

STOPS CURDLING.

If a tablespoonful of sweet milk is added to each yolk of egg when making custards, the mixture will not curdle when added to the boiling milk.

PROTECT DRESSES.

Use old night gowns to cover your best dresses when hung in a closet. This method will prevent lint or dust from getting on garments.

CLEANING A PERCOLATOR.

When the perforations in a percolator become clogged, the coffee requires more time to cook and is apt to be muddy-looking. Use a teaspoonful of oxalic acid crystals to a pint of water, and let it percolate about 20 minutes. Then clean with a stiff brush. Lye or any gritty substance cannot be used on aluminum.

WHEN CREAMING POTATOES.

Cut them cold; then sprinkle generously with flour and mix all together. Add the amount of cold milk desired, and put all on the fire to cook. As it heats, stir gently. It will thicken without lumps and be smooth and creamy. This does away with the disagreeable task of making thickening and the whole is completed in half the time and with half the work.

The same method may be used when frizzling beef or creaming turkey, chicken or codfish. The same principle applies when making cocoa. It is not necessary to melt the cocoa before adding it to the milk if you put the ingredients together before heating.

A Mignonette Tree.

Few mignonette lovers appear to realize that a plant of this so fragrant flower may be preserved from year to year until it becomes a little tree.

You take a strong plant from seeds sown in the month of April, put it in a pot all alone, and whenever and wherever it attempts to show a blossom nip it off without remorse.

At the end of September or the beginning of October cut off all the bottom shoots to make it look like a tree; move it into a larger pot, and put it in the greenhouse. Water it regularly and keep it moderately warm.

Dainty Slippers for This Year's June Bride

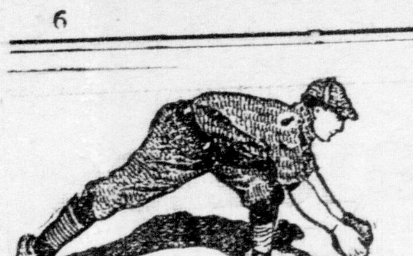

Every girl who is preparing her trousseau must think of the bridal accessories.

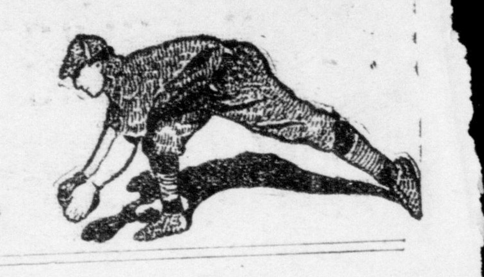

Sometimes the picking of the slippers and the question of their ornamenting is really more tiresome than choosing the style of the wedding gown itself.

Three pairs of slippers are given here as suggestions to the girl who is still trying to make up her mind. Two pairs are made of white satin with pearl and crystal beads. The third pair, also of white satin, have rosettes of tulle into which single orange blossoms have been deftly fastened.

The Tecumsehs Had Little Difficulty In Taking Second Game From Petes

MATT HYNES HEAVED SHUT-OUT BALL AND INDIANS BEAT PETES

Palmerston Puzz'e Was in Fine Working Order and He Held Tailenders to Three Hits—Cocash's Fielding Was the Feature of the Game.

Matthew Hynes, Esq., who is doing his best to make Palmerston famous, was in a rollicking mood on Saturday, and delighted himself by making some of the hired men employed by "Old Folks" Templin to play baseball for Peterboro look as harmless as a deaf and dumb lady at a meeting of militant suffragettes. He took them in his fair fist, and decorated them with the handsomest dose of kalsomine seen in London this season. In the meantime, the Tecumsehs garnered four runs off our esteemed but rather harmless old time friend, "Lefty" McDonald. There were fully 800 bugs and bugettes on hand in spite of the daily rain, and they seemed quite delighted at the fruitless antics of the blue stockinged gents from Peterboro.

MR. HYNES HURLED SOME.

As mentioned above, Mr. Hynes was quite the whole performance. The big boy's arm has been giving evidence of kinks and other ailments of late, and he has not been showing the form of the early season. However, the warm weather removed the uric acid, and then Matthew demonstrated something. He had everything that a real pitcher needs, curves, steam and almost perfect control. Templin's tossers were as putty in his hands, and but once during the scrap was he in danger. That happened in the eighth inning, when some plain and fancy foozling on the part of the Bowermanites put two on with one out. However, Matthew came across with the necessary stuff, and the Petes were shooed away from the plate.

COCASH'S SOME OUTFIELDER.

Of course, there were some stellar features, particularly on the part of the home folks. Mr. Cocash, who can pick a fly off the sun, imitated some of the catches that made Cobb famous. He covered several plantations and seemed to think the whole pasture was his particular preserve. It was a rare treat to see this boy work. His peg to third in the third inning to stop Nasher was some handsome toss. Benny Speer played the best game he has shown in London this year. He handled Hynes with rare judgment, and made the best of every opportunity. He hit well, and timely. Brant made some brilliant stops and throws. Bierbauer was the walloping lad, getting no less than three hits. He scored the first run and drove in the next pair with a screaming single.

"LEFTY" NOT TOO BAD.

"Lefty" McDonald pitched a right smart game, and should have looked better in the hit summary. Beard, who played centre a portion of the game, lost a couple of flies in the sun that scored runs. Templin replaced him, and the change worked an improvement. Nasher and Byrnes played brilliantly.

PETES HAD NO CHANCE.

Peterboro had no chance, one man getting to third base. It looked as if something would be doing in the first inning when with two down, Hynes dinted Beard's carcass and White beat out a hit to Lindeburn on a close decision. However, Barthold was an easy out. There was no danger in the second spasm, although Trout got a hit. In the third, Nasher led off with a fine slam to right. He stole second and Benny Speer made a bad heave to second. Nasher tried for the third station, but Cocash's fine peg beat him a city block, and he was an easy out. From that time to the eighth inning, the Petes could not get going. With one gone in the eighth, Powell dropped Nichols' assist on Templin. Beard shot one at Brant, and it looked like an easy double play, but Lineburn foozled the toss, and both were safe. It looked like a dangerous moment. White forced Beard at second, and the best Barthold could do was a fly to Brant.

SOME HEAVY HITTING IN FIRST.

The Bowermanites started out as if the game was going to be a regular slaughter. With one gone, Bierbauer slammed a double decker to centre, and Cocash repeated with another in the same direction, scoring Looey. Powell shot one like a cannon at McDonald, but he pulled it down, doubling Cocash at second. A pair were garnered in the third. Benny Speer shoved a single to left, and Matthew Hynes surprised the natives by pushing the pill to centre for two stations, Speer being held at third. Lindeburn could not help, but Bierbauer rescued the pair, by a sousing slam to right. Cocash hit into a double play, stopping the rally. Cocash was responsible for the last tally. In the sixth he forced Bierbauer, who hit to right field. Powell flew out to centre, and Nichols had two strikes on him when Cocash stole third. Trout's throw to get him was bad, and Cocash scored. Nichols could not rescue Powell.

After that there was nothing doing. The statistics are profitable reading today.

WITH TECUMSEHS ON THE WARPATH

Hynes is improving, and nothing in this league looked any better than the big boy from Palmerston did on Saturday. His curve ball was a wonder, and had the Petes completely at sea.

Cocash is playing brilliant ball at this moment, and few in some of the bigger leagues are showing anything on this lad. He is a great judge of a fly ball, throws well to bases, and is a dangerous hitter. "Coke" had a great day Saturday. His error was a bad throw made to first in a hurry after a marvelous catch. It was simply a piece of hard luck, and cost nothing.

Looey Bierbauer is hitting like a streak and is showing the form that made him the best hitter in this league last year. Te is fielding in brilliant fashion, too.

Three two-base hits out of seven shows how hard the boys were slamming the ball. Templin's good work in centre field saved anything worse.

Mr. J. Ira Davis, the umpire, made himself solid with the crowd, and there was little chance to dispute his decisions. He is quick and accurate and missed little. And still, the report is in circulation that he is going to be let out, because some of the disturbance makers in the league do not like him. Now, had London made a kick, he would likely have been left here all season, almost as Mr. Johnston was. We have a notion to raise the yell, so he would tarry. We like this lad.

After the third inning, Peterboro did not get anything that had the faintest resemblance of a hit off Hynes.

The Tecumsehs had but three men left on bases. The hit needed to chase them around was generally on hand.

Pitcher Reichman, the new twirler, worked out. The youngster looks good to the fans.

This man Beard looks to be a handy man to have around. He can play the infield well and is a fair outfielder.

Neale pulled off a funny one. In the seventh inning, he was the first man to bat, and hustled to the plate. He forgot that Lefty McDonald was warming up, and stuck his head over the plate. Lefty's pitch caught the big Londoner square on the head. Neale looked around to see what had mussed his vision, but appeared not to worry the slightest. Even Umpire Davis had to laugh.

That boy Trout is about as neat a catcher as has been seen in the Canadian League this year. He has it on Fisher, the Hamilton Spectator's favorite receiver.

Lindeburn was played at second although his hands and legs are in bad shape. Bowerman figured that he would do better than Fox, who is a left hand hitter, against McDonald. Lindy could not get one safe bingle, however.

Both teams lost a lot of money on account of the rain. The diamond was in good shape in spite of the rain, and was well and accurately played. The fans should look out for the ball opposite The Advertiser. When it is out there is certain to be a contest.

Lefty McDonald pitched four balls in the seventh inning, getting three men on long flies. The Tecumsehs took a smash at everything that looked to be over the plate.

"Old Folks" Templin has signed up with St. Thomas. He is far from being done as a ball player. As a manager, however, he did not shine as was predicted he would in certain quarters.

White, of Peterboro, got on three out of the four times he was at bat. Once he got a scratch hit, the next time he was safe on an error, and the third time he was safe on fielder's choice. The other time Cocash got his long fly.

Powell hit in hard luck on Saturday. Every one of his drives was a solid smash, but "Old Folks" Templin got him twice.

Four Londoners, Bierbauer, Cocash, Speer and Hynes, did all the hitting for the team. Looey got nearly half the bingles.

Stolen bases were scarce, the only pilfer going to Nasher. Trout's arm looked too dangerous to take liberties with.

WASHINGTON TEAM ARRIVES HOME AFTER RECORD TRIP

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—The Washington American League Baseball Club got home today from its western tour of sixteen straight victories. Walter Johnson, the pitcher, is ill, threatened with tonsolitis, and was ordered to bed. He will not be in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. A line of fans half a mile long today awaited the opening of the sale of seats for tomorrow's game, and at 10 o'clock three thousand reserved seats and all the boxes had been sold. President Taft and Vice-President Sherman, both enthusiasts, will attend the game. All official Washington promises to do the same.

As they are running the men are: George Bonhag, Abel Kiviat, Mel. Shepard and George Gissing. When they team in the relay event they are expected to shatter all existing records.

FROGLEGS WINS HAMILTON DERBY

Deluge of Rain Made Track Sea of Mud for Opening of Meet.

A RECORD ATTENDANCE

Crowd Welcomes Return of Books and Many Wagers Were Made—The Results.

Hamilton, June 15. — The Hamilton Jockey Club came into its own today when a record-breaking crowd turned out for the opening of its spring meeting at its remodeled racetrack. The extensive improvements made here were favorably commented on by the big delegation that came down from Toronto. The immense steel and concrete grandstand was found commodious and comfortable, and the management was complimented upon the wonderful change made since last season. In the new club house were gathered the elite of Hamilton society, the wide balconies presenting a scene of beautifully gowned ladies and well groomed gentlemen.

Forty layers were in line in the betting shed and speculation was keen. The public welcomed the return of the books and everyone found plenty of opportunity of placing and cashing their wagers promptly after each race was run. Interest in the afternoon's results naturally centred in the running of the Derby. John W. Schorr furnished the favorite in the Masetto colt Froglegs, who showed such good form at the Woodbine meeting. The colt was ridden by Jimmy Butwell, the Canadian rider.

It was the fifth renewal of the stake and four of the five previous winners were furnished by Canadian owners. August Belmont, whose Whilst won last year, was the only American that pulled down the prize. The other winners were Uncle Toby, Tourraine, Detective and Chief Kee.

When the Toronto specials arrived race followers were greeted with a deluge which came down in torrents The track, which had been good, became sloppy and handicappers were forced to change their dope

Bell Pitches a Great Game For Newark, But His Team-Mates Could Not Score.

Jersey City, June 16.—Toronto purchased the release of Catcher Bemis today, and the former Toronto player helped greatly to trim the Pests here by the score of 3 to 2.

WAIVERS ASKED ON TIGER VETERANS

Geo. Mullins and Eddie Summers Will Be Let Go by Detroit Club.

Detroit, June 16.—Waivers have been asked on George Mullin and Eddie Summers, two veterans of the Detroit pitching staff, the former being regarded as the equal of almost any in the league as short a time ago as last fall.

President Frank Navin of the Detroit club admitted last night that waivers had been asked on the two men. If no other big league clubs purchase the players will go to the minor leagues. Nothing has been learned as yet concerning the intended action of other major league club owners.

The new pitcher who is expected to join the Tigers soon is Harry Moran, captain of the 1912 Washington and Lee varsity team. He is a left-hander and his work this year has been sensational. He may arrive here early this week.

"OLD FOLKS" TEMPLIN RELEASED DAVEY ROWAN WILL MANAGE PETES

President Denham, of Peterboro Club, Believes That Team Needs a New Manager Before It Can Climb Out of Last Place—Templin Signs With St. Thomas.

[BY JINX.]

"Old Folks" Templin, who has been piloting the Peterboro Canadian League team on a losing streak since the beginning of the season, was released by President Denham, of that club, in London on Saturday evening, following the release. He has since been signed by the St. Thomas team, and will join Manager Stewart's aggregation today.

Davey Rowan, the new manager of the Peterboro team, was a big league player at one time. He last played with Joe Kelleiy's Leafs two years ago. He was formerly a southpaw pitcher, but occupied centre field for the Leafs. He umpired a Canadian League game at Hamilton last week, and has since been trying to land a berth with one of the Canadian League teams. It is likely he will play second base for the White Caps. Rowan's real name is Drohan, but since he started to play ball he has gone under the name of Rowan.

CURTIS ("OLD FOLKS" TEMPLIN.

defeat at the hands of the London club. In Templin's place, Davey Rowan, a former member of the Toronto International League team, has been appointed.

The release of Templin was thought advisable by the Peterboro club owners before the team could hope to get out of last place. For some reason or other "Old Folks" is blamed for the present position of the team in the race, and although he seems to have gathered a likely looking bunch who are going good now, the Peterboro owners thought a change of managers would do the most good to everybody concerned.

Reason Not Known.

It is not known whether Templin and the players were unfriendly or whether Templin had had some trouble with the management of the club. Templin himself claims that he has not been given a square deal by the club owners, and that when he has gathered a good team together another man will step in and get the credit for it. He departed for his home in Peterboro on Saturday evening, after notifying Secretary Robinson of his Petes Will Be Strengthened.

The White Caps will be strengthened considerably, and the club owners will make a big effort to pull the team out of last place. The team has been getting good support in Peterboro, but as yet it has not won a game on its home lot, winning all the games on the road. President Denham stated Saturday evening that the Canadian League was a fixture in Peterboro, and they were satisfied with everything except the present standing of the team in the league. With this remedied and a pennant-winning organization gathered together, Peterboro should be one of the best paying towns in the Canadian League.

KNOTTY LEE FINES PITCHER WALTER TEED

"Wild Walter" Wanted To Lick Manager of Kolts.

Berlin, June 16.—The second game of the series with Hamilton was postponed here yesterday on account of rain, and the Hams left for Ottawa. After the loss of Friday's game Manager Lee showed his displeasure in no unmistakable manner, directing his remarks mostly to Pitcher Walter Teed, who had allowed five men to walk and lost the game. Teed resented the statements made by Lee and threatened to fight it out. As a result of the threat, a fine of $50, it is alleged, was levied on Teed.

Manager Deneau let two more pitchers, who had failed to make good, return to their homes, Bartlett and Lester, leaving today. Cy Reddy, a Michigan infielder and catcher, and Connelly, released by Brantford, have been signed. Two more pitchers are expected to arrive early tomorrow.

Late season—In the free-for-all at Waverly, Ia., last week, Buck Muscovite had to go in 2:09¼ to win from Ella M., Reelroot, Lena May and Walter J.

Irish Lad, that Wirt Mallow is getting ready for the season, is said to be a wonder. If he develops anything like old Major Mallow, he certainly must be.

SEAL OF QUALITY

The Know-How of 24 Years

Do you realize that for nearly a quarter of a century Dunlop Bicycle tires have held the premier position the world over?

Before "Dunlop" came there were no tires at all—no pneumatic idea, no quick-detachable idea.

And there are no other bicycle tires—foreign-made or Canadian-made—about which the following can be said:—

Dunlop Bicycle Tires

1.—Made in the largest Bicycle Tire plant in Canada.
2.—Made-in-Canada and for Canadian roads.
3.—Made by the Dougl.. Patent Process—ensuring uniformity.
4.—Made with all the new Dunlop Special features (studs that prevent ..oping and give greater mileage).
4.—Made and kept in first position—bo.. as to quality and sales—since bicycling be..

See that your wheels are equipped wi.. Dunlop Tires.

The answer to those who want to sell you foreign-made tires is that distance lends uncertainty — not enchantment.

Dunlop Tires are sold by Bicycle Dealers Everywhere.

LONDON PAID MONEY TO LEAGUE BUT NOT AS A FINE, 'TIS SAID

Oil Poured On Troubled Waters of the Canadian League.

As a result of the meeting of the Canadian League officials and representatives of the teams held in Hamilton, the London club will pay the sum of $200 into the league treasury as a settlement in the ticket tangle of last season. Secretary Buzzell represented the London club at the meeting.

Way Out of Difficulty.

The London club objected strenuously to the fine of $50 levied upon them by President Fitzgerald, and by a vote of the representatives at the meeting the London club was cleared from the stigma of the fine, and the $50 was added to the amount due the other clubs. The $25 for alleged expenses was interpreted by President Fitzgerald to mean an amount due for the passes which admitted a gentleman and lady. No Canadian League passes will admit more than one person, and as many of those issued by the London management last season had "and lady" marked on them, the $25 was added to cover this.

A Friendly Meeting.

The meeting was a most friendly one, and everything is now running smoothly in the league. Secretary Robinson and President Fitzgerold were a trifle peeved at the remarks cast at them by The Advertiser, and wanted to know if the London directors could not prevent this. The London directors claim, however, that they have enough to do to look after their team without trying to edit newspapers.

The RING

WELLS TO FIGHT JOHNSON.

Rye Beach, N. Y., June 16.—Bombardier Wells, heavyweight champion of England, who is slated to box ten rounds with Al Palzer, the big white hope, at Madison Square Garden in New York on the night of June 28, is working hard at his training quarters here, and is already "fit as trout," as he expresses it. Wells was in condition when he reached this country, but he thought it advisable to take a couple of weeks' hard work in order to acclimate himself to the American living conditions. Wells is but little affected by the change of scene, and believes that he can fight as well in New York as in London.

"I am still anxious to fight Jack Johnson," said the husky young Briton. "I have always regretted that our fight in England was stopped by the authorities. I believe that I can give the negro a stiff battle, and I do not mean to boast when I say it. I only express it as my sincere opinion. I intend to whip Palzer decisively, if I can, and should I be fortunate enough to do so, I will regard it as an earned right to meet the title-holder."

WOLGAST IS FAVORITE.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 14.—Ad. Wolgast, holder of the lightweight title, will enter the ring a 10-to-6 favorite over Joe Rivers, the Mexican scrapper, at Vernon, on July 4. That was the opinion expressed here by sporting men today. In the betting now under way, Wolgast is favorite, but most of the betting is being done at 10 to 9. Some of Rivers' supporters demanded even money. Even money was offered and accepted that Wolgast would stop Rivers within fifteen rounds.

The champion and the Mexican are both hard at work training for the contest, and from present indications each will enter the ring at his best. Wolgast is supremely confident of holding his title, although Rivers is a sturdy youth, and packs a hard wallop as well as plenty of speed. He will extend himself to the limit to win.

PACKEY MATCHED WITH RANDALL.

Cincinnati, June 16.—Matchmaker Billy O'Brien, of the Price Hill Athletic Club, announced tonight that he had signed Packey McFarland, the Chicago lightweight title claimant, and Eddie Randall, a Philadelphia welterweight, to fight ten rounds here on July 3.

The bout will take place in the open air arena of the Hippodrome Park in the evening. This will be the first open air glove contest held in Cincinnati.

REFEREE CHOSEN FOR BIG FIGHT.

Las Vegas, N. M., June 15.—E. W. Smith, a Chicago sporting writer, today was selected referee for the Johnson-Flynn championship battle here on July 4. This decision was reached at a conference between Jack Johnson and Jack Curley, the latter representing Jim Flynn.

Curley also announced that the fight would be staged at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

HORSE TALK

Independence Boy is beating 2:10 these days, and looks to be in the best shape of his life.

Baron May, 2:07¼, is training at Dover, N. H., and is expected to make a trip down the line in the late season.

The Billings horses are taking kindly to their work at Moscow, and all of them have been miles in close to 2:10.

Yearlings by Morgan Axworthy are stepping along, one having been a half in 1:16, and another in 1:13½ at Lexington.

Shuffler, a green one by a son of The Director General is the boss pacer at Lexington, as he has been a mile in 2:10.

A Kentucky Belle, that was owned by L. C. Webb at one time, is doing well for Harvey Ernest at Rockport, having been a mile in 2:23.

Major Mallow is said to have been a half in a minute in training. The old fellow probably will be turned loose at some meeting during the week of July 4.

Prince K., 2:16¼, by Marblegrit, never looked like he does this spring. A slight attack of influenza caused a short letup in training, but he will be ready in a short time, and is certain to take a mark of 2:10 or better during the season, if the owners so elect.

When Heter B., 2:07¼, gets in the game in the Canadian circuit, it will be interesting to note the time of the races. They will not be taking any in 2:12 or slower from this gelding.

For a horse that had the advantage of early training in a warmer climate, St. Anthony is not holding his own with the northern bunch. Nothing like the cold of Canada for early speed.

Ethel Mc has celebrated her return to Canada by winning from a fair lot of trotters. She looked pretty likely the year before they turned her over to Murphy, but failed to get any good out of her.

Several of the Readville colony are moving to Rockingham Park at Salem, showing that the new grand circuit track must be a pretty good one. Bob Proctor is one of the emigrants from Boston.

Walter Cox has a couple of young things that may be up in the colt summaries this year. A bay colt 2 years old by Axworthy—Derby Princess, is showing 2:10 speed for an eighth, and a 3-year-old filly called The Decision, by The Exponent, dam by Sidney, has been a quarter in 32½ seconds.

Junior Watts is coming along nicely in his work, and has been a mile in better than 2:20, with the last half in 1:06.

Natoka, by Baron McKinney, out of the grand old Nettie King, is a very high-class 3-year-old, and Dickerson thinks she will be better than was Soprano at the age. She showed two-minute speed at the end of a mile in 2:18¼ at Lexington.

There will be a lot of old-timers in the fray this year. Gray Gem, Country Jay, Major Brino, Major Mallow are the swiftest of the veterans.

Billy Smith, named by Mackenzie in the Chamber of Commerce stake, pulled a cement wagon in Indiana before they knew that he was a flyer.

Adlon, formerly Dandy G., 2:29¼, as a yearling, is working well for Dickerson, having been a mile in 2:17½, last half in 1:05, and final quarter at a 2:06 clip. This one now is 3 years old, and is by Axworthy out of Dorothy T.

STRANGE STORY OF A WORKHOUSE

Woman Claiming Vast Riches Dies in an English Public Institution.

A DOCUMENT MISSING

Could Not Prove Her Claim, Although It Is Generally Believed.

London, June 14.—A romance of the Hackney Workhouse was disclosed yesterday at the inquest of Francis Mead, a widow of ninety-six, who died in absolute poverty although a claimant of a £500,000 fortune.

The old lady, who had been an inmate of the workhouse for the past eight years, died from the effects of a fall. She was a cousin of Mrs. Helen Blake, the widow of General Robert Dudley Blake, who died in 1876, without issue and intestate, leaving property now held by the Crown amounting to £360,000 realty and £140,000 personalty.

There were other claimants besides Mrs. Mead, who has gone begging for more than thirty years. She expected to secure at least £250,000 of this legacy, but a lost document stood between her and wealth.

Vain Hopes.

"The old lady was very hopeful at one time of proving her right to this fortune," said the master of Hackney workhouse. "That she was actually the cousin of Mrs. Helen Blake was as clear as daylight, but it could not be legally proved.

"One paper, and one paper only, was missing, which, she said, had it been found, would have proved beyond all doubt that she was a rightful claimant. This was the certificate of her birth in the remote Irish village where, 90 years ago, she remembered playing as a child with her cousin, Helen Sheridan.

"At the age of nineteen her cousin ran away to Scotland to be married to young Lieut. Blake, who when he died left her this fortune.

"This birth certificate was burnt or destroyed during the Irish rebellions last century, with many other registers of births, marriages and deaths, and so Mrs. Mead was never able to prove her claim. She came in here at the last, and many times since she has thought that the whole matter might be cleared up, and she would leave the workhouse."

Search for Heirs.

In May, 1876, after the death of Mrs. Helen Blake, the crown authorities advertised for any claimants to the property. They only gave the address, "Helen Blake, deceased, of 4 Earl's Terrace, Kensington," and did not mention Ireland. The advertisement was only published in London papers, but the relatives were all Irish people, and it is presumed that the legal notice never reached them there.

Nearly sixty years had even then passed since the romantic marriage of Lieut. Blake with Miss Helen Sheridan, the daughter of an obscure Irish schoolmaster.

Nine years ago some Australian claimants were found. One was Mr. Edward Gleeson, proprietor of a clothing store in Adelaide, but his claim was never established, and the fortune has remained in the hands of the crown.

Twizel Castle, Northumberland, by the side of the River Till, is one of the places included in the property left by Mrs. Blake. In the hollow close by is Twizel Bridge, mentioned by Scott in "Marmion," where he describes the march of the English "From Flodden Ridge."

Secret Service

By Cyrus Townsend Brady

"We were on the lookout for this man, and we spotted him pretty quickly. I gave orders not to search him, and not to have his clothes taken away from him, but to put him in with the others and keep the closest watch on him that was ever kept on a man. We knew from his coming in that his brother must be here in the city, and he'd send a message to him the first chance he got."

"But Jonas, how could he——"

"Easily enough. He comes down to the prison to sell things to the prisoners with other negroes. We let him pass in, watching him as we watch them all. He fools around a while, until he gets a chance to brush against this man Dumont. My men are keeping that fellow under close observation, and they saw a piece of paper pass between them. By my orders they gave no sign. We want to catch the man to whom he is to deliver the paper. He has the paper on him now."

"I will never believe it."

"It is true, and that is the reason for these men on the back porch that you see. I have put others at every window at the back of the house. He can't get away; he will have to give it up."

"And the man he gives it to will be the man you want?" said Mrs. Varney.

"Yes, but I can't wait long. If that nigger sees my men or hears a sound he will destroy it before we can jump in on him. I want the man, but I want the paper, too. Excuse me." He stepped to the back window. "Corporal!" he said softly. The long porch window was open on account of the balmy air of the night, and a soldier, tattered and dusty, instantly appeared and saluted. "How are things now?" asked Arrelsford.

"All quiet now, sir."

"Very good," said Arrelsford. "I was afraid he would get away. We've got to get the paper. If we have the paper, perhaps we can get the man. It is the key to the game they are trying to play against us, and without the man is helpless."

"No, no," urged Mrs. Varney. "The man he is going to give it to, get him."

"Yes, yes, of course," assented Arrelsford; "but that paper might give us a clue. If not, I'll make the nigger tell. How quickly can you get at him from that door, Corporal?"

"In no time at all, sir. It's through a hallway and across the dining-room. He is in the pantry."

"Well," said Arrelsford, "take two men and——"

"Wait," said Mrs. Varney. "I still doubt your story, but I am glad to help. Why don't you keep your men out of sight here and let me send for him here, and then——"

Arrelsford thought a moment.

"That may be the better plan," he admitted. "Get him in here, and, while you are talking to him, they can seize him from behind. He won't be able to do a thing. Do you hear, Corporal?"

"Yes, sir."

"Keep your men out of sight; get them back there in the hall, and while we're making alm talk, send a man down each side and pin him. Hold him stiff. He mustn't destroy any paper he's got."

The Corporal raised his hand in salute and left the room. The men disappeared from the windows, and the back porch looked as empty as before. The whole discussion and the movements of the men had been practically noiseless.

"Now, Mr. Arrelsford, are you ready?"

"Yes, ma'am."

Mrs. Varney rang the bell on the instant. The two watched each other intently, and in a moment old Martha appeared at the door.

"Did you all ring, ma'am?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Varney. "I want someone to send to the hospital."

"Luthah is out heah, ma'am."

"Luther? He's too small, I don't want a boy."

"Well, den, Jonas——"

"Yes, Jonas will do; tell him to come in here immediately."

"Yas'm."

"Perhaps you had better sit down, Mrs. Varney," said Arrelsford, "and if you will permit me, I will stand back by the front window yonder."

"That will be just as well," said Mrs. Varney, seating herself near the table, while Arrelsford, making no effort at concealment, stepped over to the window. Old Jonas entered the door just as they had placed themselves. He bowed low before Mrs. Varney, entirely unsuspicious of anything out of the ordinary until his eye fell on the tall form of Mr. Arrelsford. He glanced furtively at the man for a moment, stiffened imperceptibly, but, as there was nothing else to do, came on.

"Jonas," said Mrs. Varney, her voice low and level in spite of her agitation.

"Yes'm."

"Have you any idea why I sent for you?"

"Ah heahd you was gwine send me to de hossipile, ma'am."

"Oh, then, Martha told you," said Mrs. Varney.

While this little dialogue was taking place Mr. Arrelsford had made a signal, and the Corporal and two men had entered the room silently, and now swiftly advanced to the side of the still unobserving old negro.

"She didn't ezzactly say whut you——" he began.

The next instant the two men fell upon him. He might have made some struggle, although it would have been useless. The windows were instantly filled with men, and an order would have called them into the room. He was an old man, and the two soldiers that seized him were young. He was too surprised to fight, and stood as helpless as a lamb about to be slaughtered, his face fairly gray with sudden fear. The Corporal flung open the butler's faded livery coat, and for the moment Jonas, menaced now by a search, and knowing what the result would be, struggled furiously, but the men soon mastered him, and the Corporal, continuing his search, presently drew from the inside pocket a small folded paper.

"Jonas! Jonas!" cried Mrs. Varney, in bitter disapointment, "how could you!"

"I told you so," said Mr. Arrelsford truthfully, triumphantly, and most aggravatingly under the circumstances, taking the folded paper. "Corporal," he added, "while I read this, see if he has got anything more."

A further search, however, revealed nothing. Arrelsford had scarcely completed the reading of the brief note when the Corporal reported:

"That is all he has, sir."

Arrelsford nodded. The men had released Jonas, but stood by his side, and the Secret Service agent now approached him.

"Who was this for?" he asked sharply and tensely.

"Look here," continued the other, "if you don't tell me it is going to make it pretty bad for you."

The words apparently made no further impression upon the servant. Arrelsford tried another tack. He turned to Mrs. Varney, who was completely dismayed at this breach of trust by one who had been attached to the family fortunes for so many years.

"I am right sorry, ma'am," he said distinctly, "but it looks like we have got to shoot him."

"Oh!" cried Mrs. Varney at that. "Jonas, speak!"

But even to that appeal he remained silent. Arrelsford waited a moment and then said:

"Corporal, take him outside and get it out of him. String him up until he talks. But don't let him yell or give any alarm; gag him until he's ready to tell. You understand?"

The Corporal nodded and turned toward the hall door.

"Not that way," said Arrelsford; "take him to the back of the house and keep him quiet, whatever you do. Nobody must know about this, not a soul."

"Very good, sir," said the Corporal, saluting. He gave an order to the men, and they marched Jonas off silently and swiftly. Nothing that had been said or done had disturbed the women across the hall. Mrs. Varney glanced up at the unfolded piece of paper in Mr. Arrelsford's hand. He was smiling triumphantly.

"Was there anything in that?" she asked.

BRITISH IN CHARGE OF CITY OF TANGIER

But the Moroccan Metropolis Will Be Under International Control.

[Canadian Press.]

Gibraltar, June 17.—It is reported here on what appears to be good authority that Tangier will remain under international control, as determined by the Algeciras agreement, but that the British will be in direct charge. The intention is to remove the customs house beyond the city limits, and make Tangier a free port. The plan is regarded with favor here, as Gibraltar's business interests in Morocco are large and constantly increasing.

Spaniards in Gibraltar and vicinity look upon the plan with satisfaction, while the large Moorish colony here is wild with joy at the prospect. They prefer an English administration to any other.

PERSIAN RAILWAY ONCE MORE A PROBLEM

Anglo-Russian Legations Want Option For Line, Persia To India.

[Canadian Press.]

Teheran, June 17.—The Persian railway questions have now been revived in Teheran. The Anglo-Russian legations, on behalf of the Societe D'Etudes, whose headquarters are in Paris, have requested the Persian Government to give an option for the construction of a transportation line from Russia to India.

The powerful English syndicate, supported by the British Government, also is pressing for a concession from Mohammerah to Khorambad. This line would be a formidable competitor to the southern sections of the Bagdad Railway if linked with Teheran.

Russia also intends to undertake the construction of a line from Julfa to Tabriz, and thence to Teheran and Hamadan, and to link it with the Bagdad system at Khanikin.

Persia probably will grant concessions for all three projects, but the financial end of the trans-Persian is likely to prove exceedingly difficult.

WAITED TOO LONG BEFORE USING KNIFE

Noted English Surgeon Warns Against Wrong Impression As to Cancer.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 17.—Sir Felix Semen, writing to the London Times with reference to the Bell-Bashford libel action, points out the danger of permitting cancer to become too well established for successful surgical treatment. He declares emphatically that cancer commences as a purely local affection, and is not primarily a general blood disease. After a time, he says, the infectious material is carried into other organs of the body. If the case comes under observation then or afterward, the mere removal of the original tumor is doomed to failure.

"From this point of view it would be a great pity if the result of the recent libel action were to induce the belief that a treatment other than operative might first be tried, and that there is always time for the knife afterward. That is not so.

"In the whole course of my professional career, I remember nothing sadder than the numerous cases in which I have been consulted by patients suffering from cancer whose history pointed to the probability that a favorable chance had at one time existed, yet who lost the chance by waiting too long."

PICTURES FOR THE DUKE

Royal Party Want Souvenirs of Recent Visit.

Pictures of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught during their visit to London have been forwarded to Ottawa by City Clerk Baker. A request was received from Lieut. the Hon. A. Ramsay, aide-de-camp to the Governor-General, asking for some of the photos. Mr. Baker at once made a collection, including the welcome at the C. P. R. depot, the civic reception at the Normal School, the unveiling of the monument in Victoria Park, the royal party at Victoria Hospital, and a number of others of the visitors going through the city.

REBELION CRUSHED.

London, June 17.—The Peking correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports the suppression of a rising at Kung Chuling, 40 miles south of Kwan Chengtze in Manchuria. According to the dispatch Japanese adventurers were discovered distributing arms and ammunition. Many of the Chinese rebels were killed or wounded. Three Japanese were killed and thirteen wounded.

"Cured the Piles, That I Know"

There is no lack of evidence to prove that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a positive cure for piles. It is not pleasant to think of the dreadful suffering caused by this wretched disease, but it is satisfactory to know that there is a cure, for all who will avail themselves of it, in Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Dan Stewart, Gabarouse Lake, N. S., writes: "For about two years I had itching piles. Last summer I was working in a lobster factory, but had to give up and go home because the suffering from piles was so great. I was two weeks in bed, and my doctor could help me very little. One night I suffered such agony that I did not know what to do. Next day I wrote for a sample of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and this did me so much good that I ordered a large box, and was entirely cured by its use. That was six months ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a sure cure for piles. That I know."

SUM OF $844.93 FOR VICTORIA

A Bequest From the Estate of Late Letitia Curtis Is Received.

$10,000 NOW COLLECTED

Col. Gartshore Is Doing a Good Work in Raising Money for the Institution.

At a meeting of the hospital trust held on Saturday afternoon last, a communication was received from Mr. T. G. Meredith, K.C., executor of the estate of the late Letitia Curtis, who died last year, to the effect that by the terms of the will, the sum of $844.93 was given to the hospital authorities for general purposes. A check for the amount accompanied the letter. The donation was suitably acknowledged, and was placed to the credit of the general fund.

The trust was given authority to make certain alterations and additions to the infectious ward. Lieut.-Col. Gartshore, chairman of the hospital trust, has collected about $10,000 for the purpose of improving this portion of the hospital, and the city council have given the trust permission to expend the money on the buildings.

The tenders for coal were received, but were referred to Col. Gartshore and Mr. Geo. B. Harris to award.

A communication was received from the executive of the National Council of Women, thanking the trust for the hearty reception given during their visit to London. The letter was filed

LIFEBOAT RULES FOR LAKE BOATS

United States Regulation Calls for a Sliding Scale of Equipment.

Washington, June 16. — All ocean steamers entering American ports in future must be equipped with lifeboats sufficient to carry at one time every passenger and member of the crew, according to new regulations adopted by the steamboat inspection service and approved today by Secretary Nagel. In the case of coastwise, lake, bay and sound steamers, lifeboats for all aboard must be carried, except from May 15 to September 15, when for various reasons such travel is comparatively safe. During that period coastwise steamers must have life-saving capacity for at least 60 per cent of those on board; and lake, bay and sound steamers for at least 30 per cent. In the case of the latter class of vessels provision need be made for only 10 per cent of the passengers and crew if the boats do not get further than five miles from land, or do not navigate in waters deep enough to cover the vessel in cases of disaster.

River steamers are required to have lifeboat accommodation for 10 per cent or those aboard. A certain percentage of the lifeboat or raft equipment, varying with the class of vessel, must be approved by the steamboat inspection service.

LUCAN PRESENTATION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Lucan, June 17.—At the close of the prayer service in the Methodist Church and as the pastor, Rev. G. J. Kerr, had dismissed the meeting, Mr. S. C. Chown stepped to the front of the church and read an address to the retiring pastor and his wife, expressive of the spirit of goodwill that existed toward them, after which a gold-headed parasol was presented to Mrs. Kerr, and a gold-headed umbrella to Mr. Kerr, both of whom replied in very suitable terms.

Few men have come to Lucan that have carried away the goodwill of more people, and few women have occupied more places in the life of a church than this much-esteemed lady. Mrs. Kerr has been church organist for the greater part of the pastoral term, also an untiring worker in the W. M. S. and filled a large place in all church movements, while it may be said of Mr. Kerr that nothing was counted a sacrifice on his part that would further the interest of the church

AN INFERENCE.

When one reads of the stipends upon which some clergymen are condemned to live, one is tempted to suspect that the congregations which pay the stipends must be under the delusion that these clergymen have taken the vow of poverty.

LONDON CARPENTERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Important Meeting Held at Hamilton on Saturday.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, Ont., June 17. — The annual convention of the Ontario Union of the Brotherhood of Carpenters was held yesterday in the Labor Hall. Delegates were present from London, St. Thomas, Guelph, Galt, Toronto, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Ont., Welland and other places. There were about 50 in attendance. The main object of the conference was the discussing of living expenses in the various places represented and the equalization of wages to conform with local conditions in each town. The same wage scale has been in effect in places where living expenses were much higher than in other places. To meet these conditions, it was proposed to raise the wages in some places, while in others it would remain as at present. Delegates were appointed to the annual conference of the brotherhood, to be held in Washington in September next.

Woodruff Turns From Taft to T. R.

Chicago, June 16.—The beginning of the expected stampede to the Roosevelt side began last night, when Timothy L. Woodruff declared at a meeting of the New York delegation that 18 delegates from Brooklyn would follow him into the Roosevelt camp.

The New York delegation held a stormy session, precipitated by an announcement by Mr. Woodruff that he regarded the action of the national committee in deciding the Texas contests in favor of Taft as a "clear steal," and that it would make it impossible for the President to win the election.

"I made it," Mr. Woodruff said. "I mean it—and I say that if the Texas delegation is allowed to stand, President Taft is beaten. Roosevelt can be elected."

TRAINS WRECKED, TOWNS FLOODED IN NORTH ONTARIO CLOUDBURST

Terrific Electrical Disturbance Centering About North Bay Does Great Damage Sunday Morning—Freight Hurled Down Embankment by Washout.

North Bay, June 16.—The worst electrical storm in the recent history of Northern Ontario visited this section early this morning, beginning about 2 o'clock and continuing, accompanied by cloudbursts, until 5. The crashing thunder shook the buildings like cards. The house of John Brennan was struck by lightning, which passed down the chimney and showered the occupants with plaster from the ceilings. Streets and cellars were flooded, and many gardens ruined. Mrs. Brousseau and her son, living in a small house on Harvey street were flooded out, and were rescued by neighbors through the windows. A horse imprisoned in a stable was only rescued after the water reached the neck of the frightened animal.

Two Washouts.

Two washouts occurred on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. The Canadian Pacific was also troubled with washouts, one occurring near the town of North Bay, which engulfed a freight train and ditched several cars, without injury to the trainmen. Haag's circus train, passing north to Porcupine, was caught in the storm, and the roaring, frightened animals gave the employees an anxious time.

The streets of North Bay in the west end presented a unique appearance this morning, with houses surrounded by water and people using hastily improvised rafts to navigate. In the country section many barns were destroyed and much damage done to crops.

Fifteen miles from North Bay, on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway a freight train was hurled down a 25-foot embankment by a cloudburst, the engine and nine cars being piled up in a promiscuous mass of wreckage, rendered more dangerous to the trainmen by the flying logs with which some of the cars were loaded. Engineer Newman was badly hurt, having a broken shoulder, cut face and other injuries. He is now in North Bay Hospital. Brakesman Fill and Fireman Sirous received minor injuries.

BRAZEN THIEVERY SAYS ROUGH RIDER

Addresses Vast Crowd in Streets of Chicago and Declares He Will Win.

Chicago, June 16. — As he stood on the balcony of his hotel and made a brief address to a throng which blocked all traffic on Michigan Boulevard for half an hour Saturday night, Col. Roosevelt made the so-called "thefts" of the Republican national committee the topic of his remarks.

Col. Roosevelt appeared to be in fine fettle and to thoroughly enjoy being on the battleground in person. The streets from the station to the hotel were lined with people, and many hundreds of the more enthusiastic among those crowded about the automobile, making progress both slow and dangerous to the unheeding pedestrians.

The band which led the way kept up a continuous crash of music, while the two in the rear were equally busy. The tune that was most in favor was the battle song of San Juan Hill, and Santiago. "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." When the vast throng in front of his hotel was clamoring for the colonel to appear and make an address the band played "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here." "Everybody's Doing It Now" was not neglected, but made up the third of the trio of welcoming airs.

Honesty vs. Dishonesty.

"Chicago is a bad place for people who steal," said the colonel, when the cheers which greeted his appearance had subsided. "California's 26 votes were cast for us at the primaries, and will be counted as such. Look at that sign over there.

"The people will win," he continued. "We have won in every state where the people could express themselves, three to one, and sometimes eight to one. They are stronger with us now than they were then."

"Illinois is with you!" shouted someone from the street.

"Yes," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "we have Illinois' 56 votes, too. Many more are with us who were not with us at the time of the primaries, because men will not tolerate brazen theft. They refuse to sanction robbery."

PARKHILL.

Parkhill, June 17.—Mrs. William Jansen, of Port Huron, is here visiting her sister, Miss Mary McMillan.

Mr. J. H. McKenna, who was in the butcher business all year, has resumed his former occupation of driving the mail wagon between Strathroy and Parkhill.

Miss Mary McMillan, who lost her house and her effects by fire a few days ago, wishes to thank all who contributed towards aiding her.

Mr. Lachlin Steele's barn-raising was a success from start to finish. Everything went together fine and nobody hurt.

Mr. James McKay, who has been ill for some time, is much improved.

GOLD DIVINER.

Vienna, June 14. — A woman water diviner, who also has the gift of locating naphtha springs and gold and silver deposits, has been discovered. She has made several extraordinary finds recently, and there has been a rush to secure her services.

An association of petroleum well owners made her an offer this week of a large sum to give them her exclusive services, but she has accepted another offer from an American multi-millionaire to go to the United States on his behalf.

LIGHTNING REVEALED DARING SAFEBLOWERS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Blenheim, June 16. — Two unknown men made a daring but unsuccessful attempt to blow the safe in the local postoffice shortly after two o'clock this morning. As Night Constable Earl was going his rounds a flash of lightning revealed the men in the office. The constable saw them quite plainly, through the window, but the same flash revealed the constable to the men. A duel with pistols immediately commenced, but the men finally made their escape after a number of shots had been fired.

Investigation in the postoffice showed that soap had been placed around the keyhole, and the men were apparently just about to pour in the nitroglycerin, when they were disturbed. Police all through the district have been notified.

RIDGETOWN GIRL WAS FATALLY BURNED

Margaret Baker's Clothes Caught As She Was Putting Paper In Furnace

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ridgetown, June 16. — Margaret Baker, aged 6, was burned to death today at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, of Cunningham avenue.

At ten o'clock she went to the basement to burn some paper in the furnace, which is supplied with natural gas. She placed the paper on the grate, turned on the gas and lit a match. There was an explosion, and the flames ignited her clothing, and burned the girl so seriously that death ensued about three hours later.

WORK AMONGST THE SHANTYMEN

Mr. Wm. Henderson Told of Carrying the Gospel to the North.

Mr. William Henderson, superintendent of the Shantymen's Christian Association, which was organized about four or five years ago for work in the big railway and lumber camps of the north and west, delivered sermons in which he spoke interestingly of the work of his organization at Maitland Street Baptist Church yesterday morning, and at Colborne Street Methodist Church in the evening.

Mr. Henderson stated that there are now five workers in the Shantymen's Association, but there is need for a great many more. His missionaries are in practically every instance kindly received in the northern camps, men of all nations being anxious to hear the gospel preached. The Finlanders alone show their indifference, and very often continue with their card games during religious services, at which all others reverently attended. There are a great many Catholics in the lumber and railway camps, said Mr. Henderson, at Maitland Street Church, and these very often received the missionaries into the camps with more cordiality than Protestants.

Money, he said, is easily made in the north, but is spent freely, chiefly on liquor. This fact is emphasized when it is shown that the banks in Sudbury paid out $36,000 to lumbermen last season, and received $32,000 back in deposits from the saloonkeepers within a comparatively short time.

ACCOUNTS SHORT.

Milestone, Sask., June 15. — Jack O'Brien, grain buyer for the North Star elevator at Yellow Grass, has been arrested for the alleged embezzlement of from four to five thousand dollars, to which extent his accounts have been found short. He was taken to Regina.

KILLED BY SAND FLIES.

Rostern, Sask., June 15.—Sand flies have caused the death of many horses and cattle here and at Duck Lake. Twenty horses have been killed at Duck Lake by these insects.

REV. DR. SPARLING TAKEN BY DEATH

WAS BORN IN ONTARIO

Great Methodist Churchman's Early Days Were Passed in Vicinity of Perth.

Winnipeg, June 16.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Walter Sparling, principal of Wesley Methodist College, Winnipeg, died this afternoon after a few days' illness resulting from a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been principal of Wesley College since 1888, and being a man of powerful personality, had exerted wide influence in the religious and educational life of Western Canada.

He was born at Blanchard, Perth County, Ontario, in 1843, and was educated at St. Mary's High School and Victoria University, then situated in Cobourg, from which he was graduated as an M. A. in 1874. He took the degree of Bachelor of Divinity at Northwestern University, Illinois, in 1871, and the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1889.

In 1871 Dr. Sparling married Miss Susan W. Kerr, and subsequently held several important pastorates. He declined the principalship of Stamstead Wesley College, but a year later, in 1881, went to Winnipeg as principal of Wesley College there. Dr. Sparling had played an important part in the history of Methodism in Canada, and at various times was financial secretary of the general conference, chairman of the Montreal conference, president of the Manitoba conference, and in 1898 president of the Northwest conference.

Dr. Sparling was as well a member of the board of education of the church, and a councillor of Manitoba University.

MR. FRED J. ANDREWS DIED ON SUNDAY M'NG

Well Known in London as a Gentleman's Furnisher.

Mr. Fred J. Andrews, proprietor of Andrews' Toggery, at 217 Dundas street, died at his residence at the same address Sunday morning after an illness of several months.

Mr. Andrews, who was born in Kingston, Ont., spent his childhood at that place, but afterward removed to Colorado, where he resided for twenty years. About five years ago he came to this city and established a gents' furnishing business. While he had been in poor health for some years, he found it necessary to undergo a serious operation at Toronto about three months ago. He was in his 62nd year.

Mr. Andrews is survived by one son, Leonard Andrews, of Toronto; one daughter, Miss Gladys, of Toronto; one brother, Edwin S., of Toronto, and three sisters, Mrs. F. G. Allen and Mrs. W. H. Beattie, of Vancouver, and Mrs. J. E. Chamberlain, of Toronto.

The remains were forwarded to Toronto today by Smith, Son & Clark, and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the residence of his nephew, Dr. Fred Watts, of Rosedale, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery there.

SUNDAY CONCERTS ARE POPULAR

In Spite of Rain, a Large Crowd Was in Victoria Park.

The band concert in Victoria Park was largely attended on Sunday evening in spite of the bad weather. It rained early in the evening, thus keeping down the attendance. Later, however, it cleared up, and a good crowd was present. The programme was furnished by the First Hussars' Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Pococke. It was one of the finest of the year, and created much enthusiasm.

It is estimated that 5,000 people were present.

SAVED FIFTEEN LIVES; GETS ONE REWARD

Young Englishman Rescues Drowning Boy in Harbor at Picton.

Picton, June 14.—Doris Blakley, 11 years old, son of Mrs. E. Blakley, of Lake street, was rescued from drowning off Hepburn's wharf. Wm. Beasley, a young Englishman, working on the steamer Geronia, was the hero of the occasion. Mrs. Blakley made a presentation of a watch guard to Beasley for his rescue work.

The gift brought out the knowledge that Beasley had on other occasions rescued fourteen persons from drowning, and this was the first time, he declares, that he was ever in any way rewarded for the saving of lives. Young Blakley was fishing. He ventured too far over in an effort to get a can to put his fish in and toppled into the water. He was going down for the third time, when Beasley rushed off the Geronia and plunged into the water with all his clothes on. He had just received his pay and barely took time to tuck the money in his pocket before he jumped.

MISS TILLEY DEAD

Was Well Known on Account of Her Charitable Work at Chicago.

Toronto, June 17. — The death of an old and respected resident of the city occurred at St. John's Hospital yesterday afternoon when Miss Julia Tilley, daughter of the late Sir Leonard Tilley, lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick, and finance minister under Sir John A. Macdonald, passed away after a short illness from heart trouble. Miss Tilley had been a resident of Toronto for the past 25 years, coming here shortly after her father's death in 1887. She was 60 years of age and resided at 54 Boswell avenue.

Miss Tilley was actively engaged in church work during her residence in the city, and was well known for her untiring efforts in the cause of charity. She leaves two sisters and two brothers, who are very well known, Mrs. Chipman, 60 Prince Arthur avenue; Mrs. Thos. Burbe, of Sherbourne street; Thomas, a grain broker, of Montreal, and Leonard, who is the Conservative candidate in St. John for the New Brunswick Legislature. The funeral service will be held at the Church of the Redeemer on Tuesday afternoon and the body will later be taken to London, where interment will take place on Wednesday afternoon.

The late Miss Tilley was a sister-in-lay of Mrs. E. M. Tilley, of 554 King street. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. M. D. Fraser, 529 Princess avenue. Mrs. Fraser is a daughter of a brother of the late Miss Tilley. The latter was very well known in London, and her many sterling qualities are being warmly praised by those who knew her best and appreciated her worth.

The destruction of the house fly is a public duty. Almost every American State Board of Health is carrying on a crusade against him.

His filthy origin and habits, and the fact that his body is generally laden with disease-producing germs, makes him one of the greatest enemies of the human race.

If the housekeepers of Canada will use

WILSON'S FLY PADS

persistently, this peril will be tremendously reduced.

Ingersoll Man Was Charged With Tending Bar Without Proper Authority.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, June 17.—A police court case of considerable interest was disposed of by Magistrate Paterson Saturday afternoon, in which a local man was charged with tending bar without a license. The magistrate found the accused guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs. Another case, brought against a Woodstock junk dealer, was dismissed. He was charged with dealing in junk in the town of Ingersoll without a license in violation of a town by-law.

The showers of Saturday afternoon necessitated a postponement of the baseball game between the Shamrocks and the Bains, of Woodstock. The game had been anticipated with much interest, and the fans were disappointed because it failed to materialize. It will likely take place at an early date.

The services in the Baptist and Methodist Churches yesterday were of unusual interest and the congregations were large. In the Baptist Church it was Flower Sunday and Children's Day. The church was tastefully decorated, and the services conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. J. McLean, in which the children took part were very interesting. The subject of the evening sermon was "Excusing Oneself."

In the Methodist Church Floral Sunday was observed in a fitting manner. At the morning service the Sunday School scholars took part, and singing by Douglas Stanbury, the boy contralto, of Toronto, was an interesting feature of each service.

The members of Court Oxford, Canadian Order of Foresters, attended divine service in a body in St. Paul's Church Sunday evening, and listened to an impressive sermon by the pastor, Rev. Alfred Bright, whose subject was "Manhood."

An Ingersoll boy who escaped from the Mimico Industrial School Friday arrived here in the evening. Saturday morning he was taken to the institution by his father, as he has only six weeks to serve.

The funeral of John McKenzie, who was killed in West Zorra by a can of whey falling upon him, took place Saturday afternoon from his son's residence to the Kintore Cemetery. Rev. Alfred Bright, of this town, officiated. The funeral was largely attended.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Galt, June 15.—In the police court today G. Mogg, one of the masons on strike, pleaded guilty to assaulting a contractor, I. Wright. A bone in the contractor's nose was bent in the scuffle, and he has found it necessary to go to a doctor. The defendant promised to pay the doctor's bill, but as the amount was not known, the case was adjourned until Monday. Twelve of the strikers have been hired to go to Niagara Falls to work for 60 cents an hour, eight hours a day. The strikers are gradually leaving town.

FACE WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH PIMPLES.

Four Different Doctors Did Her No Good.

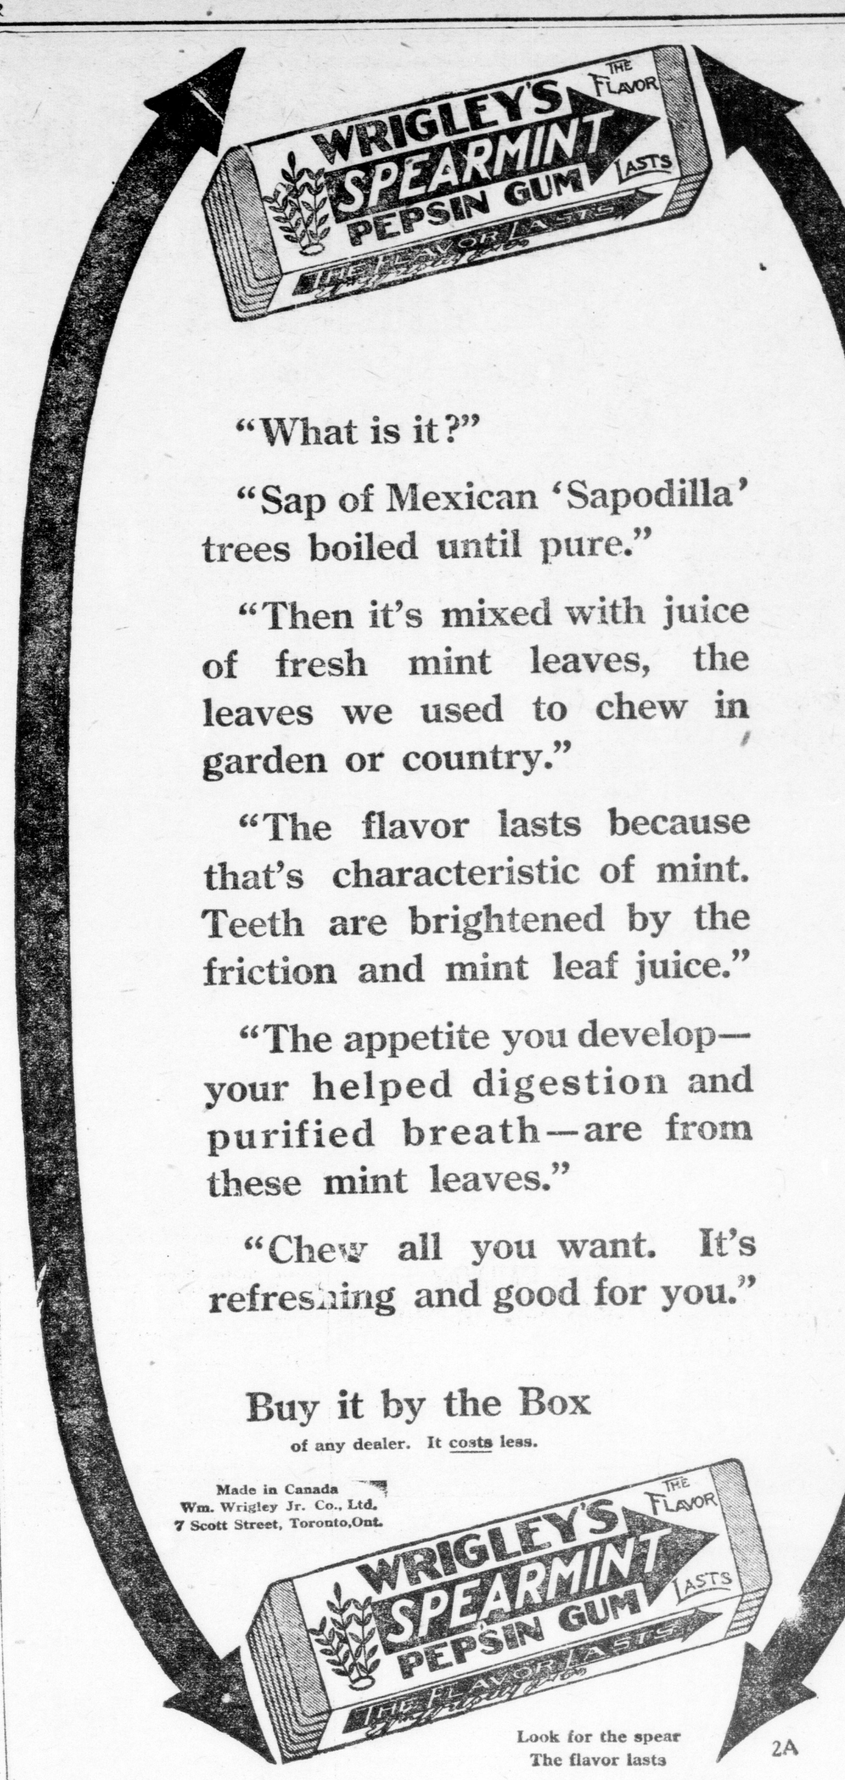

Two Bottles of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS Cured Her.

Bad blood is directly the cause of the face breaking out in pimples, and it is impossible to eradicate them unless you put your blood into good shape

Burdock Blood Bitters is compounded from roots, herbs, barks and berries, and is without a doubt the best remedy procurable for the purpose of driving all the blood impurities out of the system.

Mr. Geo. E. Miller, Clavering, Ont., writes: "Last fall I was very much troubled with pimples. My face was literally covered with them. I went to four different doctors, but they could do me no good. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly all disappeared, and by the time I had taken all the second one the pimples had disappeared completely, thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I would advise anybody who is troubled with any blood trouble to use Burdock Blood Bitters.

M'PHERSON FAMILY HELD BIG REUNION

Sixty-Four Members of the Family Gathered at Oldest Member's Home.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Thamesford, June 15.—A pleasant time was spent at the home of John E. McPherson recently when a reunion of McPhersons and their descendants was held. Relatives to the number of sixty-four gathered at an early hour and spent the entire day on the homestead on the hill. Mr. John McPherson, sen., wife and family of four settled there in 1836. The family was supplemented by seven more, six daughters and five sons, all of whom lived to attain manhood and womanhood. Four daughters and three sons are still living and they gathered to celebrate the eighty-second birthday of the oldest member, Mr. Alexander McPherson, who still retains all his faculties, and is in fairly good health. Four sisters and two brothers were present with their respective families, some of them intact, others partially so.

A peculiar coincidence is that the eldest son, the eldest grandchild and the eldest great-grandson of the late John McPherson, all of whom were present, have their birthdays in June. After a sumptuous dinner in the orchard and at which many reminiscences were given of their youthful days by the elder members, not forgetting the chairs vacant by death, of George who died in New Orleans, of James and Lillie who died in Iowa, and Marion who less than a year ago died in Winnipeg, and John who is still living in Nebraska, but not able to join the company, the men and children went to indulge in sports for the afternoon, the ladies looking on.

About 4 o'clock the party was again treated to cake, ice cream and other delicacies.

Those present were: Mr. Alex. McPherson, one son and two daughters and their husbands with their families; Mrs. Morrison, of Thamesford, her daughter and grandson, Asa W. Day, of Hespeler; Mrs. Morrison, of Kintore, her son William and four daughters and their husbands and children; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of Thamesford, their two sons John and James, and four daughters and one daughter-in-law, from Montana, and their families; Donald and his wife, of St. George, their son John, at whose home the reunion was held; Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, their daughter and her family, and Mr. and Mrs. McKay of London.

Many letters of regret from absent grandchildren and friends from a distance were received, and the hope was expressed that a reunion will be held next year and those who were there this year will be privileged to attend again, and those who were absent will meet with them.

Farmers Around Varna Were Very Successful Last Season.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Varna, June 17.—The fine weather has enabled the farmers to get pretty well through with their corn and bean planting. The farmers of this district are going extensively into bean raising. The crops are all looking well, and indications bespeak a bountiful harvest. Last year local men put in a number of acres of beans, and came out so well with them that this year they are not only putting in larger quantities, but many other people are going to try their hand at it.

MAD DOG AT BELMONT SHOT WHILE SPRINGING AT MAN

Animal Attacked Many Dogs and It Is Feared Cattle Were Also Bitten and Will Have To Be Killed—Narrow Escape of Mr. Barons and His Son.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Belmont, June 17.—Belmont is in a state of the greatest excitement as a result of a mad dog running amuck here on Sunday and biting a number of dogs and attempting to snap at people before it could be killed. Government inspectors have been notified, and two special men are on the way here from Toronto. They will take charge of the dog, which was shot by Mr. Elmer Barons.

The animal was first noticed running down the road by Mr. Barons, sen., about 5 o'clock on Sunday morning. A few minutes later he heard a noise in his yard, and on going out saw a wild-eyed looking dog, with foam all over its face, chasing his dog around. As soon as Mr. Barons went out the dog made for him and snapped at his legs, but he kicked it so hard that it ran away and out of the yard down the road.

Dashing into the yard of Walter McKellar it bit his dog several times and then rushed on through the village. It is known that the dogs of Walter McKellar, Charles Luton and Alvin Jones were bitten. It is feared that many others were victims also, and several cattle, but as very few people were out, owing to the early hour, it is not known definitely just how many animals suffered.

It was not until nearly 9 o'clock that the alarm became general, and the people gathered to chase the mad dog. The animal was located near the outskirts of the village and was surrounded. Elmer Barons, who had a revolver went towards the dog, and when he was close to it the animal sprang at him. Mr. Barons fired and the animal fell dead.

It is apparently a mongrel collie, rather undersized, and its face and mouth were covered with foam. Soon after the dog of Mr. McKellar was shot, and the other canines which it was known were bitten were tied up securely. The authorities were communicated with and notified the department. In the meantime the greatest fear prevails, as it is very likely that man yanimals came in contact with the rabid dog and may develop it later.

REDUCTION IN DUTIES IS NOT IMPORTANT TO LONDONERS

Very Few Lines Are Affected By the Recent Tariff Change.

The reduction of duty on a number of articles, and its total abolition on others, just announced by the Dominion Government, amounts to very little, according to manufacturers and dealers in the city. They are interested in a number of the articles, but will not profit greatly.

"The reduction in the duty on rattan and reed work will not affect us very much," said Mr. Norman Keene, of the Ontario Furniture Company. "There will be little difference so far as I can see at this time."

"We cannot touch that material at all," said the manager of the Holeproof Hosiery Company, when asked about the reduction of duties on materials to be used for imitation silk hose. "Some manufacturers use it, but the reduction in the duty will not amount to much."

"Kodaks and their parts are practically all manufactured in Canada at the present time," said Mr. J. H. Back. "The reduction of the duty will not make any appreciable difference, except possibly on a few English lines, and not even these to any great degree."

"The reduction of duty on hard rubber strips must be to assist some particular manufacturer," said Mr. Philip Pocock, of the Canada Rubber Company, of Merritton, Ont. "It certainly does not help the general rubber trade."

"The reduction of the duty on paper matting will help us some," said Mr. A. E. Reason, of H. T. Reason & Co., wholesale stationers and paper box manufacturers. "We purchase some of our material from the United States and will receive some benefit from the cut."

LEADERS WORKING THE THIRD DEGREE

PHYSICAL FIGHT FEARED

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, June 17.—Roosevelt and Taft leaders, after a practically sleepless night, today staked final hands in their bitter struggle, with less than 24 hours before the gavel falls at the Coliseum for the formal opening of the Republican national convention tomorrow.

Prominent men from many states were subjected to conference-room interviews of a type known in political circles as the "third degree" under order ordeals as hard and cold as the granite blocks that pave Chicago's streets.

Leaders whose lives have been spent in the "game" brought into play very artifice known to modern politics in their almost frantic efforts to swing the balance to Col. Roosevelt or to President Taft. Men who were doggedly standing their ground were told what might happen to them, not only this year or next, but four years from now, unless they agreed to the programmes mapped out by the leaders.

No Place For Weak.

It was no place for the weak. Keen eyes, and trained ears searched for the first signs of panic or a break at any point, and as the lines were tightened to the last notch, those who appeared to waver even in slight degree were subjected to a merciless fire.

Running through it all was the constantly recurring fact of the presence of Col. Roosevelt, himself leading his own fight.

It was a question, in final analysis, as the day wore on, of whether the Republican party is bigger than its controlling body, the national committee, or bigger than any individual candidate.

The Situation.

Summarized tersely, the situation is whether the Republican "elephant" will respond to the vigorous digs of either of two drivers, one ordering it to the left and the other commanding it to the right, or whether it will twist its trunk about each of the drivers in turn and hurl them aside to go its own way. There were indications today that the last contingency is not at all impossible.

In this connection it became apparent that the division of delegates between Col. Roosevelt and President Taft on the question of the nomination does not hold on any other question to come before the convention. This was shown plainly by the attitude of the Virginia delegation. Although practically all for the renomination of President Taft, nine of the Virginia delegates declared they would vote to overrule the action of the national committee in seating Taft delegates over Roosevelt delegates from California, Texas and Washington.

Roosevelt's Plan.

"This sentiment among arriving delegates was seized upon by Col. Roosevelt and his advisers, who have determined to attempt to break down President Taft's strength in convention through the medium of preliminary ballots.

The Roosevelt managers purpose to focus the fight the minute the convention has been called to order, by precipitating a roll call, in which only those delegates whose seats are undebated by Col. Roosevelt shall vote.

The Roosevelt men expect to achieve this end by demanding a roll call on the temporary chairmanship on the very first question that comes up before the convention. Then it is planned to have Governor Johnson, of California, cast the twenty-six votes for that state on the question. This action by Governor Johnson, it is expected, will be objected to by the two Taft delegates from the fourth California district.

This juncture will be grasped by the Roosevelt floor leader as the one upon which to get the "expurgated" vote of delegates. The floor leader will move at once that the temporary roll, as made up by the national committee, be rejected, and that a substitute, including the seventy or eighty delegates claimed by Colonel Roosevelt, be adopted.

In thus submitting the matter of the debated seats to the convention en bloc, none of the delegates affected by the contests could vote on the question, and the Roosevelt men believe that such a poll would give them the upper hand in the organization of the convention.

The Storm Centre.

Victor Rosewater, of Nebraska, chairman of the national committee, became the storm centre of this phase of the fight as soon as the plans of the Roosevelt leaders were perfected last night. In his capacity as chairman, Mr. Rosewater will call the convention to order and will decide whether to entertain or refuse the motion of the Roosevelt men to consider a second list of delegates.

The Roosevelt plan is revolutionary, and Mr. Rosewater may insist on waiting for the report of the committee on credentials, which, usually, would not come up for consideration before Wednesday.

Mr. Rosewater conferred with Col. Roosevelt in person regarding this question, and others late last night, but is said to have declined to give an answer until he had further time in which to consider the matter.

The chairman held a conference with other members of the national committee today, and it is said that the Roosevelt plan met with stubborn opposition. Members of the committee were reported to have insisted that the chairman follow the usual procedure, and the strict rules of the committee in relation to temporary organization.

Unless the Roosevelt leaders get this vote on contests at once it is said that they plan to force the issue further by immediately moving the nomination of Col. Roosevelt, and attempting to hold a convention of their own within the convention hall.

Fear a Riot.

Fully aware of the gravity of these developments, the Taft managers and members of the national committee favorable to the President held continued councils in efforts to evolve methods of blocking the scheme summarily. Fears for the order of the convention were freely expressed, and predictions of serious trouble were made frequently during the day. Officers in charge of the convention management extended the police arrangements and the sergeants-at-arms were given emergency instructions.

Excitement at the headquarters of both sides and in the hotels increased throughout the day, and in some quarters city detectives and policemen were needed to prevent personal clashes between delegates whose anger swept beyond control.

The day was the most exciting that has preceded the opening of a Republican national convention in many years. The atmosphere was tense with charges and rumors of various kirds, and leaders wore themselves down to a point of physical exhaustion by almost ceaseless conferences and efforts to keep their state delegates in line.

Caucuses Galore.

Caucuses of state delegations came in an avalanche, as there had been but few caucuses until today. These caucuses were depended on to a considerable degree to give a lineup of the strength of the delegates on the questions aside from the presidential nomination.

Col. Roosevelt arranged for a reception this afternoon, at which he hopes to meet every one of the 1,078 delegates to the convention. He plans to speak to each delegate personally. Tonight at the Auditorium Theatre he will be the principal figure at a large mass meeting of the Roosevelt followers.

Early today Senator Borah, of Idaho, finally and definitely was selected as the choice of the Roosevelt forces for temporary chairman in place of Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri.

Gov. Hadley, because of his successful and clever fight in the Missouri Republican state convention, and before the national committee, was chosen as floor leader for the Roosevelt organization.

It was said that Senator Borah was not consulted in regard to making the race against Senator Root for the temporary chairmanship, and that the Idaho man is unprepared with a speech. For this reason he asked to be relieved from officiating at tonight's Roosevelt mass meeting, but the Roosevelt leaders insisted that he appear at the theatre.

In addition to two candidates for the temporary chairmanship, the Taft and Roosevelt forces prepared two distinct platforms for submission to the convention. The work of preparation of the platforms was continued through the day.

Roosevelt's Platform.

James R. Garfield, in discussing the platform to be submitted by the Roosevelt organization, declared that it would be progressive throughout, but that the subject of the recall would be left to the individual states.

A. Platt Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, arrived yesterday with the financial plank for the Taft platform. Personally, he said, he was satisfied with the Rochester plank, but others seemed to think that this should be amplified in the national platform.

The Taft forces announced that Senator Clarence E. Clark, of Wyoming, had been agreed on for chairman of the committee on rules, and that Congressman Marlin E. Olmstead, of Pennsylvania, had been selected as parliamentarian of the convention. There were no changes announced in regard to the other committee places previously announced.

Third candidate talk continued in many quarters today. The name of Justice Hughes was prominent in this discussion. Champions of Senator La Follette and Senator Cummins said they saw much to favor their candidates in the extremely tense Taft-Roosevelt fight.

ROOSEVELT'S CHICAGO ARRIVAL A TRIUMPH FOR COLONEL

Great Crowd of Admirers Greets Him at Station—Taft Has Lead in Delegates for Convention at Conclusion of National Committee's Labors.

Chicago, June 16. — Tonight, after authorized changes, the best poll of the strength of the respective candidates, irrespective of enthusiastic and unsupported claims, is as follows:

William H. Taft	549
Theodore Roosevelt	477
Robert M. La Follette	36
Albert B. Cummins	10
Charles E. Hughes	4
Robert E. Lincoln	2
Total	1,078

Necessary to choice, 540.

Chicago, June 16. — Theodore Roosevelt's arrival in Chicago yesterday to take personal charge of his fight for the presidential nomination was fully as spectacular as even he could wish. He was met at the railroad station by a great crowd of admirers and curiosity-seekers, who overran the police in their efforts to get a vantage point from which to view the colonel. He made his way to his automobile through a lane which the police battered out with their clubs and fists, drove half a mile, through lines of sensation-mad people, who greeted him and his new gray felt hat as they might have a great general returning from a hard-won victory, was mobbed in the corridors of the Congress Hotel, where the crush threatened life and limb, and finished off by literally fighting his way to a balcony, from which he told the massed thousands below that "It is a naked fight against theft, and the thieves, who will not win."

Colonel Looked Happy.

What followed, so far as the crowd was concerned, was what had gone on before, allowing for the wear and tear on lung power, and the colonel looked happy as his guards helped him back to his room again.

The Taft men, summing up the situation immediately after the arrival of ex-President Roosevelt, exclaimed tonight: "White man am mighty onsartin, and you can't bank on the black man." The Republicans, who demand a compromise or harmony candidate, declared the situation to be: "This is a contest between two political corpses as to which will get the most flowers."

"They wiggled in and wiggled out,
And left the people all in doubt,
Whether the snake that made the track
Was going in or coming out."

The Estimates.

When the work of the Republican national committee ended late last night and all the contests decided, the actual strength of the respective candidates of the presidential nomination in the convention, the first session of which is to be held on Tuesday at noon, was as follows: Taft 568, Roosevelt 464, La Folette 36, Cummins 10; total, 1,078.

FIND BABY'S BODY NEAR INGERSOLL

Remains Were Found in the Thames with the Skull Crushed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, June 16.—The badly decomposed body of a fully developed female infant was found in the River Thames about a mile and a half west of here at noon today. The skull was crushed, and the only clothing on the body was a woman's sateen underskirt, in which it was wrapped. That the body had drifted down the river during the high water recently was plain from the fact that the clothing on it had been caught by an overhanging limb of a tree several feet from the shore. When the water receded, the body was left suspended several feet above the river.

The jury, under Coroner Dr. Neff, viewed the body at Bonesteel & Mitchell's undertaking rooms, and then adjourned until Wednesday evening. The jury is composed as follows: R. Sutherland, foreman; George Stevenson, Albert Masterman, J. Sherlock, John Dales, George Tune, H. Crabb, George Weston and H. F. Hollands.

INGERSOLL RAID

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, June 16.—Five arrests of local men were made and decks of cards seized as the result of a raid led by Chief of Police Fish on an alleged gambling den shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. Three of the men captured have figured in two previous cases arising out of raids during the past few months, and which were dismissed, owing to the difficulty in proving that anyone had received a rake-off on the games.

The five men arrested were arraigned in court today. Charles Ryan, Sen., was charged with keeping a common gaming house, and the men charged with being frequenters are Izzy Geller, R. Redhead, William Duke and W. Reavly. They were represented by S. G. McKay, of Woodstock, and pleaded not guilty, and the hearing was set for next Wednesday.

V. O'Connor, president of the International 'Longshoremen's Association. The firemen struck in sympathy with a union at Chicago, which refused to abide by the new wage scale that became effective last month.

ACTING PREMIER IS AMERICAN-BORN

Mr. Perley's Appointmen Makes Unique Incident in Canadian History.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., June 17. — The appointment of Hon. George Perley as acting prime minister during the absence of Hon. R. L. Borden, who is now in Nova Scotia, and is shortly going to England, provides Canada with its first millionaire head and its first American-born prime minister. Not only is Acting Premier Perley American-born, but a careful search of the records of the state falls to show that Hon. Mr. Perley has ever taken out British naturalization papers. Even if he had taken out naturalization papers in Canada he would be regarded as a British subject only in Canada. If he went to England, his Canadian naturalization would cease to have any effect, and under the British law he would be regarded as a citizen of the United States. The incident is unique in Canadian history.

CORRESPONDENCE

Fenian Raid Volunteers' Bounty.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As the minister of militia has ignored the services of the regular forces (as he calls them) during the Fenian Raid of '66, I may as well explain, if not known to the general public, that the so-called regular forces are volunteers; also, the only difference being that the regular force serves for a certain term in any part of the empire that His Majesty may desire. The so-called volunteer is only called out to protect his own home, and gets, while serving, double the pay of the so-called regular, who had no direct interest, only as a soldier of the Empire, to protect the land he happens to be in at the time. I may as well further state that during the time of the Trent affair, when there was no militia or volunteers in Canada to protect the country from the Americans, that these same regulars were ordered out here to be in readiness for fear of a war with the United States, at no cost to Canada.

The militia of Canada is indebted to these same old soldiers for the interest they have always shown and the active part they have taken in the upbuilding of the Canadian forces.

I would ask the minister of militia how many officers commanding the militia of Canada have been indebted to the same old soldiers of the Imperial forces for their services as instructors to the different units?

The number of those still living in Canada who were members of my regiment is so few, and I believe the same proportion of members of other regiments resident in Canada would be the same, that it looks pretty small on the part of the militia department to refuse us the same reward the Government gives the militia. GEORGE JACOBS, Fourth Battalion K. R. R., Militia Force of Canada, 1880-1902.

HEBERT APPEAL WILL NOT BE DROPPED

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, June 17.—"No matter what decisions may be arrived at in the marriage law reference to the supreme court at Ottawa, the Hebert appeal will be proceeded with," said L. J. Lefebvre, the lawyer for the husband, this morning. He also stated that Mrs. Hebert had now left the country with her daughter. He expected that the case would be taken by the court of review in the fall.

A BIG CROWD IN SOUTH END

Mistook Church Meeting for a Disturbance.

A crowd of about five hundred people gathered at the corner of Ottaway avenue and Adelaide street on Sunday evening, following the arrest of several Poles who were quarrelling in the afternon in that neighborhood. Rev. George Mackenzie of the Christian Workers' Church, was conducting an open-air meeting at the corner, and people at a distance, noticing the group, thought that the police were making more arrests, and they hastened to the scene. About 8:30 the crowd had assumed large proportions. The patrol wagon was called, but there was nothing doing, and it returned empty.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD ITS ANNIVERSARY

Celebration Held in the Hyatt Avenue Church on Sunday.

The Sunday school of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church celebrated their anniversary on Sunday with appropriate services. Rev. F. L. Farewell, B.A., of Toronto, field secretary of Sunday schools and young people's societies of the Methodist Church, preached in the morning and evening, and addressed an open session of the school in the afternoon. In his morning sermon Mr. Farewell spoke of the four agencies that today ought to stand for the conservation of the youth of our land, viz.: The home, the public school, the church or Sunday school, and the state. Of these the home is fundamental, but owing to the tendency of the home to throw off its God-given responsibility in the religious training of childhood, the work of the Sunday school was thereby made pre-eminently important. Convincing evidence was produced to show that the adolescent period was the crisis period, the period of habit-forming and character-building, the time when boys and girls choose their life vocation, when the forces of evil are strongest to destroy them. Youth is also the natural period for conversion.

Of the fifteen there are at present three charged with theft, one with bigamy, two are insane, eight are classified as drunks, and one is charged with trespass. REPORT ON STREET RAILWAY AND ELECTRIFYING OF L. AND P. S. R. TO BE PRESENTED IN FEW DAYS

Price for Street Railway Said To Be $1,250,000, a Little More Than Par—Hon. Adam Beck Declines to Discuss the Matter.

It is understood that the report to be presented by the engineers of the hydro-electric commission to the city council on the purchase of the London street railway will recommend that the city pay $1,250,000 for the franchise, rolling stock, etc., now in possession of the company.

This offer is a little better than par. The company have issued stock to the value of $552,000, and there are bonds outstanding amounting to $600,000. The whole indebtedness would, in consequence, be $1,152,000, so that the company would receive practically $100,000 more than par were the offer to be accepted.

The option obtained by Hon. Adam Beck, some time ago, on behalf of the city was at 150 per share, and the total purchase price on this basis would be approximately $1,750,000. There is a difference of nearly $500,000 on the two propositions.

It is understood that the directors of the company will not accept this offer, but will insist that the stock is worth more than par, and will hold out for the larger price. It has been stated that a compromise might be arranged.

Report Not Ready Yet.

Hon. Adam Beck stated that there was a report being made on this matter, but that it was not ready for the city at the present time.

"Is the figure mentioned, $1,250,000, the amount that will be recommended for the purchase of the railway's assets?" Mr. Beck was asked.

"I have nothing to say whatever," he answered. "The report is being prepared, but we are not in a position at the present time to make public anything in connection with it."

The report on the electrification of the London and Port Stanley is also about ready, and will be presented to the London and Port Stanley board at an early date. Three engineers are engaged in its preparation, and it will be very thorough.

It will be in two parts. One will deal with the electrification and double-tracking of the line to Port Stanley. The other will be for the electrification of the line as a single track road.

Means Much Money.

The first proposition will be the much more expensive, and will cost in the neighborhood of $800,000. The single track proposition will cost about $400,000, and will provide for electric engines and other material.

DRUNKEN POLES HELD BIG FIGHT

FINED IN POLICE COURT

Police Magistrate Judd had plenty of timber for a long session at the Carling street court this morning as a result of a raid made at 554 Ottaway avenue Sunday afternoon and evening, in which fifteen Poles were taken.

The men had gathered to celebrate at a Polish christening, and for the occasion the proprietor of the house laid in a supply of three kegs of beer and a quantity of whiskey.

The party proceeded in a nexcellent and well-ordered manner until late in the afternoon, when a period of merriment was followed by more boisterous enjoyment, a couple of dozen scraps being in progress at all times.

Residents of the neighborhood finally grew weary of the celebration and notified the police, who visited the scene with the wagon and half a dozen officers. Sergt. Birrell, Sergt. Barnhill and Detective Down being in the party.

A House-Cleaning.

A general house-cleaning ensued, in which the officers found it necessary to resort to vigorous tactics. Down, the only plain clothes man in the party, remained to guard the wagon, and not having the awe-inspiring uniform had a rather turbulent time. A couple of the Polacks resented his interference and took wallops at his jaw but they were all bundled off despite their protests.

It was reported during the afternoon that one man had been killed and several others injured in the row, and as a result quite a crowd gathered at the scene at night. A hundred or more Polacks were included in the assembly, and as all were more or less under the influence of liquor other quarrels were of frequent occurrence.

Police officers remained on the scene and periodical trips were made with the patrol before the place was finally cleaned up in a satisfactory manner.

Fined in Police Court.

This morning the man who owned the place, but whose name was of little consequence, was assessed $5, and thirtten others $4. The fifteenth man explained that he had merely heard of the trouble and had gone to look on when he was gathered in by the officers. He admitted having been drinking during the afternoon, but was looked upo as a first-time drunk and given his liberty.

FLOWER SUNDAY IN FIRST CHURCH

Auditorium of Methodist Edifice Was a Bower of Beauty.

SERMON TO CHILDREN

Rev. Dr. Rankin Preached in a Most Interesting Manner to Little Ones on Sunday.

It was Flower Sunday and Children's Day at First Methodist Church on Sunday. The auditorium of the church was prettily decorated with daisies and hanging baskets, while several cages of canaries were strung under the gallery on both sides of the church. The choir loft was also artistically decorated with daisies woven into wreaths, while the pulpit was screened by many vases of different kinds of flowers.

At the morning service, the children gathered in the gallery in charge of their Sunday school teachers. Rev. James Kennedy conducted the services while Rev. Dr. Rankin, of Toronto, preached the sermon.

Sermon to Children.

Dr. Rankin's sermon was directed to the children. Taking his text, "The Christian Life is the Only Free Life," he stated that when one becomes absolutely in bondage to the laws that govern Christianity one is free to do as he likes under those laws, and that this was the only real freedom. It was the same with walking, running, skating, bicycle riding, or anything that we undertake. There are certain laws that govern each of these things, and until we are in bondage to these laws we are not proficient in them. He emphasized the need of the family altar and worship in the homes. He also stated that as the public school is one of the most influential institutions in the land, that Christianity should be taught there.

Minister or Teacher.

"If I had to choose again between the ministry and a teacher in the public school," he said, "I believe I would choose the latter. I think I could render better service as a school teacher."

Rev. Dr. Rankin also addressed the children in the afternoon, and occupied the pulpit at the evening service.

Mr. McNaughton learned the printing trade at Southam's in this city, and left for Cleveland four years ago, accepting a position with the Art Craft Company. He returned to London two months since in very poor health, an attack of spinal meningitis resulting in his death.

The funeral is to be held on Wednesday afternoon from his parents' residence, 294 Grosvenor street.

HAS NOT AUTHORITY

ince in Canada, shall have any force or effect to invalidate or qualify any such marriage or any of the rights of the said persons or their children in any manner whatsoever."

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, June 17.—Judgment was handed down at noon in the supreme court in the matter of the questions referred by the Government on the Lancaster bill. The court answers the questions as follows:

Question 1 (both branches)—Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Justices Duff, Anglin and Davies, answer "No."

Justice Idington answers: "It is an impossible bill as it stands. If I must answer categorically, then I say as follows:

"The retrospective part would be good as part of a scheme for concurrent legislation by Parliament, and by the Legislature's confirmation of past marriages, which probably neither can effectively do. The prospective part so far as it is possible to make effective prohibition as a religious test may be good, but it is doubtful, and the probable purpose can be reached by a better bill."

Declines to Answer.

Question 2—The chief justice asks permission to decline to answer the first branch. To branch one, Justices Idington, Duff and Davies: "No." Justice Anglin: "Yes."

To branch two of question No. 2, the court unanimously answered: "No."

To question No. 3, branch A, the chief justice, Justices Davies, Duff and Anglin, "No." Justice Idington says: "As to question 8, branch A, answer 'yes,' to be concurred in by the respective legislatures of the provinces concerned, and as to branch B, answer 'Yes,' if and when a province fails to provide adequate means of solemnization."

Anglin's Judgment.

After expressing his concurrence in Sir Louis Davies' "reasons for answering the first question in the negative," Mr. Justice Anglin proceeds with the second question, as to the civil validity in Quebec, (a) of marriages of two Catholics, (b) of mixed marriages, solemnized by Protestant clergymen.

The Mixed Marriage.

His lordship gives several reasons why the court should represent to the Government that it is undesirable to answer this question. He points out that unless Parliament can legislate upon the matter, the question is academic, that it affects only the law of Quebec and the Quebec Government objects to its being answered, that at the close of the argument the deputy minister of justice practically states that the question was only put in anticipation of an affirmative answer as to the Dominion legislative power, and that the privy council has recently said that in a case which seems to the supreme court to render such a course advisable it might properly represent to the executive the difficulty or undesirability of answering any question instead of replying to it. But in deference to the views of the majority of his colleagues who think an answer should now be given to the second question, the learned judge proceeds to discuss it at length, and to answer it.

Legislature Supreme.

He first states, however, that ecclesiastical law can be recognized in Canadian civil courts so far, but so far only, as the common law incorporates it, or the legislature has recognized and given civil efficacy to it. The discretion of the legislature is supreme. He adds that of the law of the Catholic Church, which must be established as a matter of fact, the only evidence is what the admitted documents afford.

After setting out a number of legal impediments applicable to every body, the Quebec civil code says in article 127:

"The other impediments recognized according to the different religious persuasions, as resulting from relationship or affinity or from other causes remains, subject to the rules hitherto followed in the different churches and religious communities.

The code was passed in 1866 by the Legislature of the then Province of Canada, which had full legislative jurisdiction over marriage.

Council of Trent.

The decree of the council of Trent was in force in the Catholic Church in Quebec in 1866. It renders void any marriage not solemnized before the parish priest of the parties, or a priest authorized to act by him, or the bishop. It declares the parties incapable of thus contracting marriage. Therefore, says his lordship, the impediment thus created was made part of the civil law of Quebec by article 127 of the code as an impediment recognized by the "Religious Persuasion," the Catholic Church. But, because by the later Benedictine declaration, which was made applicable to Canada in 1764, and remained in force in 1866, the Catholic Church excepted mixed marriages from the Tridentine decree, and declared them valid, though not solemnized before a Catholic priest.

Ne Temere Degree.

His lordship holds that mixed marriages celebrated before a Protestant minister are civilly valid in Quebec. The recent ne temere decree, he says, has no civil force in Quebec. It is excluded from article 127 by the word "hitherto," and it has not been otherwise recognized by the Legislature. Mr. Migneault conceded this.

By article 156, the judgment says, the Quebec courts are given expressed authority to declare null marriages not solemnized before a competent officer. Therefore a religious impediment incorporated by the Legislature into the civil code, the marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant minister is void in Quebec, concludes his lordship, and may be so declared by the courts.

The learned judge then proceeds to demonstrate that, apart from any laws of the Catholic Church, by the civil law of the province, such a marriage is invalid. He cites ordinances of the French kings of 1579, 1606, 1639, 1667 and 1736, to show that prior to the conquest, marriage could be validly solemnized in Canada under the French civil law only by the Catholic cure, or by a priest authorized by him or by the bishop, who was required to keep an offer at register.

He then discusses the effort of the conquest, the capitulations of Quebec and Montreal, the Treaty of Paris, the proclamation of 1763, the instructions and commission of the governors, the imperial "Quebec act" of 1774, and the Lower Canada statute of 1795; and, citing a judgment of Chief Justice Sewell in 1816, and other authorities, he concludes that the French civil law of marriage, as part of the private law, remained the law of Canada, subject to Anglican clergymen having the right to marry Protestants, and to solemnize mixed marriages; and that dissenting ministers gradually acquired the right to marry under provincial statutes, his lordship says "primarily, if not solely," for the purposes of their own congregations. The exclusive right of Anglican clergymen to marry Protestants was thus taken away, but the requirement of the civil law that Catholics must be married by their proper cure was not altered. That was the law of Lower Canada in 1866. The code was intended to express that law. Such were the instructions of the codifiers. They reported that in dealing with marriage they had left everybody in "the enjoyment of his own usages and practices, according to which the celebration of marriage is intrusted to the ministers of the worship to which he belongs."

His lordship discussed numerous articles of the code requiring that marriage be celebrated by a competent officer (128 C. C.), and ordinarily at the domicile of the parties (63); that banns be first published in the church which each of the parties attends (130 et seq., 57-8); that an opposition to marriage, and the disallowance of an opposition must be served on the functionary charged to solemnize it (articles 1107 C. C. P. and 81 C. C.); that registers are to be kept by such Catholic priests as the bishop authorizes to solemnize marirage. In their parish churches, chapels and missions; priests, rectors and other officers authorized to keep registers are declared competent to solemnize marriage (129).

His lordship deduces the conclusion, that read in the light of the pre-existing law which was codified, these provisions reqsire that the marriage of two Catholics must be solemnized by the cure over them or by a priest authorized by him or by the bishop. He thus finds that the provisions of the French civil law, which survived the cession, and are embodied in the code render invalid the marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant minister, just as does the church law adopted by article 127, C. C.

Because marriage is to be solemnized at the domicile of either of the parties, the learned judge infers that mixed marriages may be celebrated by the clergyman of either spouse.

Question of Licenses.

He proceeds to discuss the provisions for marriage licenses. These, he says, replace the bishop's dispensation from publication of banns. They are meant for Protestants only, the fees going to Protestant superior education. They do not render an incompetent minister competent, and do not validate a marriage to which there is legal impediment.

His lordship answers the second question that the law of Quebec does render void the marriage of Roman Catholics celebrated before a Protestant clergyman, but does not nullify a mixed marriage so solemnized.

He answers the third question in the negative for the reasons given by Sir Louis Davies. He adds that S. 93 of the B. N. A. act is inconsistent with the Dominion Parliament having any general power of remedial or overridden legislation upon provincial subjects, and that S. 94 makes it clear that when entering Confederation Quebec stipulated against any federal interference with her laws respecting civil rights, and that her insistence that "the solemnization of marriage" should be taken out of the federal subject of marriage and assigned to the exclusive legislative jurisdiction of the provinces, was to insure her having a constitutional guarantee that upon what appertains to the solemnization of marriage her laws should be supreme.

Mr. Justice Anglin's opinion is very exhaustive, covering 55 typewritten pages. He quotes numerous statutory provisions and legal precedents. His conclusions are, he states, in accord with the great weight of the jurisprudence of the Province of Quebec.

CORPS OF GUIDES LEAVE ON SATURDAY

The Corps of Guides leave on Saturday next for a 15 days' manoeuvring expedition. They will go to Goderich on Saturday and will remain with the camp until it breaks up on June 28. The balance of the time will be spent in going through the country—a regular gypsying tour. The men will be mounted and will do some practical military work.

Major G. N. Weekes will be in charge, and he anticipates a splendid outing.

"We are recruiting some excellent young men, clean-cut students as a rule," said Major Weekes. "We have room for a couple more bright, educated young men. All expenses will be paid, and any person who desires to go should apply at once."

AGE OF MATERIALISM

Rev. Canon Tucker preached a forceful sermon at St. Paul's Cathedral last evening, in which he stated that the world is even now, despite the favorable evolution of centuries, in a very crucial state, and that fear of God and the practice of righteousness by the people individually and collectively alone can insure the greatness of the nation.

While it is true that conditions among the peoples of the world have very greatly improved since the early centuries, this is an age of materialism, this fact being chiefly responsible for the unsettled condition existing.

Parties or policies must not be followed, but Christian principles should be strongly adhered to.

And Yet Mgr. Aylward Sees Room for Improvement.

The banns for five weddings were published at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, and the ceremonies will follow before the end of the month.

Rev. Mgr. Aylward declared, however, that there are many young people in the parish of marriageable age who should be following the good example of the others named.

REV. MR. BINGHAM ON CHURCH UNION

Blessings To Be Derived Would Be Great, Said Baptist Pastor.

IT WOULD SAVE MONEY

And This Money Could Be Put to Better Uses Than at Present — Sunday in the Churches.

Rev. H. H. Bingham, of Talbot Street Baptist Church, preached Sunday morning on the subject, "Would Church Union Mean a New Protestantism" taking for his text, John, x., 16: "And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd."

He said that the phrases, "other sheep" and "not of this fold," should aid people to be very tolerant toward other religious denominations, because all saints are not in the same fold. The first idea introduced in Canada of having all Protestant churches unite as one was not to be looked upon lightly, because Canada is in the front of the religious countries of the world.

Church Union.

For the past fifteen years different denominations in Canada have been discussing the question of church union. The blessings to be derived from such a union are threefold—the increased spirit of tolerance, and Christian love, the saving of men and money for frontier work, and the simplifying of Christian activity at home and abroad. Since fifteen years ago, the various sects of the different denominations have come together to a great extent, and now the different denominations respect more and more the views of the others. If the union movement does nothing else it has done much in fostering the spirit of Christian tolerance and goodwill.

Should Not Overlap.

While principle and conviction should come before men and money in religion, the time has come when the different churches realize that they should not overlap in their work. In many small places there are three and four churches, whose total congregations do not amount to over two hundred. The movement would do away with this useless expenditure of both men and money. In the foreign fields the work is greatly retarded by the effect that so many denominations working against one another has upon the heathen.

The dangers that might beset a church union are the danger of fostering the spirit of self-complacency, of separating the sacraments from the Word of God, and the danger of an ethical and sociological gospel taking the place of a spiritual and doctrinal message. In time the union church might degenerate to a political body, and the demand of the present age is not so much for the uniformity of institutions as for personalities of varied types. There are two sacraments in the Word of God, the baptism and the Lord's Supper. Other denominations have come to the point where they will accept both methods of baptism, and the union that is desired is one that will rigidly hold to the sacraments of the Bible.

Modern Life Problems.

The new problems of modern life need the combined forces of the Christian people to combat. No other century has had the labor question so prominently brought before it as the present one. But all these problems are of a spiritual beginning, and the church must attend to them. The sin of today is not born of the slums. The poor and the toilers may be submerged, but there is as much violence and rottenness in the high places as in the low. The one great problem in the world today is sin, and the only cure is Christ. The mission of the church is to bring Christ to men, and the united churches must attend to this mission always.

Sermon on the Virgin.

Last evening Rev. J. G. Inkster preached at the First Presbyterian Church on the Virgin Mary, not from a theological, but from a practical standpoint. The mother of God, in the bringing up of the Saviour, taught all mothers to rear sons of high spirit and outstanding ability. Proper home life and restraint solved the problem.

Exchanged Pulpits.

Rev. James Argo, of Melrose Presbyterian Church, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Dr. Ross, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and preached strong sermons both morning and evening. In the morning he spoke on the unpardonable sin, but declared that such a sin has never been committed, as God is always eager to receive the penitent.

Baptist Univeristy.

Rev. A. J. Vining, a former pastor of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, will speak at that church next Sunday evening on "The Building of a Baptist University in Europe, and the Difficulties in Connection With It."

HIS FAILINGS

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, June 17. — The newspaper Femina recently put the following question to its women readers:

"What do you think, classing them in the order of their importance, are the ten principal failings of man?"

The majority of the women consider egotism as man's most besetting sin, closely followed by infidelity, jealousy, intemperance, and cowardice. Man's comparatively minor failings are immorality, despotism, temper, stupidity, and idleness.

VINCENT ADAMS WON GOLD MEDAL

Secured Most Points in Sports at Scotch Picnic on Saturday Afternoon.

OUTING A BIG SUCCESS

Scotchmen and Their Friends Did Not Allow the Rain to Interfere With Their Merriment.

The downpour of rain on Saturday afternoon, although it kept the attendance down, did not interefer with the programme in connection with the Scottish Societies' picnic at Springbank beyond delaying the start of the games for about an hour. The sun commenced to shine about a quarter to four, when the games were immediately started, and until after 7 o'clock there was not a pause in the afternoon's sport.

The London Pipers' Band, under the leadership of Sergeant McDonald, led the parade around the park to the stand where the dancing competition was held. This band is a splendid one, and its stirring music aroused the greatest enthusiasm. After the dancing and piping competitions had been completed, the athletics were commenced, and a large number of competitors took part in each event.

Vincent Adams, the well-known runner of South London, won the gold medal presented by Past Chief P. J. Watt, of the Sons of Scotland, for the most points in the open events.

About two thousand were present at the sports in the afternoon, and many more came down in the evening for the dance in the pavilion, which was a great success. If the weather had been more favorable the attendance without doubt, would have exceeded that of any other of the picnics previously held by the Scotchmen.

PEOPLE NOT ANXIOUS TO PAY ALL COST

CITY CAN DO NOTHING

From present indications, there will be very little permanent paving done on London streets this summer. Few petitions have come in, and the board of works will initiate very little. It is probable that Ridout street south will be paved, and possibly Stanley street. This will be about the limit. The roads in consequence are not improving much each year, some of them at the present time being in bad shape.

Under the old system, the city council could build a gravel road, or make any improvements necessary, and pay for the work out of the general rate. Ald. Richter, however, in studying the amendments to the municipal act discovered that this was illegal, and that the property must pay for all repairs and new work. All the council could do was to keep the road in such repair that the corporation would not be liable for damages.

Ratepayers Pay All.

The citizens were strongly in favor of good roads, when the expense was met out of the general fund. Now that the ratepayers must pay for the whole cost there is no stampede to have pavements put down. Little work has been done on them for the past two or three years, and they are very bad in many places.

The council in addition paid one-third the cost of permanent pavements, relieving the ratepayers of a large portion of the expenditure. Now the property-owners must pay the whole cost.

Powers Are Limited.

"The municipal act states explicitly that the council has the power merely to patch up streets in order to prevent accidents," said City Engineer Wright in explanation. "We can do no permanent work, as has been the case in former years. In all probability, the roads will become worse until the ratepayers themselves demand by a petition that a pavement be put down on their street. We are simply living up to the letter of the law.

"Of course, there is another matter that demands attention in connection with the streets of the city, and that is the disposition of the storm water. We simply cannot put any more surface water into our present sanitay sewer system. It was not built for that purpose, and it is now handling all the water that can possibly be taken care of. Every pavement adds much to the volume of storm water, and until such a time as we can get rid of this, it will be useless to discuss permanent pavements for the larger portion of the city. A topographical map is being prepared, and within the course of two or three months we may be in a position to tell what we can do with storm water. That will be too late to do any work this year. We have practically completed the survey of South London, and from present indications, we can put down a pavement on Ridout street south. There is a petition in for that street, and I am hopeful that we will be able to get on it within a reasonable time. We will also be able to pave Stanley street. However, that is the limit this year, and you can readily see that it does not amount to a very great deal.

Dundas Street Hill.

"Some complaint has been made that we have not paved the Dundas street hill. In order to do so, we will have to utilize a piece of property belonging to Mr. Whit Lancaster. We have not been able to secure that, but the matter of the purchase is in the hands of Ald. Robinson, City Solicitor Meredith and myself, so we will settle it shortly."

The awful condition of the railway crossings, particularly Wellington street, is creating a great deal of discussion, and loud complaints are being made that improvements are not ordered. Ald. Rose and several members of the council have called attention to this matter, but nothing has been done.

"I called the attention of the Grand Trunk officials to the case," said Mr. Wright, in explanation. "I have just received word from Assistant Superintendent Davidson, saying that the necessary improvements would be made at once."

Wasting the Walks.

There are still those who complain about the wilful waste of the sandstone walks, now being removed from Dundas and Richmond streets. Ald. Ashplant on Friday interviewed City Engineer Wright on the question, and suggested that the market be paved with the stones.

"There has been a lot of unnecessary complaining about these flags," said Mr. Wright. "Any person who will take the trouble to look at them will find that they are the softest kind of stone, and if used for paving on the market they would last no time at all, and the market would be worse than the walks have been. I am positive in my opinion that the only use this stone can be put is to be crushed, and used with cement for the foundation of roads. That is all it is good for, and that is what it will be used for. There is nothing else to that."

Pavements by Day Labor.

Mr. Wright is strong in his opinion that the city should put down pavements by day labor, and will submit prices for every job that is to be let this year.

"There is no reason why we cannot do this as well as any other contracting firm," declared Mr. Wright. "I have three or four men in my employ—among them Pat Mulhall, Robert Howie and John McMurphy—who can take hold of this work and do it. I would like to make an experiment in any event."

PROFESSOR JEAKINS IN ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Former London Pastor Preached Powerful Sermon On Sunday.

Rev. Professor Jeakins, of Clinton, formerly assitant rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, this city, was the special preacher at both services in St. George's Anglican Church on Sunday.

In the morning a forceful sermon on life and immortality was preached by Professor Jeakins from the text, "Jesus Christ hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel," Chosen from II. Timothy, i., 10. "The resurrection is the greatest and sublimest fact in all history," said Professor Jeakins. "It teaches us that the horizon is not the entire boundary of our lives. It gives such motives, such inspirations and such hope that make it easier to bear the ills and sorrows which are part of this earthly life. The doctrine of a future existence is part of man's nature. God has placed within all races of mankind that instinct and longing for a life beyond the grave. The Israelites knew of this future life; the Egyptians believed in it, and endeavored to preserve their dead; the Africans, the Indians, and the aboriginal tribes of this new world all had in some form the belief in a future state. It goes with man wherever man is found."

Professor Jeakins warned his hearers not to become indifferent to the life beyond. The dangers of being absorbed in material things, in forgetting God amid sensual pleasures and material enjoyments were emphasized. Reference was made to the doctrines of the ancient philosophers, Plato, Aristotle and Socrates, and how their materialistic teachings preceded a time in the world's history when the motto of many was: "Let us eat, drink and be merry."

"When man loses his belief in immortality, he is forgetting what God created him for. This wonderful fact of the resurrection has changed the whole outlook and condition of the world. Have you ever tried to realize what life here would be without the light of Jesus Christ?" asked Professor Jeakins. "Let us suppose there is no light, no resurrection, no hope, no God. Life has then no destiny, its problems have no solution, the classes of high and low will struggle until the crack of doom, the triumps of rich over poor and poor over rich will go on and on. Nihilism will lay its hands on property and say 'Divide and share.' Might, not right, would be the world's law. But death does not end all," declared Professor Jeakins. "We are children of eternity. Man was made for immortality. Truth, love, purity and righteousness cannot be conquered by death. Spirit must conquer matter. Life must overcome death, and love must conquer destruction."

UNABLE TO ATTEND THEIR SON'S FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Held By Railway Accident At Toronto.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, June 17.—The funeral of Mr. John Thornton, held yesterday afternoon from the family residence on Centre street, was one of the largest ever held in Wingham. An impressive service was conducted at the house by Rev. W. L. Routledge, pastor of the Methodist Church, after which the cortege left the house for the cemetery, headed by the Citizens' Band playing the Dead March in Saul. The members of the fire department attended in a body, as deceased was captain of the hook and ladder company. The employees of the Bell Furniture Company, where deceased formerly worked, also walked. Mrs. Thornton was so prostrated by grief that she was unable to attend the funeral, and at her special request the band formed a circle around the grave as the body was being lowered and played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Owing to an accient on the railway, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Thornton, parents of deceased, were detained in Toronto, and were unable to reach Wingham in time for the funeral. The pallbearers were former shop-mates of deceased: Messrs. P. Dean, E. Smith, A. Angus, B. Porter, C. Dean and A. Ferguson. Among the many beautiful floral offerings were wreaths from the fire department and sprays from Mrs. E. Manuel and family, Mrs. W. Holmes, Miss A. B. Clow, Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mrs. John Coulter, and many others.

The late Mr. Thornton was born in Bluevale in 1883, and for a time resided in Listowel, where he was engaged in the furniture factory. Nine years ago he came to Wingham, and soon afterwards was married to Miss Huffman, who with one son, Earl, and one daughter, Alba, survives. Besides his parents two brothers, Heber and Roy, and one sister, Mary, also survive.

GIFT FOR CREW.

Halifax, June 17.—Captain Larnder, of the cable ship MacKay-Bennett, which recovered so large a number of bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster, including that of Colonel John Jacob Aster, has received from Mrs. Astor, his widow, and Vincent Astor, his son, very gratifying and generous proof of their appreciation of the work of the crew on their dread errand in the Atlantic Ocean.

They have forwarded to the captain, together with a letter couched in terms which greatly enhance the value of the gift, a check for $2,000, with a request that it be divided by him in gratuities to those who assisted in the work of recovery in any way. The captain has also been advised that they are sending to him personally a gold watch.
