BATTLE IS ON IN THE BRITISH COMMONS FATE OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS THE ISSUE

Government Bill to Abolish Veto of Peers Introduced by Premier Asquith.

LOOKS LIKE FIGHT TO FINISH

Greatest Constitutional Controversy Known to Great Britain for Generations Launched.

[Canadian Press Cable.]

London, Feb. 21.—The Government bill to abolish the veto power of the House of Lords, which, if the Government is able to pass as it stands promises to accomplish a historic change in the parliamentary system of Great Britain, was introduced in the House of Commons today by Premier Asquith.

No one professes to foresee the outcome of the constitutional battle. If the Liberals have any thought of a compromise they are keeping their intentions to themselves, and the greatest controversy known in this country for several generations began with both sides apparently determined not to bow to superior force.

Text of the Bill.

The following is the full text of the parliamentary bill introduced by the Liberal Government in April, 1910, and again today. It is described as "a bill to make provision with respect to the powers of the House of Lords in relation to those of the House of Commons, and to limit the duration of parliament."

The Preamble.

Whereas, it is expedient that provision should be made for regulating the relations between the two Houses of Parliament:

And, whereas, it is intended to substitute for the House of Lords as it at present exists, a second chamber constituted on a popular instead of hereditary basis, but such substitution cannot be immediately brought into operation:

And, whereas, provision will require hereafter to be made by parliament in a measure effecting such substitution for limiting and defining the powers of the new second chamber, but it is expedient to make such provision as in this act appears for restricting the existing powers of the House of Lords;

Be it, therefore, enacted by the King's most excellent majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords' spiritual and temporal, and Commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

And (1) if a money bill, having been passed by the House of Commons, and sent up to the House of Lords, at least one month before the end of the session, is not passed by the House of Lords' spiritual and temporal, and month after it is so sent up to that House, the bill shall, unless the House of Commons direct to the contrary, be presented to his majesty, and become an act of parliament of the royal assent being signified, notwithstanding that the House of Lords have not consented to the bill.

When Rejected.

(2) A bill shall be deemed to be rejected by the House of Lords if it is not passed by the House of Lords either without amendment or with such amendments as may be agreed to by the House.

(3) A bill shall be deemed to be the same bill as a former bill sent up to the House of Lords in the preceding sesion if, when it is sent up to the House of Lords, it is identical with the former bill or contains only such alterations as are certified by the speaker of the House of Commons to be necessary owing to the time which has elapsed since the date of the former bill, or to represent amendments which have been made by the House of Lords in the former bill in the preceding session.

Provided that the House of Commons may, if they think fit, on the passage of such a bill through the House, second or third session, suggest any further amendments without asserting the amendments in the bill, and any such suggested amendments shall be considered by the House of Lords, and if agreed to by that House, shall be treated as amendments made by the House of Lords, and agreed to by the House of Commons; but the exercise of this power by the House of Commons shall not affect the operation of

HOSTILE SENATOR SAYS AGREEMENT WILL PASS

Makes Statement After Conference with President Taft.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Feb. 21.—The reciprocity agreement with Canada will pass the senate. This was a declaration made today by Senator Carter, of Montana, as he was leaving the White House after a conference with President Taft. Personally Senator Carter is opposed to the measure.

Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, who introduced the bill in the House, also discussed the situation with the President, and is hopeful of the measure's success.

MUST CONNECT WITH THE SEWERS

Board of Health Will Try to Have the Bylaw Amended.

The board of health will follow up the debate in the council last night, by making every effort to have all premises connected with sewers wherever possible.

The council sent the matter to the board of works to look into, and at the next meeting of the board of health it will be taken up also.

"Conditions are not at all satisfactory," declared Chairman Clarke. "I find many complaints, and I think the board of health will look into the matter. If we have not power enough to do as we desire, we will have the bylaw amended so that we can. Every place in London where it is at all possible should be connected with the sewer."

According to some of the members of the board of works, the bylaw is not broad enough, and amendments will be proposed at the next meeting.

CITY SHOULD ASK FOR SPECIAL RATE TO LONDON

Postmaster McDonald Makes a Suggestion to the Business Men of City.

Postmaster Dr. McDonald, in speaking to The Advertiser this afternoon, advanced the suggestion that London merchants and businessmen generally should get together and ask the railway companies to give a special rate on one day of each week from all points in the district.

"I am sure," he said "if the matter were laid before the railway people they would do it, and it would pay London merchants to offer a special reduction in prices in their goods if such a rate were secured. If a scheme of this kind were followed up it would bring thousands of dollars' worth of business into this city every year that is now going to Toronto. Toronto is making a special effort to go after business of this kind, and many of the biggest stores offer to pay the fare of those who make purchases above a certain amount. London merchants can, I am certain, get this trade by taking the right steps to go after it."

Businessmen spoken to thought that Dr. McDonald's proposal was a first-class one, and it is likely to be taken up by the board of trade.

MR. MOULE RESENTS REFLECTION ON WRITING

Gentleman Arraigned in Court Claimed He Could Not Read It.

Mr. John Gunn, a real estate broker, of 376 Ridout street, had the laugh turned on him in the police court this morning when he found fault with Police Court Clerk John Moule's writing when asked why he was late in appearing.

Mr. Gunn came around about 11 o'clock, and when the court asked why, he said he thought court started at 11. "I would suggest that the writing on the summonses be improved," said Mr. Gunn.

This aroused Mr. Moule, who pointed out immediately that the part relating to the time court is held is printed.

Mr. Gunn appeared for not keeping his sidewalk clean. He said it was cleaned now and the court allowed him to go.

"This is the first time my writing was ever questioned," said Mr. Moule.

MONK AT TORONTO TALKS OF THE NAVY

Says the Nationalists Are Not Dissatisfied With Conditions.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Before the Canadian Club today at McConkey's, F. D. Monk, M. P. for Jacques Cartierfl gave his reasons for the stand taken by him on the navy question. He explained the position of the Nationalists as not constituting a revolt against England, nor dissatisfaction with present conditions in Canada, but merely opposition to proposed charges, which, in their opinion, mean an invasion of Canada's autonomous powers.

JAPANESE VETERANS FIGHTING FOR PERU

[Canadian Press.]

San Francisco, Feb. 21.—Migratory Japanese, debarred from entering the United States by the agreement between the two governments, are going in large numbers to Peru, according to a report brought here yesterday by the steamer Uarda. Officers of the Uarda which called at Callao on her way here from Europe, say that each vessel coming to Callao from Asia carries many Japanese. It is reported that the Peruvian army, which has been engaged in skirmishes with the forces of Ecuador over the boundary dispute, has in its ranks Japanese soldiers, some of them veterans of the Russian war.

FARMER KILLED AT KOMOKA

DROVE BEFORE A TRAIN

Hurled Many Feet, and Died From Injuries—Horse Was Also Killed

J. Cameron McIntyre, one of the best-known farmers of Lobo, was instantly killed about 1:30 this afternoon at Campbell's crossing on the third concession of Lobo, by being struck by the afternoon C. P. R. express. The train usually leaves London at 11:35, but today was nearly an hour late, and when it struck Mr. McIntyre was going at full speed. He was driving home on his way from Komoka, and when struck was hurled 20 feet against a fence. When picked up he was dead. Mrs. John Holland, of 420 Grosvenor street, is a sister. Mrs. McIntyre, wife of the dead man, is in the city on a visit with friends in West London, and every effort is being made to locate her and inform her of the accident. McIntyre was about 50 years old, and had lived on concession 5, of Lobo, all his life. Messrs. John and David McIntyre, of Strathroy, are brothers, and Mrs. Irwin, of Lobo a sister. One son resides in the west, and there are two daughters at home. Dr. Ross, of Hyde Park, was called, and an inquest will be held. The express was in charge of Conductor Mulvey, of Toronto.

AUTO WAREHOUSE FIRE.

Chicago, Feb. 21. — Fire, believed to have been caused by crossed electric wires, last night destroyed a three-story building on "Automobile Row," in Michigan avenue, occupied by the Auburn Automobile Company, causing a loss of $100,000. An explosion of gasoline stored in the building caused the front wall to fall outward. Many firemen had narrow escapes.

A TITANIC MERGER PLANNED OF CANADIAN STEAMSHIP LINES

The Richelieu, Ontario Northern Navigation and Inland Navigation Boats May Be Under One Management by Time Navigation Opens.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Feb. 21.—In local marine circles today it was rumored that before the opening of navigation four large steamboat lines would be under one head. A few days ago the amalgamation of the Northern Navigation Company and Inland Navigation was discussed. Now it is stated that the R. and O. N. Company, Niagara Navigation Company, Northern Navigation and Inland Navigation Company may all become one.

It is said that the merging of the two former lines was only an opening for the other interests. It is stated that Senator Forget is very anxious to purchase the Northern Navigation Company.

Deal Fell Through.

Four years ago the same story was told, but the deal fell through.

The R. and O. fleet in Ontario consists of the steamers Kingston, Toronto, City of Rochester, City of Belleville, Rapids, Prince and Queen. The N. N. Company steamers are the Cayuga, Chippewa, Corona, Chicora and Niagara. The Inland Navigation Company fleet consists of the Gargantua, Dundurn, Dundee, Glenfllah, Midland King, Midland Prince, Midland Queen, Mount Stephen, Neepawah, and Rosedale, Stadacona, Strathcona, Wahicondah, Winona and a new boat being built, Emperor. The Northern Navigation fleet consists of the Huronic, Hamonic, Doric, City of Midland, Germanic, Majestic, Waubic, Saronic and Ionic.

It is estimated that the total value invested will be about ten million dollars.

ELDER FLIGG MAKES A REPLY

Quotes the Bible in Answer to Strictures of Local Ministers on Latter Day Saints.

BELIEF OF THE CHURCH

The Earth Shall Be the Abode of the Redeemed — Orthodox Christian Church Criticised.

"After the manner of what they call heresy, worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things in the law and the prophets."

So commented Elder William Fligg, of the local Reorganized Latter Day Saints' Church, with these words of St. Paul's letter to the Corinthians, on the criticism to which the recent lecture in support of their doctrines in a local theatre was subjected at the meeting yesterday of the London Ministerial Alliance.

"History is simply repeating itself in our little city of London," said Elder Fligg. "It is true that we do not believe in eternal punishment, that is, in punishment which is eternal, in the sense of time. It is eternal, because it is God's punishment, the punishment imposed by eternal justice, and which always follows wrongdoing. But after punishment, salvation follows for all men. The Old Testament prophecies go to show that God will be true to the promises which he made to Israel, that they shall have the earth for an everlasting habitation. We don't look forward to enjoying heaven on the fleecy end of a cloud, but we believe that this earth shall be the abode of the redeemed.

Man-Made Systems.

"We regard the teachings and doctrines of the orthodox Christian church as man-made systems. We believe in the Bible, and the Book of Mormon as a supplement to the Bible. And ever since our church was organized in 1860 we have opposed polygamy more ardently than any other people. The Book of Mormon does not teach polygamy," emphaticaly declared Mr. Fligg.

"We would be only too willing to have the Ministerial Alliance reply to us, and to have an opportunity to defend our position. Let them criticise us openly, and not behind closed doors."

Canon Hague, who led the discussion of the Latter Day Saints' lecture in question, claims that he was very badly misquoted in one of the published reports of the alliance meeting yesterday. He stated to The Advertiser today that he had only expressed his opinion that "it might be well for the Ministerial Alliance, as a body, when somebody comes to town and publicly sets forth doctrines contrary to the Bible and common sense, to make an earnest and united pronouncement on the truth as it is in God's Word, and as it is believed by the Christians generally in this city."

TEMPERANCE MEN WERE HUMILIATED

Rev. H. A. Graham's Strong Condemnation of Premier Whitney's Actions.

NOTHING TO HOPE FOR

Ontario Government's Legislation Has Drawn to Itself the Solid Liquor Vote of the Province.

"Men of truth are needed in every walk of life," said Rev. H. A. Graham, in Wellington Street Methodist Church on Sunday. "In the home, in the church, in business, in public life, I am not given to saying things derogatory of our public men. They are as good as the people who elect them. But it is true all the same that there are too few men of high honor in public life. There are too few men who first of all are lovers of truth in our municipal councils, in our legislative halls and in our federal parliament; men who will do the right are greatly needed; tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog in public duty and in private thinking.

"One hangs his head for shame at the lack of manly and straightforward dealing on the part of our public men when any great moral question comes up for consideration.

A Humiliating Spectacle.

"It was a humiliating spectacle that the thoughtful people of this province witnessed the other day when a large and influential delegation of capable temperance workers waited upon the Premier of this province! What a reply for intelligent people to receive from the head of the Government of the first province of this great Confederation!

"I am not speaking as an enemy of the administration, for I am a Conservative. In provincial and federal elections I never cast anything but a Conservative vote. But I want to say to you that 25 per cent of the business now being done by the barrooms of this province is the direct result of the unjust protection afforded the trade by Mr. Whitney and his followers. Nay, more, it is my firm opinion that but for the three-fifths legislation our province would by this time have been without a legalized barroom.

"Scant Courtesy."

"By the scant courtesy afforded our leaders the other day, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Hanna made it plain that temperance workers have little to hope for from them.

"The three-fifths law has done these two things, and these two things only: It has consolidated the liquor vote for the party now in power, and it has made it impossible to banish the barroom in large centres of population.

"The time is now at hand for the temperance forces to consolidate their ranks and deliver themselves from the burden of this injustice."

COUNTY MUST HAVE A STEAM ROLLER

If Middlesex Wishes to Share in the Good Roads Grant.

Middlesex county council will, it is thought, decide on the purchase of a steam roller to carry on the work in connection with the good roads system at the special meeting which is to be called to consider plans for alterations and additions at the court house within the next couple of weeks.

A deputation from the council which went to Toronto during the January session in connection with other matters, was informed that if the county desires to participate in the good roads grant for the future a steam roller must be included in the equipment.

As the grant from the Government which is calculated as a percentage on the amount of work done on county roads each year, runs up to a couple of thousand dollars the county can well afford to purchase the roller. However, it can hardly be expected that all parts of the county will feel the good of the machine. It is a long trip from Dorchester to Ekfrid, and even should the county engineer desire to move the roller about it would be impossible to cross bridges erected previous to 1897 without taking chances.

The county has had a horse-drawn roller for some time, and this has done service on many of the reconstructed roads.

NOTED DOCTOR DEAD

A TOWN MAY BE INCORPORATED TO EAST OF CITY OF LONDON

A Meeting Held at Pottersburg to Break Away From Township of London and Establish a Separate Municipality. Taking in All That Portion Lying East of the City to Hale Street and From Oxford Street to the River.

A movement is on foot to incorporate as a town that portion east of the city, running along Oxford street from the city limits east to the Canadian Packing Company's corner, Hale street, thence south to the river, and westerly along the Thames to the city limits.

Steps have already been taken along this line, a meeting having been held in Pottersburg last night.

The movement is a most important one, and will have an interesting bearing on the future development of the city of London.

The present agitation is largely due to the fact that a bill was recently introduced in the Legislature that is somewhat drastic in its treatment of suburbs. The residents of the district desire to overcome this disability, if possible.

An Important Territory.

The territory is rather extensive. It contains over 1,000 acres of land, and a population estimated at 2,500.

In it are several rather large industries, among them being the Sherlock-Manning Organ Company, the Empire Brass Company, the Dominion Office Supplies Company, and others.

During the past few years there have been many fine residences erected, and great improvements have been made. The assessment of the property included in the plan is over one million dollars.

The tax rate at the present time is eight mills on the dollar. Of this one mill goes for roads, and three and two-fifth mills for the county rate, while the balance is spent on bridges throughout London Township. This section, with so large an assessment has not a bridge, and yet the people contribute considerably each year towards the maintenance of bridges in out-of-the-way portions of the township.

Move to Incorporate.

"Yes, there is a movement on foot to incorporate that section lying east of the city," said Mr. S. Frank Glass, reeve of London Township. A meeting was held to deal with the question.

A SUGGESTION TO STAMP OUT CRUELTY

Policemen Are to Aid Inspector Sanders in Bringing Miscreants to Justice.

The suggestion has been made by a citizen that it would be advisable to appoint one of the police officers as an assistant to Inspector Sanders, with a view of having him locate cases of cruelty to animals. It is pointed out that Mr. Sanders is a first-class man for such work, but that his time is so taken up now with the work of the Children's Aid that he has not the time to make as thorough an inspection as he would like to. It has been suggested that P. C. Thomas Fysh would make a good man for assistant inspector, as he takes a keen interest in such cases. Letters frequently come to the police station asking that officers be sent to look after cases of cruelty, and these are at once attended to.

"Every policeman most ably seconds the work of Inspector Sanders," said Chief Williams today. "As soon as any case is suspected, it is at once investigated."

BAKERS WILL APPEAL THE COURT'S DECISION

A Toronto Dispatch Says That Small Bread Fight Will Be Carried to Ottawa.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Feb. 21.—It is understood that Chief Justice Meredith dissents and that another judge is doubtful regarding the validity of the decision of the court of appeals that the sale of small bread should be prohibited unless offered in detached loaves, and as a result a further appeal by the bakers of Ontario to the supreme court at Ottawa is looked for.

Mr. J. C. Judd, K. C., of this city, solicitor for the local bakers, has not yet received the text of the judgment but is of the opinion that the matter will be carried further.

ADDED CURRENT BURNED PATIENT

Strange Accident in St. Thomas Surgery May Result in Lawsuit.

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 21.—The city will be made defendant in a peculiar damage suit as a result of an accident which occurred in Dr. Lipsey's office today. He was treating a patient with electrical apparatus, when the current, normally of 500 volts, became suddenly much stronger through the Hydro Electric staff conducting a test. The incandescent lamps were blown out, the doctor scratched, and the patient's neck burned.

PROF. M'PHAIL ON RECIPROCITY SATIRIZES PROPHETS OF EVIL

Editor of University Magazine Issues Statement in Favor of Reciprocity Agreement—The Rise in Stocks Discredits Anti-Reciprocity Outcry—If Selling to the United States Is Disloyal Our Loyality Is at the Mercy of the Republic.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, Que., Feb. 21.—Dr. Andrew McPhail, of McGill University, editor of the University Magazine, today issued the following statement in support of the reciprocity agreement:

On January 27th, at 4 o'clock, that is, after the stock exchanges had closed, and businessmen were deprived of the means of turning to their own advantage a situation which was designed for the general good, Mr. Fielding laid upon the table of the House of Commons certain proposals, which the Government believed were in the interests of Canada. At the same moment similar proposals devised in the interests of the United States, were submitted to the House of Representatives in Washington.

Both legislatures were free to adopt, or reject, them, as they saw fit; and each remains free to abrogate them after they are adopted. Accordingly, the arrangement is void of the fatal objections inherent in a treaty of reciprocity. The fiscal independence of each country is maintained, and neither is bound to a policy which might in time become intolerable. Reciprocity is the most vicious form of protection, because it is doubly entrenched. Concurrent legislation exists at the will of a single people.

IMPOSSIBLE HAPPENED.

When it was discovered that these proposals really meant something, they were received with incredulity. To men who had lived for thirty years under a system of protection, it seemed as if a law of nature were being violated. It was well understood that all tariff revision was to be done after the Payne-Aldrich method, or only after due report by an investigating commission. But the impossible had happened. The Government had the hardihood to frame a tariff without consulting "businessmen," and it had long been understood that no tariff could be created, unless the "steel men" gave expert advice upon the steel schedules, the "cotton men" upon the cotton schedules, and the "woollen men" upon the duties proper to be levied upon imported cloth.

PROFESSOR M'PHAIL SATIRIZES

The change from the good old days was too startling, when a tariff framer used to say to a would be beneficiary, "I want ten thousand dollars. What do you want?"

At first there was a great silence, and those who went untouched bore with fortitude the troubles of the aggrieved. They besought them not to cry out before they were hurt, lest the thong would be exchanged for the scorpion.

If they protested that the Government had no "mandate" to do this thing, there was the bitter retort that the Government would seek a mandate, and would also take the occasion to ask the people how they would like free machinery, free cloth, free coal, free everything.

THE SILENCE BROKEN.

If they said the British preference was in danger, they could so easily be reminded that a government which initiated that measure of relief might well be trusted to maintain it. And, after all, the eel is not much concerned about who it is that skins him. Silence was the proper policy, but it was intolerable. The spoiled and petted child finds it hard to yield when his whims are thwarted.

It is wise counsel to write down what we think is going to happen for the sake of seeing how far wrong we shall be. The one thing which no man has ever seen is a thing which was as bad as it looked; and possibly it might turn out that this spectre of concurrent legislation fell within that category.

But the thing was too monstrous. The interests lost their heads, and the world was presented with the ignoble spectacle of grown men grovelling at the feet of a government, beseeching protection against their competitors who are no more scrupulous than themselves, and cursing even whilst they besought.

THE PROPHETS OF EVIL.

By prophesying evil to the country they did their best to accomplish that end, and they are not yet quite done. Daily they foretell the extermination of the elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur, and the annihilation of the Canadian marine. They prophesy that the sound of the grist-mill will be heard no more at all in the land; that the railway trains will vanish below the southern horizon never to return; that the bittern shall make her nest in the harbor of St. John, and the great heron stand one-legged on the deserted shores of the Bay of Fundy, meditating upon the glories of a civilization which had disappeared. If all these gloomy prognostications are fulfilled, we shall expect that there will be nothing remaining for the great men, and the rich men, and the mighty men, but to hide themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains. For who shall be able to stand?

AN OLD STORY.

There is nothing new in this. In 1896, when the present Government came into power, the most important flour merchant in Canada declared that he should close down his mills and retire to England, as he was satisfied that the milling interest in Canada had received its death blow. Of course, nothing happened, and nothing will happen now. The old adage will remain true, that "millers' hogs are always fat." It is probable that there will be some results from these changes in the tariff, but no man is wise enough to say exactly what that change will be. Possibly certain persons will be injured, but they are precisely those who have benefitted in the past, and they may well comfort themselves by reflecting upon the favors they have enjoyed these thirty years past.

STOCKS GO UP.

There is only one method of testing public opinion upon the effect which any proposal will have on industrial values, and that is by appealing to the record of prices which the public is willing to pay. The Montreal stock exchange will yield these quotations. The schedules were brought down on Jan. 27, or "thrown on the table," as the saying is. Let us now compare the prices which prevailed at the close of the market on the day previous to that event with those which are recorded for Feb. 14. There are 49 stocks listed for which quotations are given for both days, and the average value increased by 2.22 points. Let us now compare the values of stocks in those industries about which the greatest clamor has been raised. Canadian Pacific Railway, on Jan. 26, closed at 202½ bid; on Feb. 14 it had advanced to 212⅞ bid. Grand Trunks in London on Jan. 26 closed at 106¾ for firsts, 55¾ for seconds, and 54 to 54⅞ on actual sales of thirds. On Feb. 14, the closing figures were: Firsts, 108; thirds, 54⅞, there being no quotations for seconds. Ogilvie Milling Company closed at 129¾ and 129 respectively; Lake of the Woods, at 142 and 141½; Steel Company at 57¾ and 58⅛. Even "farmers" may be trusted to see the significance of these figures, and to test by them the sincerity of the "businessmen" who are crying out that they have been betrayed.

The railways have come in for especial commiseration. The railways may be trusted to take care of themselves if we adhere to the sound principle of minding our own business, and let the American railways mind theirs. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Mr. Hays, and the proprietors of the Canadian Northern, are quite competent to protect their east and west haul, if only their hands are not tied by an international railway commission. That is the trap we have to fear. But all railways on the American continent run east and west, and always will. With the exception of the Illinois Central, there is not a road in America which ever made any profit by north-and-south traffic.

Men who have looked below the surface are at a loss to understand why these changes were proposed, and they find the most fantastic reasons. The truth is that the thing is inevitable. Protection is wholly artificial, and cannot stand forever against the eternal demand for food. This is the beginning of the end, wether we like it or not. It is as inevitable as the suffrage and democracy. It does not matter much whether these schedules pass into law or not. If these do not, more thorough-going ones will.

Sleeping Dogs Aroused.

Had these proposals been accepted in a spirit of reasonableness, protection would have slipped away gradually, and no one been the worse. But the more stupid of the protected interests were not content to let sleeping dogs lie. The board of trade in Cobalt, and also in Montreal the Gloucester fishermen, and the cranberry growers' association of Cape Cod said a great many foolish things, which have precipitated a struggle of which there can be only one result.

Up to the present the people have demonstrated their willingness to grant protection to sundry industries, because it is entirely probable that in a new country certain industries require protection, but now they are beginning to discover that possibly that excellent end can be attained without handing over the taxing power of the government to those who propose to engage in those enterprises. Let those, they say, who ask for protection, come up to the front, and let us inquire how much they think they need, and why they want it. Let us put them to the question, and ascertain if their failure in competition is due to physical difficulties or to their own native incapacity and natural laziness. Let us ascertain if they waste too much time over their fun-rooms, and dull their brain with excess of food and drink. If they are shoe-makers do they stick to their lasts? If they are cotton-spinners, do they tend their wheels, or do they idle their summers by the sea and their winters in the balmy air of Egypt? If they cannot pay dividends, let us ask them what they expect to pay them on. Is it upon capital such as the farmer uses to purchase his farm, or is it upon a figment which is created in a promoter's brain? If workmen find themselves out of work as the result of closing a factory, it might be possible to support them in idleness, at a profit, in some of those commodious hotels which exist in Montreal and Toronto. Under the present system we do not know how much good the country is gaining from protection, or how much we pay for it.

Contradictory Statements.

Interested persons are saying things which are contradictory, which creates the suspicion that both cannot be true and that possibly each is false. Into a perverse and ignorant mind, which is narrowed by slothfulness, and blinded by prejudice and self-interest, no truth can enter. Accustomed to the good of the individual alone, it cannot conceive of a condition which might be good for both parties to a transaction. The whole value of exchange lies in that, in mutual benefit. The buyer is always a seller, and the better he sells and buys, the better he buys and sells.

In one quarter it is claimed that no one will benefit but the farmers; in other quarters the solicitude for the farmers is something piteous to see, because he is deluding himself with the belief that he will obtain higher prices. Others reprehend the farmer for his callousness towards the consumer because prices will be raised. So apparently the price of a given commodity is to be raised and lowered at the same moment. The truth is that a wide market makes for lower prices, and yet greater profits to the producer. Any manufacturer knows that, and it is just as true in farming. With a sure market even at a low price a larger area is planted and better means of cultivation are employed. A farmer never plants largely unless he is certain that he can sell at a fair price, and that his crop will not be left on his hands.

There are certain subjects of which one does not speak unless he is compelled to. They are taken for granted, like the honor of a patriot, the virtue of a woman, the fidelity of a friend, the loyalty of a subject. And yet into this matter of trade the question of loyalty has been wantonly forced. To put it roughly, we are told that if we are allowed to trade with the United States we shall become disloyal. This suggests that those who utter the calumny are themselves loyal for their bellies' sake. The attempt to put the stigma of disloyalty upon those who confident in their own ability to meet the whole world in competition, ask for nothing but freedom, gives force to the dictum of Samuel Johnson, which is so well known in this connection that it need not be quoted.

Who Is to Bell the Cat?

If to sell to the United States is to become disloyal, then is our loyalty at the mercy of the United States, at any moment they, feeling the pinch of a famine, choose to abandon paying duties to themselves upon the goods which they import. The thing looks too easy to be true. But we are offered a ready remedy against that, too; namely, the imposition of an export duty. We are not told, however, who is to erect that Chinese wall; not surely the farmers who form 63 per cent of the people of Canada. They have been willing to pay artificially high prices. They would have to be pretty clearly convinced before they would be content to receive artificially low ones, for what they have to sell. In other words, what mouse is to put the bell on the cat?

ROBT. POLLARD DIED AS RESULT OF INJURY

Was Operating a Saw When He Was Struck by a Piece of Timber.

Mr. Robert Pollard, of 205 Edward street, died in Victoria Hospital early this morning from injuries he received some time ago.

While operating a saw, a piece of wood that he was cutting stuck, and was hurled from his hand with terrific force.

It struck him in the abdomen, causing a terrible injury.

Dr. Jarvis attended Mr. Pollard, but he never recovered from the shock and gradually grew worse.

Mr. Pollard was 68 years old, and besides his wife leaves a grown-up family. Mrs. Legg, of 559 Waterloo street, is a sister.

ANOTHER DIRIGIBLE.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—The German war office placed an order for another dirigible balloon of the Parseval type for the use of the army. The specifications provide that the airship have motors developing 320 horsepower, which will assure a speed of 36 miles an hour. A wireless outfit is to be a part of the equipment.

The average locomotive consists of about 5,416 pieces.

A "CURE" FOR BALDNESS?

The above expression is one which is used frequently in connection with hair preparations. Just exactly what is meant by it in each instance is a question. Baldness is not a disease and hence, does not permit of a cure. It is a result invariably to be traced to the dandruff germ and if the condition has become chronic, that is, if there is complete atrophy of the hair follicles, a "cure" is absolutely impossible.

Approaching baldness, seen in falling hair, may always be checked and if the hair follicles are not atrophied the hair may be induced again to grow.

This is accomplished by regular applications of Newbro's Herpicide which cleanses the scalp and kills the dandruff germ. The destruction of the germ does away with the accumulations of scarf skin and thus eliminates the most common enemy to beautiful hair.

Soft, glossy, fluffy hair cannot grow on a scalp infested with dandruff any more than a delicate plant can grow on an ash heap. The scalp must be kept clean and free from dandruff. The best remedy for doing this is Newbro's Herpicide which receives the highest indorsements from professional men, the stage and the best people everywhere.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed in one dollar size bottles by all druggists. Applications obtained at all first-class barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Address The Herpicide Company, Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., inclosing 10 cents in postage or silver for sample and booklet. Anderson & Nelles, 268 Dundas street, special agents.

SYNDICATE TO TAKE OVER GOULD HOLDINGS

Immense Deal Is Reported To Be Under Way in Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 21.—It is reported today that a syndicate is being organized to take over the complete Gould holdings of railroad stock.

This operation would involve nearly $100,000,000 of underwriting and would be one of the greatest transfers of wealth in the history of the country—a veritable financial abdication.

This portion of the report was verified in official quarters, that the Gould holdings of Missouri Pacific have actually been offered at a fixed price, something above $70 a share. A prominent banker is authority for the statement that all of the other Gould holdings will be offered in a short time.

According to the report the holdings of the Gould estate, as well as those of George Gould, are to be taken over by the Rockefeller-Kuhn-Loeb pool.

BISHOP FALLON IS QUITE UNCONCERNED

Pays No Attention Whatever to French-Canadian Societies' Resolutions.

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—From present indications the storm that threatened as a result of resolutions passed by various societies against Bishop Fallon's attendance at the consecration of Archbishop Gauthier will pass away. Bishop Fallon himself is apparently absolutely unconcerned over the matter and laughs whenever it is mentioned.

Bishop Fallon has hundreds of friends in this city, and they called on him today and talked with him. He laughed when they referred to the resolutions, but he would not discuss the question, giving the impression that he did not take the matter seriously. He believes it will pass over.

Last week St. Jean Baptiste Society passed a resolution declining to present an address of welcome to the archbishop if Bishop Fallon attended, and they were backed up by the French-Canadian Educational Association. Today, however, some relented, and, despite the presence of the London cleric, started a movement to welcome the archbishop.

It is known that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Elzar Taschereau, Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Mr. Justice Girouard and other leading French-Canadian citizens are dissatisfied with the stand taken by their compatriots.

Among a large section of French-Canadians, the educational association's action in presuming to represent all people of that nationality is looked upon as rather nervy and some strong comments have been made.

Bishop Fallon's name is on a list of guests invited to a reception which Sir Elzar Taschereau is to give in honor of Mgr. Gauthier.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed, I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifing the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

JAPANESE CONFLICT WITHIN 10 MONTHS

Representative Hobson Declares War With United States Is Inevitable

THE AMERICANS TO WIN

Fighting Will Last From Five to Ten Years, and Will Be Carried Into Japanese Territory.

Washington, Feb. 21.—That Japan and the United States will be fighting in less than ten months, and will engage in a struggle that may continue for five or even ten years, was the startling prediction made by Representative R. Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, who used to be an officer in the navy, on the floor of the House of Representatives today.

"The Panama Canal will be destroyed," he said, "and in the end this nation will carry the war to Japan and conquer that kingdom."

"We will be struck. And when we are—gentlemen may differ with me as to the time, but I firmly believe it can be counted in months on the fingers of my two hands—we will find ourselves practically powerless. The nations of the world will call on us to give up the war and not continue to disturb the peace of the world just as we did with Russia in her war with Japan. Our own finances will demand that we end an apparently hopeless struggle.

Won't Give Up.

"But we will not give up. We will fight on, angered and humiliated, until it becomes a mere question of resources. Ever since we went into Hawaii, ever since we took possession of the Philippine Islands, declining to let Japan in there with us, ever since their citizens came to this country and received the treatment from our people that the difference in race made inevitable, Japan has been preparing for war with us. And the Japanese in this country are helping her."

Clever Financier.

Representative Gaines, of West Virginia, asked Mr. Hobson if Japan would find it impossible to finance a war with the United States.

"Japan," Mr. Hobson replied, "is the only nation today that is clever enough to finance a war before it begins. She is bankrupt today because she has already financed the war she will wage against us."

The Alabama member urged the creation of a vast standing army and the building of a great navy as the only solution of the problem. He contended that the navy of the United States is at present inadequate. At least four battleships instead of the two proposed by the naval committee should, in his opinion, be built. Then Mr. Hobson described in detail the terrible conflict to be waged.

"We must not try to strike the enemy in the early stages of the war," he said. "We will never have the use of the Panama Canal. There will be a long struggle for the control of the waterway. The Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Guatamala, all our island possessions in the Pacific, Alaska, San Francisco and the Puget Sound region will be taken by the enemy. We will spend at least $60,000,000 for transport service to the canal zone and millions to increase our navy.

"Having at last driven the enemy from the canal we will send our fleet into the Pacific and try to cut the enemy from his base. There will be a great battle. If we lose we will build a great new navy and the war will be prolonged many years. If we win we will send an army of our own to the Pacific coast and drive out the enemy."

Mr. Hobson then depicted the stand Japan will make at Hawaii, which, he added, would be taken after a long siege, and then, after five or six years of terrific international combat the United States would retake Guam and the Philippines, make a dash to Korea, confine the Japanese to their own island kingdom and then subjugate that.

"That," said Mr. Hobson, "is the future that we, a peace-loving people, have in store for us, simply because we will not spend a very small proportion of our great wealth in preparation for war. The war may come on the Atlantic side. A European power may strike us, too, and if it does, the result will be practically the same as I have described on the Pacific."

Quite a number of members of the House heard Mr. Hobson's speech. They did not appear to be alarmed over the elasticity of Mr. Hobson's imagination.

DETROIT EXCURSIONS DISCUSSED IN COUNCIL

Finance Committee Will Take Up the Matter and See What Can Be Done.

Mayor Beattie brought up the question of excursions to Detroit, at the meeting of the city council last night, and the finance committee will deal with the question.

In his communication, his worship pointed out that the Grand Trunk had booked already 15 excursions to Detroit, the fare being $1.85. Last year 14 excursions had taken 8,500 people to Detroit, the fare then being $1.45.

"This is a serious matter," continued Mayor Beattie. "Last year a deputation waited on the Eastern Passenger Association, and were promised that the company would equalize the rates. All they have done is raise the rates to Detroit, giving the railway companies more money.

Ald. Cooper saw visions of thousands of people coming to London if the rates were only lowered to this city.

"The companies do not discriminate against us," declared Ald. Eckert. "They follow the line of least resistance. Our people want to go to Detroit, and they do go. The rate does not matter much. We should have excursions into London as well, and I think a reasonable fare should be given. I move that the matter be sent to No. 1 committee to look into."

A Matter of Business.

Ald. Tancock wanted to frame up a resolution condemning the Passenger Association for their action, but it was withdrawn.

"It is a straight matter of business," declared Ald. Mitchell. "The moment you convince the Passenger Association that there is enough attraction here to bring people to London, they will give you the rates. Make your city so attractive that they will come, and the rate matter will soon adjust itself. Make our city worth while."

Ald. Richter thought that the finance committee could take the matter up with the association, and some results would accrue. The fare to Detroit was lower than that to Toronto, owing to the competition afforded by the Sarnia water route. London should be given fair treatment.

Ald. Eckert's motion to refer the matter to the finance committee, carried.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Portland, Maine, Feb. 21.—Two boys, Fred E. Rich, 12 years, and Fred York, aged 14, sons of Long Island fishermen, were drowned when their little fishing boat was run down and sunk near Diamond Island by the Government steamer Henry Wilson last night. The wrecked boat was cut in two by the blow.

Two and a Half Hours on Operating Table

SPECIALIST COULD NOT REMOVE STONE IN THE BLADDER.

GIN PILLS PASSED IT.

Joliette, P. Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life." 46

LONDON, TUESDAY, FEB. 21.

A PATRIOTIC CONSERVATIVE.

The Victoria Colonist, the leading Conservative journal of the west, continues to perform a national and patriotic service by combatting the influences in its own party which are attempting to raise a loyalty cry over the reciprocity issue. In this good work it has the co-operation of several influential Conservative contemporaries in Ontario, among them the Ottawa Citizen, the Ottawa Journal, and the Kingston Standard. The Hamilton Herald, a neutral journal, with strong protectionist leanings, is also an advocate of the agreement. When the question is put to a vote at Ottawa, it will probably be found that the Opposition is no more united than the Conservative press. The opponents of the agreement are making a great noise at present, but there will be as great a silence when the farmers are enjoying the benefit of the free American market.

The Colonist puts forward an argument which has been frequently advanced in the course of the discussion on reciprocity, and has not been answered. It says:

"We draw attention to the fact that it is not access by the United States to our markets that is supposed to wean us away from the Empire, but our access to the markets of the United States. Those who advance this theory seem to forget that it implies ability on the part of the United States to draw Canada into the Union whenever the people of that country see fit. If by admitting certain products free of duty our neighbors can weaken our allegiance to the mother country, by removing all duties from Canadian products they would presumably complete the work of severance. But is there any man who believes that, if the Congress of the United States should pass a law saying that thereafter all the products of Canada should be admitted into that country duty free, Canada would be seized with a desire for annexation? If anyone does hold such a view, it would be interesting to know the process of reasoning by which he reaches it."

There is no process of reasoning at all by those who affect to hold the view challenged by the Colonist. They are merely shrieking or sentimentalizing with no regard to fact or logic.

THE MENACE OF THE PLAGUE.

The bubonic plague, which has been destroying scores of thousands in Manchuria, entirely baffling the efforts of physicians to check its career, was yesterday reported to have arrived in Glasgow and East Anglia. For some time there has been a dread of the rat-plague's starting in England. The rabbit mortality in Suffolk, which would probably have set the plague going among the human population of an Oriental country, put Britain on its guard. Physicians have been watchful, and rat crusades have been in progress for some time in the great port cities. No doubt there may be some little panic in Glasgow over the plague's actual arrival, but sporadic cases are ever and anon occurring in such cities and are effectually dealt with by the authorities.

It is only lately that the true nature of the plague has been discovered. Primarily a disease of rats, it is conveyed from them by fleas to the human body, just as the mosquito carries malaria from one human being to another. So long as the rat which has plague remains alive and fairly well, its fleas do not leave it; when it becomes moribund, the fleas desert the sinking animal and seek harborage elsewhere. Some pass to other rats, some to human beings, and by their bites convey the infection into the veins of the new victims. In the usual form of bubonic plague, which results from this local infection by the flea, danger of direct case-to-case spread is probably absent; only when the disease attacks the lungs with pneumonia, in the severer form, is there serious danger either from sputa or by inhalation of minute particles from coughing. There is thus less difficulty in nursing cases of plague than is commonly thought; in fact, it is possible to treat both cholera and bubonic plagues in the wards of a general hospital, as they are not spread by atmospheric contagion. So, in a country where the people do not live en famille with rats and fleas, even though the rats should develop plague, the danger of a human epidemic is not so great.

At the same time, a large population of rats is menacing enough, though they be but underground neighbors, and not household companions. It would be hard to say just what might happen in a great city like London if the plague should get well started among the rats. It is an animal very hard to root out, especially in a hurry. The cat, after all, is found to be the best offensive weapon; that dear, old, fireside creature, who licks her dainty paws and blinks the green light from those deep, diabolical eyes.

It is wonderful how long this black death has held away over rats and men. It prevailed in Roman times; in the Middle Ages, Gregory the Great exercised it with prayer and penance, but it kept coming, or, rather, it never went away, always simmering in the filth-infested cities, now and then bursting out with particular fury. India, with its huddled population, has always been the home, sweet home, of the Black Death. But the present epidemic in Manchuria shows that it respects cold no more than torrid climes.

DR. McPHAIL ON RECIPROCITY.

Dr McPhail's notable powers of satire and sarcasm are being exercised upon the reciprocity agreement, or, rather, upon some of its opponents. The professional loyalists are mercilessly impaled upon his caustic pen. If to sell to the United States is to become disloyal, then is our loyalty at the mercy of the United States, which may at any moment take down its tariff walls. The only remedy would be imposition of an export duty upon all the Canadian farmer has to sell. "What mouse is to bell the cat?" asks Dr. McPhail.

Dr. McPhail cleverly chaffs the prophets of evil. The lamentations that all the air are echoes of the cries of fifteen years ago. It is significant that since the agreement was published there has been a rise in the value of stocks in those concerns about which the greatest clamor has been made. The transcontinental railways have come in for special commiseration, but Dr. McPhail points out that all railways on the American continent run east and west, and always will. He might have added that Sir Donald Mann, of the Canadian Northern, has declared that reciprocity will benefit the Canadian railways, and that he is the only railway magnate who has delivered a reasoned opinion on the subject. Sir William Mackenzie was inclined at first to decry the agreement, but afterwards qualified his views. Dr. McPhail's free trade sympathies dispose him to see in the agreement the beginning of the end of protection. The end is probably a good deal farther off than he hopes for, but one has no need to be a free trader to agree with him that the protected interests would do well to let sleeping dogs lie. The bargain with Washington deals very gently with Canadian industries, and those who are combatting it run the risk of rousing the forces in the country, especially in the west, which would sweep away all tarin barriers.

Dr. McPhail is an ardent Imperialist, and one of the foremost literary publicists of the country. His statement is a corrective of the hysterics of another McGill professor, Stephen Leacock, who seems to be suffering from temporary aberration.

Champ Clark is a chump.

Today Mr. Asquith brings down his veto bill to cut the noble claws which mangled the British constitution.

"Canada's loyalty is not in her wallet," says the president of the Stratford Board of Trade. The loyalty howlers are answered in an epigram.

We knew it would come. The Guelph Herald parrots the cry, "A British subject I was born; a British subject I will die." It's a fine sentiment, but why drag it into the gutter?

The Manitoba Government says it prefers the British preference to reciprocity. But the British preference and reciprocity are not opposed, and the Manitoba Government would flee from a proposal of further favors to the mother country.

Ottawa authorities had nothing to do with Travers' return to Kingston before he had finished his evidence, and an apology is due the department of justice from those who circulated the dastardly statement that it had ordered Travers back to shield offenders in high places.

A meeting was held in New York last night to oppose a peace treaty between Britain and the United States. This will be good news to the Canadians who are doing all they can to stir up enmity between the United States and the Empire.

The Toronto Telegram says that Canada in her wealth today should refuse the sordid proffer of reciprocity which she rejected in 1891 in her direst poverty. Aside from the fact that Canada never refused such an offer as the United States makes today, isn't it rough on the National Policy to say that Canada was in the direst poverty eleven years after its adoption?

An original character has passed away in the death of Jean Baptiste Morin, former M. P. for Dorchester, Que. He left Quebec early and made a fortune in the United States, returning after 32 years' absence to his native parish, where he became monarch of all he surveyed. Not even the Liberal tidal waves of three elections could dislodge him. He looked and spoke like a habitant, and the House of Commons enjoyed him hugely. His quaint personality reminded one of the portraits in Dr. Drummond's poems.

The Buffalo News thus expresses the sentiment of thinking Americans:

"The best thing that can happen for the United States for generations to come is to have a great and strong state growing up on the north beside the Union. There is enough difference between the two nations to make them equally valuable to each other for stimulation, healthy rivalry, criticism, differing ways of working out destiny, but always with the most friendly relations and the sense that they bear in their arms more of human hope and happiness than any other two countries on the footstool.

"It is impertinence, folly or knavery, or a combination of all three, to thrust the notion of annexation into any debate of a subject of common interest to the Union and the Dominion."

Some little girls were boasting of their respective families. They had passed from clothes to personal appearance, and finally came to parental dignity. The minister's little girl boosted: "Every package that comes for my father is marked 'D. D.'"

"And every package that comes for my papa is marked 'M. D.'" retorted the daughter of physician.

Then followed a look of contempt from the youngest of the party. "Huh!" she exclaimed, "every package that comes to our house has three letters on it, 'C. O. D.'"

A QUICK SHIFT.
[Continent.]

A Scottish parson, remarkable for the simple force of his pulpit style, was enlarging one Sunday upon the text, "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

"Yes, my friends," urged he with solemn earnestness, "unless ye repent ye shall as surely perish," deftly placing his left forefinger on the wing of a blue-bottle fly that had just alighted upon the reading desk while the parson's right hand was uplifted, "just as surely as, my friends, I flatten this poor fly."

But before the threatened blow descended the fly got away, whereupon the minister further "improved the occasion" with ready wit, exclaiming, "There's a chance for ye yet, my friends."

ESSEX FRUIT MEN UNAFRAID.
[Sarnia Observer.]

While the fruit growers in Essex see great opportunities for them in the admission of orchard and garden products free across the border, the fruit growers of Niagara are shouting that the free admission of fruit from the States into Canada will ruin them. Why should the men in Niagara fear the opening of the markets to producers in both countries any more than do the men of Essex.

CHEAPENING THE ALMIGHTY.
[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]

In pagan days the gods were expected to be partisans and to come down and fight in the party ranks. But is it not the boast of Christian civilization that it has outlived such barbarous notions? How is it that so many of those who profess to preach the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man are such violent champions of sectionalism? What is one to think of it all when at this late late an enlightened and respected minister of the gospel is found appealing to the Father of All to take part in a trade of his people and against another.

JUSTICE RIDDELL RIGHT.
[Hamilton Times.]

"Canada," said Mr. Justice Riddell the other day in an address in Toronto, "will never be under the same flag as the United States, unless and a some remote contingency the States should return to the flag that gave them birth." That is the flag that saves them birth." That is sound Canadianism. At the same time, Justice Riddell very properly placed the blame for most of the bleeding which exists between Canada and its neighbor on Toronto, where pinheaded partisans seek to trade on their spurious loyalty. Toronto is certainly the home of some of the smallest-minded politicians that ever disgraced a country.

THE EDUCATIONAL BUNGLE

From the Ottawa Free Press.

The position of rural school trustee in Ontario these days is by no means an enviable one, because it implies searching the byways and highways for a teacher. The country "schoolmarm" is more than scarce these days. Officials of the Whitney Government blame the west for stealing all the teachers. That doesn't help the country school trustee, who generally hasn't two or three weeks to waste looking for an instructor or instructress as the case may demand.

Sir James Whitney and the man who draws the salary for the honor of being Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. Pyne, seem perfectly helpless, or perhaps, unwilling, to remedy a bad situation. They just stubbornly assert that educational affairs are in a flourishing condition and a flag flaps over every school house in the country where few flew before they came into power.

Yet we all remember when there were lots of teachers in Ontario, and in those days the emigration to the west from Ontario was just as great as it is today. But then we had the country model schools in those days where teachers were given third-class certificates good for a limited period of years. Then it was comparatively easy for an ambitious young man or woman to enter the profession. The three or four months necessary to go through the model school required no great amount of capital. The poor man's son or daughter had a chance. But Sir James Whitney wiped out all these model schools at places in the province where the cost of living is considerably higher than at the old country seats where the models were. In so doing he deprived the poor man's son or daughter of an opportunity.

In this connection The London Advertiser has dug up some interesting comparisons. The papers says:

"The official report for 1906 is at hand, from which we quote the last full model school statistics, showing that 289 males and 1,361 females—a total of 1,750—were enrolled in the model schools of the Province for that year. Turning to the latest report of the present Minister of Education, we find that the total number enrolled in all the Normal Schools was only 121 males and 1,042 females—a total of 1,-163. But only slightly more than half of these are recruits; the remainder have taught before. That is, instead of the 1,750 in 1906 entering the profession there were scarcely 600 in 1909.

"The truth is clear that it is not the emigration of teachers to the west that is causing the scarcity, but the incompetent management of the Hon. Dr. Pyne and his advisers. Neither of them had any experience with rural school conditions. If the hydro-electric commission had selected a pair of train dispatchers to engineer the electrical construction works, it would have but been imitating Sir James Whitney's method of administering the provincial school system."

Sir James Whitney had better tell Hon. Dr. Pyne to get back to the model schools. There's many a healthy prosperous Canadian today who got his start in the model school, and if they did nothing more then give the poor but ambitious a start, they did good work.

WHITNEY CLASHES WITH FOLLOWER

McNaught Doesn't Approve New Site for Government House.

PREMIER DROPPED BILL

Proposal Before Legislature to Standardize All Pay-As-You-Enter Cars.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Feb. 21.—At a slimly-attended Monday sitting of the Legislature, Mr. W. K. McKnight took the first step toward clearing up the unsatisfactory street car situation in Toronto by introducing an amendment to the Ontario railway act, fixing the dimensions and the equipment necessary before a pay-as-you-enter car can be operated. The definition of a standard car given in the new bill follows the lines of those operated in the large United States cities, and which the city authorities have contended should be used by the Toronto Railway Company.

The first clause of the bill declares that what is known as the pay-as-you-enter system of collecting fares shall not be operated on any street railway car unless such car complies with the requirements set out in the bill.

Standard Car.

The car must have a rear platform of at least seventy-two inches deep, with a folding step not less than fifty-four inches long. The rear platform must be inclosed and properly heated and provided with a door or doors having an aggregate width of at least fifty-four inches, so arranged as to permit of the entrance and exit of passengers at one and the same time. If there is a partition between the rear platform and the body of the car, such partition must have doors or openings, so arranged as to permit of the entrance and exit of passengers at one and the same time.

The front platform must be inclosed and properly heated. It shall be provided with an exit door at least thirty inches wide, and a folding step of the same width. If there is a partition between this platform and the body of the car it must be provided with an exit door or opening not less than thirty inches wide.

The standard applies only to cities of one hundred thousand population or over, and a penalty of $100 a day for each car used which does not conform to the standard, is provided for.

Sir James Withdraws.

The bill amending the Ontario railway and municipal board act and the power commission act is no more. It would have handed over the control of all electric power companies, including the municipal systems connected with the hydro-electric, to the Ontario railway and municipal board, but it was withdrawn by Sir James Whitney. It was done so quietly that few of the members noticed its passing.

The Prime Minister moved that the bill be withdrawn and the order discharged. "For reasons which I have already stated," was the only comment Sir James made.

To Purchase Timber Licenses.

The Provincial Treasurer introduced a bill to empower the Government to expend $500,000 for the purchase of timber licenses in Algonquin National Park. The bill is a step in the policy the Government has adopted with regard to the park. Last December negotiations were concluded with the Mumn Lumber Company for the purchase of timber licenses over several hundred square miles of land surrounding the headwaters of the park. The Provincial Treasurer explained yesterday that it was not intended to expend more than $200,000 at present. There are still a great number of licenses in Algonquin Park, and these will be bought out from time to time.

During the consideration of the supplementary estimates, Sir James Whitney and Mr. W. K. McNaught engaged in an argument as to the desirability of the site chosen for the new Government House. When the additional vote for the Government House came up the member for North Toronto questioned whether a satisfactory site had been secured. He thought there was a general objection to it.

"My honorable friend, is usually well informed, but in this case he will find that he is not expressing the views of the majority of the people," retorted Sir James.

Mr. McNaught thought he had been "keeping his ear pretty close to the ground." But the Prime Minister was not convinced.

Mr. Valentine Stock thought the site was a pretty one, but too small, and suggested that the northeast corner of Queen's Park would be a desirable one. Sir James agreed that it would if it was practicable. The item was passed without further comment.

Discrimination in Gratuities.

The House in committee of supply passed most of the supplementary estimates. When the item of gratuities was reached, Mr. Allan Studholme, Labor member for Hamilton, made an unavailing protest against what he characterized as "making fish of one and fleh of another." He wanted to know why one man, who was discharged after 25 years of faithful service and with a commendation from the superintendent of his department, should be gratuitied no gratuity, while another whose services were dispensed with obtained one. The Premier explained that a person who was discharged was never given a gratuity. Hon. Col. Matheson referred to the practice of the former Government as the origin of the present system. Hon. Mr. Hanna said that there had been a statute passed providing that under no conditions would persons entering the civil service after a certain date receive gratuities. The item, which totalled $8,900, was passed, in spite of Mr. Studholme's protest that it was "not a square deal."

Second reading was given to the bill of Hon. Col. Hendrie, to facilitate inter-switching and exchange of freight between railways which come under the jurisdiction of different boards, one under the Dominion board of railway commissioners and the other under the Ontario railway and municipal board. Col. Hendrie's attention has been directed to the need of some such enactment because of the conditions of affairs at Preston, suggested to Chairman Leitch of the Ontario board that he meet Hon. Mr. Meiken, chairman of the Dominion commission, to arrive at a modus vivendi. In the Dominion House a similar bill to Col. Hendrie's will be introduced during the present session, on which conditions the Ontario bill will become law.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane's bill confirming an agreement respecting the Ontario and Minnesota Power Company was given its second reading.

Hon. Mr. Foy explained the provisions of his bill respecting maintenance of wives deserted by their husbands, pointing out that it was intended to provide relief for women in circumstances which would prevent them from seeking it in ordinary courts of law. The allowance to be paid to a deserted wife was suggested to be not more than $5 per week, but this was amended on the suggestion of Mr. Sam Clarke (West Northumberland), to allow a sum not exceeding $10 a week.

Mr. A. A. Mahaffy (Muskoka), obtained the second reading of his bill to amend the assessment act by specifying that boilers and engines, as parts of fixed machinery, are to be exempt from taxation. The act as worded exempts certain fixed machinery and assessors generally omit boilers and engines from their category, though some assess them, but judges on appeal sometimes upset the assessor's action. The bill is to remove the ambiguity.

Mr. W. H. Hoyle, member for North Ontario, introduced a bill to amend the municipal act. The principal clause of the bill relates to bridges and defines as a county bridge one of eighty feet or over, in addition to ten feet at each end for approaches.

EMPHATIC DENIAL BY MR. STRATTON

Says He Had Nothing to Do With Promoting Farmers' Bank.

Peterboro, Feb. 21.—In a statement issued by Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P., he denies absolutely any participation in the negotiations upon which the conspiracy charges now being tried are based.

"In no manner, shape or form, direct or indirect," he says, "had I anything to do, nor did I assist in connection with the promotion or the organization of the Farmers' Bank. I had no conversation with any of the provisional or subsequent directors."

Mr. Stratton further declares that he never had any communication with the minister of finance or any other officer of the Dominion Government regarding the incorporation, and that he never received any moneys in connection with the organization. His only connection with the bank was the purely technical one of the presidency of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, which made a loan to the bank in the ordinary course of business.

Mr. Stratton adds that Hugh Charles, of Montreal, was mistaken if he (Mr. Charles) made the statement that Mr. Stratton had ever told him that by advancing $80,000 to the bank he (Mr. Stratton) had made a substantial commission.

NEARLY CHOKED

The children soon get choked up with a cold. Mrs. Fred Horne, of Newcastle, N. B., says: "My little 8-year-old son Arthur contracted a heavy cold. He coughed all night, and although he coughed up quantities of phlegm, the breathing passages did not clear, and I had thought he would choke for want of air. Our druggist recommended Hyomei. In less than half an hour it stopped the coughing, the choking sensation gradually died away, and there was no further trouble."

IRISH-AMERICANS OPPOSE TREATY

Objection to an Arbitration Pact With Great Britain.

New York, Feb. 20.—"On the eve of Washington's birthday, from a patriotic motive and for the welfare of our common country," a joint mass meeting of the German-American and Irish-American societies of New York was held at Cooper Union tonight to protest against the proposed arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

"Mindful of the warning in Washington's farewell address," said Theodore Sutro, state president of the German-American Alliance, "we are here to express our opposition to closer relations with England even in the guise of a broader arbitration treaty than the one now existing. In the words of George Washington, 'So far as we have already formed engagements let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop.'"

John Devoy, representing the Irish-American Protestants, declared that their objection to closer alliance with England were not prompted by the situation in Ireland, but that their reasons were strictly American reasons—that closer alliance with England would be bad for America.

The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions opposing the proposed treaty.

Of Interest To Women

Cynthia Grey's After-Supper Talks

LET'S LISTEN TO BABY'S APPEAL

Why do we—every last one of us—want to kiss the baby? And why do we invariably do it unless the mother has courage enough to protest?

Perhaps it's because all of us—even the worst of us—have a deep well of love in our hearts for that which the baby embodies—purity—and our impulse is to express our worship by a kiss.

And we rock the baby until his little stomach rebels in nausea.

We dance him on our knees until his little brain is addled.

We pin him into tight bands and then wonder why he cries.

We put a nasty "pacifier" into his sweet little mouth to keep him still, when he needs to cry and expand his lungs. Then he has colic, and adenoids later.

And why do we do all these things? Just because we're crazy about baby, of course. But we really want to do the best for baby, and we are beginning to see things as they ought to be seen.

Women all over the world are waking up to their own motherly selfishness and the baby's real needs, and we are going to have healthier, happier babies in the future.

Great Britain's Women's Health Association has planned a "caravan campaign" to send a doctor and nurses through the country, who will teach mothers how to care for themselves, their homes and their children. Handbills on these subjects are being prepared, one of which, entitled "The Cry of the Children of the Mothers of Great Britain," runs as follows:

"Please let me sleep in a cot all to myself, and keep my nursery window open.

"Please feed me regularly, let me sleep all I want, and don't stick pins into my clothes, and then I promise not to cry.

"Please scald or sterilize dairy milk before giving it to me to drink, and remember to cleanse and scald my bottle every time I use it.

"Please don't give me artificial foods unless ordered by the doctor, or scraps of anything left over by 'grown-ups,' or I am afraid I shall be ill.

"Please let me have loose clothes, as I love to move my arms and kick with my legs quite a lot.

"Please give me a bath every day, and let me splash about as much as I like.

"Please let me out in the open air all you can.

"Please don't let lots of stupid grown-upus kiss and dandle me; it makes me so cross."

MERIT POLITENESS AND YOU GET IT

MLLE. CECIL SOREL.

Paris, Feb. 21.—When M. Francois de Tessan declared that politeness is rapidly dying out in France, he stirred up quite a row.

Mlle. Cecil Sorel, "the prettiest and politest woman in all Europe," whose hand an earl of England is said to be striving for in vain, was asked what she thought of it, especially as regards the courtesy of men toward women. Her answer was quite simple. She said:

"One always has the politeness displayed toward them that one merits."

For some reason the row over the politeness stopped as suddenly as it had begun. Mlle. Sorel's reply ended it.

THE SPRING HATS.

The spring hats have arrived and they differ from the hats of the present season in that they are worn at such an angle that a fringe of hair is shown about the cheeks and temples, softening the outline of the features. This feature is settled. The hats will be worn off the face. Even where there is a modification of the mushroom shape in the crown, the brim is turned back or is tilted off the face. Another point is settled, and that is that the shapes will be large. The large hat is more youthful, and for that reason poplar with women. Even when the new straw is a turban it is a broad, large turban.

The straws are usually of fine weave, and are all light in weight. Milliners been amazed at the revolt against the heavy hat, and have provided against it this season. The hats, no matter how large, will be of medium weight.

Of shapes there has never been so great a variety. There is a modification of the old, nearly always becoming Gainsborough. There is a suggestion of the sombrero pushed negligently off the forehead; the Napoleon, or tri-corner hat is reproduced in lighter weight straw, but turned back so far from the face that it looks rather like a revival of the poke. There is a high scoop hat, with the variation of being tilted upward on the right side. The popcorn hat, so called because of the roughness of the light straw, suggests popcorn balls, is a variation of the toque set far back on the head to discover the hair. And there is the turban wide and large, that has the virtue of being "becoming to all faces."

CHAPTER X.

A Rough Bit of Road.

When Dick arrived at the dinner table he found his guests already seated in the midst of a silence which was far from soothing. His uncle sat at the head of the table looking like the reincarnation of a thunder cloud, the count was toying with a spoon on which his gaze was concentrated. His eyebrows were raised, and his smile seemed a personal taunt to Dick.

Dick took his seat rather noisily, and said heartily: "There is nothing so conducive to good digestion as a liberal mixture of conversation with the food. I have often thought that the reason our ancestors were able to abuse their stomachs as carelessly and as constantly as they did, was because they were a cheerful social lot, and never let their business intrude on their pleasures, one of the most important of which was eating."

The butler placed the soup and the others gave it their entire attention.

"It would be helpful to know," continued Dick courageously, "whether or not man enjoys life as much as some of the other animals. Our appetites were given to us as guides, but we have overcome them and made slaves of them for the most part. Of course, in some cases they are too powerful to surrender, and very often their rebellion is successful and we become slaves of them. Any system which attempts to run with master and slave is doomed—even the human system. All our suffering, our failures and our vices are due to a refusal to live democratically with our appetites and desires. We no longer feel actual hunger, but a cultivated desire for some artificial blending of unnatural flavors. It is the same with the rest of our appetites."

The butler took the empty soup plates away.

"To be sure, the brutes do not really converse at their meals," resumed Dick, as though he were holding his listeners spellbound, "but at the same time they make noises to indicate that the exercise is a pleasant one. It is extremely agreeable to hear a stable of cows or horses eating their evening meal. Especially is this true of a military stable after the horses have been vigorously exercised, rubbed down, freshly bedded and newly fed—the cheerful crunching, the soft sighs of contentment, the bustling of the hay just for the fun of hearing it rustle. And then take a kennel of dogs, the growling and grunting is not of ill-humor, but is merely their distinctive method of expressing approval."

The butler brought in and distributed the fish. He walked without making the slightest sound.

"The cat wishes to display the mouse before she devours it, or if she is spreading a feast for her kittens she makes a peculiar throaty gurgle to instil into their young minds the virtue of encouraging the appetites; but man is never content to make a pact with nature. Appetites are originally natural, therefore they must be remodelled. The imperious in man's character causes him untold pain. It would be much easier to co-operate with nature than completely to overcome her; but man is unable to see it. He is not content to rule the earth as a species, nor even as a race; he must rule it as an individual. He tries to cut himself loose from his fellows, he tries to cut himself loose from nature itself, and struggle up, up to where he will have dominion over all other forces—and the hatred of every creature possessing the rudiments of a mind. I delight in social intercourse"—Dick's voice was becoming more emphatic as he gradually lost patience—"but if fate ordains that I eat in the midst of four mummies and a mechanical toy, I can stand it just as long as they can, longer, for at least I shall have something pleasant to think about."

At last the coffee was brought, and Bannington cleared his throat twice and asked abruptly: "What are you going to do to celebrate the Fourth of July? Tomorrow is the Fourth."

Dick stirred his coffee without noticing the remark, and his uncle's face began to burn. "Are you my nephew, or not?" he demanded.

"That is a matter which I have never investigated," gently replied Dick, who found the opportunity irresistible, "but for the sake of argument I am willing to concede it."

"I asked you a question and I expect an answer. 'What are you going to do to celebrate the Fourth?'"

"I think I shall stroll in the park and exercise Mulligan," answered Dick.

"A typical sample of your patriotism!" retorted Bannington. "Here you rush about shouting for freedom and independence, and yet you celebrate our national independence day by associating with a bulldog—which I must admit seems the society you are best adapted to."

"To which you are best adapted," corrected Dick impersonally, while his uncle's teeth gritted together. "Did you ever stop to consider," continued Dick, as though to an inquiring child, "that the Fourth of July is not a truly national day of independence. This entire nation did not attempt to gain independence in the American revolution—it was only the gained independence. The workers continued to be exploited just the same and capitalistic class which attempted and to just the same extent."

"Oh, rot!"

"It is not rot, it is the simple truth," rejoined Dick, but before he could continue, Emil began to squirm in his seat, to rumble in his throat, and, finally, raising his inevitable forefinger, he said solemnly:

"Of a truth the American revolution most other wars resembles." Lorrain gave a despairing sigh which was half a groan, and Emil turned to him and said, "I will not upon figures touch; I will simply the short outline of a few wars sketch."

"What do we want with the short outline of a few wars?" asked Bannington testily.

"So that we can the better understand why was the American revolution," answered Emil, respectfully and seriously. As there was no active protest, Emil straightened in his chair and asked with accusing abruptness: "What happened in India?" Nothing could have been less in the minds of his listeners, and the only response was a shifting in the chairs. "I will tell you: Just what has always happened when robbery was planned upon a large scale. The East India Company was at first nothing but a gang of licensed pirates; but they saw that in order the surplus products of labor to seize, first must they grab the government. You see? Always the government must be owned by the big robbers, always has it been; now, still is it. When Lord Clive was tried for stealing a few tons of rupees for himself, what cleared him? The fact that he a patriot was, and that he had not stolen all there was to steal.

"Again, what about the Boer war? Were the Boers simple-hearted patriots, and the British tyrannical conquerors? Not so; they fought to see which set of capitalists should exploit the men who work in the gold mines of the Rand and in the diamond mines of Kimberly. The man behind the gun, he is also behind the times, many, many years. He knows how to aim, but not why.

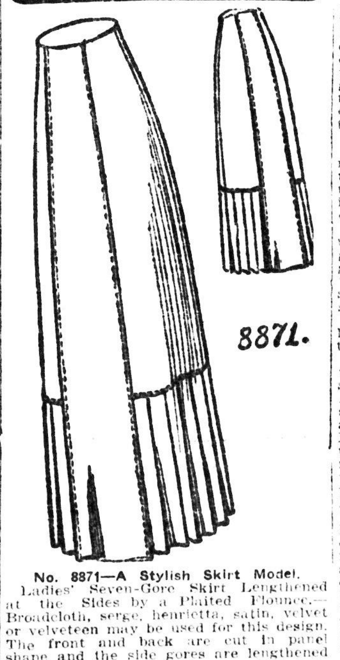

"Again, take one little look at your war with Spain. Was it because Spain was cruel? Oh, that is to laugh! Russia can persecute thousands, but you talk not war with Russia. One day it will be known that because Cuba sugar raised, the great United States went to war with her. Now, the people did not know, the people are patriots—and dupes. They know not even how it is that the opinions which they call their own are injected into them with shrewd and secret skill. The poor boys who were killed by Spanish bullets and American meat supposed they were dying for their flag. This is why it is not all funny to climb up high and look down at a war.

"Because freemen work cheaper than chattel slaves, and because the men in the north saw a chance to make money in the south, was why what is the civil war called, was fought; but we shall now turn to the American revolution. Everybody knows that the fathers of the revolution were smugglers and land-thieves, and that they were held back from grabbing more by the capitalists of England who owned the government. All commerce had to be on ships built in England carried, they could not anything manufacture which could in England be manufactured, all their best products must to England be sold. In Maine all trees over two feet in diameter must for the royal navy be saved. Everywhere no sooner was a chance found to get a profit from toilers, than it was grabbed away to England. Of course, this no difference made to the toilers who were getting just a living, could get no less, and would get no more; but how easy to fool them it was.

Correspondence

Edited by Cynthia Grey.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you be so good as to tell me your version as to what proportion of the ordinary current expenses of running a small family of two full-grown persons, brother and sister, who cannot agree between themselves? Their deceased parent left them freehold property equally between them.

SUBSCRIBER.

A.—You do not make your meaning clear. Do you want to know what the running expenses should amount to? That depends entirely on the income. What is luxury for some might be bare necessity for others, and I do not know your circumstances. All one could advise would be to keep well within the income and allow a certain portion for doctor's fees, etc. You see, you don't tell me what you want to know.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly let me know, through an early issue of your paper, to whom one would apply for information regarding civil service examinations?

A SUBSCRIBER.

A.—Write to Civil Service Commission, Ottawa.

Dear Miss Grey,—Kindly answer the following questions in your Corner. 1. I have a white sweater which has become discolored from lying away. Is there any way of whitening it? 2. Should babies a year old have a cover over them when in the go-cart?

INQUIRER.

A.—1. You might try magnesia. Rub well with the magnesia, and put away for a few days. Then shake it out and see the effect. If it does any good, repeat the process. 2. Yes, decidedly. But don't you think a baby of that age rather young to be put in a go-cart?

NEW SALADS.

Grapefruit Salad.—Remove the tops from six green peppers, take out the seeds, fill the peppers with grapefruit pulp, finely-cut celery and English walnut meat, mixed with mayonnaise dressing. Use half as much celery as grapefruit and three English walnuts to each pepper.

Sardine Salad—One box best sardines, twelve small sour pickles, four square crackers, chop all together, moisten with juice of half a lemon. Delicious served on round pieces of toast as an appetizer at dinner or as a salad on lettuce leaves.

Cranberry Salad.—Cranberry salads serve with roast meat. Allow one package of gelatine to soak in one pint of cold water until dissolved. Pour over this two quarts of boiling cranberry juice, adding juice of one lemon, one-quarter teaspoon salt. Sugar to taste, and when cool one cup black walnut meat, and one cup of celery chopped fine.

Japanese Oranges.—The little comquards or Japanese oranges make a delicious salad. Place a lettuce leaf on an individual salad plate, then slice the comquards and lay them over it, garnishing with pecan meat. Serve with mayonnaise dressing.

QUEEN'S DRESS AT STATE FUNCTION

Court Circular Describes Her Costume at Parliament Opening.

London, Feb. 20. — How was the Queen dressed at the opening of Parliament? Various London papers described her dress as being "dull soft material," and one even said "soft grey."

This last was an obvious mistake, for the King and Queen are, of course, still in mourning for Edward VII. Equally confused were the descriptions of her royal robe. This was called "royal purple," "crimson," "scarlet," and "red." All agree that it was lined with ermine.

Perhaps the Queen herself wished that her subjects should be put right on so important a point, for the Court Circular, making a departure from its time-honored habits, prints a detailed description of the Queen's costume, which was "a princess gown of black broche velvet, with panels of jet, a robe of ruby velvet embroidered with gold, and lined with miniver, and a crown of diamonds. Her majesty also wore the two greater and two lesser Stars of Africa and diamond ornaments."

The Stars of Africa, as they should properly be called, are still invariably reported as the Cullinan diamonds. The Court Circular also speaks of the Queen's headdress as "a crown," while "the crown" was frequently referred to in the newspapers. It seems that Queen Mary did not wear "the crown," but the open bandeau of massive diamonds that she often wore as Princess of Wales.

STEVENSON—OLIVER

Miss "Sally" Oliver Becomes the Bride of a Prosperous Young Farmer.

A pleasant event took place on Feb. 15, 1911, at the residence of Mrs. Sarah Oliver, Crumlin, when her youngest daughter, Sarah, was united in marriage to Mr. David Thomas Stevenson, also of Crumlin, by the Rev. Mr. Agnew. The bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her brother James, while the wedding march was played by Mrs. James Oliver. The bride wore silk mull, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Nina Oliver, niece of the bride, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Wm. Carroll, of Byron. After the ceremony the bridal party entered the dining-room, where a sumptuous dinner was partaken of. Guests were present from London, Stratford, Ingersoll, Ripley, Dorchester, Westminster, and other places. The presents were very handsome, among them being a linen shower from the Bailey Methodist Church choir, of which the bride was a member. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson will be at home to their many friends after March 1.

THE CURSE OF THE NATION IS CONSTIPATION

"Fruit-a-tives" Alone Cures This Disease

A famous scientist states that Constipation, or non-action of the bowels, causes more deaths than all other diseases combined. Constipation inflames the Kidneys, ruins digestion, is the foundation of Rheumatism, poisons the blood, causes Headaches, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Insomnia.

Constipation is caused by a weak or sluggish liver. Bile, the only purgative of the body, is secreted by the liver, which in turn should pour out into the intestines sufficient bile to move the bowels. Unless the liver is active, there cannot be enough bile to move the bowels regularly, and Constipation is the result.

"Fruit-a-tives," the famous fruit medicine, will always cure Constipation because it acts directly on the liver—relieves the congestion — increases the quantity of bile — and strengthens the bowel muscles.

Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25 cents. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CITIES DO NOT WANT ANY GENERAL LAW

Will Oppose Some Clauses of Hon. W. J. Hanna's Assessment Act.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Representatives from London, Hamilton, Ottawa, and Toronto will meet here some time in the next two weeks to discuss with Hon. W. J. Hanna his new bill to amend the assessment act with regard to local improvements.

Organized opposition to some of the clauses is expected, as each city and town has its own method of fixing assessments, and they do not want a general law, which might compel them to completely change their systems.

COL. SAM HUGHES AT WASHINGTON

Invades the American Capital, But Nothing Terrible Happens.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Well-wishers for international peace had a scare yesterday when they learned that the American capital was to be visited by no less a promoter of British imperialism the world over than Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., of Ottawa and Toronto. A little knot of Canadians pictured the neglect into which the national defence, both in word and in military procession, would fall if the gallant colonel remained long from the scenes that know him so well and hear him so often.

The colonel came on Saturday night, and instead of a regiment of blue and grey he faced merely the red-capped colored porters ready to take his suitcase and his loose change. President Taft ate his dinner in peace and quiet, undisturbed by the clamor of arms. The sunset gun was fired, and the men at Fort Myer retired as usual. Champ Clark and William S. Bennet attended a commonplace legislative duties. Incident to a filibuster conducted by one man, with a quiet resolution and courage that might be emulated by more talkative people. There was no burning of the capital as in the case of the late British invasion in 1815. Col. Hughes had come to confer with his friend, J. Wesley Allison, who is engaged in defeating the Long Sault power bill now before Congress, and for other reasons.

HAWLEY GETS BALLOON.

New York, Feb. 20.—The America II., the balloon in which Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post won the 1910 race for the Coupe International des Aeronautes, and which they were compelled to abandon in the Canadian wilds, has just reached New York, having been brought out of the forests by a party of expert guides. To the delight of Mr. Hawley the big bag was found to be in practically unharmed condition. He expects to enter it in hte race again this year.

New York Points of Interest

Hundreds of Them Within Comparatively Short Distances of the Hotel St. Regis.

The length of the Island of Manhattan—from the Battery to the Harlem River—varies from eight miles on the east to twelve miles on the west. The average width is one mile. Fifth avenue is the central dividing line between the eastern and western sections. On Fifth avenue, at Fifty-fifth street, is located the Hotel St. Regis, five miles from the Battery and an equal distance from the Harlem River. This location is practically the geographical centre of the city, insures the shortest distance and the least travel for guests of this hotel to the many points of interest to be found in Manhattan Borough. Central Park and the Metropolitan Art Museum are within a few blocks, the Natural History Museum requires but a five minutes' ride, while the great shopping and theatrical districts can be reached in even less time. The St. Regis—it will be remembered—was fitted up and furnished with an exquisiteness that knew no stint, yet it is the farthest removed from the ostentatious. Its atmosphere is one of homelikeness and refined comfort. The St. Regis restaurant has no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service; while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St.Regis will find accommodations of the very highest grade in every particular and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

METCALFE LADY DEAD.

Strathroy, Feb. 21.—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah M. Blaine, wife of James Blaine, of Metcalfe, was held here this afternoon, and was largely attended. Mrs. Blaine died in Port Huron recently of pneumonia, while on a visit to her sister. She was 55 years old.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers. 1

RESIGNATION WAS FINALLY ACCEPTED

Engineer Van Cleve Will Leave London on First of March.

The resignation of City Engineer Van Cleve was finally accepted by the city council last night. He will leave March 1. However, Ald. Ashplant gave notice of motion that at the next meeting of the council that he would move that the position be kept open until the end of March, and that it be offered to Mr. Van Cleve, at a salary satisfactory to all parties concerned.

"The aldermen gave Mr. Van Cleve a testimonial. It was moved by Ald. Cooper, and seconded by Ald. Saunders, and was as follows:

"Resolved, that we, the municipal council of the city of London, accept with regret the resignation of Mr. A. H. Van Cleve, as city engineer, and we desire to express our appreciation of the satisfactory manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office during the time he has served the city.

"That this resolution be printed in the minutes, and that a copy of the same signed by the members of this council, be presented to Mr. Van Cleve."

There was no debate on the resolution, the council voting unanimously in favor of it.

Later, when the order of notices of motion came, Ald. Ashplant gave his notice of motion.

MUST NOT USE NAME OF THE CITY CLERK

Council Insists That Freedom With Official's Name Be Stopped.

No advertisement will be inserted in the newspapers over the signature of City Clerk Baker henceforth unless permission is first granted by the city council. At the meeting of that body last night, resolutions were passed to that effect.

Mr. Baker sent in a communication stating that he had not authorized the publication of the advertisement relating to the application of the North Midland Railway to have their guarantee bylaw included in the city of London bill.

Ald. Richter wanted to know who authorized the publication of the advertisement relating to the water commissioners' request for power to expropriate land within fifteen miles of the city for water and power purposes, and for the right to install meters, and other powers.

"The water commissioners had no authority whatever to do this," declared Ald. Richter. "If they wanted an increase in their powers, they should have come to us. The council, and the council alone, has the right to say what shall go into that bill. They are asking for very wide powers, and the council should have been consulted. It simply shows how far some people will go. It is a high-handed piece of business. The same is true of the North Midland Company."

A Resolution.

He then moved the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:

"It having been shown that the name of the city clerk was appended to an advertisement of the North Midland Railway Company in a local newspaper without his knowledge or direction; and it being further shown that the said city clerk was directed to insert other advertisements in like manner without competent authority to give such direction, this council disapproves of such irregular practices, and directs that in the event of any such unauthorized use of the city clerk's name being made hereafter, he shall take prompt action to stop same, and to bring to account the person or persons making such unauthorized and unwarranted use of his name as aforesaid.

"And furthermore, the said city clerk shall not hereafter, in his official capacity, cause to be inserted any advertisement in any newspaper or other periodical, or otherwise circulate any advertisement affecting the city's interests in any way whatever, without express authority so to do having been first obtained from the council, or a committee thereof having competent jurisdiction to so direct, or as by statute expressly provided."

"This will prevent any further trouble along this line," Ald. Richter stated when the motion had passed.

ALD. TANCOCK WANTS ALL HOUSES CONNECTED

Council Debated Sewers Last Night—Ald. Donnelly Is After Hucksters.

The city council was in a controversial mood last night, and for several hours discussed minor matters with all the rigor that great subjects would demand. As a result the session was somewhat lengthy.

One of the questions of debate was that introduced by Ald. Tancock that the council furnish health inspectors with profiles of the sewers of the city, for the purpose of compiling a report of all houses not connected with sewers. He thought that all should be connected, where possible, and he advocated the enforcement of the bylaw covering this matter.

For an hour and a half the aldermen battled on the subject, but did not get anywhere, and when the maze of words was disentangled it was decided to allow Ald.Tancock's motion to stand as a notice of motion.

Protection Against Hucksters.

Ald. Donnelly "went after" the hucksters on the market. He thought that the citizens should have some protection against these men. The price of goods was raised by these professional buyers, and the ordinary citizen had no chance.

The matter was referred to No. 3 committee, and they will enforce the bylaw against these men.

Mr. C. Leathorn was awarded the contract for building the Windsor avenue sewer for $1,249, his tender being the lowest.

A New Street.

The East End Progressives sent in an application for a street across the Western Fair grounds from Egerton to King street. The communication was sent to the board of works.

There was a large number of requests from charitable institutions for the usual grants. They were sent to the finance committee.

The St. John's Ambulance Corps asked for the free use of the East End Hall for a year, a grant of $100, and suggested that the city firemen be compelled to take up the work. They were granted the free use of the hall, while the other suggestions were sent to No. 1 and No. 3 committees.

The Brockville Board of Trade wrote, asking that the city council pass a resolution in favor of building the Long Sault dam. The communication will be dealt with by the finance committee.

The East End Progressives will hold a meeting in the city hall on Friday evening, the free use of the city hall being granted for that purpose.

Mayor Beattie, Ald. Eckert, Ald.Cooper and Ald. Ashplant were named a committee to go to Toronto when the City of London bill comes up before the House.

Poolrooms.

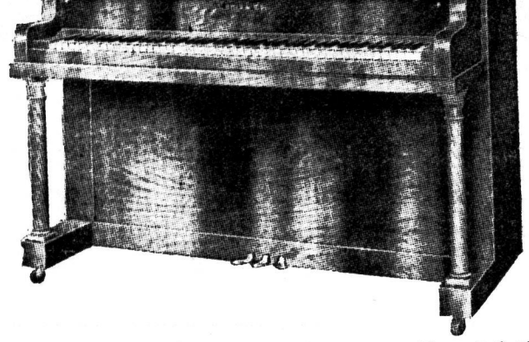

The request of poolroom keepers of the city that the bylaw governing these places be amended so that some penalty could be inflicted on boys under 17 years of age who frequent such places, was sent to the city solicitor for advice.

City Clerk Baker was instructed to obtain copies of the City of London bill for the members of the city council.

Those present were: Mayor Beattie, Ald. Eckert, Richter, Bennett, Ashplant, Donnelly, Tancock, Morgan, Mitchell, Saunders, Cooper and City Clerk Baker.

"My Cinderella Girl."

"My Cinderella Girl," a college baseball game, set to music, attracted a fair audience at the Grand Opera House last night. There was plenty of action, with some very good songs, and as a result the gallery had rather a pleasant evening. The others did not go into raptures over the entertainment. However, it was not too bad, and the majority of those who saw it were satisfied.

Frank Woods was the comedian of the play, and he worked hard and industriously all evening. He was fairly successful, too.

R. C. McKenny has a fine voice, the best of the company, and used is to good advantage.

It's Slang, But Good.

James Forbes' famous comedy of slang and chorus girl life, "The Chorus Lady," in which Henry B. Harris is starring Edna Aug, will be the attraction of "The Prince of Pilsen" will be shown at the Grand, Monday evening next. By its long runs in New York, Chicago, Boston and London, and its uniformly successful tours through the United States and Canada, England and Australia, this delightful piece has attained a record in the foremost English-speaking countries of the world that pertinently evidences its distinctive merit. From the several companies that interpreted "The Prince of Pilsen" in America and England, Mr. Savage has selected the artists who will compose the cast to be seen here. Announced to appear in the organization are Jess Dandy, who will play Hans Wagner, and Frances Cameron, who for two seasons sang the main part of "The Merry Widow." In addition, the organization includes a special orchestra, under the skillful direction of Gustav Hinrichs, and a beauty chorus, which includes the pretty Pilsen pullets. Seats Friday.

Those who eat GRAPE-NUTS FOOD KNOW "There's a Reason"

This will be the first time of "The Chorus Lady" here at popular prices. The star, Miss Aug, has won fame for her character impersonations, both on the legitimate and vaudeville stages of this country, and in the variety theatres of Paris and other European capitals. Her native sense of humor and her stage training fit her admirably for the role of Patricia O'Brien, the slangy, sweet-natured chorus girl of Mr. Forbes' comedy, who returns home after the burlesque company she was acting with became stranded, only to find her younger sister falling a victim to the wiles of Dick Crawford, the partner of her fiancee, Dan Mallory, in the racing stables. To keep her sister away from Crawford's influence Patricia takes Nora with her to join the chorus. But in New York Nora still sees Crawford secretly, and bets on the races on tips furnished by him. She makes out a note in his favor and signs her father's name to it. One night when she learns that her parents are in front she goes to Crawford's rooms to get the note. Patricia finds her there, and when Dan and her parents come there she allows them to think that she had come to meet Crawford. She loses the confidence of her fiancee, but Nora is saved.

"Il Trovatore" the World's Favorite Opera.

So much has been said of the great artists that comprise the Sheehan English Grand Opera Company, and so well known is the opera of "Il Trovatore" that it seems almost useless to go into details, however, as there are many who have a mistaken idea in regards to grand opera, it may not be amiss to say a few words on the subject.

Of all the world's operas "Il Trovatore" is the most popular, picturesque and tuneful. Many of the best airs in the leading comic operas are taken from its tuneful melodies. Almost every street organ depends upon "Il Trovatore" for its melody.

The "Anvil Chorus" is one of the most beautiful numbers ever put on any stage. The famous "Miserrere," in the tower scene, is beyond description. It must be seen and heard to be appreciated. The tower of the prison overlooking the rocky coast of Spain is a most impressive sight. As for the music, when one recalls the great trio at the end of the first act, the world-renowned "Di Quella Pira," said to be the greatest tenor solo ever written, the fine baritone solo "Il Balen," the great duet between the soprano and baritone, and dozens of others, it is easy to realize why "Il Trovatore" has been for fifty years the most popular opera the world has ever known. The Sheehan English Grand Opera Company comes to the Grand Opera House, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee, Feb. 24 and 25, for three performances of "Il Trovatore."

"The Prince of Pilsen."

Henry W. Savage's charming production of "The Prince of Pilsen" will be shown at the Grand, Monday evening next. By its long runs in New York, Chicago, Boston and London, and its uniformly successful tours through the United States and Canada, England and Australia, this delightful piece has attained a record in the foremost English-speaking countries of the world that pertinently evidences its distinctive merit. From the several companies that interpreted "The Prince of Pilsen" in America and England, Mr. Savage has selected the artists who will compose the cast to be seen here. Announced to appear in the organization are Jess Dandy, who will play Hans Wagner, and Frances Cameron, who for two seasons sang the main part of "The Merry Widow." In addition, the organization includes a special orchestra, under the skillful direction of Gustav Hinrichs, and a beauty chorus, which includes the pretty Pilsen pullets. Seats Friday.

A Notable Violinist.

The following is from an American paper: "Elman's rapt absorption in the spirit of the music and his illuminating communication of it, lifted his hearers beyond the plane of critical admiration. They were spellbound, entranced, reverential. From the first thrilling movement of the Lalo concerto and its lovelier "Andante," in which Elman's violin sang and his spirit soared, to the close of the Paganini varitions, the enthusiastic demonstration of the audience were persistent and unrestrained. Four encores were given in response to uncounted recalls. Elman's greatness was nowhere more in evidence than in the playing of the simple legato melodies of some of these encores. In sheer purity and richness of tone he is the master par excellence." Grand Opera House, Feb. 28. Plan now open at Williams' piano warerooms.

HERE IS A TALE WITH A MORAL

LITTLE EDITH HARRIS CURED OF DROPSY BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Two Doctors Said She Would Die, But Today She Is a Healthy, Happy Girl—Healthy Kidneys in Children the Guarantee of a Happy, Useful Life.

McTaggart, Sask., Feb. 20.—(Special).—That no child is too young to have Kidney Disease even in its worst form, and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it in any form has been abundantly proven in the case of little Edith Harris, of this place.

In May, 1908, this little girl, then two years old, was so swollen with Dropsy that her waist measure was increased from 18 inches to 34 inches. Two doctors said she must die. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her and today she is as merry and healthy a child as is to be found in the neighborhood.

In a recent interview her father says: "Edith is better than ever. She has no return of dropsy since she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, over seven years ago. She goes to school, and is healthy. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

There's a moral for parents in this story. Many a child has grown up to a life of pain and suffering because its kidneys were neglected. A life of health and usefulness is assured if the Kidneys are kept in order with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

HOW DID CHATHAM GET THE PERMITS?

Watford People Say They Can Provide Evidence to Disqualify Player.

IS IT AN "ONTARIO" ASSN.?

Or Can Men Be Brought From Outside Province Despite Clause 2—About Late Permits.

Watford, Feb. 19, 1911.

To the Sporting Editor:

Now that there is so much excitement over the recent hockey match between Chatham and London, we wish you to insert this in your sporting column, and we shall feel indebted to you:

On behalf of the Watford Club and citizens we would like to have an explanation as to the permits granted to some of the Chatham players. We, as hockey enthusiasts, are not sore losers by any means, but we do like to see fair play. Another point we wish the O. H. A. to consider is the No. 2 clause of the constitution of the hockey association. It there states that its object is the furtherance of hockey in the Province, including the enforcement of the rules of the game as adapted by the association, and the supervisions and carrying out of the cup competitions for the championship of Ontario. Here is a statement which I think we have a right to discredit, as we can on any notice call upon evidence that will disqualify a member of Chatham team.

"Chatham Hang It On the O. H. A."

We do not cast any reflection on Chatham Hockey Club, and think that they are deserving of much credit for being able to hang it on a body of men to whom this point in view is at their discretion.

Here we have but seven players, who, in our opinion, can play as fast, as clean, a legitimate game of hockey as any other seven local brews in Western Ontario. We have played games of hockey in group No. 9 under severe difficulties, and had we known that special permits were being granted, which more than counteract another amendment of the rules, which states that no permits would be allowed, we could have done better.

I think there is plenty of room here for criticism which is only due the O. H. A., and from the sympathies shown us by London and other towns in our vicinity that the O. H. A. have not acted fairly in this matter.

CONLEY-COULON REFEREE UNDECIDED.

New Orleans, Feb. 21.—A referee for the Conley-Coulon 20-round bout, scheduled for Feb. 26, to decide the bantam-weight championship, could not be agreed upon at two meetings of the principals yesterday, and another conference will take place early this week.

She writes:—"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the best cough syrup I ever used. My baby had a very bad cold. I was using Dr.'s medicine but that didn't seem to help the awful cough she had until I got a bottle of this great syrup. I have it in the house at the present time for the children and I think I couldn't get along if I didn't have it. I wish to thank you for all the good it has been to my family."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, which combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies makes it one of the greatest known preparations for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

DUNDAS CENTRE AND ASKIN ST. IN FINALS

Championship of Methodist Athletic Association To Be Decided Within Week.

The final hockey games in the Methodist Athletic Association are scheduled for Friday and the following Tuesday. They will be played between Dundas Centre No. 8, and the Askin Street clubs. The total number of goals will count.

The game on Friday evening will be played at the east end open rink, and the match on Tuesday evening will be played in Westminster rink.

Should a third game be necessary, that will be played off in the Princess.

Great preparations are being put forward on both sides to maintain their previous good records. As Dundas Centre No. 8 have not lost a game in the schedule just finished in the eastern section of the Methodist Hockey League, and as their opponents in the finals, the Askin Street team, have only lost one in the western section—and that with Dundas Centre No. 29—it will readily be seen that a good live series with a fast finish can be looked for.

Tonight at the east end rink a carnival is being put on in the interest of the Methodist Hockey League, when a large number of costumed skaters will be there.

FOURTEEN GIANTS AT MARLIN TRAINING CAMP

Ready to Pry Open Baseball at Springs Tody if Weather Conditions Are Favorable.

Marlin, Texas, Feb. 20.—Fourteen Giants and several camp followers are here, ready to pry open Marlin's baseball season today if the weather is favorable. Of these, eleven are new men in the McGraw school of instruction. The veteran division is represented by "Bugs" Raymond, Arlie Latham and Wilbert Robinson. Four more ambitious youths are due tomorrow, and Manager McGraw also is scheduled to arrive from San Antonio, where he has been in conference with President John T. Brush.

The St. Louis division got in late yesterday. Three of the men who were to come south with this squad—Pitchers McKnight, Jenkins and Pastenhaver—missed the train, and did not leave the Mound City until late in the night. Frank Manush, an infielder, comes in today.

Of the athletes who put in an appearance this afternoon five were pitchers. By tonight there will be ten pitchers in camp, but only one young catcher, Grover Cleveland Hartley.

BREAKS WORLD'S SKI RECORD BY 152 FT. JUMP

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 20.—Anders Haugen set a new world's record by winning the long standing jump with 152 feet at the great ski tournament held this afternoon at Ironwood.

The spectacular leap came off before a crowd of 7,500 persons. Pandemonium broke loose when the distance was announced, and Ironwood tonight enjoyed one of the greatest celebrations in honor of the feat that any town has experienced on the ski circuit. The jumping this afternoon was phenomenal. Although the wind blew against the skiers, the slide was wonderfully fast, and the jumps prove Ironwood to have one of the greatest hills in the northwest.

BROWN WILL NEVER BE CHAMP., SAYS WOLGAST

Michigan Boxer Makes Light of Knockout's Punch and Criticises Jack O'Brien.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, and his bride reached Chicago today and left tonight for New York, where the Cadillac boy will battle with Knockout Brown on March 3. Ad announced today that the fact that he is married will not hasten his retirement from the ring.

Ad has no great amount of respect for Brown, even though the latter has been credited with having the better of the recent six-round bout in Philadelphia.

"Brown will never be a champion," said Wolgast. "He has been given a great reputation by the Eastern critics because he has knocked out a lot of dubs. He hasn't any terrible punch. I purposely let him hit me several times on the point of the jaw, and can say that I was not hurt by any of the blows he landed. He has been helped by the referees in the East, who let him charge in with his head down, butt away for dear life and hang on as long as he wishes. Whenever I got to doing any infighting at Philadelphia, Jack O'Brien would shove me back, and in turn would let Brown hang on as long as he wanted to.

"I intend to cut loose with both hands with Brown in the New York fight and try to stop him and put an end to his little championship dream."

YOUNG CANADIANS DEFEAT ST. PETER'S

Losers and Talbot Street Now Tied for Lead in League.

LAST NIGHT'S GAME FAST

Presbyterians Worked Hard With Improved Lineup, and Won Out 2 to 1.

LEAGUE STANDING.

	Won.	Lost	To Play.
Talbot Street	2	1	3
St. Peters	2	1	3
Young Canadians...	3	2	1
St. James'	1	4	1

The Young Canadian Club and St. Peter's met last evening in the Westminster Rink in a United Sunday School League game, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the Young Canadian Club emerged victorious by the close score of 2 to 1.

This is the second time these teams have met this season, and both games were about the fastest ever played in Westminster Rink. The first game ended in a tie, after the Young Canadians had almost won it, but last night they were out to win, and for a time it looked as if they would whitewash the fast St. Peter's. As it was St. Peter's scored their lone tally in the last two minutes of play. The Young Canadians had their best line-up on last evening, and at their present rate they will prove a hard team to beat.

From the spectator's standpoint last night's game was a thriller, but it was a most gruelling one for the players and the terrific pace set in the first half began to tell on the players during the second period, but there was very little let-up, and there was not a moment when the game dragged.

Canadians Scored First.

The Young Canadians scored the only goal of the first half during the first five minutes of play, and from then it was nip and tuck between the teams. Both teams had good chances to score, but the shots were either too wide or else the goal-keepers were in the way.

In the second half the Young Canadians started off at a terrific pace, and in a few minutes [illegible] the rubber behind Patton. This ended the scoring until the last two minutes of play when St. Peter's managed to put one past Scott on a hard clean shot from the centre of the ice.

For the winners every man on the team played a good game. Scott in goal was in excellent form and stopped a good many shots that looked like sure goals. The forward line was very good and their backchecking was a feature. For St. Peter's the two McPhillips boys played a good game, ably assisted by "Nig" Wilson. Walsh also played well. Will Blackwell's refereeing was of the Eddie Worthington variety.

The Teams

The teams were:

St. Peter's—Patton, goal; Walsh, point; H. McPhillips, cover; P. McPhillips, rover; Tayler, centre; Nig Wilson, left; O'Rourke, right.

THIS WEEK'S WINNERS ON NATIONAL ALLEYS

Tonight the Meds meet the Ramblers and the Blue Labels the Imperials in City League contests.

West and Whitehall ran up a total of 1,260 in a doubles match last night. The scores were:

Whitehall	235	185	170—590
West	222	219	229—670
Total			1,260

BURNS RETIRES WRESTLING GAME

Noted "Farmer" Celebrates Fiftieth Birthday Winning Mat Bout.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 21.—Farmer Burns, veteran of the mat and at one time the best-known wrestler in the country, celebrated his fiftieth birthday last night by taking two straight falls from Oscar Wassem. Burns then announced his retirement from the ring. Burns discovered and trained Frank Gotch, and has been in the training quarters of half the big pugilists of the country at some time or other.

Burns defeated Wassem easily, the first fall coming in 11 minutes and the second in 9 minutes. [illegible] making his retirement known, Burns received a tremendous ovation [illegible] well.

BILL LANG'S NAME.

His mother named him William Mulqueen Lanfranchi, but by common consent it has been shortened to the blunt Bill Lang for ring purposes. William will meet Sam Langford in London on Tuesday night next. He hopes to show something more or less wonderful with the negro. Many a better man than Lang has had the same chance with dire results to every one except Samuel. Looks like a dark night in London.

PRESTON AND ORILLIA ARE JUNIOR WINNERS

Defeat Seaforth and Toronto Canoe Club on Rounds—Games on Thursday.

Preston, Feb. 21.—Preston defeated the Seaforth juniors here last night, 4 to 1, winning the round 15 to 5. The score at half-time last night was 1 to 1. The teams:

ORILLIA WINS.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Toronto Canoe Club defeated Orillia here tonight by 9 to 5 in the last local junior O. H. A. of the season, but the northerners won the round by three goals, and qualified for the semi-finals. The first game will be played in Orillia Thursday night, and the return in Preston next Monday. Orillia had the better of the first half tonight, leading 3 to 2 at half-time, but the canoeists came with a vengeance, and profiting by the absence of two penalized opponents, made the tally 7 to 3. The visitors woke up and scored two more, which gave them a safe lead on the round. The game was a fast one, and Orillia are clearly entitled to their laurels. The line-up:

ADDIE JOSS' TWIRLING ARM IN PLASTER CAST

Trainer "Doc" White, of Cleveland Team, is Patching Up Star Flinger.

[Canadian Press.]

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 21.—In response to a hurry call, "Doc" White, the Cleveland American's new trainer, is here and has placed the pitching arm of Addie Joss, star twirler, in a plaster cast. White declares the injury is not as serious as he expected. A strained tendon in Joss' elbow had been neglected, inflammation setting in, which spread to the other tendons, causing a crook in the elbow.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSED ON SHEEPSHEAD BAY CLUB

Daily Telegraph Says Place Will Be Sold at Auction Soon.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Feb. 21.—The Telegraph today says racing men will learn with regret that the Sheepshead Bay Club, for upwards of ten years a famous loafing-place for horsemen, gathered for the meetings of the Coney Island Jockey Club, is about to be closed. Richard Doggett, who holds a mortgage on the place, has at the request of the influential spirits of the club decided to foreclose, and the buildings and furniture are to be sold by auction. The property is valued at about $100,000.

Brooklyn, like the Giants, goes south this season in four squads, two by land and two by the sea. Manager Bill Dahlen went in the first batch, which set sail from Brooklyn last Wednesday. Mrs. Dahlen, Catcher Tex Erwin and his bride, and Trainer Dan Comerford accompanied "Bad Bill." The party goes to New Orleans and thence by rail to the Arkansas resort, arriving there on Feb. 27.

Jimmy Collins, manager of the Providence Grays, is banking on Hugh Duffy for an entirely new outfield of White Sox surplus.

The Detroit writers believe that if one outfield recruit makes good for Hughie Jennings this spring, that Sam Crawford, the slugger, will be sent to first base to replace Tom Jones. Crawford has done good work at times as a substitute first baseman, but generally his work falls off after he has been at the position for a couple of weeks.

According to the official statement made by the president and board of directors of the Washington club of the American League, the outstanding debts of that organization amount to less than $10,000, while the whole capital stock of $100,000 is paid in.

President Horace Fogel, of the Philadelphia Nationals, has decided to strike a blow against the "deadhead" nuisance, he says. His books of complimentary passes this season will be limited to 25 coupons each, and every holder will be forced to sign his name at the press gate.

Manager John Ganzel has signed Bernie Maier, a pitcher, of Syracuse, for the champion Bronchos. Ganzel says the youngster looks awfully good to him because he holds his nerve in a tight pinch in a bowling game. Ganzel is the demon bowler of the Eastern League.

Claude Ritchey, at one time a great second baseman, and who helped Pittsburg to the National League championship in 1901, has signed to play with the Louisville (American Association) team. Ritchey has been ordered to report at Louisville for spring practice March 6.

Although Ed Abbaticchio, the former Pirate infielder, has announced his retirement from the diamond, President Grayson, of the Louisville Colonels, still has hopes that Abby will sign with his team for the coming season.

THIS IS BIG WEEK FOR FIGHT FANS

Washington's Birthday, Tomorrow, Draws Its Usual Quota of Fast Mills.

LANGFORD AND LANG MIX

Pair to Battle in London in Feature Bout—Coulon and Conley to Decide Title.

Chicago, Feb. 21—The pugilistic calendar is crowded this week, and there will be more activity in the ranks of the fighters than there has been for a long, long time.

The pugs are to celebrate Washington's birthday tomorrow with a bunch of swatfests that ought to suit most anybody. This date in February always is a big day in the ring, and this year is no exception.

Undoubtedly the clash of Sam Langford and Bill Lang, of Australia, is the one that will be watched more closely than the others. They are to go twenty rounds in London, and when they have finished one or the other is likely to be considered "nix" as a heavyweight championship possibility. Sammy, of Beantown, seems to have the call, but if he is declared loser it's a sure thing he never will get a crack at Jack Johnson for the title.

Hard Trial for Morris.

Down in Oklahoma City, Carl Morris, the man who is considered the best of the "white man's hopes," gets into action, meeting Fireman Jim Flynn, the national "trial horse." This is the toughest game Morris has been asked to tackle, and if he is beaten it looks like relegation to the "never was" division. They are scheduled to go ten rounds.

Packey McFarland, accompanied by his manager and trainer, Emil Thiry, left yesterday for Philadelphia, where Packey takes on Frankie Madole in a six-round tilt tomorrow. Will the Chicago boy win? Well, McFarland didn't look one bit worried when he departed, which would indicate that he's putting his on the McFarland end.

Another Feb. 22 bout is that between "Knockout" Brown and "One-Round" Hogan, at New York. The mixup is certain to be a slugfest, for that is the forte of both boys, and there likely is to be a finish before the ten-round route has been negotiated. Jack Dillon and Jimmy Gardner are carded for ten rounds at Indianapolis, while Monte Attel and Phil McGovern meet for ten rounds at New York.

Stanley to Scrap.

"Digger" Stanley, the British bantam, is billed to hook up with Jimmy Walsh tonight in Boston at twelve rounds. Jack White and Tommy Gary, local fighters, meet at ten rounds before a Milwaukee club on Friday.

The battle next Sunday afternoon at New Orleans between John Coulon and Frankie Conley promises to be a great affair. Rival claimants for the bantam championship, they will decide the issue as to whom the title belongs. As they go twenty rounds, the question should be answered.

Re Spelling Reform.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Vice-Principal Dearness' letter concerning spelling reform in your columns was most interesting, and just what we might look for from his competent and careful pen.

It seems to the writer that the chief difficulty in the way of an even approximately phonetic representation of the sounds of the English language is caused by the paucity of characters for representing visually the vowels.

Two ways of overcoming this difficulty suggest themselves.

First, by the invention of new characters.

Second, by the judicious combination of those which we have.

As a matter of fact, some sixteen vowel sounds (including three dipthongs) are today represented by combinations of the five existing vowel characters.

The great trouble, as Mr. Dearness has indicated, is that there is no uniformity in the use of these combinations.

The vowels may be divided into some six short, and, including the dipthongs, at least ten long sounds—speaking somewhat roughly.

As the dipthongs are usually easily recognized in the current spelling, the problem may be narrowed to seven, or so, of the long sounds; two of these—long "a" and long "e"—have now easily recognized combinations, "ai" and "ee," so that the ultimate problem would be to invent uniform combinations for the long sounds of "i" (dipthong), "o," and "u"; as for the remaining long sounds, they have already combinations which would be easily recognized. The best grouping of vowels that the writer can think of to uniformly represent "i," "o," and "u," is for "i" the German "ei," for "o," "oh," and for "u," "eu." Others may, of course, suggest better ones.

For psychological reasons any new method of doing that to which we have long been accustomed excites opposition, an opposition, by the way, which is largely conditioned by the reflective powers of the personality so disturbed.

This must be reckoned with. Of course, in the case of foreigners and young children it will not obtain.

Trusting that Prof. Dearness and his associates may receive the encouragement and consideration to which the altruism of their efforts entitle them, I am, sirs, yours, etc., DE NOVO.

Those who have failed to sign are Artie Hofman, Joe Tinker, Johnny Evers, Jack Pfiester and Orval Overall.

SAVED HER FINGER.

Mrs. B. E. Bedwell, of 337 Provencher Ave., St. Boniface, Winnipeg, says:—"Some time ago my children took diphtheria, and while attending them the poison entered a small scratch on the second finger of my left hand. This became very sore and blood-poisoning soon set in. For months after the children were quite well I was suffering from a shockingly bad finger. The scratch was caused originally by a pin, and in itself, was not at all serious. The consequences, however, of neglecting this scratch, were very serious to me.

"When the blood-poisoning set in I tried poultices and a salve I had in the house. These, however, did not have the desired effect. Quite on the contrary the finger became more and more swollen and discolored. It then began to fester, and I had to call in a doctor. He lanced the finger to let out the pus, and you can imagine how painful the finger was! Despite his care, however, it again festered and the ointments, liniments, and other preparations which the doctor gave me seemed absolutely unable to bring about any relief.

"The doctor thereupon advised me to go into the St. Boniface Hospital. I feared that if I went to the Hospital the finger would be amputated. We were told of a case similar to my own in which Zam-Buk had effected a cure when everything else had failed and the doctor had said that only amputation could save the person's hand.

"We, therefore, decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. A supply was procured, and we commenced the Zam-Buk treatment. It only needed a few days to show the wisdom of this step. The blood-poisoning and inflammation were reduced, the pain became less acute, and it was evident very shortly that the trouble was being reduced to a less and still less area. We persevered with the Zam-Buk and in the end the festering sore was thoroughly cleaned, then healed. In under three weeks from first commencing with Zam-Buk, the finger was entirely well; and had we applied Zam-Buk in the first place, instead of trying ordinary preparations, no doubt I should have saved myself hours and hours of acute agony."

All mothers should note this case. Zam-Buk is a sure cure for blood poisoning, festering, cuts, scratches from barbed wire, bruises, scalds, rashes, tetter, salt rheum, face sores, eczema, sore feet, piles, bad leg, varicose veins, and all skin injuries and diseases. Use a box all druggists and stores or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send 1c stamp for postage of free trial box. Refuse all imitations.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old successful formula has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Company, Toronto, Ont.

EUROPE LOOKS UP TO CANADA

Mr. T. H. Race's Address to Farmers' Institute at Lambeth on Monday.

SOME GOOD ADVICE GIVEN

Mr. T. H. Race, a Government officer, whose home is in Mitchell, and who has just returned from Europe, gave a most interesting account of how the people there view Canada, in an address he delivered at the Farmers' Institute at Lambeth yesterday afternoon.

"Everywhere I went," he said, "I found Canadian products more than holding their own, and Canadians held in the very highest esteem. At the big exhibition at Brussels we had an exhibit that was unsurpassed by any other nation, and it attracted the attention it deserved. I happened to be in Edinburgh when the delegation of Scottish farmers which visited Canada a short time ago returned.

"They were greatly impressed with what they had seen, and with the wonderful possibilities of this country. They spoke in the highest terms of the people. The only complaint they had to make was regarding the farmers who live near the cities. Almost without exception they said such farms were dirty, and they saw the implements scattered about, and the fences in an uncared-for and untidy condition. But the real farmers, they said, were in the majority, and kept their lands and buildings in a better state than any they had ever seen in any country they had visited, and produced crops that were really surprising."

Dollars and Cents.

Mr. Race told those present that they had been spending in improving their cows, their wheat, their poultry, etc., but that they had done it with the sole idea of reaping a return in dollars.

"What you want to remember is that there is nothing that will give you richer returns in every way than your Canadian manhood," he said. "It is that which is making Canada forge to the front as she is. The Scotch people, with their magnificent thrift and their genius for managing things; the Irish people, with their industry and wit, and the English people, with their love of freedom and enterprise, all have been developed from conditions. We have them here at their very best at the point where we can intermarry and combine all these wonderful qualities.

A Wonderful Race.

"What a wonderful race may we produce with these people and our wonderful, invigorating and enervating climate! Added to these, we have all that is best in the Germans, and they are a wonderful race. Canada is today the greatest factor in the British Empire. Take South Africa, take Australia, New Zealand, or any other colony, and you cannot name one that is producing men who are taking their places in the affairs of the empire and making good, as Canadians are. It was with no little pride that when I was in England I found no less than sixteen Canadians taking a leading part in the great British elections. It was with more pride still that I knew that nine of these were boys from our farms. Canadian brain and muscle is in demand all the world over where there are big things to be done, and men's work to do. Take the United States, with their ninety millions, and I defy them to produce any six men who can match six that I will name from Canada."

Women Plowing.

Mr. Race said that when he was at Brussels he took particular pains to see the farmers of the Low Countries at work. The fold of seeing little one, two or three acre farms, of women harnessed with a dog to a plow, or of little boys and girls doing farm work.

"They rise at daylight," he said, "and work until dark, and work their little plots of ground for everything that is in them. Millions are working their lives out in thus raising barely enough to live on. Most of them are too poor to even buy a donkey to plow with. What a contrast when I come back here and see your broad farms and magnificent buildings, your cattle, and your general prosperity. What chance have people like those in the low countries of producing great men? They toil on and die, and are never heard of. It is you Canadians who are to be the men of the future, the men who will rule the world. Remember no matter what you do to improve your stock and farms, spare nothing to improve our manhood. It is that which will count in the long run. No nation is greater than its men or women."

Story of Judge Riddell.

Mr. Race told a story of chasing three coons up a tree one day when he was a young man. Not wishing to climb up after them he called to a farmer's boy who was in a field adjoining to come over. The lad had on a torn straw hat and tattered clothes, and on being requested, climbed the tree and shook the coons down.

"You will be surprised when I tell you that that same boy was the other day selected as Canada's trustee in the ten million-dollar fund that Mr. Andrew Carnegie had just given for universal peace, and most of you know him as Mr. Justice Riddell," said Mr. Race.

Mr. Race also spoke of the place Canadian products hold in Great Britain.

"Ayrshire cheese," he said, "has won for itself the admiration of England. There is ten times as much of it asked for as Ayrshire can produce, and I was gratified to find that Canadian cheese is the only accepted substitute for it."

Slipshod Methods.

Mr. Race pointed out that owing to slipshod methods some of Canada's dairy produce had fallen off. He urged the farmers to do their best and never send out any inferior goods and ruin a first-class market.

The other speaker, Mr. J. W. Widdifield, of Uxbridge, spoke particularly of corn-raising and alfalfa growing. He urged the farmers to go in for alfalfa as it is one of the greatest paying crops, and can easily be grown here. Three crops a year, he stated, can be harvested. He spoke of the care necessary in keeping the weeds out, but said such trouble is amply repaid.

Many of those present asked Mr. Widdifield a great number of questions regarding the growth and care of alfalfa.

Both Mr. Widdifield and Mr. Race spoke at a meeting held in the evening.

MR. WARREN SPEAKS ON FARMERS' BANK

Manager of Trusts and Guarantee Co. Did Not Know Beattie Nesbitt at Time of Transaction.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—J. J. Warren, general manager of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, has made the following statement regarding his alleged connection with the Farmers' Bank, which he regards as only an ordinary business transaction.

He said: I have lived in this community for almost 25 years, during which period, while no doubt I have made mistakes, yet never knowingly did I injure anybody. Without any inquiry or request for information from me, I find myself charged with two offences. One, that I conspired with Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, the provisional board of directors, and others, to do an illegal act. The other, that I accepted a pledge of the notes (circulation) of the Farmers' Bank, and therefore, made a loan of them as security.

The offences charged are of a technical character. The first one in particular is undoubtedly the invention of a legal mind, whose I do not know yet. The other I am advised is based on a misunderstanding of the bank act.

"At the time of the alleged committing of the first offence I did not know nor was I acquainted with Dr. Nesbitt or any member of the provisional board. I did not meet Dr. Nesbitt until he ran for mayor some years later. I have never yet met the provisional directors, except Dr. Ferguson, whom I met in another matter some time ago.

"In the fall of 1906, as an official of the Trust Company, I made W. R. Travers personally a call loan on the security of a large number of satisfactory promissory notes. The business was submitted to counsel, who advised us that it was perfectly legal and proper. Ultimately the loan was paid off in full. Moreover the note that formed the security was also paid in full.

"It is alleged that Mr. Travers misled the finance department at Ottawa, and as a result succeeded in getting a license for the Farmers' Bank to do business. I was no party to the representations he made. I did not know what they were. But because we loaned him personally moneys, which it is alleged went to the finance department, openly and above board, I am charged with being a conspirator.

"In regard to the other offence, the Farmers' Bank was in the habit of depositing with us their notes (circulation), which we paid out over the counter in the ordinary course of our business. The amount of each deposit was placed to the credit of the bank which could and did draw against it, by check. We never loaned $5 against the circulation of the Farmers' Bank, but still I am charged with an offence.

"Further, I never made 5 cents personally out of the Farmers' Bank business, every cent of profit went to the Trust Company, to whom it belonged."

A prominent business man said yesterday that he thought a better spirit of fair play should be exhibited on behalf of the authorities regarding everybody who has been or is suspected of being connected with the Farmers' Bank. A man at the head of a financial institution has a right to expect that he should be asked what he knows about certain alleged circumstances before he is haled to court to say. There seems to be an hysteria in certain circles at the moment.

AGAINST DOCTRINE OF THE L. D. S.

Ministerial Association Debate Matter of Recent Meetings Held in London.

TALK OF MORMONISM

"Millennial Dawnists" Were Also Named—Moving Picture Shows Come in for Criticism.

The moving picture show came in for some criticism at the meeting of the London Ministerial Alliance in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday. A paper, which had been prepared by Rev. W. M. Walker, was read by Rev. H. H. Bingham, in the course of which reference was made to the evil commonly known as the moving-picture eye.

Rev. J. Gibson Inkster, of the First Presbyterian Church, expressed the opinion that the picture theatres ought to be inspected, and in case they are harmful, as stated, other and better forms of amusement should be substituted in their place. In the city of Glasgow good concerts are given at a nominal admission price of one or two pennies.

Inspect the Shows.

Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of the First Christian Workers' Church, suggested that Lieut.-Col. Chandler, of the Salvation Army, who had just been made a member of the Alliance, inspect the shows and report to the Alliance. This was generally approved of, but several members, including Rev. Mr. Inkster, expressed their intention of seeing the shows for themselves, and drawing their own conclusions.

Rev. G. W. Dewey, of Empress Avenue Methodist Church, was opposed not only to the picture theatres, but to Sacred concerts, oratorios, and all new forms of church services. Nothing but the old-fashioned gospel could find favor in the eyes of Mr. Dewey. Children should not be allowed time to attend the theatres.

Rev. Richard Whiting, of the First Methodist Church, thought that the little ones should at least have some play time and recreation.

Rev. J. G. Stuart, of Knox Presbyterian Church, thought the city council should appoint a censor of the vaudeville acts and picture films shown.

A Higher Standard.

Rev. Mr. Bingham drew attention to the fact that the American films are inspected by the New York board of censorship, but Canon Hague thought that this did not mend matters any.

"Our standard should be twice as high as that of the United States," he declared zealously.

Rev. E. H. Peatfield had heard of terrible things happening in the theatres under cover of the darkness. Mr. Peatfield would not mind the picture show so much if the films could be shown in the daylight.

Alleged Heresies.

But the picture shows were not the only objects of ministerial denunciation at the Alliance meeting yesterday.

A great deal of earnest discussion was devoted to the weeding of ways and means for combatting the "serious heresies which have recently been so loudly preached not only from the stage of a picture theatre but even within the venerable walls of the city hall by the Latter Day Saints and the Millennial Dawnists."

Infidel and Mormon heresies ought not to pass unchallenged in London the orthodox.

Canon Hague and Rev. Mr. Stevens, of the China Inland Mission, thought that someone ought to publicly reply to these preachers of false doctrines and set them right on questions of Christian theory.

Rev. Mr. Dewey and others, however, did not think it advisable considering the additional advertising which would result to the followers of Pastor Russell and the devotees of the Book of Mormon.

A Church Census.

The question of taking a church census also was discussed at some length. Varying opinions were expressed as to its advisability.

Rev. Mr. Dewey was not particularly in favor of it, and other ministers were undecided on the question.

RAILWAY COMMISSION'S SCOPE WIDENED TO HELP EMPLOYEES

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—H. H. Miller, in the House tonight said that on Canadian railways the hours of labor were too long and not sufficient sectionmen were employed. He would empower inspectors of the railway board to prosecute cases of negligence.

Hon. G. P. Graham thought Canada was rapidly moving towards better railway management. Improvement in roadbed, rolling stock and interlocking equipped railways to the standard adopted by the United States. The railway law was designed to protect the lives of passengers and operators, and it was proposed to enlarge the power of the commission to enable it to employ the number of experts to enforce regulations.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King quoted statistics to show that Canada was more saving of the lives of railway employees than the United States, but less so than Great Britain. The great territory covered and physical and climatic conditions made operating more difficult than in level England. The statistics showed that Canadian law in this regard was good.

Just before the House arose the bill of Messrs. Martin (Montreal), providing for the fortnightly payment of railway employees was given a second reading, and adopted by the United States. The railway law was designed to protect the lives of passengers and operators, and it was proposed to enlarge the power of the commission to enable it to employ the number of experts to enforce regulations.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King quoted an opportunity before a third reading.

Briton and Russia in Thibet

London, Feb. 21.—The correspondent of the Morning Post at Shanghai telegraphs that General Tuan Chijui, who has been appointed military governor of Ili, has been summoned to Pekin. It is not believed that China can oppose the Russian demands.

The viceroy of Szechuan telegraphs that Russian troops have entered Tibet and the Chinese resident at Lhasa wires that a similar move has been made by English soldiers. In addition the viceroy of Unnan reports that the British are occupying Pienna on the Burmese frontier and have laid a claim there to Chinese territory.

Nothing is known in London of the alleged British invasion of Tibet. It is recalled, however, that such a movement was contemplated in August, 1910, but abandoned. The only known British troops in Tibet at the present time are two small guards for agencies at Gyangtse and Yatung, where they have been since the expedition to Lhasa. Nothing is known here either of the alleged situation on the Burmese frontier although it is admitted that troops are in the neighborhood, owing to the impending settlement of a boundary dispute.

METHODISTS OPEN BIG CAMPAIGN

Business of Christian Church Is to Seek the Lost.

MR. WHITING'S ADDRESS

Wesley Hall Was Crowded Last Night—Eighteen Persons Offered Themselves For Evangelistic Work.

"The biggest business of the Christian Church is to go and seek the lost," declared Rev. Richard Whiting last night, in opening a two week's evangelistic campaign in the First Methodist Church. Preaching from the text, St. Luke, xv., 20, "But as soon as this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf," Mr. Whiting contrasted the different attitudes shown towards the prodigal's return by his father and the elder brother. In the fact of the father's ardent welcome the elder son complained bitterly. Jesus Christ regarded the condition of those outside the church as lost. In the three parables of lost coin, the lost sheep and the lost boy, each is prefaced by the word "lost." When the coin and the sheep were lost they appeared more valuable than they had before. When a thing is lost it comes to have an accentuated value. And so it was with the prodigal in his father's opinion.

Value of the Lost.

"If Jesus Christ looks upon lost people," said Mr. Whiting, "as having an accentuated value, how should you and I look upon them. God wants your heart to be troubled concerning the lost until you go out to find them. The elder brother regarded the prodigal as a wanton and a waster, not worth going after, and deserving no mercy. And this elder brother or Pharisee idea is found even in the church. The Church of God is no different from anybody else when it comes to a business standpoint.

"The elder son had no God in his heart, no sympathy or affection in his soul. The elder brother was a failure no less than the prodigal, and he was a failure in an irremediable sense."

Wesley Hall was crowded last evening, and the meeting was of a strongly devotional and evangelistic character.

Some eighteen persons offered themselves for definite evangelistic work in connection with the meetings to follow, and several went forward to profess conversion.

The Premier's Speech.

A full house faced Mr. Asquith when he rose to make the customary explanatory statement on the introduction of a measure of such moment. The tickets for seats in the public galleries had been exhausted weeks before, and the diplomatic and peers' balconies were thronged with interested ones.

The Premier lost no time in letting the opposition know that he felt the country was behind him, and therefore did not hesitate to reintroduce the bill without a change of a word in the form in which it had its first reading last year. The measure, he said, had gone before the electorate at the recent elections, and had been indorsed by the return of its supporters to the House of Commons with a majority of 126.

Mr. Asquith declared that when the Lords rejected the budget of 1909 they committed political suicide. History would say that it was the most stupendous act of political blindness ever perpetrated.

Hereditary in origin, irresponsible in the exercise of its powers, and overwhelmingly partisan in its actual composition—that was the body to which the law intrusted the right to delay and check the considered decisions of elected representatives of the people.

Intolerable Situation.

The Premier said that he did not propose to dispense with a second chamber. They had already suffered enough from the evils of what was practically a single-chamber government, but the country required an immediate remedy for the present evil and could not await a release from the dangerous and intolerable situation until the long and laborious process necessary for the creation of a new second chamber has been completed.

TRAVERS AND INSPECTOR BUSY ON THE BOOKS

The Convicted Ex-Manager of Farmers' Bank Again in the Box.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Feb. 21.—The Farmers' Bank case was resumed in the police court this morning. W. R. Travers, the convicted manager, occupied the witness box. The proceedings were lacking in dramatic interest after Saturday's sensational events. It is probable that Travers will be on the stand all morning.

For two hours before the court opened Inspector Duncan and Travers were very busy going over the bank books.

D. Hughes Charles, of Montreal, a broker, has been subpoenaed as a witness, and is expected to take the stand this afternoon.

A HAMILTON SUICIDE.

Hamilton, Feb. 20.—The body of Christopher Andrews, who disappeared from his Wilson street boarding-house last Thursday, was found in the bay today by men who had been grappling ever since Andrew's coat was found on the ice on Sunday. There is little doubt but that he committed suicide, as he had been in poor health, and his mind seemed affected.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

DRESSED HOGS SOLD BRISKLY ON MARKET

The Local Prices Today Were From $9.50 to $9.75 Per Hundred.

The chief offerings on the market today were hay, grain and dressed hogs. Outside of these there was little of anything else, and trade in other lines was very dull. Hay was plentiful and the demand was very good. The same prices as yesterday were asked today. There were 30 loads in, and the majority of them sold at $13 50 and $13 75 per ton. The lowest price was $12 per ton, but very few loads sold at this figure. The quality was very good.

Oats were a little more plentiful today than yesterday. There were about 10 loads in, and they were quickly bought up. The prices were from $1 to $1 05 per cwt. The demand is good at present, and some very good quality oats were offered.

Two loads of wheat sold at the usual price of 85c per bu. The demand for wheat in London seems to be very good, and higher prices prevail here than in other places.

Dressed Hogs in Demand.

Dressed hogs were in demand, and the supply was fairly large. The prices this morning were lower than on Saturday. The highest price today was $9 75 per cwt, but the greater part of the offerings went for $9 50 per cwt.

Butter, egg and poultry prices are unchanged. Eggs are retailing for 24c and 25c per dozen, and are becoming exceedingly plentiful.

Fruit prices are unchanged. Apples are moving a little better, and the price is still firm.

Butchers' meat prices are stationary, and there are no present indications of a change.

Vegetable prices are the same as Saturday. Potatoes were scarce today, owing to the cold weather.

FINANCIAL.

[From Charles Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Noon Letter—The diversion of a large part of trading to the stocks and bonds of the Goulds was reflected in decreased business in the leaders. A feature of dealings in the stocks most prominent is that the interests that were most active on the bull side in the frequent movements early last year have been persistent sellers, while operators and bankers which have been identified with the bull move in Reading, Union Pacific and United States Steel are now the principal buyers of the Gould issues.

New York, Feb. 21.—London ⅛ to ⅝ lower this morning. Owing to the impending holiday, there is likely to be a quiet market today. Washington advices report the President as settled in his intention to call an extra session of Congress unless the reciprocity agreement is passed at this time, but it is hoped in some quarters that the opposition will allow the measure to come to a vote. The money situation is still favorable. Corporations are finding a steady absorption for the new offerings of securities, which continue on a large scale, since their needs are rather urgent. While the supreme court decisions in the trust cases are yet to be handed down, this making for uncertainty in business circles, the general feeling is improving. The inter-state commerce commission will give out its findings soon in the matter of rate increases, and it is to be hoped that the results are commensurate with expectations, though the effect on market should not be radical, even if unsatisfactory. The railroads are doing well and earnings show increases. The Southern Pacific is willing to return millions of dollars worth of lands in order to compromise with the Government in suits for illegal patenting. We favor buying on fair reactions for turns.

BATTLE IS ON

"Is all progressive legislation, though clearly desired and demanded by the people, to come to a standstill, pending the evolving of a new second chamber?

"We say 'No,' and the country has said 'No' twice.

"It is asserted that the Government's proposal will have the effect of enabling a despotic single chamber to ride roughshod over the electorate, and the Government is charged with enthroning, under the subtle disguise of democratic forms, a power which would enthrall and set at naught the very spirit of democracy. Such a view is one of the most substantial nightmares that ever afflicted the imagination."

Mr. Asquith said that the political fortunes of the representatives of the Government were at stake. By delay to provide a bill for the purpose now sought, the Government had guarded against all risks of a measure which could be condemned by the people as having been arbitrarily smuggled into law. He concluded:

ST. LUKE'S TO CELEBRATE FREEDOM FROM DEBT.

The celebration of St. Luke's Church, Broughdale, on its freedom from all financial encumbrance takes place tomorrow evening in the form of an attractive entertainment. Some of the best city talent has been secured. Refreshments will be served. b

EAST LONDON NEWS

FIRE BROKE OUT IN FOOD FACTORY

Prompt Arrival of Brigade Stops What Might Have Been a Bad Conflagration.

The men of No. 5 fire hall had a run yesterday afternoon to the Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flake Company, and it is mainly owing to the fact that the fire hall is such a short distance away that a serious fire did not result.

It seems that a hot flake from the oven was blown into the hopper, which was partly full of flakes at the time, and it immediately caught fire. Fortunately it was discovered before making any great headway, and an alarm was sent in to No. 5 fire hall. When the firemen arrived the flames were pouring out of the hopper, and the place was filled with clouds of smoke. The fire had also managed to creep under the flooring, and it was with some difficulty that the firemen were able to reach it. The dry flakes made a fierce blaze, and it was necessary to shovel them out into a side lane before they could be extinguished. The hopper was pretty badly damaged, and about a carload of corn flakes was burned.

FIREMAN'S LEG BROKEN STEPPING FROM ENGINE

Accident to Mr. William Player in East London Yards.

William Player, of 467 Hamilton road, a fireman on the Grand Trunk, met with an accident last evening as his engine was taking water in the yards. Mr. Player was climbing down the side of the cab when his foot slipped and he fell to the ground. He was picked up in a dazed condition, and it was found that his leg had been broken at the ankle. Dr. Seaborn was summoned, and set the injured member. It will be some time before the injured man will be able to walk.

BOX MAKING FIRM COMING TO LONDON

Ask East End Progressives to Locate a Suitable Site.

A meeting of the executive committee of the East End Progressive Association will be held in their committee rooms in the Wanless block this evening. One of the chief matters to be dealt with is a communication from an Ottawa firm which manufactures wooden boxes.

The association have been negotiating with the firm for some time, and the latest communication from them states that they have decided to locate in London, and are asking the Progressives to assist them in locating a suitable site. The matter will be arranged tonight, and a definite step taken in the matter. One of the executive committee stated to The Advertiser today that the firm were well known in Eastern Canada, and the fact that they will locate in this city will mean a great deal in bringing manufacturers to London. It is said that the Progressives are already in touch with a couple of other firms who wish to locate here, and that London will likely have a branch of a large English firm in the near future.

A VALENTINE SOCIAL

A Unique Event in Adelaide Street Church.

The B. Y. P. U. of Adelaide Street Baptist Church held a Valentine social in the basement of the church last evening. The affair proved to be exceedingly successful, and was very largely attended. The basement had been very prettily decorated with hearts and colored lanterns and other tasty decorations, and presented a very beautiful appearance. Miss Edna Gillies presided, and Mr. Arthur Brown gave a very interesting paper on valentines.

A novel feature of the evening was the manner in which those present became acquainted. Cards containing a topic of general conversation were distributed to each one, and they would have to seek out the owner of a card containing a similar topic and carry on a conversation on the subject. This created a great deal of amusement. One of the city orchestras was in attendance and rendered some delightful selections. A short programme was given, which consisted of solos by Miss Mason, Mr. Maynard and Miss Westman, an instrumental by Miss Maynard, and a violin selection by Miss Jean Lister.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the programme, and a social hour spent.

TWO PLAYLETS IN ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH

A Pleasing Entertainment Carried Out on Monday Night.

The A. Y. P. A. of St. Matthew's Church presented two very interesting playlets Monday evening before a large crowd. The titles of the playlets were "The Bachelor's Reverie" and "Why We Never Got Married," and they proved to be very amusing.

"The Bachelor's Reverie" deals with an old bachelor who is on the point of getting married, and is reading some of the letters of his former sweethearts. Mr. W. Moulton as the Bachelor, and Miss Bessie Short, as Clara, were especially good in their respective parts.

"Why We Never Got Married" was exceedingly funny, and the Misses McCready, Mullet and Henderson, in their respective parts as old maids, deserve special mention. Rev. Mr. Appleyard presided as chairman, and gave a brief introductory address, in which he welcomed the young people of the A. Y. P. A.'s of Huron College and St. Mark's Church, who were present. He also congratulated the young people of St. Matthew's Church on the work they were doing, and the good feeling they were engendering among the other members of the church.

During the evening Miss Hazel Smith gave a couple of delightful readings, and Mr. Adams rendered a couple of solos. Some splendid music was rendered by the orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Hutton, who is to be congratulated on the organization he has brought together.

Before the programme opened, the A. Y. P. A. of St. Matthew's held a business meeting, and decided to assist the Ladies' Guild of the church in purchasing a piano for the Sunday school.

CHOIR ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Duffin, 288 Ontario street, entertained the choir of Crumlin Presbyterian Church at their home the other evening. The gathering was largely attended, a couple of 'bus loads of young people coming over from Crumlin. The evening was enjoyably spent in games and music, after which refreshments were served. The guests departed at a late hour, and voted Mr. and Mrs. Duffin exceptionally good entertainers.

Two French-Canadian Societies Will Not Make Addresses.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—Mgr. Gauthier will be formally installed tonight as Archbishop of the Diocese of Ottawa. Archbishops and bishops from all parts of Canada have gathered for the event. The ceremony will take place in the basilica, where the papal commission meeting Mgr. Gauthier will be formally read by Mgr. Routhier, the administrator of the diocese. This will be followed by a consecration, after which an address of welcome from the English parishioners will be read by Hon. Charles Murphy, secretary of state, and an address of welcome from the French parishioners will be read by Mgr. Routhier.

Tomorrow morning pontifical high mass will be celebrated, the English sermon being preached by Archbishop Casey, of St. John, N. B., and the French sermon by Archbishop Emard of Valleyfield. A banquet to the clergy will be tendered by the Grey Nuns, and in the afternoon Archbishop Gauthier will hold at the residence of Sir Elzear Taschereau a reception for the public.

The feeling of a wing of the French parishioners over the appointment of an English-speaking prelate as archbishop has not wholly subsided, and as a result there will be no address from the St. Jean Baptiste Society or the French-Canadian Educational Society.

A BASEBALL MEETING ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Londoners Interested in Scheme Will Talk Over the Situation.

A meeting of those financially interested in the London Baseball Club, which is to place a team in the Canadian League, which is being organized with teams from Hamilton, London, St. Thomas, Brantford, Berlin-Waterloo and either Woodstock or Welland, will probably be held here tomorrow night to discuss a number of rather important matters.

London has taken a firm stand on the guarantee bond question, and insists that each team be compelled to put up $1,000 to finish the season.

"Knotty" Lee, the Toronto organizer, who will manage the Hamilton team, believes that $250 is sufficient, but the Londoners are of the opinion that the circuit will be inaugurated on a much better basis if the $1,000 is provided by each club. It is said that Hamilton is agreeable, but that a couple of the smaller places object.

They are all enthusiastic and are prepared to enter at a general meeting, which will be held in Woodstock at the beginning of next week. London could produce the necessary backing for the local club on fifteen minutes' notice, but the local "magnates" do not feel inclined to become part of a scheme that might peter out in mid-season should one of the smaller towns find the first year a rough one financially. It is recognized that the first season will not reap a fortune for any person, but it is thought that thereafter the support will be sufficient.

MINISTERS INSPECT MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Commenced With the Majestic This Afternoon—Found All Right.

Rev. J. G. Inkster, of the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. G. Stuart, of Knox Presbyterian Church, South London, and Col. Chandler, of the Salvation Army, commenced their tour about the city this afternoon, inspecting the moving picture shows.

They commenced with the Majestic, and declared that they had seen nothing objectionable there when questioned by The Advertiser during the show.

"This is all right, but we expected it would be," Mr. Stuart told The Advertiser.

MAY BE INCORPORATED

The district included in the plan covers about 1,000 acres, and the assessment is over a million dollars. It has grown very rapidly of late, and is becoming a most important section.

"The residents of that section feel that if they were organized into a municipality they would be in a much better position to protect their interests. For instance, it is becoming a very important manufacturing centre. At the present time, nothing can be done towards encouraging manufacturers to establish there, or treat with them when they do come. If we were organized, we would be in a position to deal with them, both to their advantage and our own.

Niagara Power.

"In addition, we could deal directly for Niagara power. At the present time, we could only go as individuals, but once organized into a town, we would be in a position to deal directly for power and light, and a contract to the advantage of all the residents could be obtained. We would form a unit and we would be given excellent terms. I am sure the Ontario Government would light up the Asylum grounds, and assist us a little in lighting Dundas street.

"We would make quite a tidy little town. I should judge that there would be a population of 2,500 there. We now have a ten-roomed school. Nearly half the taxes raised in this section goes for bridges in other portions of the township, and some of the residents of the village think the money could be spent in the immediate district to better advantage."

The Meeting.

At the meeting of the residents of the eastern portion held Monday evening in the London Junction schoolhouse, the matter of organizing that section into an incorporated town was taken up.

It was decided that a committee be appointed to ascertain the conditions under which a town could be incorporated, and how much land is required.

It was also agreed to organize a committee, consisting of the residents of Pottersburg, to get the people in that section to join in the scheme. This will take in territory as far south as the river, and will include the post-office of Ealing.

The meeting was very enthusiastic over the idea, and the following men were elected to the committee to arrange the details of the proposition: Messrs. Angus Reveley, Wells Woods and Haney. The committee will move at once, and as soon as the figures of incorporation are ascertained, a meeting will be held.

Keeping Quiet.

In the meantime the residents of the eastern sections of the city are keeping pretty quiet about the matter, and nothing definite will be done until the committee makes a report.

It is understood that the name of the new town will be "London Junction," the residents preferring this to "Pottersburg."

Charged With Vagrancy.

Thomas Lenthall, of nowhere in particular, appeared in court this morning on a charge of vagrancy, and was remanded for a week. Patrick McCue, a drunk, said that last night he picked out a nice hen for a man who wanted one, and the gentleman rewarded him. "He must have rewarded you pretty liberally judging by the condition you got in," said the court. "I am almost afraid to let you go today." McCue said he wouldn't get drunk, and the court later decided to give him a chance.

Board of Education Report.

The annual report of the board of education is in course of preparation and will be issued within a short time. The financial statement is very satisfactory, the board finishing with a balance of from $4,000 to $5,000. The Collegiate Institute account was overdrawn for a slight amount, but the public school account was well ahead of the estimates.

Brown Allowed To Go.

James Brown, the young man who yesterday morning pleaded guilty to assaulting his sister, and was remanded for a week while Crown Attorney McKillop considered laying an information against him for obtaining money under false pretences, was allowed to go on suspended sentence on condition that he stays absolutely away from his sister's home. Last night, notwithstanding the treatment she had received from her brother on Saturday, Miss Brown went to the magistrate and asked that he be released.

Miss Mamie McLarnan, of Horton street, who has been on the staff of a New York hospital for the past year, has returned to that city after a brief visit with her parents.

Be Satisfied as to Safety Before You Invest

When you think of investment there are two questions you must ask—and have satisfactorily answered:

1st.—"How safe is my principal?"

2d.—"What percentage of income shall I receive?"

Market price and dividend rate determine the second — you probably can figure this out for yourself.

But unless you have facilities for investigation beyond those possessed by the average individual—unless you are intimate with all conditions surrounding and underlying security values, you should not depend on your judgment alone in determining the safety of your contemplated investment.

Lay the situation before your investment house—make use of their position, their information, their statistical records — confer with them. This will make your investment an intelligent and profitable one.

Our Security Reports

are sent from time to time, as issued, to our clients and to those who, as possible investors, wish to keep informed on securities dealt in on all markets. May we not put your name on this list? It will obligate you to nothing and will be of undoubted value to you.

Warden Appointed.

At a special meeting of the vestry of St. John's Church held last night, Rev. W. T. Hill appointed Mayor J. H. A. Beattie as rector's warden to succeed Mr. Oliver Ellwood, who resigned. This was the only business to come before the vestry, and when Mr. Hill announced his selection the meeting adjourned. The attendance was small.

The Enchanted Glen.

"The Enchanted Glen," a cantata, which was given by the Young People's Association of St. Paul's Cathedral, at the Christmas entertainment, was reproduced before a large audience in Cronyn Hall last night, and was thoroughly enjoyed. Rev. Canon Tucker was in the chair and Miss Raymond accompanied the soloists. The musical programme included selections by Rev. Mr. Tancock, of Byron; Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, of St. James' Episcopal Church, South London; Miss Irene Davis, Miss Graham, and a number of the young ladies in the cantata. The platform was elaborately decorated to represent a glen, and some very beautiful colored light effects were obtained by Mr. Cecil Webb, who had charge of the arrangements. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to A. Y. P. A. work.

A TALENT TEA

Held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the King Street Church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of King Street Presbyterian Church held a talent tea in the basement of the church last evening, and the large audience had a very enjoyable time. A splendid programme was given, the chief features of which were an instrumental duet by the Misses Bessie [illegible] and Winnifred Snelgrove; a [illegible] Mrs. Renton, and a reading by [illegible]dorie Perry. LONDON NOT AFFECTED BY P. A. Y. E. BILL Measure Applies Only to Cities of Over 100,000 Population.

The proposed legislation introduced by Mr. W. K. McNaught, M. P. P., for North Toronto, to standardize the "P-A-Y-E" cars, will have no effect on the city of London, if it does become law. It is drafted for cities of 100,000 population or over, and was framed particularly to meet with requirements in Toronto.

The company here have some cars of the prohibited type in service, but only a few. They are not exactly "P-A-Y-E" cars, but rather pay as you leave. They have not proved to be a great success, it is said, the city council some time ago instructing the company to discontinue their use.

No more have been equipped with the appliances, and it is understood that none will be. The city council will take no action in reference to the bill, according to the statement of Mayor Beattie.

Nature's Cure for a Cough
DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE IS THE MOSE LARGELY IMITATED MEDICINE IN THE COUNTRY.
What to give the children for croup and colds is the problem mothers now have to solve. Most of them finally decide on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and make it a rule to always have some in the house.
In this medicine are linseed, turpentine, and other well-known ingredients of unmistakable value in the cure of colds. It is pleasant to take, so much so that children delight to use it.
So generally is this great medicine used that several imitations have been put on the market. All alike in name only. They are not made from the same formula, nor do they bear the name of Dr. Chase.
You know what you can expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, but you cannot put much faith in an imitation which sells on the reputation of the article it imitates.
On every bottle of the genuine will be found the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author. This is for your protection, and for the protection of your children. Be sure to get the genuine, even if it costs a few cents more; 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

COUNCIL PEEVED AT WATER BOARD

Somebody Ordered Niagara Light for City Hall Without Authority.

STREET LAMPS WEAK

More Illumination Asked for Down-Town Section and Railway Crossings.

The aldermen at their meeting last night took up considerable time in criticizing the water commissioners.

The first trouble came when Ald. Saunders asked by whose authority the lighting had been changed in the city hall.

"I think that the council should at least have been consulted," he stated. "The commissioners are running things with a pretty high hand around here. They take everything that comes their way, and we will have nothing left in a very short time. The least they could have done was consult us."

"The order for changing the light should have come through the proper channels," declared Ald. Richter. "Perhaps they are putting the light in free. I can scarcely imagine that they are going to charge us anything when they put it in without asking for authority. When they present their bills we will ask where they got the authority."

Another Criticism.

Ald. Cooper complained that the commissioners had made some changes and alterations in the city hall without permission of the council.

"The commission have made one of the waiting-rooms unfit for people to stay in. Now they are going to partition some of the rooms. At least I heard they were. We have not been consulted or asked about it. They are not going to make the changes either until we are consulted. I move that the permission of this council be obtained before the water commissioners make any alterations in the hall."

The motion seconded, and carried unanimously.

Street Lighting.

Then the aldermen got after the commissioners for the way the streets were lighted.

"Some of our business streets are not lighted better than the outskirts," said Ald. Tancock. "Look at Ridout and King streets, and some of the others. I move that the commissioners be asked to put in more lights down town, particularly on King, Talbot and Clarence streets. The lighting at the present time is very bad."

"We are not getting half the light we are paying for," was Ald. Ashplant's opinion. "It should not cost us half the amount that the London Electric did."

"We are certainly not getting half the candle power," said Ald. Mitchell. "Some of the strets are disgraceful. Egerton and Rectory streets are particularly bad. No. 3 committee should go into this matter, and see to it that they are getting their proper amount of light. You are paying the same at last year, for half the candle power. Get what you are paying for, and see that your light is properly distributed."

"It is very true that we are not getting the light we are paying for," was Ald. Eckert's opinion. "I move that No. 3 committee take this matter up at once with the commissioners."

"I second the motion," said Ald. Cooper. "See to it that the railway crossings are properly lighted. They are positively dangerous now."

The amendment carried.

CITY COUNCIL AFTER G. T. R.

Ald. Bennett Wanted to Bring the Company to Time.

A NEW DEPOT IS DESIRED

And Other Improvements — After Much Debate on the Subject Nothing Was Done Last Night.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company was placed on the gridiron last night at the meeting of the city council, but other than say sharp things about the company, nothing was done.

Ald. Bennett wanted the city to get after the company and compel them to start the improvements promised to the city.

"It is years since anything was done," he said. "Conditions here are unbearable. The company bought some of our best property, and have turned it into a garbage heap. That should not be. The city has been on its knees to the company for sixteen years to my knowledge, so we had better get up and deal with this corporation. Something should be done for this city by the company in lieu of the big business done here. Look at the depot. It is dirty and insanitary, and a disgrace to the city. I move that the city clerk write to Mr. Charles M. Hays, president of the road, and ask him when the company intends to commence improvements here."

Go to the Commission.

"I second the motion," declared Ald. Mitchell. "I do not think this would prejudice our case at all, but would make it stronger."

"They are hard people to deal with," was Ald. Saunders' opinion. "I do not think that would do any good, and might do the city harm."

"The company would tell us to go to the Dominion railway commission," said Mayor Beattie. "That is what they have told us before."

"We have not any right to dictate to them what they shall do with their property," declared Ald. Richter. "Wait until the company asks something from the city and then we can deal with them."

"I think we had better wait until the company comes to us." Mayor Beattie said. "The citizens have the proper weapon in their own hands. If they would discriminate against the company in favor of the C. P. R., M. C. R., or the P. M., we would soon see the Grand Trunk coming here for help."

"The businessmen of this city do not patronize our own road," declared Ald. Saunders. "They would not do as you suggest."

A New Depot.

"We would be better off with a new depot and level tracks now, than wait twenty years for a new depot and elevated tracks," said Ald. Bennett. "If the council would ask the merchants to patronize other roads I believe they would do so. We want fair treatment, and we are going to stick with it until we get it. The health officers should condemn the station as insanitary. Let us get after the company."

The motion was lost, however, when put, Ald. Eckert, Bennett, Donnelly, Tancock and Mitchell voting in favor, and Ald. Richter, Ashplant, Morgan, Saunders and Cooper voting against the resolution.

PLANS TO UNITE ENGLISH CHURCHES

Canon Cayley Would Bring the High and Low Churches Together.

HE URGES TOLERATION

Says Church Will Be Better in Every Way if Two Sections Are United and Work in Harmony.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—In an open letter to Hon. S. H. Blake, Rural Dean E. C. Cayley asks him to use his great influence to bring the high and low English Church in Canada together.

"You, and perhaps you alone, at the present time," declares Canon Cayely, "can do this." He adds:

"I know the high church clergy well. There is not a man among them who has any dream of becoming a Roman. The great majority belong to the central body of the church. If you take this step, you will promote the unity, the charity, and the power of the Church of England throughout Canada. My answer, then, to your appeal to me is that neither of the extreme parties in the church has any right to persecute the other. But the great central body of the church can justly appeal to both to curb their natural tendencies for the sake of the unity and well-being of the Church of England, which includes both, but is more comprehensive than either. And as a humble member of this central body I venture to make this appeal. For, after all, we are brethren together, pledged to be true to our great loyalties, pledged to be true, not to one part, but to all parts of our great heritage."

Must Expand.

Canon Cayley's letter is in answer to letters from Mr. Blake, in which Mr. Blake opposed the raising of a fund of $100,000 for increasing the accommodation of the English churches in the city until some redistribution of the parishes had taken place, as there were at present 25,000 seats provided, whereas the average attendance was only 15,000, leaving 10,000 vacant seats at every service.

Canon Cayley points out that the churches have to be large enough to hold the winter congregations, which are larger than those of the summer months, and adds that while Methodist provide 50 sittings for every 100 adherents, and the Presbyterians 40, the Anglicans have only provided 25.

With regard to Mr. Blake's fears of the "Fathers" who are to conduct missions in the city during Lent, Canon Cayley denies that they have and Romeward tendency, and adds:

Live and Let Live.

"The Church of England is neither Catholic merely, nor Protestant merely. It is both. Some who greatly value the Catholic heritage of this church, and who do not so value its Protestant heritage, are tempted, we may say, to over-Anglicize. Others, who greatly value the Protestant heritage of the church, and who do not so value its Catholic heritage, are tempted, we may say, to under-Anglicize it. All the truth of the Church of England is found in neither of these two parties.

"In a broad and comprehensive body, such as the Church of England is, we must live and let live; there must be give and take. There were parties in the early church. At that time the Judaisers wanted to drive St. Paul out of the church. The church would have lost immeasurably if they had succeeded. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the Calvinists sought to make the Church of England the church of one party. Does anyone now regret their failure? Would the Church of England today be the richer or poorer if it became the church of one party?"

STORM AMONGST GLACIERS.

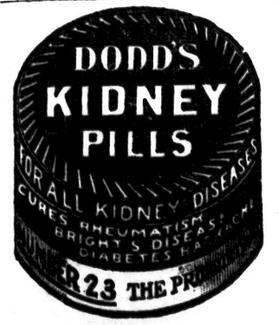

[Canadian Press.]

Cordova, Alaska, Feb. 20.—One of the worst storms ever experienced in Cordova and the Copper River country ended yesterday after three days of continuous rain and of wind, reaching a velocity of eighty miles an hour. Snow melting on the mountain sides caused bad landslides on the railroad running up the Copper River, but they are now cleared. The river is bank full, and it is feared that the flood will start the glaciers moving before the Alaska winter is ended.
