POLICE STATION WAS STORMED ANGRY WOMEN DEMAND JUSTICE

Picture Agent Charged With Securing Money Under False Pretences.

GIVEN A CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

P. M. Judd Allowed Prisoner to Go Until First of December.

The suffragette meetings that made Downing street famous, and gave the British Parliament Buildings the appearance of a ribbon counter on bargain days, did not have anything on the scene in Chief Williams' headquarters on Carling street this morning. Such a crowd of women! It was a gathering that would have delighted the heart of Mrs. Pankhurst herself, had that estimable lady been present to witness it. It was a meeting after her own heart, too, and the whole cause of it was one poor, lonely, little insignificant man, to use the suffragist terms.

Baby Buggies Garaged.

There must have been at least one hundred of London's fair sex gathered in the somewhat cramped spaces of the police court. Outside the building, on Carling street, a multitude of baby carriages and other infant vehicles were ranged in partial confusion, and it appeared as though the place had been turned into a refuge for homeless infants. Inside a great big indignation meeting was taking place, and for a time the police had their hands full keeping order.

It seems that in February last, a picture agent, Fred Shipley, of Toronto, visited London and took orders for several enlargements. With each order a deposit was made to insure the good faith of the purchaser. The pictures were to be delivered in June.

Five Hundred and Eighty-five Orders.

Five hundred and eighty-five of these orders were taken, and 585 complaints have since been registered against Shipley, because the pictures have not been delivered. Shipley was arrested in Stratford the other day and brought to London. He was charged with fraud, and obtaining money under false pretences. Since his arrest was made known, the police court has been besieged by many alleged victims, who had various stories to tell the police.

This morning 18 different informations had been laid against Shipley charging him with fraud for amounts ranging from $1 to $8. The pictures were to be delivered in June, but nothing had been seen of them as yet.

Crown Not Ready.

Mr. Edmund Meredith, K.C., appeared for Shipley, and witnesses had been brought from Toronto to show that he was conducting a legitimate business, and had been for years.

Crown Attorney McKillop was not ready to go on with the case, owing to the fact that an investigation into Shipley's connections in Toronto had not been made, and an unfavorable report had been received about him.

Mr. Meredith did not see why a further adjournment should be made, as his client had already spent a day in jail, had gone to the trouble of bringing witnesses from Toronto, and was ready to go on with the case.

Quite a discussion took place, which was very attentively listened to by the large female audience, while some very black looks were cast in Shipley's direction.

It looked for a time as if some of the ladies might forget themselves and try to do the man bodily harm, but the presence of several stalwart policemen in the courtroom was not encouraging to this, and the majority of the ladies contented themselves by glaring at him.

Shipley Given a Chance.

The matter was finally settled by adjourning the matter until Dec. 1, and in the meantime Shipley will be given a chance to deliver the pictures and settle up with the women whom he obtained the orders from.

Mr. Meredith maintained that the man's arrest was an outrage, and produced local papers to show that the firm had advertised that they would not have the pictures for London ready until Oct. 1. These ads. appeared on Aug. 26.

"This man is conducting a legitimate business, and has done so for years," said Mr. Meredith, "and we have brought these witnesses from Toronto to show that the pictures were being produced when the arrest was made."

RUSHED INTO FIRE TO SAVE A MAN

Rev. Mr. McIrvine, of Woodstock, Proved a Real Hero.

[Canadian Press.]

Woodstock, Oct. 21.—The silk-hatted gentleman who gallantly rescued the conductor of the freight train from a burning car in the recent C. P. R. wreck at Drumbo was the Rev. C. L. McIrvine, Methodist minister of the Central church here. He says he was aided considerably by the train hands.

This brief dispatch refers to an article which appeared in The Advertiser a week or so ago. The minister ran into a burning car and pulled the conductor, who had been rendered unconscious by the shock of the collision.

THROWN FROM AUTO SHOULDER INJURED

Mr. Arthur Collins, of 64 Briscoe Street, Met With Accident.

Mr. Arthur Collins, of 64 Briscoe street, was thrown from an automobile on Brick street Sunday afternoon, and sustained injuries to his shoulder that necessitated his removal to Victoria Hospital. It is known that his shoulder-blade is affected, but he will be given a more thorough examination under the X-ray today. Collins was attended by Dr. Davis.

FOUND LITTLE CHILD ON THE DOORSTEP

Family Near Wingham Have a Curious Midnight Experience.

Wingham, Oct. 23. — A family by the name of Stapleton, who live near the brickyard, were treated to a sensation about midnight of one day last week, when investigating the source of a noise they discovered a two-year-old child lying on the doorstep. The infant was cared for and next day the matter was placed in the hands of County Constable Phippen, who found that the mother, an unmarried girl, had disappeared. The girl's mother could give no explanation of her daughter's strange act. It was a fortunate chance that led to the discovery of the tot, as the night was a cold one, and it is quite likely the child would have perished.

THE FISCAL YEAR REVENUE NEARLY 118 MILLIONS

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—A blue book on public accounts is out, and shows the revenue of Canada during the last fiscal year was $117,780,402, and the expenditure $87,774,198, leaving a surplus of $30,000,211 on consolidated account.

The capital expenditure was $30,852,963. Of this $23,487,986 was spent on the National Trancontinental and bounties were paid to the amount of $1,597,663. During the year the debt was increased by $3,773,505. The silver coinage yielded a profit of $861,186, and copper coins a profit of $34,827.

MR. ELSON HALF ROSE FROM SEAT AND THEN SAT DOWN AGAIN

Toronto Star Has Some Fun With the White Episode—Why Should Rural Members Show All the Politeness?—Toronto's Attitude Ridiculed.

Toronto Star, Oct. 21: "Mr. White needn't worry, and we needn't worry, either. A man who holds a portfolio in his open hands is not going to be left standing around for very long on one foot in a polite political community like ours. Somebody will vacate a chair and retire to the gallery or to the cosy elegance of a box.

"It isn't going to be Mr. Peter Elson, of East Middlesex, though. He is the latest one that it isn't going to be. He had half risen from his seat, but sat down again, when, after a rapid glance around, he could not quite see what provision would be made for himself. He did not mind offering his seat to the strange gentleman—any friend of Mr. Borden's was welcome—but he didn't want to have to stand throughout the whole performance. Besides, there were obstacles in the way, which made the seat not a convenient one for Mr. White to get to, and it is said that it would have created disagreeably if a stranger had dropped his weight on it too suddenly, or if he tried to tilt it around in ways it isn't used to.

"Will Mr. Henderson kindly offer the gentleman a seat? Certainly, if the master of ceremonies will kindly place some better upholstery at Mr. Henderson's disposal. A seat for a seat—what could be fairer?

"But we must disagree with the London Advertiser when it intimates that Hon. John Haggart may give up his seat in South Lanark 'to get the plum which nearly fell to Mr. Elson.' Not the same plum, by any means. Hon. John has one of the most capacious of seats, one of the coolest of seats—why, you could sleep on it!—decorated with a great deal of his own fine hand-carving. Not this seat for that plum! And, besides, Hon. John has an appreciation in plums which the untutored taste of Mr. Elson knows nothing about.

"Nor do we share the view of those who say that Hon. W. T. White could not be elected in West Toronto if Mr. E. B. Osler retired in his favor. The margin of 8,000 majority in that riding would probably pull him through. A few Conservative voters might go back on Mr. White because he had been a Liberal at one time, but most would forgive him because he has since become a minister. Or even if Mr. Monk or Mr. Nantel should need a seat—but that's apart from the question. It is curious that the Toronto Conservatives should be so timid about offering seats to Mr. White. He could carry West Toronto, North Toronto, or South York handily. Why should rural members show all the politeness? If Mr. White secures a rural seat he may become attached to it and Toronto Conservatives may call him in vain when he has grown proficient in ministering finances.

"Where are the prominent gentlemen who secured Hon. W. T. White his appointment to the cabinet? Have they no influence except with cabinets? Have they none with constituencies? Surely they know that if they plump Mr. White, Tory minister of finance, into any Toronto constituency, every kicker will cease from kicking, and, headed by the editor of the Telegram, will carry a coal-oil torch in the White parade."

$2,500 DAMAGES ARE ASKED FROM GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY

Mr. J. L. Wyckoff Was Injured When a Street Car and a Freight Train Collided at Rectory Street Crossing Some Time Ago.

Mr. J. L. Wyckoff, of Hyatt avenue, has issued a writ for $2,500 damages for personal injuries received while a passenger on a street car at the Rectory street crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway, when a collision occurred with a G. T. R. train. The steam road is the defendant to the suit.

This is the second action within a couple of weeks arising out of the same accident, Motorman Facey, of the street car, having commenced proceedings a few days ago.

The street car was allowed in on the crossing while proceeding north on Rectory street one night last summer, and was struck by a freight train which had been standing near the street, and which backed up unexpectedly.

The caboose struck the front end of the street car, which turned parallel with the G. T. R. line and derailed the freight, which turned to the north, crashing through the watchman's shanty, instantly killing Timothy O'Leary, the aged man in charge. Cronyn & Betts & Coleridge are acting for Mr. Wyckoff.

RINGING DOWN OF THE CURTAIN ON THE LIFE OF SADIE HOLMES

Former London Girl Was a Dentist in Tillsonburg—Put Up a Brilliant Fight To Be Allowed to Practice—Married On Her Deathbed to the Man She Loved.

Tillsonburg, Ont., Oct. 23. — The funeral took place here Friday of Sadie O. Holmes, the bride of a few hours of Mr. John W. Mahon, barrister, of Cobalt. Her death on Wednesday morning, following an operation in the Emergency Hospital here, caused a widespread feeling of sorrow and regret in the town, where she had been a prominent and successful dentist.

Mrs. Mahon was born in Ireland, and went to London, Ont., with her parents when a child, and resided in West London. Her father died some years later and she entered a dental office in that city. Her mother married again and came to Tillsonburg, where her husband, the late John Brodie, kept a jewelry store. Mr. Brodie at one time kept a store next to what was then McCallum's drugstore, on the northwest corner of Dundas and Richmond streets.

Entered Dental Office.

Shortly afterwards Mrs. Mahon, then Miss Sadie Holmes, also came to Tillsonburg. She was handsome and bright, and possessed much personal magnetism, and the business of the office in which she was employed did not grow less after her association with it. Some time after her stepfather died, and she grasped the idea of entering the dental profession herself without the long delay of matriculating and taking the regular course in the Dental College. She knew definitely what she wanted, went after it with unusual courage for a woman, and a good deal of ability, and was successful. She interested a few prominent businessmen in the town in

HOTELMEN FEAR ANOTHER JUMP IN COST OF LIQUOR LICENSES

The Government Is Seeking Information in Regard to What Happened After the Tax On Bar Receipts Went Into Force.

The hotelkeepers are looking for an increase in the license fee charged by the Provincial Government for selling liquor or in the tax on bar receipts now placed at five per cent on all money taken in over the bar above $60 per day.

Information is being collected in Toronto and other places regarding the increase of rates enforced by the hotelmen after the tax on bar receipts was inaugurated.

There was some complaint regarding the action of certain hotelkeepers, and the trade formally explained to the Government that no charge had been made in regard to the travelling public.

So far, little has been done locally, although the Government is in pretty close touch with what has been going on.

It is understood that the idea is to obtain certain receipts from all hotels for the purpose of rearranging the tax on them.

What Is Big Layout?

The department want to find out what is the amount obtained annually from the rooms, and how this department of hotels pays, and how much from the dining-room, and whether or not it pays.

Of course, they are now obtaining information on the receipts from the bars, and know quite well what profit it is returning.

The complaint is made that the hotelkeepers formerly ran the dining-room at a loss, and made up the deficit from the bar. Now the dining-room business has been made to pay or a stop has been practically put to it.

A tax covering the whole matter of hotel administration will be inaugurated at the next session of the House. The Advertiser is informed, and the hotelkeepers will have to pay more for the privilege of doing business.

"I do not know what is being done elsewhere," said Inspector Galpin. "I have received no instructions from the department as yet to further investigate the matter."

RELATIVES OF DEAD TEACHER DISBELIEVE SUICIDE THEORY

Second Postmortem Held On Remains of Violet Smith Will Result in a New and Complete Investigation.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Friends and relatives of Violet Smith, the young school teacher whose body was removed from the river near Dillon Port after a mysterious disappearance, are not of the opinion that she took her own life, despite the verdict of the coroner's jury to this effect. When the body arrived in the city for interment, a second postmortem was conducted by Dr. George W. Graham and Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson, the chief coroner. The medical men refuse to make a statement, but it is known that bruises were discovered on the body, which had not been caused after the body was in the water. A much more thorough investigation into all the circumstances surrounding the girl's death is to be made.

GAMBLING-CHARGE AGAINST CHINAMEN

Police Raided an Alleged Opium Joint On King Street This Morning.

CELESTIALS IN COURT

Some Were Discharged and Some Sent Over Until Wednesday for Trial.

Sergt. Birrell and Sergt. Lucas, of the local police force, will be getting themselves decidedly unpopular with the Chinese element of this city if they are not more careful of their behavior in the future. Just when a few of the local Celestials were gathered together over a quiet little tea cup, and perchance a pipe or two, discussing the present conflict in China, who should come bouncing in but the above-mentioned gentlemen, and gathering up the whole outfit, hurried it off to the police court, with a promptness and dispatch that almost took away the breath of each unlucky laundryman.

A Gambling Charge.

This morning they appeared in the police court to answer a charge of smoking opium, gambling, conducting a gambling den, etc. When everything had been gotten into a semblance of order, it was learned that the names of the laundry washers were Charles Hing, Charles Ling, Charley Gung, Charles John, John Sam, Charlie Wong, George Ling, Lee Quinn, Tom Lee.

It was also found that six of them were only frequenters of the house, so the magistrate called them out, one at a time, and discharged them, to their no small delight.

The other three, Charles Hing, Charles John and John Sam, were charged with smoking opium and gambling, and they will appear on Wednesday to answer the charges.

The Arrest.

The policemen arrested the Chinamen in a laundry on King street, near Clarence street, at 3 o'clock this morning. The place has been under surveillance for some time. Hing is charged with being the keeper of the alleged joint, and with conducting a gambling den. When the officers raided the place they found a couple of the Chinamen smoking opium and gambling.

The others were in the same room, but were apparently taking no part.

CERTAIN FILMS WILL DISAPPEAR IN CANADA

Local Picture Man Talks of the Work of Board of Censors.

Although there has been no agitation in this city to remove the American flag from the moving picture films shown in the local theatres, the action of the government board of censors at Toronto in ordering the Stars and Stripes eliminated, will have its effect here.

"It simply means that all war scenes and celebrations in which the people are interested, and in which, of course, the flag is shown, will be taken out of the Canadian houses," said Mr. Thomas W. Logan, manager of the Majestic.

"The films will have to be chopped up in the majority of cases until it will be impossible to follow them intelligently. There is certainly no demand here for pictures showing the American flag, but they are taken as a matter of course as the American films are practically the only pictures available."

In answer to the criticism of some that the action of the censors in ordering the elimination of the American flag in every instance was unreasonable, members of the board explained that they had been called upon repeatedly to deal with the matter as the waving of the Stars and Stripes had become obnoxious to many Canadians.

CHINESE MAIN ARMY ROUTED SEVERAL MORE CITIES SEIZED

Greater Portion of Northern China Now Under Control of Revolutionists—Heavy Defeat of Government Troops.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 23. — Dispatches received here today from China say: The main army of the Chinese forces, under Minister Ying Tchang, said to number 20,000 men, was defeated Saturday at Kwang Shkai, according to a cable received by the Chinese Free Press of this city. The rebels, numbering 15,000, captured artillery, baggage train and ammunition of the imperial army, which retreated to Sho Got.

The cable stated that the imperial forces were completely routed and abandoned their supply trains during the retreat. The mountain passes at Kwang Shui, said to be of great strategic value, now are reported to be held by the revolutionists, giving them the control of the Hankow-Peking Railroad, over which the imperial troops are being moved.

A Six-Hour Battle.

London, Oct. 23. — A special dispatch from Peking says that strong rebel detachments marching up the west bank of the railway attacked the northern army twice, on Thursday and Friday. The fighting lasted six hours on both days, and it is estimated that the killed or wounded on both sides numbered 540.

"It is now evident," says the dispatch, "that the rebels are strong. The Government was too optimistic during the last week. Gen. Yin Tchang has made a requisition for more artillery, and the headquarters of the northern army remain at Sinyang-Chau, proving that Ying Tchang considers his forces inadequate to assault the rebel army, which is difficult to get at, owing to the fact that it is intersected by a river and favors guerilla warfare.

"The rebels are entrenching every-

LOOKED FOR TROUBLE AND WAS REWARDED

John Robinson Assaulted Street Car Conductor and Was Fined $10.

SPOILING FOR A FIGHT

Raised a Row on a West London Car on Saturday Afternoon and Was in Police Court Today.

John Robinson, a local cigarmaker, was arraigned in the police court this morning charged with drunkenness and assaulting a local street car conductor on a car about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon near the corner of Adelaide and Dundas streets.

Robinson was, up till a week ago, an Indian hater, and was appeared in the court before. It seems that Saturday afternoon he got on a West London car going east, but when the conductor came to collect his fare he had neither tickets nor money. As the car was crowded at the time, the conductor went on collecting other fares, and asked a man to keep an eye on Robinson in case he might fall off.

In Ugly Mood.

When the conductor came to the back of the car again Robinson began calling him names and attempted to hit him. The conductor went to assist some people on, and when his back was turned Robinson is alleged to have jumped on him. Both men went down on the ground, but the street railway man came out on top and Robinson was shoved back on the car again and told to behave.

When the corner of Adelaide street was reached, Robinson again became troublesome, and the motorman and conductor put him off and told him to go home. He chased after the car, however, and once more attacked the conductor. This time the patrol was called and Robinson was arrested.

Charge of Assault.

This morning in the police court the street railway company had him charged under the railways act with assault.

Mr. Edmund Meredith, K. C., appeared for the prisoner and pleaded guilty to both charges. He also made a strong plea for the young man, and stated that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. In future he had determined to stop drinking and go to work.

Mr. J. O. Dromgole, appearing for the street railway company, stated that the company had been having considerable trouble lately with fellows who tried to beat the conductors out of their fare and then attacked them. They had to put a stop to it, as their conductors were leaving daily on account of having to put up with so much abuse.

However, they did not wish to deal harshly with Robinson.

Fined Ten Dollars.

The magistrate decided to take a lenient view of the case and discharged Robinson on a charge of drunkenness, but he fined him $10 on the other charge, and will have him placed on the prohibitory list. The fine was paid and Robinson promised to leave drink alone in future.

PUBLIC FEELING IS AT FEVER HEIGHT

People Are Sympathizing Very Strongly With the McNamaras.

Mr. Thomas Fry, of this city, has returned to London after several months' tour with the Oakland Salvation Army Band, through the leading cities of California and the southwest. He states that public feeling there is at a fever height in connection with the McNamara trial.

Public opinion is sympathizing very strongly with the defendants, and street meetings and demonstrations are held daily in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, and other cities in their favor. At the present time there is a scarcity of employment, which is weighing heavily upon the populace, although in the last few weeks conditions in San Francisco have been improving, in anticipation of the forthcoming exposition.

Chatham, Oct. 23.—Joseph Houle, aged 17, was drowned in the Thames late Saturday afternoon. Houle, with a companion named Leguille, had been in a rowboat fishing. They were rowing to shore when the boat upset, Houle going to the bottom before help could reach him.

8,000 ITALIANS SUFFER DEFEAT

Routed by the Turks and Arab Forces in Tripoli.

CASUALTIES WERE 800

Large Quantities of Arms and Ammunition Fall Into Victors Hands.

Berlin, Oct. 23. — Special dispatches from Constantinople say that the Turkish ministry of the interior has received news that the Turks and Arabs have defeated 8,000 Italians near Barka. The Italians lost 800 and the Turks 115 men. The Italians left large quantities of arms and ammunition on the field.

Berlin, Oct. 22.—A special dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Tripoli, by way of Malta, reports a sanguinary fight on Thursday night near the city of Tripoli. The Turks surprised the Italians, who were caught between two fires. The warships were unable to give any assistance. Fifteen Italian soldiers were found dead in the trenches. A large pile of uniforms belonging to Italian soldiers later was discovered in a field, which leads to the belief that the Italian casualties were much more serious than admitted. Many dead and wounded were transported to the warships.

Italians Hard Hit.

Tripoli, Oct. 22.—The fighting at Benghazi between the Italians and the Turks has been of the fiercest character. After an engagement which lasted all day, Oct. 19, the Turks returned to the charge during the night. They made a savage onslaught upon the Italian camp, but were repulsed. In the morning the Italian forces occupied the city.

The Turkish losses were very heavy, and the Italian dead numbered not less than 100.

Turkish Warships Sail.

London, Oct. 22.—The Daily Mail's Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that several Turkish destroyers passed through the Dardanelles, presumably to make an attempt to damage Turkish shipping.

Magazine Explodes.

Berlin, Oct. 22.—Over 100 Turkish soldiers and 38 Arabs were killed by the explosion of a powder magazine, caused by a shell from one of the Italian warships during the bombardment of Derna, according to a message from a petty officer aboard the battleship Napoli.

Edward Mygind, an experienced correspondent of the Zeitung am Mittag, cabling his paper from Jerba, an island belonging to Tunis, and where he escaped the Italian censorship, says the Italian losses in daily skirmishes in Tripoli are considerable, and that the Italian assertions that the Turks and Arab allies are discouraged and intend to surrender are pure humbug.

Cholera, he states, has claimed many victims among the Italian troops and the residents of Tripoli.

Mygind adds that 20,000 Italian troops have been landed on the Tripolitan coast, and there is no thought of an advance into the interior before the present army has been reinforced.

The Italian deputy, Di Felice-Giusfrida, the Socialist supporter of the Turko-Italian war, telegraphs disquieting news from Tripoli. He states that the Turkish soldiers have been able to cross the Tunis frontier, where they communicated with Constantinople, giving a report of the situation in the interior. In Tunis they asked assistance and even money.

When the French authorities discovered the presence of the Turks they ordered a close watch on the frontier to prevent a breach of neutrality. The French defeated attempts to convey provisions to the Turks.

There is an interesting discussion being had in military circles as to how the Turks are likely to treat the Italian military aviators if the latter fall into their hands, particularly as to whether they would be regarded as prisoners of war.

It is recalled that the passengers of five French balloons captured by the Prussians in 1870 were considered spies by Bismarck. In the present case the aviators wear military uniforms, and do not conceal their identity in reconnoitering the enemy's positions. Accordingly, the Italians think that if captured the aviators should be accorded the protection of prisoners of war.

Question of Paving Cromwell Hill to Be Discussed.

Sarnia, Oct 23.—The regular meeting of the town council will be held in the town hall tonght. The principal item of business to be transacted will be the question of paving the Cromwell street hill. The present condition of this thoroughfare is an eyesore to the people of Sarnia, and at the meeting tonight the question of the class of pavement to be laid will be discussed.

The death occurred here on Sunday of Essie Dandy, beloved wife of John Dandy, at the ripe old age of 79 years. DEANERY OF BRUCE MET AT WALKERTON

Autumn Session of Chapter Proved of Great Benefit.

Walkerton, Oct. 23.—At the invitation of Rev. R. Perdue, of St. Thomas' Church, Walkerton, the chapter met here for their autumn session.

The meeting was a red letter day in the chapter's history, the lord bishop being present for some part of the time and helping the clergy with advice and counsel. Also the members and delegates had an opportunity of seeing the splendid new church built by the efforts of Mr. Perdue and his church workers.

On Tuesday evening the lord bishop held a confirmation service, which will long be remembered by the visitors for its helpful character and the beautifully-rendered service by a vested choir of thirty-five voices.

On Wednesday, the day began with a celebration of holy communion at 8 o'clock, followed by a quiet hour for the clergy with the bishop of the diocese. At 11 a.m. the chapter met to transact deanery business.

The following clergy were present: Rev. L. W. Deihl, R. D.; Rev. W. Henderson, Rev. E. Softly, Rev. F. M. Powell, Rev. A. Richardson, Rev. H. A. Wright, Rev. R. W. James, secretary-treasurer. The Rev. T. B. Howard the diocesan secretary of Sunday schools, was also present as was Rev. F. M. Vale, of Mackenzie River diocese.

It was decided on the invitation of Rev. W. Henderson to hold the next meeting in Hanover, after which the Rev. T. B. Howard gave a talk on the work of Sunday schools in the diocese.

At 12:30 luncheon was served in the basement of the church, the lord bishop occupying the seat of honor.

It is the general opinion that when the Walkerton people undertake anything they do it well, and the luncheon and the way generally that the members and delegates of the deanery chapter were treated was no exception to this rule.

At 3 p.m., the convention opened with an address on "Feed My Lambs." This was to have been taken by Rev. C. V. Lester, of Tara, but owing to an attack of grippe he was unable to be present, and the Rev. W. Henderson took up the subject for the allotted time. He gave an address which impressed those present very much with the fact that both clergy and their Sunday school teachers should do even more than in the past in this important work of training the young.

The Rev. T. B. Howard was asked to give a paper on the "Boy Problem." Mr. Howard is a specialist on the subject, and dealt with it fully. He pleaded very earnestly for a kindly treatment of the boy, especially between the ages of twelve and sixteen, remarking that up to the former age the boy lived on the faith of others, and up to the latter he was often struggling to form one of his own, and so needed all the help others could give him.

The Rev. A. W. Richardson followed with a paper on "Revivals." He pointed out that these existed in the early Jewish church and in the non-Christian religions, and maintained that they were as necessary today as then. During the discussion it was urged that more use should be made of the seasons of Advent and Lent for these times of reviving and refreshing.

This was followed by a paper from Rev. E. Softley, dealing especially with the past history of the Church of England. He urged the great need of making the facts of history more fully known among the people.

At 6 p.m. supper was served in the same sumptuous fashion, after which the rural dean submitted the toast for the King. Everyone joined heartily in singing "God Save the King." The Rev. R. Perdue spoke, saying how pleased he was to meet the chapter and delegates, and bidding them welcome in the name of himself and his willing band of workers.

The Rev. Mr. Henderson and Rev. Mr. Softley replied for the deanery. Mr. Henderson's reminiscences date back for upwards of 25 years of work in the Deanery of Bruce.

The Rev. T. B. Howard replied for the diocese, and the Rev. Mr. Vale, of Hay River, Mackenzie River Diocese, for missions.

The Rev. Messrs. T. M. Powell, A. W. Richardson and R. W. James replied for the ladies.

At 8 p.m. a public meeting was held in the basement, and a most interesting talk was given by Rev. A. J. Vale, on work among the Indians of the Mackenzie River Diocese, showing the need of help, and showing how and why people should support these missions. This was followed by a lecture on Honan, China, by Rev. A. D. Wright, of Kincardine, illustrated by views with magic lantern, telling of the work of Bishop White and his small band of assistants in that wide field of labor.

It was generally agreed that these deanery meetings are taking an important place in the deanery work, and each one become more interesting to clergy and helpers alike. This may be understood to some extent when some—both of clergy and teachers—drove upwards of 30 miles to be present at this one.

A HOME INMATE KILLED BY TRAIN

James Leo, of Strathroy, Killed on the Track Saturday.

Strathroy, Oct. 23.—James Leo, an inmate of the House of Refuge, was struck and instantly killed on the tracks, west of depot, by the 8:10 express going east, on Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas have returned from their trip to New York and other points east, and are sojourning for a time with Mrs. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, before going to Porcupine.

The work on the Baptist Church is progressing rapidly. Load after load of the burned debris has been cleared away, and those employed resemble veritable darkies when their day's work is over, so black is the material they handle. George McBeth was so unfortunate as to be struck by a falling piece of glass, some of the splinters getting into his eye and some cutting his hand. Dr. Berdan was called and no serious results are expected.

Mrs. C. W. Bowyer, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Strathroy and vicinity for the past four months, has returned to her home in Winnipeg.

The work on the enlargement of the vestry of St. John's Anglican Church will soon be completed, and in three weeks' time the vested choir will make its first appearance.

Miss B. Adams, of London, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. H. D. Ross, of Williams, spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) O. L. Berdan.

Strathroy merchants were feeling quite elated over the announcement that the new engine at the power-house was running quite smoothly, and that they could throw away their candles and various other "lights of other days," but great was the consternation when on Saturday night about 7:30 the town was again plunged into darkness. However it was a false alarm for they remained off only a few moments, and everything was O.K. for the rest of the evening.

RABBIT HUNTER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Paisley, Oct. 22.—A young farmer named Provenske, was accidentally shot and killed while hunting rabbits with a companion in Eldeslie, a few miles from here. He got on a stump to get a view of the rabbits, when the stump gave way. In falling the gun exploded when pointed towards himself. The bullet entered the abdomen.

DIES FROM INJURIES

Sustained Concussion of Brain in a Runaway Accident.

Goderich, Ont., Oct. 22.—Mrs. W. Potts, of Saltford, who was seriously injured in a runaway collision yesterday succumbed to her injuries last evening without regaining consciousness. Besides suffering concussion of the brain, she was otherwise seriously hurt. Mr. Potts who was with her in the buggy when the accident occurred will recover.

WINGHAM.

Wingham, Oct. 23.—The town is on the boom just now, as one factory is obliged to work overtime owing to the rush of orders.

An illustrated lecture will be given in the town hall here, showing the ravages of the white plague. Mr. W. J. Watson will do the speaking.

The illustrated lecture which was given last week in the Baptist Church by Rev. Mr. Horne, B.A., was well patronized. An address was also given by the pastor of the church. Rev. G. V. Collins.

Mr. Frank Hinton, of the Western Foundry here, has gone to Grimsby, where he will take a job of tinsmithing.

Mr. John Wells and family, formerly of Wingham, and now of Florida, who were visiting here for some time, have returned to Florida, where Mr. Wells conducts a large sawmill with his brother.

George Kergus, commonly known in the town as "Gypsy Jack," was arrested on Oct. 11 for assaulting his wife and family, and was brought before the police magistrate, Mr. J. P. Morten. He was fined $5 50 and costs, or 21 days in jail. The same day his wife laid a charge against him for assault, and he was bound over to keep the peace for $100, or in default to spend six months in Goderich jail. Not being able to come up with the coin, he had a fast ride on the L., H. and B. in charge of Provincial Constable George Phippen, where he will remain in Goderich jail for the next six months.

CHILD WOULD NOT EAT

CONSTANT COUGH WEAKENED HIM.

A healthy child ought to be "hungry as a bear" at meal time. Poor appetite means failing health.

The best thing you can do for a child that won't eat is to give teaspoonful doses of Vinol. This is wonderfully good in bringing back lost appetite, and it is so pleasant that children take it eagerly.

Mrs. E. Stanger, of Bronx Borough, N. Y., says: "My little son, 3 years old, had bronchitis for a year. The cough disturbed his rest, and he lost his appetite.

"I gave him Vinol for a while and it stopped his coughing and brought back his appetite. His health has improved wonderfully. He likes Vinol."

It is the tonic iron and strengthening cod liver elements in Vinol (it contains no oil), that make it so strengthening and blood-enriching. It makes weak, pale children strong and rosy, and we guarantee it to do exactly what we tell you—if it does not you get your money back. Anderson & Nelles, druggists, also W. T. BOURASSA TALKS OF HIS POLICIES

Declares How He Stands With the New Government.

HASN'T CHANGED VIEWS

Nationalist Chief Reiterates His Statements in Regard to the Navy.

Chambly Canton, Que., Oct. 22.—Another Nationalist demonstration, to celebrate the victories of the recent election, was held here this afternoon, which was joined in by about 2,500 people. It had been expected that Hon. F. D. Monk, the new minister of public works, who joined Mr. Bourassa in the Nationalist campaign, would be the principal speaker, but he did not turn up, so Mr. Bourassa was the orator. The meeting was presided over by G. N. Ducharme, a life-long Conservative, and S. Willett, an old-time Liberal, who joined the Nationalist movement last election, and a general jubilation was held over the election of J. H. Rainville, who ran as a straight Nationalist for the county of Chambly-Vercheres. Mr. Rainville, however, in his speech made very laudatory references to the work of Messrs. Borden and Monk, as well as Messrs. Bourassa and Lavergne, all of which were greeted with cheers.

Bourassa's Position.

Mr. Bourassa made his first appearance for some time, having been resting at a monastery since the close of the election. As to the new Government, he could say nothing regarding their policy. But he declared the Nationalist group, which he led, would occupy the same position to the new Government as to the old. He, however, criticized those who objected to the appointment of Col. Sam Hughes to the cabinet, and "good old Dr. Sproule" to the Speakership, declaring these same people had welcomed their support in the past when any attack upon French-Canadian or Roman Catholic rights was to be made, as well as when they supported Laurier in sending troops to South Africa without a mandate from the people.

For the rest Mr. Bourassa reiterated his ideas regarding the navy, demanded a thorough investigation into the administration of the various departments at Ottawa, and declared that so long as the Borden Administration gave an honest and economical government so long would it receive the support of himself and his friends.

The general trend of Mr. Bourassa's speech indicated him in the role of an apologist for the Borden Government and a critic of the late Liberal Administration.

RAILWAYMEN REFUSE TO ACCEPT REPORT

Resolutions Repudiate Finding of English Railway Commission.

London, Oct. 22.—Railwaymen held meetings in many places throughout Great Britain today, at which there were passed resolutions repudiating the report of the railway commission.

References to the report were punctuated with angry and derisive shouts. Secretary Williams, of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, addressing the men at Sheffield, admitted that the report embodies small improvements, but said that it was an absolute disgrace to suggest that the men continue under present conditions until July, 1912.

A resolution passed refused to accept the commission's findings, and asked that the executive of the various unions immediately convene a national conference to frame better conditions for employment, and to submit the plan forthwith to the railway companies for adoption.

When the commission was appointed in August the board of trade announced that both parties had promised to accept the findings. Several leaders now say that neither the men nor the executive were consulted, that acceptance was not pledged thereto, and that they will not recognize such an obligation.

CONSUMPTION RAVAGING QUEBEC PROVINCE

Death Rate From White Plague One of Highest in World.

Montreal, Oct. 22.—The ravages of tuberculosis in this province were made startlingly evident by the report of Lieut.-Col. Burland, the chairman at the annual meeting of the King Edward Institute for the Prevention of Tuberculosis yesterday. The report showed that the death rate in the province from the disease was one of the highest in the world, that the death rate among women was twice as high as among men, and that the disease was more prevalent among the French-Canadians than among the English-speaking population.

He said, however, that while statistics showed the disease to be gaining ground, this was not the case, as in previous years many cases were unregistered, but now that the institute was at work practically every serious case was noted. He urged the city to keep the streets cleaner and to provide for the inspection of dwellings.

He also declared that more help was urgently needed from the authorities to supplement private enterprise.

It was announced that the Duke of Connaught had accepted the honorary presidency and the Duchess the honorary presidency of the ladies' committee.

The treasurer's report showed a deficit of $2,000.

Seven hundred and twenty-two deaths in the city were recorded and 229 in the institute; 10,000 consultations were made during the year.

FATALLY SHOT.

Montreal, Oct. 22. — Mr. B. G. McNabb, manager of the new business department of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, shot himself fatally while duck-hunting in the vicinity of Sorel. His gun exploded prematurely, and the charge entered his body, causing fatal injuries. An inquest was held on Saturday night at Sorel and a verdict of accidental shooting was returned.

ARREST CHIEF OF COUNTERFEITERS

Police Made Important Find in Wilds of West.

GREEN GOODS PLANT

Complete Photographic Outfit For Reproducing Face of Notes.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 23.—Combining the skill of the artist and the artisan, Albert Leon, alleged chief of a gang of counterfeiters, arrested in New York on Monday, was well equipped had he desired to manufacture spurious currency.

When Secret Service Operatives Thomas B. Foster and W. A. Glover, assisted by Constable Wm. McLeod, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, visited the workshop and hiding-place of the gang in the wilderness stronghold on Nootka Sound they found much evidence of the chief's skill.

Discovery Follows Arrest.

The discovery of the island retreat of the gang resulted from the arrest of Leon in New York. The operatives were at once ordered to find the camp and get any evidence which might be connected with the case.

This island fastness is supposed to have been the manufacturing centre for the spurious bills which Leon's cleverness is said to have made possible. Everything about the place indicated that the directing leader is no bungler in whatever he undertakes.

As an artist Leon is unusually clever. The secret service men found in the log cabin, where he lived with the Nihilists, a number of water color sketches of island places that are faithful to nature and show some degree of art. There were, besides, many photographs of the camp. These sketches, together with the photographic outfit for reproducing the face of ten-dollar notes, is taken as circumstantial evidence of the man's guilt.

Leon is charged with the circulation of large amounts of ten-dollar notes over the Pacific coast. Two of his accomplices, Rudolph Swanson and Fred Marneek, were arrested in Chicago a couple of weeks ago, charged with attempting to pass spurious money made by Leon. The alleged chief of the gang was arrested in New York just as he was about to take a steamship for South America.

The method Leon is supposed to have used was to photograph faces of real notes and reproduce them by silver print process on a specially-made paper that resembles the bank note paper. The notes then required some retouching by hand to produce the secret marks and threads, and a was here that Leon's artistic ability is supposed to have been of use. The only flaw found in the notes is the color, which is slightly different from real notes.

Cabin No Ordinary Structure.

Leon had built himself on Nootka Sound a log cabin which is no ordinary structure. In every detail of workmanship the stronghold is pronounced complete. This cabin is situated five miles from Friendly Cove, the spot where the explorer Vancouver met the early Spanish explorers of Puget Sound.

It is a wild spot in the almost untouched Canadian wilderness. At Friendly Cove there is an Indian village and one white trader. Steamers call twice a month, and the residents paddle out to meet them in canoes. The cabin is five miles from this remote settlement, in a small clearing cut from the heart of the forest.

When the secret service men reached this cabin they found there five Russians, who had fled from their mother country and claimed to have taken up homesteads in Canada. A caretaker was in charge of the cabin, and the Russians told the officers that Leon had once lived there. All professed ignorance of Leon's operations.

WOMEN MAY TRY THE M'NAMARAS

Some Possibility of Their Being Called for Jury Work.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—A jury in the McNamara murder trial by Jan. 1, 1912, was the prediction made today by Attorney Clarence Darrow, chief of counsel for the defence. With no court session today, opposing counsel took opportunity to finish up the work of the first complete court week in the trial of James B. McNamara for the murder of Charles J. Haggerty in the Los Angeles Times building explosion.

District Attorney Fredericks and Clarence Darrow, the legal chiefs for the prosecution and defence in the James B. McNamara trial, have under consideration the question of whether, by reason of the adoption of the constitutional amendment, giving women the right to vote, the fair sex will be called upon to serve as jurors in the dynamite case.

"There is no reason that I know of why women should not serve," declared Clarence Darrow to a Sun representative today. "I don't know whether it will be necessary to go outside of the present jury list or not, but if so, women who are on the assessment rolls are just as eligible to serve as jurors as any man would be."

"It has not been decided that the women will be called on this case yet," said G. Ray Horton, deputy to District Attorney Fredericks. "The district attorney and myself, with the other deputies, have had this matter under consideration. The legal points involved have all been threshed out, but that work is going on now. It is possible, and indeed probable, that if the present jury list is exhausted and the sheriff is sent out into highways and byways of Los Angeles in search of jurors, he will be expected todraw no line between men and women."

U. S. FLAG BARRED FROM PICTURE FILMS

Censorship Board of Toronto Orders Stars and Stripes "Cut Out."

New York, Oct. 23.—Manufacturers of moving-picture films here are disgusted over an order from Toronto that the United States flag must be cut out of films sent for exhibition in the Ontario capital.

Films depicting civil war incidents are said to have been sent back a week ago as showing too much waving of the Stars and Stripes. This was regarded as no more than natural, but when a film showing the rescue of a drowning man was sent back because the launch effecting the rescue had the American flag flying at the stern, the film-makers expressed wonder. They attribute the rejection of the film to the anti-reciprocity campaign.

The wrecked film, it is said, was sent back with the curt order: "Cut out the Stars and Stripes." This order purports to be signed by George E. Armstrong, chairman of the censorship board, Toronto.

Toronto, Oct. 23. — The report that the Stars and Stripes has been ordered cut out of moving picture films shown here has been confirmed.

OTTAWA CLAIMS 90,520

Over Four Thousand More Than the Population in 1910.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—Official figures for 1911 issued by the civic assessment department today give Ottawa's population as 90,520, an increase of 4,414 over the population of 1910, and 4,180 greater than shown by the recent Dominion census. The total of 90,520 would have been exceeded by at least 1,000, it is stated, had not the count been taken during the summer season.

FALLS FROM HAND CAR; PAINFULLY HURT

A G. T. R. Section Man Meets With Peculiar Accident.

Robert Gordon, of Glencoe, was brought into Victoria Hospital on the train Saturday suffering from injuries which he obtained in a peculiar manner. Gordon is employed on the Grand Trunk section at Glencoe, and this morning, with two or three other section men, he was operating the hand car that was conveying them to their work, Gordon was standing on the front of the car, when he lost his balance, and fell backward. The car was travelling fairly fast at the time, and it hit him a crushing blow, injuring his left leg, and maiming a part of his hand. He was taken to Glencoe and brought from there to this city. His injuries, although painful, are not serious, but he will be laid up for some time.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH OF REV. DR. GREGORY

Prominent Presbyterian Educationalist Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Rev. Dr. Arthur Ronald Gregory, principal of Westminster Ladies' College, Bloor street west, Toronto, died at Grace Hospital last night in his 48th year. Rev. Dr. Gregory had been ill only since Thursday last with pneumonia. The illness came upon him quite suddenly, but was in a violent form, and his removal to the hospital was finally decided upon.

Rev. Dr. Gregory was known to pupils and graduates all over Canada, and even in the United States. His connection with Westminster College dated back to 1904, when Dr. and Mrs. Gregory took over the active direction of this widely-known educational institution. His principalship was marked by success, advances being made in all departments from the primary and day school to the senior ladies' department. Under his tuition pupils passed from as far west as Vancouver, and there came from Westminster many distinguished graduates.

Rev. Dr. Gregory was, at the time of his death, working hard upon a plan to organize a Westminster College Alumnae and a reunion of graduates was shortly to be held to complete the organization.

Active connection with the life of the student was taken by Dr. Gregory, who taught the Bible daily in the school and also had words of advice for his students, many of whom have already made their mark in the world. Rev. Dr. Gregory had a faithful band of teachers with him in the college and the staff past and present will hear with a great deal of regret of his death.

A MURDER CHARGE

Italian Brought to Parry Sound to Face Trial.

Parry Sound, Oct. 22.—Jailer Danlels, of Burk's Falls, has just arrived here, having in charge Bruno Vallelonga, the Italian charged with hacking to pieces a fellow-countryman at Emsdale recently, named Marilla. The prisoner had a preliminary trial at Burk's Falls before Magistrate Charles McArthur and was committed to Parry Sound jail to stand his trial on the charge of murder. The prisoner, who is an undersized man of about 5 feet 5 inches in height, and weighing about 125 pounds, does not appear to be such a fiend as his act would suggest. He came to Canada from Italy, via New York, eighteen months ago, and speaks English. He has a wife and child in Italy. A correspondent saw the prisoner on his arrival and was present when he was registered in the sheriff's office. To all the questions put to him in English, he was able to give answers and did not appear to fully realize the seriousness of his position. To inquiries he replied that he killed the other man because he wanted him (Vallelonga) to join the Black Hand and demanded $20, but Vallelonga says it was a fight and he acted in self-defence. It is likely that the trial will take place at the fall assizes next month.

THE SUN RECEIVES

Comet-Neighbors Paying a Visit to Old Sol.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 22.—According to report from Lick Observatory the sun was holding a levee last week. Six comets, two of them bright enough to be seen with the naked eye, are now in the neighborhood of the sun. Two of the smaller bodies are paying their regular visits in the course of their ordinary orbits. The four others are strangers and have dropped in unannounced, and for the first time so far as astronomers know.

Of the two brightest, one is visible just after sunset north of the sunset point. It has a bright head and tail about seven degrees long. It will remain visible for several days.

The second comet is said to be brighter than Halley's. It was discovered by Dr. Brooks last July. Last night it had a tail 20 degrees in length. It should be looked for in the morning just before 5 o'clock northeast of Venus.

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—The Prime Minister and Mrs. Borden left yesterday afternoon for Atlantic City, via New York. They will be gone for about a week.

GRADED ATHLETIC WORK

Conference of Physical Directors Held at Paris, Ont.

Mr. A. E. Taylor, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., returned yesterday from a conference in Paris of the physical directors of Western Ontario. The conference dealt in part with the discussion of a system of graded athletic work for Y. M. C. A.'s, and also arranged for junior and senior basketball leagues the coming season, a schedule for which will be issued in a few days. The senior league will include teams from Hamilton, Toronto and London. In the junior league Brantford, Hamilton, Stratford, Woodstock, London and Paris will be represented.

This morning at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, Prof. Butterworth initiated into the mysteries of swimming for the first time, a class of 26 boys. The class is attracting unusual interest among the small boys, who are at all possessed of aquatic inclinations.

CARNEGIE ON STEEL.

New York, Oct. 21. — "It looks to me as though the steel trust wanted to be in a position to say that it no longer controls or owns a monopoly of the steel ore supply."

This was Andrew Carnegie's reply, when newspapermen asked him, as he landed from the steamer Celtic last night, why, in his opinion, the United States Steel Corporation was giving up its lease on the Great Northern ore properties. Mr. Carnegie said that he would attend the sessions of the steel investigating committee in Washington and "give the investigators much needed information."

PLOTTERS DOCKED

How Portuguese Officials Are Punished for Favoring Monarchs.

Lisbon, Oct. 22.—A rumor in circulation on Friday to the effect that the cabinet of Premier Chagas had resigned started rioting, which continued all night. The disturbances centred about Dom Pedro Square. Many well-known men were hustled about, among them being Dr. Antonio d'Almeida, who was minister of the interior in the provisional cabinet. He was compelled to take refuge in a store, from which he was rescued and escorted home by guards.

Many seditious leaflets were scattered through the city. The chamber of deputies remained in session all night.

The cause of the rumor was an interview between President Dearriaga and Premier Chagas in regard to the bill dealing with the trial of Monarchist conspirators, which passed the senate on Friday with a majority of only three votes.

The bill was finally adopted in its entirety, and a clause was added providing for the docking of the salaries of officials who were implicated in the Monarchist plot.

BURIED UNDER DEBRIS

Montreal, Oct. 22.—Six workmen were buried under bricks, mortar and other debris when a portion of a building on St. Dominique street, which they were engaged in demolishing, collpsed at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Three of the men were taken to the General Hospital, where they will have to remain several days to recover from the cuts and bruises resulting from their fall.

ADULTERATED WHISKEY.

Guelph, Oct. 22. — Inspector Oakes is in receipt of a report from the provincial science department, of a test of whiskey which has been taken from the local hotels again, since the last convictions. One shows 23 per cent, where it should show 78, and the other shows 30½ per cent instead of 78. These cases will be heard next week in the police court.

PORTUGUESE SHIP LOST.

Lisbon, Oct. 21. — The Portuguese cruiser Sao Rafael has been wrecked at the mouth of the River Ave. A heavy fog prevailed and high seas were running at the time of the accident. The crew of 200 men, it is believed were saved. Fifty of the men swam ashore.

FIRE IN Y. M. C. A.

Jamestown, N. Y., Oct. 21. — Fire broke out in the Young Men's Christian Association building at Warren, Pa., this morning, completely destroying that building and the Wendlebed and McLean blocks. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

A BRANTFORD HERO.

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 21. — William McIntosh, of Brantford customs department, will secure a medal from the Royal Humane Society through Mayor Rastall, on Monday night, for life-saving. LONDON, MONDAY, OCT. 23.

SCHOOL AND THE SEXES.

A London dispatch intimates that an important English school district intends to give up the system of co-education in its public schools. The system has had the shortest sort of trial, only two years! Yet the trustees have made up their mind that it is a failure; and the reasons they prefer for their decision seem a little strange to those brought up in Canadian co-education.

They declare, according to the dispatch, that the girls cannot keep up with the boys in their common studies and get disheartened, while the boys loaf under the girls' poor pace-making. That sounds rather unnatural to a Canadian. Is human nature so different in England? There is a college song in this country which has a line about the maidens "taking men's places in class-lists with ease," and if that is the case in the higher schools of learning, the evidence is much more obvious that in the elementary schools the girls are not rear-rankers—quite the contrary. Any public school principal will testify to the superior work done by the girls and to their keenness and diligence. In the literary studies they excel beyond question and in arithmetic they stand up with the boys by application if not by aptitude. All this is matter of commonest knowledge to Canadian educators, and indeed to the Canadian public. The principals say that the reason why girls in the higher classes of the public school go ahead is that they are developing and maturing faster and earlier than the boys; and if there is a reason for segregating a boys' fourth book class from the girls, it is not that the boys are not paced fast enough, but that the pace being too hot for them they are apt to drop into the background and to some degree give it up.

The English dispatch, mentions, however, a circumstance which may throw some light on different conditions over there. It is mentioned that the girls have a number of things like needlework to learn, while nothing is said of studies peculiar to the boys. Engaged on more "practical" subjects the girls may have tended to slacken their efforts in the common work; on the other hand a segregation of the boys might seem to facilitate their instruction in a curriculum of vocational studies adapted to their needs.

Of course in this country, the co-educational system is long established, mostly taken for granted, and scarcely meets with any serious criticism in the meetings of the Educational Association. It does not hamper our girls' progress in school that they have music lessons to learn and household work to do, and the introduction of more vocational courses in the public schools does not seem necessarily to involve entire segregation. But it may be that the circumstances of the old country may require other methods than ours.

CANADA'S FUTURE GROWTH.

After all, an increase of over 30 per cent. in Canada's population in ten years is not a bad showing. The United States, the phenomenon of the nineteenth century, in no decade attained a higher rate of increase than 36 per cent. That was in the ten years 1800 to 1810, when the population increased from 5,308,483 to 7,239,881. In that period the area of the country was doubled by the Louisiana purchase, and scores of thousands of Indians and pioneers west of the Mississippi were included in the census for the first time. Between 1820 and 1860 the average rate of increase was 34 per cent. In the past two decades it has been 21 and 20 per cent., respectively.

Canada has at the present time about the same population as the United States had a century ago. If the rate of increase of the past decade is maintained, the twentieth century will be Canada's indeed. The censuses will show these figures:

1921	9,940,000
1931	12,121,400
1941	15,757,820
1951	20,585,186
1961	26,760,761

There are many living today who will live to see Canada among the great powers of the earth. The pent-up countries of Europe cannot continue to keep pace with her.

AN APPALLING OUTLAY.

The staggering growth of naval expenditure of the great powers is illustrated in a bulletin issued by the British admiralty. The following table shows the total annual expenditure in 1902 and 1911:

	1902.	1911.
G. Britain ..	£31,003,000	£44,392,000
Germany	10,045,000	22,032,000
France	12,185,000	16,705,000
Russia	10,446,000	13,270,000
Italy	4,840,000	8,380,000
Austria	1,955,000	5,152,000
U. States	16,204,000	26,585,000
Japan	3,705,000	8,803,000
Total	£90,383,000	£145,319,000

It will be observed that while the German increase is 119 per cent., compared with the 43 per cent. of Great Britain, the actual increase in money in the ten years is £13,389,000 in Great Britain, compared with £11,987,000 in Germany. Notwithstanding the increase in Germany the British expenditure in the current year is still more than double the cost of the German navy.

It is when we give the bulk figures for the decade ending with 1911 that some idea is formed of the colossal cost of the navy of the Great Powers. The following table shows the total expenditure for the ten years, with the cost of new construction, including armaments:

	Expenditure.	New Construction
G. Britain ..	£352,360,000	£117,975,000
Germany	147,539,000	70,202,000
France	132,139,000	47,286,000
Russia	111,346,000	32,856,000
Italy	60,229,000	16,550,000
Austria	30,814,000	14,833,000
U. States ..	230,136,000	73,410,000
Japan	57,701,000	15,231,000
Total ..	£1,122,264,000	£388,343,000

Thus in the short period of ten years over a thousand millions sterling, or roughly $5,600,000,000, has been spent on their navies by eight powers! Of this huge sum no less than 31.4 per cent., or nearly one-third, has been spent by Great Britain.

An impressive fraction of the world's income which might have gone to insure the world's workers against industrial mischance, to increase wages, to advance knowledge to expand productive power, has gone to prevent hundreds of thousands of the world's best brains and bodies adding to the world's wealth. And the cause of international peace, the politician's pretext for piling up armaments, has not been advanced one step by his crushing expenditure. Advanced it has been, but by moral causes, not by Dreadnoughts.

If the navy question is already getting Mr. Borden into deep water, he has himself to blame.

The visit of Arnold Bennett to the United States is a much more important incident than the New York-Philadelphia baseball series, but a comparatively few people know it.

Le Devoir notes with glee that our local contemporary has been converted to Mr. Bourassa's idea of a navy referendum. But the Ontario stalwarts of the Conservative party will allow no such cowardly shift, and are already protesting against it.

It is no exaggeration to say that in the defeat of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa the action and words of Mr. Balfor and his colleagues in London played a great, perhaps a decisive, part. That is a very ominous development. — London Daily News.

Mr. Balfour and his colleagues had little or nothing to do with the result of the election. But certainly there is a woeful want of "imperial thinking" on the part of the Unionist politicians, who have been libelling the Liberals of Canada.

The Bruce Herald complains that a Walkerton hotelkeeper openly supported the Grit candidate in the late election. The Herald naively adds:

"Consequently, when it comes to the time when it is to be decided what hotel is to be shut off, the Tories of the town will not waste a great deal of sympathy on the man who loses his license. Strings are being pulled already, but the final adjustment of the matter will not only have to be satisfactory to the license commissioners for South Bruce, but to the department at Toronto as well."

The Herald seems to have forgotten that Sir James Whitney promised to remove the license administration from the very suspicion of partisanship. To that end he dismissed all the inspectors and license commissioners, and replaced them by Conservatives!

L'Evenement, the French-Canadian Conservative organ says:

"L'honorable M. Borden, premier-ministre du Canada, a profite de sa premiere visite a Quebec depuis son avenment au pouvoir pour aller hier PRESENTER SES HOMMAGES a Sa Grandeur Mgr. Begin, archeveque de Quebec, et a Nos Seigneurs les Eveques d'Eleutheropolis et de Regina."

Mr. Borden presented his "HOMMAGES" to the Catholic Archbishop of Quebec—that ominous word when used by Chief Justice Girouard in a message to the Pope's representative, while acting as deputy-governor of Canada. "Hommages" is merely French for compliments, but it had such a terrifying sound in the ears of Colonel Hughes and Dr. Sproule that they called attention to it in the House of Commons, accusing the chief justice of presenting the "homage" of Canada to the Papal delegate. Now that Colonel Hughes is a cabinet minister, and Dr. Sproule will be the Speaker, they will not quiz the Prime Minister, who is the fountain of their honors.

Mr. Borden has the reputation of being weak, but honest. He will prove himself to be weak and dishonest if he appoints Mr. Foster to a tariff commission which he has promised will be "impartial."—London Advertiser.

Because Mr. Foster is a protectionist. But, of course, if no protectionist should be a member of the commission, neither should any free trader; for Mr. Borden must be impartial, you know. The only persons eligible for appointment, it would seem, are economic hermaphrodites.—Hamilton Herald.

Mr. Foster's appointment would be objectionable because he is identified with a cast-iron economic creed and a policy of tariff-tinkering. Having preached and practiced a certain doctrine all his life, he is no man to head an "impartial" tariff commission. Neither would a rigid free trader be. Between these extremes there are surely men who would approach the subject without bias and be governed by the special circumstances of each particular industry affected by a tariff. An ideal appointment would be that of Professor Adam Shortt, if he could be secured. He is not known as either a protectionist or a free trader, and no one will call him an economic hermaphrodite.

WEARING THEM DOWN.

[Montreal Herald.]

From the very first the Opposition started in to wear down one or another member of the cabinet. They began on Mr. Tarte. They passed from him to Mr. Blair. From him to Mr. Sifton. From him to Mr. Hyman. From him to Mr. Emmerson. From him to Mr. Brodeur. All these, as it happened, after being subjected to the most violent Opposition criticism, ceased to be members of the cabinet. Following up their system, they specialized on Mr. Fisher over the Dundonald business; he outfought them, but a dirk with a long memory behind it reached his vital spot last month. They went after Sir Frederick Borden, but didn't get him. They had latterly specialized on Mr. Pugsley, but Mr. Oliver was looming up for spotlight honors when the curtain fell.

Was it any great wonder that after this what was left of the old Laurier cabinet should meet defeat?

From this on it is the Borden cabinet that begins to disintegrate, the new generation of Liberal public men begin to gain strength, biding their time. Who of the new ministers have come to stay? Who of them are on passage to the bench or other preferment? Who are to take the buffets of fortune and be sacrificed that their fellows may live? Which are the weak spots in the wall through which the Opposition will try to break in? We shall soon know.

"You ordered a small steak, did you, sir? Well, this porterhouse won't cost you any more."

"You needn't hem and haw, young man; I know what you've come for. You can have her."

"Yes, sir, this is an old and exceedingly rare coin. I can give you $85 for it."

"Is that Mr. Stiggins? Your ticket won the auto."

GREENLAND IS GREEN.

[Engineering Magazine.]

When you were a boy you used to sing, "On Greenland's Icy Mountain"—well, the country is simply a vast mass of green mountains, covered with snow, ice and glaciers. These are known as live and dead glaciers; the dead glaciers are a mass of snow and ice, which has accumulated between gorges for a million years or more, and have become so condensed that you could not penetrate the mass except by a steel drill. The live glaciers are those that break off and fall into the waters and become floating masses of ice, often inflicting damage to ships. Where the sun can strike a spot the trees, which are of a dense growth, but small, wear the most beautiful green.

THE 1912 ROAD.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

The 1912 road is crowded with candidates, but they are doing more work for themselves than for good roads.

A BRIGHT FUTURE.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

Once there was a man who yearned to be a Millionaire in order that he might help the suffering Poor, and one day Wealth came to him and landed him high in the Millionaire class. He did not forget the Poor—not entirely but being too busy to hunt them up, he failed not to ask Providence to pity them, "and anyway," he reflected, "they have a bright future, with so much treasure in Heaven!"

EXPECTATIONS.

[Lustige Blatter.]

Lodger (to his landlady in the country) —I am bound to confess that after the glowing descriptions you gave me of the neighborhood and the view, I find it rather different from what I expected.

Landlady—Well, you're different from what I expected, too.

GROWING BETTER.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

"Do you honestly believe the world is growing better?"

"Yes, I do. I saw a woman paying carfare for a twelve-year-old boy this morning without making any effort to convince the conductor that the child was under six."

MATRIMONY AND LITERATURE.

[Windsor Record.]

George Randolph Chester, author of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," "Five Thousand an Hour," and other fascinating stories of modern high finance, is the latest literary celebrity to be divorced by his wife.

There has been a surprising epidemic of severed matrimonial ties among the authors recently. The entertaining chaps who write the novels cannot make themselves behave in real life.

The Chester divorce follows right on the heels of the announcement that Mrs. Booth Tarkington, wife of the Indiana author and playwright, whose works have met great success, has separated from her husband.

Just about a month ago Upton Sinclair, another writer of note, announced his intention of suing for divorce, because his wife had left him and was friendly with Harry Kemp, the "tramp poet."

Richard Le Gallienne's wife recently obtained a divorce. The poet is waiting for the interlocutory decree to become permanent before announcing matrimonial plans for the future.

Richard Harding Davis and his wife are separated, and it was announced a year ago that she would go to some western state and seek a divorce.

J. M. Barrie, the author of "The Little Minister," "What Every Woman Knows" and many other delightful literary gems, recently found that he could make his fictional characters "live happily ever afterward," but failed to understand the secret of making the same rules apply in his own household.

Mothers with marriageable daughters will some day be forced to adopt a restriction clause barring the literary class from the list of eligible entries on the family slate for the matrimonial stake race.

THE ATTRACTION.

[Golf Illustrated.]

A military gentleman, who could swear better than he could play golf, was flattered one day to find quite a crowd of well-dressed strangers following him around. "I hope," he said gallantly, "that I'll play well enough to reward you."

"Oh, it isn't that, major," replied one, "we came out to listen."

PUTTING IT MILDLY.

[Washington Star.]

"That man seems to be proud of his stupidity," said the impetuous person.

"I wouldn't put it that way," replied the conservative friend. "I'd merely suggest that when it comes to a thirst for wisdom he's a prohibitionist."

NO VOCAL TRAINING.

Newlywed—Why don't you get married, Singleton? Married life is one grand sweet song.

Singleton—My voice isn't educated up to it.

A LOCAL SHOWPLACE

In the efforts that have been made to place London before the world as a City Beautiful, the civic authorities have overlooked a trump card.

Ample tribute has been paid to the man who had the admirable foresight to plant rows of maple trees in regular lines until he made the streets of the city one maze of sylvan tunnels, from the roofs of which are now falling Nature's bountiful bouquets in deep browns, russets and goldens.

It has also been claimed justly that London's homes are well designed and tastily kept, as to lawns and gardens.

The city was fortunate in having so keen a critic as Earl Grey describe it as "the most beautiful city in Canada." Those were his very words, and they should be put away in the filing system for some future reference.

But while citizens have been cognizant of their own parading points and have seen none better in the atlases, they have overlooked the most spectacular attraction in the list.

For within the very portals is a veritable Vesuvius.

This is no ordinary volcano, either. Most any city in Italy or the region of the earth's stokehold, can provide a volcano. Most all of them are just the common, decrepit, guide-book volcanos that have had their flues burned out.

Outside of the old standby, Vesuvius, there isn't a volcano in the land where the hand-organs come from that can touch the London volcano.

Furthermore, the London belcher is the first volcano to be manufactured. The men who made it were for the most part big colored men, who laid a foundation of half-burned coal along the breakwaters of West London. Into and over this they mixed paper boxes, plenty of excelsior, some decadent fish, a few barrels of 'ciscoes that the grocer left in his cellar by mistake for a few years' and a miscellaneous collection of old shoes, old rubbers, a few horseblankets, and a couple of carloads of scrap.

The volcano was constructed with care on the banks of the Thames, until it assumed mountainlike proportions. By the time that several acres of it had been deposited, combustion set in. It is believed that an inquisitive rat furrowed its way into the collection and nibbled on a match that it found in someone's old coat.

The made-to-order volcano immediately began to do business. In the first year it volcanoed in mild form and the firemen were called out only six times. Next year three pieces of apparatus were worn out by attempts to extinguish the apparently eternal bonfire. By this time several sections of the city had become cognizant of the existence of the volcano. Although it possessed all the advantages, there were drawbacks. It is a smelly old volcano. By the time a few old rubber coats had been burned as sweet incense for the veranda devotees of South London and other sections had inhaled the fragrance of something equally malodorous, a few experts felt the need to classify the volcano as a regular seganku. (Natural histories will give the definition.)

The only thing to be criticised in the volcano is its non-conformance with olfactory etiquette. If someone could extract the odor, and put up a sign, "Look out for the volcano!" it might attract throngs of tourists, and even might serve as a provider of light, heat and power for prospective factories.

At present the only useful purpose it serves is as a footwarmer for skating parties, although it is said that some weary wanderers have been known to warm up a "handout" and boil a few pilfered eggs over its ovens.

CHINESE MAIN ARMY

where. They are destroying bridges and mounting guns. They claim to have enlisted 15,000 old soldiers. The inactivity of the rebels heretofore was due to the necessity of organizing, so that they would not repeat the occurrences of Tai Ping revolutionists, who only remained armed mobs. The Government forces across the river are too weak to take the offensive, but Tao Kwang's divisions are closing up.

"I-Chang has fallen into the hands of a separate revolutionary organization, called Kuominghus.'

One Thousand Wounded.

The Wu Change rebel agents swarm at Chang-Sha, Yochow and other towns. These men are organizing a southern confederacy and are willing to abandon the north to the Manchus.

Sze Chuan also reports heavy fighting. An emergency Red Cross Society has been organized at Peking. The first contingent now proceeding to the front includes six English and American doctors, six Chinese doctors and nurses. They will treat the wounded of either side. It is calculated that the Government wounded already number one thousand.

Nanking May Be Lost.

The entire Yang-tse Valley is gradually succumbing to the revolutionary infection. No uprising has yet been reported at Nanking, which is only 200 miles about Shanghai, but there is every reason to believe that the garrison there cannot be relied upon by the Imperial Government. Nanking is not only a great commercial centre, but is also the most important military depot in Central China, and its fall would be the most severe blow which the Government has yet received.

The Government is taking steps for defense in Shanghai. During the past few days there has been much activity around the arsenal.

The situation is regarded here as most alarming. It is generally admitted that unless the Government succeeds speedily in dealing a decisive blow to its adversaries, the revolution will spread of its own momentum over a great belt of territory across Central China.

Business is Dead.

Refugees of all nationalities continue to flock into Shanghai from points up the Yang-tse River. They all agree that while the general appearance of things is quiet, sympathy is with the revolutionists, and widespread support is being given the agents of the new movement. Business is absolutely stagnant, even in the cities on the lower river, and the commercial depression in Shanghai is complete.

News from Hankow is greatly delayed, owing to the severance of the telegraph lines. The nearest point that can be reached by wire from Shanghai is Liu Kiang, 100 miles from Hankow. Thence dispatches are relayed by boat.

The telegraph wires out of Hankow were first cut by the commander of the Government forces, who set up the Hankow end of the line in his camp, giving him control of all messages. The rebels quickly learned of this situation and took matters into their own hands by circling the Government camp and cutting the wires below at a distance of 150 li (50 miles) from Hankow. The wireless from Hankow is not working satisfactorily.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 23.—Dr. Morrison, the well known correspondent of the London Times, who returned to Pekin yesterday from Sing Yang Chau, where Dr. Morrison and the British military and naval attaches had gone in an attempt to reach Hankow, cables under this date that the advance guard of the Imperialist force has reached Kwang Shui. The rail service has been conducted so far with remarkable efficiency. Complete order has been maintained along the route, but everywhere sympathy is manifested for the revolutionaries.

A Fine Force.

"The expeditionary force," says the correspondent, "is now complete. It consists of less than 20,000 fighting men, including those guarding the communications. One regiment of infantry guards the Yellow River bridge, and provides an exit for General Yin Tchang, who inspires little confidence in his Chinese officers. Seventy-two field guns are parked at Sing Yang Chau, and there are forty-two mountain guns at Kwang Shui, twenty-four of which are mounted in the hills to protect the tunnel.

"Some difficulty is expected owing to the ammunition. The perils confronting the Government are very great, not only in fear of revolt especially in the rear of the expeditionary force, but there are other elements of danger—insufficiency of ammunition, growing disloyalty and financial embarrassment. The last named trouble is so serious that the treasury has been ordered to disburse no payments except for military purposes, and in connection with foreign loans.

May Make Terms.

"The revolutionary success at Hankow has put new heart into the rebels and rendered increasingly certain a rising lower down the Yang Tse."

During the journey the correspondent gained an impression of the vast extent of the revolutionary sympathy. Even an imperial officer spoke with respect of General Li Yuan Heng, the revolutionary commander at Hankow. The correspondent gained also the impression that the Government will endeavor to make terms with the revolutionaries, rather than pursue military measures, which would be hopeless if a rising occurs in other provinces.

Rebels in Control.

Shanghai, Oct. 23.—The occupation by revolutionists of two more important southern cities, Changsha and Nan-Chang, was announced in dispatches which reached the city early today.

Chang-Sha is the capital of the Province of Hunan, and Nan-Chang is the capital of the Province of Klangshi. Their capture therefore delivers into revolutionary hands the local governments of two important provinces, thereby more than doubling the territory in which the rebels are masters.

Chang-Sha is a city of 300,000 population, and is the chief commercial centre on the railroad between Hankow and Canton. It is 200 miles southwest of Hankow, while Nan-Chang, a city of 100,000, is correspondingly situated 200 miles southeast of Hankow.

The fall of Chang-Sha and Nan-Chang had been rumored here for a day or two. Today's advices definitely confirm that both cities are entirely in the hands of the revolutionists.

Four of China's eighteen provinces are now regarded as under revolutionary influence—Sze-Chuen, where the movement started; Hu-Heh, of which Wu-Chang is the capital; Hunan and Klangsi. The fall of Nanking, where the garrison is regarded as siding with the revolutionaries, would deliver to them the vice-royal government of three more provinces—Kiang-Su, Kiang-Si, and Ngan-Hwei.

ARMORIES CLOSED MEN STOOD IN RAIN

An Angry Lot of Soldiers On Dundas Street On Sunday Afternoon.

Failure to notify the members of the Seventh and other regiments that the garrison parade was called off Sunday afternoon, caused many of them to walk long distances in the rain, only to find on arriving at the Armories that this building was closed up. Nearly 200 of them waited about the Armories doors for the space of half an hour or more while the rain poured down upon them. They were in no joyful frame of mind when they learned that there was no parade.

After standing around for a time, several went to club rooms. Others went home. Col. Campbell happened along at 3:15 o'clock, and took the responsibility of opening the doors. The boys who were present remained inside until it ceased to rain, and then left for home.

The officers today are complaining about the treatment of the men, and object to closing the building on such an occasion.

"There was a mistake somewhere," said Col. Campbell. "I know there was a great deal of complaint because the Armories were closed. I do not know who issued the orders to keep the men out."

An effort was made to reach Col. Hodgins this afternoon, but it was impossible to find him.

WAR SCARE AT END, POLITICS IS THEME

Home Rule and Insurance Bills Engross Attention of the English People.

London, Oct. 23. — Now that the German scare has subsided for the time being, attention is directed to domestic politics in view of the reassembling of Parliament on Oct. 24 to finish Lloyd George's insurance bill. At two points during the Moroccan negotiations relations between England and Germany were strained almost to the breaking point. As late as Monday, Sept. 18, orders were issued to the fleet at all British stations to be ready for war. The ships of the Atlantic squadron at Gibraltar actually had their torpedo nets out.

But the truth of a British cabinet minister's recent statement that "as long as Emperor William reigns he will never provoke hostilities," was verified, for the German demands to which England objected were withdrawn. France has all along been fighting for her own hand and the entente was seriously shaken by her readiness to make concessions to Germany injurious to British interests.

The home rule campaign holds the field here now. On one side John Redmond is making a tour of the principal English cities, addressing great Liberal meetings. On the other side the Unionists are appealing everywhere to the old anti-Irish sentiment, by insisting that home rule means persecution of the Irish Protestants. This is the mainstay of the Unionist opposition to home rule, but it has become apparent that the passions and prejudices that were aroused against Gladstone's bill cannot be aroused again in anything like their old intensity.

While passing through London last week Mr. Redmond told a correspondent that he was overwhelmed with requests to address meetings all over England, but could not possibly accept a tithe of them, and the other chief speakers of the Irish party are being booked up with meetings for months ahead.

Home rule is the only question on which the Unionist party is united. Its internal dissensions, especially on Balfour' leadership, must greatly weaken its fighting strength.

PRISONER ESCAPES AS CONSTABLE SNORES

Slips From Train When Being Brought to Guelph for Trial.

[Canadian Press.]

Guelph, Ont., Oct. 23. — That while it is unwise for any man to go asleep on the job, it is particularly unfortunate when a policeman is claimed by Morpheus while he is in charge of a prisoner, was forcibly brought home to Police Constable Jacob Meer, of the village of Clifford.

The Clifford officer started from Palmerston with a prisoner to bring him to Guelph, and seated his charge on the inside of a seat, while he took a position next the aisle and fell asleep. When the train stopped at Drayton, Constable Meer was still sleeping, and the prisoner decided that the atmosphere of Drayton would be more congenial to him than Guelph, and got off. Meer was aroused by the brakeman calling out the name of the Royal City. He sat up, rubbed his eyes, and looked at where the prisoner should have been, but saw instead the place where he was not. When the train stopped Officer Meer lost no time in getting into communication with Drayton, and it is hoped that the prisoner will again be in custody by night.

ANGLICAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

300 Delegates to Interdiocesan Conference in Cronyn Hall.

Some three hundred delegates are attending the interdiocesan conference of the Anglican Young People's Association which opened this afternoon in Cronyn Hall. LONDON BEATEN BY OIL TOWN MEN

Petrolea Wins Out in Gruelling Battle by 11 to 5 Score.

MADE A WARM FINISH

Count Was Six to Five Until the Whistle Blew, When Visitors Had a Try.

London and Petrolea, in a heart-rending, muscle-straining, nerve-racking contest, gave one of the best exhibitions of Rugby seen in this city for some time, when they met at Tecumseh Park on Saturday afternoon, in a junior O. R. F. U. scheduled game.

Petrolea won out by the score of 11 to 5, but they had to travel all the way to do it, and it was only in the last few minutes of play that the matter was decided.

There was a large crowd of local fans in the stands, and Petrolea was well represented also, about two hundred rooters coming down from the Oil Town in a special train.

The showing made by the local team was a surprise, and the fans, although disappointed with the result, went home feeling that London is at last getting a Rugby team. If the crew had had a little more practice in signals, the result would have been different.

Their tackling and bucking were far superior to that of the Petrolea team, but poor judgment in critical moments practically cost them the game. As it was, the Petrolea fans and players had the scare of their lives, and during the second period it looked as if London would make a runaway of it. However, luck, and poor judgment on the part of the local team, saved them, and they managed to pull out a victory.

The first scoring of the game came after ten minutes of play in the first quarter.

Visitors Score First.

London opened, kicking against the wind. The ball was rushed into Petrolea territory, but Petrolea, by a series of punts, cleared nicely, and soon the play was around London's 25-yard line.

Allan made a fumble of a punt of the ten-yard line, and Petrolea fell on the ball, bucking it over the line for a touchdown. They failed to convert, and the score stood Petrolea 5, London 0.

London came right back at the kick-off, however, Tiny Sage following up and securing the ball on Petrolea's 25-yard line on a fumble.

Five yards were gained on the first down, and the ball was carried within a foot of the Petrolea line, on the second down. Sage carried the ball over on the third down and scored London's only points during the game. London was unable to convert, and the score stood London 5, Petrolea 5, when the first quarter ended.

Running the Ends.

In the second quarter Petrolea tried a number of runs around the London ends, but some nice tackling on the part of McKay and others of the London team prevented any gains.

Petrolea punted over the London line after five minutes' play and Allan was forced to rouge, making the score Petrolea 6, London 5.

Both teams did a lot of punting at this stage of the game, Morrison, of London, featuring in this. No scoring was done, however, and the half ended in Petrolea's favor.

When the second half opened, Petrolea refused to play if London persisted in working Grafton, in place of Raymond, who had to retire with an injured knee.

Quite an argument ensued, the Petrolea players threatening to quite the field, claiming that Grafton was not eligible to play, as his name had not been handed in to the referee before the game.

This was because the local management had not thought that Grafton could get off to take part in the game, but he was on the grounds shortly after play had started.

Grafton Rejected.

The game finally continued without Grafton. In the second half the play was nearly all in Petrolea territory.

Pollard went off for two minutes for tripping, the only penalty of the game. Petrolea wiggled out of some dangerous situations just when it looked as though London was about to go over for a touchdown. McKay, one of the lightest men on the London back division, brought the stand to its feet several times by some brilliant sprints. At one time it looked as though he would break through the whole Petrolea team, but he was tackled after a gain of nearly fifty yards.

Tiny Sage did some great punting at this stage, but Petrolea returned the ball. Several times London worked the ball up the Petrolea five-yard line, but fumbles gave the ball to Petrolea, and they were promptly cleared. The third quarter ended without either team scoring to the score.

Ivey Injured.

Ivey, who had taken Sing's place at half-time, had to retire at this stage of the game, suffering from a broken collarbone. He was taken to the clubhouse, where his injuries were attended to. Later he was removed to his home.

The last quarter started off at a terrific pace. London tried hard to tie the score, and it was only hard luck that prevented them. Things looked bad for the Petrolea bunch, but some more bad judgment and fumbling on London's part helped them wonderfully.

Sage was practicaly doing all the punting for London, but the team did not follow up well, and the Petrolea backs were able to return the ball to the centre of the field.

London then tried a series of end-runs, but could not break through the Petrolea wings, who were playing a great game.

Tiny Sage broke through the line once or twice, but was tackled before he could get away. Pollard, of Petrolea, was playing in great form at this period and was practically doing all the tackling for his team.

A Strong Finish.

Petrolea got the ball and tried bucking the line. London was unable to hold them and they made several gains. With just a few minutes to play, the ball was rushed into London territory and London was unable to clear. Webb, the captain of the Petrolea team, made several small gains, the men behind him practically shoving him through by "brute strength." The ball was finally brought to the London five-yard line and Webb tried an end-run.

Practically every man on the London team went after him, and he was brought down right on the line under a struggling heap of humanity. Before the players struggled to their feet the whistle blew for full time. Webb was found lying on the ground with the ball just across the line. The touchdown was allowed and the game ended Petrolea 11, London 5.

Fourth Postponed For the Fifth Time

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—The fourth baseball game between Philadelphia and New York in the series for the world's championship, was postponed today for the fifth time. The weather was fair, but the grounds were too wet to play on.

MAY NOT BE ABLE TO PLAY TOMORROW

Umps. Brennan Says Sun Will Have to Shine Hard to Fix Shibe Park.

THE PLAYING FIELD SOFT

Puddles in Outfield and Slops on the Baselines—Breaking Records.

[By Canadian Press.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Under instructions of the National Commission, an early decision was made by the umpires.

Only two of them, Klem and Brennan, went to Shibe Park, and it did not take them many minutes to decide to call the game off until tomorrow. They found many puddles in the outfield and the infield, especially along the base paths, was quite soft. The grounds looked so bad to Umpire Brennan that he expressed his opinion that the sun would have to come out strong to dry the grounds sufficiently to permit a game tomorrow. He felt sure a game would be played Wednesday. The weather forecast for the week calls for more rain beginning Thursday, and cold weather.

The members of the Athletic team reported at the grounds as usual today and put on their uniforms for practice along the sidelines.

The New York players expect to indulge in a little work on the National League grounds. Overhead the day is fine for baseball, the sun is shining brightly and a good breeze is blowing.

Record Smashing.

The present world's series is a record-breaker for breaking records. Not only have the series exceeded the figures for attendance and receipts at one game, but the record for the number of postponements of one game has also gone by the board.

Furthermore, the present series will come to a close at a later date than any series heretofore played. Since the world's championship games have been played under the rules of the National Commission, they had ended on the following dates: 1905, Oct. 14; 1906, Oct. 14; 1907, Oct. 12; 1908, Oct. 14; 1909, Oct. 16, and 1910, Oct. 23.

TORONTO VARSITY BEATEN BY OTTAWA

Work of Cornellier, Boy of Seventeen, in Big Company for First Time, Features.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

With Party Witnesses Canadian Rugby—Final Score Was 10 to 8.

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—Another big surprise was sprung in the Intercollegiate Union at Varsity Oval on Saturday afternoon, when the redoubtable Toronto Varsity fourteen, twice Dominion champions, were defeated for the first time this season by Ottawa College after a hard-fought struggle by the score of 10 to 8. The contest was a brilliant one to watch from a spectator's standpoint, the play being open and free from the roughness that marred the match with Queen's the Saturday previous. It was estimated that there were 4,000 present. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and party from the Government House attended, the "fans" giving the new Governor-General a great reception. It had been raining most of the forenoon, and after the downpour of the two days previous the grounds were heavy and the footing uncertain.

A Boy Wonder.

It is doubtful if an Ottawa audience ever saw a prettier kicking and catching exhibition than that displayed by the opposing halves, the College back division having far the better of the argument. The outstanding feature of the game was the wonderful punting of Cornellier, a youngster of 17, who is playing his first season in senior football. It was inconceivable how a boy weighing but 138 pounds could hoist the water-soaked pigskin for 50 and 60 yards each kick without weakening.

How effective was the work of Cornellier may be judged when of his team's ten points his colossal hoists were responsible for nine of them.

The lineup:

College—Full back, Heffernan; halves, Quilty, Cornellier and Chantal; quarter, Killian; scrimmage, McDonald, Kennedy and Cyra; wings, O'Leary, Sullivan, Harrington, Pfohl, Nagle, Gilligan.

Varsity—Full back, MacDonald; halves, Frith, Ramsay and Dale; quarter, Campbell; scrimmage, Bell, Curtis and Knight; wings, Cory, Clark, German, Taylor, Sinclair and Thompson.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Rev. Dr. Bruce Macdonald, who has been at the helm since the organization of the Ontario Amateur Athletic Union, on its present basis, was re-elected to the chief office at the annual meeting, held in the King Edward Hotel on Saturday night. The meeting adopted a resolution changing its name to the Ontario Branch of the Amateur Athelte Union of Canada, if this proposal, which comes from the Manitoba branch, is favored at the annual meeting of the A. A. U. of C., to be held next month. That is what the Ontario union is now, and the change is only one of title. The reports showed a year of progress and increased strength in the general acceptance of the amateur idea and established authority in sport.

LONGBOAT WON THE RACE.

All three were in the pink of condition, and it was anybody's race until the finish. In the last lap Longboat, by a magnificent spurt, won out by three feet, with Hefferon and Wood close behind. Time—53 minutes 54 seconds.

SLUGGING MATCH WON BY THE TIGERS

Montreal Beaten 18 to 0 in Roughest Game in History of Big Four.

PLAYERS KNOCKED OUT

Two Compelled to Leave Conflict Which Finished in Fine Fight.

Hamilton, Oct. 22.—In the roughest game played since the birth of the Big Four Union, the Tigers guzzled the Montreal fourteen by a score of 18 to 0.

The result was expected, but the real surprise of the game was the tactics employed by the scrimmage and inside men of the Montreal team, who from the commencement of the third period roughed it. Hooks and straight-arm jabs and uppercuts were being exchanged from the beginning of the second quarter, but this was all done during mass play, and was visible to the crowd of four thousand people which was in attendance.

The crisis arrived when one of the Montreal scrimmage men walloped Woodley on the temple with such force that he took the count, and had to retire in favor of Thompson. That was in the third quarter.

Rough-House Work.

In the last quarter both teams mixed it, but the Easterners used open rough-house methods. They persisted in piling on after the ball was dead and used the knee with good effect. Burton and McKelvey were laid out, and Burton forced to retire in favor of Lyon. near the close of the game McKelvey was tackled clean by Savage, and while he was on the ground Kelly jumped on him, giving him the knee. Isbister pulled him off, and all the players were drawn into a free fight. Fans rushed onto the field, and in the mix-up Isbister was made the recipient of a nice black eye. The police and officials cleared the field, and the game was continued.

The Combatants.

The teams lined up as follows:

Tigers—Back, Smith; halves, McKelvey, McNeilly and Oliver; quarter, Burton; scrimmage Neville, Grey and McCann; wings, Gassford, Gatenby, Isbister, Woodley, Potticary, McFarlane; substitutes, Lyon, Thompson McIlwain.

Montreal—Back, Craig; halves, Baillie, Brophy and McBrearty; quarter, Ross; scrimmage, Ryan, McAllan and Roberts; wings, Savage Cameron, Kelly, McMurty, Owens and Norcross.

Referee—Dr. Hendry.

Umpire—Ben Simpson.

The curtain-raiser was furnished by the Tiger II. and Rough Riders, the local teams in the intermediate series of the union. Ottawa won, 19 to 2.

MAJOR LEAGUE SEASON WILL BE CLOSED OCT. 1

Magnates Have Concluded That Weatherman May Not Be Trusted In Future.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 23.—According to the baseball club owners, who have been here during the past week, the major league championship season in future will not be extended to take in Oct. 12 Columbus Day. It is planned to frame next year's schedules so that they will end not later than Oct. 1, which will give ample time for the world's series to be played under favorable weather conditions.

If such schedules had prevailed this year there would have been no trouble. The Giants and Athletics were compelled to kill time for nearly ten days before beginning the big series, when as a matter of fact they could have started their games on Oct. 7 at the latest.

ARGOS WON BY SMALL SCORE FROM OTTAWA

Rough Riders Furnished Surprise by Putting Up Stubborn Fight.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The Argonauts won another small-scoring game when they defeated Ottawa at Rosedale by the narrow margin of 7 to 4. The crowd might have been larger if a walk-over for the local aggregation had not been so generally expected, but the Oarsmen showed the weakness which has characterized their play so far this season. They are great when on the defensive, and the line stands as solid as a wall at critical moments, but while they keep their opponents from scoring they fail to show to advantage themselves in that very necessary side of the game. On Saturday they confined themselves almost entirely to bucking, making constant use of Gale and Wigle, and sometimes trying Arnold. It is true that they tore through the Ottawa line almost at will, gaining their yards time after time, but the smallness of the score shows how ineffective this lack of variety proved in the long run.

The line-up:

Argos — Lockhart, full-back; Smith, Hinkley, Mallet, halves; O'Connor, quarter; Wright, Russell, Sinclair, scrimmage; Murphy, Gale, inside; Arnold, Wigle, middle; Murray, Moore, outside.

Ottawa—Johnston, full-back; Gerard, Robertson, McCann, halves; Snelling, quarter; Black, Kilmartin, Wilkinson, scrimmage; Phillips, Vaughan, inside; McLaughlin, Elliott, middle; Ryan, Gairsford, outside.

Geo. Kingstone, referee; Hugh Gall, umpire.

ANOTHER "BIG CHIEF."

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 22.—Baseball scouts sent here to witness the baseball tournament held in conjunction with the New Mexico State Fair, signed Burnham Smith, a Cherokee Indian, who made a great record this season in the southwest as a catcher and hitter, playing with Amarillo, Texas, Las Vegas and Albuquerque. Smith is picked by Dale Gear as a second Chief Meyers, who first came to the notice of the big league scouts when he played with the Clifton, Ariz., club in the tournament here.

HUGHEY JENNINGS TO BOSS THE JUNGLE BAND AGAIN

Sorrel-Topped Manager to Stay With Detroit, 'Tis Said—Rejects Washington Offer.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—Hughie Jennings will manage the Detroit Tigers in 1912 if President Frank J. Navin cares to sign him to another year's contract.

Hughie will not go to Washington, neither will he accept another proposition which was offered him.

In an interview tonight Hughie set at rest all rumors regarding his plans for next year, and in his declaration that he is willing to lead Detroit again, he also answers the proposition put up to him by the Washing on Nationals.

Not For Washington.

Several weeks ago Tom Noyes, president and principal stockholder of the National, offered Jennings the manager ship of Washington for next year. Hughie told Noyes he would consider his proposition. Noyes knew that he would have to come stronger in his offer than the Detroit Club, and he did this by way of offering Hughie stock in the Washington Ball Club.

While Jennings was deliberating the offer, George Stovall was named as the successor of Jim McAleer. The campaign for Stovall was boosted rapidly. There was a rumor that Jennings had been offered the job, but it sounded absurd and was dropped in favor of the more probable Stovall selection.

EVEN M'GILL FANS ARE SURPRISED

Everybody Looked for Victory Over Queen's, But Not Walkover.

Montreal, Oct. 21.—McGill today surprised football circles by scoring an easy win over the Queen's football team by 36 to 5. McGill supporters were expecting a win, as Queen's had lost both to Toronto and Ottawa, while McGill had won from the latter and lost to the former only after a very close game, but few looked forward to a walkover.

McGill—Mull, Murray; halves, Billington, Masson and Lee; quarter, McEvenue; scrimmage, Rogers, Oliver and Savage; wings, Johnston, Dibey, Timmins, Waterous, Laing and Lewis.

Queen's—Full, Leckie; halves, MacDonnell, Dick and Haslett; quarter, McNeill; scrimmage, Dunlop, Barker and Cochrane; wings, Kinsella, Young, Erskine, Rodden, Slitter and Cook.

Officials—Billy McMaster and Walter Molson.

SEEKING THE RESTAURANT WHERE COUPLE DINED

Witnesses Says Linnell Girl Told of Taking a "Headache Powder."

[Canadian Press.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 23.—Efforts of the police were further extended today to complete the evidence and substantiate the testimony of witnesses in connection with the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, the 19-year-old music student, whose death by poisoning occurred at the Young Women's Christian Association buildings Oct. 14. The police today continued their endeavors to locate the restaurant where Miss Linnell and Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church of Cambridge, charged with the murder, are said to have eaten on the day the girl was found dead.

Deputy Sheriff of Police Watts says that the young woman who brought him information was positive that the victim of the tragedy told her of being given a headache powder by the minister. The police have no idea that the cyanide of potassium that caused the death of Avis Linnell was given her as a headache cure, but are of the opinion that Avis may have told the headache story as an easy explanation when someone noticed her taking the powder.

That the body of Avis Linnell is to be exhumed from the little cemetery in Hyannis in order to allow a search for a container for the poison which ended her life, and thought by some to be in the pocket of the girl's night clothes which were buried with the remains, is denied by Medical Examiner Leary. The stomach of the girl is now in the custody of Professor Whitney, of Harvard Medical School, who is making a chemical analysis.

Prisoner Calm.

In his cell in the Suffolk County jail on Charles street, Mr. Richeson remains calm, and has made no statement. He slept peacefully during the greater part of last night and awakened early. After eating a light breakfast he read the newspapers. Today he was allowed to receive visitors, and his sisters and lawyers arranged to see him. Mr. Richeson is one of the coolest prisoners that has ever been confined in the jail charged with murder, the jail authorities say.

Former Judge James R. Dunbar and his son, Philip R. Dunbar, who have been retained by Mr. Richeson, and who are also attorneys for Moses Grant Edmands, father of Miss Violet Edmands, the Brookline heiress, who was to have married Richeson on Oct. 31, the date set for his hearing in court, remain silent regarding the case. Both stated that they decided it would be the best policy to make no statement, for the present at least. They have instructed Mr. Richeson to say nothing concerning the case to anyone.

Mr. Edmands also continued uncommunicative, except to reiterate his declaration that he believed Mr. Richeson innocent of the crime for which he has been arrested.

NO PRESENT DANGER FOR FOREIGNERS

German Foreign Office Not Prepared for International Action.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The German foreign office received inquiries today from the United States Government regarding the situation brought about by the revolution in China.

Germany believes that the situation does not call for international action. It is considered that the naval forces in Chinese waters are apparently adequate for the protection of foreigners should the latter be endangered, of which contingency there is, however, no sign at the present time.

HAS NO NEWS OF MISSING GIRL

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 23. — Garbed in sombre black, the father and mother of Dorothy Arnold arrived from Europe today on the steamer Vaderland. "I have no news. I have had no news since December," was all Mr. Arnold would say when asked about his missing daughter, whose disappearance last December caused an international but futile search. Asked if he believed Dorothy was still alive, he repeated: "I have no news."

HIS BIGGEST SURPRISE

Major Leonard Did Not Expect N. T. R. Appointment.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 23.— The appointment of R. W. Leonard to the head of the National Transcontinental Railway commission is very popular here. Major Leonard is thought to be the right man in the right place, and the appointment generally was a surprise to him. When spoken to by a Canadian Press representative he said: "It was the biggest surprise I ever had."

GERMAN ELECTIONS

Strassburg, Germany, Oct. 13. — Complete returns from yesterday's elections for members of the Lower House, as provided under the new constitution granted Alsace-Lorraine show the following results:

Twenty clericals, five socialists, five Lorraine "bloc," and two Liberals. In the other 28 districts out of the total of 60, a re-ballot will be required.

The Socialists and Liberals combined are expected to win a majority in the second balloting.

CHARGED WITH KILLING HER THREE-YEAR-OLD

Maine Woman Said to Have Drowned Her Little Son.

[Canadian Press.]

Bath, Me., Oct. 23.—Charged with the murder of her 3-year-old son, Martin Howard Keefe, jun., Mrs. Mildred T. Keefe has been placed under arrest. She reported Friday night that her boy had fallen into a mill pond while he was going with her to visit a neighbor.

The police were unable to locate the boy's body that night, but the next morning Mrs. Keefe went to the pond alone and found the child lying face up, the police say, in water not deep enough to cover the face. An investigation by the coroner's jury led to her arrest.

HUMORISTS PROVIDE FOR TWAIN'S FRIEND

Favorite European Guide of Writer Found in Poverty.

London, Oct. 23.—Joseph Verey, friend and courier of Mark Twain during nine of the European tours made by the American humorist, has been rescued from want by a society of professional humorists. Verey felt the pinch of poverty from the loss of his savings, which had been unwisely invested, and he was in actual want when discovered in obscure London lodgings by a local paper's representative.

When his plight was made public a number of admirers of Mark Twain interested themselves in his behalf and secured him a position as lecturer to a local society for the encouragement of humor.

Tells Stories of Twain.

Just prior to his late misfortune, the former courier was engaged as pheasant raiser by King Alfonso of Spain. On one of the visits of the royal family to the hatchery Verey entertained them with stories of his travels with the celebrated American humorist. He has an endless store of recollections of his famous employer. He gave the following interesting account of Mark Twain's travel habits:

"Mr. Clemens hardly ever talked to anyone. Once I travelled from Cologne to Dresden with him, and he only spoke about two words to me. What I was instructed to do was to engage the other people in the compartment in conversation and ask them about everything. Mr. Clemens used to sit and listen.

Was Not a Joker.

"I never heard him make a joke, not even with his own family. He never made one with me. The nearest approach he got to one was in a letter to me about the uncertainty of his plans. He wrote: 'Ifs are bad prophets.'

"He was a great listener. He would take it all in and never say a word himself."

Mr. Clemens discovered Verey in Paris through the hall porter at the author's hotel, who gave such a glowing account of the courier that Twain determined to have him at once.

"George, I must have this Verey at once," he said. George demurred, as he could not leave his post, but the humorist agreed to put on his apron and look after the door while the porter summoned Verey. The courier was engaged at once and served Mr. Clemens in that capacity as long as he was needed.

CROWD IN A PANIC LEAVE MAN TO DROWN

Telephone for Police Instead of Rendering Assistance.

Montreal, Oct. 23. — Jean Baptiste Paul, a Montreal Street Railway Company motorman, was drowned in the canal at the end of Ottawa street, at 8:30 Saturday night, although his cries for help after he had fallen into the water had been heard by ten or twelve people. Those who heard his cries, instead of going to his assistance, telephoned to the Young street police station that a man had fallen into the canal.

By the time the police reached the scene the man had disappeared under the water.

A BOUFE DANCE FOR SANATORIUM

Will Be Held at London Hospital for the Insane on Nov. 3.

It has been announced that special street railway accommodation will be provided for those who attend the subscription dance to be held at the London Hospital for the Insane on the evening of Nov. 3. Manager King has taken a keen interest in the project, and has arranged to have special cars leave the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets between 8 and 9 o'clock for the Hospital for the Insane, and special cars will leave for the city between 12 and 2 o'clock. On the latter a special fare will be charged of ten cents. Those who attend the dance will undoubtedly appreciate the kindness of Manager King in putting at their disposal a car service after midnight at a moderate charge. There will be cards and dancing, and a bouffe luncheon will be served at 11 o'clock. The affair is under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the London Sanatorium, and the funds realized will be devoted to purchasing necessaries for the institution.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Patrick Martin, residing in Cathedral street, has reported to the Chaboillez street police station that he was assaulted and robbed by a gang at the corner of St. Antoine and Cathedral streets early yesterday morning. Martin said that a gold watch and $34 were taken from him. One man was arrested by the police in connection with the robbery, but Martin could not identify him.

STABBED TO DEATH

Woman Confesses Killing a Man Who Tormented Her.

[Canadian Press.]

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 23.—Clarence W. Button, 39 years old, was stabbed to death yesterday on McNane's Hill, on the edge of the city, by Mrs. Fannie Williams, aged 35 years, who confessed the crime to the police, and is in jail.

Button was twice married. His second wife lives in Wheeling, W. Va.

The woman who confessed the killing is the wife of Walter Williams, from whom she separated soon after their marriage. She said that Button had been tormenting her about a girl to whom he had paid some attention.

JOHN R. WALSH DEAD

Lives But a Short Time After Release From Prison.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Oct. 23. — John R. Walsh, former banker, publisher and railroad owner, released a week ago from the Leavenworth federal penitentiary, died today of heart disease.

Mr. Walsh had been in bed most of the time since his arrival here from Leavenworth on Oct. 15. He had been attended constantly by physicians. Intermittent reports of Mr. Walsh's failing health during his incarceration had been received here. On his release it was plain that he had aged, and he gave up plans for resumption of his position as a financial leader, and took to his bed.

her case, who advised her, one being a well-known lawyer.

Legislature Granted Request.

A petition, which testified to her experience and capabilities as a dentist, requesting the Provincial Legislature to grant her permission to practice, was signed by many persons, and presented to the Legislature. She took the petition to the people she wished to sign it, and stood by it closely at the Parliament buildings in Toronto until the petition was granted. Some time afterwards she spent a term at the Dental College and secured a diploma. After she had secured a permit she started practicing in a small, plainly-furnished office in the town. Business was good from the first, and it was only a few months until she was able to move into one of the best offices in the town. She furnished the new apartments luxuriously. Her practice kept increasing and she built a beautiful residence, which was completed about a year ago, in which she and her mother resided.

She was a great lover of horses, and a couple of years or so ago purchased a beautiful, high-spirited animal, which she used to drive, and which, being hard to manage, caused her injuries which made an operation necessary last May.

Met Future Husband.

She met her husband, Mr. Mahon, in the early days of her fight for a standing in her profession, and they had been affianced some years.

When Miss Holmes' health continued to fail and a second operation was decided upon, Mr. Mahon came to Tillsonburg. The operation took place on Sunday and on Tuesday it was seen that death was near. It was then the wish of both, that the marriage, which had been deferred twice, should take place at once, and the ceremony was performed on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, with the two attending physicians, the mother of the dying girl, a sister, Mrs. Smith, of Detroit, and two nieces, Misses Kate and May Nicholson, as witnesses.

Not a Dry Eye There.

There was not a dry eye in the little group that gathered about the bedside. The words of the ceremony were made as brief as possible and were pronounced by the Rev. J. J. Brown B. A., rastor of Avondale Presbyterian Church. The closing scene came a few hours later, at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, when death took the wife of a few hours and closed the career of an exceptionally capable woman, who will be remembered by many throughout the provinces as the only woman who directly asked for personal concessions at the hands of Mr. Whitney's Government and got them.

The funeral was attended by many friends. The beautiful wedding gown that had never been worn in life clothed the body after death.

DISCOUNT TO CITY FOR METER INSPECTION

Government at Ottawa Will Be Asked to Grant It to London.

The Government at Ottawa will be petitioned to allow a discount to the city for meter inspection. Some time ago a request was sent to have this matter readjusted, but in the turmoil of elections no action was taken. Now that the Government is once more established, the matter will be taken up in earnest.

According to the act the city must pay 75 cents for inspecting the smallest meter. Some of the power meters cost as high as $6 to inspect. Up to the present the water commissioners have had 3,000 meters tested, for which they have paid in round numbers, $2,500.

This is considered too high a price, and the water commissioners are of the opinion that the cost is almost prohibitive.

Hon. Adam Beck will be asked also to assist in having the whole question readjusted.

"The rate is rather high," said Chairman Pocock. "The commissioners have to do the work to protect themselves, and the Government collects the amount mentioned for services that are very brief indeed. It is too much altogether, and I think the Government should give us a substantial rebate. The matter will be taken up in earnest at once."

NO PERMIT AS YET

City Architect Is Still Considering the New Masonic Temple Plans.

The permit for the new Masonic Temple has not yet been granted.

This morning a committee from the association, composed of Messrs. C. W. McGuire, John Graham, Ben Noble, J. W. Metherall, W. G. Murray, and others, had an interview with City Architect Tutter on the matter. There has been some difference of opinion on the question of material for floors, and this was discussed at the conference.

The terms of the building bylaw will be complied with, and the permit will be taken out very shortly.

ANOTHER WAR.

Panama, Oct. 23. — Recent advices confirm the report that Colombia is preparing for war. The Colombian congress has unanimously voted a credit of $3,500,000 gold to fortify Tumaco, a port in the southwest part of the republic, and Buenaventura, and for the purchase of arms and ammunition.

The Government is also reported to be raising money throughout the country by subscription for the purpose of aiding the preparations for war.

HEROINE DYING.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 23.—"Still living" was the report today from the Lime Rock Lighthouse, the home of Ida Lewis, who is at death's door as the result of a stroke of apoplexy suffered on Saturday. Miss Lewis, who is known as the "Grace Darling of America," because of the number of persons she has saved from drowning, is unconscious, and her attending physician said that death was expected within a few hours.

WHOLE ART GALLERY STOLEN IN RUSSIA

Thieves Strip Walls of Unguarded Building at Their Leisure.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 23.—A remarkable story, proving conclusively, it is claimed, that Russia holds the record in the matter of pictures and other art thefts, recently appeared in the St. Petersburg Herald. The journal explains how in the first place the entire contents of a picture gallery disappeared without any one being the wiser until the Gioconda incident aroused the authorities to vigilance in out-of-the-way galleries.

A merchant named Gragunoff presented a valuable collection of pictures to his native town, and the council housed the gift in the disused Alexander Theatre. The place was properly kept during the life time of the donor, but after his death it was completely forgotten officially, and remained closed. When eventually the authorities regarded it advisable to inspect the interior of the building, it was discovered that the walls were absolutely bare, every picture having disappeared.

Presumably some clever art thieves aware that no watch was kept over the building, frequently visited the place and carried off the pictures at their leisure.

A LARGE AUDIENCE AT MEN'S MEETING

A Strong Address Delivered in the Auditorium by Rev. Canon Tucker.

The popular Sunday afternoon men's meetings, which are held every fall and winter in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, were resumed Sunday under especially favorable circumstances. The greater part of the programme was provided by the Bostonia Orchestra, which proved an unusually strong drawing card, rendering an excellent sacred concert.

A strong address was delivered by Rev. Canon Tucker, of St. Paul's Cathedral, in which he appealed to the men present to rise superior to the temptations and trials of the everyday world, to develop the better traits of their manhood and to make their lives the greatest and noblest successes possible. A committee of 20 men was formed yesterday to insure the success of this year's meetings. Another 70 will be added, making a committee with a total membership of 100 men.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Cancelled Church Parade.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

It is perhaps not out of place to draw the public's attention to the very shameful way in which the members of the London garrison were treated yesterday in connection with the cancelled church parade. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a really splendid turnout of men from the various city corps assembled at the Armories, and though it was pouring rain, they found the doors shut and looked in their faces, and were not permitted to go inside while the rain somewhat abated. They realized that the only thing to do was to return home, and as some of them had doubtless walked two or three miles, it was certainly a very disappointing experience.

I understand this absurd order emanated from the office of the divisional officer commanding. I presume he was afraid the Armory floors would be soiled by the men's muddy boots, though there were no less than five paid caretakers there whose duty it is to clean up and keep the place in order. If he thinks this sort of thing will encourage a military spirit in London, he would be somewhat surprised to hear the remarks of the men, who were thus unceremoniously turned away. Had they been able to come inside, and perhaps have a smoke and chat, while disappointed, they would have gone home in a good humor, and so far as members of the Seventh Fusiliers were concerned, would probably have felt quite inclined to turn out tonight, when I understand Major-General otter is to inspect the regiment. As it was, many left in disgust, intimating that they would not parade tonight.

If this matter should come to the attention of the Inspector-general, I think it is something that might well have his distinguished consideration, as no one knows better than he the feelings of militiamen when treated in this manner. Thanking you for giving this publicity, believe me, Yours very truly,

PLAYED SCORELESS TIE.

Annapolis, Oct. 21.—A record-breaking crowd of 10,000 people saw the Navy and Princeton play a scoreless tie here this afternoon. Although neither goal was at any time seriously endangered, the game was a stirring one from the viewpoint of the spectators. There was brilliant playing at times, but rugged or over-zealous work frequently marred the game. Each team made a try for a field goal. Princeton's effort was made early in the first period, but it was not until the last few minutes of play that Navy tried the play.

LIVE HOGS SOLD AT $5.75 A HUNDRED

Out-of-Town Buyers in Middlesex Are Only Paying $5.60 Per Cwt.

Live hogs were variously quoted this morning at from $5 60 to $5 75. Local buyers promised $5 75 per cwt. for today's shipments, but out-of-town buyers dropped the price to $5 60 and the local men had to follow suit.

Hay sold this morning at $16 and $16 50 per ton. Not a great deal was offered and prices were active.

Oats are strongly in demand at from $1 35 to $1 40 per cwt. Renewed activity in dressed and live poultry is a feature of the market at present. The nearness of Thanksgiving materially increases the demand for toothsome birds.

Eggs continue to soar at 30 and 32 cents per dozen.

First-class butter tops the market at 28 and 29 cents per pound.

On the whole market prices are satisfactory, dressed meats, which are quiet, and live hogs, which are very unreliable, being the only exceptions.

Live hogs sold at $5 75 per cwt on the local market today, despite the fact that out-of-town buyers in Middlesex are only paying $5 60 per cwt. Quite a number of hogs were shipped today. Farmers are not generally anticipating a return to better prices, and apparently are deciding to turn their attention to more profitable and more certain lines of farming than hog-raising.

Hay sold as high as $17 per ton, the prevailing prices being from $16 to $16 50

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Noon Letter.—In the last half of the first hour, a stronger tone developed, prices moving up about a point in the leading issues, with most of business confined to the three stocks, in which there is active speculative interest. Steel common, led in this upturn, and was followed closely on both the early recession and later advance by Union Pacific and Reading. Trading even in these stocks was almost entirely professional, few outside orders being in evidence and the price movements simply reflected the changing of position by some of the more important room traders. London was a moderate seller of Union Pacific and Steel common, the foreign selling amounting in all to about 5,000 shares. The Government action against Union Pacific has been set for a hearing by the supreme court on Jan. 8 next.

By Clever Work Saves Life of Boy On a Bicycle.

John Johnson, a driver of one of Mitchell's taxicabs, saved a young lad's life on Saturday night by swinging around the corner of King and Richmond streets at great risk to himself and the auto.

The lad was riding a bicycle, and turned directly in front of the machine. Although the pavements were greasy, Johnson jammed on the brakes and the motor swung completely around.

It looked for a moment as if it would crash into the street corner, but Johnson by clever work succeeded in preventing an accident. The boy on the bicycle made off, whistling.

The taxi was not damaged.

Mrs. Gordon stated that in the Dominion of Canada last year 1,500 girls disappeared from sight, having fallen victims to the white slave traffic.

In the city of Chicago, the boast was openly made that the brightest and best victims secured were Canadian girls.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

Ontario Government Opens an Inquiry Into the Scheme.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 23. — Inquiry by the Ontario Government into the workmen's compensation act opened this morning before Sir William Ralph Meredith, commissioner, in the Parliament Buildings. There was quite a large crowd present, including representatives of labor organizations and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Evidence was given by a number of employees as to the working of the English act, which seemed to be most popular with workmen. The most serious drawback was that employers would insure against liability, and insurance companies were inclined to reject the plan, as they were more liable to accident. Consequently these men could not get employment. This was in many cases a hardship.

Speaking on behalf of labor, the vice-president of the Toronto Central Labor Council said they were strongly opposed to any scheme whereby the employee would have to contribute towards the cost of insurance against accident, and they desired very strongly to have the contributory negligence clause removed.

FOOTBALL BRUTALITY.

Hamilton, Oct. 23.—Mayor Lees, for the first time in his life, saw a game of football on Saturday when he attended the Montreal-Tiger match. "I thought it was exhibition of brutality," he said.

"I think they ought to," said his worship, who is chairman of the board of police commissioners.

1,000 PEOPLE LOST MAYOR SEEKS THEM

Mystery Still Shrouds the Population Figures of London.

LOST — SOMEWHERE BETWEEN the boundaries of this fair city or in the archives at Ottawa, 1,000 perfectly good souls. Mayor Beattie or Mr. E. W. Scatcherd, census commissioner, would welcome information regarding them.

There is a search warrant out for the missing one thousand, who threaten to go down in local history with the famous 600.

Mayor Beattie today received word from Ottawa from the department of agriculture, to the effect that the department have two separate lists of the unmarried and those in the conjugal condition, which when added together bring the population of this important centre up to 46,177.

This merely confirms a similar statement issued to Mr. Scatcherd on Friday. At Ottawa the city's population is given as 46,177. At London Mr. Scatcherd says it is 1,000 greater.

Now, the puzzle is, Where can those missing persons be? Mayor Beattie is determined to find out where they are, as they are most important in view of the street railway extensions soon to be undertaken, and also from the mere fact that they will add a trifle to the population.

Of course, the matter is not going to rest with the statement from the department at Ottawa. Further inquiries will be made in an endeavor to learn where the mistake was made.

Figures Carefully Checked.

"Mr. Scatcherd's figures were carefully checked and properly added," said Mayor Beattie. "He made the population 47,177. Now the department states that we have 1,000 less. I simply cannot understand it. It is not my intention to allow the matter to rest. I am going to talk to Major Beattie, M.P., and ask him to go thoroughly into the matter at Ottawa. We want to know the exact truth. This additional population is very important to us in view of the fact that street railway extension comes up for adjustment this year. We will have some more definite information soon."

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS NINE WORKERS

An Exploding Powder Keg Ignites Black Damp.

[Canadian Press.]

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 23.—Nine men were killed, many gravely wounded were carried up by rescuers, and fifteen more were imprisoned b ya cave-in as a result of the explosion of a keg of powder which ignited black damp today in O'Cara mine No. 9, a mile south of here. That more lives were not lost was due to the fact that the shift was changing when the explosion occurred.

Two men were instantly killed and seven others died within an hour. The detonation of the explosion warned the town that an accident had occurred and the fears of the wives and children of the miners were confirmed when they saw two ambulances rushed toward the mine, followed in a few minutes by an automobile containing physicians and nurses.

NEW TENDERS MAY BE ASKED BY CITY

It Is Said a Mistake Was Made in Cabell Street Figures.

There will be a meeting of the city council tonight, a special session to award the contract for the Cabell street pavement.

This is the thoroughfare into White's factory in East London off Rectory street, and it is in very bad codition at the present time. If the contract for the work is not let immediately, the road will be impassable next spring.

The board of works recommended that the tender be given to W. Martin for the sum of $1,460, a sum $1,000 less than the only other tender. It is understood that a mistake was made in the figures, and it is quite probable that new tenders will have to be called for.

PETTY THIEVING IS RAMPANT

Police Receive Complaints From Many Quarters.

Petty thieving is still going on in the city to a considerable extent. The police have received several complaints lately about minor thefts which have taken place in backyards and on the verandahs of houses. The thieves make a specialty of taking anything that is removable, and plants, clothes, cedar posts, and various other things have been stolen. Sections of fences have been removed and the lumber has been carried off by these midnight marauders, and as yet no clue to their identity has been discovered. Petty thieving in stores and other places of business has been reported, but as yet no convictions have been made. The thefts are in a great many cases committed by juveniles, according to the local police.

73rd Birthday.

The many friends throughout Canada will today tender their congratulations to Mr. George H. Millen, joint manager and mechanical superintendent of the E. B. Eddy Company, at Hull, Que., on attaining his 73rd birthday. He is still able to take his place at the helm, and is as active as most men who have not lived one half his years.

Marshall—Wilkie.

On Saturday evening at the rectory of St. Matthew's Church, East London, Miss Gertrude Minnie Wilkie, daughter of Mr. Thomas Wilkie, of 916 Lorne avenue, was married to Mr. Chales Elsmere Marshall, of Hamilton, formerly of this city. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Appleyard. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will reside in Hamilton.

A Paris (Ont.) Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place last Wednesday at the Congregational manse, when Rev. Mr. Mahood united in marriage Mr. John Lake, of Brantford, and Miss Lizzie Payne, of Paris. The bride was becomingly attired in her travelling suit of navy blue, with hat to match. She was attended by Miss Beatrice Lake; Mr. Alex. Wally supported the groom. After a trip to London and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Lake will reside in Brantford.

A Denfield Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Rosser, Denfield, on Thursday, Oct. 19, when their daughter, Elma, was united in marriage to Mr. Chester Hughes, of East Williams. Only the immediate relatives were present. After a dainty repast was served, and hearty greetings exchanged, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left on the evening train for a short trip east before taking up their residence on the groom's farm, East Williams.

Thanksgiving Services.

Thanksgiving services were held yesterday at St. Matthew's Anglican Church. The rector's subject at the morning service was "Material Blessings," while in the evening he spoke of "Spiritual Blessings." Large congregations attended both services. The Thanksgiving offering amounted to $113. Special music was provided by the church choir, and at the evening service a solo was rendered by Mrs. Cook. At their last meeting the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary Society of St. Matthew's Church decided to organize a junior auxiliary. An enthusiastic meeting was held last Thursday evening, when addresses were given by Mrs. John Callard and Mrs. Gahan.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAD A BIG DAY SUNDAY

Askin Street Methodist Sunday School held unusually successful anniversary services yesterday. In the morning the pastor, Rev. W. H. Harvey, occupied the pulpit, and in the afternoon an interesting chalk talk was given by Mr. Glen. In the evening Rev. D. N. McCamus, of Colborne Street Methodist Church, preached to one of the largest audiences in the history of the church. The other services were well attended. Special music was provided by the Sunday School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. John Ward, and by the church choir under the leadership of Mr. Goethe Quantz. At the evening service Mrs. E. Wyatt sang by special request the solo, "There Were Ninety and Nine." The collections for the Sunday school amounted to some $70. On Tuesday evening an anniversary entertainment will be held.

Music and Drama

"The Squaw Man."

"The Squaw Man," one of the old-time western offerings, was presented at the Grand twice on Saturday, drawing fair audiences. The play has not improved with age, nor has the cast become any stronger. Some of the roles were fairly well cared for, but on the whole the actors were not equal to the parts assigned them.

At the Auditorium.

Mart King and Mrs. Belle Renfrew, who appeared with the Bostonia Orchestra on Saturday evening in the Auditorium, say of Miss Von Volkenburg, who is to appear in the Auditorium tomorrow night: "She is most wonderful, and everybody in London should hear her."

Norman Hackett in "Satan Sanderson."

One of the most important theatrical attractions of the present season, at the Grand tomorrow night, will be the appearance of the young Canadian-American actor, Norman Hackett, in his new play, "Satan Sanderson," which has been successfully dramatized from the novel of Hamlin Garland. While Mr. Hackett is not entirely a stranger to this city, he having appeared here in the past as leading support with such artists as Modjeska and Louis James, this will be his first appearance before a London audience as a star with his own company. He is one of the most prominent actors from the States, and proudly boasts of the fact that he is a native-born Canadian. Next to the distinguished actress, Margaret Anglin, Mr. Hackett is probably the most famous of the celebrities now on the stage who are of Canadian birth.

"The Private Secretary."

This seems to be a season of revivals, judging by the list of attractions that has been offered to New York audiences the past year. "The Private Secretary," revived at the Empire Theatre, broke all records at that house for attendance, and the interest shown encouraged Mr. C. James Bancroft, one of England's most famous comedians, to bring his entire London production to this country. Mr. Bancroft is to Engand what Wm. Gillette is to this country, and great interest is being shown here in his presentation of the part of the Rev. Robert Spalding. Mr. Bancroft has played this role in "The Private Secretary" over two thousand times in the British Empire, and comes here to the Grand on Wednesday, Oct. 25th.

Sanford Dodge Has "The Right of Way."

Mr. Sanford Dodge has purchased the touring rights of "The Right of Way," the great sensational success of the metropolitan theatres, dramatized by Eugene Presbrey, from Sir Gilbert Parker's wonderful story and produced by Klaw & Erlanger in New York city. Some of the features are a splendid company of fourteen people, a complete new scenic environment, the first act showing Charley Steele's den, the second the interior of the Cote Darlon, with the St. Lawrence River in the perspective, the third Joe Portugais' cabin near Vadrome Mountain, and the fourth, in the vicinity of Cooling Springs and near the parish church. Two performances will be given Saturday next, matinee and evening.

Big Holiday Attraction — Maude Adams.

The greatest theatrical novelty of recent years, "Chantecler," Rostand's latest play, will be presented at the Grand Monday next, Thanksgiving Day, matinee and evening. The title-role will be essayed by Maude Adams, who has a larger public following than has any other woman or man on the stage in this country. The drama has created more interest than any other work given to the stage in the memory of man. It possesses distinct literary values, its versification flows freely and with distinct charm, it is rich and clear in its symbolism, and it carries a glorious message to the world. Miss Adams' enthusiasm over the work has been unbounded, and in the role of the Cock she has shown anew her fine artistic talents. Before the opening scene is disclosed, Miss Adams comes before the curtain in her own person to deliver the ingenuous prologue, which explains the absence of all humans from the scenes that are to follow. This prologue serves to kindle the imagination, so that when the curtain does go up the audience views the scene as through a magnifying glass. Seats on Thursday. Mail orders now.

The Bostonia Orchestra.

A capacity audience enthusiastically greeted the Bostonia Orchestra, which presented the third concert in this season's Y. M. C. A. Lyceum course at the Auditorium Saturday night. The Bostonia is undoubtedly one of the best ladies' orchestras which have appeared in London in recent years, and a great deal of the excellence which marked the programme is undeniably due to the admirable direction of the conductor, Belle Yeaton Renfrew. Miss Renfrew's direction is characterized by an ease and grace derived from an extended experience with leading orchestras of America. Every member of the orchestra responds to her direction as the keys of an instrument to the fingers of the player.

While all the members are artists in every sense of the word, the reception which greeted the solo violinist, Miss Adeline Packard, unmistakably gave her work the mark of unqualified success. Miss Packard, who is on her first tour as a solo violinist, is a pupil of both Loeffler and Kneisel, two of the leading violinists and teachers of the violin of the present time. Miss Packard's rendering of Wienlawski's "Polonaise No. 2" was characterized by the artistic tone and feeling of the perfected player.

Another member of the company whom the entire audience proclaimed a favorite, although her name does not appear on the printed programmes, is Miss Alice Newman, part of whose work consists in the xylophone accompaniment. Her playing on this unique instrument, which is becoming more and more popular in orchestral music, called forth unmeasured appreciation from the audience. Among the numbers which appealed most strongly to the listeners were the Thomas overture, "Raymond," Bizet's "Carmen," and Tobani's "Reminiscences of the South."

Accompanying the orchestra on their present tour is Mart King, the inimitable story-teller. Without any elocutionary effects, which with Mr. King's innate skill and talent would be superfluous and seem out of place, he naively tells story after story, each of which perchance may draw either tears or laughter from his hearers. His humorous dialect stories delighted everyone, and there were no hearts that were not touched by his rendering of the Italian dialect story of "The Rose."

Those who did not hear Mart King and the Bostonia Orchestra Saturday evening missed a real treat.

DYSPEPSIA-PROOF.

How Any Meal Can Be Thoroughly Enjoyed by Any Stomach.

Costs You Nothing to Try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their anatagonists turn on the searchlight, and the proof of merit will lie in being able to stand the flash.

It was only in this way that Mr. White ever knew that dyspepsia was one of Mr. Black's worst enemies. Sitting face to face at a two-by-four table, he handed his afflicted friend the bill of fare:

Oyster Cocktail. Stuffed Olives.
Boston Clam Chowder.
Strained Gumbo.
Sirloin Steak with Mushrooms.
Boiled Ox Tongue with Sauerkraut
Lobster a la Newburg.
Baked Pork and Beans.
Combination Crab Salad.
Hot Mince Pie.
Pineapple Fritters.

Mr. White ordered a "little of each." Mr. Dyspepsia Black ordered crackers and a glass of milk. "I had such a big breakfast this morning," he said, "that I'll just take a bite to keep you company." But Mr. White could not be deceived: "I am afraid you can't stand the gleam, Mr. Black. Why don't you say you have dyspepsia and be done with it? You'll always have that hungry look anyhow as long as you have dyspepsia. Now listen, My stomach was in just as bad condition as yours at one time. But now I can eat anything, at any time. For instance, this clam chowder or sirloin steak or even the lobster would be just as welcome to my stomach as your crackers and milk. You don't realize how this dyspepsia business is robbing you of your spirit, of your energy and ability to think quickly. I can't help notice it. You haven't the cheer and sociability you had three months ago. Now I'll tell you what to do," and thereat the cheerful Mr. White took a vial from his pocket and extracted a wee tablet. "There, there is a tablet that contains an ingredient, one grain of which digests 3,000 grains of food. For even the worst dyspeptic it's the only thing that really gives relief. The reason is it relieves the stomach of nearly all the work it has to do, digests everything in the stomach and stimulates the gastric juice. I can't get along without them. They are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them anywhere on earth for 50c a package."

Yes, it is true. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets absolutely stop heartburn, nausea, indigestion, dyspepsia of the worst type, sour stomach, bloaty feeling and all eructations and irritation, and freshen and invigorate the stomach. They cheer you up, and make you get all the good there is in your food. You will forget you ever had a stomach to worry you.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN BUILDING PERMITS

October Figures in London Are Double Those of a Year Ago.

The building permits for the month of October now total $65,825. This is more than double the amount for the same month in 1910, when $30,495 were issued.

This brings the total for the year to $805,676, as compared with $710,315 for the first ten months of last year. This is an increase of $95,361. The growth will amount to more than $100,000 before the end of the month.

"Building is going ahead well," said City Architect Nutter. "There is every indication that we will reach the million dollar mark this year."

No very large building permits were taken out this month, the greatest being that for the McCormick Manufacturing Company for $16,000 for improvements to their plant. The Bank of British North America also took out a permit for $3,300 for alterations to their building for the headquarters of Col. Hodgins, D. O. C., and his staff.

RECOMMENDATIONS ARE TO BE TALKED OVER!

City Council and Water Commissioners Will Discuss Insurance Matters.

There will be a conference between the water commissioners and the city council regarding the recommendation of the Underwriters' Association, that another air compressor be installed at the Horton street plant, that the Springbank main be connected with the reservoir at this station, and that the fire brigade be increased by ten men.

Superintendent Glaubitz is preparing a statement as to the cost of the water commissioners' end of it. He will also have prepared figures showing what the citizens will benefit in reduced insurance rates, if the Underwriters make a further cut of 10 per cent. on risks in congested districts, and 5 per cent. in other districts.

The council will be asked to submit figures showing the cost of maintaining ten additional men, and then the two bodies in conference will discuss the whole matter.

"We have long considered the necessity of installing another compressor," said Mr. Glaubitz. "The matter of connecting the Springbank main with the Horton street reservoir is not so very great. However, we will have every bit of information possible to submit to the conference, and if we find that it will pay the city to make the changes I will certainly recommend it. It would be a good idea to increase the efficiency of the department and the waterworks, even if the cost was not quite met by the reductions promised. We will go thoroughly into the whole business at once."

A VALUABLE DOG KILLED BY A CAR

Animal Was Chloroformed to Put It Out of Misery.

A valuable foxterrier was killed by a Belt line car running at high speed, it is alleged, on Dundas street, between Colborne and Waterloo streets, on Saturday evening. The dog was very badly maimed and was chloroformed by spectators.

A great deal of complaint has been made regarding the speed of street cars on Dundas street, from Colborne to Wellington street, as it is claimed that the most competent motormen on the road are unable to stop suddenly with the style of brakes in use.

Employees of the company state that they are not at fault in the majority of cases where it appears that they are running carelessly. They allege that in order to keep time on certain lines they are compelled to put on speed, and that when they are confronted with any difficulty there is nothing to do but suffer the consequences.

"Plugging" has to be resorted to in all cases of real emergency, but this method is not dependable, as the first crack of the reverse "blows" a fuse and leaves the machine powerless.

A car travelling at twenty miles an hour will run fifty feet, or a hundred feet, before the brakes commence to grip, as the slack chain must be taken up with several twists of the wheel.

Residents of the city have frequently agitated for air brakes on all street cars, but with little success. This system, it is claimed, is the only one that can be depended upon in an emergency, and would tend to reduce the number of fatal accidents about the city.

The ruthless slaughter of dogs is also the cause of strenuous objection, as it is alleged that certain motormen appear to endeavor to overtake canines on the thoroughfares.

It is claimed by citizens that cars run from 15 to 20 miles an hour on Dundas street from Maitland street to Wellington street.

Late Mrs. Murray.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Ann Murray, who died in this city Friday, was held on Sunday to Wisbeach Cemetery, the remains having been shipped from London by Griffith & Willsie, on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Murray, who had been ill for the past seven months, was in her 55th year. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Gertrude and Mary A., of this city, and Laura, of Sylvan, Ont., and three sons, Wilson and Benjamin, of Warwick, and Milton James, who is now in the Canadian west.
