LIBERAL M. P.'S BOLT.

Government With Great Difficulty Secures a Majority of Fourteen

In Support of Its Whitewashing Report in the Emergency Rations Scandal—It was a Narrow Shave.

Ottawa, July 6. — The emergency ration report was the first order yesterday, in the commons. Chairman Belcourt moved the adoption of the report of the majority and in amendment the adoption of the minority report was moved. For half an hour Mr. Belcourt argued that he had properly conducted himself as chairman of the committee. He took the ground that the only question before the committee and the house was whether the food bought from Dr. Devlin was the same kind of food as made by Prof. Hatch. All other questions were of no consequence. The charges made by Mr. Monk had not been sustained by evidence. Mr. Belcourt held that the charge was disproved by the analysis. Prof. Rutan showing that Hatch's food, tested at Kingston, had less than 14 per cent proteins.

Mr. Ellis, Liberal, St. John. — Is it established that this was the same food as tested at Kingston? Mr. Belcourt said it was. Mr. Ellis expressed his dissent. Mr. Belcourt went on to defend the Minister of Militia against the charge that, after he was warned by Hatch, he was buying bogus goods, he took no action. He asserted that it was in consequence of this warning that Mr. MacFarlane's analysis was obtained. "Asked where this appeared in the evidence," Mr. Belcourt declined to quote it. He declared the report of the minority was most unfair and false, and especially unfair to the minister. He closed by declaring that the food was not intended as a sole support of life, but to be used with other rations.

Mr. Davin asked where does this appear in evidence. Mr. Belcourt said it was not in evidence, but appeared in the newspapers. Mr. Davin asked if any of the newspapers mentioned Devlin's emergency food. Mr. Belcourt thought so, but could give no particulars. In closing Mr. Belcourt declared he was not concerned whether the minister paid 25 cents or 50 cents a pound, too high for this food. The fact was it was a wholesome food, and if it only saved the life of one soldier, it was cheap at the price paid for it. He denounced Mr. Monk as being moved by a morbid desire to make political capital, and declared he had preferred his charges without investigation into the facts.

A STRONG ARRANGEMENT.

Mr. Monk, in opening, complained of the unfairness of the chairman in at first refusing to allow questions to be put to witnesses, and in insisting upon the observance of the strict rules of legal procedure in a committee composed of laymen. The facts elicited, however, were very simple, and most of them were admitted, and he hoped that whatever might be the opinion as to the responsibility of the minister, the House would not concur in any whitewashing of the contractor. (Hear, hear.) Next Mr. Monk defined an emergency ration as food, and if it only saved the life of one soldier, it was cheap at the price paid for it. He denounced Mr. Monk as being moved by a morbid desire to make political capital, and declared he had preferred his charges without investigation into the facts.

Lord Roberts cables from Pretoria, dated July 5, that Lieut. Rundle, of the caribbeers, and a patrol were captured by the Boers near Pretoria, July 4. He also says trains are running to Greylingstad from Natal, that several respectable Boers have surrendered recently, that a soldier's home has been opened at Heidelberg, the inhabitants subscribing the initial expenses, and that a total of 2,631 stands of arms have been delivered to Gen. Burton at Klerksdorp, Krugersdorp and Potchefstroom—all in the Transvaal.

GENERAL SPORTS.

What is Going on in Baseball and Other Athletic Games.

News, Local and Telegraphic, Gathered From Reliable Sources.

A BOWLING VICTORY.

Three rinks of Chatham bowlers visited Windsor yesterday and defeated the Windsor team by 18 shots. Thrasher's rink won out by 22 to 25; Sowerby's rink scored 27 to their opponents' 15, and Bray's rink went down by 1 shot. The rinks were: 1—O'Keefe, Henderson, Fleming and Thrasher; 2—Henderson, Reid, Merritt and Sowerby; 3—Tennant, Robinson, Stevens and Dr. R. V. Bray.

MEAN YANKEE TRICK.

London Free Press:—The Michigan end of the International Base Ball League has done a Michigan act, and the league is a thing of the past. No one will be sorry. The Michigan clubs were a source of weakness from the outset. Any old kind of a league, with any old town in it so long as that town was not in the State of Michigan, would have been a better thing than was the league that has now fully collapsed.

The quitters in Michigan were not content to even quit honorably. They came over to Canada and set up large offices of gate receipts from Dominion Day games, and when London and Chatham returned respectively to Port Huron and Saginaw the only money they saw was what they themselves paid out for hotel bills. Anything more unsportsmanlike could not well be conceived of. At Port Huron nearly 1,000 people were present in the afternoon, but Secretary Sheers looked in vain for a share of the proceeds. Where the Canadian clubs made a mistake was in paying over any Dominion Day proceeds until they had the independence day receipts well in view.

WILL STILL FIGHT

Oom Paul Says he Will Hold out as Long as he

Has 500 Burghers Left—Large Numbers, However, are Giving up Their Arms.

London, July 6. — The cordon around Gen. De Wet appears still to be wide, at least he has not yet been cornered. Despatches from the front, except official ones, deal with trifles or vague probabilities. The Daily Telegraph's Lorenzo Marquez correspondent attempted on 4th July to interview President Kruger at Waterford. Herr Kruger was there, but the Deputy Secretary Reitz to talk. Secretary Reitz said: "We do not need to discuss peace. President Kruger wishes, through me, to repeat what he has said over and over again. The South African republic will fight for independence as long as 500 burghers remain alive, and even then will continue to fight. Such is our decision."

Dr. Conan Doyle, writing to the British Medical Journal, says he thinks there were 40,000 to 12,000 cases of enteric fever at one time. Six hundred patients died at Bloemfontein in one month. Dr. Doyle declares that the physicians did all they could.

A despatch to the Times from Lorenzo Marquez, dated July 5, says the Transvaal consular there announces that 800 fresh British prisoners have arrived at Nottingdacht.

Lord Roberts cables from Pretoria, dated July 5, that Lieut. Rundle, of the caribbeers, and a patrol were captured by the Boers near Pretoria, July 4. He also says trains are running to Greylingstad from Natal, that several respectable Boers have surrendered recently, that a soldier's home has been opened at Heidelberg, the inhabitants subscribing the initial expenses, and that a total of 2,631 stands of arms have been delivered to Gen. Burton at Klerksdorp, Krugersdorp and Potchefstroom—all in the Transvaal.

PREMIER LAURIER AND THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Here is the next way Mr. Foster summed up Premier Laurier's position on the prohibition question during the recent discussion in parliament:

"I have learned enough in the short years that I have lived to know that we need to be very liberal and very charitable in our judgment of the opinions and beliefs of our fellow-men; that we need to take a comparatively charitable view, but I do say this, that when the right honorable gentleman comes here to-day and states what he believes to be the unalterable opinion of his province, and then his position on the idea that unless you can have a complete national prohibition you cannot have it by sections, he speaks the last word to the prohibitionists of this country, and tells them plainly, abandon all hope, ye who entered under my banners in 1896.

"What does the right hon. gentleman state? He states that prohibition is an impossibility in this country so far as he reads the signs of the times.

"He stands up here, in 1906 and says the most I can promise to do in aid of the cause, if the people will all agree and say that they want it, is to re-enact the Scott Act.

"That is the position that he takes. If he had been candid he would have taken that position in 1896, and the people would not have been deceived, and there would not have been that period of turmoil which has resulted, in nothing, in worse than nothing."

VERTICAL HANDWRITING.

The public school board of New York city has resolved to abandon vertical handwriting and revert to the Spencerian system. This step has been taken in response to the demand of the business men of that city, who do not like the writing in their books. The N. Y. Sun favors the return of the slanting writing and says of the vertical that it is slow of execution. Many protest against this latest decision of the school board as appearing in the New York papers, but they will likely prove ineffective to prevent its execution.

The vertical handwriting is practiced in the Chatham public schools and is most favorably regarded by those who have studied the results. While it may be argued that the vertical writing is the more legible, it must be allowed that it affords almost as little play for individuality and style as the typewriter, and to that extent is destructive of originality, and favorable to the production of copyists, of which we have already a superabundance. The American press is discussing the action of the New York school board, and as far as we have been able to learn, the judgment is against the board's decision. The Detroit Journal says: "What seems to be the fact, is that the conservatism of New York merchants, who apparently do not like the appearance of the vertical handwriting on their books, is going to deprive the children of New York of an improvement of real value."

With the approach of the full moon our esteemed contemporary seems to be breaking out in its usual way—writing anonymous letters to itself.

The Democrats are sticking to Bryan for the presidency, and Bryan is sticking to free silver. Thus the people of the United States will be able to enter two forks at once.

The Montreal Gazette says:—"The lack of protest in the emergency food, the accuracy of the reports of Tait's speeches, the going on of the Yukon hardship, the collapse of Martin or the obstinacy of Molasses, when the session will end and what month the elections will take place in—all these burning questions of the hour are sunk into insignificance in the minds of the faithful in Montreal by the issue as to who will get the superintendency of the Lucerne canal. Three efforts to settle it have proved ineffective. The Laurier cabinet—"the strongest business government Canada ever saw"—is stuck." This is on a par with the county court clerkship.

The sins of the parents descend to the children even to the third and fourth generations. Three score years ago Great Britain committed a most atrocious crime in forcing the opium trade on China at the point of the bayonet, and to this day she has never righted the wrong. Even Gladstone, the goodly good, because the Indian exchequer needed the money derived from the manufacture of opium, refused to do anything. The Chinese Government of that period wanted to shut out opium to save the people from the greatest agent of destruction the celestial empire knows. For daring to regulate her own trade Great Britain thrashed her. It was the open door policy then as now. And the feeling of hatred against foreigners engendered at that time has never since died out.

If the English and Canadian vote is any good at all Pro-Boer Bryan's finish is now in sight.

The proposal to protect the lives of Europeans in China by threatening the graves of the royal family is, by no means so absurd as it might seem at first glance. Just as the Hindu fears to be blown to atoms from a gun, the Chinaman fears the desecration of his ancestors' graves. To the Hindu, blown to pieces means loss of paradise. To the Chinese his dead are gods, to be treated with infinite respect.

From court to court, and wander up

SIGNALS PHOTOGRAPHIC.

Experiments made by Harry Price, of Brockley, England, have proved that wireless telegraph signals can be photographed. The stations were the top of St. Mark's Church, Brockley, and the top of Aske's Boys' School, at Telegraph Hill, Hestham. Photographs were taken of the currents, showing the difference between the dot and dash system of the Morse Alpha.

Information for Certain Hearers.

"I have noticed," said the Rev. Dr. Goodman, pausing in his discourse, "that two or three of the brethren have looked at their watches several times in the last few minutes. For fear their timepieces may not agree I will say that the correct time is 11:45. I set my watch by the regulator at the jeweller's last night. The sermon will be over at 12:01. It would have closed promptly tried to call the congregation, but for this digression. Let us proceed to consider now what the apostle meant when he says, 'I press toward the mark.'"

SOME SMART CROWS.

They Fooled the Dog and Carried Off the Meat.

In the inn garden I saw a dog eating a piece of meat in the presence of several covetous crows. They evidently said a great deal to each other on the subject, and now and then one or two of them tried to call the meat away from him, which he resented.

At last a big strong crow succeeded in tearing off a piece, with which he returned to the pine, where the others were congregated, and after much earnest speech they all surrounded the dog, and the leading bird dexterously dropped the small piece of meat within reach of his mouth, when he immediately snapped at it, letting go of the big piece unwisely for a second, on which two of the crows flew away with it to the pine, and with much fluttering and hilarity they all ate, or rather gorged it. The deceived dog looking vacant and bewildered for a moment, after which he sat under the tree and barked at them inanely.

A gentleman told me that he saw a dog holding a piece of meat in like manner in the presence of three crows, which also vainly tried to tear it from him, and after the consultation they separated, two going as near as they dared to the meat, while the third gave the tail a bite sharp enough to make the dog turn around with a squeak, on which the other villians seized the meat, and the three fed triumphantly upon it on the top of the wall.—Our Animal Friends.

Four Ways of Cooking the Potato.

Boil some veal bones, a knuckle bone of ham and a bunch of vegetables in three quarts of water until reduced to about half. Chop an onion finely and add to the stock. Peel and boil three large potatoes, and when cooked mash them, mixing in gradually one breakfast cupful of cream or cream and milk. Mix the potato cream with the stock; strain it through a colander into a soup tureen, season with salt, pepper and one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley.

Cut four good-sized potatoes into shreds; sprinkle salt and pepper over them. Butter lightly some tartlet moulds, cover the bottoms with grated Parmesan cheese, arrange a layer of potatoes on the top, sprinkle more cheese over them, and continue till all are filled, finishing by sprinkling cheese over the top and putting a little clarified butter over all. Set on a very hot stove for two minutes, then bake for twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Serve on a folded napkin.

Bake some large potatoes in the oven. When tender cut a slice off the top of each and carefully scoop out some of the interior. Rub this through a fine sieve and mix with it one ounce of butter, one tablespoonful of cream, salt and pepper. Stir in steppan over the fire till hot. Then move it on one side and add the beaten whites of two eggs. Fill the potato skins with this mixture and brush them over with warmed butter. Place them on a fancy dish paper on a hot dish and garnish with parsley.

Mash one pound of the pulp of boiled potatoes; add the yolk of two eggs, set the bowl over the fire, stir until the potatoes are quite dry. Form it into a case or shell, brush it over with the yolk of an egg, put it into the oven and bake a light brown. Ventilate, put one gill of white sauce into a saucepan and mix in one teaspoonful of lemon juice, half a teaspoonful of essence of anchovies and the flesh of a lobster. Heat the mixture without letting it boil. Pour this thick sauce into potato case and serve.

Thoughts.

We do not make our thoughts; they grow in use. Like grain in wood; the growth is of the skies. Which are of nature; nature is of God. The world is full of glorious likenesses.—Bailey.

A WOMAN'S FOLLY

Eloped With a Married Man and Went to London.

He Sacrificed a $15,000 a Year Practice—Both Found Starving by the Girl's Father.

New York, July 6.—There is an end at last to the romantic love affair and the strange elopement of pretty seventeen-year-old Adelaide Schell and young Dr. Francis Alexis Sutorius, which started the residents of Washington Heights last May. When heard from, about three weeks ago, Miss Schell and the doctor were in a state of ruinable destitution in London.

Young Adelaide is now at the home of her parents, No. 617 West 181st street, to which she returned after her arrival in this city on the steamship Euraria last Saturday. Dr. Sutorius, it is said, returned on the same steamer, under an assumed name, but his whereabouts is unknown.

Dr. Sutorius, who is the son of a retired captain of the United States army, was until two months ago a prosperous young physician, with a practice giving him an income of about $5,000 a year. On the day of his elopement Dr. Charles H. Mercereau, of No. 800 East 105th street, died, and Dr. Sutorius would have gained his practice, which was worth, it was said, $10,000 a year.

Dr. Sutorius has a wife and two children, Frank, five years old, and Eugene, three years old. He left his family and sacrificed his future prospects on May 2nd, when he eloped with Miss Schell, whom he had met at an entertainment in West 125th street and to whom he had been paying attentions for two years.

Adelaide's father, Richard D. Schell, who is a wealthy insurance man, when he learned of the attentions the doctor was paying his daughter, ordered her never to see him again. He and his wife were appalled on May 2nd when they learned that the young girl had eloped with the doctor.

Dr. Sutorius on that day left his home after kissing his wife and telling her he would be back at five o'clock in the evening. He drove to the home of the Schells, where Adelaide joined him.

Dr. Sutorius on the following day sent a letter to his wife signed "Your worthless husband," asking her not to teach his children, to hate him, Miss Schell, also sent word to her mother not to worry.

Mr. Schell, after making every effort to induce his daughter to return, finally notified the police of the West 152nd street station to arrest Dr. Sutorius for abduction. The Schells idolized their daughter, whom they were giving a musical education. They maintained that the doctor must have hypnotized the girl.

Mr. Schell, who is a prominent Mason, learned through Masonic friends, about three weeks ago, that his daughter and Dr. Sutorius were in London. According to a report they were in destitute circumstances, and on the point of starving.

Miss Schell's father sent her sufficient money to pay for her passage to this country, and she arrived here on the Euraria on Saturday. On the same steamer, it is said, there was a passenger under the name of Zigmund, who is supposed to have been Dr. Sutorius.

When I saw Mr. Schell at his home last night he admitted that his daughter Adelaide had returned and was in the house, but said she could not be seen. "On the advice of my lawyer," said Mr. Schell, "I will not state what proceedings I shall take against the man who injured her to leave us."

Mrs. Sutorius, since her husband left her, took her two boys and returned to the home of her mother, Mrs. Towie, at No. 905 Trinity Ave. When I saw her last night she seemed surprised that the report that her husband had returned. She said she had not heard from him, but was very anxious to learn where he is.

When I saw Mr. Schell at his home last night he admitted that his daughter Adelaide had returned and was in the house, but said she could not be seen.

Don't Want to Advance $500 For King Street Services

Required in Connection With the New Pavement—Complaints That the Waterworks By-laws Are Being Violated.

The city water commissioners held their regular monthly meeting last evening. There were present the chairman, Dr. J. L. Bray, Commissioner Sheldon, Mayor Smith, Secretary Weir and Superintendent Jones.

The following accounts were presented and passed:—
S. Hadley Lumber Co. $24 83
Geo. Stephens & Co. 24 29
Gutta Percha and Rubber Co. 1 50
W. R. Baxter. 4 00
Penn. Salt Manufacturing Co. 21 88
Post office. 2 00
John Mann & Sons. 46 62
O. W. Shipman Co. 196 49

Total $321 61
Chas. L. Abbott was granted a refund of $1.50 on water rate paid.

A communication was read and received from John Mann & Sons re coal. Petitions from residents on Raleigh street, McKeehouse avenue and Harvey street west for extensions to water mains were submitted and granted.

A communication was read from the Thompson Company submitting quotations for pipe.

Supt. Jones reported that he had gone over the King street services and mains to be laid, prior to the putting down of the new pavement, with Engineer Shackleton, and had made an estimate of their cost, amounting to $551.02.

The chairman thought the commissioners would not be justified in taking the money they had received and using it in this manner with no revenue accruing. It would be just buying that amount of money.

Mr. Sheldon thought the city should loan the money the money until they take the water.

The Mayor said they would never use it as long as three and four were allowed to use from the same tag.

This remark led to a discussion of the water regulations and the superintendent reported complaints made to him against residents of Victoria avenue for sprinkling their lawns out of doors.

The secretary said the hours for sprinkling were 6 to 9 a. m. and 5 to 10 p. m. The superintendent was instructed to go ahead and prosecute all violating the regulations.

The chairman said the best way to settle the matter of the King street services was for the city finance committee and board of works to meet the commissioners.

It was decided to amend the by-law governing the petition for service by making the payments last over four years.

"No," said "Doc" Arnold while in a reflective mood, "the sailing season has not opened in full swing yet. The Outlaw has been in the water for quite a while. It was the first yacht in, but of course it was quite unnecessary for me to add that last, as the Outlaw has a way of always being first. That puts me in remembrance of what the Glenville syndicate say they are going to do when their boat arrives. Their course of action will entirely depend, however, on whether they have to sail in water or on skates. Prospects are very bright just now that this Glenville syndicate boat will be able to sail in the water when it arrives. It will be too late for the ice."

"Well, as I was saying, the Glenville syndicate have hit on a great scheme for trying out their boat. They first intend to race the Klondike, which is said to be the easiest mark on the Eau. Having succeeded in defeating the Klondike, they will then take the other boats in order of slowness, beginning with the Louise, of J. Rutley, the Velma, of W. H. Harper, the Eric of Mr. Bonnell, the Bonnie Belle of E. B. Jones, and after having defeated all these, then the Glenvillians think that they may enter on the rash undertaking of trying to defeat the Outlaw."

GREAT LONE LAND

Chatham Boys Surveying on the Broad Western Prairies.

Will Stevens Writes a Very Interesting Account of his Experiences With the Expedition.

The following letter has been received by H. J. Stevens from his brother Will, who with Archie Campbell, Jr., is on a government surveying party at present in Alberta, N.W.T. Camp East All, June 29, 1900.

Dear Brother—We are now encamped on the north shore of one of the Blackfoot Lakes, in Township 53, Range 19, west of fourth meridian. The lake is about a mile long and half a mile wide. It would be a splendid place for a sportsman, as there are hundreds of ducks near it. We could not get around it with the carts because of a big swamp with a creek running through it, so we built a raft and brought all of our paraphernalia over on it without a mishap. The raft is about 20 feet one way and 10 the other and is simply but strongly put together. The skeleton of it is made of six logs fastened together by iron rods driven through the ends. We found some rough boards in a half breed's shack and covered the floor with these. It is propelled by two oars, one at either end. Two carts heavily loaded were put on our "schooner" on the second trip, but it nearly caused an upset, so we had to take one off. It is a rather slow means of transportation, however, as we cannot make the round trips in less than an hour.

You don't know how welcome letters are here. We have only received one mail since leaving. On June 1st William, the aide-de-camp, went to Strathcona, and was to be back the next (Saturday) night. It rained all afternoon, so we came into camp early and were all on the lookout for the postman on the opposite shore of the lake. At supper time there was no sign of him, so we filed into our sumptuous repast of pea soup, pork and beans, tea, bread, and prunes. Our meal was nearly over when we heard long continued calls, and we knew then we would soon have the news we had been looking forward to for so long. Four of the men roared our gallies from the rest of us waited in expectant impatience until its return. As soon as William was over we hustled him into the tent with the mail bags, and the letters were taken out one by one and handed to us. I was more than pleased to get your and father's letters and have read and re-read them so much that I could almost repeat them word for word.

I received a post card from a Frenchman I had met coming out, written in French, thanking me for the few English words I had taught him. He was just over from France, and knew very little English, so while trying to converse with him, we each learned some of the other's language. I was more than surprised to see my first letter to father in print, as I had written it without ever a thought of seeing it published. He had been going from it, and what father advised in it to do in his letter about taking notes. I have written something about every day, even if it is just telling how much swamp we waded through.

I don't think I mentioned our pleasurable boat. It was originally intended for a row boat, and was made of three logs held together by cross pieces of wood, but we have now added another log so that it may be sailed or rowed. We made a sail with a couple of poles and my blanket, and William's, and sailed across the lake in about twenty minutes.

We are now surveying in the worst part of Alberta, I think, and that, and I hope it is so, as one worse than this would present a sorry picture indeed. Everything has been burned, and we cross numberless swamps, some of which it is almost impossible to wade through.

On June 12th we arrived at Ross Creek, where we met our first strangers. Some people probably do not know how well.

CHATHAM IS REPRESENTED. No matter where you go you will meet some one from our part of the country. One of the first settlers we met was a Chatham boy, of my age. His name is Will Rice, and he is a nephew of Mr. John Rice. He is out with a Mr. Horstead, a brother of the singer in our church. He came out last May and has a good quarter section, but is not working much on it. The land is pretty well taken up for seven or eight miles along the creek, and those who have homesteaded lands are asking $10 an acre for them. Some won't sell as they think the railroad will pass through that way, making their land much more valuable.

Joy! How we leaped for joy at the sound of a cow bell. It didn't take us long to find out where the cow belonged, and at night seven of us went down to the place hoping to get a taste of milk. We were cordially welcomed by the owner, Mr. Thorne and his wife. She, probably guessing what we wanted, asked us if we would like some milk. After the proper amount of hesitation, we said we wouldn't mind, and very soon she set a large vessel of creamy milk before us, and it didn't take us long to finish it.

Sunday, June 17th had some special features. It was raining nearly all day, so with the abundance of water I washed a shirt and undershirt. I had put on at Strathcona May 12th. One fellow says he is going to leave his shirt on until it comes off itself. Sunday is our day for washing and mending.

Monday, June 18th, we moved north 2 miles and are now encamped on Ross Creek, which flows from the Blackfoot lakes to Ross Lake. The other day we surveyed west a mile and south a mile and then started homeward. Arch thought he would arrive here sooner if he followed the creek, so he got a couple of the men to go to the creek, and we went around by the line. We got home about four in the afternoon and Arch, with the men hadn't come yet. They came in about half past six looking rather sheepish, said they had built two rafts and were coming down the creek, cutting their way through the logs across the stream, when one of the rafts came apart and Arch went in up to his neck. After that they walked.

Nearly every day we see fresh tracks of bears. They go along and dig out the ant hills, ants being the only food they can get just now, or turn over logs. We often hear the coyotes, but they never come near enough for us to see them. The roses and wild peas are very thick, the roses a little too thick for comfort. Every time one sits down, he is sure to sit on a rose-bush. The peas are far prettier than our own sweet ones. They grow in clusters, in fact, large enough for T. A. Smith's buttonhole. There are also some tiger lilies, but not many. We have just enough spruce and tamarack scattered along our route to keep us well supplied with gum. I am getting now so I can hardly go a day without it.

WILL DISBAND OCT. 15.

Mr. Du Berger received a letter from the Government saying that all surveys should be ended on October 15th, so we will be disbanded at that time. I will call on Mr. Rutherford and Joe and Jack Morris before leaving, if nothing happens. I didn't have time to go across to Edmonton the Saturday after I arrived, as we were busy all day.

I hope you will not forget your promise of writing often. We never see anybody, so everything that may seem odd to you will have to be explained. We heard at the settlement that the British had reached Pretoria, but could get no reliable information, so we had to rely on papers telling about it if it is really true.

We are getting near some settlements now from which there will be trains leading to Edmonton, so that a man can be sent at least once a month for the mail, and considering how many brothers I have, I shall expect to learn each month of everything that is being done at home.

I know very little about the country yet, because we have only surveyed half of two townships in the worst part of Alberta, and have just one settlement in all we have gone over. Most of the men in the party have come up to look for homesteads, so they know a little about it as I do. The only place suitable for an elevator, as far as I can find out, is Millet, a small village with a couple of stores and a post office, about one-third of the distance between Edmonton and Waskiwin. The land around it is good and is rapidly being taken up. Edmonton has two flour mills, including elevators. If the proposed railway for which a company has obtained the charter between Edmonton and Prince Albert, is built, a wide stretch of the best part of Alberta will be opened. The land is fine, and the railway will follow the Saskatchewan River closely, so that an elevator built along that route will be sure to have a good Most of the grain grown here now is fed up and shipped in the shape of cattle and pigs. Oats is the chief grain grown. I tell you much better than handling grain, and that is ranching. You need about $1,000 to start with, and in two years' time your money will have doubled. I have heard of men making $500 to $1,000. It costs about $100 to bring out a carload of goods. You pay $10 down for registration and get a homestead of 160 acres. That is a great title to the land you have to work 15 acres in three years and build a shack, barn and fence. There is an abundance of hay, water and wood on almost any section you may choose, so the expenses are very small. Cattle (yearlings) can be bought from $15 to $20, and when they are three years old there is ready market for them at your own door, a buyer comes around and pays $40 and $50 for them. A man can be hired to break for land or $250 an acre, or if you do it yourself, you will need three horses and farm implements, costing about $400. A herd of 25 cattle is accounted the first year until one gets accustomed to herding them. A man with 50 cattle has a fairly large ranch. There is lots of C. P. R. land to be had for $3 an acre, or on instalments of $70 a year for ten years. The work is not hard after the first three months, and after the first year all you have to do is to sit on the fence and watch your cattle grow. There is one small drawback, however, which is mosquitoes. Some days they are almost suffocating, so thick are they. At night we pull our blankets over our heads and cover two pairs of socks as a protection against them. This is all right on a cold night, but when it is warm I get very little sleep. When we are out with the fly tent, Sophronie, the assistant cook and handy man, gets a roaring fire going to cook his beans, and that's the time when we suffer most.

The sun does not set here until 9 o'clock (11 Chatham time) and rises about 3. The sunsets are very beautiful and form a fitting background to our wild surroundings.

Arch and William went out at noon to see if a trail we crossed went to Strathcona, and have just now returned with the welcome news that it does, so William will go to Strathcona on Friday for the mail.

Arch says he caught a couple of young prairie chickens that could fly, but let them go again. They are very thick everywhere we go, which means that in July we will have spring partridge twice a week instead of ducks. We need a change of diet, as we have had duck every Sunday for a month now.

I have to laugh every time I see Sophronie leading the pack horses. We never move the whole camp east or west, but continue north two miles at a stretch. Morning morning we usually pack and take the morning moving east or west of the meridian. There are three pack horses taken and Sophronie has charge of the "avocado." He makes them go through swamps or over any obstacle. If one of them sinks in the water, as they often do, our blankets get their share of wetting. Yesterday he came through a very thick woods, and Arch's under blanket had two great big holes in it, as a result of knocking against many trees.

Probably this letter will not be mailed for a month, or it may be tomorrow, so I will close, hoping William will reach the post office in the morning. With love to all—Affectionately your brother,

WILL.

The Golf Girl

Is the type of the modern woman at her healthiest and best. She walks with an easy grace. She is a picture of perfect womanhood in the springtime of life. But generally the golf club is laid aside with marriage. A physical languor oppresses the once athletic girl. Exercise makes her back ache. She tires easily. Usually she accepts this condition as a natural thing, but it is unnatural. Marriage should add to woman's happiness, rather than subtract from it. If women understood how intimately the general health is related to the local health of the womanly organs, they would appreciate the fact that there is no need to suffer from weakness and backache. The use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well. It regulates the periods, heals inflammation and ulceration, cures female weakness, and puts the body in a condition of sound health.

Mrs. E. A. Aldbrook, of Austin, Lenox Co., Ark., writes: "After five months of great suffering with female weakness I write for the benefit of other sufferers from the same affliction. I doctored with our family physician without any good results, so my friend urged me to try Dr. Pierce's medicine—which I did with wonderful results. I am completely cured. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

Liked a Real Still Dog.

A Congressman from the West was the guest of honor at a Thanksgiving dinner in Sixteenth street, Thursday. He is a man who is given to expressing his opinion frankly, and when he has said he always has the courage of his convictions. Opposite him at the table sat a man who would be considered "impossible" if his natural vulgarity weren't glided to the depth of several millions. He talked about his dog, and the tenor of his remarks was something like this:

"Awfully good dog. Had him with me at Monte Carlo last year. Prince of Wales stopped to see him—asked me where I got him. Chancery Depew took greatest kind of fancy to him; told the French President he'd give a thousand for one like him. Coming over on the steamer, Pierpont Morgan made me an offer for him, but Andrew Carnegie was bound to get him, and offered twice as much. But I wouldn't sell. Great dog that. When I was in—

Here the host interrupted the narrative.

"What kind of a dog do you like, Mr. Congressman?" he said to the guest of honor.

The Congressman replied with great deliberation: "I'd rather have an iron dog," he said. "It don't bite. It stays where it is put. It don't get fleas. I'd rather have an iron dog."

Not So Very Popular.

"You have written some popular songs, I believe." "Oh, yes," replied the composer carelessly; "some that were moderately popular; not popular enough to make people really mad, you know, but popular enough to make them rather tired before they heard the last of them."—Chicago Evening Post.

Suspiciously Cordial.

Miss Honesuckle (in some trepidation)—Here's the bill for my new bonnet, papa.

Mr. Honesuckle—Seventy-five dollars? Why, that's remarkably cheap for so pretty a one; and how well it becomes you.

Miss Honesuckle—Papa, I believe you are getting ready to tell me that I can't go to Saratoga this summer.

That drawn, squinting expression, seen on the faces of many older people, is often erroneously attributed to age, or a "life of care" or "raising a large family." Such alleged reasons may be commonly be valid ones, but the fact still remains that these unnatural facial conditions are often due to defective eyes and the need of right glasses to remove muscular and nervous strain. Save your nervous energy. Let good glasses do the work now imposed on over-taxed muscular and nervous forces. Glasses to fit any eyes. E. J. MacIntyre, leading optician, opposite Grand Opera House.

JUST A SUGGESTION.
"I think," said a citizen this morning, "that if the police want something to do to keep them away from bothering inoffensive citizens, they might watch the park and keep the low class of individuals, who assemble there, within the bounds of decency, rather than let a wife or sister go to enjoy the cool air of the park."

LAWN SOCIAL IN CHATHAM TOWNSHIP.

Last evening Reeve J. L. Holwell, of Chatham township, entertained a very large number of friends to a very delightful lawn social. The spacious lawn and fine grounds of Mr. Holwell were crowded, and the pleasantest of times was spent by all. The Tupperville band was present and furnished excellent music. Sam Weaver took the chair after all had enjoyed the good things provided and presided over an impromptu program. Mr. Chrysler, of Chatham, sang a number of songs in his popular way and was heartily applauded. Mrs. Weaver, and the two Misses Weaver contributed a number of excellent tries. The Tupperville quartette also furnished some splendid songs. At the conclusion of the evening's festivities a vote of thanks was passed to the Reeve. Mr. Holwell made a happy reply, and thanked his many friends for coming. Chatham township council and John Mount and Wm. Chrysler, of this city, were present.

HENRY'S GOOD WORK.

Thoughtless, careless and cruel persons are beginning to realize that Chatham has a vigilant and energetic humane officer in the person of Henry Dagneau. Last Monday Mr. Dagneau put 11 horses in the stable, some of these had been standing on the streets from early morning till late in the afternoon. The Maple City humane officer always has his eyes open, looking for persons ill-treating their horses in any way, and he never hesitates, in doing his conscientious duty when ever he sees any animal being cruelly treated. Mr. Dagneau works solely from philanthropic motives and his love of dumb animals, and he should receive the active support and assistance of everyone in his work.

Don't Imagine

Don't imagine that all clothing is alike,—not even if made of the same materials.

Quite the contrary is true. Some suits never look well. Some look well at first and soon give out because not honestly made. Some look well at first and continue to look well because honestly made.

This latter applies to the products of our factory,—you can get the other kinds almost anywhere.

A GREAT HORROR

The Public Urged to Get Ready For News of One

From China—The Streets of Peking Said to Have Literally Run With Blood.

London, July 6.—In response to inquiries cabled to Shanghai in regard to the situation at Peking, the following cablegram has been received from an authoritative quarter:—

"Shanghai, Thursday, July 5.—Prepare to hear the worst." There is a mass of wild rumor from the far east. Though contradictory on most points, it continues unanimous as to the consummation of the tragedy at Peking.

To consistent reports of the massacre of the whites are now added the additional horrors that savage soldiery, butchered at the capital 5,000 natives, Catholic converts.

This comes in a Shanghai dispatch of July 5, which only adds to the reports given by respectable Chinese who have arrived from Chian Fu and who describe Peking as an inferno, the streets literally running with blood, confirm numerous stories of executions and untold tortures of the isolated foreigners. Some European soldiers were captured by a mob. Yung Lu, who, advocated moderation, was killed by Tuan Tang Yi and Tung Fuh Sia, who issued fresh edicts ordering the merciless extermination of all foreigners in the empire.

HAS REACHED SHANGHAI.

Washington, July 6.—A despatch has been received at the state department from Consul-General Goodnow, at Shanghai, dated July 5, in which he says that the situation is serious and the insurrectionary movement is extending. If the allied forces in the north, he says, should meet reverses the disturbance certainly will extend to central and to south China, resulting in the expulsion and murder of foreigners in the interior and the ruin of trade. A strong force, he says, is necessary to check the viceroys in the north and to support the viceroys in the south.

It is understood that the council of all the powers in China have sent an identical despatch to their respective governments.
