Without any comment, at last night's meeting of the City Council, Mayor Cowan delivered the following message to the aldermen and intimated that an investigation would shortly follow before the County Judge. The startling portion of the message was the announcement that Trustees Robertson and Bensen will be subjected to very heavy fines, the result of a number of meetings they are alleged to have illegally attended. Gentlemen of the Council:

My duties, as Mayor of this. City, are explicitly set forth in the following clause of the Municipal Act, which I will quote in full:

"The head of the Council shall be "The head of the Council shall be rooms." Mayor Cowan delivered the following ed that an investigation would shortly follow before the County Judge. The startling portion of the message Robertson and Bensen will be subof a number of meetings they are alleged to have illegally attended, which I will quote in full:

"The head of the Council shall be the chief executive officer of the Corporation and it shall be his duty to be vigilant and active at all times, in causing the law for the Government of the Municipality to be duly executed and put in force. To inspect the conduct of all subordinate officers in the Government thereof, and as far as may be in his power, to cause all negligence, carelessness, and positive violation of duly, to be duly prosecuted and punished and to communicate from time to time to the Council all such information and recommend such measures, within the powers of the Council, as may tend to the improvement of the finances, health, security, cleanliness, comfort, and ornament of the Municipality. R. S. O., 6, 184, 3,244."

In pursuance of these duties, I recently took occasion to draw your attention to what I consider gross irregularities of, and wanton violation of the law, of and by the Board of Fublic School Trustees, and to recommend the substitution of a Board of Education for the present system. I was actuated solely by the desire to fulfill the duties of this high and important office, which duty I swore, when entering upon, to discharge to the best of my ability, and in pursuance of which I am compelled to watch over and safeguard the interests of the taxpayers, and from time to time, as the occasion arises, point out to you what may appear to be acts of omission or commission by those who have the handling of the public money and through which the public interests may in any manner be affected.

I take it that a Municipal Council may not ordinarily review the acts of the School Board in any matters arising out of their official functions, as in respect of such it is or should be a question for themselves of judgment, and while, as citizens only, we may reritiese and, perhaps, condemn, we may not take official cognizance and sit in judgment upon their procedure.

But, Gentlemen of the Council, the Statute does give us authority to do away altogether with the Pub "The head of the Council shall be the chief executive officer of the

Tenth Anniversary of This Firm Be ing Celebrated-Bargains Found On Every Counter

Ten years of steady and continuou rogress and prosperity is the record of the Austin Store, the largest establishment of its kind in Chatham. This is a record to be proud of and one that is seldom equalled. It certainly speaks well for the energetic proprietor of the business and also, or the growth and prosperity of the Maple City. It is encouraging to all concerned to know that there is in Chatham a business house that is advancing so rapidly in the world of commerce, and is so worthy of unlim-ited patronage.

The event of the tenth anniversary

The event of the tenth anniversary is being made a special one for the firm, and its patrons, and is being celebrated with an anniversary sale which covers bargains in every department of the store. It is a genuine bargain sale and the large crowds in attendance gives ample proof of the benefit to be obtained from attending it.

rom attending it. On Oct. 24, 1895, Mr. Austin first lars?
But, gentlemen, it may be said that these are errors of judgment. I merely refer to them as proof that the city as a whole should have an opportunity of passing judgment upon their business ability, when exercised for the public, of the men who a dealt with the properties of the On Oct. 24, 1895, Mr. Austin first commenced business in Chatham, and, looking backward, as he says, he has much to be thankful for. His store has from year to year grown from the smallest to the largest in the city, and where seven assistants were employed at first, saxty-five are now engaged in carrying on the public.
Gentlemen, I would be pleased if I could stop at this point and close this message to you, but duty, no matter how painful, compels me to quote for your edification a clause in the Act which reads as follows:—
"Any Trustee who has any pecunicary interest, profit or promise or are now engaged in carrying on the firm's business. Then one boy was employed to deliver all parcels, and now four horses are required to do this work. Then Mr. Austin was a complete stranger in Chatham, now his customers are counted by the bousands.

Made-in-Berlin Exhibition.

Belin, Oct. 17.—The "Made-in-Berlin" exhibition is now in full swing, having been formally opened last evening by Premier Whitney in the presence of nearly 3,000 people. The exhibition will last all week. There are over seventy exhibits of merchandise made in this town. The proceeds of one or two nights will go to the hespital. Hon. J. J. Foy made a happy speech, and Hon. Dr. Pyne characterized the fair as a novetty in this country and unique in itself. The Premier said he had not realized what this event was to be nor what it would mean. After seeing it he realized that it reflected what the people of Berlin could do and what might take place in this Province in the future. It was evident that stagnation was a word unknown to Berlin. He then declared the "Made-in-Berlin" exhibition open.

Yesterday Commissioner Woodside received a communication from Chairman King, through F. H. Keefer, a lawyer, demanding his resignation. The ground for the demand is that Woodside, by himself or through his partner, had an interest in the contract for the building of a dam for the town on Current River in connection with the power plant of the town.

"DON'T BE BLUFFED OUT" MAYOR'S VIGOROUS COMMENT

Board of Education Still Stands-Rescinding Motion Failed in Necessary Two-Thirds Majority-An Interesting Discussion-Mayor Also Wins on Inches Ave. - Other Council

Doings

The Board of Education still stands. Although Ald. Austin's motion at last night's Council session to rescind the project was approved by a majority of five to three the necessary two-thirds required to annul the former resolution was not forthcoming and the mandate calling for a Board of Education remains upon the civic annals.

In making his motion Ald. Austin said the principle which had governed the Council in originally adopting the resolution was representation by the general vote of the people. It was a good principle and the sooner it was carried out the better. All money-spending bodies should be directly responsible to the ratepayers at large. However, new light had been thrown on the matter in reference to the position of the County, who would be cut off from representation. This the Council had not foreseen, but there was no provision for their presence in the new Act. It would not be fair to the County to have to pay and not have any

"I understand, however," added Ald. Austin, "that several new and very important departures are proposed by the Government and that the Education Act will be much changed. The people can then confidently afford to wait."

Ald. Potter was particularly glad to second the motion. In voting for the original resolution it would be remembered that he did so with considerable hesitancy lest the Council may not have had all the necessary information. Since that time he had learned considerable more upon it. The Council had been somewhat hasty in taking action before getting fur ther information. While Ald. Pot ter was a believer in direct repre-sentation by the people he thought it poor policy, as he had stated at it poor policy, as he had stated at the previous meeting, to antagonize the County. On that night he had asked specifically, had they any interest? The answer given was, "No." He had found since, however, that the County had a material interest and that they had always paid their full share till last year. He thought the present move was in the right direction and hoped in future when any new project was introduced the Council would be fairly dealt with. It was a great pleasure to second the resolution.

Ald. Westman — What particular benefit is there in resolution tenight?

Ald. Austin thought if an error had been made it should be rectified at once. The matter in dispute was now before the County Judge and Ald, Austin said being bluffed out didn't apply to him. He was informed by the press that men at the C. C. I. Board said there was a solemn to the country of the country. compact with the County. Pearls are the most popular of all gems among the lnhabitants of India and Arabia and it is seldom that a native wo of any social position is seen without pearl ornaments of some kind, either finger rings, earrings or rings for the nose, and even the feet.

Went For a Soldier. At one of the London police courts a young hooligan was being tried for an assault on an elderly man. The magistrate, noticing an old customer in the ooligan, thought he would give him s little fatherly advice, and remarked: "Young man, I'm surprised at a big, strong, healthy looking fellow like you always getting into trouble. Why, you seem to be always wanting to fight. Why don't you go for a soldier?" Imagine the smile which illuminated the magistrate's face when the vouth replied, "I did once, your honor, and he nearly killed me."

. A STRANGE INSECT

The Aweto Is Half Plant and Found In New Zealand. The aweto, as the Maoris, or native

of New Zealand, call it, or Hipialis viscens, as naturalists term it, is found in New Zealand and is a vegetable caterpillar of from three to four inches in length, and so far science has not been able to say whether it is a vegetable or an insect. It is always found at the foot of large myrtle trees that have beautiful red flowers on their stem and a beautiful creeping clematis as white as the snow. The Maoris call this tree by the name of ricta. The aweto buries itself among the roots of the rata a few inches below the ground and there lives until it is full grown when it undergoes a most wonderful change. The spore of a vegetable fun gus, termed by naturalists Sophoeris robertsii, fastens itself to the neck of the caterpillar just between the head and the first ring and then grows up ward to the height of from six to eight nches. Many people assert that ther is never more than one stem, but such not the case, for some have been found with two stems, although very The stem shoots up out of the ground above where the caterpillar is living about two or three inches. Below the earth it grows into the aweto until it fills up every possible space within the outer skin without changing the form of the insect in the slightest way what soever, but simply substituting a vege table matter for animal matter. As soon as this takes place both the plant and caterpillar become dry and hard and die, but retain exactly the same form as when alive. The whole has a brown color, and the insect appears wooden caterpillar with a huge horn standing up from the back of its neck. How the caterpillar manages to propagate its species no one can tell. Usually the caterpillar becomes a chrysalis, the chrysalis changes into a moth, the moth lays eggs, and these eggs again become caterpillars, and so on without stopping. Many reasons are given why the plant shoots up from the back of the neck of the aweto. One is that the awete has a slimy substance oozing out from its neck, which while the awete is boring at the foot of the sita tree for its only food catches the seeds of the fungus and holds it fast there till the latter begins to grow. When it has sucked all the vegetable life out of the aweto it must naturally die, for it finds no further nourishment. The aweto is often found in large numbers.

ANIMALS AND TOBACCO.

Most animals have an utter abhorence of tobacco in any shape or form, says the proprietor of a menagerie. I have myself made even a really ferocious dog turn tail simply by puffing smoke in its face, but I do not mend the means as one to be always on week days.

The parrot is perhaps of all birds the most apt to take up bad habits. A friend of mine has one which is passionately fond of eating and chewing tobacco. If given a sufficient quantity the bird will make itself positively drunk with the nicotine and will stag-ger about its cage in exact imitation of the actions of an intoxicated human being. Long practice has made the bird something of a connoisseur re-specting its favorite luxury, and it now treats fine cut tobaccos with contempt. Its particular delight is the plug af-trouble. I remember an amusing infew minutes. Then a look of intense throwing the cigarette down, it retired into a corner, evidently very ill.

A gentleman in the north of England has a monkey which is addicted to snuff. The animal has been taught to take a pinch from the box of a visitor with all the courtly air so prevalent in the days when snuff taking was the fashion .- London Tit-Bits.

This elm has a most magtor could not help her-but Aunt Emma-She told Mama to take Dr. Pierce's Favorate Prescription—and so she got well in nough time.

To Dr. R. V. Pierce. End Decker.

Many mothers of families in the United States have reason to be grateful to the person who recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a medicine specially prescribed for diseases of womankind. It does not cure eczema, extarth in all its forms, nor heart disease, for it is put up for the single purpose of curing diseases peculiar to women. It has a reputation of thirty-five years of cures, and has sold more largely on this continent than any other medicine for women. Another point in its favor—it does not contain a single drop of alcohol or of any narcotic. It is purely vegetable. An alcoholic compound for women is something no woman should take. Womanly weakness will always bring on nervous irritability and a nervous condition, for which alcohol is the worst thing in the world. What the woman needs is a vegetable tonic, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will build up her delicate system and bring about a healthy tone. It cures the drains and weaknesses of women, and the mannfacturers offer to pay $500 rewarf for any case of Leucornhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial.

If you want to know what alls you the United States mall will bring you the best medical advice for only the cost of writing materials and stamps.

It is among the simian tribes that tobacco loving quadrupeds are most frequent. This is probably owing to the monkey's overpowering faculty for imitation, which sometimes gets it into stance. Claim of a Massachusett's Skipper Back From Hudson Bay.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 17.-The

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 17.—The whaling schooner Era arrived yesterday from Hudson Bay after a stay of two seasons in the icy north. She has 7,500 pounds of whalebone in her hold. Concerning a rumor that the Era had been obliged to pay large sums for the privilege of whaling and trading in Hudson Bay, Capt. Comer says: "I paid out $94 for landing amm of the privilege of whaling amm of the privilege of whaling amm of the privilege and other goods on the natives, and the policy tried to prevent us from the privilege and the settlement of a laskan boundary dispute in our layer, I understand that the Canadian Government spent $50,000 in watching this one vessel. They are trying to drive us out altogether. I heard that there was a movement to make licenses for whaling in the bay by foreign vessels $800 for the first year, $1,000 for the second year and $1,200 for the third year.

"Did we get any muskox skins? Well, you can say a few, and also come police watched us pretty closely all the time, and with their steamer in winter quarters only a few hundred yards away there was not much chance for any crooked work had we en so inclined. Comer brings word that the Norwegian Arctic exploring expedition succeeded in making the northwest

Austin's Great Anniversary Sale Commences Monday, Oct. 16 WE GELEBRATE TEN YEARS OF PROGRESS

The store will be closed until 9.30 o'clock Monday morning, when it will be opened up with the greatest and best array of bargains we have ever offered the public in Chatham.

We Celebrate Ten Years Continuous Progress.

On Oct. 24th, 1895, we first transacted business with the public in Chatham, and looking back we certainly have much to be thankful We have grown from the smallest to be the largest store in the city, from employing 7 assistants until now our staff numbers 65. Then one boy delivered all parcels, now four horses are required for the work; then we were complete strangers to everybody, now we are pleased to number our friends by the score and our customers by the thousand. We appreciate all these facts, and to show that we do, we are going to give our customers some extra special values to remember the occasion by and at the same time wind up the year's record with the largest amount of business we have ever transacted in two weeks of special selling. We intend you shall find bargains all over the store and can only enumerate a few of them here. Come early in order to take advantage of clearing lines.

A by-law is to be passed by the merchants of the town that the stores will close at six p. m. throughout the year on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and at eight p. m. during the winter on Tuesday and Thursday.

The entertainment given in the Opera House on Oct. 13, fair night, was a great auccess, the play being entitled 'Imogene or Because I Love You," and great credit is due to Mrs. G. F. Goulette for bringing it to such a successful issue. All who took part did well and the specialties between acts were well received by the large audience. Little Eddie Rouse, of Detroit, aged seven years, played the violin and cornet splendidly for one so young. The quartet given by Messrs. Weldon, Suitor, F. G. Bounsall and G. Slagg, of Chatham, was much enjoyed, as was the song and chorus given by seven ladies "The same old girl with the same old curl." Those who sang it were Mrs. G. F. Goulette, the Misses S. Labadie, E. B. Bounsall, E. Labadie, D. Russell, R. Sheldon, M. Mansell. Mr. Eggleston also sang a solo. It was one of the largest audiences ever present in the Opera House.

At the Old Horse Sale

By Sara Beaumont Kennedy Copyright, 1905, by Sara Beaumont Kenned

"You must not go in there. It is no place for you." There was more than protest in his voice. There was positive command, which, perhaps, was the reason why she walked directly under the auctioneer's 'red flag into the express office, already thronged with idle, curious buyers.

"I never was at anything more exciting than a dry goods bargain sale. This will be positively like Monte

"Our uncle will disapprove"-"Of course he will. He disapproves of most things I do since you took up the role of social mentor for the family. That year abroad spoiled you, Adolphus. You have never been endurable since you took to patent uppers and a monocle. Now, Nick would have brought me in here without a word of remonstrance and lent me every penny out of his pocket if I needed it to bid with-lent me even his car fare and walked home uncomplainingly and carried my parcels."

"If he had not happened to see an old woman or a lame cat to help over the crossing, in which case, very likely, he would have laid the parcels down and quite forgotten to pick them up."
"Perhaps, for Nick is a bit absentminded, but he is perfectly adorable when it comes to giving a girl her own

"My brother is happy in winning your good opinion. It is my misfor-

"No, it's your fault; you are so frightfully conventional. Dear me, what curious people!" "They are the drift from the street.

Nellie, surely you are not going to "Nellie, surely you are not going to bid out loud in this crowd!" "I certainly am. There is no harm in it, and I am sick to death of the right angie rules by which you and uncle measure my life. Wonder what that woman found in her parcels? There goes up a bandbox. I shall bid on that."

"Nellie, don't!" he first commanded, then entreated vehemently, but she was as a deaf adder that stoppeth her

"Fifty cents," she called, in answer to the auctioneer's challenge, at the same time stepping upon an empty box by the wall, so that she was in plain view of the whole crowd.

feminine voice across the hall.
"One dollar," flashed back Nellie, her olor rising, her eyes shining, for her ousin's voice came up to her in agitated whispers.

"One fifty," came from her opponent.
"Two dollars," cried Nellie, pushing Adolphus' hand from her sleeve.
"Three dollars," shrieked the other woman, nervously counting the change in her purse. No one else was bid-ding, the entire crowd having centered its attention on the nervous woman and the "swell" girl, and there were cheers and counter cheers as the bids rose dollar by dollar until at last the coveted box was knocked down to Nel-She was still laughing and flushed with her triumph when they emerged from the door over which flew the red flag, but Adolphus felt miserable and mpromised, and this feeling was not abated when he saw the astonishment in the eyes of Miss Curtis, whose landau happened at that moment to pass, Curtis was the personification of rigid conventionality. He counted the meeting as one more misfortune n an unlucky day. Nellie's excitement waned as they walked, and by the time they entered her uncle's gate she was strangely si-lent. Adolphus evidently took this for a hopeful sign, for presently he cleared his throat, adjusted his monocle and "Nellie, we must talk seriously. The time has come"-"No, it hasn't .come," she said, interrupting him good naturedly, "so stop right there. I don't know whether this is a lecture or a proposal of mar-riage—your private talks with me vibrate between these two subjects— but I am in no mood for either. For heaven's sake, Adolphus, throw that glass away. I hate to be spied at like With a reproachful sigh he removed the offending glass and said: "Nick not only lectured you yesterday; he positively scoided you, and"— "And I deserved it, but I answered him back spiterully, like the little beast

I am, and he be hasn't even noticed me since." She turned her head so that he did not see the quiver of her red lips, the passionate protest of her eyes.

All their set knew that her dictatorial old uncle intended she should marry Adolphus, who satisfied his social ambitions, while Nick, who cared nothing for society, smoked a pipe and forgot to have his trousers creased, was a thorn in the old man's side. Between these two were constant disagreements, which Nellie had hitherto managed to make up, but yesterday agreements, which Nellie had hitherto managed to make up, but yesterday there had been a quarrel of unusual violence, and there was even some talk of Nick's leaving the house. It was of this she had been thinking as she followed her purchase home.

"Adolphus," she said as they mount-

In the library, to stem the tide of Adolphus' wooing, she hastily opened her box and lifted out the contents, a quaint and curious bonnet of a decade ago, a bonnet with a scooped brim piled high with flowers and nodding plumes. As she put it on her head, shricking with laughter, her uncle and Nick entered the room, both of them showing in their manner strong excitement. The girl paused in her pirouetting and paled at the sight of the stern faces. Her uncle saw her strange headgear and angrily demanded its origin. Adolphus explained very carefully, not forgetting his own expostulations against the caprice. The old man turned wrathfully upon the girl.

"You and Nick are of a piece in you attempts to humiliate and make a laughingstock of me. My niece, the female head of my family, bidding at a common auction against a washer-woman! Take that hideous thing out

But the spoiled girl only made him a daring little courtesy which set all the bounet's varihued plumes a-nodding.

Nick crossed the room to her side.
"Nellie," he said wistfully, "I am go ing away for good; my uncle and 1 have agreed it is best. He has forbidden me to speak to you of marriage (and that is the cause of our quarrel) but I love you with all my heart. You know what I have to offer you, dear, but will you come with me as my

It was as if a bomb had exploded at the old man's feet. The words of in-terruption he would have uttered were only splutterings of anger. By the table the girl paused, trembling and going from white to red. Then her uncle found his voice.

"Out of my sight, sir! Your disobedience shall cost you dearly. I dis-own you-I cut you off without a penny for your impudence! Your in-heritance shall be"-he glanced about for the most worthless thing in sight, and his eye lit on the empty box on the table-"that trash, sir! Take your inheritance and go!"

He was pointing to the door, but Nicx's eyes were on Nellie and into them there flashed a radiant joy as at sign from her he approached the

"You give me this box and its conen's as my fortune, sir?

"Then I am content, for you have given me that which I most desire in all the whole world."

The old man looked sharply at the two smiling faces. "What mummery is this?" he demanded. Then he, too, approached the table and peered into the box where Nick's eyes were fas-tened. "What is that?" he cried, adjusting his glasses.

"if you please, sir, it is Nick's heritage," answered Nellie shyly.

For in the side of the pasteboard box was a hole through which the rogue of a girl had thrust her dimpled hand. And that was how Nellie obtained her uncle's consent and how Nick won his heart's desire as the aftermath of the old horse sale.

Difficulty and Ease.

There is not that conflicting an-agenism between difficulty and ease that is commonly imagined. Many perns count the former as the bane of existence, to be avoided as far as possible, and the latter an agreeable friend, whose presence is always to be

His Brand of Birds. Nearly every man, woman or child who goes to Jefferson City pays a visit to the penitentiary, for, though a gloomy, forbidding place, it has a strong interest. While acting as as-sistant city counselor Jacques Harvey was at the capital on some legal busi-ness and wandered up to look over tile "pen" He joined a party making the rounds, one member of which was the rounds, one member of which was a little girl. She became interested in the convict who handles the revolving cage that lets visitors in and out, and stopped to talk to him:
"'Do you find it dull here, sir?' she

"Indeed I do, miss,' the convict anwered.
"'Still,' said the child, 'the singing."

"Singing of the birds? said the convict in a puzzled voice.

"Yes,' said the little girl.
"What hirds? asked the man.

"'What birds?' asked the man. "The well meaning but ignorant child with a hopeful smile replied:
"The little jail birds. They must be a great comfort to you."—Kansas City Independent.

Expert Tea Blending

HAVE you ever tried to blend colors to match the shade of the red rose?

Pretty difficult, yet an expert can do it easily. Why? Because he can tell by looking at the rose what colors are required to produce that tint or shade. He can make that precise color every day in the week.

Just as the artist in colors blends the tints of the red rose, so my artists in tea blend the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea.

With expert knowledge and intuitive skill he selects the particular picking of rich, strong Indian tea and the precise grade of fragrant, delicate Ceylon, and by skilful blending produces the peerless flavor of Red Rose Tea—a tea which for delicacy and strength is matched by no brand

Semi-Official German View Says No Incident Is Created.

But Popular Feeling In Germany Is Inflamed Against Britain and France and France Also Believes That War Was Very Near During Moroccan Dispute - Italy Played the Part of

Gazette printed at the head of its col-umns Saturday morning, an important semi-oficial paragraph regarding The Matin's revelation. It exonerates the Matin's revelation. It exonerates the French Government fully of any connection with the so-called revelations and accepts freely the British Government's denial of the offered alliance.

The article continues: "We can state that the British Government spontaneously sent here a communication of similar contents and it was received on the German side with the same loyalty with which it was given. An incident between Germany and Great Britain has not been created by the assertions of The Matin. Moreover, Great Britain's communication was marked confidential, and according to the wishes of the London Government, it cannot be made public."

The disclosures in France are so thoroughly believed here, however, that the powerful naval league with 600,000 members and all the apparatus of agitation is already moving for a new naval program that shall further increase Germany's defensive resources against Great Britain

Paris, Oct. 16.—Public opinion has been wrought up during the present week by the alleged revelations following the Franco-German controversy over Morocco and the open declaration of Prince Von Buelow favorable to a Russo-German rapprochement, creating feeling that France was the centre of dangerous enmittees and coalitions.

The facts stand out that the Morocco controversy took Germany and France dangerously near the verge of war, and that Great Britain, while not officially promising military aid, stood ready to give France her loyal support. Part That Italy Played.

Rome, Oct. 16 .- The following sem

MEDIAEVAL REVIVALS.

Methods of the Franciscans In the

At least two methods seem to be sed among revivalist workers both of which have come down from mediaeva times. The Franciscans insisted on an obedient band of workers, with an almost military organization. They indeed called themselves the "army of Jesus." At the head of the order stood the "general," a new term in the teenth century religious life. The chief of the band of workers in any Italian town took as his title the designation given to the military leader in the city republic in which they had their tem porary abode. In Venice he was il gon falionere de Gesu, in Milan il capitano They had distinct modes of beginning their work prescribed for them with as definite details as if they were Metho dist Episcopal missionaries or officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army. When they began work in any town they were ordered to select a hall if possible in the lowest and poorest dis-trict. They were forbidden to paint elther pulpit or beach. They were to assemble in front of their hall and march through the streets singing their hymns, playing on pipes and waving banners. When they had gathered a sufficient crowd they were to return to their hall, take their followers in with them and deliver short practical ad dresses, interspersed with hymn siag-ing. Francis had a great dislike to all book learning. He told his followers to mingle with the common people, to talk with the masons when they were building, with the weavers when they were weaving, with the women when in Italian fashion they were washing clothes by the side of the streams. They would thus, he said, find what filled the minds of the people, what spiritual help they needed from the preachers, what difficulties they had in becoming followers of Jesus, and in a morning's conversation they would find the material for

The Franciscan revivalists subjected their converts also to discipline and kept them united with each other. A WEIRD STORY.

Strange Experience With Phantasan In East Africa.

Die Uebersinnliche Welt of Berliu gives an account of phantasms in east Actica. They are described by Colonel Lugfeld as having come to his experi-ence. A friend of his starting A friend of his, starting for Vic oria Nyanza, had said: "If any harm befalls me I'll let you know. I'll give you a sign." The only white civilian there was the son of a large colonial I'wo months later the pigeons in their cot in the middle of the yard appeared to be disturbed. The colonel was aroused in the night and saw two round points, more like glowing coals than the eyes of a wild beast, gleaming from the dovecot. He fired and sav an animal like a chimpanzee, having long, reddish brown hair, fall to the ground and immediately rise and disappear round the corner of the house, u tering a terrible shriek. An old Sudanese declared that it was a devil, that it came as a warning when a European had died an unnatural death and that this was the third time he had seen it. A strict search revealed no traces of blood, although the shot had been fired at only four yards range. Later the colonel, still awake, heard light footeps on the veranda. Rising to see who was there, he was surprised to find a European sitting at his table, which was fully set out for a meal. As the stranger raised his head in the full moonlight he saw that it was his friend (who had gone to Nyanza), but hollow eyed and with a suffering mien. The colonel managed to utter a ques tion, when suddenly the apparition ed and the table appeared clear of all dishes. Six weeks later word came to the station that on the same day on which these remarkable events had happened or seemed to happen the young merchant had lost his way and had been killed and partly eaten by wild beasts.

Matches of Size.

If all of the matches made in a single year could be put together they would make seventy-eight matches each long enough to reach from the earth to the moon. Each match would burn for several years and would give out as much heat energy as would be con-sumed by three freight locomotives in a day. Forty of these matches would be of the safety variety, twenty-three would have sulphur tips, and the res would be of the strike anywhere sort Only one would be a wax match, and that would fall a trifle short of the proper length, say 700 miles.

the Board, I refer yor further to section 97, chapter 292, of the Revised Statutes, which I quote in part:

"Any person elected as a School Trustee who attends any meeting of the School Board, as such after being disqualified under this Act, shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for every meeting attended."

Such conduct on the part of these Trustees is considered a serious offence and the penalty is therefore severe. Two of these Trustees, Robertson and Benson, have accentuated their wrong by their endeavor to gull the public into the belief that they had no part or profit in these engagements, by rendering the accounts in the names of their partners and employes, and have shown themselves absolutely unfit to continue their trusteeship.

It is not a question of whether the city received value or not. The principal is wrong. The law has been violated, the good name of the Board has been besmirched and degraded. Men at the Board, who would never under any circumstances have allowed themselves to profit by their trusteeship, as these three men have, are stigmatized by the public as condoming those offences and closing their eyes to this wrong doing.

In fact are openly charged with being abocasories, I do not so charge the Board as a whole, but only those who through the public press endeavor to cover up these misdeds by skilfully worded interviews and plausible statements, which only convey half the facts.

These improper payments, to these members of the Board, and the fijmsy attempt at justification of the wrong doing by some members of the Board, only show that a man's services may become worthless (if nothing else) by a too lengthy servitude and that the

Did Mr. Gensen participate in the profits arising out of these transac-tions and did he deem it advisable, in view of the clause of the statute above quoted, to cover up the transaction by putting the accounts through in the name of his partner

Then I find on the 5th day of September, 1905, Mr. Trustee Paxton was paid the sum of $25 as inspector in Central school. Gentlemen, this was an illegal and improper payment, for which there can be no excuse.

Mr. Paxton was aware of its illegality, as well as those gentlemen who have occupied seats at the Board for such a feagth of time. No amount of explanation can justify or wrong. 'We have found Mr. Paxton's

It is my duty, when my attention is drawn to it, to apprise you, and through you the ratepayers, that such action may be taken in the premises as may be deemed advisable.

Depend upon it, the Legislature had good and weighty reasons for passing that stringent enactment. The clause quoted is, without doubt, the result of an actual similar experience and of weighty deliberation and was placed in the statutes to convey just what it says and is so worded that the most common place mind may understand it.

CATARRHAL DEAF-

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment by

Specialists. In the treatment of deafness which s often a result of catarrh, Hyomei cots almost immediately upon the in-clamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks, of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve a rapidly in so short a time. My and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh special-ists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

equal to one month of Hyomei."

A complete outfit costs but $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.
