MUSICIANS HAVE SOME TROUBLE WITH THE UNION

Objection Taken to Orchestra Playing at Banquet Free of Charge.

FATHERS' AND SONS' BANQUET PROVED AN INSPIRING EVENT AT THE Y.M.C.A. LAST NIGHT

Memories of the Father and Son banquet will linger long in the minds of those who had the privilege of attending that function last night in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium. The formal dignity of the usual banquet was nowhere seen, and the congenial atmosphere, which was evident from the outset, caused by many happy youthful faces, and pleasant, semi-serious physiognomies of the elder people, made even a stranger feel perfectly at home.

Opening the program, Mr. T. L. Wood, who was the chairman of the evening, said he was going to speak briefly, as he had not anything prepared. He welcomed every one, but really they needed no welcome, as it was their building and not his. It is just a sort of annual reunion, but there are other sides, the physical, spiritual and the mental.

Mr. C. C. Robinson, the International Boys' Work Secretary, the principal speaker of the evening, gave a bright address, "A Boy's Place in the World." He was going to speak as rapidly as possible to get it off his chest.

VISITED FACTORY

Industrial Class Had a Profitable Time Yesterday Afternoon in Local Plant.

The industrial class at the Collegiate Institute has started that part of the course prescribed which includes visits to large factories in order to look into the various methods of production. Yesterday afternoon the courtesy of the Adams Wagon Works was accepted and accompanied by the instructor, Mr. Mutter and the chairman of the board, the members of the class went through the factory.

SIR GEORGE ROSS IS DEAD--END CAME THIS MORNING IN TORONTO

Began Life as a School Teacher and Became Premier of Ontario--He Was a Brilliant Speaker and Had Remarkable Career.

(By Special Wire to The Courier) Sir George was for a time editor of Ontario Teacher, an educational journal, and at one time one of the chief editorial writers for the Toronto Globe.

Like many other noted men in Canada, the late Hon. Sir George William Ross was a school teacher in his early life; also a moulder of public opinion as a newspaper editor and writer.

Born Near Nairn. Born in the county of Middlesex, Ont., near Nairn, on September 18, 1841, the future Premier of Ontario received the groundwork of his education in the public schools, afterwards passing through the Toronto Normal school and Albert College, Belleville, from which he received the degree of L.L.B. in 1881.

Three Times Married. He was married three times. First to Christina Campbell, in 1862; secondly to Catharine Boston, in 1875; and in May, 1907, to Mildred Peel, sister of the late Paul Peel, a Canadian artist whose fame extended far beyond the land of his birth, by whom he is survived.

During the days of his connection with educational work, Hon. Sir George W. Ross had much to do with, and took a deep interest in, the county Model School question, and after their organization prepared a syllabus of lectures for their direction, and filled for a time the office of inspector. He steadily contended for the uniformity of text books, and favored the limiting of Normal schools to professional work.

In Commons First. Hon. Sir George W. Ross took his first plunge into the mainstream of politics in 1872, when he was elected to the House of Commons for the west riding of Middlesex, which he represented till November, 1883, when he entered Ontario provincial politics taking the portfolio of Education under Premier Mowat. In the Legislature he also represented West Middlesex.

On Premier Hardy's retirement, in October, 1899, Sir George succeeded him as premier, which office he held till the final defeat of his party at the polls in February, 1905, afterwards acting as leader of the Opposition in the Legislature till his appointment to the Senate, of which body he was elected Liberal leader in the fall of 1912, on the death of Sir Richard Cartwright.

Called to the Bar. During his career as a schoolmaster and inspector, the future premier of Ontario studied law; became a solicitor in 1883, and was called to the bar in 1887. Always a staunch believer in reciprocity with the United States, Sir George, in 1882, introduced a resolution in the House of Commons which subsequently gave rise to an agitation looking to that end. The agitation flickered and flared intermittently, till at last it culminated in the Fielding-Taft proposal of 1911, which met sudden death at the polls. As a member of the Fourth Estate

EX-WARDEN OF THE COUNTY PASSED AWAY THURSDAY

George Aitken of Glen Morris Was Well Known Throughout District.

PARIS, March -- The town was shocked yesterday to hear of the sudden death at his home near Glen Morris of Mr. George Aitken. He had been in his usual health until Wednesday, when he was seized with a paralytic attack, and died at midnight on Wednesday and slept peacefully away. The late Mr. Aitken was born on the farm where he passed away in South Dumfries, 73 years ago. He was a man who always enjoyed the fullest confidence of everyone with whom he came in contact and no one in this section had a larger number of friends. He had served as Warden of Brant County, and was on the Township council. He was united in marriage forty-two years ago to Miss J. McKilgan of Bright, with whom he had two sons Robert and James curvive.

The funeral will be held from his late residence at 2.30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 10th to the Presbyterian church, Glen Morris, and thence to Glen Morris cemetery. Mr. Daniel C. Petrie, a highly respected young farmer of South Dumfries died at his home on Keg Lane, yesterday, following a severe illness from pleuro-pneumonia.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joan Kempthorne, Walnut street, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon when their third daughter, Georgina M., was married to Mr. William Roy Tom of Glenora, Alta. The bride, who given away by her father, looked charming in white embroidered net over white satin with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Minnie Kempthorne, wore a gown of white embroidered silk over white net and carried pink roses. The groom was supported by Miss Will Kempthorne and little Miss Thelma Kempthorne and Miss Florence Luck acted as flower girls. After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and with. How a young man named Williams in London, England, in a little room, called a meeting which eventually resulted in buildings, whose property was worth $100,000,000. He wanted pleasant association and entertainment in an appropriate manner. "Yes, let me say, young fellows, get your position sought out while you are young. Don't wait until you are growing up and suddenly find that the good things are passing by." Mr. Robinson then amused with a selection of experiences in a gymnasium. He was lost in the gym, and told his story in a way that immediately spoke of practical experience. Games, however, were a side issue of the Y. M. C. A. and they must not take first place. There were other things. There was a service for Christ and this service was a glorious thing. Thanking the gathering for their kind attention the speaker closed one of the best and most congenial speeches ever heard within the portals of the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A.

FATHERS' AND SONS' BANQUET

Three cheers then rang through the hall at the instance of Mr. A. A. McFarland, Boys' Dept. social secretary, efforts the success of the evening was largely brought about. He spoke briefly on the merits of the fair sex. No small part in the success of the banquet as played by Mr. Frank Nichols, chairman of the social work committee. Through him many of the details and arduous work connected with the getting up of such a successful affair.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra, which made its initial appearance before the public, made a very successful and appropriate debut at the meeting of citizens associated with the "Y. M. C. A." movement. They rendered in a finished manner "Le Africano" (march), "Lucile" (waltz), "With Sword and Lance" (march), "The Darkies Woe" (plantation sketch) Overture, "Chanson-du-Soir." This last selection was exceptionally well rendered in view of the fact that the orchestra was short-handed owing to a hitch over which they had no control. The following comprised the band of music dispensers, Messrs. J. Locksley, (musical director); Fred Aston (first violin); Bert Aston (flute); Albert White (cornet); Fred Ballen (piccolo); Thomas Pratt (second violin). The City Quartette were required to give encore songs popular did their efforts prove "I Wish I Were in Dixie" was their best item.

It was announced that an address would be given entitled "The Sky Pilot dealing with the book of that title in the auditorium on Tuesday next.

During the evening a telegram came from H. H. Hamilton who was formerly the very popular secretary of the Boys' Department of the "Y. M. C. A." of this city. He is now a resident of New York City and his message was one of congratulation.

SIR GEORGE ROSS DEAD IN TORONTO (Continued from Page 1) had 24 years' laboratory practice in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. If long training was a qualification for advancement, I had a right to promotion honors cause." He is now a resident of New York City and his message was one of congratulation.

DRUG HOUSE ENJOINED BY FEDERAL COURT Judge Jeremiah Neterer, of the United States district court, today granted a permanent injunction in behalf of the Centaur Company of New York, the manufacturers of Fletcher's Castoria, against the Stewart & Holmes Drug Company of this city.

The controversy arose from the simulating the labels of this well known preparation, and from the evidence filed in the case it was shown that the infringing label was first discovered on sale in Honolulu, and was traced to its origin here in Seattle.

The decree carries with it an order that the Stewart & Holmes Company recall the goods which are on the market under the infringing label, and to pay all costs in the suit and damages assessed at $400—Seattle, Wash., "Times."

Struck Big Well J. E. Sutherland, contractor of the city struck a big gas well at Oil Springs this week, which yields two million feet daily.

Guns Confiscated.
A party of Italians have been shooting a game out of season at Glenora and yesterday High Constable Kerr, Game Inspector Johnson of Brantford and Constable McCammon of Paris, paid them a visit and confiscated their guns. More will be heard of this breach of the game laws when the men are charged with the offence.

The New Creations for Spring Wear in Coats and Suits

In the new Tailored Suits for spring the short coats and tier skirts prevail, which give that jaunty air so well suited for spring wearing. The fashionable materials this season are Silk Moire, Silk Poplin, Garbadine, Brocades, Wool Kepp and Fine Serges, in all the season's leading shades, including Copenhagen, Navy, Turquoise Blue, Taupe, Steel Grey, Moss Green, Tango, Mahogany, all shades of Tan and Brown and Black.

The Separate Coats for spring and summer wear are quite novel, with the new ripple and swirl backs, so necessary for wearing over the tier and pannier skirts. The leading materials for coats this season are Honeycomb Cloth, Beardslooth, Moire, heavy Vease Serges, Bedford Cord and Tweeds. Several styles are finished with fancy trimmings on collar and cuffs.

THE LATE SENATOR ROSS

Death and sickness have been very busy of late among the ranks of the foremost public men of Canada, and now Sir George Ross has been called home.

A man of recognized ability, he speedily forced his way to the front in provincial affairs, and finally became Premier of Ontario in succession to the late Hon. A. S. Hardy, whose health had become impaired under the strain of leadership. He attained that position under unfortunate circumstances. A too long lease of continued power for his party had led to inevitable abuses, and a too slender majority made matters still more complicated.

It is not necessary at this time to enlarge upon the resultant effects. Suffice it to say that Sir George was more the victim of circumstances than their creator.

Gifted in all directions, his main asset was an exceptional gift of oratory. In this regard he ranked on the average as probably the most noted platform speaker, and debater of the province. He was also an ardent Imperialist, although as leader of the Senate majority he, to the great surprise of very many, led in the rejection of the Borden navy bill. The deceased statesman was a lifelong sufferer from rheumatism, but his vigor and determination remained throughout unabated, and he was in the field of public life a fighter with whom it was always necessary to reckon.

GOOD WORK

Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., has taken prompt action in the Ontario House to help prevent, not only Brantford, but also all other municipalities, from becoming the victims of such an unpleasant and menacing nuisance as sulphuretted gas.

It will be noticed by the text of the Ack which he has introduced that he has framed a most comprehensive and far-reaching measure. If it becomes adopted, as there is every reason to hope, Mr. Brewster will deservedly receive the thanks, not only of the people of this community, but of all Ontario. It is not too much to affirm that a gas company has no more right to poison homes with a deleterious supply than has a butcher to sell bad meat, or any other purveyor of necessities to furnish any article in contravention of the safeguarding of public health.

ANOTHER RAILWAY

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., before the Railway Committee at Ottawa on Tuesday last, put up a good fight for this city with reference to the renewal of the charter of the Canadian Northern for a line from Port Dover or Dunnville through Brantford to Kincardine. He made a great endeavor to make Mr. Ruel, the railway solicitor, to get a definite promise as to the construction of the road at an early date and the placing of Brantford on the Canadian Northern system. The gentleman in question stated that the road would undoubtedly be built, and that Brantford would be given an excellent service. The renewal gives the Northern people a chance to begin the project within two years and to have it completed within five years.

A UNITED STATES VIEW

The following extracts are from an article in a leading New York publication: Thoughtful people who have been asked what they thought about Mexico have been inclined to answer that they did not think. There has seemed to be not much use of thinking. You cannot tell by thinking which way a cat will jump. You can only assume an attitude of attention and watch.

We have all been watching Mexico, and doubtless with a considerable concurrence of conviction that her disease had got to run its course, and that little could be done until it took a decided turn, and the patient was either better or worse. That it would take a turn presently every one has been sure, because that naturally happens in such cases; and that our government would have to take some kind of action when the right time came—that, too, has been generally anticipated.

prieties in the matter of this deceased Senator ought to be satisfied, if possible. That sentiment has already found urgent expression in El Paso and generally on the Texas border. Unhappily there seems to be no one in Mexico who has the facilities, or even the disposition, to satisfy the proprieties in this matter. That adds to the difficulties of the situation.

The real question seems now to be whether Mexico is to be doctored by a commission, or by Uncle Sam alone, if by a commission, shall its members include Europeans, or be Americans only? If Americans only, is Canada an American power and entitled to be included in the advisory board? On the President and his Cabinet and the Senate it now devolves to shape some sort of reply to these natural queries.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The members of the four Brants are always on the job.

A number of freight cars left the track at Bolton station. They must have read the sign and acted accordingly.

An exchange has a learned editorial on "The Auto Dast Nuisance." The main trouble with a whole lot of us is the inability to raise enough dust to get one.

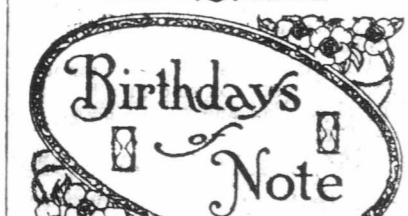

Six Ulster suffragettes are camping on the doorstep of Sir Edward Carson in order to interview that gentleman. He has thus far failed to appear, on the ground that he is ill in bed with a chill. Small wonder.

Canada's revenue showed a gain of nearly $3,000,000 during February, as compared with the same month last year and for eleven months of the fiscal year stands at $102,222,133, or over thirteen millions more than for the first eleven months of 1913, which constituted a record. Here is one more knock for Blue Ruin Laurier.

BARLEYCORN

The man who trains with Barleycorn is loaded down with sorrow; today he's seedy and forlorn, he'll be the same to-morrow. There is no sympathy for him, however great his troubles; his nose is red, his eyes are dim, from drinking stuff that bubbles. He may of his misfortunes sob, but little boots or shoes it is he is late to get a job, he is the first to lose it. The sober boy saves up the stamps, their money in a jar keep, while Boozer with his bloodshot lamps, is cringing to the barkeep. His head is full of racking aches, his thirst demands an ocean, and when he sleeps he dreams of snakes that reach from here to Goshen. He has no use for wholesome grub, the kind that warms and tickles; he'd rather stand around a tub and reach for slaves and pickles. He loaf with other red nosed boys and thinks of flagon bliss is, and all the same and wholesome joys the poor old boozier misses. An armchair in the inglenook, the fireside's satisfaction, a quiet evening with a book for him have no attraction. A place among the quizzing crowd to him is bliss and bounty; and finally a pauper's shroud, and planting by the county. WALT MASON.

SATURDAY, MARCH SEVENTH

The Hon. A. G. Mackay, Provincial Treasurer of Alberta and formerly leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, observes his fifty-fourth birthday to-day. He was for many years a prominent citizen of Owen Sound, where he practised law. Prior to that he was a schoolmaster. Always interested in politics and an officer of the local reform association, he entered the Ontario Legislature eleven years ago and just before the dissolution of the department of crown lands. Two years later he was selected to lead the opposition, resigning in 1911 in order to remove to Edmonton, where he now practices his profession. Soon after his arrival in the west he entered the Alberta Legislature and now holds cabinet rank under Premier Sifton.

Is the Conscience Working? Ottawa Citizen: Sir Louis Gosin and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, M.P., have dissolved partnership with Bernard, who was convicted of corruption. The Ontario Liberals have discarded Evanturel. Perhaps politics may develop a conscience after all.

Military Notes

Without doubt the present year will be an unprecedented success in all things military at the armories of this city. The outlook is exceptionally good and the officers are to be congratulated upon the result of their work, for it is no light task, comprising all the various corps and companies of a regiment into shape. However, the winter work is almost over, or should we say recreation, and with the coming of the Spring, summer duties will once more be undertaken and from indications of the accomplishment of the winter, the 38th Dufferin Rifles will turn out a rejuvenated body.

Annual Parade The annual parade will take place on or about the first of April and the Spring drills augur well for one of the best and smartest parades in the country. The regiment never was in better shape and the men are determined to make the parade the best ever.

Recruiting Class A fine class for recruits under Sergeant Oxtoby will commence on Monday. About fifty young fellows have signified their intention of joining the class and all interested are requested to be in attendance on Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Musketry Classes Splendid progress is recorded in this line of work. Sergeant Majors Price and Dymont from the School of Musketry at Ottawa have the class in hand and their efficiency is proven by the excellent results which are obtained every Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Military Bands The two bands of the regiment have got in some good practice and they are playing in great style. They will make their inaugural appearance with the first parade. A good new line of marches has been gone through and the band will be an addition to the attractions of the body.

Equipment Very welcome additions to the equipment of the regiment have been received by Colonel Howard. A good new waterbottle is included, it is shaped to fit closely to the body, convex oval is the nearest description and has a useful capacity of about 3 pints. It is covered with a material which when dampened keeps the contents of the bottle cool, even in the heat of the sun. A batch of Wooley helmets have also been received for the men. There are the same as the Indian summer helmet and they look handsome in their colors of green and red puggery. A khaki cover for field accoutrements the hat, which is indeed a welcome acquisition to all ranks.

A Rumor A rumor has it that Lieutenant Miller will take over the command of G. company and Lt. Emmons, the officer now in charge will be appointed Musketry instructor. If rumor speaks truly these two popular officers are to be congratulated.

Sport Finals. All sports are to be completed by Monday night, this means that E. company will soon know how they stand for the championships. They had at one time a chance of three, but that has since been reduced to two.

Annual Trip. The Regiment will spend five days at the ever popular Niagara, some time in June. This is a greatly appreciated event, and with the success of the 38th, so is the success of this annual trip.

Artillery Class Completed. The instructors of the artillery class having completed their work in bringing up this branch, they returned to headquarters in Kingston, but they have left behind them one of the best artillery classes seen in the dominion. Progress has been rapid and good.

Stretcher Bearers. First class is the label put to the work done by the stretcher bearers this winter. They have worked hard, and the coming summer will reap the benefit of their labors.

B. C. I. Cadets. The cadets are taking up rifle shooting and target practice with great earnestness, and are doing famously at the present. A sergeant's mess silver cup is put up for the highest score by any individual. About the middle of April will find a winner for the trophy. The corps is in good shape and a great deal of promise is shown.

Corps Meeting. All corps will hold organization meetings during the coming week and all are getting ready for some real good summer work.

The Annual Dinner. The annual dinner and theatre party will be held on Friday, March 13th at the Brant Theatre. All boxes in this popular house of entertainment have been reserved for this night, and after the theatre getting going will proceed to the men's club at the armories where a feast of good things will be attended to. Many outside corps will be represented, and amongst them are Hamilton, Woodstock, Chatham, St. Catharines, London, St. Thomas and Guelph. A real good time is anticipated, and no heed will be paid to the fact that this particular Friday is the 13th of the month. The management of the Brant are quite sure there is nothing in these superstitions. Anyhow, no such idea is harbored at the armories, as the date above proves.

TARZAN OF THE APES By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company

In the middle of the floor lay a skeleton, every vestige of flesh gone from the bones, to which still clung the mildewed remnants of what had once been clothing; upon the bed lay a similar greswome thing, but smaller, while in a tiny cradle near by was a third, a wee mite of a skeleton. To none of these evidences of an old tragedy did little Tarzan give but passing heed. His wild jungle life had inured him to the sight of dead and dying animals, and had he known that he was looking upon the remains of his own father and mother he would have been no more greatly moved.

The furnishings and other contents of the room it was which riveted his attention. He examined many things minutely—strange tools and weapons, books, papers, clothing—what little had withstood the ravages of time in the humid atmosphere of the jungle coast, such as did not battle his small experience, and in these he found the contents much better preserved.

Among other things he found a sharp hunting knife, on the keen blade of which he immediately proceeded to cut his finger. Nothing daunted, he continued his experiments, finding that he could hack and hevy splinters of wood from the table and chairs with this new toy.

For a long time this amused him; but, finally, tired, he continued his explorations. In a cupboard filled with books he came across one with brightly colored pictures. It was a child's illustrated alphabet.

A is for archer, Who shoots with a bow. B is for boy, His first name is Joe. CHAPTER III. A Jungle Battle. THE pictures in the books which Tarzan found in the cabin interested him greatly.

There were many apes with faces similar to his own, and farther over in the book he found pictures of little monkeys such as he saw daily flitting through the trees of his princely forest. But nowhere was pictured any of his own people. In all the book was none that resembled Kerchak or Tublat or Kala.

At first he tried to pick the little figures from the paper, but he soon saw that they were not real, though he knew not what they might be, nor had he any words to describe them.

The boats and trains and cows and horses were quite meaningless to him, but not quite so baffling as the odd little figures which appeared beneath and between the colored pictures—some strange kind of bugs he thought they might be, for many of them had legs, though nowhere could he find one with eyes and a mouth. It was his first introduction to the letters of the alphabet, and he was over ten years old.

Of course he had never before seen print, or never had spoken with any living thing which had the remotest idea that such a thing as a written language existed, and never had he seen any one reading.

So what wonder that the little boy was quite at a loss to guess the meaning of these strange figures. Near the back of the book he found his old enemy, the lizard, and just above him, coiled Mistah, the snake.

Oh, it was most grossing! Never before in all his ten years had he enjoyed anything so much. So absorbed was he that he did not note the approaching dusk until it was quite upon him.

He put the book back in the cupboard and closed the door, for he did not wish any one else to find and destroy his treasure, and as he went out into the gathering darkness he closed the great door of the cabin behind him as it had been before he discovered the secret of its lock, but before he left he had noticed the hunting knife lying where he had thrown it upon the floor, and this he picked up and took with him to show to his fellows.

He had taken scarce a dozen steps toward the jungle when a great form rose up before him from the shadows of a low bush.

At first he thought it was one of his own people, but in another instant he realized that it was a huge gorilla. So close was he that there was no chance for flight, and little Tarzan knew that he must stand and fight for his life; for these great beasts were the deadly enemies of his tribe, and neither one nor the other ever asked or gave quarter.

Had Tarzan been a full grown bull ape of the species of his tribe he would have been more than a match for the gorilla, but being only a little English boy, though enormously muscular for such, he stood no show against his cruel antagonist. In his veins, however, flowed the blood of the best of a race of mighty fighters, and back of this was the training of his short lifetime among the fierce brutes of the jungle.

He knew no fear, as we know it; his heart beat the faster, but from the excitement and exhilaration of adventure. Had the opportunity presented itself he would have escaped, but solely because his judgment told him he was no match for the great thing which confronted him. And as fight was out of the question he faced the gorilla squarely and bravely without a tremor of a single muscle or any sign of panic.

In fact, he met the brute midway in its charge, striking its huge body with his closed fists and as fruitfully as if he had been a fly attacking an elephant. But in one hand he still clutched the knife he had found, and as the brute, striking and biting, closed upon him the boy accidentally turned the point toward the hairy breast.

As it sank deep into the body of him the gorilla shrieked in pain and rage. But the boy had learned in that brief second a use for his sharp and shining toy, so that as the tearing, striking beast dragged him to earth he plunged the blade repeatedly into its breast.

The gorilla, fighting after the manner of its kind, struck terrific blows with its open hand and tore the flesh at the boy's throat and chest with its mighty tusks.

For a moment they rolled upon the ground in the fierce frenzy of combat. More and more weakly the torn and bleeding arm struck home with the long sharp blade, then the little figure stiffened with a spasmodic jerk, and Tarzan, the young Lord Greystoke, rolled senseless upon the dead and decaying vegetation which carpeted his jungle home.

A mile back in the forest the tribe had heard the fierce challenge of the gorilla, and, as was his custom when any danger threatened, Kerchak called his people together, partly for mutual protection against a common enemy, since this gorilla might be but one of several, and also to see that all members of the tribe were accounted for.

It was soon discovered that Tarzan was missing, and Tublat was strongly opposed to sending assistance. Kerchak himself had no liking for the strange little waif, so he listened to Tublat, and finally, with a shrug of his shoulders, turned back to the pile of leaves on which he had made his bed.

But Kala was of a different mind. In fact, she had waited but to learn that Tarzan was absent ere she was fairly flying through the matted branches to ward the point from which the cries of the gorilla were still plainly audible.

Darkness had fallen, and an early-moon was sending its faint light to cast strange, grotesque shadows among the dense foliage of the forest. Presently Kala came upon them, lying in an open space full under the brilliant moon—Tarzan's torn and bloody form, and beside it a great bull gorilla, stone dead. With a low cry Kala rushed to Tarzan's side and, gathering the poor, blood covered body to her breast, listened for a sign of life. Faintly she heard it—the weak beating of the little heart.

DUTCHMEN TAKE INTERMED. TITLE

Beaten at Orillia 3-1, but Win
Round by 5-3 - Toronto
League Finals.

ORILLIA, March 7—Berlin won the O. H. A. intermediate championship here last night, its four-goal lead in the first round being more than the home team could overcome on sticky ice. The score was Orillia 3, Berlin 1, making the total for the round Berlin 7, Orillia 3. The game was clean from start to finish, and, although the players worked hard, the play was not fast owing to the heavy ice.

The only goal scored in the first half was tallied by Orillia eight minutes after play from the outset, and the Dutchmen soon realized that their only chance to win the silver was to keep Orillia from breaking through their defence. Three times as many shots were rained on Berlin goal as on the home goal. The condition of the ice favored the visitors, as they were much the heavier men, and used the body to advantage. The second round opened with the score 1 to 0. Orillia soon tallied another, then Berlin got their only goal, and one more for Orillia completed the scoring.

Trushinsky, Berlin's right defence, was the visitors' best man, with Solomon a good second, but Jupp Orillia a fast right wing, outskated any player on the ice. Harvey and McDonald are also worthy of special mention. Orillia has no reason to be ashamed of its intermediate team. This was the first season in the game for five out of the seven players. Jupp and Perryman played with the juniors last year, but the others were all new. To have been runners-up for the "H. A." championship and lose it by the small margin of two goals is an excellent first year record. Special trains were run from Berlin and Midland, and hundreds were unable to gain admission to the rink. The lineup:

Before King George between thirty and forty thousand spectators recently saw the White Sox beat the Giants by 5 to 4 in an eleven inning contest, which proved by far the most closely contested and exciting game of the entire world tour of the American teams. The weather was ideal, and it was a nip and tuck struggle until Lutz, of the White Sox, drove the sphere into deep left field for a home run in the last half of the eleventh inning.

TWO KNOCKOUTS WERE FEATURES OF THE BOUTS

Big Crowd at Grand Opera House Last Night—A Good Program.

Two surprises were sprung at the boxing bouts at the Grand Opera House last night when Billy Carpenter, lightweight champion of Michigan, was knocked out in the second round of his bout with Billy Brooks of Hamilton and Billy Atkinson of this city followed in his tracks before the skill of Pete Scott, of Hamilton, the first round of their bout.

The bouts were put on before the largest crowd of fans of the season, the pit of the theatre being crowded. In the main wrestling bout of the night between Hank Peters and Harry Ireland and Lee Golden, the former agreed to throw both Ireland and Golden in 40 minutes but failed. Golden only lasted 2 minutes but Ireland stalled the Indian off for 38 minutes.

The first bout was a wrestling match between Alex Smith of Brantford and Billy Munroe of Galt. The former agreed to throw Munroe twice in 30 minutes, but failed. Both men showed a lot of stuff in last night's bout and surely are comers. The full Nelson and the strange hold were both barred. Both men sparred for sometime and then both went down with Smith on top. Munroe showed some clever work when he wriggled out of a number of difficult holds.

Smith secured a flying fall in 15 minutes, but it was not until after the 19-12 minutes of hard work did Smith secure the first fall on an arm hold.

With 10 1-2 minutes left to wrestle Smith failed to get a second fall and therefore lost the bout.

The second bout was between Billy Carpenter, lightweight champion of Michigan and Billy Brooks of Hamilton and was the main boxing bout of the night. Brooks weighed in at 140 lbs. and Carpenter tipped the scales at 136 pounds.

Carpenter proved himself to be the superior of Brooks in boxing and it seemed only a lucky jolt that put him out. Carpenter is a clever little boxer and handles himself very neatly.

He is a clean cut youth and as quick as a cat on his feet with one of the fastest left swings that has ever been seen around here.

The first round was Carpenter's all the way. In fact he knocked Brooks down three times and out for the evening was between Hank Peters, the Hagersville Indian and Lee Golden and Harry Ireland, in which the former threw Golden in 2 minutes, but failed to throw Ireland in 38 minutes. Peters got Golden on a toe hold and forced him to quit.

Ireland and Peters sparred for 28 minutes, the former wanting the Indian off and staying on his feet. Peters tried desperately to get a hold on Ireland but the latter was wily and kept on his feet. In this bout the hammerlock, strangle and full Nelson were barred.

Peters is a big husky, good looking Indian who weighed in at 172 1-2 lbs. The Ireland was half a pound lighter while Golden only weighed 157.

At the close of the bout Peters asked for another chance to get at Ireland and was accepted. It was only yesterday that Peters was notified of the bouts and he had not had time to train. At another time he would be in better condition. Out for Pete Scott of Hamilton only needed one round to put him out. Atkinson the Indian forced the latter to the ropes and two heavy swings on the jaw put Atkinson to sleep. Scott looked like a real shifty fighter.

Program Was Good If any criticism at all were directed at the program last night it was the handicap in the wrestling bouts. The Ireland-Peters bout was spoiled by the fact that one contestant kept himself entirely on the defensive and stalled his opponent. It looked as if Peters had the science but Ireland at that showed ability enough to do something more than act on the defensive. Had the two mixed on the mat, the bout would have been a good one.

Trade Improving. R. G. Dunn and Co's. trade report for this week, shows improved conditions. It says: "Retail trade is picking up, with spring goods displayed, and volume compares favorably with last year. There are quite a number of factories operating with partial payrolls, but the skilled workmen are gradually being absorbed; the largest factory here resumes full time work complete staff this week and the dependent on national business see improvement. Jobbing houses, who heretofore sold largely in the West, finds trade quiet and collections backward. Two small failures this week."

Canadian League Circuit Clippings

Baseball headquarters this morning received the signed contract of Pichers Belting and Tracey. Suggott, the amateur infielder from Valencia, Ont., writes that he will be unable to play the game this season. —Peterborough Review.

The Canadian League club owners in Toronto are considering grounds within nine minutes by street car of the corner of King and Yonge streets. They looked them over yesterday. —Toronto Telegram.

It was London and Peterboro who were scrapping over the services of Peter Kelly, recently awarded to the Peterboro club by the National association. Kelly is an Erie boy and it was claimed that he had accepted terms with the London club, on the recommendation of Lotie Bierbauer before he signed a contract for Curly Bloom, the Peterboro manager. —Hamilton Herald.

Linneborn Signs Us
London Advertiser.—The contract of Eddie Linneborn, London's speedy second baseman, was received at the London baseball club headquarters yesterday afternoon and all is joy in the camp. The Buffalo lad forwarded his signature to Manager Reising, who sent it along with another batch of contracts to President Stavely. The letter arrived yesterday afternoon, and it certainly contained a welcome batch of information.

With "Linsy" in the fold practically all of last year's players who were on the reserve list have signed up. Boldt is the only exception, but no effort has been made other than sending him a contract to get him to sign. The fact that he did not return his contract or write for better terms puts him automatically under suspension, as players must be heard from before March 1st.

Three More Players Sign
Manager Reising also included the contracts of Mike Mullin, Ellis, W. Manning and Raymond who hail from Moundsville, W. Va. He is reported to be a good one. As far as is known he is no relation to "Wahoo George," or any other Mullin, who has gained fame on the diamond. Manning is an Indian fielder who comes from Washington. He is a big, rangy fellow, according to Doc, and the London manager also adds that since he looked him up in the records he is tickled to death, as it were, that he landed him. Okey is a new man, and Manager Reising does not mention just what particular position on the team he expects him to fill. He comes from Chandlersville, Ohio, and is a youngster of promise. If he is as good as his name he should be O. K.

Still After Third Sacker
Reising is still after another third-sacker. He is going to take no chance on having this position weak this season. He has three men signed up for this position already, but if he gets another one he will feel satisfied that out of the bunch he ought to get one man who will fill the bill. He also writes that he has an outfielder in view, who, he says, comes the closest to Ty Cobb of any man in baseball. This fellow ought to be a bird if that is the case and it is to be hoped that Doc lands him. Reising seldom praises a player unless he is confident he can produce, and he generally has the right dope on the man before he says a word about him.

CANADIENS SHOULD WIN TO-NIGHT'S GAME

FRENCHMEN WILL BE FULL STRENGTH WITH LALONDE AT CENTRE.

Local hockey interest swings to Montreal to-night. At that city Toronto and Canadiens, now tied for the championship of the National Hockey Association, meet in the first of home-and-home games for the championship, which several days ago was practically in the grip of the Toronto seven.

Montrealers are now clamoring for tickets for the game to-night. One hour after the box office opened it was announced that every reserved seat had been sold. It has been rumored that the members of the Toronto team have not been following the training rules. Those who witnessed the game between Toronto and Canadiens here two weeks ago to-night have given the Frenchmen the call to win the championship. They played brilliant hockey here despite their defeat, and with Lalonde back in centre, can be depended upon to try to complete the work commenced by Wanderers, toward taking the championship to Montreal.

The sticky ice will be more suited to the Canadiens than to the Toronto. The latter have been used to the artificial ice, which is always hard and fast, while the Canadiens have become familiar with the conditions under which to-night's game will be played. Brennan of Montreal and Westwick of Ottawa will be the officials.—Toronto Globe.

It was unfortunate that the ice races at Alfred street rink had to be postponed last Wednesday night. The management got together a splendid line of prizes, but the crowd was too small to warrant the races being pulled off. It is to be hoped that when the date for the races is again set a larger crowd will be present.

W. E. Massey, manager of the Port Carling team writes, stating that the report that Bala had defeated the Port Carling seven by 6 to 5 was untrue. He states that the correct score was six all, both goal umpires and the referees upholding him as to the correctness of the better score. According to Mr. Massey, Bala has never won a game from Port Carling.

Sporting Comment

The last of the London Canadian League holdouts has forwarded his signed contract in the person of Eddie Linneborn, the speedy second baseman of the Tecumseh. Manager Reising has perhaps the largest roster in the Canadian League.

President Stevely of the London Club has gone to California and on the way back he will probably stop over at some of the big league camps and look over Ty Cobb, Walt Johnson, Johnny Evers and a few others, and if they are fast enough, will sign them for London. Who had that bad dream

Everything is quiet in local pro baseball circles. Manager Deneau is not blowing about the team he has but is going about his business in a quiet way signing up a bunch of recruits who will be given a try-out when the team goes into training camp on April 15th. Another club that isn't raising much noise about its players is the St. Thomas team. What Midge Craven has for the fans few people know, but it is safe to say he will be there with a winning team when the season opens.

The Federal league is evidently here to stay. They have their players pooled and their training camps have all been chosen. Scribes predict that in the course of two years the Federal league will be admitted into organized baseball.

When the Duffs cancelled the game against the All-Stars of last year's Soft Ball league the latter immediately set up the howl that the soldiers were "yellow." The real reason of at least part of the real reason for the cancellation of the game was that the Soldiers want a "team" to play against not a bunch of school boys and they would rather the Stars would arrange a game with some team in the Y.M.C.A. so that their calibre may be proved. Then they will be willing to take them on for a game.

FRED. TAYLOR'S ROMANCE CULMINATES WEDNESDAY

THE 'CYCLONE' WILL BE MARRIED TO AN OTTAWA YOUNG LADY.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The Vancouver team arrived here yesterday to tackle Ottawa in the first of the test matches between the eastern and western teams. His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, paid a pretty compliment to the westerners to-day in accepting the invitation of Ottawa to attend, he wrote Manager Shaughnessy stating that he had broken another engagement in order to help to welcome the Vancouver team.

Fred Taylor will play his last game as a bachelor to-day. On Wednesday of next week he will be wedded to Miss Thursa Cook, daughter of the late Samuel Cook. Taylor's bride to be worked beside him in the Interior Department when Taylor first came to Ottawa.

CONSOLATION TITLE GOES TO WOODSTOCK

INDUSTRIAL CITY JUNIORS WON WESTERN ONTARIO POST-SEASON SERIES.

WOODSTOCK, March 7.—After being beaten 10 to 4 in Galt last night the Woodstock juniors turned around and defeated Galt here to-night by 8 to 6. The game was fast and at times rough, both teams being penalized very often. Twice Galt threatened to leave the ice, but were persuaded to continue play.

Woodstock has played three games in four nights, beating Stratford Mid-jets in the Classic City. To-night's victory gives the Industrial City the junior championship of the western Ontario consolation series.

This Is The Open Season For Developing Phenoms

(By Hal Sheridan)

NEW YORK, March 7.—The open season for the development of phenoms is now on. With the warm March sun of the South shooting into the systems of managers, vets and rookies and various other things trickling through the systems of the war correspondents the annual tales of the wonders from the bushes are on tap. You may believe the stories or not, but every phenom that may be developed will be needed. The stormy Winter league which has kept all baseballdom quivering with expectancy and palpitating with pent-up energy will be reflected in the regular playing season.

Out of the swirling mass the Chicago Cubs have come out wrecked. The Cleveland Naps hand stripped of several maidsprings in their pitching apparatus due to raids of the Reds. The Cincinnati Reds could have been made much worse, so they will start with the same old question mark attached to their tail. The Phillies are minus a veteran in Knabe. Their other Federal jumpers may be tied up in the courts after the first game. And so it goes on down the line, a hole here and a bruise there, and the National league suffering from what may not have been quite a civil war, but badly scarred nevertheless by the upheaval brought on by the Murphy Evers affair.

All the grudges that the players have had against Hank O'Day as an umpire will certainly be satisfied in the months to come. They got even with O'Day in a measure when he became manager of the Reds, but the job he had at that time was a pipe compared to the dizzy going ahead. In the first place if the Cubs do not get Sweeney from Boston all O'Day has to do as a starter is to plug up two gaping holes in his infield. At best he has to fill one. With John Evers out of it and Al Bridwell a Federal jumper the entire vicinity immediately adjacent to second base is defenceless.

O'Day has nothing to worry about but the establishment of a second baseman and shortstop behind his pitchers. In addition the head of the club has been kicked out of organized ball and a new boss is in the saddle. The last cog of the old smooth-running Cub machine has been kicked away. Several men who served under Chance and know what discipline, and playing "inside ball" mean, are still in the outfit, but they have witnessed the wrecking of the machine, are serving under their second manager since Chance was fired and being old dogs at the game may not be expected to start in learning many new tricks.

If O'Day is able to establish himself as the real boss of this outfit and makes a winner he will surprise hundreds who looked on while he was wrestling with the Cincinnati Reds.

Sharkey is in Bad
While Tom Sharkey has been doing his bit of 30 days for keeping a disorderly house and incidentally qualifying as an expert snow shoveler in the jail, the authorities have revoked Tom's license to run a cafe. This means Sharkey will lose his famous Fourteenth Street establishment, where he made a record for watching other people spend their money for wet goods without separating himself from so much as a nickel. If shoveling snow takes the kinks out of some of Tom's muscles we might as well get ready for a lout yelp from him when he gets out of jail, the burden of his remarks being that he can lick any white hope, past present or future. As easy as the money has been around New York Sharkey won't waste time in grabbing some if he really needs it.

A Freak Fighter
While in this country recently "Snowy" Baker the Australian fight promoter, told of a freak fighter they have in the Antipodes, who has it on almost any "Bug" fighter developed there. Jerry Jerome, the freak is 45 years old, according to Baker, never trained a day in his life, goes into a fight laughing and smiling, and if the fight ceases to amuse he will throw off his gloves and jump from the ring.

"Jerome doesn't stand up like an ordinary fighter," said Baker, "but crouches like an animal. If a fight gets dull he puts his right foot forward and starts swinging as wild as a kangaroo. If a fight gets dull he'll simply jump out of the ring and quit even if he has the fight won. He hasn't any idea of the value of money and one day when he asked for a loan of three pounds and I told him I did not have that much he came back with, 'Oh, well, then let me have six.'"

CRAWFORD ALSO SIGNS
DETROIT, March 7.—A private telegram received here last night from New York states that Slim Crawford has signed his contract with the Detroit Tigers for 1914.

In The World Of Labor

A Budget of News For Those Interested in Labor

By G. A. M.

Gleaned From the Exchanges and Other Sources

The Stone Cutters

The fact that trade is dull through the winter months and you are idle, is no excuse for your non-attendance at the meeting. This same will apply to all labor organizations.

The working class, as individuals, are powerless; they are as helpless as a ship floating on the high seas without compass or rudder. United in trade unions, under competent and honest leadership, they wield a strength which grows in intensity and potentially commensurate with a permanent increase in numbers and financial resources.

Again the members of this craft are advised that the Welland Levy is not an annual one. It is but a single levy assessed upon all members, and those members who have paid this levy will not be required to do so again. The Executive board has decided that this levy is to be collected from all new members coming into the association up to and including May 1, 1914. It is hoped by the executive that this explanation will be thoroughly understood by all their members.

Members of this organization are also reminded by the executive that they should bear in mind that the constitution now provides that any member who allows his arrears to exceed one year must again become a member under the reinitiation fee. Per capita tax will not be accepted from a member who is over one year in arrears.

Members holding travelling cards and located outside the jurisdiction of a branch, are permitted to send their per capita and G. U. levies direct to the general office, as they have no other means of keeping up their good standing.

Recommendations of The Commission on Technical Education.

In an address before the Canadian Club, Hamilton, recently Dr. Jas. W. Robertson, C.M.G., chairman of the Technical Education Commission, who is to address the Board of Trade here on this subject in the near future, showed the practical benefits of the new proposed system of vocational training. The preliminary report appeared in The Canadian Manufacturer a few months ago, but the following extracts from Mr. Robertson's address sums up the needs of Canadians, and the practical benefits to be derived from the adoption of the Commission's recommendations.

The Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education visited 100 places in Canada, held 15 sessions to receive testimony and made transcripts of the evidence of 1,471 men and women. Some of those occupying the foremost positions in industries, agriculture, housekeeping and educational work. The needs of the growing population of Canada as stated by these witnesses may be summarized as follows:

First—Hand training and pre-vocational education in the common schools after the age of twelve to reveal the bent of the child's ability to himself, to his parents and to his teacher.

Second—Something in the school class to make girls and boys want to continue at school as long as they can.

Third—Some provision in the way of secondary industrial and technical education for those who can continue at school from 12 to 16.

Fourth—Continuation classes to be attended while young people are following some occupation to earn their living.

Fifth—Evening classes for workmen and workwomen.

Sixth—Middle technical schools to which men and women can come back for a period of from six months to two years after they have been working for some years.

In addition to these the witnesses presented the claims of the rural population and fishing population for schools specially adapted to their needs.

All were agreed upon the necessity for and certain of the benefit from classes and schools for house-keeping occupation. Many witnesses recommended the establishment of correspondent study classes by central institutions in Canada.

In the present day we often learn of strikes for an increase in wages and for better working conditions, but it is a rare occurrence for tradesmen to be compelled to strike to resist a reduction in wages. We are advised, however, by the Metal Polishers, Platers and Buffers Union, that their members were forced to strike against the Hevdee Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of the Indian motorcycle, to resist an attempt upon the part of the employers to reduce the wages of their men $1.10 per day. These members have the support of all union men, and while there are few who ride motorcycles, still they can in a measure assist this organization in combating a reduction in the wages of their members.

A Square Deal To Everybody

Has Been Brought About Through Efforts of Organized Labor.

Organized labor has offered more feasible solutions of the vexatious problems that confront the people than any other economic institution. The great issues of to-day were born and nurtured and raised in the trade union movement, despite the fact that political parties now claim them as their own.

The trade union movement is the most progressive, steadfast and uncompromising champion of democracy of our day. Without the watchful, tireless vigilance of this great movement the progress and improvement of the world must have been much slower and fraught with greater hardships and miseries on the part of the mass of the people. Without the vigorous opposition to greed, selfishness and vanity engendered in the organizations of the toilers there is no prophet wise enough to tell us what the present condition of the people must have been.

Never before, in any age or any clime, have men put forth greater efforts to solve the problems affecting the fundamentals of life, and in bringing about this condition of affairs the trade union movement stands out conspicuously as the original pioneer even though there are those who would rob it of credit for its achievements.

There has never been a period in history when the meek and lowly did not contribute their all to the struggle for the common weal, but it remained for the trade union movement to lift the humble hewers of wood and drawers of water to an altitude where they stand pre-eminent above all others in doing the world's practical, beneficial thinking along the lines of progress for the entire human race.

Right Different Wrongs

That organized labor has been the leader in this country in progressive thought cannot be denied, and that organized labor is still far in advance of other economic organizations in its advocacy of legislation which will one day redound to the benefit of all those who are to-day the victims of unfair and unjust conditions there can be no room for doubt.

Organized labor will in the future as it has in the past, persist in calling attention to the needs of the people and the manner of relieving them, until the great uncounted millions have been aroused to definite and certain action. The labor movement long ago learned the lesson that the way to right wrongs was to call the attention of the people to them with sufficient persistence and vigor to impress with the importance of action. It also early became aware that once the people began to talk about injustice those conditions were in a fair way to be changed. It has been because of organized labor's faith in the people that the movement has been able to accomplish so much in the time it has done.

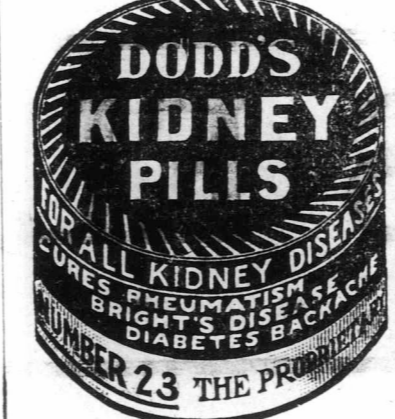

Wherever organized labor gets a footing, there progress is sure to open. Wherever organized labor is crushed out or fails to find lodgment there will be found misery in all its hideousness for all except the select few. If this statement be doubted, it is but necessary to look about for prima facie proof of its absolute accuracy. The time is rapidly passing away when the shrewd manipulator will be able to long enslave the people through his deception, and for this glorious condition of affairs organized labor can honestly claim its full meed of credit.

Better Housing in Canada

The first annual report of the Toronto Housing Co. has been issued from the office of the Provincial Secretary, Parliament buildings, Toronto. It offers a suggestion for the erection of better houses for workmen, which Canadian builders should study and bring them to the attention of the civic authorities.

In the foreword, Han. W. J. Hanna calls upon Canadians to do more to banish the slums, and the more struck by the Provincial Secretary of Ontario should be heeded by every centre of population in Canada. The old countries are trying to eliminate slums, but it is easier to prevent them than to remove them.

But better housing has a far wider

She Got So She Was Almost Insane

And Then Found a Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

That's Why Mrs. Wellington Dunlop Says Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Best of All Medicines.

SOUTH WATERVILLE, York Co., N.B., March 7.—(Special)—Mrs. Wellington Dunlop, an estimable resident of this place, has given an interview in which she states that she believes Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the best of all medicines. Mrs. Dunlop says: "When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in a terrible condition. I had been sick for over a year and had paid out more than one hundred and thirty dollars for doctors and medicine. I would get some better and then get just as bad as ever."

"The doctor said my trouble came from my stomach. His medicine relieved me for only a few minutes after I had taken it, and I got so that I was nearly insane. I had not taken Dodd's Kidney Pills two days till I was some better. I took twelve boxes in all and I can truly say they have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are suffering woman's best friend. If you haven't tried them yourself, ask your neighbors.

application than the slum problem. It means better living conditions for the great masses of wage earners, and will bring with it a toning up of our whole social system. Enabling legislation will be necessary in every province. In Ontario a beginning has been made, and the results obtained under an act passed in 1913, would indicate that the Toronto Housing Co. are on the right track.

Every Canadian workman of steady habits should be able to own his home. The advantage is as much to the state as to the individual, for the home must always be the starting point for strengthening and elevating of social conscience and the national life.

It is about time for Brantford to get busy in the above line. Don't be followers; be leaders in progress.

Municipal Cold Storage Plant

The City of Cleveland has struck a deadly blow at the cold storage trusts, high cost of living and many other hydro-headed monsters. A municipal storage plant at the disposal of the housekeeper for a trifling cost is the new enterprise for municipal government.

The humblest citizen of Cleveland are just as welcome at this plant as the biggest commission merchant. Think of the frugal householder leaving a basket of eggs or a crock of butter or a barrel of choice apples until the price has risen, all for a fee that leaves the city a nominal profit. And if one's butcher is not obliging, how easy to hang tough steaks in this great plant until they are tender!

If Mrs. Jones buys a barrel of apples to-day at a fair price she can store them with the city until next spring when those same apples are worth three times the present value, and the city will charge her only 40 cents. And suppose Mrs. Smith stored one hundred pounds of 20-cent butter in June, with what satisfaction would she take it out in the 40-cent-pound days of late winter? The citizens have already taken advantage of this great opportunity. This plant is now storing 40,000 pounds of butter, 32,000 dozen eggs, 45,000 pounds of cheese, 600 bushels of cherries, and 4,000 bushels of fruit—and the city of Cleveland is making a small but real profit.

If this is a good thing for other places why not for Brantford?

Safety First Shop Signs

A London, Ont., manufacturing concern has had safety first signs printed and placed in conspicuous places where the word "safety" is kept before the employees. The following is the sign:

Safety First.
Do not work with unsafe tools. Stop. Tell the foreman.
Careful men are usually efficient. Careless men are not.
Remember it is better to cause delay than an accident.
Is your department clean and tidy? Look into the corners.
Cleanliness means order.
Order spells efficiency.

The employees are asked to memorize them and get the spirit of them. The duty of Safety First should be impressed on every employee.

Brantford factories would do well to follow the above example.

GETTING BACK AT THE BARBER.

"Why do you insist on trying to sell me the best steak and beans and buckwheat cakes?" demanded the barber. "I told you all I wanted was two fried eggs."

"Well, I was in your shop yesterday," retorted the restaurant man. "All I wanted was a shave, but you bulldozed me into a shampoo, a foam fizz and a tonic rub."—Ex.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wiry and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning grey hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. realized how becoming those old draperies could be made to the modern figure.

Descending from an ancient Scottish Border family, famous in history Gillett, John Murray Kynmond Elliott, fourth Earl of Minto, son of the third Earl of Minto and his wife Emma Hislop, daughter of General Sir Thomas Hislop, Bart., was born in London on July 9, 1850.

Minto House, the family seat, where he spent his early years, is situated in one of the most picturesque parts of Teviotdale, in Southern Scotland. Minto is mentioned by Sir Walter Scott in "The Lay of the Last Minstrel."

The family is an ancient and honorable one. Two centuries ago it was sung as "The Elliots, brave and worthy men." Their challenge, "Wha daur meddle wi' me" has been enwoven in Scottish song and adopted as the motto of the Border Mounted Volunteers.

British Letter

LONDON, March 7.—The steamer Discovery, which the late Captain Scott used in his first Antarctic voyage, has been chartered by the British Antarctic Expedition which is to be commanded by J. Foster Stackhouse, and will leave London about the first of August for the far south.

The existence of Graham Land, and of Coats Land, Enderby Land and Kemp Land at the Atlantic border of the Great Ice Barrier, as well as the discovery of land south by Lieutenant Filchner of the German expedition in 1911, support the continental theory. On the other hand the great area of pack ice massed on the North and west coasts of King Edward VII Land points Mr. Stackhouse suggests to the drift of ice northward from the Weddell sea to the Ross Sea, presumably through a strait separating King Edward VII Land from Graham Land.

This is the most southerly of British possessions for the whole region between meridian 20 deg. west and meridian 80 deg. west is claimed for the British crown. The information which the expedition will obtain as to harbors, whaling stations and sealing grounds will be of great service to the whaling industry of the Falkland Islands.

The crew of the Discovery will consist of 25 men and in addition there will be five scientists, several of the ship's officers also undertaking scientific observations. They will have an aeroplane for photographic survey work and this too will be useful in enabling the leader to choose the best route when he wants to advance. Most of the navigating and scientific staff have already been chosen. Lieut. A. E. Harbord of the Royal Navy who was navigating officer on the Nimrod in the Shackleton Expedition, will command the Discovery. The first officer will be Lieut. Richard H. Garstin, of the Royal Indian Marine, who has a considerable knowledge of surveying, and the navigating officer, who comes from the same service, will be Lieut. R. Beatty, a cousin of Rear-Admiral David Beatty. Chief Petty Officer Tom Green, who sailed with Scott in both his Discovery and Terra Nova expeditions, will be boat-swan.

Among the scientific staff will be Lord Conington of the Grenadier Guards, who has done a great deal of military survey work; the Master of Sempill, only son of Lord Sempill, has served his apprenticeship in engineering, and will have charge of the meteorological department; the electrical plant and the motor boat and aeroplane engines; Captain A. S. Cantell, who has been lent by the Admiralty will have charge of the survey work; W. H. Stewart Garnett M. A., an expert on skis and qualified marine engineer and D. Hector Pearson, an officer in the Essex Territorials, will be one of the surveyors.

The expedition will be away for 2 or 4 years. From Capetown where the scientific instruments will be finally tested the Discovery will sail to the Falkland Islands, a distance of about 3,000 miles. Deep-sea soundings, which will have considerable hydrographical value, will be taken in these little frequented seas. On the way the Discovery will ascertain the exact number of islands contained in the Sandwich group and determine the position of the Shag Rocks. Discussing his plans Mr. Stackhouse said: "After calling at the Falklands, the Discovery will proceed to the east side of Graham Land. Here I propose to land a party of fifteen about December 20th. Their task will be to determine a doubt as to the insularity of Graham Land. The existence of a strait between Graham Land would explain the great accumulation of ice between that land and the Great Barrier. This part of the expedition will have the assistance of an airman. He will, I am convinced, save them much useless sledge-hauling. They will also carry out a large amount of survey work remaining together 12 or 14 months. Meanwhile the Discovery will proceed to Larsen's Sea and endeavor to fix the coast between Graham Land and the base of the last German Expedition about 78 degrees south.

Returning after wintering in the ice, we will pick up the land party about Jan. 1916, and then endeavor to make Charcot Land, and the following Spring go down the coast to McMurdo sound. We will leave early in 1917 for New Zealand.

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS TELL EXCITING TALE

Two American Survivors of Schooner Marie Ellen, Marooned on Island as Modern Robinson Crusoes, Recite Harrowing Experiences.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
AN exciting story of the sea is told in the Pioneer Mail by Mr. J. P. Collins, of Chicago, and Mr. A. J. Dann, of Buffalo, the survivors of the Glasgow schooner Marie Ellen, who reached Rangoon from Singapore. The schooner was wrecked in February last off the coast of Dutch Borneo, and since then, after spending twenty days on an island, they have been wandering about in search of work. They shipped on board the Marie Ellen, at Manila, on January 27, 1913, and, after calling at various islands, reached Rangoon, in British North Borneo, on February 4, leaving again early next morning.

"Late that afternoon," says Mr. Collins, "the wind began to freshen from the eastward, and we stood away on the port tack, intending to put about on the starboard tack at the end of the late dog watch. When two bells had gone in that watch orders came to close the reef sails and heave to. This was done, and the wind began to haul to the northeast. We drifted then to the southward until about four bells in the first watch, when the skipper decided to shake out the reef and run before the wind. About three bells in the middle watch the three bell look-out, Hester Warden, sang out, 'Breakers ahead!' Those on the watch below rushed out on deck as the cry came from officers of 'All hands out on deck! Never mind your clothes!'

"When we got on deck we found the sails flapping, and before the schooner could be got off the wind she struck the reefs with such force that she carried away her masts. The mainmast in falling smashed the port lifeboat and bulwarks to splinters, and the heavy sea began to smash the schooner up. An effort was made to launch the starboard lifeboat, but it was useless in face of the heavy sea. It soon became a case of every man for himself, and we watched our opportunity to drop over the side and swim for a small island we could see in the distance off the port quarter."

"By swimming diagonally across the sea we managed to reach shore in an exhausted condition and lay and rested. The land we had gained we afterwards learned was Paulo Bunio Island. At daybreak we looked for the ship, but all we could see was part of the stern still stuck fast on the reef. We then began to look around for our shipmates, and searched the beach from abeam of the wreck to the southern end of the island without seeing any one. As far as we knew we were marooned. A search was made for the inhabitants, and after going about four or five miles along the beach we came upon what appeared to be a timber chalet. We climbed upon the side and saw what was at the other end and discovered three trees that had been recently cut. A few minutes later some pieces of matting were found. The larger pieces we used for clothing, we having had nothing on but our shirts when the cry came to come out deck. The smaller pieces of matting we used as a covering for our feet.

"A search was then made for fresh water, and we were successful in discovering a small spring. A hearty drink and bath soon put us in better spirits, and we began to look around for something to eat. We thought of fruit, but could find none, so went down on the beach and hunted for shellfish. Here some oysters were found, and digging in the sand with our hands, we found a plentiful supply of clams. Having no means of lighting a fire, we subsisted on raw oysters and clams. We made walks around the island by short stages, always keeping the sea on our right, so as to make sure we were not going over the same ground twice. We walked and walked until we had been right round the island, and then sat down to decide what was the best thing to be done. We came to the conclusion that we had better keep close to the timber chuto in case any one came to cut timber.

"For seventeen days we lived on raw oysters and clams. On the morning of the eighteenth day we started on another tour of the island, and had covered nearly three-quarters of it when we saw smoke coming out of the bushes. At first we thought it was some one of our shipmates cooking, but on going closer found it was some Malay woodcutters cooking their evening meal. We had some trouble in making the Malay understand how we had come there, but after they had been shown the remains of the shipwrecked vessel they understood and shared food with us. Haj Ali, who proved to be the chief of the party, treated us very well after he found out we had been cast away. Two days later we left the island, where we had spent twenty days, and were taken to Tarakan."

Afterward they were sent on to Singapore, their story having in the meanwhile been verified.

$65,000 FOR OLD HORSES

(Special Dispatch.)
VIENNA, March 7.
A LEGACY of $65,000 to be devoted to the establishment of an asylum for old horses has been bequeathed to the municipality of Vienna by Herr Franz Bizony, who recently died at Misokocz.

More than a hundred horses, donkeys, cats, dogs and birds were maintained by him in outhouses and stables on his property. With the exception of his valet, Herr Bizony had not set eyes for twelve years on a human being.

He had been jilted by the daughter of a member of the Hungarian Diet, and from that time he sought companionship only among the animals which he kept. He frequently remarked to his servant that they were far preferable as friends to men and women.

LONDON, March 7.
THE remarkable longevity of persons nowadays is shown by the obituary notices in the newspapers. The Times in one day recorded the deaths of ten octogenarians, including Mrs. Coster, 90; Miss Lovell, 87; Miss Younger, 87; Miss Matthews, 87; Mr. Sydney Jones, F. R. C. S., 87; Mrs. Sarah Collier, 87; Miss Emma Ibbotson, 87; Mrs. G. H. Hildcock, 86; Mrs. Lambert, 86; and Mr. Spencer Austen Leigh, formerly a famous huntsman and point to point rider, 86. In addition to this list there were names of eight others whose ages were between 70 and 80.

Poet's Eye Guided the Brush of Sir Alfred East, Say Critics

Memorial Exhibition in London Groups Many Canvases from Studio of Late Royal Academician—News from the Art Centre of England.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
FROM the Sir Alfred East Memorial Exhibition at the Leicester Galleries one takes away the impression that the painter may just have been about to realize his high aim adequately when he was taken off by death. He died at the age of sixty-four, comparatively young, as years count, among great painters. Knighted by the King, he was elected a full member of the Royal Academy by his contemporary artists.

"His etchings were delightful, and many lovely examples are to be seen at this memorial collection. Some of his drawings in watercolor, too, are unique in their intimate warmth of tone and in their soft and delicate, graduated tints. One lingers before his drawing of 'The Cornfield' and feels the stocks so near that one might touch them. Two of the watercolors are lovely nooks 'In Lover Park, Lancashire,' in which the characteristic subdued tone of the northern landscape is skilfully produced.

"But it is as an oil painter that East will survive, and as a brushman who modernized the decorative quality in landscape art of such early English masters as Gainsborough. Many of the oils exhibited have Spanish subjects with the glow of intimate and warm color derived from the Southern skies. 'Autumn in Spain,' indeed, is probably a landscape which shows East at the zenith of his power. He painted late summer and autumn with unrivalled success. His trees of green and gold, touched with such his translucent water, his wafery or somnolent skies, are here in paintings of late summer and autumn in England. His poet's eye loved the twilight and the dawn, the mystic mingling of dark and light when shadows can be transferred to the painter's canvas.

"Thus, there are here delightful paintings of 'Twilight,' 'Before the Dawn,' and 'Morning,' and best of them all a superb rendering at dusk of the solitude around

"Gommers Haugh from Windermere." Though dead too soon East will live on in his unique landscapes. "His streams and skies," says Mr. Gosse in a personal sketch taken away from the exhibition, "his aerial foliage, his orange autumn, his nearly moonlight nights, will be the joy of successive generations."

There is no sign of diminishing interest in etchings or of decrease in the production; on the contrary, there is much evidence of growth in public appreciation of this particular phase of art, with the result that there are etchers whose occasional failure may be attributed to the urgency of the commercial instinct.

This incentive, however, is foreign to the nature of either M. Bauer or his fellow countryman, M. A. D. Van Angeren, who exhibit a series of their plates at Mr. R. Gutknecht's Gallery, No. 10 Grafton street. Bauer's 'Bazaar in Damascus' has all the elements that vivify an emotional impression. 'A Festival Day on the Ganges' is even more expressive. But his authority is best displayed in plates of small scale, like 'A Gate' and 'Aye, So, phia.' In both he communicates the secrets he received in moments of intimacy in the East.

Van Angeren's work is comparatively unknown in London and his art is entirely different from that of Bauer. He is a realist of the school of Ostade and Wenzel, in which the school of Ostade and Wenzel is a realist of the school of Ostade and Wenzel. He is a realist of the school of Ostade and Wenzel, in which the school of Ostade and Wenzel is a realist of the school of Ostade and Wenzel.

Spirit of Flight as King of Carnival Doubt as to Nature of Future Battle Ship Halts Building

The flying man is undoubtedly the man of the moment, and as such he figured in the Nice carnival as King of the Revels. He made a striking figure as the classic warrior, Perseus, lying on the back of an enormous winged horse with forelegs high in the air. The hero holds in one hand a fork and in the other a gourd. The procession took place last month.

London Discussing Latest Folly of Fashion

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
GREEN, blue, pink and purple wigs, already the rage of Paris, have invaded London.

Mr. Seymour Lucas, R. A., the famous historical and portrait painter, in a statement which he made to your correspondent, gave his view on the subject in brief but unmistakable language.

"Green hair," he said, in reply to a question, "I have never seen it, and I never wish to do so. The idea is too horrible. If women are wearing it they must be taking leave of their senses."

The new fashion, on the other hand, was stoutly defended by Mr. Willie Clarkson, whose showcases are packed with wigs. Models wearing wigs of the new hair, the favorite colors being blue, green, pink and purple in fifty or more shades.

"Colored hair is certainly becoming," said Mr. Clarkson, "and for myself I frankly fall to see why any woman of taste or refinement should object to wear a wig of colored hair any more than she would object to wear a colored hat, a colored costume or even colored boots."

"We are filling very large orders for the wigs from Paris, where they are all the rage in the fashionable world, and London and New York are not very far behind in their demands. We have already sold a large quantity in London not only to actresses, but to ladies in private life."

"A good average price for a colored wig made of human hair is ten guineas, while a wig made of prepared hair may be obtained for half that sum."

"The most popular color for women with fair complexions is either light blue or a palish pink. Shades of green both light and dark are also being worn. For dark women perhaps the favorite color is deep purple."

"The light when it catches these wigs at night gives them a most charming effect."

Mr. Clarkson added that at one theatre in Paris actresses who wore colored wigs had caused the coats of their pet dogs to be dyed the same hues.

One of the first actresses on the "legitimate" stage in London to wear the new colored wig was Miss Madge McIntosh, who appears as Strega Thundridge in Mr. Bernard Shaw's curtain raiser, "The Music Cure," at the Little Theatre, in a grass green wig.

"It suddenly struck me at the end of the rehearsal that I needed a green wig to complete my costume," said Miss McIntosh in an interview with the writer.

"Mr. Shaw and Mr. Kenelm Foss said 'Try it!' and when I obtained a green wig and put it on they said 'Splendid!' So here it is, and the public seem to like it. I do not believe colored wigs will ever become really popular in private life, for two reasons. The first is that they are too expensive for people of modest means. It is all very well to argue that one pays as much for a hat, but a hat is a necessity and a green wig is not."

"The second reason is that in order to wear a colored wig a woman would have to dress specially for it and even have the rooms in her house overhauled and redecorated to harmonize with the color."

"Have You Flown?" Is Latest Question in London Society

Aviation Now Excites Interest Comparable to Tango and War Between Hotels and Supper Clubs—Air Tours Probable Amusement of the Future.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
"HAVE you flown?" is the little query which is exciting even more interest in society to-day than the tango or the war between the hotels and the supper clubs. Aerial touring will soon be as popular as automobiling; nothing could be more delightful than gliding over England in the summer time at the rate of 200 miles a day, and parties of three or four could easily be accommodated on one machine. Once you are in the air the feeling of security is extraordinary. Not long ago I was at a party in a country house where every one of the twenty-four persons at dinner declared that nothing in the world would induce them to take a flight. The next day I took each member of that party for a trip and they all confessed that it was not half so terrible as it looked."

The extent to which aviation has "caught on" in society is illustrated by the report that a youthful lord has resigned his commission in the Royal Horse Guards to take a mission in the Royal Flying Corps. His study the art of flying in France. His father is also working hard for his pilot's certificate. At the Hendon Aerodrome, Mr. Grahame-White recalled that Lord Carbery had performed a fine flight from Paris to Hendon, and that other pilots who had graduated at his establishment included Lord Edward Grosvenor, Sir Reginald Sinclair and Sir Bryan Leighton.

"The well known persons who have flown with me could be numbered by the score," said Mr. Grahame-White. "Here are just a few—The Duke of Sutherland, Prince Christopher of Greece, Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, who was one of my first passengers; Lord Drogheda, Lord Portlinton, Lord Desborough, Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, Sir Thomas Lipton, Mr. Richard Paget, Mr. Arthur Balfour, Mr. Reginald McKenna and Colonel Seely. And the ladies—here are a few selections from the book—The Duchess of Sutherland, Lady Ponsenby, Lady Drogheda, Lady Limerick, Lady Diana Manners, Lady Portlinton, the Honorable Mrs. Ascheton Harbord, the Honorable Monica Grenfell and Lady Tree."

"The danger of flying has been greatly exaggerated; the statistics show that there has been only one fatal accident to over 55,000 miles flown, which, for an industry in its infancy is pretty good. And then the cost promises soon to be no greater than that of automobiling. Our aerial charabancs travels at fifty miles an hour with five passengers at a cost of sixpence per mile for every four people.

Well Known Naval Expert Explains Pause in Construction of Dreadnoughts and Outlines Probabilities of Equip- ment When Work Is Resumed.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
THE remarks of Admiral von Tirpitz in the Reichstag this week are held to indicate that for the present Germany will not follow the American lead in the construction of battle ships relying only on oil for fuel. It may be that the Germans are waiting until the internal combustion engine, in which oil can be consumed to so much greater advantage, is forthcoming, for the Grand Admiral is reported to have said that it was certain the future belonged to the oil motor.

This is a paraphrase of what Lord Fisher said to your correspondent during his trip to the United States in 1910.

"The nation that takes hold of the internal combustion engine first," said the British Admiral, "will sweep the boards commercially and it will be the commercial vessels that will first make the trial. It is a small step to use it in battle ships with increased weights possible in guns and armor."

This seems to be the general view among naval officers who keep an eye on the future.

There is now apparent in the war ship building of the nations something like a pause. It is not so pronounced as that which occurred after the advent of the dreadnought, but is nevertheless clearly perceptible. In Germany, where only two large ships are being laid down annually instead of four, delays have been caused by strikes. In France it is a question of design, not only of the vessels themselves, but of guns and armor. Similarly in Italy delay has occurred by the non-delivery of guns and armor for the new ships, and neither there nor in Austria has there been any further progress beyond the six and four ships respectively which were laid down from 1909 to 1912. The two powers, in other words, have now only ten ships in the water instead of the sixteen with which they were at one time credited.

If progress has been less than was anticipated, the causes are manifest. There is the oil fired battle ship, which first appeared in England and France and may soon appear in Germany, where 800-ton vessels are already afloat, and last but not least, the seaplane, the immense value of which for scouting purposes has just received such a striking illustration in the flight of Lieutenant Seddon along the south coast from Sheerness to Plymouth in six hours.

It can hardly be wondered at if there is a pause in shipbuilding when matters are in such an uncertain state. The greatest doubt exists as to what the battle ship of the future will be like. In the meantime we must go on building big craft, because as Admiral Sir Reginald Custance said in a letter in an English newspaper recently, the initial step in a policy of reduction will involve a great responsibility, from which all Admiralties naturally shrink.

Quarrel Ends in Engagement

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
"ALL the world loves a lover." That is perhaps why all London is talking about the pretty romance of Miss Cicely Courtneidge and Mr. Jack Hulbert, who, lovers on the stage, suddenly, as the result of a quarrel, found they were lovers in reality.

Miss Courtneidge is the twenty-four-year-old daughter of Mr. Arthur Courtneidge, playing the part of Lady Betty in "The Pearl Girl" at her father's theatre, the Shaftesbury, and Mr. Hulbert is a young actor, who in his first professional engagement had made something of a hit as Bobbie Jaffray.

"The romance is best told in Miss Courtneidge's own simple words, who said to an interviewer:—"I have known Mr. Hulbert about seven months—since he first joined the cast of 'The Pearl Girl.' It wasn't really the result of our loving each other on the stage, for we had been careful not to make it too real. He used to kiss me very gingerly. In fact, we were always quarrelling and hadn't the slightest idea that we liked each other until we became engaged."

"Of course, I really began to like him soon after we started rehearsals together, but I was very careful not to let him see it. I didn't know really whether he liked me, and since our engagement he has told me that he was similarly certain about me. At any rate, he tried very hard to show that he was not in love out of the play, and was indeed somewhat positively rude."

"Eventually we had a quarrel, and I think he felt very sorry. He came to my dressing room and it was really funny to see how he struggled to explain. At length, having apologized, he apparently gained courage, and confessed his love. Of course, after that," added Miss Courtneidge, with a merry laugh, as she tripped from her dressing room, "I had to make a like confession, and—well, there you are."

"Yes, it's quite true," said Mr. Hulbert a minute later. "I had pretended very successfully for a long time that I didn't love her. I was very rude; then came the quarrel, and we made it up."

Bad Boys' Friend Passes to Paris

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, March 7.
DR. JOHN A. COLLIVER, of Los Angeles, Cal., pioneer in juvenile court work in America and friend and helper of the "bad boy," has left here for Paris to study the street gamins at close range and compare the toughest youngsters he can find on the boulevards with the American and British brand. Dr. Colliver is making a leisurely trip around the world in pursuance of his studies, intending to spend sufficient time in each country to get thoroughly acquainted with child life there.

"More progress can be made by working with one generation of boys than can be made by working with several generations of adults," he said, when seen by your correspondent. "Boys vary with environment, as plants and flowers vary with soil."

One should not condemn a bad boy for thirty-seven times out of a hundred it is the fault of his parents or environment over which he has no control. Training a boy is like breaking a horse. It must be done properly, and the longer you let it go the harder the job you have."

As medical probate officer in Los Angeles, Dr. Colliver first attracted attention to his theories in 1904, when he vigorously opposed the old methods of either sending youngsters off to jail with severe sentences or giving them honey doctored notions of good reformation. He contended that nothing could be done through fear, and that the first necessity was getting the boys' confidence, characterizing poor health, poor nourishment and fault of the parents as the chief causes to be eliminated. Subsequently Dr. Colliver was invited to extend his work throughout the country, and he has visited about every juvenile court in the United States.

BRIDE OF MR. THOMAS HARDY

MRS. THOMAS HARDY

The wedding of Mr. Thomas Hardy, the famous novelist, who is seventy-four years old, and Miss Florence Emily Dugdale, for some years his secretary, was solemnized on February 10. Soon after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hardy travelled to his home at Dorchester, where the news of the marriage was a surprise. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dugdale. She has written several books for children—"Tim's Sister," "In Lucy's Garden," "The Book of Baby Beasts," "The Book of Baby Birds" and "The Book of Baby Pets." She was a close friend of Mr. Hardy's first wife, formerly Miss Emma Gifford, whom he married in 1874 and who died in 1912. He has no children.

The new democratic art, or rather the necessary art of guiding or fooling, which ever they liked to call it, made a rather absurd theory of government work some how.

Many Christian ministers found in politics a welcome refuge from preaching dogmas in which they no longer actively believed and which bored their congregations.

A man must be either a saint or a humbug to preach the Gospel in a pure and unalloyed form, and the majority of Englishmen were neither one nor the other.

COUNCIL REPORT

Finance Committee Recommends a Purchase and a Change Department

Evidently several of the Council committees have been doing some work recently, as their reports were submitted at last night's meeting. It was stated that attention had been given to several important matters. Finance Committee submitted reports on the only matter which was discussed was the grant of ten acres to the enlarged Catholic cemetery. This grant was made, therefore being set forth in the report of Ald. Pitcher's committee. The finance committee also submitted a wideawake report, more recommendations being the

Railway Inventory

Chairman Charlton submitted following report of the railway committee:

"That by the consent of the man of finance your committee obtained the aid of Mr. James one of the city assessors, secured the services of Mr. Lowe to make an inventory of the personal property of the Grand Valley railway."

"These gentlemen are making a careful inventory and expect their report ready at the next meeting of this Council."

In commenting on the inventory of the Grand Valley, Ald. Charlton said a lot of things had already been covered which no one ever dreamed of.

Finance Committee

Many important recommendations were made by the finance committee presented to the City Council at its meeting but evidently they all met with approval of the aldermen. The report was adopted with but one planation from Ald. Holliman, finance chairman, and with discussion on the part of the members. The recommendations which speak for themselves.

"That the account of the same amounting to $690.31 be paid by the committee would point out, that the agreement has not been carried out in connection with the same, and that before any money is paid the agreement be executed and all accounts certified and presented to the court in proper time."

"That, as the Bell Memorial Commission will likely take place during the year 1915, a communication re Canadian Penny be referred to the Memorial Committee, and that the of 1915 should act in conjunction with the Bell Memorial Commission regard."

"That when the Children's Society gives assurances satisfactory to the city solicitor that no more be required from the city judge of the children's committee will take the necessary with the Attorney-General's consent to have a judge of the court appointed."

"That in view of the fact request of J. B. Holt has to do with the court of revision Council cannot legally do anything in the matter."

"That the letter of the General Hospital, re Nicolet be referred to the city solicitor."

"That the payment of $100 prejudice be made in settling the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium."

"That this Council authorize the appointment of a purchaser and storekeeper."

"That the finance committee with the chairman of the committee, be empowered to the question of the appointment permanent auditor of the city."

"That the usual grant of made to the Children's Aid and that $200 be paid forth."
