CONSTIPATION

to Preventive of Many Ill Health Things Anything Else.

If the truth was only known you would find that over one half of the ill of life are caused by allowing the bowels to get into a constipated condition, and the only cause of constipation is an inactive liver, and unless the liver is kept active you may rest assured that headaches, jaundice, rheumatism, piles, bleeding spots, before the eyes, a feeling as if you were going to faint, or a numbness of the stomach will follow the wrong action of this one of the most important organs of the body.

Keep the liver active and working properly by the use of Milburn's Laxative Liver Pills.

Mrs. M. B. Robinson, Amherst, N.S., writes: "Having been troubled for years with constipation, and trying various remedies, which did me no good whatever, I was persuaded to try Milburn's Laxative Liver Pills. I have found them most beneficial. As they are not a cathartic pill, I can honestly recommend them to all who are suffering from constipation."

Milburn's Laxative Liver Pills: 25c. 50c. 1.00. at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Business Manager—Well, how many orders did you get yesterday? Traveler—I got two orders in one place. Manager—That's the stuff! what were they? Traveler—One was to get out and the other was to stay out.

There is nothing harsh about Laxa Liver Pills. They cure Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, and Bilious Spells, without griping, purging or sickness. Price 25c.

"Are you of the opinion James," asked a slim-looking man of his companion "that Dr. Smith's medicine does any good?" "Not unless you follow the directions."

"What are the directions?" "Keep the bottle tightly corked."

BEWARE OF WORMS: Don't let worms gnaw at the vitals of your children. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup and they'll soon be rid of these parasites. Price 25c.

"What's that piece of cord tied around your finger for?" "My wife put it there to remind me to post a letter."

"And did you post it?" "No; she forgot to give it to me."—Cincinnati Inquirer.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DIPHTHERIA. "The next person who interrupts the proceedings," said the judge sternly, "will be expelled from the courtroom and ordered home."

"Hooray!" cried the prisoner, and the Judge pondered.

Spread of Social Disorder.

Nobody expects a perfect society this side of heaven. But since both philosophy and practice have so far departed from the moral law, and since women seek to enter on equal terms those spheres for which they are disqualified by their physical being and their natural character, it is worth while to contrast the order within the spheres which women dominate with that existing where men hold the reins of power.

Are the home and social life in a better state of morality than commerce and politics? If the departments of civilized life over which women rule were strictly in order, then, indeed, they might assist in setting to rights man's world, for there is much to be done. Truly, things are due to Caesar which men deny and things are done to Caesar which men stress and strain the civil peace, while the absence of economic justice sets class against class.

Yes, it must be said that both politics and trade are in disorder, but men, not women, should set them in order. If men should permit their own work to be done by women, and women were able to do it, who then would do the work which women alone are qualified to do?

The Feminist have the answer, they look to see the woman made more of a man and the man more of a woman. Aye! the philosophy of a great English poet has ripened in these sixty years, for the superman will be not only absolutely soulless but practically sexless.

That the woman's world is greatly in disorder no one can deny. Men are helpless before the task of setting it to rights. The nature of disorders in the home and in society are such that women alone can cope with them.

But "votes for women" merely confounds the confusion. Neither can the votes of men reach to the core of the issue, for it lies in the mental and moral fabric of women's weaving. Woman may, if she will, heal the sores that are festering within her own dominion. But if she will, she must call upon the Vicar of Christ for her instruction.

Suffragists have so long been weaving public opinion with the warp of mental rebellion and the woof of sex discontent that the very foundations of our Republic are being sapped, because of the failure of a vast number of women to do the work God set them to do. Even the mention of her natural qualifications and their corresponding activities is vexatious of those most advanced in denying the true mission of woman. Their insistent iteration is for freedom from all the limitations of convention. Lacking the structure of logic, they read into the meaning of convention those limitations of sex relations prescribed by nature itself. Moreover, as a consequence of a lack of interior womanliness that is compelling our country faces the demoralizing influence of vain women, idle women, selfish women, luxurious women with their real rights contemned and their duties unperformed.

Woman's legitimate rights, as the second term of mankind, give her control of the home and of society, and her duties are to keep these environments in good order. But the following after strange gods has disordered her provinces and is constantly working havoc to the cause of Christ.

Besides woman's work in the home and in society, she plays a secondary, though very important, part within the civic and exchange spheres. So it is that woman's influence is good or bad in cities and in trade in proportion as she keeps within or exceeds her proper influence within these extended environments.

In the elevated arts, music, painting, architecture, comparisons are invidious, for men are freely at home upon these fields, while women are but occasional comers. But women, as well as men, has her creative spheres. Her great art is worked out interiorly; in conscious union with the Giver of Life, she moulds the future of her unborn children,

dedicating her first-born to the especial service of God. Women build in the hearts of the little ones, in the hearts of men, in the world of emotion and intuition. Masculine building, on the other hand, is exterior; men organize governments and build up the intellectual and moral codes that show the designs of Almighty God. Thus working together in complementary spheres, men and women lay the foundation in the home and build gloriously those nations which honor God.

No votes are needed for women to set their half of the world in order. Besides, the most fatal disorders are seen in the home, where even the votes of men are powerless, for men have not in their keeping the chastity of motherhood. It was to our Blessed Mother that God gave the custody of the Redeemer who was to appear. It is the woman who commits that abomination of desolation, murder of the unborn child, the most ruthless crime ever devised by the ingenuity of wickedness. Votes are not wanted to prevent another vile practice, which leading suffragists advocate. Votes are not wanted to give good care to helpless infants in squalid homes, but rather the early conviction of the mother that a child is a gracious gift from God, and a drill to the best practices known in the care of babies. Votes are not wanted to cure the incorrigible children who crowd our juvenile courts, but, rather, good government at home, where parents are commissioned by the Judge of judges. Votes are not wanted to clear our streets of hoodlums, but mothers who do not harken to evil counsels. Votes are not wanted to solve the servant-girl problem which is left all untouched while a multitude of illogical women pester men for votes that women need as much as the moon and are as well equipped to use as the baby is to handle the carving-knife. Votes are not wanted to protect the housemaids to whom the wages of sin make a most successful appeal, but rather a training of the young men in the family in Christian chivalry which guards defenseless girls even against their own desires. Votes are not wanted for the prudent spending of the husband's wages in the market place, but rather a sober sense of the fitness of things, which adjusts one's expenditure to one's income. Votes are not wanted to shame the rich bargain-hunter, but rather a sense of fair-play demanding measure for measure in economic value. Votes are not wanted to better conditions and raise wages for girls working in shops and factories, but a right public opinion.

Neither are votes wanted to empty those theatres and moving-picture houses where pleasure seekers are gorged with the vile trash they feed upon. Women support, largely, the "problem plays" with their false mental concepts and emotions reeking with the sweat of lust. The daughters of mothers are there with their mothers, together breathing in the fire of sex rebellion. The "best sellers" are bought with hard earned cash of husbands and fathers, and read, seducing the mind and capturing the fancy for a life the exact opposite from wholesome ideals. Newspapers carry into every home the most shocking tales of disordered families and social scandals, together with the vagaries of the so-called science of our day, which finds the "same root for man and brute," to borrow a great Pope's phrase. In the ball-room good women stand unabashed in scandalous attire, while luxurious women spare no pains in their appeal to the sensuous in mankind. The tango teas bring heart to heart the painting prig and the newest girl, both bred in the atmosphere of a soft and decadent environment, lurid with passions uncontrolled. On the street, one may be at pains to discover the line between the women in self-conscious scarlet and the woman merely in the garb of fashion. Vice in schools astounds and alarms the sober-minded. But sex hygiene and eugenics are preparing a stench not yet endured, while the school strike is but a ripe fruit of the revolt against the moral order which subjects children to parental control. For the rod has been long since spared and many a child has long since been spoiled in that home where "the baby is head of the family," because the father has abdicated his authority and the mother has forgotten that under God she stands at the head in the home.

These disorders within the spheres that women dominate cannot be cured by creating new ones within those departments under the rightful control of men; they must be cured by protecting the family as the unit of society.

The Communion of Saints.

In the communion of saints, as understood by the Catholic, there is presented to him, says Monsignor Benson, the satisfaction of that which, perhaps, next to the soul's need of God, is the deepest desire of his nature—the need of an open and authorized approach to the spirits of the blessed. To the Catholic death is a separation on one side only, never on the side of the saints. To the Catholic believer Mary looks down with her motherly eyes upon even the most miserable of the children of Eve; sinners, who by penitence have risen to sanctity, themselves help us sinners by their prayers and their sympathy; holy virgins intercede for the defiled, and martyrs for those who suffer. ended, God gives to the Catholic for every joy he renounces a thousandfold more; for every darkness a hundred dawns; for every human relationship that is sacrificed for Christ's sake a heavenly, instead; for "lands and houses" the whole earth which is His footstool, for every cross a crown. And all this is a hundredfold, now in this present time as well of life everlasting which is eternal.

Bishop Refuses Bequest. The Right Reverend James A. McFaul, Bishop of Trenton, N. J. refused a legacy of $11,000, because to take it would be an injustice to the children of the man who left it. The estate will be divided among the four children, whom the father cut off with $5 each saying they hadn't treated him right in his old age.

The estate is that of John Butterhof, a farmer who lived in Egg Harbor City. He died recently at the age of ninety, leaving the bulk of his estate, amounting to about $11,000, to Bishop McFaul, for St. Michael's Orphanage and other charities.

A caveat was filed by the children, saying that their father was incompetent because of his advanced age and did not know the extent of his property or those entitled to share it. They declared that the estate represented most of their earnings.

Bishop McFaul made an investigation, and learning that the children—three sons and a daughter—had had a share in enhancing the value of the estate, he reached the conclusion that it would be an injustice to the children to accept the bequest. He has instructed his counsel, Peter Backes, to draw up an agreement by which the children will share the estate equally.

The only daughter of the King of the Belgians, Princess Marie Jose, has been placed with the Ursuline nuns of Brentwood, Eng., for education. The young princess will inhabit a small detached house in the convent grounds which is being prepared for her and where she will have a small retinue. The son of the Duchess de Vendome is also at a Catholic school, Stonhurst, having been chosen for his education, for the present; however the brother of the princess, the young Duc de Brabant, remains at Eton.

Germany Cannot Win

The following extract from a letter received recently is self explanatory: "Why do you persist in writing editorials that Germany has 'shot her bolt' when, as a matter of fact the Allies have not made anything like satisfactory progress and there is nothing to indicate that this terrible war is near over. On the contrary everything points to fighting for the next two or three years. You may want to take a good view of it but it is better to tell the truth to the people and let them know what is expected."

War Loan Doubled.

So great has been the success of Canada's war loan that the amount has been doubled. Instead of $50,000,000 the loan is raised to $100,000,000. One hundred and ten million dollars were subscribed, and the Government then doubled the amount as above stated. Fifty million dollars of this will be employed to establish a credit with the finance department for the purchase in Canada of shells, munitions and other supplies. Such a credit will not only give relief to the sterling exchange situation but will materially assist in financing orders placed and procure the placing of further orders in Canada by the imperial government.

Agreement of the Allies

The text of the declaration signed last week by the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the French, Italian, Japanese and Russian ambassadors at London, engaging each of the five nations not to conclude a separate peace, is as follows: The Italian government, having decided to accede to the declaration between the British, French and Russian governments, signed in London, Sept. 5, 1914, which declaration was accepted by the Japanese government on October 19, 1915, the undersigned, duly authorized thereto by their respective governments, hereby declare as follows: The British, French, Italian, Japanese and Russian governments mutually engage not to conclude peace separately during the present war. The five governments agree that when terms of peace come to be discussed none of the Allies will demand conditions of peace without previous agreement of each of the other Allies.

Progress of the War

London, Nov. 30.—With the retreat of the greater part of the Serbian army across the Albanian frontier, the slowness of the operations against Montenegro and in southern Serbia owing to the wintry weather and the absence of any major operations on the western and eastern fronts, interest in the military side of the war is now transferred to the Austro-Italian frontier, where King Victor Emmanuel's troops are carrying on an energetic offensive against the Austrians. The fighting on this front has been the most sustained and the fiercest battle of the whole war. For weeks the Italians have been attacking the Austrian bridge-heads and mountain positions along the Isonzo river, and are slowly but surely drawing their nets around Tolmino, Gorizia and Doberdo. Their attacks have been repeated time after time against positions which had been most carefully prepared, and while the Austrians report that most of these assaults have been repulsed, their accounts of 4,000,000 of France and it is not difficult to see that even were Germany confronted by the task of facing Britain and France alone it would be beyond her, for while her 11,000,000 represents the limit of her power Britain would not be exhausted by 4,000,000 but could, and will, if necessary, put as many more in the field. No account has been taken of Austria and Turkey but it is there duty to carry on the war against the overwhelming numbers of Russia and the Italian armies—a task for which they are utterly unfit.

Hon. Senator McLean.

Ottawa advices of the 2nd, inst., brought the intelligence that Hon. John McLean, of Souris has been appointed to the Senate to fill the vacancy, caused by the death of the late Senator Robertson. Other appointments to the Senate were Hon. Dr. Sproule, Speaker of the Commons; John Milne, Hamilton, Ont. and M.C.P. Baubien, K. C., Montreal.

One hundred and ten million dollars were subscribed, and the Government then doubled the amount as above stated. Fifty million dollars of this will be employed to establish a credit with the finance department for the purchase in Canada of shells, munitions and other supplies. Such a credit will not only give relief to the sterling exchange situation but will materially assist in financing orders placed and procure the placing of further orders in Canada by the imperial government.

Agreement of the Allies

The text of the declaration signed last week by the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the French, Italian, Japanese and Russian ambassadors at London, engaging each of the five nations not to conclude a separate peace, is as follows: The Italian government, having decided to accede to the declaration between the British, French and Russian governments, signed in London, Sept. 5, 1914, which declaration was accepted by the Japanese government on October 19, 1915, the undersigned, duly authorized thereto by their respective governments, hereby declare as follows: The British, French, Italian, Japanese and Russian governments mutually engage not to conclude peace separately during the present war. The five governments agree that when terms of peace come to be discussed none of the Allies will demand conditions of peace without previous agreement of each of the other Allies.

Progress of the War

London, Nov. 30.—With the retreat of the greater part of the Serbian army across the Albanian frontier, the slowness of the operations against Montenegro and in southern Serbia owing to the wintry weather and the absence of any major operations on the western and eastern fronts, interest in the military side of the war is now transferred to the Austro-Italian frontier, where King Victor Emmanuel's troops are carrying on an energetic offensive against the Austrians. The fighting on this front has been the most sustained and the fiercest battle of the whole war. For weeks the Italians have been attacking the Austrian bridge-heads and mountain positions along the Isonzo river, and are slowly but surely drawing their nets around Tolmino, Gorizia and Doberdo. Their attacks have been repeated time after time against positions which had been most carefully prepared, and while the Austrians report that most of these assaults have been repulsed, their accounts of 4,000,000 of France and it is not difficult to see that even were Germany confronted by the task of facing Britain and France alone it would be beyond her, for while her 11,000,000 represents the limit of her power Britain would not be exhausted by 4,000,000 but could, and will, if necessary, put as many more in the field. No account has been taken of Austria and Turkey but it is there duty to carry on the war against the overwhelming numbers of Russia and the Italian armies—a task for which they are utterly unfit.

Germany Cannot Win

The following extract from a letter received recently is self explanatory: "Why do you persist in writing editorials that Germany has 'shot her bolt' when, as a matter of fact the Allies have not made anything like satisfactory progress and there is nothing to indicate that this terrible war is near over. On the contrary everything points to fighting for the next two or three years. You may want to take a good view of it but it is better to tell the truth to the people and let them know what is expected."

War Loan Doubled.

So great has been the success of Canada's war loan that the amount has been doubled. Instead of $50,000,000 the loan is raised to $100,000,000. MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DANDRUFF.

The New York Herald says that the publication of the terms of five Allies' agreement to make no separate peace is the decisive answer to the German peace maneuvers on the eve of the peace debate in the German Reichstag. As for Ford's "Noah's Ark," the attitude of the British press is described by the phrase, "it is to laugh."

Wives and children of Canadian soldiers made up a good part of 750 passengers who sailed from Liverpool on the White Star Liner Baltic. Many of them had no passports. A number in the steerage, who came from British Columbia, had certificates signed by the mayors of their towns and they were permitted to sail, but it is a question whether they will be permitted to land without passports.

The London Times

New York, Dec. 1.—A news agency despatch from London, published here today, says: "Home Secretary Sir John Simon was severely handled by the Conservative press today for his threat of force as a means to stop the Harmsworth newspapers criticisms of the government's war policy. Liberal papers, on the other hand, endorsed his speech in the House of Commons. The Evening Standard in an editorial headed: "Simple Simon," said: "The grotesque theory that one way to win the war is to execute Lord Northcliffe appears to have obtained a convert whom we credited with more shrewdness." "If the tone of the Harmsworth press has such serious effects as Sir John Simon alleges," inquired the Pall Mall Gazette, "why permit it to continue publication?" "Other newspapers have made mistakes and unwittingly played into the hands of the enemy," said the West Minister Gazette, "defending Simon, but none have pursued such a campaign of pessimism or furnished so much material for the enemy as the Daily Mail." "Lord Northcliffe's irresponsibility," declared the Star, another pro-government paper, "a public peril no other country in the world would tolerate." "If his incendiary megalomaniac continues unchecked the consequences may be grave."

Whitlock Not Wanted

London, Dec. 4.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company sends the following: "Advices from Rosendaal (Holland) state that Belgian newspapers, under the German censorship, have been ordered to announce that Brand Whitlock (United States minister to Belgium) will not return to Brussels. The news has been received with consternation throughout Belgium. It is believed that Gen. Von Bissing (the German governor-general of Belgium) desires to have Mr. Whitlock ousted, and that he is also pressing for the immediate removal of the American and Spanish legations from Brussels to Havre, where the Belgian government is."

Held Temporarily

London, Dec. 3.—The British government, it is confirmed in official circles has requisitioned the steamship Hocking and Genee, of the American Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company, but this action, it is added, is only of a temporary character, and no procedure is contemplated which would prevent the restoration of the ships to the company, in the event that the actions in the prize court are unsuccessful. It is explained that the government, having decided to centralize the prize court proceedings in London against vessels of the American Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company which have been seized—the number being given as several—the requisitioning will, in reality, only cover the trip from the ports where the ships have been captured to London, after which the prize court will take control. The cargoes against which no proceedings have been taken are being discharged. It is pointed out that the requisitioning of ships flying a neutral flag, against which prize court proceedings have been instituted, is not unprecedented nor contrary to international law, and it is asserted that such instances occurred during the Civil War.

The Sufficient Day

So soon the dawn runs into night, So swift go hours between, A day seems little in our eyes, Its promise small, fulfillment mean.

Dick's Diamonds

For holidays one could not desire a more charming combination than sunshine and Southport, thought a berry-brown man, as with eyes of condensed laughter he contemplated the wide expanse of shore dotted with picnic parties.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, small and hoarse, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

Heart Was So Weak Could Not Go Up Stairs Without Help

When the heart becomes weak and does not do its work properly the nerves become unstrung and the whole system seems to go "all to pieces."

When this happens you need a tonic to build up both the heart and nerves, and Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will accomplish this for you.

Mrs. Evangeliste Lovelace, Fort Coulonge, Que., writes: "Last summer my heart and nerves were so bad I could not sleep at night, and my heart was so weak I could not go up stairs without help."

"My doctor said he could do no more for me as my heart was completely done. A cousin of mine came in one day and told me that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured her completely."

"I am now well, and my heart and nerves are stronger than when I was a little school girl. I advise anyone with heart trouble to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25; for sale at all druggists; mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."

panies to which he owed his introduction to Alice, the chair which had been carried out for him being occupied by the family cat, when there came a surge of silk, a rattle of chains and brackets, and a delighted cry.

"Why, Mr. Penton, how perfectly lovely! You mentioned you were going to Southport, and I've been wondering if I should meet you, ever since my doctor ordered me here. Where can I find a quiet place to stay? I'm so sick of hotels and hydros, bridge and tennis and frivolities don't you know! Are you boarding here? What a charming, peaceful place! Is that your landlady on the porch? I must ask her if she will accommodate me. So tired hunting for suitable rooms."

Dick's first wild impulse to fly the spot was crushed by thought of Alice, but his lips took a dismal curve when the staccato of Mrs. Wharton's voice reached him above the subdued murmurs of Mrs. Kendrick. "Then that is all nicely settled. So charming that my former fellow-traveller, Mr. Penton, should be here too!"

"She has come to stay," muttered Dick dolefully, and the subsequent arrival of vast trunks and hatboxes confirmed his fears.

Here was an all-pervading personality and the quiet of the house was at an end. Toward Dick she assumed an air of proprietorship that he found infinitely disconcerting, yet was unable to combat. And the more she filled the foreground the farther Alice retreated into the background.

He knew that she misunderstood the position, yet how on earth could he explain? What was there to explain, except that Mrs. Wharton was always wanting to consult him about something, and that he did not want to be consulted?

This morning she swept into his presence with a question as to stock and shares, and a dissertation on the difficulty of finding an investment that was both safe and profitable.

"Money is a terrible responsibility," was her sighing conclusion.

"It can always be got rid of," encouraged Dick.

"What I mean is that when one is well-off, one can seldom be sure of disinterested affection, one is the object of all sorts of designs and snares. In connection with which I must ask you something: Do you remember Mr. Gibson, who came home on the same ship with us. Have you ever seen him since?"

"Not I. Why do you ask?"

"Because he took a strange, not to say suspicious interest in you and your movements."

"My fatal beauty! But I really thought you were the attraction," declared Dick, in round-eyed wonder, and Mrs. Wharton laughed heartily.

"Oh, dear, no! How could I be! He is a married man. He was watching you, I had almost said dogging you. Have you any idea why?"

"Not the slightest," said Dick, emphatically.

"Not through the fact that you own some almost priceless diamonds is public property?"

"I take your meaning, but somehow I think you are wrong."

"A woman's instincts seldom are, Mr. Penton. They constrain me to warn you against that person."

Her interest was flattering, no doubt, but he was ungrateful enough to find it rather tiresome. A day or two after that conversation he returned in the quiet of eventide from a lengthy ramble through Birkdale, feeling a trifle fagged, and as he closed the garden gate a lean figure on the opposite pavement caught his eye; recognizing it, his pulse momentarily leaped. The coincidence was remarkable, to say the least.

"Come ye in peace, or come ye in war? Things are getting exciting," he told himself, and he seized first the opportunity of sharing the sensation with Mrs. Wharton; she was going to a concert and conveyed a radiant impression of glossy hair and sparkling eyes and pearly teeth and glittering sequins.

"It is queer," said Dick, "but I have just seen the man we were speaking about the other day—Gibson, I mean."

Mrs. Wharton started. She looked alarmed.

"Oh, Mr. Penton, what can it mean? Why is the man following you?"

A COLD Settled On Her Lungs Causing Great Pain.

THE CURE WAS DR. WOOD'S Norway Pine Syrup.

Miss D. M. Pickering, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "Having derived great benefit from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought I would write and tell you of my experience. When I first came out from England I contracted a severe cold, owing to the change of climate. It settled on my lungs, and caused me a great deal of pain. I tried every remedy I could think of, but got no relief. My father, who had heard a great deal about the good qualities of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, advised me to try it. I did so, and I am pleased to say, found immediate relief. I only took one bottle and it cured me completely. My mother had a severe cold also, and Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cured her, so we were never far from a bottle of it in the house."

See that none of those so-called "pine syrups" are handed out to you when you go to your druggist or dealer and ask for "Dr. Wood's." It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price, 25c and 50c.

safety by avoiding him," she urged.

"Too much of Mother Eve in me for that. But I am sorry I told you if it worries you," said Dick, in no wise worried or disturbed, himself.

The matter affected him so slightly that he sat reading in his sitting-room long after the others had retired, until the warmth and hush of the night combined with datural fatigue to lull him into a deep and dreamless slumber.
