Ontario's Safe, "Hurrah, Hurrah!"

"Five o'clock" on Thursday, June 5, 1890, has passed and gone. The voice of the people has been heard, and yet OLIVER MOWAT's "hour has not come," in the sense that the Tories looked for.

Once more the electors of Ontario have gone to the polls, and with no uncertain sound have they endorsed the policy of Ontario's Grand Old Man.

show that the Reformers have carried 56 seats, the Conservatives 30, and there are five from which returns have not come in of sufficient reliance to place the candidates on one side or the other of the political fence.

Some well-known politicians have, however, dropped from the saddle, and it will be learned with regret that Mr. MOWAT has lost two of his trusted colleagues at the Cabinet Board in the persons of Hon. J. M. GIBSON, of Hamilton, and Hon. CHARLES DRURY, of West Simcoe. But while Mr. MOWAT has suffered in the defeat of these gentlemen a brace of Mr. MEREDITH's trusted lieutenants have bitten the dust and the Legislative halls that knew them will know no more the presence of CHISHOLM, of North Grey, and FRENCH, of Grenville. Up in Grey the "Grits" were on the run" to the extent of 350 of a majority against the Empire's managing editor.

Nearer home we have cause for congratulation. Old Huron has kept firm in the faith, and sends three straight supporters of the Government in J. T. GARROW, THOMAS GIBSON, and ARCHIE BISHOP. In West Huron Mr. GARROW made a grand fight, and, despite the employment of the meanest tactics on the part of opponents, and base treachery on the part of a few alleged Liberals of bigoted and intolerant natures, has been successful in keeping the constituency in line by something better than its normal majority. Mr. GARROW ran against an admittedly strong man, for no Tory candidate ever before placed in the field exceeded Mr. ROBERTS in character, ability, or in the strength of the cries which were raised to influence the electorate in his favor. GARROW had not the prestige of being an old parliamentarian and a Cabinet Minister, but came as a new man into the political arena, and his triumphant return by a solid and substantial majority is a tribute not only to his personal worth, but to the cause which he espoused.

The battle has been fought and won, and the Province is still safe. The sun shone this morning as brightly as ever before and the gloom on the countenances of our Tory friends fail to cause its radiance to pall. Once more an appeal to Reason and Credibility by Mr. MEREDITH has failed of effect, and it has been proved that Sense and Worth bear the palm, and Bigotry and Intolerance are not words to conjure majorities and capture Cabinets.

Old Huron is safe; Ontario is not in danger; MOWAT won't go.

WHEN THE RETURNS CAME IN

Shortly after 5 o'clock the Conservatives of the section began to show up in large numbers, but when it was found that Goderich had remained firm in the faith, that the Salford Tory vote had dropped, that the abnormal opposition majorities expected from Wingham and Clinton had not materialized, and that Blyth had tied where a Tory majority of 21 had previously existed, there was no balm in Gilead for them. Later on, when it was learned from Hamilton that Hon. J. M. GIBSON was defeated, Dr. HOLMES raised the drooping spirits of his friends by stating in his inimitable way, "The first of Mr. MOWAT's Cabinet Ministers has gone," and the smile on the countenances of some of his satellites was fully a yard wide. Later on, as the returns came in to Victoria Hall, the Conservative headquarters, a wet blanket was spread over their rose anticipations, and very early in the evening the telegraphic returns from outside points lost their interest to Tory ears.

The Reformers, on the contrary, took things coolly and calmly from the start. Their returns were received at the Grand Opera House, where a large gathering waited patiently while the reports came in, varying the monotony by rousing cheers as the favorable returns continued to come in. When it was assured that MOWAT would not go and that GARROW's hour had come, Messrs. GARROW and MCGILLICUDDY were loudly called upon to address the large gathering and each made a short but enthusiastic address congratulating the electors on the success of the contest, not only in West Huron, but throughout the Province.

The Deserter By Capt. Charles King, U.S.A.

Author of "DUNRAVEN RANCH," "THE COLONEL'S DAUGHTER," "MARION'S FAITH," ETC.

CHAPTER XIX.

He sprang up and went right out with me.

Within the week succeeding the departure of the Rayners and Miss Travers, Lieut. Hayne's brother-in-law and his remarkably attractive sister were with him in garrison and helping him fit up the new quarters which the colonel had rather insisted on his moving into and occupying, even though two unmarried subalterns had to move out and make way for him. This they seemed rather delighted to do. There was a prevailing sentiment at Warrener that nothing was too good for Hayne nowadays; and he took all his adulation so quietly and modestly that there was difficulty in telling just how it affected him. Towards those who had known him well in the days of his early service he still maintained a dignity and reserve of manner that kept them at some distance. To others, especially to the youngsters in the —th as well as to those in the Riflers, he unbent entirely, and was frank, unaffected and warm hearted. He seemed to bask in the sunshine of the respect and consideration accorded him on every side. Yet no one could say he seemed happy. Courteous, grave far beyond his years, silent and thoughtful, he impressed them all as a man who had suffered too much ever again to be light-hearted. Then it was more than believed he had fallen deeply in love with Nellie Travers; and that explained the rarity and sadness of his smile. To the women he was the center of intense and romantic interest.

Mrs. Waldron was an object of jealousy because of the priority of her claims to his regard. Mrs. Hurley—the sweet sister who so strongly resembled him—was the recipient of universal attention from both sexes. Hayne and the Hurleys, indeed, would have been invited to several places an evening could they have accepted. And yet, with it all, Mr. Hayne seemed at times greatly preoccupied. He had a great deal to think of.

To begin with, the widow Clancy had been captured in one of the mining towns, where she had sought refuge, and brought back by the civil authorities, nearly $5,000 in greenbacks having been found in her possession. She had fought like a fury and proved too much for the sheriff's posse when first arrested, and not until three days after her incarceration had not yet released him, and he was anxious to see it fit.

"The one thing lacking to complete the chain is Gower," said the major, as he looked up over his spectacles. "It would be difficult to tell what became of him. We get tidings of most of the deserters who were as prominent, among the men as he appears to have been, but I have made inquiry, and so has the colonel, and not a word has ever been heard of him since the night he appeared before Mrs. Clancy and handed over the money to her. He was a strange character, from all accounts, and must have had some conscience after all. Do you remember him at all, Hayne?"

"I remember him well. We made the march from the Big Horn over to Battle Butte together, and he was a soldier one year before, the night previous to his tragic death at Battle Butte. Mrs. Clancy at first had furiously declared it all a lie; but Waldron's and Billings' precaution that almost the entire amount was stolen from Capt. Hull nearly six years before, the night previous to his tragic death at Battle Butte. Mrs. Clancy at first had furiously declared it all a lie;

"Of course his testimony isn't necessary. Clancy and his wife between them have cleared you, after burying you alive five years. But nothing but his story could explain his singular conduct—planning the whole robbery, executing it with all the skill of a professional jailbird, deserting and covering several hundred miles with his plunder, then daring to go to the old fort, find Mrs. Clancy, and surrender every cent the moment he heard of your trial. What a fiend that woman was! No wonder she drove Clancy to be forgotten."

What proved the hardest problem for the garrison to solve was the fact that, while Mr. Hayne kept several of his old associates at a distance, he had openly offered his hand to Rayner. This was something the Riflers could not account for. The intensity of his feeling at the time of the court martial none could forget; the vehemence of his denunciation of the captain was still fresh in the memory of those who heard it. Then there were all those years in which Rayner had continued to crowd him to the wall; and finally there was the almost tragic episode of Buxton's midnight visitation, in which Rayner, willingly or not, had been in attendance. Was it not odd that in the face of all these considerations the first man to whom Mr. Hayne should have offered his hand was Capt. Rayner? Odd indeed! But then only one or two were made acquainted with the full particulars of Clancy's confession, and none had heard Nellie Travers' request. Touched as he was by the sight of Rayner's haggard and trouble-worn face, relieved as he was by Clancy's revelation of the web that had been woven to cover the tracks of the thieves and ensnare the feet of the pursuers, Hayne could not have found it possible to offer his hand; but when he bent over the tiny glove and looked into her soft and brimming eyes at the moment of their parting he could not say no to the one thing she asked of him: it was that if Rayner came to say, "Forgive me," before they left, he would not repel him. There was one man in garrison whom envelopes. I was there where I could see it all, and Gower was watching him close. It's a big pile the captain's got, says he. "I'd like to be a road agent and nab him." "When I told him it couldn't be over eleven hundred dollars, he says, 'That's only part. He has his own pay and six hundred dollars company fund, and a wad of greenbacks he's been carrying around all summer. It's nigh on to four thousand dollars he's got in his saddle bags now."

"And that night, instead of Lieut. Crane's coming back, he sent word he had found the trail of a big band of Indians, and the whole crowd went in pursuit. There were four companies of infantry, under Capt. Rayner, and F and K troops what was left of them that were ordered to stay with the wagons and bring them safely down; and we started with them westwards. Battle Butte, keeping south of the way the regiment had gone to follow Mr. Crane. And the very next day Capt. Rayner got orders to bring his battalion to the river and get on the boat, while the wagons kept on down the bank with us to guard them. And Mr. Hayne was acting quartermaster, and he stayed with us; and him and Capt. Hull was together a good deal. There was some trouble, we heard, because Capt. Rayner thought another officer should have been made quartermaster and Mr. Hayne should have stayed with his company, and he had made some words; but Capt. Hull gave Mr. Hayne a horse and seemed to keep him with him; and that night, in sight of Battle Butte, the steamboat was out of sight ahead when we went into camp, and I was sergeant of the guard and had my fire near the captain's tent, and twice in the evening Gower came to me and said now was the time to lay hands on the money and skip. At last he says to me, 'You are flat broke, and they'll all be down on you when you get back to the post. No man in America wants five hundred dollars more than you do. I'll give you five hundred in one hour from now if you'll get the captain out of his tent for half an hour.' Almost everybody was asleep then; the captain was, and I broke my heart then, and I vowed I'd go and tell him the truth, but they wouldn't let me. She told me the captain said he would kill me if I blabbed, and she would kill Kate. I didn't dare, until they told me my discharge had come, and then I was glad when the lieutenant got back—that somebody was in trouble, and that I must save him; and I believed Kate, and charged Mrs. Clancy with it, and she beat me and Kate, and swore it was all a lie; and I never could get the money.

"And the lieutenant came the fire, and it was the lieutenant that saved my life and Kate's, and brought her back to all that he had given to her while they were getting settled in the new post after the Battle Butte campaign, and he had made her promise to give it to me the moment I got back—that somebody was in trouble, and that I must save him; and I believed Kate, and charged Mrs. Clancy with it, and she beat me and Kate, and swore it was all a lie; and I never could get the money.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Now that the elections are over it will be in order to look at some of the peculiarities that have been indulged in by the press and speakers on both sides. We admit that the tendency when the blood is warm is to have the judgment warped to some extent, but there is no reason why any one should be blinded by party to such an extent that no good can be seen in the other party.

Fortunately, in this section of Huron we think the tendency to belittle opponents, and to falsify the record has been less indulged in than in almost any constituency, and from personal knowledge of the press and platform we know of very little that can come between the friendliness of participants in the conflict which existed previous to the contest.

True, there has been strong discussion, and earnest men have striven, according to their light, to present their side of the question, but in few if in any cases have personal relations between the speakers been changed, and the election in West Huron for 1890 closes with a better feeling existing between all the participants than ever existed after a previous campaign.

All through the constituency the meetings held in the interest of each party have been of the most orderly character, and in every instance a fair hearing has been extended to the speakers on each side.

During the contest the Tories imported some stumps to help them through, and had men like H. E. CLARKER of Toronto, LARKE, of Oshawa, and GREGORY, of Toronto, to aid and assist. Dr HOLMES, JAMES MITCHELL, DR SHANNON, H. W. BALL, of Goderich; WM CLEGG and HARRY MYER, of Wingham, and FRANK METCALF, of Blyth. The Reformers, on the other hand, did the work within themselves, and in addition to the excellent part played by the candidate, J. T. GARROW, such men as M. C. CAMERON, Hon A. M. ROSS, D. MC GILLICuddy and F. BLAIR, of Goderich; A. H. MANNING, of Clinton; DR SLOAN, of Blyth, and that well-known political warhorse, JIM SOMERVILLE, ex-M.P., of Lucknow, faced the music at each and every point. Only one Tory meeting on the published list went by default, and that was through a misunderstanding. On the other hand, at only one of Mr GARROW's meetings was there any opposition, and only one of the Tory speakers managed to screw up courage to attend.

"Our friends the enemy" appeared to have a wholesale horror of joint discussion, and hated terribly to be met face to face, and have the questions discussed openly and above board by representatives of both parties. The reason advanced was that there was a lack of speakers in the Tory party, but, despite the fact that no Tory orators could be found to attend Liberal meetings, there was always a plethora at the Tory meetings—in some cases from four to six speakers being present.

We are of opinion that free speech was not wanted, and that our opponents depended more upon the success of underhand methods than upon the advocacy of their cause.

The result in West Huron shows, however, that honest discussion and honorable work will always carry the day, when bigotry, intolerance and slander form the stock in trade of the other side.

Mr GARROW has come through the contest without a smirch upon his reputation, and has succeeded in holding the riding by something like its normal majority.

We congratulate the electors of West Huron on the result.

THE Conservative party will have to run the next election for Sir JOHN with "Facts for the Irish Electors" as campaign literature. This Equal Rights style of doing business won't suit the Tories in Dominion elections.

'Rah for GARROW and MOWAT.'

WHAT'S the matter with the Tory rooster this week? He's kind of drooping, like.

MEREDITH's Cabinet has gone up Salt Creek, and so has the reputation as a prophet of every Tory stumper in Ontario.

JIM L. HUGHES is a adder and wiser man. He slipped upon an Orange Peel yesterday and dislocated his political anatomy.

Quite a number of Garrow hats are now jauntily worn by jubilant Reformers. The Tories are satisfied with "cow-breakfasts."

MEREDITH got it in the neck yesterday, and isn't half as pretty as he looked in the picture shown by DR Holmes at Dungannon Wednesday night.

NOW MR FRANK METCALF, of Blyth, secretary of the Equal Rights Association, who voted against Mr GARROW Thursday, get your little gun and go after Sir JOHN. Your hour has come.

It will now be in order for the Hamilton Spectator to tell Mr MEREDITH that he has proved himself to be a leader who doesn't lead, and ask him to retire from the political arena.

THE so-called Reform Equal Righters who voted against Mr GARROW Thursday, have crawled under the barn today, and are ashamed to let even their wives know that they were such fools as to be choked with such absurd catch crises and appeals to bigotry. Any man may make a fool of himself, but he hates to let the neighbors know it.

Editor of the Huron Signal, Goderich.

I notice that there is general satisfaction expressed in the Canadian papers because the Government is increasing its immigration grants. In this step all rejoice. Our country is large and there is room for millions more. In fact, we could dump into Canada the entire population of Europe and then add to that the population of the United States and Mexico without being crowded. Our labor unions, of the various orders, need not fear the importation of muscle from abroad. The whole history of migration to new countries shows that where muscle appears in large quantities there capital is found in corresponding amounts. Canada needs two things: muscle and money. This means labor and capital. We have a few foolish people who say we need only capital. This is a serious blunder and arises from selfishness or ignorance generally from both, with a double portion of the former. Through the efforts of the Church of the Ascension. Again thanking my friends through you, and hoping the choir may continue to prosper in the future as in the past, I remain yours truly,

Coming as it does at this time, and so unexpectedly, thereby proving to me the many warm friends left behind in the choir and congregation of the Church of the Ascension, the gift is appreciated more than I can express by mere words, and will ever remind me of the many pleasant associations of the past five years with the choir of the Church of the Ascension. Again thanking my friends through you, and hoping the choir may continue to prosper in the future as in the past, I remain yours truly,

THE HURON SIGNAL, FRIDAY, JUNE 6.

WEST HURON TEACHERS.

They Meet in Conclave at Exeter and Discuss the Situation.

EXETER, May 22nd, 1890.

The West Huron Teachers' Association met in Exeter public school today pursuant to the call of the executive. The president, Thos Murch, in the chair. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mr W. H. Johnston.

The following committee were appointed, viz: Business—Messrs W. J. Hogarth, A. W. Hotham, G. H. Tom, Misses Gregory, Gill and Ball. Question-Drawer—Inspector Tom and Messrs J. T. Wren and G. W. Holman. Resolution—W. H. Johnston, W. H. Baker and Miss Vesper.

Moved by Inspector Tom, seconded by W. H. Johnston, that this Institute meeting select subjects to be discussed at the next meeting of the Association.

The secretary read a communication from the secretary of the Oxford Teachers' Institute in regard to matters pertaining to granting third class teachers certificates.

On motion of G. W. Holman, seconded by G. H. Tom, it was decided to consider said communication on Friday afternoon when discussing sec. No 3 of the program.

A circular was read from the secretary of the Ontario Teachers' Association in regard to the minutes of said Association, also in regard to the election of a delegate.

It was decided on motion of Inspector Tom, seconded by W. H. Johnston, to hold an evening session, the nature of such meeting to be determined by the Business committee.

Routine business having been disposed of, the program was then taken up by discussing geography. The subject was dealt with under several heads, as follows, viz:—

1. What special advantages does geography possess as a school study?

This part of the subject was discussed by W. H. Johnston, W. H. Baker, Inspector Tom, J. R. Balfour and J. W. Hogarth.

The main points brought out were:—It enables pupils to understand the history, commerce, boundaries, etc., of countries. It creates interest in reading literature and a desire for knowledge about countries in general. It affords excellent exercises in drawing and is especially interesting to pupils. It cultivates the reasoning faculties, memory and observation. It affords pleasant variety and cultivates enquiry.

2. Would you teach geography inductively or deductively?

With what class would you begin?

This subject was discussed by Messrs Hogarth, Balfour, Baker, Holman, Hobbs and Inspector Tom, mostly all agreeing that the subject should be taught inductively, leading the pupil from the known, such as the local physical features, to the unknown, as large mountains, rivers and lakes which the pupils are not familiar with. Local geography should be taught thoroughly to the junior classes, beginning with Part II class.

Roll call showed 40 teachers present.

The Business committee reported progress in arrangement for evening session. On motion the Association adjourned to meet at 1.30 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Association met at 1.30 p.m. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

At the suggestion of Inspector Tom, Mr D. C. Dorrance was appointed on the Resolution Committee.

The Association then proceeded to discuss "The Composition of Rural School Boards." This proved a very interesting topic, and was taken up by Inspector Tom, W. H. Baker, D. C. Dorrance, G. W. Holman and others.

The teachers present were unanimous in the opinion that the number should be increased to six. It would tend to greater permanency and increase the interest in education generally. It would remove the opportunity of exercising arbitrary conduct on the part of certain individuals who might be disposed to exercise the same.

It was moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by D. C. Dorrance and resolved, that this Association is of the opinion that it would be to the interest of education in general to have the number of trustees on rural School Boards increased to six and that three of such members should have children attending school.

The next topic for discussion was "Raising the Standard of Entrance Examinations to promotion from 5th to 6th class."

This made a lively discussion, which was participated in by Inspector Tom, G. W. Holman, D. C. Dorrance, G. H. Tom, W. H. Johnston, J. R. Balfour, R. H. Henderson.

A resolution that the standard for entrance examination be not raised as proposed was carried by a large majority.

Roll call showed 47 teachers in attendance.

The next subject taken up for discussion was "Promotion Examinations and Limit Table."

Inspector Tom explained the working of those examinations in the past and suggested changes in the mode of conducting them that might be adopted for the future. This subject was further enlarged upon by Mears Henderson, Hobbs, Latta, Holman, Hogarth, Wren, the general opinion prevailing being that there should be papers for promotion from junior to senior sections. It was also maintained that it would be advisable to have committees appointed from time to time to assist the Inspectors in preparing papers, and that the limit of examining should be extended to promotion from 5th to 6th class, which would act as an incentive to the larger scholars to endeavor to pass these higher examinations.

Moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by J. A. Dempsey, that papers be prepared for promotion from 4th to 5th and 5th to 6th classes. The resolution was carried.

Moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by D. C. Dorrance and resolved, that a committee of five teachers be appointed at the annual meeting of this Association to act as a similar committee appointed by the North Huron Teachers' Association to assist the Inspectors in preparing promotion examination papers.

The next topic discussed was "Monthly Reports." This subject evoked little interest, as the majority of teachers present did not think and did not seem very much interested in their importance to the pupils. They are generally considered too troublesome and occupy too much time in preparation to be of value as an aid.

The following resolution was then presented by the Resolution committee, which, on motion of Inspector Tom, seconded by G. W. Holman, was unanimously adopted, viz: "Resolved that it is with feelings of sorrow and regret that we, the members of your sister Association, learn of the unexpected and sudden demise of your late Inspector, Mr Malloch, and beg to join with you in tendering our heartfelt sympathy to Mrs Malloch and her son in their sad bereavement."

On motion the Association adjourned to meet in the town hall at 8 o'clock p.m.

EVENING SESSION.

The Association held its evening session in the town hall. A program had been prepared by the Business committee, and the entertainment proved very interesting.

The president read a carefully prepared address on "Our Association, What we can do for it, and what it can do for us." The address contained much valuable information, and many pointed remarks as to the benefits teachers should derive from their attendance.

A program consisting of instrumental music, songs, readings and recitations was carried out. All who took part acquitted themselves very creditably. At an early hour the proceedings broke up with the usual votes of thanks and singing "God save the Queen."

FRIDAY MORNING SESSION.

The Association met in the school house at 9 a.m. Mr Geo. Baird conducted devotional exercises. The minutes of the two previous sessions were read and adopted.

A communication was read from the Carleton County Teachers' Association.

On motion this communication was left over for consideration at the next meeting of this Association, as the program provided for this meeting was not nearly exhausted.

Moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by G. Baird and resolved, that Mr Thomas Murch be appointed delegate to the next Provincial Teachers' Association.

On motion of W. H. Johnston, seconded by J. W. Hogarth, Inspector Tom was appointed also to represent this Association at the next meeting of said Association.

On motion of W. H. Johnston, seconded by G. W. Holman, Inspector Tom was appointed to represent this Association at the next meeting of said Association.

Work in Duluth.

When we talked as engaging Mr P. A. Burdick to come here, we felt that there were two disadvantages to be overcome. We have in Duluth no large audience room outside of the churches, excepting the opera house, and as we were trying to reach a class of people who do not enter a church, we knew that if in justice to Mr Burdick we must engage the opera house. This was objectionable because it is so divided into galleries and boxes that it is difficult to take up a collection or pass the pledge; but principally because of the expense, which was $70 a night. To incur this expense, besides the $150 a week we must give Mr Burdick and his travel expenses from New York and back, which he had only $40.

The treasurer then read a financial statement showing that the finances of the Association were in very favorable condition, there being about $100 on hand.

The above routine business having been disposed of, the adjourned discussion on geography was taken as under the following head:

1. What importance do you attach to drawing? This was discussed very thoroughly by Messrs Geo. Baird, R. R. Ross, G. H. Tom, Inspector Tom, J. W. Hogarth, J. R. Balfour, J. J. Latta, G. W. Holman, J. B. Richardson.

The main feature of the discussion were the unanimity with which all emphasized the importance of drawing.

Sections of countries or provinces would be well for local or provincial geography.

It was urged by a great many teachers and the Inspector that where it is possible the maps should be hung on the walls, while others thought that in such cases the maps should be good ones or left off the walls altogether. It was also maintained that hanging the maps continually on the walls would tend to familiarize the pupils with the outlines and locations of countries, etc.

Under the heading "Mathematical Geography" it was generally conceded to be almost impossible to teach this thoroughly on account of the lack of proper apparatus.

2. To what extent would you teach the railway system of Canada? This was pretty fully discussed, most agreeing that the main railways of the country should be taught and those of minor importance left out.

The next subject taken up was "Third Class Professional Certificates," and was discussed under several heads, as follows—

1. Shall they be limited to the county in which granted?

2. Shall the Model School term be restricted to the first half of the year?

3. Should a course of professional reading be prescribed by the Educational Department for pupil teachers, and an examination on the same, passed before entering the Model School?

4. Should the age standard be raised?

These various points were discussed fully by G. W. Holman, Inspector Tom, D. C. Dorrance, R. R. Ross, G. H. Tom, J. W. Hogarth, R. H. Henderson.

A resolution that the standard for entrance examination be not raised as proposed was carried by a large majority.

Roll call showed 47 teachers in attendance.

The Association met at 1.45 p.m. The minutes of the morning session were read and adopted.

The adjourned discussion on "Third Class Professional Certificates" was resumed. After discussing the whole subject fully the following resolutions, prepared by the Resolution Committee, were on motion of G. W. Holman, seconded by R. R. Ross, adopted:

1. That in the opinion of this Association no person should be allowed to teach school under the age of twenty years for males and nineteen years for females.

2. That the Model School term should be lengthened to six months, beginning in January.

3. That, in addition to passing the primary examination, those who intend to attend the Model School should pass an examination on some professional work or works before entering said Model School.

4. That the same percentage of marks be exacted on Model School works in all the counties of the Province.

5. That the standard of the primary examination remain as it is at present, and that euclid be added.

Inspector Tom and Messrs Holman and Wren then answered the questions which had been deposited in the Question Drawer. Some very interesting questions were asked, and the answers given were both instructive and amusing.

Most of the queries were pertaining to the usual routine school work.

The question as to whether it would be advisable to establish a teacher's library in the Inspectorate was then taken up and pretty fully discussed.

The discussion was brought to a close by the adoption of the following resolution.

Moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by J. A. Dempsey, viz:—

That, in view of the expense in connection with such a project, and that most of the teachers are convenient to good Mechanics' Institutes where good literature can easily be procured, it would be undesirable to establish a teacher's library at present.

Mr W. H. Johnston gave notice that at the next meeting of the Association he would move that the bonus or periodicals subscribed for by members of the Association be one half of the club rates.

On motion of Inspector Tom, seconded by J. A. Dempsey, the Association adjourned to meet in Goderich at the call of the executive.

THE "Y.S." COLUMN.

Giving for God is not the only way to gain heavenly-mindedness; but cur un-willingness to give for him may stand in the way of our entering into fuller blessing.—Rev P. L. Hunter.

Temperance sentiments spread, and temperance principles like cutting off the vine, grow with a vigorous and persistent growth. On the evening of Saturday, September 29th, the sixteenth half-yearly special communion service with unfermented wine was held in Queen Street Hall, Edinburgh, the only condition of communicating being that the applicants are already church members. Mr John Hope, of Moray Place, is the leader of the movement. There are now no fewer than 150 elders in Edinburgh, who have heartily identified themselves with this important action.

Moved by G. W. Holman, seconded by G. Baird and resolved, that Mr Thomas Murch be appointed delegate to the next Provincial Teachers' Association.

On motion of W. H. Johnston, seconded by J. W. Hogarth, Inspector Tom was appointed also to represent this Association at the next meeting of said Association.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING
The Storm Does Great Damage in Various Parts of Ontario.

MOUNT BRUNSWICK, June 4.—During last night's storm lightning struck the house of Richard Veach, doing over $300 damage.

WINDSOR, June 4.—Last night the barns and stables owned by W. Chaleo were struck by lightning and burned to the ground. He managed by the assistance of neighbors to save the stock, but implements and grain were all lost.

BROOKLIN, June 4.—A heavy thunderstorm passed over this village last night and immediately following an unusually brilliant flash of lightning flames were seen issuing from the large tannery owned by William Murray & Co. The bucket brigade was promptly formed and succeeded in confining the flames to the burning building. Loss about $20,000, insurance about $10,000. Twenty-five men are thus thrown out of employment.

DELHI, June 4.—The thunderstorm of last night was the most disastrous known in these parts for years. Three barns with contents, as far as heard from, were destroyed. One was owned by Mathew Buchner, another by W. W. Clinton, the third by Peter Kemp.

A Washout on the N. & N.W.

HAMILTON, June 4.—The heavy rainstorm of last night washed away the ballast under the N. & N.W. railway track for a considerable distance at Jarvis cut, near Jarvis. So serious was the washout that a ballast train was sent out from Hamilton this morning to repair the damage. Not much delay to traffic occurred. The train from the south, due here at 9:30 a.m., arrived at 1:30 p.m.

A Village Wrecked.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 4.—From a passenger who arrived from Chadron this morning it is learned only one person was killed by the cyclone, a child. Two houses only are left standing in the village.

THREE WERE KILLED.

PARRY SOUND, June 4.—During a thunderstorm which passed over this place this evening the house of Joseph McFee was struck by lightning and his little daughter Josie instantly killed. Another child close by escaped although some little time afterwards affected by the shock. The lightning tore a hole through the roof and smashed the partition.

A LIVELY TROTTER KILLED.

PLAINFIELD, N.J., June 4.—During a thunderstorm here this evening a tree was blown down across the roadway. It carried down a live electric wire. John Chandler, a $5000 trotter Rambo while being driven back from the race track by his trainer, George Sadler, shied at the tree, ran into the wire and was killed.

IT WAS HOT IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 4.—This was the hottest June 4 for 20 years. The mercury reached 93 degrees. A remarkable but short lived electric storm to-night somewhat cooled the air.

AN IOWA CYCLONE.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—A special to The Tribune from Chester, Ia., says a cyclone passed near this place at 3:30 this afternoon. A schoolhouse was struck and completely demolished. Several pupils were fatally injured.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS PLACED UNDER SURVEILLANCE AT ENTERPRISE.

ENTERPRISE, June 4.—On Saturday night last the police staff of A. Walker was entered by burglars and about $300 worth of stuff consisting of suits of clothes, watches, jewelry, shirts, ties, socks and other haberdashery was carried off. Notwithstanding the efforts of the offenders, but yesterday three suspicious characters were arrested about a mile from Enterprise and are held awaiting developments. They are young, between 21 and 25 years and slouchily dressed.

On them was found a complete burglar's outfit, powder, Jimmies, etc., and one of the youths carried a bag of jewelry, rings, brooches, etc., including a ladies' gold watch with a black guard with clasp of gold.

The youths are thought to be Americans, as they seemed not to understand the mode of trials in this province.

Suspicion rests on them as persons like them were seen about the village for some days before the robbery. None of Walker's goods were found on them but socks were found on the railway near Moscow evidently dropped by them. A reward of $500 is offered for the recovery of the goods. The trials of the fellows will probably occur tomorrow.

AN OLD MAN ADRIFF.

HIS MONEY WHEEDED FROM HIM—His Mind also Affected.

KINGSTON, June 4.—A poor old man named C. Jutt was before the Police Magistrate today, charged with having stolen a coat from Joseph Stephenson and selling it to H. Mackay. This is the second time Jutt has been charged with stealing. He is nearly 80 years of age and told a pitiful story. He said that when he was in the United States he became sick, being afflicted with rheumatism. According to a doctor's orders he took whisky and opium and this affected his mind. He was unable to remember what he did with his clothes and had lost nearly the whole of them. He was liable to take things while under the influence of liquor and medicine and not belong to him.

When a young man went into the western states and conducted a sheep ranch. This was a profitable scheme but he acquired $40,000. This money was wasted out of him by a son-in-law, who induced him to sign papers that called for his funds. He is now poor, drifting upon the world, and without friends. The magistrate allowed him to go and ordered him to leave the city. The mayor gave the old man a railroad pass.

A TEST CASE DECIDED.

THE INSURANCE COMPANIES MUST PAY THE LONDON ASYLUM LOSSES.

OTTAWA, June 3.—The appeal to the Supreme Court against paying insurance on a portion of the London Asylum building, burned a couple of years ago, has been dismissed with costs. The dispute arose in this way: The Ontario Government had the main buildings insured in a number of companies. Running back from the main building and connected with it by a covered passageway were the library, bakery and kitchen. These latter were leased and the Government demanded proportionate insurance. The Queen City and Hand-in-Hand insurance companies promptly paid up without objection, but the others refused to do so and were sued, the Government winning the case. The Asylum Company appealed from court to court, but was finally beaten in all, the Supreme Court confirming the judgment of the courts below that the words "main building" covered them all.

PUT TO FLIGHT.—The remedies of our sick committee have at last banished the measles from our midst. Only one maiden of the young people who had passed their teevee escaped their attention. In their line of retreat towards Salford they interviewed one patient closing his teens rather severely, but he is now getting well, too, perhaps to see them take sail from Coborne across the lake to Uncle Sam's domain. The nurses of the sick committee are now enjoying a holiday after an active spell of six months with the grippe and measles, but are not, like the medics, counting the moments to the green fruit season for a renewal of active work.

Our popular friend, James Bogie, jr., has returned from a trip to the Eastern States, after an absence of several months.

Miss Agnes MacTavish, of Brucefield, made a visit to our burg, being the guest of the Misses Allen. During her sojourn she visited points of interest in the neighboring burgs of Leeburn and was pleased with the farms in that locality.

Several wagon-loads of gipsies put up in their old camping ground on Nightingale-st. This time they did not remain long enough to make a trade in horse-flesh.

PERSONAL.—Our townsmen, D. Cumming, has been appointed deputy returning officer for Ward No. 4, Coborne, and will discharge his duties as such on Thursday of this week at the election.

Miss Anna Luby, of Goderich, visited friends here this week.
