The Snake Scotched Justice Done.

Now, as Veronica had gone up the bank, offended pride glowing in her eyes—brought there by Talbot's almost insolent question—and a strange wild tumult racing in her heart—caused by the touch of Ralph's lips—a girl darted from behind a clump of trees and ran to her with hands clasped and hair flying, rather weak face all amove with fear. "Fanny!" exclaimed Veronica, in

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of disease, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alternative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's in its own essence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

rather displeased voice. Fanny Mason panted for breath and, wringing her hands, looked from Veronica to the stream. "Oh, Miss Veronica—they're—I'm afraid they're going to fight!" Veronica turned in time to see Talbot raise his stick. Fanny uttered a low cry and was about to run down to the two men; but Veronica grasped her arm, and held her, murmuring in a tone of command: "Be silent!" Fanny, gasping and trembling, of course obeyed, and the two girls, so nearly alike in age, so totally different in station and character, stood and looked on at the little scene below. Veronica did not gasp or tremble, but the clear, healthy pallor of her lovely face grew of a warmer tint; and as she saw the outcome of the struggle, her eyes flashed and a long breath came from her parted lips: she was fighting with the sense of triumph which made her heart glow warm and every vein throbb. Was it not the woman who thronged the Coliseum in the days of old when men fought in the arena for their lives? There are still women who, gentle though they may be, love a fight—so long as it stops short of bloodshed. "Come!" she said to Fanny, almost swinging her around and actually drawing her away. "Why are you so frightened?" Fanny began to whimper shamefacedly. "I'm—I'm always frightened when there's fighting, Miss Veronica," she said, "and—I and I saw they were going to quarrel by the way Mr. Talbot spoke to you and walked up to Mr. Ralph." "Oh! so you were behind the trees—watching?" said Veronica. "The girl shrank from the scornful gaze of the clear, violet eyes. "Not—not watching, miss," she faltered. "I happened to be in the wood, and—I like to see Mr. Ralph fishing, he's so—"

Veronica. "Come on. Why are you looking back?" "To—see if they are going to quarrel again, miss. Fanny breathed a sigh of relief. No; Mr. Talbot's gone! I'm so glad. He—he looked so fierce. Not that he'd have hurt Mr. Ralph; he's so strong and— Wasn't it splendid the way he caught Mr. Talbot's arm and broke the stick? Oh, miss, I do beg your pardon! I'd forgot that Mr. Talbot is your ladyship's cousin—the people about the place could never understand why all the family had not titles—and that of course you'd rather be beat." Veronica bit her lip. "There is no 'of course' about it, Fanny. I think they were both foolish and both deserve to be beaten. I suppose Mr. Talbot thought that the young fellow was poaching; you see, he did not know he was the new gamekeeper." "Yes, miss," said Fanny, doubtfully, and with an upward glance at the haughty face, she sighed. "Yes, miss. It—must have been that; for why should he want to quarrel with Mr. Ralph, him as is so quiet and honest spoken?" "Why do you say 'Mr. Ralph'?" asked Veronica, with a touch of sharpness in her voice. "Why don't you call him 'Ralph Farrington'?" Fanny hesitated for a moment, her weak mouth half open. "I don't know, miss. Mother and me always call him 'Mr.'; he's so like a gentleman. Mother says that even the gentlemen of the Court—oh, I beg your pardon, miss—I couldn't speak better or have nicer manners." "Oh, yes, miss; that is, rather often—I see him passing in an evening when he's going his rounds and sometimes he comes in, and sometimes he just leans on the gate and talks in his pleasant way. You see, miss, he's quite a stranger, and he may be glad to have a chat, and he's friendly because mother saw to his wound—a nasty gash it was!" Fanny shuddered and closed her eyes so that she did not see the flushing of Veronica's face. "Of course, very natural," she said, with an excessive indifference. "Perhaps, Fanny, it will be as well if you say nothing of—of what we have seen this morning." "Oh, no, miss, certainly not!" responded Fanny, "and I only hope Mr. Ralph didn't see me—us; he wouldn't like to think as we'd been watching him. He's particular, and sure. Oh, I'm so glad they didn't fight! Aren't you, Miss Veronica?" "Very," said Veronica, drily. "Now, run home, Fanny. Oh, by the way, I want some old lace washed, and I should like to see you about it before I send it. Will you come up to me tomorrow morning?" "Oh, yes, miss, and thank you!" exclaimed Fanny, with a delighted smile, for a visit to Miss Veronica always meant a cast-off dress or some dainty article of clothing. But the smile faded as she went towards the cottage. Why had Miss Veronica taken such a sudden fancy to fly-fishing, and what was Mr. Ralph doing to her wrist? It looked—it looked to Fanny as if he were actually kissing it; but that was too absurd of course; she must have been mistaken. After all, where she was standing was a long way off. Of course, it was absurd, she told herself, but her fair brow was still puckered with a doubtful and questioning frown. The girls had walked slowly, and Veronica found Talbot lounging beside the earl's Bath chair, in which, wrapped in furs, he had been wheeled to the sunniest part of the terrace. As Veronica was passing them, her eyes fixed straight before her, she heard the earl say: "Oh, he's a kind of protegee of Veronica's. 'Don't like his manner?' 'Discharge him?' My dear Talbot, if we discharged every servant whose manner we didn't like we should be left to wait upon ourselves, clean our own boots, and protect our own game. What the devil has a keeper to do with manners?" Talbot bit his lip. "I told the fellow he was to go," he said, suavely enough; but the earl looked from under his shaggy brows at him with a grim smile. "My dear Talbot you really mustn't trouble yourself with the servants—yet. You will find it had enough when you are obliged to do so! I have a fancy—a foolish one, no doubt—for employing and discharging my own servants, or having it done by the proper persons. In this case, Burchett will—Who's that crossing the lawn?" he broke off, shading his keen eyes with his hand. Talbot frowned. "The fellow himself," he said, with an affectation of indifference.

WOMAN ESCAPES DREADFUL OPERATION

Mogadore, Ohio.—"The first two years I was married I suffered so much from female troubles and bearing down pains that I could not stand on my feet long enough to do my work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation, but my husband wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound first. I took three bottles and it made me well and strong and I avoided a dreadful operation. I now have two fine healthy children, and I cannot say too much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. LEE MANGES, R. F. D. 10, Mogadore, Ohio. Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? The Bishop's Shooter

One of the most popular Bishops in B—accepted an invitation of a wealthy peer devoted to sport. During his stay the Bishop had arranged to consecrate a new church in the neighborhood. With this ceremony in view, he brought down his pastoral staff, which for convenience and security, unscrewed into three parts, and was kept in a neat case. On the morning of the ceremony, staff and case were missing. Anxious inquiry was fruitless; consternation deepened. Suddenly, one of the head servants asked to have the case once more described. The Bishop complied though a little ruffled by this time. "Oh, I thought it was your gun, sir," came the electrifying answer. "I set it to the gun-room to be cleaned."

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of MATHIEU'S SYRUP of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks it amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the diseases of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs: PORT GREVILLE, C.B., Dec. 27, '09. Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S. Dear Sirs,—Please ship by next express, if possible, 3 doz. Mathieu's Syrup. Dear Sirs,—Nearly one year ago I had my first order of 'Mathieu's Syrup' from you. It was not known in this country, and I gave samples to several families whom I knew would use it. After a few weeks I began to have a call for it, and trade has increased wonderfully since. I have not the least doubt but that it will soon be the best selling remedy for coughs, colds, etc., on the market. In my store here sales are good and our people ask for it. Several stores in this county now keep it in stock and report sales increasing. I have bought from you since August 16th, 1907, 4 Gross and have only three dozen on hand at this date, and which I am holding for retail trade in my store. Yours truly, LOUIS A. McLAUGHLIN. That Corn Will Go for Good

It will be ended forever in 48 hours, if you use a Blue-jay plaster. The pain ends instantly when you apply it. Then the B & B wax gently loosens the corn. In two days it comes out, root and all. No soreness, no discomfort. Nothing else known does what Blue-jay does. That's why millions use it. You will never let corns disturb you when you find this out. Nor will you ever pare them. Paring takes off just the top of the corn. And a slip of the blade means infection—sometimes a dangerous one. The right way—the easy way—is to end them completely with this famous Blue-jay plaster. Prove it today. In the picture is the soft B & B wax. It loosens the corn. It protects the corn, stopping the pain at once. C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

Thought Selfishness.

BY RUTH CAMERON. When we speak of selfishness, we are apt to think first of selfishness about material things, but the more I study human nature, the more I become convinced that this is the least common and the least harmful kind of selfishness. There are so many other kinds of selfishness that spoil more happiness than this variety! For instance, there is the selfishness of the person who is never amiable unless he holds the centre of the stage; the selfishness of the person who is generous enough about material things, but inordinately greedy about having his own way; the selfishness of the person who allows a tendency, such as a habit of worrying, to spoil half the family happiness; and then there is thought-selfishness. It was that last variety that started me philosophizing on this subject. By thought-selfishness, I mean the habit of being ungenerous with one's thoughts. I know a man who has very interesting thoughts. He has a keen sense of humour, an unusual fund of information—really talk, I mean, not just the absolutely necessary things—he almost always has something interesting to say. But unless he is in a very gracious mood, he will often sit perfectly silent, ignoring the conversation, and thinking his own interesting thoughts to himself. Now I believe that that man is selfish when he does this. He owes the world the benefit of his intelligence, and he is just as stingy and miserly when he sits there hoarding his thoughts as the miser counting his gold.

I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1871 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterwards I felt them coming back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take Golden Medical Discovery.

Boy Injured.

John Brien, a twelve-year-old lad of Tessler Place, fell off a horse's back last evening and broke his arm. The lad was bringing the animal to a field in the country to graze. She trotted furiously and threw the lad to the ground. He fell across his right arm and the bone snapped off below the elbow. The injured youth was driven to a doctor and had the member put in splints.

Tucker and Sniggers Have a Row About Wood.

Tucker is one of the real old-timers. He lights his dudden after he's finished tea, and strolls out in the backyard to "swat" grubbs and chop up a few sticks of firewood. Tucker went out in the yard last evening, as usual, but the first thing he noticed was that four sticks of wood which he left resting against the fence in the morning, had suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. Tucker got in a great way over the loss of his wood, and ran in the kitchen to inform Mrs. Tucker of the burglary, but the "Cute Man," who sat over under the clock, cutting up the full of his catamaran, advised Tucker not to lose his head over the matter, and gently told him to take a squint over the fence into Snigger's backyard and maybe, he added, you will perceive your missing logs.

Household Notes.

White Suetland vells are still in again. Boucle cloths are back again for fall coats. Wool sponge cloths will be worn this autumn. Satin charmeuse is a favorite gown material. Fuchsia will be one of the leading colors this fall. Lace is more and more in evidence as a garniture. The new felt hats are many of them two-toned. Directoire collars and revers are general in Paris. Belted backs are seen on many of the new raincoats. Maline as a hat trimming is in great favor in Paris. Broadcloths are coming in again for the dressier suits. Amber and pearl buttons are used on white satin blouses. Embroidery holds its own as an ornamentation for satin. White ostrich is still used in the stiff, tall effects on hats. Some three-quarter coats are of corduroy, lined with satin. Even laces may now be had in black-and-white combinations. Button trimmings from wrist to elbow are seen on long sleeves. Robespierre collars harmonize with the prevailing ideas in suits. With the fashionable deep collar, wider girdles are apt to be worn. The left side and front fastening is still used on the one-piece dress. Some of these vests are beautifully embroidered in oriental colors. Many of the new long, dress sleeves are set on a long shoulder line. The smartest white felt hats are trimmed with feather tufts, breasts or wings. Evening bodices are very often outlined with a line of strass or rhinestones. Even when pleats are used on skirts, the narrow outline is preserved. One-piece dresses of black China silk have collars and cuffs of white or black net. Some of the smartest suits being made up have fancy vests, often made separately. Ruffs of maline make a pretty finish to the street dress of dark charmeuse.

Regatta Com. Meeting.

The meeting of the Regatta Committee held last night was largely attended and there was much enthusiasm manifested. Mr. A. W. Hiscock, the President, presided, and after the minutes of the previous meeting were confirmed, the Regatta Com. will row on Regatta Day were admitted. Unfortunately all did not enter as it was hoped they would do last night, so that the entries are not complete and several boats and crews will have to be recorded at the next meeting. The President announced that His Excellency the Governor will be present on the course all Regatta Day and that Lady Williams will be pleased to present the trophies to the winners. He also took occasion to thank the Bell Island Regatta Committee for their invitation to himself, Vice-President Higgins and the Executive of the Committee to be present at the Regatta there and for the courtesy extended to all. The Firemen's Union, through President Woods, notified the members of the Committee; the Commercial Cable Co., $25; and the Longshoremen's Union $25. These handsome donations took occasion to thank the Regatta Com. The collectors did well and funds sufficient for a very successful Regatta are on hand. Mr. E. Hawkins, on behalf of Harvey & Co's mercantile crew, protested against two of the men rowing that race in the Reid Co's new boat Nellie R. It was understood that Bowring's, Marshall Bros and the Royal Stores crews agreed with the protest, the reason for which is the allegation that two of the Reid crew have competed in the laborers race last year. This race, owing to frequent protests, has always given the Committee trouble. The rule governing the race provides that each of the crews entering for it must be at least four months employed with the one firm and must not for that period have engaged in manual labor. No definite action was taken in the matter and it is now likely that this race will be dropped. The boats entered as follows:—Amateur—Blue Peter, Nellie R., Shamrock. Press—Nellie R. (Daily News); Guard (Herald); Blue Peter (Chronicle); Red Lion (Advocate); Tradesmen—Nellie R., Blue Peter, Guard. Mercantile—Nellie R. (R. N. Co.) Bowring's, Harveys and Royal Stores dropped out. Society—Guard (S. U. F.); Nellie R. (L. O. A.); Blue Peter (C. E. T. S.). Brigade—Nellie R. (Highlanders); Blue Peter (C. L. B.); Guard (M. G. B.). Swimming Race.—In the open contest, seventeen competitors entered. In the Brigade contest, the C. C. C. and C. L. B. are represented. Fishermen—Red Lion (Quidi Vidi); Blue Peter (Logy Bay); Guard, Middle Cove; Shamrock (Flatrock). Laborers—Nellie R., Blue Peter, Red Lion, Shamrock, Guard. Football—Nellie R. (Casuals); Blue Peter (C. E. L.). Juveniles—Blue Peter, Guard. Tradesmen—Guard, Nellie R., Shamrock, Blue Peter, Guard. Broad Cove Game.

At the Regatta meeting last night President Hiscock announced that the people of Broad Cove would like to enter our Regatta Wednesday next. On Second Thought.

BY JAY E. HOUSE. If you want it done, don't send a committee. Do yourself. In a woman a good sense and 'reckles go hand in hand. And a woman who whistles is apt to be pretty capable in other respects. Nobody will know how many respectable looking relatives you have until you die. The disreputable looking relatives sometimes refrain from attending the wedding, but he always comes to the funeral. When a man claims to be as good as anybody the chances are that he isn't. Whales are reported plentiful. This will be good news for the farmers, very few of whom had laid in their summer supply of whales. It may be true that marriage is a failure. But so, for that matter, is remaining unmarried. The man who preserves his vermiform appendix in alcohol will also keep it in a glass jar on the mantel of the living room. Eph Wile says when he was young he used a megaphone. Now he wears gum shoes. "The lunch counter," says one of the advertisements, "is the cause of indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, and heart disease." The lunch counter will have to be more careful. It's getting over into the cigarette territory. Some girls become "engaged." But those having a title, or money in their own pockets are "betrothed."

PERSONAL NOTES.

Miss Reid, sister of the Messrs. Reid of the Reid Mfd. Co., arrived here on a visit by the Bruce express yesterday. Mr. F. G. Reid, salesman at Parker and Monroe's, had a round trip on the Portia and thoroughly enjoyed it. Miss Mary Theresa Geary, daughter of Mr. John Geary, cooper, King's Rd., arrived by the Florizel on a visit to her parents. Miss Geary and her sister Annie run a nice store in Boston, and both are well to do, possessing considerable property. With their brothers George and John they have been living in the Hub for 18 years. Mr. Stanley Robertson, Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, at Trinity, who had been here spending a holiday with his parents returned by last evening's train. Under Mr. Robertson's skillful superintendence the Bank is flourishing there. His sister, Miss May Robertson, went with him to spend a month in Trinity. Our respected townsmen, Mr. Thomas Haynes, celebrates the anniversary of his seventh birthday to-day, and is still hale and hearty. During his twenty years Mr. Haynes has seen much public service, having served in the British army sixteen years, and been a public official in our own service for thirty-two years. The Telegram wishes Mr. Haynes many happy returns of the day. GREASY POLE DISCONTINUED.—At last night's meeting of the Regatta Committee it was decided to discontinue the greasy pole which has for years been a feature Regatta Day. It does not amount to much as a spectacle, entails unnecessary expense and delay and the committee decided wisely in dropping it.

Here and There.

Enjoy your meals by taking a teaspoonful of PRESCRIPTION "A" 15 to 20 minutes before eating. SEAL CAUGHT IN NET.—One of the local fishermen found a seal in his cod net yesterday on the local fishing grounds. NEW SILVERWARE.—Handsome new designs, best makes, just opening at Trapnell's, 197 Water St.—Jy18,11. LACK OF INTEREST.—The C. E. L. C. L. B. Football Match advertised for last night did not come off owing to the few onlookers present; evidently interest is decreasing in the game. GOLD MEDAL PRESENTED.—Congratulations to J. L. Shattery, Esq., J. P., who has been presented with a sovereign gold medal by the Rev. Bro. Superior at Mount Cashel, in recognition of his untiring zeal and whole-souled interest taken in the work of the Garden Party and Industrial Home since their inception. ONLY FOUR WHALES LANDED.—The whaler "Cucholat," fishing at Hickey's Harbor, has only four whales caught to date. In the early part of the voyage operations were hampered by ice conditions and fog and which accounts for the small catch. However, the owners expect the whaler to have a saving trip when the voyage is over. Last night Mr. W. Panning left a lot of crates of bananas outside the door of his fruit store, on Harvey Road. He was called away on business for a short while, and in his absence a crowd of boys surrounded the store broke open the packages and stole several dollars worth of the fruit. He has the names of some of the lads and they will likely be arrested. Hickey's Linctant Cures Dandruff.

Banking Schr. Gone.

Last night Mr. P. Templeman had a message stating that the banking schooner Kuvera arrived at Catalina with 400 qtls. of fish. She had on board the crew of the banker, Maud and Lena, 22 men. The vessel was lost on the Banks and was owned at Grand Bank.

If the Food Ferments

Chronic dyspepsia is essentially a disease of the intestines rather than of the stomach. The trouble is caused by the food passing too slowly along the alimentary canal and fermenting instead of being digested. It will be found that the liver is sluggish and the bowels constipated. The fermenting food gives rise to gas, which crowds the lungs and heart, gives rise to belching wind and to smothering sensations. The stomach gets sour, the food repeats and leaves a taste in the mouth; you feel out of sorts and are unfit for work or pleasure. By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you can get rid of this congested condition of the digestive organs in quick time. The liver is awakened at once, the bowels are regulated and the system is thoroughly rid of the poisonous waste matter which has been causing so much trouble. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

As an Awful Example!

We have already adverted to the little capacity shown by the Governor in dealing with the Morison episode, and expressed the hope that his visit to the function at Halifax commensurate of the granting of responsible Government to white Colonies, may have a beneficial effect on him. It is to be hoped that the principles of responsible Colonial Government, especially as they bear on the office of Governor, may make a deep impression on his mind. In order that this may be possible it will be necessary that his mind shall be put in a receptive state, and this can be done only by relieving it of that spirit of obstinacy and perverseness which he exhibited in adjudicating on the Morison cases taking up a resolution and to live up to the life of a Governor of a Colony with responsible Government, and using all the means available to chasten a perverse and stubborn will. In expressing satisfaction at the projected visit, we are not unmindful of the dangers of the visit. We do not disregard the risk of a weak and obstinate Governor, trained in the arbitrary methods of Crown Colonies, doing things he ought not to do. Moreover the risk is real, and should be guarded against. What the Governor has done once, he may do again. During His Excellency's visit to Canada he did things no Governor of Newfoundland ought to have done, and which call for severe censure. The evidence of these objectionable actions before us in the British Empire Review. This Journal is the organ of the British Empire League, the Patrons of which are the King, the Queen and the Queen Mother, and the President of which is the Duke of Devonshire. From the July issue we call this report:—

“Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec Province, and Sir Ralph William Governor of Newfoundland, have had a conference with regard to the delimitation of the frontier between Quebec's new territory and the part of Labrador which is administered by Newfoundland. According to Sir Lomer Gouin, one of the chief reasons why a settlement is urgent is the fact that people in Newfoundland are selling certain limits to English capitalists and others. These limits are in the debatable territory, and it is more than likely that some of them are the property of the Quebec Government, and it will be found when judgment is given that the purchasers are paying money for lands to which they will be unable to establish a claim.”

What right had the Governor of Newfoundland to hold a conference on a disputed question with the Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec? Newfoundland is not a Crown Colony. Newfoundland is not a Colony of “niggers.” It is inhabited by white people of British blood, speaking the English language, inheriting the traditions of British justice and fair play, and living under responsible Government. They expect and demand that the Governor shall conduct himself accordingly.

We wonder if the conference was held with the knowledge of the Prime Minister. If it was, Sir Edward Morison is not fit for the position he holds, and in any case, the Governor had no right to hold the Conference, either with or without the consent of the Prime Minister. It was an outrage for him to hold a Conference on the Labrador Boundary Dispute with the Prime Minister of Quebec, the Colony with which we have the dispute. What has the Attorney General to say about the Governor's conduct? Will he endorse it, as the Governor did his?

It is the duty of the Prime Minister to take the proper steps to prevent the Governor putting the Colony in a similar false position. A protest is now voiced publicly against the Governor's conduct in the matter of his conference with Premier Gouin, and in any case the Governor has now received a warning against similar conduct in the future, even if the Prime Minister fears to have a heart to heart talk with him on the subject. We hope he will take our words to heart, and that we have said enough to obviate the danger of the Governor doing at Halifax what he ought not to do as Governor of Newfoundland.

We have suggested that he should go to the Halifax function in a spirit of humility and with a desire to learn. He cannot go there as a model Governor of a Colony with responsible government. On his form he may go as an “awful example” to others. He may appropriately take a role which may be a warning to others to avoid the pitfalls into which he has fallen in Newfoundland.

He is but a green hand at responsible government. What kind of a showing he made as a Governor of a “Crown Colony” we do not know. We hope that he was better at ruling “niggers” than he has shown himself to be in Newfoundland.

Should he decide on appearing in the apt role of “An Awful Example,” we could take with him as exhibits the Morison Memorials, and his condemnation of Morison, and the Government should present him with a large leather medal, struck for the occasion, showing Morison's plea of forgetfulness on one side and the Governor's adjudication on the other.

He could act this role to the life, for he has lived through it all. But he cannot represent what a Governor of Newfoundland should be. In that character we repudiate him completely.

AGAIN DISCUSS CAB TARIFF.

Last evening at the City Hall the new cab tariff was further discussed. There were present the Mayor and full Board of the Council, representatives of St. John's East and West, including Sir Edward Morris, Mr. G. Shea, Mr. J. Dwyer and Mr. M. J. Kennedy, a committee of cabmen and their solicitor, Mr. M. P. Gibbs. The latter reviewed the situation clearly on behalf of his clients. Those present then went through the proposed tariff, item by item, and in some cases reductions were suggested by the cabmen. They settled at the definition of what constituted a day and a half day but came to no agreement with reference to payment by the hour outside the city limits. Referring to this the vote of the Council was somewhat divided and the Mayor and Councilors decided to take the matter into further consideration and will give their decision to the cabmen next week.

Sensation.

When the Portia was at Salmonier, third engineer T. Lawlor, son of Constable Lawlor, came out of the engine room reeking with heat and sweat and deliberately jumped overboard. Several passengers, especially women folk, thought it was a case of suicide and two became weak from the fright. As a matter of fact the engineer wanted a swim and thoroughly enjoyed his dip all unconscious of the commotion he had caused on board.

How Nerve Cells Are Broken Down

Every man or woman who works with the brain uses up daily an enormous amount of nerve force. Millions of tiny nerve cells are broken down and must be replaced if mental and bodily efficiency is to be maintained.

If brain fog, headaches, sleeplessness or irritability set in, the evidence is plain that nature is not rebuilding as fast as work is breaking down. You cannot allow this depleting process to continue long if nervous prostration or paralysis is to be ward off.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you to get the balance on the other side of the account, so that each day will add a little to your stock of health and vitality. A man whose work is largely mechanical may keep going with health below par, but the brain worker must have a clear head or fall behind in the race. Restore the wasted nerve cells with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and know the joys of good health and success.

To Join Arthur

John Arthur Johnsing, 'other day, within the ring of rope, you put poor Jimmie Flynn away and spoiled our latest hope. And yet your triumph was a sin; no virtue in it lies; instead of swatting men like Flynn, why don't you swat the flies? You showed how deftly you can spoil a beaming human mug, but who's the better for your toil, O self-complacent pug? You're waxing old; you should begin to do some labors wise; instead of swatting gents like Flynn, you ought to swat the flies. You slamed Flynn's head and made it sound much like a muffled drum; you labored and you pranced around and punched him out of plumb; you smote his larynx and his chin, you bifbed him in the eyes; but better far than swatting Flynn, it were to swat the flies. Down where Las Vegas broods and moans you cooked a young man's goose: "I took in thirty thousand bones," you say, as an excuse. But there are better things than gin, for which your bosom sighs; why swat a helpless chere like Flynn, when you might swat the flies? John Arthur, quit your vain career, which makes all good men sick; cut out the Hollands and the beer and buy a swatting stick. Brace up and spring your golden gin, and win a nobler prize than is the scalp of Jimmie Flynn—go forth and swat the flies!

Burned to Death.

In a Fire in a London Factory. London, July 23.—Seven girls were killed, five were fatally injured and several others severely injured in a fire which occurred to-day in a four-story building in Moor Lane, in the heart of the city, occupied by celloloid Christmas card manufacturers, which employed many females. The fire started in a front room on the top floor and spread quickly. To reach the stairs the girls in the back room had to pass through the front room and before they realized their danger the flames had cut off the means of escape.

In a few minutes the back room was ablaze. Some of the girls managed to reach the roof and escaped by crossing a plank to the next building, ten feet distant, but one lost her footing and fell, two were seized by the flames before they could gain the dizzy bridge and a large number leaped from the windows to the pavement, several of them being horribly mangled. Five of the girls were burned to death. The response of the fire brigade was prompt, but the swiftness of the fire and the ferocity of the flames belching from the windows prevented effective use of the fire escapes.

One of the first things Cicero did, however, was to take this noble language and remodel it so that people could understand what he was trying to say after somebody had translated it for them. He threw out a large number of words which nobody used except in the presence of company, and invented the Roman numeral to take their place. He was the first Roman citizen who knew "ama, amas, amat" from any other part of the marriage ritual.

Cicero inherited an eloquent Roman nose and a swollen fortune, and never had to mark his books down to 49 cents or run his orations on the patent inside, in company with a cure for lame back and the insidious appeal of the electric belt. In early life he married a lady who had a little money out at 5 per cent, and thereafter used nothing but full Moccoco binding.

Cicero's free and uninterrupted use of the Latin tongue, which he threw around with ceaseless energy, offended some of the Roman bosses, who carefully burned his house down and exiled him to Athens, where he studied a large quantity of Greek words. On his return he was elected consul and hurled defiance and some harsh, new Latin words in the teeth of his traducers.

Cicero would have lived for several years longer if it had not been for Mark Anthony, who surrounded him with his army and caused him to demise in a hasty and unfeeling manner. He was a great and good man, and his works read well in almost any language.

Teachers of infant classes have generally a hard struggle to refrain from laughter at some of the answers they receive from their scholars. The following was heard in a class composed of children on a recent Sunday afternoon.

The teacher was telling them about the animals' entry into the Ark, noticing one little fellow on the back of a sheep evidently taking no interest in the lesson, she asked him the following question, not expecting to get an answer, but just to attract his attention:

"Now, Harry, can you tell me where Noah was when these animals were going into the Ark?"

The teacher had hardly finished the sentence when the lad answered: "Collecting tickets, ma'am."

"Do you know, Harry, that it pains me to have to spank you so? I suffer more than you do—far more. I am very tender-hearted."

"Yes, mamma, I wish you were tender-hearted as well as tender-hearted!"

John Mitchell Sentenced To Nine Months Imprisonment for Contempt of Court.

Washington, July 23.—John Mitchell Vice-President of the American Federation of Labor, to-day was sentenced in the district of Columbia Supreme Court, to nine months imprisonment for contempt of court, growing out of the Buick Stove and Range Company case.

An appeal was taken and $4,000 bail furnished to abide by the decision of the upper court.

In the same case, President Samuel Gompers recently was sentenced to one year, and Secretary Frank Morrison to 6 months.

Returned to his native village which had not moved with the years, it was perhaps natural that he should boast a little. The village pump was still broken, the inn sign had not been repainted, and even the one shop window from its appearance had not been changed.

"Boys, he said, 'in my house in London I've two carriages and a motor-car.'"

"Bly, my!" exclaimed his hearers. "And a library," he continued, "containing two thousand books."

"You don't say so?" came in chorus.

"While, as for pictures"—he waved his hand airily—"well, my walls are full of Titians!"

"Lor, bless me!" ejaculated an old yokel, with a horrified look. "Ain't there no way of killin' 'em?"

Rome, July 20.—Following the Pope's participation to-day in the ceremonial of the ninth anniversary of Leo XIII's death, his doctors ordered Plus to suspend all public audiences, and as much other work as possible during the rest of the summer. His condition is not alarming, but the physicians say he must have rest if he is to survive here.

CICERO.

BY H. L. RANN.

Marcus Tullius Cicero was a celebrated Roman author who wrote a large number of books which are still devoured with great eagerness and a Latin pony.

Before Cicero came on the scene there was little or no sale for the Latin language. People used it to order things over the telephone and to criticise the cut of each other's tunics, but you could buy all of the Latin you could carry home at ten cents on the dollar. Most of the Latin in use was a cross between the German vocal method and the Bar Harbor accent, and very little of it was picked until Cicero's time.

One of the first things Cicero did, however, was to take this noble language and remodel it so that people could understand what he was trying to say after somebody had translated it for them. He threw out a large number of words which nobody used except in the presence of company, and invented the Roman numeral to take their place. He was the first Roman citizen who knew "ama, amas, amat" from any other part of the marriage ritual.

Cicero inherited an eloquent Roman nose and a swollen fortune, and never had to mark his books down to 49 cents or run his orations on the patent inside, in company with a cure for lame back and the insidious appeal of the electric belt. In early life he married a lady who had a little money out at 5 per cent, and thereafter used nothing but full Moccoco binding.

Cicero's free and uninterrupted use of the Latin tongue, which he threw around with ceaseless energy, offended some of the Roman bosses, who carefully burned his house down and exiled him to Athens, where he studied a large quantity of Greek words. On his return he was elected consul and hurled defiance and some harsh, new Latin words in the teeth of his traducers.

Cicero would have lived for several years longer if it had not been for Mark Anthony, who surrounded him with his army and caused him to demise in a hasty and unfeeling manner. He was a great and good man, and his works read well in almost any language.

Teachers of infant classes have generally a hard struggle to refrain from laughter at some of the answers they receive from their scholars. The following was heard in a class composed of children on a recent Sunday afternoon.

The teacher was telling them about the animals' entry into the Ark, noticing one little fellow on the back of a sheep evidently taking no interest in the lesson, she asked him the following question, not expecting to get an answer, but just to attract his attention:

"Now, Harry, can you tell me where Noah was when these animals were going into the Ark?"

The teacher had hardly finished the sentence when the lad answered: "Collecting tickets, ma'am."

"Do you know, Harry, that it pains me to have to spank you so? I suffer more than you do—far more. I am very tender-hearted."

"Yes, mamma, I wish you were tender-hearted as well as tender-hearted!"

How Could He Confirm It?

"Isn't this perfectly delightful?" she asked, as they sat on the sofa with their arms intertwined, and the brilliant light on his moustache not very far from the crimson balm on her lips. "Dorothy," he replied, "when I know that your mother is listening on the stairs, that your father is waiting in the vestibule with a cane, that the bulldog is loose in the front yard, and that your little brother is under the sofa, how can I say that it is delightful?"

SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed.

And remember, it destroys the Dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots. Gas is Coal With the Trouble Taken Out.

Gas is really nothing more than coal, only with gas you have the coal less the dirt, ashes and smoke. These have been taken out by the Gas Company. The weight, too, has been taken out, for when you use gas you don't have to carry it up from the cellar in buckets, straining your back in the attempt. All of the drudgery has been removed. The gas company has taken everything out of the coal but the heat—and that's the one thing you want. This they deliver to you right to the burner of your range. You only have to turn a tap and strike a match in order to have it. If your mind is half made up to buy a GAS RANGE, remove the remaining doubt by thinking of last summer and the many days when your kitchen was like a burning furnace. The gas range never overheats the kitchen. Phone the gas company, or call at their showrooms and get full particulars.—June 20, t.u.h.s.f.

To-Day's News.

Special Evening Telegram.

OTTAWA, To-day.—The Canadian Press London cable setting forth the situation in regard to Canada's participation in Imperial Naval defence says it is on the lines indicated when Ministers left for England. There was no question of settling everything over there, but rather consulting the Admiralty and finding out at close range the real facts of the situation. That the policy will take the form of a contribution to the navy admits of little doubt, the Canadian navy idea being abandoned seemingly can take no other form. The conditions under which this would be made and the extent of the contribution are points to be determined. These matters be taken up by the cabinet councils in the autumn, and with the assistance, it is estimated now of Churchill. The importance of the subject and the volume of other things to be gotten ready do not tend towards an early session of parliament.

LONDON, To-day.—Despatch from a news agency at Constantinople says the Turkish Government has appointed a commission to discuss peace between Turkey and Italy, that meets the Italian delegates at Lausanne, Switzerland. According to statement published this morning by Daily Express, the seizure of Tripoli by Italy was due to Italy getting wild over German negotiations at Constantinople to acquire rights to Tripoli by purchase, which would be tantamount to giving Germany actual possession of country.

LONDON, To-day.—Following the report of Lord Mersey on the loss of the steamer "Titanic," Burton, President of Board of Trade, appointed a committee of experts, headed by Professor John Biles, Vice-President of Institution of Naval Architects to advise with him on the interest of saving life at sea. Telegraph's Brussels Correspondent says Holland has decided to convene a conference of powers to elaborate universal rules for making life safe at sea.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
"Not as politicians but as kinsmen," was the phrase used by Premier Borden describe the attitude in which he and his colleagues had come to Britain. That was the attitude of the National Liberal Club as revealed by the banquet presided over by the Marquis of Lincolnshire.

Lord Strathcona received a demonstration of affection at the close of the proceedings, when, in response to repeated calls, he arose and spoke a few words.

The feature of the banquet was the speech of welcome by Sir Rufus Isaacs, Attorney General, which characterized the visit of the Canadians and the object of their visit as a distinct epoch in the history of the Empire at a time when the watchword of all parties must be Britain's supremacy on the sea.

Hon. R. L. Borden was most enthusiastically received, when he declared that Canadian loyalty was more pronounced than ever before. The Canadian Premier suggested, amid cheers, that it must be well for a British Minister to visit Canada.

Hon. J. D. Hazen compared the position of Canadians in the border towns with Americans, but said while our institutions, laws and administrations, bore of the palm, yet the remedy should be applied in removing the handicap on Canadians who were voiceless in the affairs of the Empire, and therefore unlike Americans, who participated in all that concerned the Republic, whether they lived in New York or Hawaii.

BELFAST, Aug. 2.
The shipbuilders said to-day that the decision of the White Star Directors to alter the plans of the steamship Gigantic, now in course of construction here, in conformity with Lord Mersey's suggestion, would delay the new liner considerably, as in particular the plans would have to be radically modified to allow for extra bulkheads.

After a three hours' debate behind closed doors, the Senate to-day, by a vote of 51 to 4, adopted Senator Lodge's resolution defining the attitude of the States in disapproval of the acquisition by foreigners of any territory in the Western Hemisphere, which might be used as a military basis or menace for approach to the States.

HAVRE, France, Aug. 3rd.
At a meeting of the Seamen's Union held to-day, it was decided to end the strike.

Regatta Notes.

Over forty crews had practice on the Lake yesterday afternoon and last night.

The fishermen in the Shamrock rowed the course inside of ten minutes, which was the best time for the evening.

In the early part of the night the rudder of the Guard got injured by coming in contact with the wharf near the boathouse.

The Herald, News and Chronicle press crews had a spin. The latter made the best time, 11.02.

The Brigade Race is causing no small amount of interest. A good deal of "dough" exchanged hands on this race on the course last evening. The Guards are the favourites.

Five boats will compete in the Fishermen's Race. Outer Cove will not be represented.

Bowling's, Harvey's and the Royal Stores mercantile crews will not row if Reid's crew takes part in that race.

The Guards, C. L. B. and C. C. C. will each have a tent on the course Regatta Day.

Last evening while the boats were practicing not less than a half dozen dories and punts were on the Lake. This should be stopped.

WIRE WOUNDS

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks of all the sores have healed, and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT White as is most always the case in horse wounds. Weymouth. F. M. DOUCET.

Islanders

May Row.

Yesterday Vice-President W. J. Higgins, of the Regatta Committee had a letter from Bell Island from one of the labourers there asking if there was a possibility of securing a boat for entry for a crew of Bell Island labourers to compete in the Regatta Wednesday. Mr. Higgins will do his best to meet their request and if they men get a boat they will give a good account of themselves as they are a fine crew.

The Tale of Perfect Time in a Watch

 From Mainspring to Hairspring, between them lies the secret.
 The Mainspring is the power which it transmits to the active parts of the watch. The Hairspring has the control and regulates the motion. The Spring is most delicate; imagine a 100th part of a hair. (Impossible for the eye to see.) Yet it is enough to interfere in its performance so wonderful is the adjustment. The friction from accumulating dirt, lack of oil, etc., destroy these perfect fittings. Do not let your watch run to ruin from neglect. Remember our business is the care of watches, and our business is to give you the best.
