"Orange Lily" is a simple, natural, common-sense remedy that you apply yourself. To go to drinking harmful drugs for troubles such as ours, is like trying to cure a sprain with pills. The only right and effective treatment is a strictly local application, like "Orange Lily."

Because I am sure in advance of the wonderful results you will have, I want to send you ten days' treatment, FREE. Will you write me to-day, NOW, and let me help you? Enclose three stamps. Address MRS. LYDIA W. LADD, Windsor, Ont. Sold by leading Druggists everywhere.

CHAPTER XXVII.
AFTER THREE YEARS.

"I have you to thank for that recovery, indirectly," he said tersely. "If I have not done so before, I thank you now. Miss Vanderleem's 'recovery' is the happy cause of—of her engagement to me."

There was an awkward pause. Kenneth felt that in his excitement he had impulsively made a rather bad break in speaking of his friend's fiancée, and Jarvis was annoyed with himself for having revealed his too eager acceptance of Lady Beauclerk's social patronage. Nevertheless, he was not wholly displeased with the information he had received, and when Kenneth apologized for speaking too cavalierly, Jarvis listened with a very good grace.

"Pardon me, Nevil, if I've stupidly and unknowingly offended you; and please accept my sincerest congratulations." He leaned over and grasped the other man's hand. "I hope you will give me the pleasure of meeting Miss Vanderleem, in the near future."

"Certainly, with pleasure," responded Jarvis. "I say, can't you take luncheon with us and Mrs. Edgemont, her sister, at the Savoy to-day? Delighted to have you, if you'll come."

"Sorry, my dear Nevil. Fact is, I'm going to Scarborough this morning, to spend a few days or perhaps a fortnight with my sister, Mrs. Ackersley. You remember John Ackersley, don't you? Splendid fellow! One of the best friends a man could have!"

"Then, if you're leaving town to-day, I mustn't keep you longer," said Jarvis, rising to depart. "Good-by, Markham, and good luck to you!"

Good luck! The words fell like a benison upon Kenneth, as he rose and followed his friend to the door. He was glad that Nevil—not knowing the purpose of this journey to Scarborough, and evidently weary of his former suit, weary of being the rejected suitor of Mercia Reynolds—could wish him luck and be happy in his own assured good fortune. Nevil's second choice had at least removed him from the path to Mercia, and now Kenneth had no reason to fear him as a rival.

THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

And Escaped an Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hazelhurst, Ga.—"I have used your remedies for only ten months, and they saved me from an operation. Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so ill from a female trouble that I was forced to stay in bed for a week at a time with weakness and pain, but your medicine has done so much for me that I am recommending it to all suffering women. It certainly is a great medicine and is a sure road to health for women. You may publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. W. G. LITTLE, R.F.D. 4, Hazelhurst, Ga.

Women who suffer from headaches, nervousness, backache, the blues and other symptoms of a functional derangement should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such ailments of women after other medicines have failed.

If you want specific suggestions in regard to your condition, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of long experience is at your service, and your letter will be held in strict confidence.

There was a brief silence. Then the girl lifted her head, and, as her eyes met his, she held out her hands. The next moment his arms were around her, and the rest was said in the language which does not need words to make perfect understanding.

THE END.

CHAPTER I.
AFTER FORTY YEARS.

Dinner had not been removed, and the squire, who was deep in his first bottle, looked up sharply.

"Where have you been, sirrah?" he asked, frowning at the loose shooting-jacket and gaiters. "Have you forgotten the dinner hour, or are you too lazy to dress?"

"Neither, sir," replied Hugh, dropping into a chair. "Then why the deuce can not you come in at the proper time? Did you expect me to wait for you? If you did you were mistaken. I have dined, sir."

Hugh inclined his head. "I did not expect you to wait," he said, "or I should have been home in time. I'm not hungry. Indeed, I have had a crust and cheese at the lodge."

"A crust and cheese!" snarled the squire. "By Heaven, sir, it is well you are not compelled to dine every day on such frugal fare!"

"I should not regret it much if I were, sir," replied Hugh, with a short, musical laugh, which was peculiar to him. "Bread and cheese are not bad fare when you have walked a score of miles and feel hungry enough to eat the bread alone."

"Bah!" retorted the squire; "you talk like a plowboy. I tell you what it is, sirrah, you act like one, too."

Hugh rose slowly—it was time to retreat. "Bread and cheese!" growled the squire. "Another of your low notions, I suppose. It befits the dignity of the heir of Dale to be munching bread and cheese with the gamekeeper while his own dinner remains untouched. I tell you, sir, these new notions of yours are admirable to me. And what is more, I will not suffer them. By gad, we'll have you playing all-fours on the village ale-house bench with the boot-maker!"

Hugh turned sharply, his eyes flashing and his lips firmly set. "Sir—"

"Ay!" roared the squire; "that strikes home, sir, does it? If the cap fits, sirrah, wear it—wear it!"

Hugh smiled darkly. "You forget, sir," he replied, sternly, "that at present my offense is the luncheon at the gamekeeper's: your anger for the game at all-fours on the ale-house bench might be postponed, considering that it has never been played."

"How do I know that?" snarled the squire. Hugh's face flushed again.

"Because I do not speak falsely. Bah, sir! why tear passion to tatters for nothing? I am late to dinner; the loss is mine, if loss there be. I—"

"Ah, 'tis like you, sir," retorted the father, not to be appeased. "You'd argue till midnight. I say, the country is agape at your mad tricks. I say—"

"The post-boy, sir," said a servant.

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Need the Blood-Building, Strength-Creating Elements of Vinol

We Guarantee it to Re-build Wasting Tissues and Replace Weakness With Strength

As we grow old the blood gets thin, the circulation sluggish, digestion weak, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, and the result is a feeble, weakened condition.

VINOL is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to enrich the blood, quicken the circulation, rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. And as a result the system is fortified against colds and pneumonia.

One old lady recently wrote: "I am 78 years of age and my husband is 79, and we owe our good health to VINOL, as we have proved it to be the greatest strength creator and invigorator known, we are strong and well, but I often say I do not believe we would now be alive if it were not for VINOL."

If you are feeble and weak, why not try VINOL on your druggist's guarantee.

entering with the evening letter-bag. And the squire broke off to snatch it from the trembling man's hand.

Hugh took the opportunity to leave the room.

Hastily tearing open the envelope, for he never had the patience to extract a letter in the usual way, Squire Darrell picked out one letter, whose handwriting he thought he knew, and was soon lost in its contents, which must have been of importance, for ere he had nearly reached the middle, he threw it down and hurried to the door; but at the moment of opening his mouth to call Hugh, he hurried in to the room again, and muttering "No, I'll let the 'malapert wait," took up the letter and finished its perusal.

That evening he had no chance of communicating the contents of the letter, for Hugh studiously avoided him, starting off for a walk across the valley and stopping to rest awhile at the blacksmith's forge.

While he was leaning against the door, his eyes fixed on the shower of sparks and his thoughts keeping time to the clang, clang, of the hammer upon the anvil, a horseman pulled up at the door, and, dismounting, led his animal, a strong-looking cob, into the shoeing stall.

Looking up, to call his hounds from sniffing at the traveler's heels, Hugh's gaze was attracted and chained by the singular appearance of the newcomer.

He was a thick-set man of about forty, strong in the limbs, and with a ruddy, weather-beaten face that gave him the appearance of a sea captain, though his dress partook of the character of a well-to-do farmer's.

As he passed Hugh he shot a glance at his stalwart figure, and, with an almost imperceptible nod of approval, wished him "Good-evening."

"Good-evening," said Hugh. "Your cob is a little lame, is he not? Have you ridden him far?" and, never proof against a horse, he walked up to the animal and patted it.

"Twenty miles," replied the traveler. "He has only gone lame the last half. Fancy it's a nail wrong. Perhaps, Mr. Blacksmith, you'll be good enough to put us right."

As the smith came forward the horseman walked to the door and, wiping his brow with a hugh silk handkerchief, looked curiously up and down the street.

"What might be the name of this village?" he asked, without turning round.

"Dale," said Hugh.

"Dale, eh?" replied the stranger. "Well, it's a good old English name, and, seemingly, a good old English village. That's the inn, I suppose—clean and comfortable, eh?"

"Very, sir," answered the smith, to whom the question seemed put. "There hasn't a better house within thirty miles."

"Ah!" said the stranger; "that's high praise. I ought to be satisfied. Not that I am inclined to be too particular, young sir," he added, turning to Hugh, with a queer twinkling in his sharp eyes, "for I haven't slept in a pair of English sheets for forty years."

"That's a long while," said Hugh, with a short laugh. "I must say you don't look any the worse for it."

"I don't, eh? You don't think I do, eh? Well, I suppose I don't. Now you, I suppose, have not slept out of an English bed for twenty years, eh?"

"Never in my life," said Hugh.

"And you don't look any the worse for that," retorted the traveler, laughing grimly at the weak joke and casting another approving glance at the graceful, sturdy form of the youth.

Then, sinking on the bench beside the door, he went on, in a half-absent sort of way:

"Yes, forty years since I last saw this merry England. It's changed, won-der-fully changed—and it would say the same to me if it could speak," he added, sharply.

Caillaux Receives Prison Sentence.

Ex-French Premier Found Guilty of Dealing With Enemy -- Red Light Proprietors in Bridgeport Import Gunmen-- "Pussyfoot" Johnson Back From England -- Germans Not Permitted to Attend Council at San Remo -- Many Marine Disasters Reported.

NO SIGNALS YET.

GEMAR RANCH, Cedar Creek, Neb., April 22. An effort early to-day to catch signals from Mars failed. Dr. Illiter and Harvey Gamar, electrical experts, who made the attempt, announced they would try again to-night.

CAILLAUX SENTENCED TO-DAY.

PARIS, April 22. Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, was found guilty of having had commerce with the enemy by the High Court of the Senate. The Court adjourned until to-morrow afternoon when sentence will be read to Caillaux. The crime of which M. Caillaux was convicted is covered by article seventy-eight of the military code, which calls for sentence of banishment for a maximum of five years or a minimum of one year.

THE CAILLAUX TRIAL.

PARIS, April 22. The charges of high treason and intelligence with the enemy, against former Premier Joseph Caillaux, were eliminated by the High Court of the Senate to-day by a vote of 214 to 28. This eliminated the possibility of the death penalty being inflicted.

BACK TO WORK.

CHICAGO, April 22. The next move of insurgent railroad strikers in Chicago District, split by revolt against their own leaders, was awaited to-day by Federal officials and railroad representatives, while traffic conditions throughout the Middle and Far West returned to normal. Several "rebel" leaders, repudiated yesterday by the strikers, when at a mass meeting they counselled ending the walkout because they could not fight the Government, abandoned the strike and led small groups of switchmen back to work.

"OUTLAWS" IN COUNCIL.

NEW YORK, April 22. With all overtures their behalf for peace rejected, members of the so-called "Outlaw" Union of Railroad Workers of America still on strike on the New York District, met in Jersey City to-day to decide on the course of future action.

MILLERAND PREVAILS.

PARIS, April 22. The San Remo correspondent of the Matin says he has been informed that a proposition of Premiers Nitti and Lloyd George on the question of dealing with Germany, culminated in the suggestion that Germany be invited to take part in the conference here. However, adds the correspondent, the representations of Premier Millerand ultimately convinced the Italian and British Premiers that they had taken the wrong view, and it was decided that the discussion of German problems should be confined to the members of the Supreme Council.

MESSAGE FROM THE SEA.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., April 22. The tug boat McDuff, which ran ashore at Alford Bay with no one on board, is on her way here, being sailed by an Indian. A letter was found on board addressed to Mrs. Anne Brompton, 176 Burgess Street, Grimsby, England, saying: "Engine broken, rudder smashed, drifting to Hecate Straits. Storm. Bidding goodbye to everyone for evermore."

POMERANIA SEETHING.

BERLIN, April 22. Despite official reports that no outbreak is threatened in Pomerania, special correspondents of the Berlin newspapers sent to investigate reports say there is plenty of inflammatory material in that region.

GUN MEN ACTIVE.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 22. Six gunmen from Philadelphia have arrived in this city and have threatened to shoot Mayor Clifford Wilson, according to a statement made to the Bridgeport Telegram early to-day by Allen Myers, who is in charge of a hundred and fifty private detectives that were brought here last Saturday by Mayor Wilson to conduct raids on vice resorts. Myers said that he had been warned that six gunmen had been sent from Philadelphia on behalf of the vice ring in Bridgeport and that plans had been made to threaten the life of Mayor Wilson and himself.

PUSSYFOOT HOME.

NEW YORK, April 22. William (Pussyfoot) Johnson, of Westerville, Ohio, returned here to-day from Liverpool on the steamer New York, after literally having given an eye to make England dry. The crusading agent of the American anti-Saloon League was met by a host of prohibition advocates.

SAN REMO STATEMENT.

SAN REMO, April 22. An official statement issued by the Supreme Council at the close of the morning session says: "The Supreme Council assembled at eleven a.m. this morning and heard the opinion of military and naval experts on the question regarding the administration of the Dardanelles Straits. The Council approved of the insertion of clauses relating to this matter in the Turkish Peace Treaty. The Council afterwards examined the present situation in the Caucasus."

TOWNSEND FOR TORONTO.

NEW YORK, April 22. It was announced here to-night that General Sir Charles Townsend, hero of Kut will visit Toronto on May 3rd and will probably accept an invitation to deliver an address in that city. Details of arrangements for his brief visit to Canada have not yet been worked out. The famous British General was entertained at luncheon at the Canadian Club to-day by a number of prominent Canadian residents here.

"FERDONIAN" MISSING.

BOSTON, April 22. The coast guard officers endeavoured to-day to locate the French steamer Ferdonian, which has not been heard from since she reported by wireless that she was disabled by engine trouble. The Ferdonian reported that she was then in the vicinity of George's Bank, which is approximately one hundred miles off Cape Cod. It is supposed that her wireless went out of commission after disabled call came in, as efforts to communicate with her have been unsuccessful. The coast guard cutter Osipee was ordered to proceed to-day in search of her. The Ferdonian left New York on April 15th for Halifax.

COAST CUTTER LOST.

BOSTON, April 22. The coast guard cutter Acushnet, which has been searching for the disabled steamer William O'Brien, reported early to-day by wireless that she had found the sea covered with fuel oil and the name board of the steamer drifting about five hundred miles east of New York. An empty life boat from the William O'Brien was picked up on Tuesday in the same locality. It is feared that the steamer went down not long after she had asked for assistance during the gale on Sunday.

McMurdo's Store News.

We are glad to be able to announce that we at last have Pepsodent Tooth Paste in stock, which dentifrice has been "unobtainable" in town for some weeks past. All accounts agree that Pepsodent is something quite beyond the ordinary in tooth pastes, and its power of dissolving the scum which gathers around the teeth and becomes laden with germs, and so whitening and preserving the teeth. Price 60c. a tube.

We would say that we have secured the Agency for Pepsodent Tooth Paste, and are able to supply it in all quantities.

Nfld. Schooner Abandoned.

Word comes from Yarmouth, N.S., that Capt. James Edgcombe and crew of five of the schooner Gladys M. Street, R. Moulton, Ltd., owner, had arrived there on their way here. The vessel was abandoned and the U. S. Whaler "Major Wheeler" picked up the crew.

Police Court.

A drunk and disorderly was fined $2.00 or 5 days.

A Kean, Captain of the S. S. Terra Nova, had 5 members of his sealing crew arrested under warrant, charged with being a party which caused him, while at sea to give up the voyage before its termination. The action was taken under the Consolidated Statutes Cap. 123. The men through their counsel, Mr. Cyril J. Fox, pleaded not guilty. Capt. Kean was represented by Mr. L. E. Emerson. Mr. Mews, Deputy Colonial Secretary was the first witness called and testified to the orders in Council issued this year on March 6th and April 16th. Captain Kean being called stated he had 205 men on articles, and on the 15th day of April 140 men brought their gaffs and ropes forward refusing to continue the voyage longer. A written statement by the crew to this effect was put in evidence. After that date he received notice from the owners that the time limit had been extended to permit of second trips and he asked for 150 volunteers to prosecute the voyage until the end of the month, promising the rest he would immediately land them at St. John's. Only 15 men responded. He then told them that the ship would stay out until the 30th. The official log was put in evidence. Questioned by Mr. Fox the Captain said the Terra Nova was about 35 years old. He was not present when the men signed on. Did not know that 3 of the prisoners were amongst the volunteers. Did not see the condition of the "Ball Room" or hold of the ship, until April 7th. Did not pay any attention to quarters or food of men.

In summing up His Honor said the men signed on until the 15th of April and an order in Council issued extending the time and permitting second trips had nothing to do with the articles which the men signed under. He therefore dismissed the case.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

TWO HAPPY OLD LADIES.

Is there anything more heartening than to see an old man or woman still full of hope and interest and the joy of life?

I have at hand two letters from women over 70 from which I want to quote, to see if they give to you, as they did to me, a sense of the worthwhileness of life—since one can live 70 years and still find life so vivid and interesting.

"We are both musical," writes one of these women of herself and her husband, "and spend some very pleasant evenings together. He always goes to hear any fine musicians who come here. I stay at home because I have not taken a step for two years—rheumatism. But we have many dear friends who come to visit, so you see I have a good time some other way. I expect to go to R. to the health school there and come back cured. My how I will love to walk again! I don't know why I tell you this, but I guess it is because I am so happy thinking I am going to get well."

"A Good Time Some Other Way."

Isn't that a wonderful letter from a woman who is not only elderly but crippled? Did you ever read anything that overflowed more richly with hope and optimism? Not a word of self-pity because her husband goes to hear the music she dearly loves, while she stays at home—only because she has "a good time some other way."

I certainly would like to meet that woman.

Here's the other:

"I am 83 years young and love to live in this wonderful age of inventions when carriages without horses can go and airplanes through the air, with the wireless, the telephone, the grand music canned and brought into our homes. Oh it's all so amazing when memory flies back to my childhood days."

The Good Days That Are Now.

Doesn't that make you sense the vitality and joy de vivre of the old lady "83 years young"? Not a suggestion of the usual note of plaintive regret for "the good old days" when she was young, but a whole harmony of joy in the good days that are now, and that she is privileged to see. Wouldn't you like to meet her too?

I recently heard a little story pathetic but full of suggestion. An elderly couple who live not far from here had an elderly cousin of the husband's come to live with them, partly for her own sake, partly for theirs. It seems that the cousin was one of those vital old women, full of interest in everything, up on all the events of the day, and she could talk so interestingly to the old man that his wife, a dear old lady who had lived happily with her husband for 60 years, was jealous and the other woman actually had to go away!

The Power of an Interest in Life.

So potent is an interest in life and a happy outlook in old folks acquired in a day need not be afraid of old age. They can well say Browning's immortal and oft-quoted word:

"Grow old along with me:
The best is yet to be,
The last of life for which the first made."

Our times are in His hands
Who saith, "A whole I planned" youth shows but half
Trust God; see all, nor be afraid."

A CREED.

Let me be brave throughout this day
And bear what burdens come my way.

Let me not whimper nor complain
That I must face the wind and rain.
Or, if the sun is pleased to shine,
Let me rejoice in what is mine.

God grant that from my lips shall fall
No careless word, however small,
To wound another. May my voice
Cause all who hear it to rejoice;

This day, from start unto the end,
May all men find in me a friend.

I would not spoil this day with greed
Or hate or any selfish deed,
But I would fill it with my best,
And conscience-clear lie down to rest;

God grant that when this day shall go,
In all I say and all I do

To God and man I would be true;
I would be helpful here and kind,
And clean of heart and broad of mind;

Surely for this brief day I can,
Whatever happens, play the man.

Household Notes.

Salt fish is much less digestible than fresh.

Olive oil is better than butter for salting almonds.

Succotash is a good main dish for spring luncheon.

Worn-out silk-underyear makes excellent dusters.

Scalloped cheese is a delicious dish for luncheon.

Codfish can be stuffed and baked like any other fish.

Use bits of left-over cake in the cornstarch pudding.

Don't blanch more than ¼ pound of almonds at a time.

Hard sauce is as good to serve with puddings as cream.

Dried bread-crumbs are excellent to use in scalloped dishes.

Never buy fish unless the flesh is firm and eyes prominent.

Grape-nuts may be used in place of nuts in salads and cookies.

Shoulder of lamb can be garnished with potatoes and rice.

Clean white kid shoes by scrubbing with Ivory soap and water.

Meat sandwiches may be agreeably varied by different seasonings.

Bread griddle cakes are an economical way of using up stale bread.

Oily fish are more nourishing, but not quite as digestible as non-oily kinds.

The brush and comb should be washed once a week in ammonia water.

Creamed finnan haddie on toast makes a good meal with baked potatoes.

Rice may be made a much more attractive dish if it is cooked with raisins.

Use up the by-products of meals as far as possible when making sandwiches.

Noodles and Italian paste make a good change from the more usual macaroni.

A good sandwich is made of cheese spread with French mustard—very thin.

Princess Mary of England goes in for pictures of flowers and children, and she has quite a collection. The wall of her "art room" is completely covered with specimens. She very seldom permits a painting and picture exhibit to get by without a visit.

Edward Stafford, the son of the daughter of the late Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, is a snow baby, having been born further north than any other white baby in the world. His father, Edward Stafford, is the son of Justice Stafford of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Hungarian princesses are destitute in Switzerland. The Szechenyi family, one of whom, László Szechenyi, married Gladys Vanderbilt, is not one of those in need. These poverty stricken exiles are seeking positions of governesses, and among these Princess Bathany, whose family possessed the largest estates in Hungary. Archduchess Marie Isabelle is a nurse. Count Elemer Bathany stands in line and waits for a plate of cabbage soup.

CHEAP GRUB.

To every plan that's good for man attention I am giving; I'm eating fish—a cheapjohn dish—to beat the cost of living. I do not like the wall-eyed pike, the sucker and the grayling, yet if I balked at them, or knocked, in duty I'd be falling. For we must try, since costs are high, to make the blamed things lower, and jolt those dears, the profiteers, and make their graft work slower. And so I eat the catfish meat that makes my system sicken, and chew old perch as tough as birch, that doesn't taste like chicken. The halibut that some poor nut shipped from the briny ocean, I swallow fried, and my inside is filled with sad emotion. Oh, all the fish that go ker-swish through sea and lake and river, I'd gladly swap for mutton chop, or bacon flanked by liver. I'd eat my whale, and though I'm pale, I'm steadfast in my duty; my purpose high to eat or die is sure a thing of beauty. I chew my shark and men remark, I'm thus a great blow landing; if all would eat, like me, cheap meat, the Cost would lose its standing. I empty creels of fish and eels and store them in my body, but how I sigh for beef-steak pie, and porterhouses gaudy!

N. I. W. A. Girls.

HAVE NEW CLUB ROOMS.

The Club Rooms of the Ladies' Branch of the N.I.W.A. were formally opened last night. The President, Mrs. Earle, called on Mr. Frank Walsh to read the formal declaration of the opening of the rooms. Mrs. Earle then addressed the assembly. She had asked Mr. Walsh to perform the formal act of opening the rooms, because he had been associated with her in one of her earliest and greatest struggles to obtain recognition of the rights of the girls. He had stood by her and the girls, openly and fearlessly and at the risk of losing his job at the Knitting Mills. The rooms were tastefully decorated, and the Lady President called attention to the motto of the Association, "Each for All and All for Each," and of the particular motto of the Ladies' Branch, "Love One Another," which, with other mottoes and pictures, decorated the walls. Love, she said, was her motto. She loved the girls and felt sure that they loved her.

A motion made by Miss J. Kennedy, Treasurer, and seconded by Miss M. Malone, Secretary, thanking Mr. Walsh for his kindness in formally opening the rooms, was carried by acclamation.

Mr. T. M. White, Past President of the parent Association, gave a short address, in which he called upon his hearers to be loyal to the Association, loyal to each other and loyal to their contracts with their employers.

Mr. Warwick Smith was glad in this age of regulations that no one had attempted to regulate all our innocent pleasures. Our religion is regulated by our spiritual superiors; our health by the doctors; the law courts regulate our disputes and the law regulate the food we eat, what we shall drink and at what price we shall sell our fish. Innocent pleasures need no further regulation than those dictated by common sense. Let us be cheerful and we shall improve our health, our religion, in fact our whole being.

The guests, including many officers and former officers of the Association, sat down to a well and tastefully served supper, among them being the President, Mr. T. C. Noel, who had been prevented from attending earlier. The absence, through illness, of former President Bennett was deeply regretted. About seventy couples passed a most enjoyable evening in dancing. Mr. Joseph Healy acting as floor manager.

The rooms will be opened in the afternoons of holidays and half-holidays and every night from 7 to 10 o'clock. Classes for cooking and plain and fancy sewing will be held regularly.

Governor Presents Decorations.

Yesterday evening at Government House a reception was held by His Excellency Sir C. Alexander and Lady Harris, for the purpose of presenting a number of decorations awarded by His Majesty the King for services in connection with the war. The guests which numbered about 150 included Members of the Executive Council the officers of the Army, Navy and the Brigades with their wives. The C. L. B. Band was in attendance and furnished some excellent music. Captain Harvey, Captain Baird and the Hon. Mr. Watson were in attendance on His Excellency, and the following officers also acted as A.D.C.'s: Major Tait, Capt. Reid, Capt. Bennett and Lieut. Mews. The presentations took place in the drawing room, after which supper was served in the dining room and billiard room. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

The following is the list of those decorated:—

To be Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George—Lieut.-Col. Cluny Macpherson. (This Honour was awarded in 1918 in respect of War Service performed when Colonel Macpherson was attached to the R.A.M.C. under the War Office. His suggestion of a Gas Helmet was described by the War Office as a great assistance to the troops during a critical period.)

To be an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (Military Division)—Lieut.-Col. Lamont Paterson, Major James St. Pierre Knight, Captain Hector McNeil.

To be a Member of the Order of the British Empire (Military Division)—Major James Michael Howley, Captain Cyril Chancy Duley, Captain Jeremiah Joseph O'Grady, Honorary Capt. Herbert Arthur Outerbridge, Lieut. William Reeves.

Sealing Case Judgment.

IN THE CENTRAL DISTRICT COURT.

Abraham Kean, vs. William Bradbury and Others.

This is an action taken by Abraham Kean, Master of the S.S. "Terra Nova," a ship engaged in the prosecution of the seal fishery just terminated, against certain sealers, members of his crew.

The defendants are charged, that, while engaged on board the "Terra Nova," they did combine with other members of the crew to impede the progress of the voyage contrary to "Sec. 225 Merchant Shipping Act, 1894."

The usual sealing agreement was entered into between the Captain and the defendants, and signed by them at the office of Bowring Brothers, owners of the ship. The agreement is dated the 10th day of March as beginning the service, but no date is fixed for the termination of the voyage.

In the year 1918, the Governor-in-Council, under the provisions of the "War Measures Act," fixed the 15th day of April as the day upon which the Sealing Voyage should terminate and prohibited the killing of seals after that date. This Order-in-Council was in force and operation on March 10th last, when the sealers signed on and afterwards proceeded to the fishery, and Bradbury stated in his evidence, the crew were aware of that fact, as a paper was read for them in the fore-cabin containing the proclamation.

On the 7th of April, a deputation waited on the Captain and presented him with a paper-writing, signed by one hundred and twenty-eight members of the crew, setting forth: "We, the undersigned, do not intend to do any work after the 15th day of April, signed—"

At this time, Captain Kean evidently intended to prosecute the voyage after the 15th April, as he had sent a wireless message to the owners to send him extra supplies on the S. S. "Eagle."

The Captain and crew met on the best of terms and discussed the matter fully and intelligently; the result of such meeting is set forth in the following extracts put in on Captain's Kean's evidence: "Exhibit A.K. 3."—

"This is to certify that on the 15th day of April, 128 of the crew brought along their gaffs and ropes and refused to further continue the voyage. The Captain called along a deputation and advised them to reconsider their decision and to continue to prosecute the voyage for the next 3 days. The deputation waited on the men and stated the Captain's advice with the result that the same deputation came back and informed the Captain that the men positively refused to further continue the voyage.—N. Clemens, Herbert E. Sullivan, M. Smart, William his (X) mark Bradbury, Percie Strugnell, Adolphus Mulley. (Witnesses) Nathan Kean, W. B. Kean."

"The Captain requested the deputation to inform the men that he intended to prosecute the voyage till end of the week with the 80 men that didn't sign the paper, which was presented on the 7th April, and to ask them did they intend to interfere with these men in the performance of their duty. The deputation returned and informed the captain that they did not intend to let the voyage be further prosecuted.—Herbert E. Sullivan, William his (X) mark Bradbury, W. Clemens, Percie Strugnell, M. Smart, Adolphus Mulley, Witnesses: Nathan Kean, W. B. Kean."

The Captain then decided to bear up for St. John's.

The question for the Court to decide, is, does Sec. 225 of the "Merchant Shipping Act" apply to the present case. The Section reads:—

"If a seaman lawfully engaged for an apprentice to the sea service, commits any of the following offences in this Act, i.e., the one set forth in this charge, he shall be liable upon summary conviction to twelve weeks imprisonment."

I am of opinion, a sealer at the ice-fields is not the class of seaman, engaged for sea-service, contemplated under the above section, and therefore the section does not apply.

If a specific date for the termination of the voyage had been set out in the agreement, this case could be dealt with under Sec. 8, Cap. 127, Consolidated Statutes, Third Series, entitled "Master and Servant," which sets forth:—

"Any sealer who, by refusing to work, or otherwise without sufficient reason, shall be a party to give up the voyage before the time stated in the agreement for its duration and termination, shall, on conviction in a summary manner before any Justice, be imprisoned for a period not exceeding one month."

The Governor-in-Council, having fixed the 15th day of April as the date for the termination of the voyage for 1920, and that being the law when the agreement was signed, the crew were within their rights in requesting the Captain to abandon the voyage on that date. I therefore dismiss the complaint.

Dated at St. John's, this 22nd day of April, A.D., 1920.

Notes From Brigus.

Captain Ralph Clarke, who has been ill since returning home, left for the hospital by Friday morning's train to undergo treatment, accompanied by his brother, Victor. We learn he was admitted to that institution on Saturday. We wish our youthful Captain a speedy recovery.

Rev. Frs. Murphy of Holyrood, and O'Neil of Hr. Grace, arrived by Friday night's train. They returned to their respective parishes on Saturday. Rev. Father Walker, P.P., St. Brendan's, was also in town during the week.

A. Wilson, Esq., Secretary C. H. E., came to town by the noon train on Monday. He proceeded to Harbour Grace the same night.

Mr. Wm. Hiscock is building a store at the rear of his residence, in which to place his fishing gear, etc.

The Anglo-American Telegraph Co.'s office, which was formerly located in the house owned by the late Benjamin French, has been forced—owing to the purchase of the latter by Mr. Henry Leamon—to seek other quarters. The new office will be at the residence of Miss Margaret Keough.

Mr. J. W. Hiscock, who has been visiting Canada, returned to town by Monday night's train.

Captain Nicholas Fowler has sold his schooner to a man from Perlican. We understand it is his intention to purchase a smaller one. As time goes by our Labrador fleet, which at one time comprised quite a number of schooners, is fast disappearing.

Mr. J. R. Hearn has lately imported his usual stock of Rennie's celebrated seeds. This year, with a desire to please the public, Mr. Hearn has also procured a sample of American seed-potatoes.

Mr. Thomas Farley, carpenter, went out by yesterday's train for Grand Falls.

Captain Wm. Bartlett and members of the "Viking" crew, came home by last night's train.

Now that the House has opened, we hope the necessary steps will be taken to again enforce the Daylight Saving Bill, which was such a boon to those confined in offices, stores, and other places of industry.

The Birth and Death of Shakespeare.

April 23 is a memorable date in the calendar of genius, being that of the birth and death of William Shakespeare, who was born at Stratford-upon-Avon, in Warwickshire, in the year 1564. What credit should be given to the stories which tradition has handed down to us of his earlier days, it is difficult to say, but after a somewhat wild youth, he is stated to have come to London when he was about twenty-two years of age, and after having been married for some years. His circumstances at that time are said to have been so destitute that he was wont occasionally to perform the very humble service of holding the horses at the theatre doors of persons who went to the play. He is also reported to have officiated in the capacity of call boy, or attendant, to the prompter. From this condition, however, he was certainly not very long in emerging. It has been conjectured that he produced his first dramatic composition—the first part of Henry VI.—as early as 1589, when he was only twenty-five years old. It is certain that some of his happiest productions, for example, "Romeo and Juliet," "Richard II." and "Richard III." were printed in 1597, though possibly they may have appeared on the stage some years before. He continued to write for the stage for a number of years, occasionally appearing himself as a performer. At length, having secured by his exertions a fortune of two or three hundred a year, he retired to his native town, where he purchased a small estate and spent the remainder of his days in ease and honour. He died there on his birthday in the year 1616, at the age of fifty-two. Besides his plays, he was the author of numerous poetical productions, and especially of a collection of sonnets of great sweetness and beauty.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

The Case for the Moderates.

"SAVE THE CHILDREN."

(By WARWICK SMITH.)

ARTICLE X.

When a boy or girl of seventeen years of age tells you candidly "I have made it myself" in answer to the question "Do you know anything about moonshine," it is time, as the French "furious" to think."

When a boy of twelve or thirteen years of age is brought home to his mother dead drunk, it is time to ask if did Prohibitionists mean when they instructed school-children to sign the following sentence handed to their parent:

"OTHER, FOR MY SAKE VOTE FOR PROHIBITION."

When a clergyman (a Prohibitionist) gets up in his church and in the course of his sermon says "Nine out of ten, nay, I would be more near-correct in saying ninety-nine out of every hundred of those who drink wine and so-called dope are not old toppers but the YOUTHS of the community," I say it is time to pause and think seriously. May I say that I have heard that statement made, and I feel sure that the reverend gentleman was perfectly correct.

This "dope" drinking was going on for months before the authorities dared step in to stop it, and they had to include a well-known Prohibitionist amongst the accused before they would make any real attempt to stop the sale of Vanilla extract for beverage purposes. In that case they had, rightly or wrongly, the backing of public opinion and but for a technicality they would have succeeded in checking the sale of the article. Had the accused not been a Prohibitionist, it is doubtful if the authorities would have acted when they did.

What guarantee have I that one of my boys will not take up the drinking of "dope", "moonshine" or smuggled liquor? The saloons were bad enough, Heaven knows.

Prohibition drove out the unclean spirit, according to the Prohibitionists. But what happens? He returns and brings with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and the last state of the people is worse than the first.

Drunkenness was the evil spirit we tried to drive out by force of the Law instead of by moral suasion. Men who quote Torquemada and the Spanish Inquisition, as means that failed of their purpose, make the same appeal to the "civil arm" that was made in the Middle Ages. They say, however, that Torquemada put good people in gaol in order to make them change their opinions. Well, are they not depriving good people of their liberty too? And they have not the excuse of Torquemada. He wished to do good to those whom he deprived of liberty. The Prohibitionists deprive me of my liberty not for my own good, but for the good of a crowd of fellows who will not be deprived of their drink anyhow, and who may soon be teaching my boys to drink stuff that nobody dreamed of drinking before Prohibition.

A complete supply for your larder.

Custard Like Cream.

Freeman's Custard, made according to directions, provides a creamy dish that softens the tartness of fruits. It is ideal for trifles, and as a hot sauce with puddings it is delicious.

Making Better Cakes.

There is nothing better for making cakes than Freeman's Egg Powder. It is an improvement upon eggs rather than a substitute for them; making cakes lighter and more digestible, and never "dry".

A Popular Blanc Mange.

Freeman's Blanc Mange Powder is distinctly flavoured with fruit essence, and is agreeably smooth to the palate. A packet in the house ensures a delightful "emergency" dish, easily made.

A Clear, Light Jelly.

The delightful clearness and colour of Freeman's Jellies is the next best thing to their taste. There is absolutely no heavy sediment in a jelly made with Freeman's Jelly Crystals, and the flavours are true to the fruit.

A Comforting Drink.

There is no more comforting drink on a cold day than Freeman's Glass Lemon and hot water—as hot as you can drink it. Freeman's Glass Lemon is sweetened sufficiently for the average taste; it is made with real lemons by an entirely new process—a great advance on the old lemon crystal.

If a cold drink is required it is only necessary to add Freeman's Glass Lemon to cold water, it dissolves immediately—no need to wait while the drink cools.

Job's Firm Cancelled Coal Cargo.

Most Unwarranted Proceeding.
On Wednesday Sir J. C. Crosbie gave notice that he would ask the Minister of Shipping to lay on the table of the House a copy of all called correspondence between his Department and the United States Shipping Board, with reference to the importation of a cargo of coal in the month of March.

Yesterday the correspondence was tabled as follows:—

MESSAGES.
February 20, 1920.
United States Shipping Board, New York.

Your steamer "Orion" here short of coal and unfortunately we have none to give her. It would confer a favour on Newfoundland Government and at same time serve your steamer if you would despatch three thousand tons best household bituminous coal by one of your steamers at a reasonable freight rate, not exceeding six dollars per ton. Since beginning December last our supply has been short due to various causes, but during period we have not refused any of your steamers sufficient coal to proceed on journey, although St. John's has been rationed on absolutely smallest necessary requirements and many other towns are without supplies. Your Government has been trying to induce your Government to place coal here for bunkering United States steamers, but so far without result. Only two weeks' supplies here and no tonnage available; hope therefore in mutual interest you will be able to rush a cargo here. We would take over balance at cost price.

W. H. CAVE,
Minister of Shipping.

February 21, 1920.
United States Shipping Board, New York.

In my message 20th please insert word "freight" between words "Reasonable" and "Rate."

W. H. CAVE,
Minister of Shipping.

March 3, 1920.

W. H. Cave,
Minister of Shipping, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Re telegram second instant, arrangements to send forward Lake Beltona with coal cargo have been cancelled on the request of Job Company, and advice from them that Louisburg is now open to navigation and cargo of coal can be obtained that source more promptly. They also agree to use every effort to obtain sufficient bunkers for "Orion" to reach destination, or if this impossible, sufficient to reach closest bunkering port. Request your assistance in obtaining bunkers this vessel and in turn will do all possible to obtain release gas coal for your gas company. Advise prospects K.M. sixty one.

Eggers Division of Operations.

Eggers Division of Operations,
Shipping Board,
Washington.

Your message third. Job's action seems unwarranted. We were willing help out position by taking part cargo "Beltona" costing nine dollars more than our ordinary supply and saleable only at loss. Unable to get sufficient supplies from Louisburg and our coast situation so bad that bunkering "Orion" altogether impossible, as this would necessitate closing down industries to provide coal for householders, who are very strictly rationed. Your Navy Department had coal stored here but sold it locally. Advised your Consul here two months ago what was likely to occur, and understand he urged United States Authorities to store bunker coal here but without result. Hitherto we have bunkered your steamers under great strain to stocks, and when "Orion" advised coming here wireless Captain we could not bunker him. Coal steamers afraid come here before middle of April owing ice conditions. Hope Job's having undertaken to help you will be successful.

W. H. CAVE,
Minister of Shipping.

PASSENGERS INJURED.

The Sleeping Car Plecianta attached to the express which arrived last night, ran off the track yesterday when near Goobie's Station. The passengers received a bad shaking up and three were slightly injured, among whom was Mr. J. C. Phillips who was returning from the S.U.F. Grand Lodge Meeting at Bonavista. The injured were attended by Doctors Carnell and Bragg who were on the train.

MRS. A. L. WILDRICK, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says she had to spend half her time in bed and could not get rested until she took Tanlac. Declares she now feels as well as she ever felt in her life and that she has gained fifteen pounds in weight.

The following remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. A. L. Wildrick, a well-known and highly respected resident of Los Angeles, Calif., living at No. 222 North Alvarado Street. Mrs. Wildrick is 69 years of age and is the mother of seven children. Her photograph appears here.

"For the past year or more," said Mrs. Wildrick, "I have been in very poor health. I suffered principally from chronic indigestion and my condition was so bad I had to spend half of my time in bed from sheer weakness. In spite of all the medicine I took I could not possibly get any relief and I became so nervous and unstrung that at times I could hardly realize what I was doing. I just had no appetite at all and suffered terribly nearly all the time with indigestion and was really in a very bad way physically. If I did eat a little something I would always have a miserable, distressed feeling afterward and I tell you I was going down hill pretty fast.

"Well, I just can't find words to tell you how really bad off I was and also to tell you what Tanlac has done for me, for I feel as well now as I ever felt in my life. Why, after taking only three and a half bottles of this medicine I have actually gained 15 pounds in weight and everyone tells me I am looking better than in years!

"Since I have been taking Tanlac I have found out that several of my intimate friends are also taking it, and everyone of them are delighted with it. I am surely glad to recommend Tanlac and help spread the goodness of this medicine. Yes, I want you to use my photograph too, so that all my friends may see how well I am looking. Anyone who could see me now after seeing me only a few weeks ago would be convinced that Tanlac must be a really wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, and by the leading Druggist in every town.—adv't

To-day's Messages.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

BATESVILLE, Ark., April 22.
Flames swept through the residence section of Batesville yesterday afternoon and destroyed eighty residences, made three hundred persons homeless, and caused a loss estimated at half a million dollars.

MASSACHUSETTS WILL NOT BE DRY.

BOSTON, April 22.
A bill to legalize the sale, in this state, of beers and light wines with alcoholic contents of not more than 2.75 per cent., was passed by the Senate yesterday, with a vote of 21 to 8. The measure has not yet been acted upon by the House.

UNIQUE CAUSE FOR STRIKE.

JAEN, Spain, April 22.
All workers here struck to-day, because of a quarrel between the Socialist Mayor of the city and the Civil Governor, which arose from the former's suppression of gambling, which action the Governor declared was not authorized. The workmen generally support the Mayor's action and the city is without water, gas, electricity or street cars.

FAVORABLE SENTIMENT.

LONDON, April 22.
England's new Irish Policy may be something broader than the existing Home Rule Scheme, and not unlike Dominion Home Rule, says the Daily Sketch. Sir Hamar Greenwood, recently named Chief Secretary for Ireland, and General Sir Cecil A. T. Macready, the newly appointed Military Commander there, are said to favor moderation and are making attempts to determine just what the Sinn Fein wants. A favorable atmosphere is being created and a Government newspaper says it will go further to reach a settlement than is generally believed.

OVERALL PARADE FOR NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 22.
Ten thousand persons, at least, will parade here on Saturday in overalls, according to estimates to-day by the "Cheese Club," which is fostering a drive against the high prices of clothing. It will be an "All Overall" parade from the police, who will head the procession, to bands and marchers. The price cutting movement by department stores, which started in Brooklyn, spread to Manhattan to-day, with an announcement by A. W. Riehl, Head of the Department of Justice Flying Squadron of Profiteer Hunters, that two big stores have volunteered to cut clothing and shoe prices. He said one was a large Fifth Avenue Department Store.

SEEDING TEAMS ORGANIZED.

CALGARY, April 23.
Mobilization of all available teams of the cities of this Province to assist in seeding operations, is being planned by the U. F. A. in co-operation with Southern Boards of Trade. The Mayor and Commissioners, and many business men have approved of the idea. It is estimated that seeding could be assisted to the extent of two thousand acres a day in Southern Alberta, if a hundred teams could be secured from Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

JAMAICA GINGER ON TRIAL.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 23.
The question whether Jamaica Ginger is a prohibited beverage under United States Law, is to be tried out in the Federal Court here. A vendor of ginger went on trial yesterday.

LONG SENTENCES FOR RIOTERS.

JERUSALEM, April 23.
The British Commander here has confirmed sentences passed by court martial, mainly under the Ottoman Penal Code, on several Arabs and Jews in connection with the Easter rioting. The sentences range from fifteen years imprisonment downward. The Jews kept their shops closed Tuesday morning in protest, but reopened them on the Government's order. The total casualties in the rioting are announced as 198.

SMALL SUM ON ACCOUNT.

BERLIN, April 23.
Germany will announce before May 10, the amount she is able to pay as part of her indemnity to the Allies. The Finance Minister has not yet definitely indicated the sum, but it is hinted that the amount will be below a hundred thousand marks.

NEWSPAPER CONTROLS ADMINISTRATION.

LONDON, April 23.
Sir John Taylor, Under Secretary in the Irish Administration, will resign as a part of the new Government policy towards Ireland, says the Daily Sketch. Sir John, says the newspaper, has for years been the power behind the Throne at Dublin Castle, and his life has been in constant danger. He was constantly guarded by detectives, and it is reported he had not left the Castle in six months until he was given a months leave of absence recently. This leave may be prolonged indefinitely.

CHANGING HIS MIND.

PARIS, April 23.

DINED FRENCH PREMIER.

SAN REMO, April 22.
Premier Millerand, of France, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain last night. A. J. Balfour, former British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was present.

SUMMARY OF FOREIGN EVENTS.

HORSEA, April 23.
(British Wireless Service.)
LONDON.—Japan has declared war on Soviet Russia, and America has given Japan a free hand in Siberia, says a Harbin despatch to the Daily Herald. From Harnac Mancuria States, a witness has arrived here, and confirms a report that the Japanese, last Sunday, fired on the barracks of the American engineers near the scene of the fighting at Hariaf, between the Japanese and the Czechs. There were no casualties among the American ranks.

WASHINGTON.—The big league baseball season opened here to-day when the Red Sox and the Nationals clashed on the second series of this year. The opening was one of the most suspicious the capital has ever had. Vice President Marshall shied out the first ball. Brilliant games are recorded. Secretary Daniels and party were in the box and with him were half a score of high ranking naval officers.

Baseball Scores.—The American League: Chicago, eight; Detroit two; Washington, eight; Boston, five; New York, eight; Philadelphia, eleven; St. Louis, three. The National League: Philadelphia, four; Brooklyn, three; Chicago four; Cincinnati three; New York and Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh were postponed, owing to rain.

Temple, Texas.—James E. Ferguson, former Governor of Texas, yesterday announced his candidacy for President of the United States on the platform of the American party, which was organized at Fort Worth, Texas, last August by a fraction of the Texas Democratic Party.

Church Lads' Brigade Cadets.

On Thursday evening at the Headquarters of the Battalion First Nfld. Regiment of the Church Lads' Brigade Cadets, the annual dinner of the W.O. and N.C.O.'s Mess was held at 8.30 p.m. Punctually all were present in full kit, and the chair was occupied by Regt. Sergt. Major Rowland Williams. The menu was a choice one and prepared in first class style by Sergt. Cook, Roberts, Corp. Cook and Harry Butler who wore their magnificent mess uniforms. After the dinner was thoroughly enjoyed by everybody, the following Toast List was drunk:

The King--Prop. Chairman; Resp. "God Save the King."
The Companies--Prop. Rev. E. H. Fletcher; Resp. "A" C.S.M. Rendell, "F" C.S.M. Colton, "C" Corp. Smith.
Recitation--L.C. Dicks.
The Officers--Prop. Sergt. Best; Resp. Lieut. Motty.
Song--Lieut. Fletcher.
Song--Sergt. Clifford Earle.
Absent Friends--Prop. Corp. Ewing. (Drunk in silence.)
Recitation--C.S.M. Colton.
Our Guests--Prop. Chairman; Resp. A. G. Williams.
Chairman--Prop. C.S.M. H. Rendell; Resp. Chairman.
"God Save the King."

The officers present were Rev. (Lieut.) Fletcher, the most popular man in Topsail Camp, and Lieut. Motty and Miles, honorary members of the mess. The most outstanding feature of the dinner was an oration by Sergt. Earle Best on his proposing the toast of the officers, and we give his remarks in verbatim herewith. It shows more than anything the undoubted Brigade spirit and the loyalty existing in the rank and file to those in command at present, and the unquestioned appreciation of all ranks to those commanding officers who pioneered the organization in its infant days of trial, and blazed the trail for the grander events, the proudest privilege the members ever had in serving their King and Country on Flanders fields and on the decks of the British fleet in the North Sea. Col. Franklin, D.S.O., Col. Outerbridge and Col. R. G. Rendell, C.B.E.'s memories are green in the hearts of the rank and file to-day, their record is one which will never be obliterated from memory; they have builded better than they knew, when the hours they snatched from business and pleasure were devoted to the upbuilding of the Brigade organization, and to-day the lads are still grateful. Sergt. Best spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—
It is with mixed feelings of "fear" and "honor" that I rise to propose the important toast of "The Officers" this evening. Honour—That one so young in years and Brigade matters generally should be selected for so important, to my mind, the most important toast of the evening. Fear—That my inexperience as an after-dinner speaker, will render me incapable of doing this toast the justice which it deserves. However, I shall do my humble best, and crave your indulgence for any shortcomings of mine in this respect. I suppose it is only natural that outstanding figures in life are indelibly photographed on our minds and stamped in our memories. Peculiarly so is this also in Brigade life, and, owing to the short time at my disposal and my inability to deal adequately with each individual case, I shall refer briefly to one or two of these outstanding figures in the life of the C.L.B. in Newfoundland, and whose names and persons are familiar to even the youngest member of the Brigade. Who can forget the sturdy frame and soldierly bearing of Lt.-Col. Franklin? Who can forget the smart appearance and well ordered discipline of the boys under this distinguished soldier's charge, and lastly what C.L.B. man forgets or does not take pride in Col. Franklin's glorious record in the World War so lately concluded.

Succeeding Col. Franklin, we next come to a gentleman, who, though probably not so versed in military tactics as Col. Franklin, nevertheless his name live and is held in reverence as long as the C.L.B. exists, I refer to Lt.-Col. Sir Joseph Outerbridge, under whose wise guidance the Brigade was kept to the highest point of efficiency, whilst his benefactions and gifts to the Brigade are too well known to you to need any extended comment from me; and it is a source of the greatest satisfaction to us all to know that Sir Joseph is as keenly interested in us to-day as ever.

We next come to a gentleman, at the sound of whose name, I feel sure you will want to cheer, viz., Lt.-Col. R. G. Rendell. For the years Colonel Rendell had charge of the C.L.B. were years of progress and go-aheadism. Himself an indefatigable worker, he imbued all under him, from his second-in-command to the youngest recruit, with the same spirit; and to-day, this our splendid Armoury stands as a living monument to his burning zeal and patriotism in matters pertaining to the welfare of our Brigade.

Last, but by no means least, we come to our present Commander-in-Chief, Lt.-Col. R. F. Goodridge. Words utterly fail me to express our appreciation and esteem of Col. Goodridge. Suffice it for me to say we all feel that the C.L.B. will, under his able guidance achieve a success hitherto never accomplished in its long and prosperous career.

It is impossible, much as I would like to give an individual meed of praise to each and everyone of our officers, yet I would consider these few rambling remarks rather incomplete, if I did not mention the name of that "King" among men in Brigade matters, Major G. R. Williams, whose years of hard work in our behalf has so materially assisted us to the proud position we occupy to-day.

Gentlemen, in asking you to rise, charge your glasses and drink to the health of "The Officers," I can with a full heart, ask you to drink the health of as gallant a body of gentlemen as any Brigade or any other organization were ever blessed with. Gentlemen, "The Officers."

Long may this loyalty and devotion exist. We were glad to see our old friends Q.M.S. Arthur G. Williams and Sergt. Major Mat. Noseworthy present who revived old memories of the past. We congratulate the W. & N.C.O.'s Mess on their successful dinner.—Q.

The Coal Problem.

THE GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE.

During last week there was practically no coal in the city and this week matters are no better. The only coal available now was landed on the Southside, midway out to the Lighthouse, consequently deliveries cannot be made with despatch. Why it was not landed in one of the empty sheds on this side, nobody but the Minister of Shipping knows. Around an uptown office yesterday, people were clamouring for coal orders, but were told "No orders taken to-day. We will take them Saturday. You will not get delivery before next Tuesday." Much indignation was expressed, and that some very dark brown words were used by the disappointed ones, needs hardly to be told. The Kyle, on her last trip, brought a cargo of coal, but it was taken back to Sydney. Complaints that people have no fuel to cook a meal with are heard on all sides. The Government's failure to handle the coal situation, the mail service and the profiteering is absolutely beyond challenge.

Successful Sale.

The Sociable and Sale by the St. Margaret's Guild at Canon Wood Hall on Wednesday was very successful the proceeds being well up to expectations. There was a very large attendance including Miss Armored Harris, patroness of the Guild, Rev. Dr. Jones and Rev. Mr. Moulton. Rev. (Capt.) Clayton acted as chairman at the concert with which the affair opened. The programme, consisting of solos by Misses Major, Mitchell, Dunfield and Rev. Moulton, dances by Misses Noseworthy and Wallace, selections by Misses Coaker and Cook, and Shadowland by the Dunfield boys was thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. (Rev.) Clayton acted as the accompanist. Following the concert the sale was held and the fancy, jumble and candy stalls, etc. were quickly depleted of their stock. The few remaining articles at closing hour were auctioned by Mr. Reg. Dowden and fetched excellent prices.

A Kindly Cadi.

One of the strongest advocates of the children's court, Sir John Dickson, who is retiring from Bow Street, has long been regarded as London's most popular and humane magistrate. He is a great admirer of boys' brigades. "They prevent boys from slouching," he says. "A slouching boy develops a slouching mind." His favourite story concerns a constable who described a defendant as "violent and abusive." "And I suppose," said the magistrate, "you used drastic measures to arrest him?" "No, sir; I used my truncheon," replied the constable.

Obituary.

HENRY ANDREWS.

There passed peacefully away, at his home at Leading Tickle East, an old and respected citizen in the person of Mr. Henry Andrews, aged 75 years. Many far and near will be sad to hear of his passing away, as he was kind and good to all who had the pleasure of knowing him. Mr. Andrews was the son of the late Henry Andrews of Harbor Grace. One brother, Mr. James Andrews of Point Leamington, is the only survivor of the once large family. Mr. Andrews had been ailing for a number of years, and it is sweet to know that after toiling and suffering, his end was peaceful and he longed to be "With Christ, which is far better."

"Tis good to see Christ's weary ones Just put to sleep by him; But better still by faith to hear Their glorious Easter hymn. To know that they have found their Lord

Thought tears our eyes may dim. Mr. Andrews is sadly missed in his home, and our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Andrews in her loneliness in the eventide of life.

We miss thee in our home We feel thy absence much; And oh! what sorrows pierce the heart To see the vacant couch.

Mr. Andrews leaves to mourn a wife, one son, George, and one grandson, Alan, and one brother and a host of friends.

Silently the shades of evening Gather round their lonely door; Silently we bring before us Grandpa's face we'll see no more. E.L.M.

Sikh's Sacred Emblems.

It was recently reported that General Dyer had been presented by the Sikhs with a sacred comb, the quoit and the dagger.

By being presented with these, General Dyer has received what is practically the greatest honour a Sikh can bestow upon any man not of his religion.

When the son of a Sikh himself becomes a Sikh, in other words, when he is admitted to the religion, he is given the comb, dagger and quoit, and from the day he receives them he guards his sacred possessions most jealously.

The quoit, of course, is the national weapon of the Sikhs. Men serving in Sikh regiments of the Indian Army wear a small quoit, about four inches in diameter, in front of their turban, but the actual weapon is much larger and heavier, and has a razor-like edge.

The Sikhs have a deadly aim. The quoit is thrown in much the same manner as was the discus in days of old—that is, the thrower gets a firm footing, flings his hand right back, and then brings it suddenly forward, releasing the weapon—and woe betide the unfortunate enemy whose neck gets in the way.

"FIVE THOUSAND."

Five Thousand more bottles of "Brick's Tasteless" Cod Liver Oil will arrive in a few days. The two thousand which arrived about two weeks ago is practically all sold. This certainly speaks well for the medicinal qualities of "Brick's Tasteless." The only fault is it makes you eat, and food is very high at present. "Brick's Tasteless" is a most palatable preparation containing the active principles of the purest Cod Liver Oil with all its unequalled tonic alternative reconstructive properties—combined with Phosphorous in the form of the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites containing 1-100 gr. strychnine to each tablespoonful also, with the nutritious liquid extract of malt and the bronchial tonic and sedative fluid extract of wild cherry bark. Price $1.80 bottle; postage 20c. extra. For sale by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, Wholesale & Retail Druggists, St. John's, Newfoundland. Sole agents for Newfoundland. Write us for wholesale price.

Personal Mention.

"Keatings."

One of the best stories told by Sir Ernest Shackleton, who is lecturing on his last Antarctic Expedition at the Philharmonic Hall in London, concerns a reporter who interviewed him while he was on a lecture tour in America. "Now, boss," the Pressman said to Sir Ernest, "I don't want any of the usual tosh. Just want to know about you. Now, what do you like?" "Poetry," was the reply. "I'm a hog at poetry." "And what poets do you prefer?" "Shelley, Burns, and Keats." "Half a moment. Let me get the down: 'Shelley, Burns, Keatings,' mumbled, as he wrote. "And Keatings got the 'ad.'"

When Anchors Float.

Seaplanes Sometimes Raise Their Daring Storms.

Did you know that a seaplane takes as big an anchor as a battleship does! A battleship weighs about three thousand times as much as a seaplane. A five-ton anchor will hold a battleship safe through the heaviest storm. You would expect, then, that a seaplane anchor would be a thing you would carry in your hand. But, startling as it may seem, a seaplane needs a dreadnought anchor—an anchor nearly as heavy as itself.

The reason is curious but simple. When a storm blows, a ship tries to pull her anchor along the bottom of the sea. The flukes of the anchor catch round some projection and hold fast. It is the grip, not the weight, of a ship's anchor that keeps a ship safe. But a seaplane does not try to drag her anchor at all. She tries to lift it straight up.

Why? Well, for much the same reason that makes your cap or bowler hat fly off when you are out in a gale or travelling in a fast car. You may have noticed that it always flies up a little before falling on the road. It has to, in fact, in order to blow off at all.

The curved surface of the seaplane's wings correspond to the round top of your hat or cap. And when a powerful current of air is blown horizontally against a curved surface it tends to make that surface rise up into the air. (This is really the secret of all flight, the strong current of air being in ordinary flying provided by the tremendous forward speed given by the engine.)

So when a storm blows, an anchored seaplane rises straight up in the air like a lift, and tries to hoist her anchor up with her. With a seaplane it is the weight of the anchor that counts, not the strength.

Things weigh lighter in water than they do in air. Many a seaplane in a storm has managed to lift her anchor to the surface of the sea without being able to hoist it any higher, and has drifted away down wind like a feather, with her heavy iron anchor "floating" on the surface of the sea.

Mainly About People.

King George is giving a great deal of attention to the hunt now going on throughout his kingdom for tall men who are all the better the more inches they are above six feet. There are only 18 left of the 200 who constituted his grenadier guards before the war, and there is a steady hunt for men to bring up the strength of his body guard.

Captain A. G. Thomson, of the Scandinavian-American line, has in his life travelled 2,000,000 miles of ocean and has made 233 round trips between New York and Copenhagen. He is now in his 71st year and has though decided to take a vacation, although loath to do so.

Dr. Donald J. Cowling, who is directing the $100,000,000 New World Movement campaign of the Northern Baptist Church, has been made an officer of public instruction by the French Government. The honor is the highest France bestows on an educator. It is a reward for Dr. Cowling's success in securing scholarships for 150 French girls in American colleges.

The Prince of Wales is president of the oldest hospital in the British Empire, St. Bartholomew, at Smith Field. This hospital was founded by Peter, the Jester of Henry VIII., in 1133. He delighted the patients, especially the old and bedridden ones, by personally visiting each one of them.
