MARKET REPORTS

indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite Miners last year has not been made up, and American hard coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product. We advise our customers to book their requirements as soon as possible.

Wealth and Beauty at Stake!

CHAPTER XIV.

And, knowing what she will have to encounter downstairs this evening, he longed to forgive her and comfort her now, and—last of all, but most of all—to let Joyce Murray see that he and his wife are happy together. "You will know more of them than you care for, I fancy, before we leave Pentreath," he says, laughing, as he draws her hand within his arm. "You haven't had the bliss of meeting Lady Maria yet."

"I shall like to meet her. She is a great sufferer, isn't she?" Yolande asks, quietly and sadly.

"Yes, I believe she is," Dallas says; and, answering the sorrowful tone of sympathy with a quick, close pressure of his arm, he bends his head until his cheek touches hers. His heart throbs fast against the little hand in its creamy glove, a passionate yearning and longing and hope and fear commingling thrill him through. It is almost as if he loved her. "Yolande, can't we be better friends than we are?" he whispers, and holds his breath and trembles with eagerness for her reply.

He is not quite so sure of a tender answer to a wooing question now as he was a fortnight ago. Yolande shrinks away from his touch, trying to withdraw her hand, and laughs a cold, careless, mocking little laugh. "I thought we were very good friends, considering everything," she

MANY WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

Through the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Two Interesting Cases

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Mrs. Edwards Avoids Operation
Wilson, N. C.—"For about a year I was not able to do anything, not even my housework, because of the pains in my sides and the bearing-down pains. I could only lie around the house. The doctor said nothing, but an operation would help me, but I tried different medicines which did no good, until my sister insisted on my trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She said there was nothing like it. I know that she was right, for I began to improve with the first bottle and it has done me many good things since. I am able now to do anything on the farm or in my home and I recommend it to my friends."—LILLIE EDWARDS, R.F.D. 3, Box 44, Wilson, N. C.

Another Operation Avoided
Akron, Ohio.—"I can never praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I had much pain and weakness that the doctor told me nothing but an operation would help me. But my mother had taken the Vegetable Compound and she told me what it had done for her, and so I took it and I am glad to tell every one that it made me a strong woman, and I have had two children since then."—Mrs. E. G. Westover, 326 Grant Street, Akron, Ohio.

they can well be, side by side they enter the great drawing-room at Pentreath, where Dallas Glynn has so often entered with his false, lost love.

And the first person on whom his eyes rest is that false, lost love, smiling on him kindly and brightly, looking fairer and lovelier than ever, golden-haired, blue-eyed Joyce Murray, in soft, dead-black silk and jet-sprinkled laces, with the black ribbons of her Swiss bodice laced across a white crepe chemise, and jet stars sparkling in her shining hair—for "mourning" for poor Dawson's broken neck.

Yolande knows quite well that she is looking on her rival before ever a word is spoken. She knows it; and a handclasp seems to tighten on her heart, and the great room, with its lamps and pictures, and gleams of gliding and polished wood, and amber, splendid draperies, bright dresses, and faces, is whirling as a kaleidoscope before her eyes.

She keeps fast hold of her husband's arm, with a bitter, desolate feeling that she at least has a legal right to detain him by her side, and a bitter, desolate feeling that it is neither kindness nor inclination that keeps him there.

"This is my wife, Joyce," Captain Glynn says, smiling. "Miss Murray, an old friend of mine, Yolande," and he looks keenly into the pale, girlish face by his side, pitying her even now. But he need not. Yolande acknowledges the introduction, coldly but courteously, with a bow and a slight smile, and Joyce Murray draws back, disconcerted.

Joyce is amiable and good-natured after a shallow fashion; she had made up her mind to be sweetly gracious to the poor, little, timid bride of her old lover, to win the heart of the romantic, girlish wife and fascinate her, and exchange all sorts of sentimental confidences with her, and so keep the old chain of enthrallment woven around Dallas still.

"I suppose, he has made the poor little soul so horribly jealous that she can't bear the sight of me!" Joyce says to herself, soothing her ruffled vanity. "How absurd! To think that he should tell a girl of that age of his former love affairs, when she was frantically in love with him herself!"

She glances at Dallas with a soft, prosopical pout on her smiling lips, but puts in good earnest when she sees that Dallas is not even looking at her, but gazing past her in utter amazement, while Yolande's pale, cold face is lit up with smiles and brightly flushed.

"Mo cherie!" exclaims mademoiselle, rushing forward, with carefully studied, enthusiastic affection, her plump arms shining white and bare to her shoulders above her twenty-button gloves.

"I am glad to see you, mademoiselle," the poor child says, nearly breaking down at this first welcome and the sight of a familiar face. She clasps the hands of her former governess in both hers, and her cheeks are flushed, and her eyes are dewy with tears.

"Your wife is a pretty girl, Dallas," Joyce says, biting her lip, discontentedly. "I wish she would be friends with me!"

"How, in the name of all that is astounding, did she come here?" Dallas demands, in a low tone, frowning as he looks at mademoiselle, who, over his wife's shoulder looks at him with the sweetest of detestful smiles, though she guesses the very words he has just spoken by the movement of his lips and his displeased frown.

"I haven't paid off half my debts to you, mon grand seigneur, Dallas, darling!" sneers mademoiselle to herself. "But I'll pay them one day in full. I owe your unfortunate little fool of a wife a good turn for meeting me as she did just before all the fine ladies who hate me, and I'll pay that, too. I'm poor, but honest, my dear Captain Glynn!"

"I think I should rather you, Dallas," Joyce says, with a curling lip, turning her shoulder toward mademoiselle, with a pretty, scornful shrug. "She is an old acquaintance of the vicount's, and an indispensable favorite—already, with Lady Maria!"

"In what capacity, for Heaven's sake, is she here?" Dallas asks, impatiently.

THE PET DOG.

WALT MASON

"My dog," said M. r. s. Beeswax Jones, "is valued at ten thousand pounds. He is a dog beyond compare, he's scooped the bench shows a very where; in royal kennels he was bred and queens and kings have queens, he a v e stroked his head. He is a treasure, I declare, but oh, he is a constant care! With him my time's so occupied I have to let my children slide. I'm told the kids are running wild, by garish sights and sounds beguiled, they roam the streets, I hear it said, when they should all be tucked in bed. But I'm so busy with my pup I cannot go and round them up. I have to take him on my knees and dote his hide to banish fears; I have to watch him while he feeds, and see he gets just what he needs, or he might harbor deadly germs, and have severe attacks of worms. And I contend that it is wise to give him proper exercise, and so I lead him by a chain around the parks and down the lane. And I must supervise his bath; the maid has often stirred my wrath by getting soapuds in his eyes and smiling at his anguished cries. And when I've doted this priceless hound I am too tired to chase around and gather up my children six, and make them quit their foolish tricks. And as I said, my noble dog is in the royal catalogue."

Selling Books in Japan.

This is how a Tokio bookseller advertises:

"The advantages of our establishment: (1) Prices cheap as a lottery. (2) Books elegant as a singing girl. (3) Print clear as crystal. (4) Paper tough as an elephant's hide. (5) Customers treated as politely as by the rival steamship companies. (6) Articles as plentiful as in a library. (7) Goods despatched as expeditionously as a cannon ball. (8) Parcels done up with as much care as that bestowed on her husband by a loving wife. (9) All defects, such as dissipation and idleness, will be cured in young people paying us frequent visits, and they will become solid men. (10) The other advantages we offer are too many for language to express."

Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Fashion Plates. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A PRETTY HOUSE OR PORCH FROCK.

4270. Checked gingham in brown and white as here illustrated. It is trimmed with white pique. Figured voile or percale will also be good for this model. Taffeta or tub silk would be very pleasing, with stitching or embroidery for trimming.

The Pattern is cut in 4 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. A 35 inch size requires 5 1/2 yards of 32 inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 1/2 yards. To trim as illustrated requires 3/4 yard of 36 inch material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A CHIC LITTLE DRESS.

4421. Foulard in tan and blue was used for this model. It makes an ideal warm-weather dress, with its simple sleeveless lines. The waist back over laps the fronts in long shoulder extensions. A sash of ribbon or a girde of silk will form a pretty finish.

The dress is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. A 16 year size requires 4 yards of 32 inch material. The width of the dress at the foot is 2 1/2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A SIMPLE FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

4288. Blue wool jersey embroidered in colors, or green taffeta with pipings and vest of pongee in a natural shade will be pretty for this model.

The Pattern is cut in 3 Sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. A 14 year size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

TWO PRACTICAL KITCHEN "ESSENTIALS."

Pattern 3600 supplies these models in One Size: Medium. For the Apron one may use percale, madras, gingham, seersucker, drill or cambric. It will require 1 1/2 yard.

For the Oven Cloth, unbleached muslin, denim or drill would be suitable for the foundation, and cretonne or gingham for pockets and facings. An interlining of asbestos is very desirable. 3/4 yard of 36 inch material will be required.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A PRACTICAL MODEL.

2872. Here is a popular shirt style, good for madras, cambric, muslin, silk, flannel or khaki. The fronts are closed in coat style. The sleeve may be finished in wrist length with a cuff, or in elbow length without hte cuff.

The Pattern is cut in 11 Sizes: 13 1/2, 14, 14 1/2, 15, 15 1/2, 16, 16 1/2, 17, 17 1/2, 18 and 18 1/2 inches neck measure. A

A NEW "WRAP" SKIRT.

4449. This model has the belt at slightly raised waistline. It is excellent for a sports or separate skirt, and will develop well in all sports materials, and in serge, broad cloth, linen and other wash fabrics.

The Pattern is cut in 5 Sizes: 26, 27, 28, 31, 33, and 35 inches waist measure. A 28 inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material. The width at the foot is 1 1/2 yard.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Indifference, Inertia, or Want of Leadership--Which?

Recently one of our contemporaries referred to what it described as the Deadly Inertia which impeded our progress in every direction. Others have written on the same subject and called it indifference. We preferred to ascribe it to misdirected energy.

It is difficult to analyze the agency which is at work threatening to destroy the morale of a people and to cause poverty and discontent where there might and should be prosperity and happiness. It is possible that an attempt to discover it, however wrong the conclusion arrived at may be, will lead to discussion and eventually to the solution of the difficulty. Let us take two subjects:

EDUCATION.

There are few who will not admit that in this community the question of education has been given, until recently at any rate, scant consideration. Higher education was scoffed at, compulsory education was not to be thought of, and anyone who suggested it was accused of attempting to interfere with the freedom of the people--an obvious admission that no distinction was made between freedom and unrestraint. If a Government had the courage to increase the Grant for Education, the cry of unnecessary expenditure was raised although teachers were trying to exist on less than was paid an unskilled workman, and every district was clamoring for an increased grant.

Without question there has been a marked improvement in many directions, but education is far from being a real live issue, and many reforms have still to be effected. The various reports of the Superintendents of Education indicate what excellent work is being done generally under the conditions which exist, but one is impressed by the lack of unanimity in the different views taken of several important problems--for instance the value of competitive examinations, inter-denominational schools, or compulsory education.

Surely this points to the absence of a common policy governing the whole, of the necessity for a guiding mind which can direct all the talents into one channel, a leader who can inspire confidence, and having decided upon the course of action which will be for the common good, will act with decision and dispatch.

THE FISHERIES.

Here we are faced with various problems--apart from those over which we have no control--the cure, the credit system, the best method of marketing, control of the lobster packing, and so on ad infinitum, but no solution has been found for any of them, or if a solution has been suggested, it has not been generally adopted.

This is unquestionably a matter with which the Government of the country must deal, but so far we have looked on, while our competitors have tackled the difficulties and overcome them, and then encroached upon our markets. There are men in the country who have made a life long study of our staple industry. It is of course impossible to expect all of them to agree on a policy in every particular, but if we could find a leader who, having given careful consideration to the various views held by those engaged in the fish business, merchant as well as fisherman, would introduce legislation enforcing under penalty the regulations which he felt would be the most effective, the energy expended at present in various directions would be directed towards one object, and success would follow.

These are but two of the factors in the public life of the community in which reforms might well be effected by united action rather than by individual effort. We are inclined to act independently and to resent control in any form. But there is need of a man, strong enough to convince us that reforms are necessary, possessing the necessary ability to decide which are best and to carry them into effect.

An illustration is often more convincing than a volume of words. During the Great War, in spite of the gallant efforts of the Allies, the struggle went on month after month, but no marked success resulted. Realizing at last the futility of continuing individually to expend their strength against a force directed from one centre, and united in its plan of operations, the Allies set aside their differences, and decided to act as a unit under one leader in whom they had confidence. From that moment success was only a question of time.

A Thoughtful Deed.

Through the kindness of Mr. Percy Johnson the Grand Falls detachment of the C.L.B. Brigade, which is camped at Topsall, was given a very enjoyable day in the city yesterday. The lads in charge of Lieut. Early arrived in the city in the morning and through the forenoon they took in all the sights, visiting amongst other places the Anglican Cathedral, the Museum and the C. L. B. Armoury. In the afternoon Mr. Harold MacPherson invited the lads for a spin on the harbor. The lads, many of whom had never been on the sea, were taken outside the heads in the tug Hugh D. and returning the tug took a spin round the French warship Regulus; the commander invited the company on board. The lads were exceptionally well treated on board and all were loud in praise of the kindness shown them by both officers and men. Accompanying the party for the sea ride were Messrs. MacPherson, Parsons and Salter. At 5 p.m. the detachment was taken back to camp having spent a most interesting day.

New Bell for Kilbride Church.

Hon. F. McNamara recently presented a "Blymer" Church Bell to Rev. J. J. Rawlins, P.P., of his new church at Kilbride. The bell arrived by last Silvia from New York, and was made by the celebrated "Blymer" Foundry, Cincinnati, Ohio. It measures 42 inches and weighs, when adjusted, 1200 lbs. The bell will be blessed by Archbishop Roche before being placed in the belfry. Rev. Fr. Rawlins and the parsonages of Kilbride are very grateful to Hon. Mr. McNamara for his very generous donation.

MR. HIGGINS TERMS AGRICULTURAL COMMISSIONERS ON A PAR WITH THOSE WHO RECEIVED ABLE-BODIED RELIEF--DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVES WILL HAVE THE DISPOSITION OF GRANTS AND OTHER EXPENDITURES.

A large number of visitors attended yesterday's session as it was generally reported that Sir Richard Squires purposes taking his seat for the first time since he resigned his portfolio. The ex-premier was not present during the proceedings, which began at 4 p.m. and adjourned at 6.45 p.m.

PENSIONED BECAUSE HE COULD NOT BE TRUSTED.

Mr. Sullivan asked about the pension of W. J. Blandford. His information was that he was only in the Civil Service for three years. The Prime Minister stated that his information was that Mr. Blandford was seventy-two years of age. It was noted that he was only employed for a period of three years. He was also not to be trusted. Through his actions he came near burning down the Lunatic Asylum. The Government rather than put him on the street, pensioned him. Mr. Sullivan said a strong vote of censure should be passed on those who first employed him.

USELESS OFFICIALS WITH BIG SALARIES.

Sir Michael Cashin said he held in his hand a statement of new appointments made since March 1st last. He noticed that one C. J. Furey was made a Railway Inspector at a salary of $1140.00 per year. Mr. R. J. Kennedy, the late Railway Inspector, was pensioned a year ago, at $750.00 entirely against his will, how Mr. Furey comes in at $1140.00. Mr. Furey is unequalled for the position even if it were necessary. He could not understand this kind of thing being done. He protested strongly as he did also to the vote of $2380.00 for three Agricultural Commissioners. He could not think the Minister was sincere. Mr. Wincey should be sent to the factory. Capt. Jones was in the House all the summer and still would be drawing his salary of $750.00 as Magistrate on the Labrador. What was the use of a Court on the Labrador in the month of September. It should be held in July and August. (Captain Jones later in the session replied by saying that if he could not get to the Labrador till September owing to his house duties he would not go and therefore would not take any salary. Sir Michael said the right policy for the new Premier to pursue was to call the roll and every man who could not justify his salary before the public, mark him off the list and let him go and earn his living. Now right at this session was the time to begin.

APPOINTMENT MADE UNKNOWN TO EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

The Prime Minister in replying to Sir Michael Cashin, said he did not know of Mr. Furey's appointment as Railway Inspector till it was brought to his notice in the House. The appointment never went through the Council and as a matter of fact the votes for such an office had been eliminated from the estimates. As for the Agricultural Commissioners that is a legacy he had from the Morris Government. He was aware that it was quite improper to have men holding appointments under Government while sitting as members of the House without going back to their districts for re-election. Such appointments are made in defiance of what is known here as Carter's Purge.

Sir Michael Cashin explained that the appointment of Commissioners under the Morris Government was justified by the fact that there was then a policy to be developed and carried out, where to-day there is none. He referred to the anomaly of appointing three Commissioners at a cost of $2,200.00 to assist in spending a vote for Agriculture of but $13,000, as ridiculous and absurd.

Mr. Higgins spoke of the appointment of the three Commissioners as being a form of able-bodied relief. Out of respect for the three gentlemen he refused to sanction a vote which virtually made paupers of them. He asked the Government to save the gentlemen from such humiliation. There are widows in this country to-day who cannot be persuaded to accept Government assistance dreading the very suggestion of being made legally paupers by the act yet the House is asked to put this dreadful stigma upon some of its own members. He fully recognized the difficulties of the Government and his remarks were made in a spirit of helpful criticism. If he wanted to embarrass the Government he could not do better than to allow the Government to go on its own way. He believed the Government meant to do the right thing and he would be glad to assist them in every way. But, first of all, they must be prepared to start anew, must put off and repudiate the old, clean up the mess and take up new life. The corpse of the defunct Government must be removed and a deep grave, deep enough to satisfy the most exacting sanitary requirements, must be dug for it. And it must be buried deep enough to ensure there will be no premature resurrection.

Mr. Downey defended the Commissioners under the Morris Administration of which he was one of the three appointed.

Mr. Walsh intimated his intention to oppose the vote on the grounds that there is really very little for them to do and our financial state warrants such extravagant expenditure should be abolished.

Mr. Higgins asked for certain particulars re No. 2 Relief Account.

Mr. Woodford again brought to the attention of the House the discrimination practised by the Road Commission in the District of St. John's.

Mr. Hibbs left the chair to make an explanation regarding Mr. Woodford's charges.

Sir M. P. Cashin drew attention to a grave scandal in relation to the sale of splits recently in the East End. Wood that was purchased at a cost of $6,228.00 by the Public Works Department was recently sold for $104.00. He thought this would should have been kept and distributed among the Government institutions rather than be sold for such a paltry sum. It looks rather strange.

Mr. Higgins spoke of the contract for putting in a heating system in the Normal School Building. Tenders were asked. One tended named $42,000.00 another $50,000.00. The contract he was informed was awarded to the $50,000.00 tender.

Hon. Prime Minister said he had taken up with his council the request of Mr. Higgins, that District Representatives handle all money and wished to inform the House that from now on none but those elected by the people should have the disbursements of public moneys in the district, for which statement Mr. Higgins thanked the Premier.

It was claimed that Mr. Gosse, late member for Hr. Grace is appointed Assistant Road Inspector of a salary of $1,680.00 and so far the position of Inspector is still vacant.

In answer to Mr. Hunt's question it was learned that Mr. Frank Penney received a salary of $1,800 per year to prevent the discrimination employment of men for the Humber.

At 6.45 the Committee rose with the passing of the Public Works votes. Hon. Mr. Warren made a statement re the Humber De-journe Bonds after which the House adjourned until 3 p.m. Thursday.

In Passing.

Yesterday's despatches contained the information that Henry Sullivan, a native of Lowell, Mass., succeeded in swimming the English Channel the day previous.

As stated, Sullivan is the third man in history to perform the feat. Captain Matthew Webb on August 24th-25th, in 1876, and T. W. Burgess on Sept. 6th, 1911, did the trick, whilst hundreds failed time and again.

Omer Perreault, a French-Canadian and a swimmer of repute, tried three times within the last ten days. Swimmers from almost every civilized world have tried it, and barring the two mentioned, Webb and Burgess, whose claims are even now doubted at times, all were unsuccessful.

What no doubt spurs on the long-distance swimmers to try the feat is the large number of extremely valuable cups and trophies and many prizes offered by individuals and Continental and English periodicals.

The shortest distance across the Channel is 21 miles. Burgess's time was 22 hours and 35 minutes, whilst Capt. Webb still holds the record, 21 hours 45 minutes.

From an exchange we clip the following, which will be of interest to followers of sport:--

Lorraine, O., Aug. 2.--Corbis Walker, Cleveland long distance swimmer, after completing a swim across Lake Erie, arriving here at 6.30 this morning from Point Pelee, which he left at 9.15 yesterday morning, roused himself long enough this forenoon to say: "Never again."

The fresh water swim has sapped his strength. His legs are partially and temporarily paralyzed.

Walker landed at Lorraine, Ohio, at 5.30 a.m., just twenty hours and fifteen minutes after he started his swim across Lake Erie from Pelee Passage Lightship, Ontario. Pelee Lightship is seven miles from the Canadian shore and thirty-two miles from Lorraine.

The report that Sir Richard Squires would take his seat in the Assembly during yesterday's proceedings attracted a large gathering of visitors, who were disappointed as it was freely circulated that the ex-Prime Minister was going to avail of the opportunity to make a statement which would somewhat embarrass the Government.

Friends of the displaced Premier contended that Sir Richard will not attend and further sessions of the Legislature this year, and others assert he will shortly resign his seat, which, if correct, will mean another election in the district of St. John's West.

SPORTOGRAPHY

OH! FRED! He took her rowing on the lake. She vowed she'd go no more. For instead of warning up to her, He only hugged the shore.

SAINTS 2-STAR 1.

With a scrap team the once invincible Stars went down to ignominious defeat last night when the Saints put it all over them by a score of 3 to 1. The first half produced some of the finest football this season and the fans were thus rewarded for their increased attendance. There was no scoring in this period but after half-time the Elton brothers seemed to have taken the Stars' measure and pressed their defence hard. By misjudging a long drifter from centre, Dugan let the first one get by him on Elton Major's effort. Minor then repeated, and very shortly afterwards he and Hopkins banged in number three. Just before full time the Stars secured their one and only.

The junior league plays to-night and to-morrow evening the C.E.I. and Saints will try conclusions.

GUARDS' SPORTS TO-DAY.

All arrangements for the most successful sports meet of the season have been completed for the Guards' A.A. meet at the Ayre Athletic Grounds. It will be under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardyce and the first event will be started at 3 p.m. Special features will be the side shows and delicious teas in the very capable hands of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Football Fives and the regular track and field events should be most exciting, as all the favourites will be in action.

C. L. B. in Camp.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION AND SPORTS THIS AFTERNOON.

His Excellency the Governor and suit will lunch with Sir Edgar Bowring at his bungalow at 11 p.m. to-day, and at 3 p.m. he will officially inspect the C.L.B. now in Camp at Topsall. The C. L. B. of late years has affiliated itself with the English Cadet Movement. The Regiment here is attached to the King's Royal Rifle Corps and is officially designated 1st' Nds. Regiment of the C.L.B. Cadets.

The annual camp sports will be held this afternoon, immediately after inspection, following which the distribution of prizes will shake place. Afternoon teas will be served in the Officers Mess Hut by the Mayoress Mrs. Tasker Cook, and Mrs. Rendell, wife of Lt.-Col. Walter Rendell, O.B.E., and other lady assistants. To-night the officers ball takes place in the Orange Hall, beginning Royal 9 p.m. The Battalion Band will furnish music for the occasion.

BUCHAREST, July 14 (A.P.)--A Fascist party, after the model of the Italian Fascisti, has been organized in Roumania. Its motto is "Justice to the just, death to the evil; Fascismo never forgets."

In its programme the new party declares that Roumania needs, first of all, a dictatorship for the restoration of order, security, and honest dealings. It calls also for the expulsion of foreigners, whose presence to the extent of 2,000,000 persons gravely complicates the housing problem.

been invited to compete, and on Thursday last those sailed from England a combined Cambridge and Oxford crew--of which big things are expected. The team is composed of W. P. Mellen (stroke), P. C. BUCK UP!

Editor of Sportographs. From one who conducts a sports' column in the People's Paper I had the hopeful expectation that, instead of dismissing the C.E.I.-Guards game with a mere cursory mention, that you would have availed of the occasion to berate the officials of the Football League for swindling the public on Monday night. It was a well heralded game and you assured us that it was well worth our attending. It certainly was--even though it did throw unto us a shock. We had the pleasure (?) of seeing two goals scored from very deliberate off-sides, and we also had the exquisite delight of witnessing refereeing from mid-field where, in the twilight, it was impossible to judge the play accurately even were the arbiter but a few yards from the scene of operations. We have had the unique pleasure this season of seeing one famous game being obliterated from the scene of our pastimes--its departure being due entirely to the apathy of the players themselves as well as the total disregard of this particular league's officials of the great general public who were willing to stand for almost anything but being maltreated of their money. As a word of warning to the footballers therefore, and their officials, cut out all monkey business and "play the game."

Editor of Sportographs. From one who conducts a sports' column in the People's Paper I had the hopeful expectation that, instead of dismissing the C.E.I.-Guards game with a mere cursory mention, that you would have availed of the occasion to berate the officials of the Football League for swindling the public on Monday night. It was a well heralded game and you assured us that it was well worth our attending. It certainly was--even though it did throw unto us a shock. We had the pleasure (?) of seeing two goals scored from very deliberate off-sides, and we also had the exquisite delight of witnessing refereeing from mid-field where, in the twilight, it was impossible to judge the play accurately even were the arbiter but a few yards from the scene of operations. We have had the unique pleasure this season of seeing one famous game being obliterated from the scene of our pastimes--its departure being due entirely to the apathy of the players themselves as well as the total disregard of this particular league's officials of the great general public who were willing to stand for almost anything but being maltreated of their money. As a word of warning to the footballers therefore, and their officials, cut out all monkey business and "play the game."

Rotary Club Meeting.

The usual weekly meeting of the Rotary Club was held at the West Hotel Restaurant yesterday with a large number of members in attendance. President Mitchell announced that the Play Ground apparatus had been imported for the use of the children in the course of erecting the Bannerman Park which would be ready for use on Monday.

The speaker of the day was Mr. T. Soper, a representative of the Newfoundland Association on the Road Commission who addressed the Club on the "Good Roads Movement" and he introduced to the members of the Club by the Chairman, Rotarian C. Daley. In introducing Mr. Soper, reference was made to the untiring energy and enthusiasm Mr. Soper had put into the good roads movement and to his vision and foresight in the present splendid condition of the main roads in largely due to his assistance and co-operation. Mr. Soper also introduced the Secretary of the Commission, Mr. Richard Hibbs, the energetic and able man who has been largely to the success of the movement.

Mr. Soper's address was received with much appreciation and applause. He stated that the Club and its members are interested in better roads, and he explained our naturally rugged terrain. He mentioned the fact that the meeting closed President Mitchell referred in touching terms to the great loss Rotary has suffered by the death of the late Rotarian, Mr. David M. Soper, who was a member of one of the American Clubs. The Secretary, Rotarian David M. Soper, read the following resolution, which was received by the Club in unison: "Resolved, that the Rotary Club of St. John's, Newfoundland, do hereby extend its sincere sympathy to the family of the late Rotarian, Mr. David M. Soper, and to all those who were affected by the loss sustained by the passing of one who exemplified the principles of Rotary, which he so ably expressed at the St. Louis Convention. His service being rendered both in practice and precept with that great nation, by which his life was held in such high esteem, whose destiny he guided so bravely and fearlessly and the honest welfare of which was his constant care."

Members of the club were:—Messrs. F. W. Pincock, W. Stevenson, J. Fox, P. H. Cowan, R. Hibbs.

PRESS DELIVERED TO ROTARY CLUB ON THE "GOOD ROAD MOVEMENT" BY MR. THOMAS SOPER.

It is always considered a privilege to be invited as guest to Rotarian meetings, but it is indeed an honor to be invited as a speaker to address this club, particularly the subject under discussion is one of such interest and importance. We are pleased to note the increased returns and good value for monies expended, and as the years go on, trust to secure 100 per cent. efficiency.

Bridge: Up to the present, not nearly enough attention has been given to proper erection of bridges on our main line highways; many of them are unnecessary; others are in a dilapidated condition and need immediate attention from the proper authorities. Previous to the introduction of the motor car, the life of an ordinary small bridge, was estimated at four years. We now find that they do not last more than one to one and a half years, and in connection with our present good road movement, we have started an experiment, by laying a reinforced bridge underneath the road surface, which bridge, we estimate will last ten to twelve years, and can be replaced at very little cost.

Introduction of Road Making Machinery: Since the inauguration of the Road Commission, road making machinery has been employed, with very signal success. Many miles of road can now be repaired, widened and properly formed at a title of a cost of the same amount of work if undertaken by ordinary labourers. It must be remembered, however, that the Commission has been operating to more or less extent on 150 miles of road, while our total budget is $18,000. Rotarians will note, that wherever any good road improvements are undertaken in other countries, that from $5,000 to $25,000 per mile is needed. We only have $18,000 per year to improve 150 miles. We have to thank the administration just gone out of power for their interest in this work, and are pleased to report that the new administration is also prepared to consider favourably any assistance in the good roads movement as carried on by the Road Commission, and time is now opportune for further propaganda, for having started in May of present session, the funds of the Commission have already been expended, while we have two and a half months of time when weather conditions are motorists should be taxed in proportion to horse power of the car driven; this tax to be supplemented by a special grant from the general funds of the Colony. Then that body of men, known as the Road Commission, were brought together to carry on the work so ably started some few years before.

The first duty of the Commission, was to provide and inaugurate a proper system of repairing, rebuilding and widening our present main highways, and to carry out this successfully, it was soon discovered that the old system of spending money would have to be discontinued, and in its place the system of employing teams under suitable foremen, was instituted.

Old Highways: There are present to-day, many who will remember with pride their themselves and their fathers looked upon what was then considered a splendid driveway via Portugal Cove to St. John's, but on the introduction of the motor car, it was quickly discovered that this road was utterly unsuitable, and it is only after the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, that the road may now be considered a reasonably safe drive for motor vehicles.

Thorburn Turnpike: This is the only road built in years gone by that in any way measures up to the present day traffic, but the approaches or leading roads to that highway were so unsuitable, that this road was not a popular drive, and it is only during recent years, after expenditure of considerable money, that we find the Thorburn Turnpike a popular run.

Bay Bulls Road: What applied to the Portugal Cove Road, also applies to the Bay Bulls Road. Proper consideration did not seem to be given to the possibilities of increased traffic, and the beauties and magnificent scenery of this particular section, has up to the present, been lost to the average motorist, but we trust, soon, to start operations so that this splendid drive will be both safe and pleasurable. Of Topsail Road I need not say anything, as this drive is well known to all.

The Road Commission, must at all hazards continue its programme of properly ditching, widening, blasting boulders, and moving dangerous turn and corners on our several main highways, before we can hope to interest any great number of outside tourists.

We have abundance of suitable material; we have developed a splendid type of foremen, and we have a goodly number of suitable superintendents ready to carry on a general road improvement campaign. All is needed is the necessary funds, and here let me pay tribute to the men who have been employed under the Road Commission. Already, we notice a better interest, for these men recognise what the good road movement means to their own settlement, and trust, soon, to break down the old idea, that road money was to be given out rather than to be earned by an honest day's work. We also note, improved public spirit, inasmuch, as in these localities where encroachment was made upon the main highways, owners are satisfied to permit of the fences, etc., being moved back to a reasonable distance; thus allowing for proper width and safe passing.

Standard of Rotarians: We are pleased to note the increased returns and good value for monies expended, and as the years go on, trust to secure 100 per cent. efficiency.

Bridge: Up to the present, not nearly enough attention has been given to proper erection of bridges on our main line highways; many of them are unnecessary; others are in a dilapidated condition and need immediate attention from the proper authorities. RUST AND SAW-FLY DAMAGE TO WHEAT CROP.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.
In its fifth report of the season the Manitoba Free Press says to-day that "exceedingly favourable prospects have been maintained throughout the summer have led to a considerable extent vanished during the past three weeks." The report continues, while conditions in Alberta are still very favorable and the best crop since 1915 is anticipated, crops in Saskatchewan have suffered deterioration from rust, heat and too much moisture, until now conditions would point that not much more than a fair yield of wheat will be harvested. In Manitoba the loss caused by rust, heat and saw-fly has been very heavy. In Central and Southern Districts reports would indicate that good yields promised three weeks ago have been fully cut in half. Most districts report labor shortages, wages being from four to four dollars and a half per day.

AWFUL BUTCHERY IN CHINESE BARRACKS.
PEKING, Aug. 7.
Despatches from Tientsin, Province of Honing Kiang, announced that 750 bandits were slaughtered by soldiers in barracks there by command of the Provincial Lachun or Military Governor. The victims were among 1,200 outlaws who surrendered recently and were being trained for the army of Chang, the Tso Lin warlord. Because of the mutinous attitude of the bandits, the military authorities were obliged to execute, consequently others attempted to escape and were cut down by the soldiers.

FALL OF MARK UPSETTING BUSINESS.
BERLIN, Aug. 7.
Utter confusion prevailed in the retail situation in all lines in Greater Berlin to-day due to the continued plunging of the mark and consequent rise of the dollar, while the food situation continues to show a chronic shortage in ordinary staples. Hourly rises of prices caused by the fluctuating of the mark are projecting a new and serious element into the situation as retailers are withdrawing their wares from sale whenever customers refuse to pay prices based on the gold mark or dollar units. Many shops have already shut down, barricaded their doors and emptied their windows of all displays. Once the Government succeeds in putting its reform measures into practical operation, private trade and commerce are expected to adapt themselves to the new order, thus completing the job of permanently jettisoning the paper mark. The Government virtually has abandoned all further attempts to peg the mark or save it from the abyssal plunge. The Government proposes to make recently floated internal gold loans the crux of the new national currency.

THE SITUATION NOT SO BLACK AS PAINTED.
LONDON, Aug. 7.
While little tangible evidence is at hand to indicate the probability of British and French statesmen arriving at any sort of agreement at present on the method of solving the Ruhr and Reparations problems, the British Government's spokesman declared to-day the situation was not as serious as the week end press reports and comments have seemed to indicate.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONTROL LIQUOR SYSTEM IN MANITOBA.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.
W. J. Bullman and W. P. Dutton, well known Winnipeg business men, to-day were appointed commissioners to administer Government liquor system in Manitoba under chairmanship of R. D. Waugh whose appointment was announced Sunday night. Mr. Waugh, who resigned from Saar Valley Commission to take the position, will devote his entire time to the Commission on salary twelve thousand dollars. Messrs. Bullman and Dutton will be paid five thousand each and will continue at the head of their business enterprises.

A Glorious Odor.

The natural scent of real flowers is found in Three Flowers Perfume, and this fine odor is most delicately incorporated into Face Powder, Talcum and Vanishing Cream made by the popular THREE FLOWERS odor. If you search the world you cannot find a more pleasing odor, as a matter of fact the world was searched for the rarest flower scents when this dainty perfume was being created. It is nice to have the same pleasing odor in the face powder, talcum and face creams. Insist upon Three Flowers toilet goods and you will derive a rare satisfaction in making your toilette. Summer days require fragrant perfume. Three Flowers is as fragrant as nature's own scent.

The Newfoundland Government Loan.

We understand that the price of issue of the Newfoundland Government Five per Cent. Twenty-year Loan, to which reference was made yesterday, has been fixed at 96 1/2 per cent. The new stock, to the amount of about $23,000, has been created in connection with a State purchase of railways. It will be transferable free of stamp duty, and being the direct obligation of Newfoundland, will be a trustee security. The prospectus will probably be published on Friday—Times, July 18.

DAVID M. LUSCOMBE.
A venerable and esteemed citizen in the person of Mr. David M. Luscombe, a life-long resident of St. John's East, passed away on Saturday afternoon last, after an illness of long duration. Mr. Luscombe until a few years ago was a faithful employee of Harvey & Co.'s coastal wharf. During his long years in that capacity he was held in the highest esteem by all co-workers. It was only in February last that his wife, who had made a visit to New York, contracted pneumonia and died a few days later. The shock to Mr. Luscombe no doubt hastened the end. He leaves to mourn one son, Samuel at home, and two daughters, Miss Anna, in New York, and Mrs. Frederick Mercer, of Des Moines, Iowa. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from Myrick's Mortuary Rooms for interment in the C. of E. Cemetery. The Telegram offers sincere sympathy.

The program at the Nickel Theatre last night was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience, which included His Excellency Sir William Allardyce, Lady Allardyce and party. His Excellency and suite were well pleased with the show and expressed their delight. Miss Eleanor Mews' vocal renderings were a repeated success. "Good Women," the big Louis Gassner production was an unusual photo-dramatic triumph. Gassner, who directed the wonderful picture "Kismet," has again shown his sense of dramatic and artistic values in this picture. Particular attention has been given to photography and settings. The cast is one of the best that we have seen in many moons and includes such prominent artists as Rosemary Theby and Hamilton Revelle. In the main, the story has to do with the individual who believes that his or her life is to be lived as they see fit with absolute disregard for the conventions of modern society.

Nothing More Important

THINKING women have come to realize that there is little of more importance in their home than the selection of a PURE soap for all household and laundry purposes.

For the sake of their delicate hands, they now wish to be certain that their soap is free from anything injurious. Because only the finest materials are used to make it, Kirkman's Soap is not only the most efficient and economical soap for every household and laundry purpose, but it is absolutely harmless as the most exquisite toilet soap. In fact, members of the Kirkman organization use it for bathing purposes. And this is the "proof of the pudding." Kirkman's Soap is boiled nine times, so as to insure perfect blending of all ingredients. It is absolutely sterile, free from germs of any kind, and always a "safe" soap.

IT is free from lye that roughens and coarsens the delicate skin of your hands. And its economy makes it less expensive to use than ordinary soap. Therefore, if you have the safety of your hands at heart, and consideration for your purse, insist on Kirkman's when ever you buy soap.

Without Question or Argument
Kirkman's Soap is sold to you with the distinct understanding that it satisfies YOU in every way. Your grocer will return your money without question or argument, if you are not pleased with results. You alone are the judge.

Bridge: Up to the present, not nearly enough attention has been given to proper erection of bridges on our main line highways; many of them are unnecessary; others are in a dilapidated condition and need immediate attention from the proper authorities. Previous to the introduction of the motor car, the life of an ordinary small bridge, was estimated at four years. We now find that they do not last more than one to one and a half years, and in connection with our present good road movement, we have started an experiment, by laying a reinforced bridge underneath the road surface, which bridge, we estimate will last ten to twelve years, and can be replaced at very little cost. Introduction of Road Making Machinery: Since the inauguration of the Road Commission, road making machinery has been employed, with very signal success. Many miles of road can now be repaired, widened and properly formed at a title of a cost of the same amount of work if undertaken by ordinary labourers. It must be remembered, however, that the Commission has been operating to more or less extent on 150 miles of road, while our total budget is $18,000. Rotarians will note, that wherever any good road improvements are undertaken in other countries, that from $5,000 to $25,000 per mile is needed. We only have $18,000 per year to improve 150 miles. We have to thank the administration just gone out of power for their interest in this work, and are pleased to report that the new administration is also prepared to consider favourably any assistance in the good roads movement as carried on by the Road Commission, and time is now opportune for further propaganda, for having started in May of present session, the funds of the Commission have already been expended, while we have two and a half months of time when weather conditions are

Wallace Reid in "Always Audacious" A Paramount Picture

Popular Paramount Star Plays Dual Role in a Most Unusual Way.

When Ben Ames Williams' story, "Tourjours de L'Audace" was published in the Saturday Evening Post recently, it instantly created a sensation. Perhaps millions of persons read the story and now that it has been adapted to the screen for Wallace Reid under the name of "Always Audacious," it doubtless will attract much attention. "Always Audacious" will be shown at the Star Theatre today.

In this remarkable photoplay, Mr. Reid plays two roles—those of Perry Danton, a wealthy club man and dilettante, and Slim Attucks, a crook. Both men were born on the same day and both are alike as two peas. The crook conceives the idea of doing away with his double and assuming his place in society and in the business world. He causes Danton to be shanghaied and with the aid of confederates personates him successfully until Danton turns up determined to regain his own. How this is accomplished makes a highly interesting story and the climax is one of the most amazing ever seen in a motion picture.

Of course, there is a pretty love story of which Margaret Loomis, the leading woman, is the central figure. Mr. Reid doubles in many of the scenes as Danton and Attucks with surprising results.

Arrested on Larceny Charge.

Two young men, resident of Topsail, were placed under arrest last evening by Detectives Lee and Walsh, on a charge of larceny. It appears that a quantity of harness recently disappeared from the farm of Mr. Charles Steer. The police were acquainted and Lee and Walsh were placed on the case. They discovered that the harness had been stolen by one of the stable hands at the Steer farm and transferred to a friend.

The Woolsack and the Bar.

Lord Birkenhead, in delivering judgment in favor of the Irish depeetees, did not spare the Attorney-General. Sir Douglas Hogg received a little consideration at his hands as did Sir John Simon when he neglected to appear before the Law Lords in a case in which he had been briefed. This adds interest to the announcement that the Attorney-General has given Sir John Simon a certificate of good behaviour. In the judgment of the head of the English Bar he was guilty of no impropriety towards the House of Lords, and not a thing in his conduct was deserving of censure. The Bar, it seems, can get its own back, even from the Woolsack.

New "Valley of the Kings."

American archaeologists, who are digging in the valley of the Ohio River, have discovered treasures and artistic remains that are claimed to rival those of "the Valley of the Kings" in Egypt. The excavators declare that their discoveries prove that native American art in 1,000 B.C. was superior to that of Egypt, during the same period.

Beautifully carved pipes, shaped from the hardest of stone, are among the objects extracted from the Indian burial mounds. A large gold nugget, which has been hammered into the shape of an eagle, was also discovered.

Tutankhamen's subjects used to sleep on wood, but the original American natives had luxurious beds, made with fabrics woven from long, tough grasses.

The only point in which the old Egyptians could be said to be superior to the Indians was in their knowledge of writing, which the latter race never seems to have developed.

These latest discoveries, and those made some time ago in Yucatan, go to prove that the ancient races of what we misname the New World, were quite as civilized as those of the Old World.

TAKING TURNS.

Before he became too much interested in affairs of other worlds to think about this one, a man in a white coat wrote a set of maxims for the married. They are 15 and all excellent. The one I like best is this: "Never both be cross at the same time. Wait your turn." We have exactly that arrangement in our family. "Only we put it differently. One of us says: 'I am pudgy this morning. Look out for me.'" And the other tries to heed the warning.

You May Use It.

Pudgy is an invented word in this particular meaning, patented by our family (but we hereby offer to let any Reader Friend in good standing use it). The dictionary gives it the meaning of short and fat or sturdy. I appeal to you if my meaning of triscle and cranky isn't much more, what the word actually sounds like.

A member of our family calls himself pudgy when he is in that frame of mind that every little thing irritates him and annoys him and he doesn't feel fit for human consumption.

When the rest of the family are supposed, when this announcement has been made, to let him alone as much as possible, and above all things to avoid stepping on pet corns. No delicate subjects are brought up at this time. Issues that always bring trouble are carefully kept away from.

Most of the big upsets in married life come when trying subjects are

"That's as you look at it, dear one."

The Men Who Count.

(Morning Post.) We published recently the programme of the first Biennial Conference of the British Empire Service League, the delegates to which have arrived from every quarter of the globe. Besides the representatives of England, Scotland, and Wales, who are members of the British Legion in each country, officers of the British Empire Service League are coming from Australia, Canada, India, Ireland, Newfoundland, New Zealand, Rhodesia, and South Africa. These are the true representatives of the British Empire, inasmuch as they stand for the men who thought it worth fighting for. So long as they hold together the Empire will endure, and its honour will be maintained as the greatest civilising force in the world. Among the subjects to be discussed is the formation of an English-speaking veterans' alliance, which should prove of inestimable service. Already, wherever the ex-service man goes within the Empire, he finds his fellows to greet and to help him. The further development of the organization which already exists must serve to make easier the path of inter-empire migration, that transference of men from a province of the Empire in which there are too many to regions in which every strong and capable man is assured of a fine hearty life and a home. The best methods of securing that transference are also to be discussed at the Conference.

It is hardly necessary to say that the ex-service men's Association are outside politics. That to take a part in politics, which simply means the conduct of national affairs, should be regarded as every citizen's duty, all will agree; but the performance of that duty can proceed side by side with the devotion to a common cause. There is a point at which all varieties of opinions meet, which is the safety of the State and allegiance to the King. Those who deny allegiance to his Majesty and seek to overthrow the State, are not politicians but revolutionaries. Against civil disorders as against foreign aggression, there can be no more potent security than the silent influence of the ex-service men throughout the Empire. They belong to all ranks of society, a circumstance which in itself gives the lie to the common revolutionary doctrine. They proved in the war that social distinctions, natural and necessary as they are, do not affect a true national unity. Men who stood together to resist and to vanquish a great evil know that there is something more in life than money or position. It is that something more which inspires them in peace as it inspired them in war. We have had occasion, not once or twice since the ending of the war, most earnestly to desire that the spirit of comradeship which shone with so clear a flame in the heat of armed conflict might continue to burn in the troubled sequel to the war. In the British Legion and the British Empire Service League the lamp still glows, and it is their business to guard its flame. Nor should it ever be forgotten that the bringing together of the ex-service men was almost wholly due to the chivalrous work of Field-Marshal Earl Haig, who sacrificed his hard-won leisure to that noble enterprise.

Of course one might argue that, if announcing that one is pudgy means that one has special consideration for the day, some member of the family will abuse the privilege. That doesn't happen. For two reasons. In the first place it is a matter of honor not to. In the second place if anyone did, he would soon wear the privilege out and it just wouldn't work for him.

So we each have our turns at being pudgy and at trying to keep things smooth when some other member is pudgy.

Don't you think it is a good scheme?

"Oh, John Henry," said the wife, "if you've done anything more than usually idiotic, out with it, and have done with it!—What under creation have you been up to now?"

"Tilda, dearest, I have insured my life."

"Well," said the irate little woman, "I always knew you were mean! Insured your life, indeed! Ah! Always looking out for yourself first."

GREATNESS

There's an old, old proverb written, Never great that man will be Who cannot suffer evil as a portion of life's foe. He must brave the storm as calmly as he greets the rising sun. And must face the disappointment for the victory to be won. 'Tis by trial strength is fashioned; as by blows the iron is wrought. So a man shall come to greatness by the battles he has wrought.

When the days are dark with evil, then the timid hearts complain. They would live their lives in pleasure, they would never face the rain.

They would bear no heavy burdens, they would shed no bitter tears. But so romping down the valleys and so singing through the years. But the test of human greatness and the glory of the soul Are the hurts a man will suffer and endure to reach his goal.

Bear with uncomplaining patience every bitter wind that blows. Brave the thorns of disappointment for the beauty of the rose. Live the days of evil calmly, though your dreams in ashes lie. Keep your faith in what you purpose—you shall conquer by and by. For the storms which may beset you, and the blows and tricks of fate, Are but trials you must suffer if you'd stand among the great.

Sweepstake Prosecutions.

"Duggan's Dublin Sweepstake" in aid of the Meath Hospital, Dublin, was one of the most widely advertised of the sweepstakes on the Derby. It is, therefore, instructive to learn that, according to counsel for the Public Prosecutor in a case at Marlborough Street Police Court, "there was no balance-sheet to show what became of the hundreds of thousands of pounds which had been collected in excess of the prize money (£20,000) and no audit." The defendant in the case was a clerk who had been employed in the posting of circulars in London, and he was fined £250 and costs. The scale upon which the scheme was conducted can be judged from the fact that the 900,000 circulars which were stopped in the post represented but a fraction of those that got through.

In another case in which a firm trading in the city as McGarry and Masters, "Sales Experts," were fined for promoting the "Durban Derby Draw," it appeared that the amount subscribed was £1,566. Of this £172 was deducted for "free tickets" and £203 for "expenses," these two items swallowing up more than one-third of the fund. Yet one of the representations on which tickets were sold was that a certain Essex professional cricketer would receive 25 per cent. of all moneys subscribed.

Can Women Reform Men?

AN EVER-INTERESTING TOPIC.

A male correspondent asks: "Why is it that a woman can make a fool of a wise man and a wise man of a fool?" She can't. No woman in the whole history of the world has ever been able to perform this miracle. It is true that a wise man often makes a fool of himself about a woman, but it is his own vanity and egotism that betrays him into folly.

For instance, it is a common thing for an old man with a huge fortune to marry a girl young enough to be his granddaughter. In such cases the man lulls himself into the belief that he is so handsome and attractive that a girl prefers him to a boy of her own age. But it is self-conceit and not the girl, that does the trick.

It is a common thing for a clever man, a wise man whose judgment is unerring in matters of finance or questions of law or medicine, to pick out an entirely unsuitable wife. Again it is the man that makes a fool of himself. The man is vain enough to believe that he can make a stupid woman into a brilliant one after he marries her.

Occasionally a fool repents of his folly and becomes wiser. But in nearly every case the man has had some job that has awakened him and roused his latent manhood. It is not because he has been beguiled into the paths of rightness by a lady angel.

In reality, there is nothing that we so overrate as women's influence over men. The polite fiction that man is cloyed in feminine hands has been exploited by men because it explained their weakness and furnished a handy excuse for their shortcomings. Women have encouraged the theory that they could mould men to their hearts' desire, because it flattered their vanity.

The only women who vitally influence men are their mothers. Every mother can virtually make her baby boy what she will. But after a man is grown, all that any woman, good or bad, can do for him is to help him along his way, but not once in a thousand times can she change his course.

If a man is fine and strong and noble, a good woman will help his virtues to blossom into flower. But a bad woman cannot make him mean and ignoble.

If a man is ambitious and energetic a woman who is a real helpmate will help him up the ladder of success faster than he could go alone, but such a man will succeed in spite of a woman who is a drag upon him.

On the other hand, if a man is a weakling no woman can give him her strength. If he lacks backbone, she cannot supply him with a vicarious spine. If he is dull and stupid, she cannot give him her vision.

Husbands Who Disappoint.

No woman can make a lazy man work or put energy into the flabby-souled.

Many women have married men believing that their influence would reform them. You can count on the fingers of one hand all the wives you ever knew, who have rescued their husbands from the gutter. Thousands of women have married good-for-nothing loafers, believing they would be an inspiration that would make their husbands achieve great things. And they have taken in washing and boarders to support them for the remainder of their lives.

Every man is the architect of his own folly and builds his own wisdom, and the female assistant counts for very little.

A Plea for Better Tenements.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—From time to time I have been very much interested in the report of Chief Agent, S.P.A., Mr. Jonas Barter. It must be admitted by all that the Society and its Chief Agent are doing a humane service in attending to the care and proper treatment of our dumb animals. Is there anything that is or should be more praiseworthy than the above? Yes, Sir, to my mind there is—and what I refer to it, it must not be thought that I desire to take any credit from or belittle in the least the good work being done by the above organization. But there is another to my mind that is more necessary if our rising generation is to be strong, healthy men and women, and if you will permit me, Sir, I will endeavor to lay my case before the public through the Telegram, which paper has always been only too willing to use its columns for the betterment of the people of this city and the island generally. The subject of my remarks is:

RENTS AND TENEMENTS.

I think it will be admitted that by far the larger majority of our citizens are living in rented houses. The rents for these so-called houses in many cases are outrageous. Houses are scarce and the landlords are well aware that if one person refuses to pay high rent, another is only too willing to do so, and in many cases they take an opportunity such as that to add even a few more dollars to the already exorbitant rent. Whether a house is tenable or whether it is large enough to contain in comfort the family applying for it, is none of their business. But, Sir, it should be some person's business to see that the little ones of this city are as far as possible properly housed. The Chief Agent often refers to cattle being landed from boats, and he emphasizes the fact that he has had them properly housed.

So much for the housing problem, but some person will say, this is old news. We all know that a very large number of tenements offered for rental by the owners are not fit for human habitation, but what is the remedy? I think the remedy is right in the hands of the Municipal Council. Is it not their special work to make our city clean and worth living in? Then let them get busy and appoint a fearless, good, common-sense man to look after this part of our city. Give this officer charge of all rented houses, and let him be Chief Agent of the Council. Rent secured if right rules are made and if he carries them out as fearlessly and in the same gentlemanly way as Mr. Barter fulfils his, we will soon see the result.

As I have already pointed out, some tenements where little ones live are a disgrace to the city. Many of them are neither wind-tight nor water-tight. If a person dies of a contagious disease—say consumption, to bring out my point—the thought will occur to the family to move to another house if one can be secured at all. Another family of children is soon living in the same house, and that possibly without being able to have it properly fumigated and cleaned. If only one case like this happened in ten years is it not enough to have some stringent measures taken to make it utterly impossible for a recurrence of such.

If a farmer undertakes to bring milk to town, he is compelled to have his milk and his milk house in proper condition. This is a good law. But should there not be an office for the registration of houses for rent? No house should be rented until it is in proper condition. When a house is vacant, the Housing Department should be notified, and its Chief Agent should call and see if it is in a fit condition for another tenant, if not, then the necessary cleaning or repairs should be suggested and immediately carried out by the landlord, then another visit of the agent, and a permit, and the family moves in.

These may be considered rambling remarks, Mr. Editor, but until something of this sort is thought out and put in operation, the poor of our community will be compelled to raise their families in houses that in too many cases would be condemned by Friend Barter, if he was acting on behalf of the children in our midst as he is for the dumb animals. Let us wake up; let some person with an abler pen than mine outline a plan whereby the children of the poor man will not be in danger of the diseases and miseries that surely must exist in some of these untenable so-called "houses."

Thanking you, for space.
 Yours sincerely,
 St. John's, July 3, 1923. TENANT.

The Late H. W. Martin.

AN APPRECIATION.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir.—Will you permit me, through the medium of the Press on behalf of the N.M. students of Victoria College, and for the benefit of your many readers who are at the same time members and adherents of the Methodist Church in Nfld. to record a brief account of the life, work and passing of a student and beloved worker in the Pastorate of the Nfld. Conference. I refer to the late Hayward W. Martin, of Hickman's Hr., Trinity Bay. A man of such sterling worth and Christian type of character demands more than a passing notice. His choice character and fineness of spirituality, his purity of heart were all of a unique type. It may well be said of him what an English writer said of the late Percy C. Almsworth—"Many are the Laureates of the Faith but he was its Galahad." His high ideals and lofty standards may profitably be commended to the boys and girls of the Sunday Schools among whom he loved to labor, as well as to the older members of the missions, who knew and loved him. He served as his first appointment, after entering the ministry of the Methodist Church, the Port Blandford Mission, bringing the work up to a standard of financial and spiritual efficiency. For three years he laboured on the St. Anthony Mission, where we fear there is rough travelling and excessive preaching at twelve appointments, the strenuousness of the work claimed a great proportion of his strength, but he reached many lives thro' personal effort and contact and old and young for the kingdom of God. His last year before attending college at Toronto was the crowning year of his ministry, and on the Garnish mission three hundred persons professed conversion, and faith in Christ under his ministry.

It is of his life as a student for two years at Victoria University, Toronto, that I wish to speak more specifically, as it was there he became more intimately acquainted. He was not the type of man to receive readily what is known to-day as modern thought in Theology. His outlook upon and "foreign" departments of the work of the Church. He was a lover of missions and in addition to his course of studies at Victoria, he was a student at the "School of Missions" led by Dr. J. Lovell Murray, with a view to entering mission work in India. He never missed a single opportunity of meeting and talking with missionaries on furlough from the foreign field. He purposed after his graduation in Theolog at "Victoria" in 1914 to take a course in Arts at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, preparatory to entering the foreign work of the church. His course is ended, but not his life. "He lives again in lives made nobler by his presence."

He died in the General Hospital at Toronto on the morning of April 12th. The writer was a constant visitor to his ward, and can testify to the heroic faith, sublime patience and cheerfulness displayed. A few hours before his death he repeated lines from Browning's "Saul" which he had prepared for examination, "I seek it and find it. Oh Saul! It shall be—A face like my face that receives thee, a man like to me." His life, and his attitude toward religion and the Bible were of the more conservative type, the expression of a deep religious experience. His mind was Evangelistically inclined, and he carried with him into the critical atmosphere of the class room the fervent and devotional spirit which served as a steady influence during the trying period of the initial days of student life. He soon learned to assimilate his devotional exercises with his educational duties and saw that both were necessary to the cultivation of true Christian character. He felt he needed both in the pursuit of truth; in this way he found how applicable were the words of the Master, "Ye shall know the Truth, and the Truth shall make you free."

He was not only known and loved by his fellow students at Victoria College, but was found frequently meeting with groups of students gathered for "prayer" and "Bible study" at both Knox and Wyndcliffe Colleges. He was an ardent believer in prayer, and with all his studies would find time for three and four hours daily in private meditation and devotion both

 His remains were borne, by six of his fellow students, in a beautiful casket provided by his Alma Mater to the Chapel where he always loved to go for "College Prayers." The Chancellor of the University, Rev. R. P. Bowles, M.A., D.D., LL.D., led the service and delivered an address which we append to this article, and ask you to publish. Hymn "For all the Saints Who from Their Labors Rest" was sung, prayer was offered by Dr. McLaughlin, B.A., B.D., Dean of the Faculty of Theology. Psalm 90 and a portion of Revelation Chap. 7 was read by Capt. (Rev.) A. D. Robb, Pastor of Westmoreland Church. After the singing of "Brief Life is Here Our Portion" his remains were taken to the Union Station to await the train which should convey them to his Island Home. It was a joy to meet and know him, and we say of him in the words of Wordsworth:
 "And when the steam
 Which overflowed the soul had passed away
 A consciousness remained that it had left
 Deposited upon its Silent Shore
 Of memory, images and precious thoughts
 That shall not die, and cannot be destroyed."
 J. WESLEY MOORES.

Address by Rev. Chancellor R. P. Bowles, M.A., D.D., LL.D.
 It was my privilege to know Hayward W. Martin in a very intimate way during the first weeks of his college life. He came to me in doubt as to the effect which his new studies might have upon his religious life and experience. I understood him at once; and urged him to continue, assuring him that in after years he would be grateful for the influence of these new experiences, and new studies. He awoke in me a deep interest and I took care to understand this man and watch the growth of his mind, and religious experience. His conscientious devotion to duty as a student; his loyalty to his own religious convictions, even when these made him conspicuous. His modesty, his willingness to be taught, his devout and prayerful spirit all marked him out as a genuine and whole-hearted Christian. No one could ever doubt the reality of his religious experiences. He walked with God, he talked with God. He constantly reminded some of us of a type of faithfulness characteristic of earlier Methodism. At first he was not at home in the college life, but more and more he came to understand the spirit and attitude of his fellow-students and they soon learned to respect him. They soon discerned that tradition and conventional as he was, his religious life, and as such it was a most useful and inspiring testimony to the life that is deeper than creeds. We are grateful for the presence of such a man who for these two years lived his own life out in modesty and true Christian charity. I pay my tribute of respect and appreciation to Hayward Martin whose memory will for many years be a benediction in these college halls.—COM.
