LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Shirt and Overall Sale at Swift's. If you have anything to sell, say so in our Want Column.

Service in the Watford Baptist church next Sunday, August 7th, at three o'clock p.m.

Goodbye, hot weather. Now we would welcome frequent showers to make the potatoes grow.

The Rev. Prof. Anderson, M.A., of London, will conduct the service in Trinity church on Sunday evening.

This torrid weather a good adaptation of the well-known Bible quotation would be:—"Many are galled but few are frozen."

Just imagine a farmer trying to work a seven-hour day during the present harvest season, when one crop crowded another.

The regular meeting of the Watford Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. John McKeercher on Wednesday evening, August 10th.

Those who have been digging for new potatoes are much disappointed with the results. There are very few in a hill and these only the size of marbles.

All cotton goods at sale prices.—Swift's.

The Chief completed his allotted span of three score years and ten on Wednesday, but is still strong of arm, clear of eye and agile enough to be a terror to evil doers.

Miss May Walker, of Port Hope, has accepted the position of assistant teacher in the Watford High School made vacant by the resignation of Miss McCaw at a salary of $1600.

After sweltering for 40 days with the thermometer ranging around the nineties, wasn't it a grand and glorious feeling on Sunday morning to find the cool breeze wafting through the windows.

Rev. Hager will preach at Watford and Zion Methodist churches as usual on Sunday. In the morning and afternoon the subject for meditation will be "The Finished Work of Christ." In the evening "The Priestly Doxology."

Mr. Glen Graham has purchased from Mr. D. Hamilton the premises on Erie street occupied by Mr. Jas. Roy, and the latter has purchased from R. Campbell, Sarnia, the brick house on Main street occupied by W. Trenouth.

Gingham and prints 25c.—Swift's August Specials.

Harvesters' excursions to the Canadian West will be run on August 10 and 22 from Watford and Western Ontario. It is reported that many men are required to take off the harvest which is above the average this year. Call on J. H. Hume, local C.P.R. agent, for full particulars. Fares same as last year.

A letter has been received by the Council from the Hon. F. C. Biggs confirming the statement that the Ontario Government will pay forty per cent. of the cost of paving Main street, Watford. It will be published next week together with other information regarding the work. Read the bylaw and record your vote in favor of this much needed improvement.

The union services of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches will continue for two more Sundays, with the Rev. T. DeCourcy Rayner in charge. On Sunday the morning service will be held in the Presbyterian church at 11 a.m. and the evening service in the Congregational church at 7 p.m. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper follows the evening service. You are cordially invited to each of these services.

We will have an opportunity in five weeks to learn if there is any truth in the old Katy-did prophecy or whether it will have to go in the discard with the St. Swithin and Easter Sunday rain bunk. The katy-dids commenced chirping on July 19th. It is said that six weeks after these insects begin their music at night that we will have frost. It does not seem probable, and yet it may be possible.

Silk Blouses; smart styles.—Swift's

ALBERTA'S NEW PREMIER

H. GREENFIELD, of Westlock, lived in the vicinity of Watford for a number of years, having worked on the James Moffatt farm, 6th line of Warwick, and afterward rented the D. Gillies farm on the 10th line of Brooke, about the beginning of this century.

August Clearing of all Cotton material.—Swift's.

The hot wave not only broke all records for continuity, but it established one that few people want to again see or nearly equalled. Saturday (with one exception) was the 42nd day in which the maximum temperature had not dropped below 80. The average being up to nearly ninety, degrees in the shade and which is going some for that period. For the past year all the temperatures have been above the average for the month. These records are against those registered for the past eighty years.

The death took place in Sarnia Hospital on Tuesday of Nellie Willoughby, beloved wife of Mr. Lawrence W. Pyke, of Sarnia. The remains were brought here Wednesday and the funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from the home of her brother, Wesley Willoughby, to the Watford cemetery, Rev. S. P. Irwin conducting the ceremony. Mrs. Pyke was born in Watford and spent the whole of her life here until a few years ago when she moved to Sarnia. She had no children.

Civic holiday was a choice day for an outing. The torrid wave had passed and the drop in temperature was welcomed by all. Until Saturday evening the month of July had broken all records for heat. Following thunder storms that evening, which, however, did not reach Watford, the mercury dropped steadily until it reached a maximum of 74 on Sunday and about the same Monday, making pleasant weather for the holiday. Many Watford people went to see friends in the country or to lakeside resorts and spent a most enjoyable day. Those who stayed at home welcomed the cooler weather which allowed them to do odd jobs that have been neglected on account of the prolonged heat.

JAMES McNAUGHTON PASSES

Another pioneer of this section—passed to the Great Beyond on Saturday evening, in the person of Mr. James McNaughton, after a long period of failing health and about a month's serious illness. Mr. McNaughton was a native of Scotland, being born in Glasgow in 1839. He came to Canada when a boy seven years old, and to Warwick in 1849, and farmed on the 4th line until about five years ago, when failing health demanded that he should give up arduous work so he moved into town where he spent the rest of his days. In 1865 he was married to Miss Eliza Goodhand, of Warwick, who survives him. He is also survived by three sons, Peter, of Watford, John Joseph, in Manitoba, Douglas, of Warwick, two daughters, Mrs. Wesley Bryce and Mrs. Robt. Reycraft, of Warwick, one brother, Robert, of Watford, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Appleyard, of Stonewall, Manitoba. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from his late residence on John street to the Watford cemetery and was private. Rev. E. H. Sawers conducted the service. The pallbearers were Frank, Cecil and Herman McNaughton, Earl Roberts, Gordon Bryce and Earl Reycraft.

With the assistance of other children the snake was killed, the reptile measuring eight feet long and about five inches in circumference.

Mr. John Smith, of Enniskillen, with his tractor and outfit did what is probably amongst the earliest threshing that has ever been done in Ontario, when he threshed out the whole season's crop on the farm of E. F. Augustine, Brooke, on Thursday, July 20th. The crop was threshed from the barn, the oats and mixed grains having been cut over a week. The wheat, which was sown on October 16th last, threshed about 25 bushels to the acre and the oats and mixed grains, which were an excellent sample, about 40 bushels per acre.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Wet cellars are drying out gradually and will never again be wet.

Hatfield, the Western rain maker, got his $8,000. Wonder can he do the trick next year?

Another daily paper, The Ingersoll Chronicle, has failed through insufficient support and high cost of production.

The young people have a little more of everything than their parents had. Even daughter can show a great deal more sunburn than her mother could at her age.

Lemons are selling at six cents per dozen in California and in Carolina watermelons bring 20 cents each. O what a difference when they reach the Canadian consumer!

The decent members of the medical profession and that means the whole body with the exception of a small minority, are going to vindicate their honor by shaking off the "doctors" who were intended by nature for bartenders.

Within another week or two a little army of some forty thousand men will be speeding out to the prairies to give a hand in garnering and threshing the Western crops. The employment service of Canada regards this number as reasonable estimates since the general expectation is for the best crop since 1915.

Port Rowan News:—The caricaturing of ministers in the theatres is an evidence that the attitude of the people toward the pulpit is not as full of respect as it once was. The world lost a good deal when it allowed that beautiful light of reverence to grow dim. German theology did something to darken the view, and ambitious unfitness for the Holy calling added to the darkness, and the people's precocious breadth of view made the cloud blacker still. So there is no longer any light to check the laughter on the lips and the caricaturist has his way.

Acton Free Press:—It is rather a singular coincidence that just now when Toronto labor unions are striking for an eight-hour day, Sweden, which adopted the eight-hour day a year ago, is now making a determined effort to have the law it enacted repealed. When the Bill was passed it was claimed that the eight-hour day would mean greater efficiency during the shorter hours of labor and consequently as great production as in a nine or ten-hour-day. The result there has been disastrous, and it is estimated that Sweden is losing about $200,000,000 annually as a result of the shorter day adopted.

Orillia Packet:—When a new Methodist minister comes to town, as come one must every three or four years, a common question is, "What do you think of him?" But there are two sides to the situation. It has always been more the disposition of this page to wonder what the new minister thinks of the people. Under almost any circumstances the pulpit may be counted upon to measure up to a higher standard than the pew.

The trustees of the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, have decided that the maximum fee any surgeon ought to charge for an operation, no matter how wealthy the patient may be, is $1,000. It will no longer be possible to apply to John Hopkins the story of the two eminent surgeons who met in the hospital corridor after a busy morning and exchanged a few words. "What did you operate for this morning?" asked Dr. A. "Fifteen hundred," promptly replied his friend. "Yes, yes," said Dr. A., testily, "but your patient, what was wrong with him? What had he?" "Fifteen hundred," replied Dr. B., "that was all he had."

In referring to the recent order issued by the Attorney General instructing police officers to prosecute farmers and fruit growers who sell any fruit on Sundays, the Simcoe Reformer makes the following comment:—"Sic 'em, Raney! Some day, if you only keep at it, the people of the Province will become thoroughly tired of you and all your tribe, and 'Tou-shalt-not' legislation will cease to be as popular as it is. Just consider. The autoist can motor on Sunday. He can stop at hotel and restaurant and buy a meal, including fruit and ice cream. He can replenish his supply of gas. Yet if he stops in front of an orchard and buys a quart of fruit he is to be treated as a criminal. And everyone wonders that there is a crime wave."

Belleville Intelligencer:—Circulars from wholesale liquor dealers have ceased to burden the mails and the mail carriers are devoutly thankful; also householders who could not afford to lay in a stock sufficient to carry them through a prolonged drought. Many people who like a little "toddy" occasionally philosophically refrained from laying in a supply, figuring out that they might just as well get on the water wagon now as later on, for booze supplies, have a habit of quickly disappearing. The daily bombardment of liquor circulars was an aggravation to slim purses and the order to cease firing will be welcomed in many quarters with relief.

We hear much of the deficits of the railway companies. Perhaps if the railroads would go out after business they might be able to come nearer making ends meet. Years ago we used to have excursions at holiday times and on every possible occasion and people planned to travel. These were cut off and people cut out many a little jaunt. The passenger rates were raised and then people took to hiring a car to take them places where they used to go by rail. Freight also fell off, and the companies, to make up the deficit, boosted the price of freight cartage and it is falling off still more. If the railway companies wish to keep up with the competition of the motor car and truck they will have to begin catering to the public a bit more than they have in the past.—Clinton News-Record.

WHERE SHE WAS GOING

There is a story told concerning a careful mother whose three children horrified her one day by producing for her inspection three exceedingly bilious-looking toffee apples. "They are very pretty, my dears," she lied bravely, "but really you mustn't eat them. I've heard of little children dying through eating colored toffee apples." Then she took the sweets away and put them out of reach—as she thought—on the shelf in her dressing room. She imagined that would do the trick; but early next morning she heard a sound out in the landing, and, going to see who was astir so early, found Elsie trotting along the passage. "Where are you going, dear?" she asked. "It's not six o'clock yet." "Going to see if Dick and Arthur are dead yet," replied the eight-year-old miss "I'm not."

Rub it in for Lame Back.—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas Electric Oil will relieve lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

ABOUT YOUR BOY

What a Watford boy does with the knowledge he gets in school depends chiefly upon the sort of life-knowledge he gets outside of school.

Minds are instructed in the classroom. But motives and character are developed largely in the boy's spare time.

The underprivileged boy has the street, the alley, and the vacant lot as his playground. The poolroom is his club house. The "gang" is the organization constantly inviting him.

It is from these under-privileged boys, from this rotten environment created by city life, that the youthful gunman and petty criminal usually are recruited.

Obviously, remove this criminal breeding atmosphere—put the boy in a clean, constructive environment and potential criminal can often be made into an industrious, law-abiding citizen.

This thought occurred some time ago to a lot of Chicago business men. They went into one of the wards in Chicago and started a boys' club. This club had no age limit. Its slogan was "If a boy is old enough to be on the streets, he is old enough to be in our club."

The club, officered by shrewd psychologists, diverts its boy members' attention to healthy recreation.

In one year of operation, juvenile delinquency has decreased 73 percent. In that ward, due to the boys' club.

USING LIGHTNING RODS

Erroneous Opinions Corrected by Statements of Expert.

Why Buildings Should Be Rodded—When Metal Roofs Are Safe—Shelter of Trees Unsafe During Thunder Storms.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The many direct questions concerning lightning rods or cables, methods of installing, etc., sent to the Department of Physics, O. A. C., Guelph, are often accompanied by statements of the views of those submitting these questions. The following list of corrected views, or impressions, will prove helpful to those who are at all interested in the protection of their property from lightning discharges.

E. denotes an erroneous view of statement.

C. denotes correct explanations or statements of facts.

E. Lightning rods attract the electric charge on the cloud and then allow the flash to travel down the system of lightning rods to the ground where it disappears.

C. The rodding system forms a connecting link between the charge on the cloud and the charge on the earth and structure protected. The charges on the cloud and on the earth are of opposite polarity, and the induced charge on the earth or structure is quietly neutralized by the rodding system including the ground rod, the cable, and the points on the ridge. The neutralizing of the charge takes place in the form of an almost silent discharge from the points placed on the ridge, or on prominences at various parts of the building. It is in this "preventing" the sudden flash from the cloud that the chief efficiency of the rodding system consists. The system helps to avoid destruction by fires even in cases where a flash cannot be prevented, but these flashes are almost unheard of to-day with the efficient rodding systems being installed by lightning rod dealers. "Rodding systems properly installed do protect."

E. Any kind of rodding "system" is satisfactory if the proper kind of rod or cable is used. It all depends on the rod.

C. Rather say any durable rod, copper over three ounces per foot, and iron 4 1/2 ounces per foot is good enough "if properly installed." Emphasis cannot be too strongly laid on the "method" of installations.

E. If the ground rod or cable is placed in the ground a distance of six feet, it is considered satisfactory.

C. Ground rods must be down to perpetual moisture, or (where this is impossible) special arrangements must be made to provide the best grounding, more ground rods being necessary and special advice must be sought as to the best method in each special case.

E. A building with metal roof is safe from electrical discharges.

C. A metal roof grounded at the corners, and with a "sharp" ridge-board or points, makes an excellent system for fire protective purposes. The chief metal parts in the building must, however, be connected to the main system as suggested in rodding specifications, Bulletin No. 220 of the Department of Agriculture for Ontario.

E. Even properly rodded buildings are sometimes struck.

C. Although the above is true, the chances of their being injured if struck, or struck at all, are so few that one is safe to challenge the statement as "misleading." When hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property is being destroyed annually in the Province of Ontario there are on record spaces of twelve months' duration where no single properly rodded building was burned, and practically none even injured.

E. The safest place in a thunder-storm is a sort of distance from a tall tree, but lightning is liable to strike anything or anywhere.

C. Keep as far away as possible from trees. All things are not equally liable to be struck. There are no freaks in the case of lightning discharges. Some things are never struck, other things are almost invariably struck if a discharge takes place near them.

E. Our buildings are insured. Then why rod them at extra expense?

C. No one has any right to take a chance on destroying life and property even if the life of the individual or the property is insured. How about reduction of insurance premiums when buildings are rodded?

E. All rodding companies are trustworthy. Therefore buy the cheapest cable and installation.

C. All rodding companies in the country are not equally trustworthy even if honest and conscientious in their work. There is such a thing as lack of knowledge of the proper method of installation. Therefore deal only with those companies who know their business and guarantee good workmanship. The best is none too good when human lives are at

Silo Almost as Useful as Barn.

The silo is rapidly becoming recognized as a necessary part of the farmer's equipment. A farm without a silo, at least in the corn area, is no longer up to date. The rapid adoption of the silo is accounted for by recognition of its advantages.

If corn is cut at the proper stage and put into a good silo, the whole corn plant is eaten.

Silage is more convenient to feed than is any other rough feed commonly used on the farm.

Silage is both palatable and succulent.

The addition of a succulent feed to a ration increases the digestibility of the dry feed eaten.

With a silo it is possible to save corn that might otherwise, owing to immaturity, be largely wasted.

The silo not only provides excellent feed in winter time, but furnishes a means of keeping more for summer use feed of high quality.

August Farm Hints.

As the grains are harvested the land which is not seeded should, when practicable, be cultivated on the surface so as to germinate the scattered seeds, hold the moisture, and better fit the land for ploughing in the autumn.

Sod land calculated for winter wheat should be ploughed early in the month and harrowed every week or ten days in preparation.

When picking wild flowers do not take the whole plant. Remember leaves and roots are needed to grow again next year.

We hear much these days about planting shrubbery and flowers and establishing good fruit and vegetable gardens on the farm. They all pay in money value as well as added comfort.

The Fire Ranger and His Job

DOTTED over 100,000,000 acres of forest, 1,000 men, organized in the employ of the Government of Ontario, are, this summer, passing back and forth over the canoe routes and along the railways, watching out for the tell-tale smoke which is the sign of fire. Regardless of hot weather, black flies, mosquitoes, discomfort, loneliness or monotony, the Fire Ranger makes his rounds, preventing, quenching or fighting fires in Ontario's forests, paying his own living and traveling expenses, and receiving $3.00 per day for his services.

All in all, the Ontario Fire Ranger is entitled to the help and co-operation of everyone. He deserves all the support the people of Ontario can give him. His work is of vital importance. Heed his warnings. Do what he asks.

Save Ontario's Forests They're Yours

The Ontario Fire Ranger, during the danger period of the dry summer, is constantly on patrol to catch fires while they are small. He cannot prevent them starting, as a rule. He is at the mercy of all types of carelessness. Thanks to his vigilance, however, two-thirds of the forest fires in the last four years did not spread beyond five acres and of these, half did not exceed one-quarter acre.

Most of Ontario's Fire Rangers are northern woodsmen. Contrary to common belief, only five per cent. of them are students, and these are experienced Fire Rangers or returned soldiers.

Rangers travel chiefly by canoe and in pairs over a definite "beat", the length of which varies according to the degree of danger from fires.

Others travel up and down the forested railway sections on hand velocipedes, following trains to put out fires set by steam locomotives. In all, 2,100 miles of railroad are patrolled steadily all summer.

Two men devote their whole time to examining locomotives to see that screens and ashtrays will not permit the escape of sparks and live coals. In the clay belt, a large force of Rangers supervise settlers' fires in land-clearing operations.

Don't blame the Fire Ranger if he asks you to be careful. Don't think he is too particular. He knows the risk. Ontario is poorer by untold millions of dollars through forest fires in the past. Help the Fire Ranger save the increasingly valuable forests that remain.

THE HIGHWAY

It is rumored that Middlesex farmers, whose farms face the new Highway, are being asked to sell eight feet of land across the front of their farms, said eight feet to be included in the Highway. This rumor is causing much discussion throughout the County. Also, the fact that in some places the Highway engineers are blowing up good cement culverts and replacing them with wider cement culverts is being criticized as a useless expenditure of money.

If the rumor about taking in the eight extra feet on each side of the road be true, it is to be hoped that this would not mean that our rows of beautiful shade trees would be destroyed. It has taken years for these to reach their present state of perfection and even the possession of a wide, smooth roadway would scarcely compensate us for the loss of these beautiful wayside maples. It looks to the average person as if the road could be made wide enough for all ordinary purposes just with the present road allowance so that the additional space is for the sake of appearances. The engineers have no doubt had a vision of a great, sweeping driveway to be finished at some future date. They want to build a great road for a great country. And that their dream will be a reality some day is a certainty, but it will likely be after the world has pulled itself up from the slough of debt and despair into which most countries were plunged by the war.—Parkill Gazette.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT CARD FOR REGISTERED ARTICLES

The Canadian Postoffice Department has issued the following new regulations in connection with registered articles and postcards: The Department has prepared a card to take the place of the form for acknowledgement of receipt for registered articles posted in Canada which is now in use. The printed matter on the new card form does not differ materially from that on the form hitherto used, so that it is not intended to supply the cards until the stock now on hand in the Department and in postoffices throughout the country is exhausted. The acknowledgement card, after being duly filled in, is to be returned without covering envelope direct to the sender, free of postage. Wholly unpaid postcards, bearing written communications (first-class matter) posted in Canada for delivery in Canada may now be forwarded to destination charged with double the amount of postage thereon, which amount shall be collected on delivery. As an example of the above it is pointed out to Postmasters that, as the prepayment required on postcards posted for delivery within Canada now includes the war tax of 1 cent each, a postcard requiring a prepayment of 2 cents (1 cent postage and 1 cent war tax) posted unpaid, should be forwarded to destination charged with 4 cents.

GREAT ENEMY OF HUMANITY

Spirit of Fear Holds Many Back From Heights Which They Might Easily Attain.

The greatest enemy of the human race is fear.

If we could banish fear in all its forms, it would mean more to civilization than any previous step in evolution. Health would be immeasurably improved; much unhappiness would be wiped out; efficiency would be greatly increased, and success would be the rule. With the removal of fear, would come real human brotherhood. True democracy would begin. If you are not as well, as happy, as efficient or as successful as you would like to be, you may find the why in your fears.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he"—physically, in disposition and in circumstances. Fear-thought is toxic, destructive and harmful. Some forms of fear-thought are worry, hatred, jealousy, despair, anger, melancholy, discouragement, depression, confusion, negativism, nervousness, fretfulness, self-consciousness, lack of self-confidence and foreboding.

Fear of failure is also caused by not thinking well enough of one's self. To banish this and all other forms of fear, one needs another kind of thinking. Replace fear-thoughts with faith-thoughts and systematically cultivate the new line of thinking until it gets to be a habit.

Take a mental inventory today! Seek out your hidden mental weaknesses and expose them to the light of fearless analysis. Get to work upon your fears and run them out. Flood your whole mental region with faith.

Repeat daily and the results will amaze you.—C. Franklin Leavitt, M. D., in Forbes Magazine, New York.

Japan's God of Wealth.

More than 70,000 Japanese residents of Tokio, called at the shrine of Ebisu, God of Wealth, on the outskirts of Osaka, before noon on the Japanese New Year's day. They knocked on the walls of the shrine with wooden mallets and called upon the God to bring them riches during the coming year. All the gods of Japan probably receive more homage January 10 than any other day of the year, that being the first special god's day of the calendar. Ebisu is very popular in the Osaka district, the rich industrial section of the empire. In Tokyo, although he has several shrines, the Japanese place more faith in the power of Otorijinsaha to bring them fortune.

A record of splendid progress was contained in the annual address of the Grand Master, F. W. SKELETON UNEARTHED AT PT. FRANK

The finding of a skeleton at Port Frank by Bandmaster E. Lampert, of No. 3, S.A. Corps, and W. Creighton, son of Brig. Creighton, of London, has aroused considerable interest in that section of the country. No investigation has yet been started by the authorities and it is believed that nothing can be done, as there is no way of learning who the man was. In fact, the finders considered it hardly worth while reporting, but a complete report of the discovery is being made.

While the skull was missing and a search of the vicinity failed to reveal it, it is not believed that the man met with foul play. Mr. Lampert states that from the position of the arms and legs it would appear as if the person had simply lain down to rest. The disappearance of the skull he explains by saying that the wind may have caused it to roll down the hill on the side of which the bones were found.

The spot where the find was made is about 20 minutes' walk from the hotel at Port Frank, which has lately been purchased by the Salvation Army for a rest home for officers and a summer resort for the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. The skeleton was lying on the side of a high sand hill. The arms were extended above the head.

W. Creighton saw the bones one day while out tramping around and he reported the fact to Mr. Lampert, who immediately went to the spot and removed the bones to the hotel. He plans to bring them to London.

The only suggestion that has yet been made with reference to the identity of the man is that an Indian from a nearby reserve is reported to have suddenly disappeared a number of years ago. From the condition of the bones it is believed that they have been lying there for ten years or so. Mr. Lampert and Capt. Evans, who carefully examined the bones, both believe that the skeleton is that of an Indian. If the skull could be found it would be an easy matter to determine this question definitely. It is considered doubtful if the mystery will ever be cleared up.

Lambton farmers are not worried about the appearance of the European corn borer which is doing havoc in some counties. So far as heard the borer has not been seen in Lambton. In some districts the young corn was flattened by storms weeks ago, but it came up again and little was broken off. From present indications the crop will be a good one.

Vincent's Vamp

By R. RAY BAKER

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"We see too much of each other, Vincent."

Vincent Ellsworth's eyes opened wide.

"What do you mean?" he demanded.

They sat in his roadster in front of Grace Watkins' home. He had just brought her from the department store, where she had a position as a bookkeeper. It was a cold day in late fall, and when they talked vapor formed before their mouths, Grace was preparing to get out of the car, when she suddenly made the remark that caused him surprise.

"I mean," she explained, "you and I have been going together ever since we were kids, until it's got to be a habit. I never had another fellow, and you never had another girl. It's the wrong idea. We think we care a lot for each other, but perhaps it's because we never had a chance to care for anybody else."

The motor had been running free, but now he shut it off.

"This is not exactly a pleasant surprise, Grace. It never entered my head you might care for somebody else."

"I can't say that I do," she returned.

"That isn't the idea. I ought to have an opportunity to care for another man, and you should have the same chance with other girls. We'll tire of each other if we keep on this way. Let's call it off for a while. Then, if we've satisfied ourselves that we were made for each other, we'll resume relations."

"But, Grace—"

"Please don't object," she insisted. "I'm satisfied it's the proper course to pursue. Let me have my way, Vincent."

Vincent was grim, but he shrugged his shoulders, got out of the car, walked around to the other side and opened the door for her.

"Very well, we'll do it—because you wish it."

She went into the house and he went down the street at such a rapid rate that several pedestrians at the next corner leaped frantically in a variety of directions.

Vincent headed for the club. When he entered the lounging room a strange sight met his gaze. A number of club members were gathered about a person who apparently was relating some amusing incident, for they were laughing uproariously.

Vincent blinked in amazement, for the person in the center of the group was attired in fashionable feminine clothes, and had beautiful pink cheeks, and fluffy hair done up fashionably, and two feet resting on a table, and was smoking a pipe.

"Good gracious!" Vincent gulped.

"How did that girl get in here?"

The other young men spied him.

"Come on, Vincent," cried one. "Join the merry throng." And he was escorted to the center of it.

"Madame Z," said another of the group, "let me introduce Mr. Ellsworth."

Madame Z blew a cloud of smoke toward the ceiling, took her feet from the table, and smiled dazlingly on Vincent.

"Ah, Vincent," said the madame; "my old friend Vincent," and Vincent's hand was wrung in a very firm clasp.

"You don't remember little Paul—little Paul Wenkel—eh?"

Vincent started hard.

"You can't be—"

"Sure I am," said the madame. "I'm Paul—all dressed up and nobody to take me to the place where I want to go. You see, I've become a great female impersonator on the vaudeville stage. The 'great' is taken from the programs. I've come home for a couple of weeks—first time in six years—to visit the folks, and I thought I'd surprise them, so I hiked up here to the club and put on my costume, and I've been relating some of my experiences for the boys while waiting for some one to appear with nerve enough to be my escort and drive me around to call on my various relatives. All the fellows are afraid they'll get in bad with their girls, but of course it won't affect you that way."

"Won't it, though," jibed in one of the others. "You don't know what a case Vincent has."

This brought up a rather unpleasant topic. Vincent hesitated, turned it over in his mind, then declared suddenly:

"I'm your man, Paul. The car's out in front. Come on."

Grace Watkins came weeping into the presence of Arabella Grant, who lived next door.

"Why the tears?" inquired Arabella, laying aside her novel.

"It's Vincent!" Grace sobbed. "I think he's the most horrible thing in the world. He's getting himself vamped."

"W-h-a-t?" said Arabella. "What's he doing?"

When Grace could control her emotions she explained:

"Vincent and I decided to see less of each other. Half an hour later I was downtown getting supplies for dinner, when who should drive along the street but Vincent; and in the car with him—in the place where I always have sat—was a regular vampire, with painted cheeks and eyes that were—were devilish, that's what."

"I was on my way home, when back came Vincent with his vampire. They were smiling so sweetly, and Vincent lifted his hat so graciously to me, and I saw the vamp ask him who I was—and then they went out of sight."

"I met several girls, and how they laughed, especially that Lulu Stanton, who has tried repeatedly to cut me out with Vincent. I hadn't been home ten minutes when I happened to look out of the window and see Vincent sail past—with his vampire! How I hate that woman! I could scrape all the paint off her face if I had her here."

Arabella, who had been looking out the window, suddenly exclaimed, "Good gracious, Grace. You're going to have the chance. Vincent just drove up and he's bringing his vampire in here."

"The wretch!" breathed Grace. "I mustn't be seen. I've changed my mind about that paint-scratching job. What'll I do?"

"Get into the kitchen," Arabella directed, as the doorbell rang.

Grace did as suggested and Arabella answered the door.

"Miss Grant, let me present Mme. Z," said Vincent, and Arabella escorted them to chairs. Several moments of embarrassment were broken by a loud laugh from the vamp and Vincent.

"Oh, Arabella!" cried the vamp, "don't you remember little cousin Paul?"

Arabella scrutinized the madame's features, and slowly a smile spread over her face, and she broke out laughing, too, and allowed the vampire to greet her with a cousin's kiss.

A sound of scratching from the kitchen attracted the attention of Arabella. She looked startled for a moment, then smiled on Vincent and told him:

"You're wanted in the kitchen, young man."

Although puzzled by the remark, Vincent opened the kitchen door and strode in. Grace was standing in the center of the floor, looking very meek.

"Vincent," she pleaded, "let's cancel our arrangement—and be to each other just as we used to be."

A light of understanding dawned on Vincent.

"That suits me. It was your idea in the first place, you know. And I'm ready—to kiss and make up, if you are."

She nodded her head vigorously.

"I am."

GROVE SACRED TO BUTTERFLY

Clusters of Beautiful Creatures Make Pretty Sight in Forest Surrounding Monterey, Calif.

Round about Monterey, Calif., is a region almost covered by a forest of what is known as the Monterey pine. J. Smeaton Chase, in St. Nicholas, tells of a curious phenomenon observed while walking under the trees:

"Gazing up amid the branches, I noticed what looked like a number of large clusters of dull brown, dead leaves, which apparently had lodged by chance here and there among the twigs. As the clouds parted and the warm sunlight struck the tree I was gazing at two or three leaves detached themselves from a cluster and turned into large red butterflies. Faster and faster the cluster dissolved, until in ten seconds there were, perhaps, 200 or 300 butterflies flitting about. By that time another cluster, bursting like some lovely kind of bomb, and tree after tree adding to its quota, dissolving into a red cloud of butterflies, so that in a minute or two I was standing bewildered in a veritable 'snowstorm' of the charming creatures. How many there may have been in view at one time I am afraid to guess—certainly 10,000, possibly several times as many; so many, anyway, that a distinct murmur of sound came from the softly flickering wings. Gradually many of them dispersed through the neighboring forest; but all day the grove was like a fairy convocation, with hundreds of thousands going to and fro or loitering about the flowering shrubs and herbage, while the sunlit sides of the pine trunks and branches often were so reddened with basking butterflies that at a little distance the trees looked as if they had been painted."

Earrings Ancient Ornaments.

The custom of wearing earrings comes down to us from the most ancient times, and no custom is more prevalent or more universal. The earliest mention of earrings is found in the book of Genesis. Many people have been struck by the mention in the authorized version of the Bible of the fact that only one earring was brought as a present for Rebecca, when Abraham's servant was seeking a wife for Isaac. This is a mistake, for the word means a "nose-ring" and has been rendered correctly in the revised version. It is, however, in Genesis 31:4, that the first mention is made of earrings: "And they gave unto Jacob all the strange gods which were in their hands, and the rings which were in their ears."

President Almost Impeached.

Andrew Johnson (1808-1875), seventeenth President of the United States, was almost impeached in 1868. Eleven articles, charged the President with high crimes and misdemeanors in connection with various matters, the most important of which was the removal of Edwin McMasters Stanton, secretary of war, in disregard of the tenure-of-office act. The trial before the United States senate, sitting as a court, began March 5 and ended May 16. Thirty-five senators voted for conviction and nineteen for acquittal. The vote lacking one of a sufficient number to convict, he was acquitted.

An Indestructible Fence

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

"Two of the greatest enemies to every farm are bugs and weeds, but if you have a properly constructed fence, you can burn out the weeds along the fence lines without damage and rid yourself of both pests. Besides your fence is grounded whenever a steel post is used and danger to your live stock from lightning is greatly reduced," says Mr. R. S. Rider, president, Canadian Steel & Wire Company.

"The use of steel fence posts has become so general during recent years that there is no longer any question but what they are the solution of the fence post problem."

"While the wooden fence post still has many friends, it is usually not an economy because the labor in making that post and the comparatively short life of the post, make it much cheaper to buy a steel post of the proper size for the work required of it."

"The steel post when properly made, is heavily galvanized inside and out with an extra heavy coat of rustless zinc below the ground line."

"There is another economy and that is that you can drive the steel post without digging the holes, and the bottom of the post automatically spreads, making a wedge-shaped anchor to hold the post firmly in place."

"The man who wishes to sell his old ramshackle fence with a wavy wire fabric on steel posts. It will enhance its value several thousand dollars and give it a look of thrift which is worth good money."

ABOUT VETERINARIANS

How to Become Skilled in Doctoring Animals.

A Profession That Should Appeal to Farm Lads — What the Ontario Veterinary College Can Do for Ambitious Student — Does the Collar Fit the Horse?
 (Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

To every young man of worthy ambition there arises sooner or later a desire which tends to lure him into some occupation or profession congenial to his inclinations and offering an opportunity for advancement. In this regard the Veterinary profession is worthy of consideration as a suitable occupation and field of endeavor for the young man desirous of improving his own status in life and rendering useful service to the community at large. In recognition of this, the Ontario Department of Agriculture maintains the Ontario Veterinary College at Toronto for the purpose of training young men for the veterinary profession. It is affiliated with the University of Toronto, and is one of the oldest and best known colleges on the American continent. It has received students from all parts of the English-speaking world, and its graduates are favorably regarded, many of whom have attained considerable prominence. The College building is new and modern throughout and well equipped. The course is comprehensive, and covers a period of four years of seven months each term. The tuition fees are exceedingly moderate, averaging $85 for each College term. The purpose of the College is essentially that of a teaching institution for the proper training of men as Veterinarians. The prescribed course of study and instruction in Veterinary Science has much to commend it, and is particularly attractive and interesting. It trains the student to acquire a true knowledge of animal diseases, their treatment and prevention, thus fitting him for general practice as a veterinary surgeon. It trains the student for scientific pursuits, to conduct research work, and to solve particularly attractive and interesting problems. TO BE IN THE BEST CONDITION OF THE horses, however, coupled with the long days of hard work, causes them to shrink in flesh rapidly, and a collar that was a good fit at the beginning of the season may be entirely unsatisfactory three or four weeks later. In some cases the collar can be made to fit by using a sweat pad, while in others a new or different collar will be required. It is better, however, to have collars that fit than to use sweat pads.
 A poorly fitting collar not only starts sores but also causes the horse to fret, thus greatly reducing his efficiency. A work horse wearing a properly fitting collar is about two-thirds harnessed.

 It Pays to Let Others Know That You Have the Goods — Fighting the Hessian Fly—The Silo a Proven Utility.
 (Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The general farmer who grows good grain for seed, to the specialist in garden and truck crops, and particularly to the live stock man, the Fall Fair offers an opportunity. It pays to advertise; the Fair is the place where the people see the goods produced, and seeing is believing. Moreover, the papers report the winnings, and through these the exhibitor gets a large amount of advertising free which would otherwise cost him a considerable amount of money. Winning in close competitions under a competent judge adds dollars to the value of stock shown and increases the market price of any commodity, as well as giving the exhibitor a standing not only in his own community but over a section of country corresponding to the size and influence of the show at which prizes are won. The Fair is a good place to make sales. Prospective buyers see the good exhibits made and enquire about the breeding stock at home. Stockmen show at Fairs largely to make sales rather than to win prizes, although the latter is a factor in the sales and they are not disappointed as evidenced by the growing interest in the Fall Fair. Showing at the Fair, coupled with a judicious newspaper advertising policy, which should never be neglected, is good business. The two go together and work hand in hand. It pays to let others know of your good stock. Use printers' ink and show at the Fall Fair.—Wade Toole, O. A. College, Guelph.

Fighting the Hessian Fly.

Growers of winter wheat are advised to practice immediate control measures advocated by the Department experts. The following eight cardinal control measures, if rigorously enforced and adhered to by every grain grower, will prevent the introduction and spread of the pest:
 Do not sow wheat on stubble if possible to avoid it.
 Plough under all infested stubble and ruined wheat where practicable soon after harvest, especially where this does not interfere with the growing of clover and forage grasses.
 Destroy all volunteer wheat by harrowing, disking, ploughing, or otherwise.
 Plough all winter wheat land as early and deeply as existing conditions permit, and prepare a thoroughly pulverized and compacted seedbed.
 Conserve moisture against a period of drought at seeding time.
 Use the best seed procurable.
 Keep the soil in good till and, most important of all, sow winter wheat during the fly-free period as advised by local farm advisers or experiment stations.
 Work in co-operation with your neighbor in fighting this pest, as community action is essential to insure complete success.
 Late sowing is recommended, but not too late sowing, as the latter is as disastrous in its ultimate results as is too early sowing. Uncle Sam's grain-disease doctors say that the safe date in a time of normal rainfall usually coincides, in any one locality, with the preferable time for sowing to bring maximum yield. For example, grain growers in northern Michigan and Ontario are advised to sow after September 1, while the producers of southern Michigan and northern Ohio will escape fly infestation if they plant their grain about September 20.—U. S. Weekly News Letter.

Does the Collar Fit the Horse?

Sore shoulders and sore necks on farm horses are generally caused either by collars that do not fit or by harness that are not properly adjusted.
 A collar that is too long will cause sore shoulder points and is likely also to cause sores on the top of the neck. A collar that is too wide or too narrow will also cause sores on different parts of the shoulder or on top of the neck, depending on the kind and amount of work the horse is doing. Then, again, a collar that is too short and tight may cause the condition known as "sweeney" of the shoulder.
 Most farm horses are at least moderately fat in the spring. In this condition the muscles about the neck and shoulders will be full and plump and it will take a rather large collar

 Kessock, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu and had leucorrhoea very bad. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sative Wash also. Dr. Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial, as I recommend your medicines."—Mrs. IRENE NELSON, Kessock, Sask.
 It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

What People are Saying and Doing to Make Life Interesting.

Some young women are born foolish, while others lie along the beach at Grand Bend in one-piece bathing suits.

Women of the social "upper ten" in England are now giving up smoking, in public at least, the habit having become so common.

Bread in Toronto is getting back near the pre-war prices once more. One and one-half pound loaves sell at nine cents each.

Prayers for rain are being offered in Ontario churches, where a few weeks ago similar petitions pleaded to make the country "bone-dry."

We wonder if it is because the church has ceased to tell us about hell, that men who are supposed to be uplifters make such raw jokes about it?

Where does all the good dairy butter come from? Would the quality improve if every wrapper of a pound package was required by law to carry the name and address of the maker?

Within a year wages have been reduced from 5 to 25 percent. The cost of living, in per family budget of the Labor Gazette, has in the same time been reduced in wholesale prices of 41 percent.

Green apple pie is now in order. The first of August has been fixed for a century or more in New England as the date for using the harvest apple, and this season is two weeks earlier than usual.

More than one and a quarter million barrels of apples were exported from Canada last season. The greater bulk of these went to Great Britain, it is pointed out in a circular issued by the department of agriculture.

Roy Hotrum and William McFadden were executed Wednesday morning at Toronto for the murder of L. C. Sabine, Toronto druggist, executive clemency having been denied them. The condemned men were hanged upon the same scaffold at the same time, facing each other.

Detroit motorists strongly approve of the new law providing a certificate of title for motor vehicles. Application blanks for certificates are now being mailed to Detroit from Lansing and it is expected that many owners will have them by October. The law is seen as an effective protective measure against the purchase and sale of stolen cars, as it will be impossible to sell a car unless there is a clear title to it as in the case of a piece of land.

An exchange tells of the three stingiest men on record. The first would not drink water unless it came from a neighbor's well. The second forbids his family to write anything but a small hand as it wastes ink to make large letters. The third stops the clock at night to stop the wear and tear of the machinery. All of them refuse to take the home newspaper on the ground that it is a terrible strain on the spectacles to read.

Dr. C. S. Tamlin, veterinary inspector for the London Board of Health, states that many tubercular cattle are slaughtered in Middlesex county annually. Where animals are condemned the Government pays a percentage of their value to owners. Some of the cattle slaughtered have been sold for human consumption, because the Dominion Government permits such action to be taken where only small tubercular lesions are discovered in the lungs of the beasts. However, if the disease is general they are used only for fertilizer purposes. Slaughtering is ordered because of the danger of tuberculosis becoming present in the milk, which fact is not easily discerned.

The floor of the new House of Commons Chamber is of teakwood and ebony. The former was imported from India and is probably the most expensive wood in the world. The ebony cost the country twenty-five cents an ounce, and then the floor has to be covered with fibre matting and a carpet to deaden the sound of persons walking on it. After spending thousands of dollars on the floor of the chamber alone it was demonstrated that a floor of common lumber or concrete would have been just as satisfactory, since it must be covered with matting to allow the members to be heard when they are speaking.

The confectionery store owned by A. J. Walker, the butcher shop of Parr Bros., and J. St. Clair's garage, in the village of Bridgen, were entered by burglars and small sums of money taken Saturday night, according to a report made to the Sarnia police department. A total of $25 in cash, a number of safety razor blades and a quantity of cigarettes and tobacco were missing. Provincial Officer Alrey was notified and is investigating. The finding of a stolen motor car in the village leads to the belief that it was pilfered by the burglar or burglars and then abandoned. It was owned by J. Pitman, of Petrolia.

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Sterilized qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefitted by it and would use no other preparation.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign That the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons, and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with the disturbance of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich, red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are under-nourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You may get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
