CHIEF JUSTICE SAYS DISGRACE

Critical of Police Methods in The West

WARWICK MURDER CASE

Woman Put Through Questioning Without Opportunity to See Lawyer or Consult Friends—He Will Not Accept Her Evidence

Regina, Sask., Feb. 4.—Chief Justice Haulin sprung a sensation in the Warwick murder trial yesterday when he announced his decision on a point of law submitted to him at Saturday's hearing. When Mrs. Warwick was before the coroner's jury at Moosejaw to inquire into the death of one Price who it is suspected, was the murderer of Ralph Warwick she gave certain evidence which implicated her. On Saturday at the trial objection was taken to this evidence being given before the chief justice and his jury on the ground that she had not been warned, had no legal representative and was not given the benefit of the Canada Evidence Act.

"I will not allow that evidence to be given," said the chief justice in giving his decision. "I will hold that the evidence is inadmissible and will repeat my words of Saturday that there are circumstances surrounding this case that amount to a positive scandal. There should, in my opinion, be some procedure established to do away with the evil which we have faced in the case. Here is an instance where one police officer says to another 'go out and get this woman,' no warrant, no authority, no anything. She is brought before a tribunal with no opportunity to see a lawyer or consult her friends and put through a course of examination which can only be characterized as a disgrace. I shall not allow that evidence to be given."

ICE SHORTAGE IN STATES

Letter to Captain McMullin Tells of Situation

Captain John McMullin informed the Times this morning that he had received a letter from Boston stating that the weather there has been extremely mild, and that practically all the rivers in Massachusetts are open. This means that the ice supply in Boston will be very limited next summer. Great efforts are being made to get a supply from New Hampshire, where large ice houses are being built, but reports show that there is only thirteen inches of ice for this market, and about six inches of snow. The very unusual winter conditions will cause a serious shortage of ice in the river at the capital, and therefore it is possible to get a fairly good supply to add to the local store.

Unless a continued cold spell sets in, it was said today, however, that there will be a marked shortage in the ice crop here next summer. So far practically no ice has been harvested. The ice dealers are looking forward to some real cold weather and expect when it arrives to harvest enough for next season's demand.

LONDON AGITATION OVER SALARIES OF TEACHERS

London, Feb. 4.—The school teachers of London, 12,000 of whom are male and 6,000 female, are excited over a plebiscite on the subject of equal pay, to which the recent annual meeting of the teachers of London was pledged by resolutions, prior to which, however, a committee laid down a scale demanding a minimum of $800 a year for men, this figure to rise by degrees to $1,200, and a minimum of $600 for women rising to $1,000 a year. The men fear the levelling down of their salaries.

TRY MILLIONAIRE ON CHARGE OF AN ATTACK ON WIFE

Beach Case to Be Taken up Today—He Denies Charge, She Supports Him

Aiken, D. C., Feb. 4.—Charged with assaulting his wife, Camille Morse Haver-meyer Beach, "with intent to kill," Frederick O. Beach, a New York millionaire, today was to be placed on trial.

Mrs. Beach was the victim of a mysterious attack on the night of Feb. 28 last. She was assaulted while standing on the lawn of the Beach winter home here and received a serious cut on the throat. Immediately after the attack, Mrs. Beach asserted that her assailant was a negro.

After an investigation by city authorities and a detective, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. Beach. Repeatedly he has denied the charge.

Mr. Beach is represented by an array of legal talent composed of both local and New York lawyers. Thirty-six men, mostly farmers, compose the venire. It is understood that Mr. Beach will narrate the story of the attack exonerating her husband.

STEAMER IN TROUBLE

Gallipoli, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Ramming her bow into Bear Trap pier in the darkness at two o'clock this morning, the packet steamer City of Parkersburg sank in deep water in the Ohio river. Fifteen panicky passengers and members of the crew managed to get to shore and kept from freezing by fires built of driftwood.

The boat and her $30,000 cargo, it is feared, will be lost.

New York, Feb. 4.—The Norwegian steamship Nicholas Cunao, went ashore today at Long Beach, part of the 100 mile stretch of sand which skirts the southeast shore of Long Island. The vessel struck during thick weather. Little after midnight, and was sighted by the Point Lookout life savers.

All hands today went on to the steamer, but after several hours' struggle in the high seas they reported they were unable to board her. The life savers were still standing by at eight o'clock this morning. The vessel is a freighter. It is believed the crew are safe. She was bound in from the West Indies with a cargo of sugar.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—"Unless we get snow, it will seriously affect the lumbering industry in this province this winter," declared Abney White, deputy minister of lands and forests.

"The absence of snow is now being felt by the lumbermen. They cannot get supplies in or logs out, and unless the situation changes, it means that the season's cut will be materially reduced."

AND THE GREEN GRASS GREW ALL ROUND

Newport News, Va., Feb. 4.—Wild geese flying northward, fro croaking in ponds, fruit trees in blossom, and green fields lead the oldest lay weather prophets in Southern Virginia to predict that winter really is over despite the present cold snap over the Atlantic states.

THOUGH GUNS ARE BOOMING THERE IS TALK OF PEACE

CONFESSION SOLVES MYSTERY Bomb Outrages Which Included Slaying of Judge Rosalvy

New York, Feb. 4.—John Paul Farrell confessed today that he sent to Ferrard Herrera last Sunday the bomb which resulted in the death of Mrs. Herrera and serious injury to Herrera and Miss Fughtman, a boarder. Then Farrell admitted the police by calmly reciting that he sent the bomb which killed Mrs. Herrera a year ago, adding that Mrs. Taylor was his daughter. Next Farrell solved the mystery surrounding the sending of a bomb last year to Judge Otto Rosalvy, finally, he explained the death of "Kid" Walker, Feb. 1907.

He also Mrs. Taylor, he said, because she was his daughter and had gone wrong. "Kid" Walker was killed, he declared, by a man named Lestrage, because Walker had caused Mrs. Taylor's downfall. Judge Rosalvy's life had been taken, he added, because the judge had sentenced a criminal unnamed to twenty years imprisonment. Herrera's life was sought, Farrell said, because Herrera had said he would discharge him from his job as janitor.

In the case of Herrera, Farrell said he intended only to scare the family.

HEAVY FIRING BY ALLIES TO BRING ADRIANOPLE TO SURRENDER

Some Think Two Weeks Will Bring Turks to Subjection; Some Say Defence Will Be Sturdy—Meanwhile, Peace Rumors are About and One Story is Turkey Has Agreed to Give up Disputed Fortress

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 4.—The war has been resumed, but peace is probable. This paradoxical statement, made by the Turkish cabinet today, is not surprising, in view of the reports of heavy cannonading throughout the night, concluded with the capture of the fortress by the Bulgarians.

There is considerable difference of opinion as to the length of time the fortress will be able to hold out. The despatch from Mustapha Pasha, which reported that the heavy cannonading continued throughout the night, concluded with the capture of the fortress by the Bulgarians staff that two weeks would suffice for the besiegers to force the Turks to capitulate.

Military men, however, who know something about the several lines of forts which form the defence of Adrianople, for the outer ring which the besiegers have been facing since the war began, is connected with and supported by other circles of forts just as strong, look for a prolonged defence by the besieged garrison, which comprise many of the best of the regular Turkish troops. This opinion, too, apparently prevails within Adrianople, itself. Otherwise the foreign consuls there would not have considered it necessary to ask their ambassadors to secure an escort for the foreign residents of the city who desire to pass through the lines or protection for those who remain within the gates.

The greater part of the force, however, is compelled to remain in front of the line of fortifications at Tchalala and at Gallipoli in order to hold the Turkish armies concentrated at these places.

It is possible that the allies may attack one or both of these positions, thus going contrary to all expectations of military men. If they could clear Gallipoli of Turkish troops and attack the Dardanelles, the vigorous attack by the besiegers was made with the hope of bringing about the early fall of the fortress, which the allies consider will mean the end of the war.

MINSTREL MAIDS AT THE OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY

What is announced as the latest vogue in popular period amusement will be heard at the Opera House this week, beginning Thursday. This refers to the Marcus Moders Minstrel Maids, or, in other words, a miniature musical comedy company, introduced into the city, giving about eight light and airy operas, suitable for lawl, real estate, or insurance business. This will be another example of the awakening in that part of the city, as there has never been accommodation of this kind before. The building, abounding with acceptable office room, owing to its close proximity to the I. C. R. terminal and the C. P. R. station, is Main street, is the only artery through which all North End business must enter or leave that large section of the city, serving as it does, Fairville, Milford and other outlying districts.

NORTH END OFFICES.

Owing to the demand for office room and the scarcity of the same, it is rumored that F. S. Thomas will turn the upper part of his building in Main street into suitable office suites, giving about eight light and airy offices, suitable for lawl, real estate, or insurance business. This will be another example of the awakening in that part of the city, as there has never been accommodation of this kind before. The building, abounding with acceptable office room, owing to its close proximity to the I. C. R. terminal and the C. P. R. station, is Main street, is the only artery through which all North End business must enter or leave that large section of the city, serving as it does, Fairville, Milford and other outlying districts.

Henry Brown, aged twenty-one, charged with wandering about and not giving a satisfactory account of himself and also with having no visible means of support, was remanded. MINSTREL MAIDS AT THE OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY

What is announced as the latest vogue in popular period amusement will be heard at the Opera House this week, beginning Thursday. This refers to the Marcus Moders Minstrel Maids, or, in other words, a miniature musical comedy company, introduced into the city, giving about eight light and airy operas, suitable for lawl, real estate, or insurance business. This will be another example of the awakening in that part of the city, as there has never been accommodation of this kind before. The building, abounding with acceptable office room, owing to its close proximity to the I. C. R. terminal and the C. P. R. station, is Main street, is the only artery through which all North End business must enter or leave that large section of the city, serving as it does, Fairville, Milford and other outlying districts.

NORTH END OFFICES.

Owing to the demand for office room and the scarcity of the same, it is rumored that F. S. Thomas will turn the upper part of his building in Main street into suitable office suites, giving about eight light and airy offices, suitable for lawl, real estate, or insurance business. This will be another example of the awakening in that part of the city, as there has never been accommodation of this kind before. The building, abounding with acceptable office room, owing to its close proximity to the I. C. R. terminal and the C. P. EDWARD McALLISTER, who was arrested last night on charges of being drunk and also assaulting his brother, Robert, was not brought into court this morning as the jail officer reported that it was not advisable. One prisoner, charged with drunkenness, was allowed last night on $5 deposit, and did not appear this morning. Henry Brown, aged twenty-one, charged with wandering about and not giving a satisfactory account of himself and also with having no visible means of support, was remanded. Hearing in the case of Joseph Stewart, charged with larceny will probably be continued this afternoon.

TAX REFORM COMING Tax reform in St. John is coming very much sooner than even its friends had dared to hope. SINGLE TAX TO BE TRIED HERE

Proper Adjustment of Valuations, Says Mayor

CITY FINANCES REVIEWED

Lancaster Water Rates Allowed to Remain as Now — Street Railway Extension Matter Defeated — Request From The Longshoremen

In his annual report, accompanying the statement of the city accounts for 1912, and the reports of the chamberlain and comptroller, which were submitted to the common council yesterday afternoon, Mayor Frink announced the intention of the commissioners to introduce the single tax system in St. John during the coming year and also to effect a revision of the method of assessment, probably the Somer system.

The contracts for the public works department stable supplies as given in the Times yesterday were awarded. The commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands was given authority to expend $450 for repairs to North Market wharf, to sell at auction lots 525 and 526, and to have a survey made of all the city's Lancaster lands with a view to selling them as soon as practicable.

A request for exemption from taxes for ten years for an estate factory was referred to the commissioner of finance. The tenantry union asked for a hearing regarding the recently passed water law and also that the cement be chipped from the granite pavement on the south side of Main street.

The Longshoremen's Association asked that an ambulance and other emergency appliances be furnished at Sand Point. A letter was received from Belfast, Ireland, announcing the 300th anniversary of the city's charter and a letter of congratulation will be sent to the mayor and aldermen.

Report of Chairman of Treasury Board.
Mayor Frink read the following: Gentlemen,—The reports of the chamberlain and those of the comptroller and auditor have been presented to me today and I now submit them to the council. It has been customary for some years for the chairman of the treasury board to present in connection with these reports an additional one embodying his individual opinion as to their value, and to make comparisons with previous years.

Without moderate statement I think it is perhaps desirable that I should make some comment. The items of receipts and expenditures on all the sources are fully set forth; the bonds and debentures issued, and all financial obligations upon which the city has entered are listed and systematically arranged in a plain simple way so that anyone who may desire can have information in a few moments. The same applies to the sinking funds which have been set aside from year to year, as the law directs, so that at the due date when the bonds and debentures fall in they can be paid and the debt wiped off the slate. It is a gratifying knowledge for the all the debentures issued since the union with Portland, in 1889, with the exception of the ten year loan of 1906—$25,000 at 5 per cent—there exists sinking funds to provide for their redemption. The same provision was not made for all the issues prior to the last mentioned year and not yet matured; these amount to $891,468.85. The sinking fund has now reached the large sum of $1,046,880.92, and as the amount is in excess of that required to provide for the redemption of certain issues, and at other large issues—particularly sewerage and water—are inadequately provided for, it has been deemed expedient that a bill has been ordered for presentation to the legislature. This will perhaps be found unnecessary as it has been secreted within a few days that within the confines of a single information act of the legislature, passed a number of years ago governing the width and closing of streets, apparently by design two or three potent lines were added on to this act, giving the common council power to dispose of all the city's lands and property and do whatever it will with the proceeds. Freely given evidence the bill presented to legislature should receive careful scrutiny and supervision, the matter being democratic the legislature may be, particularly those acts having important bearing on the financial interests of the city.

The bonded indebtedness now stands $5,028,785.31, an increase for the year of $29,000, a portion of which was incurred in 1912. From the general outlook for 1913 it would appear that a material increase would be made to the funded debt to meet needed civic improvements of a permanent nature, street paving, schools, hospitals and the like; and while the debt is certainly large it will bear favorable comparison with those cities of the west that have grown into existence within the last decade and whose financial obligations are assuming vast proportions. This spirit has not successfully invaded the extreme democracy as yet. There is a sensible and rational increase in values in the city and immediate suburbs; a perceptible increase in population is being evidenced by the number of taxable polls compiled in the assessors' office, a most accurate indicator.

Insistent demands are made upon the council to provide the people with those public utilities and conveniences which they come in contact with and many of which we have hitherto done without, and yet they absolutely refuse to pay their share when requesting special services on streets and sidewalks, etc., in striking contrast with the residents of other cities. To comply with these demands money is required and to accomplish this the city has to borrow, and give its promissory notes to pay the bills. Such is the condition of affairs presented to the commissioners in 1912 that it is their intention to meet the wishes of the people in this respect to a reasonable extent provided that debentures be marketed at a rate of interest comparable, or nearly so, with that obtained in the past; but the present commissioners are not disposed to sell the city's debentures at any price in order to raise money for these demands which are made upon them, and while borrow we must it will be coupled with reasons so that the high standard of the securities issued by the city of St. John may be maintained and our credit unchallenged.

The section of the chamberlain's report bearing upon the percentage of assessments made and paid in the different years from 1907 to 1912 is of much interest, indicating that notwithstanding the defects in our system of assessment the taxpayers have responded very promptly to the demands made upon them, and in a greater proportion each year.

The report of the comptroller speaks for itself. The chamberlain is the receiver of all civic money and the controller the payer and I feel that I am on absolutely safe ground in saying that both are well guarded; and as every payment, no matter how small or great, must pass through the comptroller's hands, every item searched and tried and proved by daily contact with his office, I am thoroughly satisfied that every man who may have a claim for materials or services gets the full amount due him and no more, and his watchful eye on all departmental expenditures, made by the officials, who contract bills for civic purposes, causes them to be ever mindful of his examination and action.

An effort has been made to have the accounts of the different departments so arranged that information may be more readily obtained by the ordinary reader. The financial operations of each will appear under its own heading and index, as far as possible. For the first time the account of the harbor will be furnished, that one may see exactly and at a glance the revenues on one hand and the expenditure on the other, from all sources. I have requested that a full statement be made concerning the revenues and expenditures of the ferries. Hitherto it has been the custom to merge into other accounts the long interest on these works. I am not a believer on any such proceeding, the public are entitled to a bare statement of the financial conditions which exist and they will have it.

The present assessment law under which we operate has been a matter of much concern to the citizens and commissioners, and there can be no reasonable doubt, that the work and duties of the board of assessors is a very important branch of the civic service, as from this body goes forth the list, how much each citizen has to pay for the maintenance and upkeep of the city.

Systems and styles of assessment have their ups and downs, and no particular system appears to please the multitude at large for any length of time, as under each, some individual or corporation feels that it is being ground to the earth and under it. The assessment law under which we now serve and pay, is based very largely on the valuations arrived at by three or four men who move in and about the city and with the citizens and their collective information finds a centre of value, and it is so defined in the tax bill which seldom finds acceptance with the receiver.

In lieu of this the idea or view is prevalent, that systems which prevail in the strong held in the province of Ontario, should prevail here, that is to say, the single tax or land tax, that the land should bear the burden, and that individual not possessed of land should bear his indirect tax by increased rentals, etc., as the case may be, for whatever system be adopted the city has to meet its fixed charges and requirements, no matter who pays, and there can be no escape. There are a great many people in the community today who are of the opinion that the single tax should be applied with the greatest speed, as it is their opinion that it would prove a sovereign remedy for many civic troubles. Yet, the statement made to me by an official of the British Columbia government a few months ago, concerning the land tax question in Vancouver and its vicinity, impresses me that the single tax has its sorrows as well as its joys, and is quite capable of being overdone.

However, following this determination or expression of popular feeling, I believe it is the intention of the commissioners to put the system on trial in St. John this coming year, and have an adjustment of valuations devoid of conjecture, and its conclusion and operation will excite much concern, and to meet this expenditure, which will be a large one, not specially provided for, will make it necessary to provide for it out of the general revenue, or to make it a matter of special assessment for the next year.

I am strongly of the opinion that our present assessment act is wide and strong enough to meet these emergencies, and if the assessors will have courage enough to exercise the powers now vested in them, and make full use of the sections of the act which gives them the power to determine the real value of real estate and personal property in their opinion and judgment, a mountain of difficulties can be removed. The section is wide and flexible and their decision as to valuation is practically final.

There is no branch of the civic service which in my opinion demands such a degree of intelligence, discretion and sound judgment as that of the assessors, and the service demands ample remuneration, and in order to place this department on a proper plane readjustments of existing conditions are sought with the legislature.

In view of exhaustive information furnished by the chamberlain and comptroller, it will be unnecessary for me to further dwell on many of the matters submitted, and conclude with the statement, that I have endeavored to keep in close touch with the financial interests and conditions of the city, and the task has been made light by the daily information applied and reported by the chief executive officers in my department, the chamberlain, comptroller and chairman of the board of assessors who have, in my opinion, performed their several duties meticulously.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES H. FRINK,
Mayor.

LANCASTER PLEASUED WITH TREATMENT BY THE CITY
At a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Lancaster Board of Trade last evening the following letter, which explains itself, was read by Mr. Nelson, solicitor of the board:

To the Parish Councillors:
I must say to the people of Lancaster and the Lancaster Board of Trade, that they must appreciate the kindness of the common council, of St. John for the heavy way with which they received the committee of the Lancaster Board of Trade. After hearing what we believe was a reasonable argument on the water rates they were willing to reconsider the whole matter and not only reduce the proposed increase but place the people of Lancaster on the same footing as the city residents.

Lancaster need not look upon the city of St. John as an opponent, but as a best friend and one whom the people of Lancaster might well trust.

JAMES LOWELL,
Mr. Lowell's letter was received with enthusiasm.
Councillors Bryant and Golding spoke

CHORAL SOCIETY IN ROSE MAIDEN

Artistic Rendering of Frederick Cowan's Cantata

SOLOISTS EXCELLENT

Miss Holt of Boston, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Armitage — Chorus Work Effective Under Baton of Mr. Peacock

The St. John Choral Society won the sincere appreciation of a large and critical audience last evening in their presentation of Frederick Cowan's cantata, "The Rose Maiden, the occasion being their third annual musical festival.

The selection of the Rose Maiden for presentation proved popular, the cantata giving excellent opportunity for the display of their musical ability.

The society was also fortunate in its selection of soloists. Miss Gertrude Holt of Boston, who sang the title role, has a beautiful soprano voice of full round tone and of especial sweetness in the upper register.

TRACED BY HIS FINGER PRINTS

Paul Richter in Jail in Greenfield, Mass.

RECORDS AGAINST HIM

Post Office Burglaries in Maine Included in Police Score—The Value of Identification System Again Proven

Boston, Feb. 3.—In the Franklin County jail at Greenfield is Paul Richter, a young man with a string of aliases, who is working out a 90-day term for carrying a concealed weapon.

Richter can place any additional trouble that may come to him to the system of identifying criminals by finger impressions. After "Joe" Daly, a state detective, took Richter, who gave him the name of Robert Lorraine, from a freight train at Shelburne Falls, he found that his prisoner had a loaded 38-caliber revolver in his possession.

In a police court he was fined $30 and committed to the Franklin County Jail. Meanwhile his finger impressions were taken at Northampton. A copy of them were given by Chief Inspector John R. Garr and given to detectives Gustafson and Galin, the Boston Police agents, to examine.

On Nov. 29, 1904, the post office at East Holliston was entered. Three days later inspectors Shields and Hart of police headquarters caught Richter trying to dispose of a coat in a South End shop. Stamps were also found in his possession.

On May 12, 1908, patrolman George Walker of the West End police station, now deceased, was told that a man was trying to sell some battered watches in Hale street. As soon as he was discovered the man ran through Hale street in the direction of Merrimack street and took refuge in a house at the lower end of Hale street.

BASEBALL

For the Phillies. Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—Manager Doolin of the Philadelphia National League Club this afternoon purchased the release of Dan Howley, a catcher of the Portland, Oregon, club. A Story About Ganley. Robert Leifield of the Globe's pitching staff contributed to the Boston Globe as the funniest incident he ever saw on a ball field, a yarn concerning Bob Ganley. The incident took place in his big league day. Here it is: "The funniest thing I ever saw on a ball field happened before I went into the major league, when as a member of the Pueblo Club, I was breaking into the big circuit by way of the Western League. The game was playing in Pueblo against our club. Bob Ganley was in the game while the president of the club was Joe Cantillon who for so long a time has been a familiar figure in baseball. Ganley got into some trouble that day with Harry Moll, the umpire, who was a funny old cuss with whom the players all ways had a lot of sport. Ganley got it up so long that Moll finally put him out of the game, whereupon Cantillon came down into the field to help make it hot for the umpire. Moll stood it for a while and then called for a police officer, who finally appeared on the scene riding horseback. Ganley and Cantillon would not move at the officer's order and so he began to back them off the field. He had a fine horse and one that was well trained. The horse would back up against Ganley and then against Cantillon, and when the officer used his spurs the animal would give a little lurch which made the varlike contentions jump away in a hurry. Stop by stop they had to retreat, all

The real food value of the potato lies usually with one-quarter or three-eighths of the inch of the outside, some 90 per cent of the inside of the potato being composed of water. Where the potato grows very rapidly the large amount of water in the centre causes the tissues to become broken down, thus resulting in a hollow potato.

Among the many minor discoveries of the last century perhaps no more useful one was made than that which enables food to be kept wholesome for an indefinite period by means of canning. At first, it was largely vegetables and, especially, tomatoes that were canned, but now almost every variety of food, vegetables, fruits, fish and meat are so treated, and in the main, with very satisfactory results. Formerly, food could only be preserved for a lengthened period by means of foreign substances mixed with it, of which salt was, by far, the most important. These preservatives not only impaired the palatability of such food, but rendered it food to give rise to serious disease, such as scurvy and the like, when used for long time to the exclusion of fresh food. The ability, therefore, to have at hand wholesome food, free from artificial preservatives, when ordinary fresh food is not to be obtained is a very great convenience and benefit. Occasionally, however, canned foods prove unwholesome. This is due either to an accident or negligence in canning, or which is probably often the case, to improper handling after they reach the consumer. A few words upon the principle by which food is preserved by canning will make it plain why it keeps good after this process, and also explain the accidents to which it is liable, and the necessity of intelligent management of it on the part of the consumer. Decay is caused by vegetable and animal matter by the action of bacteria or germs. These are present everywhere, and of course, on all foods. In canning, the food is placed in the receptacle and subjected, for some time, to a considerable degree of heat. The heat destroys the bacteria, and before there is opportunity for any more to enter the can, the latter is soldered up, so as to be perfectly airtight. In cooling, the hot air within the can contracts and tends to produce a partial vacuum there. This causes the result of the can slightly to sink inward, and in this way is produced the almost unnoticeable concavity seen in the ends of all good cans. Occasionally, however, but very rarely, the process has not been sufficient to destroy all the germs, so that they will multiply inside the can after it is closed. In almost every such instance gas will be produced, which very often bulges out the ends of the can, rendering them slightly convex instead of slightly concave in outline. Any such can, of course, should at once be rejected, as its contents are almost certainly unwholesome. Again, it sometimes happens that food, particularly meats and fish may be partially decayed before being canned. When this accident happens, heat will not always remedy the defect. Bacteria produce a certain poison called ptomaines and, although heat will kill the bacteria, it will not destroy this poison. This is more difficult to be guarded against by the consumer than when bacteria are present. The chief resource is in one's nose. Any color upon opening the can, other than that appropriate to the food in question should at once cause its rejection. The process of canning, however, has now reached such perfection, and is conducted, generally, under such strict supervision that accidents occur but seldom.

Eaten at Once. But the best of canned food may be spoiled after it is opened for consumption. It is well known that all food preserved either by heat or cold is liable to comparison, if not eaten at once, the effect of such influence is removed. Therefore, all can-wholesome product, it is now generally agreed that it is not quite equal in nutritive power to ordinary fresh food. In the process of preserving, it loses something, the nature of which is not, as yet, very well understood, which fresh food possesses, and which is essential to the best of health. It is hardly possible, therefore, to remain robust, if one lives entirely, or mainly, upon canned food. DR. G. G. MELVIN.

SOCIAL EVENTS ON THE EVE OF LENT

Social Assemblies Last Evening, Including Pleasant Functions by Societies

The closing scenes of gaiety before the coming of the Lenten season of social quiet were greatly enjoyed by the young people of the city last evening, and others will be tonight. Several delightful gatherings were held, and despite the disappointing weather conditions, were attended by many. The functions last evening were assemblies, for the most part with pleasing dance programmes, and the dancing was continued until well into the early hours.

Much interest centred in the assembly conducted in Kitchin's under the auspices of the Wednesday night class, in charge of Miss Doris Murray and Jean Campbell. About 150 attended, and among the guests were many from outside the city. They were received by the chaperones, Mrs. D. Willford Campbell, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. C. H. Ferguson, with Miss Murray and Campbell. Miss Murray wore yellow silk with chiffon overtones, while Miss Campbell was attired in pink satin with chiffon overtones and crystal trimmings. The guests were by the other ladies were handsome creations and greatly admired. The reception room was tastefully decorated. Music was furnished by M. F. Kelly's orchestra. Amongst those present from outside the city were Misses Marion, Crest and Ethel Miller, of Fredericton; Wilmet Miller, D. McDonald and Carl Brown, also of Fredericton; Miss Colton, of Amherst; Miss March, of Moncton; Miss Hand, of Woodstock, and Roy Morrison, of Newcastle. A fine programme of dances was enjoyed and the functions was voted a distinct success.

The cast of those who took part in the performance of "My Friend From India" in the Opera House a short time ago, and those who assisted in the specialties as well as others who helped make the affair a success, were delightfully entertained last evening in the club rooms of the Knights of Columbus in Colby street. An enjoyable programme of dance numbers was carried out to the pleasure of all present, numbering between sixty and seventy young people, and there were bridge, games and music. The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants, ferns, and cut flowers. Music was furnished by a trio of the members, J. L. Mullaly, H. O'Neill and John Deberry, and this was a pleasing feature in the programme. The chaperones were Mrs. Arthur P. O'Neill, Mrs. John McDonald, Jr., Mrs. F. I. McCallery, Mrs. E. J. Hogan, and Mrs. Henry Regan. The catering was done by Messrs. Wright and Fritz.

The young men who participated in the performance of "A Rose Among Thorns" in the Opera House last week pleasantly entertained the ladies in the cast to a supper in Bond's restaurant last evening. There were about fifteen present and the time passed very enjoyably. A tasteful menu was followed by a very nice programme of songs, readings and musical numbers, in which Mrs. F. C. Colborne, Mrs. A. C. Wilson, Miss Florence Halpin, S. H. Harty, D. J. Higgins, and others took part.

The last of the series of assemblies conducted by the members of the Canadian Club was held in the A. O. H. rooms in Union street last evening, when there was a very good attendance. Music was furnished by Jones' orchestra, and all present took much pleasure in a nicely varied programme of songs, readings and musical numbers. The chaperones and committee were the same as have been connected with the other affairs of this series during the present season. Last evening the door prizes for which tickets were held, were awarded to Miss Foley by Andrew Carey, J. C. R. conductor, who were the lucky holders.

AMHERST LEADS IN COMMUNITY WORK

Mr. Bradford Talks to Times About What They are Doing — Ahead of All Canadian Cities

John Bradford, the community worker of Amherst, was in St. John yesterday en route to Toronto. In conversation with the Times, Mr. Bradford said that the City of Amherst Committee has now settled down to work and has strong sub-committees taking up practically every question affecting the interests of the town. The general committee is itself representative of every business organization, every church, every lodge and society and trades union in the town.

A great deal of attention will be given by one strong sub-committee to the question of education. Since Mr. Bradford went to Amherst, they already have provided in their schools an ungraded class in which individual teaching is given to backward pupils who cannot keep up with the grade classes. Also there are now ungraded classes in the schools of Moncton, which in this respect is also ahead of St. John.

The Amherst educational committee will make a scientific enquiry into the conditions in Amherst, and will report recommending such changes in the curriculum of the schools as will give to the boys who want to be apprenticed to the different industries in the town the kind of training that will be of the greatest use to them.

Every one of these sub-committees has a specific work to do, and, when they have reported and their reports have been endorsed or amended by the Greater Amherst Committee as a whole, they will have behind them the whole force of the citizenship of the town. In no other city in Canada today is such systematic community work being carried out by one central organization as is being done in the busy town of Amherst.

The sum of $10,000 a year is to be provided to carry on the work of the committee. Only $5,000 of this is granted by the city council, as $5,000 is pledged by citizens and $10,000 is to be raised by entertainments. The Pilgrims raised $20,000 last year for the hospital of the town.

NEWSPAPER MEN IN CITY FOR PRESS MEETING

The members of the Eastern Press Association are in session here today. The directors held a meeting this morning in the Times building. Routine matters were under consideration. At noon today the president, F. H. Ellis, entertained the members to luncheon at the Union Club. This afternoon another business session will be held. Those in attendance from outside places are: C. C. Blackadar, of the Halifax Recorder; G. Fred Pearson, of the Halifax Chronicle; W. H. McCurdy, of the Halifax Herald; R. D. Macneil, of the Sydney Post, and E. L. Colman, of the Sydney Record.

ONE HUNDRED BOYS

In his monthly report to the executive of the Every Day Club Monday evening Walter Brindle said there was an increase of twelve names to the roll of boys, making a total membership of 100 boys from eight to fourteen years of age. He said the boys were showing a marked interest in their work and the discipline was better. B. Morton and Sergt. James Sullivan are heartily welcomed on their respective nights by the boys. The club is badly handicapped by a lack of suitable quarters and outfit to carry on the desired work. The average attendance in December was seventy-four and thus far in January eighty-three.
