Look at These Things
Contrast the Canada of today with the Canada of 1896, and the justification for the vast expenditures of the twelve year period is at once obvious.
Look at the status of the Dominion among the nations.
Look at the development of transportation by land and water.
Look at the enormous expansion of home and foreign trade.
Look at the buoyancy of the revenue.
Look at the magnificent development of the West.
Look at the influx of settlers.
Look at the growth of our cities and towns.
Look at the equipment of our harbors.
Look at the lighting and buoying of the coasts.
Look at the enlargement of the Provincial boundaries.
Look at the creation of two new Provinces.
Look at the marvellous prosperity of the manufacturing industries.
Look at the betterment of the working man.
Look at the increase in wages.
Look at the demand for farm products.
Look at the increase in railway earnings.
Look at the extension of railway lines.
Look at the building of the National Transcontinental Railway from ocean to ocean.
Look at the extension from the Inter-colonial to Montreal.
Look at the equipment of the People's Road with additional stock.
Look at the construction of new stations, new sidings, new mechanical shops and large terminals.
Look at the improvement of the Militia.
Look at the assumption of the maintenance of the garrisons at Halifax and the establishment of a chain of gage depots.
Look at the enlargement of the postal service.
Look at the inauguration of free rural mail delivery.
Look at the establishment of the Railway Commission.
Look at the protection of the railway to Hudson Bay.
Look at the proposition for the All Rail Lines.
Look at the increase in Bank deposits.
Look at the public buildings which dot the country from end to end.
Look at the development of our coal mines.
Look at the erection of mighty steel plants at Sydney and Sydney Mines.
Look at the busy factories, handsome buildings and comfortable home throughout the length and breadth of the land.
Look at the thousand and one monuments of progressive and business-like administration, and the results produced by the expenditure incurred by the Government are apparent to every intelligent person.
The Government has made large expenditures, but it had the money to spend, and it has the results to show. It has accomplished all these things without increasing the taxation of the people and practically without adding to the public debt. Those partisans who are not honest enough to give the Government credit for the tangible results which are everywhere in evidence, Canada is a vast country with long stretches of sparsely settled territory. The marvellous development which has been promoted would have been impossible without large expenditure, and in this formative period of our history as a nation, generous and judicious expenditure is true economy.
The record of expenditure during the past twelve years is one of the features of the Laurier regime which is deserving of all praise. We cannot build a nation without spending money, no more than we can branch out in our private affairs without paying for it. And Canada has got value for the money. No honest man will attempt to deny it. One has only to turn to the United States to appreciate what vast strides we have made a comparison with that great and enterprising country. Twelve years ago the people of that great Republic looked upon Canada with indifference which was little less than contempt. Today Canada is ahead of her neighbor in many respects and is setting the pace in others. Our population is smaller, but our trade per capita is larger, our civilization is higher and our legislation is more progressive. Today the United States is looking to Canada for light and leading, notably in the development of the postal service, in the treatment of labor problems and in the regulation of public utilities, while the farmers of the American West are flocking across the line in thousands to make their homes in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. The eyes of the American nation are upon Canada today, and her statesman and her leading journals are free to admit that a new nation has arisen to challenge their commercial supremacy on the North American Continent.

Best of all, this transformation has been effected without serious friction and without disturbance of the friendship and good will which happily have marked the relations of the two countries. Canada is no longer despised by, but, on the contrary, commands the respect and the admiration of the American people, while at the same time she has risen to a place of leadership in the galaxy of nations which comprise the British Empire.
The record of the Twelve Years of Laurier is a record which ought to make every patriotic Canadian thrill with pride. It is not only the best record of any Government in the history of the Dominion, but it is a record which has never been equalled by any country in the world. Canada, under Laurier has found herself. Let Laurier finish his work.

Forest Fires
Disastrous forest fires, similar to those which swept through Crow's Nest Pass in Canada only in August leaving trained villages in their path and occasioning a property loss of something like $100,000,000, not to mention the heavy toll that was taken of human life, are now raging in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. In Canada the flames had waste an area of approximately 40 square miles, swept the prosperous town of Fernie on the map and wrought sad havoc in the neighboring villages of Michael, Hosmer and Sparwood. In northern Minnesota and Wisconsin the despatches say that thousands of acres of rich farming lands and millions of feet of lumber have already sacrificed, while it is estimated that 10,000 persons have been rendered homeless.
These costly fires which sweep the north and northwest with all too great frequency as soon as the herbage becomes dry and inflammable in the fall certainly carry their own warning with them. They are often the result of individual carelessness or of the recklessness of hunters, who have been known to avail themselves of burning underbrush to scare game into the open. It is not easy to prevent fires from starting, but there are certain precautions which might well be taken to restrict their compass.
The old method of back firing was much practiced by the frontiersman of former days and is now employed with systematic thoroughness in India. Its value cannot be questioned, and while it involved a degree of co-operation on the part of the dwellers in menaced regions, the expense attending it is slight. In India parallel paths are cut along the borders of the forest before the vegetation becomes dry. These paths are about five or six feet wide and are denuded of prairie grass. They are joined at intervals by cross-paths, dividing the ladder-like area into sections. As soon as the grass becomes sufficiently inflammable it is burned over section by section, care being taken to prevent the sparks and brands from communicating flames to the territory beyond. Thus a space too broad to be leaped by a fire is burned round the forest regions. If this practice were to allow with such thoroughness in the north we might not have this distressing recurrence of property loss each Autumn—Chicago Herald.

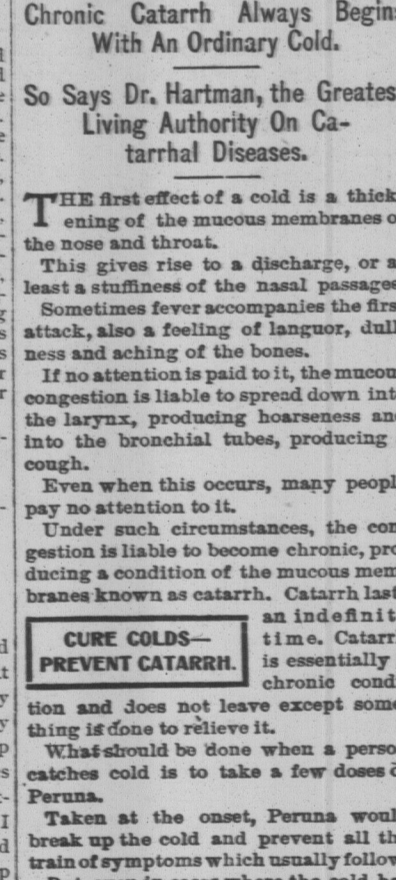

To The Electors of The County of Charlotte
GENTLEMEN:
At the Convention of the Liberal Party of the County of Charlotte lately held, I was chosen the candidate to contest the coming Federal Election in the interest of the present Government.
I feel that I can appeal sincerely and justly to every Elector of this County, and ask his support in giving, through me on October 26th next, a grateful appreciation of the great national work this Government has done for Canada, during the last twelve years, through the fiscal and progressive business policies it has inaugurated.
The prosperity at hand, the growth of business and population, the national spirit that now entwines every Canadian proves the true worth of these policies.
Dark hints of gross corruption and sinister insinuations of slanders against the Government administrators, that will not face the open light, by charges on the floors of the House of Commons, cannot I think appeal to the manly spirit that influence every elector of Charlotte.
The electorate of Canada, for their business safety and welfare, and for the effectual working out of plans and policies, that already mean much to Canada's future prosperity, will return the Liberal Government again to power.
Does Charlotte County not deserve at our hands after thirty years in opposition, to be placed in a position of accord with the Liberal Government, that will give her the many requirements she so much needs and deserves?
If I have the honor to be elected your representative, my efforts and abilities will be devoted constantly to seeking out the many requirements of our County, and using for your interest the greatly increased power that is given to a member who is in accord with the Government.
I am, Dear Sirs:
Very Sincerely Yours,
WILLIAM F. TODD.

PE-RU-NA CHEERFULLY RECOMMENDED FOR COLDS AND CATARRH.
A Prominent Canadian Gives His Experience With the World-Famous Remedy For Catarrh.
Chronic Catarrh Always Begins With An Ordinary Cold.
So Says Dr. Hartman, the Greatest Living Authority On Catarrhal Diseases.
THE first effect of a cold is a thickening of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.
This gives rise to a discharge, or at least a stiffness of the nasal passages. Sometimes fever accompanies the first attack, also a feeling of languor, dullness and aching of the bones.
If no attention is paid to it, the mucous congestion is liable to spread down into the larynx, producing hoarseness and into the bronchial tubes, producing a cough.
Even when this occurs, many people pay no attention to it.
Under such circumstances, the congestion is liable to become chronic, producing a condition of the mucous membranes known as catarrh. Catarrh lasts an indefinite time. Catarrh is essentially a chronic condition and does not leave except something is done to relieve it.
What should be done when a person catches cold is to take a few doses of Peru-na.
Taken at the onset, Peru-na would break up the cold and prevent all the train of symptoms which usually follow.
But, even in cases where the cold has been neglected and hoarseness or a cough has developed, Peru-na can be relied upon to give prompt and permanent relief.
The frequency of coughs and colds in the winter makes Peru-na a popular remedy for these ailments.
A number of the best people of various countries have given testimonials as to the value of Peru-na in such cases.
Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice—Restored to Health.
Mrs. Samuela Vignosa, Avro on Bond, Isle de La Magdeline, Canada, writes:
"I write to tell you that I am perfectly well. I took only three bottles of your Peru-na according to your advice and the directions in your book and it restored my health."

Who are the thieves and bootlers in this list? Wherever these men are best known they are most respected. Since Confederation we have not had men at the head of Departments of Government who, on the whole, stand higher in the communities in which they live. Would any one of them be convicted by his neighbors of a grave accusation without proof, the accusers being so evidently actuated by the mere desire to occupy the places? Independent men may be asked whether it would be well that such a campaign should succeed. If the Tory party after being in office since confederation with the exception of the four years of the Mackenzie regime, is in the nature of things entitled to get back again, put it upon that ground, do not put it on a false ground. The electors should not allow a Government which deserves well of them to be tied out of office. Common justice demands that the charges made against the Ministers should be proved.
The whole Tory campaign is based on the presumption that the public mind is prone to attack the worst meaning to the word "politician"—that is not necessary to prove anything against the public man. His character may be breathed away as it were thistledown. If the calculations of the Opposition are right the state of public feeling is to be deplored, and Mr. Borden and his friends may well tremble should the day of success ever arrive. They will be measured by their own basket, and their backbiting and slanders will fatally react on them. We confess the belief, however, that the country is about to administer to this unworthy species of political warfare a signal rebuke. Every sign points that way. Nowhere has the scandal policy been more ferociously worked than in the province of Nova Scotia. A perfect stream of wild scurrility has flowed through the columns of the Opposition Press there. The people are giving their answer, already by making Mr. Fielding's tour in the Maritime Provinces a triumphal progress, and we feel sure that every Province will give the same answer to the deeply discreditable tactics of an Opposition which has become nothing but a junta of frenzied office-seekers.—Toronto Globe.

$100 Reward, $100
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient a chance of building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers, and they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Editor's Prayer
"I would flee from the city's rule and law—from its fashions and forms cut loose—and go where the strawberry grows on its straw, and the roseberry grows on its goose; where the catnip tree is climbed by the cat as she clutches for her prey, the guileless and unsuspecting rat, on the rattan bush at play. I will watch at ease the shaffron cow and the cowlet in their glees, as they leap with joy from bough to bough on top of a cowslip tree; and list while the partridge drums his drum, and the wood chuck chucks his wood, and the dog devours the dog-wood plum in the primitive solitude. O, let me drink from the moss grown pump that was hewn from a pumpkin tree! Eat mush and milk from a rural stump, from form and fashion free—new garnered mush from the mushroom vase and milk from the milk-wood sweet—with luscious pineapples from the pine! Such food as the gods might eat. And then to the whitewashed dairy I'll turn, where the dairymaid hastening flies, her ruddy and gold-red butter to churn from the milk of butter flies; and I'll rise at morn with the earliest bird, to the fragrant farm-yard pass, and watch while the farmer turns his herd of grasshoppers out to grass."

C. H. PARKER.

"I had several attacks of colds from time to time and finally a severe attack developed into catarrh.
I was advised to use your celebrated catarrh remedy, and after taking three bottles I find myself completely cured, and I no longer suffer from catarrh or colds.
I can cheerfully recommend Peru-na for colds and catarrh."

Slender Campaign Cannot Succeed
The Opposition has been driven to adopt scandal as its watchword for sheer lack of any other cry. Outside of scandal, Mr. Borden and his lieutenants have no policy. If it were founded upon fact,

Smelt are very plentiful in the river, some very large catches were made last week.

Even Conservatives are getting tired of the red headed Herald's song of graft and scandal.

Neill Seelye picked a wild rose in full bloom a few days ago, which is quite late in this locality.

Edw. Gillmor brought a fine moose to town Friday, which was shot near Bonny River. Twenty have already been killed in this vicinity. Several have also been brought down at Pocologan.

First it was said the dredge will never come here, now that it is here, and working we are informed that it will be taken away after election. This sounds very much like a wail from the vanquished.

On Wednesday evening a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Spinney took a straw ride over the hills to their home at L'Etang. There they were royally received and a clam supper enjoyed.

The body of Mrs. Michael Doyle, a resident for many years of this place, was brought here on Thursday and was interred in the old catholic cemetery. Miss Julia Doyle, a daughter, accompanied the remains.

Joe Clark and three flat were among the lucky hunters last week, each securing a moose. They were at Pocologan and shot the lordly animals early Wednesday morning. Jonas Paul guided them and called the animals within shooting range.

There will be a public meeting at L'Etang, Wednesday evening. Mr. W. F. Todd the Liberal candidate and other speakers will deliver addresses on the political issues now before the public. Mr. Todd will also address the electors of Lepreau, and Maces Bay on Thursday evening.

There is mutiny in the Tory madness. They seek to create discontent. As a disciple of Hon. Alexander MacKenzie, well might Laurier denounce the men who hounded that noble leader to his grave, assailing him with every weapon of abuse and calumny, and now to forward a similar campaign against the Liberals of today, hold him up as a model of honesty, integrity and ability.

Mr. W. F. Todd, the Liberal candidate attended a meeting of the Emmerson Club, Wednesday evening. A very large number were present and listened to a pleasing address by Mr. Todd, who spoke enthusiastically of liberal prospects in the county and country generally. The candidate was accorded a warm reception. He is making many friends by his straightforward and honorable canvass.

The odor of the flats is becoming most offensive particularly when the very low tides are running. Something will have to be done. The board of health might look into the matter, there must be some cause for the increase in the odoriferous volumes of scented air that envelope the town when the water leaves for the sea. If the health of the community counts for anything the dredge has come none too soon and steps should be taken at once to prevent a further pollution of the river.

Scarcely enough rain, for a month, to settle the dust, water going lower every day, forest fires burning fiercely, that's the situation at present. The town and whole country is smoky with fires raging on all sides. Back of St. Stephen, Oak Bay, L'Etang and other places men are trying to stop the flames. Sections are threatened with disastrous results by the fires which cover a large area of ground, and are in close proximity to many homes. All through the County the weather shows itself in dried up verdure, and in the premature coloring of the forests. The water was never so low in the river, and springs never before known to fail are dried up. Everyone is eager for a downpour of rain.

Indications point to a big gathering at the Liberal picnic to be held at Oak Bay Wednesday Oct. 7th. Speeches will be made by prominent members of the party, a band will be present, and a clam chowder will be served on the grounds. Excursion rates have been secured on the railways.

Rev. and Mrs. Young returned from Boston last week and Mr. Young held usual services all over his circuit last Sunday. On Sunday evening he preached a very helpful sermon at Parrsboro. We regret to learn that he was taken ill Sunday night and has been confined to his bed for several days. He is better today. --Parrsboro Leader.

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashana, fell on Saturday, but was celebrated on Sunday, Saturday being the Jewish Sabbath. During the ten days between the Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, which falls on October, 5th, the faithful visit one another and carry greetings. Miss Dora Sandler is in St. John attending these services.

The St. George, Pennfield and Lepreau Agricultural Society will hold their annual fair at Pennfield, Wednesday, Oct. 7th. This fair is one of the events of the year and is patronized by numbers from all sections. Those who attend this year will have an excellent opportunity of seeing the exhibit of local farmers, especially in vegetables, butter and embroidery work of the ladies. It is expected that an excursion will be run from Eastport accompanied by a band of music.

Two St. John men, Gilbert Dawson and Gideon Milne, had the novel experience of enjoying a 300 yard race with a large moose. Although the men were on their wheels, the moose proved the faster and escaped. Messrs. Dawson and Milne were riding down from St. George and encountered the moose on the city side of John O'Regan's, about a half mile from the lake. At the end of the 300 yards' exciting race the moose jumped the fence at McCarthy's field and ran down into the swamp. A party is still searching for the moose, which was a fine specimen with large antlers. Sportsmen from this vicinity again report that the fog horn is spoiling moose calling. --Sun.

The Liberal County Executive will meet in St. Stephen tonight. Mr. Todd, the Liberal candidate, has taken up the matter of running the election on a party basis with the clergymen, and has also approached the Conservative candidate in reference to the matter. Mr. Cannon assured Mr. Todd that he was in sympathy with the movement, but was unable to take any action until the return of the president of the Conservative association. It is hoped that the Conservative party, will agree to Mr. Todd's proposition, so that arrangements may be completed at this meeting of the executive tonight.

Saturday was a busy day in town. A large number of teams were in from the surrounding districts and Main street, in the afternoon, was thronged with people. Candidates for municipal honors were shaking hands with electors, with all the ardor of prospective House of Commons members. It was the last day for filing nominations for the Council. Squire William Hickey of L'Etang, who made a good fight last year, is on the field again. Councillor I. E. Gillmor has retired after one term at St. Andrews. Walter Maxwell will come before the electors for another term and Egin MacNichol will ask the support of the people for the first time. This means that there will be three candidates in the field.

A Dreamer of Dreams

By J. Seville Martin and F. W. Martin.

The old man sat in the bar of the Blue Pigeons with an anxious smile that told of a desire to please born of a sense of inferiority. His clothes were shabby, but not more shabby than those of his companions. His tall hat had once been a more respectable badge than any that they boasted. But he was conscious of his shabbiness and they were not. He had known better days, and they had not. Each spot of grease upon his coat, each patch of shiny cloth had its counterparts in his faded suit. There, he sat perovously with a smile upon his face, tamping his pipe now and again with Mr. Grimes, the bookmaker.

Mr. Grimes complimented a night more experienced the previous night. He had, he said, dreamed that his meretricious-lav had come to life again, and in his dream, he had recruited her in several different places. He had awakened at 12 o'clock persons to him, and he now proclaimed loudly that he didn't see what such silly dreams were worth for.

The stranger coughed apologetically.

"I shouldn't say that all dreams were useless," he remarked. They often are true.

Mr. Grimes glared at him with a look of scorn.

As an example, he said, remembering the night of two old women of the street, standing by a wall, got far from here and talking of going back to the house and were anxious to hide the money they possessed before returning. They had two sixpences in a bag, and when they returned to the street, they found the place I had seen in my dream, and the money as well."

"That's asked Isaac with interest. If any of you gentlemen would mind telling this mug for me, said said the stranger. I wouldn't mind telling you of a dream I had last night that might be useful to me. I've no use for it personally, but it might be worth the price of a pint to some of you.

Isaac handed the mug to his pocket. He dreamed, said Mr. Grimes, with a bovine laugh, that he found a silly juggler to stand him a pint. And it came as true as true.

For a moment he hesitated, but curiosity overcame caution and he paid for the drink. The old man thanked him, and moistened his throat as a preparation for the story. I dreamed, he said impressively, that I was on a racecourse. I am pany broke up in high good humor. They would have been less cheerful had they seen the dreamer of dreams conversing in low tones with Mr. Grimes in a deserted side street a quarter of an hour later.

"Could you oblige me by making it five shillings?" asked the seer. "I'm rather in difficulties, and you cleared a good deal."

"You'll get four bob, as I promised, and no more," answered Mr. Grimes. "And if you'll take my advice, you'll keep clear of the Blue Pigeons for a bit. They'll just about kill you when they find that the Blonin horse isn't in it."

"I suppose it has no chance?" asked the stranger pathetically, thinking of the shilling that had been given him to invest.

Mr. Grimes chuckled.

"No more chance than you would have yourself," he answered heartily. "They wouldn't have Rightaway on a sausage-bean. It's the beer you've had as makes you think of such a thing. You go home and sleep it off."

With which piece of friendly advice he turned away.

Mr. Grimes' anticipations were so far justified that on the following night there was something of the nature of a riot in the bar of the Blue Pigeons. But it was an entirely good-humored one, and this he had not expected. The elderly stranger, supplied with as many pints as he cared to ask for, was the admitted centre of a circle scarcely less intoxicated than himself. Men laughed and shouted and clapped him on the back, and even kissed him. A stranger entering the bar asked Isaac the reason.

"Well, it's about 7 p.m. Is it with fearsome joy. "It's about the Derby." "What about the Derby?" asked the surprised seer after knowledge. "That ain't much to get lined about—a blooming outsider like that."

"Perhaps not, if you ain't backed 'em," returned Isaac, gleefully. "But every one of us here were on Vander old chap in the tall hat dreamed as if we were going to win. We got five pounds on it once and he did us good."

Well, if that don't tickle all I wanted the enlightened one feebly. "Who is he? Old Moore?" "Old Moore?" said the delighted Isaac, with immense scorn. "Ex-sorcery twenty Old Moore?" He jiggled the gold in his pocket and turned once more to the subject of his admiration.

Outside in the dim sunset, Mr. Grimes waited in the dark. He waited for the man of vision. There was no thought of justice in his heart, but merely a determination to "get his own back" one way or another. (Timing came, but not the old man; for the dreamer of dreams was borne upon an ambulance to the nearest police station. Speech had let him. But who shall say what wondrous things await on him in the hereinafter, sleep as he tossed restlessly on his sick bed.

Do You Get Bilious?

This trouble arises from impurity of the liver. Nothing acts so nicely as Dr. Hamilton's Bile. They set up the liver, and the system of bile, tone the stomach, give appetite and sound digestion, you feel fresher and feel better. Dr. Hamilton's Bile will help you at once—taken at night one or two will be morning. Don't be afraid of Dr. Hamilton's Bile, they are mild—don't gripe or nauseate. They "cure" "cure" that's all.

Be Useful

Do not be ashamed of doing the simplest thing that is helpful to others. The opportunities for great usefulness come rarely, but the smallest things are always at hand, and he who does them conscientiously is of great usefulness, and sometimes when the great opportunity comes it is only the one who has trained himself in the little things that have come before who is the master of the situation. Be kind be faithful, be true to all who have any claim on you. Do not miss a chance to do a favor to those who need help, and you cannot tell to become useful men and women and of such, the world has great need.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Canada's Greatest and Most Patriotic Statesman

The personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a factor that must be weighed by the project of politics in his forecast of the impending campaign.

As the great oak that stands unmoved while the storms bent to their will the small trees of the forest, so towers the prime minister of Canada dignified, impressive, with personal character unspotted, smaller men have stood beside the Liberal leader bending at times to the will of political followers as the smaller trees of the forest bow to the will or the winds. At times, the tongue of scandal and the finger of scorn have found their subjects close to the premier's side, whether with justice or with malice. Men have sat for a few years at the cabinet council and have disappeared from the scene as in the stress of weather the leaves flutter and fall from the giant oak of the forest, but the oak tree stands unmoved.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the man, serene, honest and eloquent, has impressed himself upon the imagination of his country. The fisherman who dries his nets on the wind-swept beaches of Nova Scotia, while the white-capped waves hurl themselves in vain against the shore, knows the name of the nation's premier as he does his children.

Across the prairies, where the thresher sings the song of gold to the settler, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name rests pleasantly upon the tongues of the people.

Builders of the vast enterprises of the Pacific Coast, with their armies of workmen, gaze from the far side of the continent at the man and behold in him the impersonation of integrity, while casting from their thoughts men whom they trust, but little and care for less.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a national figure and the prestige of his name is the greatest single asset with which the Liberal party faces the country today.

No journalist has ever watched the premier from the press gallery in the House of Commons but knows that Sir Wilfrid is able, sincere, and honorable in the fulfilment of his executive duties. Mistakes of the mind and not of the heart are the worst that can be laid at his door, and even such obstacles have not yet obstructed the ease and spirit of the head state man's work.

The head state man's spirit of the man was exemplified in the opening speech of the campaign at Sorel when he advocated an increase of the federal subsidies. In this he sees the removal of friction and an increase in the loyalty of the provinces to the confederation. The note of provincialism is silent; the tone of a greater Canada resonant.

On this historic occasion he pledged himself to the enlargement of the boundaries of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. Commercial interests seldom lead government organization, but nearly always enterprise reaches forth where jurisdiction is established. Again we see the characteristic Laurier—the heart of the larger outlook.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Sir Wilfrid admits to be the crowning achievement of his career. Only two or three men in Canada know that this great national building project originated in the brain of Canada's premier and the materialization of the railway he regards as his greatest work. He has watched it, nursed it, bent over the first blue prints and expressed his approval or disapproval. He has seen the gigantic project emerge hundreds of miles of track have been laid and hundreds more have been graded. He knows that his road is carrying part of the grain crop for 1906, but much has yet to be done. Sir Wilfrid wants to be prime minister of Canada when the steel band is linked from Halifax to Prince Rupert. He probably will be.

The government has been assailed, but Sir Wilfrid has been unassailable. And yet the administrative record of this government has been replete with such laws as the labor conciliation I may say in all under that I am act, the treaty with Japan, the extension of the postal service, one cent drop letter postage, the old age pension bill, the deepening of the St. Lawrence canals and the improvement of the St. Lawrence Channel. The administration has been blessed with prosperity; the revenues have grown and so has the population of the country. All this and more the prime minister pointed out at Sorel. He touched upon the advances in agriculture which had followed the extension of the work of that department and the cold storage improvements which had placed the markets of Europe at the doors of Canada.

It is a record that the country cannot overlook. Sir Wilfrid has disciplined his men with an iron hand in the past, and the country does not fear the consequences of the occasional incapacity in an understrength, the name of Laurier is the nation's heritage. The thought of a Canada without a Laurier, without a Laurier living is not within the bounds of the Liberal's imagination, for his personality is photographed on the imagination of every Liberal eye upon even the minds of his political opponents.

In the language of the street, you cannot flick Laurier. That sentiment spells victory for the Liberals in the coming elections.

They Will Never Kill me to Make you King," Says Premier to Borden

One of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's usual clever references to history was made during his Niagara speech. It was as follows:

"Charles II. was King of England, and he was not a very good man in some things, like myself—laughter—because, gentlemen, I read the daily press of the Conservative party, and I have read it every day for thirty years. I have read the Daily Mail every day, and I will be candid, and I suppose that it will be accounted to me for my sins some time or other. (Laughter.) When I read the Tory

Have You Stomach Trouble?

When you wake up with headache and had nausea in the mouth, something to settle the stomach is needed. That dull, heavy feeling must be lifted, and appetite must be created. Get a number of bottles of Nerve-tine, and then pour in a stiff dose of Nerve-tine. You'll feel top top in a few minutes. Nerve-tine invigorates, braces, tones, puts vim and snap into your movements. You'll be fitted for a hard day's work by taking Nerve-tine—nothing better. Large bottles 50c, everywhere.

The Woman to Marry

Is she not the very spark and sunshine of life—a woman who is happy because she cannot help it—whose smile even the coldest spirit of misanthropy cannot dampen. Men make a terrible mistake when they marry for beauty, or for talents, or for style. The sweetest wives are those who possess the magic secret of being contented under any circumstances. Rich or poor, high or low, it makes no difference; the bright little fountain of joy bubbles up just as musically in their hearts. Do not live in a box; let the fire on its humble hearth become brighter than the glistering chandelier in the Aladdin palace.

Where is the stream of life so dark and unprosperous that the sunshine of happy face falling on the turbid tide will not awaken an answering gleam?

TIME TO BUY CREAM
SEPARATORS
NOW

There never was a better time to buy the best of Cream Separators than right now. The advantages derived from the use of the good Cream Separator are greater in the fall and winter than at any other time—when the cows are old in lactation, the loss of butter-fat is otherwise greatest, and butter prices are highest. Likewise are the advantages of the superior DE LAVAL separators greatest over imitating separators when the milk is hard to separate and the weather cold and variable. In every case a DE LAVAL separator, of suitable size, will surely at least save its cost between now and July 1st next, and go on returning 100 per cent. per year on the investment for twenty years to come. The agricultural and particularly the dairying outlook was never brighter and more promising.

YOU NEED STRENGTH

Vitality is Lacking and You Must Have a Bracing Tonic At Once

You're sick, and need medicine. Not an emulsion to sicken the stomach, not a "dope" cure, and not a laxative—a nourishing tonic that will increase weight, strength and spirits.

Try Ferronze and watch the result. Because it gives constant effect and steadily builds up new flesh, it is used by thousands in ill-health.

No other medicine contains more nutriment, supplies better building material, makes you feel well and strong as quickly as it did Mrs. Charles Bennett of Clove, Ont.

HER STATEMENT

"I was sick, I was broken down, had no strength, couldn't eat, I was sleepless. My nerves were irritable, I was thin and continually unhappy. I tried Ferronze."

"It gave me new energy, force, vim. It brought me comfort, strength—it made me well."

It's by making the appetite good, by instilling iron and cod liver oil in the blood, by fortifying the system with reserve strength, that Ferronze accomplishes so much.

You'll have new life in a week, in a month you'll be like a new being. Try Ferronze. It always justifies itself. Six per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

Farmer's Wives

We often find farmers who lose no chance of securing machinery for saving labor on the farm, but who don't think anything about the machines that saves labor in the house. That is out of their province and they don't seem to care enough about it to give the matter any attention whatever. Such treatment is calculated to discourage the woman. It is the worst kind of selfishness. A woman's work on the farm is quite as hard as a man's if the man could only be made to realize it, but he won't in many cases. He consults his own interests and lets his wife get along the best way she can, forgetful that her interests are identical with his own, and should be so considered by him. Lighten the labors of the women all you can. Don't think it will encourage idleness to introduce articles of labor-saving machinery in the kitchen. It never has done so, and it never will. Back of the machine is the woman and the woman on the farm will always find enough to do.

57-62 The Critical Age

Height of vigor is past—nature's power slowing down—vitality ebbing away, endurance decreasing. Stop the process of decay, tone up the weakened nerve centres, impart vigor to the tiring body—prepare for the crisis. Best means of rebuilding is found in Ferronze. It brightens up the whole being, imparts power, strength, vigor. Old age is pushed back twenty years, the reliance of youth is restored, vigor, vim and new life established. You'll try Ferronze, etc. at all dealers.

Give Them Work

The best way to extend charity to persons who are in need is to give them work. Don't give any able bodied man a penny or a mouthful unless he works for it. By this the man retains his self-respect, and the profession of a tramp is not encouraged. If a man needs help and is able to work and you are tempted to give him something. Don't do it. But instead, give him work. Odd jobs can always be found, and set him at these. We do not advise refusing to relieve hunger, but we do advise that it be done in a manner that will not breed dependence to man. If everyone would do this all over the land, this country would soon cease to be the paradise of tramps that it has been.

A boy will forget in a moment when his mother rescued him from drowning, but he will remember all the days of his life the time his mother made him wait until company had eaten.

The reason why people succeed who mind their own business is because there is so little competition.

October 26, Election Day

Tories were turned out of office in 1896 proving incompetent to grasp the problems of governing Canada. They were also shamelessly corrupt. Liberals were placed in power and started Canada on her prosperous journey. The people approved of what was done in 1900, 1914, and will do so again in 1918.

The Tories who preach purity and practice corruption have no explanation to put for the Deane House which was Colchester, N. S.

A Toronto Paper on Political Purity

It is worth while noting, said the Toronto Globe in a recent editorial, that leaders of the two great political parties in Canada have condemned political corruption in very definite terms. And they have both condemned it when chargeable to their political friends as well as when proved against their political opponents. Both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. R. L. Borden are too experienced in politics to have many illusions left as to the depravity of human nature, especially in relation to political conduct; and while each in his own way openly condemns political wrong-doing in general, and as proved against his opponents in particular, both agree in this experience that the heaviest burden a leader has to carry is the political sin of his own party. They may not say much on the open platform, but in their hearts the fire burns strongest, and on occasion there words are sternest when the shame of it comes home to their own ranks.

The day may come in the revolution of Canadian politics when the cardinal sin in the party's calendar will be treason to the party's ideal and infidelity to the leader's trust. That day is brought nearer every time an offender is made to suffer, not by exposure and condemnation from his opponents, but by rebuke and repudiation from his friends. When that day comes it will be easier for self-respecting and public spirited men to give themselves to the advocacy of their party's causes on the platform and in the press without regret or reserve. But the situation to-day is very hopelessly better than that of a generation or two ago, and among the causes making for betterment is the growing indisposition on the part of leading public men and public journals to defend the wrongdoing of their political friends. The time has already come when the honor of neither political party should be compromised or the prestige of their leader damaged either by the mistaken zeal of campaign workers or by the incapacity or malfeasance of responsible officials. Party politics aside it is a matter of gratitude on the part of all right thinking Canadians that the two political leaders are men of unshakable personal integrity and high ideals of public service.

Drive Rheumatism out of the blood with Dr. Sloop's Rheumatic Remedy and how quickly pain will depart. Rheumatism never did reach the disease. Rheumatism went in the veins. It's deep down—a constitutional. Getting rid of the pain, is after all what counts. That is why Dr. Sloop's Rheumatic Remedy goes by word of mouth from one to another. And herein lies the popularity of this remedy. It is winning defenders everywhere. Tablets or liquid. Sold by All Dealers.

"No doubt," says the Manitoba Free Press. "The Liberals will bear with cheerful magnanimity of R. L. Borden swinging around the circle with his galaxy of Provincial Premiers—McFried, Roblin, Whitney, Hazen—in that he they really wonder why it is that right the provincial cabinet ministers to break the Dominion politics and all wrong for Dominion Cabinet Ministers to take an interest in the politics of their own province. It was an affront to decency, for instance, for Mr. Pugsley to take a box in the New Brunswick elections last week, while Mr. Hazen's participation in the Dominion Ball, was a little more in line."

Fire Destroys Gregory Mill

J. A. Gregory's splendid saw mill at Lepreaux was totally destroyed by fire Sunday at noon together with about a half a million feet of lumber.
 Just how the fire originated is a mystery. It was discovered by the watchman on his way back from dinner. He saw smoke issuing from the roof and immediately gave the alarm.
 All the mill hands quickly responded and buckets were at once brought into use and attempts made to extinguish the blaze with buckets of water, but it had gained too much headway, and in a short time the mill was a mass of flames.
 Efforts were then directed toward saving the lumber in the yard. The men succeeded in saving a large quantity but about half a million feet was devoured by the flames. Two carloads of lumber on a siding was also destroyed.
 Mr. Gregory was in the woods when the fire started and word was at once sent to him. He came out immediately. His fine new rotary mill escaped without injury.
 The mill was insured for $20,000. Of this amount the Commercial Union carries $5,000 and the balance is divided among the Norwich Union, Sun, Liverpool, London and Globe and Western.
 The lumber was insured for $5,000. It is divided among the Commercial Union, Western and Norwich Union.
 The insurance on the mill will not cover the loss.

Why Publishers are Always Rich

It has always been a great mystery to people who don't understand the newspaper business how the publishers always get rich quick—if not quick—sure.
 We'll explain how that is just for the enlightenment of our many readers. In the first place, a child is born in this city. The attending physician gets $25, the editor gives the youngster and its proud parents' a send-off in the paper for which the editor gets $9. It is christened. The minister gets $10, the editor gets his $9. It grows up and marries; the editor publishes a long-winded flowery article, and tells a dozen lies about the blushing bride; the minister gets $10 and a piece of cake and the editor gets $200.
 In the course of time the once child dies. The doctor gets from $25 to $100 anyhow, the editor publishes a death notice and an obituary two columns long, lodge and society resolutions by the bushel, a lot of poetry and a free card of thanks and gets $200. Add them up, you who read, and see all the editor gets out of that one baby from the time of its birth till its death, and then wonder why editors are always rich. Add up the number of births and deaths and judge for yourself what our income is—Exchange.

Charlottetown Guardian (Independent)—The Dominion Government did a very proper thing in allotting lands to the Canadian Veterans who served in the South African. The pay they received during the campaign was of itself very scant compensation for the toll and privation, the dangers and difficulties they were called to endure, and for their loyal devotion to flag and country. The public lands of Canada could not be more properly devoted than in recognition for such services. It is a fitting reward and a valuable one as well. And it has been nobly earned. It would be doubly fitting that the men on whom it is bestowed should now fulfil the easy homestead conditions, enter upon their possession and in due time transmit it as an honorable legacy to their children. But a new danger besets the unwary veteran in the speculator and the land shark, who would buy up his valuable claim for a mere song. Some have already sold their claim for a mere pittance compared with its real worth. The object of this writing is to warn others not to be entrapped in like fashion. These lands are valuable, and the value will increase from year to year. The acre is one of land hunger, and the Canadian West is properly called the Last West. There are no new fields, no arable lands beyond or elsewhere, to which intending settlers can turn. The veterans who therefore do well to hold with a firm grip the lands allotted them which are very valuable now and will be more valuable a very few years hence.
