FARMERS AND DAIRYMEN ARE IN CONVENTION IN FREDERICTON

Splendidly Practical Addresses Marked Opening Last Evening.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S TIME

Every Speech at Farmers and Dairymen's Convention Bristled with Suggestions as to Our Growing Opportunities and How to Embrace Them.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, Mar. 18.—The 36th annual meeting of the New Brunswick Farmers' and Dairymen's Association was opened this evening at the city council chamber at the city hall. There was a representative attendance made up of delegates from the various agricultural societies from different sections of the province.

Col. H. Montgomery Campbell opened the meeting with his annual address as president. Gentlemen of the Farmers' and Dairymen's Association: "I am glad to see such a large attendance of delegates. It proves that the farmers of the province are awake to their advantages, and recognize that to keep abreast of the times they must adopt the newest methods to meet the demands of the market which is at our doors."

"It is estimated that in the immediate future $20,000,000 will be expended in the construction of the Valley Railroad and the St. John docks. A very large percentage of this money necessarily find its way into the pockets of those who provide the means of subsistence for the army of workers who will be employed in these great undertakings; and the question is, will you farmers of this province take your share of this money by meeting their requirements?"

"Very few people realize how much is now imported into this province that could be grown by ourselves. Even now, for instance, in our own markets, we find New Zealand butter competing with the home product."

"In the dairying districts the breeding and care of cattle is as well understood and carried out as in any part of Canada; but in the growing of crops the farmer is far behind his requirements and very few grow enough crops and roots to feed the cattle from October till the middle of May, and they are therefore obliged to buy so much middlings and mill-feed at $2 a ton that there is very little profit, even when they receive 33 cents per lb. for their butter."

"To make this meeting more instructive the department of agriculture has brought horses and cattle of different breeds and a course of instruction will be given in the exhibition buildings during the morning and afternoons of this week. The most competent instructors have been engaged to lecture and impart information, which cannot fail to benefit us in our endeavors to improve the condition of agriculture in this province."

"Useful and instructive, as this course will be, however, it does not go nearly far enough, and I think the time has come when the government should establish a chair of agriculture at the University of New Brunswick. If this were done I am satisfied that our farmers would appreciate it."

1500 DEAD IN STREETS OF CANTON

Conditions There are Calmer Now But Renewal of Outbreak is Threatened at Any Time.

Hong Kong, Mar. 18.—Latest advices from Swatow which has been the scene of serious fighting during the past week, say that the German consulate has been burned. Two gunboats have arrived here.

More than 1500 persons have been killed at Canton and while conditions are calmer there, the outbreak is expected to be renewed at any time. Gov. Chen insists upon resigning, but there seems to be no way for him to escape from office at the present time. The bandit chief, Luk, addressing a meeting of merchants, said that if the people's army failed to secure victory over the government, it would shell Sha-Moen, the foreign quarter, in order to bring about foreign intervention.

WANT I. C. R. TO TAKE OVER ALBERT ROAD

Moncton Board of Trade Joins in Request for Dominion and Provincial Aid for New Steel Bridge.

Special to The Standard. Moncton, Mar. 18.—The board of trade at a largely attended meeting this evening decided to join the city council and the Westmorland and Albert municipal councils in memorializing the Dominion and provincial governments to erect a combined steel and railway bridge across the Petitcodiac river here.

The situation now is that the wooden highway bridge erected many years ago, is costing a large sum each year for maintenance and is liable to be carried out altogether by an unusually high tide or a heavy run of ice. Good judges say that it cannot last much longer, and the provincial government would scarcely erect another wooden bridge here.

Then the disaster to the Albert Railway bridge at Salisbury has brought the people of Albert face to face with another crisis. The company, it is almost certain, will not rebuild the bridge thus cutting off freight traffic with the interlocking while the Albert road would scarcely operate for passenger and mail business with the expense of a transfer by teams for a distance of two miles or more. Virtually the Albert Railway will be out of business unless the Dominion takes it over, and then the question of getting a profitable traffic becomes of the first importance.

This, it is felt, can only be done by abandoning the line to Salisbury, and diverting it from a point near Baltimore to Moncton. This would naturally require the erection of a costly bridge here, and it is felt that the provincial government would join that would accommodate both the railway and the important highway traffic.

At tonight's meeting of the Board of Trade W. F. Humphrey, A. C. Chapman, ex-Mayor Reilly, M. Lodge and R. W. Hewson were appointed a committee to prepare a memorial to the two governments. It is felt that with the development of the oil wells and shale works and the larger traffic both in freight and passengers that would naturally come to Moncton, the Albert road would become a paying proposition and an important feeder for the I. C. R. The Board discussed the single tax question and decided that it would be necessary to have a public discussion before the legislature should be asked to pass legislation of that kind.

MONK MOVES TO INCREASE SIZE OF DRY DOCKS

Minister of Public Works in Favor of Bonus to Docks Costing $5,500,000 Instead of $4,000,000.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, March 18.—Hon. F. D. Monk has given notice of the following resolution upon which will be passed a bill amending the Drydock Subsidies Act:

"That it is expedient to amend the Drydock Subsidies Act 1910, and to provide:

(A)—For the construction of drydocks for naval and general purposes, costing for the purposes of subsidy calculations not more than $5,500,000 being drydocks other than floating drydocks of dimensions to be prescribed in a bill to be based upon this resolution and

(B)—That the subsidy payable in respect of such drydocks shall be a sum not exceeding three and one-half per cent. of the cost of the work as fixed and determined under the provisions of the Drydock Subsidy Act, 1910."

The act at present makes $4,000,000 the limit.

GLEARS EMPLOYEE, BLAMES COMPANY

Ottawa, Mar. 18.—The jury conducting the inquest on the victims of the fatal wreck on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Hull on March 31st, returned a verdict which practically exonerates Harvey Bond, the Canadian Pacific Railway's telegrapher, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, and placing the blame for the collision on the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

GOVERNMENT TO HELP WEST MOVE CROPS

Will Require Banks to Extend Time for Issuing Extra Circulation to Move the Wheat Crops.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, March 18.—The Standard understands that an important provision with reference to the increased circulation of banks will be contained in the bill to be introduced by the Minister of Finance extending the bank charters for a year. The formal extension of the charters from July when they would otherwise expire, is rendered necessary by the decision of the government to further postpone the revision of the bank act.

Under the present law the banks are permitted during the crop moving period to issue additional note circulation up to fifteen per cent. of the combined capital and reserve as shown in the last monthly statement preceding the extra issue. The period is fixed as beginning October first and ending on January 31. This period will be enlarged by two months the months of September and February being included in the period. The change is required by reason of the great increase in the demand for emergency circulation in the crop moving period, experience showing that there is as great a demand in September as in October. The increase is of course in the interests of the public rather than of the banks and the banks will pay five per cent. on the extra issue for the larger period as they are now required to do during the smaller period.

SEES BRIGHT TIMES AHEAD FOR IRELAND

John Redmond Predicts Home Rule in Two Years—Ireland Will Then Promote Imperial Security.

London, Mar. 18.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, presiding tonight at a St. Patrick banquet at the Hotel Cecil, said that the home rule bill would pass the House of Commons by more than 100 majority, and inside of two years would become law. Ireland, then, he declared, was destined to become the greatest human agency in promoting the security and power of the British Empire.

Mr. Redmond's bill for the aid and encouragement of agriculture was read a second time and taken up in committee. Mr. Pugsley pressed for a clause stipulating that the grants in aid should be apportioned on a population basis. Mr. Burrell and Mr. Lennox objected to the laying down of any hard and fast rule. Some regard should be had to the action of the governments of the provinces. The minister should have some discretion.

Mr. Pugsley's amendment was declared lost and the bill was reported.

The Naval Estimates. The House took up the naval estimates. The first vote was $1,660,000 for navy night airships. Mr. Hasen explained that the estimates had been drawn up on the basis of carrying on the present establishment in full working order without taking up new works. The Nile, Rainbow, naval college and other establishments would be kept up. Pending a declaration of policy which would not be determined until full opportunity had been given for consultation with the admiralty, it seems better to maintain the existing ships and establishments on a proper basis without building ships or adding to the equipments.

Mr. Lemieux attacked the French ministerialists. The Liberal party, he declared, had fought in Quebec the battle of taking part in imperial naval defence. It had won that battle, having carried a majority of the constituencies of the province. The Conservative government could go forward with a naval policy, the battle had been won for them. Liberals would support a sane imperial defence policy.

Mr. Pelletier repelled Mr. Lemieux's attack, and there ensued an exceedingly sharp passage at arms in which Mr. Lemieux called Mr. Pelletier a traitor, and said that he had "more brass than the Nile," while the Post Master General described his opponent as throwing mud, and dared him to make some of his accusations against the French Conservatives outside the protection of the House.

Mr. Pelletier finally produced a letter written by Mr. Lemieux in 1903 to Mr. Bourassa denouncing as absolutely false the principle that the colonies should contribute to the defence of the Empire.

Canada's Policy. After 8 o'clock the debate took another course. Mr. Pugsley gave a long explanation of the course of the government with regard to the proposed navy and asked for a statement of the government policy. What would the government say to the admiralty when it went to consult them?

THE EMPIRE NAVAL PLAN

Hon. Mr. Hazen Elucidates Canadian Naval Policy.

FULL PARTICIPATION.

Canada Will Help in Defence of the Whole Empire—Hon. Mr. Pelletier Exposes Lemieux's Duplicity.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Mar. 18.—The House began its morning sitting this morning. Mr. Lemieux brought up on the orders of the day, the case of the light keeper on Bird's Neck, in the lower St. Lawrence. This unfortunate young man was drowned the other day; his body has been recovered and is at the lighthouse; his father had written to ask Mr. Lemieux if a government vessel could not be sent to convey the remains of the Magdalen Islands. Affecting features of the case mentioned by Mr. Lemieux were that this is the third lightkeeper at this place to meet death by drowning or other misadventure, and that the dead man's mother and wife are in the light-house keeping vigil over his body.

Mr. Hazen made an exceedingly sympathetic reply. A telegram to the same effect, he said, had come into the department from the agent at Quebec on Friday night or Saturday morning, and he had given instructions that the steamer should be sent if practicable. No doubt the matter had already been attended to. The case was an extremely sad one, he said. He had not known that other accidents had occurred, and if they proved to be the case he would cause inquiry to be made to see if the risks could be lessened.

During question time Mr. Foster inquired about the agent at Quebec in connection with the Canada-France steamer service contract with the Allana had been renewed for five years.

Mr. Borden's resolutions, adding language to question time of Keweenaw in Ontario, were taken up. Mr. Lemieux asked if the islands were to go to Quebec.

Mr. Borden answered in the negative. It had been decided not to hand over the islands over to Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. There was a difficulty about the description and the Dominion might cede these islands for navigation purposes.

Mr. Hazen's bill to amend the fisheries act was taken up. The government endeavored to encourage the oyster industry by leasing portions of the shore to individuals who will put the industry on a scientific basis was given a second reading.

Mr. Borden's bill for the aid and encouragement of agriculture was read a second time and taken up in committee. Mr. Pugsley pressed for a clause stipulating that the grants in aid should be apportioned on a population basis. Mr. Burrell and Mr. Lennox objected to the laying down of any hard and fast rule. PERMANENT INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

Minister of Labor Considering Wisdom of Permanent Body to Support Plan of Conciliation Boards.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Mar. 18.—The appointment of a permanent industrial commission is being considered by the minister of labor, Hon. T. W. Crothers, and it is quite possible that legislation to give effect to it will be brought down next session. The functions of the body would be the adjustment of disputes between labor and capital and it would replace the conciliation boards now appointed from time to time under the industrial disputes act. Of the latter, a new one is created for each dispute. It is felt by the minister that a permanent commission, exercising wide powers and making its inquiry in open court would command a greater respect for its awards than is now possible under the present system.

From information which has reached the department of labor it seems improbable that any board of conciliation will be applied for in the case of the Grand Trunk conductors. When the new wage schedule went into effect, a clause was inserted whereby the company reserved the right to make changes in 30 days' notice. The reduction concerning the wages of conductors of branch lines is apparently brought about through the company exercising, much sooner than ever was expected the right reserved as stated. In view of the circumstances the utility of any conciliation board is very questionable.

THIRTY-TWO MEN BLOWN TO ATOMS

Terrible Explosion in Southern Pacific Shops in San Antonio, Texas—Bodies of Victims Strewn in Streets.

San Antonio, Tex., Mar. 18.—At least 32 men were killed and parts of their bodies strewn in four blocks around when a passenger engine in the Southern Pacific shops blew up here this morning. The engine stood in a square formed by the copper house, blacksmith shop and round house all of which were wrecked. A portion of the locomotive crashed into a house several blocks away and seriously hurt a woman. Twenty of the bodies have been identified, but what is believed to be twelve more is little more than a tangled mass of fragments of human flesh and bones that probably never will be separated into the dozen humans it represented. The fragments were found jammed into crevices about the buildings wrecked in the street and entangled in machinery of the shops.

The shops to a great extent have been for several weeks manned by strike breakers imported when shopmen of the Harriman lines went out. It is believed most of the killed are from North and East. It is believed the explosion was caused by carelessness of some one of the men killed in allowing cold water into the hot boiler of the locomotive. The engine was No. 704 and was practically new. It was in the shops for inspection. It was of the large mogul type. Besides the 32 believed to have been killed fifty persons were injured. These for the most part were in remote sections of the buildings wrecked, for those close to the engine or in the main parts of the buildings, either were killed outright by the explosion or crushed by falling material when the buildings crumbled. The monetary loss will be about $200,000.

NOVEL SCHEME FOR LICENSE REDUCTION IN CITY OF QUEBEC

Quebec, Mar. 18.—A delegation of members of the Anti-alcoholic League of Quebec waited today on Premier Gouin requesting that the number of hotel licenses be reduced from a hundred to fifty, and suggesting that the remaining fifty pay an indemnity to the ones who will be refused the renewal of their licenses. The government is considering this request.

FRESHETS DO ENOUGH DAMAGE TO BRIDGES

Spring Tides in Kennebecasis Very Disastrous This Year—Five Bridges Swept Away and Others Moved.

Special to The Standard. Apohaqui, March 18.—The spring freshet on the Kennebecasis river this year has exceeded all expectations and is the largest since the year 1894 with the exception of the winter thaw of January 7th, 1909. So far considerable damage has been done by the water to private properties and five of the public bridges have been entirely swept away while another has been moved several inches off its abutments. The river is steadily rising and bids fair to exceed all its previous efforts.

The bridges that have been swept away are as follows: The Colwell bridge in the parish of Norton, the Albert Halt bridge over the Kennebecasis in the parish of Cardwell, the Malone bridge over Smith's creek in the parish of Studholm, the Stock farm bridge on the old post road in the parish of Robbsey and the Titusville bridge over the Salt Springs, while the Parlee steel bridge was moved several inches and will require a tremendous amount of labor to put it back in place.

COAL STRIKE SITUATION IS MORE BRIGHT

British Prime Minister Announces that Minimum Wage Bill Will Become Law By End of This Week.

London, Mar. 18.—The prime minister announced in the House of Commons today that the government would endeavor to pass a minimum wage bill into law by the end of the week. It was learned tonight on good authority that the bill will be a short measure, leaving to district committees the settlement not only of the amount of the minimum wage, but also the question of the employees' safeguards. No provision will be made for compulsory power to enforce the minimum or penalties on either the employers or the men for the breaking of a contract.

The labor party tonight adopted a resolution not to oppose the bill, and the nationalist whip issued an urgent request for the attendance of the Redmondites to support the bill.

Pending the production of the bill, there is little to record in the strike situation. The price of coal had a smart advance on the London market today. There is constantly accumulating evidence that the dwindling coal reserves will soon bring to a halt many public and private services unless a settlement is reached.

Some minor disorders have occurred in Lanarkshire and Lancashire and at Middleboro the dockers refused today to unload a cargo of German coal. But taken all together, the strike presents a remarkable absence of disorder.

No Fear of Trouble. Scranton, March 18.—Two statements made here today tend to relieve considerably the local apprehension of a coal strike.

John T. Dempsey, president of District No. 1 of the United Mine Workers, said: "We are willing and anxious to meet the operators to discuss this matter of wage agreement just as any two parties having something to buy and sell would get together and strike a bargain."

E. E. Loomis, of New York, vice-president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company and president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company, spoke as follows: "There is no reason why both sides should not meet again. I do not believe the mine workers want a strike. I know the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is not planning for a strike. I am very hopeful of a strike being avoided."

It was also announced today unofficially that the miners are prepared to meet the operators half way, if the operators come forward with anything like a tangible proposition carrying concessions.

The opinion is strong here that only an intermediary is necessary to bring the operators' committee of ten and the mine workers' committee together again before the policy meeting of the miners which is scheduled for March 25, in Cleveland.

Mr. MacLachlan of Northumberland seconded the resolution in a speech along the same lines pursued by Mr. Hatheway. Hon. Mr. Fleming, Hon. Mr. Maxwell, Mr. Copp and Mr. Beutley spoke favorably of the premises advanced by Mr. Hatheway and the resolution passed unanimously.

The second reading of the Valley Railway bill was taken up and several sections passed. The discussion was not of a particularly interesting nature but mainly along lines already disposed of.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer introduced an amendment to the workmen's compensation act increasing the payment to an injured operative from 50 to 70 per cent. of his earnings and increasing the total compensation from $1500 to $2000. Granite workers and stone cutters are added to those entitled to compensation.

One of the most important documents submitted during the session, along the same lines presented at the close of the fiscal year to the opening of the legislature was laid upon the table by Hon. Mr. McLeod. The total receipts on account of ordinary revenue were $422,976,000, and the expenditure $459,020,000. For the first time the increased subsidy from the Dominion resulting from the census, appears. The sum for the half year due on 1st July, 1911, but not paid until after the close of the fiscal year, amounts to $50,020,000. The province will therefore, receive annually for the next ten years nearly $17,000 more than in the past. Collections from territorial revenue amount to $35,097,87 which is a large contribution from the old government received in 1907. The principal expenditures were for education, $111,719. Interest $119,110, public works, $195,858. All of the items of expenditure under the control of the government present a very favorable showing so far as expenditure is concerned and set at rest the statement that large expenditures made before the close of the fiscal year are withheld by the government in order that the accounts at the close of the year may make a favorable showing.

The municipalities committee will take up the new charter for St. John tomorrow and a large committee from the citizens committee responsible for this legislation, arrived at Fredericton tonight and others are expected in the morning. A delegation from the board of health which it is proposed to take under the wing of the new commission, is here in opposition to that section of the bill. The only indication of any other opposition of a serious character, was the presentation today by Mr. Maxwell, of a petition asking for an amendment to the bill to fix the rates on the Carleton ferry at the figures existing since the union of St. John and Portland.

There was no session of the House tonight and the majority of the members were to be found in the hotel lobbies greeting the delegates to the Farmers' and Dairymen's Association which will be in session here for the remainder of the week.

Gov. Wood and Mrs. Wood who went to Sackville on Friday, returned this evening.

Mr. Hatheway Gets An Important Resolution Through House

SCHOOL SYSTEM WRONG? In Urging His Resolution Member for St. John Says New Brunswick Educational System is Less Practical Than It Should Be.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, Mar. 18.—The session of the House of Assembly today was chiefly taken up in the consideration of Mr. Hatheway's resolution on technical education, notice of which was given last week. The resolution is a very lengthy one dealing particularly with the necessity of better instruction in agriculture and mechanics. Its main proposal is that the government of Canada set aside the sum of $4,000,000 annually to be expended by the provinces in giving technical instruction to the youths of the country in the subjects mentioned.

Mr. Hatheway's speech in support of his resolution somewhat reflected on the public school system of the province, which does not meet present day requirements, the advances made by Germany in technical education and its beneficial results on the industrial growth of the country and the success which has attended the efforts of the Danish government to bring about an improvement in agriculture in that country as well as the progress of technical education in Australia and New Zealand, were used as the illustrations of the benefits that would accrue to Canada by pursuing similar policies. He also referred to the progress now being made in technical education in the United States and expressed the fear that this country would fall behind unless similar action was taken.

Mr. MacLachlan of Northumberland seconded the resolution in a speech along the same lines pursued by Mr. Hatheway. Hon. Mr. Fleming, Hon. Mr. Maxwell, Mr. Copp and Mr. Beutley spoke favorably of the premises advanced by Mr. Hatheway and the resolution passed unanimously.

St. John Ferry Rates. The House met at 3 o'clock. Hon. Mr. Maxwell presented a petition with several thousand signatures asking that the bill to provide for the government of the city of St. John be amended as to the rates on the St. John ferries at the figures existing since the union of the city of St. John with the town of Portland up to a short time ago.

Technical Education. Mr. Hatheway then moved the following resolution: Whereas the increase of the material wealth of Canada depends almost entirely on: 1. The skill and science with which the farmer cultivates the land and produces his crops.

Skilled Labor Needed. Mr. Hatheway said that the time had come for this province and other provinces of the Dominion to take steps towards providing agricultural education and technical education. Dr. Robertson in an address in this chamber several years ago had pointed out the necessity of increased agricultural and technical education in Canada.

Mr. Hazen added, had been unpopular all over Canada. The debate continued for some time, Mr. Borden speaking effectively. The House was speaking the estimates were passed, the House adjourning at 12:50 a. m.

past three years had afforded a great measure of protection for the workmen. The records did not show that the people of New Brunswick were well educated either. In Ontario there were 23,000 people who could not write, while in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia with a combined population of 790,000 people there were 23,000 or less who could not write.

A Change in System Needed. He felt therefore that it was not irreverent to ask for a change in our educational system which is not in favor of the farmer and mechanic, but rather for the professional classes.

Mr. Wood agreed that education was needed to implement the resolution. The farmers of the province are today recognizing as never before the value and need of scientific training and education along the lines of their business.

William Hawtrey in "Dear Old Billy" Famous English Actor Coming to Opera House Thursday in Rollicking Farce.

No inconsiderable degree of interest is being shown in the coming of the distinguished English actor, Mr. William Hawtrey, and his company of London players to the Opera House on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in a three-act farce, by a well known English author, W. H. Rouse.

The Chicago critics speak in terms of the highest praise of this comedy and refer to it as being one of the funniest seen in years in that city, from which it comes after a run of one hundred nights.

The company assembled by Mr. Delamater in support of Mr. Hawtrey is a particularly well-balanced one, composing such players as E. H. Kelly, Harry Peddling, Benjamin Fairfax, George Stuart, Christie, Harry Lonsdale, Miss Jane Burby, Miss Cassie Jamieson, Miss Ruth Tomlinson, Miss Laura Clement and Miss Mary Morrell.

FROM BEHIND THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR.

Our Guardians of the North.

"All money in despatch bag, and bank, clothes, etc., I leave to my dearly beloved mother, Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Halifax. God bless all."

"F. J. FITZGERALD, R. N. W. M. P."

It is a unique occurrence for a last will and testament to be read in Parliament and for the House to unite in paying tribute to the testator's memory. The occasion arose last Friday. The House laid aside party strife and politics for a while to do honor to the men of the Northwest Mounted Police who, in the discharge of their duty, perished from exposure a year ago in the far North on the Dawson and Macpherson patrol. The will of Inspector Fitzgerald, written with a piece of burnt wood but a few hours before his death, and eloquent in its simplicity and pathos, was read by the Prime Minister in the course of his speech. Canadians will welcome Mr. Borden's statement that he feels very earnestly the desirability of making some recognition to the bereaved families of the men who died in the service and that the matter will receive the attention of the Government before the end of this session.

The incidents of this disaster, the first serious accident in this annual patrol, are too well known to need recalling in much detail. On December 21, 1910, Inspector Fitzgerald, Constable Taylor, Constable Kenny and Special Constable Carter left Fort Macpherson with the mail for the Mackenzie River. Not one of the four was seen alive again. Losing the trail they travelled 264 miles from Macpherson and died in attempting to fight their way back. On March 21 and 22 their bodies were recovered some 30 miles from Macpherson frozen to death. Lack of a competent guide and an insufficient supply of provisions were the causes assigned for the disaster. Inspector Fitzgerald's will leaving all of which he died possessed to his mother was found in his pocket.

The subject was brought to the attention of the House by Mr. A. K. Maclean, junior member for Halifax. After reviewing the circumstances he suggested the desirability of voting an annuity to the mother and sisters of Inspector Fitzgerald and to the relatives of his companions in death. He made the suggestion, he said, because the Prime Minister representing Halifax County with himself, and which was the home of Inspector Fitzgerald, while in full sympathy with the proposal might feel reluctant on that account to establish a precedent.

Mr. Thompson, member for the Yukon, endorsed the suggestion. "It would be a most fitting thing," he said, "for this Parliament to recognize the services rendered to Canada and the Empire by Inspector Fitzgerald, who 'laid down his life in those Northern wilds in the discharge of what he considered to be his simple duty.' He mentioned that the inspector carried despatches from the police post on the Arctic Ocean and custom revenues for the Government.

A tribute to the sterling merits of the Northwest Mounted Police came from Sir Wilfrid. He foresaw the day when the police posts would have to be extended further North. With regard to the tragedy, while the suggestion was, perhaps, a little irregular, he would be very glad, he said, to see recognition given to the bereaved families. Such an occurrence was not likely to happen anywhere else.

It is one of the great virtues of Parliament that men of all ranks and professions assemble together. The next speaker was an old member of the Northwest Mounted Police, Mr. White of Victoria, Alberta, and a personal friend of the late Inspector Fitzgerald. Mr. White had much to urge regarding the need of increased pay and better recognition for the men who guard the Northern frontiers of the country. He suggested that the Government might well give the mother of such a man as Inspector Fitzgerald the pension that he earned for the 20 years he served, as a bounty as long as she might live, and that the other relatives should also be given consideration.

Mr. Borden in reply said the Northwest Mounted Police would always receive fair play and a square deal as far as he was able to give it to them. The Government had by order in council increased their pay recently to the extent of 25 per cent. He agreed with the Leader of the Opposition that the posts would, probably, have to be extended further North and foreshadowed a possible increase in the force to meet the changing conditions.

Coming to the subject of Mr. Maclean's suggestion, Mr. Borden reviewed the work of the patrol and placed on record the names, ages and length of service of the men who lost their lives in the country's service. After reading the will to the House he said: "Inspector Fitzgerald bore his part in that journey to the grave in a way that will inspire the respect and admiration of every man in Canada. I feel especially proud because 'he was born and brought up in the constituency which 'my hon. friend and myself have the honor to represent 'in this House.' Mr. Borden closed with the assurance that he fully realized the desirability of recognizing the claims of the families bereaved and that the Government would give the matter attention before the close of this session.

The Royal Northwest Mounted Police were organized in 1874 and by their bravery and resource have earned a world-wide reputation. It is fitting that the Government should take cognizance of this lamentable disaster. It is no new thing for the country to be stirred by some deed of heroism in which members of the Mounted Police were successfully engaged. In the record of the death of Inspector Fitzgerald and his companions lies the secret of this success—an unwavering obedience to the rule which governs the force—at the call of duty there is no option.

THE BUDGET.

The country has every reason to be satisfied with the record of prosperity and development made public in the budget speech of the Finance Minister last week. In revenue, in trade, in growth of population, in all the outward evidence which indicates that a country is going ahead by leaps and bounds, Mr. White was able to show that the Dominion today occupies a position never previously attained. It was no light task for a man new to parliamentary experience to deliver a budget speech five months after taking office. Mr. White gave evidence of a careful study of the situation and of a thorough knowledge of his subject. The facts and figures he presented were set forth as succinctly as if he had been addressing a business corporation. He was privileged to present a statement of the Dominion's financial affairs which was the best ever submitted to the Canadian Parliament.

With a revenue estimated at $138,000,000 for the year which ends on March 31, a new record has been established. With an expenditure of $97,000,000, there is a surplus of consolidated fund revenue over consolidated fund expenditure of no less than $39,000,000, the greatest surplus the country has ever known. With this surplus, as the Minister pointed out, not only will the capital expenditure of the year be provided for, but there will also be five millions available for the partial payment of the obligation of ten millions for implementing the Grand Trunk Pacific bonds, an entirely unexpected expenditure, and more than a million to spare towards the reduction of the National debt.

In view of the legislation of this session to create a Tariff Commission, Mr. White announced that there would be no changes in the tariff. The Government will await the report of the Commission in order that this question of customs duties may be considered in the light of the evidence and data which will then be available. For the same reason the much debated question of the bounties on iron and steel is left in abeyance. The wisdom of this decision will be generally recognized. The Finance Minister stated that there had, of course, been many requests for changes in the tariff and much could doubtless be said in favor of legislation with regard to certain articles and commodities either by way of reduction or increase of tariff rates, but in the opinion of the Government there was no case of such urgency that could not without hardship await the consideration of the Commission.

Optimism was the prevailing note in Mr. White's speech. He made it clear that while public expenditure must keep pace with the development of the country, its steadily growing trade and commerce make certain a large increase of revenue every year. The value of the National policy has once more been vindicated. It is questionable if any country in the world can display a budget so satisfactory in all respects as that submitted this year to the people of Canada.

A RELIGIOUS PARTY.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

The determination of Manitoba Roman Catholics to launch a new political party devoted to the interests of the church in national affairs is a step to be regretted and one which, it is hoped, will be reconsidered before being definitely decided upon. In a country such as Canada and in a country at such a particular stage of development as the Dominion at present finds itself, there is not and cannot be any place for a political party devoted to the interests of any one religious belief. The fact that proposed new organization is a Roman Catholic movement is not material in the discussion. The same objections apply to all religious organizations designed to influence political parties.

Some twenty years ago the Equal Rights movement developed in Ontario and for several years was productive of much bitterness and angry sentiments between Catholics and Protestants. It was a political development with a generous admixture of bigotry and all its accompanying meannesses. As a political movement it was a failure, but as a means of stirring up religious strife, it was an unfortunate success. Time, however, has charmed away much of the bitterness and Canadians in this part of the Dominion count the Equal Rights agitation as one of the experiences which in a new and vigorous development are inevitable, and somewhat in the nature of growing pains.

But we are past the growing pain stage, or we should be. Of course, it is too much to expect that religious bitterness, engendered too often by badly informed controversialists, will become a thing of the past in Canada. It survives and as long as humanity is cast in its present mould will continue to the end of time. But it is a reactionary development to organize religious differences, to consolidate the individual prejudices of a section of the community against the remainder. It is our own business if we disagree individually with our neighbors in religion or politics or concerning the merits of race horses, but it is a matter of public concern if we organize for the purpose of forcing our particular theological or even medical beliefs of how things ought to be done upon the rest of the community.

It is significant, however, in the present instance that the Roman Catholic Church as an organization has taken no part in the rumored formation of the new party in Manitoba. However opposed to the principles and doctrines of the church Protestants and others in general may be, it is, nevertheless, a fact that few political errors are made by the church as a church. In our own country the Roman Catholic hierarchy has thus far refrained, in spite of the splendid organization which characterizes the church, to become openly identified with any political movement against the existing parties. It is reasonable to suppose that this attitude will be maintained if only from motives of policy.

The Winnipeg promoters of the movement would do well to consult the authorities of their own church before taking a step which can do no good but, rather, a vast amount of harm to those responsible for its adoption.

Current Comment

(Ottawa Citizen.)

A bright political campaigner has done much to cast public discredit on Roosevelt's main plank in his presidential platform, by suggesting that it is analogous to the case of an umpire giving a close decision in a baseball game, only to have the crowd on the bleachers stop the game until they are allowed to vote on the umpire's decision. It is one of those illustrations that is very likely to appeal to the great mass of the voters, the more particularly because it seems pertinent in its application. Roosevelt proposes that if a law is passed, which on submission to the Supreme Court is declared unconstitutional, the people may be allowed to declare by their votes that the law shall be law whether the courts think it is constitutional or not.

(Victoria Colonist.)

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, be it most distinctly understood, is not a candidate for the presidency. No, sir, not at all. He is simply within call in case the nation wants him. He believes that the office should seek the man, and not the man the office, but at the same time he has not the least intention of being where the office cannot find him when it starts out to look for him. We have a somewhat strong suspicion that the office will find him, and that he will be the next president of the American Republic. And after that—well we must simply wait and see.

(Aymer Express.)

It is a long time since we have printed any news of so joyful a nature as the fact that the price of eggs has taken a drop. At the same time, our joy is somewhat tinged with grief and sorrow for the poor farmer, whose meager income will thus be severely cut into. We are also bothered somewhat over the fact that our hens are just beginning to lay and do not know whether to be glad of the fact, or mad because they did not start earlier.

ROOSEVELT AS THE CANDIDATE OF PROGRESSIVES

Washington, Mar. 18.—Gifford Pinchot, in a telegram sent to Frank L. Talcott, at Fargo, N. D., has made specific denial of the statements credited to Walter L. Houser and others that Col. Roosevelt pledged his support to Senator Lafollette as a progressive candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and declares that Mr. Houser, manager of the Lafollette candidacy "was himself among the first of Lafollette's supporters to urge that the senator should abandon his own candidacy in the interest of the progressive cause and join with others in urging Col. Roosevelt to accept the nomination, because Roosevelt could alone carry these policies to victory."

No matter what his age may be. Most always will his heart feel a thrill when he perceives his love The lady on the cart-wheel.

THE Plain Dope

Bo, I'm strong for the guy who's square. But not for the mucker who claims to be. Whenever I hear a gink declare That he's the honestest living Gee I chain the safe to a pillar—see! And hide my wad in a vault of steel. For here is the dope direct from me. The guy who's honest don't need no spiel!

When a duck sings out that he's always fair And a regular model of honesty You watch him close with a steady stare And bite the coin that he hands to ye.

For brother, I'll whisper this to thee He'll trim you proper right off the tree, Take it from Archibald, frank and free, The guy who's honest don't need no spiel!

Of straight-out crooks you had best beware. But I'd take a chance with two or three Rather than fall in the tangled snare Of the guy who says to you constantly, "The honest man of the day—that's me, Always there with the squarest deal!" That duck would swipe all your clothes with glee, The guy who's honest don't need no spiel!

Envoy. Beat it, brother, from such as he Who says he's honest from head to heel. When you see him coming—climb a tree— The guy who's honest don't need no spiel!

Most Anything

The Allies' faces wear a grin At the thought of the glories of Peking; And the feet of the Allies soon will ring on the cobbled streets of old Peking.

For whatever way you spell the name, With a G or not, it's all the same; When the Allies' bugles sound "toot-toot," What they really mean is "root-for-oot."

For the ugly idols of Chinae Are made of gold and are fair to see; And the shrines are wrought of pearl and teak. The kind that burglars always seek.

Lots of short-armed men can pat themselves on the back. But we don't want any strong-armed men patting us on the back.

If you are wise You'll take no dare To lay off winter Underwear.

Thus singeth Doc. Brom, the sweet singer of Peoria, than whom there is no more disinterested pursuer of the muse. Think of a doc knocking pneumonia.

The new bridge across the Tiber at Rome, with a span of 328 feet, is the longest reinforced concrete arch in the world.

Please, Mr. Burbank. No one has invented a seedless congressman.

"Folks go to Palm Beach," Willie said "To be tanned by the sun till they're red. But don't go so far To be tanned by my par; He does it quite well in the shed."

Chicago is 75 years old. And spry for her age.

Did you ever notice the grace and delicacy with which a man threads a needle?

Joe Bailey is against the third term. Some people wonder why Texas isn't.

"The Bunk-house."

The Chances Against You

"Oh, I will be all right in a few days," says the person who is tired out and has to drag himself to his daily work because the nervous system is exhausted. Unfortunately nervous diseases do not right themselves, and the wasting process which has brought you to this condition keeps right on until there is a complete breakdown. You must get the building-up process started, so that, instead of being a little weaker at the end of each day, you will find the balance on the other side and know that you are gradually getting strong and well.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you wonderfully if you only give it a reasonable chance. As the system is built up you will find such symptoms as headaches, sleeplessness and indigestion leaving you. You will find the old energy coming back. The mind and body will better serve you and you will see a new pleasure in life.

Courtesy Bay Plans.

Hon. F. D. Monk has forwarded a set of plans for the Courtesy Bay Improvements to Mayor Frink, and it is probable that they will be placed on exhibition in City Hall for the inspection of the citizens.

Banker to Leave City

R. B. Kessen, general manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, has resigned and will leave the city. Mr. Kessen is well known, not only in local banking circles, but has earned a flattering reputation in other Canadian cities. He leaves the bank in a flourishing financial condition and his loss will be keenly felt.

Heavy Sentence.

A new record was established in the police court this morning, when the Magistrate meted out a sentence of three months and fifty dollars to an old offender on a charge of drunkenness. At the expiration of the three months if the fine is not paid another three months' term must be served. Seven other drunks got $8 or two months in jail.

Cars Derailed.

Thirteen cars of the freight bound for Moncton this morning were derailed about seven o'clock yesterday morning between Torryburn and Moncton on account of a broken rail. Auxiliary crews and appliances were despatched from here and Moncton, and the line was again open by two o'clock. All trains were held up until that hour, and mails were consequently delayed.

PROVINCIAL.

Congratulations for New Senator.

Fredericton, N. B., March 18.—Dr. J. W. Daniel was here today and received congratulations on his appointment to the Senate. He left for Ottawa this evening to be sworn in.

St. James' "W. A."

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. James' church was held at the home of Mrs. Nagle last evening when the officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Mrs. H. A. Cody, honorary president; Mrs. W. J. Nagle, president; Mrs. D. M. Lawson, first vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Kee, second vice-president; Miss Isabel Bruce, secretary; Miss C. E. Marven, treasurer; Mrs. R. J. Dibblee, superintendent of the Junior Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. S. K. Skinner and Mrs. McDonald, delegates to the annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the diocese.

Collectors for I. C. R.

Moncton, N. B., March 18.—It is believed that plans are being made to introduce on the I. C. R. after April 1st a system in vogue on other lines of relieving conductors of express trains of part of their duties by placing a ticket collector on the trains. The idea will first be tried on the line in the vicinity of Quebec, and if

ANNIVERSARY OF THE SONS OF TEMPERANCE

St. Martin's Division Gathers on Occasion of Fiftieth Year of Lodge's Existence—Officers Elected.

St. Martins, March 16.—A goodly number gathered in the Temperance Hall, St. Martins, on Monday evening, March 11, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the St. Martins Division S. of T. The regular opening was followed by a musical and literary programme, a pleasant feature being the receipt of a letter of congratulation from a much valued former member, Michael Kelly, who is at present touring the province in the interest of Temperance. Much regret was expressed that Bro. Kelly was unable to be with us, and the society joins in wishing him every success in the good work. At the close of the programme the society gathered around their table literally groaning under their load of good things.

The officers for the present quarter are—W. P. Erma Carson; W. A. Mrs. Lizzie Marr; R. S. Arvilla Mosher; A. R. S. Charlotte McLean; con. Gordon White; asst. con. Margaret Bedford; I. S. Joseph Whitney; O. S. Annie Osborn; F. S. Jessie Brown; treas. J. B. Hodsmyth; chap. A. Hodsmyth.

found successful will be extended to the other sections of the system.

More Pay for Teachers.

Montreal, March 18.—Hon. W. S. Stewart, M. P. P., of Charlottetown, was in this city today and stated that the government of Prince Edward Island proposed to increase the salaries of teachers of the province. He added that the cost of living had increased, but the teacher had been given no proportionate raise in salary and the province was accordingly losing many of its best teachers.

Three Issues of Telephone Securities

Telephone Companies are classed as Public Utilities or Public Service Corporations. In offering the three issues mentioned below we cannot give you a better reason why you should invest in them or a better explanation as to why the best informed investors buy them, than by quoting the words of a great American Banker, when speaking of the securities of Public Utilities: "Business depressions and panics have no terrors for the holders of public utility securities. The necessities supplied by these corporations are of such a nature that the public cannot do without them, no matter what the financial stress."

These issues we offer in lots to suit purchasers: Trinidad Consolidated Telephone 6 p. c. Bonds at 101 and interest. Maritime Telegraph & Telephone 6 p. c. Bonds at 107 and interest. Maritime Telegraph and Telephone 6 p. c. Preferred Stock at 102.

PRICES RECOVER FROM EFFECTS OF STRIKE

New York, March 18.—The Stock Market today made considerable recovery from its unsettlement of last Saturday when prices fell quite precipitately on fears of political and industrial disturbances abroad.

Today's movement was not altogether impressive, however, as no small part of the strength and activity converged around stocks which have never exercised much influence as market factors. These included Missouri Pacific and American Can, common and preferred. Some idea of the movement of the session can be gathered from the fact that Erie common was the most active feature of the first three hours, in which period its sales were greater than those of any other issue including such speculative favorites as United States Steel, Union Pacific and the dealings in the Can shares which were much larger than in stocks whose course has often been accepted as significant.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

New York, March 18.—The trend of prices in our market today reflected a somewhat better feeling towards securities and the liquidation apparent for the past few days altogether subsided. It is pretty certain that stocks which were disposed of lately have found their way into better hands and when the selling movement exhausted itself the market took a turn for the better.

coming from any quarter on this stock, but interviews with railroad officials of companies traversing the same section of the country develop the fact that railroad business is improving. The industrial stocks are not far behind in activity. Erie had its supporters. Decline in Ills. Central continues and the gossip touches chiefly on the decreased earnings principally due to strikes. The market at the close is maintaining about the best prices of the day.

New York March 18.—Market opened steady at decline of one point on March 18th and 5 to 9 points on other months. The weather map showed an area of pressure covering the entire country except the Canadian Northwest, where a moderate low barometer appeared. It was generally clear and spring-like over the country apart from cloudy conditions in the lower Mississippi Valley adjoining the Gulf coast. There was no particular trading feature in the market during the session. Some selling by houses with New Orleans and Memphis connections but there were few orders in hand apparently and the market was very quiet. ## FARMERS AND DAIRYMEN ARE IN CONVENTION IN FREDERICTON advantages, and their sons attend in large numbers, and thus availing themselves of the opportunities afforded, would cause the advantages of practical and systematic farming to become general.

During the last few years great progress has been made in the planting and care of orchards, particularly on the St. John river, and with proper care and selection this will add great wealth to these districts. A thorough study of the soil and conditions has been made and the optimism of the people is so great that they are bound to make a success of the undertaking. The fruit exhibitions that have been held in St. John for the last two years have proved that this province can grow apples equal to any in America.

"Perhaps one of the most important matters we should strive for, is co-operation. The manufacturers and merchants would find it impossible to continue their business if they did not watch the markets, and place their products on sale at the proper time. Farmers, on the other hand, often overload the market by all selling at the same time, and the result is prices go down till there is little or no profit. This was the case with pork last year. The market opened at a high price and everyone hurried to sell—in consequence the price went down and very few had anything to sell when the market came to its normal condition. The retail price did not change and the middleman got the benefit.

"I have heard of a creamery that begins making butter in the spring, and instead of putting the butter on the market as it is made, waits till it has several cwt. and then sends it to be sold. The result is a low price, not only for themselves, but for all the butter sold to the same market. Whereas with co-operation and a little forethought, the former prices might have held for some weeks.

"If the directors of agricultural societies would meet once a month and talk over the prospects and market reports, it would be a long step in the right direction.

"It is only by co-operation and by standing together that farmers can accomplish the work they are destined to do in making this province, with all its natural advantages, its seaports and railway facilities, the leading agricultural centre in the Dominion of Canada."

Col. Campbell in introducing Mayor Hooper, said that the farmers of the province could not be better pleased with the selection of a mayor by the people of Fredericton.

Mayor Hooper, he said, was well known to the farmers of New Brunswick as manager of the Fredericton exhibition.

Welcome From Fredericton.

His worship received a warm reception and delivered an address of welcome. In concluding his worship said there was no reason why the University of New Brunswick should not have a chair of agriculture.

Bliss M. Pawcett, recording secretary, thought it was unfair to call upon an official with the duties he had, to also make an address. For ten years he had been attending meetings of the association, and during the past few years Fredericton had given those attending the annual meetings a more hearty welcome than before. He would like to see the farmers put their shoulders to the wheel and have a New Brunswick farmer occupying a chair of agriculture at the university.

The reports of the county vice presidents were read by the following: Charlotte, E. E. Emerson; Kings, Edgar Shampier; Queens, Isaac W. Baird; St. John, John P. Barrett; Sunbury, Ashley Harrison.

President C. N. Vroom, of the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association, brought the greetings of his association and said that both associations had a similar work to perform. In regard to the progress of fruit growing, he was pleased to be able to say that 40,000 apple trees had been set out during the past year, and 60,000 trees would be set out next season.

But the figures showed only a small portion of the work being accomplished. The publicity work accomplished had attracted great attention from everywhere. The fruit shows held at St. John showed that New Brunswick was the equal of any place on the whole North American continent. At the show of fruit from all parts of the Dominion at Ottawa last week the New Brunswick apples were the equal of any shown and were particularly well colored. The McIntosh Red according to Prof. MacCoun the Dominion expert, could be grown to better advantage in New Brunswick than in any other place in Canada.

Government Doing Good Work.

The provincial government was doing a good work in supplying farmers with high grade nursery stock at cheaper prices than they could secure themselves.

There were many syndicates and individuals taking up commercial orcharding in the province and he understood that just recently an inquiry had been received from a party in Calgary anxious to secure a tract of 2,000 acres to take up commercial orcharding.

Mr. Vroom urged New Brunswick farmers to grow the best and most profitable varieties of apples, pointing out that the trees bearing profitable apples took up no more room on their farms and would be a much more profitable investment. He said that every farmer in New Brunswick should have at least five acres of his land as an orchard. He pointed out the excellent conditions in New Brunswick for marketing apples in the old country and urged those engaging in fruit growing to keep to one profitable variety in each neighborhood so as to have proper quantities for shipping.

C. S. McGillivray, Dominion Inspector of Canned Goods, was then introduced by Mr. W. W. Hubbard, Secretary for Agriculture.

Mr. Hubbard drew attention to the important economic question of all the stores of the province having their shelves loaded down with canned fruit and vegetables all from outside the province, while there were such excellent opportunities for carrying on a canning industry in this province. Mr. McGillivray had been sent here to meet some gentlemen interested in the establishment of canneries in this province.

Mr. McGillivray, who was well received, said that he was just back from the Canadian West where they boost their country, talk about their possibilities and believe what they say. He told of the immensity of the fruit growing industry in British Columbia where he had been told there were 7,000,000 fruit trees and in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia he had seen districts where apples could be grown just as well and the fruit would be of just as good quality as could be grown in British Columbia.

Mr. McGillivray gave an interesting review of the history of the canning industry, explained the possibilities of business and told the meeting that canned fruits and vegetables to the value of $1,591,393 had been imported into Canada in ten months.

In closing, Mr. McGillivray spoke of the advantage of proper education for one engaged in agricultural pursuits and told his audience that the east offered opportunities equally as good as those of the west, without as hard work.

Before the meeting adjourned President Campbell appointed Lewis Smith, Henry Wilnot and Edgar Shampier as a finance committee.

IN ALL THAT HAS BEEN WRITTEN AND SAID ABOUT TISDALE PLACE, the important new sub-division in East St. John, no effort has been put forth to paint a highly-colored picture. Every claim made for it has been backed by actual existing conditions and the well-known plans of the government and railway corporations. It is a fact that industrial activities on the Marsh Road stretch will be commenced in May. What these gray March days is a snow-bedrabbled and quiet locality will be a thriving centre of activity before May 1st. It is common knowledge that the first area to share the benefits of this enlivening boom is Tisdale Place, in which lots are selling briskly as low as $250. BILLY EVANS SAYS:

In a few years advertising signs will not be found inside major league park fences. Not so many years ago these signs were a feature to which club owners catered, to increase their income.

Another thing that has doomed the sign is the array of brightly colored signs affect the batter's eyes. I remember a game in Chicago soon after the completion of the new park in which the visiting players were at sea before the pitching of Walsh, Scott and White in three games that hour he averaged 63 1/2, the runs being 26, 13, 78, 165, 3, 24, 178 and 13.

BOXERS AND BOX ARTISTS ARE ERRATIC

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Kalamazoo, Mich., Mar. 18.—Secretary William P. Englemann, of the Recreation Park Association has announced the early closing events and the purses which go with them for the grand circuit races here from July 15 to 20. The purses amount to $25,000, which, with the late closing events, will bring the entire amount up to $40,000.

BOY SWIMMING WONDER

Boston, Mar. 18.—Leo Handy, a member of the Brookline Gymnasium A. A. Swimming Club, should be one of the best swimmers in the country within a few years.

NEW GOLF CHAMPION

Palm Beach, Mar. 18.—R. H. McElwee, of Oventalia, is the new golf champion of Florida, replacing E. R. Hyde of the South Shore Field Club, who won the title here last year, and has one leg on the championship cup, which Richard Croker offered then to be competed for three times.

FITZSIMMONS IS SUED

Chicago, Ill., March 17.—The trouble between "Bob" Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion, and John Taylor, the University of Chicago student whom he assaulted, took a new turn yesterday, when Taylor filed two suits for $25,000 each against the pugilist. One suit was brought on the ground of slander, and the other assault. Fitzsimmons a few days ago attacked Taylor in the office of a theatrical agency, after making accusations against him involving Mrs. Fitzsimmons. The latter is an actress.

TOMMY CONNOLLY'S TALK WITH PLUMBER BROTHER STARTED MARTY O'TOOLE ON THE ROAD TO STARDOM

(By Billy Evans.) Fans can scarcely wait to see whether Barney Dreyfuss bought a gold brick for $22,500 in Marty O'Toole. O'Toole's chief asset is the spitter. The origin of Marty's use of the spit ball can be traced to Tommy Connolly, American league umpire. O'Toole lives at South Framingham, Mass., near Natick, where Connolly spends the winter.

"I had a ball that Chesbro had used in an important game. At the close of the game I noticed a white spit on the ball made by the constant use of saliva. I was interested and took the ball with me when I left the park. I gave this ball to Mike and explained as well as I could how Chesbro worked his spit ball. That winter Mike and Marty fussed with the delivery and the next year both used it with good results."

ATHLETICS IN CANADA AND STATES

LONGBOAT IN RACE. New York, N. Y., Mar. 18.—Tom Longboat, the famous Canadian Indian runner, has sent in his entry for the one hour championship running race, which will be held at the Twelfth Regiment armory Saturday evening, Mar. 20. From all indications the event promises to be one of the best of its kind ever held in this city.

CANADIANS FOR OLYMPICS

Montreal, Mar. 18.—With the winter season nearing a close, attention is being turned to the Olympic trials for the picking of a representative Canadian team at Stockholm. While the track and field men will have to work hard for positions on the team, it is taken for granted that should a swimming team of three be sent across, at least two of them would be Montreal boys.

CAPTAIN GAMBLE INJURED

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 18.—Captain Pat Gamble will not run again for Michigan. At least Trainer Kraenzlein, after looking over the Wolverine track captain's knee said that nothing short of a miracle could get Gamble into shape to compete in the intercollegiate this May.

OLYMPIC ENTRY BLANKS

New York, March 18.—The entry blanks for the American Olympic try-outs were mailed to the clubs and colleges. The Eastern tryouts will be in the Harvard Stadium on June 8 for all the events except the Marathon. Attention is drawn to the fact that the Boston A. A. Marathon tryout will be the tryout for the long classic.

IN WHICH KID LAVIGNE TELLS OF THE HISTORIC FIGHT BETWEEN JACK McAULIFFE AND JIM CARNEY WHICH WAS ENDED IN THE 74TH ROUND BY A RUSH OF SPECTATORS.

THE RING WAS RUSHED BY SPECTATORS.

BY GEORGE ("KID") LAVIGNE, Ex-Lightweight Champion of the World.

The Jack McAuliffe-Jim Carney 74-round, no-decision fight, in a barn at Westery, R. L., November 16, 1887, was one of the greatest battles in ring history.

Two accounts have been given of this fight, each side having its own story, but I heard, from a reliable source that the men who rushed the ring as McAuliffe's friends, were really men who backed Carney.

New York, N. Y., Mar. 18.—Gustave P. Touchard, the tennis player, who is joint holder with Raymond D. Little, of the United States doubles championship, filed a petition today in voluntary bankruptcy. Among the liabilities, which are listed at $5033, Touchard places four debts ranging from $100 to $1500, which, he says, were incurred in gambling transactions. His assets are listed at $12.

BILLIARDS--SUTTON'S BIG RUN

George Sutton, who is playing "Willie" Hoppe for the 181 balk-line billiard championship, made a wonderful run and two great averages in practice games in Chicago last week. Monday he finished a game of 500 points with a run of 254 and scored an average of 54 2/3. His runs were 98, 15, 10, 8, 50, 17, 10, 30 and 254.

avoiding the police. McAuliffe waited in the barn for three hours for Carney, who slept after weighing in. They started slowly. Carney shone at in-fighting and McAuliffe at long range. McAuliffe planned to fight in his corner, to make Carney come to him. He also planned a long battle. Carney was clever in ducking and landing on the body, but took awful punishment to get his man.

DOGS HAPPY, CHINAMAN ARRESTED

Has Spent Half His Life in Jail for Dog Stealing—The London Owners of Pet Dogs Breathe Easier.

London, March 13—Dog owners in London are happy, for their pets are safe from the hands of William Cook, known by the sobriquet of "The Chinaman," for the next eighteen months. Cook was a valuable dog of dogs—other people's—and his penchant for taking them under his care has already caused him to devote more than half his lifetime—he is sixty-five years of age—in jail. His last escapade was to steal an Aberdeen terrier, valued at $250, the property of Mr. H. Attenborough, of Knightsbridge, for which he was convicted and sentenced a few days ago. Cook is the original of the entertaining reminiscence in the late Mr. Montague Williams' book "Leaves of a Life." The story goes that in the early days of his practice at the Bar Mr. Williams lost a valuable dog of which he was very fond. As a result of advertising to recover the pet a ruffianly looking individual called on him to offer his services to discover the whereabouts of the dog, mentioning in whispers that he was acquainted with scoundrels who made a practice of stealing pet dogs. Being greatly attached to the missing animal, Mr. Williams acceded to the demand of $50 to $100 as a preliminary payment, and in time the dog was restored.

Some years afterwards—in 1887—Mr. Williams was at Middlesex sessions to prosecute in several cases. Among them was a case against a man for stealing a dog. When the case came on for hearing Mr. Williams was astonished at recognizing the prisoner as the man who had black-mailed him years before for a preliminary payment, and in time the dog was restored. He diligently re-studied the case, he found that the only charge against Cook was one of misdemeanor for which the maximum punishment was 18 months' imprisonment. Reading through the evidence again, Mr. Williams found that there was a collar on the dog when it disappeared, and as the theft of a dog's collar comes under the category of a felony, punishable by a preliminary indictment added, with the result that Cook was sent down for five years' penal servitude. "The Chinaman" never forgot the arguments as to the distinction between "misdemeanor" and "felony" afterward, for while he has many times confessed to stealing dogs he has always maintained that they had no collar on when they came into his unlawful possession. Cook once stole Paddy, a dog owned by a one-time commissioner of police, but restored it on the understanding that no questions would be asked. He also made the Duke of Devonshire happy by restoring his pet dog, which "went astray" for a consideration. He had a wonderful knowledge of the value of dogs, and his method of enticing them away was to sprinkle a thin layer of a preparation of powdered liver and aniseed in the turn-up of the legs of his trousers.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms: shooting pains all over my body, sick headaches, neural weakness, dizziness, depression and everything that was possible. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET R. WALKER, 694 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice. No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

Natives Demanded Strange Passenger

Captain of Trading Steamer Tells of Quag Adventure with Inhabitants of Savage Coast.

New York, N. Y., Mar. 13.—The trade steamer Arnold Amnack, of the Woermann line, arrived the other day, after an absence from New York of more than four months. Captain Scheilhan told of an experience he had with a swarthy man who boarded the trader at Monrovia.

The Arnold Amnack left New York late in September with a cargo of oil, red cloth, rings and beads, bound for the south coast of Africa. It was a 25 day trip to Monrovia, where they shipped the Kroobos, or native roustabouts, 120 in all, and set out for the serious business of exchanging kerosene oil for mahogany. While the steamer was in Monrovia a man apparently Spanish, came on board and paid his passage to Cape Town. It was a long and monotonous journey on board the trader, Capt. Scheilhan explained, but the mysterious passenger said he preferred that sort.

When the steamer had passed St. Paul de Loanda the Kroobos ran many hundred feet of mahogany logs through the surf and piloted boats full of copper ore successfully to the Arn old Amnack.

Novo Redono was reached and the steamer was greeted by an extraordinary number of natives in their canoes. They wanted something, but Capt. Scheilhan could not find out what it was until a delegation of natives, accompanied by a very old man, came aboard.

They demanded Senor Philippe. He was on board, they declared, and he had committed some deed for which vengeance was demanded. In vain captain and officers of the trader denied that the man was on board. It was necessary to make a show of force before the natives would go ashore. Toward night their attitude became more threatening and the ship was forced to proceed out to sea all further down the coast to a distance where the natives could not follow. What the stranger had done he never explained, and he was landed at Cape Town as much of a mystery as when he came aboard.

"How these natives knew he was on board is more than I can figure out," said one of the officers. "None of the kroobos could have told. It must have been a case of the mysterious sixth sense which some of the old men among the coast tribes are credited with possessing."

CLERGY APPROVES BAN ON BIG HATS

All Agree with Cardinal Bourne Women Should Wear Small Headgear at Worship—Feel Discussion Will Not do Good.

New York, March 13.—Prominent clergymen in New York have agreed with Cardinal Bourne of London in his opinion that women should not wear big hats to church, as told in a special cable message printed in the Herald yesterday but some of them were reticent in expressing their opinions. The Rev. Joseph F. Smith of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic church, and Supervisor of Parochial Schools of the Diocese of New York, said he agreed with Cardinal Bourne, but that he feared discussing big hats would not do any good. He said: "I agree with the Cardinal of England and so does every clergyman. We know that the wearing of big hats prevents persons in the congregations from following divine service as they should be able to do."

Wedded to Styles. "Women are wedded to their styles, however, no matter what any clergyman says they will wear big hats and whatever else they wish to wear. They will have their own sweet way. And all the preaching in the world won't make them give up any style that may be imposed upon them."

"So I do not see the use of disclaiming any style unless it is immodest and violates some law of God." The Rev. Dr. A. Edwin Kelving, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church, about two years ago requested the women of his congregation to take off their hats while at worship. He said: "We tried to get the women to take off their hats in our church. Some did, but most of them felt they wanted to keep their hats on. But now there is a growing sentiment to wear small hats to church than those worn in the street on other days than Sunday. Most of our people are considerate about this matter."

Desires to Know that Kind. "I think Cardinal Bourne is a very sensible man," said Rev. Dr. David James Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Reformed church. "I don't know any women who wear tremendous, bulky hats or obnoxious hatpins. I reach only to very considerate people."

The Rev. Dr. George P. Eckman, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, said: "I agree with Cardinal Bourne. I am willing to go on record as against big hats in church where the floor does not slant. I will halt the day with gladness when small hats are again in vogue."

The Rev. Dr. Addison Moore, acting pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, blamed out of town women for obstructing the view of the church. He said: "I think it is the tendency of New York women who go to church to dress very modestly and becomingly. Women who are visitors to the city and have only one or two hats with them often wear a big hat to church."

WAS TROUBLED WITH Headache AND Constipation.

After Suffering For Two Years Was Cured By BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Headache of whatever nature is nearly always symptomatic of other diseased conditions, rather than a disease itself, but in most cases a disordered stomach, constipation, or bad circulation is the chief source of the difficulty. Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the trouble through its cleansing, strengthening and tonic action on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. Mr. Wm. Redmond, Cardigan Bridge, P. E. I., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for about two years. After trying every doctor I knew, a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I found myself, after using one bottle, getting much better, and after using three bottles I was completely cured. "After then I was on a visit, and found my cousin very sick, and the doctor told her there was something wrong with her head. I told her to use Burdock Blood Bitters and she was cured in a short time. I can safely recommend it to all."

BUTTERFLY DESIGN for a NIGHTGOWN

HERE is a design for a very important piece in a set. The butterflies offer relief and still are not too prominent. The design is graceful and requires not too much work. The result is quite worth every minute of time that you give to it.

Let us work the butterfly in the center first. The lines in the drawing suggest outline work, and the edges of each wing should be solid work after padding with darning cotton. Work the dots in either eyelets or solid stitches and fill in the lower part of the wings with French knots or seed stitches.

Outline the flower stems and whip into a heavy cord by whipping over the stitches. You do not touch the material at all in this last way, but catch together the outline stitches where they overlap.

Pad the petals and work with your soft mercerized cotton in the opposite direction until they are solid. The centers can be single eyelets or French knots.

Fill in the rest of the design with either eyelets or solid dots, and work the small butterflies in a manner similar to the one suggested for the large one.

The eyelets for the draw ribbon should be buttonholed. Pad the scallops with darning cotton in long stitches or a chain stitch and work with buttonhole stitch. You will find that these will be complete very quickly, for I have had them made quite shallow.

The kimono sleeves are treated in similar way.

The design is on the upper part, and if you wish you can omit some of the flowers. If you are making the nightgown for summer do not have the sleeves too long.

This nightgown can be further beautified by insertion of fine cuny, tuchon or valenciennes. Motifs of lace can be added on yoke and sleeves.

The butterflies are exquisite if made of plain net or valenciennes lace. This is basted over the design on the outside. The edges are worked over and over in solid stitch and any part that extends beyond is cut away. The under cambric is then cut away and the dots and lines are put on the lace afterward. The effect is beautiful, although the lace butterfly is not so durable as the hand-embroidered solid work.

An edge of lace gives a pretty finish for the sleeves and neck, and when you run white ribbon through the eyelets and tie in a full rosette or a flat bow at the side there is not a more exquisite piece of lingerie that you could wish.

With other garments decorated with the same motif a set would be greeted with joy by any woman who has a truly feminine love of dainty lingerie.

Designed by Anna J. Loos

SPECIAL TIES FOR SPECIAL GOWNS

WHEN planning your spring and summer wardrobe, make up your mind to have a set of ties and fancy neckwear for each particular gown. The small pieces of silk, linen, lawn or dimity left from making the gowns will do nicely to fashion bows and collars that will be necessary to form a complete set for each frock.

In making these there will be ample opportunity to use up small pieces of lace and embroidery that have been left from gowns of other summers.

Beads and hand embroidery may also trim these dainty ties if you are particularly fond of working with your needle and care to put a touch of individuality on your garments.

Wash-silk blouses will hold their popularity for the coming season. Each should have its own collars and ties, and of course more than one set is required for each blouse.

If you are not wearing a Dutch neck, make a standing collar of silk cut on the straight of the material and laid in fine lengthwise tucks. The collar should be cut one inch longer than the neck size to allow for lapping in the back, and can be shaped low in the front and high in the collar, if you prefer that style.

Hold the collar up with transparent bones tacked to each side of the front and one in the center of the back.

This style can be varied in many ways by trimming or tucking, but forms the basis of all high collars.

Decorate the front of plain collars with small jabot ties made of silk that matches the collar.

A plain but dainty one is made by cutting two straight pieces of silk, one six inches and one 8 1/2 inches long and 3/4 inches wide. Shape them both alike into long oval pieces having the widest part about one inch from the bottom. The shape should be somewhat like a pear. Bind these with a narrow strip of bias silk, or if you have a contrasting color of silk handy, use that. In the shortest piece set a bit of lace insertion extending three inches from the top and a bit around the curve of the bottom of the tab.

Join the two at the top, allowing the bottom tab to extend one-half inch below the upper one.

Now cut a piece of silk four inches long and three inches wide, round the ends, and bind as you did the tabs. Inset a bit of lace insertion in each end and pleat it through the center, holding in place with a small knot of folded silk. Fasten this little bow to the top of the two tabs and also to the center front of the collar. This completes one set for the silk blouse.

The same thing may be repeated in lawn, dimity or any soft sheer material to match gowns of the same.

Vary this design by squaring off the ends of the tabs and making a double bow for the top, edging the under piece of material with fine lace and decorating the upper portion with a dainty spray of hand embroidery done either in silk to match or a delicate contrasting shade. When lace is used to edge the tie, omit the bias binding. Satin and chiffon blouses have ties of this description trimmed with designs worked out in beads, and sometimes are ornamented with short tassels of fine beads.

Ties and jabots that match the blouse are worn with flat lace collars and Dutch necks.

Where the gown is fitted with a net yoke, the collar and tie must also be of net. These are trimmed with lace or beads. Irish lace edges and insets are particularly attractive and elegant on the net ties.

Plain white collars and ties are always useful. These can be made at any time and laid away for use with the thin white blouse worn in midsummer. The making of your own neckwear affords pleasant and profitable pastime. It is work that can be picked up when you are entertaining informal callers or passing an evening at home with the family.

How to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty. Surely the way is easy.

Irish Lace

IRISH lace promises to be more in demand this season. While it has always been popular, for the last few years women who are fond of needlework have taken up the work in earnest.

Lingerie gowns, wool and silk costumes, hats and the accessories of milady's toilette, all have some trimming of it, while whole coats and evening gowns of this beautiful lace are worn by those who can afford them.

Insertions are, perhaps, the simplest form of Irish lace to begin on when first taking up the work. The point edge is simple and easy to crochet, and is always useful for the edging of lingerie frocks, collars or trimming of underclothes.

There are many different patterns of insertion to choose from, all more or less elaborate, which, if worked at as a pastime during odd moments, will grow to many yards in a surprisingly short time. Wide bands for picture hats are favorites with some of the lace-makers; neckwear in a wide variety of design is always in demand. The number of useful and beautiful things that can be made of this form of fancy work is almost limitless. If you are clever with the crochet needle, take up the making of Irish lace and make for yourself and your friends some dainty article that if purchased in the shops will cost many dollars.

HOW TO MAKE BUTTONHOLES

Cut
BUTTONHOLE making is an art in itself, and the woman who can work a good-looking buttonhole may be justly proud.

First take great care in cutting the hole that you do not set it too long for the button you intend to use. The button should just slip through easily without stretching either side.

If possible, cut with regular buttonhole scissors, which can be regulated to make every hole the same size; otherwise use sharp-pointed scissors and measure each hole with a bit of cardboard marked the correct size. After the hole is cut, whip it over and over with the cotton or silk you intend to use in the working, using three or four stitches on each side.

Take a couple of stitches over the end of the hole, draw the thread along to the other end and there take two stitches in order to hold it in place, draw the thread to the starting point and catch fast. Now whip, or overcast the raw edges to the hole all the way around. This prevents the edges from fraying, and makes a much more neatly finished buttonhole.

If the cloth be inclined to fray very much, a good thing to do is to bind the edges with a bit of seam binding tape or a thin strip of silk. Fold the strip over the edge of the hole and sew it down with a running stitch. When this is done, work over the entire surface of the binding with heavy silk, cotton or linen thread.

needle through, pulling the thread firmly toward the cut edge. This makes a little twist of thread, which is continued all along the edge of the hole and forms a firm resistance to the wear that results from the button being slipped through it. The finished buttonhole should be evenly worked all around and finished at the starting end with an over-and-over stitch, fastened on the under side.

New Cretonne Lampshades
THE beautiful oriental-looking lampshades that one sees in the shops, made of flowered French cretonne in the soft tones of the far east, can be made at home at very small cost, if you are clever about doing things with your hands.

These shades are all made over wire frames, and at first glance appear to be the work of the master hand, but when dissected will be found far from difficult to make, provided you have patience and are able to handle a needle.

First of all the wire frame is covered with cotton tape or narrow strips of any thin cotton fabric. This is wrapped around the separate wires, beginning at the top and wrapping around and around to the base of each wire, then wrapping the wire encircling the top and also that which goes around the bottom.

If tape is used for this, select the narrowest that can be bought; otherwise, it is best to tear or cut strips finish the top of hems on any sheer material.

When French knots, "birds' eyes" and eyelets are combined with the feather-stitching, lovely effects are possible.

Such borders are particularly attractive on summer gowns, but can be used on anything from the finest lingerie to curtains, heavy cushions and table covers.

"Birds' eyes" are made by drawing the thread through to the right side of the material of the hem, then holding it down with the left thumb (as you would for buttonhole-stitching), inserting the needle in the hole it has just passed through and taking it exactly in half. Now lay these two half circles on the material and to each draw a fine line around the outer curved edge, keeping the straight edge even with the edge of the hem.

Repeat this process all the way along the hem and do the stitching over the small it.

Very fine mercerized cotton is used for this work. While material worked in this color is beautiful, and for variety you may do the feather-stitching in one color and the row of daisies or eyelets of a contrasting shade.

Feathering is sometimes used instead of the feather-stitching, and with a little practice you will be able to design different patterns for yourself, suiting the work to the need of your material or the article being made.

Fancy Hems for Sheer Materials
MANY women who are fond of needlework do not possess the skill to work some of the embroidery designs that are now so fashionable; but almost any one with a little practice can do feather-stitching neatly and rapidly.

With this stitch you can secure many effective designs with very little labor, and it is an ideal way to the top and bottom edges to make it lie flat when turned over the wires and, using a long backstitch, sew the edges down flat over the wires.

At the joining place, which must come directly over one of the brass wires, one edge of the cretonne is sewed to the cotton covering of the wire and the other edge turned in a wet bit and sewed fast to the overlapping cretonne.

Fancy galleons, either gold, silver or some pretty color contrasting with the color of the shade, is then sewed around the top and bottom of the shade after it has been covered. The shade is then ready for use.

When making a many-sided shade, each section must be applied to the frame separately and sewed in place to the covered wires. The top and bottom of each section are folded over the wire and sewed down with backstitch. Galleon covers the joining point of each section and also both top and bottom of the shade. If you desire an added touch, you can sew silk or bead fringe around the bottom of the shade after it has been covered. When doing this, place the edge of the fringe under the galleon.

And now, good luck to you in making a shade for your library lamp, which if purchased in a shop would cost five times as much as if made by your own fair hands.

Seamen's Mission Concert Tonight. There will be a grand concert in the Seamen's Mission Hall this evening at eight o'clock by the men from the steamships Empress of Ireland and Saturnia, including J. L. Jones and F. Tutstall. Admission 10 cents.

Grand Lodge Opens Today. The annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge will open this afternoon in the Orange Hall on Germain street, Rev. H. H. Thomas of Dorchester, the Grand Master, will preside. There will be about 150 members present.

Church Work in New Brunswick. Rev. H. A. Cody will deliver an illustrated lecture in the schoolroom of St. James' church this evening, on "Churches and Church Work in New Brunswick." A silver collection will be taken at the door.

An Excellent Concert. The Sunday school room of the Congregational church on Union street was crowded with a most appreciative audience last night when one of the best concerts ever given there took place. The concert was held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society and the pastor of the church, Rev. H. S. Mahood, presided. Refreshments were served to the participants at the close.

Goes to the G. T. P. H. W. Newnam, who for a long time has been travelling freight agent of the C. P. R., has resigned his office and has accepted a position as chief clerk with J. A. Edwards of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Moncton. While in the employ of the C. P. R. Mr. Newnam was a most faithful and efficient employee and his many friends will regret his departure from the city. Last evening his fellow employees of the C. P. R. office presented him with a silver mounted pipe and pouch.

Painters After Higher Wages. The journeymen painters who are members of the painters' union, are looking forward to Monday, April 1, when they expect to receive an increase of fifty cents per day in their wages. The men claim that the fact that they are not always steadily employed and the increased cost of living are the chief causes for the increase. They now receive $2.50 per day and are asking for $3 per day. The boss painters were notified of the request for higher wages on January 1st, to go into effect on April 1st.

62nd To Wear Khaki. A meeting of the officers of the 62nd Regiment was held last evening in the officers' headquarters, Charlotte street to consider the wearing of khaki. It was decided to recommend the wearing of the khaki, and the government will be asked to issue it. It was also decided to hold a field day on April 13th for the officers and non-coms of the regiment, to be held under the supervision of a staff officer from Halifax. The drill will be held on the outskirts of the city, and the plans will be worked out later.

Two Dead Dogs. Yesterday morning Policeman Marshall found a dead dog on Britain street near Pitt street, and feels quite put out about the matter. He telephoned to the street department to send a team and remove the remains, but that no team arrived on the scene all day. He also made an entry on the police book that the dead dog was to be held under the supervision of a staff officer from Halifax. The drill will be held on the outskirts of the city, and the plans will be worked out later.

Sardinian Stewards Arrested. When the steamer Sardinian of the Allan line arrived in port yesterday afternoon there was some work cut out for Joseph Walsh, the Allan line Detective, when he made two arrests. David Murdoch, a 47-year-old Scotchman, was arrested on suspicion of stealing a quantity of tea, the property of the Allan line, he being an articulated seaman. The other man arrested was Henry Leve, a 19-year-old Frenchman, who is charged with carrying a concealed weapon on his person on board the ship, he being an articulated seaman, and which is contrary to the Shipping Act. The weapon which Leve had in his pocket was a set of steel knuckles, and on each knuckle was a sharp point. It was a very dangerous looking weapon. The two men were stewards on board the Sardinian, and Detective Walsh locked them up in a central police station cell. They will appear before the Police Magistrate this morning.

Considered Presbytery Programme. At the committee meeting of the Presbytery of St. John held in the schoolroom of St. Andrew's church, last evening, plans were formed to be put before the Presbytery when it meets in the annual session today. Among other matters several calls will be considered and the result of the union vote will be announced. Arrangements will also be made for the induction of Rev. J. H. McVickers in St. Andrew's church on March 31st. The remainder of the business to be transacted will be as follows: The election of commissioners to represent the Presbytery at the General Assembly in Edmonton; reports on church statistics, evangelism, home and foreign missions, Sunday schools, financial matters, young people's societies and charity. In addition to this a communication from the Methodists will be considered regarding the overlapping of the two sects in the home mission field.

THE LEVEL FIGHT IN FREDERICTON TODAY OVER NEW CITY CHARTER

Representatives of Citizens' Committee Went to Capital Last Night to Support It - Strong Delegations will also be there to Oppose Certain Features.

W. H. Barnaby, chairman of the citizens committee and J. A. Belyea, chairman of the charter committee, left last evening for Fredericton to be present when the new commission charter comes up for consideration in the legislature today. It is expected that a party of about 30 of those active in the commission movement will go up this morning to strengthen the hands of Messrs. Barnaby and Belyea. County Secretary Kelley left for Fredericton yesterday morning, and will be joined by a number of members of the county council representing the parishes, in making a protest against certain features of the charter touching the relations of the county and the city. A delegation representing the board of health consisting of the chairman, Thos. Gorman, John Kelly and Judge Armstrong went up to Fredericton last evening to protest against the abolition of the board of health. Members of the board of health serve without pay and their duties are not such as usually earn the plaudits of the people. It is understood that the members of the board consider that the efficiency of the health department might be seriously interfered with if it was placed under the control of politicians, and feel that it is their duty to warn the government and the people of the danger. Under present conditions the officials of the board are given authority to isolate anybody whom they have reason to suppose is afflicted with contagious diseases. They may act promptly on their own initiative, and the board protects them even if they have been over-officious. Amodeo may criticize the board, but it reserves the right to keep the public from interfering with the officials. It is said that if the officials were under the direct control of men whose positions depend on votes, they would be likely to be altogether too cautious in handling contagious diseases, as they would not like to antagonize any of the commissioners' supporters, and that in cases requiring prompt and fearless action there would be delay for the same reasons and an epidemic would be apt to get the upper hand of them.

CLOSE CELEBRATION WITH IRISH PLAYS TO ENQUIRE INTO THE M'ADOO CASE

Annual Entertainments in Aid of the Orphans Were Highly Successful - A. O. H. Held Reunion. The closing festivities in connection with the observance of St. Patrick's day were held yesterday when the annual dramatic and musical entertainments in aid of the orphans, took place. Each and every year these entertainments prove a pleasing feature of the celebration, and last night's proved no exception. The three plays offered last night, in the Opera House, St. Peter's and St. Rose's halls were well presented by the amateur players and were all enjoyed. The customary St. Patrick's night capacity house greeted the performers, and many had to be denied admittance to the different halls. The attraction in the Opera House was the drama, Robert Emmet, a powerful play based on the struggles of the Irish patriot in behalf of his country's cause, his betrayal into the hands of the enemy and subsequent execution. The play is a strong one and an ambitious effort for amateurs, especially as many of the cast made their initial attempt at histrionics. As a whole, however, the performance ran smoothly, was well staged and the different roles were well sustained throughout. The title role Robert Emmet, was played by Steve Hurley, already familiarly known as an elocutionist of exceptional talent. His many friends, however, had an opportunity last evening of seeing him at his best. He met the many exactions of his role at all times. In the last two scenes, however, was his work particularly effective. The trial scene, after sentence of death is imposed, and Emmet is called upon to speak in self defence, and he gives expression to a burst of eloquence, his last message to the world, and which have made his memory immortal is one of the strongest passages of the play. In his interpretation of this scene, by his personality and excellent acting, Mr. Hurley made a profound impression and won merited applause. William M. Ryan, to whom fell the unsympathetic role of Kernan, a traitor to his country's cause, gave a capable performance. Although on the wrong side, his excellent acting compelled generous applause on the part of his audience. Dowdall and Addis, friends of Emmet, played by Fred Hazel and J. Conroy, were also well portrayed. The comedy situations of the piece were handled in admirable manner by David Higgins, who by his witticisms, antics, and also by his singing made a hit with the audience. The other roles, although subordinate, are, closely allied to the story of the play, and were faithfully interpreted, making the whole production a success. Between the acts two bright specialties were introduced and proved enjoyable features of the evening's entertainment. These consisted of a drill by a number of little girls, which was original in its movements and carried through with rhythm and precision. The other specialty was a solo by little Miss Callaghan, a clever little miss, whose singing earned for her generous applause. In addition to the excellent performance, and the specialties the whole entertainment was rounded out in good form by the music of the orchestra of the Y. M. S. of St. Joseph. In St. Peter's hall, Elna street, two performances of the Irish drama, Wicklow, were given under the auspices of the St. Peter's Y. M. S. The play proved intensely interesting to the large audiences which greeted the performers. All the roles were carried through in finished style, and the entertainment was an unequalled success. Among those whose work excelled were J. B. Dever, Geo. Connel, Vincent Sbes, and Thos. C. Olive. In St. Rose's hall, Fairville, last night, the St. Rose Dramatic Club were greeted with a capacity audience when they produced an Irish drama. The players all acquitted themselves capably and the entertainment was an enjoyable one. The members of the A. O. H. No. 1 concluded the observance of the feast in fitting manner last night, when in accordance with a custom previously established, they held a reunion for the members and their friends. The spacious hall was crowded with the visitors, and an interesting programme was carried out after an enjoyable

Coroner Berryman Will Investigate Circumstances of Geo. M'Adoo's Death - Inquest on Thursday.

Coroner D. E. Berryman gave permission for the burial of Wm. J. Hunt and James Hapenny and the interment was made yesterday afternoon. Last evening he also gave permission for the interment of George M'Adoo who was found dead in a field near the Fernhill cemetery gate, on Saturday morning. At 7 o'clock last night Coroner Berryman swore in a jury to inquire into the death of George M'Adoo, the members of the jury being: Sidney Gibbs, Dominic Hayes, Wellington Golding, W. Howe, F. Esty and J. Smith. The jury in charge of Constable Frank McBriarty visited the home of the deceased and after viewing the remains adjourned until Thursday evening at 7 o'clock when the inquest will be resumed in the police court.

Children's Hats at Marr's.

The unpleasant weather of yesterday did not prevent a large attendance at the special opening of children's hats at Marr's. Never before has this firm offered a larger or finer array of modish headwear for the little ones, the variety of styles being almost without limit. Bright colorings in pleasing combinations prevail, while plain white and delicate shades are very popular. Dainty floral trimmings are also much in favor this season. For the benefit of those who were unable to attend yesterday, today will also be devoted to the display of children's hats at the House famed for Millinery. Spring Millinery Opening at M. R. A.'s.
