THE JOHN BROWN RAID

The slaveholders of the South were by no means blind to the fact that the abolition movement had friends and supporters in Canada: that there was in fact, an abolition group there actively at work for their undoing. It is possible that they knew of the Chatham convention. In his message to the Virginia legislature after the Harper's Ferry raid Governor Wise made reference to Canada as a seat of abolitionist activity. "One most irritating feature of this predatory war," he said, "is that it has its seat in the British provinces which furnish asylums for our fugitives and send them and their hired outlaws upon us from depots and rendezvous in the bordering states." Speaking again, on Dec. 22nd, 1859, to a gathering of medical students who had left Philadelphia in protest, the governor said: "With God's help we will drive all the disunionists together back into Canada. Let the compact of fanaticism and intolerance be confined to British soil." The New York Herald quoted Wise as calling upon the president to notify the British government that Canada should no longer be allowed, by affording an asylum to fugitive slaves, to foster disunion and dissension in the United States. The Virginia governor seems to have had the idea that the president might be bullied into provoking trouble with Great Britain. "The war shall be carried into Canada," he said in another of his outbursts.

A part of the Tory press in Canada took sides with the South, The Leader terming the attack on Harper's Ferry an "insane raid" and predicting that the South would sacrifice the union rather than submit to the North. The viewpoint of The Leader may be further illustrated by its statement that the election campaign of 1860 was dominated by a "small section of ultra-abolitionists, who make anti-slavery the beginning, middle and end of their creed." As for Lincoln he was characterized as "a mediocre man—a fourth rate lawyer."

Roland Hayes, Negro Tenor, Real Artist

Toronto, Nov.—More than a decade ago a company of colored singers came to Massey Hall late in the season to give a concert. Those persons who attended, and they were not numerous, came away considerably impressed by the natural beauty of the voice of one man, Mr. Roland Hayes, who was then unknown. Since that time Mr. Hayes has travelled far, both geographically and artistically. He has been to Europe, and has perfected the vocal gifts that heaven gave to him. Over there he won a success that one think of the negro singer in Leonard Merrick's novel. He did not have to overcome racial prejudice in order to get started in England and Europe, and now with a voice like his to offer the lovers of sweet sounds he can go anywhere. His success has been sensational in the United States during the past year, and last night he came back to Toronto in recital. Only a fair-sized audience heard him in Massey Hall but when he comes again he should be welcomed by a capacity house.

Although the negro people are naturally musical, people are inclined to associate them with minstrelsy and the lighter forms of song. But last night, the gathering at Massey Hall found in Mr. Hayes a perfect interpreter of lyric music. If any persons were present out of curiosity, the art of the singer must have been a revelation to them. The much misused word exquisite can be applied to Mr. Hayes' tenor. It is a voice of fine velvety quality and great flexibility. He is at his best in numbers that require delicacy of phrasing and tonal coloring, such as the Handel air that he gave as an encore to his first aria. Seldom has anything like the loveliness of his pianissimo passages been heard in Massey Hall.

His program was not widely varied. Probably he realized that his audience would prefer to have him confine his attention to the compositions that displayed his almost ethereal lyrical quality. One of the interesting features of the program was the last group of Negro Spirituals. He evidently had a fear that some members of the audience might not catch the significance of the characteristic numbers, and might misunderstand the quaintly matter-of-fact words, so he said a few words in explanation of each one. But he need not have feared unseemly mirth when the songs had such a sympathetic inter-

Chicago Voters Elect Negro Judge

Chicago voters elect Negro judge—Chicago, Ill., Nov.—(By the Associated Negro Press)—After repeated attempts and failures, a Negro Judge was elected in this city Tuesday in the person of Albert A. George. Mr. George ran on the Republican ticket and was elected to the Municipal court bench. His election was due to solid support from his race and the backing of the Republican organization throughout the city.

Before the election he had received endorsements of the highest character, only one organization that is known refusing to place a mark opposite his name and that one being closely linked with the Ku Klux Klan.

Mr. George is 51 years old and was born in Washington, D.C. At an early age he went to Alltuna, Pa., where he served as clerk for a justice of the peace and studied law in the office of Nicholas P. Mervine. He came to Chicago later, studied at Northwestern University and finished in the class of 1897. He has been practicing for 26 years.

Judge George was married six years ago to Miss Maude Roberts. He has one child, Albert R. George. The judge has been attorney for the Chicago Defender for a number of years, is a member of the board of trustees of Provident Hospital and secretary of the beneficiary board of the Knights of Pythias of Illinois.

preter. He indicated all the poignancy of numbers like "Sit Down," and gripped his audience with the unaccompanied spiritual "He Never Said a Word," describing a man watching the Crucifixion. This memorable recital owed a great deal to the perfect accompaniments of Mr. William Lawrence, who supplemented the art of Mr. Hayes perfectly.

EXECUTIVE OF LEAGUE HOLDS A MEETING

The initial meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian League for the Advancement of Colored People was held last Thursday evening at the Y.M.C.A. Prominent business men of the city manifested a keen interest in the furthering of the cause of the colored people of the Dominion. The following members of the executive committee attended the meeting: E. A. Silverwood, David Ross, Max Lerner, E. W. Gairns, R. H. Wade, E. R. Dennis, Mayor Wenige, Harry Wray, J. W. Wray, S. R. Drake, B. E. Fountain, F. O. Stewart, C. H. Brown, J. F. Jenkins. An atmosphere of enthusiastic and sincere interest in the work of the league pervaded the meeting. The platform adopted three months ago by the general body of the League was presented to the executive committee and approved by them, the approval being followed by the appointment of a committee to arrange ways and means of carrying the platform into immediate force. Following are the names of the appointed committee: E. A. Silverwood, David Ross, Max Lerner, B. E. Fountain, J. F. Jenkins.

The financial difficulties encountered by the publishers of The Dawn of Tomorrow, the official organ of the League, was discussed at length. Members of the executive pointed out that the publication of The Dawn had been instrumental in raising the ideals of the colored race and that since its advent the colored people had been raised in the estimation of the white race.

The following committee was appointed to aid in placing the publication on a more substantial footing: E. R. Dennis, Mayor Wenige, E. J. Carty, F. O. Stewart, J. F. Jenkins.

EditorialA VOICE FROM AFRICA

Last Thursday evening the Executive Board of the Canadian League for the Advancement of Colored People held its initial meeting. We had a very distinguished visitor in the personage of the Right Reverend Father, a colored Catholic priest of Abyssinia who is at present residing in Detroit. He sat with rapt attention throughout the meeting listening to discussions of plans for the betterment of conditions of the race. No expression of his face gave evidence of the inward joy he was experiencing. However, as the meeting came to a close he came forward and said to us: "I have been profoundly impressed with the manner in which this whole committee has gone about the difficult task of laying plans for the improvement of conditions of my race. I am particularly impressed by the report of the editor of your official organ, The Dawn of Tomorrow. I like the appearance and the tone of your paper and, judging from the facts which have been brought out here tonight, it stands unequivocally for equal rights, equal opportunities, and for the advancement of our people along all lines. It was mentioned that the paper was not on a paying basis and that its officers are sacrificing their time and money in order to keep it afloat. I want to do something to help your paper, and you, Mr. Editor. If you will call on me tomorrow evening I shall try to arrange to help you in whatever way I can."

The next evening, according to our agreement we called on the Reverend Father. Not much time was lost on preliminary discussions. We soon began to discuss the thing for which we had met. Our distinguished visitor suggested many plans for increasing our circulation among our own people. Evidently he had given much thought to the subject. However we informed him that all the plans he suggested had been tried, and even more without success. Said he: "If you were conducting such a paper in Abyssinia, my native land, you would have no difficulty in getting the proper support, for there we know no law or no religion higher than that of race consciousness. When you, our cousins in this country, develop this kind of spirit you will become a self-respecting and a respected people."

He did not stop here. He said further: "I told you last evening I wanted to do something to help your paper, to help the cause for which you are struggling. Here is — dollars" (a very substantial sum.) "I shall send you that amount for twenty weeks. Now if you can get twenty more colored men to do as I have done your paper will soon be on a paying basis."

Now if Abyssinia, if Africa can come to us and bring us such lessons, if she is sending us men with such vision, it is time that we asked that missionaries be sent us from Africa. Let us cease our babbling about civilizing Africa, rather let us sit at the feet of the sages from Abyssinia and learn what is to us the most fundamental principle of civilization—the spirit of co-operation. "And Ethiopia shall stretch forth her hands." As the ancients said, "Always from Africa comes something new."

THE VILLAGE PHILOSOPHER.

Last night, as oft I've done before,
I hie'd me to the village store,
And sat absorbing wise comments
From wrinkled-faced be-whiskered gents,
Who pointed out solutions, plain,
For problems which have taxed the brain
Of many a statesman, many a day,
And many a learned head, turned gray.

The question of Thanksgiving tide,
With which they soon were occupied,
Caused much discussion, much dissent,
And fists that clenched in argument.
Said one old crusty, crabbed crank:
"For what I have, myself I thank.
I toil all day. By night I sleep,
And as a man sows, he shall reap."

Then one who wore gray woolen sq.,
And had sat silent on a box,
Arose, and standing on the floor
Said: I thank God we have no war.
My two brave boys who took the chance,
Now 'twas not I who made war cease
So I thank God that we have peace.

I thank Him for the sunny days,
And for the many wondrous ways,
He shows His work on every hand
In blades of grass, or mountains grand.

The flowers bloom; the fruit matures;
The harvest-time our food insures.
When I view nature as a whole,
I thank my God. He has control.

'Twas thus he spoke, then walked away.

While no one there had aught to say,
Expression on each face was such,
'Twas easily seen they pondered much
As, coming home, I sensed the breeze—

And moonlight filtered through the trees,
Me thought—Oh, what a glorious night

Yon man's philosophy is right.

SEELY.

John Brown Raid

Canada's relation to John Brown's plans became known of course, after the collapse of the Harper's Ferry raid. The seizure of his papers, the evidence given at the trial and before the Senatorial investigation, all confirmed the suspicion that there was extensive plotting against slavery going on in Canada. In the report submitted by the Senate committee the proceedings at Chatham were stated to have had as their object "to subvert the government of one or more of the states, and of course to that extent the government of the United States." Questions were asked by members of the committee that indicated a belief that indicated a belief that there was a distinctly Canadian end to the Harper's Ferry raid.

In the actual carrying out of the raid but small assistance came from Canada. Of the twenty-one men who marched out with Brown that October night only one could be described as a Canadian. This was Osborne Perry Anderson, a Negro, born free in Pennsylvania, who was working as a printer in Chatham when Brown came there and who threw in his lot for the grand adventure. He is described by Hinton as having been well educated, a man of natural dignity, modest, simple in character and manners. He wrote a pamphlet account of the raid from which he escaped unhurt, and later served in the Northern army during the Civil War. He died at Washington, D.C. in the year 1871.

The question naturally arises: why was the aid given to John Brown by the Negroes of Canada so meagre. That Brown himself had counted on substantial help from the Canadian refugees is certain. John Edwin Cook, an associate who made a confession after the raid, said that both men and money had been promised from Chatham and other parts of Canada. Yet, apart from Anderson, only one other Canadian seems to have had even an indirect part in the raid. The exception was Dr. Alexander M. Ross, of Toronto, who, by agreement with Brown, went to Richmond, Va., before the blow was struck and was there when the news came of its unhappy ending. Ross was evidently placed in Richmond to keep watch on the official attitude, should the plan succeed and the abduction of slaves begin.

It is known that there was effort during the summer of 1858 to get the Negroes in Canada enlisted, this work being in charge of John Brown Jr., assisted by Rev. J. W. Loguen, a well-known Negro abolitionist. Together they visited Hamilton, St. Catharines, Chatham, London, Buxton, Windsor and other places, organizing branches of The League of Liberty among the refugees.
