A British Reverse.

The engagement near Ladysmith was practically a British reverse. While judgment should be reserved until the details are known, the first impression upon reading the dispatches is that General White has over-reached himself, and has suffered disaster by assuming the aggressive when he should have confined himself to defensive tactics.

Disaster for The British

Larg Force Captured in the Hills at Ladysmith.

Two Regiments and a Battery of Artillery

Capitulate to the Boers After a Stubborn Fight.

Gen. White Admits His Position Was Untenable.

No Blame Attached to the Troops, Who Behaved Gallantly-Names of the Officers in the Hands of the Enemy -Arrival of Gen. Buller at Cape Town.

London, Oct. 31.-The war office has received a dispatch from Gen. White, commanding the British forces at Ladysmith, reporting that the Royal Irish Fusiliers, No. 10 Mounted Battery and the Gloucestershire regiment were surrounded in the hills by the Boers, and, after losing heavily, obliged to capitulate.

The casualties have not yet been ascertained.

GEN. WHITE'S DISPATCH.

The following is the text of Gen. White's dispatch to the war office:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 30-10:35 p.m.-I have to report a disaster to the column sent by me to take a position on a hill to guard the left flank of the troops.

In these operations today the Royal Irish Fusiliers No. 10 Mounted Battery and the Gloucestershire Regiment were surrounded in the hills, and, after losing heavily, had to capitulate.

The casualties have not yet been ascertained.

"A man of the Fusiliers, employed as a hospital orderly, came in under a flag of truce with a letter from the survivors of the column, who asked for assistance to bury the dead. I fear there is no doubt of the truth of the report.

GEN. WHITE ASSUMES THE RESPONSIBILITY.

"I formed a plan in the carrying out of which the disaster occurred, and I am alone responsible for the plan. There is no blame whatever to the troops, as the position was untenable."

British Losses.

PRISONERS.

Gen. White, in a subsequent dispatch says: The following is a list of the officers taken prisoners today:

Staff-Major Ayle.

Irish Fusiliers-Col. Carleton, Major Munn, Major Kincaid, Capt. Burrows, Capt. Rice, Capt. Silver, Lieut. Heard, Lieut. Southey, Lieut. Phibbs, Lieut. McGregor, Lieut. Holmes, Lieut. Kelly, Lieut. Dooner, Lieut. Kentish, Lieut. Kinahan, Lieut. Jewdewine, Chaplain Matthews. Of the above captains Rice and Silver and Lieut. Dooner were wounded.

Gloucestershire Regiment-Major Humphrey, Major Capcure, Major Wallace, Capt. Duncan, Capt. Connor, Lieut. Bryant, Lieut. Nisbet, Lieut. Ingham, Lieut. Davy, Lieut. Knox, Lieut. Temple, Lieut. Radice, Lieut. Bredt, Lieut. Hill, Lieut. Short, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. MacKenzie, Lieut. Beasley, Lieut. Gray. Of the above captains Duncan and Connor were wounded.

Royal Artillery-Major Bryant.

Mountain Battery-Lieut. Wheeler, Lieut. Nuzent, Lieut. Moore, Lieut. Webb.

The enemy did not press, but showed themselves in their positions in great numbers, only to find that the naval brigade from the Powerful had arrived.

Two quick-firing guns were at once placed in position, under cover of a redoubt, and in five rounds they silenced the enemy's 40-pounder. The troops were back in Ladysmith by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The casualties caused by the enemy's artillery were not severe. The mountain battery on the left reported that it had suffered through a stampede of mules.

Our artillery, cavalry, mounted infantry and volunteer cavalry behaved splendidly in difficult circumstances. Dr. Jameson and Sir John Willoughby arrived today and were spectators of the action."

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The Daily Telegraph has the following account of the Ladysmith engagement:

"An indecisive reconnaissance occurred today. Gen. Sir George Stewart White advanced before daybreak (Monday) with all the available forces from Ladysmith, moving towards Tintia Ingoni. Two brigades were under Col. Ian Hamilton and another, with Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter, went toward Bulman, while two regiments, guided by Major Ayle, the Devonshire Regiment left beyond the old camp. The Boers were found to be in great force at all points. Although we have seven batteries of artillery, their fire failed entirely to crush the enemy, and the infantry and the Fifth Lancers pluckily rode across the enemy's front and feigned a retreat. This, however, failed to draw the enemy out, the Boers only replying with shell fire. This flank attack so developed that Col. Hamilton had to reinforce our right with three batteries and the Gordon Highlanders and the Devonshire Regiment and the Manchester Regiment at intervals. Our artillery changed front, and a severe artillery duel then ensued, the guns generously supporting the reinforcing infantry as they advanced. The two batteries remained in action against the 12-pounder, and the quick-firers of the naval contingent came into action. The enemy had 100 pieces, machine guns and a 100-pounder. Gen. White, in the afternoon, withdrew his forces upon Ladysmith. Till losses on the Boer side were considerable."

WITH THE CENTER COLUMN.

The war correspondent of the Standard, who has been with the Ladysmith, telegraphing as to Monday's engagement, says: "During the opening stages of the fight I attached myself to the center column. We marched three miles halted under a march to await developments. In the attack on the right, the first shot was fired at 5:20 a.m. Battery after battery went into action, and gradually the enemy's fire slackened. For nearly two hours not a shot of ours was returned, save when Long Tom, the name our soldiers had given to the 40-pounder, poured a shell, which we followed with anxious eyes towards the town of Ladysmith. Presently the enemy's horsemen were seen streaming on the left to our left, sheltered by a rising ground, they occupied a ridge on our left flank, and there, hidden by the shrub and trees, they could watch the train of events in safety and await their chance. The Devonshires now advanced toward Kaffir Kraal, under a hillcock, and there they remained with orders not to fire a shot until they were called upon. Only when volleys were heard on their rear and flank did they show the least sign of restlessness. The sound of this firing, feeble though it seemed, satisfied us that the Gloucesters and Irish Fusiliers were at work.

"Sir George White, Sir Archibald Hunter and other officers watched the movements of what appeared to be the first promise of a realization of Gen. White's plans. Soon after nine o'clock messengers began to arrive with news that the right column needed support. The first battalion of the Gordon Highlanders, then the Manchester Regiment, and then the Rifle Brigade, who had left the train were sent to the battlefield, until only the Devonshire Regiment, a squadron of mounted infantry and the field hospital were left with the center column. Receiving that a change in the operations was in progress, I went with the Manchester Regiment towards the right. Our artillery, under Lombard's command, was engaged in repelling the enemy's attempt to turn our flank. The Manchester were sent forward to support the cavalry, while the Dublin Fusiliers, two battalions of the Sixtieth Rifles, the Liverpool Regiment and the Leicestershire were beginning to feel the effects of the enemy's marching rifle fire. The enemy very rarely showed themselves, although along the ridge that lay beyond the range of our guns they from time to time gave us an opportunity to judge of their numbers. At the height of the engagement the noise was deafening. Above the rattle of the musketry could be heard the thud of the Maxim and the banging of the quick-firing guns, which considerably added to the difficulties our men had to encounter. The purpose of the reconnaissance had, however, been gallantly conceived and the infantry began to fall back. This movement was covered by cavalry. Some of the troops had to cross open ground towards the center, and while so doing they were raked with a heavy fire. The movement was, however, effected without disorder or disastrous loss. Our batteries were got into position to cover the withdrawal of our army from Mole station, but the fortunate destruction of the enemy's Long Tom rendered such service unnecessary.

CALLED IT A RECONNAISSANCE. Ladysmith, Oct. 30.—6 p.m.—The advance was made at dawn with the object of shelling the Boers from the position, where yesterday they had mounted a number of guns. On reaching the spot, however, it was found that they had evacuated the position. The British continued to advance, and the movement developed into a reconnaissance in force. The enemy were posted on a range of hills, having a frontage of about sixteen miles. Gen. White's plan of operations was that, as the movement developed, the force consisting of a kopje, which was disposed under cover of a kopje, should throw itself upon the enemy, while the left flank was being held by the Fusiliers and the Gloucesters. The scheme was in execution, but failed in execution, owing to the fact that the Boer position which formed our objective was evacuated. Our artillery quickly reduced the volume of the enemy's fire, but the attack delivered on our right flank was very severe, and the column was compelled to charge. The Boer attack had been advanced, covered by cavalry. The enemy now began to develop.

A HEAVY COUNTER-ATTACK, and as they were in great numerical superiority, Gen White gave orders for the infantry to be gradually withdrawn. The movement was carried out with great steadiness and deliberation under cover of our guns, which made excellent practice.

ENEMY'S SHELLS REACHED THE TOWN.

Some shells were thrown into the town from the enemy's guns, and at a range of over 6,000 yards, but no damage was done. The engagement lasted several hours, and resulted on our side in a loss of 100 men, and on the Boer side in a loss of 100. The Boer losses were largely exceeded by the total. The attack was admirably delivered by our right, and the Boers were fairly driven out of their strongholds, but, however, Lombard's plan was not possible, however, to push the success much further, as beyond that point lay a long, broken ridge, affording every kind of natural cover. Of this the enemy took the fullest advantage.

Our shells failed to dislodge the Boers, and as our infantry moved forward in extended order they came under a heavy and well-directed rifle fire, the effect of which was soon apparent. Gen. White, who was with the center, seeing that the troops on the right were somewhat pressed, sent to their assistance the whole center column, with the exception of the Devonshire Regiment. The battle had then lasted four hours, during which the artillery on both sides had been almost incessant.

TIMELY HELP. The naval brigade, which landed at Durban, had arrived on the scene toward the end of the fight, and immediately brought their guns into play. Their practice was magnificent. At the fourth shot the enemy's 40-pounders had been knocked out of action. Throughout the engagement the Boers held their ground with courage and tenacity and considering the intensity of our artillery fire they must have suffered severely.

ABILITY OF THE BOERS. Monday's engagement at Ladysmith, which despite the rather heavy losses, must be regarded rather as an extended reconnaissance or skirmish than a battle. It is disappointing to the British public, as again revealing the tactical skill of a high order on the side of the Boers. In addition to the position of a number of heavy guns, the transportation of which caused wonderment here, they have available an immense number of officers, it is hardly considered probable that Boer farmers would have assumed a feigned position, as they evidently did, in front of the right column, with the intention of retreating from it to the Boers' real line of defense, and inducing the British to attack over a fire-swept zone.

DUTCH AID THE BOERS. According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Durban, it has been ascertained that the Natal Dutch have been actually assisting the Boers by carrying information regarding the British movements. It seems that although the landings and departures of the troops were effected by night, and the greatest secrecy is maintained, yet the enemy somehow gets information, despite the severe censorship. It is also believed in Durban that the Dutch have assisted the Boers by pointing out British officers in the battles.

ARRIVAL OF GEN. BULLER AT CAPE TOWN. London, Oct. 31.—A dispatch from Cape Town announces the arrival in Table Bay of the Dunottar Castle late Monday evening, with Gen. Sir Redvers

Buller and his staff, who are expected to land this morning. They will meet a tremendous ovation in Cape Town. It is reported from Pretoria that 200 of the British wounded from Dundee have arrived there and have been furnished accommodation in the state school buildings.

A special dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez says a strong force of Portuguese troops have arrived on the Transvaal border from Mozambique Territory, owing to fears regarding the hostilities between the British and Boers.

BOER REPORTS. Lorenzo Marquez, Oct. 31.—A dispatch received here from Pretoria, under date of Oct. 28, says that Gen. Cronje, the Boer commander, reports the British garrison at Mafeking made a bayonet attack on Major Louw's laager near Grandstand, but were repulsed, leaving a good many on the field, dead, and that many were wounded. The dispatch adds that General Baden-Powell asked for an armistice in order the better to prepare for defense. Gen. Cronje consented to this, the British putting the dead in the wagon and returning to Mafeking.

CANADIANS IN IT. Toronto, Ont., Oct. 31.—Mr. C. D. Cory, of this city, received a cablegram today from his son, Gen. Cory, of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, stating that he and Capt. C. A. Hensley, also of the same regiment, had taken part in the engagement at Ladysmith and were unhurt. The cablegram was dated Oct. 30, and was sent from Ladysmith.

A HOSPITAL SHIP FROM AMERICA. London, Oct. 31.—Lady Randolph Churchill presided yesterday at a meeting of the committee of the American fund being raised to send a hospital ship for the use of the wounded soldiers in South Africa. It was announced that Mr. Frederick Gardner and Mr. John Hays Hammond, the American engineer, has contributed £1,000 each to the fund. The subscribers of large amounts include Mr. August Belmont, Mr. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, and Messrs. Bradley-Martin and Burns. The fund has already reached £3,200. Offers of medical stores and professional service pour in from all sources in the greatest profusion. The war office will grant the American ladies exceptional privileges in promoting their project, even going so far as to accept American surgeons, nurses and orderlies, the latter to act as aides to the nurses. The only stipulation is that the head of each department shall be a British subject. It is expected that the Maine will be ready to sail in about three weeks, fully equipped to minister to 200 wounded. She will proceed in the first case to Cape Town, and then go to where the war office may indicate.

BUGLE NOTES. Britain is said to be about to mobilize 29 more cruisers at Plymouth. Gen. Jan Kook, the wounded Boer general, is being nursed in Ladysmith by his wife.

Cecil Rhodes is said to have gathered and equipped a town guard of 400 men at Kimberley, paying out $60,000 of his own money for the purpose.

WHISPERINGS OF THE WIRES. Mr. George Ryan, of Downeyville, dropped dead.

Senator Sullivan (Conservative) of Kingston is dying.

United States Vice-President Hobart is dangerously ill.

Admiral Dewey and Mrs. William B. Hazen are engaged to be married.

Toronto city council has adopted a resolution to make nine hours the working day on all civic jobs.

Smallpox has appeared in Saginaw, Mich. Albert and Edward Hedges are the victims. They are now quarantined.

Insects have practically ruined the cocoa plants in the Lamar and Huanta regions of Peru and prices of cocoa are double those of last year.

Mayor Teetzel, of Hamilton, proposes a scheme of municipal reform by electing aldermen for five years, paying them and reducing their number.

Two Americans were killed in a brush. Gen. Young's command had with it a number of Filipinos at Tubotan River in his march from San Isidro upon Santa Rosa.

It is asserted that Emperor Nicholas has given up his visit to Carlsruhe in consequence of a renewal of the quarrel between the grand ducal courts of Baden and Hesse.

SAILING OF THE SARDINIAN

Canadian Contingent in Splendid Trim.

Capt. Johnston Is Proud of His Passengers—They Will Make a Good Record for Themselves.

[Special to Advertiser per G.N.W.] Father Point, Que., Oct. 31.—The troopship Sardinian passed outward at 8:30 a.m. A correspondent boarded her here and found all the boys moving about the decks in a lively manner, laughing and joking, and with not a mournful countenance to be seen. All were delighted with the magnificent send-off they got at Quebec. Capt. Johnston, in conversation, said that he had seen many troops embarked, but never did he see better handling, discipline and comportment than were displayed at Quebec. His passengers.

PROUD OF HIS PASSENGERS. Mayor McWilliams boarded the ship, taking a large number of British magistrates, the boys, for which he received three rousing cheers. He held up a British ensign at arm's length on leaving the ship, and again three cheers rang out from stem to stern of the troopship, accompanied with shouts of "WE WILL HOLD IT UP!"

J. B. R. Fiset and L. Fiset, sons of Hon. Senator Fiset, went aboard the troopship to say adieu to their brother, Surgeon Eugene Fiset.

LEAVING QUEBEC. Quebec, Oct. 31.—The Sardinian began her voyage to the Cape at 4:30 Monday afternoon, within fourteen days after the order for the mobilization of the troops came to the Canadian government. The members of the cabinet and the officers of the Canadian militia, who saw her leave her wharf carrying a regiment of Canadian soldiers fully prepared for the voyage and equipped for the battles to be fought, were the following: (List of names received by the government-October 30.)—Her majesty's government offer hearty congratulations to the Canadian government and military authorities for rapid organization and embarkation of contingent. Enthusiasm displayed by people of Dominion a source of great gratification here. (Signed) Chamberlain.

The pleasure of the recognition of Canada's ability to meet an emergency was unbounded, but the satisfaction at the completion of an almost overwhelming task, and the pleasure in the embarkation of a Canadian contingent possible at such an early date the greatest reward. The great Allan liner has, it is said, sailed under sealed orders. The government and military swarmed everywhere over the boat, and shouted and cheered and sang intermittently. The people of the city filled every dock on the waterfront. They were dotted over the parade; they lined the great walls of the Citadel and from every corner of vantage answered cheer and hurrah and sang with the soldiers.

NEARLY 7 FEET HIGH Tall Pine Chamberlain Met His Match in Height.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 31.—Hon. F. C. Chamberlain's towering height has given him the title of the "Tall Pine of the Gobeck," and it is the popular belief up here that he is the tallest man in the peninsula. It is not often that the big representative has to "rubber up" at anybody, no matter where he goes, but that was his novel experience yesterday. Mr. Chamberlain, who has been down from Ironwood a couple of days, was one of the politicians gathered on the depot platform yesterday afternoon to await the arrival of Senator McMillan and ex-Gov. Rich. While he was awaiting up and down the platform he found himself suddenly confronted by a boyish-looking young fellow who was actually looking down at him. The representative looked up and the tall boy looked down. Smiles flitted over their faces.

Mr. Chamberlain smiled for the absurdity of the thought that it was actually possible to find in Michigan anyone who could give him inches. The tall boy's smile said very plainly: "No, you are not as big as I am, and you never will be." However, there was no jealousy on the part of either. It was a friendly rivalry, and each of them seemed pleased to find a fellow human who could so nearly look him in the eyes.

"How tall are you?" inquired Mr. Chamberlain, as he sized up the young stranger. "They call me the Tall Pine up here, but I guess you are taller than I am."

"I am six feet nine," answered the tall boy.

"Oh, then," said Mr. Chamberlain, "you can give me three inches." It transpired upon further questioning that the name of the tall boy is Floyd M. Sanders, and that his home is in Tawas, in the lower part of the state. He is 19 years old and weighs but 165 pounds. He is a car painter by trade, and has been working for the South Shore all this season, but most of the time has been out of town.

POSSIBLE BOOM FOR PETROLIA. Petrolia, Ont., Oct. 31.—The bylaw to grant a franchise to the Carman Gas and Well Gas Company was submitted to the electors here yesterday and carried. For the bylaw, 410; against, 8. The town is in high glee at the result, as this means a big boom to our town, if the Carman Company is successful.

FATAL FIRE IN MONTREAL

Started in the Early Hours of the Morning.

Several Fatalities Among the Domes-tics—Many Guests Injured by Leaping From the Windows.

[Special to The Advertiser per G.N.W.] Montreal, Oct. 31.—The Webster House, at the corner of St. James and Cathedral streets, near Bonaventure station, was gutted by fire early this morning.

THREE CHARRED BODIES have already been taken from the ruins, two of which have been identified as those of women employed in the hotel. E. C. Perkins is the proprietor of the hotel. The firemen believe there are other bodies in the ruins, and a vigorous search is now in progress.

One man is reported dead at the Notre Dame Hospital and another man named Kidd is reported dying. The dead man is believed to be John Benbow, of Ottawa, whose son was one of the Transvaal contingent.

Three of the injured are reported at the general hospital. Several were hurt by jumping from windows. Capt. Oswald was seriously injured in that manner. A C. P. R. conductor is reported among the dead.

The Webster House was frequented largely by railway men and country people.

THE START. The fire broke out about 5:15 this morning, when everybody about the house was asleep. The servants connected with the hotel were quartered above the kitchen, and it is among them that the majority of the fatalities occurred.

The front of the hotel is but slightly damaged. The guests were awakened to find themselves smothering in a dense smoke, became panic-stricken, and several of them jumped from the windows, sustaining severe and in some cases fatal injuries.

THE KAISER'S ENGLISH VISIT

Considered a Matter of Much Importance. Great Britain and Germany on Good Terms.

New York, Oct. 30.—Regarding the approaching visit to England of Emperor William, the London correspondent of the Tribune says: "The German emperor has again become a picturesque character in European politics. The French chauvinism forgives him for having intervened at the close of the Dreyfus trial to deprive the verdict of the judges of all moral force, and is now coaxing him to stay away from England. Bismarck's German partisans are also warning him that it is most important for him to remain in close terms with the czar than to woo popularity in England. There is also the old-time feeling of jealousy, especially among the commercial classes of Germany, which is not easily reconciled with the new trend of the emperor's policy of friendship for England. His projected visit to England has become a matter of high diplomatic importance, and will be preceded by a meeting with the czar, which will not lessen the significance of the event. Naturally he is investing these incidents with an atmosphere of mystery, and the prominence attached to his movements imparts lustre to his prestige and personal influence in European affairs."

The change of public sentiment in England respecting the German emperor since the flying squadron was ordered out four years ago is nothing less than a startling anomaly. English irritation over Germany's commercial rivalry with the German emperor's meddlesome intervention in the Transvaal affair reached a pitch where war would have been welcomed. Times have changed, and the English people are now prepared to receive him as an ally and friend, who has stood by them when Russia and France has been suspected of treachery. Influential press writers remind the emperor that the time may come when Germany may want English sympathy, and assure him that it will not be withheld, since Englishmen will not forget the friendship the Kaiser displayed at a critical moment of their history. He will without doubt minimize the effect of the visit by exchanging cordial embraces with the

A SIGN OF CONFIDENCE.

On Aug. 22, 1899, the first sale was made from the present block of 50,000 (fifty thousand) shares. Today only some six to eight thousand shares are left. This is conclusive proof that the investing public of London and vicinity have confidence in the manner in which the management are conducting the affairs of the company. It was decided at a recent meeting of the board to place the company's stock on the English market and an official of the company is expected to leave on Nov. 16 for that purpose. Stock is vastly cheaper now than it will be a little later on. Advance takes place shortly.

Mr. Brady was in ignorance of what the matter was until he happened to read the symptoms of Bright's Disease in a Dodd's Kidney Pills pamphlet.

THIRTY CASTAWAYS. St. Johns, Nfld., Oct. 31.—The steamer Labrador, which has just arrived here from a trip along the Labrador coast, reports that a fishing crew of 30 people are on a desolate island off the northern section of the coast, where they have been virtually abandoned for some time owing to the fact that the instructions for a vessel to bring them down miscarried. A special steamer must be sent promptly to their assistance or they will perish from cold and hunger during the coming winter.

NOT GUILTY. Chicago, Oct. 31.—A verdict of "not guilty" was returned by the jury in the suit of Joseph O'Day for $50,000 damages against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, and the Wabash Railway Company, for alleged blacklisting. The specific charges were that through an agreement between the general managers of the various railroads throughout the country, O'Day and others who had participated in the American Railway Union strike in 1894 should be refused employment unless they could secure permission from the road by which they were last employed.

LOOKS BLACK FOR WILSON

Young Man Sent for Trial on Three Ugly Charges.

John Maxwell Also Held for Stealing $100 From an Hostler—Police Court Notes.

Herbert Wilson, the young man arrested, charged with having taken part in the robbery of Shoebottom's store, South London, had three different charges stated against him at the police court this morning.

The first was for attempted pick-pocketing at Port Stanley. On the day of the Irishmen's picnic, Mrs. Jennie Riddle swore that while she was watching the dancing, Wilson put his hand in her pocket. She had her baby in her arms, but managed to grab him by the wrist. The prisoner then pulled himself loose and walked rapidly away.

The second charge was of flimflamming Mr. H. French out of $5, while changing some money. Mrs. French, who was in the store at the time, identified Wilson as the stranger who wanted the money changed, but Mr. French would not be sure as to Wilson's identity.

The third was a charge of having had a hand in the robbery of Shoebottom's store. A straw hat was found near the scene of the robbery, with Wilson's name inscribed on the inside. Wilson was committed for trial on all three charges. Bail was refused.

John Maxwell was charged with stealing $100 from Thomas Robb, a hostler at the Bernard House. Robb testified to having a pocketbook in his coat, that was locked in the laundry. He saw the prisoner throw down a $5 bill in the bar of the house, and immediately recognized the bill as one from his pile.

Mr. Bernard testified that he received the bill from the bartender, and that Robb had come to him about the robbery. The prisoner had only worked for him three weeks and had received $7. He had given three $1 bills and one $4 bill.

Sylas Newell, the Fernhill stage-driver, testified that he had loaned the prisoner 25 cents. He asked for its return, but Maxwell said he had no money. The prisoner was sent for trial.

George Jackson, of the Aged Peoples' Home, who assaulted T. M. Johnston, of the Strathroy house of refuge. Bella Johnston was remanded on a charge of insanity.

The bus cases were again adjourned for a week.

WHY HE FAILED.

He was a conscientious boy and he worked hard. His ambition was to be a lawyer. He had a good education and more lawyers in the country already than there was law to go around.

Late in the night he was reading by the light of a student's lamp, his aching head swathed in a wet towel. All day the grind went on, from study to the dining room, from lecture room to study, with scarcely a moment's rest.

The fall examinations came on in their due course. The boy felt like an athlete over-trained, he wrote with painful effort. He could put no spirit into his pen. He had to force his mind to think, and the strain was slowly breaking down his will.

"You look completely broken down," said Judge Williamson kindly. "You need a rest. Eat lots of wholesome food and take plenty of sleep." The boy thought of the meal awaiting him at the cheap boarding house, and shuddered. His stomach weakened and turned at the thought.

Do's Dyspepsia Tablets would have changed all that, but he—like many others—didn't know that the secret of nervousness and general "run-down" is indigestion. And so he was "plucked" and became broken-hearted into the bargain.

EAGER RECRUITS FOR THE SEVENTH

Depleted Companies Rapidly Filling Again—Encouraging Sports—The Parade.

The Seventh Fusiliers parade last night was one of the most successful of the season. When the reorganization took place about the beginning of the year, it was rather hard to fill up the companies, the thought of belonging to the militia having gained a rather disagreeable flavor in the city.

men desirous of being received into the battalion, and Sergt.-Major Gregory was kept busy drilling the "rookies" in the preliminary movements.

Two nights a week are given to the instruction of the commissioned officers, and two to the non-coms, while one is set apart for the men to use the hall for basket ball or other sports, which are being taken up. It is the intention among the officers to encourage everything in the way of military sport, and for this purpose they will allow the hall to be open more than one night in a week, if necessary.

A short march was made through the park, and Major Cronyn, who was in command, put the companies through some battalion drill while on the move.

DISASTER ON THE EAST RIVER

Steamship Rammed a New York Ferryboat Near Her Dock.

The Disabled Vessel Sank in Ten Minutes in Seventy Feet of Water—One Body Recovered and One Person Missing.

New York, Oct. 31.—The Savannah Line steamship City of Augusta rammed the Pennsylvania passenger ferryboat Chicago in East River at 10:30 this morning. The ferryboat sank in ten minutes in 70 feet of water, within 150 feet of her pier, between Cortland and Liberty streets. About 50 passengers were aboard, including several women and children.

Rowboats from the wharves and tugboats in the river rescued many passengers. Others swam ashore. After a night spent in dragging the body of the ferryboat, the exception of Cortland street, the police announced that they were able to find but one body, that of John Bryson, a driver of a small wagon. It is believed that all the passengers, with the exception of Bryson were saved.

When the Chicago left Jersey City at 12:04 a.m., Capt. Wm. Durham was in the forward pilot house, directing the boat personally, and one of his deck hands was at the wheel. The night was perfectly clear. The tide was ebbing fast, and Capt. Durham, on this account, was obliged to keep his boat headed well up stream. As the ferryboat was at the wharf, he put his helm over to head into the slip, and as the Chicago swung around the captain caught sight of the City of Augusta bearing down on him, coming up stream and very close.

Mr. Bernard testified that he received the bill from the bartender, and that Robb had come to him about the robbery. The prisoner had only worked for him three weeks and had received $7. He had given three $1 bills and one $4 bill.

George Blumenstock and George Ray, truckmen, who were coming over to the city with their loads of milk, jumped into the middle of the struggling mass and yelled, "Hands off! The women first."

A score of men took up the shout, and in a trice the women were fitted with life-preservers. The small number of passengers did not exhaust the supply of life-preservers, but many in their excitement, did not stop to put them on, but leaped overboard unprovided. It is feared that some such persons must have gone down in the city waters before help came.

The tug boat Chauncey M. Depew reached the scene before the Chicago sank, and took 25 people from the ferryboat and out of the water. The fireboat, police boat and several launches were called to the scene, and did valuable work in rescuing people.

Every notice that about the first thing the doctor does when called to see a patient is to feel the pulse.

It is of the utmost importance to know how the heart—the most vital organ of the body, is performing its functions. We would advise people to try their own pulse now and then—see if it is beating strong, steady and regular, or if it is weak, skips beats, or beats irregularly and intermittently.

If the pulse beat is the least bit out of tune, do not hesitate a moment in procuring Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Irregularity or weakness of the heart beat is too serious and dangerous to trifle with. Abundant experience has proved that this remedy can cure the severest and most distressing cases.

Here is the statement of Mr. Dennis Bolden, Hurontario St., Collingwood, Ont.: "My heart and nervous system have been weak for some two years. It was impossible for me to get restful sleep because of rising palpitation and fluttering of the heart. A short time ago I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. After taking that box I felt so much better that I continued their use, taking in all four boxes. I am now completely cured, have no heart or nerve troubles of any kind and can sleep as peacefully as a child."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all druggists or sent by mail by forwarding T. MILBURN & Co., TORONTO, ONT.

AGONIZING STOMACH PAINS!

Messrs. RADWAY & CO.

Dear Sirs.—I know a business man on the east side of town who has for years been afflicted and suffering agonizing pains in the stomach. The doctors from Prof. Jacoby down to others by the dozens, could neither effect a cure nor could they even tell what the malady was. He, a few years ago, crossed the Atlantic to consult German doctors, without result. I used to call at his store every few months and heard his tale of woe. He said while ill he was never able to retain his food, and at certain times of day he was attacked with an agonizing pain which lasted an hour or so, when he acted as a madman, breaking chairs, etc., and having to give up business for the time being. Food never stayed in his stomach longer than half an hour. Yesterday, after a lapse of eighteen months, I called again, and to my surprise he was still alive and looking well. I asked after his health. He said he has been well for over a year and has gained 40 pounds in weight. I tried to give him another kind, but he had resisted on Radway's, they were procured for him the next day. He only took one at night and he immediately felt better. He kept up for a time to take the pills, and from the first day to this day his malady never returned.

The Constitutional Question.

There has been a good deal of discussion growing out of Mr. Bourassa's resignation as a member of the Dominion Parliament, because of his contention that Canada should not have joined in one of Britain's numerous wars without the consent of the Canadian Parliament being first obtained.

In a speech at St. Vincent de Paul on Saturday, Hon. Mr. Tarte discussed the same question. He, too, is a loyal subject to the Queen—was, indeed, the first French-Canadian to join the Imperial Federation League.

Beyond all question this view is constitutionally sound. Throughout the British Empire the gates of the Temple of Janus are seldom closed; there are sometimes a half-dozen wars of greater or lesser moment in progress simultaneously.

The general principles laid down by Mr. Tarte being incontrovertible, it only remains to consider whether the interference of Canada in the South African embroglio was sufficiently exceptional to be, not a precedent, but its own justification.

The Advertiser is no Jingo. It is not a worshiper of mere force. It has no bitterness even towards the retrogressive Boer, though considering it would be a calamity that he should be allowed, as Lord Curzon says, to turn back the hands of the clock.

On the general proposition, then, that Canada should not rush thoughtlessly into wars not of her own making; that, in general, her Parliament should first be fully consulted; and that any theory of frequent participation in such wars would properly call for a previous vote as to whether each particular cause was a just one—the argument is all on one side.

Our Railways and Canals.

The tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues in Ontario, which came to a close with a great meeting at Smith's Falls on Saturday, was phenomenally successful.

There can be no doubt that Sir Wilfrid is even more popular today than he was when called to power three years ago. He has done well to visit leading points in the Province, though his tour was, through pressure of time, restricted.

So Colonel Sam Hughes is going to South Africa after all. To be sure, he will have no place among the officers of the contingent, but he would probably rather go as cook than have to return home and face his fellow-townsmen, who gave him such a send-off.

matched by his energy of mind, and the possessor of fine gifts of speech. Mr. Blair is one of the most striking figures in Canadian public life. This was his first speaking tour in Ontario, and his reception was deservedly cordial.

Mr. Blair was able to show a similar record with regard to the Government line of railway—the Intercolonial. All the years the late Government held office this railway has not paid any interest on its original cost of fifty million dollars.

Then, under Mr. Blair, the great coal deposits of the Crow's Nest Pass have been opened up, the mining interests of Canada enormously benefited and the Northwest guaranteed much reduced freights—an impossible condition of things under the old C. P. R. agreement.

Then, under Mr. Blair, a radical change has been made in the granting of aid to railways. The old way was to vote the money, and let the charter-holders have all the future benefits.

In these and other regards Hon. Mr. Blair's management of the Department of Railways and Canals has been progressive, energetic and prudent, and he was able to convince the thousands of electors who listened to him that the trust of the Premier in him has been well placed.

General Buller hasn't arrived a day too soon. Majuba Hill isn't avenged yet by long odds.

Lord Rosebery has been elected over Lord Kelvin for the rectorship of Glasgow University. In other words, a socialist has defeated a scientist.

The Dublin Fusiliers, the Gloucestershire Regiment, and No. 10 Mountain Battery seem to have fallen into the same trap as the Jameson raiders.

The Toronto papers contain a list of war sermons preached in that city last Sunday. It is to be hoped the sermons were acceptable to the Prince of Peace.

President Kruger has proved himself an adept at quoting Scripture in support of his mistaken treatment of the Uitlanders. Now that the British forces are trooping into South Africa, Oom Paul might do worse than turn to his Bible and seriously reflect on the wisdom contained in the 31st and 32nd verses of the 14th chapter of St. Luke, which ask: "Or what king going to war against another king sitteth not first down and consulteth whether he is able with 10,000 to meet him who cometh against him with 20,000; or else, while the other is yet a great way off he sendeth an ambassador and desireth conditions of peace?"

So Colonel Sam Hughes is going to South Africa after all. To be sure, he will have no place among the officers of the contingent, but he would probably rather go as cook than have to return home and face his fellow-townsmen, who gave him such a send-off.

has been too fresh in calling to the British War Office, offering to raise a Canadian corps for the Transvaal before anybody had asked for his services, and before an official move had been made.

In Ottawa they are using sawdust for fuel in factories, hotels and other large establishments. It is a wonder they did not think of this before, and avoid the nuisance and destruction of fish life caused by the emptying of the refuse into the rivers.

What Others Say.

A Cruel Thrust. [Buffalo Express.] The United States holds but 117 square miles out of 42,000 in Luzon. But that need trouble no one. Otis' strategy is quite equal to the task of abandoning that 117.

French-Canadian Loyalty. [St. Thomas Times (Can.)] French-Canadian loyalty is asserting itself in a highly satisfactory manner. Our Quebec fellow-citizens are not indifferent to the interests of the Empire, but they are with English-speaking Britons in zealously defending the civil and religious liberty which the British Empire assures its peoples, and which are now at stake in South Africa.

Veteran Soldiers. [Montreal Witness.] Of the officers selected for commands in South Africa, two are over 60 years of age. They are Sir George Stewart White, 64, and Sir C. F. Clery, 61. Sir Redvers Buller is 59, and 21 of the divisional brigades and staff officers are over 50.

REVIEW OF A YEAR'S WORK

Y. W. C. A. Observes a Pleasant Anniversary, Officers Elected.

The Young Women's Christian Association held an open meeting last night, it being the anniversary of their removal to the building they now occupy. General reports were read, which gave an idea of the work being done by the association, and the success that has attended their efforts to uplift the young women of the city by surrounding them with helpful influences.

In her report the general secretary, Miss Kirkpatrick, summarized the work that has been done during the year. Two events of much importance had occurred, one being their removal to their present commodious quarters, and the other being the change in control from a Y. W. C. A. board of management to a board of the Y. W. C. A. Thirteen thousand five hundred and ninety-one young ladies availed themselves of the privileges afforded by the rooms during the year.

SAVE YOUR SKIN

How to Preserve, Purify and Beautify the Skin and Complexion.

The clearest, softest, whitest skin, free from pimples, spots, or blemish, is produced by CUTICURA, beyond all comparison the most effective skin purifying and beautifying soap, as well as purest and sweetest for toilet, bath, and nursery. It prevents pimples, blackheads, blotches, red, rough, and city skin, and other blemishes, rashes, and eruptions, because it prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most complexional disfigurements.

SAVE YOUR HAIR

How to Prevent Falling Hair, Scalp Humors and Dandruff.

Warm shampoos with CUTICURA SOAP, followed by light dressings with CUTICURA, prevent or remove skin cures, will clear the scalp and hair of crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothe irritating and itching surfaces, stimulate the hair follicles, supply the roots with energy and nourishment, and thus produce luxuriant hair, with clean, wholesome scalp.

SAVE YOUR HANDS

How to Make the Hands Soft and White in a Single Night.

FROM NEW YORK TO THE LADRONES

Mr. James Wilkins, of Dundas street, has received a letter from a former London boy, who is now in the United States army, and is stationed in the Ladronne Islands: He says: "We left New York on May 11, and reached Gibraltar on the 21st. We celebrated the 24th in good style, firing a royal salute at noon with the British troops. We left there on the 30th, reaching Port Said on the 7th of June. This is the northern terminus of the Suez Canal, and it was here that I had my first experience of eastern life, and the peculiar characteristics of the Egyptians. Our next stop was at Colombo in Ceylon. While here we had a visit from Admiral Dewey, and we owe him thanks for giving us 24 hours of liberty on the island. From Colombo we went to Singapore, where we cooled, and then started for Manila. While here it was a common occurrence to hear the rattle of musketry, and the boom of the heavier guns, telling us that the Filipinos were still at it. The rainy season was in their favor, but still they were defeated in every attack. Our anchorage was on the very waters where Dewey found the Spanish squadron. Look where we would, our eyes would rest on the wreck of one of that squadron. From there we came to our destination at Guam. The natives were very glad at our coming, and welcomed us with every symptom of delight. We could hear nothing but "Buena Americanos!"

"Eat More Breakfast" There isn't a mother anywhere who will have to urge her child to "eat more breakfast" if Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats are served for the first dish. The delicate richness and the nut-like flavor will make a child call for more and more of them, and oftentimes a child will make a breakfast of Rolled Oats and nothing more. Let the children have all they want—IT WILL DO THEM GOOD. It is the most wholesome porridge that your child can eat. Best grocers sell "Pan-Dried" by the pound, but BE SURE YOU GET TILLSON'S.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly, and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market. The mountain forests of Westmoreland county, Pa., are being devastated by fires, which are endangering many farm houses. THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—a pulmonary of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swollen neck and crick in the back, and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial results.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good."

OTTAWA CONSERVATIVES

Rally at Which Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and Others Speak.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—There was a Conservative rally in Harmony Hall here last night.

Mr. Coates, president of the Conservative Association, occupied the chair. The hall was filled, a good number of Liberals being among the audience.

The first speaker was J. H. Bergeron, who made a good speech and was well received. He was followed by Clarke Wallace.

Sir Charles Tupper in his speech devoted most of his time to the question of sending the contingent to the Transvaal.

He also read a telegram which he had prepared, and which he was sending to Col. Otter. It read as follows:

"Sir Charles Tupper and friends at meeting in Ottawa wish you bon voyage and success in your efforts to maintain the honor of Canada and sustain the integrity of the empire."

Sir Charles said that the Conservative party had been the means of bringing about confederation, of giving Canada the National Policy, and of constructing the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Hon. Geo. Foster concluded the meeting, which was a success.

DEWEY'S CHOICE

The Bride-to-Be is the Widow of Gen. Hazen and a Sister of John R. McLean.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Admiral Dewey has announced to some of his more intimate friends the fact of his engagement to Mrs. W. B. Hazen, of this city.

Mrs. Hazen is the widow of Gen. Hazen, formerly chief officer of the army, who died about ten years ago, and is a sister of John R. McLean, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio.

She is a woman of large means, about 40 years old, and popular in the best social circles in Washington. The date for the wedding has not yet been fixed.

KIDNEYS CLOGGED. Many Victims of Bright's Disease, Diabetic, Dropsy and Distressing Urinary Troubles Have Been Saved by the Timely Use of South American Kidney Cure.

The kidneys are nature's filters in expelling from the body all impurities. If the kidneys are out of sorts the whole body becomes impaired and disease follows as sure as fate.

Bright's disease, diabetic and distressing urinary troubles infest four-fifths of the race. It need not be so, for South American Kidney Cure is a power in dispelling all tendency to the seating of the disease. It has cured cases that have been long and stubborn and have baffled medical skill.

The Strange Metamorphosis.

"Now you're angry," said Biddlecomb, humbly. "I don't wonder at it. I've behaved like a cad, I know, but I was sorry for you all the time."

"That's very comforting," said Paul, dryly. "Thank you. I'm vastly obliged to you."

"I was, though," said Biddlecomb. "I was led away by the other fellows—I always liked you, you know, Bultitude."

"You're a very odd way of showing your affection," remarked Mr. Bultitude. "But go on, let me hear all you have to say."

"It isn't much," remarked Biddlecomb, quite broken down. "Only don't speak of me this time. Don't let me off, there's a good fellow. I'll stick up for you after this. I will, really. You used not to be a fellow for sneaking once. It's oddish to sneeze."

"Don't be alarmed, my good friend," said Paul. "I won't poach on that excellent young man, Chawner's preserves. What I am going to tell the doctor has nothing to do with you."

"On your honor," said Biddlecomb, eagerly.

"Yes," said Paul, testily. "on my honor. Now, perhaps you'll let me alone. No, I won't shake hands, sir. I've had to accept your kicks, but I don't want your friendship."

Biddlecomb went off, looking slightly ashamed of himself, but visibly relieved from a haunting fear. "Thank goodness," thought Paul, "he wasn't as obstinate as the other fellow. What a set they are; I knew it; there's another boy coming up now!"

And, indeed, one boy after another came up in the same way, bringing more and more news, but all vowing that they had never intended to do any harm, and entreating him to change his mind about complaining of his ill-treatment. They brought him little offerings to propitiate him and prove the depth of their unaltered regard—pencil-cases, and pocket-knives, and so forth, until they drove Paul nearly to desperation. However, he succeeded in dispelling their fears after some hot arguments, and had just sent away the last suppliant when he saw Jolland, too, rise and come toward him.

Jolland leaned across Paul's desk with folded arms and looked full in the face with his shallow, light-green eyes. "I don't know what you've said to all those chaps," he began; "they've come back looking precious good."

"Mr. Bultitude has been satisfying their alarm taken care to let them know his private opinion of them, which was not flattering." "But I've got something to say to you, and it's this; I never thought you would come down to this sort of thing."

"What sort of thing?" said Paul, who was beginning to have enough of it.

"Why, going up and letting on against all of us—it's mean, you know. If you have got bashed about pretty well since you came back, it's all been your own fault, and you know it. Last term you got on well enough—this time you began to be queer and nasty the very first day you came. I thought it was one of your larks at first, but I don't know what it is now, and I don't care. I stood up for you as long as I could, till you acted like a funk yesterday. Then I took my share in lambing you, and I'll do it again. But if you are cad enough to pay us all out in this way, I'll have no more to do with you—mind that. That's all I came to say."

This was an unpalatable way of putting things; Paul could not help seeing that there was some truth in it. Jolland had been kind to him, too, in a careless sort of way, and at some cost to himself; so it was with more mildness than temper that he answered him.

"You're on the wrong tack, my boy, the wrong tack. I've no wish to tell tales of anyone, as I've been trying to explain to your friends. There's something the matter with me which you wouldn't understand if I told you."

"Oh, I didn't know," said Jolland, mollified; "if it's only phlegm you want."

"Whatever it is," said Paul, not caring to unnecessary him, "it won't affect you or anyone here, but myself. You are not a bad fellow, I believe. I don't want to get you into any trouble, sir; you don't want much assistance, I'm afraid, in that department. So be off, like a good fellow, and leave me in peace."

All these interviews had taken time. He was alarmed on looking at the clock to see that it was nearly eight; the doctor was a long time over that call. For the first time he began to feel uneasy; he made hurried mental calculations as to the probability of the doctor or Chawner being first to return.

The walk to church took about 20 minutes; say, the service took an hour, allowing for the return, he might expect Chawner by about half-past eight; it was striking the hour now—half an hour only in which he could hope for Nutrack Night of Burns' Time Has Gone Forever.

Nutrack Night was the most popular in all the year among the youth of the "North Country" of Britain. Nuts were distributed with lavish hand and cracked and eaten in abundance, besides being made to decide the fate of many a lad and lassie. In the words of Burns:

The auld guidewife's weel-hoordit nuts are round and round divided, And many lads' and lasses' fates are there that night decided;

Some kinde, couthe, side by side, And some the nut that's cracked and side, Some start awa' fu' saucy pride, And jump awa' o'er the chimly fu' high that night.

The nuts were placed in the hot ashes of a fire, and when they were roasted and the husk had been removed, the nuts were cracked and eaten in abundance. The nuts were also used to decide the fate of many a lad and lassie. In the words of Burns:

AMUSEMENTS

"FAUST" ON WEDNESDAY.

It has been demonstrated times without number that an intellectual dish daintily served with the necessary accompanying refinement, will always receive the commendation of the public.

No better evidence of the efficacy of such a statement is required than the mere mention of Lewis Morrison's production of "Faust," a play which was originally presented in the public sixteen years ago, and which is today recognized as one of the foremost dramatic successes of this age.

The presentation this year is announced as positively on its farewell tour, and that the public are taking advantage of this announcement is demonstrated by the enormous attendance given to this popular play wherever it is being presented.

FRANK DANIELS TONIGHT.

Frank Daniels will be at the Grand tonight. He has with him his big company, and will produce for the first time in his big comic opera, "The Amer."

It is said to be very funny, and in the hand of Frank Daniels ex-cruciatingly so. Daniels' support is larger this year than even it was last year. The success is said to be assured. Daniels' reputation for being surrounded by the best equipped organization, both in beauty and voice on the stage.

The success of the opera is described as sumptuous and in good taste. The Toronto Globe of Oct. 27 says: The principal feature of the first act is a waltz with the refrain, "Fond Love, True Love, Tell Thy Secret, Pray," which the composer must have thought would prove very attractive, as he utilizes it for the finale of both the first and third acts.

The second act is a taking grotesque musical chorus, which last night met with great favor and was enthusiastically redemanded. The duet, "Old Maids Are Willing to Please," for the Lord Chamberlain and Mirza, a pleasing number, and is followed by a march for female chorus, which made a great hit. The Amer has a humorous song, "The Rubber Man." The finale of the act is well played out, and the ensemble is brilliant and effective. The third act has an opening chorus, "Soft to Sensuous Music Swaying," presumably intended to be Oriental in character. Following this is a popular ditty, "The Little Poster Maid," assigned to Fanny, one of the leading women personages, and a trio satirizing in the music and action the continuous performance of vaudeville and introducing a coon song and rag-time music. This last number made a great hit, and with a double encore. A very pretty chorus, "On the Lattice," for Constance, with chorus "A Cellar," is the next prominent number, and then we have the most meritorious song for the Amer in the Grand, entitled "The Franklin's Daughter," which is quite a felicitous idea, the style being old English. This song, with a short dance, a slow gavotte, was one of the principal successes of the act. It is followed by a waltz, simply, as stated, a repetition of the waltz subject of the first act. Mr. Daniels, with the assistance of W. F. Rochester and Will Danforth, contrives to get a lot of devil humor out of the situation. Everybody knows how droll Frank Daniels can be in gesture, facial expression and business, and last night he had the audience laughing whenever he controlled the stage.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhea, cholera and all summer complaints, seasickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin? And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect? Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed. In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no rich cheek and round form where there are debilitating drains and female weakness. Women who have suffered from these troubles have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, opium or other narcotic is contained in "Favorite Prescription."

The Winnipeg Telegram of the 26th says: "Mr. John Ferguson Simpson, father of Mrs. Sam Hooper, died at the latter's residence, 90 Isabel street, last night. He was 82 years and 6 months old. Deceased was well-known in London, Ont., and Kincardine, Ont. He came to Winnipeg a number of years ago. In addition to Mrs. Hooper, he leaves another daughter, Miss J. Simpson, and two sons, Mr. George Simpson, of this city, and Mr. Michael Simpson, of Port Alexander." Deceased was a baker and confectioner by trade.

An unusually interesting meeting of the Athenaeum was held at Harding Hall on Friday last. The subject of the evening was "South Africa. After the critical features of the country, and showed very clearly the points in the present situation. Miss Wells then gave a lively sketch of Olive Schreiner's "African Farm," illustrated with some amusing cartoons by Miss Bishop. Short but bright papers on Oom Paul and the Boers by Misses Nenone Carling and Jap Moore, followed, and some enjoyable music—a piano solo by Miss Edna McNab and two violin solos by Miss Edna McNab—were also on the programme; but the main feature of the evening was a written debate on the following resolution: "That Great Britain is justified in interfering in the affairs of the Transvaal." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Alice Hyman and Lillian Elliott, and the negative by Misses Edna Leonard and Ethel McKillop. All four acquitted themselves in a manner that would have done credit to much older heads.

"DUNCAN STUART, or "Captain B. G., Royal Canadians." COAL PRICES GO UP.

The city dealers have advanced the price of coal from $5 to $5.50 a ton, the increase to go into effect today.

The advance, the dealers say, is rendered necessary owing to another raise by the mine owners—the second in two months—the lack of transportation facilities and the increase in the wages of the miners. Some of the merchants have not enough coal in their yards to carry them over a month. It is not expected that the price will advance further.

MILITIA ORDERS. Militia orders, issued yesterday, contain the following: Lieut.-Col. G. R. White, district staff officer, will act for the district officer commanding No. 1 Military district until further orders.

HARRY PHIPPS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Squire Smyth committed Harry Phipps, a Westminster farmer, for trial yesterday, on a charge of assaulting F. J. Spettigue, of lot 22, con. 1, of the same township. Spettigue was driving three cows, the property of Phipps, to the pound, as they had been trespassing on his property, when the latter met him, and it is alleged threatened to smash every bone in his body if he did not let the cattle go.

Phipps also caught hold of Spettigue and called him a name. The defense claimed that the Spettigue property was not properly fenced in, and that Spettigue was ill-using the cattle when Phipps interfered. The latter also denies that he assaulted Spettigue.

TALKED OF THE BOERS.

Mr. W. C. Ferguson, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute staff, gave an illustrated lecture last evening, in Chalmers Presbyterian Church, on "Cape Colony." Coming at the present time, the lecture was most opportune and much interesting information was given in a most entertaining manner.

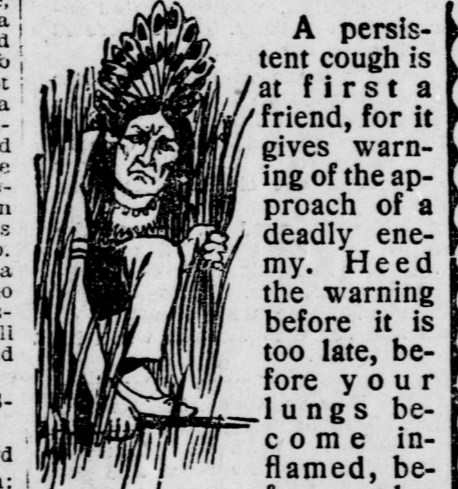

Mr. Ferguson had a delightfully conversational method of delivery, and as he carried his audience with him in his descriptions of the Dutch and his country, every one present was held in the throes of interest. He gave a brief synopsis of the causes which led up to the present dispute, giving, in outline, the history of the Boers and the magnificent natural resources of their country, and illustrating all by views of the colony. A recitation was given during the evening by Miss Doble. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the church.

TO SET ASIDE A WILL.

Helen Taylor, Isabella Trainer, Hannah Dekey and Isabella Smith, relatives of the late Mrs. Margaret M. Burkholder, of Bruce street, who died in August last, leaving an estate valued at about $4,000, have begun an action in the high court of justice to have the will of deceased set aside on the ground that undue influence was brought to bear upon her when making the will. Under the will which was executed three months prior to her death, Mrs. Burkholder appointed Ven. Archdeacon Davis and Mr. R. G. Fisher as executors, and ordered that the estate, which was in cash, should be equally divided among Llewellyn, Evans G., Gwendoline and Llanapath Davis, infant children of Archdeacon Davis, to be applied towards their education. The action will be tried at the winter assizes in January. R. M. C. Toote will represent the plaintiffs. T. G. Meredith will appear for Mrs. Davis. Meredith, Cameron, Judd and Drommond will appear for the executors, and Mr. C. C. official guardian, for the infants. A short time before her death Mrs. Burkholder gave $1,400 in cash to Miss Robinson, with whom she lived, and an action will be entered to recover the money.

SCHOOL and OUTSIDE DOCTORS COME TO TERMS.

School Gets the Hospital for Seven Months and the Others for Five Months.

The hospital trust met yesterday afternoon and settled the long-standing dispute between the doctors connected with the Medical School and the outsiders. It was settled by a compromise, each side conceding one month of their original claims.

Doctors wanted the use of the hospital for eight months of the year, or during the school term, in order to give students the advantage of the clinics. The Wilson faction, composed of doctors not connected with the school, and having the mayor for its head, demanded an equal division, the school to have six months and the others to have six months.

Upon Mr. Purdom's motion, seconded by Mr. McCormick, the faculty of the Medical School shall have exclusive use of the hospital for seven months, from October to April, inclusive, and shall nominate the hospital staff for that term; the physicians outside the school shall have the exclusive right to nominate the staff for the remaining five months; the Medical School faculty shall have the privilege of the hospital to examine students in clinics in May; and any patient may call in any doctor not on the staff by giving a reason satisfactory to the superintendent.

Mayor Wilson assented to this arrangement grudgingly and after a great deal of acrimonious bickering. Those present were: Col. Lewis (chairman), Mr. Thomas McCormick, Mr. Thomas H. Purdom, Q.C., Mayor Wilson and Mr. James Gilmour, M.P., and Superintendent Balfour.

Dr. Meek and Dr. Hodge were also present as a delegation from the Medical School staff. Dr. Hodge said, regarding the proposed compromise, that if it was in the best interests of the patients and of the citizens at large, the school was quite willing to accept it. The hospital staff, under the proposed arrangement, would consist of all the doctors in the city.

The faculty of the college could not, however, bring men to London for eight months, and give them only six months' instruction. The men who gave the clinics must be responsible to the faculty. No other college did otherwise. It was not a question of what was best for the Medical School or for the doctors, but for the patients
