were captured. On the Japanese side the loss was eleven men.

Two thousand people are homeless. BRITISH CROPS SUFFER. London, July 11.-The Times will say that owing to prolonged drought the condition of all crops except hops compares most unfavorably with the condition prevailing on July 1, 1894. A comparative table gives the following: Wheat, 79.3 in 1895, to 101.8 in 1894; barley, 83.3 in 1895, to 102.9 in 1894, and oats, 76.4 in 1895, to 105.4 in 1894.

NOT JUST YET.

London, July 11 .- The Daily News will tomorrow publish a dispatch from Vienna saying that the Japanese envoy at Pekin was recently instructed to ascertain whether a visit of the Mikado to the Chinese capital would be welcome. The envoy was informed that so long as there was a Japanese soldier in China such a visit could not be considered for a moment.

WINNER OF THE DIAMOND SKULLS.

Menley, July 12 .- In the final heat of the diamond skulls the Hon. Rupert Guinness, of the Leander Rowing Club, beat Guy Nickalls, of the London Rowing Club, the holder of the trophy in the most exciting race of the day. Guinness' time was 9 minutes 11 sec-Nickalls held the diamond skulls in 1888, 1889, 1890, 1893 and 1894. His best time over the course was 8 minutes 36 seconds, made in 1888. When the regatta closed the course became congested with boats and Henley gave itself up to gaiety.

FOR HOME RULE

Strong Appeal by Archbishop Cleary, of Kingston.

His Lordship's Warm Eulogium of Hon. Edward Blake.

Kingston, Ont., July 11.-Archbishop Cleary has had a circular issued to the ciergy, asking assistance to the Irish Parliamentary party. "In this gravest and most critical day of fortune," he says, "the success or failure of the home rule movement will undoubtedly depend upon the result of the elections that are expected to be held before the close of the current month." Owing to the unpropitious times, his Grace could not think of ordering the diocesan collection, but he deems it right to afford an opportunity to his people everywhere to make an offering to Ireland of their own free will and spontaneous generosity without any demand from him or pressure of any kind, and, therefore he says: "Everyone who finds it in his heart to give little or much of his own bounty to the Irish election fund, may hand his donation to his own pastor, who will forward it to the archbishop without delay, to be transmitted to the Hon. Edward Blake.'

Another paragraph of the circular reads: "Mr. Blake's cry to us for help to bring the elections to a successful issue by supplying the means of contesting a large number of doubtful constituencies and crushing out of political existence the 'nine traitors' who have been devouring the vitals of their country, is notoriously just and true, and it commends itself to the Irish race, all the more because of his remarkable fidelity to the national cause and the brave sacrifices he has made and is still making for the benefit of Ireland. His recent contribution of $5,000 to the election fund is an act of noble generosity, indicative of the ardor of his patriotism, which entitles him to our ready compliance with his appeal for assistance."

STATE OF TRADE IN CANADA. As Reported by Dun & Co.'s Commercial

Agency. Toronto, July 11.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada ways: The tenor of trade reports from Montreal would show that there is a pretty general quieting in wholesale business, such, however, as is only ceasonable. There is no doubt that unfavorable crop reports from Western Ontario are affecting orders from that section, but in the Ottawa Valley and the Province of Quebec, indications are promising. The same is true of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, while parties from Manitoba and British Columbia, who have recently been in the city, express themselves in a hopeful train, stating their belief that business so long depressed, was on the mend. Drygoods payments due July 4 were fairly met, but general collections are susceptible of considerable improvement. The weather, so far, has been favorable to the saving of the excellent hay crop in good order, and prices have advanced. Butter values show some little improvement, but this is offset by a proportionate weakening in Financial circles have been much disturbed by the unfavorable reports current concerning one of the leading French-Canadian banks, but the assistance which it was desired to extend at a meeting of the general managers, held on Tuesday afternoon, will, it is believed, tide the much-discussed institution over its embarrass-

The business situation at Toronto is unchanged. The disposition is to wait the result of the harvest, which is not very promising in Ontario. The drought continues, and in some localities the farmers are discouraged. But the prosperity of Ontario depends, not so much upon wheat as upon dairying interests. which in turn are affected to some extent by the hay crop. This has been a failure, but fortunately the crop in the Province of Quebec is large, and stocks left over from last season were about the average. The crop outlook in Manitoba is good, with a large yield of wheat expected. Holders, however, appear confident of a rally in the near future.

For the week ended July 6 the earnings of the Grand Trunk show an increase of $35,174, as compared with the corresponding week of last year, and those of the Canadian Pacific are $2,000. The failures for the week are 35, against 49 for the same last year.

Auspicious Opening of the Great Convention.

Immense Mass Meeting Held Under Canvas on the Common.

Gatherings Bubbling Over With Inspir ation and Enthusiasm.

Boston, July 11.—Tent Endeavor, on Boston Common, was filled to its utmost capacity this afternoon at the first service held by the Endeavorers under this immense canvas. There were nearly 11,000 persons in attendance, and it was a gathering bubbling over with inspiration. The interior of the tent was tastefully decorated. Rev. John T. Beckley, D. D., of New York, one of the trustees, presided at this meeting, and George C. Stebbins, of Brooklyn, was director of the large chorus and of the congregational sing-The exercises opened with the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldier," the chorus being led by Winslow Symonds, of West Medford, on the cornet. Rev. W. H. Albright, of Boston, presided over the devotional exercises hich followed. Rev. Elijah Horr. D.D., of Worcester, closed with prayer. Presiding officers then asked all the ministers and missionaries and their wives to rise and come to the platform while "I will sing the wondrous story was being sung, and some 150 1 ed. Then was sung the "Hymn of Welcome," written for the occasion by Rev. S. F. Smith, D. D., author of "America," the audience rising and joining with the chorus. After several welcoming addresses "America" wa's sung, followed by "God Save the sung, followed by Queen," and "Blest be the tie that binds us."

Services in tent Williston opened with the expected large audience. Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Minneapolis, presided, and the devotional exercises were led by Rev. Asher Anderson, of Meriden, Conn. A gavel was presented to the meeting, the head of which was made from the wood of one of the news of the Old South meeting house, and the handle from one of the gallery rails of old Faneuil Hall, also a block from the old State House. "The Hymn of Welcome," by Rev. S. F. Smith, author of "America," was also sung here. After the singing of "America" responses to the words of welcome were made by visiting Christian En-deavorers as follows: Rev. W. I. Page, D. D., of Leavensworth, Kas. Rev. W. H. Brooks, D. D., a colored delegate from Washington; Rev. G.C. Kelly, of Owensboro, Ky., and G. T. Ferguson, of Toronto, Ont. After adjournment at noon of the three great nieetings about 50 half hour evangelistic services were held by Endeavorchurches, public buildings ers in places of business, and in the open air throughout the city.

ing, has been committed as a lunatic. Mrs. Sabra M. Ashley, who lives at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has been granted a divorce from her husband, Harola Ashley, of Foxboro. Acting Mayor Jameson, of Winnipeg,

The Twelfth

Celebrated on a Big Scale in London.

Thousands of Orangemen and Friends in the City.

A Monster Procession Through Dundas Street.

Sixty Lodges Represented-Fife and Drums Galora

"The Glorious Twelfth," with its accompaniments of the ear-piercing fife and the spirit-stirring drum, with its flaring banners and garbs of rainbow hue, is here. When the sky showed blue above and orange in the east, at the break of day, it promised the Orangemen's lucky weather. Soon after the dawn the brethren in the surrounding townships began to pour into the Orangemen's Mecca of July 12, 1895-London. They came not singly, but in battalions. Gaily decorated band wagons from the country rumbled through the streets before most of the staid citizens were astir. The fife and drum awoke many from their slumbers. At 8:45 the first delegation from a tance arrived by an L. E. and D. R. R. special from Elgin county. At 9 o'clock a special from Strathroy brought in West Middlesex Orangemen by the hundreds. Perth county sent an immense crowd from Stratford and intermediate points. At 11 o'clock the Oxford brethren arrived by G. T. R. in large numbers. In addition, all the regular trains were crowded, and by noon several thousand visitors had arrived. Everything pointed to the largest demonstration in years.

The city streets were gaudy with Orange colors and vocal with Orange music. Ladies by the hundreds displayed the regulation badges and ribbons, sometimes coyly arranged to heighten the charms of the fair wearers. The men were resplendent in scarlet tunics or wide orange sashessome bright and shining in their brand newness, others dimmed with the wear and tear of many a Twelfth.

THE PROCESSION. At 1 o'clock the market square and the contiguous blocks were choked with Orangemen and spectators. Hundreds of floating banners lent a gay and lively aspect to the place. It was a difficult but the marshals did their work well, and at 1:30 the procession moved off. It started from King street and proceeded by way of Ridout and Dundas direct to Queen's Park. The order was as fol-

Mornington. There were about 5,000 brethren and sisters in line. Many lodges brought fife and drum bands, which made the air ring. The innumerable banners and the bright colors of Orange costumes, sashes, badges, etc., combined to make the effect very picturesque Thousands of people lined the streets. Upon arrival at the Park the speaking commence from the band stand. Sir Mackenzie Bowell sent word that he could not be present owing to the Ottawa crisis.

CELEBRATIONS ELSEWHERE. Toronto, July 12.-The Twelfth of July was celebrated here as usual by a monster procession of all the Orangemen of the city and vicinity through the main streets. Over 5,000 were in line, including about 500 ladies. There was no disorder, everything passing off

Decatur, Neb., July 12 .- All the Omaha Indians on the reservation are gathered in the Yeaton pasture and indulging in a big celebration. It consists chiefly of a grand drunk, in which all the members of the tribe join to their full capacity. Boot-leggers are reaping a big harvest. One enterprising merchant is on the ground with a wagon load of whisky, selling it by the drink. One Indian has died from the effects of the excessive use of liquor, and Leveral others are critically ill. Captain Beck, with his posse of Indian police, has gone to the scene. The object of their visit is supposed to be the breaking up of the jollification.

A VILLAGE DESTROYED.

Deplorable Condition of the Residents of a Burned-Down Michigan Village. Detroit, Mich., July 12.-A special from Thompsonville, Mich., says: Walhi is utterly destroyed by forest fires. One hotel, one store, sawmill, warehouse, coal kiln, and about twenty houses are burned. The people are without clothing or food. One child is missing. Many were overcome by the heat. The people are being cared for at Thompsonville, Bendon and Traverse City. The loss is heaviest upon the Sullivan Lumber Company, of Grand Rapids.

A SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

An Entire Family Butchered by Scoundrels.

Havana, July 12 .- A terrible crime has been committed at Guanajayabo in the Gwanajay tobacco district, about 45 miles from this city. Four burly negroes went to a grocery store at Guanajayabo and without uttering a word overpowered the grocer and his brother-in-law and stabbed them to the heart. The negroes then rushed after the storekeeper's wife and three daughters aged respectfully, 17, 6 and 3 years, with the intention of assaulting them. The woman and daughters made a desperate struggle, shrieking wildly for help. the negroes inflicted injuries upon all of their victims, from which they died. The scoundrels then plundered the grocery store and disappeared. Their crime was discovered by a white man of the country district, who, as soon as he saw the bodies of the victims of the negroes, started for Guanajayabo and placed the matter before the proper authorities. The country man, however, found that one of the little girls was still alive when he entered the store, and it was from her, almost with her last breath. that he obtained the details of the crime. The girl died soon afterwards. The inhabitants of the country around Guanajayabo and the police have started in pursuit of the four wretches, and it is said that they will surely be cut to pieces if captured.

A PRISONER'S SAD PLIGHT. San Francisco, Cal., July 12.-Richard McDonald, jun., who has been in jail over a year awaiting trial on a charge of wrecking the Pacific Bank, of which he was president, is in more trouble. McDonald expresses the belief that his wife will return to defend him, otherwise he will be left penniless.

Mrs. McDonald formerly resided in St. Louis, where she was the wife of Jas. B. Charlton, a prominent railroad man, who died a few years ago.

DREADFUL DEED.

An Unwelcome Suitor Kills a Young

Girl and Her Brother. Watertown, N. Y., July 11.-One of the most shocking and cold-blooded murders ever committed in Northern New York occurred last night at Chapel Hill, west of Lowville, Lewis county, and 35 miles from this city. The victims of the cowardly assassin are 16-year-old, pretty Minnie Ingersoll, who lived with her brother, Eugene Ingersoll, and Nicholas P. Strife, an old man from Indian River, who was a farm hand in Ingersoll's employ. The murderer is John Hoch, aged 30 years, who was convicted of attempting to murder a young man in Denmark, Lewis county, several years ago, and who was sentenced to seven years at Auburn, but was pardoned after serving five years. Hoch met Miss Ingersoll this spring and became infatuated with her, but his attentions were not encouraged by the girl. On Wednesday morning he drove to Chapel Hill, but the girl's brother, Eugene, ordered him away. Hoch went away, but returned with a Winchester rifle, and shot both

COLLAPSE POSTPONED.

The proceedings in the Dominion Parliament, last night, show that the collapse of the Bowell Ministry has been postponed.

In Quebec, the Ouimet-Caron ring will assert that they have had their way, and that they have the written pledge of every Minister that they will do the bidding of the Quebec members.

In Ontario, we will have the statement that the Ouimet-Caron end of the patent combination has capitulated, and that Sir Mackenzie Bowell, in shirking the question for another six months, and putting the kickers off with promises which he knows that he cannot implement, has proved himself to be a great statesman.

When all is said and done, however, the fact remains that the majority of the Ministry have dealt with the question of the Manitoba schools, and with the rights of the minority, in a most unstatesmanlike manner.

How would British statesmen regard such shuffling and blundering? Suppose Mr. Balfour, leader of the British House of Commons, and Mr. Chamberlain, to announce to the country that a given line of policy had been mapped out for the Government, and that it meant to abide by it, and to carry it out in the next session. Suppose that they were to go up and down England for months enunciating it, and at the same time attempted to carry two bye-elections by its aid. And then imagine Lord Salisbury permitting that line of conduct to be pursued without a protest in any one of his public addresses. After this, imagine Lord Salisbury going to Parliament and saying, by implication, that his colleagues had lied when they stated the Government policy, and that it was never intended to carry it out.

If such a state of affairs were possible in Great Britain, and the highstatesmen of that country were to tolerate it for a day, we would have an exact counterpart of what has taken place at Ottawa with regard to the precious remedial order.

This remedial order, it will be remem bered, was issued as soon as the judgment of the Privy Council was received. The original intention was to hurry on the general elections, and to let each section of the country put its own construction upon the demand. By this means it was hoped that in Quebec the order would be held to mean the compelling of Manitoba to change her school law, while in Ontario it would be argued that it was only a recommendation.. The early holding of the general elections would also have enabled the men in power to avoid being exposed in the bye-elections.

This programme was proceeded with, will be remembered, for a week or The voters' lists were hurried as they never were before, and the printing of many of them was farmed out to favored printers in order that they might be completed in time for use last spring. But after a few weeks it was found that the feeling in the country was so strong against the Government that high tax candidates everywhere urged delay. The Quebec contingent also became suspicious of the bona fides of the Administration, and clamored for another session in order to prove them. For nearly two months the internal dissension proceeded. Parliament was not called together till a date never before reached except after a general election had been held. The discomfited Ministers feared to take the leap either way, so gloomy were the prospects. Finally another ession was resolved on, and the utter incapacity and indecision of the men in power demonstrated. The bye-elections took place on the eve of the session, and as was expected, the Liberals, with the assistance of Conservative believers in trade freedom, carried the vessels was drowned.

two constituencies which they contested by sweeping majorities. Even the seat held by the late Sir John Thompson, and for which his brotherin-law sought election, with the family prestige and influence at his back, went against the men in power. Mr. Ouimet and Sir Adolphe Caron championed the Conservative policy in one constituency, and Sir Hibbert Tupper in the other. They pledged the Administration to an enforcement of the remedial order to the letter in the event of the Manitoba Legislature declining to alter its school law so as to re-establish separate schools. This pledge was made again and again by the Quebec Ministers in the months preceding the assembling of Parliament, and the remedial order was sent to Manitoba. Not till it was returned from that Province, with the almost unanimous refusal of the Legislature to act upon it did it dawn upon the majority of the Ottawa Cabinet that it had made a huge mistake, and that it could not lawfully enforce its demand.

It was an exhibition of flagrant incompetency to delay action for five years, and then issue an order on Manitoba that could not be enforced by any law of the land. The remedial order, as the reply from the Manitoba Legislature roints out, went beyond the British Privy Council judgment in its demand that a condition of affairs should be re-established in the Northwest Province which no one having any knowledge of the Province or its wants would for a moment counsel as wise. In thus going beyond the British Privy Council decision, and in adopting an untenable attitude, the men in power at Ottawa rendered a refusal of their demands the only course open to a self-respecting people.

The Cabinet at Ottawa has not now honestly faced the situation, or it would acknowledge its roolish conduct, withdraw its ill-conceived remedial order, and apologise to the Manitoba representatives for causing them so much trouble. Then it should accept Manitoba's suggestion that before further action is taken it should cause an independent investigation to be made into the question-it need not take a great deal of time-and when it is accomplished enter into friendly negotiations with the Province with the view of having justice done to every section of the community. After its miserable attempt at bulldozing the Manitobans to assume an untenable attitude towards their educational system, there appears to be no other way out of the difficulty, whether Parliament is called upon to deal with it six months hence or a year from now.

POINTS. The cat came back.

Caron and Ouimet, we all along strongly suspected, had a string attached to their resignations.

It is now suspected that the coolness between the two sections of the Ottawa Ministry so chilled the atmosphere this week as to cause the unusual July frost.

A contemporary expresses great annoyance because we warned Lord Aberdeen to be careful lest, when fisticuffs were added to wordy warfare in the Cabinet squabblings, he might not get a black eye, as one of the high tax leaders did in a recent encounter. When the warring factions in the Cabinet get down to billingsgate and threatenings, even the Governor-Gereral, if around, might find it difficult to avoid injury.

The Toronto World (Conservative) asserts that the Dominion Government is going forward to "almost certain defeat in Ontario." Ditto in every other Province. A Cabinet divided against itself-held together temporarily by the greed of office only-cannot stand. The electors will settle that,

A correspondent, writing from England, says that the drought in the old land has been almost as great as in Canada. The crops, including hay and wheat, will generally be short. This will increase the demand from other countries, including Canada.

The announcement that Sir Hector Langevin was ready to take his job proved a powerful magnet in drawing the disgruntled Ouimet back to his seat. Langevin craves for rehabilita-

Fear of the coming general election had more to do with the collapse of the strike at Ottawa than anything else. The participants knew that an election would result in the overthrow of the party now in power, and they resolved to hold on to the loaves and fishes as long as possible.

It seems to be about as safe to travel on water as on land. Last year only one in 2,708,333 persons on steam

This last was struck out. The capital stock of the company was increased from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

A TIMELY DOSE. The banking and commerce committee this morning passed the Foresters' Insurance Bill by 27 to 18. In the course of the discussion Mr. Cochrane (Conservative member for East Northumberland) called out to Dr. Borden (Liberal): "What do you know about insurance?" to which Dr. Borden replied: "I know as much about it as you know about skim milk," the reference being to the charge that Cochrane some Years ago delivered skimmed by those who had preceded him from milk to a cheese factory with whom he had a contract. Cochrane fell into a ernment was committed absolutely to had a contract. Cochrane fell into a rage and went up to Dr. Borden and shook his fist at him, and threatened to "kick him" for saying it, and called him names. Dr. Borden, who is a big Maritime member, merely laughed at Cochrane, who was in a state of great

"THE CATS CAME BACK." Sir Adolphe Caron and Mr. Ouimet entered the House when it opened this afternoon, and were greeted with cheers by the Ministerialists, while derisive laughter and cries of "The cats came back" echoed from the Opposition benches A message was received from his Excellency, transmitting the reply of Manitoba to the remedial order. On the orders of the day Mr. Girouard asked if the negotiations with Manitoba proposed would, if unsuccessful on the line of the remedial order, preclude or postpone the legislation announced. Mr. Foster-No, they will not.

FOSTER EXPLAINS. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier asked for an explanation of the Cabinet crisis. Hon. Mr. Foster-Some of our colleagues thought it useless to enter into negotiations with Manitoba, and that remedial legislation should be introduced at once. On such an important question we held that no such legislation should be introduced. Mr. Angers adhered to the view that legislation should be introduced this session, and his resignation has been pressed and accepted. The divergence with Messrs. Ouimet and Caron was a matter of detail, and not of principle, and they had patriotically been able to see this, and have concluded that in the statement of Monday last remedial legislation was pledged and would be carried out in perfect good faith: they have accepted this and returned to Parliament with the rest of the Cabinet.

Mr. Caron read his statement. He "I believe my refusal to assist my colleagues on the lines laid down would retard remedial legislation, and I accept the pledge of the leader of the House.

When Mr. Caron sat down there were cries of "Next!" and laughter from the Opposition.

Mr. Ouimet, who looked very sulky indeed, as if he had swallowed nasty medicine, spoke next. His statement was in French, to much the same effect. In rising to congratulate the Government on the restoration of peace and order on the treasury benches and the return of the recalcitrant ones, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier said that the situation reminded him of the story told of the "cats coming back." Today there was an exhibition of a small family of kittens coming back to the Premier. Only a few days ago they had started upon what they represented to be a crusade for a holy cause, but after three days' experience in the cold RETURNED TO THE CREAM. The House and the country, after being kept three days in suspense, were now told that after all it was only a slight misunderstanding. The policy of the Government had been laid down by the Minister of Finance on Monday last, when it was stated that at the next session of Parliament, to be called not later than the 3rd of January-if in the meantime Manitoba had not been brought to terms-there would be some legislation introduced to give satisfaction to the minority. This he under-stood was binding upon the Govern-ment, and if he had been a member of no other.

the Administration he would have been disposed to take this pledge as binding upon the Administration. But if he might accept published interviews with the Minister of Public Works he could but incline to the belief that both the Minister of Public Works and the Postmaster-General had no confidence in their pledges. He hoped the last had been seen of these misunderstandings. There was a grave lesson in what had been witnessed here during the past few days, and the lesson was that the gentlemen who sit together as statesmen—the Government of Canada—have so little confidence in each other that unless they were booked in writing one of their own colleagues would not take their word. There was one thing, however, that would bind the honorable gentlemen together, and that was not a signature of his colleagues which was demanded by the Minister of Public works, but the cement of office. Mr Laurier then moved that the House adjourn.

"MISUNDERSTANDING." Sir Charles Tupper thought the Opposition were taking too much comfort out of what had only after all amounted to a little misunderstanding on the treasury benches Undoubtedly there had been a misunderstanding, and it had tended to alleviate the disappointment that had exised on the Opposition side of the House since the session opened. He took occasion to reiterate the statement already made an important policy.

Mr. Girouard, of Jacques Cartier, whose name is associated with a Supreme Court judgeship, followed in defense of the Government's position.

McCARTHY HEARD FROM. In rising to criticise the Government's policy, D'Alton McCarthy claimed he did so as a Conservative representing the feelings of a great number of gentlemen on the outside of the House (Conservative cries of "No!") "We shall see before the session is over whether my statement in that regard is correct or not. But we know at last where the Government stands and where the Government stand unitedly." He could not really understand what all this trouble that had been witnessed on the treasury benches during the past three or four days had been about. A very clear and definite statement had been made to the House on Monday last that the Government would call an early session for the purpose of implementing the remedial order by a bill which the Government would press to a conclusion. The House was now told that because the Government intimated that they would correspond with the Province of Manitoba a misunderstanding had fol-lowed. The Province, which had in plain but firm language said they would not take the responsibility of carrying the remedial order into effect, was to he invited again to stultify itself and say it would carry out the order. That was a hopeless case. And what of the 39 gentlemen from the Province of Ontario who had told the Government that they were not prepared to indorse or support the Government which will carry out the remedial order by a bill in Parliament? These gentlemen, it would appear, were now to give in to their leaders from Quebec. These gentlemen, who had brought their pressure to bear with such effect that the Government dare not introduce a remedial bill this session, were now to take what was administered to them from the Province of Quebec. The great Conservative party, he contended, was to be pledged to the interests of the minority to force upon the small Province of Manitoba through the Federal powers a hateful school law.

CONSERVATIVE BOLTERS. Mr. Dupont (Conservative) followed, denouncing the Government for failing to fulfill their pledges, and denouncing them as a pack of cowards.

Mr. Lachappelle defended the Government's action, and stated that the bishops accepted the postponement. Dr. Weldon, while continuing to sup port the Government, could not indorse its policy on the school question.

Messrs. Joncas and Jeanette (Conservatives) had no faith in the Govern-ment's ability to secure remedial legislation, and would vote against the Govrnment for the course they had followed with regard to the Manitoba schools.

Mr. Denison (Conservative), lest his silence should be misinterpreted, said he held himself free to oppose the Government's policy Mr. McNeil (Conservative) made the same declaration. Mr. Taylor (chief Government whip) dwelt on the fact that he was an Orangeman who indersed the Government's remedial policy.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. IN THE SENATE. In the Senate Mr. Angers explained the reasons which led him to abandon the Government. He explained that he was willing to leave remedial legislation until the session in the fall, but he was not willing to renew communications with the Manitoba Govern-ment. He believed that the minority had acquired a right an a legal standing, and if negotiations were renewed with Manitoba it might deprive Parthe ability to pass a remedial bill. He was

NOT SATISFIED with the promise or pledge made by the Government on Monday last. At the opening of the session Premier Howell had made a promise in a speech in the debate on the address, and the second pledge was discredited by the non-fulfillment of the first. He added: "That noble voice, walch promised at the opening of the session has been suppressed by an influence which, although existing in a small fraction of and the day Parliament is to meet again an excitement will so grow over the country that if Parliament hesitates today it will then be afraid. I believe remedial legislation has received such a blow by the action of the Government that we will never have it, and consequently I could not take upon myself the responsibility of remaining with them." SIR FRANK SMITH. Sir Frank Smith said that he had pleaded with Mr. Angers to stay and help them in the cause, but they could not agree as to the time for putting this law through Parliament. He pledged himself, if the day came, to stand up and fight for that remedial legislation. He taunted Mr. Angers with throwing up the sponge because he could not have his own may in council. Referring to Mr. Angers' want of faith in the Government's pledges, Sir Frank declared that they were honest, and if God spared him he would be the first man to declare war if the pledge was not fulfilled. There was something behind Mr. Angers' resignation, he thought, and he insinuated sired to form an alliance more congenial to their wishes. All the Catholies asked was postponement, and in the meantime a good feeling could be talked up. He regretted that Mr. Angers had no faith in his colleagues. He devoted some time to declaring that the Irish Catholics had not deserted the "French gentlemen from Mr. O'Donohue-Suppose before the next session your colleagues from Ontario resign, where would your remedial legislation be? I do not think it impossible that your colleagues from Ontario will abandon their positions before submitting to remedial legislation, and if they do submit, I question very much whether you will see them returned to Parliament again. Sir Frank Smith-If one or more step out, others will be taken

THE PREMIER SPEAKS.
Premier Bowell expressed regret at the tone of the latter portion of Mr. Angers' speech. He resented it. On all matters of grave importance there must be differences of opinion between thirteen or fourteen gentiemen. He denied Mr. Angers' insinuation that his course was influenced from outside. He had himself suggested the announcement on Moneay in order to bring together all the elements of the Cabinet, in order to grant, when the time arrives, these rights of which he had always said they had been despoiled. He was not in favor of separate schools per se, but there was a promise made when Manitoba came in that separate schools should be maintained forever, and he felt bound-and he would take his party as far as he could—to carry out the promises. He hesitated to pass remedial legislation because he reflected upon the great danger to Provincial autonomy and to the peace of the Dominion. He quoted Mr. Tarte in proof of the opinion that it was impossible to coerce Manitoba, and in order to show that the Liberals were opposed to remedial legislation. Referring to Mr. O'Donohue's remark, Sir Mackenzie Bowell said: "If my Upper Canada colleagues retire from fear-a quality they do not possess-I shall try to fill their places with gentlemen who hold my views. The hon-crable gentleman had said that if they submit to remedial legislation they would not be re-elected to Parliament. If that be the case, and probably it is, so much greater is the credit to be their political lives in their hands." He was sorry that Mr. Angers had no confidence in the pledges of the Government. These pledges would be carried out if life lasted and the Government were enabled to do it by majorities in Parliament. Was it not better, however, to have these concessions made by Mani-toba than by the Dominion, in order to have the religion of the parents taught to the children. He did not agree with the Manitoba Government that the remedial order required the petitions of the Roman Catholics, there was no pledge in the order that these were to be carried out to the letter. He would not argue whether the Manitoba schools prior to 1890 were efficient or not. Mr. Bernier had answered that question very well some time ago. The minority were willing to have certificated teachers, a proper inspection, and that the public money should be expended under inspection. While the Government had placed within the power of Parliament the authority to go the full length of the demands, there were the state of the demands, there was nothing in the remedial order to prevent them adopting a medium course provided it met with the ap-roval of the people demanding it. He took it that all the Catholics required was the right to have separate schools, to be relieved of taxation for public schools, to be enabled and to have power and authority to teach morals and religion as they understood it, and to have the full management of their schools, and that far the Government of which he was the head was prepared to go, if Parliament would sustain them, if they did not get a fair measure of relief from Manitoba. The Premier then argued that Manitoba had held out promises of that kind. In support of this he quoted the clause in the answer of Manitoba promising to cheerfully furnish all information necessary for a full and deliberate investigation of the whole subject. He should object to a commission as ut-terly useless, but he would approach the Legislature of Manitoba with the proposition, "Are you prepared to restore separate schools under such a system as to insure efficiency, with proper inspection and relief from taxation, for other schools?" He said that he was not defending the Government of Manitoba, which had so far refused to do anything in this direction.

Mr. Bernier-Do you expect them to do otherwise now? Sir Mackenzie Bowell-I cannot say that I do, but I do not propose to put myself in the position to have the leaders of the Opposition or the Province from which I come (where a large majority hold different views) to say to me and the Government, "You forced upon these people a system of education without first accepting their half-measure of promise of conciliation." I do not express any confidence I do not hope, but I cannot say that it will be fulfilled. I wish to be able to say that we have exhausted every means before I am prepared to force upon them a system which may prove detrimental to the country, and to the peace and harmony of the Dominion. If it is done by the Dominion Parliament I fear that every obstacle will be thrown in the way, and law suits will arise, and it will become a bone of contention for years to come, and instead of five years of litigation you will have a much longer period.

The Premier then read a letter from a person whom he described as a judge in Western Ontario, a Protestant, in order to show that Ontario was not opposed to his policy. After stating that every one had an admiration for the Government, the judge went on to say: "We were never so proud of our party in determining not to interfere with Manitoba so long as there is a chance that she can be got to do what is right, and in determining to make her do so if she will not voluntarily do it herself. It is a statemanlike course." The Premier added: "While he speaks for the Conservative party he echoes the opinion of many Liberals in my Province." Sir Mackenzie Bowell warned the extremists of both parties to const grave responsibilities that this Parliament took when it enacted a measure that it would be compelled in the future to put in force and fight the Provincial Government upon in order to enforce if and give it he slightest effect. He closed with the quotation from a favorite Methodist hymn: "While the lamp holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return."

In answer to some questions put by Mr. Bernier, the Premier stated that in the opinion of the Minister of Justice the population, made itself so strong that it acted like a damper upon the Premier, and new utterances had been made. I say that between this day ure of the demands contained in the little required the little plants of the value of the demands contained the little required the little plants of the value of Justice Parliament would not forfeit its jurisdiction by renewing communications with Manitoba. It would be an act of courtesy to the Manitoba Government and a part of duty to treat that Government as if in the most friendly alliance with it. The Dominion Government would not go further than the remedial order, but would go to such a distance as would meet the views of Mr. Bernier.

It might be added that Mr. Bernier's views are the views of Archlishop Langevin, and are of the most extreme character.

NEARLY A MILLION FOR A JOKE.

The Price of a Railroad Advanced That Much by a Dude's Bid.

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. Samuel P. Schuckers died recently at Wooster, O. He was a brother of J. W. Schuckers, private secretary of Salmon P. Chase, and brother-in-law of John H. Oberly, ex-civil service commissioner. An interesting incident is recalled by Schuckers' death which has never found its way into the newspapers. The incident occurred a number of years ago, and during the time of the sale of the Lake Shore Railroad at Cleveland it happened that Schuckers and John McSweeney, the great criminal lawyer, met at the sale. Mc-Sweeney had but a short time before made a great hit by his political speeches at Cleveland and Philadelphia, and was attracting attention all over the country. At this particular time he was trying a case at Cleveland. Young Schuckers was in these days a veritable dude and very sprucy.

He went to Cleveland to have a time, as he always left Wooster to celebrate, and was having a good, glorious time on this particular occasion. He was small and wiry in stature, and always carried a silk umbrella. It happened that he met McSweeney in the rotunda just as he had finished an argument, and while the sale of the Lake Shore Railroad was going on. They stopped for a moment at the edge of the excited crowd bidding in the road. There were a number of syndicates represented-foreign, Vanderbilts, Goulds and others. The bidding had reached $3,100,000. In a spirit of devilishness young Schuckers bid $3,500,000. In a moment a rush was made toward the new bidder and a demand was made to know what syndicate he represented. His only reply was, with a wave of his silk umbrella, "Go away from me." The excited representatives of the other syndicates asked for a recess, which was granted, and in twenty minutes they came back, when the bid was raised to $4,000,000 and sold.

Mr. Schuckers' sprucy appearance and being in company with the great criminal lawyer had led them to believe he represented some secret syndicate which was trying to gain possession of the valuable railroad prop-

Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett,

Hopkins Company. Chicago, July 11.-The wreckers thought to smash the market in spite of an extremely bullish Government report indicating a total crop of 390,-000,000 bushels. They put it down over 1c, but the rebound carried prices up so fast that short lines were covered at considerable loss. Reports received from a dozen sources in the Northwest state that the crop has been seriously damaged in the past ten days, and con-servative authorities place the loss at 25 per cent in Minnesota and South Dakota. It is doubtful if the returns on the present conditions would indicate a yield above 350,000,000 bushels for the entire country. On such an outlook there ought to be a return of the outside trade that carried prices from 55 side trade that carried prices from 55c to 82c and it will be surprising if we do not run into a strong bull market. It is reported that 1,250,000 bushels of wheat were taken in Duluth today. Cash wheat there is quoted at 72 1-2c for northern and 71c for No. 1 hard. Corn and Oats-An attempt to raid the market was made early, the in-ducement being the bearish Government report, but the over-sold market rallied on covering by the shorts, who remembered that the corn outlook at this time last year was about as good as now, and there might be a repetition of last year's disaster.

Provisions were not helped much by the stronger grain markets. The speculative demand is very light. Dairy Markets.

Notwithstanding the disheartening report of the apple crop some time ago, owing to damage by frost, latest advices from sections west of Toronto state that the yield promises to be much better than was at one time expected. East of Toronto the prospects are poor in some sections; but it must be remembered that those districts are not very important. Maine Baldwin, it is reported will not be over two-thirds of last year's crops. The Maine crop is generally included in the Canadian report, for the reason that the great bulk of the apples in that State is handled by Canadians.-Montreal Trade Bulle-

ADVERSE CATTLE NEWS. Recent cable advices from the other side report heavy losses in cattle, some shipments having dropped $10 per head. This shows a decline of $20 per head from the highest point of the season. The loses this year are falling chiefly on the farmers who are shipping on their own account.

THE GRAPE CROP.

Advices from St. Catharines state that it is believed there will be a fair crop of grapes after all, and that the fears regarding total failure through frost had reference to limited areas, as it is now found that the vineyards in some sections have a heavy hang of fruit, so that a fair yield, or, say, twothirds of a crop, may be expected. Good prices are looked for, and those who have a good hang of fruit are feel-

At Wolseley Barracks yesterday afternoon, Coroner Flock held an inquest into the case of Francis O'Brien, the private who in the morning shot himself through the head. The Secret Out.

"Good God!" she murmured below her breath, "how shall I account for these?" The sweetness in her face had made him her ardent lover. Stooping, he took up a tress of this lightly flowing hair and softly kissed it. "You will not need to account for them," said he, "their beauty is their best excuse"; and lifting her to her feet he led her before the mirror and bade her look.

She did so, and almost started at the transformation she beheld. From being a woman of simply fine appearance and noble air, she had leaped as it were into magnificent beauty; the fair skin, the dark eyes, the white hair forming a combination that could never be passed again in street or parlor without leaving an impression behind of marvelous loveliness. She saw it and he saw it, and while neither spoke there was a subtle interchange of thought between them which called out a wary dimple in her cheek which to his eyes finished the picture. He smiled over her shoulder, and in one breath both said:

'My own mother would not know me." Your own mother would not know you." At which simultaneous expression of the same idea he laughed and she colored, but not with shame, rather with excessive pleasure.

"I am happy," she breathed; then lightly, and with simple mirth in her voice, "I cannot tell her that my excuse for aging thus suddenly is that my husband admires gray hairs." To her you can tell the truth. She must have known you were ill, though you kept it from your physician and

But Genevieve shook her head.
"No one knew," she answered. "I

"But it shall not come again. Your physician is now your husband, and you cannot deceive him." And he began to ask her questions about her health which she at first attempted to answer and then parried, saying at last: "The pain is gone now, Walter; let us not bother about it, but be happy." then with an arch smile, all light, all joy, "Are you sure you like me better so? Will you not regret my brown locks after the first surprise is gone by?"

The answer was decisive "Never," said he, and drawing her passionately to his breast, he whispered, 'Admiration has grown into pa Genevieve. I love you, not with calmness, propriety and discretion, but madly, as the first man loved the first woman before the serpent crept into para-

"And all because of my white hairs! I will be worthy of this crown," she exclaimed, and with a step that scarcely seemed to touch the ground, she glided from him and disappeared in the little room beyond. And Walter Cameron, who had not wished to love more than was compatible with an undivided attention to his profession, found himself absolutely dazzled. He was thinking of all this as I have said, and wondering over it while talking to her about her dress which on that day was especially picturesque and becoming. Nor did his thoughts stop at this point, but by some strange freak of mental activity ran on through the various experiences of the days which had intervened between that time and this. He saw more plainly than he did the face before him, the locks of admiration which her appearance excited the first time he took her into a public assemblage; and remembered with quite a startling distinctness the expression of astonishment which crossed the features of a New fork friend upon meeting one whom he had known so well, thus changed and beautified. It was an earnest of what lay before them on their return to the metropolis; and Dr. Cameron recalled with feelings of delight her attitude of proud unconsciousness, followed by the smile of gracious and indulgent greetng with which she hailed an homage which she could not but perceive. Then those petty memories of her various and fancies, which at times marred the effect of her presence, and at other times heightened it-why should he recall them now when he had these deep inquiring eyes before him and these dimpling cheeks which were beginning to show such bloom and brightness! He felt annoyed at himself and yet his thoughts ran on, counting up the hours when she had seemed lost in abstraction, and the moments when she had been found lacking in words for those they knew best, or what was worse, uttered incongruities calculated to awaken surprise and possibly dismay in the hearts of those who heard her. Why it was only Yesterday she committed a breach of etiquette which argued a mind so far away from he scene in which they were taking rather a conspicuous part, that it needed all his love and indulgence to prevent him from betraying the shame which such culpable indifference to what was required of her as a guest aroused. And yet when recalled to her duty by a word, how graciously she d lent herself to the reparation of her fault, and how earnest had been the look with which she had studied his face to see how deep her offense had gone. 'Twas a mysterious nature moved by mysterious moods, and though she betrayed at certain times little awkardness of manner strangely contrast with the somewhat stately character of her beauty, there was also visible in her air and bearing the suggestion of great inner forces which lent to her least look and action the fascinstion of the indefinable and unexpected.

And yet with all this charm and gayety, all was not well with her. There was something hidden in this paradise which if once discerned he felt would banish sleep from his eyes. But he did not dare to question what it was any more than he dared to question whether the illness of which she complained had been the real secret of the extraor-dinary change which had taken place in her, or not. That with all these doubts his paradise was a fool's paradise he could not gainsay. But if this was so, he was but living over the experience of many a greater man before him, and her secret, if secret she had, was not a dishonoring one, or her eyes could never lift themselves to his with such purity of devotion as he now saw

Arrived at this point in his medita-tions, he paused in surprise that he was not satisfied with this look. Surely its language was unmistakable. Why make himself miserable when he had ocular proofs of her womanliness and devotion in every glance she gave him? We would do it no more; he would drop the past from his thoughts and aban-don himself solely to the present. Intent upon this resolve, he exclaimed sud-

"I must show you to my friends. When shall we go back to New York?" A shadow fell upon the brightness of her face. "Oh, must we go back?" she cried. "I wish we could live here always." Then, observing his astonishment, she added: "I hate New York; I should be glad if we never had to see it again. There I shall only have a part of you; here I have the whole." What could any man but two weeks married say in answer? He stooped over her and gave her a kiss, and then with that strange sensation we some times have of an intruding presence he lifted his head and was startled to perceive a dark figure gazing on him from the doorway, whose countenance he did not at once recognize, so great was his anger and chagrin.

"Who are you?" he cried, leaping to his feet. "I thought our door was shut But here the figure stepping forward, he beheld a face he knew, but little expected to see in this spot, and greatly astonished, he paused and waited, while the other, advancing still further, said:

"Your pardon. We understood from the hall-boy that this was a public reception room." And with this Dr. Cameron became aware that a second intruder had entered and was standing behind the first comer. The face was unknown to him, nor did he look at it twice, his attention being directed towards Dr. Molesworth, who was say-

"I have some business with you, Dr. Cameron. May I venture to tell you what it is?

"Business with me?"

"Yes, sir." The answer was brief and slightly abstracted, for his gaze had fallen on Mrs. Cameron, and he evidently felt that surprise and involuntary admiration which every stranger now experienced in seeing her for the first time.
"My wife!" was Dr. Cameron's cold

introduction. Both gentlemen bowed, and Genevieve rose. A flush of indignation was on her brow and she looked almost threatening. But she contented herself with a short bow, so icy and repellant that Dr. Molesworth dropped his eyes, and from that moment forward ignored for Infants and Children.

OTHERS, DO YOU KNOW that Paregoric,
Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of Its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined? Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless? Do You Know that 25 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest . Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

VISITING AN ANCIENT ABBEY. Mr. John Wrigley, of 146 Clarence street, fitter in the Grand Trunk, and formerly in the waterworks pumphouse, is on a three months' visit to England. In a recent letter from Leeds to Mr. John Law, he states that with a brother and sister-in-law he went to Kirkstall Abbey and secured two valuable specimens for the Geological Society in this city. Kirkstall Abbey is a very ancient structure, having faced the elements for 743 years. It is a grand old place, was built by one De Lacy, and Mr. Wrigley carried away a tile out of the main hall and also a piece of the ridge stone from the very top of the main building. The latter he broke off himself. Mr. Wrigley vis ited Mr. Law's niece at Woodlugh Hall and took in the sights of that neighborhood. He is delighted with Leeds, part of which he states as grown so rapidly he did not know it. He sails for home in about a week. WELCOMED THE PASTOR.

The Queen's Avenue Methodist congregation tendered a reception to Rev. Dr. Daniels last night, after which Mr. Samuel McBride was chosen chairman, and Mr. Thomas McCormick and Dr. F. R. Eccles offered the following resolution: "That we, the members of the trustee and quarterly boards of Queen's Avenue Mehodist Church, desire to give expression to the deep sense of gratitude and obligation we feel to cur venerable brother, the Rev. Dr Sanderson, for the earnest, faithful and self-sacrificing services he has so cheerfully rendered, and the assistance so freely given at all the public services of our church, and also at the many meetings of our boards, during the past four months; his wise counsels so kindly given, his matured judgments expressed with such deliberation, and his uniform Christian courtesy at all times manifested, have endeared him to our hearts, and we earnestly pray that he may long be spared to help on the cause of God in our midst and retain the high position he holds in the affections of his brethren and the congregation with which he worships." This was carried unanimously. Short and happy addresses were made by Messrs. McCormick, Eccles, Dr. Nelles, A. B. Powell, T. R. Parker, W. M. Spencer, Geo. T. Mrs. Foster, of Kent street, has just recovered from a serious attack of La Grippe. This is the second siege she has had of this influenza, the first of which attacked Mrs. influenza, the first of which attacked Mrs. Foster about three years ago, and left her with a very troublesome cough, accompanied with chronic bronchitis, and a complication of other diseases, which made it almost impossible for her to attend church without disturbing the congregation by coughing, and, indeed, Mrs. Foster assures us that so bad were the spasms that she often feared she would burst a blood vessel during one of these severe attacks. It was very natural that under such circumstances numerous friends would recommend as very natural that under such circumstances numerous friends would recommend as many different "cure alls." She tried Cherry Pectoral, Tar, Linseed and other preparations, but was growing generally worse when a friend who had been benefited by Barkwell's Bronchial Balsam advised her to try that, and in a few days she was out of bed, and the best feature is that she is now entirely freed from all simptoms of is now entirely freed from all simptoms of the Bronchitis, of which she never hoped to be cured. Rev. Dean Innes in the chair. Inspector Sanders' report was laid before the board, showing ten cases of cruelty which had been reported and attended to by him during the month, some of the people reprimanded for cruelty to animals requiring much persuasion or the inspector's part before they agreed to his suggestions. Many people were found to be cruel from want of thought and because they simply do as they see others doing; but when the inspec tor reasons with them on the subject he finds out that as a rule the same persons never require a second reprimand. This is particularly noticeable with those who bring chickens and animals to market with their feet tied together. As several complaints had been made of the exposed condition or the cavalry horses during the holding of the camp, the inspector investigated the matter, and found that out of 160 horses only 40 were under cover, the owners of which provided the covering at their own expense, thus leaving 120 herses exposed to all kinds of weather. The secretary was instructed to communicated with the Minister of Militia with a view to having this defect re-medied before the assembling of the next camp. The case was reported of a man who wishing to stop a horse from coming into his field loaded his gun with peas, and so riddled the poor brute's legs and hip that it required the services of a veterinary surgeon to extract the peas, many of which were embedded a half inch under the skin and necessitated a considerable loss of blood before they could be cut out. The man had been summoned.
