Clergy Approves Rosary.

Seldom does an author portray such character as that of a an important Catholic priest and have it meet with approval from the clergy. But this is ust what has happened to Edward E. This Is the Week to Complete the Family Christmas Shopping List

With this very thought in view—the season when your average expenses are greater owing to the purchasing of gifts, we made our preparations months ago, to be in a position to present to the public as many opportunities for saving as is consistent with high-class merchandise and honest dealing. It is not your earnings, but what you save of your earnings, that makes the savings account balance at the end of the year.

Economical advantages, through special purchases from European manufacturers, are passed on to our customers day by day, and every dollar you save through wisdom in taking advantage of same is an extra dollar each time added to your earnings. It is our aim to make your dollar go as far as possible at this season. SHOP EARLY IN THE WEEK.

"Let me see," he pondered. "The lights will be turned off, of course. Candles.
And a little something for the inner man, in case it's the closed season for He went inside, where a weary old wo-

With the added burden of a package with the added burden of a package containing his purchases in the tiny store, Mr. Magee emerged and continued his journey through the stinging snow. Upper Asquewan Falls on its way home for supper flitted past him in the silvery darkness. He saw in the lighted windows f many of the houses the green wreath f Christmas cheer. Finally the houses ecame infrequent, and he struck out on an uneven road that wound upward. Once he heard a dog's faint bark. Then a carriage lurched by him, and a strong voice cursed the roughness of the road. Mr. "Don Quixote, my boy," he muttered.

'I know how you felt when you moved on the windmills."

It was not the whir of windmills but he creak of a gate in the storm that rought Mr. Magee at last to a stop. He valked gladly up the path to Elijah Quimby's door.
In answer to Billy Magee's gay knock, a man of about 60 years appeared. Evidently he had just finished supper; at the moment he was engaged in lighting his pipe. He admitted Mr. Magee into the intimacy of the kitchen, and took a numper of calm judicious puffs on the pipe before speaking to his visitor. In that interval the visitor cheerily seized his hand, oblivious of the warm burnt match hat was in it. The match fell to the loor, whereupon the older man cast an anxious glance at a gray-haired woman who stood beside the kitchen stove.

"My name's Magee," blithely explained that gentleman," dragging in his bags.

LONDON, TUESDAY, DEC. 2. A PROBLEM OF EMPIRE.

The decision of Chief Justice Hunter at Vancouver last Saturday, to the effect that the federal regulations cannot keep Hindoos out of British Columbia directs attention to one of the serious problems of Empire. Is there, or can there be, a common imperial citizenship? Can a person be a British subject in one part of the Empire, and an alien in another? Under imperial Rome citizenship conferred special rights all over the empire. Is there no similar privilege in the British Empire? Common citizenship would seem to be the logical accompaniment of imperialism. And in theory it would be all right. But in practice it will not work.

If there is to be an all-embracing imperialism then it would seem that his majesty's Asiatic subjects should have full recognition in the Dominions which are component parts of the Empire. But that seems impracticable. Australia and New Zealand will not admit them. Canada has objected, and has proposed to keep them out under immigration laws. In British Columbia, especially, the admission of Asiatics is a vital question, because that is the gateway by which they come from over the Pacific. And the people of British Columbia will resist with all their power the admission of Hindoos, whether subjects of the Empire or not. They are as objectionable as Chinamen and Japanese.

Here in the east the matter is not of such moment, because the immigration of these nationalities is not so great. We may say that the feeling of these Western Canadians is unreasonable. But if we were in their place we might possibly feel the same. At all far as it exists, is a condition and not a theory.

clime, people whose temperament, habits, morals and religion, are of the most diverse, even antagonistic, character. But the centre and governing power of the Empire is in the British Isles, and must necessarily be there. To expect that the control of the Empire should be surrendered to the overseas dominions, is to expect a surrender which no nation has ever voluntarily made. Britain would be willing to let her dominions separate from her, if they so desired; but would certainly not surrender the control of Empire into their hands.

If, then, any attempt is made to weld the Empire into an homogeneous nation, it will have to be in accordance largely with the ideas of the people of Britain. And racial antagonisms do not exist to any great extent in Britain. The Asiatic and the African occupy a position there different from what they occupy in the dominions Possibly that is because the Briton has less racial prejudice, more likely because he is not brought into contact in his own country with these alien races to any extent. Many specimens of them walk about the streets of cosmopolitan London almost unnoticed. But they are little known outside of the large cities, and are not a disturbing element in either the industrial or the social or the religious world. So the question of imperial citizenship would be settled by the controlling power of the Empire uninfluenced by the prejudices or ideas of the people in the dominions. Nor this question alone. A federated empire, governed by a federal council or parliament, would have so many and so diverse problems to solve, that discord would result, and in all probability disintegration be the end. The only safe basis upon which the Empire can be founded is that of the fullest autonomy for each integral part. The crown colonies and dependencies must necessarily remain under the more or less direct control of the Imperial Parliament. But every self-governing dominion must have perfect freedom to manage its local affairs, while the inherent loyalty of each will be depended on for mutual aid and for the defence of the Empire. If that loyalty is not strong enough for the work in itself, artificial bonds will only weaken it still more. Chief Justice Hunter's decision in the Hindoo case will doubtless be appealed, or modified by further legislation. But, after all, the wishes of the Canadian people in this respect, as in all others, will have to prevail.

GILBERT HOWARD MacINTYRE. St. Marys lost a valuable citizen, and Canada a worthy son, when Gilbert MacIntyre died Monday. Born in St. Marys on Feb. 17, 1852, he was educated in his native town, studied pharmacy, kept a drug store, and finally became a private banker. Recognizing his duty to the municipality in which he lived, he entered civic life, and filled acceptably several important offices, including that of mayor. Quite rolls around again. naturally, he went into politics, and sat as the representative for South Perth in the House of Commons from 1904 to 1911, when the anti-reciprocity wave swept over him, and he gave place to Dr. Steele. Though a decided Liberal, he was as independent as any party man could possibly be, and on several occasions voted against his own friends. But he was recognized by his associates as a man whose services were of value to the country, and in 1909 he was elected deputy speaker. It is doubtful if any served. man ever held this position more acceptably to all parties in the House. Versed in parliamentary rules, he was could address the House in that language as well as in English. His character in the House may be judged by the fact that the Toronto News, the leading organ of the Conservative party, could speak of him as "a courteous and scholarly gentleman who fought his political fights fairly." Canada needs more men like Gilbert MacIntyre in her service. And the many who knew him only by reputation will join with his more intimate friends in mourning the untimely loss his death has brought upon us.

THE DEFENCE OF TAXED MOUTH. FULS.

In a sophistical article on "Food Cost in Canada," the Free Press of this city says:

That must be why Canadian pork sells so cheap in Great Britain. Finally, our contemporary declares for "eliminating the middleman"! Now phans' Home last month. Society isn't wents, whether reasonable or not the nobody really wants to eliminate the feeling exists, and has to be reckoned middleman, Conservatives, who profitwith. It may be inconsistent with an ed by the energies of combines in ideal imperialism; but imperialism, so 1911, least of all. But the point that our local contemporary altogether misses, by chance or design, is that The British Empire is world-wide, the easiest way to check those exuberand embraces men of every race and ant energies is to make food imports free of duty. For a while American advance some good cause. trusts may simply control the influx of foreign products, but will not Canadian exporters soon compete with them, as they do in England? Won't Canadian pork be sold in the United States as cheaply as in Great Britain, . e., at much lower prices than in Canada? And similarly is it not reasonable to suppose that American firms, which also sell cheap in England, will be willing to do at least as well for us in Canada, once our food market is as free as Britain's or their own?

The Free Press lifts up a mock wail for the farm which would be deserted if we imported food from abroad. The first point is that we should not import to any great extent what we can grow ourselves, but the fact that we could do so would force our combines to drop their inflated prices to local consumers, in order to meet the foreigner. The second point is that Canadian farmers will have all the better chance once the combines get knocked in the head by the removal of the tariff on food. The combines hurt them almost as much as they hurt the consuming public. There is no consistency between this wail for the farmers and the declaration that the "elimination of the middleman" is the all important thing. Eliminate the combines by eliminating its fortress and its strength, the tariff on food products.

WAITERS.

It is as we thought! Toronto has ost that charm of homeliness that was hers only yesterday. She becomes more like New York every day. She is a place of idle rich, flamboyant vests, thests slipped under belts, Italian motors, cubist front cover girls who have been twisted into their clothes, old men and women selling papers, and --!! newspaper gentlemen who write cynically of waiters and tipping

We had thought that the writing gentlemen of Toronto would be the last to take up with anything new; the last to lead the existence Lobster Palace (or is it Oyster Palace in Toronto?) But we can almost understand it of the editorial chaps of the Toronto Star; their Bohemianism is increasingly evident. It was, in fact, one of them who wrote an article entitled "Waiters," in which he assumed a nibbling acquaintance with such things as stuffed eggs a la russe and filet mignon, and a sipping acquaintance with consomme Pavlowa. He was discussing the question of tips for waiters, having in mind his favorite Henri, no doubt, and his knowledge of the subject was broad, and his attitude was that of a tiser had its way one combine tould jaded connoisseur. Upon the up-province journalist this state of mind reacts with a freezing shock. Can it be that the newspapers of Toronto have perfected the old system of giving squash for subscriptions and artichokes for advertising? Are these scribes merely devouring a half-column of top-page, next-to-reading-matter, or are they as swell and as cynical as they would have us believe? I remain, A.-1. It is impossible to give you more than a very brief account here. Charles Dickens, English novelist (not poet, as you state) was born in Portsmouth, in 1812. At an early age he became a reporter on the True Sun, and later on the London Chronicle. In the latter he contributed his "Sketches of Life and Character" later published

The best of all "Breakfast Foods" is BREAD

Bread is higher in nutritive material than any of the so-called "breakfast foods" and it is much cheaper.

Besides—bread may be served in just as many tempting ways.

Nothing is better or easier to digest than milk and bread or bread toasted to a golden brown and spread with butter —or bread fried in egg batter.

In fact, there's nothing that can take the place of bread at any meal—and there are many things that bread can well take the place of. More of it and less of other things will increase the family's health and decrease living expense.

Of course, you should be careful toget the best bread-bread that is light, fine-grained, thoroughly digestible - bread raised with Fleischmann's Yeast. Ask your baker:

league a district branch of the Northern Hockey League, as proposed at the meetHockey Lea and decide one way or the other.

Who Will Control City League?

The only trouble that is liable to crop up in the case of the City League acceptyesterday afternoon. Just what action will be taken is at present unknown,

A Good Preposition.

The idea of forming the local league into a northern group is, on the face of it, a good one. However, there are many things to be considered before the proposition is adopted. There is little doubt that four good strong City League teams as here bettle.

In the case of the City League accepting the offer is the question of whether the Northern League will control it. Each of the City League clubs will have to pay an entry fee of $3 to the Northern League, and an additional bond of $25 will have to be put up by each club as a guarantee that they will finish the season. The winner of the group must be returned by Feb. 10.

The Other Groups. Northern League teams a hard battle, and it is an even chance that the winner of the City League can bring the championship of the former organization to this city. Last year some fast hickey was played in the City League, and with the lifted rest-iction on O. H. A. players to he p strengthen the teams, the league this year should be even better

First Hussars Entered. The First Hussars team of the City League have already applied to the Northern League for admittance, A telegram was sent to Secretary Burt at Palmerston yesterday by the writer, asking that the First Hussars' entry be accepted. Some time later, the writer got into communication with Mr. Burt, London City League. and he was told that the nearest group the London team could be placed in would be 70 miles away from this city. This would mean considerable travelling expense, and the First Hussars would hardly consider such a proposition. The idea of making the London City League 3 a four-team group was then broached. Just whether this will be satisfactory or not is a question. Another Team Needed. present there are only three teams in the City League, or at least only three bave signified any intention of again entering this year. LOTS OF BUILDING [Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Dec. 2.—The construction work on the plant of the new Perfection Stove Company is being rushed. The contractors hope to have much of the work done before the winter sets in. The mild weather of the past month or so has been most favorable for the foundation, and masonry work, and it is expected that the plant will be ready for operation by spring. Quite a lot of building is going on in the town, and furnishes employment for a considerable number of men who would otherwise be out of work. ON EAST LONDON on Petition and Two-Thirds Vote.

The council Monday night after a engthy discussion instructed the city engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of establishing an East End market, and if it is found desirable a bylaw will be submitted to the ratepayers for the necessary expenditure and also for the paving of the down-town

A deputation from the East End Progressive Association appeared on behalf of the separate market idea. Ald. J. G. Richter thought that there was no sense in submitting a bylaw to spend the small sum of $1,000 or $1,500 in fitting up the proposed East End market, and believed that the engineer s'ould submit an estimate of the cost, to be presented to the council at its next meeting, when it could be determined which was the best way to go about the proposed improvement.

Ald. E. J. L. Stin chargd Ald. Richter with having worked to knock out the East End market idea when the estimates were being drawn up. "That is absolutely untrue," replied Ald. Richter, "that I helped to knock out the East End market. Be a man, now, and produce the evidence." Ald. Stein lamely explained that Ald. Richter had voted against the is something in history, something associated with the wild and woolly west Aldermen Put Through Big List thrillers that he read in his boyhood days. The fact that the red man still exists in no inconsiderable numbers, despite the ravages of tuberculosis, is something that possibly never occurs to him, yet within a few miles of London there are no less than 1,373 fullblooded Indians, true descendants of the original inhabitants of Canada and of the Indian braves who fought with Brock and Tecumseh.

The county of Middlesex has a population of 41,991, and a total acreage of 757,683 acres. It might seem rather surprising to the average man to know that 1,373 of the county population and 16,071 acres of land represents Indian residents. Such is the case.

Indians' Land Wealthy.
Lo, the poor Indian seems to be inccurate so far as the Middlesex reervations are concerned. Figured on the 1912-13 report the Indians own a little better than 11 7-10 acres apiece. Compared to the average acreage of their white neighbors it is a very respectable amount. After subtracting farm are well supplied with farm imreserves from the total acreage of the county it works out a little better than 17 acres a head for the 40,826 white residents of Middlesex. Interesting Stories.

Tucked away in odd corners of the 'official reports" that are found in the annual report of the department of Indian affairs for the year ending March 31, 1913, and which has just been issued by the king's printer, Ottawa, are found many interesting ctories. The blue book on Indian affairs is possibly not quite so musty as the average Government blue book. At any rate incorporated in the mass of reports found between its covers is some information about London's Indian neighbors that is most interest

"If members of council are to be appointed there are two men here whose long service and experience entitle them to the place. I refer to Ald. Ald. Richter further suggested repesentation on the commission of the Southeastern Railway board, because of the close alliance. F. E. Leonard, a former member of the Ontario railway board, and now of the Southeastern, would be a suitable person for appointment.

Col. Hobbs, R. C. Struthers, D. H. Howden and others, any one of whom, thought, would give splendid serice on the board. Ald. B. W. Bennett took a hand in the discussion by nominating the name of Ald. J. G. Richter in the place of M. D. Fraser, and Ald. G. E. Rose in the place of Ald. Spittal. The dermen had received the highest votes at the last municipal election. Ald. Richter would be a valuable asset to the board because of his financial experience, while Ald. Rose would represent the labor interests.

Ald Richter declined the nomination, while Ald. Rose also retired, aming Ald. Bennett as the board in place of M. D. Fraser. Ald. Richter wanted to know who a vote was not taken on the names according to the rules.

"You haven't got any confidence in the representation of the mayor?" asked his worship. "He's got enough representing to do," replied Ald, Richter.

I opposed the location of the incinerator, as your worship knows, but since being chairman of the board of works I have done everything I could to favor it. With Ald. is but one cloud upon horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America and Gen. Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico: until it is understood on all hands, indeed, that such pretended governments will not be countenanced dealt with by the Government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America; we are more than its friends; we are it champions; because in no other way can our neighbors, to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship, work out their own development in peace and liberty. Mexico has no government.

The attempt to maintain one at the city of Mexico has broken down, and a mere military despotism has been set up, which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last east aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator.

As a consequence, a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most elementary and fundamental rights either of her own people or of the citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded, and which threatens, if long continued, to imperil the interests of peace, order and tolerable life in the lands immediately to the south of us.

Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the republic, in despite of the rights of its people, have set up nothing Would but a precarious and hateful power, could have lasted but a little while, and whose eventual downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated. By a little every day his power and prestige are crumbling and the collapse is not far away. We shall not, I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions. The Currency Bill. I turn to matters of domestic con-cern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and necessary to set credit free from rbitrary and artificial restraints. I ned not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the Senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not neededthat the members of that great House need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you, in addition, the argent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the The pending currency bill ountry. does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as it should; and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit. The farmers, of course, ask and should be given no special privilege, such as extending to them the credit of the Government itself. What they need and should obtain is legislation which will make their own abundant and stantial credit resources available as foundation for joint, concerted local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

Are Lagging Behind, It has, s'agularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the hives of industry, upon the cries of the rowded market place and the clangor of the factory, but it is from the quiet interspaces of the open valleys and the free hillsides that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be silent, every office deserted, every the silent, every himse discount and we the actory fallen into disrepair. And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops, and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his note, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures, lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly known as it might be on the

The agricultural department of the overnment is seeking to assist as never before to make farming an efficient business, of wide co-operative effort, in quick with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the Government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to ners in this field, where we now begin to see our way very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution. The treasury of the United States has, by a timely and well-considered distribution of its deposits, facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients. We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available, and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water, while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the handicap and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food. produce our food.

Special Commission.
Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the Congress recently authorized the creation of a special company of the congress recently authorized the creation of a special company of the congress of the co authorized the creation of a special commission to study the various systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe, and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods will be best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the Senate and House will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recentlyformed plans of the department of agriculture may be made to serve them very greatly in their work of framing appropriate and adequate legislation. It would be indiscreet and presumptuous if anyone to dogmatize upon so great and manyne to dogmatize upon so great and many sided a question, but I feel confident that common counsel will produce the results we must all desire

Block Monopolies.
Turn from the farm to the world of usiness which centres in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thought-in observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business com-munities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectually than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sher-man anti-trust law stand, unaltered, as it is, with its debatable ground about it, but that we should as much as possible but that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation; and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fairer to all concerned No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central sub-tect of our deliberations during the pres-ent session; but it is a subject so many-sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than the liberty of addressing you upon it in a specal message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the businessmen of this country, should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and a clear path indicated which they can travel without anxiety. It is as important that they should be relieved of embarrassment and set free to relieved of embarrassment and set free t prosper so that private monopoly should be destroyed. The ways of action should be thrown wide open.

Labor Questions.

Three or four matters of special importance and significance I beg that you will permit me to mention in closing.

Our bureau of mines ought to be equipped and empowered to render even more effectual service than it renders now in improving the conditions of mine labor and making the mines more economicall productve as well as more safe. This an all-important part of the work conservation; and the conservation onservation; and the conservation of human life and energy lies even nearer to our interest than the preservation from waste of our material resources.

We owe it, in mere justice to the railway employees of the country, to provide the country of them a fair and effective employers' for them a fair and effective employers' liability act; and a law that we can stand by in this matter will be no less to the advantage of those who administer the railroads of the country than to the advantage of those whom they employ. The experience of a large number of the states abundantly preves that.

We ought to devote ourselves to meeting pressing demands of plain justice like this as earnestly as to the accomplishment of political and economic reforms. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization, and is vital only as it

Few Civil Actions Entered—Some Important Criminal Charges.

PROBLEM FOR THE COURT

Location of Temporary Hall For Wednesday Is Perplexing— Shrine, Court and Council Mixed.

December sessions of the peace for the County of Middlesex opened at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Masonic Temple, Senior County Judge Talbot Macbeth presiding. The list of cases to be tried is not a particularly heavy one. Six civil actions are to be tried, but none of these involve very large sums of money. The most serious of the criminal cases is that of Caroline Liley, the young woman of Dorchester, who is charged with negl -ting her infant child, with the intent to secure its death. The chied died and as a result a charge of murder was at first laid against the woman, but this was later reduced to the Assault Charges.

George Yensen will answer to a charge of indecent assault laid by a London Township young woman, and Dan Delarey, of Caradoc, will face a Mr. Spaan denied that there was any charge of assault occasioning actual that township. The other cases in-clude theft and false pretences. A horse deal that did not turn out propretences charges. William T. Abraham, of London Township, claims that J. W. Hartnell obtained a bay mare valued at $125 from him by repclaims that this turned out to be un-

"Pussy Wants a Corner."

An interesting situation may possibly develop Wednesday in regard to the place of holding court. The Masonic Temple has been secured for today, but the Mystic Shriners are meeting there Wednesday, and will require the building all day. It was proposed to move the court to county council chambers for that day, the meeting of the county council Monday afternoon, some of the councillors objected to this arrangenent, saying that it would seriously nterfere with the work of the council, which is sitting this week. Unless an amicable arrangement is reached today it will be a clear case of "Pussy wants a corner" Wednesday.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Constable Is Chief Witness Against Western Miners.

[Canadian Press.] New Westminster, B. C., Dec. 2. At the assizes yesterday the trial commenced of seven miners from Nanaimo on charges of assault and aggravated assault on Provincial Constable Harry Taylor. Taylor was the officer, who had his gun and badge taken from him forcibly by miners, and who was otherwise maltreated. The chief witness against the accused

MAY END STRIKE

[Canadlan Press.] Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—A committee composed of representatives of all crafts affiliated with the Central Labor Union today began efforts to find some way in which the strike of the teamsters and chauffeurs could be ended peaceably. December session was disposed of at high constable as having full power the first sitting held in the county council chambers Monday afternoon. A number of important matters will be necessary. dealt with at this session, as was indicated in the remarks of Warden A. K. Hodgins, when the council convened. After welcoming the members of the council, the warden proceeded to outline some of the projects which session. Chief among these was the question of hydro power and radial railways. He felt sure, he said, that other counties were getting a little the start of Middlesex in the matter, and that it was just because the people of this county didn't know the right way o go about starting a project of that kind. He would like to see the matter given the fullest discussion, so that all the arguments for and against it might be brought out. Want Power Information,

His remarks bore fruit later in the afternoon in a resolution introduced by Councillor C. N. Currie, of Glencoe, in which he suggested that the warden secure somebody familiar with the power situation to address the council at this session, and explain matters to them. The resolution was adopted, and the discussion will likely brought on this afternoon. The warden also told the councillors that full reports on the court house repairs would be laid before them at architect in charge. be taken up, and it is probable that a roads commission have asked to be

annual report. It was a lengthy document and covered the year's work of the county constabulary. He was unable to present a financial statement because of the lack of system in making up accounts which he claimed existed throughout the force. His remarks along this line precipitated a warm discussion on the efficiency of the county force in general.

Councillor Rush, of Wardsville, charged that two-thirds of the county constables are never on hand they are wanted, and that the men, who are paid a stipulated amount each year, are no better than the men who receive only the customary fees for each arrest. He knew cases, he said, where these men had refused to move

"They have sat at the council board with many of the members here present."

Mrs. John Elliff, St. John's West, Ont., writes:—"My little boy was very bad with whooping cough and severe cold. I went to two doctors with him, and they said he had Consumption. I could get no relief for him, he would cough all night long, with a dry hacking cough. I was persuaded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and was surprised to see the first bottle did him good. I have had five bottles, and they cured him, he rests well at night now, and is well and hearty. If he gets a cold we always give him Pine Syrup and he is soon better. MARKET LISTLESS ONE WITH TRADING SLOW

Hay Takes a Drop to $16.50-Live Hogs Uncertain-Potatoes Slow.

The local market was featureless this morning, with prices firm and trading dull. Other than an average offering of hay, potatoes and oats all lines were at a complete standstill. Hay took a drop yesterday afternoon. An offering of 32 loads found slow sale, and this had a tendency to lower the prevailing prices. The commodity sold for $13 to $16.50. Straw is a small offering at $6 to $8.50. Potatoes are listless and selling at 95 cents to $1. Other vegetables are

MONEY MARKET BETTER

General Conditions Improved With Lots of Cash Being Spent Here.

London's location as the centre of the finest agricultural district in Canada is an influence that is keeping business up to normal in the Forest City, despite the fact that many other cities are feeling depression. Local merchants are anything but downcast with the present trade out-Open. High. Low. Close. downcast with the present trade outlook. They are anticipating the great-July 12.99 13.03 12.99 12.99 est Christmas trade in the city's history. It only wants seasonable weather to "make things hum," they say.

Doesn't Know the Word. "Depression?" said one big retailer today. "Someone has been talking about depression. We do not know what it means in London. Business is keeping up in great shape. There seems to be plenty of work in prospect, and from what my banker told me there will be a decided improvement in money conditions before the first of the year. It is even easier now. But the Forest City does not worry The farmers have lots of money and they are coming to London to spend it. The city people are not suffering. Look at our places of amusement. They are crowded to the doors every night and that is a certain barometer.

We Are Optimists. "The thrifty man will always get along in London, He will always find work to do if he is able to do it, and prospects are that there will be London is concerned 'depression' And in London we are optimists.

DIRECTORY GIVES 60,700 AS LONDON POPULATION

Final Computation of Figures Credits City With Big Increase.

On the basis of the 1914 directory figures, Greater London has a population of 60,700. Henry Vernon, publicher of the directory, has finished compiling the statistics of the new directory and announced to The Advertiser this morning that the city population was 60,700. This is more than 5,000 greater than the assessment figures. The fact that the directory covers a no inconsiderable area beyond the city limits may possibly be the explanation of the difference in the the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, addressed the London Presbytery in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church this mornnig.

He paid a sincere telbute to the state of the presbytery in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church this mornnig. He paid a sincere tribute to the late law to the ratepayers for the laying Dr. James Ross, and dwelt on the in-fluence Dr. Ross had wielded in the assembly by his tact and personal quali-product to local consumers. This fol-assembly by his tact and persons date ties.

Dr. McKenzie reminded the members of the presbytery of the ideals of service constantly before a congregation. It was impossible for any man to reach the standard as adopted by Christ, he said; but there is a standard which should be the aim of every man, and which can only be attained by persistent effort in the right direction.

Prior to the address, several communications were read and approved, including one from the Lord's Day Alliance asking the co-operation of the presbytery.

Appeal From Knox Church. Appeal From Knox Church.

John Macpherson placed an application before the meeting in the interest of Knox Church, South London, asking permission for the church to mortgage real estate to negotiate a loan of $1,000 to be used in renovating the building the repairs to include a new roof, substitution of electricity for water power in connection with the organ, and also to aid the ladies of the church in the purchase of a new carpet. St John's A. Y. P. A. Visited James' Branch, South London. St. John's branch of the Anglican Toung People's Association were the guests of St. James' branch on Monday evening, and a pleasant gathering resulted. Mr. H. W. Lyons, B.A., secretary of the Men's Federation, addressed the young people on some phases of the work which the federation is attempting to accomplish in London. He dealt particularly with some of the problems presented by the immigrants from foreign countries who are coming here.

It was difficult, he said, to arouse interest in these people among the citizens generally, but this was being largely concert, and contained just enough Grant-He concert given at Khohwood Grant-He concert given at Khohwood

ON SHAKESPERIAN PLAY

Shakespeare's "Macbeth" was the subject of a lecture-recital by Walter Gordon Craig, of Toronto, in St. Andrew's Hall Monday night under the auspices of St. Andrew's Young People's Guild.

In an entertaining manner Mr. Craig presented the play, reciting in a fine elocutionary, yet unaffected and natural, manner, leading passages from it, and connecting each with the succeeding one by a simple and pleasing explanation of the intervening

"Macbeth," he said, was one of the most fascinating plays of Shakespeare. He spoke of the "sombre grandeur per-vading it," and characterized Macbeth as being generous, honest and , but with some latent weakness in character, which made him listen to the counsels of Lady Macbeth, who, keenly ambitious, deliberately strangles her conscience that she might murder the king.

Rev. H. McFarlane presided at the recital.
