HEAVY DAMAGES WERE AWARDED

Close of the Sensational Breach of Promise Trial at Sarnia.

Verdict for the Plaintiff for $5,000—Review of Case Which Attracted Wide Attention.

Sarnia, Ont., Oct. 18.—The trial of the sensational suit of Miss Victoria Middleton, of this place, against Dr. F. G. Wilkinson, also of Sarnia, for breach of promise, for $15,000 damages, was ended here to-day. The jury awarded Miss Middleton $5,000 damages.

Miss Middleton, who is a handsome woman, 38 years of age, claimed that Dr. Wilkinson, who is forty-four years old, and highly respected, engaged himself some time ago to marry her. On his advice she underwent two critical operations. On the occasion of one, she alleged, Dr. Wilkinson abused his privilege as a family physician, and subsequently he repudiated his engagement to her. Under pressure from her brother, G. T. Middleton, of Winnipeg, Dr. Wilkinson finally acknowledged this engagement, and promised to marry her at the end of six months. When that time arrived, however, the doctor denied having made any promise or engagement to make her his wife. Dr. Wilkinson, under examination, declared that he had never engaged to marry Miss Middleton, and asserted that the whole affair was a conspiracy.

During the trial Miss Middleton produced a note which she said had been sent to her by Dr. Wilkinson's late wife ten days before her death, in which the writer expressed the wish that on Mrs. Wilkinson's demise, Miss Middleton would become the wife of Dr. Wilkinson. This document Dr. Wilkinson declared to be forged.

AWFUL ACT OF CANADIAN

Nicholas Flood Davia Shoots Himself in a Winnipeg Hotel.

Despondency the Cause—An Ex-M. P. and Noted Orator—Spoke in the Maple City.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 18.—Citizens of Winnipeg were startled and shocked this evening when it became known that Nicholas Flood Davia, the well-known and popular ex-M. P. for West Assiniboia, had ended his life by shooting himself.

He drove by the Clarendon Hotel, where he was staying, and stated his intention of taking the west train, which leaves shortly after four p. m. He went to his room, packed his grip, and sent it down to the office by the porter.

The clerk, noticing that it was time for Mr. Davia to start, sent the porter upstairs to call him. The porter rapped several times at the door, and not getting any response, became alarmed, and calling the housekeeper, the door was opened with a pass key, when a shocking spectacle met their eyes, for there lay the dead body of Mr. Davia. His eyes were closed and his face looked as calm and peaceful as if he were just asleep. The clothes on his body, however, showed the appalling truth, being soaked with blood.

He had placed the revolver in his mouth and the bullet passed out through the back of the head. Death must have been instantaneous. The revolver was still in his hand.

An investigation showed that the deceased had gone up to his room, locked the door, and taking out the key, laid it on the dressing table. He must have then laid down on the bed and shot himself.

There was nothing left by him to give any explanation of why he did it, and it is generally credited to despondency, caused by financial embarrassment and other troubles. He was aged 58, and leaves a widow.

Nicholas Flood Davia, it will be remembered, delivered the inaugural oration on the day that Chatham was created a city. He was born at Kill June 18, 1843, being descended from families long settled in Tipperary. He married on the 25th of July, 1865, Elizabeth, daughter of James Reid, of Ottawa. He was educated at Queen's University, Ireland, and at a college affiliated to the University of London. He was by profession a barrister, having been called to the bar of the Middle Temple, London, in 1868, and was subsequently called to the bar of Ontario. He was also a barrister of the Northwest Territories. He was appointed a Q. C. by the Dominion Government on Oct. 27, 1892. Mr. Davia has also had considerable experience as a journalist, having been war correspondent for the Dublin Irish Times and the London Standard during the Franco-German war, being wounded at the siege of Montmedy. In March, 1883, he established the Regina Leader. He was the author of several well-known works in prose and verse. He was a candidate for the Commons in Haldimand in 1878, but was defeated. In 1879 he went to Washington as commissioner to inquire into the system in the United States of educating Indian children. He then visited the Indian agencies, afterwards going to Winnipeg and conferring with Archbishop Tache, Pers. Lacombe, Hon. Jas. Mackay, Messrs. George and John McTavish and others, and visited the reserves, and it was on his report to the Government that the present system of educating children in the Northwest was based. In Parliament he was the means of removing a number of Northwest grievances, and obtaining concession culminating in the act of 1897, giving them responsible government. On March 11, 1897, at a grand convention at Regina, he was elected president of the Liberal-Conservative Association for the whole Territories. He was first returned to Parliament for West Assiniboia in 1887, and re-elected in 1891 and 1896. At the last general election he was defeated.

STEAMSHIP RAN ASHORE

Manchester Shipper Ran Hard Aground off Nova Scotia.

The Passengers Safe—The Pilot Evidently to Blame for the Mishap.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 18.—On Petrie's Ledge, about half a mile from the Low Point shore, lies the splendid steamship Manchester Shipper, of the Manchester Line. She is apparently fast aground, and will require a considerable amount of pulling and hauling to float her. In fact, it is exceedingly doubtful if she will be pulled off before she is considerably damaged. The Str. Lane and tug left to float her this afternoon, but they were unable to budge her. Her ballast will be lightened with all possible haste and another attempt made to get her off. She was bound from France to Montreal, with two hundred and thirteen passengers, and nine saloon passengers. She ran short of coal and the captain decided to put into Sydney. She sighted Low Point about ten o'clock last night, and a few minutes later Pilot Wm. Ratford boarded the vessel and took her in charge. The night was dark, but clear overhead, and the different lights could be easily distinguished. The pilot had been on board about ten minutes when Captain Goldworthy exclaimed:—"I am afraid that you are getting too near the shore."—"I know what I am doing," was the pilot's reply. A few moments later the captain again remonstrated with Pilot Ratford. This time the pilot was about to heed the captain's warning, but before he could do so there was a harsh grating, and the Manchester Shipper was hard and fast aground.

This afternoon your correspondent visited the steamer. She is lying about a mile off shore, and the appearance of a steamer at anchor, and her crew are still on board. Capt. Goldworthy declined to discuss the cause of the accident.

Pilot Ratford when approached on the steamer, said he miscalculated the distance. The Shipper had a small general cargo for Montreal.

Captain Goldworthy is now awaiting instructions to send the passengers by rail.

Detective Lambert was among the passengers. He arrested two demimondees at Rimouski, charged with stealing $20,000 from a gentleman in whose train they were convicted, and was just returning.

"C" COMPANY

Came in for Special Commendation at the Hands of the Commanding Officer Last Night.

The 24th Regiment held a march-out last evening with a very good turnout. At the conclusion of the parade Lieut.-Col. Rankin stated that it was his intention to compel the members of the Regiment to turn out to the parades.

"I must be allowed," said he, "to compliment those who have turned out on their creditable appearance. There are, however, too many absentees. I intend to have it understood that every member of the Regiment must turn out to these parades. You are soldiers, or three years, and during this time you will have to obey the commands of the Commanding Officer."

He also took occasion to make special mention of "C" company and complimented them on their good turnout and their soldierly appearance. The church parade to-morrow has been called off until a more convenient time.

The next drill will be held Monday evening.

PRACTICES AS HE PREACHED

President Roosevelt Entertains a Colored Man at White House.

Severe Condemnation of the Southerners Does Not Worry Him—A Strong Hand at Helm.

Washington, October 18.—President Roosevelt has, upon many occasions, shown his independence and absolute disregard as to what people would say about him or his public and official acts, by doing the unexpected thing and at the unexpected time. He has now surprised all the country and brought down upon his head the wrath of all the southerners, particularly the southern Democrats, by inviting Prof. Booker T. Washington to dine with him and his family at the White House on Wednesday.

Prof. Washington is the leading representative of his race in the country to-day, an educated and refined gentleman, and has done and is doing great things to improve and uplift the colored people, yet the president is being severely criticised by many who want to pick flaws with his course, because he invited a negro to sit at his table with his family. It was, so far as is known, the first time a member of that race was ever a guest of the president at the White House table. It may be the last, but the whole circumstance was not so much a surprise to those who know Mr. Roosevelt best.

Predictions are freely made here to-day, where southerners are more plentiful than in the north, that the president's act has forever done away with all possibility of building up the Republican party in the south. Several southern papers denounce the president's action, one calling it "a damnable outrage."

NIAGARA BUT POOR SECOND

Immense Water Power to be Developed by Clergue at the Soo.

Canal to be Built and 125,000 Horse Power Will be Furnished—Expend a Million.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 18.—F. H. Clergue, who is at the head of several mammoth commercial enterprises here, has another projected water power canal that will mean the expenditure of upwards of a million dollars. This is the development of 20,000 horse power electrically in the rapids or falls at St. Mary's river, opposite the ship canal. The St. Mary's Falls Power Co. was organized a short time ago for the purpose, and to-day made application to the board of supervisors, in accordance with the state statute, requesting permission to divert the waters of the river for the project. The plans contemplate the construction of two parallel dikes on the bed of the rapids 150 feet west of the line of the international bridge that crosses the falls. These dikes, which will retain and convey the water from the upper level to a power building at the lower end of the canal, will each be 3,100 feet long. The distance between dikes will be 183 feet and the outer dike will be near the center of the channel boundary between the United States and Canada. The fall of water is about eighteen feet and the bed of the rapids is of stone, affording a firm foundation for the dikes and buildings. Power can be developed at a cost infinitely less than at Niagara. The company owns an island at the foot of the falls, which is adjacent to the mainland, and has also property above the falls. It is proposed to build a railway from the power house to the dike and it will be connected with the mainland on the American side above the falls by a bridge. The water power developments now made and projected at this point will furnish 125,000 horse power for manufacturing purposes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Every paper throughout the land, says an exchange, receives numbers of letters for publication. Many of the writers prefer that their compositions should appear under some de plume. Whether this is owing to characteristic modesty or the desire to shelve responsibility, it would hardly be fair to judge. The following incident is related of a person who had a grievance to air against a fellow man. The discontented one went to the editor of a certain paper, and outlined his plans of attack. Upon reading the letter, the editor handed it to his correspondent for his signature. But the visitor objected to signing his name; he wished the newspaper to shoulder the onus of the attack.

A certain number of "Letters to the Editor" are of this nature. Such people thoughtlessly presume that a newspaper has no honor to maintain. They forget, or evidently do not realize, that the modern newspaper is a large concern, impersonal in a sense so far as individuals connected with it are concerned, but possessing a distinct personality as well as a certain policy. It expresses opinion, endeavors to instruct, and to act as a wise counselor, according to the best light it has. In this respect it takes on the nature of a person, and is amenable to all the privileges and duties of a private citizen.

It is, we maintain, however, perfectly legitimate for the public to write on any conceivable topic, subject, or course, to the approval of the editor, provided the writer sign his name, thereby holding himself responsible for the views he wishes to set in print.

MONDAY'S CONVENTION.

If the signs fail not there will be big doings at the East Kent Liberal convention on Monday. There are, at least, a dozen strong candidates for the nomination and they all propose to fight it to a finish. Barring a packed convention they are all winners—their respective friends will tell you so.

Meantime the Ridgeway Dominion says:

As the day for the Liberal convention approaches excitement rises higher and the friends of the rival aspirants buckle harder to their work. It is now certain that at least half a dozen gentlemen will allow their names to go to a final ballot. Two of them hail from north of the river, and their friends claim that Messrs. Sturges and Johns are fighters to a finish. Both will be sadly disappointed as the friends of Malcolm Campbell, Jonas Gosnell, R. L. Gosnell and Dr. McCully. Each of the last named four is backed by a goodly number of stalwarts and the final outcome is greatly in doubt. In truth it must be admitted that not one of the gentlemen has succeeded in arousing any general degree of enthusiasm, and judging from the feeling at present prevailing the nomination of any one of them will fall pretty flat. Yet, we confess they are all gentlemen of character and standing, and it is difficult to point out just what is lacking. There is something wanting that fails to produce the old

Every Exertion
a Task

There is failure of the strength to do and the power to endure; a feeling of weakness all over the body.

The vital functions are impaired, food does not nourish, and the whole system is run down.

A medicine that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion, invigorates and tones is needed.

What Hood's Sarsaparilla did for John Y. Paterson, Whitby, Ont., it will do for you. He took it as a tonic and general builder of the system, and writes: "I have found no other remedy to compare with it as a restorer of vitality. It drives away that tired feeling, quiets the nerves, and brings sweet refreshing sleep."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. The earlier treatment is begun the better—begin it today.

feeling of joy and certainly which is replaced by one of amusement if not complete indifference. Many old time workers even laugh when the names of respectable gentlemen are mentioned in connection with the nomination that appear to have a secret hope, inspired by they know not what, that at the last minute a suitable Moses will arise to lead the party out of the difficulty which seems to envelop it. It may be that neither of the gentlemen mentioned above will be given the nomination, and that after all some "dark horse" will stampede the convention to himself by some eloquent speech or happy allusion as did Mr. Bryan at Kansas City. In the meantime speculation as to the nominee is idle. No man knoweth on whom the honor will fall.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

How to reform the youthful criminal has always been a question of paramount importance; to philanthropists, reformers and governments, but the question is still far from a solution, comments the Woodstock Express. Reformatories there are and houses of correction for young offenders, but these institutions sometimes prove recruiting grounds for training schools for criminals. The culprits are detained for a time in a place where they are not able to commit any depredations on their neighbors' lives or properties; but apart from that there is too often no benefit to anyone. As a graduate of a reformatory once described life there: "You get up in the morning and go through the same game every day for eighteen months, if you're lucky. You work and you don't get nothing. An' what is it when you get through?"

In the October number of the World's Work there is a description of an experiment that has been tried at an institution in Freeville, N. Y., that has proved so successful that it goes a long way towards showing how the real object reformatories have in view can be carried out. It is not known by the name of reformatory, however, but it is understood, and is designated a "republic," and the citizens and officials of the republic are the criminals that are to be reformed. The great majority are delinquents from eight to eighteen years of age, whose offences vary from convicted murder, larceny and burglary to disorderly conduct and truancy. In fact, general "badness," accompanied by ordinary intelligence, is, according to Mr. George, the founder of the republic, the chief requisite for admission to the republic. The children make their own laws, elect their own officers, and work out their own questions of money matters and punishments. They run their own business, employ labor and divide profits. In short, the "republic" is conducted in every way like a miniature republic. There are about one hundred citizens, and the average amount in circulation is $500. Every citizen has to work for what he gets, and nothing is given away. Sometimes a new arrival will work only hard enough to pay his board, and will spend the rest of the time in idleness. This contingency was met by a law that proclaimed everyone possessed of less than a dollar as a vagrant. The penalty for vagrancy is a fine of a dollar and a half, to be paid in work. There is a president of the republic, a treasury department, where public funds are administered, a police force, court of law, health officers, etc., all administered by the inmates themselves. The result is that the "citizens" learn to use both their heads and their hands. The responsibility of supporting themselves is thrown upon them with the added necessity of doing it honestly, and with that responsibility a feeling of self-reliance and independence comes. They find out that they can earn their living honestly, and when they leave the "republic" they have more self-respect and less incentive to crime. From all sources the number received since 1895 was 247, and of this number only one has been arrested since graduating from the "republic."

The cause of crime, for the most part, is misdirected energy of incapacity. Turn the energy into a legitimate source, remove the feeling of incapacity and the first steps have been taken towards securing good citizens and lessening the number of criminals. In prisons and reformatories work is regarded as a form of punishment, that has to be gone through because of the compulsion of armed guards. In the "republic" of Mr. George work is made necessary to sustenance, and the one who undertakes it has a personal interest in it for its own sake. The task well done brings. The brain, too, is encouraged to be active, and there is not the mechanical, daily repetition of the selfsame task, deadening the brain by its weary monotony.

"TOUCHED."

Comber Herald.
The Chatham Banner-News has been touched in a tender spot. Listen!—The Planet in a recent issue voiced a grievance felt in every newspaper office in the land—a grievance hard to combat and full of much vexation. Every church in the city, according to The Planet, believes it to be good business ethics to "work" the newspaper for all the prominence it seeks.

The Planet is quite correct in its view. A few days ago a worthy divine in Chatham was so perturbed by the absence from our columns of an item he had sent to the office that he became quite wrathful. He even rejoiced, with unchristianlike spirit, over a recent unpleasantness of ours and said, "I served us right," and "We told too much of the truth to suit most people." No true disciple should object to the truth. And this mind you, from one who has been the daily recipient of favors; from one whose ministerial work has been materially enhanced in interest by the interest stimulated by free notices. The Planet says, "Let us whisper it," when we may ought against the churches. Why whisper it? There is no doubt about the offender, and there is still less about the offense. And there are many others who have no need of a nerve tonic when they go to a newspaper office seeking something for nothing.

Consumptive People.

CAN SECURE RENEWED HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

The Rich, Red Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Gives New Strength to Every Nerve, Fibre and Organ of the Body.

From the Budget, Shelburne, N. S.

Among the young ladies of Shelburne, there is none to-day who more fully bears the impress of perfect health than Miss Lillian Duffee. Unfortunately this was not always the case, as a few years ago Miss Duffee became ill, and her friends feared that she was going into decline. A doctor was called in and prescribed, but his medicines did not have the desired effect. Her strength gradually left her, her appetite failed, she had frequent headaches, was very pale, and finally grew so weak that a walk of a few rods would completely fatigue her. The young lady's family sorrowfully observed that she was "steadily failing," and feared that consumption would claim her as a victim. One day a friend of the family suggested Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a trial, but the idea at first was not favorably entertained; it seemed hopeless to expect that any medicine would help her after the doctor's treatment had failed. However, this good friend still urged, and finally prevailed. By the time the third box was used, there was an unmistakable improvement in Miss Duffee's condition. Cheered by this, the pills were continued, and in the course of a few weeks the former invalid, whose strength was taxed by the slightest exertion, was almost restored to health. The use of the pills was still continued and a few weeks more found Miss Duffee again enjoying perfect health.

To a reporter who interviewed her, she said: "I believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life, and I earnestly recommend them to all who fear that consumption has laid its grasp upon them."

That the facts related above are not in any way exaggerated, is borne out by the following statement from Robt. G. Irwin, Esq., the well known stipendiary magistrate for the municipality, who says:—"I distinctly remember the pale face of Miss Lillian Duffee and the regrets of friends as they expressed their conviction that she would soon be compelled to say farewell to earth. Miss Duffee, however, carries the unmistakable credentials of good health, and frequently expresses her indebtedness to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Pale and anaemic girls, or young people, with consumptive tendencies, will find renewed health and bodily vigor through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are an unfailing cure for all diseases due to a watery condition of the blood, or shattered nerves. Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent postpaid on receipt of 50c. a box, or $2.50 for six boxes, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Invalid's Delicate Stomach Always Tolerates Malt Breakfast Food

The great virtues of Malt Breakfast Food, as well as its tonic and corrective influence on the organs of digestion, are well known to physicians and those interested in pure food products. Invalids and dyspeptics, who cannot tolerate oatmeal and other grain foods find that Malt Breakfast Food is relished and easily retained in the stomach. The invalid is pleased to note a few meals of Malt Breakfast Food, that every function of the system is energized and invigorated. Malt Breakfast Food stands unequalled as a builder and strength-giver for the weak and run down. Many of Canada's ablest medical men are now regularly prescribing Malt Breakfast Food for invalids and convalescents. It is the only breakfast food that produces muscle, tissue and solid flesh. Your grocer will recommend it.

Blenheim streets are in darkness no longer. Last Thursday Mr. Muir, of Detroit, came to town and brought an electrical expert with him. They at once went to work on the dynamo, and as a result the street lamps were again for the first time on Sunday night. The lights make a big improvement in the looks of the town.—Blenheim Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Buller, of Ridgetown, barely escaped being run over by an engine and train at Blenheim Friday evening about 8 o'clock. In endeavoring to catch the Lake Erie train, the darkness they fell into a cattle guard. Before they could extricate themselves the train had almost backed upon them, and but for the promptness of one of the brakemen in signaling the train to stop, the accident might have been fraught with fatal results.

After a lengthy illness there passed away on Monday afternoon one of Harwich township's oldest residents an early pioneer in this section, when Mrs. Mary Ridley, of Troy, now called Ridley P. O., passed to the Great Beyond. The deceased lady had reached the ripe old age of eighty-three years and leaves behind her a full grown family of sons and daughters. Harry Morrison, of Mather's mill, was in Chatham on Wednesday.—Tilbury News.

The striking of the village and school rates at 30 mills on the dollar, marks the limit of taxation here. This is in addition to the high local improvement rates for sidewalks and sewers. This is made up of 21 mills of a village rate and a school rate of 9 mills. This also marks the limit of improvements for the village, unless measures are taken to increase the assessment. The law says that taxation shall not exceed 30 mills in any municipality, exclusive of school rates, and with 25-years consolidated debentures to pay, the only immediate relief will be an increased assessment, and this will doubtless meet with vigorous opposition from those opposed to higher taxation.—Tilbury Times.

Frank Wigle, station agent at McGregor Junction, on the L. E. & B. R., disappeared on Monday and has not since been heard from. He was express agent there, and it is said a large sum of money is also missing. Wigle was formerly an employee of the Railway Company at Blenheim station, and left for McGregor last spring. He will be remembered as having unfortunately become involved in an unpleasant incident in connection with the performances of the hypnotic Bergeron in the Opera House last winter. In Blenheim he was always popular among a large circle of friends who do not now put much faith in the rumors as to the money taken, as nothing has yet been seen in the daily papers concerning the affair.—Blenheim News.

RALEIGH COUNCIL.

The above council met on October 14th, 1901, with all members present. The minutes of last meeting were read and on motion confirmed. A notice was received from the clerk of Tilbury East to remove the dams in the Finn creek, across lot one in the 10th concession of Raleigh.

The report of W. G. McGeorge, O. L. S., for the proposed repair of the Graham drain, was read and considered.

The Reeve submitted the written opinion of Matthew Wilson, K. C., in reference to the fence of Wm. Brown along the Chinnick drain. Mr. Wilson advises that an agreement be entered into with Mr. Brown to protect the interests of the township. The Reeve informed the council that J. B. Stringer, of Chatham proposed erecting a warehouse and buying grain at Prairie Siding, which would necessitate the building of a switch at that place, and said switch would cross the Diverted Road, and Mr. Stringer wanted the right of way to cross the road.

A. J. Dolson reported he had a bridge repaired over the Mud and Indian and had charged the same to the drain. Report adopted.

The Reeve and Mr. Clayton submitted report that they had made a settlement with Mr. Abbott for injury received by his wife on the 14th con for $75 in full. Report adopted.

Moved by Clayton & Doyle, that the grievance of Tilbury East re the dams in the Finn Creek, on lot one, con. 10, be referred to Jas. Irving, to examine and report at next meeting. Carried.

Moved by Irving and Doyle, that the report of W. G. McGeorge for the proposed repair of the Graham drain be adopted and the clerk prepare a by-law for the same. Carried.

Moved by Doyle and Irving, that the matter of the fence of Wm. Brown, be referred to the clerk to procure an agreement in accordance with the opinion of the solicitor, and have the same ready for next meeting. Carried.

Moved by Doyle and Dolson, that the matter of the switch at Prairie Siding be referred to the Reeve to look after and report. Carried.

A by-law to ratify an agreement entered into between the township of Raleigh, and the Essex & Kent Railway Company on the 12th inst. granting the company the right of way across the township, where it will be necessary to run upon the high-ways, was finally passed.

The by-law to repair the Graham drain was provisionally adopted, and the court of revision set Nov 18th, next, and the clerk instructed to serve copies on the assessed ratepayers.

Accounts passed.—W. G. McGeorge, second report on Graham drain, $4; N. H. Shepley, one day re land taken for Simpson drain, $2; one day re Brown Abbott case, $1.00; N. H. Shepley selecting jurors, $3; E. A. Dillon, do, $3.

Grape Catsup—Wash, drain and put into a preserving kettle. Mash well, place on the fire and cook until tender, and then strain. To every ten pounds of pulp allow six pounds of sugar, one tablespoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, all-spice and pepper, and a teaspoonful of salt.

Plum Catsup—Wash the plums and stew until tender in enough water to prevent burning, then strain and weigh. To four pounds of pulp, allow one pound of sugar, four teaspoonfuls of cloves, two teaspoonfuls of pepper and salt to taste. This is an excellent relish to serve with roast meats.

Cucumber Catsup—Pare large, ripe cucumbers, remove the seeds, grate fine and measure. Place the pulp in a colander and drain well. To every quart of pulp allow a half teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish, and a pint of good cider vinegar. Mix together thoroughly, do not cook; bottle this and seal. Try this with fish and game.

Tomato Catsup—Scald, peel, slice and core a peck of ripe tomatoes. Use the bright red tomatoes. Place in a porcelain kettle, and cook until tender and then strain. To this quantity of tomatoes add three large onions chopped very fine, one tablespoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, five tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, and a tablespoon each of ground black pepper, ground cloves and celery seed in a bag. Simmer about 6 hours.

Cider Making—In making cider that is to be used for apple butter, or for boiling down only ripe, sound fruit should be used and every operation should be as cleanly as possible. In putting the cider into barrels it must be run through a filter of some kind, if nothing but a wisp of straw is put in the funnel to keep the particles of pomace from getting into the barrel. A flannel cloth is better. There are many uses for boiled cider besides making the various sauces of it. It may be boiled until it is thick and used in the place of Molasses, or it may be reduced to a jelly, and made a delicious and wholesome jelly. If boiled three or four barrels into one, and sealed into jugs, it may be kept indefinitely and when reduced with water makes a most refreshing drink for use in the hot weather the next summer.

EGGS IN FRENCH FASHION.

Oeufs a la Paysanne—Break some eggs, allowing one for each person, in a fireproof dish, season with pepper and salt, and pour over them three tablespoonfuls of cream, place in an oven until set, and serve hot.

Oeufs a la Tripe—Chop some onions finely and brown them in a frying pan with a little butter. When the onions are well browned stir in some slices of hard boiled eggs, and place them over the fire for about five minutes. Add a little tarragon vinegar, season with pepper and salt, and serve very hot.

Oeufs mollets a la purée d'épinards—Make a purée of spinach, which is greatly improved by the addition of a little Bechamel sauce. Place some fresh eggs in boiling water and boil five minutes, then plunge them quickly into cold water and remove the shells. Pour the purée into a dish and arrange the eggs on the top. The eggs can be served with any other vegetable purées and are very nice with purées of mushrooms.

Oeufs a la sauce blanche—Place some eggs in boiling water and boil for a quarter of an hour. Shell, and cut them in slices, season with plenty of butter in it, stir in the slices of egg with a seasoning of pepper and salt, and scatter a little finely chopped parsley over them before serving.

Omelette au fromage—Beat up some eggs, allowing one egg to each person, and add some grated cheese in proportion of about a teaspoonful to each egg. Stir in a tablespoonful of cream and fry in the usual way.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Early broods are the most profitable.

Growing ducks require some green food daily.

The food may be varied every few days with benefit.

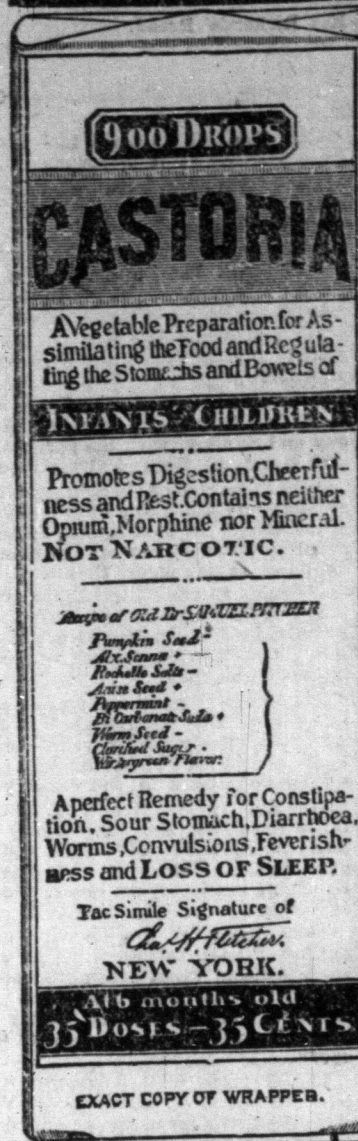

Rheumatism usually proceeds from dampness or change from warm to cold temperature.

There are some breeds of fowls that fatten more readily than others and must be fed cautiously or they will become entirely too fat to lay.

As soon as the hatching season is over there is no use for the males, and it is best to sell them. The hens will lay as well without them.

Better only have scrub stock that have an inherited appetite for hatching than to submit good blood to the inevitable consequences of neglect.

Reduce the winter stock of poultry as much as possible to layers. These will pay their way and leave a profit, whatever the cost of feed may be.

WHAT OF THE NIGHT?

The Ancient Division of the Night Into Four Watches.

THE POWER OF A KIND WORD

Rev. Dr. Talmage Describes Scenes to Be Witnessed in All Large Cities During the Hours of the Night-Gambling and Drunkenness—A Terrible Tragedy in Five Acts.Entered according to Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the year One Thousand Nine Hundred and One, by William B. Talmage, of Toronto, at the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.Washington, Oct. 15.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage describes some of the scenes to be witnessed late at night in the great cities and warns the unwary of many perils; text, Isaiah xlii, 11, "Watchman, what of the night?"When night came down on Babylon, Nineveh and Jerusalem, they needed careful watching, otherwise the incendiary torch might have been thrust into the very heart of the metropolitan splendor, or enemies, marching from the hills, might have forced the gates. All night long, on top of the wall and in front of the gates, might be heard the measured step of the watchman on his solitary beat; silence hung in air, save as some passerby raised the question, "Watchman, what of the night?"It is to me a deeply suggestive and solemn thing to see a man standing guard by night. It thrilled through me as at the gate of an arsenal in Charleston the question once smote me, "Who comes there?" followed by the sharp command, "Advance and give the countersign." Every moral teacher stands on picket or patrols the wall as watchman. His work is to sound the alarm, and whether it be in the first watch or in the second watch, in the third watch or in the fourth watch to be vigilant until the daybreak flings its morning glories of blooming cloud across the turrets of the sky.The ancients divided their night into four parts—the first watch from 6 to 9, the second from 9 to 12, the third from 12 to 3, and the fourth from 3 to 6. I speak now of the city in the third watch, or from 12 to 3 o'clock.I never weary of looking upon the life of the city in the first watch.
That is the hour when the stores are closing. The laboring men, having quitted the scaffolding and the shop, are on their way home. It rejoices me to give them my seat in the city car. They have stood and hammered away all day. Their feet are weary.
They are exhausted with the tug of work. They are mostly cheerful. With appetites sharpened on the swift turner's wheel and the carpenter's whetstone they seek the evening meal. The clerks, too, have broken away from the counter and with brain weary of the long line of figures and the whines of those who go a-shopping seek the face of mother or wife and child. The streets are thronged with young men setting out from the great centres of bargain making. Let idlers clear the street and give right of way to the besweated artisans and merchant.
They have earned their bread and are now on their way home to get it.
The lights in full bell hang over 10-000 evening repasts—the parents at either end of the table, the children between. Thank God, who setteth the solitary in families!A few hours later and all the places of amusement, good and bad, are in full tide. Lovers of art, catelogue in hand, stroll through the galleries and discuss the pictures. The ballroom is resplendent with the rich apparel of those who on either side of the white, glistening boards await the signal from the orchestra. Concert halls are lifted into enchantment with the warble of one songstress or swept out on a sea of tumultuous feeling by the blast of brazen instruments. A beautiful and overwhelming thing is the city in the first and second watches of the night.But the clock strikes 12, and the third watch has begun. The thunder of the city has rolled out of the air.
The slightest sound cuts the night with such distinctness as to attract your attention. The tinkling of a bell of the street car in the distance and the baying of the dog. The stamp of a horse in the next street.
The slamming of a saloon door. The hiccough of the drunkard. The shrieks of the mean while five miles away.
Oh, how suggestive, my friends, the third watch of the night!There are honest men passing up and down the street. Here is a city missionary, who has been carrying a sentinel of courage to that poor family in that dark place. Here is an undertaker going up the steps of a building from which there comes a bitter cry, which indicates that the destroying angel has smitten the firstborn. Here is a minister of religion who has been giving the sacrament to a dying Christian. Here is a physician, passing along in great haste. Nearly all the lights have gone out in the dwellings, for it is the third watch of the night. "That light in the window is the light of the watchman, for the medicines must be administered, and the fever must be watched, and the restless tossing off of the covers must be resisted, and the ice must be kept on the hot temples, and the perpetual prayer must go up from hearts soon to be broken."Oh, the third watch of the night!
What a stupendous thought—a whole city at rest! Weary arm. The paring for to-morrow's toil. Hot brain being cooled off. Tight muscles relaxed. Excited nerves soothed. The white hair of the octogenarian in thin drifts across the pillow, fresh fall of flakes on snow already fallen. Childhood, with its dimpled hands thrown out on the pillow and with every breath taking in a new store of fun and frolic. Third watch of the night! God's slumberless eye will look. Let one great wave of Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon.The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditioned by unchecked or unskillfully treated lead consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred works a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Stevens Co., Ga. "I changed to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle, I was entirely well."Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, refreshing slumber roll over the heart, the great town, subconscious care and anxiety and moment and pain. Let the city sleep.But, my friends, be not deceived.
There will be to-night thousands who will not sleep at all. Go up the dark alley, where you are where you tread lest you fall over the prostrate form of a drunkard lying on his own doorstep. Look about you, lest you feel the karrot's hug! Look through the broken window pane and see where they live. You say, "Nothing." Then listen. What is it? "God help us!" No footlights, but tragedy ghostlier and mightier than history or Edwin Booth ever enacted. No light, no fire, no bread, no hope.
Shivering in the cold, they have had no food for twenty-four hours. You say, "Why don't they beg?" They do, but they get nothing. You say, "Why don't they day their clothes over to the almshouse?" Ah, you would not ask that if you ever heard the bitter cry of a man or a child when told he must go to the almshouse.
"Oh," you say, "they are vicious poor, and therefore they do not deserve our sympathy!" Are they vicious? So much more need they your pity. The Christian poor, God helps them.I sat on through the alley. Open the door. "Oh, you say, 'it is locked!' No, it is not locked. It has never been locked. No burglar would be tempted to go in there to steal anything. Only a broken chair stands against the door. Shove it back. Go in. Strike a match. Now, look. Beastliness and rags. See those glaring eyeballs. Be careful now what you say. Do not utter any insult, do not utter any suspicion, if you value your life. What is that red mark on the wall? It is the mark of a murderer's hand! Look at those two eyes rising up out of the darkness and out from the straw in the corner, coming toward you, and as they come near your light goes out. Strike another match. Ah, this is a babe, not like those beautiful children presented in baptism. This little one never smiled. It never will smile.
A flower hung on an awfully barren branch. O Heavenly Shepherd, fold that little one in thy arms! Wrap around you your shawl or your coat tighter, for the cold wind sweeps through the night.Strike another match. Ah, it is possible that the scarred and bruised face of that young woman, ever was looked into by maternal tenderness?
Utter no scorn. Utter no harsh word. No ray of hope dawned on that brow for many a year. No ray of hope ever will.SEDIMENT IN THE URINEOne of the Indications of Serious Kidney Trouble, that Dr. Pit-cher's Backache Kidney Tablets Completely Cures.Sediment in the urine, no matter what its nature, whether it be brick dust, white particles floating through it, or slimy deposits, is indicative of serious kidney derangement.There is no remedy so quick clear up the urine and cure the kidney trouble as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, the modern medicine for backache, kidney, bladder and urinary disorders.Mr. W. Patterson, electrician, Whitby, Ont., says: "Permit me to say that the bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets I got at the store of J. E. Willis, druggist, Whitby, has done me a great deal of good. I have tried other kidney medicines without benefit, and find in these just what I want. My water, that used to be dark, bad and full of sediment, is now clear, and my bowels move easily, regularly and gently, with no griping.
I have worked steadily, and the pain I used to suffer with is gone entirely." Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.down on that brow. But the light has gone out. Do not strike another light. It would be a mockery to kindle another light in such a place as that. Pass out and pass down the street. Our cities are full of such homes and the worst time the third watch of the night.In the third watch, the night gambling does its worst work. What though the hours be slipping away and though the wife be waiting in the cheerless home? Stir up the fire; bring on more drinks; put up more stakes! The commercial house that only a little while ago put on a sign of co-partnership will this winter be wrecked on a gambler's table. There will be many a money till that will spring a leak.In the third watch, the night pass down the streets of these cities, and you hear the click of the dice and the sharp, keen stroke of the balls on the billiard table. At these places merchant princes dismount, and legislators, tired of making laws, take a respite in breaking them. All classes of people are robbed by this crime—the importer of foreign silks and the dealer in Chatham street pocket handkerchiefs. The clerks of the store take a hand, after the shutters are put up, and the officers of the court while away their time while the jury is out.In Baden-Baden, when that city was the greatest of all gambling places on earth, it was no unusual thing the next morning, in the woods around about the city, to find the suspended bodies of suicides. Whatever be the splendor of surroundings, there is no cure for this crime. The thunders of eternal destruction roll in the deep rumble of that gambling tenpin alley, and as men come out to join the long procession of sin all the drums of death beat the dead march of a thousand souls.In the third watch of the night also drunkenness does its worst. The drinking will be respectable at 8 o'clock in the evening, a little flushed at 9, talkative, but at 10, at 11 at 12 blasphemous, at 12 the hat falls off, at 1 the man falls to the floor, asking for more drink.
Strew through the drinking saloons of the city, fathers, husbands, sons, as good as dead by nature, perhaps better. In the high circles of society it is hushed up. A merchant prince, if he gets noisy and uncontrollable, is taken by his fellow revelers, who try to get him to bed or take him home, where he falls flat in the entry. Do not wake up the children. They have had disgrace enough. Do not let them know it. Hush it up. But sometimes it cannot be hushed up when the rum touches the brain and the man becomes thoroughly frenzied.
Such a one came home, having been absent for some time, and during his absence his wife died, and she lay in the next room, prone as for the obsequies, and he went in and dragged her by the locks and shook her out of her shroud and pitched her out of the window. Oh, when rum touches the brain you cannot hush it up!My friends, you see all around about you the need that something radical be done. You do not see the worst. In the midnight meetings in London a great multitude have been saved. We want a few hundred Christian men and women to come down from the highest circles of society to toil amid these wandering and destitute ones and kindle up a light in the dark alley, even the gladness of heaven. Do not go wrapped in your fine furs and from your well filled tables with the idea that pious talk is going to stop the gnawing of an empty stomach or to warm stockinged feet. Take bread, take raiment, take medicine, as well as take prayer. There is a great deal of common sense in the city missionary when he is telling her how she ought to love God and serve him."Oh," she said, "if you were as poor and cold as I am and hungry you could think of nothing else!"A great deal of what is called Christian work goes for nothing, for the simple reason it is not practical. As after the battle of Antis-tam a man got out of an ambulance with a bag of tracts, and he went distributing the tracts, and George Stuart, one of the best Christian men of our country, said to him:
"What are you distributing tracts for now? There are 3,000 men bleeding to death. Bind up their wounds, and then distribute the tracts." We want more common sense in Christian work, taking the bread of this life in one hand and the bread of the next life in the other hand. No such inapt work as that done by the Christian man who, during the city, went into a hospital with tracts, and coming to the bed of a man whose legs had been amputated, gave him a tract on the sin of dancing!I could give you the history in a minute of one of the best friends I ever had. Outside of my own family I never had a better friend. He welcomed me to my home at the west.
He was of splendid personal appearance, but he had an ardor of soul and a warmth of affection that made me love him like a brother. I saw men coming out of the saloons and gambling halls, and they surrounded my friend, and they took him at the weak point—his social nature—and I saw him going down, and I had a fair talk with him, for I never yet saw a man you could not talk with on the subject of his habits if you talked with him in the right way. I said to him, "Why don't you give up your bad habits and become a Christian?" I remember now just how he looked, leaning over his counter, as he replied: "I wish I could, but I have gone to be a Christian, but I have gone so far astray I can't get back!"So the time went on. After while the day of sickness came. I was summoned to his sick bed. I hastened.
It took me but a very few moments to get there. I was surprised as I went in. I saw him in his ordinary dress, fully dressed, lying on top of the bed. I gave him my hand, and he seized it convulsively and said:
"Oh, how glad I am to see you! Sitdown there!" I sat down, and he said: "Mr. Talmage, just where you sit now my mother sat last night. She has been dead twenty years. Now, I don't want you to think I am out of my mind or that I am superstitious, but, sir, she sat there last night, and she said, 'Roswell, I wish you would do better. I wish you would do better.' I said: 'Mother, I wish I could do better. I try to do better, but I can't. Mother, you used to help me; why can't you help me now?' And, sir, I got out of bed, for it was a reality, and I went to her and threw my arms around her neck, and I said: 'Mother, I will do better, but you must help. I can't do this alone.' I knelt and prayed. That night his soul went to the Lord who made it.But there is a man who will not rest. He says, "I won't reform." Well, then, how many acts are there in a tragedy? I believe there are five acts in a tragedy.Act first of the tragedy: A young man, married, with a home, parents and sisters weeping to have him go, wagon rising over the hill; farewell kiss flung back. Ring the bell and let the curtain fall.Act the second: The marriage altar; full organ, bright lights; long white veil trailing through the aisle; prayer and congratulation and exclamation of, "How well she looks!"Act the third: A woman waiting for staggering steps; old garments stuck into the broken window pane; marks of hardship on the face; the biting of the nails of bloodless fingers; neglect and cruelty and despair. Ring the bell and let the curtain fall.Act the fourth: Three graves in a dark place—a grave of the child that died for lack of medicine, grave of the wife that died of a broken heart, grave of the man that died of dissipation. Oh, what a blasted heath with three graves! Plenty of woods but no flowers. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.Act the fifth: A destroyed soul's eternity; long white robes; long white veil trailing through the
aisle; prayer and congratulation and
looks!"We are offering a special line of CARPETS at 50c per yard, worth

All Eye Pains Mean Something

Everything isn't right. What it is that is wrong can only be revealed by a careful examination by a competent optician.

We examine eyes carefully—and fit glasses accurately. Call and let us test your eyes. Maybe there is not the least thing wrong with them—but it's a good thing to know that there isn't. And it's a good thing to know that there is. It may seem slight—probably is slight—but a little right treatment at the right time will save you any amount of annoyance at some future time. Better let us examine your eyes, it costs nothing.

DUCHESS WROTE URGING MERCY

Favored Respite for Montreal Murderer on Plea of Sister.

Condemned Man Showed Little Interest When Told That His Execution Was Postponed.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—The Duchess of Cornwall and York has been the means of an act of mercy that will forever render her name one of the noblest in Canadian history, and that will probably save one of its members from death on the gallows. Since Laplaine, the Montreal man, was condemned to death for the killing of his boarding-house mistress, with whom he was infatuated, strong efforts were made to secure a respite for him, but it looked as if these efforts would prove futile. Miss Laplaine, the devoted sister of the condemned man, then wrote a long and pathetic letter to the Duchess of Cornwall and York, appealing to her to intercede with the Minister of Justice for a commutation.

A few days ago, Miss Laplaine received a letter from Major Maude, stating he had been charged by the Duchess to say that she had complied with the request, and had written a letter to the minister, favoring the respite. The letter created joy in the condemned man's family, and though there is no doubt that the man committed a terrible crime, none less worthy was the Duchess' gracious act of mercy.

When Laplaine was told to-day by his counsel of the respite, he seemed indifferent, and there seems to be little doubt that the man is insane. It is believed that he will now get life imprisonment.

Has but little to do with the cost of a carriage, but it has everything to do with its appearance. It costs as much to build a very ordinary appearing vehicle as a stylish one, if the same quality of material is used and the same care exercised in its construction. Some carriage builders know how to build stylish vehicles better than other builders; but they do not charge you anything for the "know how." They charge you only for the material put into it and the labor expended upon it. Thus the quality being equal, two carriages cost the same, even if one of them presents a stylish appearance while the other one is lacking in that qualification.

Long experience, and a keen appreciation of the beautiful in carriages has enabled us to make the choicest of Buggies and Carriages and other vehicles that are in popular demand. We sell them at the same price we would if the style wasn't there.

C. A. Cooksley, Opposite the Market

Theatrical

Under the catchy title, "Heart and Sword," a new romantic comedy will be produced at the Grand on Friday evening, October 25, with Mr. Walker Whiteside as Prince Victor and Miss Lelia Wolstan as Princess Sylvia. Judging from reports, Mr. Whiteside has struck a paying lead in digging into the silk clothes and rapier and puppet drama.

In reality "Heart and Sword" is said to be a combination of both melodrama and comedy telling a fascinating story of love, playing at cross purposes in the romantic old days of principalities in Germany and of course a little war thrown in to supply atmosphere and cause "thrills."

Mr. Whiteside portrays the part of a free and easy prince, a petty potentate, who loves comfort and the inditing of romantic verses to imaginary chambers better than the business of state. This indolence well-nigh precipitated him into a "sea of troubles," but the other side of his nature, the manly and courageous, asserts itself, resulting in the winning back for him his principality and a princess bride in addition. Miss Wolstan is said to make a charming Princess Sylvia, portraying with art and grace the lights and shades of a capricious lady. Among the members of a large and carefully chosen company supporting Mr. Whiteside, in addition to Miss Wolstan, are Wm. B. Mack, Laurence Earl, William Clifford, Frederick George Arthur, Miss Kate Benstone, Miss Florence Gale and Miss Katherine Swift.

SPAN OF LIFE TO-NIGHT.

Lovers of sentimental melodrama will no doubt find unalloyed delight in the production of "Span of Life" at the Grand to-night. The play has enjoyed an unprecedented popularity, and there is no reason to doubt it will duplicate its triumphs to-night. It is more than a year since "The Span of Life" has been seen here, and during that period of time it has been translated and produced in French, German, Belgian, and Russian and has also made a successful tour of Australia. This is a record that cannot be claimed for any other melodrama ever written.

An Exeter Man who was Very Ill is Well Again.

He Publishes a Letter Telling How He Sought Relief in Vain Till He Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills—They Cured Him Completely.

Exeter, Ont., Oct. 18, (Special)—Mr. Lorne Cann, laundryman, of this place, has sent to the Exeter Advocate for publication the following letter:—"I feel it my duty to write a letter for publication, expressing my gratitude for the benefit I have derived from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I was in a terrible rundown condition and suffered much from pains in the back, and severe headaches. The least exertion would leave me tired and breathless. My appetite was very feeble and often I had a loathing for food. I tried several remedies but with no benefit; instead I was growing worse."

"I consulted a doctor, and was under his treatment for three months, but did not get any better. Having read much concerning the Dodd's Kidney Pills in the Advocate and other papers, I finally decided to try them, and bought two boxes. Before these were all used I could feel a marked improvement and purchased four more boxes. These completely restored my good health and I can now go about my work without an ache or pain of any kind."

"My recovery leaves no doubt as to the curative properties of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I may add that their value has been further proven in the case of a friend of mine to whom I recommended them, and who has had an experience similar to my own."

Those who know Mr. Cann and how very poorly he was, are full of praise for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

COLLEGIATE CORRIDORS

Echoes From the Maple City Halls of Learning.

Excellent Meeting of the C. C. I. Literary and Musical Society.

The third regular meeting of this society was held in the assembly hall yesterday afternoon at 3.30. Attendance 225.

The following report of the general committee was adopted:

1. That Clarence Barfoot has been elected representative of Form 2A, Harold Wemp of 1A, and Russell Parrott of 1B.

2. That Thomas Scullard, Esq., Chairman of the C. C. I. Board, be appointed honorary president, not only on account of his official position, but because of his distinguished literary attainments, and his unflinching courtesy and urbanity.

3. That the members of the society be divided into four classes: (a) active, (b) associate, (c) visiting, (d) honorary.

4. That all the pupils and teachers of the school be the 'active' members, who will be expected to attend every meeting, and act in any capacity to which the general committee may appoint them.

5. That the C. C. I. Masters be ex-officio members of the general committee.

6. That all ex-pupils of the school be the 'active' members, the members of the Canada Business College Society, and of any other similar literary organization of the city 'associate' members, who may attend the meetings of the society, as well as take part in the program from time to time.

7. That the parents of the pupils of the C. C. I. be 'visiting' members, who will be welcome to attend any of its meetings.

8. That the members of the C. C. I. Board, all graduates and members of the learned professions in the city, including the teachers and the "fourth estate," and all members of the Macaulay Club, be honorary members.

9. That a glee club be organized under the direction of Mr. Taylor.

The program of the evening was: Glee solo—Starr Oldershaw. Elocutionary contest between Forms 1B and 1A.

1. Solo—Carmen MacIntyre. Debate—Resolved, "that mental life is more conducive to physical, mental and moral development than city life."

Aff. Miss Burrows and P. Chinnick; Neg. Roy Benson and Lena Bullis. Piano duet—Mae Taylor and Allen McLean.

Criticism—Mr. Mowbray, B. A. No. 2 was somewhat of a novelty, fourteen pupils of Forms 1A and 1B recited Whittier's "Barbara Frietchie" among them, and Form IV acted as judges, keeping the following points in view: 1. Ease of position, 2. Quality of voice, 3. Distinct articulation, 4. Emphasis, 5. Appropriate feeling, 6. Gesture. The decision was in favor of Form 1B, with special mention of Russell Mounier and Fred Jordan.

The debate was well sustained, country life winning, and the music was of a superior order. The stage was prettily decorated with flags and standards of arms, to illustrate the story of "Barbara Frietchie."

CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Mr. Edward Tijou, a student of the commercial department some five or six years ago, and who has since been engaged with his brother in England and Scotland in commercial agency business, was a visitor in the city last week.

Frederick Ansley, recently book-keeper for a Trust and Guaranty Company in Chicago, passed through the city on his way to New York State, where he has secured a good position near Watertown as book-keeper for a large American Paper Co.

Cecil Bowyer and Harry Hunter, of Ridgeway, have entered for courses in the business department.

Miss Anne Lund, a former student of both departments, has secured a good position with a Detroit firm.

Miss Maggie MacFarlane, also a student of both departments, has secured a position with a legal firm in Brantford, Ont.

Mr. Geo. Ansley, of Wingham, a brother of Mr. Fred Ansley, referred to above, has entered for a six months' course in the business department.

From the present outlook the next medal examinations should be closely contested, as many of the students entering have excellent qualifications, and possess the ability and ambition that will also tell on the results of such examinations.

Miss Minnie McLachlan, of Shelburne, sister of Miss Maggie McLachlan, teacher of shorthand, has been visiting in the city.

Miss Flo. Surby and Miss Maggie Kerr, last year's medalists in typewriting, gave an exhibition in touch typewriting and writing from dictation at the Chatham Fair last week.

These young ladies are experts in their methods of typewriting, and it is satisfactory to know that their services are in demand, for they have two of the best positions in the city.

Mr. C. M. Young, of Ridgeway, has returned to complete his business course.

The students met Friday afternoon to take steps towards reorganizing the Literary and Debating Society for the winter.

We learn from the principal that so great has been the demand made upon the graduates of this school to fill positions as book-keepers, stenographers and teachers, that all the available material has been placed, and several good openings during the last two weeks have had to be passed by on account of lack of finished material.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow—Gen. 41, 38 to 49.

Golden Text—"They that honor me I will honor."

After the neglect of the Butler for two years Pharaoh's God sent dream, calls Joseph from prison to palace, from chains of bondage to chain of gold, all the result of God's presence and blessing. Pharaoh, a good king, being the instrument. From the coming famine God has provided a savior in Joseph, who in seven years of plenty gathers corn as the sand of the sea, every link in God's providential chain is complete. As Joseph saves from starvation all who come to him, so men to-day are in soul hunger, but all who come to God's dear Son will find "in Him" all fullness dwells. "In Him is life," "He is the bread of life," "My flesh is meat indeed and my blood is drink indeed." "He that cometh unto me shall not hunger and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."
