Bryan's majority	1,471

That is the result of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Klondike Nugget's presidential election which has been on for three weeks and which terminated yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, when the various ballot boxes in the city were sealed and gathered in, the boxes from the creeks having been received during the day.

All through the day the voting was brisk and much electioneering and hustling for favorites was done. When the closing hour came several were found to be one or two minutes too late, but that was to be expected, as there are men who were never known to be on time and who will be on time at their own funerals only for the reason that they can't help themselves. A number of full envelopes came in during the day, Mr. John J. Mahan, formerly of Eusteno, New York, securing several hundred for Bryan, while others were equally zealous in the interests of McKinley. Mrs. Lynch, a late arrival from Tacoma, bringing in 46 McKinley votes in one batch.

An amusing thing happened at the Aurora No. 1, when two men from the Nugget office had sealed up the box and were starting to carry it away. Just as the box was picked up by one of them a pug-faced young man officiously inquired: "Is der any Dimmycrat in de crowd, dat's goin' wid dis box?" On being assured that one of them was a Democrat of the Bourbon variety the pug-faced man said, "Well, dat's all right."

At half-past seven o'clock the count began in the Board of Trade rooms with Messrs. H. Te Roller, Ronald Morrison and Donald B. Olson as judges, and Messrs. F. W. Clayton and F. W. Payne clerks. As it was apparent that there was a big job ahead of them a second board was created, the first named judges selecting its officers, who were W. H. B. Lyon, Walter Allen and Leroy Tozier judges, and T. S. Wolcott and R. S. Harris clerks.

Shortly after the counting began Photographer Goetzman appeared with his snap-shot machine and, with the seven ballot boxes piled upon the table, the election officers in the attitude of performing their duty, a number of spectators in fur coats suggestive of the Arctic region, a flashlight picture was taken which is proven by a glance at the negative today to have been an eminently successful effort. Mr. Goetzman will have the picture copyrighted and it will doubtless be extensively used by outside papers to illustrate a Yukon election in the Klondike.

Both the A. E. Co. and S-Y. T. Co. kindly remembered the occasion by each presenting a box of fine cigars and as the fluid extract of Democracy was plentiful the evening was a merry one. A large number of spectators were present and the very best of spirits prevailed. The officers worked hard and rapidly and by 10:30 o'clock the count was completed. At intervals during the evening the result as far as the count had progressed was announced from the stages of all three of the theaters, which announcements were greeted with thunderous applause by the admirers of the free silver apostle.

During the progress of the count, Jeweler J. L. Sale arrived with the $500 souvenir for the winner, and it is safe to say that the admiration bestowed on it was greater than ever given any similar mechanical production in the Klondike. The souvenir is now complete and is on exhibition in the show window of its manufacturer, Mr. J. L. Sale.

The result was not, of course, what might be termed highly satisfactory to Republicans and such expressions as "I believed Bryan would carry this country all right, but I did not think he would have such a walkover," were frequently heard.

In the boxes which were placed around town the vote was as follows: Bonfield's, 397, of which 87 were for McKinley and 310 for Bryan.

Northern Annex, 269, of which 74 were for McKinley and 195 for Bryan.

The Pioneer, 84, of which 26 were for McKinley and 58 for Bryan.

Aurora No. 1, 684, of which 157 were for McKinley and 526 for Bryan.

In the box in the Nugget office 1150 votes were polled, the remaining 700 being cast at the Forks and at Carribou. The creek boxes could not be said to represent the American voters of the creeks for the reason that several hundred votes were sent from the creeks directly to the Nugget office; in fact, it is known that more than half the votes in the box kept in the Nugget office were from the creeks. In the box from the Forks were something over 500 votes.

Contrary to expectations, there was practically no "josh" work perpetrated on any of the boxes and the tickets came out much straighter and freer from funny business than frequently happens at regular elections. In the box from the Northern Annex was a card on which was "I dreamed last night the next president of the U. S. looked like this portrait, and below was a finely drawn pencil picture of William Jennings Bryan.

The souvenir will not be forwarded to Mr. Bryan for a few days yet, and in the meantime it will be on exhibition in Sale's window in Dawson, but will be sent to the Forks for a day or two in order that the people of that place may see what is to go to the man whom so many of them so strongly admire and whom so many of them ardently and enthusiastically supported. The Nugget's election is over and the American residents of the Klondike, regardless of party preference, are to be congratulated on the manner in which it was conducted. The fact that it was stipulated that all ballots must be signed did not cause more than 40 votes to be thrown out, which is a very small percentage when it is considered that signing ballots is not usual in elections and the few that were voted unsigned were, therefore, more the result of oversight than of ignorance. The election was on the square and on this fact are the Yankees deserving of congratulation. The trust reposed in Yankee honor was not betrayed.

A Slough of Despond.
The curling rink is behaving spitefully these days and the awaiting curlers are seriously put out by the eccentricities of the enclosed ice. Yesterday the water in the Klondike rose to a sufficient height to flow through the ditch, raising the water under the rink, but soon fell again, leaving the ice-bowed in such a manner as to preclude the possibility of curling with any degree of satisfaction upon its surface. This afternoon the water from the mains of the water company will be turned on again. It is expected this will strengthen the ice sufficiently to make it stay in place, when the merry game will go on with many an exclamation of "Hoot mon."

RICHEST ON EARTH

Is What U. S. Geologist Schrader Says of the Copper River Mines.

LARGE BODY OF COPPER GLANCE

Discovered This Summer Which Is 79 Per Cent. Metal.

NEWS FROM FORTYMILE.

Arrived Over The Ice Last Night When The First Dog Team of The Year Came In.

Last evening a party arrived by dog team from Fortymile, being the first, supposedly, to come up the river since the close of navigation. Attorney Robert McGowan who was caught at Fortymile by the ice was one of the party and R. S. Dunn, a New York newspaper man, who has been some time in the Copper river country, was also a member of the party. Mr. Dunn brings some very interesting news from the country between Valdez and Eagle, especially that portion of it in which the best known copper strikes have been made.

He says that U. S. Geologist S. C. Schrader, who has spent several months in the country says the copper mines there are the richest ever discovered in the history of mining. These mines are located on the Koschina and Cityna rivers which are tributaries of the Copper river south of the volcano, Mt. Wrangle. Tin ore assaying 10 per cent has also been discovered in the same region.

The Nicolai mine is the principal discovery thus far, and considerable work has been done on it this year. The company owning the property was formed in Minnesota. The ore from this mine assays $27 to the ton in gold, silver and copper, and 20 men have been kept at work on it all summer. This mine is about 200 miles from Valdez, and to its discovery is largely due the railroad project which is considered one of the certainties of the future.

Some of the miners who have been at work on the coal mine this summer did well to go there, as they discovered large deposits of copper ore known to geologists as copper glance, which is the richest form of copper ore known, with the exception of red ore.

This copper glance contains 79 per cent copper, and is so rich that when broken it looks like the freshly broken surface of good steels, and can be melted on a shovel.

Mr. Dunn reports a fresh eruption of Mt. Wrangle on the evening of the fourth and the morning of the fifth of October. This time, however, unlike the last two outbreaks, there was no shock whatever, and all that indicated an outbreak was two steam jets through the enveloping clouds, and later the side of the mountain where a large glacier had been the night before, the ground could be seen to be perfectly black and bare.

Mr. Dunn is very enthusiastic over the prospects of the country which he thinks are unequalled.

Territorial Court.

The first witness called in the Charlton case this morning was Mrs. Mary Charlton, wife of the prisoner, who testified that she first went onto the claim a year ago, the fourth day of last July, and that her residence there had been continuous since with the exception of the times she had been absent to attend church.

She said that her husband had taken for a time, daily three ounces of dust. She had assisted at times in the rocking, and had picked many nuggets from the rocker. Mrs. Charlton said she had never seen Banche and Cooper till the time of their purchase, the 23d of July last. She testified that at that time the money had not been paid over, and that Charlton had told them that he understood they had a partner and that he did not want any money till the partner was present and that he wanted them all to prospect the ground and be thoroughly satisfied before they closed the deal. The money paid for the claim was dust, and had been paid on the claim in her presence. When asked about the ground known as the six-foot strip along the line of the Lancaster claim, she said that she was not a miner, but she believed the ground was virgin ground, as the edges of the sod showed that it had been unbroken before.

The prosecution then took the witness. Mr. Wade asked her if she had had any trouble with Mr. Veil, also a witness in the case, last evening after the adjournment of court. She testified that there had been no trouble, but that the witness had said something that she did not like and she had told him that she had nothing to say to him. She said he had previously visited their room many times and had asked her husband for money, but that he had been told he had none to give him. She did not know what this money was for, and said she would only swear to what she knew. The case now in court had never been mentioned between them.

She hoped, in answer to Mr. Wade's question, that there had been no bad language use at the meeting between herself, Charlton and Veil, the witness, last evening. She was positive she had not called him any bad names, as she was not that kind.

Freight Rates Are Low.

* Freight rates from Dawson to the various creeks have gone down until there is little if any profit left in the business. Where formerly six, eight and as high as ten cents per pound was paid from Dawson to Dominion and Sulphur creeks, the price came down to five cents, then to four and three and one-half, and a prominent freighter informed a Nugget representative today that he will contract to deliver freight on either Dominion, Sulphur or Gold Run at three cents per pound. From Dawson to the Forks the rate is down to one cent per pound and it may go as low as $15 per ton.

This reduction in hauling charges is due principally to the fact that there are five teams in Dawson this winter for every two that were here last. Feed is as high now as then and, in order that the increased number of teams may furnish their own keep it is necessary that they be kept busy with the result that competition is brisk and rates have dropped down in consequence. Some freighters assert that they will keep their teams in the stable eating hay that costs $250 per ton before they will deliver freight on the distant creeks at three cents per pound.

THE NUGGET'S ELECTION.

The result of the Nugget's presidential election as published elsewhere in this paper, shows a complete landslide in favor of the Democratic candidate, William Jennings Bryan. This will undoubtedly prove a surprise to many people who have been under the impression all along that Dawson being the center of a gold mining camp, would naturally support the candidates who favor the maintenance of the gold standard. This supposition has proven entirely erroneous. If the American citizens in the Yukon territory had the right of naming the next president of the United States, his name would be Bryan, with 16 to 1 thrown into the bargain.

Whether the result of the Nugget's election is any indication of the turn affairs will take in the States remains yet to be seen.

There are reasons for belief that such will prove to be the case and then again it may be said, with justice, that it is impossible to judge the sentiment of the entire country by the trend of public opinion in a single locality.

The great majority of Americans now resident in the Klondike hail either from the coast or the mountain states. Four years ago these states, and more particularly Washington, Idaho, Montana and Colorado were practically unanimous in favor of Bryan. Whether they will go so strongly for the great silver apostle again, is a matter of uncertainty, but there is no discounting the fact that the men from those states have brought their convictions with them into the Klondike. We are quite satisfied that the Nugget's election has demonstrated their views with accuracy.

Every opportunity was given for an open and free ballot, and the large number of votes polled serves to show that the contest, even though it will not affect the great battle which was waged on the outside yesterday, was entered into with a hearty spirit of earnestness.

The Nugget wishes at this time to extend its thanks to the many people, both Democrats and Republicans, who interested themselves in the election and who contributed to so great an extent toward making it the magnificent success it proved to be.

We had scarcely hoped in the beginning to poll one-third the number of votes which actually were cast, owing to the remote distances from Dawson, where many American citizens reside.

The intense interest manifested in the election overcame this difficulty, many men walking from long distances to secure an opportunity of voting. To the judges and clerks who kindly gave their services in making the count, special acknowledgement is due. The high standing in the community of all the gentlemen concerned is sufficient evidence of the fact that the count of ballots was absolutely fair and straight, with no room left for criticism of any kind.

We must also express our obligation to Mr. J. L. Sale for the perfect manner in which he has executed the beautiful souvenir, which will accompany the certificate of election to Mr. Bryan. For beauty of design and workmanship we do not believe the trophy could be excelled.

Altogether the Nugget's presidential contest has been a most successful undertaking.

CREEK NOTES.

Messrs. Lushbaugh and Hall, of 35 Eldorado, went to Dawson Monday making arrangements for provisions for the winter.

Mr. E. A. Leak, manager for Billy Leak on 31 Eldorado, was in Dawson looking after business matters last Tuesday.

No. 46 below Bonanza had a big dance on the 31st ult., being the first to use electric light on Bonanza creek.

Messrs. Arthur and Lord opened 66 below Bonanza roadhouse last Sunday. These gentlemen are wideawake business men, and are bound to make a success of their new enterprise.

T. T. Davis, of Monte Cristo, is putting in a big horizontal tubular boiler and will do business on a large scale this winter.

Mr. M. E. Olsen, of Sheppard and Olsen, on Orofino Hill, closed down Saturday for the winter. The above gentlemen hoist dirt from the deepest shaft in the country where pay is found. Mr. Olsen leaves for the outside in a few days to return again in January.

Pete Wiborg, of 33A Eldorado, has returned from Clear creek after an absence of two weeks. Mr. Wiborg says Clear creek is all right, and in time will show up as well as Bonanza. He has purchased a number of claims in that district, and declares that large sums have been offered for claims in the hundreds above discovery on the left fork.

The closing of the Yukon was the occasion of at least one celebration on Bonanza this season. Last Sunday being the day selected for the paying of the wager. Mr. and Mrs. Seebohm, of Orofino Hill, were the host and hostess. Promptly at 12 o'clock a big turkey dinner with cranberry sauce and all the delicacies of the season were served to the numerous friends and neighbors who gathered at the festive board. For two hours course after course was served, and when the jolly party finally broke up late in the afternoon it was to declare Mr. and Mrs. Seebohm among the best hosts and hostesses on the creeks.

Already teamsters are deserting the government road at various cutoffs, notably at 33 below Bonanza, 48 below Bonanza, and 57 below Bonanza. There still remain several others, and as soon as the roadhouse men at these places become ambitious enough to make the same passable, and draw all the trade their way these also will be used, making the distance between Dawson and the Forks not only considerably shorter, but avoiding several long grades.

A prominent business man was heard to say at the Forks the other day that the quartz find on Victoria would make the Forks a fine business place in the near future. He also made the statement that a large three-story building would be under construction at the Forks before Christmas. However this may be, it is confidently asserted by several shrewd business men of the Forks that more than one of the many places of business would be nil in the present bustling little burg before spring.

Work on the creeks is beginning to pick up since the recent cold snap, many of the miners having gone to work in the past week; still it will take more cold weather to allow work to go in many places. Mr. Holbrook, who has a plant at work on 56 below Bonanza, informs us that in a hole sunk by himself on the above claim, not a bit of frost was encountered, making it impossible to drift.

Opened Wednesday.

Another Aurora is to be opened to the public, this time, however, on the creeks, Jack Crowley having named his new roadhouse on Hunker Aurora No. 3. The location is at 55 below. Mrs. Buckley will conduct the establishment. All the good things demanded by the boys that hit the trails can be found there, as well as excellent accommodations for horses and dogs.

Notice.

Take notice that, at the expiration of four (4) weeks from this date the persons whose names are hereunder mentioned, intend to apply to the commissioner of the Yukon Territory in council, for letters of incorporation, under the name of The Dawson Transfer & Storage Company, Limited.

The object for which incorporation is sought is for the carrying on of the business of storage and general warehousing, buying and selling merchandise, and general brokerage business, freighting and operating stage lines, livery and sales stables of live stock, and dealing in carriages and general equipment.

The chief place of business of the company will be in Dawson.

The company intends to incorporate with a capital of thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars in 300 shares of $100 each.

The applicants for incorporation of the said company are: Helm Te Roster, merchant, Dawson, Frank Wilson Arnold, merchant, Dawson, and Truman Hanbury Heath, merchant, Dawson, and the said applicants are to be the provisional directors of the company.

Dated at Dawson in the Yukon Territory, the 25th day of October, 1900.

WATER HOUSES TO STAND

Council Enacts a New Ordinance to That Effect.

The Water Company Must be Responsible for all Damages Which May Arise.

On Monday evening a special meeting of the Yukon Council was held in the courthouse. The members present were Messrs. Ogilvie, Girouard, Dugas and Senkler. It was determined by the council that immediate steps be taken to prosecute all persons who have not complied with the provisions of the ordinance respecting the registration of partnership. The fee for such registration was increased to $2.

An ordinance was introduced by Mr. Senkler amending the ordinance respecting the Dawson City Water & Power Company. The bill was committed to a committee of the whole.

It was ordered that any persons riding a bicycle or driving a dog team on the sidewalks in Dawson should be prosecuted.

Yesterday afternoon another special session was held at which the new ordinance governing the water company was put in final reading and passed. The ordinance in full is as follows:

Inasmuch as the Dawson City Water & Power Company have under the provisions of the ordinance incorporating the said company, laid certain pipes in the city of Dawson for the conducting of water, and have without authority erected certain buildings along the course of the same pipes for the protection of the outlets from said water pipes, for public use.

Therefore, the commissioner by and with the advice and consent of the council of the Yukon territory, enacts as follows:

The buildings erected and now standing shall be permitted to remain, and be occupied and heated or otherwise handled or managed for the due and proper protection of the said outlets from the said water pipes for the public use, until the commissioner in council shall see fit to order them to be removed from the streets and highways in which they stand, provided that the said company remains responsible for any damage, for which it might be legally liable, through the erection and maintenance of the said buildings.

Weather Changeable.

Dawson has been treated to all kinds of weather lately, the thermometer rising and falling from to above to 31 below zero. Last night the instrument showed the temperature to be 2 degrees above zero.

And Schaefer Settled.

Wizard Jake Schaefer, the expert billiardist, is known as one of the greatest jokers in the business. Some time ago Mr. Schaefer was lounging in an uptown billiard room. Business was dull, but a pompous chap came in and asked the proprietor to get someone who was "pretty good" to play with him for an hour or two. The wink was "tipped" to the "wizard" and he was introduced, but purposely his name was mumbled so that the gentleman did not catch it. Mr. Schaefer and his new acquaintance commenced play, the latter graciously allowing the expert to choose the game. "Jake" won every game by a few points. The style of billiards was changed, but at straight rails, cushion caroms or balk line the "wizard" invariably finished in the lead. Realizing that he had met a "pretty good player" the gentleman asked:

"Beg pardon, but I did not understand your name." "It's Schaefer," answered the "wizard." The other laughed: "Well, that's a good one; mine is Ives—Frank C. Ives." They kept on playing and the bar bill grew to goodly proportions. Then the pompous chap said he would play one more game and then quit. But before beginning the last game he excused himself for a moment, and as no particular attention was paid to his movements, the roomkeeper still has the bill on his slate as a reminder of the "little joke."

Profitable Paris Millinery.

By a recent decision of the tribunal of the Seine a Paris milliner got judgment against one of her customers for 74,000 francs. It was all for hats and bonnets, and the bill had been accumulating since 1894. In other words, the Parisian fine lady in question had spent for headgear alone in the course of five years the tidy little sum of something like $14,800. This was considered a pretty fair allowance even in Paris, and the milliner and her bill and her lavish customer were discussed for a few days. In fact, attention was only turned from them by still another milliner's law suit. And this last appeal to the courts had the specially interesting feature that the defendant in the case is the wife of a member of the chamber of deputies. The bill was only 10,000 francs—$2000—but neither the purchaser nor her husband had enough money to meet it. So the milliner got judgment, and then proceeded to garnish the husband's salary as a deputy, the court awarding $10 every month until the score is wiped out.

But in spite of bad debts and other losses, the fortunes made by Paris milliners are in many cases dazzling. There is one fashionable shop there whose proprietor is a woman, and her annual net profits are upward of 400,000 francs—$80,000. She began at the very foot of the ladder, and the recollection of her own early struggles makes her generous to those under her. She has 70 employes, all of them girls and women. Among these she divides half her profits. Some of the women get as much as $3000, $4000 and $5000 a year. Good taste and original ideas in the creation of styles of women's headwear are the essentials to success in the millinery line. For the girl who has these gifts the door of wealth is thrown wide open. The success of the woman in question is an illustration of this.

Having been left an orphan, and having to earn her own living, she entered a milliner's shop, and showed such skill that soon she was in business for herself. She lived back of her shop, did her own cooking, her own washing, and her own scrubbing. She did this when she was resting from her regular 12 or 14 hours' labor at her business. Finally the customers began coming. Through all her success, as through all her adversity, she never once lost her head or forgot that there were those about her struggling upward just as she herself had had to struggle. The happy family atmosphere of her establishment, the tranquil lines in the faces of all her employes is one of the marked characteristics of the place.—Ex.

English Manners Abroad.

With the exception of the writer and her mother all the people in the house were French. One day the manager asked his guests if they would mind having the middle day table d'hote a little earlier, as a dejeuner for a number of English excursionists had been ordered for 12:30 o'clock. While the company were still seated the "excursionists" arrived. Some 50 men and women came clattering and chattering into the room. Many of the men kept their hats on and continued to smoke their pipes. Some of them even sat down at the table at which the hotel guests were lunching and called out loudly to their friends who were still in the hall to hurry up. The French people shrugged their shoulders and murmured, "Les Anglais," and the English lady and her mother for the first time in their lives felt ashamed of their nationality. The English excursionists meant no harm. In their boisterous John Bullism they look upon themselves as masters of every place in which they are going to spend money. They do not know that foreigners are punctilious in the matter of etiquette, and they sin in sheer ignorance.—Referee.

John Allinson, a Muhlenberg lawyer, is a wag, of whom the Madisonville, Ky., Hustler tells a story illustrative of the fact that even in the presence of death the ruling passion asserts itself. He became ill at his home in Greenville with what was supposed to be heart disease, and a physician was hastily summoned. When he arrived John was gasping for breath, and his friends expected him to die at any minute. When the doctor asked him what was the matter he coolly replied: "Doc, I have an intimation that my case is about to be called; and, if possible, I want to get a continuance."

The doctor went to work, and, contrary to everybody's expectation, did get John a continuance, and he is still practicing law in Greenville.

Truant London Children.

Monkeys are very amusing creatures, but one hardly thinks of them as useful in educational work. However, their aid has lately been sought by the London school officers, with admirable results. It seems that in one of the school districts there were not as many children reported by the parents as being of school age as the officers knew there ought to be—so, to ascertain the real number they called in the monkey to help them in this way:

Two monkeys were gaily dressed, put in a wagon, and, accompanied by a brass band, were carried through the streets of the district. At once crowds of children made their appearance. The procession was stopped in a park, and the school officers began their work; distributing sweets to youngsters, they took their names and addresses. They found out that 60 parents kept their children from school. This ingenious method brought to school about 200 boys and girls.—Indian Witness.

They were out driving, and the young man was holding the lines with one hand.

"Sweetheart," he whispered as the moon went behind a cloud, "I wish had arms like—like!"

"Like Fitzsimmons?" she asked.

"No," he exclaimed; "like an octopus!"—Chicago Tribune.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

Bill McKay, of Gay gulch, is something of a politician and during the Nugget's presidential election he put in some hard work for his favorite candidate, McKinley. If McKay could by several hours' talk convince a voter that he should support the expansionist, he considered the time well spent.

A few days ago McKay met a man who lives, when at home, south of Mason and Dixon's line and who has always voted the Democratic ticket. After they had conversed for a couple of hours or more the southerner admitted that McKinley has made a good president, that under his administration the country has prospered unprecedentedly, and that in justice to the country he should be re-elected.

"Come right down to my house and vote," said McKay who had a number of the Nugget's ballots at his cabin and who flattered himself that if he could capture one southern Democrat in the Klondike, several hundred thousand such votes would be won over on the outside.

On reaching the cabin McKay produced a ticket and pencil and said "just put cross marks opposite the names of McKinley and Roosevelt and I will put the ticket in this envelope where there are 20 other good Republican votes." The man from Dixieland took the ticket and looked it carefully over, turned it upside down a number of times and finally said:

"While McKinley has done made the best president the kentry has ever had, and while he sho'n order be returned for moh years, — me if I kin vote for any nigger lovin' Republican—that ever lived."

Thereupon the man who is wedded to Democracy put a cross-mark after the name of the apostle of silver, and when he looked around McKay was lying on the floor in a dead faint.

Warren P. Wood is a dyed-in-the-wool Republican to whom news of the election of Bryan would come as a thunderbolt. Yesterday morning when he realized that it was election day and he had not voted in the Nugget's contest he was 25 miles from Dawson and a snow storm was raging. But snow could not dampen nor wind chill the old timer's enthusiasm, so he mushed in to Dawson, made straight for the Nugget office and with all due solemnity unbarred his head while voting for McKinley. Warren has not been in today nor has he been seen since the result was announced last night.

Every time the saw mills and machine shops in Dawson blow their whistles all the dogs in the neighborhood set up a howl which sometimes last fully five minutes. A man of a philanthropic turn of mind accounts for this fact by advancing the theory that it is only the outside dogs that howl on hearing a whistle, and that they do so because the whistle reminds them of the steamers on which they were shipped north, which event marked the saddest portion of their lives, and the present howls are but wails of despair at the thought of their old homes.

The Stroller does not swallow the above theory, but believes the dogs howl just because they are dogs. The Stroller has known dogs, happy, light running, self-oiding domestic dogs, to howl in other countries where the surroundings were all that any well-regulated dog could desire. The Stroller well remembers a rebuke administered to a howling dog in the big union depot in Atlanta, Georgia. The train had just arrived from Chattanooga and an old negro was standing in front of the depot lunch room beating a gong to announce the fact that refreshments were to be had within. The gong was a big one and created a most hideous din. A dog nearby set up as pitiful wails as was ever heard, nor did he stop when the gong became quiet nor until the old negro made a dash at him and said:

"Whuffer yo' cryin' yo' po'r misible fool? Yo' doane hafter eat dem sandwiches and doughnuts, nohow."

ST. ANDREW'S GRAND BALL

Will Be Given on the Night of November 30.

Committees Appointed to Have Charge of all Arrangements—Social Event of the Season.

St. Andrew's Society met last evening for re-organization, the following list of officers being elected for the ensuing year:

Honorary presidents—Judge Craig and Dr. McDonald.

Vice president—R. P. McLennan.

Secretary—Dr. Thompson.

Treasurer—Jas. F. McDonald.

Piper—Bob Henderson.

Executive committee—Chas. Milne, A. D. Williams, J. L. Bell, J. P. McEannar, P. R. Ritchie, Jas. W. Nichol, D. C. McKenzie.

After considerable preliminary discussion it was determined to hold a grand ball on St. Andrew's night, November 30, at the Savoy theater. Entire charge of the ball, which undoubtedly will be the great social event of the season, as it was last year, was placed in the hands of the following committees:

Decorations—A. D. Williams, Dan Matheson, Hector Stewart, D. F. McKinnon, Donald B. Olson, Dr. J. N. E. Brown, Dr. Catto, Dan Stewart.

Supper—Chas. Milne, J. P. McLennan, A. F. Nichol, Chas. MacDonald.

Refreshments—Jas. W. Nichol, Edgar Mizner, Tom Chisholm, A. D. Williams.

Program—D. C. McKenzie, R. P. McLennan, Dr. McDonald, Herb. Robertson, Richard Cowan.

Advertising—Dr. McArthur, Dr. Thompson, F. J. Dixon, J. F. McDonald.

Reception—Col. McGregor, J. L. Bell, R. M. Lindsey, P. R. Ritchie, Dan Matheson, Dr. McCloud.

Floor committee—D. C. McKenzie, Harry Ewart.

Auction Sale of Claims.

The auction sale of claims, which began Monday in the Savoy theater, was still on yesterday and today and will be continued from day to day until all the property listed has been offered; therefore it is possible that the sale may continue until the end of the present week. When the sale opened Monday there were between 5000 and 7000 claims listed for offer and up to 2 o'clock this afternoon less than 2000 had been up for sale, consequently it is doubtful if the list is cleared within the present week.

Yesterday the hillsides and benches on Hunker were being sold, or at least offered, but for a few of them no bids were made and they were consequently retired. Many sold at prices ranging from $100 to $450, but $40 or $50 was a fair average. A number sold at a figure ranging from $2 to $10. The Hunker claims were still being sold late yesterday afternoon and when they were disposed of the hillsides and benches of Sulphur were next offered.

No actor on the Savoy stage ever appeared before a larger or more attentive audience than greets Sheriff Eilbeck, the auctioneer, every seat in the building being occupied both yesterday and today. A large force of clerks from the gold commissioner's office is on duty to keep accurate account of all sales. It is said there is considerable very valuable property embraced in the list of claims sold and yet to be sold.

Nelson A. Soggs and Vincent Vesco, manufacturing jewelers and watchmakers, Third street, opp. A. C. Store, have succeeded W. H. Gorham. cro
