On receiving the ordinance of Christian baptism, she connected herself with the Methodist Church, in which she remained a consistent, devoted, and exemplary Christian.

It was in June of 1857 that she and Mr. Davies united in holy matrimony; and in this sphere, though surrounded by unpropitious circumstances, she maintained her integrity.

There is one circumstance in her history peculiarly interesting. About ten months ago she appears to have had a prominent religious disquiet.

My text to be preached the day that I am consigned to the grave; when, as I trust, my spirit will be with my Redeemer in heaven.

We need only say in reference to this strange circumstance, that "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him."

An able discourse was delivered on the occasion by the Rev. J. S. Phinney, and a large and interesting congregation.

Died, at the Gore in the Township of Douglas, on the 13th inst., consumption, in the 24th year of her age, RACHEL ANN, wife of John McNeil.

Some years since the deceased made a profession of religion and united with the Wesleyan Church, of which she continued a member till her death.

We sincerely sympathize with the afflicted parents and sorrowing husband, and hope that these visitations may be the means of leading them to ponder more seriously upon those things which make for their peace.

In consequence of the official relation which the paper sustains to the Conference of Eastern British Columbia, it is necessary to address to it from any of the United States.

INDIA has ceased to send us tidings of terrible conflict and inhuman massacre. The war of phrenic passion which rolled its disastrous flood over that country has subsided; and Lord Clyde assures the British public that he had never known India to present an aspect of more perfect tranquillity than that in which it now appears.

The District Meeting for the Prince Edward Island District, will be held at Bedouan, on Tuesday, the 9th of June, to commence at 10 A. M.

We have witnessed the close, unmarvelous as was the commencement of the East India Company's reign. And now the responsibility is devolved upon the whole British nation, of carrying out the high purposes for which God permitted so vast a dominion to be entrusted to the care of Englishmen.

He permitted them however to prosper in their deeds, to rise from the position of humble traders to imperial might and grandeur, to become the envy of sovereigns and the astonishment of their age.

Even amid the din and turmoil of a general election, where the contests threaten to be more general and more fierce than in other of late years, the indications of other and more peaceful engagements begin to manifest themselves.

Missionary Anniversaries.

Even amid the din and turmoil of a general election, where the contests threaten to be more general and more fierce than in other of late years, the indications of other and more peaceful engagements begin to manifest themselves.

The movements of the British Ministry now on its trial before the country, have certainly been sufficiently indicative of indifference to the claims of Christ to give rise to unpleasant apprehensions.

The fifth annual Conference of Australian Methodism, comprising about one-third of the Ministers of the Connection, was held in Sydney at the close of January and the commencement of February last.

These are the numbers "in Society," and as they constitute but a small proportion of the Body which calls "in Society," it is to be feared that there is a falling off in the interest they excite.

We need not pause for an answer. Our readers know that the crowding at the one end and the other of the great hall, and the interest they excite, may be as securely calculated upon as any event which is yet future, and even that the horrors which now lower over Europe will only give a deeper zest and point to the renewed anticipation of a brighter future.

The following cheering paragraph from the preface to a work recently published on "The Indian Church during the Great Rebellion" will confirm our remark:

The Indian Church during the Great Rebellion" will confirm our remark: "The Indian Church has passed through a fiery trial. When cast into the crucible, and the fierce flames and glowing heat gathered round it, no little anxiety must have been felt by its fathers and fostering friends as to whether it would be entirely consumed and perish, or dissolved though not destroyed, would issue a purer and brighter thing, more precious and more useful, because tried and not found wanting."

We can easily conceive the feelings of the man who has purchased much of the precious ore, estimating their value, as then only by color, and partly penetrated the mass, yet utterly insufficient to meet the original outlay.

Such, to some extent, must have been the anxiety of all connected with the Indian Church, when they saw the flames kindle upon it, and the visible metal intermingled with the ore.

The District Meeting for the Prince Edward Island District, will be held at Bedouan, on Tuesday, the 9th of June, to commence at 10 A. M.

The Chairmen of Districts are requested to forward the names of the Ministers appointed to attend the approaching Conference, as early as possible to the Rev. Ingham, Sarsfield, Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 3, 1859.

St. John North Circuit. Mr. Editor.—I am happy to inform you that we had a grand revival of religion last winter, and a large number of converts were added to the Church.

Salutation of the Host in Malta.

It would appear by the following question and answer, taken from a debate in the Commons, that the salutation of the Host in Malta is to be discontinued.

Major St. Leon asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies whether he had any objection to lay on the table of the House a copy of an order that had been sent to the authorities at Malta relative to the garrison orders in force in that fortress; also, what instructions the Government proposed to issue in regard to soldiers being called upon to salute the Host.
