MINT FOR CANADA

England Has Granted Permission for its Establishment At Once.

WILL STRIKE SOVEREIGNS AND COINS.

Twenty-Six People Missing as Result of New York Fire.

SOUTH AFRICAN GOLD SEIZED

Queen Victoria Approves Several Appointments—Reported Bryan Gains McKinley 3 to 1.

Ottawa, Nov. 4, via Skagway, Nov. 8.—The minister of finance announces that arrangements have been completed for the establishment of a mint. This is designed as another step in the direction of national independence for Canada. A mint for the striking of Canadian coins will also probably be established at Vancouver. The minister of finance says:

"As we have obtained the consent of England to establish branch mints in Canada for the striking of Canadian coins and British sovereigns I anticipate that the next session of parliament will establish assay offices at convenient points in order that gold taken from Canadian mines may be coined into Canadian money."

Will Be Close.
Skagway, Nov. 8.—Passengers who arrived here today assert that there were large claims being made for Bryan when they left Seattle on the 4th, but they do not think otherwise than that McKinley has won. Betting throughout the country generally was 3 to 1 in favor of McKinley.

Many People Missing.
New York, Nov. 4, via Skagway, November 8.—In addition to the many maimed and injured in the Tarrant drug warehouse fire of a week ago, 26 people are missing entirely nor were any remains found when the debris was cleared away. As the drug company had a much larger stock of explosives than allowed by law to carry, the insurance companies are not liable for the losses sustained.

Gold Shipment Seized.
Hamburg, Germany, Nov. 3, via Skagway, Nov. 8.—Two and a half million marks arrived here today by steamer from Delagoa Bay and was at once seized by order of the provincial court for the alleged purpose of reimbursing the insurance companies of Hamburg for gold belonging to them which was held by the Transvaal government during the war. It is denied that the gold on which the embargo is laid was shipped by Kruger.

The Queen Approves
London, Nov. 3, via Skagway, Nov. 8.—The queen has approved the appointment of Lord Salisbury as premier and lord of the privy seal; of the Marquis of Lansdown as secretary of foreign affairs; of St. John Broderick as secretary of war; of the Earl of Selbourne as first lord of admiralty, and C. F. Ritchie as secretary of home affairs.

He Had a Tip.
If the promoters of wireless telegraphy do not get a move on, their scheme will be a back number before it is even made to any extent effective. Wireless telegraphy is being superseded by a later device which is known only to a Dawson man and he declines to give his name.

Yesterday morning a stranger called at the Nugget office where, without solicitation, he imparted the startling information, "Bryan is ahead." When asked how he knew he said he had a means for acquiring accurate information by a system known only to himself, and that he had just exercised his system a few minutes previously and had learned beyond dispute that, at that hour, Bryan was 15,000 ahead. He did not state where Bryan was ahead, or whether he was ahead in the count of any particular state or ahead in a game of "draw," but he was 15,000 ahead. When asked if he had received any tips on the result of the election in Canada he said he had not, but that was for the reason that he is not acquainted with any person in outside Canada. He said if he knew anyone in Canada where the election had been held he could get the result in ten minutes.

Later in the day the man returned and declared that he had received another message and that Bryan was still ahead, but that the count was very close. He was told to return today and announce the final result, but up to the hour of going to press he had not put in an appearance. His non-appearance may be due to the election taste wearing away and taking with it his election enthusiasm.

Engineers in Session.
The Yukon Engineers' International Association held a regular meeting last night in their rooms, corner of Second avenue and Sixth street. Among other business of considerable importance, the following officers were elected: M. E. Clough, president; T. J. Fitzgerald, vice-president; E. L. Brant, secretary and treasurer. A regular meeting of the association is held every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All engineers are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

The Temperature Rises.
The minimum temperature recorded by the thermometer last night was five above zero, and it had risen three degrees at 8 o'clock this morning.

Curling Rink Flooded.
The Klondike took another freak today and rose sufficiently to flood the reservation slough, covering the curling rink with sufficient water to put the ice in excellent shape for the progress of the game as soon as cold weather sets in.

It was on the program to flood the rink from the mains of the water company, but now that Dame Nature has lent a helping hand it will not be found necessary. Probably a few more days will see the game in full swing, when the hearts of the curlers will bound with joy.

CHARLTON INNOCENT

Of Having Sold a Claim By Falsely Representing it To Contain Gold.

HIS WIFE'S STORY UNSHAKEN

By Crown Prosecutor Wade's Attempts to Make Her Evidence

DAMAGING TO THE DEFENSE.

The Tyrrell Appeal Cases are Being Heard by Justice Dugas This Afternoon.

The charge against Charlton of having sold a worked out mining claim as virgin ground with gold in it has been dismissed as unsubstantiated.

The evidence of Mrs. Charlton was very strong and positive on the point that no representation had been made to the purchasers that there was gold in paying quantities in the ground, and also, that as far as she could tell from the looks of the ground, it had been untouched previous to the time her husband began working it, and that the portions represented by him as being virgin ground were so.

Mr. Wade failed to shake the testimony of the witness who refused to be drawn into any statement concerning matters at all beyond her personal knowledge. An attempt was made to lead her into making the admissions that there had been collusion between Charlton and one of the witnesses who had testified the day previous, but beyond admitting that he had upon several occasions asked her husband for money in her presence, she said she knew nothing about the matter. She did not know why the money so asked for was demanded.

There was no court held in the room on the top floor of the courthouse, as the cases upon the list were not ready. This morning, Justice Dugas' time was occupied by a series of appeal cases from the lower court.

There are about a dozen of these cases, all against the steamer Tyrrell by members of her crew who, sometime since sued for wages, and have now appealed from the decision of the lower court. A list of cases to be tried next week will be posted this afternoon. Good progress is being made in the effort to clear up the calendar, and it is expected that each court will dispose of about a dozen cases a week.

The jury trials begin next Thursday, the first of which will be that of James Slorah.

May Reach Here Saturday.

Louie Cardinel, the Indian mail carrier who, with a companion, left here for Thistle creek Monday morning, reached Ogilvie Tuesday evening after two full days of very hard travel. They would go on to Thistle yesterday and it is likely that they would leave there this morning for Dawson with the 600 pounds of mail which left Whitehorse on the 19th of last month and will in the event of a few more delays, be yellow with age before it arrives. But barring further accidents, such as dropping through the ice into the chilly waters of the Yukon, the mail should reach here some time on Saturday. This trip and that of another consignment which left Whitehorse a few days ago, will doubtless be the hardest to make of any of the entire season, as after the trails are thoroughly broken the C. D. Co. is certain its carriers will cover the distance between Whitehorse and Dawson in 72 hours, which will be better time on the up trip than has ever yet been made by steamers. After the next few days it is not apprehended that there will be any more delay in the matter of receiving and dispatching mail before the breaking up of the ice next spring.

The first outgoing mail over the ice from Dawson will leave early tomorrow morning and will comprise between 600 and 700 pounds of straight letter mail, exclusive of registered letters. On Monday another mail will be dispatched at which time registered letters and packages and general mail will be included. On next Thursday another general mail will be dispatched and on every five days thereafter during the winter.

It is All in the Weather.

An old time politician from the States called at the Nugget office yesterday and, in talking of the national election which had taken place the previous day, remarked that the result would depend largely on the conditions of the weather on election day; that if it was a nice, bright day as is usual at this season of the year on the outside, McKinley would win in nearly every northern state; but if it chanced to be stormy, and, as frequently happens, a premature snow storm was on, many states that are normally Republican would go for Bryan. The gentleman said that he has clearly observed election day weather for the past 30 years and that a rough stormy election day is always favorable to Democracy. He said that, as a rule, the "unwashed" are not so afraid of exposure and will face a storm when the former will not venture out. He further stated that if he knew the condition of the weather generally throughout the States on Tuesday he could give the result of the election without further information.

Ladies Relief Association.

The members of the Ladies' Relief Association met at the home of the president, Mrs. Te Roller, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the situation as it presents itself was thoroughly discussed and reviewed. There is as yet but very little apparent destitution, a Salvation Army member present stating that a close canvass of the city resulted in finding only one case where immediate aid is required. But as it is feared that a sense of pride may cause many ladies to refrain from asking for aid, the association decided to take immediate steps for the care of all women who are here and without employment or means of support.

It was, therefore, resolved to establish at once an exchange bureau which is for the present at Weld's store on Third avenue a few doors south of the new postoffice at which all women in quest of employment are asked to call and register the hours in which the exchange is open being from 10 to 11:30 a. m., 3 to 5 and 7:30 until 9 p. m. During these hours some member of the association will be present to register the applicant and take and give such information as may be pertinent to the cases of the various applicants.

Any person in Dawson having any repairing such as patching or darning is earnestly requested to leave the same at Weld's store, where it can be given to some needy woman and for which work only the going rates will be charged. Later, and as soon as arrangements can be made a laundry will be started on the same principle as the repairing department. A comfortable lodging house is also in contemplation.

A membership fee of $2 was agreed on for members of the association, this money to be used in providing material with which the needy may work and for relieving any immediate wants that may be reported. The next meeting of the association will be at 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church.

THE PHILIPPINES.

Elsewhere we publish a communication signed W. H. B., which in some respects is the most bitter arraignment of the McKinley administration in the States that we have yet seen. We give space to the letter for the reason that we desire as nearly as possible to bring forward all shades of opinion on public matters, no matter to what extent they may differ from our own views.

With much of what our correspondent writes we are in harmony, but we are of the opinion that in dealing with the so-called question of "imperialism" he does President McKinley's administration a distinct injustice.

It must not be forgotten that war with Spain was not undertaken until the people of the United States as a whole, without regard to party, rose up in their might and declared that war must be declared. For that war, therefore, the people and not the president or his administration are responsible. With that proposition we think our correspondent must agree.

As a sequence to the war, and a contingency wholly unlooked for and entirely unexpected, McKinley found himself called upon to deal with the Philippine question. Spain had been conquered. In fair open battle she had been worsted. Her sovereignty in the Philippines—a sovereignty recognized by the entire world—had been wrested from her and it was for the McKinley administration to determine what should be done with the fruits of the victory.

At that time the people of the United States were burning with patriotic ardor. The flush of victory was on their cheeks and the lust of conquest was in their hearts. Had McKinley, under those circumstances, decided to withdraw the United States troops from the Philippines he would have been guilty of two crimes. In the first place he would in so doing have acted contrary to the expressed convictions of nine-tenths of his countrymen to whom he is responsible, and in the second place, and in our judgment what would have been a far graver crime—a crime against humanity and civilization—he would have left the Philippines to become in a short time the foothold of anarchy and revolution. Had McKinley ordered the United States troops withdrawn from Manila after the signatures to the peace treaty with Spain had been attached he would have deserved and received the condemnation of Americans and the contempt of the civilized world.

The president has acted the part of the faithful steward. The responsibility of restoring order out of chaos in the Philippines was forced upon him contrary to his own desires and expectations, but like the broad minded statesman and true hearted man that he is, that responsibility was not shirked nor will it be shirked until the ends he has sought to attain are accomplished. He has applied practical measures to the solution of an actual, existing problem, and when the heat and tumult of the campaign are worn off and he is returned for another term of four years, with full authority to carry his plans to a successful conclusion, the men who are now the loudest in their condemnation will be the ones who will rise up and sing his praises.

Every once in a while the Yukon council takes a spurt and does something to convince us that our august legislative assemblage is after all an institution of which we may all justly be proud. The new ordinance forbidding dog teams to be driven, or bicycles to be ridden on the public sidewalks is a case in point. Certainly we must admit that it took a long time for the council to get down to the work of considering this most important matter, but when at length they grappled with the problem it was settled in short order. It is now an offense, as it should have been six months ago, to drive dog teams or ride bicycles on the sidewalks. We must at least credit the council with hewing straight to the line—that is when its somewhat poor eyesight enables the line to be distinguished.

This idea of being compelled to wait four or five days for election returns from the outside is a distinct nuisance. Half the fun in an election is the pleasure of staying up all night to hear the returns. There is, however, one consolation for people who have made losing bets in Dawson. They will have the use of their money several days longer than people on the outside who have fallen into the same error.

Shown by the Result.

Dear Sir—The result of the American vote in Dawson, showing how we would vote in our native states, has a world of significance, notwithstanding all editorial views heretofore. Out of a total of 3337 votes cast, that Bryan should receive 2404 and McKinley 933, shows a demonstrated fact of almost four Bryan men to one for McKinley. What is the cause? There is no such landslide in the States.

It is almost a proven fact that there was more of "to the victor belongs the spoils," in the three and a half years of prosperity than was generally conceded. Civil service was not adhered to strictly; partisanship was over well supplied in all federal offices and carried to a medium extent in many corporation industries which contributed to the Mark Hanna fund. Consequently, many of the Hanna-McKinley men were employed at home and the disengaged (4 to 1) Bryan men drifted to the Klondike and Alaska as the vote shows—about 4 to 1 (not 16 to 1).

This kind of party preference was carried to extremes in the late American-Spanish war, and it could not be hidden in the commissioning of officers for the war. Mr. Bryan was elected colonel of his Nebraska regiment, and McKinley held back his commission for weeks, until at last the governor appointed him colonel, and many obstructions were thrown in his way, while full sway and an open avenue was given to the two millionaire sons, J. J. Astor and Teddy Roosevelt. I personally had to sup of this bitter cup myself in Chicago. After having enrolled my name in three companies, which were not called on, and after four of us got up a regiment in Battery D, where I was elected colonel, and after reporting by telegraphing to the secretary of war, Alger, to be commissioned and called into service, we were held back three weeks until we saw the following list of appointees—most of them dudes, a few on merit. But it shows that their fathers' fame as millionaires or otherwise counted, and not individuality:

Washington, D. C., May 20.—President McKinley has appointed the following "sons of their fathers" to positions in the new army thus far, and the list is growing:

Russell Harrison, U. S. Grant, Webb Hayes, Algernon Sartoris, son of Gen. Grant's daughter; John A. Logan, John Jacob Astor, Benson Forker, William Joyce Sewell, Bradley Strong, son of New York's ex-mayor; Stewart H. Brice, son of ex-Senator Brice; Erskine Hewitt, son of New York's ex-mayor; Fitzhugh Lee, jr., George Creighton Webb, brother of Vanderbilt's son-in-law; Hiram E. Mitchell, son of ex-senator; Lloyd Carpenter Griscom, son of president of the International Navigation Company; Harry S. New, son of John C. New, ex-consul general to London under Harrison; Beverly A. Reed, son-in-law of Senator Money; John Earl, son of the late senator from South Carolina; Fred Moulton Alger, son of the secretary of war; Andrew C. Gray, son of the senator from Delaware; John A. Hull, son of the chairman of the house committee on military affairs; young Hobart, son of Vice-President Hobart's brother; Col. Fred D. Grant, Hugh H. Gordon, son of Gen. John B. Gordon, ex-senator from Georgia; John C. Brechinridge, grandson of the famous man of that name; W. E. English, Indiana, son of the candidate on the Democratic ticket with Hancock; Seth M. Miliken, son of the late congressman of Maine; Jay Cooke, grandson of the famous banker; Charles C. Catchings, Jr., son of the congressman from Mis-

When this goes to press the result of the presidential election will be known to the Eighty Million People of the United States. We will know on Monday next at the latest.

In the meantime you may have a bet or two on the result—a new hat for instance. You can find no larger variety in Dawson than at our store. It may be a suit of clothes or an overcoat—We have your size in the Celebrated Stein-Bloch Co.'s tailor made garments.

issippi; Edward Murphy, son of the senator from New York.

This list of appointees disgusted a whole regiment, which in indignation, disbanded and many started for Alaska, as the vote shows.

Four years ago I was secretary of the United Silver party in Chicago and took the rostrum each night for Bryan and that, doubtless, shut me out and thousands of others.

McKinley was an able statesman in congress, but his double somersault on finances and the combined contamination of Hanna's trusts and imperialism, or the conquest over people without just representation has downed him in this election. Let it not be forgotten that Bryan, too, is a great statesman—the world's foremost orator today—one who has the will power of a Jackson, the sagacity of Blaine and the honesty of old Abe Lincoln. Bryan will be elected sure as the rising sun. Let no over-enthusiast Republican feel sore, "the country will not be lost," as they said after the election of Lincoln—no, it will be saved from the iron hoof of combined trusts and imperialism, just as it was saved from the wail of slavery. In the words of Phillips, "Virginia hung John Brown like a felon, since that time the soil of the old dominion has been drenched in blood by an army from the North marching to the tune of the old man's name under the flag of the free. Within ten years not a slave was known on our soil." Such will be said of the iron hoof of trusts and imperialism. The election news will not reach Dawson for a week, but I sniff in the air that Bryan is elected. Mr. Editor, you can safely put Wm. J. Bryan's name on that Klondike golden souvenir. God reigns and He gave the people their intelligence to elect the best man for the great republic "of the people, by the people and for the people," and not for monopoly.

THEY WANT TO BE GULLED

And a Divining Rod Factory Accommodates Them.

A New York Concern Manufactures Many Thousand Dollars Worth of Fake Rods Every Year.

In New York city, located on one of the narrow side streets down town, is a factory in which are made every year more than $10,000 worth of divining rods for use in finding hidden treasures. From this factory alone are turned out and sold each year almost 5000 fake rods, which means that in the rural districts within 200 or 300 miles of the metropolis are found every 12 months that many gullible farmers and ignorant hayseeds.

The details of this remarkable business are almost beyond conception. Can you believe there is one man at this end of the civilized 19th century blockheaded enough to imagine even for a moment that he can discover gold mines and hidden treasures with the aid of a metal rod simply touched with loadstone?

Can you believe men live today—white men, men educated in the common schools of the country, men residing in towns equipped with newspapers and churches and circulating libraries—can you believe there are men dense enough to pay from $15 to $35 of their well earned money for such things as divining rods, treasure spears and treasure perfumes?

Is worse even than the gold brick rattle. A farmer visiting New York for the purpose of exchanging his good money for what he believes to be the product of a legitimate mine is simply conducting a business transaction. There is no thought of magic or of the black art, but merely a commercial exchange.

The hayseed who strikes up a dicker with a green goods man also is working on an everyday commercial basis, and the farmer or villager who invests in a divining rod, a treasure spear or treasure perfume marks the gauge of his intellect below that of a Digger Indian.

As for our species, there are many of them!

The business of manufacturing and selling divining rods is the direct outcome of the ancient belief in the value of the hazel or peach rod. It is generally believed that wooden rods of the material mentioned will aid in the discovery of hidden springs of water, and in some parts of the United States, especially in the South, the rural classes concede the power of finding minerals to the hazel and peach rods. The present day dealers in mineral rods and their adjuncts have enlarged upon the old superstition, and, as proved by the statistics of this peculiar trade, they have found the business remunerative.

Many classes of rods are manufactured, ranging in price from $10 to $25. The difference is in the length and finish. The cheaper rod is 2 feet 3 inches over all and consists of two sections of steel, one section of glass tubing and a pair of flexible whalebone handles. The glass tubing contains what is supposed to be gold dust. It is really iron pyrites. The tip of the instrument is strongly magnetized, and one of the proofs of its efficacy is its power to pick up a needle or a small nail.

The instrument costing $25 is an elaborate affair, highly polished and decorated. It also has a glass tubing, but the tubing is in the shape of a ring graduated like a compass. In the center is a needle, supposed to indicate the depth of the hidden treasure or mine.

There is also another instrument called in the catalogue the new goldometer. It is described as "a new invention for the convenience of prospectors, miners and treasure seekers." The goldometer is heavily charged and sealed with the strongest ingredients for discovering gold, silver, hidden treasures and other minerals in the earth.

Kruger on Literature.

A. G. Hales, of the London News, profiting by his enforced stay among the Boers, relates some hitherto untold anecdotes of Kruger. He writes: "Once, when out on a shooting expedition, the party had gathered around a camp fire, and the conversation turned upon literature. There were Englishmen, Hollanders, Germans and Boers present, and each of them had much to say concerning celebrated writers of prose and poetry, except Oom Paul. He smoked his eternal 'long stem' and held his peace. Germans and Englishmen nearly came to the stripping off of coats concerning the relative merits of Goethe and Shakespeare. At last, the Englishman turned to the one silent figure at the camp fire, saying: 'Look here, now, Oom Paul, which do you think the greater writer of the two Goethe or Shakespeare?'

"Never read either of 'em," growled the even then celebrated man, with brutal frankness.

"Mein Gott!" ejaculated the German; "here is a man whom the Boers call great, and he has not read Goethe!"

"Only this," said Oom Paul, pulling a frayed and battered Bible from his pocket, "and I have not half mastered its glories, yet I have read it day and night for well-nigh 40 years.

When I have exhausted the Bible I'll perhaps find time for Shakespeare and Goethe. Tell me, had either of those men more wisdom to teach than I can learn from the book of proverbs? Could either of them write such glorious lines as King David, the ancient poet of the Jews, has left us in his wondrous book of psalms? Could either Shakespeare or Goethe have written the 'Song of Solomon'? If I want to read of hunting, I find it in the Bible. If I want to read of love, where in all the books in all the world is love described so simply and yet so beautifully as in the Bible? If I want to read of war or ambition, need I go further than the Bible? If I want an example of patience, can I do better than study the book of Job? If I feel tempted by a woman, can I learn the folly of such things better than by picturing the mighty Samson shorn of his strength and his eyesight through the treachery of Delilah, Samson—alone in the midst of his foes? Do I think of the friendship of man for man? Tell me, you bookworms, where in all the libraries of Europe can I read of anything so well told as the love of David for his friend Jonathan? Can any book teach us a son's duty to his father better than the Bible? What book or books can better guide a man in his duty to his country? Burn nine-tenths of the books in the world today and give each girl and boy a Bible, and the next generation of men and women would be braver, and better, more hopeful and courageous, more charitable and thoughtful, more lovable and more content than the men and women of today seem to be."

"The German pulled his head well into his hat and said no more concerning Goethe. The Britisher drew a flask from a side pocket and washed the taste of Shakespeare's name down his throat, and took an early opportunity to change the topic of conversation into a channel bearing on the next day's shooting, while Oom Paul, sitting just where the firelight and the flickering shadows fell, read once more the tale he almost knew by heart concerning Boaz and the maiden Ruth."

He Wants to Know.
Editor Nugget:
I am informed that at a recent meeting of the Yukon council the matter of compelling the women who reside on Fourth and Fifth avenues between Second and Third streets to move back on the hillside was discussed, and that next spring an order to that effect will probably be made. Such a measure will doubtless meet the approval of the residents of the vicinity in which these women now are, but how about those of us who own and occupy with our wives and children property on the hillside? If these people are shoved upon us there will be nothing left for us to do but sell our property at what we can get for it and move out with no other alternative, and this would surely be most unfair and unjust to us.

I admit that the question is a most perplexing one; that it is a burning shame that these dens of iniquity are permitted to exist so prominently before the eyes of everybody, man, woman and child in the city, but that is no reason why the few should bear the burden for the many. Besides, if they are forced back from the business center, they and those who visit them will not be subject to such strict police surveillance as they are at present and vice would be much more open than at present. It is to be hoped the council will carefully consider all phases of the situation before taking any action in the matter.

HILLSIDE RESIDENT.

Buried Treasure.

More than 40 years ago Jimmy Dolliver, a rich owner of timber and mills, buried $42,000 in gold somewhere between the Forks and Murphy's, in Maine. He had come from Montreal along the old French voyagers' trail, and, reaching the Forks, had told the landlord of the hotel that he had been followed by a party of French and Indian outlaws all the way from the St. Lawrence river.

"I have nearly five score hundred yellow sovereigns in my batteau," he said, "and if I don't bury my money now the crazy devils will rob me before I get to Waterville."

He left the hotel at 10 o'clock that night and was away three days. On his return he remarked to the landlord: "Well, I've put that money where the Archangel Gabriel can't find it."

Then he took a hearty supper, went to bed, slept two days and two nights, and awoke a raving maniac. For a week he fought Indians and buried untold treasures in his delirium and died in the act of shooting a Mohawk chief who had invaded his sick fancy for the purpose of robbing him.

For a dozen years after Dolliver's death his heirs advertised for the missing wealth, and increased the reward until the finder was entitled to 75 per cent of all he should discover. Having spent nearly $3000 in advertising, the heirs gave it up as a bad job, after which the people who knew the story continued the work at their own expense. For 20 years the diggings went on at all seasons.

In October, 1880, Sanders Atwood came from Winterport and brought an electric battery with him, which he said could detect an English farthing under four 'fathoms of solid earth.' When he went away, two weeks later he showed a handful of sovereigns all stamped with dates thirty or more years ago, and said that he had unearthed the whole of the missing wealth. But while the people accepted his theory that the proper time to dig was on the dark of an October moon, they repudiated the story that he had found any of the missing coin.

This fall, when the muscles of the farmers had grown hard from digging potatoes, about 40 men packed up a few tools and made ready to start on another search for Dolliver's money as soon as the old moon should change. They were loafing about the hotel and stores one night, when word came from Montreal that Eugene Beupre, an aged and rich Frenchman of that city, had lately died, confessing on his deathbed that he had seen Dolliver conceal the gold in a hollow pine stub and had gone and taken it away after the rightful owner had returned to the Forks. This information was verified later by an announcement that Eugene Beupre, late of Montreal, had died and left an estate amounting to $60,000 to different charities in Canada and Maine, saying in his will that the gift was made as a "partial atonement for a grievous sin committed in the State of Maine, in October, 1856."—Lewiston Journal.

Society for Sock-Darning.

In a neighboring Long Island village the young men have a new privilege. On paying ten cents a week they can have their socks darned by the belles of the village, who have organized themselves into the "Giddy Girls' Darning Club." One of the young ladies noticed a hole in the hose of a young man who was paying her a social visit the other night, and, on comparing notes, it was found that many of the other girls of the village had been impressed by the fact that the beaux of the place needed help in keeping their socks in order. The young man who was admitted to the privileges of the club must not be in the habit of smoking, drinking, playing cards, or doing anything real naughty. All he has to do then is to pay ten cents a week and wear his socks into as many holes as pleases him.—New York Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

"Why do you leave your windows open at night? Aren't you afraid of burglars?"

"Yes; that's the reason. If I kept the windows shut, they'd probably break the glass."—Philadelphia Press.

MATTER OF PUBLIC MUSEUM

Given Much Encouragement at Last Night's Meeting.

Messrs. Ritchie, Purchase and Tyrrell Make Good Suggestions—Mr. Ogilvie and Dr. Brown's Report.

A meeting was held last night of the provisional committee appointed at a previous meeting to provide for the constituting, management and maintenance of a public museum in the city of Dawson for the benefit of the entire district.

Messrs. Ritchie and Purchase reported on the manner for establishing a museum and Mr. Tyrrell reported on as to what should go towards constituting such an institution. The tone of both reports were such as to cause them to be ordered consolidated and adopted. The joint report stipulates that specimens from bedrock on all the creeks will be placed on exhibition, also quartz and everything else of a geological and interesting nature found in the district.

Commissioner Ogilvie and Dr. J. N. E. Brown, who were appointed as a sort of general committee, reported as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to outline a scheme for the establishment of a public museum in Dawson, to be known as the Yukon Public Museum, beg to report to you the result of its conferences.

The committee met pursuant to the direction of the public meeting appointing it and agreed

First, that the museum be organized and placed under the control of a general committee or council of 30 or more members, to be as generally representative of the territory as practically possible, selected or elected as follows: From Dawson 10, Bonanza creek 4, Eldorado creek 2, Dominion creek 2, Gold Run creek 2, Sulphur creek 2, Hunker creek 3, Quartz creek 1, Selkirk 1, Fortymile 1, Whitehorse 1.

From these 30 representatives will constitute a general committee from which it is proposed to constitute a sub or executive committee consisting of five members which shall be styled: President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and curator.

The duties of these several members shall be the same as those pertaining to the duties of similarly styled officers in any other association, the only one needing any special reference being the curator, who, it is intended, shall be practically in control of the museum, and officially receive and acknowledge the receipt of contributors to the museum, and extending invitations for such.

That this general committee shall meet from time to time and at convenient intervals and decide on the general policy and management of the museum, vote supplies for its maintenance, and generally controlling the whole management of the museum.

The duty of the special committee shall be to carry out the scheme laid down by the general committee, its duties properly being executive, while that of the main committee is legislative.

Nine members, of the thirty shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business and of the executive any three shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Your committee looks forward confidently toward the incorporation of the museum, and having it made a permanent institution in the Yukon territory, subsidized by the local government to an amount consistent with its importance.

For the present your committee begs to submit that the accommodation afforded by the Dawson public reading room shall be availed of until means permit more extensive provision for the exhibition and care of the museum generally. It is proposed as soon as circumstances will permit, a more commodious building will be procured, and the museum placed on a more permanent basis. For this purpose your committee begs to enlist the hearty and active sympathy of the whole territory, looking as it has to, at the outset to this sympathy, for the erection of the museum and the furnishing of a considerable proportion of the means for the carrying it on, as it is not expected that the government of the territory will indemnify it largely until such times as it has attained a confident standing in the territory and been founded in the minds of the people as a useful institution.

Your committee considered it desirable to divide the work entrusted to it in the following manner: This report to be prepared by Mr. Ogilvie and Dr. Brown; a report on the method to be observed in collecting geological specimens to be prepared by Mr. Tyrrell, giving detailed direction for that purpose; a report on the commercial aspect of mining and exhibitions necessary to illustrate it to be prepared by Messrs. Purchase and Ritchie. These reports will follow.

It is hardly necessary to mention to you, ladies and gentlemen, the importance of a museum, such as is contemplated by your committee, to the territory. Its usefulness is a matter which must be accepted by mere statement by all right thinking people.

To refer to the pleasure it will give scientific men visiting the territory, tourists, at any length, is unnecessary on the present occasion. We have only to speak of its commercial importance to have that aspect of it at once recognized and accepted as practical miners will see in Dawson in a few minutes what it would take them weeks of weary travel to learn otherwise. Moreover, speaking of these matters it is beyond the province of this report and falls more properly within the scope of the report of Mr. Tyrrell and Messrs. Purchase and Ritchie.

A Lucky Crap Player.

In Skagway there is a bakery which issues aluminum checks the size of a quarter, and in Dawson there are numerous crap games, and thereby hangs a tale which in all probability could not be truthfully related as happening in any other part of the world.

Last evening a young man was seen looking on at one of the crap games, with evident interest, and just when the player ahead of where he stood finished an eloquent appeal to the dice to show him a six and a four, by throwing seven, the onlooker produced from one of his pockets what was apparently a quarter, but what was really a bread check on the bakery in Skagway. He laid the aluminum disc on the line and, smiling confidently threw a seven. The dealer, eloquent in the good qualities of the field and the six-eight, as wealth producers, looked contemptuously at the quarter which was not a quarter and paid off the bets.

Then the player, who allowed the bet to ride, smiled again, and rolled out a six and an ace. Again the bets were paid, and one more seven was thrown. This was kept up, the player allowing his money to lie where it was bountied out to him, while he made eight more successive passes, or made his point, which doubled his bet and his winnings eleven times, making his capital on the line, amounting to $256, less the value of the bread check.

After the tenth pass had been made and the dealer had changed the dice a second time, and the perspiration was profuse on the brows of the hard working rubbers, the bet stood a hundred and twenty-eight and ordinarily would have been cut down to, at most, $100, but the chances seemed so greatly in favor of the game that the bet was allowed to stand, and it doubled, eleven being thrown on the eleventh turn. The young man raked out a 50 cent piece and two quarters from the bottom of the pile, and got a tab for $255. It is needless to say that one of the quarters was the bread check.

It is said that there are men who can throw a point at will, but if the man with the bread check is one of these, no one at the game detected anything unfair in his play, and only one saw the discrepancy between the bread check and a quarter.

Thousands of Caribou.

"I would have given a hundred dollars to have had a camera with me when I came down the Fortymile river just before it froze this fall," said a gentleman who had just arrived from that section yesterday.

"The American people would not believe on any other evidence the almost countless thousands of caribou and moose which are to be seen in that part of Alaska. On some of the divides we had almost to drive them out of our way."

"The government scout at Eagle has killed upwards of 200, and the miners on Jack Wade creek have bagged upwards of 300."

The same gentleman killed this fall a moose which had, so far as known the largest pair of antlers on record, with a single exception. They measure 69 2-3 inches between the tips. The largest pair known to have been preserved previous to this were procured farther down the river a year or two since, and measure 72 inches. They were sold for several thousand dollars.

COMING AND GOING.

Macanley Bros. are putting in weigh scales in front of their new warehouse on Third avenue.

This morning there was a general storm on all along the upper river and rain was falling at Bennett and Caribou.

Attorney McGowan, who recently went down the river was caught by the ice at Fortymile and got back last evening by dog team.

Fred Sofer, a popular young merchant of Grand Forks, came down from there this morning on business connected with his store.

Tonight is to witness the ball to be given by Mrs. Alex McDonald, which, it is needless to say, will be attended by the Dawson four hundred.

Since the forming of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals the "mush" is heard the same as of yore, but the emphasis heard are different.

The police boys are soon to have a rink of their own. Pretty nearly the whole of the barracks yard is taken up by the square embankment which is to be filled with water.

The rink opened Monday evening and many knights of the hockey stick were on hand practicing the great art of putting knots and bight blue spots upon the persons of other knights.

R. S. Dunn, of the New York Commercial Advertiser, who recently came over the Valdez trail, expects to start out over the ice as soon as the trail is in good order.

Although tonight is fixed by ordinance as the time for a regular meeting of the council, it is believed that the legislators will only remain in session long enough to adjourn.

B. Shelton, after several days' sojourn in Dawson, has returned to his claim on Gold Run. Being an enthusiastic Democrat, he remained in Dawson until the count in the Nugget's election.

H. R. Turner will reopen the Monte Carlo club rooms to the public Saturday evening. All telegrams received bearing on the results of the American and Canadian elections will be read there Saturday night.

It has been decided by the sporting fraternity to have another meeting for pugilistic honors in the near future between the local knights of the mits. The next event will probably occur on Thanksgiving night.

A prominent government official who has thus far refrained from wearing felts or rubbers on his feet now advocates the wearing of creepers. He says the sidewalk in front of the Holborn should be set on a springboard.
