A WORD ABOUT INSURANCE

We represent a number of the best Fire insurance companies in the world; companies that paid full indemnity in the San Francisco fire. It is just as well, in fact, isn't it better, in taking out insurance, to have policies in companies that pay their losses? With the approach of winter comes additional danger of fire. Consult us at once if not fully protected. Reduced rates for Fire Insurance in the City of Regina went into effect Nov. 20th. Phone 113 for information.

ELECTION COURT SITS NEXT WEEK

Working Men who Voted for Bradshaw in the Prince Albert Bye-election Scattered all Over the Country -- Disfranchisement Planned by the Government

Prince Albert, Dec. 10.—The election court will sit here on the 17th, when the fate of the late bye-election will be decided. A great change has come over the situation since the election which will be gratifying to the government. The working men could not afford to stay around to prove their right to the franchise and owing to the lumber operations being me to be ever gaining new value in its possibilities of educational effect upon the solving of the north western problems.

"Of late years I have felt myself settling down to an assured grasp of the diverse motives which led to the final denouement; and this assurance of conviction at which I have thus been arriving has been confirmed by the fact that I have incidentally felt myself acquiring a clearer perception of the difficulties and embarrassments of the men who were opposed to us—so that with this better understanding of their motives also, I have felt myself being gradually delivered from the thralldom of those personal feelings which tend to detract from even the undoubted historical advantages which pertain to the narrative of an eyewitness. Latterly, therefore, the question of my writing an account of that romantic episode in Canadian history has tended more and more to become a matter of my having leisure to do so."

By Acclamation

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—The Conservatives in convention here tonight, decided not to contest the bye-election here, owing to the near approach of the general election.

The exchequer court today commenced hearing a suit brought by the Dominion of Canada against the province of Ontario for reimbursement of monies expended in the survey and development of certain portions of territory formerly disputed between Manitoba and Ontario, but now included in the former province. The claim is for excess of expenditure, of which it is claimed that the province has had the benefit.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN ARE RE-ELECTED

New Council Board Shows Only one Change--Smith Returned--Endorsement of Year's Policy

In more of a personal contest than a policy campaign, Mayor Smith was re-elected Monday over Dr. Cowan and the retiring aldermen were returned in all cases, Ald. Sinton taking the place of Dr. Cowan on the board. There is thus only one change from the personnel of last year's council. The election results are a complete vindication and endorsement of the policy pursued during the past year and the whole board is pledged to a cautious but progressive line of policy for the next twelve months. The chairman of the various committees will remain about the same with Ald. Sinton, chairman of the reception.

The Results.
For Mayor, Smith 517, Cowan 451, majority for Smith 66.
For aldermen—Ward 1, J. X. Kusch acclamation.
Ward 2—R. Sinton, 254; Chas. Wiloughby, 147. Majority for Sinton, 107.
Ward 3—Ald. L. T. McDonald, 187; A. T. Hunter, 131. Majority for McDonald 56.
Ward 4—Ald. T. Wilkinson, 182; W. H. A. Hill, 86. Majority for Wilkinson, 96.
Ward 5—Ald. A. D. Wright 123; Dr. Johnstone, 83; J. H. Kelly 62. Majority for Wright 40.
The vote on the library bylaw was 668 for and 203 against. The measure carried by the necessary majority.

THE HISTORIC FIGURE HONORE J. JAXON

is in Regina--Twenty-two Years Since he made his Escape--Life for Social Reform--Back to the Battlegrounds--May be Induced to Unite Inside History of Rebellion--He is the Last Link

Honore J. Jaxon, a man who has been associated with the making of Canadian history—and the only man who is capable of being a historian of the West rebellion—has been in the city for some days. Until coming north this fall Mr. Jaxon had not set foot in the North-West territory for 22 years, and as he remarked in the opening words of his address on Sunday last, his departure has been characterized by "more haste than dignity."

So far, however, as the feeling engendered by that trouble goes the past is gone forever, and regardless of the part taken by Mr. Jaxon in the promoting of the reform movement which was so misunderstood as to become a clash of arms, he must now be recognized as the last connecting link on one side of that historic right, and as the last authentic source of exact and inside information in regard to a most significant and interesting event whose real history, it must candidly be admitted, has not yet been written.

In the address delivered before the labor men of Regina it was very evident that the experiences of life have brought to Mr. Jaxon that breadth of philosophizing tendency which tends to eliminate personal feeling; and this conjecture is confirmed when one enters into private conversation with the man. Asked as to whether his side of the Northwest trouble can be written without reservation or prejudice, Mr. Jaxon delivered himself with frankness and good feeling. Said he, "the events which led up to the outbreak were so highly dramatic and the personal characteristics of Louis Riel and of certain other participants in those events were so strikingly original and so vitally important in their reaction upon the causes which we were promoting that, apart from my having become engrossed in the social movement of the United States, I repeatedly refused to give the story to American newspapers and magazines because with each succeeding year I felt that my growing experience and knowledge of human nature was giving me a deeper insight into the inner meaning of it all, a meaning that seems to

Early Stages of Session Show That Government is Weakening—Laurier Alarmed Over Borden's Tour and Ignores King's Speech to Attack Halifax Platform

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a new departure today in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. As Mr. Foster very aptly phrased it: He devoted himself to the Halifax platform and ignored the King's speech. He devoted himself to Mr. Borden's platform and Mr. Borden's tour, and for a time the address itself was lost sight of. Mr. Fielding will speak tomorrow and to him will fall the duty of stating the position of the government upon the great public questions of the day. Mr. Borden on the other hand discussed every matter touched upon by the speech from the throne, even those matters which he declared to be outside of party politics. He urged prompt and efficient action to be taken in regard to the reforms. He referred to Mr. Pugsley's speeches, and repeated his challenge that an impartial commission should be appointed to investigate all campaign funds and transactions in the general elections of 1904. He stated his position upon Japanese immigration, and forced upon the government the dilemma that either it had been deceived by the Government of Japan, or it itself had willfully deceived parliament when the Japanese treaty was adopted. He demanded that the officers of the government responsible for the Quebec bridge disaster should be exposed. Mr. Borden reviewed the recent cabinet changes and senatorial appointments, and touching upon the financial stringency, now admitted by the government to exist, pointed out the enormous sums drained from the people by taxation and the heavy balance of trade against us.

Premier's Reply Vague
Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, was not at his best. His opening sentences were scarcely audible. Many points made by Mr. Borden were not referred to and he took his seat with out a single reference to the "All Red" line. Even when pressed for information upon this subject he refused to make any announcement.

Hon. Geo. G. Foster, who had been greeted upon entering the chamber with cheers, and whose desk was adorned with flowers, answered the premier with incisive eloquence. He denounced the doctrine that Japan must be treated better than China, because Japan was more powerful. He made Mr. Carvell, of New Brunswick, and other ambitious Liberals unhappy by saying that Sir Wilfrid considered them as "white wings," or day laborers, that when he wanted skilled labor for cabinet positions he went outside of the House. Only the judgment was correct, could there be found any Liberal politician of sufficient capacity. Indeed he had been driven to pick up cast-offs of the Conservative party. One shining example had recently been imported from New Brunswick.

Mr. Hall of Peterboro, who moved the address, was lavish in eulogy of the premier. Mr. Foster said it recalled the fervid words of the member for Centre York (Mr. Campbell) upon a similar occasion. "And where now is the member for Centre York?" he asked. "Alas he has been sent away to the old woman's home. Even he could not land that coveted job in the cabinet."

Mover of the Address
Mr. Hall, in moving the address, commenced by declaring it an honor not to himself, but to his constituency, in being called upon to fulfill the duty he was performing that day. In a prepared speech he made long references to the expansion of trade throughout the Dominion. So far as the financial condition of Canada was concerned he did not think that any one could find any fault with it. He quoted a number of figures showing the growth of Canada's trade with other countries, and cited the improvement in transportation facilities for the shipment of Canada's products to distant lands. Increased immigration under the Laurier regime was also dealt with by Mr. Hall as well as postal reform and improvements in railway facilities. He made a passing reference to the Oriental question in the west, and wished success to the mission of the postmaster general in Japan. The French treaty was briefly alluded to by Mr. Hall, who finished up with a most flattering eulogy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his administration.

Mr. Lanctot (Richelieu), who spoke in French, seconded the address in reply, and made suitable allusions to the excellent relations existing between the French and English peoples and in this direction he warmly congratulated the government upon the conclusion of its treaty with France.

Mr. R. L. Borden
Mr. R. L. Borden, who was received with loud opposition cheering, made one of the best speeches he has ever made in the House, and although he paid the customary compliments to the mover and seconder of the address, he practically dispensed with preliminaries and started right in to take the government to task for its wrong doing. While congratulating

The French Treaty
"But, we have something said in the speech from the throne," Mr. Borden reminded the House, "respecting the treaty with France. I join with the government in hoping that this treaty may increase trade between France and Canada and the present good feeling now existing between the French Republic and the British Empire. There are some items in that treaty which must afford peculiar gratifications to the minister of agriculture. It was he, I believe, who committed the great Liberal party by its Ottawa platform to the total prohibition of the manufacture, sale and importation of all alcoholic liquors. In this treaty I find that the duties are reduced upon gin, rum and champagne, brandy, bitters, imitation brandies and light wines. The workmen of this country, even those poorly paid or out of employment, may lay in for the long cold winter a good supply of champagne, light wines and angostura bitters."

Mr. Fielding—The duty is not reduced on champagne.

Mr. Borden—Then, the workmen will have to content themselves for the winter with light wines.

Quebec Bridge Disaster

Mr. Borden referred to the Quebec bridge disaster. The scheme was a national undertaking, a part of the transcontinental railway. By law its design and plan was to be approved by an order in council. No money was to be paid except upon estimates approved by a government engineer. Was it not fair to ask what officer of the government was responsible for a defective plan or defects in construction? Whether the accident was the result of their negligence or incompetency? A great scientific authority had declared that the efforts to avert this disaster was more like the shovelling up of a country bridge, than intelligent construction work upon the greatest engineering undertaking heretofore attempted upon this continent.

He also wished to know why the government, when it furnished substantially all the money and assumed the responsibility for the bridge, permitted it to be under the immediate control of a private corporation, which had only put up a capital of some $66,000.

Asiatic Immigration

The leader of the opposition then touched upon the matter of Japanese immigration. It was an economic question. It should not be confused with any lawless outbreaks of individuals or with the unbridled duty of the government, to make reparation for any outrages committed.

"We have no race question," he declared, "and we want no race question in Canada." True, the House has adopted the Japanese treaty, but why? He quoted from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's assurance that the Japanese government had restricted to ten from each province, or 120 a year at all. This statement had been made by the premier in 1903, and repeated in 1906. The minister of agriculture upon his return from Japan had assured parliament that the Japanese were a home-loving people, and that he had secured from the Japanese government assurances, that they would not be permitted to go from Japan to Canada or other countries, unless they were merchants, students or travellers. In view of recent events, Mr. Borden declared that "one of two things was evident: Either the Japanese government had deceived the Laurier Government, or the Laurier government had deceived parliament."

He repeated that the matter was an economic question. The working men of British Columbia would not and should not be forced to lower their standard of living to the Asiatic standard.

Financial Stringency

The financial stringency, in the speech from the throne, was referred to as world-wide. The speech had not been as frank in previous years, when diating upon the prosperity of Canada.

To what extent was the government of the day responsible for this stringency? It had enhanced the cost of living by its high valorem customs duties and had depressed individual thrift by its onerous burdens of taxation.

In the five years ending 1896, the Conservative government administered the country by collecting in taxes $27,750,000 per annum, or $5.60 per capita. In the five years ending 1907 the Liberal government collected in taxes $57,000,000, or $9.47 per capita. For the year ending March 31, the taxes collected were $68,000,000, or $10.74 per capita. This government was at present collecting from the people of Canada $1,322,000 a week, or $800,000 a week more than the Conservative government collected in 1896 when it was roundly denounced by Mr. Fielding in the Halifax Chronicle for its "reckless extravagance."

He had investigated against the government at that time for its surpluses, saying they "drain the Dominion" yet today as minister of finance, he boasted of surpluses amounting to ninety million dollars.

Then, too, was it strange that this country today should begin to suffer from the way that, under this government, the balance of trade had grown against us? The average balance against us for the five years ending in 1896 was only $8,250,000. For the five years ending with 1907 the average was $57,432,000. For the current fiscal year the adverse balance and accomplishing nothing. The leader of the opposition, said Sir Wilfrid, had started a missionary tour to evangelise the west, setting his sails nicely trimmed to catch every passing breeze. The word protection was written very small indeed in the Halifax program, so small indeed that it was not visible to the naked eye. In the Conservative party there were protectionists and protectionists.

Degrees of Protection
"There are protectionists in the city of Toronto," he said, "and some other places, who would have the tariff raised as high as Haman's gallows. There are other protectionists who would have the tariff brought so low that protection would not be distinguishable from free trade." Between these two factions Mr. Borden hesitated some years ago and declared in favor of adequate protection, but it would appear in the course of time, and according to experience, adequate protection became inadequate.

Next to the fiscal policy the most important plank in the Halifax platform was that of dealing with public ownership of public facilities, and in this matter, Sir Wilfrid asserted that Mr. Borden was merely a follower of the member for South York.

In spite of the attitude of certain public journals, Sir Wilfrid claimed that corporations were necessary on the ground that they could accomplish more than could be done by individual effort, and he urged that the railways were better managed by private enterprise than by State ownership. When the question arose of the construction of the C.P.R. there was not a single question raised at that time as to whether it should be constructed under government or private ownership.

Japanese Question
Passing reference was made by Sir Wilfrid to the question of public ownership of telegraphs and telephones, and next he took up the question of Japanese immigration. It was a question entirely different from that of Chinese immigration. Japan was no longer a nation they could treat with contempt and indifference, and moreover she was in alliance with Great Britain. Moreover Canada had a treaty with Japan and was selling goods to the Japanese. The question was not one for British Columbia alone, but it was an imperial one. Canada could not treat Japan as she could have done 25 years ago. He spoke hopefully of the visit of Mr. Lemeux to Tokio. "The people of British Columbia have certain views said Sir Wilfrid, "I would not be honest with myself or with them if I were to say I share these views, but while I may not share them I am bound to respect them."

The premier critic said Mr. Borden's attitude upon the matter of increased subsidy for British Columbia. He declared that the question of provincial subsidies was one of the most dangerous ones in this country. It was the weak link in the chain of confederation. At the provincial conference of 1906 the provinces agreed on a basis; all agreed that British Columbia should have an extra allowance, and the only dispute was as to the amount. That amount was fixed at $100,000 per year for ten years and the agreement was ratified without dissent by parliament. Was it, the premier asked, clean politics to hold out a promise of financial gain to British Columbia as an inducement to vote for the Conservative party?

When the premier concluded, Mr. Borden asked—How about the "All Red" line?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I have nothing to communicate to the house on that subject at present.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster
Hon. George E. Foster began his reply by saying that it did not lie in the mouth of the premier to say that the leader of the opposition was offering a bribe to British Columbia. He was historical that he (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) had made a direct, specific bargain with Honore Mercier by which for Laurier, that province was to get a certain amount by way of increased subsidy. The premier had ridiculed the Halifax platform as indefinite, he had discovered that it was obscure and filled with "ifs" and "buts." "It is certainly plain enough," said Mr. Foster, "upon the issue of electoral corruption. You sir," he said, addressing the premier, "have never done one thing to bring about electoral purity, but on the other hand, you have protected election thieves, stifled investigation, and deluded Hon. G. W. Ross as the right arm of your government." That right arm shielded you and the scoundrels who bought votes and switched ballots for your benefit, and they were safe from prosecution until that right arm was amputated.

The premier, said Mr. Foster, had been severe upon Mr. Borden because he favored government ownership of railways and telegraphs, yet this doctrine was not only preached, but put into practice by Liberals and Conservatives alike in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Denounces Premier's Attitude
Referring to the Japanese question Mr. Foster denounced as "public immorality" Sir Wilfrid Laurier's position that we could not treat the Japanese as we did the Chinese because they were too powerful, whether it should treat every nation fairly, whether it be strong or weak. The Japanese treaty had been adopted because the

Personal Sacrifice

We have been attacked by the government organ for intimating that it is unfortunate that Premier Scott is absent from the province at a time when he is badly needed, owing to the extension of Manitoba's boundaries, for Mr. Scott has said that he has Sir Wilfrid Laurier's pledge that Saskatchewan will get justice in the matter of the Hudson's Bay port.

The Leader only quotes one sentence in the West article and thus deliberately leaves a wrong impression. We repeat that it is unfortunate that Mr. Scott is called away through illness at the present time; but we disagree with the Leader as to the sacrifice which he is making for his country. Mr. Scott never made as much money in any one year in his life as he has drawn from the public treasury since he has been called to the premiership by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and neither Mr. Scott, nor any other member of his cabinet, except perhaps Mr. Turgeon, can make as much money yearly as they draw from the public treasury in salary and expenses. We would like to know where Mr. Scott has "sacrificed private interests?" If he had been as faithful to his country's interests as he has to his own interests he would have stood pat on the question of rights for this province against federal aggression, and as to his selfishness, posterity will be a better judge of that than his personal organ, and the men whose tables are laid daily at the expense of the province owing to Mr. Scott's abandonment of principle.

The West has nothing to retract from what we have said with regard to Mr. Scott's position. It through constitutional ailment he is unable to attend to his public duties then he should be disinterested enough to resign. Adherence to principle never cost the Leader or its owner anything and they cannot afford to impute ulterior motives to other people.

Honore J. Jaxon

The only living man who was closely associated with the reform movement which resulted in the North-West Rebellion is Honore J. Jaxon, who is in Regina today. For twenty-two years he has been a resident of the United States. Mr. Jaxon is the only man who can write the true history of that trouble. Ex-Governor Dewdney intimated to The West last summer when he was in Regina that he possesses official documents relating to the rebellion which will yet be published and which will throw considerable light on that historic trouble. If Mr. Dewdney, the Government and Mr. Jaxon were to arrange for the publication of the inward history of the cause of the rebellion, without reservation, it would be an invaluable acquisition to Canadian history.

Girlhood and Scott's Emulsion are linked together.

The girl who takes Scott's Emulsion has plenty of rich, red blood; she is plump, active and energetic.

The reason is that at a period when a girl's digestion is weak, Scott's Emulsion provides her with powerful nourishment in easily digested form.

It is a food that builds and keeps up a girl's strength.

Tariff Demands

The farmers' associations of Ontario have banded together to fight the demands of the manufacturers who are urging for a raise in the tariff. The farmers of the west and the farmers of the east have interests in common regarding the tariff question, for on all articles that are consumed on the farm, (and that includes almost everything except luxuries) the farmers pay the tax, therefore, the farmers of the east and the farmers of the west should unite in representing to the Dominion government that duty calls upon them to stand firm in resisting the demands of the manufacturers.

The farmers have an object lesson with regard to the manufacturers and their "flag" interests in a high tariff. There is no use disguising the fact that the country is suffering badly from a very poor crop and the general scarcity of money. The burden of the depression is falling on the shoulders of the agricultural producers, and if any man should be given a chance to pull through that man is the farmer. What we find throughout the country, however, is that the merchant has trusted the farmer with a line of credit without security, but some of the machine companies have stepped in and taken everything they can get their hands on. All the companies have not done this but those who have done it are among those who are making the strongest demands upon the government for an increase of the tariff.

The policy of the manufacturers is cold cash and not the interests of the country or a national sentiment, and when hard times come the farmers find that out.

Roosevelt Says No

President Roosevelt's message to Congress leaves no doubt that the reform wing of the manufacturers of the United States have not been able to prevail on the President to have even a commission appointed to take up tariff enquiry. The fight was interesting and the disclosures have thrown a great deal of light on the tariff question, but the United States government is wedded to protection and they do not think the present unsettled state of business a proper time to take up tariff revision. What the Americans want at present is all their own market to themselves and they will take chances on getting a fair share of business as usual in this country.

Not Their Policy

The Ottawa dispatch which we publish elsewhere in this issue reports Premier Scott as saying in an interview that the operation of a coal mine in the Eagle Lake district is an isolated case and must not be regarded as indicating a policy of government operation, to which he is not inclined.

Taking Mr. Scott's statements on the public lands question before he "swallowed" as a federal member; taking his attitude before the provincial campaign, and his capitulation in being forced to ask the Dominion to hand back even enough of the lands to operate one coal mine, and his declaration now that he does not believe in government operation and that he does not want the lands, and we have a many-sided man, who cannot be bound down to any principle but who wanders over the whole field of politics and delights in his inconsistencies.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Farewell! A Long Farewell!—Mr. Fielding intimates that the Liberal platform of 1893 has been carried out. True enough! It was carried out very carefully one dark night and buried in the back yard.—Toronto News.

The Regina Leader is strong on imputing motives to other people, but they are in the position that the question can be asked whether they are "betting trailing" the most of the time. The Leader parades principles which every paper should at all times be loyal to in a discussion of any public question, but it can be asked whether the Leader's disapproval of the recent criticism of the chief license inspector was due to the fact that John R. Bunny is a big stockholder of the Leader-Times Co.

PRESS COMMENTS

(Toronto News.)

Parliament has opened in a thoroughly ugly temper. Some of the speeches already delivered can only create a bad impression in the country. It is apparent that the government, relying on its voting strength and debating power, is disposed to browbeat the opposition, and to check the free criticism of public measures and acts of administration. On the other hand such a speech as that of Mr. Clements, of Kent, is unworthy of any serious deliberative body, and can only give the Canadian House of Commons a mean reputation in other communities. The opposition should keep its head and hold its ground. It should support any charges it may have to make by a serious indictment on the responsibility of one of its members and prove its case before the committees. Mere abuse and scandal mongering will not strengthen the Conservative party in the country, just as there is no fear that heated rhetoric and violent abuse from the government benches will to cover any established failure of duty or any acts of corruption in the public departments.

DROWNING AT INDIAN HEAD

Katepuwa Lake Swallows up Walter Osment Who Skated to His Death—Half Breed Also Disappears

Indian Head, Dec. 6.—Today is an extremely sad one for our esteemed citizens, Mr. and Mrs. A. Osment and family. Their son Walter, who was yesterday skating on Lake Katepuwa, has not been seen since nine o'clock yesterday morning, and is believed to be drowned, possibly through skating through some of the thinner spots of the ice.

He and another young man, Harold Baker, started on their skates from the Katepuwa end of the lake to Pelican point, where Howard Osment lives. After they had gone some distance up the lake, Walter, who had his gun with him said, "I'm going to see if I can get a wolf." He started back down the ice towards the shore, while Baker started on toward Pelican point. The gun was heard by different parties just a few minutes later, firing two shots. This may have been a signal of distress from the young man when he found himself in the water.

A search party has been wandering along the shore, and through the course all day, but no trace of the missing young man can be found. The father who went down to the lake this morning, judged from traces that Walter had skated to his death through the thin ice.

At the spot where it is believed he went through, the water is fifty feet deep. A party will go out with grappling irons in the morning to drag the lake. By a strange coincidence George Parisien, a half breed, who lives in the valley started yesterday morning to drive a cow from Lahre to his home and he too has not been heard of since. It is believed that both he and the cow have gone through the ice. Should the sad conjectures prove true, these will be the first drowning fatalities in Lake Katepuwa in the memory of the oldest settlers.

UNEMPLOYED IN VANCOUVER

Coxey Army Looking For Work—City Can do Nothing

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 6.—Over 500 men gathered in a down town street tonight and marched in Coxey army fashion to the city hall. The police were called out and many officers kept on hand to prevent the possible recurrence of a riot. That this was possible was indicated by Spokesman Victor Migely, in an address to the mayor, he said: "I have urged these men not to act foolishly. Have told them that it was highly inadvisable to follow the riotous proceedings of several months ago, but if they are not given employment, and get down to their last cent, I think it probable that riotous demonstrations will occur. In that case the city will be responsible. Unless it helps them, I don't know what will happen." The establishment of a municipal employment bureau was demanded, but the mayor said nothing in the charter would empower this. The spokesman of the unemployed very bitterly criticised the employment agencies, which they declared were fleeing the men. The question will be discussed in council on Monday.

A tickling cough from any cause is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards called this shrub which the doctor uses "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. ALAMEDA WIPED OUT

Old Town in the South has Costly Fire—Loss $200,000 No Fire Protection

Alameda, Dec. 6.—The business part of the town is devastated. A disastrous fire started in Alameda last night about eleven o'clock at King's butcher shop, and spread south to the American hotel, and north, destroying a livery stable, Ted's law office, the men's store, R. L. Gibson's store, the post office, the Crown Lumber and Hardware Co.'s store, Hopper Bros.' general store, Cronk and McDowell's implement warehouse and the Brighton hotel. Not a building was left standing on the east side of First avenue except J. R. Trumper's warehouse.

The citizens turned out and did everything that was possible, but it was soon evident that their work was in vain. Then they directed their attention towards saving the western part of the town, which was successfully accomplished by bucket brigades.

How the Fire Spread

After passing the livery stable of G. Emmerson, the fire went to the north and attacked the law office of B. B. Toed, then the Men's Store and R. L. Gibson's. From here the flame went to the general store of Hopper Bros., a little northeast, then west to Cronk & McDowell's implement warehouse.

Heroic efforts were made to save the hardware store of the Brown Lumber and Hardware Co., situated on the corner of Fifth and First avenues, but all efforts were in vain.

Next to Cronk and McDowell's in the east was the cement building owned by the Farmers' Elevator and Trading Co. The fire burned through the implement house just opposite a wooden door in the cement building, and in less than two minutes the door was burned, and the fire was raging inside the building.

While the fire was in progress in the Building of the Crown Lumber and Hardware Co., there were several explosions, when the flames reached the powder and oil. Great excitement was caused when the fire reached the ammunition known to be in the building. The last place to go was the Brighton hotel, next to the farmers' building.

Everyone who could lend a hand was pressed into service to try and save the livery building, as on it depended the salvation of the whole town. In this they were successful, though many narrow escapes are recorded.

There were no lives lost. The Masonic hall was burned down. All the horses and cattle were taken to a place of safety in good time and at the present time the danger is passed. There was a fresh breeze blowing, driving the fire, which made the fire fighters work the harder.

Scene of Ruin

The scene this morning is a terrible one. Throughout about one half of the town there is nothing but ruins, where yesterday stood the first class stores of a western town. It is a serious blow to the merchants and the town generally, but already a number have signified their intention of rebuilding the place as soon as the insurance losses are adjusted. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Total Loss

The damage is estimated at $100,000, some of which is covered by insurance.

HAD HAND TORN OFF

Terrible Journey Experienced by Man Who got Hand Caught in Machinery—Victim Dies

Saskatoon, Dec. 6.—Hector La Chappelle, a homesteader 85 miles from here, was working with a threshing machine on Thursday when his hand was caught in the machinery and literally torn off. The nearest physician, and as every moment was of vital importance owing to the bleeding the party hurriedly started on the long drive here, arriving the same night. La Chappelle died from his wounds during the journey. His body was taken back today. He leaves a wife and two babies.

WARNING TO SENATE

Upper House Given Mandate by Members of Commons—Bill up again

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Mr. E. A. Lancaster, M.P. for Lincoln, has declared war upon the senate. The House of Commons has twice passed his bill to amend the railway act to provide that no train shall pass over a high way crossing at rail level in any thickly populated portion of any city, town or village at a greater speed than ten miles an hour, unless such crossing is protected. Last session the senate railway committee killed the bill. Mr. Lancaster is going to re-introduce the bill, and gives fair warning to the senate that if it "again thwarts the will of the people" an agitation will arise in this country which will end in a mammoth petition to the Imperial parliament to wipe the senate out of existence.

A JUMP IN THE DARK

Man Steps From Train Over Bridge and Falls to Bottom of Creek

Drinkwater, Sask., Dec. 6.—A serious and what might easily have been a fatal accident occurred here last evening when a freight train, drawing several cars of settlers' effects, bound for Moose Jaw stopped at this place. A man in one of the settlers' cars evidently thinking that he was at the station platform, or taking it for granted that the train came right up to the track side where his car was standing, jumped from the car. As it happened, however, the car he was on was standing on a bridge crossing the creek, and instead of lighting either upon a platform or the prairie, he found himself falling through space to the creek below. Fortunately there happened to be a second man in the car who learned what had happened, otherwise the unfortunate man might have lain where he fell throughout the night. On assistance being taken to the man, it was discovered that he had sustained severe injuries, and was pretty badly shaken up. He was given every care possible under the circumstances, and placed on the train and taken to Moose Jaw, to be given proper medical attention in the hospital of that city.

House relied upon the House relied upon the assurances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The entire responsibility rested upon him personally. Mr. Foster deplored any race or color line, but after all this was and must always remain a white man's country. He took issue with the statement that Japan was the only customer for British Columbia, the trade of China and China's good will were far more important. Dealing with the cabinet appointments, Mr. Foster said that Sir Wilfrid had selected two men from outside the House to fill vacancies over the heads of men who had done the "mucking" for the party for years past. He thought it was due from Sir Wilfrid Laurier to say whether he had asked Hon. Clifford Sifton to take a place in the cabinet and whether Mr. Sifton had refused. Unskilled Laborers He alluded to the members of the Liberal back benches as performing the part of unskilled laborers for the Liberal party. Mr. Foster criticised the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the colonial conference in regard to the powers of that body and also made reference to the "All Red" route. Mr. Foster closed a brilliant speech at 10.45, and on motion of Hon. Mr. Fielding the debate was adjourned until tomorrow.

KING OSCAR PASSES AWAY

Wise Old Monarch Lays Down his Sceptre for Democracy of the Grave—Illustrious Career

Stockholm, Dec. 8.—Surrounded by members of his family, the venerable King Oscar died at 10.30 this morning, in the royal apartment of the state palace here. As the king breathed his last the aged Queen Sophia, and Crown Prince Oscar Gustaf Adolf, knelt at his bedside while the ministers of state were grouped around. Oscar II., King of Sweden, of the Goths and the Vandals, was born Jan. 21st, 1829, succeeded to the throne Sept. 18, 1872; married June 9, 1857, Sophia, daughter of the late Duke William of Nassau. He leaves four sons. He will be succeeded by Oscar Gustaf Adolf, Duke of Warmland, who was born June 16, 1858, and married Victoria, daughter of the Grand Duke of Baden, Sept. 20, 1881. Personally, the great king ranked among the most popular monarchs in Europe. He was also probably the tallest. The family is not of ancient royal lineage, for he was a great grandson of Napoleon I.'s famous general, Marshal Bernadotte, the first king of the new independent kingdom of Norway. Curiously, the late King lived to witness the partition of the Scandinavian Kingdoms which had been united under his sceptre, Sweden remaining loyal, while Norway, Bernadotte's old realm, elected a new king, Haakon II. Oscar II. was trained in the navy, and at the university of Upsala, ascended the throne in 1872, in succession to his brother, Charles XV, and was crowned on May 11, 1873, at Stockholm, and at Drontheim on July 18. A talented sovereign, he spoke at least ten languages with readiness, being well versed in naval and military history, and general literature, and winning laurels as critic and poet. He was elected an honorary member of the Berlin Academy and of the Imperial Society of Naturalists of Moscow. His collected works have appeared in Swedish and German, translations from the German of Goethe's "Tasso" and Herder's "Cid," being among their number.

TO RESIST HIGH TARIFF

Farmers of East Unite Against Demands of Manufacturers to Raise the Duty

Toronto, Dec. 5.—Agriculturists comprising the Dominion Grange and Farmers' associations, which have amalgamated, will fight what they declare to be the selfish demands of the Canadian manufacturers' association on the tariff. The farmers want the tariff reduced to a purely revenue basis. This was the declaration of the convention of the Grange, which concluded its deliberations today. The report of the legislative committee protested against railway subsidies and the granting of bounties on the output of iron and steel manufacturers and urged that the association make a demand upon the government for the enactment of a measure which will equalize the burden of the railway taxation as between the farmers and the railways. Reference was also made to the enormous increase in the Dominion and Provincial expenditure. It was decided to ask the government to improve and extend the work of the common rural school. The education committee, in its report, protested against the introduction of military training in the rural schools and commended the altered tone of the law upon the accommodation and equipment of rural schools.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cases, nor turn heavy growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pain and ease of this deplorable disease. In Germany with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those and the granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And thus, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual need—to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend.

THEY WANT DISMISSAL

Of Gov. Dunsmuir—He was Associated With Jap Influx

Vancouver, Dec. 6.—The trades and Labor Council, at a meeting last night, passed a recommendation to the Dominion government, asking for the dismissal of Lieut. Gov. Dunsmuir. The reasons given are those which developed from the recent immigration inquiry, that as president of the Wellington Colliery Co., he had signed a contract with the Canadian Nippon Co. for the employment of 500 Japanese laborers, while at the same time as governor, he declined to assent to the Natal Act proposed by the Hon. J. W. Bowser, and unannouncedly passed by the legislature for the conditional restriction of Asiatic immigration.

E. A. Dutton, who proposed the resolution, said that he had the authority of the secretary of State, that the Ottawa government did not ask Dunsmuir to withhold his assent to that act, and certainly premier McBride had not given any such advice.

CANADIAN LABOR PARTY

Address by Honore J. Jaxon—Special Privilege Denounced

The burden of Mr. Jaxon's message to the new Canadian Labor Party in The Trades Hall on Sunday was that there is everything in common between the working man in the city and on the farm; that they are at a disadvantage through the existence of a special class, and that there is a remedy for their condition but that the process of emancipation must take time and can only be worked out by co-operation, which he urged with regard to educational work and in connection with the use of the ballot.

Honore J. Jaxon who has been for 20 years associated with social reform in the United States, was introduced to the meeting by the president of the Canadian Labor Party, Hugh Best.

The speaker referred to his early Canadian life and his work for nearly a quarter of a century in the United States. He dealt with society as we find it today. The upper classes put toll gates on the avenues of trade and the working people are caught going and coming. The price paid for their labor is dictated by the keepers of the toll gates, who also put the price on the goods produced by labor. Organized labor is removing the toll gates and elevating the workingman physically, mentally and morally. It is no use, however, to obtain a dollar to put in one pocket, if better wages, if two dollars are taken out of the other pocket by increase in cost of goods.

Speaking of the policy of the governments of this country in giving away the public lands, Mr. Jaxon said that the time has not arrived for the people to fully realize the irreparable blunder and the robbery of the people by this policy of giving to speculators the heritage of the people. As to the work of the Canadian Labor party they have a big field for operation, but they must see that there is no ring rule in the organization, and they must not be in a hurry to put candidates in the field. It is a mistake to put their strength to the test in this way before they can count noses when lined up with the other parties.

Mr. Jaxon referred to the native race whose lands we have taken and who are today at our mercy. He was glad to hear the expression of good will towards the Indians, it showed that the Labor Party in Regina possessed that love of justice and fair play without which they could not hope to be a power. The treatment of the Indians in the States actuated by the greed of those who wished to enrich themselves with the lands of the west, constituted a black blot on the history of the Republic. But eternal justice was at work and the Americans today were in the ravages of the great white plague, suffering retribution for the wrongs done to the Indians. Tuberculosis, which was the great curse of the States, was directly due to the desecration of the buffalo which had been carried out to permit of the grazing of cattle, which unsuited to the rigors of the climate had contracted the disease which was now yearly claiming so many human victims.

To the farmers of the country the speaker urged the Canadian Labor party to hold out the right hand of fellowship. The farmers and the city laborers have much in common, and the farmers and the new labor party should unite in the interests of both. The farmer does not get the right proportion of profit for what he produces any more than the mechanic. There is a remedy, however, and that is by studying the economic problems and by co-operation in educational work and by voting together.

After a vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, the following resolution was adopted, moved by T. Walsh Turner and seconded by Thos. M. Molloy:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of Regina Branch of the Canadian Labor party, the forming of producers' Social and Economic Discussion Circles by the actual producers, in town and country, of the really useful things of life, is both practical and desirable."

MR. SCOTT AT OTTAWA

Premier of Saskatchewan Says Government Operation of Coal Mines is not his Policy

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Premier Scott of Saskatchewan, who has been here for the last couple of days, left this evening for New York, and will sail next week for the Mediterranean. He is accompanied by Mrs. Scott and daughter. They will be absent from Canada about three months.

While in Ottawa Mr. Scott received many congratulations on his regained health since his severe illness early last year. He stated that he is quite as well as ever, and that the present trip is not taken on account of poor health, but merely to prevent a possible return of the pneumonia attack which he suffered from last winter.

Asked concerning conditions in Saskatchewan, Mr. Scott states that while the money stringency and congested traffic are hindering business, and causing serious losses in many individual cases, yet the aggregate financial return for the year's crop in the province as a whole, will be equal to that of last year. Especially favorable weather has prevailed throughout the autumn, and if the winter was an ordinary one no serious trouble need be feared this year. December arrived with practically no snow in the province and mild open weather.

Operating Coal Mines
Replying to a question as to his government's decision to operate coal mines, Premier Scott said it was true that they had begun work on one coal mine, but that the step was taken as an isolated one, and not as a matter of general policy. He explains that a large tract of country, roughly one hundred miles west of Saskatoon, and the same distance from the railways, has been occupied by settlers within the past two years and new railways have not reached the tract as soon as expected. The land is especially fertile, but almost bare of wood. The little wood there would be wholly used up this winter, and these settlers are so far from the railways that the expense of hauling coal is beyond their means.

Fortunately coal deposits were discovered last summer in this tract, and the government at once sent out drilling outfits to see if the deposits were worth developing. The examination shows very considerable deposits of coal similar to the South Alberta variety, which is an excellent domestic fuel, and the government is undertaking the development of a working mine on a moderate scale to supply the needs of the settlers in the district.

Government Telephones
While not wishing to be committed to the principle of public operation of coal mines, Mr. Scott declares that his government is going to apply the government ownership principle relative to telephones. They have employed Francis Dagher, the well known telephone expert to conduct an enquiry in the province with an eye particularly to the possibil-ties of telephone extension in the rural districts, and in relation to long distance construction. It has been decided to demonstrate the feasibility of rural telephones by constructing and putting in operation, such systems in three or four settled districts, these systems will be put in by the government as an object lesson, and Mr. Scott's last act before leaving Regina, was to appoint a deputy minister of railways, which department has already been provided for by legislation, but not organized, and to which he has attached the telephone branch, so that active work in the direction indicated may be undertaken at once. Mr. Scott stated that next summer will see several hundred miles of long distance lines in operation in Saskatchewan.

Use Dominion Poles

He conferred with Hon. Mr. Pugsley, minister of public works, while here this week, and made the proposal that his government be permitted to use the poles of the Dominion telephone line, which within his province run from Qu'Appelle to Lloydminster, on which to string long distance wires. Mr. Pugsley promised to give the matter consideration. Premier Scott will be back from Europe in March, when the Saskatchewan legislature will be convened.
