

Remarkable Dreams.

GODRICH, March 13, 1882. Mr. ENTOS, Last evening our worthy pastor, Dr. Williams, gave us a most excellent discourse from Gen. xviii. 10 to 20. In speaking of dreams, I will endeavour to show beyond a doubt, there are some of these midnight visits of thought, that are absolutely correct. In 1845, the Derby stakes at Epson, in England, was won by Mr. Gratwick's bay colt Merry Monarch, rode by E. Bell, the value of the stakes was $25,000 clear to the winner; thirty-one horses started, won by half a length, 20 to 1 against the winner. In the winter of 1844, a Mrs. Clifton, wife of a wine merchant in London, dreamed that she saw the Derby stakes at Epson won by a bay horse, whose jockey wore a brown body, crimson sleeves and green cap, and wanted to back the horse for twenty pounds. Her husband, like most others would do, took-hooded the dream, but being almost worried to death about it, borrowed a Racing Calendar. But looking over the list of colors, he could find none like those which had appeared to Mrs. C. in her midnight vision, and he thought the matter had ended. But not so, for the lady dreamed a second and a third time in succession, that the Derby was won by a horse ridden as she had seen before. The was no mistaking this treble event, and Mr. Clifton promised to take his lady to Epson, and see whether she could be right in her conjecture. He was as good as his word, and strange to say, between the publication of the book calendar and the Derby Day, Mr. Gratwick had two horses in the race, and to distinguish the horses, Bell, who rode Merry Monarch, had a green cap, and the other a crimson cap. The other horse (Doleful) came along, she, Mrs. C. was asked if that was the horse she wanted to back? No! she replied, my horse had a green cap, and I shall stick to him. Scarcely had she uttered the words before Merry Monarch went by with E. Bell in a green cap; there he is! she exclaimed, in a state of frantic excitement; and sending her husband into the ring, he got $2,000 for the £20 about the Merry Monarch for her, in less time than he could write it down; and half an hour afterwards saw the money landed, and the wife's dream verified.

I must trespass upon your kindness, Mr. Editor, with the relation of a most singular dream, or what might be called a trouble dream, which was attended with serious consequences. In the time of the Wars in England between King Charles the 1st and the Commonwealth, the market town of Newark-upon-Trent, in the county of Nottingham; one of the most loyal towns in the Kingdom. This town was very strongly fortified with walls, and stout hearts within of a determined stamp, held Cromwell's forces at bay through several sieges; they put out a flag of truce, and sent one of their party to try to arrange. The person was met with-out the walls, at what was called Mill-gate; he was then blindfolded and conducted to the Kings Hall, which stood, and yet stands, on the north side of the market place. After the conference, he was again blindfolded, and taken out the way by which he came in. The house nearly adjoining the King's Hall, where the town authorities sat in council, was owned and occupied by alderman Hercules Clay. During the night following the attempted arrangement, (March 11, A. D. 1645), Mr. Clay suddenly sprang out of bed, saying the house was on fire! After looking through the house and finding all right, they returned to bed. In a short time he again called out the house was on fire. After again looking round, they returned to bed; but after a very short space of time, he again jumped out of bed, dressed as quick as possible; immediately opened the door into the market place, when a bomb struck the house and burnt it to the ground. In consequence of the extraordinary deliverance of himself and family, by a dream, he gave by his will the sum of two hundred pounds to corporation, in trust, to pay the interest of one hundred pounds to the Vicar of Newark, for a sermon to be preached on the 11th of March, annually, it being the day on which the event happened. And the interest on the other hundred to be given in bread to the poor, on the same day. A Latin inscription upon Mr. Clay's marble tomb in the south-east angle of the church, amply testifies to the truth of the foregoing statement.

By inserting the contents of this communication in the next issue of your amusing paper, you will oblige, Your constant reader, JOHN MOSLEY.

Goderich Township.

Mr. T. Higgins, teacher of the Porters Hill school, is recovering from his illness. It was proved satisfactorily to the chairman of the Porters Hill debating society that the Dominion would be better annexed to the United States. Mr. Robt. Russel, formerly of the 6th con., but now living in Greenock, Bruce, had a narrow escape of being killed by a kick on the forehead from a horse. He is recovering. Mr. Thos Sourby, of the 4th con., on Monday evening celebrated the 20th anniversary of his wedding day, by kindly entertaining his neighbors, and making use of the occasion to present his wife with a nice gold watch. GOOD FROUGE.—On Saturday Mr. Henry Mason, of the late line, sold a splendid heavy draught horse, coming four, to an American buyer, for the sum of $200. During the winter, Mr. Mason has disposed of no less than 23 horses, and none of them at a less price than $75. PRESENTATION.—It having been known for some time that Mr. Jas. Robertson and family, of the Bayfield road, were soon to remove to the north-west, their many friends and neighbors have been occasionally calling and giving them presents of one thing and another by which to remember them but on Monday evening a surprise was given them of which they had previously not the faintest idea. Early in the evening a large number of their friends gathered and took the house by storm. Mr. Robertson was presented with a large and beautiful bible and a purse of money. Mr. Rob-

The Port Moody Section Contract.

It is a long time since Canadians ceased to be surprised at anything Sir Charles Tupper might say or do, but for barefaced inquiry his conduct in giving the contractor for the Port Moody section of the Pacific Railway to Ounderdonk & Co., of California, caps the climax. There are some acts of outrage so audacious that epithet and indignation are wasted upon them; the plain, unvarnished facts are their greatest condemnation. Now, what are the facts in the letting of the Port Moody Section contract? 1. Advertisements calling for tenders were issued on the 24th of October last, and in answer thereto fourteen tenders were received and were opened on the 1st of February by Messrs. Trudeau, Schreiber, and Braun. 2. The tender of McDonald & Charlebois, of Montreal, for $2,277,000, was the lowest of the fourteen by $209,255, and it was accompanied by a deposit cheque for $20,000 as a guarantee of good faith. The cheque was dated 23rd January, and was stamped by the bank on the 24th "good for two days only." 3. On the 4th February Sir Charles Tupper instructed his secretary to call at the Bank of Montreal at Ottawa and ask the manager if he would pay the cheque. The secretary called on the 6th, and was told it would be necessary to enquire at the head office. The manager enquired by telegraph, and at one o'clock he handed the secretary the answer: "Strike out for two days only from our acceptance. The cheque will be good until paid." It was handed to the Minister the same afternoon. 4. On the same day (6th February) Mr. Schreiber reported to Mr. Braun that the tender of McDonald & Charlebois, though lowest, was irregular for the reason that the cheque for $20,000 was marked "good for two days only," and he recommended the tender of Andrew Ounderdonk for acceptance. 5. On the 7th Sir Charles Tupper drew up a memorandum setting forth that the tender of Andrew Ounderdonk was the lowest in conformity with the conditions, and the same day Mr. Ounderdonk was informed by the Secretary of the Department of Railways that his tender was accepted. 6. On the 8th the Minister's memorandum was endorsed by the report of a committee of Council. 7. On the 10th McDonald & Charlebois telegraphed the Minister that their tender being the lowest they were awaiting notice from the Department to complete the deposit. Mr. Braun replied that their tender could not be considered "for want of cheque marked good." 8. On the 14th they petitioned the Governor in Council, setting out that their tender was regular; that it was $200,000 lower than any other; that the cheque for $20,000 was still good, was in possession of the Department, and would have been cashed at any time; declaring that they were ready to execute the contract, and praying that it might be awarded them. 9. On the 20th Sir Charles Tupper replied to the petition to the Council, recommending that it be not entertained, and on the following day this recommendation was adopted by minute of Council. 10. The draft form of contract with Ounderdonk was submitted to the Deputy Minister of Justice for examination on the 20th, and was reported correct in form. From this narrative of facts it is plain that McDonald & Charlebois' tender was not rejected because it was low or for any other reason than that the cheque was not marked "good"; that the acceptance stamp of the bank manager, "Good for two days only," was a matter of form, and was so regarded by Sir Charles Tupper; that on the 6th of February Sir Charles was informed in answer to his own enquiry that the cheque was good, and would be good until paid; that in the teeth of this assurance he next day rejected McDonald & Charlebois' tender "for want of cheque marked good"; and that the contract was not signed before the 20th, when all the facts were known to the Cabinet. It is a clear case of plunder. Sir Charles Tupper could be no guiltier had he in the face of ten thousand witnesses thrust his hand into the public treasury and put $200,000 into his own pocket; and his fellow-Ministers are not less guilty than Sir Charles. There are many signs that a general election is near at hand, but this transaction is the clearest sign of all. The scandal of 1872 may possibly be eclipsed by the scandal of 1882. The face of corruption is not veiled now as it was then, and its hand is not hidden. But who will Andrew Ounderdonk's "my dear Aunt" be? We can see now why the Government should prefer the American Syndicate to the Canadian, and Andrew Ounderdonk, of California, to McDonald and Charlebois, of Montreal, and why they should hasten to put the Port Moody section under contract so long in advance of their obligations to the Syndicate. We can also see why Sandford Fleming should be dismissed, and his place be given to Collingwood Schreiber. It is the conspiracy of 1872 over again. But what answer will the people make? Will they take the shilling as in 1872, or run the traitors and bribers to earth as in 1874? It is a time when every true Canadian should say and act for himself:—"First my country's welfare, then I'll go with honest party men."

East Wawanosh.

FARM SOLD.—Mr. T. W. McLaughlin, of the 9th con., has sold his farm, being the south Lot of lot 37, to Gerard Bretz, of Blenheim, Oxford Co., for the sum of $5,000, which is considered a good price. SUPPER.—On Monday evening last a supper was given by the members of Orange Lodge No. 793, at the residence of Mr. James Nethery, East Wawanosh, as a parting token of friendship and esteem to Messrs. Joe Callan and Wm. Ritchie, who are just about to leave for the northwest. Besides the members of the lodge there were a large number of friends, both ladies and gentlemen, present. After partaking of the bountiful spread, an address and a bible each was presented to the above-named gentlemen, and a good portion of the evening was spent in friendly intercourse and expressions of good wishes to the departing friends.

Brussels.

W. F. Kennedy has removed to Wingham where he is engaged in the Post-office in that town. W. F. is an adept at this kind of business. Leatherdale & Co., furniture dealers, have made an assignment. They expect to be able to pay 100 cents to the dollar, as their liabilities are not very heavy. OBITUARY.—The subject of this notice Mrs. Wm. Armstrong was born in Armagh, Ireland, in 1832. With her father Matthew Hunter, she emigrated to the township of Downie when 13 years of age and in those early days when the settlers had to work hard, Sarah was always found ready to do her share. She married to her bereaved husband on March 3rd, 1852 and after living in Beverly township two years, they removed to Glenallan any from there to Mitchell. Twenty three years ago they moved to Brussels and opened a hotel, called the "Queen's Arms," where the American now stands. The place was well known to the travelling public, and the ability of the deceased to make guests feel at home and supply them with the delicacies of the season was well known. Five years ago they left the hotel and moved to their farm near Brussels. Mrs. Armstrong had been poorly all winter, about 4 weeks ago she fell and cut her head, erysipelas set in and was partly the cause of her death, which occurred on Wednesday night about 11 p. m. She was the mother of 10 children, 6 sons and 4 daughters. Her funeral will take place on Saturday at 3 p. m. [Post.] At the meeting presided over by Cardinal Manning at the London mansion house, for the relief of Russo-Jewish refugees, a letter was read enclosing a memorial signed by 1589 Oxford undergraduates. It said: "We wish publicly to state our belief that it is only by granting to all classes equal rights and privileges before the law, and by frankly laying aside prejudices of race and religion, that the common welfare of Europe can be advanced." Cardinal Manning said that he knew of no more unprecedented or gratifying outburst of feeling from Oxford undergraduates.

The Doctor's Secret.

Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of our leading physicians, when they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured, and they get the credit.—Tribune. Trial bottles free. Rhynas' drug store. Large size $1. (2) "Living is dearer," we are told, and it is probably true. It has been calculated that food cost 32 per cent, more and clothing 17 per cent more in 1881 than it did in 1878.—[Monetary Times]

The Editorial "We."

Some people are unreasonably inquisitive and curious, especially about matters which do not concern them in the least. For example, here is a correspondent who is a constant reader of our valuable and influential paper, and would like to be informed why an editor or newspaper writer, when speaking of himself in his writings, invariably uses the plural pronoun "we" instead of the singular "I." There are several reasons. Self preservation is the first law of human nature. It begins at home, like old mother Charity. There is some human nature about an editor, public opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. An editor thinks too much of his "I's" to wear them in mourning, and therefore when speaking of some slab-sided six footer as a miserable red nosed, pusillanimous, wife smoozer, he considers it is the better part of valor to drop in an occasional "we." This creates in the mind of the plural force consists of a standing army, armed with deadly "we"apons. Furthermore, in cases where the victim comes around to the office to kill the writer of that particular item, it is so pleasant to have the guilty man's identity buried in the obscurity of the plural "we." The editor-in-chief, the commercial editor, the city editor, the local editor, the reporters, the book-keepers, compositors, book-binders, jobbers pressmen, devil and all the delivery boys are thus placed on a common footing by the little pronoun "we," and when the enraged person looks about him and finds how many homes he would make desolate, how many wives he would make widows and how many children orphans, by killing off all included in the little "we" at one fell swoop, he sickens of the sanguinary undertaking turns sadly away, goes to some bar-room, takes a drink, condemns the paper, prophesies that it is being run into the ground, and declares that he will henceforth exert his political influence to squelch the sheet. No Apologies for Dinner. Apologies for poor dinners are generally out of place. But when a lady has a forgetful husband, who, without warning, brings home a dozen guests to sit down to a plain family dinner for three or four, it is not in human nature to keep absolute silence. What to say, and how to say it, form the problem. Mrs. Tucker, the wife of Judge Tucker, of Williamsburg, solved this problem years ago. She was the daughter or niece (I am uncertain which) of Sir Peyton Skipworth, and celebrated for her beauty, wit, ease, and grace of manner. Her temper and tact were put to the proof one court-day, when the judge brought the accused half-score or more of lawyers, for whom not the slightest preparation had been made, the judge having quite forgotten to remind his wife that it was court day, and she herself, strange to tell, having overlooked the fact. The dinner was served with elegance, and Mrs. Tucker made herself very charming. Upon rising to leave the guests to their wine, she said:—"Gentlemen, you have dined to-day with Judge Tucker; promise me that you will all dine to-morrow with me." This was all her apology, whereupon the gentlemen all swore that such a wife was beyond price. The judge then explained the situation, and the next day there was a noble banquet. Moral:—Never worry a guest with apologies.—[Lippincott's Magazine.] An Independent Opinion. Many of our Reform journals have always regarded the N. P. as an unmitigated evil. We have never done so. We believe it has benefited certain industries. But while we admit this we emphatically deny that it has been the great blessing to the country its supporters maintain it has. Mechanics, and working men generally, do not find that it has cheapened food and clothing, lowered house rents or raised their wages. Farmers fail to see that it has been in any way a benefit to them. It is impossible to prove that whatever increased prosperity the country has enjoyed during the past three years ought to be credited to the N. P. For the last few years there has been a steady stream of immigration from Canada into the United States, where mechanics and others say they can get more employment and better wages. Now that stream has swollen into a flood and is pouring into the North-west at an unprecedented rate. If the N. P. has been so beneficial in its operations why this extraordinary exodus? It is hardly believable that so many mechanics and working men, could they find plenty of employment and good wages in their own country, would seek a foreign shore. But we are told they will all come back again. They will not if they can do better elsewhere. But what we want to know is if the N. P. has given such prosperity to the country as its advocates assert it has, why have so many people left it during the past three years? To act upon a determination made in anger is like embarking in a vessel during a storm.

THE WINNIPEG FIRE.

Further Particulars of the Destructive Fire—Defective Fire Appliances. The following particulars have been received of the disastrous conflagration at Winnipeg. The fire broke out at an early hour, and at one time threatened to sweep the city. It originated in McEnnary & Curran's grocery on Main-street, the cause being a defective flue. At first the flames might have been easily extinguished, but owing to the sloveness of the firemen and a frozen tank the flames spread rapidly. It was not long before they burst out in Hall & Co.'s confectionery store, and from there spread rapidly until the walls of the Montreal Bank were reached, having gutted and burnt out ten stores on the way. Seeing it was impossible to save the buildings, the owners and tenants started to save their goods, placing them in the streets. Salvage corps were organized but the flames beat them until stopped by the solidity of the Bank of Montreal walls. The fire was stayed on the north side by the brick building of the Bank, and on the south side by a gap. The supply of water gave out twice. Two firemen nearly lost their lives, their names being McCullen and Aikens. THE LOSSES ARE: Zinkan & Co., $15,000, insured in the British America, Commercial Union, Hartford, Royal, Citizens', Western, Queen's, and Imperial; Adams & Son, $500, insured for $200 in the Queen's; Mrs. Wolf, $6,000, sold her premises ten days ago, stock partially insured; Empire, loss $3,000, insured for $1,000 in the Queen's; Hargreave, $8,000, partially insured in the Phoenix and other companies; McFarlane, $3,000, no insurance; Taffe, $2,000, no insurance; Halle, $3,000, no insurance; McLengh, loss $4,500, insured in the Phoenix for $1,000; also other companies; J. A. Brooks, $400, insured in the Western for $200; McEnnary & Curran, $6,000, partially insured in the Citizens', Royal, or City of London; F. Furter, $3,000, partially insured; Whitlaw, $1,000, insured in the Phoenix of Brooklyn; Wm. Hunter, $4,000, insured in the Imperial, North British, Royal, and Western. The total loss is estimated at about $100,000. Weather Wisdom. Under the title of "Old Probabilities" one of the most useful and valuable officers of the United States Government is most widely known. But quite as well known is Prof. J. H. Tice, the meteorologist of the Mississippi Valley, whose contributions to his favorite study have given him an almost national reputation. On a recent lecture through the Northwest, the Professor had a narrow escape from the serious consequences of a sudden and very dangerous illness, the particulars of which he thus refers to: "The day after concluding my course of lectures at Burlington, Iowa, on the 21st of December last, I was seized with a sudden attack of neuralgia in the chest, giving me excruciating pain and almost preventing breathing. My pulse, usually 80, fell to 35; intense nausea of the stomach succeeded and a cold, clammy sweat covered my entire body. The attending physician could do nothing to relieve me. After suffering for three hours I thought—as I had been using St. Jacobs Oil for good effect for rheumatic pains—I would try it. I saturated a piece of flannel large enough to cover my chest, with the Oil, and applied it. The relief was almost instantaneous. In one hour I was entirely free from pain, and would have taken the train to fill an appointment that night in a neighboring town had my friends not dissuaded me. As it was, I took the night train for my home, in St. Louis, and have not been troubled since." Household Hints.

HARTSHORN COOKIES.—Two cupfuls of sugar, one of butter, one of milk, three eggs, lemon extract, and one tablespoonful of hartshorn, pulverized. Bake soon after mixing.

BOILED RICE.—Plain boiled rice is apt to be rather insipid and flat, and to give it more flavor squeeze the juice of a lemon over it, and when you dish it out place a very thin bit of lemon in the middle of each saucer, and pour the sauce over it.

BAKED APPLES.—Take easily-cooked apples, pare them and take out the core from the stem end, then breaking through the other side. Fill the cavity thus made with some preserves or canned fruit. Place them then in a baking pan put a little water and sugar around them, and bake in quick oven.

A NICE DESSERT.—Take some nice apples, pare, core and bake them. When quite soft take them up, mash the fine, some powdered sugar and a little nutmeg, if liked and the white of an egg, beaten to a stiff froth. Make a soft custard of the yolk of the egg, one spoonful of corn-starch, a little essence of vanilla and a pint of milk. Pour over the apple and put in a cool place until ready to serve.

CURRENT JELLY.—To make currant jelly of gelatine, take a box of Cox's or Chamber's gelatine (I prefer the latter); dissolve it according to the directions which come with it, adding a pint of the finest currant jelly. The jellies of commerce are colored and flavored with acids which I would not advise any one to use. Currant jelly may mould by not being kept in a perfectly dry place.

CHICKEN POT-PIE.—Wash and cut up a chicken and put over in cold water to boil. If the chickens are young, boil about half an hour. Take them out, and wash out the kettle; now fry two or three slices of salt pork, and lay in the bottom of the kettle; lay over these the pieces of chicken and turn in about three pints of water, or more, according to quantity of chicken. Add butter the size of an egg, sift in a little pepper, and cover over with a light crust. Cook about one hour longer, being careful not to cook dry or scorch.

HICKORY NUT CAKE.—One and one-half cupfuls of sugar, half a cupful of butter, a scant half-cupful of sweet milk, two cupfuls of flour, three eggs, two teaspoonfuls of tartar, one of soda or three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in layers. Filling for same—one cupful of sweet cream or milk; let it come to a boil; then stir in one tablespoonful of corn starch which has previously been wet with cold milk; sweeten to taste. Let just boil up; remove from the fire; and stir in one pint of pulverized hickory nut meats. Flavor to taste, and when partially cool, spread between each two layers.

KILLING PARASITIC INSECTS.—I send you the following cure for scald head, ringworm, granulated lids, scab in sheep, foot-rot, vermin in sheep, and skin poisoning of every description. I have cured a great many cases of these diseases. I have eyelids when the lashes have been eaten off with disease, by a few applications of this mixture. It has proved equally successful in ridding sheep when the man was fearfully poisoned. A week since a man came to me saying his head was covered with scab, and itched so he could not endure it. Three or four times washing his head with this liquid cured him. It is very simple, but sure: Half a teaspoonful of blue vitriol in one quart water, apply by washing or dipping.

A Disappointing Visit For Two.—A country clergyman was once staying with me in town, to whom a bad dollar had been given in change. The good divine was annoyed, of course, but his great anxiety was lest he should pay it away in mistake and someone else should suffer his own misfortune. He would have put it in the fire had there been one handy, but he went out in the morning with the intention of throwing it in to the river, but forgot all about it. He came back in a cab, which drove away in great speed directly it had set him down. "Stop, my man, stop," he cried, in an agonized voice, but the man only drove on more quickly.

"What is the matter?" inquired a passer by. "I have given that poor man a bad dollar," he answered, and he has given me half a dollar in change. I should have thought he heard me cry "stop."

"He certainly must have heard you," said the gentleman who had accented him; "let me look at the half-dollar." "It was a bad one!"

The result of the whole transaction was that the clergyman reduced his original deficit to fifty cents, and that the driver lost his confidence in the clergy.

For all affections of the Chest, Lungs and Throat, use Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops. They speedily cure Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, &c. As an expectorant the Cough Drops are unequalled, loosening phlegm very readily. George Rhynas, agent, Goderich.

A Presbyterian at Blyth called on his pastor and handed him $100 as a donation for missionary work. The pastor, knowing that the man was not wealthy, expressed astonishment and asked him how he happened to have so much to give away. The man explained that it was tobacco money which he had saved. Formerly he used the weed inordinate-ly. He had reformed, and the money was one of the first substantial proofs that his reform was in earnest.

"Twenty-four years' Experience." Says an eminent physician, convinces me that the only way to cure nervous exhaustion, and weakness of the sexual organs, is to repair the waste by giving brain and nerve foods, and of all the remedies compounded, Magnetic Medicine is the best. Farm and Garden.

Paint, to last long, should be put on early in winter or spring, when it is cold and no dust flying. Paint put on in cold weather forms a body or coat upon the surface of the wood that becomes hard and resists weather or an edged tool, like a plane.

Buckwheat is an excellent crop to plow under for green manure, but the trouble is that to precede fall wheat, it cannot be turned under in time to have it well rotted before the wheat is sown. Consequently the soil is rendered too open and porous for wheat. But from this very reason and from the slowness with which the straw rots, a plowed down crop of buckwheat has an excellent effect on land which is too stiff, or has the habit of running together.

A few years ago there was much dispute whether potatoes were more healthy and prolific when grown in ridges or when in flat land. The difference in the reports distinguished the simple inquirer after truth. It has since been found that soil and climate have much to do in varying the results. As a rule, the modern experiments favor ridge or hill culture. In wet or low soils, it is certainly the best. In very sandy soils, liable to drought, flat culture wins.

An Ohio farmer advocates the use of gas-pipe and wire for fence, and gives figures to prove that it can be built at a cost of about 83 cents per rod for material. He buys the gas pipe in lengths of 12 or 19 feet, sets the posts from 15 to 18 inches deep, cuts with a cold chisel a "lip" to hold the wire, which is secured by a V shaped piece of wire, twisted up to draw the wire close to the post. He sets but one trouble with his fence; in wet weather the posts are not held from springing by the surface of the ground, but he remedies this by driving oak stakes 2x4, and 18 inches long, by the side of each post, and securing the two with a rough and clinch staple.

Mr. S. Folsom inquires as to the healthfulness for cows of the new process linsed meal with its low proportion of only 3 per cent. of fat, as compared with the meal made by the old process, with 11 per cent of fat. There is no reason why this meal should not be as good as wholesome as the other; and it may be more useful in the making of the ration, since it can be used for increasing the richness of the fodder in protein or albuminoids without at the time adding too much fat. It can be worked well with corn meal, which, while but little richer than hay or grasses in protein, is not far from twice as rich in fat, and is very much richer in starchy matters. To the very common ration of hay and corn meal some addition is needed, especially for milk cows, to supply mostly protein; linsed cake by the old process was too liable in such a case to overcharge the ration with fat.—Prof. G. C. Caldwell, University.

To the question, which is the better way to feed meat, wet or dry? The answer is, there is no difference. The simple fact of wetting meal with cold water is no advantage. If soaked till near the point of souring, or wet with boiling water and fed when cooled, digestion would doubtless be facilitated. The best way to feed meal to cattle I have ever tried is to take hay or coarse fodder, either cut or long, and wet it enough to take the meal which is to be fed stick to it. In eating the coarse fodder the meal goes with it to the paunch, where it remains to soak and prepare for digestion, till it is remasticated, when it goes into the third and fourth stomachs and misses entirely the preparation it might have had if it had first gone in to the paunch with the coarse fodder. There is an estimated difference of 25 per cent in favor of feeding meal with wet fodder, over feeding it alone to grown cattle.—Professor L. B. Arnold.

The barbed wire fence takes a prominent place in western farming. The principal trouble with it seems to be the tendency of the wires to sag or break. If the fence is constructed as described below, there will be no complaint under that head. The most important item is to have the posts round, especially that portion in the ground as a round post will stand much better and firmer than a square one. Set the posts two feet in the ground, and every fourth or fifth post (according to the number of wires) three feet apart. Dig the holes four inches larger in diameter than the posts are. Put the post in and make it plumb, then put in about a foot of broken rocks, brick-bats, or cobble-stones; then shovel in two or three inches of earth, and so on until filled up, tramping it thoroughly. After the posts are well set, string the top and bottom wires first, and always on the deep set posts where they should be fastened. Afterwards fasten the wires to the other posts. The gate posts should be larger, and set four feet deep. A barbed wire fence made in this manner will not sag, and the use of braces, props, &c., can be dispensed with, making a strong, tidy fence.

Business Reading.

An exchange says the evil of permitting the free sale of ten cent yellow covered literature to boys have been well exemplified in the case of young Wesley, of Ottawa, who was recently sent to the Reformatory for five years. His parents are highly respectable people, and all the influences that surrounded him were of the best. But, from reading the poisonous trash contained in ten cent novels, he imbibed the false morality and vicious ideas that dominate in the stories of pirates, robbers, Indian hunters, and other criminals and vagabonds with which these books abound. The consequences are to be seen in young Wesley taking voluntarily to the profession of thieves, landing himself in the Reformatory and plunging his parents in grief and shame. Can the government not put a stop to the importation and sale of the vile publications alluded to. Certainly there is not a parent in the land but would thank them were they to take action in the direction indicated.—Ex.

A Remarkable Young New Yorker.

A young exquisite, the son of a celebrated New York ropemaker, is exciting much good-natured laughter by his exceeding daintiness and lavish display. He has lately attained majority, and is anxious evidently to dispense the large income he finds at his command. He has forty coats, an umbrella for each shade of dress, and canes and scarf pins innumerable. He said he had to get a brougham, because he had to go to his lawyer's so often, and has besides a two wheeler and a Russian sleigh with horses to match. He has flowers sent to his rooms twice a day, and when he walks with a young lady he always buys for her a most expensive bouquet, there being no other sort at this time of the year. He spent $4,500 in fitting up two rooms in his mother's house. He wears three marvelous rings upon his hand—a cat's eye set in hammered gold, a red cat's eye, set with two diamonds, and a sapphire set with two diamonds. His shirt buttons are two pearls set in diamonds, and also a cat's eye set in the same precious stones. He has five dozen pairs of silk hose, with his monogram upon them, and he has a cane, in which is concealed a cologne fountain. To a young lady who admired one of his rings the other day he kindly said he would send one round to her house the next day just like it.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Agnostic Congregations Failures.

The New York Evening Post has the following suggestive comments on the churches of unbelief:—"The fact is, and neither religious people nor agnostics ought to shrink from recognizing it,—that, while on the one hand the number of agnostics in the world is constantly increasing, on the other all attempts to build up an agnostic church are futile. It is only in England and the United States that this is not admitted by thinking men. There are plenty of agnostics in Germany, France and Italy; but a Frenchman, German or Italian who reaches this condition of mind does not go about discussing with his friends the possibility of building up a new ecclesiastical organization on the basis of a common agreement that there is no rational foundation for any supernatural belief, nor collect subscriptions for the purpose of 'hiring a hall' in which to worship without worshipping anything in particular. He simply conforms his behaviour to his conclusions, and ceases to talk or to think about matters of which he believes himself to know nothing. It is a strong proof of the deep hold which religion has on our race, that Englishmen and Americans will do almost anything rather than this.

Peculiarities of the Boy.

An exchange says a boy will tramp 247 miles in one day on a rabbit hunt and be limber in the evening; when, if you ask him to go across the street and borrow Jones' two-inch auger, he will be as stiff as a meat block. Of course he will. And he will go swimming all day and stay in the water three hours at a time, and splash and dive and paddle and puff, and next morning he will feel that an unmeasured insult has been offered him when he is told by his mother to wash his face carefully so as not to leave the score of the ebbs so plain as to be seen under the gills. And he'll wander around a dry creek bed all the afternoon piling up a pebble fort, and nearly die off when his big sister wants him to please pick up a basket of chips for the parlor stove, and he'll spend the biggest part of the day trying to corner a stray mule or a bald-backed horse for a ride, and feel that all life's charms are fled when it comes time to drive the cows home; and he'll turn a ten-acre field upside down for ten inches of angle worms, and wish for the voiceless tomb when the garden demands his attention. But all the same, when you want a friend who will stand by you and sympathize with you and be true to you in all kinds of weather enlist one of those small boys.—[Hawkeye.

A Mother's Influence.

It is hard for a young mother, who has not yet overcome the wayward tendencies of her own youthful nature, to realize the influence she exerts over her little ones. She is constantly surrounded by the critical imitators who copy her morals and manner. As the mother is so are her sons and daughters. If a family are blessed with an intelligent mother, who is dainty and refined in her manner, and does not consider it necessary to be one woman in the drawing-room and an entirely different person in every-day life, but who is a true mother and always a tender, charming woman, you will invariably see her habits of speech and perfect manners repeated in her children. Great rough men and noisy, bush boys will always tone down their voices, and step light, and try to be more mannerly when she stops to give them a kind word or a pleasant smile; for a true mother will never fail to do all the pleasant things that she can that will in any way lift up and cheer those whose lives are shaded with care and toil. The mother of to-day rules the world of to-morrow.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

The address-label on the first page will show each subscriber the state of his account with THE SIGNAL, and (it may be hinted) that this is an appropriate season for making an alteration in the figures. There are other figures in our books, also, which might very appropriately be adjusted before the end of this month. "Owe no man anything," has been wisely enjoined upon all, and this injunction is especially binding upon all who do business with newspaper men. A word to the wise is sufficient, and we will say no more at present, for we detest dunning.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1882.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD has been offered the Tory nomination for Lennox. One of Sir John's alleged birth-places (Adolphus) is located in Lennox.

JOHN JOSEPH HAWKINS, the talented political flipper-flopper, has been selected by the Tories of Bothwell to contest that Riding.

Had Mr. McMillan been the opposing nominee, so generally anticipated, we could not have used our utmost endeavors to influence against him in his aspiration—being a local man of ability, and the respect he commands in the riding.

The above from the Seafarer Sun is a gem in itself, and we hope our friends will put it carefully by for future reference. It shows that even a Tory newspaper can be magnanimous when there is no occasion for it being malignant.

Centre Huron Liberals have done well in nominating Sir Richard Cartwright for the Commons. His return is a foregone conclusion.

PERHAPS the most roundly abused politician of the day, through the columns of the Tory press, is Sir Richard Cartwright, the sitting member for Centre Huron.

A correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, writing from Ottawa, sums up the respective political leaders. Sir John is told off in a word. He and the Tory party are convertible terms, his rule being supreme and his nod being law.

Mr. Oakley is a Toronto stone-cutter. He says that his trade has been ruined by the N. P. Mr. Oakley says that the eight years prior to 1878, there were 125 stone-cutters employed in Toronto, and earning about $3 per day.

It is a good thing for a steamship company to have a Tory M. P. on its board of directors. The Quebec Steamship Company of which Hon. Thomas McGreevy, M. P., is a director have secured the contract for carrying mails between certain ports in Cape Breton, N. S.

Hon. Wm. Macdougall has decided to retire from political life, and devote himself to the legal profession. He purposes leaving for Winnipeg shortly, which will thereafter be his sphere of action.

The New Era, of Clinton, in its last issue, puts in a claim for Clinton for the shire town of Huron. The chief plea advanced is the better railway facilities for persons called to the county town on legal, county, or other public business.

The mountain has travelled, and a mouse has come forth. For some time back great preparations had been made by the Conservative party of West Huron to bring about a convention to nominate a candidate to oppose Col. Ross, M. P. P., at the next election.

Centre Huron Liberals have done well in nominating Sir Richard Cartwright for the Commons. His return is a foregone conclusion.

That Bogus List. "The favorite plan of the Opposition journals for the purpose of discrediting the factory list of Sir Leonard Tilley is to say, that even granting it to be true, what does it mean?"

The two Leaders. A correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, writing from Ottawa, sums up the respective political leaders. Sir John is told off in a word.

A Tory Defined. Truth unearths the annexed paragraph from an editorial in the London Times of March 29, 1882.

Distributing the Surplus. The Government at Ottawa know how to help its friends. Thus: Underdonk gets his contract at $200,000 above a lower tender; Powell gets a donation of a corner lot in the centre of Ottawa city.

Not the Tariff for Farmers. The weak or rather oppressive, points of the N. P. are becoming more and more apparent. "At every corner," says the Globe, "the farmer now finds himself beset with a new expense brought upon him by the tariff.

How a Manufacturing Firm Regards the N. P. Mr. S. Leonard, of the well known firm of E. Leonard & Son, engine and boiler makers, London, said: The N. P. has been no benefit to our business so far as I can see, but on the contrary, a decided injury.

G. N. MACDONALD, Observer. Goderich, March 12nd, 1882.

The rumour has got into print that Mr. Goldwin Smith does not intend to return to Canada but will find a seat in the British House of Commons. We believe we are correct in saying that many of the gentleman's Liberal friends in England have expressed their wish that he should enter political life and that if he desires a seat one will be provided for him. But he prefers Canada and will return early in the month of July.—[E.]

The Leoburn Presbyterian Church held their annual congregational meeting in the church on the evening of the 20 ult. The meeting opened with a short prayer meeting, conducted by the Rev. J. A. Turnbull, after which the business meeting was convened in the school room, Mr. Turnbull in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting was read and approved, a committee of seven was appointed to manage the secular business for the ensuing year. The financial report, read by the Treasurer, showed amount of running expense to have been $32.22, the amount paid on salary to have been $217.72 leaving a balance on salary of $35.28, to be raised by extra subscription, by the 1st of April. A very good report was then read by S. B. Williams, the Librarian. A vote of thanks was tendered, and the report ordered to be read in the church on Sunday. Mr. Clifton, in a few remarks, gave a history of the instruction and progress of the Sabbath school since intimated to the present. It was also decided that the Presbyterian Hymnal be used in the church after the 1st Sabbath in May. Parties wishing copies can get them from the Librarian at the church after the 1st Sabbath in April. The meeting adjourned, Rev. Mr. Turnbull pronouncing the Benediction.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The Lecture and Sacred Concert in St. Peter's.

"St. Patrick's Day" was celebrated in Goderich on Friday evening last by a lecture by Rev. A. McKeon, of Parkhill, and a sacred concert in St. Peter's church. There was a large attendance, the greater part of the audience being Protestants of Irish extraction.

THE LECTURE.
The parish priest of St. Peter's, Rev.
Father Watters, introduced the lecturer, and paid a tribute to his powers as a public speaker.

Rev. Father McKeon began by stating that St. Patrick was born, according to Irish sources, in a small village by the Irish sea. Having early embraced christianity, he made a pilgrimage to Tours in France, and while there was seized by an Irish king who made periodic aggressive visits to the continent, and led into captivity, where he remained for years, and learned the Irish language.
Subsequently he got free from bondage and went to Rome, where he remained for some time getting the fullest insight into the mysteries of the Christian religion. He next formed a company of priests and proceeded to Ireland to convert the natives of that country from their paganism. He arrived in Ireland at a season of the year when, according to the custom of the country, it was unlawful for any except the pagan priests to build fires on the hillsides, and not being aware of the law against the act, kindled a fire which was seen from afar.
For this he was cited before the king at Tara, and it was on that occasion that St. Patrick first preached the gospel of salvation to the pagan Irish. Finding a difficulty in making them understand the Trinity and the Oneness of the Godhead, he stooped down, and picking up a shamrock, illustrated the oneness of God by the plant itself, and the Trinity by the three leaves. So satisfied was his congregation with the explanation that king, courtiers, and people all embraced the Christian faith. The doctrines preached by St. Patrick were the same which were then and are still taught by the Church of Rome, and comprised the belief in a place of future rewards for the just, a place of future woe for the wicked, and an intermediate station known as purgatory; also a reverence—not worship—of the images of the saints; and the granting of indulgences by the priests of the Church. The long antiquity of some length into the discussion of the question of purgatory, and cited from the Douay Bible in proof of his contention that purgatory existed of a verity. The question of the reverence paid to images by Catholics was then taken up, the rev. speaker explaining that Catholics never worshipped images or gave to them the honor which belonged to God. They reverenced the images, because by seeing them they were reminded of the great and good departed which they represented, but the wood or marble was not worshipped as an idol would be by a pagan.
If it was right to bow down at the sound of a name, as we were taught in scripture, it was not wrong to bow down at the sight of a representation of the Saviour or one of the saints. If we have an affection for an earthly friend, we revere his picture; the mother who gazes lovingly on the picture of her dead child could hardly be called an idolater.
The loyal subject who had hanging on the wall of his parlour the pictures of the Queen and royal family, which he often gazed upon with pride and reverence, could not be stigmatized as a wor-shipper of idols. If it was idolatry to make a picture or statue and reverence it for the sake of the person it represents
then we dare not cultivate the fine arts,
or even encourage the photographer's art.
It was a grave error to think the honor of the Queen and royal family, which he
often gazed upon with pride and reverence, could not be stigmatized as a wor-shipper of idols. If it was idolatry to make a picture or statue and reverence
it for the sake of the person it represents
then we dare not cultivate the fine arts,
or even encourage the photographer's art.

THE CONCERT.
The concert consisted of a number of excellent pieces of music, capably rendered, and comprised: "St. Patrick's Day, solo sung by Miss Killoran, of Seaford, grand chorus by the choir; O Cor Amoris Victima, Lambillotte, solo sung by Misses art; Ave Verum from Millard, solo by Miss Killoran, chorus by the choir; Lauda Zion from Lambillotte, the first duet being sung by Miss Doyle, soprano, and Miss Teller, alto, and the second by Miss Robinson as first voice, and Mr.

Robinson bass; Ave Maria from Millard, solo by Miss Robinson. The programme was concluded by playing "Patrick's Day" on the organ.

EXPRESSIONS OF THANKS.
At the conclusion, Rev. Father Watters came forward and warmly complimented the rev. lecturer on his discourse, the choir and outside assistance also came in for their meed of praise, and the fullest thanks were extended to the large number of separated brethren who had attended the lecture and concert to do honor to Ireland's patron saint.

THE WORLD OVER.

Mary Parker obtained a verdict of $20,000 against the Boston and Albany railroad for injuries, $2,000 more than the previous verdict, which was set aside as excessive.

The outpost of Emerson is detached from the port of Winnipeg, and the same is made an independent port of entry and warehousing port from and after the 1st of April, 1882.

The Liberal Conservatives of South Wentworth met in Hamilton on Saturday and unanimously tendered the nomination for the local house to Mr. F. M.
Carpenter, who accepted it.

Bond, a convicted horse thief, jumped a convict train on the International & Great Northern Railroad twenty miles west of San Antonio, Tex., Saturday, and was fired at by guards, killing him instantly.

John Kennedy was blown eight feet by a dynamite explosion on the West Road near Milton, N. Y., Saturday afternoon. Another laborer was badly hurt.
A large quantity of the explosive entered his body.

Chapin & Gore, well known Chicago liquor men, were arrested under the United States statute Saturday and put under bonds of $1,000 for compounding or rectifying liquors without paying the necessary special tax.

In the French Deputies, Saturday, the Government introduced a Bill allowing witnesses in law courts, instead of taking the oath before God, to pronounce on their honor and conscience to speak the truth.

Some time ago Mrs. Brown, of Allen county, Ky., gave birth to twins. Notwithstanding there is but four minutes difference in their ages, yet one was born in 1881 and the other in 1882, one in December and the other in January, one on Sunday and the other on Monday.

Neil McDonald, who recently arrived in Winnipeg from the county of Bruce, when looking for lodgings was knocked down and robbed of what little money he had. He was also shot in one leg, stripped naked and left in the snow to die. At two o'clock in the morning he was found and taken to the hospital in a helpless condition.

M. E. Dickson, of Chicago, started for Washington Saturday night with a petition for the pardon of Sergt. Mason.
The petition is 2,949, the long one is said to contain 120,000 names. It is elaborately gotten up, and required two expert paper-hangers two hours to fold it properly. The Tribune's Sergt. Mason fund amounts to $320.

Vanderbilt's wealth is estimated at Field at $10,000,000; Hugh J. Jewett at 000, and J. W. Garrett at $5,000,000.

Baptists, 2,911,726; the 8 bodies of Presbyterians, 1,158,949; the 2 bodies of Describing the Hoosac tunnel, in the Atlantic Monthly for March, Mr. N. H.

Egleston says: "When the headings from the central shaft and from the eastern portal came together, as come together they did, their alignments swerved from each other by the almost infinitesimal space of five-sixteenths of an inch! It was an unparalleled feat of engineering.
With the best engineering talent of Europe, the opposite arms of the Mont Cenis tunnel had a divergence of more than half a yard."

Dean Grassett died in Toronto on Monday morning. He was born at Gibraltar in June, 1808. He was educated in England, and obtained a B. A. of the University of Cambridge in 1834.
In 1846 he was appointed the first Dean of St. James' Cathedral, a position which he held up to his death. Decassated leaves four sons and two daughters.
He was well known for his piety and his strong adhesion to the Evangelical or Low Church party. Out of respect for his memory flags are being floated at half-mast on many of the prominent buildings.

A scientific feat, never before attempted with success, has just been accomplished in Cleveland, Ohio, where Richard Jahr, a German student in photography, has photographed President Garfield's tomb by moonlight.
Jahr has labored for some time, and expended considerable money in an attempt to secure a negative, with no other light than that of the moon, and it was not until one night last week that his efforts were crowned with success. The camera was left in position seven hours before the negative was perfected. The value of the discovery to science, and the place where it was made, surrounds it with peculiar interest to the world at large.

Melville, in his official report to the Secretary of the United States Navy, ac-scribes his search for Delong and his party. The report includes extracts from records left by Delong at various points in his wanderings up to October 1, when fourteen officers and men of the Jeannette crossed to the west side of the Lena, having two days' supply of provisions, and being all in good health.
Having hitherto found plenty of game, Delong expresses no fear of starvation, and confidence in the future. The Russian authorities are co-operating with Melville in the search.

Gen. Skobleff, according to the London Truth, is 39 years old, but looks almost a decade younger. In the morning and afternoon the coat is a blue frock, loose, of stylish cut, and buttoned across the chest. The trousers, of gray tweed, are also an easy fit, and they half hide feet too small to be in proportion to the general's stature. If jewelled studs, pin, and chain are worn, they do not show.
A hand of feminine delicacy is carefully attended to, but unadorned with rings.
Skobleff is tall; his figure is lithe. It shows an elastic, nervous organization, but not athletic muscularity. The habit of poring over books of military science, maps, and plans has induced a slight stoop.

Mr. Jacob Habb left on Wednesday place on Thursday evening, March 16th.

Resolved that war was a more misery than a temporary peace. W. Wilson filled the chair while H. Gobleff supported the war of the affirmative.
M. S. Heston, J. B. B. and W. C. Durst for negative. Decision of chair in favor of negative.

The President of the declined to interfere in the matter it is believed that, in deference to public sentiment, he will pardon some in any event his punishment and to severe nor will his family suffer.

ANOTHER GREAT BOOM IN WINNIPEG.

By casual observation, we find all speculators have a clear head and watch the ups and downs of property, thus making large fortunes. But the whole secret is, they keep the system in a healthy condition by the use of
THE PRIDE OF THE VALLEY MEDICINE.
We can safely say that hundreds come to us for the great lung and blood purifier being used. Read the following statement:
"We could give thousands of the same kind if it were necessary."

"I certify that I was troubled with Catarrh in the head, gathering of phlegm in the throat, choking and coughing at night for years, so I could not sleep, often troubled with dull, lifeless feelings, pains in the chest and back.
After giving hundreds of dollars to doctors, and giving up all hopes, I tried the PRIDE OF THE VALLEY, and am now able to do my work after seven years' sickness."
