MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY.

(By Harold MacGrath.)

At the foundation of the plot of this exciting mystery story, there is a secret organization in Russia. Then are given glimpses of country house society, the modern boarding-school, the fashionable restaurant, the enterprising twentieth century newspaper reporter, the romance and mystery that may be linked together by two halves of a bracelet, the love of a father for his daughter, the devotion of an old family servant, the intrigues of a band of thieves and blackmailers and plenty of the old love that is always new, not to mention the million dollars about which the whole thing revolves and which, in these times, has an especially pleasing ring. All these result in a story that keeps the reader with pulses tingling.

We also have Winston Churchill's Great Novel, "The Inside of the Cup," in a 60c. cloth edition. Only a few copies, though.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

"ECHOES of the Past;

The Recompense of Love!"

OR,

CHAPTER XI.

"The business can wait," said Clive, smiling at the thought of the futile and wearisome committee on which he ought to have sat.

She sighed contentedly, and looked round her.

"What a beautiful place! And it is so cool. It reminds me of 'I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls!'"

He laughed. "Why, of course!" he assented. "How quick you are. Do you see the sculptures?"

"Yes," she said, but with no great interest; "but they are cold and dead-looking. Oh, here are the pictures. Oh, beautiful, beautiful!" she murmured, as if she were a little awed.

"You are too tired to go round? All right," he said, and he moved at her side, nearly in silence but now and again pointing out the salient point in a picture and explaining its meaning, in no didactic fashion, but as if he were refreshing his own memory. She gazed and listened with eyes through which her delight shone plainly; she seemed radiant with happiness; all her nervousness and shyness slipped from her; and she was just a natural girl, joyous, yet quiet and subdued in a rapt, absorbed fashion, which, in its turn, stirred Clive with a delight as keen as her own.

They went through two of the rooms, then Clive got her to sit down in one of the centre ottomans, but in a moment or two she was up again, as if drawn by the pictures; and Clive sat still and watched her, thinking that there was no more beautiful face on the canvases, that none of the painted women were more graceful, more sweet than the sweet face, the supple, graceful figure, of the girl who gazed at them, all unconscious of the gaze which followed her with an admiration and a subtle sense of happiness strangely flecked with pain, for though he had kept his promise in the letter, was he not breaking it in the spirit? He felt guilty, but he stifled his conscience while he pleaded with it. Surely he could not have listened to her story and met her naive anxiety on his account with "Thanks. Good day!" Besides, what harm was being done? And then her evident happiness, the ecstasy of pleasure which shone in her eyes, quivered on her lips!

And she was so innocent, so pure of spirit; no doubt she regarded him as a young girl regards a man much older than herself, a man to whom she was grateful for a passing kindness. Yes; it was gratitude that had made her anxious on his account; just gratitude.

And he? He thrust aside the question his heart was asking; why was he so happy, why did the sight of her, her nearness, move him as he had never before been moved?

She came back presently, and sat down beside him with a little sigh, as if her heart were too full for words. Her face was pale, but her eyes were like stars, and she closed them for a moment and brushed the dark hair from her forehead.

"And one man gave all these," she said at last in a low, reflective voice. "It is wonderful. Why are there so few persons here? Do many come?"

"At times; but not nearly so many as one would expect," he replied. "She was silent for a moment. 'It is quite free?'"

"Quite, and nearly always open, I think," he said. "What good men there are in the world," she mused. "Men who do things for the poor. You, too," she added, a little shyly. "Oh, I heard you last night. I have never heard any one speak like that. It was—it made me forget everything, the crush, the heat, everything. And you are always doing good and helping the poor, the working people. You must be very happy!"

She raised her eyes to his in a kind of wistful wonder that such men as he should exist.

"I am very happy at this moment, at any rate, Mima," he said almost involuntarily.

Her gaze did not falter; and she nodded as if she understood.

"Yes; it is so quiet here, and the pictures are so beautiful. I like it better than the National Gallery or the one at the Guildhall. I should like to come again, I suppose I may?"

"Oh, yes," he replied. "Many ladies come alone."

She did not understand. She went, nearly everywhere alone.

"There are some more rooms," he said. "But I am thirsty. Do you mind coming with me to the refreshment-room?"

She rose promptly; but when he ordered a glass of milk for her she shook her head.

"No?" he said gently. "Drink a little drop to keep me company."

She took a sip or two—he noticed that she held the glass to her lips gracefully, as—as—well, as Lady Edith might have done—then she set it down and looked up at him with a smile.

"I'm too happy to eat or drink," she said naively. Then she caught sight of the clock and stared at it with dismay. "Is that the time? Have we been so long!" she cried softly. "I am so sorry!"

"Why?" he said reassuringly. "On my account? There is no need. I, too, have been happy. Do you want to go?"

She looked round wistfully. "No—not want to go, but—but it is later than I thought, and—"

"You have not seen anything like all the pictures."

"I can come again," she said. "I must not keep you."

"Let me see," he said casually, but with a certain hesitation. "Will you the day after to-morrow—in the morning?"

She shook her head. "Not in the morning," she replied simply. "I practice in the morning. No; I shall come in the afternoon."

"About three," he said easily. "I will come, too, and we will be able to see some of the other pictures."

Her face grew radiant, and her eyes glowed.

"Oh, how kind of you!" she breathed; then her face grew grave, though her eyes still met his unflatteringly. "But can you spare the time, I mean?"

"Yes, really," he answered, with a smile. "I am about as fond of pictures as you are, and I shall enjoy seeing them again. You won't drink any more milk?" he went on quickly to check any further remonstrance on her part.

"No, thank you; and I must go, indeed, I must. They would wonder what had become of me if I were not home to dinner; they would think I was lost," she said, with a happy laugh.

In an instant he pictured her walking alone in the cruel streets, and his face clouded.

"You don't go out, alone at night—ah, yes, but you do," he said in a low voice, and stifling a sigh.

She looked at him with surprise. "Yes; why not?" she asked open-eyed. He did not answer and they passed out.

"Let me walk to the King's Road with you," he said.

"Thank you," she said gratefully; and they walked on in silence until she stopped and said:

"I turn off here."

"Then it is good-by till Thursday afternoon?"

She nodded and smiled brightly at him.

"Thank you for being so kind to me," she said simply. "Good-by."

He did not offer to shake hands; but gave her good-by almost curtly and turned at once.

As he did so, a hansom came down the street and a woman with a dusky face and with big gold rings in her ears leaned forward suddenly over the apron and stared with glittering eyes from him to the retreating figure of the girl. For a moment Sara gripped the edge of the doors, her lips strained apart, her white teeth gleaming; that she dropped back and, thrusting open the trap door, said fiercely:

"That girl—the one who has just passed—quick! Follow her! You see her—fool—man! Follow her—not too close! I want to see where she goes."

The cabman looked up the street. "I see her. Right you are, madam," he said, and he checked the horse into a walk and followed on Mima's track, Sara almost crouching in a corner of the cab, with her eyes, like those of a wild beast, fixed on the slight girlish figure as it went quickly and with girlish grace, along the pavement.

CHAPTER XII.

The following day was a long one for Clive; but as he went about his parliamentary work he was conscious of something, a memory that haunted him; he knew that he was not looking back to the hours he had spent with Mima at the Tate Gallery, but looking forward to their meeting on the next day.

On committee, in the House, he caught himself recalling the girlish figure, the beautiful face with its soft gaze at the pictures; and every time she rose before his mental vision his heart grew warm; but he strove against the distracting, absorbing recollection, and tried to forget her, to drown in the business in hand the low sweet voice, the soft laugh, the smile that glowed in her eyes. Strove also to silence the conscience which whispered rebukingly.

He was coming out of the House when he ran against Lord Standon; and that genial gentleman button-holed him at once.

"Hello, Harvey!" he said. "Well, how are things going? Still pegging away? I hear that the government is going to take the Housing of the poor question in hand, going to bring in a bill. They'll mess it, of course, they always do."

"I'm afraid they will," said Clive. "What they propose is only a half-measure. But half a loaf is better than none."

"And you'll come to terms and accept that, eh?"

Clive nodded. "Yes, with the hope that we can get the whole loaf when we come in."

"That's it. Compromise; life's made up of compromises." His eyes scanned Clive's face with kindly interest. "You're looking rather pale and tired," he remarked sympathetically. "Doing too much, I expect. What?"

Clive laughed. "I'm all right," he said. "The weather has been rather hot."

"And you're working hard," said Lord Standon. "Youth, youth! It

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Oct. 2.

The Governor, Newfoundland:
 General French reports fighting on the 29th and 30th as insignificant. German gains were made at two points. Our new positions are now consolidated. Our airmen damaged the enemy mail railways at fifteen points last week, partially wrecking five trains, and causing fire at the locomotive sheds at Valenciennes. The French made slight progress at Givency. No special news in Champagne.

Russia reports some enemy progress west of Dvinsk. The Russians were successful at several other points.

Later news tells of some progress on the heights of LaFolle, an important feature of the enemy line north of Messin, has been captured.

BONAR LAW.

FRENCH STILL PROGRESS.

PARIS, Oct. 2.
 There has been heavy German bombardment in the Artois, according to an announcement made by the French War Office. French forces have made perceptible progress in this district and on the heights of LaFolle. French aeroplanes have been active behind the German front and during the night aircraft guns bombarded the German lines.

FRENCH AEROPLANES.

PARIS, Oct. 3.
 A squadron of sixty-five French aeroplanes today bombarded the railway station at Vouziers, and aviation groups near Challemagne, according to an official statement issued by the French War Office. No additional progress is recorded for the day.

TRENCHES RECOVERED.

LONDON, Oct. 3.
 Field Marshal French's communication says: "We delivered a counter-attack last night, and achieved our objective, which was two German trenches southwest of Pozes, which the enemy had recovered in his counter-attack of the 26th. There have been no other events on our front."

BOMBARD RAILWAY STATION.

PARIS, Oct. 3.
 A squadron of 65 French aeroplanes today bombarded the railway station at Vouziers and the aviation ground near the town, also the station at Challemagne. More than three hundred shells were dropped at the objects aimed at, which were struck. Another bombardment out in two a moving train near the station at Laon.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Oct. 3.
 Repulse of four German attempts to retake the trenches between Souchez and the woods of Givency, and a similar attack north, are reported in the official statement given out by the War Office this afternoon. The communication says that the Germans bombarded the rear of the French lines in the valley of Sulpes with asphyxiating shells. French artillery on its part reduced the several enemy batteries to silence. Elsewhere the night was calm.

NEWSPAPERS COMMENT ON SIR EDWARD GREY'S STATEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 2.
 Sir Edward Grey's statement on the Balkan situation, indicating as it does, that Bulgaria had decided to throw in her lot with Germany, is the leading subject of editorial comment in the newspapers this morning. The Daily Telegraph says: "It is obvious now that the Teutonic Powers hold King Ferdinand in the hollow of their hand and that Dr. Radostavoff, despite all his apparent blunt honesty, is little better than an agent for executing his ruler's wishes." The Daily News observes: "In the turmoil of Balkan politics wrong horses have been backed with tragic frequency. Bulgaria, if her King is allowed to overbear the judgment of her ablest politicians, will have furnished a classic instance of that fatal error."

DOES NOT COVET.

SOFIA, Oct. 3.
 The Greek Minister to Bulgaria said today that Greece did not covet Bulgarian territory, and that the object of Greek mobilization was merely to protect the frontier. Regarding the treaty between Greece and Serbia, he said like every treaty it consists of words. It is circumstances which give meaning to words, that is to say, words have the sense you give them, according to circumstances.

RUSSIAN MINISTER ORDERED TO LEAVE SOFIA.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 3.
 The Russian Minister has been ordered to leave Sofia, unless within twenty-four hours the Bulgarian Government openly breaks with Austria-Germany and sends away the Austrian and German military officers now in Bulgaria.

A RUSSIAN REPORT.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 3.
 The Russian War Office gave out the following official statement: German attacks have continued in the region of Gross Ekau, but have been unsuccessful. Between Lake Demmen, situated south of Dvinsk and Lake Dvina, there was an artillery duel. East of Sevtonov our cavalry repulsed the Germans and seized the village of Salsji on the Upper Char. South of Ljachovitch one of our battalions dislodged the enemy from heights, and with the loss of only nine men captured two German officers and 100 men.

HINDENBURG'S BIRTHDAY.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.
 Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's sixty-eighth birthday today was celebrated here in a stately way. The feature of the celebration was driving nails by one thousand children in Hindenburg. A colossal wooden statue of the Field Marshal was recently erected, which is being sheathed with gold, silver and iron nails, bought in the interest of a fund for rehabilitating East Prussia. The address was delivered by Count Von Reventlow.

LINER ASHORE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.
 The Nelson Liner Highland Warrior, 7,485 tons, from London for Buenos Ayres, is ashore at Cape Prior near the town of Spain. Another vessel is said to be proceeding to her assistance.

RUSSIAN ULTIMATUM TO BULGARIA.

LONDON, Oct. 4.
 The Russian Minister at Sofia has been ordered by the Government to leave the Bulgarian capital, if, within twenty-four hours, Bulgaria does not openly break with the Central Powers and dismiss the Austro-German officers recently arrived in the country to direct operations in King Ferdinand's army. The other powers of the Quadruple Entente are backing up Russia in this demand, and so Bulgaria must, within a few hours, decide on continued neutrality, or be considered definitely committed to the Central Powers.

From the news received during the past few days from the Balkans, it is considered certain that King Ferdinand and Premier Dadoslavoff have made their choice, and are only awaiting completion of mobilization to strike at Serbia and assist the Austro-Germans to open a road to Constantinople, which has been anxiously waiting for several weeks for promised aid from the Central Powers. Greece, it is believed, will live up to her treaty with Serbia and come to her assistance, if she is attacked by her neighbor, but the attitude of Roumania, which remains only a partially mobilized spectator, is matter of uncertainty. While fully confident of their ability to handle the new situation, the Allies do not belittle it, which accounts in some respects for their activities.

Rain and consequent mud prevented the Allies from continuing their full offensive at Artois. Fighting of a stubborn nature, however, is still going on in that region, both sides endeavoring to secure strategic points. Success here, as in Champagne, is apparently varying, although the Allies are holding virtually all the ground they gained in last week's blow. That other similar blows will take place before long is the settled conviction of military writers, who see in the repeated bombardments of German positions on the Belgian coast, by British ships, and big French guns, and air raids over German lines, evidence that another storm is brewing. Naturally it will take some days to prepare, as the guns which now play such a large part in the campaign have to be brought up. This is no easy matter after the heavy rains, particularly in the low countries of Flanders and Artois.

The air raid in Challemagne yesterday, by 65 French aeroplanes is the biggest enterprise of the kind ever undertaken. The French, according to a German report, lost an aircraft in Alsace, which was mentioned a few days ago in an official communication as doing valuable work. Although fighting continues, there is little or no change in the situation along the eastern front. The Russians while being forced back at one or two points, are themselves pressing the Germans on other points, particularly east of Vilna, where Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's drive towards Minsk has been checked.

There is no further word of the reported Austro-German attack on Serbia, or of operations in Gallipoli. The Russians in the Caucasus, following the lead of the British in Mesopotamia, are taking a more active offensive against the Turks.

Good Words From Ottawa.

The report just published by the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, states that Dearborn's "Perfect" Baking Powder contained 12.7 per cent. of carbonic acid gas, which is a higher percentage than claimed for it. The report also states that "this is a good powder," pure and unadulterated. Don't pay fancy prices for baking powder when you can get the "Perfect" for 40c. per lb. Two teaspoons full will do the same work as three of other brands, and do it better. oct.21

Change of Policy

At Rossley's.

In order to meet with the spirit of the times and to give the people of St. John's an opportunity of hearing Jan MacKenzie and his company, Mr. Jack Rossley has decided to make the admission to his popular theatre ten cents to any part of the house. This is Mr. Jan MacKenzie's farewell week and many will doubtless make a point of hearing this distinguished Scottish singer. Miss Rix Gerin, soprano, will also be welcomed during the week, and Mr. W. Wallace, the wonderful boy violinist, has prepared a splendid programme for his last performances. A three reel photo-play, perhaps, the greatest triumph in feature films: "Sans Gene" the leading character being taken by Madame Rejane, the great French actress, will be shown. This picture is the last word in photoplays. There will be other reels of equally absorbing interest. Each night Mr. Rossley will give away as a present three money prizes to those having the ticket with the name which will be announced from the stage and patrons can either keep it or hand it over to any branch of the patriotic funds. On Friday night the weekly competition will be held, and the best is kept to the last for Jack and Marie Rossley will take part in a good laughable sketch.

American Demanded Resignation.

Now Appears that Gaffney's Utterances were Pro-German.

London, Sept. 20.—The Morning Post's Berene correspondent says he learned from Munich that T. St. John Gaffney, the American consul general in Munich after conferring with Sir Roger Casement had decided to resign his position and go on a lecture tour in the United States on behalf of Germany.

The United States government has requested the resignation of Mr. Gaffney owing to his alleged partisan utterances in connection with the war.

The Eastern Trust Company.

A few reasons why an estate can be better administered by the Eastern Trust Company than by a personal executor or administrator:—

1. The Company affords the estate absolute security; it has a paid-up capital of $951,000.00, and a reserve fund of $229,300.00.
2. It has a long experience in the work of administering estates; it is incorporated for this business of acting as a trustee, and, unlike many other trust companies, it does no other.
3. Its existence is perpetual. Your estate, in the event of the death of a personal executor or administrator, must look around for a substitute, and the work of administration is impeded during that time, and the new executor is unfamiliar with the policy of his predecessor, and confusion results. This company's existence is perpetual, and there is a continuity of policy in its administration that the death of its officers does not break.
4. It possesses the confidence of governments, universities and prominent charities and administers their funds.
5. A number of other advantages which will appear in due course.

The First Nfld. Casualty List.

Twelve months ago to-day the first contingent of the Newfoundland Regiment left by the Florizel for England. This contingent was made up of Companies A and B. Since that time three other companies have been sent across, and the first four companies forming a complete battalion have now been doing duty for a fortnight at the region around Suva Bay on the Gallipoli Peninsula. Company E is at the Newfoundland Depot at Ayr in Scotland, and Companies F and G are now under training here in St. John's. Of those who left three have died of disease in the hospitals, two in Scotland, Privates Chaplin and Brien, and one in Egypt, Private Ebsary. Amongst those who landed in the fighting zone a fortnight ago, six have been wounded. Capt. Walter F. Rendell, the Adjutant of the Regiment, the report about who came from himself at the Blue Sisters Hospital, Malta, Lieut. Rendell, reported a few days later, and reports about four privates, Sheehan, Tibbs and Reggs, received on Saturday afternoon by the Governor from Capt. Thimwell, at the Newfoundland Record Office in London. Fortunately there are no deaths to record on the list of our casualties at the Suva front.

Yesterday, however, a message was received by Mrs. T. A. MacNab, that her brother, 2nd Lieutenant Gordon, who enlisted with the Newfoundland Regiment, while on a holiday here last summer, and who later obtained a commission in the Gordon Highlanders, had been killed in action. He is one of a number of Newfoundlanders, who were members of fighting units other than the Newfoundland Regiment, who have given their lives that their country might triumph over the enemy of civilization. News also comes of the wounding of a young man, Mr. James Grieve, not a Newfoundland, but closely connected with Newfoundland, a nephew of Mr. Walter Baine Grieve, in whose office he worked on Water Street. Being in Scotland when the war broke out, he offered his services and has now been wounded a second time.

Dr. Geisel's Lectures.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Geisel lectured to an audience of women only at the Casino, and at night to a mixed audience taking as her subject: "Diet and its relation to health." The lecture was given by the Governor, and a large gathering was present. Dr. Geisel gave an interesting description of the experiments conducted by Prof. Pawlow, of St. Petersburg, in his work of fighting dyspepsia, of which they are said to be no less than 28 kinds. The experiments were made with dogs, whose stomachs are very much like ours, and went to show that many of the ills arising from improper digestion are preventable. Proper mastication of the food stimulates the flow of the gastric juices so necessary to digestion, while neglect to use the teeth is followed by fermentation in the stomach, and numerous other ills. Next to fresh air, said Dr. Geisel, good digestion is the greatest antidote to Tuberculosis, and figures show that it has helped greatly in many cures. The lecturer condemned the use of mustard, pepper and ginger because they are of no food value, and result in the destruction of the gastric glands. Alcohol in all forms causes gastritis and cancer of the stomach and figures show that 98 per cent of the drunkards treated at Le Grain's clinic in Paris have inflamed stomachs. Intemperance in eating should be avoided, and it is very injurious to finish a meal of several courses with ice-cream. In the matter of taking liquids with food Dr. Geisel says that one cup of hot liquid is sufficient at a meal and that liquid should be sipped. A vote of thanks proposed by His Lordship Bishop Jones, and seconded by Mr. A. McDougall was accorded the lecturer by acclamation.

At yesterday afternoon's lecture which was for men only the subject of the address was "Alcohol." His Lordship Bishop Jones presided, and with him on the platform were Revs. Dr. Jones, Dr. Curtis, J. Brinton, Hon. D. Morrison, A. B. Morine, M. H. A. W. F. Coaker, M. H. A., W. J. Ellis, W. White and H. J. Crowe. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity with a representative gathering of citizens, and the lecture was followed with the closest interest throughout. In eloquent language Dr. Geisel showed how the organs of the body are injured by alcohol even when taken moderately, and illustrated her remarks with charts. She dwelt at length upon the effects of alcohol on the physical and mental system and emphasized the fact that consequent evils are transmitted by parents to their offspring. In conclusion she made a strong plea for the removal of alcohol from our midst, particularly because sturdy men and women are needed to maintain and continue the race which will suffer severely by the loss of so much of the best brain and muscle in the present great war. At the close a vote of thanks proposed by Rev. Dr. Curtis and seconded by Rev. Dr. Jones was accorded to Dr. Geisel by acclamation.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock Dr. Geisel lectured on "Self Poison" and at night at 8.30 on "That Blot on the Brain."

MAN MISSING.—A man named Edward Coleman left his home on Field Street Saturday morning last and has not been heard of since. His absence has been reported to the police who are now making enquiries for his whereabouts. There is a theory that he left here on a steamer. Coleman has a wife and several children.

"They Also Serve"

When the war broke out in 1914 and volunteers were asked for here, no one responded more readily than Frank Watts, a smart young chap of the city, and prominent in the Highland Brigade. He went over with the First Contingent, every inch a fine good-humoured, jolly young soldier. He enjoyed the drilling on the other side, and no one looked forward more than he for the time to "move on," but alas, in the exaction which took place before sailing for Egypt, it was found that an old trouble in his side needed another operation before the doctors would pass him. Those who know him can realize what poignant disappointment was his in not proceeding with his friends. He is with F Company now at Ayr, still eager to "do his bit," and his many friends will be glad when he is fully well again. His mother, a resident in the East End, has also given, we believe, two other sons for the King's service.

The Christian Doctrine Society.

The annual meeting of the Christian Doctrine Society of St. Patrick's took place after last Mass yesterday. The election of officers for the ensuing year was conducted by Mr. A. W. O'Reilly, and resulted in the return of the old board as follows:—
President—J. P. Flynn.
Vice-Pres.—J. Scully.
Asst. V. P.—P. Murphy.
Treasurer—F. J. Callahan.
Secretary—D. Scully.

The reports submitted from the various departments showed the society to be in a flourishing condition the number of members having increased substantially during the past year.

Miss Carberry's Remains Arrive

There arrived here from the Old Country by the S. S. Durango Saturday night the mortal remains of Miss Carberry, who was a passenger on board the ill-fated liner Hesperian and who died as the result of shock. The corpse, which was embalmed and enclosed in a handsome casket, was taken to the residence of her nephew, Dr. Scully, Duckworth Street, followed by a large number of mourners. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning to the train. Interment will be at Harbor Grace.

Our Volunteers.

On Saturday the following young men enlisted, bringing the total number of enrolments up to 2353:—
Lawrence Hickey, St. John's.
Alfred Walsh, St. John's.
John Kane, St. John's.
Jno. Jos. Rogers, St. John's.
Samuel Bishop, Kelligrews.
Wm. Saunders, Long Pond, C. B.
During the day G Company was for a tramp countrywards.

S. S. Durango From Liverpool

The Furness Liner Durango, 9 days from Liverpool, reached port Saturday night. Favourable weather was experienced during the trip. She brought 256 packages of mail matter and these passengers: Jos. Flett, R. Grant, A. Smallwood and Pte. J. Reid. She also brought 1500 tons of cargo, which is principally autumn goods for our large business houses. The Durango sails again for Halifax to-morrow evening.

Bad Weather Interrupts Eishery.

By the Fortia we learn that fishing operations on the South West Coast has been practically suspended for the past fortnight, owing to adverse weather. The smaller bankers which are "fishing up" on the St. Mary's and Cape Pine grounds could not do any fishing of late and every day had to run for shelter out of the storms that raged.

Presentation.

On Saturday last the volunteers who recently returned from the northward where they had been doing special service, presented Chief Instructor O'Grady with a handsome silver cigarette case and fountain pen as an appreciation of his interest in them while on service. The presentation was made by Sergt. R. B. Murrell on behalf of the men, and Instructor O'Grady made a very pleasing speech in reply.

Church Parade.

The volunteers of G Company held their regular Church parade yesterday, attending Divine Service at the R. C. Cathedral, St. Thomas's and Wesley Church, respectively. The Company turned out in full strength and presented a fine appearance as they marched through the city headed by the pipers of the Newfoundland Highlanders.

Portia Returns.

The S. S. Portia, Capt. J. Kean, arrived back from the westward yesterday morning, bringing the following passengers in saloon:—
Messrs. W. Moulton, C. Way, R. B. Crocker, J. J. Dobbin, Messdames Street, Nolan, Misses O'Brien, E. English, L. Cross, M. Street in saloon and 15 in second class.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Big Blaze Yesterday.

At noon yesterday an alarm of fire summoned the Central and Western Companies to the rear of Parker & Monroe's West End Shoe Store where a considerable blaze was in progress. The firemen were on the scene promptly and after applying two streams of water soon had the blaze under control, but not before a large quantity of the stock had been destroyed and the building was badly burned and several cases of boots were totally destroyed, while a large quantity of boots and shoes of various kinds have been so damaged as to be unfit for sale. The extent of the damage is not yet known, but it is estimated that the loss will exceed $10,000, which we understand is covered by insurance. The exact origin of the fire is not known, but it is supposed to have been caused by the dropping of a lighted match near some wood which had been saturated with kerosene oil from a leaky package.

Supreme Court.

Court met at 11 a.m. to-day pursuant to adjournment. Present the Full Bench.
Mary Ann Chafe et al vs. Job Bros. & Co.—The motion is further adjourned till Wednesday next at 11 a.m.
J. H. Baggis vs. O. C. Gould.—The further hearing of this case was adjourned till to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.
Court adjourns until 11 a.m. to-morrow.

McMurdo's Store News

MONDAY, Oct. 4, 15.
Most self shavers set great store on a Shaving Soap which is bland and mild, and which does not irritate the skin of the face and neck. This applies particularly to the autumn months and those of winter. Well, we believe Excelsis is the mildest Shaving Soap made. And it is a well dried Soap that will not waste, but will last a very long time. Price 35c. a stick.
We have just opened a new stock of Dr. Chase's Medicines—Nerve Food, Kidney-Liver Pills, Linseed and Turpentine, and Ointment; and we also announce the receipt of Mr. Allenbury's Food, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Undesirables Cause Fire.

Undesirables are commonly called good-for-nothings, who are in the habit of loitering along the water front, are alleged to be the cause of yesterday's fire, which did so much damage to Parker & Monroe's store. It was well the blaze was discovered as soon, otherwise the results might have been more serious. The police are now looking for the "weary wiles" who were seen around that part of the city yesterday morning. Evidently they dropped a lighted match and ignited a cask of kerosene oil.

Amusements.

TO-DAY AT THE CRESCENT.
To-day the Crescent Picture Palace presents a first class picture programme specially selected for the patrons of the popular theatre. "Her Fitter Lesson" is a modern society drama produced in two acts by the Kaleid Company and featuring Alice Hamilton. A fine Viagara feature is entitled "The Apple" with Dorothy Kelly and James Morrison. "Out of Storm" is a thrilling mining drama, and a gala of fun is produced in "Love Oil and Grease," a lively comedy with Lloyd V. Hamilton. A classy selection of music accompanies this fine show.
On Wednesday a superb picturization of Browning's celebrated poem: "The Ring and the Book" will be shown.

CHARMING PICTURES AT NICKEL TO-DAY.

A great modern problem play, "The Trey O' Hearts," will be presented at the Nickel Theatre to-day. The exciting adventures of a young chieftain are told in fifteen episodes. "The Chinese Lottery" is a beautiful melo-drama admirably staged by the Reliance Company. It is an exceptionally attractive story and had wonderful success in New York recently when it was first released there. "Mabel and Fatty in Trouble" is the comedy, and a very funny one it is. The Harmony Boys, Messrs. Huskins and Cairns, will be heard in a couple of most attractive songs. All patrons of the Nickel should make an effort to attend to-day's show. The Nickel is noted for the best music, effects, singing and pictures, and to-day's bill is in keeping with those of the past. Wednesday the "Million Dollar Mystery."

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle sails from Placentia for the Westward this afternoon.
The Clyde left Lewisporte at 9.40 a.m. to-day.
The Dundee left Port Blandford at 9.10 a.m. to-day.
The Kyle leaves Port aux Basques for North Sydney to-night.
The Mistle left Port aux Basques at 2 p.m. to-day.
The Erik is supposed to be at Emily Harbor.
The Sagona has not been reported to-day.
The Glencoe left Port aux Basques at 9.20 a.m. to-day, coming east.
The Home left Port aux Basques at 8.45 a.m. to-day, going north.

FOGOTA BACK.—The s.s. Fogota, Capt. Dalton, arrived in port from the Foggo mail service at 8 a.m. yesterday, bringing a small freight and the following passengers in saloon:—W. Bemister, B. House, William Tulk, W. Perry, N. Walsh, B. Abbott, A. Thistle, Mrs. S. Abbott and child, Misses A. Knes, S. Kean, E. Burt and 22 second class.

ALEXANDER SELKIRK placed up on a desert island 1704. A Scottish mariner who having quarrelled with his captain on one of his voyages, was turned adrift as a punishment on the Island of Juan Fernandez, where he remained alone for five years, when he was taken off by another vessel. His story gave Daniel Defoe the idea for his famous book "Robinson Crusoe."

Killed in Action.

Lieut. Gilbert Gordon, who left here a year ago to-day with our first contingent in the transport Florizel, has been officially reported killed in action. His sister, Mrs. T. A. MacNab, received the following message yesterday from the War Office London: "Deeply regret to inform you that 2nd Lieut. Gordon, of the Gordon Highlanders, was killed in action. Lord Kitchener expresses his sympathy." Deceased was the elder son of the late James Gordon, of Baird, Gordon & Co., and was a practising Barrister in Edinburgh, before the war broke out. Last summer he was on a visit to St. John's when he showed his loyalty and patriotism by enlisting with our regiment. With "Ours" he was a corporal, but after reaching Salisbury Plains he was made a second lieutenant in the 8th Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders with whom he went to the Western front. Lieut. Gordon has a brother Lieut. Victor Gordon, who is with the 9th Royal Scots in the Dardanelles. Lieut. Victor was well known here having been in the Bank of Montreal for several years.

THE KING AND KITCHENER CONGRATULATE BRITISH FORCES ON THEIR SUCCESS.

British Headquarters in France, October 3. The following special orders of the day have been issued by Field Marshal Sir John French. The Field Marshal Commander-in-Chief has received the following message from the King, dated 29th of September, 1915. "I heartily congratulate you and all ranks of my army under your command, upon the success which attended their gallant efforts since the commencement of the combined attack. I recognize this strenuous and determined fighting is but a prelude of greater deeds and further victories. I trust the sick and wounded are doing well. George R. and I." The following reply has been sent His Majesty: "To His Majesty the King, Buckingham Palace: Your Majesty's forces in France are deeply grateful for your Majesty's most gracious message. There is no sacrifice the troops are not prepared to make to uphold the honor and traditions of Your Majesty's Army and to secure a final and complete victory. J. D. P. French, Field Marshal." The Field Marshal Commander-in-Chief has received the following message from King Edward, dated 27th September, 1915: "Sir John French, General Headquarters: My warmest congratulations to you and all serving under you on the substantial success you have achieved. My best wishes for progress in your important operations. Kitchener."

RUSSIAN ULTIMATUM TO BULGARIA.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The News Agency gives the following note, which the Minister at Sofia has been ordered to hand M. Radoslawoff, Bulgarian Premier: Events which are taking place in Bulgaria at this moment give evidence of a definite decision of King Ferdinand's Government to place the fate of its country in the hands of Germany. The presence of German and Austrian officers on the Minister of War staff, the concentration of troops in the zone bordering on Serbia, the extensive financial support accepted from our enemies by the Sofia Cabinet, no longer leave any doubt as to the Russian military preparations in Bulgaria. The powers of the Entente who have at heart the realization of the aspirations of the Bulgarian people have on many occasions warned M. Radoslawoff that any hostile act against Serbia would be considered as directed against themselves. Assurances given by the head of the Bulgarian Cabinet in reply to these warnings are contradicted by facts. The representative of Russia, which is bound to Bulgaria by the imperishable memory of her liberation from the Turkish yoke, cannot sanction by his presence the preparations for fratricidal aggression against a Slav and allied people. The Russian Minister therefore has received orders to leave Bulgaria with all the staffs of the Legation and Consulates if the Bulgarian Government does not within 24 hours openly break with the enemies of the Slav cause and Russia and does not proceed at once to send away the officers belonging to the armies of the States which are at war with the Powers of the Entente.

ENGLISH & FRENCH WILL LAND AT SALONIKA.

PARIS, To-day. The landing of the Anglo-French expedition at Salonika, preparatory to meeting possible eventualities in the Balkans, is about to take place, according to the usually well informed Temps, which adds that Greece gave her approval last April to the use of this port, although it was not expected then that the present contingency would arise. The Temps also states

F. M. FRENCH'S REPORT OF THE GREAT BATTLE.

High Praise for General Haig, Officers and Men -- British and French Hold What They Captured.

(Special to The Evening Telegram)

11.15 P.M.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS. In France, Oct. 3rd. A special order of the day by Field Marshal Sir John French, says: "We have now reached a definite stage in the great battle which commenced on 25th September. Our Allies in the South have pierced the enemy's last line of entrenchments and effected large captures of prisoners, guns and tents. The French army on our immediate right has been heavily opposed, but has brilliantly succeeded in securing the important position known as the Vimy Ridge. The operations of the British forces have been most successful and have had great and important results. On the 25th the First and Fourth corps attacked and carried the enemy's first and most powerful line of entrenchments, extending from our right flank at Greney to a point North of Hohentoller Redoubt, distance six thousand yards. This position was exceptionally strong consisting of a double line which included some large redoubts, a net work of trenches, bomb proof shelters and dugouts constructed at short intervals, all along the line, some of them being large caves thirty feet below the ground. The 3rd Cavalry divisions, subsequently thrown into fight, and finally the 28th division, after vicissitudes attendant upon every great fight, the enemy's line at the second posts were taken and the commanding position known as Hill 70, in advance of Loos, finally captured. A strong line was established and consolidated in close proximity to the German 3rd last line. The

that the Quadruple Powers have notified Greece that their joint proposals, recently submitted to Bulgaria, have been withdrawn. These proposals dealt the concessions Serbia was willing to make in Macedonia. Bulgaria was asked if these concessions would assure her co-operation with the other Balkan States. Without replying, the Temps says, Bulgaria mobilized and the Allies now withdraw the proffered concessions of Macedonian territory.

PRUSSIAN CASUALTIES. AMSTERDAM, via London, To-day. The Prussian casualty lists No. 330, to 339, covering a period from September 17 to September 23, gives the names of 63,468 killed, wounded and missing, according to the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant of Rotterdam. The Courant says these figures increase the total of Prussian casualties to 1,916,148.

Footballers Aren't Slacking.

Professionals Who Are Playing the Great Game Against Germany.

Footballers generally have responded splendidly to the call of Empire. It is impossible to give the exact numbers now serving either as soldiers or in making munitions, because they are so scattered among so many regiments; and owing to the shortage in the Football Association staff no official record has been kept. Many slurs have been cast upon the patriotism of professional players. In the first place their numbers have been greatly exaggerated by opponents of the sport to serve their own ends. Let us see if the slurs are justified.

The exact number of registered professional footballers is 4,800. Most people have been led to believe there are many more; but this figure may be taken as correct. Only 2,000 of these rely solely on football for a living; the remainder are, of course, professionals, but football is only used as a means to supplement their incomes. And of the 2,000 wholly professional players two-thirds are married men, most of them with children.

More Than Three-quarters Enlisted. Yet more than three-quarters of the total professionals have either enlisted or are doing Government work. A good proportion of the three-quarters of a million amateur players the F. A. controls are also serving their country.

At present there is no footballers' roll of honour. Few professionals have distinguished themselves in the war, for the simple reason they have not had the chance. Most of them have joined one of the two Footballers' Battalions, and neither of these has yet gone out. When their chance comes they will not be found wanting. To single out at random a few exceptionally well-known players who have enlisted, without being unjust to the hundreds of others, one may mention, by way of encouragement, Vivian Woodward, who is a lieutenant in the 1st Footballers' Battalion; Frank Buckley, of Aston Villa fame, has done even better, and has risen to be a captain; Evelyn Lintott, of Leeds City, started in the ranks, and is now a full lieutenant; and Walden, of Bradford City, another famous player who has gained his commission.

Nearly all "Doing Their Bit." Many people are deceived by the looks of a professional footballer, and wonder why he does not enlist. He may appear to be a fine specimen of athletic manhood, but probably he has an internal injury, a weak knee, or ankle, or is suffering from a weak joint, which the strain of military training would injure beyond cure. To be a soldier on active service is much more searching than to be a football player.

But even most of the footballers who suffer in this way are doing their bit in the making of guns and ammunition, or helping their country in other ways.

TAKEN NEAR THE SPRING.—In Mr. Michael Summers window is a photo of the officers of the Nfld. Regiment, taken when sitting under the Sphinx near the Great Pyramid in Egypt. It was received to-day.

MESOPOTAMIA.—At the Grenfell Hall last night, Mr. W. H. Jones lectured to a crowded audience on "Mesopotamia." The lecture was illustrated with beautiful lantern slides. Miss Taylor rendered a pleasing solo.

TRIED THIS AFTERNOON.—The two men Hanlon and Volsey, who have been held at the Penitentiary for the past fortnight on a very serious charge, will come up for trial in the magistrate's court this afternoon. Other arrests are going to be made. They are said to be a civil servant, a Water Street salesman and a theatrical man.

TRAINING PROFITABLE.—As an evidence of how profitable and beneficial to the health of our volunteers the training is, about 100 members of G Company, each gained from 10 to 15 pounds avoirdupois within the past couple of months, and one man in particular put on 32 lbs. In consequence the men grew out of their uniforms and to-day were measured at the Nfld. Clothing Factory for new ones.

FISHERMAN DROWNED.—A message received in the city on Saturday afternoon last, states that George Strickland, of Harbor Breton, had been drowned from the Lunenburg fishing vessel Marjorie E. Bachman. No particulars as to how the drowning occurred have yet been received. The deceased young man was 22 years of age and unmarried. He has a sister, Miss Hettie Strickland, residing with Mrs. W. H. Crowley who informs us that it is presumed from the tenor of the message, that the young man's body has been recovered and will be sent to Hr. Breton for interment.

Household Notes.

Egg shampoo is said to destroy dandruff in the hair.

It is not too early to begin planning for Christmas giving.

Grape vines should be severely pruned in February or March.

A casserole dish is an excellent vessel in which to bake beans.

A hinged shelf is a great comfort to the housekeeper in the kitchen.

Washing soda should not be used on china, as it will take off the gilt.

Marketing should be done in person—there is no exception to this rule.

Do not wash colored clothes in very hot water or leave them wet very long.

There is nothing better to put in with earth for flowers than wood ashes.

Peas are the only vegetable that can be planted out-of-doors as early as March.

If you are fond of birds, make little homes for them in your lawn and garden.

The points of economy in clothing are careful buying, mending and laundering.

Scale biscuits can be freshened if placed in a moderately hot oven for a few minutes.

Gravies served with all meats will serve in place of butter on bread and potatoes.

Even the old chicken will roast well if it is stuffed and then parboiled before roasting.

Duttering bread or cracker on which cheese is to be toasted improves the flavor.

Lime should be applied to soil after ploughing and mixed into the soil with the harrow.

The addition of a little sugar to the water in which turnips are cooked will improve the flavor.

If you have even a small back yard, you will save money in buying poultry for table use alive.

The washing should be brought in as soon as dry, as clothes whip to pieces or rot in the sun.

It is a great mistake to fill the dishes on the invalid's tray too full. Also do not crowd the tray.

Putting a coat of varnish on the linoleum yearly will make it last for years and look bright and new.

A little syrup added to the baked beans will improve their flavor. Add it when they have finished baking.

Brittle finger nails indicate a lack of oil; eat more olive oil and butter, and rub vaseline every night on the nails.

AS THE CAMEL

is indispensable to the traveller crossing the African deserts, so also is SUNLIGHT SOAP indispensable to a careful housewife. A Camel can go for several days without drinking, but a good housewife cannot afford to let a single day pass without putting SUNLIGHT SOAP to some use. The first duty of every housewife is to economise; the duty of

is to help the housewife to economise. The daily use of SUNLIGHT SOAP is practical economy. It does the most washing in the shortest time, with least labour, and with no discomfort. Use a piece in your next wash, and you will be convinced as to its value.

One Pair of Hands is enough.

If you give your Cook a Gas Cooker she can always cook her best and need never keep you waiting because she has nothing else to do but cook. She has no troublesome coal fire to look after, but can get the exact heat she wants for every dish by merely turning a tap—and she can cook several dishes (each requiring a different degree of heat) at the same time. The Gas Cooker needs no preparation, makes no cleaning work, and is turned out as soon as it is finished with and therefore burns no unnecessary fuel. By using a Gas Water-Heater in addition to the Gas Cooker hot water is supplied for all household purposes with the greatest promptitude, and the use of coal in the kitchen can be done away with altogether. Where Gas Appliances are used in the kitchen the cook will always find that "one pair of hands is enough."

These Children Have No Summer Vacation.

THEY PREFER TO GO TO SCHOOL.

In the large and energetic city of Newark, in the state of New Jersey, the educational authorities are permitting several thousand boys and girls to go to school all the year round. These children have no "summer vacation." From the time when they enter grade one to the time when they leave grade eight, they may go to school through all four seasons of the year, without any of the "long loaf" which is brought to boyhood and girlhood at large by the good old summertime—a time which has been regarded as good and old principally because of its do-nothing days.

It is a violent experiment; but it is highly commended by many educators, and it is likely to be initiated in many other cities. Its history, therefore, and its results are important to the whole country.

It began in 1912. Two schools were selected in the spring of that year for all-summer work. One of these schools was in a district populated largely by Italians. The other was in a district populated largely by Jews. In each case the families concerned were likely to want their children to get as much schooling as possible before having to do real work in shop and factory and office.

The school year in these schools was divided up in a new way. It was made to contain four vacations of one week each and four working-periods of twelve weeks each. This gave a total of forty-eight working weeks in the year. The regular schools had only forty. It will be seen accordingly that the "long loaf" was totally destroyed and that eight weeks were added to the children's annual total at their desks.

And what were the results? In the first place, the new scheme seems to be liked by the children themselves. Attendance is not compulsory. Yet last summer there were some 3,000 children enrolled in the summer sessions of the two all-year schools.

But were the children being injured, without knowing it, in their health? On this point the testimony of their school physician seem to be very encouraging. He says: "The general health of the pupils has actually been better than if they had not attended school. They have been kept much cleaner, and the school buildings have been considerably cooler than the streets. I think, that, from the standpoint of health attendance at school has been a distinct advantage to them."

In these findings the school physician agrees with the general conclusions which Dr. C. L. Dana of New York has been advancing. Dr. Dana is a nerve specialist. Maintaining that moderate regular mental work is beneficial, he deprecates "the growth of the very harmful superstition common among parents, and by them fostered among agreeable physicians, that children's brains are of such a nature as to call for the paperings of long periods of idleness."

Pains Quit! Back-Soreness Goes Torturous Lumbago Cured by "Nerviline"

This Wonderful Curative Laxative Has "most Magical Powers."

You can compare a congestive pain to a little fire. When congestion smoulders, pain comes and goes. Congestion grows into inflammation, but pain, now intense, grows excruciating, and stays, too. There is an absolute antidote of pain—it is Nerviline. New, to you, perhaps is Nerviline, but known well in many lands as the most penetrating and pain-subduing remedy ever discovered. Not oily or ill-smelling, but pleasant—it rubs on. Not temporary action, but permanent in the control of pain.

Passing from the question of health to the question of mental development, do these all-year pupils do good work when they get to high school? They get there sooner than the pupils from the other grammar schools. Do they acquit themselves as well? It seems that they do. An inquiry has been made about it; and the official report says that in high school the graduates of the all-year schools, though younger than the graduates of other schools, have no trouble in keeping up with them in their studies.

This is in harmony with the report of President Lowell of Harvard, in which he stated that the younger students at Harvard are just as successful in their college work as the older ones.

Which brings us to one of the biggest and one of the most dismal facts in ordinary American education. Our regular grammar schools do not do for our children what the regular grammar schools of certain other countries seem to be able to do for theirs. Of late our educators have been saying openly and emphatically that "our children at fourteen are two full years behind children of the same age in England and in France and in Germany in knowledge and in understanding and in power of application."

Being behind at fourteen, they continue to remain behind to the end of their education; and we see young men still at their books, in our professional schools, at the age of 24 and 25. It is a great life-loss and a great money loss.

The two years that can be saved are in the grammar grades. The all-year schools in Newark save them. The all-year schools in Newark do in six years what the regular schools do in eight.

And it is rather curious that they should be able to do this. The total number of working-weeks in their six years is only 238. The total number of working-weeks in the eight years of the regular schools is 320. That is a difference of 82. The boy who goes to the all-year school does 82 weeks less of studying during his grammar-school life than the boy who goes to the regular school. Yet the two boys accomplish the same amount of work.

The explanation is found in the fact that the work in the all-year school is so continuous that much less time has to be given to "reviews" and to "reorganizations" and to putting back into children's minds the things they have forgotten during vacations.

And what does this plan mean to the tax-payer? Does it add to his burdens? Quite to the contrary. The school-plant is there. The faster you put the children through it, the more room will you have in it for more children. The day of enlarging your plant is postponed. And there are other savings, too, all based on the business proposition that if you work your plant continuously you can turn out your product at a lower cost per unit than if you work it only part-time.

In the three years of 1912, 1913 and 1914 the savings to the taxpayers of Newark through the new method at their two all-year schools was $17,000. We have reported the facts. We are not educational experts, and we have no professional opinion about them. We note, however, that the all-year school idea has the support of the United States Commissioner of Education, Mr. Philander P. Claxton. And we note the fact that this summer Newark has opened two additional all-year schools and that it now has a total of 4,615 children submitting voluntarily to this crime against the good old summer time.—Everybody's Magazine for September.

Because of Our Navy.

The Navy;—Why has Germany's blockade so lamentably failed? The answer is, "Because of Our Navy." The Navy, and again the Navy. And by the Navy here is meant not only His Majesty's premier service, but also our magnificent Mercantile Marine, who face "various kinds of death" with typical unconcern. All the evils that Germany prophesied would fall upon us have been averted, not because a specially organized Service met the new needs, but simply because Britain held and has maintained the command of the Sea. After this War, one would imagine, Little Navyites would cease to exist. And yet such a strange mentality has a certain well-defined section of Englishmen, that probably the cry of "Economise" will again be heard when Naval Estimates are voted. Be this as it may, the lesson of the value of sea-power has been written in letters of fire for our children and children's children to read. Never again, whatever happens, must the Navy be allowed to decay, for it is by her Sea Power alone that Britain has been enabled to face the deadly peril that environs her.

How the Russian Army Was Betrayed by Traitor.

A sensational espionage affair in Russia is described by the special correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle in Paris.

Hitherto all that has been announced is the hanging for high treason of Lieutenant Colonel Miassaiedoff and a large number of his accomplices and the sentencing to hard labor of Baron Grothus and von Frient.

The chief conspirator (says the Chronicle correspondent) was Lieutenant Colonel Ivanoff Miassaiedoff. For a long period he had had a high position in the gendarmerie, and as such was an important personage. He was a man of exceptional brilliancy; he spoke English, French and German as if they were his native languages.

Up to the outbreak of the war it had been his special duty to watch over the personal safety of the Czar. He then asked to be attached to the general military headquarters, urging that a constant surveillance was necessary for the protection of the Grand Duke Nicholas. The Czar granted the request and transferred this high police official, ordinarily attached to his own person, to the Commander-in-Chief.

Making War "a Mere Game."

A dramatic story is told of the discovery of the treason. After the fighting on the Yser certain memoranda were found on the body of a Bavarian officer.

There were phrases that indicated the presence of a spy in the very heart of the Allied General Staffs, such as "We have been victorious, thanks to our wonderful system of information," or "Our marvelous informant has greatly facilitated our task. With him the war becomes a mere game."

These notes were sent to French Headquarters. General Pau at that time was just setting out on his visit to Russia. He was told to acquaint the Grand Duke with his discovery.

"You tell me nothing that I did not know before," said the Russian Commander-in-Chief. "I am fully aware that we were being betrayed; but by whom? That is what we have to find out."

Thereupon a "fake" military order was drawn up. Care was taken that it should be communicated only to a small group of people who were already suspected. The expected result happened. Germany at once showed a "knowledge of the order and took military action in consequence.

The spies had fallen into the trap. It only remained to put the suspects under rigorous cross-examination. Lieutenant Colonel Miassaiedoff was among them. His only thought was for his own skin, and he volunteered to make certain revelations if only the Grand Duke would spare his life.

No promise was made; but, under pressure, he admitted his guilt and betrayed the names of his accomplices.

In the Pay of Germany.

For ten years he had been in the pay of Germany. He had kept Berlin informed of everything that was happening or about to happen in Russia. The traitor's pay corresponded to the value of his treason, and amounted over the whole period to some millions of roubles, of which a very small fraction went to his subordinate agents. It is said (though this does not appear in his confession) that Miassaiedoff held back an order that should have reached General Rennenkampf for twenty-four hours; and by so doing saved the German armies from what seemed like inevitable disaster. The brothers Frieberg and the brothers Salzmann, who were hanged with Miassaiedoff, were occupied in the emigration traffic to Germany and America. Some time ago their behaviour brought them under suspicion of the police, but Miassaiedoff exerted his influence and saved them from prosecution.

Baron Grothus and von Frient were high officials in the notorious Political Police.

Fat Without Fear of Indigestion or Sour, Acid Stomach

Instant relief! "Pape's Diapepsin" ends your stomach trouble forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"I am invited to a home wedding in another city. It is impossible for me to attend and I am not going to send a gift. Is it necessary to reply and if cards should be sent, how many, to whom and when?" asked Jack.

"You should send two of your cards to the bride's parents so they will receive them the day of the wedding," replied his cultured aunt.
