BAKER'S COCOA TO DRINK

The almost unceasing activity with which children work off their surplus energy makes good and nutritious food a continual necessity. Of all the food drinks Baker's Cocoa is the most perfect, supplying as it does much valuable material for the upbuilding of their growing bodies. Just as good for older people. It is delicious, too, of fine flavor and aroma.

CHAPTER XLIV.
"Let me go . . . let me go . . . I never meant you to find me—I don't want you any more—I never meant to come back . . . oh, I don't want you any more!"
Philip raised his arms from her waist till they were clasped about her shoulders. He tried to draw her down to him, but she resisted him fiercely. She flung her head back as far as she could from his reach. She held him off with her hands against his chest.
"I don't want you—I don't want you . . . let me go."
Philip bent his head and kissed the hands that held him from her.
"I love you—I adore you," he said incoherently. "I'll never let you go again. I can't live without you—believe me! You must believe me."
"No . . . no"—she was half fainting; her eyes were wild—"You told me that before, and it wasn't true . . . and now I don't care—I don't care. You've hurt me so much—you can't hurt me any more . . . Philip, Philip, let me go . . ."
"Not till you forgive me—I've been a brute, but it was because I love you so much. Last night—you drove me half mad. I thought it was Calligan you cared for . . . I thought—oh, forgive me for what I thought! Forgive me, and try to care for me—just a little."
She stopped struggling. She sat

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.
If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:
Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seelye's Bay, Ont., writes:
"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

quite still, a queer, mocking light in her eyes.
"A little!" she gave a hard laugh. "I cared for you more than that once—I cared for you so much . . . so much . . ." The words died away on a sobbing sigh. "But it's all gone now; all gone—I only want to be left alone—to try and forget that I ever knew you. Oh, let me go; your arms hurt me . . ."
Philip released her at once and rose to his feet.
He made no attempt to follow her when she moved away from him. She was as white as death, but now her voice was almost steady as she spoke.
"I meant to go away with Mr. Calligan last night. I may as well tell you, so that you can think the very worst of me once and for all . . ."
She made a little gesture of defiance. "I went to his flat, and I walked up and down—up and down . . . oh, for hours I should think! Once I almost rang the bell . . ." She laughed confusedly. "I don't know why I didn't . . . I suppose perhaps—because in spite of what you all think of me, I suppose I was never really meant to be that sort of woman . . ."
"Eva—for God's sake . . ."
But she went on heedlessly, her eyes blazing.
"He would have been kind to me, anyway—he didn't hate to be with me, and try to find excuses to get away from me. He is the only one in all the world who really cares what becomes of me." Her face twisted into a spasm of pain. "Peter—even Peter told me yesterday that he was ashamed of me . . ." She wrung her hands in anguish. "And you . . ."
She turned her eyes to her husband's face.
"I love you—I have always loved you," Philip said hoarsely. "You never cared for me, I know that, but it hasn't made any difference; I'd give my life for you this minute if you'd just love me for a day, for an hour."
Eva shivered a little, looking away from him. "It's too late—now—anyway," she said with a sort of hopeless monotony. "I don't want you now . . . you're going away, and . . ."
"I'm not going—I'm never going to leave you again! Last night is nothing Calligan is nothing. Nothing, you can ever do will make me love you less. It's all been my fault. Come back to me and I'll make you forget the past—I'll make you love me—we'll start all over again."
"No—no."
His face quivered a little.
"I'll do anything you wish—I'll give my life to make you happy, but I can't live without you. You've got to believe me—you've got to come back. You don't know how—how decent I can be if I try."
The words were hopelessly inadequate, and he realised it with despair. He took a step towards her, and she backed away from him to the door.
"I don't want you. Why did you follow me? I never meant to see you again."
There was a little silence.

The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER II.
The three years that followed his marriage were perhaps the most brilliant of Martin Ray's life. The worship and adoration of his young wife stimulated him. He positively began to believe himself what she imagined him to be. He began to think of himself as a true philanthropist, one born to help the people—as a man chosen by all England to represent the wants, the wrongs, and the wishes of the working-classes. He began to imagine that the divine mantle of genius had fallen on him, that he was chosen by Providence to be a leader among men, and he was stimulated to greater, grander action. His name became almost a power in the land.
It broke the old lawyer's heart every time that he opened a newspaper to read such words as "Riot in Liverpool," "Seditious Movement in Manchester," "Growth of Disloyalty among the Lower classes," "Disaffection at Hull;" then at times he would see a paragraph calling attention to Martin Ray—to his fiery eloquence, to his wonderful influence over the masses. The old lawyer would clench his hand as he read. This stirring-up of sedition, this man who was like a firebrand, who moved as a scorching flame over the fair, green, loyal land, this man who openly preached rebellion, spoliation, and treason—this man had taken his bright young daughter from him, and left him in anguish and sorrow. He said nothing; but slowly and surely it broke his heart.
One morning when he opened his newspaper he saw a long account of a grand political meeting in London, and the event of the day was the speech of Martin Ray. No one had heard its equal for burning eloquence, for Utopian ideas, for schemes and plans which were utterly unfeasible. It was a speech that made a loyal man long to see the one who gave utterance to it punished for it. Amos Hatton read it. Bitterness, anger, and regret filled his heart; he suffered terribly. His emotion brought on a fit, and when his clerk went into the office he found him with his head on the table. The doctor who was hastily summoned said that he had been dead for an hour.
He was generally regretted, and many people wondered if the hapless daughter would attend her father's funeral. She did not. Martin Ray would not allow it.
"He discarded you in life," he said, "you shall not return to him in death."
The news of his decease was sent to India, where his son Arthur grieved heartily for him. According to his will, everything that he possessed—house, furniture, pictures, plate, business, railway-shares, mining-shares—was sold, and the money was sent to his son.
Arthur took it, and doubled it in a few years. He thought of his little sister Doris with something like remorse, but made up his mind that when he returned to England he would seek her out, and at least share the money with her.
So Amos Hatton was buried and in due time forgotten. Doris mourned long and deeply for him. The time of his disenchantment had not yet arrived. She still believed in her husband as a great hero and an excellent man. None of her illusions had been dispelled, and her happiness had been crowned by the birth of two little daughters—beautiful children, the eldest of whom she had named Leah, and the second Hettie. She was wonderfully happy, this sweet, gentle Doris, who thought no husband and no children equal to her own. Cut off from all her former associations and friends, thrown entirely on her husband for society, no wonder that her life narrowed and her world became centered in him.
Some wives live and die without either seeing their husband's faults or discerning their weaknesses. It was not so with Doris. The fact that she had been once blinded seemed to make her more clear-sighted afterward.

Red Flag Flying Over Johannesburg.

Strikers Take Charge of City—Lloyd George Said to Have Resigned—Crisis in Indian Affairs—"Eileen Lake" Abandoned by Crew.

CRISIS SITUATION IN JOHANNESBURG.

LONDON, March 10. The situation in Johannesburg is most alarming. Reuters correspondents state. Strikers hoisted the red flag on the Town Hall to-day and to close every business by force. Hundreds of strikers are out in mob bodies and the police are stationed at vantage points. Mob law is in East and West Rand and many activities are impossible in Johannesburg. Several more natives died as a result of recent attacks by Commandoes. Twenty-seven were seriously wounded, chiefly from shots by shot guns, two were shot dead and five died as result of being at Primrose Mine alone. Commandoes are permitted by police to roam the streets with blinding goggles and carrying all kinds of weapons. Premier Smuts has denounced the outrages whether by whites or blacks and promised strong measures to suppress the hoodlum element.

Lloyd George has virtually resigned the Premiership for Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, who has the Premier's resignation in his pocket with power to use it when a suitable opportunity presents itself. The Premier has expressed the desire, the Review says, that the Irish bill should become law before the country is made acquainted with his decision. He will then advise His Majesty to send for Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Arthur Balfour having expressed his unwillingness to form an Administration.

DERBY TO SUCCEED MONTAGUE.

LONDON, March 10. The Earl of Derby, former Secretary of War, has been offered the Secretaryship for India in succession to Edwin S. Montague, according to reports in the Parliament lobbies to-day.

READING MAY GO ALSO.

LONDON, March 10. The removal of Lord Reading as Viceroy of India, it is believed in some quarters will be the final denouement to the publication of the Indian Government's note. There is nothing tangible on which to base this report, but it is not improbable.

as the sequel to the virtual dismissal of Edwin S. Montague as Secretary for India. The probable effect in India of Mr. Montague's resignation is the subject of most anxious curiosity, and there are some misgivings lest the removal of the champion of political reform in India may have a dangerous repercussion there. Equally momentous from the domestic political point of view is the effect the whole affair may have on the fortunes of the Government, especially as to the position of Premier Lloyd George. Some believe that the chances that the Premier will make good his threatened resignation have considerably increased, and that if he takes the view that American abstention from the Genoa Conference lessens the prospect of success there, the country may soon learn of his definite retirement. Talk is mostly centering about the Duke of Devonshire, former Governor General of Canada, as successor to Secretary Montague. The Duke is Conservative and should be chosen if it would make the third replacement of a Liberal minister by a Conservative within ten days, his would give the Cabinet an emphatically Conservative complexion.

OPTIMIST'S CREW AT ST. JOHN.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 10. The shipwrecked crew of the three masted schooner Optimist, of Newfoundland, arrived here to-day on the steamer Corsican. Captain John Evans said that on the voyage from Spain, sail laden, in January day after day of storm was encountered. The vessel's sails and rudder were lost and she leaked badly. On January 26 a big sea washed the lifeboats. The steamer City of Naples came up but the weather was so stormy and cold that nothing could be done. She left informing the Optimist that another steamer was rushing to their assistance. On the 28th the schooner was completely waterlogged when the steamer Ampetico arrived on the scene. The crew were taken off and landed at Antwerp. They are en route home now.

CREW'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 10. Tossed about on the Atlantic, suffering tortures from cold, hunger, thirst and fatigue for eighty hours during a terrific storm, and with death momentarily staring them in the face, was the experience of the crew of the two hundred ton schooner Eileen Lake, which sprang a leak below the water line off the Newfoundland coast on January 19. George Forsey, Cook, died from exposure during the experience and was buried at sea. This was the story told by the Captain and crew of the vessel on arrival here to-day on the steamer Corsican en route to their homes in Newfoundland. The Eileen Lake was abandoned on the afternoon of January 19. Eighty hours afterwards at night the Belgian steamer Persier was sighted. One of the crew filled a canvas bucket with kerosene, tore off part of his coat used it as a torch. The wind extinguished the light and the men found they had only one match left. With infinite precaution under the shelter of a sail they struck this to make a flare and fired their last cartridge. This was successful and the steamer picked them up and took them to Antwerp. The crew consisted of captain W. H. Noseworthy, Silas Bladden, mate; George Forsey and George Gordon, Cooks; Thomas Burton and George Duffett seaman.

The Mirrors of Doom.

INSTRUMENTS THAT MEASURE EARTHQUAKES.

If an earthquake takes place at the other side of the world, it writes its own record on the delicate instruments kept in the observatories in this country.

Next morning you will see in the papers that our instruments have recorded an earthquake of great violence which took place in South America. It may be days before news comes through by telegraph from the scene of the upheaval to confirm the instrument's message.

Hundreds of Shocks.

The seismograph, as the earthquake recorder is called, consists of a revolving drum and a tiny mirror. The latter is balanced so delicately that the slightest tremor of the earth's crust will set it dancing. The drum, which is turned by clockwork, is covered with a roll of sensitized photographic paper. The mirror focuses a little point of light, reflecting from a brilliant lamp, on to the paper.

So long as nothing is happening the mirror remains at rest, and as the drum revolves a perfectly straight line is traced on the paper by the point of light. But as soon as a shock occurs the mirror is agitated and the line becomes a zigzag.

A stone thrown into a pond sets up ripples which move outwards in ever-widening circles until they reach the edge. An earthquake produces the same result, except that the ripples are formed in the earth's hard but slightly elastic crust.

Fortunately, serious earthquakes are rare, but hundreds of small shocks take place every day, and seismographs of the most delicate type record them all.

The attractive young woman who had written "Urgent" on her card was shown into the consulting-room of Sir Choppam Fyne, head of the famous hospital in Splintshire.

"And what is the matter with you?" said the great man.

"I wish," she answered, "to become a nurse in this institution."

The surgeon tapped a thoughtful tooth with his lancet.

"First, one question: Have you had any previous experience?"

She dazzled him with a reassuring smile.

"Experience?" she cried. "I should just think so! Two of my brothers play football, another has tried to cross the Channel in an aeroplane of his own make, and father keeps a motor-car!"

Race for Life Over Ice.

A ten-mile dash for safety over a crumpling ice floe by three fishermen ended in a spectacular rescue of the three on Ford Island, February 19. At the same time, three other fishermen were being rescued at Old Mission after an eight-mile ride on an ice cake. The men were at the fishing shanties on Little Traverse Bay this afternoon when the ice began to break up under the force of a strong off-shore wind. Several of the fishermen were able to jump or swim to safety, but the half-dozen were carried out on the floating ice. As this started to break up behind them, the men raced ahead on foot, just managing to keep abreast of the crumpling ice until they reached Ford Island. The drifting ice passes within ten feet of the island. If they had been swept past the solid ground, the men would undoubtedly have perished, as the ice broke up ten minutes afterward.

Pat and the President.

Here is the latest story to reach me from America. President Harding was speaking to his Secretary of State over the telephone and, instructing the latter to inform the Secretary for War that American troops in China must take all that country. In the midst of these instructions, an Irish servant edged to the speaker. "Mister President," said Pat. President Harding stopped short, and, turning to his interrupter, said,

"Well, what is it, Pat?" The Irishman, shaking a warning finger, replied, solemnly, "Mister President, don't be too aisy with them darned deans."

Co-operative Marketing of Commodities.

All On a Profit Sharing Basis.

Address by A. B. Morine Esq. K. C. to The St. John's Rotary Club, Tuesday March 7, 1922.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen.—Your Club is filling a long felt want in this community. Providing a forum for the discussion of important topics is not the least of the boons you confer upon the public. We who are honored with an invitation to speak to you, and through you to the public, are in duty bound to utter no unworthy word, but to give of our best, and with this in mind, I have reduced my message to writing, in order that it may go forth as a considered contribution.

My theme is Co-operative Marketing, on a profit-sharing basis, according to the principles and practices developed and perfected in California, by the California Citrus Fruit Growers, and I shall endeavor to show how they can be applied in this Colony to the marketing of fish, to the great advantage of the community, without undue interference with established conditions, and with special blessing to the fishermen, who are the mainstay of the Colony.

CO-OPERATIVE METHODS IN CALIFORNIA.

In California, fruit growers of a community form an Association. More than one can exist in the same place, expense and convenience being the chief considerations. Any grower can belong. Nobody but growers can be members. When entering, they sign an agreement that during a stated period, they will deliver all their saleable fruit to the Association, but dissatisfied members can withdraw at the end of the period agreed upon. The key-note is voluntary co-operation, and membership contrary to inclination is discouraged. An Association as such has no share capital, and pays no dividends. The members deliver their fruit, and receive the proceeds after sale, less a charge for expenses. Directors are elected by members from amongst themselves, and managers, clerks and laborers are employed by the directors. If capital is needed for salaries, it is borrowed from members, individuals or banks, practically as merchants borrow, and interest is paid. Each Association has a packing house, and to build this it is usual to form a subsidiary company, with share capital, which is subscribed, preferably, by members, in equal amounts, as far as possible, and upon this a restricted rate of interest is paid. The packing house is rented to the Association, and the rental pays the interest on the capital. Members deliver their fruit to the Association, which grades, pools, stores, cures for and prepares it for shipment. The fruit received is "pooled" by the growers at stated intervals, say monthly or oftener, as agreed upon by them, and the identity of each pool is traced until sale, so that each member who has put fruit into a particular pool gets his proportionate share of the price realized at sale. For instance, navel oranges may be turned into a pool by a grower in any month from December to May (both inclusive), or Valencia from June to November (both inclusive), and as these pools are sold, each member who has contributed to them receives his share of the net proceeds. By this method the farmer is a partner until final realization, in the sale of the fruit he has helped to provide, and he is vitally interested all the time in its quality, its care, and its marketing. It is of local interest that I have in my office the annual statement for 1920-21 of the Charter Oak Citrus Association, of which William Bowring (brother of St. Edger) is President, and R. H. Trappell, late our fellow citizen, is a member.

DISTRICT EXCHANGES.

A number of Community Associations, conveniently situated for combined action, appoint delegates from amongst their members to constitute a District Exchange. This acts as a clearing house between the associations and the Central Exchange. It routes all shipments, provides for transportation, makes all sales, receives information from the Central Exchange regarding markets, etc., and transmits it to the associations, and receives and divides the returns from sales in the same way. It is, in short, a device by which sections of the country having kindred problems, not universally the same in all the country, may avoid the evils of too much centralization. I especially want to show you the value of that in this Colony.

THE CENTRAL EXCHANGE.

It is composed of delegates from the District Exchanges. It has a board of directors, one from each district exchange, and works through a general manager. It appoints bonded agents in the markets, through whom all sales are made. It gathers and disseminates information relating to fruit. It handles all claims, collects all payments, remitting to the district exchanges, does all fruit advertising, and is organized into divisions such as sales, legal, traffic, advertising, insurance and mutual protection. The expenses of the Central and District Exchanges are collected from members of the association by levying a rate proportionate to the sales made on their account.

There is a Supply Company, with share capital, subscribed by growers exclusively, in proportion to their produce, and upon which a limited dividend is payable, and this Company sells to growers at a cost barely sufficient to pay expenses and limited dividend. Insurance on packing houses and contents is mutual, by the growers generally.

SEMI-INDUSTRIAL MARKETING. As I have mentioned, the fruit is collected, graded and packed by the Associations, shipped by the District Exchanges, and sold through agents appointed by the Central Exchange. The latter has a trade mark—"Sun-kist", which goes on every box to market, and each association also places on each of its boxes a mark or label of its own, so that each may profit by its own good name. Selling is not speculative. Sales are made to wholesalers in the consuming markets, at daily prices. On one year's business, with 3,000 wholesalers, only $2,500 was lost by the Exchange. The wholesalers made a fair profit. Advertising, to grading, and marketing methods, great benefits are attributable. The following comments are from the last annual report of the General Manager of the California Fruit Exchange: "The distributing 'Growers' Exchange do not necessitate speculation, either on the part of buyers in California or members of the wholesale trade in the country's markets. In fact they tend to discourage it. Members of the wholesale trade are sold their current requirements in the markets 'where the fruits to be consumed at the prevailing daily prices, thus practically eliminating the speculative risk in their local credit requirements. As an evidence of the 'safety' of the credit risk in selling 'daily' by this plan through three thousand wholesale dealers, is the notable fact that, through the financial failure of members of the trade, 'the Exchange lost on the year's business less than $2,500.00. Wholesale and retail buyers of California citrus fruits have generally made a fair profit on their purchases in 1921."

SUPPLIES AND INSURANCE.

DISTRICT EXCHANGES HERE.

Now, as to District Exchanges, it appears to me that they meet an objection which has been made to the centralization of authority in this city under Committees or Boards. The fishermen of the South West Coast, for instance, object to control being exercised from this city, upon the ground that their fish is ready for market earlier than fish from the Eastern coast, but applying the California system to our conditions, there would be District Exchanges on the West Coast as well as on the East, and these Exchanges would route their own fish to market in their chosen time, so that there would be no possibility whatever of any section controlling the shipments from another in its own interests. Take the Burin Peninsula and neighbourhood, as an illustration. Associations could exist at Burin, St. Lawrence, L'Anse-au-Loup and Grand Bank, for instance, and these could constitute a District Exchange, which would control their shipments to markets abroad. Take Bonavista Peninsula as another case in point. Associations could exist at Bonavista, Catalina, Trinity, King's Cove and intervening places, and they could form a District Exchange. Many other such combinations will at once occur to any thinker. Labrador has peculiar difficulties, which might be met by Co-operation. Usually, its fish, rushed to market, sells well at the outset, falls badly in price in mid-season, and recedes at the end of the season. It is a gamble, and stable conditions should be created. The Central Exchange would, under this system, be able to cure still greater difficulties, which various Boards of this city have experienced. While the Codfish Exportation Board existed, various foreign agents were appointed by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, but these appointments were political, and the exporters of fish, in the majority of cases, refused to avail of the agents' services, as they were fairly entitled to do, not having had any voice whatever in the choice of the agents. But the Central Exchange, under the California system, would appoint an agent in each market to handle the fish coming from all the District Exchanges; to collect the money, and to report through the Central Exchange. These agents would not be political appointees, but the appointees of a Central Exchange, and they would be selected for their experience, ability and general fitness.

PRINCIPLES AND METHODS HERE.

Now let me consider for a moment how the methods of the California fruit growers could be applied to conditions in this country. The initial difficulty is that of membership. To be a member of a fruit Association, a man must be a producer; that is, the owner of a fruit farm. His produce is grown on visible property. Fish, the produce of this Colony, is caught in the ocean, where rights are common, and not on visible property of the producers. Our Shore fishermen, for instance, are "producers," but so are the shrimpers on board the vessels. The Shore fishermen, the shrimpers, the planter, the merchant who fits out a fleet are all "producers" of fish, and, therefore, the condition of membership of Community Associations amongst us for the co-operative marketing of fish on a profit-sharing basis, or pool arrangement, should be defined, I think, to include everybody who owns or has control over the ownership of fish, and can deliver it to an Association. In other words, anybody producing fish who would enter into an agreement for a stated period to deliver his fish to an association should be qualified for membership. This would suit our peculiar conditions, and would be a democratic way to admit everybody who wished to enter into the agreement, whether he were fisherman or merchant, and would obviate drastic interference with the fishery business as it exists to-day, except in the matter of cull and marketing. If a fisherman, for instance, preferred to deal with a merchant, selling his fish directly to him, the merchant could belong to an association, and pool his fish. If, on the other hand, the fisherman wished to become a member of an Association, and, in that sense, an exporter, in his own right, he could deliver his fish directly to the Association, later receiving his full share of the profits, whether his delivery amounted to a quintal or a thousand quintals. In this country so many of our fishermen are poor, and living as it were from hand to mouth, that it may be said that the majority of them could not become directly members of an Association but I think that under an arrangement which I shall presently suggest no forehand fisherman need remain out of an Association.

FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS.

It is obvious that the full benefits of co-operation is capable of conferring could be realized under conditions which permitted only merchants to become members of Associations. The constant effort must be to induce every fisherman to join in pooling his fish, and so become an exporter on his own account. The supplying system, seemingly inseparable hitherto from the fishery business of this Colony, presents the chief obstacle to the Co-operation I am advocating, and I propose to meet it in this way. An Association, upon receiving the fish of a member, should be prepared to advance a portion of the estimated value in cash. Merchants buying fish in large quantities borrow money on it from banks, by giving warehouse receipts. Associations could do the same, and so provide cash for its members who desired advances. If fish were worth say $8 per qt. in open market, and banks would advance say $5 per qt., a fisherman with that amount in cash, could buy as much goods as he could get for $3, and when the fish was sold, he would be entitled to receive in cash the amount realized by sale abroad, less only the actual expenses of marketing.

MARKETING OUR FISH.

Two great and acknowledged evils have attended the marketing of our fish abroad "since a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary"—they are (1) Bad culls, and (2) Undue competition.

HOW TO INDUCE GOOD CURE.

I define "good cure" as the cure which is liked best by our customers. As they will pay most for what they like best, and as the whole object of the "fishery" from our standpoint, is first to reduce, and then to eliminate, the waste of fish to market in any but the very best possible condition to please the buyers. Recognition of this principle led recently to the promulgation of Rules and Regulations for the Standardization of Cull. They defined standards of cull, provided that fish purchased by exporters should be culled, and that fish exported, should be inspected, by officially appointed inspectors, and the culling standard, certified to. The Rules did not provide for official cullers between fishermen and merchant. All fish, no matter how bad, was exported, inspection was worse than farcical; it was an expensive nuisance and frequently fraudulent. Fish should go to market under names, brands, or trade-marks indicating quality and origin—there must be defined the hall mark of a shipper proud of the goods, and placing great value on its name. Just as "Sun-kist" self-oranges, a word must be coined to sell Newfoundland fish. Just "Charter Oak" on a box of "Sun-kist" oranges means that they have been graded and packed by the Association of which Mr. William Bowring is President, so "Burrin" or "Burrin" must mean that the good name of Association is behind the fish on the market.

UNDUE COMPETITION ABROAD.

In a circular letter to his followers, in April last, the Minister of Fisheries said—"Our hope for the future is not in fisheries; it is in minerals, waterpower and products—interior development." I take with that doctrine. If it were not indeed would be the outlook of our adult male population, who do not breed to the pick and the snare the oar. They are not lumberjacks or miners—but toilers of the sea. It is for them "a life on the sea" rather than "a life in the forest" the mine. It is treason to talk of our fisheries, which are richer than the Klondyke, and have a greater profit than all the mines of America. A way with this time after strange Gods, let us treasure goods we have, and help in gathering the treasures which lie at our feet. The laborer's pay list is the measure of the value of this Colony's produce from her mines, and the amount not large relatively; the profits of the Ore, if any, go elsewhere. The pay list at Grand Falls may be taken to be the annual sales received outside the Colony's forest sources, and this amount also is great comparatively; the profits, say, go to the A.N.D. Co. The fisherman's one great resource which the Colony balances its trade with the outside world, and which affects the financial result from them vitally affects us. Whether as between merchant and fisherman, too little or too much paid in our local markets, is important to the Colony as a whole, in procuring from abroad the possible returns, and if by reason of undue competition that sum is less, than good marketing would have it, every mother's son of us is interested directly or indirectly. An agreement with competitors from other countries is not practicable, but Co-operative Marketing, completed abroad, for Newfoundland fish, would first be reduced, and then eliminated, a great part of the world's supply comes from this Colony, and our markets prefer our fish to any other so that if we restrict, and abolish competition in selling in our foreign markets, we shall have made a great step in advance.

ATTEMPTS TO REGULATE.

Abortive attempts have been made to reduce this competition. Various exporters voluntarily associated for consultative purposes, and endeavored to regulate shipments to some extent. But as no pooling of interests was attempted, individual interests proved superior to the common interest and the attempt was ultimately abandoned. A common interest is fundamental to united action.

A Notable Address.

It was a notable address which Mr. Morine, K.C., made to the Rotary Club, on Tuesday last, a full report of which is published in this issue. The subject was "Co-operative Marketing," on the principles successfully adopted by the Citrus Fruit Growers of California, applied to the fish trade of this Colony. Those principles, and the methods practiced in California in their administration, were clearly explained, and so, too, was the manner in which they could be applied here. Incidentally, there were many "high lights" in the address, upon some of which we shall venture to comment. Not many months ago, we spoke of the constructive statesmanship evidenced by Mr. Morine's proposal for acquiring the shares held by fishermen in F.P.U. projects, and of converting those projects into Co-operative institutions, as part of a measure of general co-operative marketing, and now we have again to compliment Mr. Morine upon a worthy addition to what he then proposed. He gives the public from time to time the benefit of mature thought, and interests and stimulates the public to adequate consideration of great problems.

When Mr. Coaker first appealed to the fishermen, and instituted the F.P.U., his "Down with the Merchant" cry fell upon ears attuned to hear it readily. "The ancient grudge," as Mr. Morine calls it, of fishermen against merchant, the hereditary feeling that the fisherman was a victim and the merchant a tyrant, swept Coaker's projects forward on the crest of a wave of prejudice. That spirit is not yet dead. It was created by evils inseparable from the fishery business as carried on in this Colony to this day, and will not pass until the system is destroyed. It is a solemn warning which Mr. Morine utters, when he says to the fish merchants, in effect, "destroy the system or it will destroy you: cure existing evils, or Coaker's quack remedies will continue to be taken by a distressed people, and the trade of the Colony be pulled down, as blind Samson destroyed the temple and himself at the same time." Long credits mean long debts. They have to be paid by overcharging the successful, or by the insolvency of the trader. Local sale by fisherman to exporter, ending the producer's interest here, deprives the fisherman of ambition to cure well, and undue competition abroad by local exporters depreciates the net return to the Colony, and ultimately brings the exporter to insolvency. Bad for fisherman and exporter alike, and disastrous for the Colony as a whole, the existing system demands a radical cure.

Official regulation has been tried, and disastrous, almost irretrievable to all, and really so to many, resulted. "Nationalization," a potential tragedy of an overwhelming kind, is now proposed by the master mummer who imposed the Fishery Regulations, and though intelligent men see the danger which threatens, the persons most immediately interested—the exporters—seem as incapable of fighting the menace as they were to oppose the danger which has just passed by. "People who do not heed the mutterings of workers who are not satisfied with constitutional methods to assure a just place in the world are living in a fool's paradise," said President Moore recently to the Canadian Trades' and Labor Congress. It is the same message that Mr. Morine gives when he says that if a sane system of marketing is not adopted, making the fisherman full partner with the exporter in the net proceeds of his toil and their capital, they will inevitably fall a prey to the quack remedies which Mr. Coaker is proposing. It is high time to awake out of sleep. The toiler is demanding his fair share. He will have it by fair means or foul. If the fair means proposed by Mr. Morine is also the best means for all concerned, why not adopt it before it is too late? What Mr. Morine proposes is voluntary co-operation by fishermen, as opposed to official regulation by politicians. He would have the producers absolutely keep control of their own business at every stage of the game. Mr. Coaker's proposition is that highly paid overlords, having no personal interest in the fish, shall do with it as they will. Mr. Morine would make full partners of fishermen and merchants, in handling their own fish, while Mr. Coaker's proposal would reduce both to a common slavery, with himself, in reality, the supreme and only despot. Mr. Morine's plan appeals to all with the sense of freedom and ideals of free trade which are as the breath of life to a free born Briton, and Mr. Coaker's reeks of Russia, and the discredited and disastrous methods of Lenin and Trotsky. There ought to be no question of which proposal the free and intelligent people of this Colony will prefer, if the contending policies be adequately explained, and if our own people be true to their own instincts and not drawn away by unworthy prejudices or narrow personal interests.

$50 in Prizes for Best 'Windsor Patent' Loaves

The "Windsor Patent" Bread Baking Competition, which is now an annual affair, will be held on the 30th of the present month at Bay Roberts. Last year over 350 loaves were exhibited, the prize winners being:—Mrs. John P. Powell and Mrs. Will Cameron of Cuckoo, and Mrs. B. Cooper of Heart's Content. This year $50.00 in gold will be given for the best 8 loaves exhibited, and it must be stated whether the bread is baked from coal or wood, gas or electric, as there are separate prizes for each grade. The exhibit will be judged by the Teacher of Domestic Science, Miss Alice N. Furneaux, and the only stipulation is that the bread must be baked from "Windsor Patent" flour. No entrance fee is charged, and all loaves should be addressed to Mr. Frank Howell, Bay Roberts, or to Harvey & Co. Ltd., St. John's. After the exhibition is over the bread will be distributed to the poor and needy.

SHIPS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS.
The following messages were received up to last night from the sealing fleet:
DOWNING BROS.
Terra Nova (7 p.m. Thursday)—35 miles E.S.E. Bonavista; everything working well; ship making good progress.
Ranger (Friday a.m.)—10 miles N.E. Cape Bonavista; making good progress; everything working O.K.
Viking—Harbored at St. Pierre out of storm.
JOB BROS. & CO.

Thetis (Friday p.m.)—20 miles N.E. Funks, making good progress; no other ships in sight.

All the ships report stormy weather, but apparently ice conditions are favorable to progress to the whelping ice. The Viking, which reports having harbored out of the storm, will likely proceed on her voyage to the Gulf to-day.

Marooned Passenger Here.

Herring Inspector Was Two Months on Prospero—Ship Completely Overhauled.
After walking from Exploits where the Prospero has been ice-bound for over two months, Mr. E. Coyell, Government Herring Inspector, reached the city recently. He states that the ship is firmly jammed in the ice, three miles from Exploits, and it is unlikely she will get clear before the spring. The crew have not been idle and the Prospero has received a complete renovation. The stateroom furniture has been re-varnished, the engines have been taken apart and overhauled, and the saloon has been painted and decorated. Food is plentiful, and when supplies run out, they can be replenished by teams which take goods sent out to Exploits from St. John's. Coal is also plentiful but wood is being used in the galley to conserve the supply. The herring cargo is in good condition. Papers and periodicals are welcomed by those on board; all are in good health.

McMurdo's Store News.

SATURDAY, March 11.
Have you a cold? Many people have now a days. The sort of cold that comes with headache, aching of the limbs, loss of appetite and sore chest, that is in effect a mild form of "flu" can perhaps best be met by the timely use of McMurdo's Laxative Bromide Cold Tablets with Quinine. A few doses of this remedy will put down the fever, relieve the headache and pains in the limbs, set the organs of elimination working, and cure the cold before it has time to develop into something more serious. This remedy is a reliable one and if taken promptly will have favorable results in a short time. Price 80c. a box.

Juvenile Offenders Go to Prison.

COMMITTED SERIES OF LARCENIES—YOUTHFUL PRISONERS WEEP BITTERLY.
A most unusual story of a series of larcenies committed by a young named Jackson, was told in the Magistrate's Court this morning. Four boys were arraigned before the Magistrate. Their names were Goode, Jackson, Dunn, and Goode. All of them had previous police records. They were charged with the larceny of cigarettes and money from various shops. Three pleaded guilty. Mr. G. W. B. Ayre entered a plea of not guilty on behalf of Goode. The principal witness for the prosecution was a little fellow named Williams who had been made a cat-sap of by the others. The customary procedure in most of the larcenies was for Williams to go in behind the counter of the shop and pass out goods to Jackson, who had previous police records. If these boys were not dealt with, said the Head Constable, they would probably split up and form gangs of their own. Jackson possessed a record which would credit to a hardened criminal. Although only 14 years old he had served four terms of varying length in the Penitentiary, and had twice been released on bonds. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment; Goode was given three months, and Dunn was ordered five lashes with the birch. Jackson and Dunn cried bitterly when sentence was passed. Mr. Ayre put up a strong plea for Goode, who, he said, had been led into the affair, and had no intention of committing a larceny. He placed the boy in the box and his evidence was given in a straightforward manner. In consideration of Goode's previous good conduct, His Honor let him go on suspended sentence.

Superintendent Returns. INVESTIGATING BELL ISLAND TROUBLE.

That the trouble among the Conception Bay relief workers on Bell Island will be settled with complete satisfaction to all concerned, is the opinion of Superintendent O'Neil who returned to town yesterday afternoon. He had been to various points along the line as far as Carbonar, investigating the causes of the trouble. Hons. Dr. Campbell and Dr. Barnes accompanied him. The Superintendent has not yet presented his report to the Inspector General, and consequently was not in a position to give any information with regard to his investigations.

Aeroplane May Leave Labrador To-Day.

This, the first day since Major Cotton arrived at Cartwright, that the weather on Labrador has been at all suitable for flying, news is consequently expected to-day from the airman. Since leaving Battle Harbor for Cartwright, a distance of nearly 150 miles, no news has been received as there is no means of getting messages through from north of Battle Harbor, except by courier. It was Major Cotton's intention to go even further north to Rigolet, which is 70 miles from Cartwright. Whether he undertook this flight is not known. If nothing is heard to-day, it is likely that Capt. Bennett and Mr. Bulley will take the Westland plane to Labrador, to look for Major Cotton. It is not thought, however, that this will be necessary. If Major Cotton does not return within a few days, he will be too late to attempt "spotting" the seals.

No Gulches on Road.

We are informed that the Logy Bay Road was never in better condition than it is at present. There are no gulches remaining, all having been filled in so soon as conditions permitted. The accident referred to yesterday occurred through the horse getting off the road, and not by falling into a gulch as reported.

NO WORD FROM 'PLANE.—No news of the return of Major Cotton from Battle Harbor has yet reached the city. The weather on Labrador is reported to be very stormy. Major Cotton flew from Battle Harbor to Cartwright and proposed going to Rigolet; an early return is necessary if he proposes to locate the sealing patch.

SEALS AT TWILLINGATE.—Mr. S. Lovridge received a message yesterday afternoon from Mr. W. Ashbourne, Twillingate, stating that a number of seals had been taken at that place and that prospects were bright for the men to make good hands. The message reported that a violent N.E. by N. gale was raging.

NOTICE.—There will be a meeting of the Star of the Sea lady supporters on Monday evening at 9 o'clock in the Club Rooms. All ladies interested are particularly requested to attend this meeting. L. PAYNE, Sec. Amusement Committee. mar10,31

WIRELESS STATION CLOSED.—The Cape Ray wireless station has been closed down this season. A daily message from the Viking, which is prosecuting the sealing voyage in the Gulf, will therefore be impossible. The best that can be hoped for is that the messages will be picked up at Glace Bay, and Point Amour and relayed back to St. John's.

"All the world and his wife" would probably attend the St. Patrick's Night Dance in the Cadet Hall, but the tickets are limited. Get yours from John Feehan, W. H. Jackman, A. S. Racket Stringers Strike. American Jockey for English Course.

TENNIS PLAYERS DISTURBED.
LONDON, (Associated Press)—English tennis players are disturbed by a strike which has been in progress for three weeks among racket stringers and others concerned in the making of rackets. The workers have declined to accept a reduction in wages suggested by employers in view of the lower cost of living. Delivery of rackets, which usually begins early in March, will be delayed, it is said, and repairs are at present impossible. Stringing rackets is said to be a particularly highly skilled work, and the number of men capable of doing it is limited. The majority of stringers make from six to eight pounds weekly on piecework.

Obituary.

MRS. M. K. GREENE. These passed peacefully away last night at her residence, 105 St. Patrick's Street, St. John's, N.F., on the 10th inst. Mrs. Greene was the late Mrs. K. Greene, in the 75th year of her age. The late Mrs. Greene was one of the good old school of ladies of St. John's and possessed a most refined, unassuming, but amiable and most pleasing disposition. Many an eye will moisten as the news of this venerable and much respected lady is read of this morning. She was the late Mrs. Gleeson, daughter of the late Jas. Gleeson, a well-known merchant. Mrs. Greene was married to her husband some 40 years ago. This year she spent her Christmas season at her home in St. John's, when she made a super-human effort to get at the table with her sons, who had been confined to her bed, during her illness with which she was always afflicted. Left to mourn her bereavement will be her husband, the Rev. Dr. Greene of the St. John's Cathedral, and Mr. Joseph M. Greene, one of the officials of the B.I.C. Co., Wahana, Bell Island, and her sister, Miss Ellen Mary Gleeson, residing with her. The funeral takes place on to-morrow Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from her late residence, corner Bond and Prescott streets, when all that is mortal of a venerable lady and most devoted self-sacrificing mother will be laid to rest in the early days was one of the most loved and prominent pianists in Newfoundland. She was a devoted agricultural enthusiast, and a visit to her country home at Lakeside, 1000 Yd. Road when she had her health showed abundantly the result of her labours, as there a super abundance of sweet smelling flowers and blossoms of all description were and Nature was wonderfully pleased in the multi-coloured variety of flowers, both garden and house, which Mrs. Greene so fondly cultivated. To the bereaved family the Telegram extends deepest sympathy.—Com.

A-Sealing I Will Go.

Another Effort Caused by the publication of the Mean for Sealers in yesterday's Advocate. (By our very own Post.) I did not think it would be nice to make a voyage to the ice. Nor would a single thing entice me from my home. But now I'm sure that I was wrong. And next year I may go along. For on the icefields now I long to go and roam. You see, it was the Advocate that made me think it would be great to go and help exterminate the harp and hood. The harp and hood. Occasionally they have meat and now and then a special treat. Which seems quite good. They don't have grape fruit, it is true. But look at all the things they do. For instance they have Irish stew and fish and beef. Good Ham But pork is dainty, quite. And then, perhaps, they have at night Good grog. You get, if I hear right, just what you choose. So why stay home and buy my food if I can get it quite as good. As stated in the "Daily White". At home I think I'll stay and dine on beans and hash. —P.A.B.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

MURDER-FEST IN BELFAST. BELFAST, March 11. Lieutenant Bruce, of the Seaforth Highlanders, was murdered in Albert Street, Falls Road district, last night by a party of men supposed to be Sinn Feiners. He was wearing civilian clothes and the motive for his murder is unknown. He was shot with revolvers. The greatest military activity followed the killing of Constable Cullen, who was shot in the Falls Road early in the evening and died later. An official statement says since Feb. 11 there have been 22 Catholics and 17 Protestants killed in Belfast. Since July 1921, the number of fatalities has been 120 Catholics and 43 Protestants.

IRISH TREATY DEBATED.

"That the Anglo-Irish Treaty signed in December and ratified by Dal Eireann, is worthy of acceptance by the Irish people at the forthcoming plebiscite," was the verdict of the majority at last night's debate of the B.I.S. A large number of members were present. The set speakers were Messrs. John A. Barron, James O'Neill Conroy, affirmative; G. T. Power and J. R. MacDonnell, negative. Excellent arguments were presented pro and con and the speeches were received with close attention. At the conclusion of the debate a general discussion took place and on a vote being taken, the affirmative won by a large majority. This was the first of a series of debates which the committee has organized for the Lenten season, and if the same enthusiasm prevails throughout it will be eminently successful, apart from the instruction and benefit derived.

KILLED CONSTABLES.

BELFAST, March 10. Constables O'Connor and Cullen were attacked in Falls Road to-night by an armed band. O'Connor was shot dead, and Cullen mortally wounded.

INTERVAL TO BE EXTENDED.

ROME, March 10. A Papal decree will be made public shortly, extending to fifteen days, the interval between the death of a Pope and the beginning of the Sacred Conclave to elect a successor. Cardinal O'Connell of Boston announced today. The decree, the Cardinal said, will also give the Sacred Conclave power to further extend this period, in order to allow American Cardinals, or those farther away from home, to attend.

LOCK OUT TO-DAY.

LONDON, March 10. There appeared to-night to be little hope of averting the threatening lockout in the engineering trades, notices for which apply for to-morrow. Strenuous efforts were made to-day to effect a settlement, but a deadlock was reached when Engineer Leaders announced they could not accept employers' proposals regarding shop management, or recommending the acceptance of the men.

PART OF A PLOT.

BELFAST, March 10. Sir Dawson Bates, Home Secretary for the Ulster Government, to-day denied emphatically a report from Dublin that Orangemen were planning a wholesale onslaught on Catholics in Belfast. Sir Dawson characterized the report as part of a general conspiracy against the peace of the city, with the ulterior motive of making law and order impossible, and compelling Ulster to abandon its right to separate government.

GHANDI ARRESTED.

LONDON, March 10. Mohandas Gandhi, Indian Non-Co-operationist leader, has been placed under arrest, the India Office announced to-night. No details were given as to the place and manner of the arrest, but it was stated there had been no trouble so far.

COMING TO ENQUIRE.

OTTAWA, March 10. G. A. R. Emery, of the Canadian Govt. Trade and Commerce Department, leaves for Newfoundland on March 18, to enquire into the trade situation between the ancient colony and Canada. It is said Canada's exports to Newfoundland have fallen off fifty per cent. in the last few years.

NO CASH FORTHCOMING.

PARIS, March 11. The demand of United States for reimbursement to the extent of $241,000,000 for expenses of its force in the Rhineland, before any reparations are paid, has provoked surprise and perplexity in French official circles. There is several morning newspapers. A French semi-official statement says that the United States claim comes exactly at a moment when the accord, based on the Cannes project, was about to be realized, and that it tends to destroy the whole system of reparations so laboriously elaborated by Allied experts. The Echo De Paris declares it is undoubtedly too late to give United States its share of the one billion gold marks, paid by Germany on August 30 last, and Belgium and England already have received their allotments. The Allies certainly cannot refuse to give United States its due. The newspaper adds, "this question must be determined of what utility is an American army on the Rhine, if it is not in political co-operation with the Allied Government."

AUTHORITY SET AT NAUGHT.

JOHANNESBURG, March 11. The casualties in fighting between striking miners and police had reached a total of thirty-two killed, and fifty-seven wounded, by nine o'clock Friday night, when firing was still continuing. "Witness of those killed were policemen." By eleven o'clock, even the streets had become unreasonably quiet. The public was forbidden to walk the streets. The workers hall at Beaumont is reported to have been hit by bomb dropped from an airplane. Jeppe, a suburb adjoining Johannesburg to the East, was seething with strikers this afternoon. The position at Brakpan and Boponi was extremely grave. Strikers apparently had obtained the upper hand, at least temporarily, and numbers of dead and wounded were lying in the streets.

Old Colors Come Home.

Previous to the formal opening of the Legislative, which takes place on Tuesday afternoon next, His Excellency the Governor will, on behalf of the Army Council, present a colour to the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. It is understood that this is the flag of the Newfoundland Regiment, which has been for a long number of years deposited in St. Bridget's Church, Jersey. This colour will be formally deposited in the Legislative Council Chamber.

MINARD'S LIVINOT FOR GABGET IN COWS.

In the Cellar.

A few points to be remembered when you come to the Cowan Mission parlour in the Methodist College Hall on St. Patrick's Day at 3.30 are the play "In the Cellar," in aid of the Old Ladies' Home. In the cast Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge, Mrs. Leonard Outerbridge, Miss Kitty James, Mr. Charles Hutton, Mr. Robert Rendell, Mr. Jack Emerson. An attractive musical programme which notice will be given later. This is a cell during an air raid in London. As soon as the warnings of a raid approaching were given by siren, etc., being blown, everyone fled to their cellars (or were supposed to) for safety. When the raid was over an "all clear" bugle sound. No one was allowed to get footed, and nothing could be done until the siren was blown. For instance, four ounces of butter in a tin and the same of sugar for each person was the allowance, and to obtain this people had to stand in lines to wait their turn and then up a coupon. If they exceeded the allowance they were liable to be taken for hoarding. Most of the raids took place on moonlight nights, and the weather forecast there was information given about the moon, when it would be new or full, etc.

Icemen's Benefit.

ATTENDANCE AT THE RINK. The Icemen's Benefit at the Prince's Rink took place last night. There was a poor attendance. Several interesting races were held and produced considerable excitement. Mr. M. Tobin made a record in the half mile, his time being 1 min., 55 4-8 sec. Chancey also broke the record in the three mile, covering the distance in 11 min., 54 4-8 sec. The other match between St. Bon's College and B.F.C. was very interesting. The champions won by 2 goals to nil. Prizes were donated by Messrs. Trainor, J. M. Tobin, H. Pedigrew, R. Outerbridge and W. TREASURE TROVE. LONDON, March 11. The new syndicate, which has been formed to recover treasure from an Armada Galleon in Tisbury Harbor, has begun work. The water over the Spanish vessel is from ten to fourteen fathoms deep, and the ship is buried under about thirty feet of sand and boulder clay, at a distance of only ninety yards from a steamboat pier in daily use by many vessels. AGREEMENT REACHED. BELFAST, March 11. A settlement of the trouble between rival forces of the Irish Republican Army in Limerick has been reported. Under agreement both parties will evacuate the city. DIVERSE OPINIONS. LONDON, March 11. The general strike called by miners leaders at Johannesburg is in reality a revolutionary movement, according to the Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. The strike issue has been eclipsed by a threat against the State, he says. The Johannesburg correspondent of the same paper reports that numbers of Dutch farmers have joined the strikers. The Times Johannesburg correspondent, on the other hand, ascribes the trouble to widespread Bolshevist plots. ROTARY IN BUSINESS. The friendly and brotherly association of business men in Rotary provides a fertile field for the germination and growth of its principles. These principles in fruitage produce the God given religion of the brotherhood of man with its motto: "You shall love thy neighbor as thyself." The public is no longer a lamb to be fleeced nor the competitor a wolf to be slain, but the spirit of fair dealing and efficient service becomes paramount. Over anxious craving for, what is aptly termed, cold cash, becomes displaced by a friendly uplifting purpose to serve and to please, which carried into effect brings with it the broadening of a business man's outlook and the enlarging of his interests in life and humanity. There is no pleasure in life so permanent as a helpful service accorded to a fellow man. It rises repeatedly in memory to bless him and give him happiness. Like mercy, "It is twice blessed. It blesses him who gives and him who takes." In Rotary Service becomes the leading feature of business activity and in this day there is no business man, Rotarian or otherwise, but considers that service is the one important factor for success and in so doing the business world pays homage to Rotary by endorsing the truth of its motto: "He Profits Most Who Serves Best." THE ANTIQUES OF TO-MORROW.

"Will a kerosene lamp ever be an antique?" A friend of mine asked me this question three quarters of an hour ago. I was in my quarter in earnest.

We had just been to an antique shop and had seen a sample of whale oil lamps for sale at a good price. My friend who is an elderly woman says she can remember throwing away several of these lamps when she cleaned out the attic after her mother died.

"We had plenty of nice kerosene lamps," she said, "and I knew I should never use those again and I didn't see why I should keep them. And to think of their being antiques! I've got half a dozen glass kerosene lamps that haven't been any use to me since we put in the electricity. I was thinking of selling them to the junk man but maybe I'd better keep them; maybe my children will be getting three or four dollars apiece for them for antiques."

Wander Through an Antique Shop. Of course we laughed at the idea but it set me wondering again, as I have often wondered before, what will be the antiques of the next generation? Have you ever been to an antique shop lately? If you haven't, and get

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, loose and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "24" ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

a good chance to wander through one some day, avail yourself of it. I think you will be surprised to find some of the objects that you saw about you in your own childhood, if not in your home perhaps in the grandmother's or great-aunt-somebody's parlor.

For instance, the pressed and blown glass that our mothers thought so hideous and so unspeakably inferior to the new cut glass, is the rage in antique shops just now and is bringing astonishing prices. I heard of a woman who offered $35 for a pair of salt cellars in the blown blue glass.

Paper Weights. And do you remember the glass paper weights with colored pictures in them that used to decorate the whinnies? These have become valuable now. And almost worth their weight in gold are the round glass paper weights with the miniature villages in them and the snow storm that fluttered down over everything when you shook them up. I am told that the last one of these a certain antique dealer was able to get hold of sold in his shop for $100. I told this to five middle aged people, and four of them were sure they could remember playing with one of such paper weights in their childhood. They all vowed to unearth one but no one has so far.

What Became of all These Treasures? What became of all these familiar objects? Did they go to the junkman of yesterday and what did he do with them? An interesting speculation, is it not?

And what are to be the antiques of the day after to-morrow? Some of the black walnut of the day before yesterday is already beginning to be accepted as antiques. Will the oak and the maple of yesterday ever be sought for by antique dealers? It seems absolutely incredible, doesn't it?

Gladstone and the Brewer.

There have been many good stories of Gladstone told recently. Here is one from Sir Henry Lucy. "At one of the suburban meetings in the neighbourhood of Edinburgh, an argumentative brewer, rising from time to time from a bench immediately before the platform, persistently heckled him. At first Gladstone replied with his customary courtesy and casuistry. At length his patience was exhausted. I can see his face now as he leaned forward with gleaming eyes that would have scorched up any human being less tender than a Scottish brewer. Tapping his forehead, he said, 'I am responsible for the working of such brains as is here, but I am not responsible for what God Almighty has placed in that occiput.'" son walls of the Fort, and below them a many-hued crowd waited impatiently for the coming of the Royal train, although the arrival was nominally private. There was no ceremony, therefore, and the Prince of Wales immediately drove off through the Port to his first function—an inspection of pensioners and ex-Service men, of whom a large number were drawn up in the park. The Prince expressed his sense of pleasure in meeting the men who had served the Empire so well. One very old man with whom the Prince shook hands claimed to have received a pension for 43 years after 33 years' service. About 30,000 are estimated to have attended the Prince's route, and of their real delight in seeing His Royal Highness among them there can be no question. —News of The World.

ANCIENT ACHES.
There are so many ways of curing the aches that torture bone and they, it does seem strange we are enduring the same old pains our fathers knew. On our main street the signs are swinging, the signs of healers by the score, who'll start our dismal hearts a-singing, if we'll dig up five bones or four. By every mall I get a letter from one practitioner or two, who'd free me from the gout or tetter, the rheumatism or the flu. And all these healers I have trusted, I've paid them money by the yard; I've had my ardent spine adjusted, and I've been boiled in rancid lard; I've taken pellets green and yellow, I've taken tablets flat and square, and, guided by some healing fellow, consumed a horse's bill of fare. I've taken brown and blinded bitters, and pills that taste like toilet soap; for he must rank with tinhorn quitters who doesn't sample every dope. And yet with all my ceaseless taking I'm where I was long years ago; and as my grandfire's bones were aching, so my old bones much anguish know. I read how Science knocks diseases, and wipes out human aches and stings; I also read some other wheezes concerning pills that fly with wings. The science tales are most alluring, but, while I read them in my lair, I wonder why we're still enduring rheumatics, mumps and falling hair.

Pain in Her Arm is Now All Gone.

MRS. STANTON RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
Woodstock, Ont. March 10. (Special)—Mrs. John Stanton, who lives on R. R. 1, near here is never tired of telling of the benefit she received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"About four years ago I had rheumatism in my left arm," Mrs. Stanton states. "It was so painful I couldn't dress myself."
"I read about Dodd's Kidney Pills and what they had done for others, so I sent and got six boxes. They did me good right from the start. The pain is now gone, but I keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house as I have an occasional touch of lumbago, as they help it a lot. They help my husband's head too."
"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best known and most reliable of kidney remedies. They heal the kidney; sound kidneys strain all the uric acid, the cause of rheumatism, out of the blood."
"Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys."

The Scot's Lament.

Lord Dewar has a large fund of good stories concerning his fellow-countrymen, but perhaps the best is that about the English tourist who came upon a farmer in a remote part of the Highlands.
"How delightful," he exclaimed, "to live in a wonderfully solitary spot like this!"
The farmer was not enraptured. "Wad ye like tae gang fifteen mile for a wee drap o' whisky?" he inquired.
"But," said the visitor, "you could surely keep a bottle."
"Whisky 'll no' keep," said the farmer, with a pitying smile.

Lascelles Was in North Sydney.

A pleasant incident in connection with the marriage of the only daughter of England's king and queen, the beautiful Princess Mary, to Viscount Lascelles, recalls the visit of Earl Grey, governor-general to North Sydney, on which occasion he was attended by the Viscount as aide-de-camp to His Excellency. Services were being conducted in St. John's Anglican Church by the then rector, Rev. Mr. Ward-Whitell. A slight rep at the door leading from the vestry into the main body of the church attracted one of the members of the choir, Mr. A. G. Ellis, who immediately made inquiries and found himself face to face with the present husband of Princess Mary. The Viscount made known his mission, saying the His Excellency and party would in a short time enter the church; and would Mr. Ellis be good enough to make it known to the rector? This was at once done, and no sooner had the reverend gentleman finished making the announcement, at the same time requesting the organist, Mr. Angel, and the choir to play and sing the National Anthem upon the entry of the royal party, than His Excellency and suite entered the church. The royal party took part in the services and immediately after the conclusion boarded their yacht, which was anchored in the stream off Salter's wharf—North Sydney Herald.

Terrible Weeping Eczema.

For the year 1905, I suffered with weeping eczema on my hands which caused me very much pain and worry for I could not use my hands for but very few things. I tried many remedies but they all failed to give me any relief and I was obliged to give up my work and came south at the same time continuing to use any preparation recommended to me but my hands continued to get worse until I was told to try D.D.D. Prescription, also soap which I at once did and the first two or three applications gave me the greatest relief and when I had used but half a dollar bottle my hands were healed. I am indeed very thankful for your splendid prescription and may its fame spread world wide, is the wish of MRS. E. HAYES.

Rev. L. Law, wife and children are comfortably settled in the Rectory at Trinity East. It is an awkward time of year to begin housekeeping in Newfoundland, but the parishioners have been thoughtfully kind, and the best arrangements in the circumstances have been made for present requirements; and when the good old summer-time comes, the rector and his family will be thoroughly well pleased with the rectory surroundings and outlook. Every good wish.

Sergeant White of Catalina, who went to Summerville on official duty by the last train going in that direction, passed through Trinity behind a team of dogs on his way back to Catalina; and like Johnnie Walker "he was going strong." Sorry we did not see more of you, Sergeant.

The "Black Knights" of Trinity Lodge, gave a supper and entertainment for themselves and some of their friends, at Goose Cove School House on Wednesday evening, February 22nd.

Monday evening last (Feb. 27th), was very pleasantly spent by about one hundred of our people in the Parish Hall. Magistrate Somerton was the lecturer of the evening, and his maiden efforts as a lecturer were creditable to himself, and profitable to the audience. His subject was "Personal reminiscences of two years in the Fur Sealing of the Pacific." To us, whose knowledge of seals and sealing is confined to the Hair Seal of our Northern latitudes, the Fur Seal, and the methods of hunting it are interesting revelations, and we are grateful to Mr. Somerton for his information so humbly and yet so interestingly given to us. The proceeds will go towards our offerings for Queen's College, St. John's, in addition to our Lenten Self-denial offerings for that Institution, as requested by the Bishop.

The Girl's Friendly Society and the members of St. Paul's Guild, have resumed their weekly meetings in the Guild Room of the Parish Hall, on Monday and Wednesday evenings respectively.

Mrs. (Charles) Morris is slowly recovering from the attack of paralysis that she reported last week.

Trinity, on the whole, is remarkably free from sickness this winter.

Some of our men, though not very many, are going to the ice this spring with Capt. George Harbour, and others in the "Thruik."

We miss the coming and going of the train on the Bonavista Branch. We, however, recognize the wisdom of not attempting to fight the ice conditions of the track, and we shall be glad to hear the whistle again in the spring. In the meantime, like St. Paul, we "shall learn to be content."

With the coming of the season of Lent, those who followed the Saviour in the festive joys of Christmas and the Epiphany, will surely not refuse to follow Him into the quiet solitude of the wilderness, and like the Master during those forty days, to be much alone—to have time to think—to map out their work, and to learn how the Father would have them use their powers. "The pathway of the Church is in the footsteps of her Lord." And surely we all need to realize more and more fully as the years go by, that the three-fold temptation that came to our Blessed Lord at the end of His forty days of quiet thought, was but the way in which the devil sought to divert Him from the path of duty which the Father had mapped out for Him; the way in which the devil tried to induce Him to take some short cut to success. Surely we need to realize that these temptations were not something new—not something that came to our Lord only in the wilderness; surely they were the same temptations that came to Him through His whole life, and that the offer of the taunting watchers on Calvary, to believe in Him if He would come down from the cross, was the same temptation to do His work by making a short cut, as was made to Him by the devil in the wilderness. Surely, too, we need to realize more and more fully that they are exactly the same temptations that come to every man, every woman in daily life who realizes that he or she is endowed by God with great gifts, to be used for God, and is anxious to do right. Surely as time in our daily life is so necessary, so productive of spiritual good, along those lines, as is the season of Lent, "Lent is a time when we are asked by the Church to be quiet; to be much alone with God; a time when private prayer is more fitting, more helpful than public services, a time that should be marked by more quiet listening to God in our homes than in attendance at formal preaching." We are glad when Christmas and Easter come; we are intensely happy in body and soul during those seasons of the Church Year; but who, ask, after serious thought, and a full realization of his many shortcomings and repeated failures, is not ready to admit, that the Miserere is ever more fitting to his life than the Alleluia! "Lord, I will follow Thee Whithersoever thou goest." Will you?

Mrs. Emma White celebrated her 75th birthday on February 22nd, and Mrs. A. W. Earle celebrated her 77th birthday on February 27th. They were both remembered by a number of citizens who called to extend congratulations.

A few weeks ago I called attention to Green Island Cove—between Danfield and the Fort Point—as an embryo fishing feature that would do the city man on a summer holiday, on the same shore, near to Danfield, is another picturesque little place, with a southern aspect, nestling under the South Side hills, and with several acres of level plateau stretching down to the beach that is washed by the waters of the Atlantic. The surface of this plateau is perfectly smooth, and in summer it is a stretch of living green, to which—because there is no one to dispute their rights every horse that is given its summer freedom makes for, and enjoys an undisturbed grazing. This little spot is known as Jiggins Hole, and was so named long years ago by the fishermen who found in its waters an ideal aquid resort. There are two honoured names associated with this pretty little spot, in the old Church records.—They are Spencer and Moore. Thus in the marriages of 1811 as given in this week's items you will find that Philip Moore married Mary Spencer, Assin, in the burial records is the following entry:—"January 16th, 1808, Interred. Mrs. Spencer of Jiggins Hole, aged 88 years." The following marriage entry is amongst those first made by Rev. Aubrey G. Spencer:—"1808, Married, William Spencer, of Jiggins Hole to Anne Pesscock of Trinity." Pesscock, however, made so many mistakes in names, that I am inclined to believe the name "Pesscock" should be Hipcock, Old Mrs. Moores lived there in my younger days, and she was the last resident of Jiggins Hole. At present there is no house there, and situated as it is only a few hundred yards from the main road of the South Side, it is an ideal spot for Successful Medical Missionary in Korea.

SEMI-ANNUAL REPORT OF DR. S. H. MARTIN.

Writing to the father of the young doctor, well known to many of the Evening Telegram readers, the Rev. R. F. Mackay, D.D., Secretary Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church says, "I have read with a very great deal of interest the report of Dr. Stanley H. Martin to the Orillia congregation, published in the "Orillia Times," and have sent them a letter congratulating them on having such a representative in the foreign field, and in sending you a copy along me to congratulate you upon such a son, and such a ministry. His success is quite unusual, and the enthusiasm and energy characteristic of all his work during these years have few parallels. I am afraid that he is overworking, and feel rather thankful that his furlough is so nearly due. At the same time one wonders how the work will be done in his absence. Would that we had many more of the same calibre! It is possibly true that if he had settled in one of our large cities, he could have amassed wealth; but no material possession can be compared to the treasure he has accumulated and it will abide."

"The following extracts are taken from the semi-annual report of the Presbyterian Mission at Yong Jung, Manchuria, where Dr. S. H. Martin, representative of the Orillia Presbyterian church has established St. Andrew's Hospital. Dr. Martin has been six years on the mission field, and hopes to return home on furlough next May. In a private letter he says: "Tell the Orillia congregation that by next spring they will have been the direct means of treating over 100,000 Chinese and Korean patients, and most of them heard or received the gospel."

The report of the Medical work follows: Over looking the large and growing town of Yong Jung and situated on the edge of what is known as East Hill, you will see the St. Andrew's Hospital Compound. At 6 a.m. your attention would be attracted by the staccato explosions from the pump house from whence in fifteen minutes a supply of water sufficient for all the needs of a modern hospital for twenty-four hours, is pumped up. Over the door of the main entrance of the hospital is a red cross on white background worked out in stone and on the rear by five staff flags the Union Jack, which has several times during the past year been necessary to indicate that this is British property.

This year we can safely say that the hospital work has been firmly established. The Chinese officials look to the hospital for help in time of trouble such as plague or other epidemics and for cases of casualties and sickness among the large numbers of Chinese soldiers stationed in this district. The church depends upon it entirely for medical aid, and a British Consul and a Commissioner of Customs were very kind in their remarks as to the benefit to the community at large. Our mission work, however, is among the non-Christian Koreans and Chinese.

A Chinese farmer who was dying and carried in from 300 Li said, "I cure me by your son and I will believe in the Jesus doctrine." Now, who cured him to believe anything? I asked him nothing being intent on whether or not he could stand an operation but it impressed me that this half unconscious man should realize that this was the work we were really trying to do, viz., getting people to "do the Jesus doctrine." When they took the body away, amidst the sound of exploding fire crackers, I signed to drive away the evil spirits. I asked the boy to believe in Jesus, in Chinese fashion he bowed his head to the ground and went off crying, following the coffin made of planks and so heavy as to require four horses to pull. If you were to sit in the hospital any morning although it is very difficult to "just sit" in a mission hospital, you would see cases like the following coming in. A Chinese man in a round basket, suspended from two coolies. He has Sarcoma, a form of Cancer. A Korean boy from 200 Li away with his head forced open so far over to the left side that it is lying on his right shoulder. This is due to a mass of glands as big as a large football. Then there is a woman riding on an old man's back. She was stabbed in the throat and head by a drunken husband who committed suicide the same night. She is partially paralyzed as a result of the brain injury but her speech is returning after a week's treatment. A Chinese school boy has been brought in with most of his scalp torn off and you find him covered with blood and feathers. If you examine his head you will find the whole skin of a chicken with feathers attached, over the skull, to stop the bleeding. He is covered also with mud and filth, having been run over by a four wheeled cart. The same boy, a week later is in clean pyjamas in a white enameled bed, in a bright sunny ward with other Chinese patients, and he cannot keep the smile from his eyes, one of which has its lid replaced by a plastic operation. On Sunday morning I saw four of those Chinese patients reading from Gospel given them by the Pastor of the local church (Chinese). My wife tells me not to put in the Chinese things, yet people ask for a medical report. A doctor's life out here has to do directly with the gruesome. Who but the medical missionary is called in when a Chinese soldier is shot through the hip by a dancing girl in the early hours of the morning? It is just on account of the filth and ignorance of the East that doctors are unable to give very full reports on their work.

However there is a bright side as well which may be shown in the case of an old chap of sixty who had his foot removed in the hospital because of a cancerous growth which was threatening his life. After he had been in the hospital a week he became a Christian. On his return home he sent a letter with forty-two names attached, asking that some be sent to his village to start a church. The writer went one Sunday afternoon on a bicycle, followed by his Medical Assistant and Medical supplies in an ox cart. I found as I approached the village where could be seen the ashes of twenty-one burnt houses that the people were very unfriendly and would give me no information as to where the man who had had his foot removed at the Mission hospital lived. I suddenly realized that they took me for a Japanese spy and had to go on my way followed by wolfish dogs. I met an old man however whose son's leg had been cured at the hospital three years ago, and he dropped his work and came out in the rain to meet me and led me all the way to my friend, who came stumbling out to meet me. That night we, with the aid of a good lantern showed them fifty pictures of the life of Christ. They seemed to appreciate the scene before Pilate and also that showing where Christ was being beaten. Had not all those men been taken to Tutugo and flogged because they happened to be in the same village where one of the young men had dared to think of independence? Their houses and grain had been burned and in other ways they were able to sympathize with the Christ who suffered. The speaker had told them that Christ said he would rise from the dead in three days and you should have been there to see the faces of those heathen people when they saw the angels at the tomb, telling the women of the resurrection and then Christ on earth among his people. This lantern exhibition was held in a house, at one end of which the family ox and donkey lived. These were tied outside and we hung the sheet on the stable wall. The next morning we held service. It had rained the night before so the men were all busy at the very necessary weeding, but the Sabbath was kept for the first time in that place and those farmers who knew nothing but spirit worship dropped their hoes and came to the service. There were no hymn books or Bibles except ours, so the singing was a duet until my assistant became so fat that I allowed him to finish it as a solo. He preached on the subject "Jesus" and the old fellows with their mourning caps and long pipes listened most attentively and with grunts of approval. There were thirty-six present and at the last prayer they all bowed their heads in deepest reverence. This is how our groups are started. When this man's foot was amputated, his friends wanted to bury it so that his body could be buried with it later and he thus have a complete body in the next world. Now they know something of the resurrection of all, because of this simple operation in a Christian hospital.

Another was made to see as a result of two operations and a boy of eighteen years was given his first course of pasteur injection for hydrophobia which means that he will be prevented from a horrible death as he had been bitten in the face this morning by a really mad dog.

We have no graduate doctors but have been having excellent results from our own trained students, and whom is in charge of the city dispensary which sees, on an average, twenty patients a day. We have only one graduate Korean nurse, and as the work is growing so that we have to operate nearly every day, we are hoping to get another trained Korean nurse before long. While our hospital can and does bring in many new Christians, who is to do the follow up work? Mr. Barker, our only evangelist, is in the Academy. How I wish I were qualified and had the time to visit those groups. Where are all our young people for Manes on "The Old Ontario Strand"?

Below are some statistics which mean more than mere figures, although they look so commonplace. I must leave soon for 1000 patients, leaving a clinic of 80 to Annual meetings a day to my Korean assistants, and next year must leave all this work to whom? Where is the doctor that is going to keep up six years of this work that has grown from 5,000 to 25,000 patients a year, from going back? Of course our work is in God's hands, but where are the student volunteers of our Canadian Universities?

"I gave my life for these." "What hast thou given for Me?" Someone must be the instrument in His hands. Out of my original set of eight instruments I have only one, a very much prized needle holder. All the others have gone or are broken; so it is with many of our workers, some have gone and some are broken in body. When are the students at home going to rally to fill, and play the game? Statistics: out-patient department, 11,567; Male, 6,297; Female, 4,970; Korean, 7,530; Chinese, 8,847; Believers, 4,710; Non-believers, 8,657; Visitors with the sick, 1,719; in-patient department, 297; Operations under general anaesthetic, 141; Operations under local anaesthetic, 196, including Salvarsan injections; Out calls, 217; Decisions to believe, 138; Biblewoman's visits to sick, 295; Tracts and gospels distributed, 3,248. Demanded Return of Railway.

HOW MEXICO DOES BUSINESS. MEXICO CITY, — British stockholders in the Inter-oceanic railway, one of the federal-operated roads in Mexico, recently protested to the government against its retention and demanded the return of the property together with accrued damages. General Amado Aguirre, Secretary of Communications and Public Works, stated in reply that the railway was taken over "for military purposes" strictly within the law and that the government was excused from paying damages for its use until a final liquidation was effected and the property returned to its owners. As a concluding argument Secretary Aguirre stated that the government was paying 25 per cent. of the railway and that the demands of the minority stockholders, as represented by the British protest, are not legal.

Tender for Briton Not Accepted.

What disposition will be made of H.M.S. Briton has not been definitely settled. Tenders which were invited for the purchase of the ship have closed and it is said that the couple of offers made were not acceptable to the Admiralty. The N.P. government it is learned, did not tender. Fifty thousand dollars is the amount which it is understood the Admiralty expected to get for the ship. Some fourteen men of the ship were paid off during the past couple of days and are leaving for England by the Sachem.

Lunenburg Fleet

TO SAIL EARLY FOR BANKS. According to a recent issue of the Maritime Merchant, the Lunenburg fishing fleet will prosecute the spring banking voyage earlier than usual. Owing to practically all last year's fish being disposed of, it is anticipated that the net new fish will command good prices. A large number of men from the West Coast, have gone to Lunenburg to join the fleet. A number went by last Rosalind to be followed by others on the next trip of the ship.

HIS DIARY.

March 10th.—This day Mr. Pory told me a pretty experience of his, how playing Put and Take at the Club last night, he did win every thing, and he might pleased thereat. He tells me how he hears that Mr. Brown will resign his office, and Dr. Campbell will be the Finance Minister in his place. Which is a likely rumor and may come to happen soon. But I did cry him down for a lying knave, when he did also say that the Foreign Despatches, by the Minister of Agriculture and Mines. By the Minister of Agriculture and Mines, I did see how Mr. Montagu, that was Secretary for India, did give up his office, and the Government of England will arrest Gandhi, that is trying to make a revolution in our Eastern Empire. Great crowds this day to the Municipal Offices to pay their rates, and the reason for this being that the Council were giving a discount for late payments. Mr. Small did leave the city to-day, and few members like to be left for the opening of the Parliament, which is a good thing, seeing how there be fewer now to talk. And indeed, little does in the Parliament this three years but enough talk to equal a sermoning of women's meetings. It did come on to snow again to-day, and I did make haste to send my wife to attend to the furnace, else the house cold, to my great discomfort. But the wretch did put in too much of coal, and needs must I make the fire in it myself.

TRAIN NOTES.—The local express which left Port aux Basques yesterday, was with Humbermouth this morning. The west bound local express left Millertown, this morning. There will be no express from St. John's to-morrow, but after the arrival of the Kyle at Port aux Basques from Louisburg the regular cross country service will be resumed.

S.S. Sachem arrived in port this morning, 2 1/2 days from Halifax. The ship reports making a fair passage, and not having much ice to contend with, except during the last 12 hours of the voyage when much snow was steamed through. The Sachem brought the following passengers:—From Boston—Miss T. Dunphy, Mr. E. Howell; From Halifax—Mrs. S. B. Ayre, J. L. Brown, F. V. Chesman, H. A. Coade, A. L. Harshaw, L. B. Moore, C. E. Looking for Work.

AGREEMENT NOT CARRIED OUT. A large number of men belonging to Conception Bay came to town yesterday from Bell Island in an effort to obtain work. Some men from Harbor Grace district are also here on the same mission. The men feel that an injustice has been done them, and that somebody is responsible for not carrying out the agreement under which they were given work. Hon. Dr. Campbell is still at Harbor Grace endeavouring to appease the men who quit the island during the week. When the men were given tickets by Major Butler to go to work at the mines it was understood that they were to get 4 shifts per week at $2.10. Tickets were issued to 250 or more men that was allowed for, and that the management at the mines on this account gave the men only 3 shifts. With only $6.30 to be earned per week the men quit the island. Those who are resident of the island are supposed to be getting six shifts per week. A number of men from Harbour Main district who are also in the city say that their district was discriminated against, and that very few from there were given tickets, although a great many are in dire need, so much so that they would be glad to receive four days work per week.

Digby Arrives.

S.S. Digby, Capt. Chambers, arrived in port this morning, after a passage of 10 days from Liverpool. Several days on the passage out were very stormy. S.S. CABOT FOR TRINITY BAY. —S.S. Cabot is loading freight at Bishop, Sons & Co.'s wharf for Trinity and Catalina and will get away some this evening; a shortage of provisions, especially flour, has been reported from Trinity and Bonaville and the sending of the Cabot with the necessary supplies will be greatly appreciated.

KYLE RESUMES SCHEDULE.—S.S. Kyle is due at Port aux Basques to-night en route to Louisburg. She will not return here direct but will resume the Cabot Strait service as it has been decided to continue the cross country express. Ireland—A Land of Trouble.

History repeats itself, and it will be seen from the following, when we read what is taking place at the present time that the saying is true. In 1789 undeterred by the suppression of the "National Guard" in Dublin, the Northern Republicans paraded in green uniforms in Belfast and General Whyte sent four troops of the 17th Dragoons—now Lancers—to disarm them. On the evening of 9th March a corporal and a private, off duty, strolled out of barracks into the city, where they met a crowd round a fiddler, who was playing "Ca Ira." They told him to play "God Save the King," but the mob protested and threw a shower of stones at the soldiers, who, joined by a dozen of their comrades, drew their sabres and "drove" the crowd before them. Belfast had decorated its shops with signboards representing Republican notables and the soldiers demolished the pictures of Dumont, Mirabeau, and "the venerable Franklin." McCabe, the owner of one of the shops, afterwards hung up his own portrait in place of the destroyed "friend of Liberty," with the words—"McCabe, an Irish slave." A hundred and fifty volunteers came out, but retreated from the soldiers, into the Exchange, where they barricaded themselves. Then the officers of the 17th came up before anyone had been seriously hurt, and recalled the men to their quarters. The next morning General Whyte came in from Carrickfergus, went to the Volunteer Committee Room, and said that unless the gentlemen came out and instantly dispersed, he would order the regiment under arms. They obeyed without a word. "Never," said the general, "was any guard relieved with more satisfaction to themselves." The dragoons received a reprimand, but not too severe, as the general felt that they had done more good than harm. On March 11th, the town was informed that the Volunteers must cease to exist, and if they again assembled they would be apprehended and punished. The order was obeyed and thus ended the existence of the famous Volunteers of Ireland.

Nobody Wants Nikolaj.

Nikolaj Crawjkowski, a Russian Pole, is a citizen without a country. The United States rejects him, Canada disowns him, Poland adjoins him, and Russia has no use for Poles who have lived in America. The United States Government ordered him to be deported on the ground that he had entered without inspection. Though naturalized as a Canadian, Canada refused to receive him because he had failed to establish his domicile in the Dominion. The Polish Consul took the stand that Nikolaj had renounced Poland by assuming Canadian citizenship. Russia refuses to receive him. While nations are discussing the matter, Nikolaj continues to live in Detroit.

Human-Like Birds.

On the frozen icefields about the South Pole live penguins, called by explorers "human birds" because they play just as children play, are friendly to their strange human visitors, and live in colonies. Penguins are tall, a full-grown bird standing two feet high. Their wings are so short they cannot fly, but they use them as flappers to help them hurry along over the snow. Their strong legs are far back on their body and are so placed that the bird stands upright. The penguins are as much at home in the water as on the land. One remarkable habit of the penguins is the way they "talk" to one another. A dozen birds will meet on one of the beaches, and gathering in groups of two or three, spend fifteen or twenty minutes in animated conversation—uttering cries distinctly different in tone.

Penguins are fond of games, a favorite play being to force one another into the water. They dive deep and swim under water, sometimes coming to the surface more than 50 feet from shore.

Another sport of the penguins is a snow slide. They pick out a nice

TARTAR.

"Tartar" is a lime-like substance that forms on the teeth. It is composed of saliva, phosphate of lime, etc., and becomes attached to the teeth near the salivary duct. It is porous like a sponge and holds particles of food which decompose and taint the breath with an offensive odor. This tartar once formed increases, always in the direction of the gums; first inflaming them, then causing them to puff up and recede from the teeth, and finally by absorption of the bony sockets, to cause good, sound teeth to drop out for want of support.

SHACKLETON'S BODY LEAVES FOR SOUTH GEORGIA.

Deeply impressive scenes were witnessed at Monte Video at the funeral service of Sir Ernest Shackleton. With State ceremonial, the body was conveyed on a gun-carriage through troop-lined streets, and placed in the whaler "Woodville," which conveyed the dead explorer on his last voyage South—to the island of South Georgia. Here, at the "Gate of the Antarctic," the scene of his great exploit in 1916, when he crossed the island in his journey to bring relief to the men of the lost Endeavour, and the scene of his death on January 5, he will be buried in the everlasting snows. The funeral service was read in the English Church by Canon Blount. The coffin, which was covered with a Union Jack, was the rough wooden one made by the whaler "Woodville," which bore a simple brass plate with the inscription: "Ernest Henry Shackleton, died January 5, 1922." A magnificent bronze wreath was sent by the Uruguayan Government. There were also wreaths from Lady Shackleton, Sir Ernest's mother, and Mr. J. Q. Rowett, who was mainly responsible for financing the Quest expedition. These were placed on the coffin. A bronze memorial plaque presented by Old Alleynians—Shackleton was a Dulwich boy—a bronze wreath presented by the English community at Monte Video, and many other wreaths and flowers filled a cartilage. The cartilage left the church at 10 a.m. The coffin, placed on a gun-carriage by Ex-Service men, was taken to the English Club, where it was met by the Uruguayan Minister of Foreign Affairs and thence escorted by a guard of honour of Uruguayan Lancers to the wharf. The streets were lined with soldiers carrying old flags used in the War of Independence. The War Minister and many other Uruguayan officials had assembled at the wharf, where the Foreign Minister spoke of the sad privilege of rendering honour to so brave an explorer. Mr. Hope-Veré, acting British charge d'affaires, replied, thanking the Uruguayan Government in the name of Lady Shackleton, the expedition, and the British Government. A guard of sailors then placed the coffin aboard the Woodville for South Georgia.—News of The World.

Canadian Apple Growers to Receive Aid.

GOVERNMENT GRANT TOWARD GRADING AND PACKING PLANTS. In order to assist Ontario apple producers to compete on even terms in the markets of the world, and particularly the great British market, the Ontario Government has formulated a policy of giving provincial aid in the establishment of grading and packing plants. Legislation with this end in view will be introduced in the House during the session by Hon. Manning Doherty.

The Minister's proposal provided for a Government grant of twenty-five per cent, of the cost of erecting and equipping a grading and packing plant. While these plants would be available for the packing of all sorts of fruit the primary purpose is in the promoting of apple-grading. At the present time apples from British Columbia and the Western States have a preference in the British market, due largely to the better appearance they make when displayed to the trade and the public. Where Ontario apples are packed in more or less haphazard fashion—with some exceptions—and chiefly in barrels, the Western apples are carefully selected as to size and carefully boxed. The idea back of the new legislation is to encourage Ontario exporters to handle their fruit in the same way. The high standing attained by Ontario apples in competitive exhibits is evidence that, so far as quality is concerned, the apple from this Province has nothing to fear from competition, if properly marketed.

The proposed grants, of course, would be limited to co-operative organizations, either to growers' associations or to local groups of growers organized to handle their own crop. (Note.—The principle attempted in the movement as above expressed in a leading Canadian journal, is exactly the same as that proposed in the system of co-operative marketing of codfish as outlined by Mr. A. B. Morine, in various articles and addresses. Grading and selection of No. 1 products for export cannot do otherwise than influence the foreign purchasers, and here we have an example of Government aid to producers in a manner advantageous to both.—Editor Telegram.)

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!

And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes. It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.

LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.

Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.

Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roasts.

Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.

The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?

The blaze was put out without any damage being done to the building.

What is Your Verdict!

Is it not safe to assume that the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, who manufacture in their own huge perfectly equipped plant practically every part of the Ford car, are the people best qualified to make replacement parts at the lowest price compatible with the high quality which must be maintained?

Manufacturers of spurious parts, operating as they do on a small scale with limited capital and inadequate equipment, cannot possibly make parts of the same quality or accuracy at anywhere near the low price you have to pay for Genuine Ford Parts. Yet you are asked to believe that these spurious parts not only equal Genuine Ford Parts in quality but can be produced to sell for less!

We rest our case here. The verdict we leave to you.
