FURTHER AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

The number of Automobile Accidents, doing both injury to life and damage to property, is increasing daily. In many cases the auto owner cannot avoid these unfortunate occurrences, but whether to blame or not, he is invariably held responsible, and often called upon to pay large sums of money, far beyond the average man's ability.

THE PANGS OF REMORSE — 08 — A COMPLICATED TANGLE.

CHAPTER VIII.

He had never seen the face before not even in his dreams, and yet as his eyes rested on it and met the deep, peculiar expression, half sad, half restless, and wholly proud, a something seemed to knock at his heart and send the blood leaping through his veins.

But he could not sit there, silent, staring, for long.

"Why don't you think?" asked the child, and, with a start, he averted his gaze and finished the song, but in a dreamy, unconscious, absent way that robbed it of its charm and set the disappointed listeners talking again.

The song finished, he rose hastily; but the child clung to him, and, gentle at heart as a woman, although the sneer was so often on his lips and the scorn so ready to his weary-looking eyes, he could not disentangle its arms, but sat down and talked to it until the duchess, having received her last guests, came and took it away, much against the little one's will.

Then Clarence Clifford rose and looked round the room.

The face and its owner were gone. So had Lord Harcourt.

Recalled to his calm and indifferent bearing by the thrill of disappointment that ran through him at finding the lady had gone, he sauntered up to Mr. Dalton, who was sitting with a literary celebrity and trying to understand him, and proposed that they should go to the club.

"With all my heart," said the young spendthrift, eagerly. "I say, old fellow, how jolly you sang; but what was the matter with the middle verse? Forgive it, eh?"

"Forgot it—yes," replied Clarence Clifford, absently. "Come."

Arm in arm the two gentlemen were leaving the room, when suddenly Clarence Clifford withdrew his arm and said:

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs
Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. SHEPHERD, 130 Jos. Janesse Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painfulness, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. A druggist sells this medicine.

"Wait for me half a minute on the stair, will you?"

Then he walked away.

He had caught a glimpse of the face in one of the dimly lit anterooms. What he sought, what object was to be obtained by following her he knew not; he did not even ask himself. He was moved by an uncontrollable impulse, as unreasoning as that which had filled him with dislike for Lord Harcourt.

Pushing aside the curtain, he was about to enter when a voice stopped him. He drew back, not to listen, but simply because he was half unconscious of the object and, therefore, full of hesitation.

The lady was not alone. It was a man's voice, a gentleman's, a hard, curt, metallic voice that proclaimed as hard and metallic a heart.

"Leonora," it said, "I warn you. The time is drawing near. I will not, if you implore me on your knees, grant you another day over the stipulated one. You know me, you know how I am placed, you know—"

"Enough," came the woman's voice, and at its sound the hand of Clarence Clifford, grasping the curtain, shook and grew cold. "Enough of taunts, enough of warnings. Would I were dead to be beyond their reach!"

"Dead!" sneered the man's voice; "that is an idiot's paradise. Better live and grow wise; better live and do as I bid."

"Silence!" came the woman's voice. "I will bear no more. Keep to our bargain, base hound; the time has not expired; until it has, dare not to breathe warning or threat to me, or I—"

"What?" he sneered, as she stopped. "To gain breath, as Clarence Clifford says, for she had pressed one trembling hand against her heaving bosom."

"What? Oh, what that is not awful!" she answered him, fiercely. "Better be in the grave, better be an outcast on the world, than live your slave, subject to your taunts, your vile sneers, your vile commands!"

She made a movement as if to leave him, but the man, whoever he was, stretched out his hand and caught her arm.

Thus arrested, Clarence Clifford saw her shudder, shrink as it with loathing and disgust, and heard her utter a smothered cry.

The blood that had been bubbling and careering within his young veins boiled over red-hot at this, and with the spring of a lion, as powerful, bloodthirsty and noiseless, he grasped the man's throat, shook him as he would have done a dog, and hurled him back.

The lady staggered for a moment, but by dint of grasping the back of one of the high chairs kept herself from falling or fainting.

Clarence Clifford stood with one hand clinched and ready for a blow, the other hanging at his side, but quite as ready to grasp the throat a second time.

The man had not fallen, and now stood confronting the blazing eyes of his young assailant.

His hand, thin lips were set like iron for a moment, then as a sneer curled them he said, huskily:

"Mr. Clifford."

"Lord Harcourt," retorted Mr. Clarence Clifford, sternly.

"I shall call upon you to answer for this."

"When and as soon as you please, my lord," replied Clarence Clifford. "But I fear that he who is coward enough to attack a lady so brutally as I have seen you attack this lady but a moment since will scarcely have courage enough to receive his punishment from the hands of a man."

Lord Harcourt's face grew livid, but the sneering smile seemed rooted upon his face.

"If you doubt my courage, lad, ask that lady, of whom you have elected yourself protector how many have faced Lord Harcourt on Calais Sands and died for their presumption."

"Good!" said the stern voice. "I feared your courage would have needed a little farther filip and was prepared to give it—and he lifted his hand significantly. "I wait your summons, my lord."

"And your death!" retorted Lord Harcourt, lifting the curtain and passing out.

Clarence Clifford, who had stood riveted to the spot while this parley had been going on, now moved eagerly to find the lady whom he had been so fortunate enough to protect.

CHAPTER IX.

Having reached his chambers, Clarence Clifford threw himself into one of the many luxurious chairs and fell to thinking. He had heard of Lord Harcourt's mankiness, knew that he had winged his man or two on Calais sands, and bore beside the reputation of a charmed life.

"Well," he murmured, divesting himself of his overcoat, and ringing for his valet, "life has not been over-pleasant, death does not seem so dreadful. But there is the other side of the question—he shall not go unpunished."

And with a stern smile he asked the valet to get him his pistols and sword cases.

The gentlemanly servant obeyed him with alacrity, and waited while the offensive and defensive weapons were taken from their snug resting places.

Clarence Clifford took up one of the gleaming rapiers, and that thrill which animates the arm of every swordsman ran through him at the contact with the smooth handle.

Many Champions.

Warrington had produced many champions in the various fields of sport, and he wanted the boys to try and follow in his steps and never let down the good old town of Warrington. "Keep it at the top," said "Steve." "If there was a boy who was inclined towards jockeyship, he would be only too willing to help him on in that direction. "If I don't win the Derby again I hope we shall have this affair an annual one," he concluded.

His Mother's Little Play.

Among those present at the entertainment were Donoghue's aged mother and father, who take a keen interest in the racing successes of their son. Whenever Donoghue rides a big winner his mother puts out a flag at her little cottage. It was flying after his Derby victory. Others present were Mr. T. Coulthwaite, Alderman Bennett, Councilors Archer and Bolton, and Messrs. H. Mather and J. Howard.

And so say all of us!

The welcome was renewed as he made his appearance at the entertainment which followed the tea, when he was accompanied on the platform by Father Hinde, priest-in-charge of St. Mary's Church, Father Hinde received a unanimous affirmative when he asked the children if they would like Donoghue to win the Derby every week. After three cheers had been given for their host, Donoghue was invited to speak.

In the course of his address he said such a gathering gave him the greatest pleasure of his life. All the Derby winners he had ridden had not given him greater pleasure than he had that night. "I attended this school as a boy," said "Steve," and I would like to give this advice to you boys: In everything do your best. If they did that he was sure they would come out on top as he had done. He had heard some cheering on the racetrack, but even the cheers he received on winning the Derby were nothing as compared to the cheers he had received that night. To him it was a delight to see so many cheering, happy children.

"Now, if I have not forgotten my skill, Lord Harcourt should find a match. Take these down, Norton, and clean them—you know-how to do so?"

"Oh, yes, sir," replied the valet, with a confident smile, handling the weapons with ease. "The major, my last master, was a great fencer, sir; he it was who killed Mr. Vernon and wounded Sir William Thompkinson at Madrid."

Clarence Clifford nodded and examined the pistols.

"Do you understand these?"

"Oh, yes, sir; I will clean them both and carefully. If there anything else I can do, sir?"

"Nothing," said his master. "Be ready when I ring to bring these things up."

The valet, with the cases under his arm, left the room, and Clarence Clifford seated himself at his writing desk.

Before he could arrange his paper the valet knocked and announced Mr. Dalton.

"Ah, opportune!" said Clarence. "Sit down, Dalton; I was writing to you."

"Me! the deuce! I say, old fellow, how did you manage to give me the slip? I waited a quarter of an hour on the stairs for you."

"I am sorry," was the reply. "I was detained; can you guess by what?"

"How should I?" asked the other.

"How, indeed," said Clarence Clifford. "Well, you wished to do me a service to-night for the small loan I gave you."

Steve Donoghue at His Old School

TREAT TO 800 CHILDREN AT WARRINGTON.

"Steve" Donoghue, the famous jockey, who is a native of Warrington, hit upon the happy idea of celebrating his recent Derby victory by entertaining over 800 school children at St. Mary's Roman Catholic School, Warrington, which he attended as a boy.

Deafening Cheers.

There were scenes of great rejoicing at Ashton Hall, where it took place. It was found necessary in view of the large number of children to have three sittings, and just as the last batch of youngsters had finished their tea, Donoghue, who had motored over from Manchester, made his appearance. Outside the hall there was a dense crowd, and the streets adjoining were gay with hunting. There were deafening cheers as Donoghue, who was carried shoulder high by some of his male admirers, made his appearance. Over the schoolroom door was a welcome couched in the following terms: "Greetings to our Steve." It was some time before Donoghue could make his way into the hall, so enthusiastic were the children.

And so say all of us!

The welcome was renewed as he made his appearance at the entertainment which followed the tea, when he was accompanied on the platform by Father Hinde, priest-in-charge of St. Mary's Church, Father Hinde received a unanimous affirmative when he asked the children if they would like Donoghue to win the Derby every week. Warrington had produced many champions in the various fields of sport, and he wanted the boys to try and follow in his steps and never let down the good old town of Warrington. "Keep it at the top," said "Steve." "If there was a boy who was inclined towards jockeyship, he would be only too willing to help him on in that direction. "If I don't win the Derby again I hope we shall have this affair an annual one," he concluded.

His Mother's Little Play.

Among those present at the entertainment were Donoghue's aged mother and father, who take a keen interest in the racing successes of their son. Whenever Donoghue rides a big winner his mother puts out a flag at her little cottage. It was flying after his Derby victory. Others present were Mr. T. Coulthwaite, Alderman Bennett, Councilors Archer and Bolton, and Messrs. H. Mather and J. Howard.

2,000-Year-Old Bread DUG UP INTACT FROM EGYPTIAN BAKERY.

University of Michigan Expedition Finds Many Perishable Articles Preserved in Dry Soil of Ancient Karanis—Ptolemaic Temple Uncovered.

CARLO, June 2 (A. P.)—The University of Michigan Expedition excavating on the site of ancient Karanis in Egypt has found more than 2,000 objects illustrating the culture of the Graeco-Roman period. The city flourished in the centuries immediately preceding and following the birth of Christ.

Prof. Francis W. Kelsey, director of the excavation, recently returned to the United States.

Since December, 1914, more than 1,000 rooms and 300 houses have been cleared of sand and debris. The site is so dry that the preservation of perishable substances is perfect.

The articles found include more than 450 Greek papyri, including a library dating from the second to the fifth century; a large collection of glass vessels, fifty examples of basketry, textiles from the fine linen to coarse weaves resembling burl, and more than 100 examples of wooden tools.

About 300 terra cotta objects, 200 lamps and a great number of coins have been found.

Among the tools are farm implements and perfectly preserved sets of harness for donkeys and camels. A large bakery was unearthed with its grain bins and a large mill and pieces of coarse loaves of bread, just as they were left when the bakers abandoned the town.

The glass vessels, exquisite in shape and color, present their original appearance. Glass so well preserved has been found on only one other site in Egypt.

The houses were built of sun-dried bricks, usually plastered on the inside.

side, vaulted ceilings supported upper stories.

While the excavation this site has been limited chiefly to the layers of the mound which mark the site, and to the Roman period, a temple of limestone was completely excavated. It clearly belongs to Ptolemaic period, and may have dedicated to Serapis.

Dodge Brothers Set New Record

Deliveries and Production Exceeded Best Previous Week in History.

Dodge Brothers have been establishing new high records continuously for several months, as compared with similar periods for previous years. The record of the week ending August 11 is the best in the company's history. With retail deliveries aggregated more than 7,000, an average of more than 1,300 each production day, the best previous week was surpassed several hundred cars. New retail orders exceeded the corresponding week of 1924 by 1,000, or approximately 13.7 per cent.

Although Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are now being built at the rate of 1,100 a day, both deliveries and orders are some 200 a day in excess of production.

"Had dealers' stocks permitted, number of deliveries for the week would have been even greater," said John A. Nichol, Jr., Vice-President in Charge of Sales. "It is no sport, but a steady, healthful climb."

Bandits Dispersed Near Hong Kong by British Patrol Boats

Lives Lost and Property Destroyed by Floods in Central Europe—B.E.S.L. will Suggest Re-formation of Nfld. Naval Reserve—Crisis Approaching in British Coal Mining Dispute.

DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS IN GALICIA AND SILESIA.

WARSAW, Poland, June 30. Devastating floods have followed the first rainy spell experienced for a generation in Galicia and Silesia. The Vistula River and all mountain streams are out of their banks. The city of Cracow is in danger and all villages in the region have been deluged. Many villages have been submerged. Fifteen children crossing a bridge over the Dnieper River near Marjampol on a school excursion were washed away and all perished.

BRITISH LAUNCH DISPENSES BRIGANDS.

HONG KONG, June 30. An armed launch river patrol of the British Government protecting shipping on the West River area near here, to-day met a large body of brigands cruising toward Kongsmoon. The British opened fire on the bandits, killing many and dispersing the remainder, for which they were thanked by Kongsmoon residents. Reports were prevalent that several women missionaries, who have taken refuge in Hong Kong, have accepted employment on the liner Empress of Asia, as stewardesses for the return trip to Vancouver, B.C.

MOUNTAIN DISAPPEARING.

JACKSON, Wyoming, July 1. A great mountain is slowly but almost perceptibly moving down upon the Snake River Valley, crumbling as it goes and threatening a complete change in the topography of the country. The north end of Chief Mountain, believed to have been split from the main peak by the recent earthquake disturbances, is following the avalanche of last Tuesday, when sections of Sheep Mountain fell into the river

WILL ASK RE-ESTABLISHMENT NFLD. R.N.R.

OTTAWA, July 1. The British Empire Service League will make representations to the Imperial Government requesting the re-formation of a disbanded unit of the Royal Naval Reserve in Newfoundland as a result of a resolution passed by delegates of the League in a conference this morning.

PROPERTY CONSCRIPTION SUG- GESTED.

OTTAWA, July 1. A resolution put forward by the Canadian delegates at the British Empire Service League Conference commending the principle of conscription in the event of war, of properties equally with persons, lives and liberties of all citizens, was deferred for further discussion at the conference this morning.

WORKING FOR UNION.

OTTAWA, July 1. Four veterans' associations in Canada already pledged themselves to the establishment of a united organization as a result of a series of conferences held since the arrival of Field Marshal Earl Haig in Ottawa. Representatives of several other national and local bodies have pledged themselves to carry the proposal for a complete union to their memberships and obtain an expression as soon as possible.

AUSTRALIA DISLIKES COLONIAL.

OTTAWA, July 1. A casual use of the word colonial at the conference of the British Empire Service League this morning brought a protest from Hon. James Cornhill, of Australia, who said the word had an unpleasant significance in Australia, where it recalled the old bad days when men were sent from Britain to Australia for their country's good.

A QUAKE STORY.

LOS ANGELES, June 30. A graphic account of the terror that overtook the occupants of a building in the downtown districts of Santa Barbara in the earthquake zone, were brought here to-day by W. R. Scott, of Los Angeles, who had a narrow escape from death in the California Hotel.

Awakened by the first shock, he said, he saw the walls of the room shaking. "They swayed sickeningly," he continued. "I leaped out of bed and raced downstairs clad only in pyjamas. In the lobby I overtook a man struggling toward the door with a small child. As they reached it the building gave way and debris and wreckage piled on them. I dived through a window into the street. When I looked back the hotel was gaunt ruin, its outer wall fallen into the street, and standing on a heap of wreckage on the floor I saw a fat man screaming at the top of his voice for a taxicab. Later I found most of the guests, huddled in scanty attire in a vacant lot nearby. They had fled from the building as the shock came." Still pyjama clad, Scott met an autist bound for Hollywood. The man invited him to come along and together they fled without additional garments.

THE SANTA BARBARA EARTH- QUAKE.

SANTA BARBARA, July 1. The citizens of Santa Barbara, the earthquake stricken city of the Pacific, to-day faced the serious problems of reconstruction which confront them in returning their city to what was formerly described as the millionaires' playground of the Pacific coast. Ten people have lost their lives in the earthquake, described as the heaviest to visit the Pacific coast. Five major shocks have been recorded since the first tremble on Monday, but throughout the night there have been nearly a score of slight almost imperceptible shocks. No exact estimate of loss has been announced, but it has been described as between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000. During the night structural engineers who have been assigned the task of testing the remaining strength of the city's structures began arriving from Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was freely predicted that many buildings, although exhibition but slight traces of the earthquake's ravage would be ordered demolished to make way for more solid and substantial structures. On the grimmer side of the picture the death toll mounted to ten when the body of R. M. Litchfield, a wealthy Santa Barbara was found under a pile of bricks on State Street. Earlier, Herrado Charis, an injured Mexican, died at the cottage hospital. This left the list of injured at 29 and hopes for the recovery of all were held out by the attending surgeons. Following tremors if dwindling tendency throughout the day, the people of the city, or the majority of them, made preparations to spend another night on their lawns. The confine ment without four walls of a bedroom still was considered undesirable in the light of recent happenings.

CANTON CUSTOMS HOUSE REOPENED.

QUEBEC, June 30. The Quebec Telegraph makes formal announcement to-day that the journal will cease with to-day's publication. It will be replaced by a re-organized paper under the title of Chronicle-Telegraph. The first issue will appear on Thursday afternoon.

CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT MAY AFFECT A CHANGE.

SPRINGFIELD, July 1. The change of government due to take place in about a week's time may lead to some development in the Nova Scotia tie up, or so the Conservative pre and post campaign statements have been generally interpreted, but from no other source is there any apparent promise of a break in the impasse reached in the controversy between the British Empire Steel Corporation and their miner employees. It is believed that intensified watchfulness on the part of the military and police will prevent anything serious from the burnings which have been taking place for the last fortnight and that these will be confined to isolated and deserted buildings. A small store house near No. 2 colliery at Aberdeen was last night's toll.

RIFFIAN ATTACKS CONTINUE.

PARIS, June 30. Moroccan dispatches report Abd el Krim, Moroccan leader, is still attacking the French, directing his efforts towards Taza as preliminary to an advance on Fez.

MINERS MAY BE ASSESSED BY U. M.W.A.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 1. 158,000 workers in the anthracite coal field would be assessed at least $1.00 each for two months to help finance the United Mine Workers of America through the current depression in the soft coal fields, if the Tri-District Convention adopts a resolution that is expected to be submitted to it to-day. John P. Lewis, International Miners' President, in addressing the convention yesterday, after pledging a finish fight in the approaching negotiations with the anthracite operators to renew the contract expiring August 31, warned the bituminous operators that unless steps were taken to enforce the Jacksonville agreement, Union officials may order a nation wide strike in the soft coal fields.

THE REX DISASTER.

NEW YORK, July 1. Bringing nine survivors of the Gloucester, Mass., fishing schooner Rex, which was sunk off Halifax, Sunday, with the loss of fifteen of her crew, when she was rammed by the Ancher Line steamer Tuscania, the Tuscania docked this a.m., 24 hours behind her schedule, chiefly owing to delay involved in the accident. The Tuscania also brought the body of Captain Thomas Downie, the Rex's skipper, who died soon after being picked up. A letter framed by the Captain David-Done, her commander, complimenting him on his rescue efforts. The Tuscania remained on the scene for four hours, rescue being impeded by the heavy fog through which it was necessary to grope blindly for the survivors. Captain Downie was picked up in a dying condition and survived only a short time.

A SKYSCRAPER CHURCH.

NEW YORK, July 1. More than 8,000 people last night witnessed the breaking of the ground for New York's first skyscraper church, Broadway Temple, at Broadway and 174th Street. The building will cost four millions and will include a large gymnasium with swimming pool, play rooms for children, an apartment hotel, and the temple itself will occupy five or six of the thirty stories. The basement will be given over to children.

BRITISH INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK.

The BROADWAY HOUSE of FASHION

"A STORE FOR EVERYBODY"

Tragic End of Globe Trotters' Long Honeymoon

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 25.—The seven-year-old honeymoon of Franklin H. Chase, associate editor of the Syracuse, N. Y. Journal, and Anne Agan Chase, has ended in the peaceful village of Stowe, amid the simple surroundings for which the pair had searched in 29 countries and throughout 109,000 miles of travel. Mrs. Chase was buried on Tuesday in the Hillside Cemetery which overlooks the little town in Berwickshire, some 25 miles from Edinburgh.

For seven years, since their marriage, which was the culmination of a childhood romance, the Chase's had been travelling constantly, together they had faced dangers in many cities and out-of-the-way places of the world.

Monday, as they motored through Scotland, Mrs. Chase was seized with apoplexy and died within two hours. It was a strange twist of fate that ended the romance of the couple among the peaceful hills they had longed to find. "She was my wife and chum," Mr. Chase said on Tuesday. "We had been in many dangerous places over the world, and in places where there was trouble my wife always shared the dangers. Here we were on Monday, passing through the quietest little town in the world when she was stricken with apoplexy and in a little while she was dead. Many times, when we were in big cities among noise and worry we longed to reach a sleepy little place like Stowe.

"Now that we have reached it, I will leave my wife on a hillside such as she had always wished for. I know she would have wanted it that way. Now I'm going home alone, but some day I'll return to Scotland for her in the village of Stowe. I've met the kindest Scots the world over. I can never forget all they did for me in this tragedy."

Saved From Prison Term by Airplane

New York, June 5.—Thanks to the arrival of finger prints by airplane mail across the country Douglas Mackenzie, who came here from the Canadian west to become a movie actor was free to-day instead of starting a five year prison term because of his remarkable resemblance to another man with a criminal record.

He pleaded guilty to defrauding a store by forging credit vouchers, but denied that he had a criminal record in Oakland, Calif., as the police suspected. In response to an appeal by the New York police finger-prints of the ex-convict arrived yesterday, and it was noted that the Californian's had a slightly different kind of a whorl than the actor's, one was spiral the other elliptical.

In suspending sentence instead of giving the defendant five years, as he had intended, Judge Manuso said: "Modern science has stepped in to aid you. A man named John Mackenzie, the same age as you, who was born in Scotland just as you were, who has the same brown eyes, is of the same height and weight, who wears the same sized hats and shoes, and whose photographs is identical with yours has a criminal record.

"In the old days, on the strength of these almost conclusive proofs that you were he, I should have sent you to prison. The long distance telephone, the radio and the airplane have all assisted the court in checking up your records and in determining that you are not that Mackenzie. The finger prints show that."

Medical Men Hail Thyroid Gland as Great Discovery

Hundreds of Canadian Doctors Hear Technical Address on Advanced Experimentation.

Regina, June 24.—Hailed as the greatest contribution to medical science since the discovery of Insulin, the advance of experimental work in connection with the thyroid gland was outlined by Dr. J. P. Collip, University of Alberta, in a scientific address.

Can't do Without MINARD'S

"When we came back to England we brought a bottle of Minard's with us, but since then we can't get any liniment to come up to it. Will you please write and let us know how much it would cost to have 100 bottles sent over."

MRS. R. ADAMS, Old Town, Hastings, England. We receive dozens of letters from far away countries asking for Minard's. For sprains, bruises, burns, colds, inflammations, etc., it has no equal.

MINARD'S LINIMENT.

here last night before hundreds of doctors attending the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

The researches to-day, he explained, had been confined to experiments upon animals, particularly guinea pigs. A peculiar form of convulsion had been associated with the operation of these glands. By the injection of extract, these severe symptoms could now be completely controlled, so he said, as regularly applied. Failure to administer the injection resulted in recurrence of the convulsion.

Dr. Collip stated definitely that extract had not been applied to treatment of human patients.

The extract, the speaker explained, was obtained from the ox, the glands of 800 of these animals being required for the production of one pound of serum.

"Trimmed"
 A story is told of an Irishman, walking along a street in London, saw a cripple sitting on the gutter, leaning on a cane, with both legs and one arm, and who was badly disfigured. The man stopped, engaged the cripple in conversation, and when he had finished, that the cripple was an Englishman, he gave him a sovereign which he was profusely thanked. The Englishman walked away, but after proceeding a short distance, he turned back and gave the Englishman another sovereign. Again he was thanked, but when he returned for the third time and offered a third sovereign, the cripple said: "You have been so generous as

PEARS' Used in the best circles.
 To give me three sovereigns?" To which the Irishman replied: "Well this is the first time in my life that I have ever seen an Englishman trimmed to my entire satisfaction and I am forty-three years old." The Tory Party of Nova Scotia must feel in somewhat the same genial mood as that Irishman did, when they awaken to the fact that the Liberal Party has been so completely "trimmed."

 We would not, if we could, deprive our Tory friends of the happiness which would be theirs at the victory—the first in forty-three years—which they have won. It undoubtedly was now or never with them. And it is now.—Morning Chronicle.
Earning and Spending
 J. A. S. in the Westminster Gazette:—It is unfortunately not according to human experience that the power of spending money inclines the majority of people to be more active and industrious in the daily toil of producing things; and the Socialist State which paid out high wages in the faith that this consequence would follow would almost certainly find itself in a very short time with a debased currency and an impoverished people.

$7,500,000 Cut in C. N. R. Estimates
MINISTER OF RAILWAY MOVES REDUCTION.
 OTTAWA, June 25.—(C.P.)—When the estimates came up in the House last night, Rt. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, moved that the $7,500,000 additional money asked for on behalf of the Canadian National Railways be not voted, but he struck out of the estimates. His motion was carried. This is the reduction in the estimated requirements of the railway which Mr. Graham intimated in a recent speech the national road intended to get along without.

 Mr. Graham withdrew two other estimates, one of $6,500 adjustment of war pay for employees of his department and another of $40,000, a rebate for St. Lawrence Canal, in Ontario. The latter, he said, had been put in by mistake and was not needed.
 Most of the estimates for the department of railways and canals had been adopted when the evening sitting of the House began.

Bishop of Albany Startles London
IN SERMON HE POINTS TO WAR VICTORY AS DEFEAT.
 LONDON, June 26.—"The tomb of the unknown warrior is at present a memorial to defeated men," declared Bishop Oldham, of Albany, N.P., in a remarkable sermon in Westminster Abbey. The Bishop's thesis was that the war had so disorganized the ordered life of the world that no victory was won.
 "Victors and vanquished alike," he said, "were plunged into such an abyss of physical anguish that from any standpoint of real values it is difficult to distinguish between the conquered and the conquerors."

"England, with its economic dislocation, its millions of unemployed, its million of bereaved homes and its uncertain future, is the strangest example of a victorious nation the world has ever seen."
 "England was to become a place for heroes to live in. America fought a war to end war. Where is this victory?"

A Protest Against Certain Foreign Peddlers

A correspondent calls our attention to the practice of certain individuals from abroad who peddle glasses in the outports. They test the eyesight of patients, it is said, and within the hour supply them with lenses which are supposed to suit their requirements. Our correspondent points out that even if the tests carried out were correctly made, it would be a practical impossibility to supply the requirements in particular cases from the limited stock of lenses carried, and without possessing the grinding and edging apparatus which is needed in this business. "It is an injustice," the writer adds, "to the people who do not know the difference, and it is likewise an injustice to those who have spent time and money in making a study of this work."

Our correspondent's protest has much to justify it, and if, as he also claims, many of these peddlers have not taken out a license as required under the Act, it is a matter for the authorities to look into. The other side of the question, namely, the injury that may be caused by unqualified parties prescribing glasses for persons suffering from defective eyesight, is far more serious and demands that measures should be taken to prevent it. This is by no means the first instance of the kind that we have heard of, and in the past at any rate, to our own knowledge glasses which have been supplied by such travellers have been afterwards proved absolutely worthless and even injurious.

If this is a matter with which the Newfoundland Medical Association can deal, we trust that it will receive their attention when their annual meeting takes place.

The British Empire Service League

The references to the matters under consideration by the British Empire Service League in Ottawa are sufficient to indicate the importance of the Conference, and further particulars will be awaited with interest. The suggestion to consolidate the various units will tend to extend the work of the organization, and with such a leader as Field Marshal Earl Haig the benefits that must accrue to the various dependencies and to the Empire as a whole cannot be estimated. One of the suggestions made is that the Naval Reserve should be re-organized in Newfoundland. It has been a constant cause of regret that this unit was disbanded, as it not only indicated the desire of the Oldest Colony to bear a part of the burden of Great Britain's responsibility, but the effect upon those who understand this course of training was of the greatest value both to themselves and to the country generally.

THE TRAINS.—The express arrived at 2 p.m. The local arrived 12:45 p.m. The express for foreign connections went out at 1 p.m.

A Message of Greeting

FROM FIELD MARSHAL EARL HAIG. His Excellency the Governor has received the following telegram from Field Marshal Earl Haig: "July. On this the first anniversary of the outbreak of your National War Memorial, I would be grateful if you would convey to the G.W.V.A. and people of Newfoundland hearty good wishes and sincere greetings from my wife and myself. We remember most gratefully the very kind welcome which Newfoundland gave us last year. HAIG."

Arrives From Tour of Inspection

Mr. H. J. Russell, General Manager of the Railway, and Engineer W. F. Joyce arrived by private car attached to a freight train at 8 o'clock this morning after a four days' tour of inspection along the western end of the railway. The tour extended as far as St. George's, with stop offs at Grand Falls and Corner Brook. Mr. Russell states everything is working well on the western end, particularly the line between Stephenville and Curling, where much ballasting of the road has been done of late. The main line is now in excellent shape right through to Port aux Basques, and all trains are operating successfully and moving on schedule time. Freight is being handled everywhere with despatch, although it is not as heavy as this time last year. Two trains are working daily carrying pulp wood from Terra Nova for the A.N.D. Co. at Grand Falls. While at Corner Brook a visit was made to the paper plant of the Newfoundland Power and Paper Company. Four paper machines are being installed, but only one is ready as yet, and this will be operated for a first time on Friday. The official opening of the plant takes place on August 24th.

S.S. Caribou Due in August

The balance of the crew to bring out the S.S. Caribou, will leave here for Liverpool by the next sailing of the s.s. Newfoundland from this port. The Caribou should arrive about the second week in August. She was launched June 9th at the New Waterway Shipbuilding Company Yards, Holland. The specifications of the ship are as follows: Length between perpendiculars, 267 ft.; moulded depth, 41 ft.; moulded depth to upper deck, 25.6; deadweight capacity, 1,300 tons on a draft of 17.5; steam 15 knots; triple expansion balanced engines of the Yarrow-Schlick-Tweedy System; Cylinders, 23 1/2" x 40" x 45" stroke, 42". Two boilers carrying steam pressure of 200 lbs. on forced draught. The Caribou has accommodation for 250 first class and second class passengers.

Store Burglarized

Burglars entered the Warren hardware store on Water Street yesterday, and breaking a safe secured about $50 in cash. The police were apprised of the robbery this morning, and before noon the detectives had made one arrest in connection with the affair. It is thought that more than one was implicated in the job, and other arrests are likely to follow.

Rosalind Arrives

S.S. Rosalind, Capt. James, arrived from New York via Halifax at 6.30 this morning, after a good passage. The ship left Halifax on Monday at 1.30 p.m., and shortly after leaving a heavy sea and thick fog was encountered, which continued the same along the coast. Despite this the run occupied only 41 hours. The ship brought a full freight, besides the following passengers: From New York—Fred Johnson, Madeline Johnson, Thos. Motis, Samuel Spencer, Gertrude Colbourne, Elinor Churchill, Mrs. Maud Sexton and five children, Bessie Parrott, Lizzie Howell, Mrs. Charles E. Pope, Mrs. S. J. Tucker, H. Volsey, Wm. ### Charming Ladies

Invariably use Three Flowers toilet requisites. They are supreme. The last word in fashion. The dainty odor of "THREE FLOWERS" fragrant with the most appealing scent, will immediately single out the user. It is a mark of good taste to use Three Flowers. Cheap powders and creams may have done once upon a time, but today, women want the best! No lady would care to indulge in the use of inferior cosmetics. Both the Cream and Powder in Three Flowers are excellent aids to a beautiful complexion. July 21

From Cape Race

Special to Evening Telegram. CAPE RACE, To-day. Wind W. S. W. strong, weather dull, preceded by fog. The steamers Rosalind passed in at 140 and Haugarland west at 9 a.m. Bar, 29.85; Bar, 58.

BROUGHT IN PATIENT.—Sergeant S. White arrived by today's express from Catalina, bringing a patient for the Asylum.

PEPPS BEHIND THE SCENES.

June 29th.—Up betimes and abroad and busy all the day settling my accounts in order for the half year. But Lord, while my condition is somewhat improved yet 'tis still far from fortunate, and my gettings barely equal my spendings, which I do lay to my wife's extravagance. Forget-me-nots being sold on the streets this day, I do spend what surplus change I have in buying them. This a most successful day for the sellers, being, I learn, the largest collection for some years past. July 1st.—Up this day and to walk with Povey, the weather mighty warm and makes me perspire beyond anything I do remember. In the afternoon, to the G.W.V.A. Sports, where a goodly crowd, albeit the high wind do make it difficult for the runners. A thing that troubles me is how there are so few entrants for the sports this year, and do seem how there is not so much interest in athletics as in former years. Anon home and have little energy left for further going abroad, so do content myself with drinking tea and reading in a diverting book which is not heavy enough in matter to make me think.

Memorial Service at Bar Haven

BAR HAVEN, July 1. On this beautiful festival day, the feast of the visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, solemn high mass was sung by Rev. Father Cacciola in fond memory of his dear departed mother, who presented the magnificent altar of the Blessed Virgin to the Church. All the altars of the Church were prettily decorated with flowers.

Fire Sufferers Doing Well

Mrs. Fred O'Neill, who received severe burns and other body injuries, in the fire at the O'Neill home, Patrick Street, about two months ago, is now doing well at the hospital, and it is expected she will be well enough to leave the institution in about three weeks time. Mr. O'Neill, who had his left arm badly burnt at the time, has practically lost the use of it, but doctors hope to bring it around again with the necessary treatment.

Motor Cars Collide

Yesterday afternoon a collision between two motor cars occurred at the junction of Job Street and Water Street in which both cars were damaged. When the collision occurred one car, owned by Mr. Joseph O'Curry and driven by his son John, was turning from Job Street into Water Street, whilst the other, owned and driven by Mr. James Crawford, was proceeding east on Water Street.

Two Ships

(I.C.M.)

The Furness Withy Company are worthy of all the congratulations which have been expressed upon their new ship, the S.S. Newfoundland, and the country itself, after which the good ship is named, has had a noteworthy compliment paid it. This is gratifying, because compliments to Newfoundland come but seldom.

As a maritime people we are keenly interested in ships and shipping, and our entire history has been favoured with the brine of the ocean, and many times have we been called upon to pay the "price of admiralty." Ships, to us, awaken touching memories, and a thousand lives have been engulfed with them. Hence our interest in them, and our special interest in the new ship Newfoundland upon her first arrival in port.

It is an old saying "that a thing of beauty is a joy forever." Some such thought as this occurred to us at our first sight of the ship; but when we had boarded her, and had looked around a bit, we soon realized that there was much more than beauty; for we saw that to beauty was added comfort and to comfort safety. We beheld marine architecture at its best, and palatial grandeur as a climax. We had expected much; nor were we disappointed in our expectations. Nor were we alone in our views, for our entire company all expressed the same opinions, and seemed to think that "the half had not been told." Our visit brought to mind that of Sheba's queen to Solomon. True, we had no presents to bring, nor any to receive, but the order, and discipline, and grandeur of the ship shed a radiance and a splendor that set us thinking.

Thus our thoughts went back to the years of the Cunamas, when the little Delta and the Merlin and the Osprey looked at St. John's; and to the years when the Allan ships first came, and to the little wooden ship "Newfoundland" which ran the winter service from Halifax for that company. We had sailed on three of those ships, and with the last named we had an intimate knowledge. We knew her good captain well. We saw the first and the last of the little ship, and on her arrival, some fifty years ago, we considered her an excellent vessel—and such was she, of her class—and of her date. Her name had an attraction for us then. To our limited view she was immense. What a difference in these two ships. What would our good old Capt. Melius, who ran without mishap the first "Newfoundland," say to such a ship as this second Newfoundland?

There is really no true comparison between such ships. Marine architecture has undergone such a vast change, and engineering skill has so developed, and scientific devices have so increased, and knowledge generally, has made such rapid strides, that the new has not only supplanted the old, but it has completely obliterated it. And so in the new ship of which we write; she is the last thing in her line. In her we behold the perfection of centuries.

The addition of the S.S. Newfoundland to our trade and commerce is an event of no little importance. It implies that the owners and agents have faith in the country, and that the travelling public have had the best possible service placed at their disposal. It also denotes that our trade with Britain is increasing, and that the Imperial tie is still more than a mere name. It has in it a tone of Empire, and may be interpreted as a mark of respect to the land which has the proud distinction of being the first born colonial child of the Empire, and after which the ship is named.

The Furness Withy Company have shown themselves as people of big heart, and if the beauty of the ship is a reflection of their magnanimity of soul, then the statement that "corporations are soulless" does not apply in their case. We congratulate them and wish them well, knowing that in their success we are partners.

$50,000 Pearl Found by Boy Diver

What is called the world's finest pearl, a lustrous, peacock-green gem nearly three quarters of an inch in diameter and weighing almost thirty carats, has been found off one of the Gambier Islands in the South Pacific Ocean by an eighteen-year-old native boy diver says Popular Mechanics. He parted with it for a small fortune, and the buyer is said to have offered $50,000 for the treasure. It is not an uncommon occurrence for the fishermen to go out in their little canoes in the morning and return at evening rich according to their standards. The find of the young boy, however, is said to be the largest in the records of the region.

The ideal assortment of toilet preparations for a short vacation will be found in the THREE FLOWERS cosmetics selling for fifty cents at all drug and Dept. Stores.—June 29, m, th, fr

TO A BRIDE AND GROOM.

Long lives to you and happy be your years!
God bless the home your souls are pledged to build!
May it be free from doubts and hurts and fears.
A gentle place, with love and laughter filled.

Yet you should know that life is not all sweet
And love is not all gladness, which a prayer
Can keep forever. Oft with faltering feet
There will be heavy burdens you must bear.

God strengthen you when love is being tried,
God hold you fast when disappointments rise,
Meet grief and trouble bravely, side by side,
And love shall live though fortune fades and dies.

God be with you if you're brave of heart,
Love will remain if you will bid it stay,
But never let life's shams draw you apart,
Together you must journey down the way.

Grief may be yours but love will make it sweet,
Cares may descend, but love will live them through,
Keep faith and fear no danger you may meet,
All will be well if only you be true.

Health of the Workers

Human Element in Industry—Loss of Time Caused by Sickness.

More and more is the human element in industry being recognized; yet much more remains to be done. Last year the Industrial Fatigue Research Board suggested the formation in each important industry of a small committee representative of employers and workmen to deal with questions affecting the human factor and to consult with bodies like the Board and the National Institute of Industrial Psychology. The response made to these suggestions, says the board's annual report, has up to the present been disappointing, and although they are now being considered by certain industries, no definite action has yet been decided upon. The board cites two examples of how the introduction of definite and comparatively simple changes will cause the human body and mind to respond in such a way as to bring about an increase in production. In heavy manual work involving exposure to high temperatures (such as certain occupations in the tinplate and steel industries) output often undergoes a seasonal variation, being greatest in winter, least in summer, and intermediate between the two in spring and autumn; in extreme cases this variation may amount to as much as 20 or even 30 per cent. This effect, however, is much less marked in well-ventilated mills, and the comparative evenness of output in these suggests that most of the loss could be eliminated through the relief afforded by suitable ventilation. Again, in the case of light repetition work, investigations carried out by the board consistently suggest that the judicious introduction of rest-pauses of from ten to fifteen minutes into a spell of four and a half to five hours will eventually be followed by an increase in output of the order of from 5 to 10 per cent, notwithstanding the shorter time actually worked. The board are doubtful whether the extent of the loss which arises from the present indifference to the physiological and psychological aspects of industry is fully realised. Part of this waste is disclosed in the official statement that the loss of time due to sickness, most of which is preventable, probably costs the country not less than ten times more than that which it loses owing to strikes and labour disputes. In another attempt reached suffice to show that a needless waste of many millions of pounds annually could be prevented by the application of scientific methods to the functioning of the human element in industry.

Lower Taxi Fares

Committee Calls for either Reduction for Two-Seater Cabs.

The Select Committee on two-seater taxicabs held their final meeting to-day, and, says our Lobby correspondent, are expected to recommend that the Home Secretary should convene a conference of all taxicab interests with a view to reducing fares. If no reduction is made they recommend that two-seater taxicabs should be allowed to ply for hire at 1d. a mile instead of the present minimum of 1s. per mile for four-seater taxicabs. One section of the committee is urging that the two-seaters should charge 6d. for the first three-quarters of a mile and 3d. for the next quarter.—Daily Mirror, June 11.

Jutland Secrets

German Official History—Our Methods Criticised.

The new volume of the German Staff's History of the Naval War is of the utmost interest and importance. It gives the official German account of the Battle of Jutland and throws new light on many passages in that tremendous encounter; in which the author, Commander Groos, took part as one of the officers of the battle-cruiser Von der Tann. He claims throughout that Jutland was a German victory, because the British losses in men and ships were twice as heavy as the German. While he credits the British with great gallantry, he sharply criticises our leadership, tactics, and gunnery.

Uncertain British Firing.

Of the opening engagement between Lord Beatty's battle-cruisers and the German battle-cruisers under Hipper this account is given: "Because of the unfavourable conditions of visibility for the English and because of their unsatisfactory ranges finders, their fire was at first slow and uncertain. Within one or two minutes the British battle-cruisers vanished almost completely in the enormous pillars of water which were thrown up by the German shells striking and bursting round them."

The Germans began to hit almost at once; the British were six minutes before they made their first hit. But when the four fast battleships of the Queen Elizabeth class arrived to support Lord Beatty—the well-directed fire of their 15-in. batteries, equipped with all the modern control and gunnery appliances, proved extraordinarily effective, and all the more so because the five German battle-cruisers were already engaged with the same number of British battle-cruisers and had no guns free to reply. In short, it would have gone hard with Hipper had not the German battle fleet come into action just as the four fast British battleships were hitting repeatedly. These four battleships had now themselves to run the gauntlet of the fire from the German fleet.

Six German salvos (usually of four or five shells) a minute were the rule, and once as many as nine salvos in unbroken succession were counted about the hard-pressed ship (Malaya). As the oil fuel poured out from her damaged and blazing hull, she included somewhat to starboard, but she was righted.

With her strong armour she survived a test far severer than that which had led to the loss of the Indefatigable and Queen Mary, and she is still in service.

Light Bad for Germans.

According to the German account, about this time the light was extremely unfavourable to the German fleet. The ships at its head could see nothing, but found themselves hit by heavy shells. The arrival of the British battle fleet was a complete surprise. So dense was the smoke from shells, guns, and fires, and so troublesome was the mist that each side groped for the other without knowing his strength or formation. Lord Jellicoe's cruiser arrangements are severely blamed.

"The covering of the Grand Fleet by old and slow armoured cruisers which only steamed a short distance ahead of the columns of battleships proved utterly inefficient. . . . The all important scouting service immediately before the deployment of the British fleet entirely broke down, notwithstanding the large number of vessels available for this task on the British side."

But it is admitted that the uncertainty in the British fleet was not so great as that in the German.

Lord Jellicoe's determination to deploy away from the German fleet is approved as his best course. In view of the failure of his scouting service, but Commander Groos expresses doubt whether Lord Jellicoe ever meant to fight a decisive action and blames his adherence to a rigid and stiff line of battle. The position of the Germans was disagreeable enough:

"Before the head of the German fleet there suddenly broke from north-west to north-east the flash of guns from an invisible line of heavy ships, while about the Germans splashed salvo after salvo. The effect was all the more distressing because this fire could scarcely be answered from the German fleet, as not a single British battleship could be made out in the smoke of battle."

From this desperate position the Germans were temporarily extricated by a simultaneous turn. This, we are assured by Commander Groos, was no part of their real battle plan:

"The German plan was just the same as the British one—to approach in a broad formation and, when the enemy was encountered, so to deploy as simultaneously to bring all the broadsides to bear upon him. This plan could not be carried out because of the unfavourable circumstances which have already been mentioned."

The escape of the Germans was to some extent favoured by a British turn-away from what was thought in the British fleet to be a German torpedo attack.

"What was taken for an attack was really an attempt by four destroyers of the 4th Flotilla to rescue the crew of the light cruiser Wiesbaden."

SO HARD TO SOUND GRATEFUL.

I said the other day that the supreme test of social ease was to make a good stroke is almost sure to get in his own way and make an unusually poor stroke? Well, just because it is a crucial moment and crucial moments are apt to be paralyzing.

Why does one have to be at such a crucial moment like the golfer who when he particularly wants to make a good stroke is almost sure to get in his own way and make an unusually poor stroke? Well, just because it is a crucial moment and crucial moments are apt to be paralyzing.

Of course when one doesn't like a gift, it is even harder but not very much so. I am sure I have been just as unconvincing when I was pleased as when I wasn't pleased. I suppose it's just one more example of the difficulty of communication from one heart to another. We talk about communication with Mars. I wonder if it presents any more difficulties than getting some messages through direct from heart to heart.

Two Ways to Convince. Personally, I would rather have a gift come through the mails because it is easier for me to sound convincing in a letter. And if you won't tell any one who gives me gifts I will tell you two other methods I have of trying to make my pleasure and gratitude convincing. One is to say how pleased I am to a third person, who I think may tell the giver. Second hand gratitude, like second hand compliments, always seem more genuine. And the other is to be sure to refer to the gift at some later time when I am not under the compulsion of seeming grateful, and when my pleasure will seem more spontaneous and convincing.

If you haven't already used these methods, as you doubtless have, I'll let you borrow them for nothing.

FIERCE MAGAZINES
The women of this well known land are on the path, a warlike band, to seal the doom of magazines which try to spill the moral beans. The magazines which claim to show that vice is wreck and death and woe by printing lewd and sinful tales in loudly illustrated bales. "We teach the young to sidestep in, to dodge the pitfall and the gin," the spottless publishers proclaim, "by printing yarns of vice and shame; the children read and vow their vows to shun the joints where men carouse, where women play their wanton eyes, where all of worth and virtue dies." Each year these magazines grow worse, they have become the nation's curse. They're read by growing boys and girls who search their pages for those pearls of truth and wisdom, but in vain—such rot is death to heart and brain, and now the women take the path, inspired by high and noble wrath. They'll agitate and plan and work, and no endeavour will they shirk, until the last punk magazine is landed in the soup tureen. At such a time as this we think of one who knocked the demon drink, of Carrie Nation and her club that laid to waste the Kansas pub. With such a leader we'd expect quick action, deadly and correct. Some newer Carrie may arise to swat the sugar coated lies, the filthy tales in brave array, which tend to lead the young astray.

An Opportunity to Earn 375% PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT IN ITALIAN GOVERNMENT 5% BONDS ★ With an Attractive Interest Yield

AN INVESTMENT made to-day in Italian Government 5% Bonds (Consolidated Loan of 1920) presents an unusual opportunity for profit on any advance in the value of Italian money (lire). Profits up to over 375% on the principal alone may be realized.

Italian Government 5% Bonds, as a result of the depreciation of the Italian lire, can now be bought for $41.00 per 1,000-lire Bond; with the Italian monetary unit at its normal exchange value (19.3 cents per lire) these same bonds would have a value of $193.00 per 1,000-lire Bond.

International bankers believe that the Italian lire will sell above 10 cents before very long. It is not difficult to realize what this will mean to Italian Government 5% Bonds; each 1,000-lire Bond will have a value of $190.00—every $41.00 invested to-day will have earned $59.00, almost 150% profit. When the lire reaches 15 cents every 1,000-lire Bond will be worth $150.00—every $41.00 invested to-day will have earned $109.00, more than 265% profit.

Italian Government 5% Bonds (Callable at option of Government after 1931) are the best medium through which to purchase Italian lire for maximum profits. These bonds represent to Italians precisely what British Government Consols and Canadian Government Victory Bonds represent to us, i.e., legal investments for Trust Funds and Savings Banks. They constitute a strictly high-grade government investment.

Italian Government 5% Bonds may be sold again instantly as they are listed on the Italian Stock Exchange and traded in throughout the financial centres of the world. They are exempt from all present or future Italian taxation. Interest coupons are payable January and July 1st, and can be cashed in Montreal, New York and London, through this house, banks or other financial institutions; each interest coupon is valid for 3 years from its maturity date, thus permitting conversion at any time exchange rates may be favorable.

Italian Government 5% Bonds will unquestionably come back to normal ($193.00 per 1,000-lire Bond). The financial history of the world affords numerous instances wherein Government Bonds depreciated in value only to regain their losses during periods of recuperation. The United States were on the verge of bankruptcy after the Civil War; their securities could be bought for a mere fraction of their normal value, yet in a few years the Americans were on their financial feet again and to-day are considered the richest nation in the world.

The aftermath of the Franco-Prussian War is within the memory of living men. The French people were compelled to pay heavy indemnities to Germany; the finances of the country were in a sorry state; French Government Bonds sold down to 7% of their normal value. They appeared hopeless—yet in a few years they had recovered 95% of their normal value, bringing fortunes to those who have bought them for a small part of that normal value.

Even Great Britain once faced what seemed to be a financial catastrophe. With Napoleon virtually pounding at her gates, British Bonds sank steadily in value but the Victory at Waterloo sent prices sky-rocketing. The Rothschilds, for many generations the richest family in the world, accumulated the major portion of their wealth by investing in British Government Bonds and selling them when Wellington's victory was proclaimed.

These precedents support our contention that (1) The most difficult thing in the world to destroy is national existence; (2) When millions of men and populations of nations lend their collective efforts to the task, nothing is impossible; and (3) That the greatest fortunes were made by those investors who in times of pronounced political and financial darkness possessed enough grit and enterprise to enter the markets as purchasers of Government Bonds when they were begging for buyers. History will repeat itself—Italian Government 5% Bonds at their present price indisputably present a life-time opportunity to reap handsome profits.

The Kingdom of Italy ranks among the first-class military, naval, and commercial powers of the world. With an enterprising population of 41 millions, her industries show a remarkably rapid recovery and expansion since the close of the war. Foreign trade figures, recently made public, record wide improvement in all branches of her economic life.

Reparation payments from Germany, under the Dawes Plan are further enhancing the Italian Treasury. An official statement covering receipts from Germany and payments to the Allied powers to February last shows Italy as having received 37,192,577 Gold Marks—close to 10 Million Dollars for the first six months.

The expansion of territory as a result of the peace treaties has added considerably to the natural resources of the Italian nation. Her investments abroad reach a large figure, moreover, she receives a large revenue annually through remittances of her nationals in foreign lands, and this income has been reliably estimated at close to One Hundred Million Dollars annually.

All of these conditions are being reflected in a steadily improving rate for the Italian lire, which improvement in turn enhances the value of Italian Government 5% Bonds. These Bonds, at their present price, are a genuine investment bargain. We urge immediate action, otherwise what is a great opportunity to-day may be diminished to-morrow by the rise of the lire. The return of the Gold Standard in Great Britain cannot do otherwise than exert a favorable effect on the currencies of other countries and this is particularly true of Italy for economic reasons too exhaustive to discuss here. In view of this fact, therefore, the only safe procedure is to BUY TO-DAY!

Table of Present Prices and Future Values: As the Lire rises the value of these Bonds will increase as follows:—

Denominations	Present Price	With Lire at 10 Cents	With Lire at 15 Cents	With Lire at 19.3 Cents
1,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	$ 41.	$ 100.	$ 150.	$ 193.
2,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	82.	200.	300.	386.
5,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	205.	500.	750.	965.
10,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	410.	1,000.	1,500.	1,930.
25,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	1,025.	2,500.	3,750.	4,825.
50,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	2,050.	5,000.	7,500.	9,650.
100,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	4,100.	10,000.	15,000.	19,300.

THE ABOVE price includes every expense. Sales are confirmed by registered mail immediately upon receipt of order with remittance. As quotations are subject to market fluctuations, orders should be placed with the least possible delay. The order form below is for your convenience.

We take particular pride in the service we extend to investors. Our interest does not cease after a sale, for it is our constant aim to keep in touch with our clients informing them as to developments affecting the value of their holdings and advising them what action we recommend. While expensive to ourselves, the value of this service to our clients is incalculable.

★ Tax-Exempt Interest Income

Each bond of 1,000 lire yields an income of 500 lire per annum.

At the present rate of the lire, holders of Italian Government 5% bonds, receive interest at the rate of 5% per annum.

With the lire rising to 10 cents (or $100 per 1,000 lire) the holder of 10,000 lire Italian Government 5% Bonds will receive $50 in Canadian money for each 500 lire yearly interest income, being equivalent to over 12% interest return for his investment of $410.

With the lire quoted at 15 cents (or $150 per 1,000 lire) every 500 lire will be worth $75.00 in Canadian currency; this return represents an interest rate of OVER 18% on the original investment of $41.

With the lire at par (19.3 cents or $193. per 1,000 lire) the ANNUAL INTEREST in Canadian currency will be $96.50 for every 500 lire interest. This return is equivalent to an interest rate of OVER 23% on the original investment of $410.

The investor can follow the trend of the lire through the financial columns of the press. He is thus constantly informed on the behaviour of his bonds.

As remarked elsewhere, the investor does not have to cash his interest coupons as soon as they fall due. Each interest coupon is valid for five years after redemption date. This enables the holder to dispose of them at any time during that period.

The most important fact to remember is that the PRINCIPAL INCREASES IN VALUE AS WELL AS THE INTEREST COUPONS, as the lire rises.

It is obvious that these high grade, attractive, gilt-edged bonds of the Italian Government will not be available at present prices for long. You must act quickly.

Conflict of Wills Theme of Feature

"Her Own Free Will" Starring Helene Chadwick, has Many Interesting Situations.

When a girl marries for money she has to be prepared to stick to her bargain, because if she's not, trouble is bound to ensue. Thereby hangs the tale of Helene Chadwick's starring vehicle "Her Own Free Will." The picturization of Ethel Dell's popular story of the same name which comes to the Nickel Theatre for a three days run to-night.

The plot is an unusual one for it deals with some of these peculiar tricks of fate from which life gets its zest. To save her father from bankruptcy Nan Everard marries a millionaire much older than herself. Kindly events separate them immediately after the ceremony, send him to South America and leave her in her father's house. Just when she has about forgotten her marriage, her husband returns to take her with him. Nan refuses to stick to her bargain, and there follows a conflict of wills that is furious in its intensity.

"Her Own Free Will" is an excellent revelation of how a girl who has always had her own way and who values her independence above everything, reacts to marriage.

Helene Chadwick was never more appealing than as headstrong, impulsive Nan Everard. Holmes Herbert, has the leading masculine role. Allan Simpson, last seen in "A Society Scandal," Violet Mersereau and George Backus comprise the remainder of the supporting cast.

Gerald C. Duffy, author of nearly fifty produced original screen stories made the screen dramatization of Ethel Dell's story and Paul Scardon directed.

Glenn Hunter, the famous young stage star, makes his debut as a star in Paramount pictures under the most favorable auspices in "West of the Water Tower" at the Majestic Theatre to-night. The result being screen entertainment which will be talked about for many a day as the best seen here in two years.

The story of "West of the Water Tower" was written by Homer Croy. The novel appeared early this year and scored a literary sensation. It is a story which deals with small town folk in a masterly manner. Mr. Hunter, as Guy Pluber, son of a rigidly orthodox minister portrayed by Ernest Torrence, meets and loves Bege Chew, played by May McAvoy, daughter of a wealthy atheist, the latter role being in the capable hands of George Fawcett. The young couple are secretly wed and this incident provokes a near tragedy which has its influence on many lives. But happiness comes at last after a series of breath-taking sequences, all of which will thrill even the most blasé picture fan.

The picture is one that will live long in the memory of all who see it. Zaza Pitts featured as the other girl in the story, is admirable as are also all in the cast. See it at the Majestic Theatre to-night.

Does Hard Work Hurt?

THE OLD SAW THAT "WORK NEVER KILLED ANYONE" IS NOW CHALLENGED BY THE DOCTORS.

Is the strenuous life a short one? The doctors seem to think so. Sir Thomas Horder, the Prince of Wales' physician, recently declared that the speed of our modern civilisation and the strain which it imposed on the busy man were killing off the flower of our race.

Speaking to an audience of doctors, he said: We ought to induce our patients to return to a simpler life. The hustle of modern life, the pace at which we go, the nerve strain involved, and the expense of spirit entailed have become a large factor in the incidence of disease.

This view was supported by Lord Dawson of Penn, Physician-in-Ordinary to the King. A man in this condition may not only declare that he is well, but actually be well, with good digestion and no illness. Then, something suddenly gives way, and the man dies while still in the heyday of his achievement.

There you have the medical point of view. But the doctors have not had everything their own way. Sir Hugo Hirst, director of the General Electric Company, speaks for pretty much the whole business community when he says:

"Work kills no man. I never stop working even when I have left the office. It is better to overwork and pay the price for it than to under-work and nurse your health. If some men did not work hard and long there would be no great business in the world."

There is another aspect of the question. Hard work may impose a great strain on a man, yet he may not be happy without it. The man who takes a holiday because he is "run down" may worry about how the work is going in his absence, and so do more harm to his health than if he had stayed at his desk. Then too, the man who has retired after a very busy life is frequently one of the most miserable of creatures. Sometimes the divorce from work is the prelude to his death. If he had stayed in harness he might have enjoyed many more years of useful activity.

The whole question is one on which it is very difficult to dogmatise. Those who believe that hard work is harmful can point to many cases of men of outstanding ability and achievement who have died at a comparatively early age. If these men had taken things more easily, they might have been alive to-day.

That is quite true. On the other hand, if they had done this no one outside their own immediate circle might ever have heard of them, and the world, now the poorer for their passing, might have been no richer for their lives.

What the Doctors Forget.

We must also remember that many of the world's hardest workers live to a ripe old age. What do the doctors make of John D. Rockefeller and Thomas Alva Edison?

Perhaps, however, we are taking our medical men too seriously. None of us works harder than the hospital surgeon, or the general practitioner with a large practice, and if hard work killed there would be no doctors left to warn us of the danger.

Still, it is comforting to be told that we work too hard; it gives us rather more cause for self-congratulation than the statement made, cursorily enough, on the same day as Sir Thomas Horder's warning was reported by Dr. Arthur Shadwell, the authority on economies:

"There is really something wrong with the present generation," he says, "they neither work well nor play well. They seem altogether lacking in energy and serious purpose."

WIMBLEDON TENNIS TOURNAMENT.
Englishman Beat U.S. Star and Suzanne Lengien Overwhelmed Miss Elizabeth Ryan.

WIMBLEDON, June 25—No great feasts featured the day's play in the all-England tennis championships here, most of those who were expected to win emerging victorious. J. B. Gilbert, England's left-handed hope, was easily disposed of by Charles S. Garland, of Pittsburg, in straight sets, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1. The Englishman was all over the United States player except in the first set when the visitor forced Gilbert to play hard and sure tennis. The second and third sets were easy, however, Garland falling away badly.

A great crowd was packed into the stands of the famous suburban courts this afternoon and the play was graced by the presence of their Majesties,

King George and Queen Mary. The big contest to-day was the game between Suzanne Lengien and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former California girl. Miss Ryan fought pluckily but was frankly puzzled by the French woman's amazing play and succumbed 6-2, 6-0.

JIM BARNES WINS OPEN GOLF TITLE OF GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 27—(G.P.)—Long Jim Barnes, professional of the Pe-

He finished the gruelling competition at Prestwick, Scotland, yesterday, with two rounds of 78-74, which added to Thursday's 70-77, gave him an even 300 or one stroke below the two Britishers on his heels, the veteran Ted Ray and the rising star, Archie Compston.

Address and Presentation

TO MISS DORCAS MERCER.

A gathering of the kind friends of Clarendon presented themselves at the Methodist School on Friday evening, June 26th, for the purpose of giving Miss Dorcas Mercer, Methodist Teacher, a surprise party, she having spent three years at that place. A car was engaged to take her for a drive with the purpose in view of taking her to the school. Before partaking of a good reception the following address was read by Miss Mary Adey, Assistant Teacher, which was accompanied by a purse of gold.

ADDRESS.

Dear Miss Mercer.—On this, the eve of your departure, we wish to show our appreciation of your work in connection with Church and School. We will often think of the pleasant times spent together and of your interest in our work. While we regret that circumstances make it necessary for you to leave us, we hope that God's blessing will be with you, and we ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a small token of our affection and appreciation and assure you that you will take with you our best wishes. We remain,

Sincerely,
YOUR AFFECTIONATE FRIENDS.

REPLY

To the party who assembled at the school and the general public.

Dear Friends:
Words entirely fail me in expressing my gratitude and sincere thanks to you this evening for the kind thoughts and good wishes which prompted you on this occasion. To me it indeed came as a surprise, for I never once conceived of such an idea. I feel unworthy of such kindness and loving words; your accompanying gift which you ask me to accept, I shall always consider as my dearest possession. I recall the many happy and pleasant times spent with you and shall look back upon them as some of the brightest in my life. To take an interest in your work has always been a pleasure and source of happiness to me; for it was ever your kind efforts and willingness that enabled me to go forward in any good work. Your smiling faces, cheering and helpful words I shall never forget; and since the time has come to sever my connection among you, I trust that God's blessing will ever remain with you. Again assuring you of my heartfelt thanks, I am

Sincerely yours,
DORCAS MERCER.

Spending your vacation this season at Mrs. Fred Castello's, Calvert, July 2, 1925.

An alarm of fire from Box 32, called out the Central and West End Fire trucks at 12.35 to-day, to the residence of Mr. Duke, Barter's Hill, where sparks from a chimney ignited shingles on the roof, causing a blaze. The fire was extinguished before it had gained any headway.

A Talented Musician

Miss Marjorie Hutchings the daughter of Inspector General and Mrs. Hutchings, returned this morning by the Rosalind from Toronto Conservatory of Music. Miss Hutchings took her finals in the examinations held recently, and received the L.T.C.M. in which she gained high distinctions. We understand that this talented musician intends shortly to repeat the recital which she gave some time ago in Toronto, and which was so favourably commented on by the papers of that city. The music loving public of St. John's will eagerly look forward to hearing her splendid voice again.

Miss Hutchings is returning to Toronto in the autumn to take a position on the teaching staff of the College of Music and she has also been appointed contralto soloist in one of the leading churches as well as having been admitted to membership of the Mendelssohn Choir. Her success speaks a brilliant career in the profession she has chosen.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

FRENCH MISSION TO U.S.A.
PARIS, July 2.
The French Government is preparing to make an announcement upon the United States debt question within a few days. It will probably be limited to scarcely more than naming a mission to go to Washington. The French debt negotiations with United States will be strictly apart from those with Great Britain.

PEACE PROPOSALS TO KRIM MAY BE MADE.
PARIS, July 2.
The French Foreign Office to-day received information that conditions of peace to be offered Ab-d-el-Krim, leader of the warring Rifians in Morocco, are being prepared by a Franco-Spanish conference at Madrid. There is little confidence here that Ab-d-el-Krim will accept.

BERNIER SAILS FOR NORTH.
QUEBEC, July 2.
The exploration ship Arctic under command of the veteran navigator, Capt. Bernier, sailed for northern waters this a.m. The Arctic was to have sailed on Tuesday, but was held up by a defect in her dynamo and the illness of one of her engineers.

U.S. CLAIMS IN CHINA.
LONDON, July 2.
News that United States Government is pressing for consideration of extra territorial rights in China is given prominence in the morning newspapers, but there is no editorial comment upon it. In some quarters the assumption is expressed that the note implies an endeavor to secure the abolition of these rights, and as Great Britain would be chiefly affected by such abolition, the matter is treated sensationally.

INTERALLIED DEBT SUGGESTION.
PARIS, July 2.
The interallied question has been thrust still further to the fore by the receipt from London of a new memorandum suggesting that France make an offer for settlement of the debt to Great Britain, even if only a provisional one. The memorandum signed by Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, takes cognizance of France's plans in connection with her United States debt, by stating Great Britain has no desire to interfere with negotiations which France might initiate with other creditor powers.

Busy Day With Railway
Yesterday being a whole holiday, was a very busy one for railroad officials. The trains which went out on Tuesday and yesterday were crowded with people who availed of the fine weather to spend the day up country. Upwards of 800 people received accommodation. The train which arrived at 0.30 last night consisted of 13 cars and two engines.

Wedding Bells
McGRATH—DUNPHY.
The Oratory of the Sacred Heart, Mercy Convent, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday morning, when Miss Elizabeth Dunphy, youngest daughter of Mrs. and the late Capt. P. Dunphy, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Charles McGrath, youngest son of Mrs. and the late Thos. McGrath. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Alex. M. Dunphy, of Curling, looked charming in a gown of orchid and brocaded silk silk broche, with panel of silver lace caught at the side with a pretty rhinestone ornament. The bride's bouquet was of pale pink roses and carnations.

The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Very Rev. Dr. F. J. McGrath, of Marystown, brother of the groom, and as the bride entered the Chapel the Wedding March was ably rendered by Miss Margaret Dunphy, cousin of the bride. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Teresa, who was attired in a gown of silver grey satin beaute and grey hat and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Wm. Organ.

After the ceremony the wedding party motored to Smithville, where they partook of a sumptuous breakfast after which the usual toasts were honoured. At noon the whole party motored around Bowring Park and at Waterford Bridge the happy couple took leave of their friends and proceeded to the Goulds, where the honeymoon will be spent, after which they will proceed to Corner Brook, where the groom holds a responsible position in the General Office of the Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth Co. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable presents, including a magnificent silver tea service, suitably engraved, from the staff of the Board of Pension Commissioners, to which staff the bride was attached for several years. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. McGrath wish them every success and happiness in the years to follow.

Accept a tube of the shaving cream millions now use

See why they like it

By the Chief Chemist

You're bound to be interested in anything that promises to make your morning shave a little more pleasant.

Perhaps this is the very thing. You're the one to judge.

Certainly millions of other men have thought so. Because their preference has made Palmolive Shaving Cream one of the most sensational successes in many years.

Will you try it—accept a tube to test, with our compliments?

What's back of it?

Experts in making soap, we set out to make the best shaving cream ever developed. Just another fairly good cream wouldn't have satisfied us—would never have won big success. Ours had to be the superior shaving cream.

We asked 1,000 men what they wanted—to make shaving easier, quicker, more pleasant. And with that information, we worked out 130 formulas—and discarded them—before getting the right one.

EARTH SHOCKS RECORDED IN VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 1. Three very slight shocks were recorded in the last twenty-four hours up to nine o'clock this morning on the seismograph at the Gonzales Observatory here. The tremors appeared to be about the same distance from Victoria as the California earthquake. The first was at 11.0 a.m. yesterday, the second at 7.06 p.m. yesterday, and the third at 1.27 this morning.

ARE THEY DOWNHEARTED!

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 1. The city of Santa Barbara, yesterday the victim of one of the most disastrous earthquakes in Pacific coast history, tonight closed the biggest business day in its civic annals with the formulation of a programme of reconstruction that foreshadowed a great rejuvenated community. Facing an estimated loss of between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 with possibly $20,000,000 of earthquake insurance, the banking, business, industrial, and civic leaders launched a programme of immediate building, based on a $20,000,000 loan and $2,000,000 earthquake aid funds. Simultaneously the business and civic leaders accepted the offers of San Francisco and Los Angeles to send their best engineering talent here immediately to direct the demolition of the antiquated damaged buildings and to outline the plans of the new Santa Barbara.

FORD ENTERED A BID FOR SHIPPING BOARD FLEET.

DETROIT, July 1. Henry Ford tonight told the Associated Press that he has entered a bid for the 200 ships of the Shipping Board fleet and that the bid is in the mails. "There was no misunderstanding of dates on my part," Mr. Ford said in denying that such was the cause for the failure of the Board to receive a bid from him. "When they were opened two days ago," "The bid was placed in the mails several days ago." Mr. Ford did not divulge the size of his bid, nor its specifications and attempts to obtain the information from members of his engineering and technical staff met with failure. Only one firm submitted a bid to the Shipping Board for the entire fleet of 200 ships, the Boston Iron and Metal Company, bidding $1,370,000.

SINGAPORE BASE A MINOR ESTABLISHMENT.

LONDON, July 1. "The Singapore naval base as contemplated by the British Government will be comparatively a very minor establishment, and there is no question of it being a great base for concentration," stated Earl Stanhope, the Civil Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Lords to-day on behalf of the Government during a debate inaugurated by the Labor Party upon the projected naval establishment in the Far East. Those opposed to the project have asserted that the British naval programme caused much anxiety among other nations particularly Japan. The Earl of Balfour who followed Earl Stanhope on the floor ridiculed the Labor suggestion that a large number of other naval bases dependent upon the Singapore base would be required. He cited the Washington Naval Treaty as forbidding the construction of more naval bases.

FORMER HEAD OF BLIND SCHOOL CRITICALLY ILL.

HALIFAX, July 1. Sir Frederick Fraser, for many years head of the Halifax School for the Blind and known throughout the Maritimes for his work among the sightless, was said tonight to be critically ill at his home here with little hope entertained for his recovery.

Meigle Reports

The Railway Management received the following message from Capt. Burgess of the Meigle, last night:—"Anchored at Cape Harrison at 8 a.m.; landed crews at Ragged Island and Cape Harrison; steamed through about twenty miles of black ice from Holton to Cape Harrison; tried to get north but found ice too tight; it wind comes southerly will get down alright."

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL

Probably the largest attendance of spectators for this season will turn out at St. George's Field to-night to witness the clash between the Guards and Pelidians. Both teams are very evenly matched and judging by their play in previous games, a good exhibition of football is anticipated.

G.W.V.A. HAD A SUCCESSFUL SPORTS DAY.

Ronald O'Toole Winner Of Road Race

Despite the whole holiday and its many other attractions, the G.W.V.A. sports, held at St. George's Field yesterday afternoon, were largely attended and proved highly successful. The grounds were early bedecked with flags and steamers of hunting on all sides of the field, which made the scene a very pretty one. At 5 p.m. His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Cook, arrived at the grounds and were received by Commander Howley, President of the G.W.V.A., and escorted to special seats in the enclosure. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Alaridce were unavoidably absent, as they were out of town. Promptly on time the first event was run off, and from then on there was not the slightest delay, a feature which evoked considerable complimentary comment. The day being a whole holiday kept a number of the contestants away. Nevertheless the races were closely contested and fair time was made, despite the prevailing westerly wind which was very bothersome for the runners. There were no records broken, although S. Fraser, the pole vaulter, made a good attempt to clear the bar at 10 feet, which is 6 1-2 inches over his record. On two occasions he mounted the top, only to knock the bar off with his shoulder. The shot put was won by W. Coesfeld, with a put of 33ft. 1in., which is seven inches better than T. Butler's distance of last week. The one mile walk was close and exciting. Burnell and Piercey put up a splendid exhibition, and the former won out by a close margin in the last 50 yards. The presence of the Girl Guides was an added attraction. They gave an exhibition of tent pegging and the building of a rope fence, for which points were awarded. A Company, of 3rd St. John's, in charge of Patrol Leader Frost, were the winners, the prize for which was an enlarged photograph of the War Memorial. The Tug-of-War, for the magnificent trophy, kindly donated by Earl Haig last year, was again won by the Guards, who were opposed by the Star. In the first pull the Guards won and upon changing around the Star won. The final pull proved very exciting, and saw the Guards win out after a hard struggle. The team maintained their previous record, and the Earl Haig Cup was once again found resting place in the M.G.C.A. rooms for another year. The tug-of-war was carried out from the standing position and proved a decided success. The final football sixes, for the Governor's Cup, was played between the Cadets and B.I.S. After a hard-fought contest the B.I.S. won the honors by one goal to their opponents corner. After each event the winning athletes were introduced to Mrs. Tasker Cook, who very graciously presented the prizes. During the afternoon Mrs. McKean presented the Mayor with a box of candy, while Miss Furlong presented the Mayor with a bouquet. While the piecing incident was taking place, the C.L.B. Band played the Banks of Newfoundland. The Band supplied delightful music throughout the afternoon, and helped greatly to enliven the proceedings. A number of ladies, under the direction of Miss May Furlong, served ice cream and soft drinks which netted a handsome sum.

The Road Race

Ronald O'Toole, running without serious exertion, won the 10-Mile Road Race from the Octagon to St. George's Field, yesterday afternoon. At no time during the ten miles was O'Toole pressed, and his time of 53 minutes and 35 seconds, was 16 seconds quicker than Bell's time, made last week. The winner was presented with a beautiful gold watch. Only four runners lined up inside of the Octagon, when starter Ellis gave the signal, viz. Ron. O'Toole, Jake Ralph, Graham Kelly and Bernard Evans, all of whom finished the course in the order named. Pace setting fell to Ralph for the first few hundred yards, but O'Toole soon moved up and went in the lead, which he did not relinquish. O'Toole passed Donovan's fully 110 yards ahead of Ralph, his nearest competitor, and from that point until St. George's Field was reached, the champion gained a big lead and won very easily. O'Toole was in fine running form and appeared quite fresh at the finish. O'Toole's time at various marks along the course, was as follows:—

- Donovan's . . . . . 13.50
- Davey's . . . . . 23.22
- Blackmarsh Road . . . . . 24.54
- Brookfield . . . . . 33.56
- Sanitorium . . . . . 38.45
- Road de Luxe . . . . . 40.38
- Albany . . . . . 46.10
- Maternity Hospital . . . . . 50.20
- St. George's Field (finish) . . . . . 53.35

JUNIOR LEAGUE FOOTBALL

T.A. 1; Holy Cross 0.

The T.A. and Holy Cross teams battled for the points in the Junior League fixtures at St. George's Field on Tuesday night, and to the great surprise of many, the T.A. defeated the champions by a score of 1 goal to nil. The game proved to be one of the best played for the season, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large attendance of spectators. The first and only goal of the match came after twenty minutes of play, when Bailey, for T.A., scored from a corner kick. The Holy Cross team made desperate efforts to equalize matters during the balance of the game, but the T.A. had set up a splendid defence which proved hard to beat. In the second half an excellent brand of football was handed out by both sides, and the fans were given many exciting moments when the ball came within shooting distance of goal. Holy Cross, playing against the wind in this period, managed to confine the ball to T.A. territory at considerable length, but the splendid play on the part of the forwards failed to bring the desired results. On one occasion Dian tried a shot, but the ball hit the upright. The game ended, T.A. 1; Holy Cross, 0.

ENCOURAGEMENT

A rooster by perseverance rolled an ostrich egg into the chicken run. He called to the hens and said: "Now, I'm not casting any insinuations or reproaching any of you hens, but I want you to see what is being done in other places."

Distribution of Prizes

AT METHODIST ORPHANAGE. The weather has dealt kindly this year with the gala day of the Methodist Orphanage, Arbour Day, early in June, was delightful, and Tuesday's prize-giving made a close approach. At 3 o'clock the children in their new and bright summer dresses, assembled in the Hall, where several ladies were in attendance, and a really interesting and well executed programme was presented. It was brief, but evidenced that great care had been taken in its preparation, and did credit to the Institution, and especially to the teacher, Miss Parsons, the Matron, Miss Staples, and her assistants, Mrs. Parsons and Miss Leslie. Miss Staples, who is a Deaconess, presided at the piano, and the singing was not only attractive, but really creditable to the girls, and their training. Appended is the programme:—

Opening Chorus. Recitation—"The Kindergarten Tot," by Lorraine Grimes. Chorus—"Gay Little Japanese." Recitation—"Dorothy's Mistake," by Winnie French. Chorus—"Washing Day," by the Primary Girls. Recitation—"A Speech From A Tiny Girl," by Emmie Butt. The programme completed, the Prize-giving followed. Mrs. L. C. Mews, ex-President of the Orphanage Aid, who is leaving to-day by the S. S. Digby for England, presided delightfully. To a few well-chosen words of introduction, she added pleasing and kindly comments as the prizes were given to the children. These were not of the stereotyped form. There were prizes for sewing and sweeping, baking and willingness, as well as for school work and conduct. Amongst the visitors present was Mrs. Pitts, a warm friend of the children, who was heartily cheered by the girls—and the cheering would have done no discredit to a school of full-throated lads. Congratulations were extended to the prize-winners, whilst those who were not successful were reminded that their turn would come, in due course, if they desired it, and showed that desire by industry, obedience and attention to their lessons. The proceedings occupied just one hour, and was followed by a liberal distribution of ice cream to the appreciative youngsters.

TO STOP PLATING FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS. LONDON, June 24—The Daily Express says that Miss Joyce Wethered, British woman's golf title holder, has decided to quit championship play, she is tired of it. The paper quotes her as saying: "I am stopping playing simply because I choose to. I am tired of it for the time being. There is no mystery about it. I am not going to emigrate or marry; I have simply exercised a woman's prerogative of doing something without the slightest regard for what anybody thinks and because I want to please myself."

Little Jack Rabbit by David Cory

Now let me think where I left off in the last story. One thing I'm sure of, the Ragged Rabbit Giant didn't blow on his great whistle as I feared he might. You see he lived not far away; that is, it never seemed far to him, for every time he took a step he measured more than a block-long. And he was fond of the fairies. Yes, indeed he was, and on looking out of his big castle on the Tiptop, Skyhigh Mountain, he noticed Little Jack Rabbit standing all alone in the fairy dell. "Ha, ha," laughed the Ragged Rabbit Giant. "There's my little friend. Guess I'll step down and say howdy, and whistling very softly for his pretty Yellow Bird, he looked the front door with a key as large as an anchor, and strode down the mountainside.

"Hello, bunny boy," he exclaimed, looking over a treetop. Goodness me, he was tall, even for a giant. "The fairies have run away," answered the little rabbit sadly. "I was watching them dance when, without thinking it would frighten them, I shouted 'Hello!'"

"I'll bring them back," promised the kind old giant, sitting down beside the bunny boy, and pushing his great hand into his coat pocket, he drew forth his pretty Yellow Bird. Gently smoothing her feather, he whispered: "Go tell the fairies to come back. My little bunny friend wishes to see them dance."

Away fluttered the tiny bird, hither and thither, peering behind flowering bush and tufted grass. She knew where the fairy bunnies had hidden, for in a few minutes out they came, and dancing over the grass, stood close to the Ragged Rabbit Giant. "This is my little friend. He would never hurt a fairy bunny," explained the big man, setting the bunny boy on his knee. "Dance for him, my pretty ones," and taking his great whistle from his pocket, he half covered it with his hands and commenced to play. Such wonderful soft music came from that great whistle that the fairy bunnies couldn't stand still. Dear me, no. And away they went on heel and toe.

"Ha, ha," cried the little rabbit, clapping his paws. "I must tell Mother. She believes in fairies just like me!"

"Fairy tales and lullabies, Starry flowers in the skies, Voices in the winds that blow Over meadow grass or snow, Jack Frost's pictures done in rime, Santa Claus at Christmas time."

"Well, well," chuckled the Ragged Rabbit Giant as the bunny boy finished, "you're a regular rabbit poet. Say it over. I must copy it in my little note book," and pulling from his pocket a book as large as an atlas, he unscrewed the cap on a fountain pen as long as a baseball bat and waited for the bunny boy to repeat the verse. "There, it's written," exclaimed the giant. "I'm a poor hand at writing, but I've a good memory. This little poem shan't be lost," and holding up his big forefinger for the Yellow Bird to light upon, he winked at the little rabbit as he stroked her glossy feathers. And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

A special despatch from Quebec to the Gazette says Sir Lomer Gouin will not be a candidate in the coming general Federal elections, according to information reaching the local Liberal headquarters, and whether he will retain an interest in politics will depend on his appointment to the Senate. Coupled with this report is one coming from the same source to the effect that the general elections will take place in the latter part of September, and that the Provincial elections in New Brunswick will not be held for some time, being delayed until after the Ottawa results are known.

Our Montreal Letter
(From Our Own Correspondent)

THE TOLL OF DEATHS AND ACCIDENTS STILL GROWING.

The toll of deaths and accidents from automobiles, trains, and bicycles, together with the treacherous currents in many of our rivers, is growing at an alarming rate. In Montreal in eight years, the record reads, 4,000 killed, and 40,000 seriously injured. In 1924, 579 people were killed, 67 of these being children. In the week just ended, 31 lost their lives by accidents, more than the record of the month of May, when 23 were killed. Auto victims in Chicago reached 2,472 for the first three months of the year—deaths 158. These injured people were hurt enough to need a physician. Recorded auto injuries in a year in Chicago made a total of 11,867, and no doubt the real number would average over one thousand a month. Vehicle accidents in England last year reached 98,215 with 3,631 deaths—in London alone, 36,871 accidents. Hence no matter how well the world learns how to live and keep well there would still be these increasing thousands who must have care, and follow the maxim "Safety First."

Under the heading, "Can't we stop the slaughter?" Collier's Weekly says editorially:—

A motor truck ran down and killed a little boy six years old. For two days the father of the child sat at a window in his home watching the passing cars. Across his knees he held a gun, ready to shoot the first driver who passed the house at a reckless rate of speed. Overwhelmed by grief he was willing to kill and to pay with his own life the penalty of his crime in order to arouse attention to the peril all children face.

The counsel of friends and time turned the bereaved man from his mad sacrifice. His life and the life of a chance victim could not have accomplished the purpose.

Yet last year automobiles killed approximately 19,000 people in the United States and injured about 490,000 according to the reckoning of a group of insurance companies. Every day during 1924 on the average 52 people were killed and 1,232 were wounded. The World War hardly took a greater toll of American lives.

How can this appalling loss be stopped?

No driver ever intends to use his car as a weapon; yet 6,000 children lost their lives through motor accidents last year. Herod is execrated in history as a murderer of children, but Herod's killings were few in comparison with modern losses.

Of course, no blame attaches to many of those who have the misfortune to kill others with automobiles. Certainly malice is lacking even when cars are driven at dangerous speeds, and recent reports have brought out the fact that many accidents occur when cars are driven slowly.

The way out is not simple. Little is accomplished by the passing of more and more drastic laws. What we all need is more knowledge.

The remedy will doubtless be found in two directions; the driver's responsibility to avoid accidents will be increased and roads and streets will be made more nearly fool-proof.

Industrial accidents began to decrease with the passage of workmen's compensation laws. When the principle that industry must pay for the waste of human limb and life was established, engineers were hired to invent ways of making machinery safe.

Most modern factories now employ safety engineers. They are constantly designing machines so that workers will be protected against their own carelessness or recklessness. The biggest gains have been made in this fashion. At the same time safety has been incessantly preached to individuals. The result is that great railroads go year after year without killing any passengers and progressive factories are able to report steadily diminishing numbers of accidents.

The deaths and injuries due to automobiles may be lessened and stopped by the application of similar principles. Automobiles are now nearly fool-proof. Streets are not, and some drivers are fools.

Streets and roads must be built and regulated with a view to making automobile traffic safe and expeditious. The use of cars is extending at a tremendous rate; in fact, our present civilization is possible only because of the gasoline engine. That is fundamental.

Roads and streets must be so reconstructed and policed that it will be possible to get the full mechanical utility out of the automobile. It is useless to pass laws and ordinances which are impossible of enforcement. Yet most states and cities have regulations which are not obeyed, and which ought not to be enforced.

The laws of the road ought to be rewritten by safety engineers and the rules covering the driver's responsibility ought to be more clearly defined.

This is not an easy program. The saving of 19,000 lives and the prevention of 490,000 injuries is, however, a goal worthy of a supreme national effort. We must stop this killing.

PURE FOODS

Purveyors of English Fruits
Jans Jellies and Canned
By Appointment
His Majesty
KING GEORGE V

All Chivers' preparations are of guaranteed purity, and are made in the fresh air of the country under ideal hygienic conditions.

An international importance attaches to the Nations' Food Exhibition which was held at Olympia, in London, England, from the 11th April to 2nd May of this year. The arrangements bring well to the fore a matter which may not be so well known in the Dominions as in England. This is the close association of Messrs. Chivers & Sons, Ltd., the makers of fruit products, with the actual growing of fruit and with general farming.

Not only in the Home country, but the whole world over, the Jams, Jellies, Marmalades, Canned Fruits, Custard Powders and scores of other fine products made by this firm are recognised as pre-eminent in quality. In England one feature largely contributing to this excellence is well known, and that is the fact that Messrs. Chivers are themselves fruit growers on a most extensive scale.

Messrs. Chivers & Sons own some 6,000 acres of land, of which a large proportion is devoted to fruit culture, and from their own orchards they take thousands of tons of fruit each year, freshly picked, straight from their own factory at Histon. The great value of this is manifest. The food undergoes no long dusty journey, and is not bruised or broken by the jolting of transport, but is taken direct from the picker to the boiling pans in all its freshness. It is boiled in silver-lined pans with the best refined sugar, so that its rich full flavour is perfectly preserved.

Apart from the use of home grown fruits, the firm has acquired a reputation among people of taste the whole world over for Marmalade; and Chivers' Olde English Marmalade made from the choicest Seville Oranges and refined sugar only is found on breakfast tables everywhere.

Side by side with this fruit growing, and fruit preserving industry, that of general farming and stock raising is carried on. The poultry and pigs ranging freely in the orchards help to keep down insect pests and to enrich the soil, while from the factory come residues which provide excellent feeding for a stock. So it is that the industries are happily associated, everyone interested in these matters is aware that the word "Histon" in an animal's name is a guarantee of pedigree, for the horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, etc., reared at Histon have for many years taken the highest honours at the Royal and other Agricultural Shows in Britain. Stock from Histon is, moreover, exported across the seven seas to carry on the work of improving breeds in the Dominions, and elsewhere.

Friends in Newfoundland will be interested to hear that Messrs. Chivers have been asked, and have agreed, to stock in its entirety a farm annex as an additional attraction at the Nations' Food Exhibition, for 1925.

FOR SORE FEET—MINARD'S LINIMENT.

Mine, lumber-merchants at Edgerton, Alberta, came to Montreal, registered at the Windsor Hotel and then bought their tickets for Liverpool, England on the steamer S. S. Regina. After getting aboard of the steamer, Peter became separated from his brother Dave at the dock. He failed to turn up at the hotel, and his brother had detectives and friends search the hospitals, police stations and the morgue, thinking that the missing man may have met with an accident. But the case is still shrouded in mystery. The missing merchant had about $100 in cash, and travelling cheques to the face value of $550. Passes are returned that he may have robbed of his money, as he was absent minded and made friends readily when approached. He was a man of 62 years, and weighed 250 lbs. Investigation showed that he boarded another steamer, and having no ticket was put ashore at Quebec. He said that he wanted to see his brother in Montreal, but so far he's still missing.

AUTOBUS LINES ARE BEING INTRODUCED.

Autobus lines are now being approved by the City Council. A special line will be operated on Sherbrooke Street. Another will ply between the city and Verdun, giving a more direct communication between Verdun, Point St. Charles and the uptown district. The fare shall be that charged by the Tramway's Company on the regular street car. The conditions referred to are as follows: "Whereas the needs of the population and of traffic require the construction of a tramway line on Atwater Avenue to connect with the city of Verdun and wards No. 11 (St. Gabriel's), 12 (St. Genevieve) and 22 (St. Henri) of Montreal with the existing lines on St. Catherine and Sherbrooke streets; whereas the Railway Commission of Canada has refused permission to cross the street tracks of the railway existing there, and whereas the service required might be provided provisionally by automobile vehicles.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CITY TREASURER.

The city of Montreal did rather well in the matter of revenue collections during the past year, according to the annual report of Mr. Patrick Collins city treasurer, issued last week. Total cash receipts amounted to $60,248,128 general revenue totalled $27,529,191, while the balance on hand on January 1st, last was $1,293,403.

In his preamble to the report Mr. Collins points out that collections as a general rule were satisfactory exceeding last year's revenue by $1,200,000. The payments of the Montreal Tramways Company on arrears of city rental were a factor in this result, the amount of $920,027 being paid on this account during the year.

Speaking of water and business tax arrears, Mr. Collins says: "Mention was made in the last annual report in regard to the adverse effect of the new Dominion Insolvency Act on the collection of these taxes, as compared with the old provincial act in regard to taxes due by bankrupt firms. This is strikingly shown by the fact that the total loss on the business tax roll for the year 1919 was only $12,974 or less than 1 per cent on the total roll for that year of $1,589,589, while $47,366 remains unpaid on the roll of 1923 equivalent to 2 1/2 per cent of the total roll of that year. Amounts in abeyance are $241,715 for water, by meter, due by the town of Pointe-aux-Trembles, $89,025 due by the Town of St. Michel."

MORE PLAYGROUNDS AND PARKS NEEDED.

With the growing population of Montreal, the great cry is—more playgrounds and parks. Fletcher's Field and Lafontaine Park are two of the largest and finest that the city possesses and now a third one is to be added in the north end of the city. The recommendation of the city administrators declared that they had examined the proposed lease, prepared by the city notary, and approved by the City Attorney, by which the Stanley Bagg Corporation leases to the city for ten years, on certain conditions, to serve as a public park, a certain area of land, fronting St. Lawrence boulevard, in Villery ward measuring 2,617 feet in width on the boulevard, and 1,752 feet deep on one side and 2,179 feet deep on the other, comprising an area of 5,143,713 square feet. After deliberation, the committee recommended that the draft lease be approved, and the Mayor and the City Clerk be authorized to sign it, in the name of the city.

The "Star" under the heading of "A Praiseworthy Move," says:—

The City Council may be unreservedly congratulated upon its action in leasing the Stanley Bagg property in Villery Ward for a term of ten years for the purposes of a public park. The new park will be upwards of a hundred and twenty acres in extent, large enough to enable those who will use it to gain the illusion of distance from city noise and dust. It contains a remarkably fine grove of trees and it will prove a highly attractive playground for children, as well as a pleasant promenade for grown-up people. The North End, with its large juvenile population, has been in urgent need of such a playground, nearer than the slopes of Mount Royal, for a long time, and this decision by the City Council meets the need.

One thing at a time is good, but if the Council could only be persuaded to continue the excellent start made in this direction and locate a few more sites for public parks under the lease system, it would be doing more to earn the gratitude of the citizens than it could achieve in any other way. Open-air spaces for the summer months are the most important problem for this city. It has to face in the summer, for they mean fresh air and health-giving sunlight for the citizens of to-morrow. The aldermen have shown by their unanimous decision in the case of Villery that they are not blind to the supreme desirability of providing more playgrounds and park spaces. Let them continue. They will find that in this one thing the entire force of Montreal's population is behind them.

A TRAPPIST MONK MEETS WITH A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Brother Brunaut, 77 years of age, and one of the oldest monks of the Trappist Monastery, was seriously injured on Friday afternoon, June 12th, at Oka. He was superintending the landing of a cargo of coal for the monastery on board of a barge at the Oka wharf, when the empty bucket struck him and knocked him into the hold. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and a doctor summoned who found him lies to his head and several ribs broken. He was taken to the Monastery where he lies in a critical condition.

Royal Oak Lodge Memorial Service

Royal Oak Lodge Memorial Service, July 1st, 1925, was held at Victoria Hall last night, there being a splendid attendance. Any Brother who was absent missed a great opportunity, for this service was a very impressive one from every standpoint. It was indeed sad to look upon the Honor Roll which was decorated for the occasion. Nevertheless we were proud to see 15 ex-service members lined up opposite the Honor Roll, and by their appearance not feeling any the worse for having gone through such hardships, thus showing the grit of the average Newfoundland. The order of Service was as follows:

1. Hymn: O God our help in ages past.
2. Portion from Ritual by Bro. Geo. Jones, W.M.
3. Prayer by Chaplin Bro. I. Butler.
4. Two minutes silence.
5. Last Post by Bugler Bro. Neville Bugden.
6. Placing a wreath on the altar by Bro. F. G. Bradley, Grand Master.
7. Address by Bro. F. G. Bradley, G.M.
8. Representatives of Navy and Army, the Navy being represented by Bro. J. T. Porter, who spoke very fittingly of the work of the Navy inasmuch as it safeguarded our shipping as well as those who travelled by them. The Army was represented by Bro. A. J. Ivany, who related many touching instances in connection with the loss of our gallant soldiers on July 1st, but he was glad to say they were not dead to us as Oranemen. Their memory will live on.

Bro. F. G. Bradley, G.M., in his remarks gave utterance to the words of Col. McRae, "Fling the torch still higher," and told in his usual style why it meant to those whose memory we are commemorating on this the 1st July.

Bro. R. J. Ivany, P.M., in representing Royal Oak Lodge, said in a very touching manner that when the call came he gave all that he had, but was pleased to say that it was more fortunate with him than it was with many others, in that his son was present with us tonight.

Bro. W. H. Cave, representing Leming Lodge, spoke very highly of the work of our gallant heroes, both on land and sea, particularly on sea. As an importer of certain merchandise, he must of course praise the Navy for their splendid protection.

Bro. C. O. Butler, S.A., one of the 1st Nfld. Regiment, paid a glowing tribute to those with whom he fought side by side, and said we would ever hold sacred their memories.

The parting words good night, the singing of Onward Christian Soldiers, Rule Britannia, and the National Anthem brought this, the first memorial service of Royal Oak Lodge, to a close.

GEO. COOPER,
Secretary.

Road Material

The shale which is being used on the road to the west of Manuels promises to make, once it is properly rolled in, one of the best surfaces of any thoroughfare in the country and many are of opinion that it should be more extensively adopted as road material. It is proof of its properties are required, an examination of Topsail Hill and the corner near Fox Trap will be sufficient. There has been little or no give in these sections for two years and the surface is even and always dry. At Topsail there is an inexhaustible supply of this shale easily accessible. All that is required is the strengthening of the bridge across Topsail river to enable trucks to use it, and this could be effected at a very small cost. We trust that the authorities will give the matter full consideration.
