FOR HEADACHES, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION

Nearly all our ailments, and many of the serious ones, too, are traceable to some disorder of the stomach, liver, and bowels. If you wish to avoid the miseries of indigestion, acidity, heartburn, flatulence, headaches, constipation, and a host of other distressing ailments, you must see to it that your stomach, liver, and bowels are equal to the work they have to do. It is a simple matter to take 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup daily, after meals, yet thousands of former sufferers have banished indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and all their distressing consequences in just this simple way. Profit by their experience. As a digestive tonic and stomachic remedy, Mother Seigel's Syrup is unsurpassed.

ZAM-BUK

PNEUMONIA.

(Issued by the Department of the Public Health, Nova Scotia.)
The first four months of the year are the months in which pneumonia is especially prevalent in Nova Scotia. These are the months in which climatic changes are most pronounced, but while such changes may have an influence in determining an attack it is quite wrong to attribute pneumonia to unfavorable states of weather. Natural phenomena are rarely accountable for ill-health, the responsibility for which usually rests with ourselves.

Undoubtedly our methods of warming and ventilating our homes have much to do with preparing the way for infection by the germ which causes pneumonia. This germ is very commonly found in the months of perfectly healthy people, but it is capable of producing the disease only under certain conditions. Our methods of heating rob the air of our homes of much of the moisture which it contains. Air is avoid of moisture, and when deprived of it through the means we utilize for securing warmth it takes its revenge by abstracting water from the mucous membranes which are thus rendered unhealthy and unable to offer normal resistance to attack by the germs of pneumonia and other infectious diseases.

At the freezing point, air can hold scarcely more than two grains of moisture per cubic foot, while at 70 degrees Fahrenheit it can hold nearly eight grains per cubic foot. Consequently air admitted to our homes during cold weather is already "dry" and holds often less than a quarter of the moisture it should hold at a temperature of 70 degrees. This small proportion is, of course, lowered by the evaporating which goes on during the process of heating our buildings.

The reason we feel more comfortable in the summer, when the temperature of our homes may be little if any above sixty degrees, than in winter with a house temperature of seventy degrees or even higher, is because of the dryness of the air in our homes in winter.
If we were to keep the air in our homes properly moistened we would be comfortable with a considerably less fuel expenditure, and our resistance to infection would not be lowered to as great an extent as by the practice we usually follow.

There are few who do not admit the value of fresh air. Many, however, confuse fresh air with cold air. Cold air may be anything but fresh, and ventilation is just as necessary in cold weather as in warm weather. Satisfactory currents of air may, though, be obtained through much smaller apertures in the winter than in the summer. Proper ventilation of our homes is a particularly effective safeguard against infections of the respiratory system.

One should nevertheless avoid chilling, and when chilled should make every effort to restore one's self to a comfortable feeling of warmth. A hot bath and a hot drink (avoiding alcohol) are usually quite sufficient. If the feet get wet, change to dry foot gear at the earliest opportunity. Rubbers should be worn in wet and sloppy weather.
Remember that pneumonia is an infectious disease. Anyone who seems to have an ordinary cold may be developing pneumonia. And even ordinary colds are infectious. Therefore intimate contact with those who have ordinary colds should be avoided as far as possible. Those who have colds or who sneeze or cough for any reason, should cover their mouth and nose with a handkerchief when sneezing or coughing.

The hand is doubtless the greatest distributor of infection, and everyone should be careful not to use any dish or cutlery which has been handled by an infected person unless assured that such person has thoroughly cleans

Last Sunday the Rev. J. N. Wilkinson of the Alberta Conference was the preacher in Providence Methodist Church and delivered a most admirable and striking sermon. Mr. Wilkinson is a clear and vigorous thinker, and has the art of giving expression to his thought in a pleasing and convincing manner and he is not afraid to say what he believes. He believes in the application of Christian principle to the problems of every day life. His theme on Sunday evening was "Christian Citizenship," and it is a logical and forceful way he showed that the sacred cannot be divorced from the secular. The large congregation present were delighted with as well as instructed by the splendid presentation of the subject.

Mr. Wilkinson is a son of Mr. John Wilkinson of this town, and is spending a well earned vacation of a few weeks with his parents.

Nova Scotia Minerals.—The output of minerals in this Province reaches the large sum of about twenty millions of dollars. These consist of coal, iron, copper, gold, lead, silver mannes, barytes, gypsum, tungsten, antimony, graphite arsenic etc. The beds of gypsum are frequently one hundred feet in thickness and are conveniently situated for distribution by water to local or foreign markets. Business in some of these products is only beginning, and is certain to increase in all. The largest output is coal, the estimated value for 1916 being more than thirteen millions of dollars. The Nova Scotia Coal and Steel Company has more than 6500 men on its pay roll.

"Hogan's Flop."—Ben Hogan, a recently died in Chicago, at the age of 87 years. He began life as a prize fighter. Under the influence of Moody, he reformed and spent his spare time in helping the men who were down. For two cents he provided a bed for the hoboes and castaways, with a lot of good advice thrown in. Believing that hungry men would profit more by kind words, if their hunger was first satisfied, he added a soup kitchen to his "flop," and ran them both in vain.

The Peps way of treating coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung and throat troubles. How? Well, up to now people with these coughs and throat troubles have swallowed cough mixtures, sickly syrups and the like, into their stomachs. Some have even tried to get no good by dosing the stomach. Peps work differently.

Peps are tablets made up of Pine extract and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not acting. Try our cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores of Peps Co., Toronto, will supply.

THE BACON HOG INDUSTRY

Few people realize the change that has taken place in trade owing to the war. An example of this is shown in the bacon industry. Prior to 1914 each year saw the exports from Denmark to Great Britain increase and those of Canada decrease, for at least a decade back. Since that time Denmark has seemingly switched her trade from her friends to the enemy, for in 1915 the exports declined 73,000,000 pounds.

At the same time Canada's exports have been continually on the increase having been 23,620,861 pounds for the year ending March 31, 1914, 72,036,025 for 1915 and 144,150,309 pounds for 1916. Against this has to be recorded a decrease in the last five years in the number of hogs in the country of one million. These facts are given in a pamphlet entitled "The Bacon Hog and the British Market," by John Bright, Live Stock Commissioner, and H. S. Arkell, Assistant Commissioner, that can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The author points out that this state of affairs is most unfortunate in the face of the rare opportunity that is offered to further extend a "Wiltshire side" trade with Great Britain, a trade that for the year ending Dec. 31, 1915, amounted in value to $15,957,652. While there is a certain demand also for the fat hog Messrs. Bright and Arkell do not favor increased breeding in that direction for the export trade, as the United States are in a superior position to Canada for the raising of that particular sort. The bacon hog is our opportunity, but to take advantage of it we shall have to be more conservative in our methods. As the pamphlet says, the world over there exists a confidence in the future of the live stock trade which has no parallel in history. Canada has now the opportunity of placing herself in a very powerful position in the export bacon business. The most stable condition of affairs can be brought about by each farmer doing "his bit" to increase production without involving himself in any great financial outlay.
