FRES 3 SHOTS AT FOSTER MOTHER

James MacMath, Brooding Over Discovery of Identity, Attempts Murder in Home and Kills Himself Down Town.

Melancholia, induced by brooding over the fact that he was an adopted son, and that his identity was veiled in mystery, led to the suicide of James MacMath, foster child of ex-Alderman Hugh MacMath, real estate broker of 124 West Queen-street, after he had aversely wounded his foster mother but an hour before.

The young man returned from Buffalo about 8.30, went to his foster father's house, and after having supper was sitting in an upper room talking with Mrs. MacMath. He mentioned that he was thirsty, and his foster-mother went to the kitchen to get him a drink.

The janitor of the place, who was also there, hastened to Court-street police station and summoned aid. Detective Harry Armstrong hurried to the scene, where Dr. Edmund E. King, East Queen-street, arrived a moment later, and the man was hurried to St. Michael's Hospital, where he died at 9.05 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

Adopted as a Baby. When 18-months-old MacMath was adopted. Ever since he was old enough to talk the boys have teased him about being an adopted child.

Wednesday week he left home for Buffalo, Friday he came back, saying he had secured a position there. While home he remarked to Mrs. MacMath that he had nothing to live for.

Woman Will Recover. She was attended by Drs. G. G. Rowe, West Queen-street; James Spence, Jameson-avenue, and G. H. Clements, West King-street. Her wound is not thought to be very serious.

KANSAS CITY STREET CARS

A Situation Very Much Like That of Toronto, Only More So.

From The New York Outlook, Dec. 4: The contest now in progress in Kansas City, Missouri, over the extension of the franchise of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of that city suggests some of the considerations that are turning public-spirited citizens of many cities to municipal ownership of public utilities. The street railway company is operating under a franchise that still has sixteen years to run. BUT IT HAS FAILED TO SET ASIDE A SINKING FUND WITHIN THE NEXT FEW YEARS, IN ORDER THAT IT MAY REFINANCE THESE SECURITIES AT ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS WITH THE CUSTOMARY HUGE PROMOTERS' PROFITS, IT IS ASKING FOR THE EXTENSION OF ITS FRANCHISE TO 1951.

THE TRADE BLENDED; that it has no way of knowing what the property is worth, and what a reasonable rate of fare would be; that six tickets for a quarter, while an advantage to the city, is a good business proposition for the company—tho it might evade the concession.

WATSON SOUGHT A TITLE

POET HAD ALSO ASKED FOR A LARGE LITERARY PENSION—WAS REFUSED AND IS TRYING TO GET "EVEN."

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—A London cable to The American says: "Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the prime minister of England, explained to The American correspondent to-day that she did not care to dignify William Watson, the poet, by replying to his statements concerning herself and her stepmother."

"She attributes his astounding statements in America to the fact that he has used all his influence to gain knighthood, and had made her father's life miserable with his persistent demands, and had failed."

"She had asked for a large literary pension," she expected the announcement of his knighthood would be made in the King's birthday honor list, issued last May. "When this did not come, she became peevish and blamed her mother and herself for not appreciating his greatness."

"Miss Asquith's opinion is that he is a poor cad, who has taken this means to get even. It is known that her view is that, though he is ambitious to be known as a poet of passion, he is really merely a poet of pretension."

A London cable to The World says: "John Lane, who published the volume of William Watson's poems, which she had each a copy of, recently announced that in all subsequent editions of the volume, 'The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue' will be omitted."

BERTHA GALLAND TO-NIGHT.

Bertha Galland commences a short engagement of three nights, and a Saturday matinee at the Royal Alexandra to-night. The following letter from Secretary Atherton of the Montreal City Improvement League, and which refers to Miss Galland's production of "The Return of Eve," is an endorsement any actress may well be proud of:

May I thank you and your company for the pure and wholesome recreation you gave me on Saturday afternoon. In these unspiritual days such moral-ity plays are all too rare. You have a great work before you to educate the public which mostly seems to hunger after the husks of swine.

Your play was refreshing, refining, inspiring, uplifting, and no one could have left the theatre without purified sentiments and an increased love for the good and the beautiful.

It was such a relief to find that the subject of Adam and Eve which is so often the source of ribald jesting on the stage, was treated by you in so reverent and ideal a manner. The philosophy of the play, too, is on right lines, in placing before the young a right conception of the true end of matrimony, and thus your "fantasy" becomes an eloquent and edifying sermon to all, and especially to the young men and women who contribute to the future race of Canada.

MRS. G. P. HUNTLEY

Famous English Comedian's "Best Bit of Luck."

Eva Kelly who plays the part of "Lady Binfield" in Charles Frohman's musical comedy "Kitty Grey," which is the offering at the Princess all next evening in private life is Mrs. G. P. Huntley, wife of the famous English comedian. Miss Kelly met Comedian Huntley when both were appearing in "Edna May's" company at the Duke of York's Theatre, London.

The Huntleys have been married five years, and she devotedly claims the "bit of luck" came when he met his wife for the first time. Mrs. Huntley is an American, although this is her first visit to this country in several years. Born in Lock Haven, Pa., her parents moved to Boston when she was quite young.

In the play, Miss Kelly, as the wife of Sir John Binfield, appears as a woman much given to tracts and sermons while Sir John is infatuated with the actress "Kitty Grey." She follows him to "Kitty's" dressing room and seeks advice from the actress on how to retain her husband's love. The actress tells of husbands as follows:

"A good wife is like government bonds. A man is always sure of his 2-1/2 per cent. He is also sure he will never get any more. That's why he speculates."

A Splendid Christmas Gift.

About the finest Christmas gift one could give or receive would be a HEINTZMAN & CO. PLAYER-PIANO.

One always likes to give the best when making Christmas gifts. That is why we say a Heintzman Piano.

Every one who buys this instrument is more than pleased with it because it is the very best in player-pianos made.

One purchaser says—"I know of nothing that has given me so much genuine satisfaction and pleasure as has the player-piano that I purchased from you." You will be just as well pleased yourself. Come and see them, anyway.

THE CHRISTMAS GLOBE.

The Christmas Globe will be for sale to-day, and, as has been the case in former years, some of the best examples of the achievements of the artist and the author during the past year are laid before the reader. The collection of paintings and photographs represents incidents from the historic past and present-day scenes, gathered together in a miscellany, which will be welcomed not only by Canadians, but in homes on every continent. The cover of the magazine is a delightful representation of a child's face, which will make an excellent companion to the "Daddy's Girl," published with The Christmas Globe some years ago.

The three presentation plates are pictures which will be really artistic adornments on any wall. A picture from the brush of Mr. J. D. Kelly is historical in subject, and depicts Champlain on his journey when he first blazed the trail from the Ottawa River to the Georgian Bay. The two others have a domestic atmosphere, one, "Daddy's Coming," showing three little children far out on a brave awaiting the return of their father. "The Joy of the Home" is a home scene of a child, mother and father.

The latest stage reached in the development of color photography is shown in three of the full-page illustrations in the periodical itself. These show in colors true to nature, through the process discovered by Lumiere, a French optician, last year, scenes in the Niagara fruit belt, in the Dundas Valley and at Queenston Heights. Other plates are entitled, "Little Red Schoolhouse," "The Spinnet," "A Madonna of the Plains," and "At Sunset When the Fish Bite."

The literary contents are introduced by a foreword by Dr. J. A. Macdonald, which is a powerful appeal for the abandonment of self in the interests of the race. Mr. Fred Jacob's prize poem, "Laura Secord," is prominent among the literary contributions, and accompanying it is a well-executed piece of artistic work by Mr. J. D. Kelly. Mr. M. O. Hammond has given a description of the rounding up of the famous Pablo buffalo herd and its transfer to the Canadian home. There are stories by other well-known writers, including "The Brother Who Failed," by Miss L. M. Montgomery; "The First, Fourth and Twelfth of July," by Mrs. McCullough, author of "Sowing Seeds in Danny"; "The Prospector," by S. A. White, and "Kiddies I Have Met in Shut-in-Land," by Miss Agnes Deans Cameron. Poems are contributed by Mrs. Verna Sheard, Miss Mabel L. Stuart, Mr. Wilfred Campbell, Mrs. Stewart Lyon, Mrs. Jessie Blewett, Mrs. M. E. McCulloch and others.

Putting It Strong.

The following is an extract from a letter received by the well-known firm of Heintzman & Co., 115-117 West King-street, relative to their new player-piano. This letter expresses perfectly the unanimous favor with which this piano is received by all purchasers.

"The instrument is far beyond anything superior to any other player piano which I examined before buying. The first night we had it set up to twenty-five minutes to three o'clock and it has been in constant use ever since."

SUPERB PIANO SALONS WERE FORMALLY OPENED

Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, Hold Function in New Premises—Event Attracts Public.

New premises Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, opposite City Hall.

Yesterday a brilliant red letter went down on the calendar of events in the long record of distinctive achievements in the piano world by Gerhard Heintzman, Limited.

It was the first day of this progressive firm's formal opening of their new piano salons, and most beautifully appointed in Toronto, or for that matter, in the Dominion.

The palatial new premises of Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, 41-43 Queen-street, opposite city hall, were in gala attire for the occasion. The public, especially well-to-do Christmas shoppers, had anticipated combining profit with pleasure, and thronged the salons from noon till 8 o'clock p.m.

As one passed over the vestibule and entered the door the ear was greeted with melodious and inviting strains from the celebrated Gerhard Heintzman Player-Piano. It should be observed that Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, are the pioneer Canadian manufacturers of the 88-note player-piano. The firm were the first to supply other manufacturers with the model which they have been imitating for years.

Every known defect in the formal opening of the new piano salons of Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, led in producing what is undoubtedly the simplest and most effective style of player-piano.

It is known to-day in the way of tone, phrasing and emotional nuances can be obtained with this instrument simply by intelligent handling of the pneumatic buttons. It is particularly effective in clear outlining the melody while at the same time giving a peculiarly sensuous quality to the harmonies—just the effects which the untrained music lover especially desiderates.

But the eyes enjoyed a feast as well as the ear. The walls were hung with beautiful paintings, landscapes, and genres, while everywhere a veritable garden of flowers of all sorts, palms and green plants, made the offices and salons appear like an inviting conservatory.

Popular Styles.

There was no doubt that Christmas shoppers and others who wished to buy a piano of sterling merit and established reputation, second to none in the world, were taking advantage of the formal opening of the new piano salons of Gerhard Heintzman, Limited. At any rate, go where one would find them here, there and all about. One would see a yellow card hanging from this piano, or from that piano, or from another—marked "sold." The willing seemed to be easy and quickly over. This popular style selected, judging by the number of them sold yesterday, was the Gerhard Heintzman "Louis XV" pianos—elegantly finished in mahogany, and built without with delicately turned trusses and pillars. The external elegance of these instruments, however, was more than equaled by their sweet and sonorous singing tone, a quality in which they are unrivaled by any high-grade pianos in the world.

The colonial and easy English styles struck the fancy of some buyers, excited in the Empire room. An innovation of practical importance was the Dutch room. Here any one who desired to see a special style to suit the furniture and furnishings and decorations of a particular room, in his home, could choose precisely the style he wanted, and go away satisfied that he had got the best suited to his purpose that money could buy.

Two Features.

Students of the evolution of the mechanism of the piano, as well as students to see a special style to suit the furniture and furnishings and decorations of a particular room, in his home, could choose precisely the style he wanted, and go away satisfied that he had got the best suited to his purpose that money could buy.

PT. COLBORNE CRIBWORK BADLY DAMAGED BY STORM

Gap of Nearly Hundred Feet—New Railway Track is Also Undermined.

WELLAND, Dec. 8.—(Special.)—The storm of last night wrought considerable havoc at Port Colborne, where the seas were the heaviest known by the oldest inhabitants. The wind, blowing from the southwest, had the natural tendency of raising the water, and it reached a mark of seven feet above normal, and in places reached nearly the top of the banks. The tremendous waves washed a hole in the breakwater at Port Colborne, which was constructed a few years ago at a cost of millions of dollars. The breakwater is a mile cut, and the condition of the water will not permit of an examination close at hand, but it is estimated that the gap created by the storm is 75 to 100 feet long. Through this the waves are running unchecked, and it is thought that the breach will be still further widened, as no repairs can be made until spring.

The new railway built by the government to connect the government elevator with the Grand Trunk Railway, which was used for the first time only two weeks ago, is to-day largely a wreck. A stretch of track 150 feet long is completely undermined on the west side.

Marine men are speaking high praises for Captain J. A. Smith of the Carleton. He brought the vessel in last night in the midst of the storm, a feat that many mariners declared impossible. Captain Smith held the record last year for making the last trip of the season, from Port Colborne to Port William.

One Farthing's Damages.

BIRMINGHAM, Dec. 8.—Damages of one farthing were granted here to the heirs of Richard Cadbury, the milk-chocolate manufacturer, in their suit for libel against the London Standard. Putting It Strong.

The following is an extract from a letter received by the well-known firm of Heintzman & Co., 115-117 West King-street, relative to their new player-piano. This letter expresses perfectly the unanimous favor with which this piano is received by all purchasers.

"The instrument is far beyond anything superior to any other player piano which I examined before buying. The first night we had it set up to twenty-five minutes to three o'clock and it has been in constant use ever since."

Storm Ties Up Lake Steamers.

WINDSOR, Dec. 8.—(Special.)—A fleet of boats is held up above the Lime Kiln crossing, and another bunch of boats is reported at anchor near Bar Point. The water went down nearly a foot and a half between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. yesterday at the crossing. The barge Hartnell, upbound with coal, ran aground on Bar Point late last night. The steamer D. G. Kerr, upbound with coal, also ran aground on Bar Point, but was released.

TUBE CRITICS.

Just how obnoxious Controller Hooker's tube proposals are to the Toronto Street Railway may be gathered from an article in last night's Evening Star.

After deprecating in true Little Eva style any spirit of bitterness towards the street railway, it remarks that "it is to be feared that this spirit of unreasoning wrath, together with a desire for applause in the form of votes, has been responsible for thrusting before the public an ill-considered proposition for a subway up Yonge-street."

Controller Geary, who is the Star's candidate for the mayoralty, has no bitter wrath with the street railway, and he is therefore opposed to tubes. From the point of view of the street railway company, of Little Eva and Controller Geary, it would be much wiser to drop the whole question of tubes. Tubes do not suit their plans.

A correspondent-for Little Eva has correspondents-suggests that Mr. William Mackenzie himself wishes to build the tubes, and Little Eva grasps at this idea as apparently worthy of consideration. How this can be reconciled with Controller Hooker's definite plan for the city to build the tubes itself, Little Eva will know best. The letter from a substantial legal firm offering to provide men willing to build the tubes, was merely accepted as evidence that the tubes were a commercially inviting enterprise, whatever those opposed might say.

A great deal has to be done before tubes are established in Toronto, but the first step is to ascertain whether the people want tubes. Evidently they do, but they must say so officially. That is the purpose of the present vote. Afterwards the cost and plans must be referred by another vote to the rate-payers.

LITTLE EVA'S LOGIC.

The Evening Star quotes the rejection of a tube scheme by the City of Cleveland as a precedent for Toronto, and argues that because the Toronto estimates for three and three-quarter miles of subway are only $4,885,000, and Cleveland estimates for one and a half miles are $10,000,000, therefore Controller Hooker's estimates are too low. Cleveland has a population of 500,000. Toronto has a population of probably 350,000. That is the reason for the difference of cost. But Little Eva has the contrary village idea and never can get up and have a real big look around. By the time Toronto has 500,000 inhabitants tubes will cost $10,000,000, same as Cleveland.

This line of action is well illustrated by the Bloom-street viaduct. Little Eva (and Topsy, too) declare that the viaduct should not be built: that Toronto cannot afford to spend $750,000 upon it. Ten years ago they said Toronto could not afford to spend $350,000 upon it. Ten years hence they would say the city could not afford to spend $1,500,000 upon it.

The viaduct will never be built cheaper than now. The city will save hundreds of thousands of dollars by building it now. It will add enormously to the value of the city as a whole.

Similarly with the tubes. They can never be built so cheaply as at present. The people understand very well why the Star and Controller Geary oppose the tubes, and they will vote in the interests of the city.

THE MAN FOR GALWAY.

The Evening Telegram is uneasy in its mind. Several things have occurred to render it uncomfortable. To be impaled on the horns of the Hooker-Geary dilemma causes bitter pangs. They both supported "the Mulock deal."

Last night it began to waver in a feeble way for help from any quarter, with a preference for Mr. W. K. McNaught, M.L.A. Mr. McNaught has already declined to take part in the mayoralty contest, and he will not thank The Telegram for dragging his name in under the circumstances.

No man in Toronto receives more respect and confidence than Mr. McNaught, and if he was a mayoralty candidate he would have The World's support. But he is not. The Telegram is therefore without a candidate. There is only one man in Toronto who would be perfectly acceptable to The Telegram. He is opposed "the Mulock deal." He is a supporter of hydro-electric power. He is in favor of public ownership. If he will work for the Bloom-street viaduct and tubes he would be very popular.

Why does The Telegram not nominate Mr. John Ross Robertson? CONSERVATION AND THE PUBLIC WELFARE.

Mr. Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry of the United States, is a man with a mission. In his case is conservation of the national resources, and his zeal and enthusiasm have on various occasions brought him into conflict not only with franchise hunters and exploiters, but with cabinet ministers. For Mr. Pinchot is fortunate enough to have an independent income, and for that reason can afford to speak his mind freely. But again the fact that his ambition is to do valuable work for the masses of the people is highly creditable to his public spirit and certifies to the honesty and singularity of his convictions.

Last month The New York Outlook asked Mr. Pinchot certain questions concerning conservation, and to send such positive and clear answers as would give the average unlearned citizen the reasons for the immediate interest taken in its fundamental problems. The answers appear in the current number of The Outlook; and it is to be hoped will be extensively read both in the United States and Canada. Explaining what conservation stands for, Mr. Pinchot says that it means the prevention of waste of natural resources, which cannot be renewed, the perpetuation of resources that are being renewed, and, most of all, for an equal opportunity for every American citizen to get his fair share of benefit from those resources, both here and hereafter.

The second question concerned the relation between conservation and the welfare of the average man to-day. In Mr. Pinchot's view it has much to do with him, since it proposes to secure a continuous and abundant supply of the necessities of life and fairness in the distribution of the benefits which flow from the natural resources. Conservation, he holds, is the most democratic movement the country has known for a generation. Referring to the danger to which the conservation policies are exposed in the present session of congress, Mr. Pinchot states it to be this—that the privileges of the few may continue to obstruct the rights of the many, especially in the matter of water power and coal. Congress, he adds, must decide at this session whether the great coal fields still in public ownership shall remain so, in order that their use may be controlled with due regard to the interest of the consumer, or whether they shall pass into private ownership and be controlled in the monopolistic interest of a few.

It is of the first importance, the chief forester continues, in reply to the fourth question, to prevent water powers from passing into private ownership, as they have been doing, because the greatest source of power we know is falling water. It is, he goes on to say, the only great untapped source of power, and if a few men ever succeed in controlling the sources of power they will eventually control all industry as well. This country, he declares, has achieved political freedom—what the people are fighting for now is individual freedom and unless "we win our industrial liberty we cannot keep our political liberty." After replying to other questions relating to the method of protecting water powers and expressing the opinion that both navigable and non-navigable streams should be included, Mr. Pinchot closes by remarking that "conservation is a moral issue, because it involves the rights and duties of our people—their rights to property and happiness and their duties to themselves, to their descendants and to the whole future progress and welfare of this nation. All which is of as true application to Canada and Canadians.

THE CHRISTMAS GLOBE. The 1909 Christmas Globe, a copy of which was received by The World yesterday, is a distinct triumph of the printer's art. Our intellectual, but sometimes misguided contemporary has achieved many successes in its endeavor to present something really attractive at Yuletide, but this year's effort surpasses anything it has given us in the past. The number typographically represents the genius of Canadian workmanship, the matter is entirely the product of Canadian brains; and so far as we know there has been nothing to equal it, from the presses of the great United States cities. An advance is noted in the introduction by the editor, being the latest development in color photography. By the autochrome process every variety of color is shown in detail in three illustrations, a peach orchard in the Niagara district, the Dundas Valley, and the scene of the Battle of Queenston Heights. Three beautiful plates for framing accompany the number. The literary contributions are well up to the standard. There is a "foreword" by Dr. J. A. Macdonald; an illustrated article on "The Last Buffalo Hunt," by M. O. Hammond; Fred Jacob's prize poem on Laura Secord; an illustrated poem, "Madonnas of the Plains," by Stewart Lyon; song with music, "The Land We Love," by Donald C. Macgregor, and many others of great merit. The World offers its congratulations to the publishers.

Order of Railroad Conductors' Annual Ball. The annual ball of the Order of Railroad Conductors this season is announced for Jan. 19, Temple Building, Toronto. Incidentally, this year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the conductors' annual ball, and indications point to an eclipse in attendance of former years. J. Trover, of the Canadian Pacific, is this year's chairman, with J. Reddy and Geo. Wood of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific respectively, as a committee responsible for everyone's enjoyment. Any of the conductors can furnish particulars, and they all are determined to make this, their twenty-fifth anniversary, the greatest yet.

Something New in Player-Pianos. Exclusive features of the player-piano made by Heintzman & Co. Ltd., of King-street west, are the two new buttons, the selector button, and the pianissimo or whispering button. The first will include all but certain parts in a piece of music, and can be operated by the person playing, making some very beautiful effects. The second button is used in accompaniment, as it softens down the music so as not to interfere with the soft singing parts of the music. As all of the other buttons are also on the piano, the artistic effects produced are really wonderful.
