GUESS WHO HE IS

When this young chap finished St. Johnsbury Academy, in Vermont, he insisted he'd make his mark. The dope on him holds good, because he made progress until he reached the highest office in the United States. The two pictures of Coolidge show an interesting contrast between the graduate and the leader.

Coolidge Puts On New $40 Fedora And Picks Out The Bear He Wants

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Coolidge has received a present of a bear, species unknown. It was given to him by a citizen of New Mexico, B. R. Pearson, who said he was born on the Oregon trail, and who brought it in a small truck all the way from the Sierra mountains where he had lassoed it. The President accepted it and sent it to the zoo, which has just been made richer by the addition of the peacock recently sent to the White House.

MONDAY'S BIG EVENT.

On Monday St. John becomes officially first in the world in dry docks, by opening the largest in existence.

It will be celebrating, a great achievement, taking new rank not only for something big accomplished but also for something immensely significant as to its own future and that of the province of which it is the commercial centre.

Here, in a word, is solid progress needed, progress of the grand order, and a pledge of more to look back to the beginning of the port's expansion, and then to look forward from today, to its future and that of the province of which it is the commercial centre.

He began to make war upon the society he hated. His encounter, with the soul of Christian charity and forgiveness in the person of the priest he robbed changed his whole character, and made him the finest example of patient fortitude and nobility of motive and action through long and desperate misfortune to be found anywhere in fiction. He sacrificed himself. He did not die, but he sacrificed himself for the love of the outcast child he adopted and whose care he made a first and sacred duty.

LUCK.

"There is no such thing as luck," is a common saying, but a thoughtful one. Men may quarrel over the definition of luck, but luck there is, both good and bad, and sometimes what looks like good luck at the time turns out to be the reverse in the light of after events, and vice versa.

NOT JEAN VALJEAN.

The hopelessness of the attempt to find a convict to compare rightly with Jean Valjean is once more demonstrated. This time the case is that of Edward Folsom, some time mayor of a little town on the Hudson, whose death death placed one more wretched human story in the news of the day.

Mr. Dooley On The Servant Problem

By FINLEY PETER DUNNE

"When Congress meets next," said Mr. Dooley, "I hope 'will turn its attention to the great question confronting the nation—the question of what we shall do with our hired help? What shall we do with them?"

"I WANT TO WIN A FIGHT AGAIN A COOK WITH A SPOON. LID BEFORE I CAN MOVE ME PRANCE OFF IN THE FRONT STOOP," HE SAID.

"I have to win a fight against a woman her own cook or my own servant," he says, "I have to win a fight against a cook with a spoon lid before I can move me prance off in the front stoop."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Worden-Currie.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Currie, Bayswater, Kings county, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday evening, Oct. 23, when their youngest daughter, Miss Alberta Kathryn Currie, became the bride of George Edmund Worden, son of Captain and Mrs. Edmund C. Worden, also of Bayswater, Rev. H. Harrison officiating. Miss Currie entered the drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. Alvin Currie, sister-in-law of the bride. The bride looked charming in a gown of white duchess satin with tulle lace and pearl trimmings. Her tulle veil, arranged in cap effect, was caught in with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses. Her only ornament was the groom's gift, a gold pendant set with amethyst and pearls. The drawing room was tastefully decorated in green and white, and the bridal party stood under an arch of flowers and greenery from the centre of which was suspended a wedding bell. After the ceremony, which took place in the presence of about 100 guests, a bountiful supper was served in the dining room, which was tastefully decorated in red and white. The toast to the bride was proposed by John H. Lee, and responded to by the groom, and a toast was also proposed to the bride's parents, who were bride and groom of 35 years ago. This was responded to by Mr. Currie. During the evening a charivari was tendered to the bride and groom, and later they motored to their new home at Bayswater, followed by the good wishes of a host of friends for a happy and prosperous life. Miss Currie was one of the most popular young women in the community to which she belongs, and this was testified to by the large array of presents received, which consisted of silver, cut glass, furniture, china and among which was an oak dining room furniture, the gift of the groom's parents.

IS ROMAN MEAL ADVERTISING TOO TECHNICAL FOR WOMEN?

A would-be critic said: "Roman Meal advertising is too technical for Canadian women." Like most critics he was expressing his prejudice towards, not his knowledge of, Canadian women. For two years we have been telling mothers that refined foods like white flour, refined cereals, polished rice, while pretty to look at are lacking in vitalizing elements essential to young and growing bodies. We have been teaching that disease comes from "de-natured," refined foods. We have been recommending more milk and egg, leafy vegetables, fruits, and Roman Meal.

Selection of proper food is the most important function of the mother or housewife. Canadian women know this and we have reason to know, Mr. Critic to the contrary, that thousands and thousands of women have learned from our "too technical" advertising that Roman Meal is the most valuable food in thearder for the family. Because of this "too technical" advertising, a new and more proper dietary is now the rule in thousands and thousands of Canadian homes to the great benefit of old and young, especially the young. Your grocer sells Roman Meal.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair. Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

BANS HALIFAX AS PORT FOR GRAIN

Montreal, Oct. 26.—Testifying before a session of the grain enquiry commission here today, Thomas Hagling, steamship agent, said that he did not see Halifax as a grain shipping port. Grain could not be carried profitably from Montreal to Portland, 287 miles and how could the 546-mile route to Halifax be utilized? He could not see it in spite of Canadian National Railway connections.

Mr. Hagling especially stressed in his evidence the coming importance of the Western route for Alberta grain and was of the opinion that the Welland Canal and St. Lawrence deep-waterways project would be of great benefit to the country as a whole.

The commission will sit tomorrow morning and will spend the afternoon inspecting loading of a grain boat at the Montreal elevators.

Twill Dresses With New Frills and Furbelows

PICTURES of the pageant of Fashion appear at Daniel's with lots of the spice of variety, appealing design and appealing prices.

Hand-drawn Poirer Twills, there's one new idea. A choice of Cocoa, Sandalwood, Navy and Black at the special pricing of $29.75. All over braiding, all over embroidery—Coat, Dresses, others with all-round circular flounce on the skirt, various drapings, various pricings down to $12.75.

AT $39.75 a Coat Dress of Navy Poirer has the long tight sleeve and circular flared cuff deeply embroidered in Pearl Gray braiding the same as on the side closing collar and the single rever that curves down and over to left hip. Across the waist the embroidery then comes in an intermingling with Black braiding fully ten inches deep.

Four times across from top down even onto the skirt part runs a wide scroll embroidery surmounted by a narrow zigzag of Black braid. This Navy Poirer ties at side and only comes to $24.75.

All over the body of a fine Picotine runs flat braid in a sort of scroll waving. From shoulder to hem a series of flying drapes at right—$39.75.

In either Caramel, Navy or Black, Poirer Coat Dresses with restrained tuck trim and large left ornamental buckles—$29.75.

Right Down to $12.75.

For $19.75 a pretty fair selection of prime styles, especially in French Serge and Poirer Twill, on the order of a Poirer Twill with braid rows down both sides, across the waist and then a column above and below the left of braiding and long rows of covered buttons. And so the values go even to $12.75 for a Botany Serge Coat Dress piped in Black about the neck and rever and belted only around the back from two actual wheels attached and corded at both front hips.

Daniel has your dress at your price.

Matters of National and Civic Importance.

Matters of national and civic importance were discussed at the meeting of the Local Council of Women held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms with Mrs. Richard Hooper, president, in the chair. In urging the path for soldiers' care, Mrs. E. A. Young also expressed the opinion that the Senate should be an elective body.

At an executive meeting held immediately before the general meeting Mrs. C. A. Clarke was appointed sixth vice-president. The request of the G. W. Y. A. that the council assist on Poppy Day was accepted. Mrs. E. A. Young was appointed convener of the committee on equal moral standards.

Keseeville, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I am gaining strength and getting feebly. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt as well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. COULD HARDLY
DO ANY WORK

Keseeville, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' I bought a bottle and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting feebly. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt as well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement. Mrs. Sarah Blaine, Box 177, Keseeville, N. Y."

PROTECT WOMEN IN NEW YORK SUBWAY

Brooklyn Priest Suggests Separating of Sexes and Outlines Perils.

New York, Oct. 27.—Protest by the Holy Name Society and church organizations of all creeds against conditions prevailing in subway crowds during rush hours is being urged by the Rev. James J. Corrigan, D. D., of St. Mary's Star of the Sea, Brooklyn. He said the situation is "shameful and notorious," and public welfare demands that women in the morning and evening jams be protected from indignities to which they are now subjected.

attention of subway company officials and the Transit Commission. Their representatives admitted frankly that the condition relative to women passengers in crowded cars is a menace to the welfare of the community and that the question long has been a problem.

Opinion as to the feasibility of Dr. Corrigan's suggestion of cars or trains for women only is divided, but it probably will be considered as a possible solution. The principle objection is on the grounds that subway congestion has become so pronounced rush hour crowds practically are unmanageable. It is doubted whether they could be made to respect an edict reserving certain cars for female passengers.

William S. Menden, president of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Company, said: "I'm afraid if there were not the proper quota of women it would be difficult, if not impossible, to keep the men out."

women fear the publicity which might come from making complaint publicly through the courts and the newspapers. To avoid publicity they remain silent.

"There should be a protest from all sides. Everybody knows about the shameful crowding of both sexes so that they can't move, not even lift their hands. It is no condition for men to be packed in that way."

They are tolerated only because most women do not wish to be conspicuous in such a matter. Dr. Corrigan's suggestion has been tried. Ten years ago William G. McAdoe introduced the plan of cars for women only on the Hudson tubes. The Interborough refused to try it, saying it was impracticable. It did not prove successful on the Hudson tubes and had to be dropped. Mr. McAdoe reported that the women themselves did not want such a division.

LETTER TELLS OF JAPAN DISASTER

There was much interest in the missionary evening of the Portland Methodist Young People's Society, which met last evening with Miss Gertrude Harper, vice-president and missionary convenor, in the chair. One of the outstanding features of the meeting was the reading of a letter from the sister of the chairman, Miss Ruth Harper, who is a missionary in Japan.

Miss Harper's letter told of the experience of anchoring in the harbor of devastated Yokohama, after spending an anxious day on board ship, the news of the disaster having reached them the day before. She told of the terrible suffering of the refugees, who came to meet them on another ocean liner, and to whom all on board gave clothing.

Miss Keyes, speaking from the teacher's viewpoint, told of the great help which the Junior Red Cross work brought to each department of the school curriculum, of the spirit of loyalty which it inspired and the interest it aroused.

Women's Canadian Club Chooses Mrs. Smith President

New Constitution and By-Laws Adopted at Annual Meeting

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith was elected president of the Women's Canadian Club at the annual meeting of the club held last night in the Natural History Society's rooms with the retiring president, Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond, in the chair.

The revised constitution recommended by a special committee was read and adopted for the following year at the end of which time it was possible, it was said, that a uniform draft of constitution and by-laws would have been adopted for all clubs.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith; vice-presidents, Mrs. Allan G. McAvity, Mrs. J. H. Duddy and Mrs. L. DeV. Chipman; recording secretary, Mrs. G. S. Macdonald; corresponding secretary, Miss Katherine Bell; treasurer, Miss Anne Tingey; historians, Mrs. Harold Lawrence, additional members of the executive, Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, Mrs. P. C. Beattie, Mrs. Royden Thomson, Mrs. F. W. Daniel, Mrs. H. B. Peck, Mrs. F. B. Ellis, Mrs. William McAvity, Mrs. W. B. Tennant and Mrs. J. H. Vanwart.

Mrs. Raymond, as a past president, becomes a member of the executive, ex-officio. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. L. A. McAlpine and the scrutineers were Mrs. J. V. McLellan, convener, Mrs. John Owens, Mrs. J. Goldman, Mrs. George Murray, Miss Alice Fairweather and Miss Leslie Pickett.

A vote was taken and the majority decided against having the report of the nominating committee posted before the meeting opened.

To these two brief speeches of eulogy, Mrs. Raymond replied fittingly.

President's Report

In her report as president, Mrs. Raymond referred to the national consciousness which had inspired the club during the last year, which had been an exceptionally productive one. The programme had been educational, patriotic and entertaining, presenting Canadian literature, national problems and leading events. Activity was continued during the summer time, an unusual circumstance in the history of the club.

Mrs. Raymond said that on Canadian club devoted the duty of awakening national consciousness and Empire loyalty and extension of clubs should be achieved.

Touching upon the activities of the last year, she spoke of the meetings of the executive of provincial clubs and of the visitors who had graced various meetings, referring especially to Mrs. E. H. S. Flood, president of the Canadian Club in Barbados, at whose request Mrs. Raymond had carried the Barbados credentials to the Vancouver meeting.

The two outstanding achievements of the year for returned soldiers she spoke of as the gift of 175 books to the Lancaster Hospital and the sale of soldiers' handwork at the garden party held in the summer. She urged the club to make a further gift of books to the Lancaster Hospital at Christmas time.

On the occasion of Governor Cox's visit she had been able to reciprocate some hospitality extended when she attended the Pan-American Conference and she had arranged a reception at her home.

As those who might be willing to address the club in the coming year, Mrs. Raymond mentioned Miss Jessie Lawson, Miss Archibald, of Wolfville, Mrs. L. DeV. Chipman and Rev. F. Draper, of Louisburg. She urged the local club to recognize the fact that the Maple Leaf Magazine was the official organ and in closing she thanked the officers for special help, the members for co-operation and support and all who had assisted the club in any way for their kind aid.

"Least Said, Soonest Mended," Comments President, Dr. Eliot.

Boston, Oct. 26.—"Least said, soonest mended," was the comment of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, concerning reports of Ku Klux Klan activities in the student body. Entirely consistent with this expression of his attitude was his refusal to amplify his position in any way. Overseers of the university took much the same stand as the former president. Most of them were unwilling to commit themselves at all, explaining that the extent, or existence even, of a Klan organization at Harvard was so much a matter of conjecture that they thought the time not ripe for a statement.

Bill Presented to Civic Commission—$49,066 in Accounts Passed

That the St. John Electric Power Commission was paying $25 a month to C. E. Holder for a right of way to the sub-station was brought out at the commission meeting yesterday afternoon. A bill was received from the Canadian Westinghouse Company for sales tax on the indoor switching equipment at the sub-station and a bill for $146.29 from the New Brunswick Telephone Co., Ltd., against the contractor for the city distribution system for damage done to the company's equipment.

In the absence of R. A. McAvity, the chairman, the chair was taken by F. S. A. McMullin. Other members of the commission present were W. L. Harding, Mayor Fisher, James Lewis and John Flood.

The engineer reported that he had checked up the tenders for copper wire and recommended that two carloads, as per his previous recommendation, be purchased from the Canadian General Electric Company and H. M. Hopper. The recommendation was adopted.

The engineer reported that, in his opinion, the claim of the Stephen Construction for extra for time lost was fully covered by the contract and also a bill for damages submitted on Oct. 19 that he would take up with the New Brunswick Telephone Company, Ltd., the matter of interferences as he had received copies of the agreement between the telephone company and the City of St. John and Town of Portland, and that the commission was ready to take over the street lighting south of Union street after Nov. 1.

The secretary was instructed to notify the contractor of the report of the engineer on his claim for extra and to send a notice to the city in regard to the street lighting.

Bills Received.
The secretary reported that he had received a bill from the Canadian Westinghouse Company of $889.98 for sales tax on the indoor switching equipment of the sub-station and he was instructed to obtain the opinion of Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K.C., M.P., city solicitor, as to the liability of the commission for this amount.

A letter from the New Brunswick Telephone Company, Ltd., enclosing an account of $146.29 for damage done by the contractor for the civic system to their property which they had been unable to collect from the contractor, was read and referred to the engineer for a report.

Bills amounting to $49,066.11 were ordered paid. Among these was one for $75 for three months' rent of right of way to sub-station. Mayor Fisher asked if it was possible to get along without this as $300 per year seemed a large sum to pay for a right of way. The secretary said that at the time the road had been blocked by Mr. Holder the chairman had arranged to pay him $25 per month, the agreement to be subject to cancellation on one week's notice. Mr. Holder had been in the office a few days ago and offered for $100 to leave the road open until next spring. The chairman and secretary were given authority to make some arrangement with Mr. Holder.

DOCK IN MINIATURE IN WINDOW DISPLAY
Model Represents Great Amount of Work by Local Man

A miniature of the Dry Dock, being an exact replica of the original just one ninety-sixth of its actual size, has been built by Manchester, Robertson & Allison, Ltd. and can be seen today in one of the double front windows of that establishment in King street. It is an exceptionally fine piece of work, complete in every detail, and represents an immense amount of work on the part of David Lynch, the window decorator, and his assistants.

In the dock, itself, which is constructed like the original at Courtenay Bay, even to the gates, steps, drains and other features, there reposes two other docks, garage, new orifice building and the buildings on the grassy slopes of the hill above the dock are all there. A railway runs around the dock as at Courtenay Bay. There is a model ornamental lighting system, a model crane, tugs and all the other equipment which the citizens may expect to see at the real dry dock on the opening day.

The whole arrangement is very cleverly constructed and it makes an excellent

ONE BRIGHT SPOT IN SHIPBUILDING

Motor-driven Class in Britain Furnishes Satisfactory Increase.

London, Oct. 27.—The recently published Lloyd's Register Returns of the shipbuilding in progress throughout the world is not encouraging reading, but there is one bright spot, and that is the ever-increasing amount of motor-driven ships being built. At this time last year the motor tonnage under construction was 126,427 tons.

At the present time, when a period of great depression overhangs the shipbuilding trade, there are motor ships totaling 294,426 tons in process of building. Of these 49 vessels, 11 are between 4,000 and 5,000 tons, nine from 5,000 to 6,000, nine from 6,000 to 8,000, and two over 20,000 tons.

The percentage of motor to steam-driven ships building in Great Britain and Ireland is 24 1/2 per cent. In Sweden, where the motor has long been

LAWYERS DISCUSS
ALIEN MARRIAGES

Bill Prepared to Make Nationality Independent of Wedlock.

London, Oct. 27.—At the International Law Association's conference, recently held in London, a resolution was put forward by the Argentine Republic as follows:—

"That it would be desirable to fix uniformly by treaty the nationality of married women, reserving to a married woman, so far as possible, the right to choose her own nationality."

Dr. Schuster said that the rule whereby a woman married to a British subject was deemed a British subject, while a woman married to an alien was deemed an alien, dated only from the Naturalization Act of 1870. Before that date there was no law affecting the nationality of a married woman. A slight alteration was made in 1914, by which a woman married to a British subject could retain her nationality if her husband ceased to be a British subject during marriage.

There is now a bill before Parliament to provide that a British woman shall not lose her nationality by reason of her marriage to an alien, and that an alien shall not acquire British nationality by marrying a British subject.

In the United States the "Cable Act" of 1922 established complete independence between husband and wife as regards nationality, so that a woman desiring to acquire her husband's nationality has to be naturalized in the ordinary way, but with the concession of doing so in one year instead of five.

Miss Chrystal Macmillan said that the matter was coming up before the Imperial Conference, owing to the pressure exercised by women's organizations. Women asked for an international conference of governments to discuss the question of the nationality of married women, and the officials of the League of Nations were said to support this proposal.

The question was referred to the national committee of the association.

3 Per Cent. of Drivers Careless At Tracks

7,566 of 242,142 Don't Seem to Care About Living, Check Shows.

New York, Oct. 27.—Three per cent of the automobile drivers who cross railroad tracks are careless, according to figures sent out from the offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. Inspectors kept check on drivers crossing railroad crossings for June, July, August and September, and found that approximately 97 per cent of them were sensible. The numbers of drivers checked for the four months was 242,142. Of these, 7,566 didn't seem to care whether they killed or not.

The check was taken in the form of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. Inspectors kept check on drivers crossing railroad crossings for June, July, August and September, and found that approximately 97 per cent of them were sensible. The numbers of drivers checked for the four months was 242,142. Of these, 7,566 didn't seem to care whether they killed or not.

Excessive speed was the most common form of carelessness, but various other forms were observed, such as failing to look in both directions for trains, disregarding the crossing watchman's signal, driving recklessly across the track and turning a car with poor brakes.

RUINS OF ANCIENT CITY DISCOVERED

Ferrera, Italy, Oct. 26.—Ruins of an entire ancient city, believed to antedate the Romans by perhaps 1,000 years, have been discovered near here. More than 100 tombs have been uncovered, together with the remains of a number of persons buried in them. There are traces also of an immense temple, fragments of which are being placed together in an effort to decipher the markings and trace the origin of the city. Wearing apparel and numerous jewels and vases of artistic design resembling Greek forms were found in the tombs.

"I could not walk"

Headaches, dizzy spells, pains in the back, swelling of feet and ankles, suppressed, scalding or painful urination—are all indications of kidney trouble. Read how Gin Pills relieved one sufferer:—

"I am seventy-eight years old and have suffered from kidney trouble for over two years. I had swollen feet and hands, sleeplessness and dizziness so that I could not walk. I began taking Gin Pills and now the swelling has left and I do not have any dizziness, and I can walk. I can recommend Gin Pills."

lem for King Alfonso, who is personally deeply committed to the new army junta, is how General Rivera is going to get out of the African adventure. Mere scuttling might be almost as swiftly fatal to the new regime, largely consisting of the King's personal friends in the army, as renewed campaigning.

Lots of people are sorry they missed the pretty little naval engagement at the Royal United Service Institution when Admiral Sturdee, the man who wiped out Von Spree's squadron at the Falkland Islands and afterwards raised the Victory Fund to preserve a wooden flagship for all time, had a regular argumentative meal with Admiral Percy Scott, the man who saved Ladysmith and taught the British Navy that gunnery was more important than painting.

The first sign of the closing long vacation has been the throwing open of the Temple gates closed throughout the summer, despite many spirited protests in the press. The new law will have an especial interest for it will see working the new Matrimonial Causes Act which places the sexes on terms of equality. There are several rumored retirements, among them that of Mr. Justice Darling, senior judge of the K. B. D., with twenty years' service to his credit. But Sir Charles Darling has several times disappointed those who have an eye on judicial promotion, and being about the "oldest" judge on the bench, is likely to disappoint them again this time. Two cases of outstanding interest will be the probable hearing of the Russell appeal to the House of Lords, a liberal action arising out of the now almost forgotten Amritsar riots. Hunters at Euston.

It is quite true that one factor in the growing importance of what is now called London's "Little Season," by which is meant the social gathering which after the summer holidays and the shooting and before Christmas, is the habit nowadays of hunting from London at headquarters. A surprising number of well-known society folks, who are keen on following the season, are now making their headquarters at Euston. The Kennel Club's Show at the Crystal Palace attracted a bewildering number of dogs and dog-lovers from all sorts and sizes. The £100,000 prize list was completed for some 2,000 dogs worth altogether about £200,000. For me the champion of the whole show was the Brighton Bloodhound, which serenely won his 28th "first." He is a noble creature whose looks would satisfy a Landseer and demagogue or Dr. Johnson. The bulldog struck out as being slightly Joe Beckett. Their nerves are too highly strung for their Bill Sikes physiques.

Descamps' Protege.
After so many British experts have sought so long in vain for a future British heavy-weight boxing champion, it would be really too ironic if a Frenchman found one for us. And this is just what Descamps, Carpentier's "brother" believes he has done. He is taking under his wing a Covent Garden man of sixteen, named Johnny Sullivan, who made quite a promising debut at Olympia on the night of the big fight. Descamps has picked the youngster out as a likely lad, young enough to be trained on right lines, with the physique of a future champion, and as he believes, the right sort of temperament and mentality. Whether he is right or wrong in his faith that Sullivan is another Carpentier, Descamps shows one piece of wisdom. He realizes the fact, overlooked by our own boxing experts, that a champion boxer, like a champion golfer or billiard player, must be a young man, and cannot be suddenly improvised merely out of big raw material.

Bishopsgate's Oriental Bazaar.
Within a few minutes of Liverpool street, with its jostling crowds of City people, there is a market so much like an Oriental bazaar in appearance as possible. The Jewish Clothing Market is held in a square enclosed within high walls just off Bishopsgate. One pays twopenny for admission to the market, and on its stalls can be purchased clothing of every description, from the roughest hand-merchandise to the roughest reach-me-downs and gaudy silks. Foreign Jews run the market—on every side strange tongues assail the ear as the utility and magnificence of wares is shouted out in Polish, German, and Yiddish. But we baffle the Hung-han who, presuming upon the vendor's scant knowledge of English words or currency, tries to overreach him in business when work is over the merchants sit cross-legged on the ground, drinking Russian tea and playing card games known as "Clabber Yax."

An Old London Church.
Londoners will soon have to say farewell to one of their oldest churches, because demolition is about to start on St. Olave's, the original of which dates back to 1019, and was named after the Norse King who helped Ethelred against the Danes. The existing building, with its square tower and rose-windowed facade, has many associations, and figured in both the plague and the Great Fire. Our first English herbalist, who was in his day Dean of Wells, Dr. William Turner, who died in 1614, has a fine monument in the church, and there is another to Samuel Pepys and that "poor wench," Mrs. Pepys. The famous diarist loved to show off his most expensive coats at service here, and also observed that his wife had left off patches when accompanying him there. Among the unknown worthies buried in the church is one Sir John Minnes, Charles II's Vice-Admiral, and a merry spirit who wrote light verse, and incidentally was a real author of a popular couplet then wrongly attributed to Butler:—"For he that fights and runs away, May live to fight another day."

Two cases of outstanding interest will be the probable hearing of the Russell appeal to the House of Lords, a liberal action arising out of the now almost forgotten Amritsar riots. Hunters at Euston.

It is quite true that one factor in the growing importance of what is now called London's "Little Season," by which is meant the social gathering which after the summer holidays and the shooting and before Christmas, is the habit nowadays of hunting from London at headquarters. A surprising number of well-known society folks, who are keen on following the season, are now making their headquarters at Euston. A surprising number of well-known society folks, who are keen on following the season, are now making their headquarters at Euston.

The Kennel Club's Show at the Crystal Palace attracted a bewildering number of dogs and dog-lovers from all sorts and sizes. The £100,000 prize list was completed for some 2,000 dogs worth altogether about £200,000. For me the champion of the whole show was the Brighton Bloodhound, which serenely won his 28th "first." He is a noble creature whose looks would satisfy a Landseer and demagogue or Dr. Johnson. The bulldog struck out as being slightly Joe Beckett. Their nerves are too highly strung for their Bill Sikes physiques.

Descamps' Protege.
After so many British experts have sought so long in vain for a future British heavy-weight boxing champion, it would be really too ironic if a Frenchman found one for us. And this is just what Descamps, Carpentier's "brother" believes he has done. He is taking under his wing a Covent Garden man of sixteen, named Johnny Sullivan, who made quite a promising debut at Olympia on the night of the big fight. Descamps has picked the youngster out as a likely lad, young enough to be trained on right lines, with the physique of a future champion, and as he believes, the right sort of temperament and mentality. Whether he is right or wrong in his faith that Sullivan is another Carpentier, Descamps shows one piece of wisdom. He realizes the fact, overlooked by our own boxing experts, that a champion boxer, like a champion golfer or billiard player, must be a young man, and cannot be suddenly improvised merely out of big raw material.

Bishopsgate's Oriental Bazaar.
Within a few minutes of Liverpool street, with its jostling crowds of City people, there is a market so much like an Oriental bazaar in appearance as possible. The Jewish Clothing Market is held in a square enclosed within high walls just off Bishopsgate. One pays twopenny for admission to the market, and on its stalls can be purchased clothing of every description, from the roughest hand-merchandise to the roughest reach-me-downs and gaudy silks. Foreign Jews run the market—on every side strange tongues assail the ear as the utility and magnificence of wares is shouted out in Polish, German, and Yiddish. But we baffle the Hung-han who, presuming upon the vendor's scant knowledge of English words or currency, tries to overreach him in business when work is over the merchants sit cross-legged on the ground, drinking Russian tea and playing card games known as "Clabber Yax."

An Old London Church.
Londoners will soon have to say farewell to one of their oldest churches, because demolition is about to start on St. Olave's, the original of which dates back to 1019, and was named after the Norse King who helped Ethelred against the Danes. The existing building, with its square tower and rose-windowed facade, has many associations, and figured in both the plague and the Great Fire. Our first English herbalist, who was in his day Dean of Wells, Dr. William Turner, who died in 1614, has a fine monument in the church, and there is another to Samuel Pepys and that "poor wench," Mrs. Pepys. The famous diarist loved to show off his most expensive coats at service here, and also observed that his wife had left off patches when accompanying him there. Among the unknown worthies buried in the church is one Sir John Minnes, Charles II's Vice-Admiral, and a merry spirit who wrote light verse, and incidentally was a real author of a popular couplet then wrongly attributed to Butler:—"For he that fights and runs away, May live to fight another day."

TRAPPER FINDS VICKS HANDY FOR A HOST OF ILLS

Ontario Man Says It is a Most Useful Remedy.

Mr. C. Phoenix, of 755 Grey St., London, Ont., writes: "I am very pleased to recommend Vicks VapoRub. I am a hunter, trader and trapper, also a fisherman. I use Vicks VapoRub in place of liniments, because it is very handy to carry and always gives such quick relief for small animal and insect bites, and for chapped hands and lips. My boots would blister my feet and I rubbed it on them and it made them just right. When I go trapping next fall I will have plenty of Vicks VapoRub in my kit. I call it the 'Trapper's Friend.' I have not had a cold all winter and I go out all the time and sometimes stay out all night with my traps."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern Druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc. Absorbed through the skin and at the same time inhaled as a vapor, Vicks relieves immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

It is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles, the successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, ointments and plasters.

Use for croup and children's colds. Vicks gives remarkably quick results and also avoids nauseating internal dosing. Just as good for cuts, burns, bruises, bites, stings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 244 St. Paul St., W. Montreal, P. Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

DENOUNCE WEARING OF BIRD FEATHERS

Humane Conference Speakers Call Slaying of Animals "Hellish"

New York, Oct. 27.—With representatives of more than thirty countries in attendance, the second American World Humane Conference is in session here this week. Dr. Frank L. Baldwin, Vice President of the American Humane Society, under the auspices of which the conference was called, characterized New York as "the mecca of humane workers and the birthplace of the humanitarian movement."

Dr. William Stillman, President of the association, denounced the wearing of bird feathers as an adornment by women, pointing out that it was not unusual for birds and fur-bearing animals to be left in traps for several days before a trapper gets to them.

"This practice of killing animals and birds in order that women can deck themselves out unnecessarily seems as heinous as anything on earth," Dr. Stillman said.

Dr. Stillman and other animal and bird lovers called attention to an exhibit in connection with the conference of fabric furs, which, it was said, had reached such an advanced state of manufacture that only an expert could detect the difference from real furs. This exhibit, which is open to the public, is attracting much attention.

Slaughter house reform was the topic of discussion at the first day's session. A committee considered new methods for humanely stunning cattle, preparatory to slaughter, which had been suggested by several hundred entrants in a contest for a prize of $10,000 offered by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. According to speakers, the packers are co-operating to the fullest extent in finding a more humane way to stun animals, one packing house offering to duplicate the prize in the event one of its employees won.

THIEF IS SENTENCED; WIFE TAKES POISON

Her Plea For Clemency Failed—Pickpocket Husband Gets Five Years.

New York, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Frances Schiff attempted to kill herself by drinking kerosene in the corridor outside of Judge Talley's part of General Sessions in the Criminal Courts Building when she learned that the court had ignored her plea for clemency for her husband, a pickpocket, whom she married seven months ago, and had sentenced him to five years in Sing Sing. Sam Schiff, the husband, had been arrested on numerous occasions for robbery, but in most instances managed to avoid prosecution by having his trial delayed on various pretexts, thus forcing the complainants eventually to fail to appear against him.

HEALTH

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

Schiff, who had become known to the underworld as "the king of the pickpockets," pleaded guilty when he saw that the authorities were intent on placing him on trial. Before Schiff's arraignment for sentence Judge Talley received a letter from his young wife which read in part as follows: "I appeal to you from the bottom of my heart to show mercy to my husband, Sam Schiff, who was arrested for grand larceny. I am firmly convinced of his innocence in this case, but, owing to his past record, he was afraid to stand trial, realizing that the chances were against him."

HEALTH

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

Court attendants seized the young woman and hurried her to the office of Mrs. Hester Livingston, the matron of the building, where antidotes were administered. The young woman declared that her husband having been sent to prison, she eventually would kill herself, and although her condition was found not to be serious, she was removed to Bellevue Hospital.

HARVEST SUPPER HELD IN FAIRVILLE

The Fairville harvest supper, held last evening by the Epworth League of the church, was a Halloween celebration as well and greatly enjoyed by the large number who partook of the bountiful feast, and who afterwards participated in the Halloween festivities. The executive was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. Dore Craby, Miss Vivian McColgan and Miss Eva Taylor, who presided at the three tables. Miss Edna Shaw, Miss Lottie Kelly, Miss Stella Kirkpatrick and Miss Hazel Kelly replenished and Mrs. H. Marshall Stout cut the cake. Grey Townsend took charge of the tea and coffee. The men of the League, who were assistants in decorating and general arrangements, were Rev. J. M. Rice, the pastor, Harry Sweet, president of the League; Robert Scott and McVie Rice. Mrs. John Evans had charge of the candy table. Those who served were Misses Gertrude Mason, Margaret Rice, Hazel Linton, Selma Ryan, Erith Cheeseman, Mildred Cougle, Lottie Kelly, Addie Tippett, Hattie Boppe, Gladys Tippett, Ruth Kelly, M. Do YOU know what LINOLEUM Really is?

EVERY woman should know what linoleum is, what it is made of and why it is unquestionably a most sanitary and health promoting floor for her home. She can then buy with assurance and obtain genuine linoleum.

Ground Cork and What it Means to Linoleum

You have used corks in the home in various ways. Take up one now and squeeze it. It responds to the pressure exerted by your fingers, but once this pressure is released it immediately resumes its former shape. Throw it into a basin of water, and it tosses about lightly riding the surface of the water without absorbing a drop. It is entirely non-absorbent. Take a knife and whittle it—its softness is different from that of anything else, and yet, when it is tough. Is it any wonder that, when finely ground and employed as a primary ingredient of genuine linoleum it retards moisture, ensures a resilient tread, and wears and wears indefinitely?

Oxidized Linseed Oil is a Wonderful Material

Most people have observed the filmy substance that gathers over a neglected pot of paint when the lid is removed. This is really oxidized linseed oil, or oil mixed with oxygen. It is tough and rubberlike, yet soft and pliable. When produced in a modern oxidizing plant and added to ground cork and other important oils and gums it brings to linoleum added springiness and toughness. It is decidedly germicidal, the very feature that modern housewives should insist upon when buying a floor covering. This pure product of flaxseed, grown in the Canadian West, is specially compressed and scientifically treated for use in making linoleum.

Strong Burlap makes a Tough and Lasting Backing

Everyone knows why good rope is strong—because of the hundreds of long, tough fibres that are closely and tightly woven together. Burlap, made of similar long fibre jute, grown in India, is used as a base for genuine linoleum and makes a secure, non-tearing groundwork for the cork, oxidized linseed oil and other important materials that are firmly pressed into this backing of burlap. So great is the pressure exerted by the huge rolls employed in the manufacture of linoleum that the linoleum "mix," just described, and the burlap, become as one. If you look closely when buying, you will readily observe this important feature and can then understand why it is so highly important. And more—the burlap used in making Dominion Linoleum and Oilcloth is of the highest quality.

Why You should Insist on getting Dominion Linoleum

Great care is taken to maintain a high standard of quality in making all grades of DOMINION LINOLEUM and OILCLOTH. In every instance they are of approved standard, and destined to impart long and satisfactory service. When you buy, first ask for "DOMINION," then look for the strong burlap back, as shown in sketch and for our trade mark shown at right. Finally, as an additional safeguard, look for the natural cork edge; all genuine Dominion Linoleum has it.

Other Important Points that make Linoleum Better

Among the important raw materials used is Kauri Gum—the fossilized sap of the New Zealand pine. This is generally dug out of the ground, as shown in the illustration, and when refined and added to the linoleum surfacing mixture it further enhances its worth. After the plain linoleum is rolled it is cured and seasoned in a large curing room, but when patterned linoleum is desired the design must be printed by passing the goods through huge printing machines which print the pattern automatically before curing. The designs originate, of course, in the designing department, where new and pleasing combinations are being continually evolved, for transfer to the huge printing blocks.

Send us your name and address and we will mail you an attractive rug folder in four colors.

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

JOHNNIE McINTYRE REGAINS HIS WELTERWEIGHT TITLE FROM HEALEY

Gloucester Contender Wins Well-earned Decision After 12 Rounds.

Johnnie McIntyre of Gloucester, B. N. S. W., regained his title of welterweight champion of the Maritime Provinces by defeating champion "Neddy" Healey of Halifax in a twelve round bout staged in the Arena last evening. The sensational part of the bout was in the first round when Healey walked into a still left jab and to many it appeared that as a result of his dazed condition he would never be able to weather the storm of blows until the bell sounded. By "hanging on" he succeeded, but the punishment he received apparently took much of the fight out of him and his efforts to even up during the remaining rounds proved futile. The judges' decision was unanimously in favor of McIntyre and he was carried from the ring on the shoulders of his admirers.

Healey assumed the aggressive in the first round. He pranced around McIntyre looking for an opening with the Gloucester boy in the centre. Healey rushed in and McIntyre landed flush with his left. Healey's knees wobbled and he caught McIntyre around the body to save himself from going to the floor. McIntyre wrenched himself loose from the clinch and swung hard, but Healey ducked and again fell into a clinch. McIntyre had difficulty in clearing himself and again measured Healey, but his blow was wild. Healey showed remarkable stamina in the second round and came out fresh in the second round. From then on, however, McIntyre had matters his own way, although Healey never gave up trying hard. Roy Chisholm, Healey's manager, was in the Halifax boy's corner. Challenges to the winner of the main bout were announced as from "Billy" Smith, a colored Scotch boy in charge of Frankie Burns, who also was McIntyre's chief agent, and "Billy" Groff, the western welterweight.

That first round will have the fans talking for many moons. It was easily the most exciting opening given to a bout in St. John since the days of "Eddie" Connelly and "Mysterious Billy" Smith, two St. John boys who later on became world champions. How Healey hung gamely through that storm only he himself knows. He could barely see his opponent in a daze and his supporters breathed a sigh of relief as the bell sounded.

From then on until the sixth round, McIntyre gave a convincing exhibition of boxing science. In the sixth, Healey opened up a promising aggressive but McIntyre was too strong. In the sixth, McIntyre side-stepped and held on to Healey's hands. McIntyre held on to Healey's hands. McIntyre held on to Healey's hands. McIntyre held on to Healey's hands. McIntyre held on to Healey's hands.

feet without assistance and the rosin was wiped off his gloves.

Opening the seventh, Healey started out to maintain his good work of the sixth round. He swung but McIntyre ducked the blow and they fell into a clinch. Healey almost got himself into another peck of trouble in this round through his dancing tactics. He rushed McIntyre near the ropes. McIntyre again side-stepped and Healey tripped over his foot and nearly went off his balance. McIntyre clipped him hard and Healey fell into a clinch. The Halifax boy quickly recovered and there were several exciting buries before the bell rang. The round was quite even.

The eighth round was also even. McIntyre showing up well. Healey was trying hard for a knockout at this stage of the game but the Gloucester youngster was too clever. Healey cut loose with several rallies. The next two rounds were largely a clinching contest with McIntyre having matters well in hand.

In the eleventh round, McIntyre surprised Healey by coming out with a rush and had Healey stepping lively with his pistollike left and overhand right.

The boxers shook hands before the final round started. Healey doggedly started out to turn the tide but it was running too strongly against him.

Main Preliminary Cancelled.

The main preliminary between "Al" Hogan, former Maritime amateur champion, and "Al" Shanks, a west-side boxer, did not take place as scheduled, owing to the fact that Shanks injured himself while in training. A substitute, Austin McIntyre, had been secured, but after examination by the official doctor for the bouts, he was pronounced unfit. It was announced that Tom Barrett, who was present, was willing to go on, but to this arrangement, Hogan would not assent. The main preliminary, therefore, was called off. It was more than made up for, however, by the stirring championship tilt between Healey and McIntyre.

Shields a Winner.

In the first preliminary, "Fighting Dick" Shields took on Earl Penny, an experienced 125-pounder. Shields gave away three rounds, but to the great surprise of the audience clearly earned a decision over Penny. There were no judges for this bout, Frankie Burns, who refereed, raising Shields' arm at the end of the final round. Shields had the "hit and miss" play down to perfection with Penny doing most of the missing. Penny's wild swings time and again sailed harmlessly over Shields' head. There were many laughable moments to the bout. Penny, taking it good-naturedly, but the serious faced, sore-topped youngster was all business. His victory was well received by the crowd with whom he is quite a favorite. He showed great promise but still is decidedly crude.

Wins Y. M. C. I. Roll-Off.

Thomas Cogrove won the weekly roll-off on the Y. M. C. I. alleys last evening with a score of 106 and thus became possessor of a pair of checkers. A large number of members had qualified and the interest throughout a roll-off weekly, players making 95 or better being eligible to participate.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbill's Saxzen was crowned "king" of the 1923 two-year-olds yesterday at Laurel, Md., when he defeated Happy Thoughts in a $15,000 special race. Earl Sande had a leg up on the winner and the result was never in doubt.

MA STRIBLING AND HER BOY FIGHTER DISCUSS AN OFFER.

Mason, Ga.—When Young Stribling, school-boy light-heavyweight, who caused the champion, Mike McTigue such great embarrassment some days ago at Columbus, gets an offer to fight, his mother decides whether it should be accepted or not.

"Ma" Stribling, as she is known here, is virtually the business manager of her rising young gladiator. She feels that Young Stribling is a match for any man of his weight in the world, especially after the manner in which he cuffed McTigue around, but she is careful to see that he is not overly matched—or underpaid. In short, "Ma" Stribling is a regular manager, and none of the wise-alecky promoters are going to put anything over on her.

COSTELLO AND GILMORE TO RACE

Will Meet Before Olympic Trials of June, Next Year.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—Paul V. Costello, national single sculling champion of 1922, announced that his challenge for a race with W. E. Garrett Gilmore, holder of the world's title, had been accepted. The race will be held prior to the Olympic trials next June.

Efforts also are being made to have Edward McGuire, of Buffalo, 1923 national champion, and Walter Hoover, of Duluth, former diamond sculls and gold challenge cup title holder, compete in the same race.

SWIMMERS MAKE FOUR RECORDS

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—Four indoor world records for swimming were broken here last night by swimmers of the Illinois A. C., Chicago.

Ethel Lackie set a new mark of 1:22.4 in the 100 yard free style, beating the old record by two fifths of a second.

Sybil Bauer broke her own record of 2:6 1-4 in the 100 yard back-stroke by nine and two fifths seconds.

John Paisley broke the record of 1:10 4-5 in the 100 yard breast stroke by a fifth of a second.

SWIMMING CHAMPS IN MONTREAL TANK

Montreal, Oct. 27.—The first half of the two-day Canadian Swimming Championship meet being held here was swum off last night. The feature race was the 50-yard, free-style women's event, for the Canadian championship. Miss Hazel Kessler of Winnipeg won both her heat and the final, registering 32 2-5 seconds in the final. The record is 32 seconds flat, established by her in 1920. Miss Pleintzen of McGill was second, and Miss Dalton of Ottawa third.

George Vernon of McGill scored a very easy win in the 500-yard men's race. His time of 6 minutes, 45 1-5 seconds will stand as a Canadian record, as no time had previously been set for this distance.

Clayton Bourne of McGill won the 100 yards in 59 1-5 seconds, which is 2-3 seconds slower than Vernon's record in 1920.

H. C. CREIGHTON HAS RETIRED FROM POST

Succeeded in Canadian National Express Here by W. G. Everett.

After nearly half a century in the express service, H. C. Creighton, general agent of the Canadian National Express here, has retired under the pension rules of the company, and is succeeded by W. G. Everett, formerly traveling agent of the company. Mr. Creighton entered the express service at Halifax 47 years ago—in 1876—with the Intercolonial Express Co., as a junior clerk, and has held practically every position in the service, including those of cashier, agent, route agent and superintendent. In 1910 he was appointed superintendent of the Atlantic division of the Canadian Express Co. with headquarters at St. John, and continued in this position until August 31, 1921, when the former Canadian Express Co. was merged with the Canadian National Express Co. He was then appointed claims agent of the eastern district and subsequently general agent at St. John, which position he held at the time of his retirement.

Mr. Creighton was one of the oldest officers in the service of the company and was well and favorably known throughout the Maritime Provinces. During the last three months he has been on the sick list, but he is now well on the road to recovery. In announcing the retirement of Mr. Creighton, the company expressed regret in the passing from active service of such an efficient officer and the hope that he would be spared for many years to enjoy his well-earned rest. Mr. Creighton's many friends in St. John and elsewhere will join in this wish and will extend to his successor congratulations on his appointment and sincere hopes for his further success.
