ECLIPSES in 1831.

There will be four Eclipses in the year 1831, in the following order :
The first will be of the Sun, February 12th.

Beginning 0h 21m.
Ecliptic Conjunction 0h. 43½m.
End 2h. 9m.

Digits eclipsed 11½ on the Sun's lower Limb.

As the Sun's apparent Diameter will exceed that of the Moon more than 45 seconds, it will appear like a ring, extending about two thirds the distance round the moon. In the greater part of the American States the Eclipse will be annular.

The second will be of the Moon, February 26th at 35 minutes after 12, in the afternoon, invisible.

The third will be of the Sun, August 7th, at 5h 45m afternoon, invisible on account of the Moon's southern Latitude.—Moon's Lat. 39½° s.

The Fourth will be of the Moon, August 23d. in the morning; the beginning will be visible if the Air is clear.

Beginning : : : 4h 26m
Middle : : : 5h 42m
Ecliptic ☽ : : : 5h 51m
End : : : 6h 59m

Digits eclipsed, 5° 48' on the moon's northern Limb.

As there are many who do not well understand the terms used in describing Eclipses, it may be observed that an Eclipse of the Sun is seen over a small part of the Earth only, at any particular point of absolute Time, and that all the Eclipses which are visible to any part of the Earth are noted in Almanacs; thus the Eclipse of the 7th August which will be invisible here, will be a total Eclipse in the South Sea, near the Society Islands. The Moon's Latitude North, or South, signifies that the Moon is at that time higher or lower when south than the Sun; and as the Moon's parallax always makes it appear nearly a degree lower than its true place in the heavens, no Eclipse of the Sun can be visible at Halifax, if the Moon has considerable southern latitude.

The Ecliptic Conjunction signifies the time at which a straight line from the centre of the Sun to the centre of the Earth would pass over the centre of the Moon. Consequently in that part of the Earth where the middle of the Eclipse (or time when the centres of the Sun and Moon approach the nearest to each other) falls exactly at noon, the middle of the Eclipse must be at the time of the Ecliptic Conjunction; but in all places west of that point it must be before, and in all places east of it after it.

The Time of high water being given but once in 24 hours, it should be observed that it is the afternoon Tide at the Time of New Moon and the morning tide at the time of full moon, the word "moon" is once marked to explain this.

☿ Venus will be an Evening star to the 5th of October; from that time to the end of the year a morning star.

☀ The Sun's Declination is for Noon at Greenwich.

Dowry.—The best dowry to advance the marriage of a young lady is, when she has in her countenance mildness; in her speech, wisdom; in her behaviour, modesty; and in her life, virtue.

Cheap Flour.—An account appears in the Moniteur, of the discovery, by chance, of the means of making flour from wheat straw. This being chopped small and passed through the millstones, yields a flour, coarse in appearance, but agreeable to the taste, and also nutritious. Made into a wash for pigs, or mixed with oats for horses, it is said to be an excellent article of food. The bread which is made from it is superior to much of the common bread eaten by the lower orders of the continent.

Fame.—I shall be glad of any fame I can get, observes an old writer, and not repine at any I miss; and as for vanity, I have enough to keep me from hanging myself, or even wishing those hanged who would take it away. I expect no favour on account of my youth, business, want of health, or any such idle excuses. A man that can expect but 60 years, may be ashamed to employ 30 in measuring syllables, and bringing sense and rhyme together. We spend our youth in pursuit of riches or fame, in hopes to enjoy them when we are old, and when we are old, we find it is too late to enjoy any thing.

Addison has said—'A man that goes out a fool cannot ride or sail himself into common sense.' Now, as, according to the testimony of Solomon, this class is infinite in number, the statesmen, scientific officers, scholars, and others, who roam to enlarge their understandings, bear no more proportion to the wandering mass than a bucket of water does to the boundless ocean. 'I have made the tour of Europe,' cried a booby, 'and so have your trunks,' retorted his hearer.

Franklin particularly endeavoured to convince young persons, that no qualities are so likely to make a poor man's fortune, as frugality and integrity. 'I was never discouraged,' says he, 'by the seeming magnitude of my undertakings; as I have always thought, that one man of tolerable abilities may work great changes, and accomplish great affairs among mankind, if he first forms a good plan; and, cutting off all amusements and employments that would divert his attention, makes the execution of the same plan his sole study and business.'

A Radical cure for the tooth-ache.—Use as a tooth powder the Spanish Snuff called Stibella, and it will clean the teeth as well as any other powder, and totally prevent the tooth ache. Make a regular practice of washing the ears with cold water every morning, the remedy is infallible.

Gloria Patri ! 'Tis the hour of prime,
 And peace, and purity, ere yet the sun
 Has sickened at the sight of ease and crime,
 Or man his daily brow-dew'd toil begun ;—
 Gloria Patri ! 'Tis the hallowed time
 Most genial to the pure soul's orison,
 When all thy creatures over earth and sea
 Should raise one universal hymn to thee !
 On the lone heath hill, while the sweet bird's hymn
 Commingles with my worship and afar
 Fades on my sight night's ebon diadem,
 Wends to the vesper-wave each sister star
 Her pearly path, and struggling thro' the dim
 Twilight, where slept the moon in opal ear,
 Nature arises, fresh in dewy bloom,
 Like renovated beauty from the tomb.

Put a piece of unslacked lime about the size of a walnut, in a quart bottle of water, and keep it corked. Cleanse the teeth with a brush every morning, using this water, and rinse the mouth with it after dinner and tea. If the water is too strongly impregnated with lime, dilute it. This practice will not only prevent the tooth ache, but will preserve the teeth.—(Saratoga Sentinel.)

The principal secrets of health are early rising, exercise, personal cleanliness, and leaving the table unoppressed.

There was a poor man, hoary and old
Cutting the heath on the open wold ;
The strokes of his bill were faint and few,
Ere this frolicsome wind upon him blew ;
But behind him, before him, about him, it came,
And the breath seem'd gone from his feeble frame ;
So he sat him down, with a muttering tone,
Saying, Plague on the wind I was the like ever known ;
But now-a-days every wind that blows,
Tells one how weak an old man grows !"

But away went the wind in its holiday glee,
And now it was far on the billowy sea,
And the lordly ships felt its staggering blow,
And the little boats darted to and fro.
But lo ! it was night, and it sank to rest,
On the sea-bird's rock, in the gleaming west,
Laughing, to think in its fearful fun,
How little of mischief it had done.

Spring time of Life.—Youth is like the spring, whose opening flowers appear in modest, blushing splendour, regaling the evening walks with delicious odours, and furnishing the lily hand that plucks them with an acceptable offering to its possessor. As the rose, violet, and pink, at first germinated by nature, require culture to bring them to perfection, so the sparkling genius, lively wit, and gay imagination, with which youth is generally possessed demand the fostering hand of education, and the force of virtuous habits to form them for the duties of active and useful life.

The clouds, the clouds ! they are beautiful
 When they sleep on the soft spring sky,
 As if the sun to rest could fall
 Their snowy company ;
 And as the wind springs up, they start
 And career o'er the azure plain,
 And before the course of the breezes dart,
 To scatter their balmy rain.

The clouds, the clouds ! now change their forms
 With every passing breath,—
 And now a glancing sunbeam warms,
 And now they look cold as death,
 Oh ! often and often have I escaped
 From the stir of the noisy crowd,
 And a thousand fanciful visions shaped
 On the face of a passing cloud !

To cure Sore Eyes.—"Good morning landlord," said a man the other day, as he stepped into a tavern to get something to drink.
 "Good morning, sir," replied mine host, "how do you do?"
 "Oh I don't know," said the man, raising his goggles and wiping away the rheum, "I'm plagued most to death with these ere pesky sore eyes. I wish you'd tell me how to cure 'em."
 "Willingly," said the merry host. "Wear your goggles over your mouth—wash your eyes in brandy—and I'll warrant a cure."

As first love to the bosom,
So you to the year,
In your innocent beauty
And freshness appear!
The summer may bring us
Its sunshine and flowers,
Perfuming the vallies,
Entwining the bowers,
O'er beds of sweet roses
The zephyrs may fly,

Add breathe on each flow'r,t,
The same balmy sigh.
In loneliness bending,
Beneath the rough blast,
Your gentle forms raising,
When danger is past.
Shining on fading on!
Like hope ye appear,
First flowers of the spring-time,
Bright gems of the year.

A Man—'The man whom I call deserving the name, is one whose thoughts and exertions are for others, rather than himself,—whose high purpose is adopted on just principles, and never abandoned while heaven and earth can afford means of accomplishing it. He is one who will neither seek an indirect advantage by a precious road, nor take an evil path to gain a real good purpose.'—Sir Walter Scott.

Dandelions.—A correspondent of the Springfield Journal says, 'Last summer I transplanted dandelions in June. This spring I have cut them three or four times a week, and must say they are a very superior article for the table—they occupy little room, and require very little attention. I make this statement now as this is the season for transplanting them, and I know of no better green nor any thing more profitable for a small portion of a garden—they are plucked about six inches apart.'

Those who waste their income by splendor in dress and equipage may be said to resemble a city on fire, which shines by that which destroys it.

See, the yellow calkins cover
All the slender willows over;
And on mossy banks so green
Starlike primroses are seen;
And their clustering leaves below
White and purple violets blow.

Hark! the little lambs are bleating
And the cawing rooks are meeting
In the elms, a noisy crowd;
And all birds are singing loud;
And the first white butterfly
In the sun goes flitting by.

New Discovery in the Preparation of Flax.—A French paper states, that an inhabitant of Chateau Thierry has discovered a mode of giving to prepared hemp and flax the fineness, softness, and whiteness of cotton, by impregnating these substances with oil, and then exposing them, during fifteen or twenty days, to the action of frost, between two layers of snow. By this means, all the inconvenience of the ordinary and tedious process of steeping them in stagnant water will be avoided.

Burns.—In cases of burns and scalds, one of the best applications is flour. It ought to be applied from a flour box, and dredged upon the part affected until the pain ceases, and renewed in the same manner as often as it returns. The doctor adds, that the crust formed by the flour ought not to be disturbed or unnecessarily removed.

I marked the spring as she passed along,
 With her eye of light and her lip of song;
 While she stole in peace o'er the green earth's breast;
 While the streams sprang out from their icy rest;
 The buds bent low to the breeze's sigh,
 And their breath went forth in the scented sky;
 When the fields look'd fresh in their sweet repose,
 And the young dews slept on the new born rose.

I looked upon summer;—the golden sun
 Poured joy over all that he looked upon;—
 His glance was cast like a gift abroad,
 Like the boundless smile of a perfect God;
 The stream stone glad in his magic ray—
 The fleecy clouds o'er the green hills lay;
 Over rich, dark woodlands their shadow's went,
 As they floated in light thro' the firmament.

Wetters have been lately introduced into this province, and being here a new disease, and the mode of curing them not generally known have given considerable trouble to some people. They resemble Ring worms, but spread with a red edging all over the face, and indeed much farther, if allowed to continue. The Infection can be communicated by standing near a person without touching them. They are cured by covering them with the milk of spurge, sawtooth e., or any other plant that has a milky juice. In winter they may be cured by applying a mixture of Gunpowder and Vinegar.

Cattle which swell in consequence of eating green Clover may generally be relieved by putting a speckled Frog so far down their throat that they are compelled to swallow it alive.

Corns on the Toes may be frequently cured by cutting them thin; and applying a soft rag covered with Tallow which should frequently be renewed; should this fail, the following, it is believed will not; half roast a clove of Garlic, work it soft and spread it on a rag, making a plaster just the size of the corn; apply one every night for a week.

Onions should be sowed in drills six inches apart; they will not ripen well if sowed very thin. The ground should be sheltered from southerly winds—well manured with fresh stable dung, but not dug more than five inches deep, for their fibrous roots will strike so deep in a very deep soil that they will not ripen, their growth being retarded by the coldness of the soil far below the surface.

Now mark yon scene ?
 A simple cottage slumbering on the breast
 Of a green valley, like a pale white cloud
 Living among the soft blue depths of heaven !
 List ! on the wind's wing comes the silvery note
 Of some nntutor'd girl, and bear 'tis mock'd
 By viewless echo 'mong the distant hills !
 Look now around, pale scholar ! see the sheaves
 Piled in the winnowed meadows, and away
 Over the lovely landscape, mark the girls
 ' Binding the corn !'

The Sun Flower.—It is said by experienced agriculturalists, that this plant, properly cultivated, is probably the most profitable of any ever cultivated. The oil extracted from its seeds, which are more oleaginous than those of any other plant known to us, combines the qualities, for eating, of the olive or sweet oil ; for burning, of the best Sperm oil, without the smoke of the latter ; and for painting of the flaxseed oil. The young flower cups of this plant are very excellent and agreeable to the taste, when prepared and eaten as artichokes. The stalks are an excellent substitute for hemp, in manufacturing pack thread. From its flowers, the most luscious and highly flavored honey is extracted. It is estimated that the plant will yield between 80 and 100 bushels of seed to the acre ; which will furnish from five to seven quarts of oil to the bushel. We think it would be an object for some of our agriculturalists to make the experiment. The flower will flourish on ground unfit for any thing else.—[Statesmen.]

Burns.—There can hardly be a more engaging and excellent character than that in which the humble Bard appeared, from his earliest youth, to the very verge of manhood. We see him struggling with an untiring industry, for the maintenance of those who had claims upon his care—devoting his days to toil, and his nights to study—ranging his eye over the great volume of Nature, and drinking in knowledge which the mere book-worm can never acquire; or seated by his happy fireside, conning over some strain of simple but impassioned melody, to be sung and admired long after the earth had closed above his head. He was all that a parent could wish, or the most captious examiner of human frailty require. We see him again bursting through the obscurity which his humble birth had cast around him—glorying in the consciousness that he had risen with the strength of his own wing—and enjoying the society of those who, but for his genius, would have been far above him. And again he is seen—but we wish not to draw his frailties from their dread abode—the rest is well known, and will be long and deeply regretted. It shows how much more severely we are tried by prosperity, and the fulfilment of our fondest hopes, than we are by the

Thus, though my noon of life be past,
 Yet let my setting sun at last
 Find out the still, the rural cell
 Where sage retirement loves to dwell?
 There let me taste the home-felt bliss
 Of innocence and inward peace;
 Untainted by the guilty bribe,
 Uncursed amid the harpy tribe;
 No orphan's cry to wound my ear;
 My honour and my conscience clear;
 Thus may I calmly meet my end,
 Thus to the grave descend!

sternness of adversity—how much more liable we are to find our ruin in flowery and seductive paths, than in those cheerless and arduous walks, to tread which is often difficult and painful; and to the gifted it teaches that the fire of genius, like the fire of earth, unless guarded and restrained, will spread desolation and misery over what it was only intended to beautify and adorn.

Grassland which has been ploughed and has produced one crop of potatoes, will the next season bear a better crop of Peas than an old garden.

Along the southern coast of this Province a North east aspect is generally best for a Garden or Orchard, or in other words a situation as much sheltered as possible from the sea breezes.

For the Hooping Cough.—Put a drachm of ground Spanish Flies into a gill of rum ; mark the Bottle as it is a dangerous Poison if swallowed ; slightly rub this over the Breast of an Infant when the cough is violent, it will sometimes blister which is of little consequence to Infants they feeling no more pain from a blister than there really is, which is not a tenth part so much as many grown persons help themselves to by the aid of imagination.

For older children the following old Recipe will generally prove useful ; rub ten grains of cochineal and twenty of pearlash together in a mortar till it is very fine, put it into a gill of water, sweeten it, and give a child as many tea spoonfull as it is years old, three or four times a day.

The ever active and restless power of thought, if not employed about what is good will naturally and unavoidably engender evil.

And oh ! ye stars, whose distant bowers
 Repose beneath the glowing lights
 Of other suns and moons than ours—
 Of other days and nights,—
 Have sin and sorrow wandered o'er
 Each far—unknown—untravell'd bourne—
 Have ye, too, partings on the shore,
 That never know return !

Then what is Yesterday—a breath;
 A whisper of the summer breeze ;—
 A thing of silent birth and death,
 Colored by man's fond sympathies !
 It had its buds they all are gone—
 Its tears—but they are now no more :
 Its hopes—but they were quickly flown—
 Its pure delights—and thy are o'er !

To-Day !—How in its little span,
 The interests of an endless state,
 Beyond the feverish life of man,
 Are crowded with their awful weight ?
 Prayers may ascend ;—the soul may pour
 Its trembling supplications here,
 That, when Time's fitful hour is o'er,
 Its hopes of Heaven may blossom there !

Directions for coming into Halifax Harour, taken from the printed Directions in the Custom-House at Halifax.

SAMBRO Island and Light House is in latitude 44 deg. 30 min. N and longitude 63 deg. 32 min. W. From the westward, bring the light to bear N. E.; if it bears more easterly stretch to the southward till it bears N. E. and as much more northerly as you please, there being no shoal or ledge to the southward; then keep it open on your larboard bow; give it more than a mile and a half birth, as much more as you please. Note—The western ledges lie from the light S. W. distant two miles, the other W. S. W. about one league; the eastern ledges lie in a range nearly, some above water; the outer most one mile and a half from the light, bearing from it E. N. E. When the light bears north, distant about 2 miles, run N. E. 4 miles, then north will carry you to Chebucto Head, at a proper distance clear of all danger. When a breast of Chebucto Head, run N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. for the south point of George's Island. When within half a mile of George's Island, you may enter the harbour west of it in 12 fathoms, or east of it in 15. In passing between Sandwich point and Meagher's beach, run nearest the point, to shun a shoal which runs off S. W. from the beach. There is also a shoal lying one mile south of Sandwich point. Coming from the eastward, run for the light, and you cannot fail seeing Chebucto Head as you open Halifax harbour; the light being 4 miles distant from the Head to the S. W.

New Light House.—As the Light House on the Tower at the west end of Manger's Beach, at the entrance of Halifax Harbour, is intended only to lead vessels up the harbour, the greater part of the eastern side will be darkened, viz—from N. E. by N. to S. half E.—The following directions published by the Commissioners of Light Houses should be attended to:—"Vessels coming from the Eastward must keep Sambro Light open to the southward of Chebucto Head and until the Light opens on Manger's beach, which will then bear N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W.—they will then be to the westward of Thrum Cap Shoals, and may shape a course up the harbour, always keeping the Light on the Beach open, and on the starboard bow. Vessels coming from the westward will see this Light when they are as far to the eastward as Chebucto Head, by keeping it open, and on the starboard bow it will lead them up to the beach. This Light will appear of a red colour, which will distinguish it from any other on the coast. It is fifty eight feet high from the level of the sea."

The request which we made in last Almanack, to Adjutants of Regiments throughout the Province, for correct lists of officers, has not been complied with. In the mean time we have given the returns of the Halifax Regiments, and still solicit correct returns for our next Calendar.

BISCUIT MACHINE.—The navy board is manufacturing biscuits at Portsmouth by machinery. The first process is that of mixing the meal (5 cwt) with a sufficient quantity of water, which is accomplished in two minutes; the second process is that of rolling the dough, which is placed on boards, to its proper thickness; and the third and last process is passing the dough, when rolled, under the stamping machines, which will stamp the extraordinary number of 360 per minute, or 21,600 per hour. The whole of these operations are performed without the dough coming into contact with the hand or any other part of the body, and the machine perform their respective duties with admirable precision, expedition, and cleanliness, and have fully answered the most sanguine expectations of their spirited inventor.

POWERFUL!—At the Gloucester Assizes, a person named Blackman was tried for sheep stealing, and while one of the witnesses was giving evidence of a confession, the prisoner exclaimed, "You are a false fellow; you would swear a grey horse was a chandler's shop, and every hair upon his back a pound of candles."

A village Politician told his wife that the low countries had risen (alluding to the disturbances in the Netherlands) "I am glad of it," exclaimed the old dame; "we shall not hear of the floods doing so much damage again."

How to act in case of doubt.—In cases of doubtful morality it is usual to say, 'Is there any harm in doing this?' The question may be best answered by asking ourselves another question, 'Is there any harm in letting it alone.'

Anecdote.—The following anecdote was told me by a Senator of Maine. Two neighboring farmers had a dispute respecting the right to some adjoining property, which they could not compromise; and an action was brought to determine it. On the day appointed for the trial, one of the farmers having dressed himself in Sunday clothes, called upon his opponent to accompany him to the judge. Finding his neighbour at work on his ground, he said to him, "Is it possible you can have forgotten that our cause is to be decided to-day. No, said the other, 'I have not forgotten it; but I cannot well spare time to go. I knew you would be there, and I am sure you are an honest man, and will say nothing but the truth. You will state the case fairly, and justice will be done.' And so it proved, for the farmer who went to the judge stated his neighbor's claims so clearly, that the cause was decided against himself; and he returned to inform his opponent that he had gained the property.

They manage these things quite otherwise, said I, in some places.—Christian Register.

Snapping Dogs.—A correspondent of the London Times says:—It is surprising to me they have not introduced here the sort of muzzle in common use on the continent, as it is to be had in all the saddler's shops, even on the Gallic coast; and that has a wire nose bag, which allows the free use of his tongue, and does not confine the jaw as the English muzzle does, and which is really calculated to drive dogs mad, by preventing the exit of the tongue, which is of the utmost consequence to the animal. With the French muzzle the dog can drink, bark, and do anything but eat, but though roving about cannot possibly injure any one, neither is it so unsightly made as you might at first suppose."

The ladies of Bogota are adorned with emeralds of a peculiarly fine green, and without flaws, which is rare in these stones, and make them very valuable. These emeralds are all from the mines of Moussa, where some of the largest in the world have been found, and are now in the possession of the King of Spain. He has one of so large a size that his Majesty uses it as a paper presser. I was told that the cure of Moussa had a waistcoat with small emerald buttons, the greater part of which had been found in the crops of fowls and turkies, picked up by them in their rambles to digest their food.—Hamilton's Columbia.
