CAPTURE OF GERMANS' ENTIRE FIRST SYSTEM OF DEFENCE ON FRONT OF NEARLY 8 MILES IS BRITISH ACHIEVEMENT IN 10 DAYS' CONTINUOUS FIGHTING

London, July 11.—The capture of the whole of the Germans' first system of defence on a front of 14,000 yards (nearly eight miles), after ten days and nights of continuous fighting, is announced in the official report from British headquarters in France. The number of prisoners taken exceeds 7,500.

Holding Contalmaison and Mametz Wood British Have Retaken Trones Wood.

Fourteen Thousand Yards of Enemy's First Defence and 7,500 Prisoners Fell to British Since Great Drive Began—Over 22,000 Germans Captured Since Battle of the Somme Began—Heavy Fighting on All Fronts With Verdun Again a Storm Centre.

London, July 11.—The capture of the whole of the Germans' first system of defence on a front of 14,000 yards (nearly eight miles), after ten days and nights of continuous fighting, is announced in the official report from British headquarters in France. The number of prisoners taken exceeds 7,500.

The text of the statement reads: "After ten days and nights of continuous fighting our troops have completed the methodical capture of the whole of the enemy's first system of defence on a front of 14,000 yards. The system of defence consisted of numerous and continuous lines of fire trenches, support trenches and reserve trenches, extending for various depths from two thousand to four thousand yards. It included five strongly fortified villages, numerous heavily wired and entrenched woods and a large number of immensely strong redoubts. The capture of each of these trenches represented an operation of some importance, and the whole of them are now in our hands.

"The German success in the recapture of Trones Wood after costly casualties was of short duration. Today we recaptured nearly the whole of this wood. All but the northernmost end is again in our hands.

"Apart from the number of guns hidden in houses and buried in the debris, etc., we have in the course of these operations brought in 26 field guns, one naval gun, one anti-aircraft gun and one heavy howitzer, while the number of German prisoners captured exceeds 7,500."

Another Good Day For the Allies.

London, July 11.—This was another good day for the Allies, who are making a steady advance on all fronts. A striking illustration of the difference in the relative positions of the Allied and Teutonic forces and of the remarkable change from the monotonous defensive trench warfare which characterized the Allied operations for so many weary months until the present summer, is found in the number of prisoners and guns taken. The capture of 34,000 prisoners by the Russians in the Stokhod and Galician battles from July 4 to July 9, seems to indicate that the Germans have been unable to throw reinforcements in sufficient strength to stem the Russian advance.

"According to a report from Bernese Switzerland, the Austrians are hurriedly transferring the Landsturm from Serbia and Montenegro in an attempt to hold back the Russians. The difficulties confronting the Central Powers in meeting the all-round attack are indicated in the Italian official statement tonight, in which it is stated that the Austrians have been obliged to recall to the Italian front troops which were about to be sent to the eastern front.

The importance the Germans have attached to this position may be measured by the fact that they recently threw the Prussian Guards into the fighting at this point.

The British are also in possession of the greater part of Mametz Wood, and have recaptured nearly the whole of Trones Wood. The British commander-in-chief, Gen. Sir Douglas Haig, thus summarizes the results of the ten days' operations: "Our troops have completed the methodical capture of the whole of the enemy's first system of defence on a front of 14,000 yards."

"The news from the eastern front is equally satisfactory from an allied point of view. The German official communication at least admits that the fighting on the Stokhod line is approaching Kovel on both sides of the railway, and claims that the Russians have been driven back near Hulevichs.

"Much comment was caused here today by the German denial of an alleged Russian claim that Pinsk had been evacuated, as no such claim has been made in the Russian official despatches.

"It is now clear that the Russian drive in the direction of Kovel has brought the German offensive at Lutsk to a standstill and according to the Russian communication, the Germans have brought up strong reinforcements to defend the Stokhod line and Kovel. General Brusiloff, however, now has the impassable Pinsk marshes covering his right flank, and is in a position to outflank the German defenses of Kovel.

34,000 More Prisoners for Russians. The huge confagration, noted in the Russian communication, south of the Kovel railway, are regarded in Petrograd as having been caused by the Germans to cover their own retreat and impede the Russian advance, which is within twenty miles of Kovel. The capture of 34,000 prisoners by the Russians in the Stokhod and Galician battles from July 4 to July 9, seems to indicate that the Germans have been unable to throw reinforcements in sufficient strength to stem the Russian advance.

"According to a report from Bernese Switzerland, the Austrians are hurriedly transferring the Landsturm from Serbia and Montenegro in an attempt to hold back the Russians. The difficulties confronting the Central Powers in meeting the all-round attack are indicated in the Italian official statement tonight, in which it is stated that the Austrians have been obliged to recall to the Italian front troops which were about to be sent to the eastern front.

Heavy Fighting in Verdun Sector.

Paris, July 11.—While relative calm prevailed on both sides of the Somme, according to the official communication issued by the French war office tonight, heavy fighting occurred on the right bank of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector. German forces succeeded in gaining a footing in the Damouloup battery and in some sections of the French line in the Fumin Wood. The text reads: "On both sides of the Somme the day was relatively calm. Small detachment operations enabled us to clear completely the wood north of La Malsonnette, and to occupy some underground passages between Etrees and Belloy-En-Santerre. We made prisoners.

"On the right bank of the Meuse the Germans this morning renewed their attacks on the front of the Flury station, the Vaux Wood, Chapiret and Chenois.

"After several fruitless attempts, which cost him heavy losses, the enemy succeeded in gaining a footing in the Damouloup battery and in some sections of our line in the Fumin Wood. The bombardment is being maintained intensely in the whole region.

"On the left bank there was less artillery activity. The usual cannonading occurred on the rest of the front.

"In the region of the Somme our combats yesterday. Four enemy machines, seriously hit by our mitrailleuses, were compelled to plunge abruptly. One of our pilots was able to bring back his machine afterward to our lines and make a landing without accident.

"Our bombing squadrons have been active. On the night of July 10-11 two hundred and twenty shells were dropped on various railway stations where activity was reported, particularly on those at Han La Perre and Chaucny."

The Belgian communication: "In the region of Fervyse there was an artillery duel this afternoon. The German positions at Dixmude and Woumen were taken today under the fire of our heavy guns, which proved very effective."

RUSSIAN TORPEDO BOATS CAPTURE TWO GERMAN SHIPS

London, July 11.—Russian torpedo boats have captured the German steamers Lisabon and Worms, according to a report received in Stockholm from Skelleftea (a small seaport in Sweden, on the Gulf of Bothnia) and transmitted by Reuter's correspondent at Stockholm. The steamers were taken to Finland. The Russians detained the captain, pilot and twenty-four of the crew of the Worms, all of whom are Swedes. The remaining thirteen members of the crew of the Worms and all of the crew of the Lisabon have arrived at Skelleftea.

The steamers Lisabon and Worms are owned in Hamburg. The Lisabon is of 2,781 gross tons and was built in Rostock in 1909. The Worms was built in Newcastle in 1907 and is of 4,428 tons.

AN INTERIM SYSTEM OF GOV'T FOR IRELAND

Lord Lansdowne's Scheme for Administration After Martial Law is Abolished and Until New Government is Established.

London, July 11.—In the course of a discussion in the House of Lords today on the report of Baron Hardinge, head of the commission which investigated the Irish rebellion, and in which several members urged that Augustine Birrell, former secretary for Ireland, ought to have been censured as the one responsible for the Sinn Fein outbreak, Lord Lansdowne outlined a system for the provincial government of Ireland when martial law is abolished and until a new government is established.

Nobody would be allowed to carry arms without a permit, and there would be no grants of amnesty. A garrison would be maintained in Ireland strong enough to preserve order and special safeguards will be created for the loyalists in the south and west.

Lord Lansdowne said he understood the Sinn Fein movement was waning and that he anticipated the passage of a bill embodying the Irish settlement would occupy considerable time.

Lord Lansdowne thought that with 40,000 troops in Ireland under command of General Maxwell, in whom the government had unabated confidence, there was no fear of the situation getting out of hand. The government would give General Maxwell all the support to which he was entitled, and was quite prepared to extend his powers to meet any emergency.

The Official Gazette, tonight announces that Lord Castlelown and Sir David Harrel, former under-secretary for Ireland, with Justices Cherry, Wylie and Pym, of the supreme court of Ireland, had been appointed, "Lord Justice for the government of Ireland during the vacancy in the office of the lord lieutenant."

The appointments are understood to mean that the lord lieutenantcy is placed in the hands of a commission until a new government is established in Ireland.

Asquith's Statement Generally Approved.

London, July 11.—(Montreal Gazette Cable.)—The very general approval which is expressed in regard to Premier Asquith's home rule statement is another indication of the extent to which the external struggle has obliterated internal strife. With certain reservations, the London press

CAPTURE OF HILL 97 BRAVE PIECE OF WORK

French Crossed Four Lines of Trenches Without Stopping.

POSITION FINALLY WON WITH BAYONET

Enemy Had Strongly Fortified the Hill but were Unable to Check the Assault Made by Joffie's Men.

London, July 11, 4.30 p. m.—The capture of Hill 97, south of the Somme, with the farm called La Maisonnette on the summit, was a particularly brave piece of work on the part of the French.

After receiving the signal to attack, the soldiers crossed four lines of trenches virtually without pause, but it was then that the greatest difficulties had to be overcome.

The farm at this point was guarded by a whole series of barbed wire entrenchments defended by mortars, machine guns, automatic rifles and bomb throwers. Twice the assaulting forces penetrated to the farm. Twice they were thrown back, and when they got into the farm itself it was to find themselves in front of a number of machine guns.

A furious hand-to-hand combat followed, ending in a victory for the French. The extent to which the hill was fortified can be judged by the fact that on one earthenwork half way up the slope, 11 mitrailleuses in working order were captured, while 20 others had been destroyed by the French bombardment.

CHARLIE WHITE WINS FROM MATT WELLS.

Boston, July 11.—Charlie White, of Chicago, defeated Matt Wells, of England tonight in the fifth round of what was scheduled to be a 12-round bout. The Englishman's manager stepping into the ring and stopping the contest to save his man further punishment. Wells had the better of the first round, but after that White was plainly his superior and in the fourth round knocked his opponent to the floor three times.

acquiesces in the main argument that this is an opportune moment to remove the peril of future strife.

The Times says that the war has made civil war unthinkable, and hopes that this new solidarity of the ministers will mark the end of some mischievous attempts to make unnecessary trouble. It also warns against attempts to confound this special emergency measure for Ireland with the normal development of self-government in the dominions overseas.

The Telegraph in a guarded editorial, finds the lack of enthusiasm to be the best proof that no party gain has been obtained by either side.

The Morning Post alone is irreconcilable. It talks about Asquith's soft soap, and asserts that the proposal, so far from bringing peace, can only bring a sword to Ireland.

In a letter to the Post, Canon Osborne Troop expresses the hope that the union may be perpetuated, but if home rule must come, he suggests that the Canadian plan of provincial and federal governments be adopted.

RUSSIANS SOON POUNDING AT THE GATES OF KOVEL

All Natural Barriers Passed Czar's Armies Will Soon be Attacking Recently Constructed German Fortifications Before the City—Launching Sledge-Hammer Blows Before Vladimir Volynski.

PRISONERS TAKEN BY RUSSIANS IN PRESENT DRIVE NUMBER 266,000

Petrograd, July 11, via London (7.10 p. m.).—The total approximate of prisoners taken by the Russians during General Brusiloff's operations up to July 10 amounts to 5,620 officers and 266,000 men, the war office announced today. Guns to the number of 312 and 864 machine guns have been captured.

Petrograd, July 11, via London.—The Russian drive against the German line on both sides of the Kovel-Sarny railroad had the desired effect of stopping the German offensive against Lutsk from the directions of Kovel and Vladimir-Volynski, enabled the Russians to take the offensive and to drive the enemy across the Stokhod to the northwest and westward towards Vladimir-Volynski.

The unexpected Russian advance north of the Kovel-Sarny railroad carried the Russian line to the Stokhod river, which has been crossed at several points, in spite of the best defence the Germans were able to offer. At the present writing, according to the military critics, there now remain no more natural barriers between the Russian lines and Kovel in the shape of rivers and swamps. It is predicted that early news may be expected of assaults upon the recently constructed German fortifications before Kovel.

Official Statement. Petrograd, July 11.—The official statement today says: "Fighting in the Stokhod region continues. The enemy, having received reinforcements, brought up powerful artillery and is offering a desperate resistance.

"On the Kriaza-Fondoul-Moldava front, northwest of Kimpolung (southern Bukovina) considerable enemy forces have been thrown back by us after violent engagements at various points. The enemy, unable to resist our coup de main, took flight.

"Enemy airmen attacked the station at Zamiric, on the Minsk-Baranovichi railway line, and dropped sixty-six bombs.

"On the Black Sea one of our machines was brought down.

"Caucasian fronts in the direction of Baidur, during the night of July 9, our scouts succeeded in securing a night and took possession of a Turkish machine gun, after having killed all the gunners.

"Further south we captured by assault most powerfully organized Turkish positions, which we consolidated.

"We took prisoner thirty officers and 350 men. In the direction of Diarbekir, in the region of the Boyrukova Valley, our advance guard easily repelled a Turkish offensive, taking prisoners and booty."

Germans Drawing Men from Balkans. Bernese Switzerland, via London, July 11.—Nearly one hundred military trains conveying some 60,000 troops passed through Temesvar, Hungary, in the past few days transporting Landsturm, used in the occupation of Serbia and Montenegro, to Transylvania to oppose the Russian advance. It is reported also that German officers commanding Bulgarian troops have been recalled.

The Austrian Version. Vienna, via London, July 11.—The official statement issued today says: "Near Zabrze on the Caserme we repelled to the Russian fire. Attacks made by superior forces near Sokul broke down in our entanglements. The enemy vainly endeavored to bring his fighting masses to a standstill by turning the fire of his own guns and machine guns upon them.

"Near Hulevichs, on the Stokhod the enemy was repulsed by German and Austro-Hungarian forces after bitter fighting. Several other attacks in the Stokhod region failed completely."

Teutons Desperate. Petrograd, July 11, via London, July 12.—An official communication this evening tells of the progress of the campaign along the line of the Stokhod river. It says: "In the region of the Stokhod the fighting continues, the enemy displaying the greatest desperation. Enemy airmen continually make flights behind our lines, attacking our troops with bombs and machine guns.

"The remainder of the front is without change."

Uprising Against the Turks In Arabia; Kunda, Port on the Red Sea, Taken by the Arabs

Cairo, Egypt, July 11, via London, July 12.—Arabs have captured the town of Kunda, Arabia. They also have taken the fort.

A despatch from London, under date of June 22, said that reports had been received there of a serious uprising against the Turks in Arabia.

The rebels, under the command of the Grand Sheriff of Mecca, the chief magistrate of the Holy City, were reported to have captured Mecca, Jiddah, the chief seaport of Arabia, and Taif. The rebels were said to have proclaimed the independence of the Arabs from Ottoman rule.

Kunda is a port on the Red Sea, 200 miles south of Jiddah.

The Camp at Valcartier—A Model of What a Democracy Can Accomplish in the Swift Training of Soldiers.

By E. W. Thomson.

Valcartier, Que. This camp, established by the Genius of Military Organization personified by Sir Sam Hughes, lies in the vast plain of a great valley of the Riviere Cartier, a noble dark-brown stream, sluggish in the vicinity but often rapid as to its upper waters. The plain is of a sandy soil which quickly absorbs rainfall, and is easily drained of occasional temporary pools, by ditches leading to the river, those trickles from such small drains are spread about the tents. Blueberry bushes, small shrubs, "labrador," tough grasses, various mosses all of an intensely vivid green, a few scattered balsams and other ferns, geraniums, buttercups, vetches, anemones and many other hardy flowers decorate profusely this Camp de Mars, sure to be famous for the Ages of Ages in Canadian history. Here Sir Sam, in the fall of 1914, assembled 30,000 of the finest soldiers ever enlisted, having prepared the ground for their comfortable accommodation within six weeks after the beginning of the War of Wars, which found Canada possessing virtually no Military or Supplies. Why should he not boast a feat that Kitchener praised: one over which even Major Dugald Dalrymple doubtless rejoices in the corridors of that March College, whence he surely looks down in his condition of Eternity. Why should Sir Sam not laugh at such "bluffs" the whole parliamentary gabble of his adverse critics, who were unable to get such a new idea as a sense that the hurry required of him amply excuses such pecuniary extravagance as they impute to his proceedings? Here he made, in extreme haste, a camp as good as new after two months use. About 11,000 soldiers are today here under canvas, mostly in bill-tents. About 20,000 more are on their way hither, or prepared to come. For them there are ready his good roads, the main avenues excellently macadamized; his rows of shower-baths and wooden clothes-washing troughs about waist-high; his lines of water-taps and drinking fountains; his ample canteens; his commissariat and sutler stores; two great "greats" of the Y. M. C. A.; a branch of the Bank of Montreal; post office; rifle and artillery ranges; parade grounds; hospitals; everything necessary for a host of 30,000 able bodied men. Not a drop of intoxicant in the camp or the surrounding region. Visitors are searched if their pockets look suspiciously bulky, lest some of the stuff to Sam's possibly high standards of artificial hilarity in the whole afternoon place, though Saturday afternoon is a holiday, when visitors are admitted without passes to see "our young barbarians all at play"—except those who are at laundry, or reclining, after hanging their clothes out to dry, even as young Gods colloquing together in Elysian fields. Football, high jumping, stinky other sports are going on. Hundreds of the splendidly unburned, whose eyes glitter as swords, are bathing in Riviere Cartier without any "All around the Vale of Cartier climbable mountains of greenery afford overlooking of the gallant scene. He who gazes up at these heights from the tented plain is unfortunate in his memories if he does not conceive the Olympians there beholding happily these plains, even as those about windy Troy. To doubt their jubilant Presences would be to doubt that Homer worshipped wisely. Never was a human age without Soldiers and their Camps; surely Delius will cannot easily be doubted by those who behold what splendid creatures a life of training under the sun makes of common mortals from counting-houses, banks, shops, factories, farms.

A Boston Lady Exclaims.

American women, thronging to behold our young Bronzes and Reds, rejoice to see each male Youth in his sole exercise, preparing to venture his life for his Ideal—"such a relief," said one sweet Boston lady, "from forever gazing at streams of business men looking resolute, indeed, but absurd in being resolute about nothing, except the case of Coler or Athletics." In every direction about Sir Sam's camp, every verdant spread today means of various verdure almost intolerably bright, pranked with such armies of buttercups and daisies and wild-roses, you come to see the camp (seventeen miles from the Chateau Frontenac by C. N. R. R.) it will be well to ask at Carter number 6. Direct him to take you the first drive that he gave me, one dollar the first hour for his correct "democrat," fifty cents for each subsequent hour—i. e., for one passenger. Tell him to "show you and talk—he does it as a twin to Dr. Drummond's Johnny Courteau. A native of these parts is Albert, and what he doesn't know of them is not knowledge. If minded as today he is, he will take you to the village of St. Gabriel de Valcartier, some three miles from camp; he will tolerantly show you the Presbyterian and Methodist churches and manse; he will pull up before the little church to go into the Protestant cynicism and bitterness.

To get the blessing that is all over French Canada, it won't do to reject it beforehand, "as some rude guest would change, where'er he went, the manner of his manners, that he be known at home." Many years the present penit-pusher turned from the Roman altar in consecrated Anglican soil. Now, when in Montreal, Quebec, Valcartier, or any largely French-Canada place, he hears at least a portion of an early mass before completing his before-breakfast walk; cheerfully "bows down in the House of Romanism," believing it exceedingly wholesome to petition a share of the blessing that pertains to all worship; sympathizes in order to understand, even as gentle W. D. Howells advised long ago; goes forth wondrously comforted, and now feels that he may acquire good will unto all creeds of the Seekers after God. Were it only for association with one's temporary neighbors; or merely for the sake of upholding; or of in adornment and in ceremony; or of bearing exquisite music and song for mere titillation by surprise, the wise visitor of Quebec will attend Catholic worship. French priests and acolytes serve the holy offices with a certain perfect assurance, courtesy, and composure, for that is the difference from Irish ministrators, in whose motions and tones there seems ever something quicker, a tincture of the militant, a tone from the ever-robust defiance, for that is the difference from the soul of the children of Erin. Not four hundred yards down hill from the Chateau Frontenac stands the exquisite church where Cardinal Begin does his morning devotions, and sometimes serves at the altar. That is worth travelling a thousand miles to behold, as we visitors did this morning.

Great Good to All Canada.

Truly, a long slant was that prescient from Valcartier, the military life, and Past Grand Master Sir Sam Hughes of the Orange Order! But he waited most respectfully on the cardinal a few days ago, doubtless to petition for his princely aid in battling against the wild Odin worshippers who profess to be Lutherans of Prussia. As the Crusades were best by the Ancient Church, so, surely, should be the League of the Entente Allies. Doubtless the cardinal gave Sir Sam some comfort. We expect to behold a fresh clerical stimulation of enlistments by French Canadiana. To that the Hierarchy pronounced favor by mandement a year or so ago. They asked the parish priests to read the mandement from their pulpits. They may have generally obeyed, but of the obedient many would read perfunctorily.

If I am informed correctly, as is likely, considering the position of my informant, the Parish Clergy don't touch civil or military affairs, secular matters. The Parish Clergy must consider and, in prudence, must conform to the opinions or sentiments of their flock on secular matters. Just so do Protestant Clerics everywhere. Now the masses of French Canadiana know, as Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux recently specified in a very able and truthful speech, no country but Canada. They are their country, their only. They have been separated from France during six to eight or even ten generations. The France their forefathers held to was that of Louis XIV., and XV. Even so, the masses of Americana, English by origin and name, love not England but only the Republic as their country, so our habitants feel toward France whose creed vagaries put them at increased distance. Toward Great Britain they entertain good will, and hold faithful allegiance, in respect of obedience to such laws, liberties, institutions as they, with the Crown's assent, carved out, mainly by their own hands, for themselves. They are content to be subjects of Canada's King George. But they have always been taught, by Canadian politicians of both races and parties, till very lately, that they owe no other military service than that which may be necessary to defend Canada for Canada's Crown. At the opening of the War of Wars the Westminster Government, being asked by Ottawa what was expected of Canada, replied "Canada's own defence." Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues, heartily backed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, translated that request nobly, as we have seen. But the mass of French Canadiana have somewhat been back from enlisting for Flanders. They have not yet got through their largely rural heads that the true way to defend this Dominion is to fight in Flanders and in France. Moreover, they are largely helped by their flock in sending the hope of the untimely, outrageously silly persecution of their kin and language in Ottawa and Manitoba. So the Parish Priests have to go cautiously in urging their flock to enlist. Probability is that this condition will soon cease. An Act of Grace from the Toronto and Winnipeg Governments, respecting French schools, seems so necessary that the British government might suggest, but the latter named government is satisfied that the precautions taken are sufficient to prevent the enemy from receiving supplies from this source. As a matter of fact, the factories in the United States which are manufacturing guns, rifles and munitions for the Allied nations depend for their supply of nickel at most absolutely if not altogether upon Canada's production. The munitions plants in the British Isles and in other Allied countries are also supplied from the Canadian output.

SLIM CHANCES OF CANADIAN NICKEL GOING TO GERMANY

Ottawa Official Statement Should Assuage Anxiety of Those who Feared the Deutschland Would Take Back Supply.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, July 11.—The government of Canada is not worrying over the submarine Deutschland taking back a cargo of Canadian nickel. In an official statement it points out that a considerable quantity of nickel ore is refined in the United States apart from what comes from Canada and reiterates that precautions taken to prevent supplies from this country reaching the enemy are satisfactory both to the British and Canadian governments.

The attention of the government has been directed to the statement that nickel, which it is said will be conveyed by a German submarine from Baltimore to a German port in Canada, is being refined in the United States. This allegation is based upon the statement that no nickel is refined in the United States except what is derived from Canada. That this statement is entirely inaccurate is shown by the following report from Major Graham A. Bell, who since the early months of the war has the duty of examining and supervising the destination and use of all nickel refined in the United States from Canadian ore. Major Bell's statement is as follows:

Considerable Amount Refined in States.

"There is a considerable quantity of nickel ore obtained through various copper zinc in the United States and this ore is refined principally by the American Smelting and Refining Co. There is also nickel ore obtained from New Caledonia, which is refined by the United States Nickel Company of New Brunswick, N. J. The quantity, of course, does not compare with the tonnage manufactured from Canadian ores, but there are some hundreds of tons of refined nickel produced yearly from these sources.

"Measures taken by the government of Canada to control the destination and use of nickel refined from Canadian ores have the complete approval of the British government. It should be added that the Canadian government have always been prepared to take any further measures for this purpose which the British government might suggest, but the latter named government is satisfied that the precautions taken are sufficient to prevent the enemy from receiving supplies from this source. As a matter of fact, the factories in the United States which are manufacturing guns, rifles and munitions for the Allied nations depend for their supply of nickel at most absolutely if not altogether upon Canada's production. The munitions plants in the British Isles and in other Allied countries are also supplied from the Canadian output."

Major the Rev. Principal James Smyth, of the Wesleyan Theological College, this city, also made a strong appeal for recruits. The Irish Rangers have 730 men.

Intense Heat Adds to Burdens of Health Authorities Fighting Infantile Paralysis Epidemic.

New York, July 11.—Intense heat today added to the burdens of the health authorities in their fight to check the spread of infantile paralysis which took a toll of 32 lives in the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. The depressing temperature, it was explained, tends to reduce the physical resistance of the child against the possible contagion.

Federal and city health officials took an optimistic view of the situation tonight, despite the fact that 195 new cases had been reported, on the ground that the co-operative work of the various city departments has resulted in preventing from spreading geographically.

I followed the hunch and won out. Why? Because Baker dropped the ball. I don't think he saw me at all, so it wasn't a case of being rattled by an unexpected play. I believe he was merely taking things easily, perhaps a bit carelessly. But the main thing is my hunch was right. I scored from first on a single.

RECRUITING IN "U" BOAT MUST QUIT U.S. TAKES SPURT IN TWO WEEKS

Fourteen Men Signed on in Past Two Days—Former Ficton Man Granted Commission at Bramshott.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, N. B., July 11—Word was received here today stating that Mr. Guy Yerxa, formerly of this city, had been granted a commission in the 50th Battalion, now in training at Bramshott Camp, England. Lieut. Yerxa was in Calgary at time he enlisted, having been on the staff of one of the banking institutions in that city.

Lieut. Yerxa was a non-commissioned officer when he went overseas with 50th Battalion, and won his promotion since his arrival in England. He was formerly in employ of Royal Bank of Canada while in this city and is well known here.

With a record of fourteen recruits in the first two days of the present week, Fredericton is jumping ahead after a long lull in recruiting. Yesterday was an exceptionally heavy recruiting day, no less than ten volunteers being sworn in at the local office. Today the good work continued, and up to noon four others had been added to the list. In two days eleven recruits have enlisted with the infantry and three others, all residents of Massachusetts, were sworn in as members of No. 1 Construction Corps, being mobilized at St. John. Among those sworn in here yesterday afternoon was John Watson of Fredericton Junction, one of the returned heroes who is to go overseas with Col. P. A. Guthrie's Kiltie Battalion. He was at the front with the 15th Battalion and was invalided home some months ago. George McDonald, another returned hero, is to enlist with the New Brunswick Klitties.

Recruits who enlisted here since yesterday afternoon are: William J. McSorley, of Gibson; John Watson, Fredericton Junction; Charles A. Andrews, J. R. Boyle, of Fredericton; Harry Lawson, of St. John; John Conroy of Cambridge, Mass.; Fred Grant, of New Bedford, Mass.; George R. Bancroft, of Boston, Mass.

Wireless Will be Sealed Up if She Stays Longer, Customs Officials Inform Captain of the Deutschland.

Baltimore, July 11.—Captain Keonig today made a statement to the customs officials that he expected to get away within ten days. He had been told that if he remained longer than two weeks the Deutschland's wireless would be sealed up.

It was explained to Captain Keonig by the customs officials that the seal of the Deutschland's wireless would be required, in accordance with the rules laid down by the government soon after the outbreak of the war, to prevent violations of neutrality by governments of belligerent nations in American ports. The wireless of all interned German ships have long been under United States government seal, and it was explained here that, any ship of a belligerent nation which remains in port longer than the time ordinarily taken to discharge and load cargo, is subject to the regulation.

Captain Keonig said, however, that he expected to start on his return trip within ten days and was not, in any case, concerned about the regulations.

Baltimore, July 11.—Captain Hughes finished his inspection of the Deutschland about two o'clock this afternoon. He declined to discuss what he had determined as to the status of the craft, saying he would make his report later to Collector Ryan.

"I saw everything connected with the Deutschland, except the bottom of her hull," Captain Hughes said. "I went over her entirely for the purpose of establishing her status and have done so."

A Non-combatant Craft. Washington, July 11.—On the strength of advice from navy experts who inspected the Deutschland at Baltimore today, the treasury department informed the state department that the German merchant submarine was an unarmored freight carrier which could not be converted for offensive use without "extensive structural changes."

NEWFOUNDLAND MAY WELL FEEL PROUD OF GALLANT SONS

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig Sends Message Praising Bravery of Men from the Ancient Colony.

St. John's, Nfld., July 11.—The latest casualties in the Newfoundland regiment are: Fred Wheeler, Tizzards Harbor, died of wounds, and forty-three other privates wounded, making the total now 409, of whom twenty-five are killed.

Colonial Secretary Benar Law wired to Governor Davidson "expressing intense admiration that is felt for the gallant deeds of the Newfoundland contingent and the warmest sympathy with the relatives of those who have suffered in the fight."

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig also wired Governor Davidson: "Newfoundland may well feel proud of her sons for the heroism and devotion to duty they displayed on July 1st has never been surpassed. Please convey my deepest sympathy and that of the whole of our arms in France in the loss of the brave officers and men who have fallen for the Empire, and our admiration of their heroic conduct. Their efforts contributed to our success and their example will live."

Keep Away Flies. The fly season has now begun. Here is a good way of getting rid of these pests.

Mix up a half teaspoonful of black pepper, a teaspoonful of brown sugar, and a tablespoonful of condensed milk in a saucer, and leave it somewhere in the room. The flies will soon disappear. To drive them from the pantry, soak some blotting paper with oil of pennyroyal and eucalyptus, and place in different parts of the room.

The Appetite of Youth Quickly Restored

NORTH SHORE ORANGE LODGES HOLD ANNUAL CHURCH SERVICE

Members from Newcastle, Chatham and Douglastown Attend Service in Knox Church, Loggieville.

Loggieville, N. B., July 10.—On Sunday last, following the custom of forty years, the Orangemen of this town, with a large number of the members of the Chatham, Newcastle and Douglastown lodges, held their annual service in Knox church. At the Temperance Hall they formed into procession, and marched to the church, where they were met by the members of the ladies' lodge, and together they took their places in the centre seats of the auditorium. The church was decorated for the occasion. Rev. W. B. Rosborough preached a stirring sermon on heroism, during which he referred to the fact that 50,000 Orangemen were now in khaki. His discourse throughout was intensely interesting, and was listened to with rapt attention. The choir of the church led the praise service in an acceptable manner. Miss Mesereau of Chatham sang, with good effect, the solo "His Eye is on the Sparrow." The service closed with the National Anthem. The procession was reformed, and returned to the hall, where the band played several splendid selections, and the brethren disbanded. The day was beautifully fine, all that could be desired for such an occasion.

Miss Georgina McDonald, of Campbellton is visiting Miss Hazel Johnstone.

Mrs. Fred Kelly has returned from a trip to Escuminac.

Mrs. B. Washburn and children of Blueville are spending some time in town, guests of Mrs. Joseph Washburn.

Miss Gertrude Redmond, who has been in Beverly, Mass., for some time, is spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Redmond.

Miss Jennie Fowle is spending the holiday season with her mother, Mrs. Margery Fowle. Miss Fowle has been in the west for about two years, and intends returning at the opening of the fall teaching term.

Mrs. Randolph Cox entertained the Ladies' Aid Society on Thursday evening of last week.

Mrs. Alex. Taylor, of Lower Napan, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. S. Baskin.

Miss Phe Dickie, of Boston, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert Loggie.

Miss Ethel Murdoch, of U. S. A., is visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. James R. Johnstone and Miss Jennie Robertson spent part of last week in Bathurst.

Miss Lou Mesereau, of Chatham, spent Sunday in town, with Mrs. Robert Dunbar.

Miss Cassie Edge and her niece, Miss Barbara Day, of Dorchester, Mass., are guests at the home of Miss Edge's brother here.

The Big Print Red Letter Bible

Fascinating Figures About The Bible

Over 200 million copies of the Bible have been printed. Touching end to end, they would go 'round the world—25,000 miles. Piled one on another, it would take 4,000 mountains like Mt. Everest, the highest in the world, to reach the topmost book. But this is not all. The public libraries of the entire world could not contain them. It would take two of the largest ships ever built, loaded to the deck, or a hundred freight trains, with 25 cars to the train, to transport them. Stacked in columns, they would make 100,000 Eiffel Towers, the tallest structure ever built by human hands. To print them would require at least 100 billions of pages of type.

The mere physical facts about the Bible stagger the imagination. All the other books ever printed seem microscopic by comparison. The Bible has been read by more people than any ten thousand books. Today it forms the basis of religion for several hundred millions of the most enlightened peoples of the earth. The greatest war in history began in 1914, and shook the world from center to circumference. As a result, untold millions of people, startled out of their lethargy, took to the Bible to save their sanity and restore their mental vision. The first year of the war saw more Bibles sold than in any other year since it was printed.

It was the consideration of these facts that led this newspaper, in conjunction with all the leading newspapers of the country, to seize upon the psychological moment in which to inaugurate a nation-wide revival of Bible-reading. The edition now offered in these columns is the same as is being offered by the leading papers everywhere—not for profit to themselves—but for the benefit of their readers.

We invite comparison with any other edition of the Bible. We challenge competitive examination; secure in the knowledge that the Famous Red Letter Edition we offer, is easily first—and beyond any ordinary offering by publishers who seek only profit.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H.M. The King. TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

WHY?

Frank B. Carvell, Member of Parliament for the County of Carleton, N. B., and George W. Kytte, Member of Parliament for the County of Richmond, N. S., have made serious allegations against a responsible minister of the Canadian Government and responsible Canadian officials.

These allegations and comments upon them by the men named and the Liberal press have had the effect of defaming Canada and of arousing throughout the world a contempt and prejudice against this country.

Free and full investigation of the allegations made by Carvell and Kytte has shown there was no corruption or dishonesty on the part of the Minister of the Canadian Government or the Canadian officials referred to.

Why should Frank B. Carvell, Member of Parliament for the County of Carleton, N. B., and George W. Kytte, Member of Parliament for the County of Richmond, N. S., be permitted to remain in Canadian public life?

MORE GOOD NEWS.

The official report from British headquarters in France that, after ten days and nights of continuous fighting, the British army had taken the entire first line of the German system of defences on a front of eight miles, with the capture of at least 7,500 prisoners, is of importance for other reasons than that it tells of a great British victory. More plainly than any other single event since the inception of the Allied drive it indicates that the British army is now the superior of the enemy at every phase of the game of war.

Meanwhile, the French are making progress and have approached so close to the important junction of Peronne that its fall is assured. The Russians, too, report the capture of more prisoners and war trophies, while the Italian report states that the advance of their troops in the Trentino has been so effective the Austrians have been forced to recall divisions they had intended sending to eastern battle lines. The news from all sectors of the battle front is genuinely good and affords every cause for high hope that the term of the war will be materially shortened as the result of recent successes.

These successes have been won, not so particularly by superior courage of the Allied troops for war observers agree that the soldiers of the enemy, though brutal, possess courage to the last degree, but by superior equipment, for war today is so very largely a matter of equipment and scientific preparation that the personal element is less in evidence than formerly. In modern war, other things being equal or nearly so, it is the army with the greater number of guns and the superior supply of munitions which most often draws victory. This being the case the statement of a member of the British Munitions Board staff that "Britain could arm the whole front from Somme to the sea with big guns muzzle to muzzle" should serve as a good indication of the mighty power of what was once termed the "contemptible little British Army."

It is also known that Britain is turning out munitions in quantity sufficient to supply all the needs of such an armament. Recent reports show she already has 900 new arsenals putting out guns and ammunition, while there are 4,000 private factories, at least three of which are said to approach the Krupp works in size and equipment, working under government control. It is indeed the fact that Britain's mighty industrial resources have been harnessed to the war work and that shortage of munitions will never again stop or impede the operations of the Allies.

Last evening's official report stated that the British had carried the first line of German defences and while that operation does not by any means finish the task ahead, there can be no longer doubt of the ability of Britain and her allies to go through every German line back to the Rhine. Realization of this must have reached Berlin before now so it may already be a question how much longer the enemy will be willing to pour out blood and treasure in an absolutely hopeless cause.

Observers have expressed the opinion that Germany, by the use of artillery and machine guns, is seeking to mask her weakening man power, but in the vast big gun warfare now being carried on, the loss of blood is sure to reduce her ability to maintain long lines. Guns require men to handle them and the constant wastage from the immensely destructive big gun warfare, in time, must cause Germany to seek to reduce the lines over which her armies are spread.

The triumph reported last night marked the climax of ten days and nights of unabated fighting. The cost, to the enemy, of those ten days must have been appalling and in the end they found British gun-power and man-power superior to their own. The effect this discovery will have upon the German civilian population cannot be underestimated. Consequently, last night's announcement can easily be regarded as one of the biggest and best pieces of news of the war.

IN NORTH PERTH.

Before Liberal newspapers rhapsodize too strenuously over the "glorious victory" in North Perth, Ontario, it might be just as well for them to tell their readers just what proportion of the total voters of that constituency are of German ancestry, devote some attention to the circumstances under which the contest was called and the issues discussed during the campaign.

It is true that the Liberal majority in North Perth was such as to cause the machine press of that party much happiness. It is also true that the riding was formerly represented in the Ontario Legislature by a supporter of the Hearst Government; to that extent it may be called a gain for the Ontario opposition. But what are the facts contributing to such a result?

In the first place North Perth is one of the Ontario constituencies in which there is a large German vote and the German vote has been lost to the Conservative party ever since the outbreak of war. This in itself would account for the loss of a large part of the Conservative majority of 1914.

Now let us briefly consider the conditions under which the contest was precipitated. John Torrance, the sitting member, was named for a position in Stratford, but before he accepted it a meeting of the representatives of both parties was held and the situation fully explained. The Conservatives were strongly opposed to a war-time election and it was stated that sooner than throw the constituency into the conflict of political strife a vacancy would not be created. The Liberals agreed that there should be no contest and Mr. Torrance accepted the post offered to him. A candidate was selected to succeed him, whereupon the Liberals held another meeting and, breaking their previous pledge, decided to offer opposition. The Conservatives, consequently, were forced into a campaign, and they did not shrink the challenge.

The campaign was not fought on Dominion issues with the exception of the bilingual question, North Perth being one of the very few ridings in Ontario where such a question might operate to the disadvantage of the Conservatives. Among the provincial matters discussed was the question of prohibition, on which the Hearst Government stood solid. The liquor interests at once supported the opposition candidate. Thus it can be seen that the contest in North Perth was not so much a triumph for Liberalism as a victory for the pro-German, pro-bilingual and anti-prohibition forces.

Naturally the Liberal newspapers will dispute this assertion, but let them submit facts and figures to refute it. Then when they have established that the liquor and anti-British interests did not go hand in hand to defeat the Conservative candidate there may be some shadow of excuse for their transports.

NOW WE ARE CONVINCED.

When the Times, on Saturday evening, expressed the opinion that members of the staff of this newspaper stood in sore need of scriptural knowledge there was a bare suspicion in this office that our Canterbury street critics themselves were not particularly well informed on the subject of which they wrote. That suspicion became conviction last evening when a misquotation from Holy Writ in The Standard of yesterday escaped the attention of the Times' Bible students. The Standard gave the reading of a text as "Judge not lest ye be judged," and we fully expected that last evening's Times would contain a scorching arraignment of our supposed ignorance. However, the opportunity escaped attention. For the benefit of the religious editor of the Times, as well as the editor in chief, and the humorous editor, this newspaper, in all humility, ventures to point out that the correct reading of the text in question is "Judge not that ye be not judged," and it is found in St. Matthew vii. and 1.

EFFECT OF SEA FIGHT ON DANISH OPINION

By Gilbert Hirsch. (In N. Y. Evening Post.)

One of the many indirect results of the recent naval battle off the Danish coast is a great lessening of anxiety and tension on the part of the Danes themselves. Last winter the rumor got abroad in Denmark that the Germans meant to seize a part of Jutland for use as a naval base. The appearance of a German hydro-aeroplane over Danish territory in February, as if on a reconnoitering expedition, was taken as confirmation. All winter and spring the Danes waited—a nation on the edge of a volcano. Their army was kept in readiness. But as the entire population of Denmark is less than three millions, they are only able to muster an army of a couple of hundred thousand men. They dared not send their navy to Jutland, since their entire fleet, as one of their naval officers told me, was only sufficient for the protection of Copenhagen, which they did not dare to leave unguarded.

But the Shagshack battle has put an end to that anxiety. If the Germans had felt that they needed a naval base in Jutland, to support them in an engagement with the British, they would have seized it before challenging the enemy with their entire high seas fleet on May 31. The good showing made by the Germans in that fight is far from pleasing to the Danes, who have regarded the growing German navy as a menace to themselves. This feeling has been deepened in part by economic considerations. For nearly a century the commercial rivalry between Hamburg and Copenhagen has been very keen and bitter, and the Danes feel that the growth of the German fleet has been a direct cause of Hamburg's recent increase in wealth and power. Moreover, the building of the Kiel Canal—a direct result of the aggressive German naval policy—was incidentally a blow to the Danish carrier trade.

German Naval Demonstrations. But not a little of the Danes' fear of the German fleet is due to the actions of the fleet itself. In late years it has not been uncommon for German warships to sail through Danish waters in a manner which—according to the Danes—was less like a cruise than like a "demonstration." But the Danes, knowing their own weakness, dared not protest. To make the situation worse, the German "Flottenverein"—the organization devoted to the upbuilding of the German navy—had the tactlessness to send out its circulars to many of the leading business and professional men of Denmark.

When the war broke out, the Danes were certain that the German fleet would try to seize Copenhagen. Nevertheless, it was into Copenhagen that all the Danes rushed in those first days of August two years ago. For it is the only big city of Denmark. The Danes are plucky and optimistic, and pride themselves on being "good sports," like the heroes of the Jack London and Rex Beach novels, which they read enthusiastically in Danish translations. But they admit that at the outbreak of the war they were all in a panic. No one knew what to do, nor what might happen. There was not only danger from the German fleet, but from the British fleet, which had pounded on Copenhagen once before when Denmark was at peace, and might do so again. And there were current rumors that a British army was about to be landed in Jutland for an attack on Schleswig.

Danish Fears of Invasion. The Danes mobilized; dug trenches; built wire entanglements just outside Copenhagen, and set to work strengthening the antiquated fortifications around the harbor. But they were only going through the motions of "preparedness." They knew that they could not hold out against either Germany or Great Britain for so much as a week. I asked a Copenhagenese who has built a house just outside the earthwork defences whether he does not consider it a dangerous place to live. "It may be," he admitted, "but at least I'll get some good sport out of it. I shall take down my gun and have a few shots at them, at any rate, before they come through."

Then the Danes learned that the Germans had put up double and triple lines of defences on Germany's northern frontier; that large numbers of German reserves were collected in the garisons of Schleswig-Holstein and Mecklenburg; and that, not relying on railways, thousands of automobiles were in readiness to transport these troops to the Danish frontier to resist a British attack from that quarter. The

Little Benny's Note Book

Some collidge boys warked past yelling collidge cheers on account of being so glad school was over, me and Puds Simkins and Sid Hunt and Ed Wernick being on my front steps, and the collidge boys stopped in front of us and one of them sed, Cime on, fellows, a brackitty ax for the kids. And they all yelled.

Brackitty ax, rax, rax, Brackitty ax, rax, rax. Kids! Kids! Kids!

And us fellows all yelled, Hurray, and the collidge boys kept on going west observing, and I sed, Lets us make up some yells and cheer sumbody, lets cheer pop, hes up in the setting room.

Everybody thinking it was a grate idee, wich it was, and we made up some yells and went in the house, and the setting room door was closed, and we stood outside and yelled the first yell, being Inglishmen, Irishmen, Red heded men and Scots, Zowie! Zowie!

Hurray for Mr. Potts! And then we yelled the 2nd yell, being Zippity boom, zippity boom, Crosses, sercks and dots.

We went be home until morning, 3 cheers for Mr. Potts! And then we yelled the 3rd yell, being Detectives and plots, Detectives and plots, 9 story buildings and empty lots.

Who are we for? WYrum Potts! Wich we hadent hardly finished it wen the setting room door opened fast as anything and pop came running out looking as if he had jest bin wook up and was mad about it, and the cheerers all ran down stairs so fast they fell half the way, and kept on running till they was around the corner.

British, of course, had also learned of these measures. The chances of the landing of a British expeditionary force in Jutland were, therefore, diminished. And the Danes, freed from this menace, have now concentrated all their fears on the Germans.

Their hatred of the Germans is violent—and impotent. They have caught a number of German spies trying to ferret out the secrets of their new harbor fortifications. Yet it was not about that that the Danes really thought about that after the Danish censor refused to let him.

"It might offend the Germans," he said. The Danish Government, of which the brother of Brandes, the great critic, is an important member, has shown great determination and ability in maintaining strict neutrality. The Conservative party accuses it of being pro-German. But, however, often it may sacrifice Denmark's "dignity" and "honor" to keep the peace with Germany, it has been firm in protecting the country's material interests against Germany. The Germans, for example, offered to purchase, at a very high price, all the butter and eggs which Denmark now sends to England. But the Danish Government realized that the English breakfast table is a market which, once lost, would be hard to regain.

A German warship carried its pursuit of a British submarine boat into Danish waters and destroyed the submarine within a half-mile of shore. A Danish warship "came hurrying up to the scene," as the Danish newspapers put it. But it took care to hurry slowly enough to let the German cruiser get away, and thus to prevent international complications. And when the German hydro-aeroplane flew across Copenhagen, the Danes accepted the perfunctory German explanation that it had been an "accident"—almost as if they believed it. The Dane who corresponds for the London Times told me that when he tried to cable to England what the Danes really thought about that affair, the Danish censor refused to let him.

But it took care to hurry slowly enough to let the German cruiser get away, and thus to prevent international complications. And when the German hydro-aeroplane flew across Copenhagen, the Danes accepted the perfunctory German explanation that it had been an "accident"—almost as if they believed it. The Dane who corresponds for the London Times told me that when he tried to cable to England what the Danes really thought about that affair, the Danish censor refused to let him.

"I might offend the Germans," he said. The Danish Government, of which the brother of Brandes, the great critic, is an important member, has shown great determination and ability in maintaining strict neutrality. The Conservative party accuses it of being pro-German. But, however, often it may sacrifice Denmark's "dignity" and "honor" to keep the peace with Germany, it has been firm in protecting the country's material interests against Germany. The Germans, for example, offered to purchase, at a very high price, all the butter and eggs which Denmark now sends to England. But the Danish Government realized that the English breakfast table is a market which, once lost, would be hard to regain.

A German warship carried its pursuit of a British submarine boat into Danish waters and destroyed the submarine within a half-mile of shore. A Danish warship "came hurrying up to the scene," as the Danish newspapers put it. But it took care to hurry slowly enough to let the German cruiser get away, and thus to prevent international complications. And when the German hydro-aeroplane flew across Copenhagen, the Danes accepted the perfunctory German explanation that it had been an "accident"—almost as if they believed it. Rome, July 11, via London.—The pressure exerted by the Italian forces in the Trentino has resulted in the recall of several divisions of Austrian troops which were about to be sent to the eastern front, according to the official statement issued today. The Italian offensive continues. The statement follows:

"In order to withstand the pressure we continue to exercise in the Trentino and our counter-offensive activity in the Bolto and But valleys and on the Lower Isone, the enemy has been obliged to recall to this front troops withdrawn towards the eastern front. This is ascertained in the cases of the third corps and the sixth, twenty-second and twenty-eighth divisions, which were on the point of departure, and the nineteenth division and the 18th Landsturm brigade, which were already on the way.

"Yesterday there was an intense artillery duel in the Adige Valley.

"On the Pasubio front we captured positions north of Monte Corno, but the enemy succeeded in obtaining partial re-possession of them by a violent counter-attack. We took 34 prisoners. On the Asiago plateau Alpine detachments successfully renewed the attack on the enemy's positions in the Monte Chiessa region.

"North of Monte San Giovanni we occupied Monte Uccelli at the head of the Cis Valley. In the Tofana region the enemy attempted a surprise on the positions we had taken on the ninth, but were repulsed with heavy losses, and left thirty prisoners and one machine gun in our hands. "On the Isone front, the artillery was active, and there was also some bombing."

WOMEN IN ENGLAND FOR CANADIAN SEAMEN SICK OR SUFFERING

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, July 11.—The Dominion government some time ago contributed $5,000 towards the upkeep of the Seamen's Hospital at Greenwich. Lord Davenport in a letter to Hon. J. D. Hassen expresses gratitude, with Canadian seasons ill or friendless in the mother country he has always had great sympathy. As a result of the gift a "Canada ward" will remain in the Greenwich hospital, not only as a memorial to Canadian generosity, but as a permanent home for sick and suffering seamen from Canada.

ONE COMMISSIONER BLOCKED PURCHASE OF MOTOR AERIAL TRUCK FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Failure to Get Unanimous Vote Defeated Commissioner McLellan's Plan for Motor-Driven Aerial Ladder Truck—Salvage Corps Wagons and Runabout for Chief Authorized—Other Business at Yesterday's Council Meeting.

At the common council meeting yesterday afternoon it was decided to buy additional motor apparatus for the fire department but the proposal to purchase a motor driven ladder truck was defeated on the vote. Commissioner McLellan announced that he was going to the city for a few days and the commissioner of public safety would be acting mayor in his absence. The mayor called the council to order at three o'clock. All the commissioners were present. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting reports were submitted as follows:

Finance and Public Affairs.

The commissioner of finance and public affairs reported payments for month of June of $87,000.42, in excess of the amount ordered, at $22 per ton delivered at Broad street; also from the same firm 11,412 pounds of flux oil at $22 per ton, total net amount to be $418.43. He also recommended the expanded balance sheet of the various items of the street appropriation for the present year be placed in one fund to meet the expenditure for such parts of the street department as may in the opinion of the council be necessary. The various items require the outlay. These were adopted.

Public Works.

The commissioner of public works recommended that he be authorized to purchase from Carrite-Patterson Co., Ltd., 26,445 pounds of asphalt, in excess of 200 tons already ordered, at $22 per ton delivered at Broad street; also from the same firm 11,412 pounds of flux oil at $22 per ton, total net amount to be $418.43. He also recommended the expanded balance sheet of the various items of the street appropriation for the present year be placed in one fund to meet the expenditure for such parts of the street department as may in the opinion of the council be necessary. The various items require the outlay. These were adopted.

Harbor Matters.

The commissioner of harbors recommended that the claim of William Hodd for $25 for damage to his net by the ferry boat in the harbor on the 8th day of May last be referred to him with power to act. Recommendation adopted. A communication was read from No. 3 Salvage Corps that J. Don Cameron had resigned. On motion the resignation was received and his warrant cancelled. A communication from the secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities calling attention to the meeting of that body in City Hall, Montreal, August 21, 22, 23, and inviting the city to send a representative was referred to the mayor. The written opinion of the commissioner was laid over to be taken up in committee.

It was moved by Commissioner Wigmore, and seconded by Commissioner Russell, that Mrs. James Dever be re-appointed a member of the Board of School Trustees; carried.

The Dry Lake Work.

Commissioner Wigmore reported that he had the mayor had gone over to the proposed work at the Dry Lake and found that the lowest tender was from a firm who had practically been convicted of using the same equipment and he did not feel disposed to recommend the acceptance of their tender. This firm had accepted a bribe of $167,000 not to manufacture shells for the Allies during the year 1916. The other tenders he considered too high and he recommended that their deposits be returned and new tenders called for. Carried.

Commissioner Russell moved that the commissioner be authorized to find the money for necessary repairs to Wellington wharf. This was necessary as it would take about $1,500 more than the revenue from this wharf last year to make it safe. Carried.

Motor Fire Apparatus.

Commissioner McLellan moved that the commissioner of public safety be authorized to purchase an 85 foot aerial motor hook and ladder truck of whatever make and design he may consider most suitable for the use of the Fire Department in St. John. The payment for same to be made from a bond issue to cover the difference of unexpended bonds which were issued for this purpose. In support of his motion the commissioner stated that while he believed that two salvage corps wagons and a runabout for the chief were necessary, in consideration of the money market and the fact that the city wanted to issue a few bonds as possibly this year, he would only ask for the ladder truck as, in his judgment, that was most needed. Tourist Association Has Plan Which it Hopes Will Help Tourists to Enjoy Their Stay in St. John.

A meeting of the executive of the Tourist Association was held yesterday afternoon at the Board of Trade rooms. F. A. Dykeman was chairman, others present being E. Allan Schofield, P. W. Rising, J. E. Secord and P. C. Smith. It was decided that in view of the difficulty experienced by tourists to fully appreciate the beautiful scenery in and about the city, because of the want of guidance, a man should be appointed at once to assist visitors. His duties would be to attend at the hotels, to meet facturers from the steamers, and to help tourists in every way possible. This feature of the work of the Tourist Association will be under the direct supervision of E. A. Schofield. It was decided that steps should at once be taken to repair, or re-construct the pavilion at the Reversing Falls, the feeling of the meeting being that, at no great expense, the beauty spot could be more appreciated by tourists if the neighborhood could be made more attractive by a judicious expenditure.

ONTARIO OPPOSITION LEADER IS IN LONDON

London, July 11.—(Montreal Gazette Cable)—On his arrival in London yesterday, Newton Wesley Rowell, K. C., of Toronto, leader of the Liberal opposition of Ontario, drove straight to the House of Commons, where he was given a seat in the distinguished strangers' gallery, arriving just as Mr. Asquith began his statement on Home Rule. Mr. Rowell expects to remain a month on this side, and will spend the time looking after the interests of the Canadian soldiers in the hospitals and training camps, and it possible in France. He will also study the general situation here as between military, industrial and agricultural demands, with a view to assisting him as a member of the Ontario war commission.
Keeping the Door Open.
Here is a good method of keeping a door open.
Hinge a piece of wood on to the frame of the door.
To prevent the door from shutting, you allow the piece of wood to slip into the niche where the door would go if shut. This is a very neat and also effective method.
When not in use, the wood goes back quite neatly on to the door.

SHAMROCKS AND THISTLES PLAYED GOOD GAME IN FOG

St. Peter's League Contest Last Evening Went to Shamrocks by Score of 4 to 0.

Last night's game in St. Peter's League was played in a thick fog but was one of the best of the season. The contenders were the Thistles and Shamrocks and the Shamrocks emerged victorious, to the tune of 4-0. McGuigan did the hurrying for the Thistles and except for a bad first inning pitched a good game. Elliott, for the Shamrocks, had the opposing team breaking their backs trying to connect with his offerings, striking out no less than nine men. The batters were all right on the job and no errors can be charged to either team. The boys are putting up great ball considering the grounds and deserve better patronage than they are receiving. Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

DAN PATCH THE FAMOUS PAGER DEAD

"Athletic Heart" Caused Death of Great Phenomenon of the Turf.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11.—Dan Patch, pacing stallion owned by M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, died of athletic heart at the owner's farm at Savage, Minn., today. In 1906 he paced a mile over the St. Paul track in 1:55, the world's sulky record. Dan Patch was bought by Savage for $60,000. He was withdrawn from the tracks several years ago.

HORSE RACES THIS EVENING.

The management of the Moosepath track will attempt a new scheme in the horse racing in this section, for the meet which was postponed on last Saturday afternoon will be held at the track this evening. The first heat will start at seven o'clock, and now with the daylight saving system there will be plenty of daylight to run off every event. This will also give every person in the city an opportunity of being present without losing time from their business.
In addition to a class race in which there are four good horses starting, there will be a match race between Car Ferry and Blingen Light for fifty dollars a side. There is considerable speculation among the rail birds as to which horse has the most speed, and the match should prove interesting.

Cheerful as the June Sun

So many homes lack proper heating that it is often thought houses must either be cold in winter or hot and stuffy. Yet the heating of a home can be like the natural warmth of June—the air as warm, as healthfully humid, as fresh and pure.

The Sunshine Furnace radiates the healthful heat of the sun. Pure air is sent evenly over the house, warm, fresh—and clean. The dust and fine ashes, so often seen whenever most furnaces are shaken down, never get out of the Sunshine Furnace.

Dry air not necessary
The Sunshine Furnace supplies air as balmy as summer. This comes from a large water pan so located that it can be refilled easily.

Firing up and closing the dampers of the Sunshine Furnace does not send coal gas into the house. The volume of gas freed from the new coal is drawn off up the chimney. The Sunshine not only keeps the whole house warm and cosy, but continually circulates clear, pure air.

McClary's Sunshine Furnace

The Sunshine does not cost you more than many furnaces that are not as good. Our Heating Engineer will tell you what a thorough heating system for your home will cost. More than that, he will tell you, without charge or obligation, how to plan your heating system so as to get the most out of it with the least expenditure. If you send the coupon to-day we will send you our booklet "Sunshine." At the same time, ask for special information about heating your own house.

NEWS AND

LIQUIDATION OF "WAR BRIDES" ON NEW YORK MARKET

Selling Movement Quite Active Comprising Unusual Number of Issues.

ALCOHOL HAD A RALLY TO 114 MARK

Monday's Flurry in Call Loans was Not Repeated, Maximum Rate Yesterday being 5 per cent.

New York, July 11.—Further enforced liquidation of "war brides" and other specialties of kindred description was witnessed today, the selling movement being more active and comprising an unusual number of issues. Only a few special stocks were spared, in the sense that their losses were comparatively nominal.

United States Industrial Alcohol, yesterday's sensationally weak feature, repeated its low price of 107 1/2, but rallied to 114, and closed at 111 7/8, net gain of 2 7/8.

American Coal Products added 1 1/4 points to its setback of the previous day, regaining about half and General Chemical yielded six points on very few transactions.

Incidentally, the break in these particular issues, whose by-products enter in the manufacture of explosives, was in part ascribed to the arrival of the German submarine, laden with dyestuffs and chemicals. More likely, however, their depreciation resulted mainly from a weakened technical market position.

There was constant selling of the shipping issues, with declines of three to five and a half points in the United Fruit and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, while Mercantile Marine preferred helped to add to the depression of the final hour, with an extreme decline of seven points.

Studebaker featured the motors, falling 7 1/2 points, with five for Maxwell and over three for Chandler. Mexicans were at first disposed to improve, but reacted sharply on disturbing rumors from the southern border, petroleum losing four points, with two for American Smelting and Green Canada.

Coppers and other metals were again subject to short selling, but in large measure on the feverish state of the foreign markets.

Rails and investment stocks in general were more moderately depressed, losing a point or thereabouts with as much for United States Steel. Bethlehem Steel's maximum loss of 7 1/2 points followed reports of damage by fire to one of the company's plants.

Total sales amounted to 658,000 shares. Yesterday's flurry in call loans was not repeated, the maximum rate being 5 per cent, with a free supply at 4 1/2 in the afternoon.

Bonds were heavy, with extensive offerings of Anglo-French 5's at 1/4 per cent, under yesterday.

Total sales, par value, $3,960,000.

NEWS LETTER FROM MONTREAL EXCHANGE

Montreal, July 11.—The market today was again a liquidating one and showed practically no rallying power at the close. The bears evidently had it all in their own hands. It is hard to be bearish at this point, after the severe decline securities have had, and we feel that the war stops tomorrow a lot of industrial and so-called war brides will be worth as much, if not more, than they are selling at now. Scotia went off rather easily, and there was no New York buying of this stock today. On any further weakness we feel that stocks are due for a rally.

BRITISH SAILORS' RELIEF. The British Sailors' Relief Fund is being generously contributed to by the people of Montreal. W. G. Ross gave $10,000; Bank of Montreal, $10,000; James Carruthers, $5,000; Dominion Steel Corporation, $5,000; Robt. Reford Co. Ltd., $5,000; Miss Jessie Dow, $3,000; Canadian Explosives, Ltd., $1,500; Royal Bank, $1,500; Montreal Power Co., Dominion Bridge Company, Oglvie Flour Mills Co., Molson's Bank and Merchants' Bank, $1,000 each, and other amounts from $500 to $5, the whole aggregating over $50,000.

Mayor Hayes is treasurer of the Sailors' Fund in St. John. He has already received a number of subscriptions. As it is unlikely that any canvassers will be sent out for this fund, all who desire to contribute should send their contributions to the Mayor at once. St. John owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to the British navy. This fund affords one way of repaying the obligation.

BROUGHT SUGAR AND MOLASSES. Royal Packet Line S.S. Chaleur, Capt. Hill, arrived yesterday from Demerara, West Indies and Bermuda, with mails, passengers and general cargo. Among her cargo is a large shipment of raw sugar for the Atlantic Refinery, also a large shipment of molasses for St. John and other points. She had a good run up. The Chaleur brought a number of marines.

MEETING OF RATEPAYERS
HAMPTON CONSOLIDATED
SCHOOL DISTRICT

Satisfactory Report from Trustees — Herbert Ryder
Succeeds Geo. E. Stratton
who has Retired from Board

Hampton, July 10—The annual meeting of the ratepayers of Consolidated School District No. 2, parishes of Hampton and Norton, was held this forenoon in the assembly hall of the school building, opening at ten o'clock. The meeting was called to order by J. W. Smith, chairman of the board of trustees. George H. Barnes was elected chairman and P. W. F. Brewster secretary of the meeting.

The trustees' report was read, dealing with the educational and financial condition of the district and presenting the estimates for the ensuing year. The report shows that the work of the school for the past year has been particularly successful; one very interesting paragraph states that while the number in Grade XI was larger than for any previous year in the history of the school for the past year, and every one who remained completed the course and received his or her graduation certificate.

There will be only one change in the teaching staff. Mr. H. C. Lawrence, who has had charge of Grades VII and VIII, has resigned, having accepted the position of principal of the Consolidated School at Kingston, and Miss Wetmore, a first class teacher, and a sister of Principal Wetmore, has been added to the staff.

The financial report shows that owing to the need of an unusual amount of repairs to piping, etc. during the year, and to the high cost of fuel, the expenditure has been larger than usual—the total disbursements amounting to $6,428.63, and using up all available funds. It is set forth that for the ensuing year a still larger amount must be provided as quite extensive repairs are needed on the pumping system, and the insurance premiums for a three years' term will fall due during the year. The report recommends a vote of $5,000.00, which was adopted and the amount voted by the meeting. In this connection it is worth while to note that each year the sum of $600.00 is added to a sinking fund for the liquidation of the bonded indebtedness of the district, and that already this sinking fund amounts to over $6,500.00, deposited in the bank of Nova Scotia.

The report of the auditor, F. M. Sprout, certified to the accuracy of the books and accounts. Mr. Sprout was re-elected auditor.

Mr. George E. Stratton of the "Herald" section of the district was the retiring trustee. Mr. Stratton has held office for a long time and declined re-nomination, but nominated Mr. Herbert Ryder, of the same section. Mr. Milliee Lawrence was also nominated and a ballot was taken. Mr. Ryder was declared elected and took the declaration of office.

The meeting adjourned shortly after noon.

CURIOUS NAMES FOR VARIOUS EDITIONS OF THE BIBLE

Down through the centuries the human hands that set the types of the Bible often made human errors. Nor did the human eyes that read the proofs detect them. In this world of certain curious mistakes creep in that give to whole editions their earmarks of distinction. And then again some quaint phrase or word, wrought in the idiom of the translator, struck the fancy of the learned or the vulgar, who added upon it as a sort of titulus.

For instance, there: THE BRECHES BIBLE, published in 1650, so-called because in Genesis, III, 7, it read: "They sewed fig-leaves together" instead of "made themselves breeches" instead of "aprons."

THE BUG BIBLE, published in 1651, so-called because in Psalm XCI, 4, it read: "So that thou shalt not need to be afraid for any bugs by night," meaning "terrors."

THE HE BIBLE, published in 1611, so-called because in Ruth, III, 15, it read "he" instead of "she."

THE PRINTERS' BIBLE, published in 1702, so-called because in Psalm CXIX, 161, it read: "Printers have persecuted me without a cause" instead of "princes."

THE ROSIN BIBLE, published in 1693, so-called because in Jeremiah VIII, 22, it read: "Is there no resin in Gilead," instead of "balm in Gilead."

THE WICKED BIBLE, published in 1631, so-called because the printer left out the word "not" in the seventh commandment.

The famous Big Print Red Letter Edition, now being distributed by this paper, is one of the best editions ever published, without errors, and contains many valuable features that render it unique among Bibles. The coupon in today's issue, elsewhere, describes terms to our readers.

THE POLICE COURT.

In the police court, yesterday, a Board of Health case was adjourned for a week as the defendants were not present.

Jacob Colwell was fined $10 for not stopping his team at the corner of Mill and Main streets when ordered to do so by the police.

Two drunks were fined $5 each.

THOUGHT

(Copyright pending), written June 1916, St. John, N. B.

Before this awful strife, broke forth to slay and maim. Possession, War, was born in some man's varied thought—

Then acted on, by many, with the one, Now see, the world-wide desolation wrought.

The suffering of the innocent, with those Who planned the deed, forgetting God's life lease. He called His Son, the "Saviour of the World,"

The "Wonderful Counsellor," and the "Prince of Peace." The "Prince of Peace," 's He the "Prince of War?" Does Scripture really contradict itself today?

Nay, rather, place the blame where it belongs. That sin is rampant, and so war holdeth sway.

Can strife be stopped by sword and steel and gun? Though fierce foes be beaten to the dust, A soldier's child will grow to soldier man.

Until that time, lo, swords in scabbards rust. When father springs to life a rain in child. Then Bethlehem's message will be once more forgot.

The "Prince of Peace" will view again, sin, rampant, wild. Hereditary law, will just mean this—aye, note— A soldier father—the nation mourns his son.

Had Kitchener's father been a business man, What fighting would our mourned hero done? It's not the silent thought, that does the harm, It's active thought, that meaneth breath, or woe.

And bringeth sorrow on the just and good. Because man wills, and plans, to have it so. "Christ in you" alone, will stop this awful war.

"Peace on earth," yea, still His message is the same. While He permits the carnage and the strife. Upon man's sin and greed, now rests the blame.

What is taken, by power of force, alone is held. So long as victor's power of force is holding sway. But buried deep within the beaten hearts and lives.

Is the seed, that's dormant only, till the day Of opportunity swings round again, with time. And lo! the soldier boy to manhood now has grown.

Then thought put into action will spring once more to life. In spite of former orphan's tears, and widows' moan.

Is this not true? Go search the Scripture well. Is this not true? Let page and page of history slowly speak. The seeds of war bring forth the fruit of hate.

Is it the fruit of love, or hate, we seek? Answer the question before it is too late. No prayers, or vain regrets, bring back our soldier dead.

'Tis thought, put into action, caused deathly war. 'Tis thought, put into action, bringeth peace instead.

On "No Man's Land" fight on, fight on they must. 'Till thoughts of peace at home take action and say—stay. And friend and foe alike, from depth of soul.

Must pray—God speed the coming of this day.

St. John, N. B.

Men leave their fleshly temples, battered and maimed, to rot. Under God's blue canopy, stiff and aching—side by side; Carry they their hatred and their murder lust.

On, on with them into the "Great Divide?" There to continue, minus their fleshly house. Though Heaven's gate, we know, is opened wide.

Yet 'tis true, while life they freely gave for Country's sake. That hatred there will keep them both outside.

And yet, 'tis said, men cannot fight and kill Without their hatred in the heart. When will men learn the value of a soul?

The lesson that the "Saviour" died to teach. When will men learn that self goes on with them. That "Christ within" is the only passport there.

That flesh is sought, compared to life of soul. And there's a power greater than sword, 'is prayer. But never, never, does God roll away earth's stones.

That men can move with their own fleshly hands too. But the world today forgets, and would forget. Love is the fulfilling of our Lord's commands.

Some say this war will be indeed the last. Hereafter law firmly deters this claim. Unless the time is drawing very near. When "Christ" Himself shall come on earth to reign.

When we place life's value where the "Master" did— Upon the souls of men, not worldly greed and gain; Though war may kill millions of foes and friends. Do not the children of their soldier fathers still remain?

But if we place the value on the soul. With the uncertainty of where each soul will be. Both friend and foe, alike, would stay their hand. If they would but think of God's eternity.

The aons for the ones who freely give their lives For Country's flag, and country's officials. The defendants did not appear and the case stands for hearing on Tuesday next. J. Roy Campbell, K. C., counsel for the board, read the law involving the liability of owner, agent or other persons.

FUNERALS. The burial of Raymond Sweeney, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney, of Chapel street, took place yesterday afternoon in Holy Cross cemetery, Sand Cove.

BIGGEST FISH
CATCH EVER LANDED AT AMERICAN PORT

Trawler Easthampton Arrives in Gloucester, Mass., with Catch of 400,000 lbs. Taken off Sambro Bank, N. S.

Gloucester, Mass., July 11.—The largest single catch of fish ever landed at a port in this country was brought here today by the trawler Easthampton, according to port officials, after comparison with available records. The trawler got 400,000 pounds off Sambro Bank, near Halifax, N. S., in less than two weeks.

AN INTERESTING CASE. The Board of Health officials had before the police magistrate yesterday morning a case which proved a source of interest because of legal issues involved. The charge was laid against the firm of Taylor & Sweeney, agents for the property in Bridge street, complained of by the health officials. The defendants did not appear and the case stands for hearing on Tuesday next. J. Roy Campbell, K. C., counsel for the board, read the law involving the liability of owner, agent or other persons.

An' I'd shut me eyes an' see yer face an' almost hear yer call. Me poor eyes dey sting 'til I almost cry. But I dassent tell yer all.

I picked Mayflowers in de pastures an' violets in de woods. Went wadin' in de river an' de sharp stones cut me heels. One day I waded out an' slipped an' my head fell. I'd fall head-first in de water but I dassent tell yer all.

Jimmy Jones lives on a farm up on a high high hill. An' his father is a cripple, broke his leg, was almost killed. Jimmy's got a hay-loft where we uster play barshash.

An' one day we knocked a winder out. But I dassent tell yer all. Jimmy's got a yaller dog a little mackerel cur.

We uster sit him on de cat an' all we'd see was fur. One day we tied a can to his tail an' put him on de stone wall. We most died laffin' 'til his father come. But I dassent tell yer all.

Down in Jimmy's pasture lot, a whack o' huddle-bees. Made a great big nest, big enough to hold Jimmy an' me. An' we took long sticks an' creepsed up didn't tink dey'd hear us.

But dey did. De rest in jest too sad. I dassent tell yer all. Next time I go on vacation I'm goin' to take yer son. 'Cause dere's so many things to see an' so many things to do. An' some day I hope we'll have a little farm jest all our own to call. Oh dere's lots of things I'd like to say. But I dassent tell yer all. MABELLE GODFREY.

WOMEN'S WORK. Y. W. P. A. A meeting of the executive of the Young Women's Patriotic Association was held on Tuesday afternoon. It was decided to hold a general meeting on Thursday evening at 8:15 p. m. in the Loyal Order of Moose rooms, Union street. Speakers will be provided.

Suffragian Playing With Fire. From down in Colorado come news which sincere friends of Woman Suffrage will hear with some misgivings. It is to the effect that the recruiting officers there find bitter and uncompromising hostility in the women of the State, who they say are using all the influence given them by their right to vote in preventing young men from enlisting in the army, says the Ottawa Evening Journal. This report is supplemented by the fact that not a few suffragists in New York and other eastern states have of late talked publicly in such manner as to indicate that they would make use of like power if they possessed it.

As there is no necessary connection between suffragism and pacifism, many supporters of Woman Suffrage everywhere would like to hear such dangerous nonsense repudiated by the women from whom it is expected whatever of light and leading the suffragists can supply. Otherwise there may well be the possibility of many sympathies with suffragism being turned into indifference or even active antagonism. True, and this must be taken equally into account, the leaders of the Woman Suffrage movement in Britain and elsewhere in the Empire have done splendidly during the past two years. But the growth of the movement has been more or less international, and the foolish actions of a few cranks in the United States—feminine cranks who are unable to see that there may be times for war as well as times for peace, that the place for a husband or a son is sometimes with the worst instead of with the yard stick—might well place a powerful weapon in the hands of the reactionaries willing to

VACATION DAYS.

I've been spendin' my vacation in de country miles away. An' I've thought about yer every night an' hundreds o' times froo de day. An' I'd shut me eyes an' see yer face an' almost hear yer call. Me poor eyes day stin' 'til I almost cry. But I dassent tell yer all. I picked Mayflowers in de pastures an' violets in de woods. Went wadin' in de river an' de sharp stones cut me heels. With a Woman on the Bench.

In referring to the recent appointment of Mrs. Arthur Murphy as judge of the women's court, the Fort William Times says: "The appointment of Mrs. Arthur Murphy as a police magistrate in the city of Edmonton marks a forward step in the administration of justice in the sexes, the world has not yet come to feel that it is right that children and women should be meted out the same brand of justice as is handed down to the male police court habitués, which, good and sound justice as it may be, modern chivalry would like to see tempered a little before it is exercised on the gentler sex. With a woman on the bench, especially if she be endowed with the gift of humor and be at the same time sufficiently sternly minded to resist imposition, it is possible that the civilized aim of reformation, rather than punishment may be reached in the case of many girls and women who might be hardened by contact with the atmosphere of the ordinary court."

starched linen, ether. The women of England are making a fad of wearing old-fashioned clothes, and it is quite a thing to be able to sport a last year's leghorn with faded flowers and a general "has been" appearance. To encourage the common people in thrift an English noblewoman has suggested that poultry be raised in the public parks, so that the suburban dweller who passes may learn by observation how the work can be made profitable.

Removing Stains.

A timely hint for stains on clothes and table linen: Fruit stains may be removed by soaking them in boiling water. Chocolate or tea stains should be soaked in cold water. For coffee stains, pour boiling water from a height, brushing the spots beforehand with borax.

Their Glory.

They find their glory in their task. Their gladness in their care. What grace, what glory, need they ask? Who of thy household are?

Daisie's Tea Party.

Up in her little attic playroom Daisie was having a party. You see she got a toy stove and the dearest little dishes on her birthdays and so she often had tea when some other little girls came to play with her. But today her little visitors were Jacko, the monkey, and Bobbie, one of her big dolls. You're wondering if Jacko behaved well enough to come to the table. Well, you see, he wasn't a real live monkey--only a cloth one, stuffed with sawdust--so he didn't eat up all the cake or break any of the pretties and saucers, though some times Daisie did tell him he was very naughty when he would keep falling off his chair instead of sitting up straight. But today Jacko was good and behaved as a monkey should, while Daisie didn't have to scold Bobbie either as she sometimes did. But after a while she grew tired of having to talk for all three of them and of pouring tea every time out of the kettle. Daisie was thirsty and she thought she would like a real drink. "Do you want a drink, dear?" she asked Bobbie. "What would you like? Would some cold water do?" "No, I don't like water," answered Bobbie (you see Daisie said it for him). "I want some orangeade."

Washing Rag Rugs.

It is quite possible to wash rag rugs at home. Of course the larger ones are difficult to handle--in fact, they can hardly be dipped in the ordinary tub, and will be spread on the line, thoroughly soaked with the hose, then treated to a bath of soapy water thrown on them with pails and then rinsed with the hose again. Before this treatment, the spots can be scrubbed out with soap and water. Smaller rugs can be dipped right into the tub, hung carefully to dry and ironed smooth.

Household Hints.

Mice do not like cayenne pepper.

One cup of barley swells to five times its size.

It is economical to buy soap in large quantities.

Just kerosene is a very good thing to soak a floor mop in.

Gasoline is an excellent thing for cleaning greasy woodwork.

Always rinse a complexion brush in borax water after using.

Be careful to get the best cider vinegar for making pickles.

Baking soda dissolved in water will clean painted woodwork.

Boot polish which has become dry can be successfully softened with a few drops of turpentine.

The outside leaves of the lettuce can be shredded with scissors and served with chopped cucumbers or tomatoes, or both. Cover with French or mayonnaise dressing and you have a very pretty and good salad.

A clothespin bag should be made of strong denim or bed ticking, and mounted on a wooden coat hanger, so it can be pushed along on the clothesline just as it is wanted.

Old Clothes Fashionable.

Fashions have been knocked aside ways in England through the effects of the war. The fad for rigid economy has been carried out so well that it has even caused the sacrifice of the tails of the "swallow-tail" coats, most of the "Johannes" darning to attend even the shortest of functions in the most formal dinner-jacket, or "Tuxedo," as we call it. Those who are entitled to wear a uniform sport the khaki on all occasions, and do not bother with

TODAY'S LITTLE JOKE.

Tommy was taken to church for the first time and his father handed him twenty-five cents to give to the poor. Next Sunday they went to a different place of worship and a cent was handed the small boy, whereupon he exclaimed in an audible whisper: "Gee, this must be a cheap church!"

Birthday Greetings.

Uncle Dick wishes many happy returns to the following kiddies, who are celebrating their birthdays today: Jean Colwell, 49 Mecklenburg St. James Melick, 67 Sewell St. Estella Fox, 147 Queen St.

BERTHA KALICH.

It is not by any means well-known in America that Bertha Kalich, the tragedienne, who is now a William Fox Star in motion pictures, also is an accomplished and experienced grand opera singer. At the age of 14 she joined a German opera company, having just finished a course in a conservatory in Lemberg, Galicia. She soon left the German company and entered the chorus of a Polish company. At the age of 15 she was offered an engagement in the Jewish theatre as prima donna, and for two years sang in opera and in Biblical plays.

After a season in Hungary, she returned to Poland for a year, but her fondness for singing sent her hurrying back to Bucharest, Rumania, where she sang the principal roles in "The Gypsy Baron," "Il Trovatore," "Carmen," and in operas by Offenbach and Stradella. Just at this time she met an American theatrical manager and he brought her to the United States in 1895. Her fame spread beyond the Bowery and the Yiddish theatre, and soon caused her to learn the language of her new people and take her rightful place in the English language theatre.

FROM COAST TO COAST.

Spreading her way across the continent in a coast-to-coast tour campaigning for the World's Status of Liberty Illumination Fund Miss Claire Rochester, a Louisville star and musical comedy favorite, has dubbed her auto "the prima donna car," giving it the full credit for the record she has established so far on the trip. Miss Rochester is out to establish a woman's coast-to-coast record and plans to make the 3,600 miles between New York and San Francisco in less than fourteen days.

AND WHEATCROFT PRAYED WHILE CAMEL PRANCED.

Stanhope Wheatcroft and Claire Whitney, two of William Fox's actors, had their first camel ride a few days ago, in the filming of a new desert picture. Incidentally, they came near "killing" the camel, which was tied by the bridle to the animal on which Miss Whitney rode. Both camels began to show their Eastern descent by dancing all the time. CURTAIN FLASHES.

Kitzy Gordon, who in private life is Lady Beresford, expects to dazzle her audience with three new costume creations in "Her Maternal Right." Last week she wore a name of the "costume" novelists, they are, "Robe Radium du Jour," "Costume d'Orchards" and "Shear del Noche." Mme. Olga Petrova has written more than one hundred verses, which will appear in book form sometime during the coming summer. Mme. Petrova will distribute a number of these volumes and will autograph each copy.

MELBA WILL HELP.

Mme. Melba, the opera singer, intends to establish a permanent home in California, where she will teach girls with voices who are unable to cultivate them on account of having no means to do so.

CHRISTINE MAYO, WHO IS FEATURED WITH EDWARD BREAKE, THE STARR, 'THE SPELL OF THE YUKON,' A FINEST WORKPLAY BASED UPON ROBERT W. SERVICE'S POEM.

Christine Mayo, the talented young actress who was recently engaged by the Popular Plays and Players, will make her debut on the Metro program playing the leading female role in "The Spell of the Yukon," the five part production in which Edmund Breese is starred. The feature is a colorful pictorialization of Alaskan life, based upon the poem of the same name by Robert W. Service, the "Klipping of the North."

Don't Spoil Your Hair.

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoo or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms.

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.

For All Complexion Ills.

If the skin be colorless, sallow, mottled, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary medicine. It is scorching, and of a bad complexion--absorbs the dead matter, and cleanses the skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is evidenced, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One ounce of the best, procurable at any drug store, will reinvigorate even the worst complexion. It is used in cold cream.

JOSEPH CARR USED A KNIFE ON POLICEMAN

Constable Armstrong Had Considerable Trouble Yesterday in Arresting Old Offender.

The police arrested eight prisoners yesterday afternoon and night, and of the number half a dozen were common drunks.

Before Carr was landed in headquarters Officer Armstrong was assisted by Police Constable McInnis. When Armstrong took hold of Carr to place him under arrest the prisoner was ugly and drew a sharp jack-knife and also damaging the policeman's coat by cutting it.

While the policeman's wound is painful, it was not so bad that he could not resume his duties and continued by the boat until relieved at eleven o'clock last night.

JOSEPH CARR USED A KNIFE ON POLICEMAN

Constable Armstrong Had Considerable Trouble Yesterday in Arresting Old Offender.

The police arrested eight prisoners yesterday afternoon and night, and of the number half a dozen were common drunks.

Before Carr was landed in headquarters Officer Armstrong was assisted by Police Constable McInnis. When Armstrong took hold of Carr to place him under arrest the prisoner was ugly and drew a sharp jack-knife and also damaging the policeman's coat by cutting it.

While the policeman's wound is painful, it was not so bad that he could not resume his duties and continued by the boat until relieved at eleven o'clock last night.
