BRITISH BATTERIES TURN BACK COUNTER ATTACK

First American Troops Landed In France

GUNFIRE OF BRITISH CHECKS ATTEMPT OF THE PRUSSIANS TO RECAPTURE LOST GROUND

Haig Quickly Stops Movement of Enemy Against His New Positions Along the Arras Front—Successful Raid Is Made at Oppy.

London, June 27.—British gunfire checked in its incipiency a German counter-attack attempted early today upon the new British positions on the Arras front northwes of Fontaine-les-Croisilles, it was officially announced in today's war office report.

Otherwise only raiding operations along the British front are covered by the statement, which reads:

"Another counter-attack, attempted early this morning against our new positions northwest of Fontaine-les-Croisilles, was prevented from developing by our artillery.

We made a successful raid west of Oppy and captured a few prisoners. A raid attempted by the enemy southwest of La Bassee was stopped by our fire."

YEGGMEN CRACK A SECOND SAFE ON "THE BRUCE"

Get Away With Cash From the G. T. R. Depot at Centralia.

ARE HEADED THIS WAY

Stations Suffer From Bold Depredations of Burglar Band.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Centralia, June 27.—A joy ride down the Bruce, with stops to crack the station safes of the Grand Trunk Railway, seems to be the summer occupation of one or more "yeggs" who, lacking explosives, find the section tool houses a convenient base from which to operate.

Yep! The Centralia station was cracked wide open last night, and $34 in cash taken by the crooks. Also some biscuits and canned goods for luck after the job, and a "fly" in the tool house until it got too light to stay around any longer.

Hensall got it early Tuesday morning when the safe at the Grand Trunk depot was smashed in with a heavy maul, and a hardware store was jimmied open.

Biggest Haul at Hensall.

As at Hensall, the thieves used the tool house as a supply depot, drawing the staple from the door. They took crowbars and other instruments, and just mashed up the safe. Then they took the day's receipts and departed after digging a supper from an order of groceries which Mr. Hall of Centralia expected to claim today.

The men hung an old coat over the section-house window. Then they went to the station and brought the safe to the toolhouse, where they took the lid off it, as though it was a can of beans. They replaced the tools after the "job." Very neat workmen in this case.

$1,500 in Express Orders.

The Hensall job was more productive. Eighty dollars in cash was secured, as well as railway tickets and $1,500 worth of Canadian Express orders. It is doubtful if either the tickets or the money orders will be negotiable unless the crooks can get hold of a patent dater.

The police evidently thought the gang was going up the Bruce, when as a matter of fact, they were coming down. London had better look out. There are lots of tool houses around London, and the station is well, if not favorably, known.

BERLIN IS PRESSING BULGARIA TO BREAK WITH THE STATES

Sentiment at Sofia Is Against a Rupture.

Copenhagen, June 27.—Germany is bringing strong pressure on Bulgaria to induce that country to break off relations with the United States, according to information received here. Official and public opinion in Bulgaria is against a break, and the only circumstance which it is said would turn sentiment in favor of a rupture would be the appearance of United States troops in Saloniki, a possibility that seems to have been suggested to Bulgaria.

The fear is expressed, however, that Premier Radislavoff may have been compelled to purchase concessions, for which he went to Berlin, by a sacrifice of American relations as part payment.

COURTS-MARTIAL ABOLISHED.

Petrograd, June 27.—Courts-martial have been abolished by the Provisional Government. Hereafter it is provided, when offenders are caught red handed in circumstances of particular gravity necessitating immediate inquiry, the case will be submitted under forms of urgent procedure to the permanent military courts of either the regiment or the army corps concerned.

WANTS PRIESTS AND PASTORS ON COMPULSION LIST

Montreal, June 27.—L'Autorite, which blames Sir Robert Borden for not including priests and pastors in his conscription bill, publishes a letter, signed "An Old Priest."

"I am charitable enough to suppose," writes the priest, "that the prime minister meant no offence when he exempted the Doukhobors and the ministers of religion. If the national defence exacts that all men, class by class, are to be placed under arms, the members of the clergy, in the name of dignity do not want to be excepted."

L'Autorite says that the bill gives a brevet of cowardice to the clergy, and every ecclesiastic must have felt the blood in his veins boil with rage at such an accusation. The "old priest" suggests that a clause be inserted to the effect that if they are exempt from conscription, let them be given an opportunity of enrolling voluntarily.

MARTIN'S VICTORY IS DECIDED TRIUMPH OF CLEAN GOVERNMENT

Liberal Sweep in Sask. Answer to Slander Campaign.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Regina, June 27.—The people of Saskatchewan, both men and women, the latter exercising their franchise for the first time today, gave the Liberal Administration, led by Premier Martin, an emphatic indorsation. All the ministers were returned by large majorities, the premier receiving nearly one thousand in Regina city. Hon. J. A. Calder has several hundred in Saltcoats, and the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, although for a time behind in the vote in Kindersley, wound up on the right side. The Hon. C. A. Dunning redeemed Moose Jaw County by 250 majority, it having been lost to the Government in a recent bye-election. The Opposition leader had a large plurality in Moose Jaw city, where he defeated the Liberal candidate, Ross, and a Labor man, the latter polling over a thousand votes, 750 of which would have gone to Ross had it been a straight party fight.

His chief lieutenant, Bradshaw, however, was defeated in Prince Albert.

Woman Candidate Lost.

None of the Non-Partison League candidates were elected today, their woman candidate, Mrs. Haight, running a poor third in Thunder Creek seat. Conservatives were elected in Moose Jaw city, Saskatoon city, Qu'Appelle, Pely, Rosthern, Melfort, Moosomin and one or two others. The result is a sufficient answer to the flag waving, anti-alien slander campaign of the Opposition and a decided decision in favor of clean government.

THREE YEARS IN PEN. FOR FORMER OFFICER WHO FORGED CHECKS

Quebec, June 27.—Former Lieut. Charles Rheaume, of the 167th Battalion, C. E. F., was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Judge Langelier in the court of sessions yesterday on a charge of having raised the sum of $14,503.36 by passing 98 forged checks.

Rheaume, when he fled from Quebec, went to New York, and afterwards to France, where he was captured.

STRONG WESTERN UNION REJECTS A RESOLUTION AGAINST CONSCRIPTION

Winnipeg, June 27.—At a special meeting called to discuss the military service bill now before Parliament, the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, the strongest labor body in Western Canada, last night rejected by a large majority and anti-conscription resolution submitted to the meeting by one of its members.

U. S. TROOPS HAVE LANDED

Paris, June 27.—American troops have been landed in France, it is officially announced today.

ENGLAND IS STIRRED OVER BLUNDERS IN MESOPOTAMIA WAR

One Paper Wants Asquith Impeached — Times Blames Late Lord Kitchener.

London, June 27.—Andrew Bonar Law, member of the British War Council, was bombarded in the House of Commons this afternoon with questions regarding the action the Government intended to take against those accused of culpability in the report on the Mesopotamia expedition made public last night in the blue book. He replied that he would rather make no statement until the House had time to consider the report, but "it was the obvious duty of the Government to take immediate action with regard to those who especially were accused of culpability."

Asked by Joseph King, Liberal member for North Somerset, whether Baron Hardinge, formerly governor-general and viceroy of India, was still in a position of great authority at the foreign office, Mr. Bonar Law replied:

"These questions assume that Baron Hardinge has been guilty. I don't wish to make any such assumption at present."

New York, June 27.—An Associated Press cable from London this morning says:

"The report of the commission which has been investigating the Mesopotamia expedition is treated by the press as a first-class sensation. Editorials contain bitter reproaches of persons concerned and demand their dismissal.

"Effete traditions, cheese-paring policy and general dry rot and inefficiency of the Indian command are condemned by the newspapers. The anti-Asquith press largely blames the late government. One paper calls for Former Premier Asquith's impeachment. On the other hand, the Times says it is only fair to admit that his cabinet labored completely astray by military advisers. The Times thinks the culpability of J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India, almost wholly technical.

Blames Kitchener.

"The Times places a large share of the blame on the late Lord Kitchener's highly centralized control of the Indian army. The paper says the report goes far to vindicate Lord Curzon's resignation as viceroy of India twelve years ago, on the ground of disagreement with Kitchener's scheme. General approval is voiced of the Government's decision to publish the report and tell the country the truth. A comparison is drawn of Germany's attempts to explain Hessines and other reverses on the western front. Amid a flood of recrimination, room is found for satisfaction that nobody who is chiefly blamed is now associated with the Mesopotamia force, that the blunders have been retrieved, and that to that extent they are less tragic than the irrevocable collapse of the general expedition."

FRENCH TAKE HUGE CAVERN OF GERMANS

Paris, June 27.—Heavy artillery fighting continues in the region of Hurtebise, says today's official announcement.

The statement follows:

"Spirited artillery fighting continued in the vicinity of the Hurtebise Monument. The Germans made no further attacks on the positions which we took from them in that region on Monday.

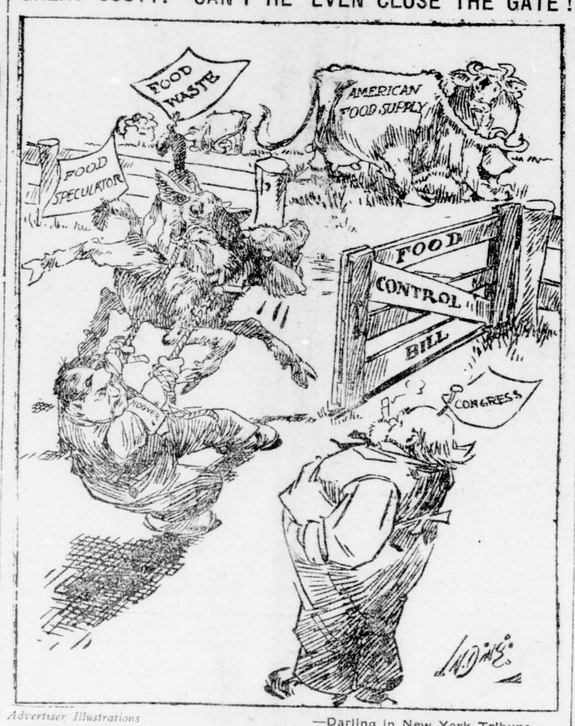

"According to information now at hand, among the positions which we captured on that day is the "Cavern of the Dragon," more than 100 metres wide and about 300 metres deep, which had been converted into a veritable fortress. This cavern, with numerous exits and openings from which machine guns were fired, constituted an important armed position and point of departure for enemy troops in in making counter-attacks. A considerable amount of war material was stored there, including nine machine guns in good condition, equipment for more than 300 men, numerous rifles, ammunition depots and electric searchlights, and a hospital relief outpost, which fell into our hands. The number of prisoners counted has reached 340, of whom six are officers.

COMMANDER OF FRENCH TELLS HIS TROOPS WHY FRENCH ARE FIGHTING

Paris, June 27.—General Petain, the French commander-in-chief, has written a series of articles entitled, "Why We Are Fighting," the first of which appears today in the army bulletin. The general tells in clear and simple terms the objects of the war and why a premature peace must not be concluded. He then goes on to show at some length why and how Germany brought on the war, tracing the events of the summer of 1914.

General Petain's article is commended highly by the press. The Figaro says it is an answer made in accordance with the national spirit, to the abominable propaganda which is carried on in many parts of the country, even in the trenches. It would be impossible, the newspaper says, to reach the mind and heart of the soldiers more effectively than General Petain has done in his first article.

GREAT SCOTT! CAN'T HE EVEN CLOSE THE GATE!

PRIESTS AMENABLE TO CIVIL LAW, SAYS JUDGE OF MONTREAL

No Immunity For the Catholic Confessional.

IN DAMAGE SUIT CASE

Priest Told Parishioners Voting For Plaintiff Was Mortal Sin.

Montreal, June 27.—The La Prairie confessional damage suit, in which Arthur Lefevbre, mayor of St. Philippe de La Prairie, is suing his parish priest, Abbe J. B. Jobin, for damages for, it is alleged, declaring to his parishioners that they had committed a mortal sin in voting for plaintiff, will be considered by Judge Bruneau on its merits. This morning his lordship dismissed the motion of Father Jobin's lawyers that plaintiff had no case against him. Defendant's lawyers had argued that even had Father Jobin advised his parishioners, as claimed, which he did not admit, words spoken in the confessional were privileged and any damage caused was done by the repetition in public by penitents of advice alleged to have been given in the confessional. The priest's lawyers also argued that just as declarations in the confessional by penitents were privileged, so was the advice of the priest.

No Immunity.

Judge Bruneau pointed out that there is no art or profession that can claim that it had immunity. Although there is no fault when damage results from the exercise of absolute right, that was not the case when the author of the damage exceeded his right and then he violated the right of a plaintiff, a priest, like all other citizens, was amenable to the civil courts. The plaintiff's claim constituted an allegation of an act of intimidation or an abuse of influence. Considering the responsibility of the defendant in civil matters and the undeniable privilege of the priest not to be forced to reveal the secret of the confessional were two distinct questions. Repetition of the defendant's arguments at that stage would not affect the plea in the contestation of the suit.

IS ALD. DYER HOPING TO LAND IN SHOES OF CHIEF WILLIAMS? STORY SAYS DEAL IS "FRAMED"

Mayor Is Indignant When Questioned and Former Temporary Magistrate Is Jocular—"I Guess I Can Go Six Feet Two," He Says—Peculiar Situation.

Who will be appointed London's chief of police this fall? This was the chief topic of conversation in police circles today, after it was learned that Chief of Police Williams would in all likelihood tender his resignation in the autumn, after being head of the local force for the last forty years.

Rumor says, and she was persistent in her report, that Ald. J. J. Dyer, who with Mayor Stevenson and Squire Macklin, endeavored to hold down the job of police magistrate when Magistrate Judd was appointed judge, will be an applicant.

The story said that Mayor Stevenson and Ald. Dyer would vote for the appointment of the latter when the time came to select the chief. The mayor denied this.

WHAT ALD. DYER SAYS ABOUT IT.

"We hear that you're going to be the next chief of police, Ald. Dyer? How about it?" asked a reporter of the alderman this afternoon.

"Well, I may be big enough for the job. I haven't found out the measurements yet," replied Ald. Dyer. "I guess I can go six foot two."

"How about the mustache?" inquired the reporter.

"Well, I can grow one and dye it white," came back the alderman. "To tell you the truth, I haven't thought of the matter much as yet. You see, I couldn't take the job very will, being connected with the council as I am, and then again I'm looking for something bigger.

WOULD HE EARN THE SALARY?

"The chief should have been superannuated long ago. He is getting $2,800, which is more than they pay in Hamilton. I believe every man should earn his money, and I don't think that the chief has been earning his."

However the fact remains that the alderman would not state that he would not apply for the position.

It is a well known fact that the alderman was hot-foot after the position of police magistrate, and after losing out there, it is anticipated that he will go gunning for the position of chief of police, although his acquirement of the judicial frame of mind and his experience with local crime have been secured from the magistrate's bench in a few short months.

POLICE COMMISSION HAS POWER.

The appointment lies in the hands of the police commission and the members can do as they like. At the present time that body is composed of Judge Macbeth, Mayor Stevenson and Ald. Dyer, who was appointed by the city council. Deputy Magistrate Graydon, who by reason of his position should be on the commission, has been left out in the cold by the cuncil, while Ald. Dyer, who never studied law in his life, is allowed to sit on the board.

TWO COULD MAKE APPOINTMENT.

As the majority rules, Ald. Dyer and the mayor could appoint the former to the position no matter how strenuously Judge Macbeth objected, and as before mentioned Dame Rumor has it that this will be done.

This would be regarded by citizens as the rawest sort of deal by men on the force in line for the position and citizens in general. However, nothing will be done in the matter till the fall.

Apparently the question had been discussed by Ald. Dyer and the mayor, for the latter made a heated denial today that the alderman would apply for the position.

MAYOR SEEMS TO KNOW ALL ABOUT IT.

"I tell you that Ald. Dyer is not considering the matter at all," was the way the mayor almost shouted the tidings over the phone. Notwithstanding the mayor's denial it is thought by those in close touch with the situation that Ald. Dyer will not let the position be filled without making a try for it.

A number of policemen when asked how they would like to have Ald. Dyer as a chief, smiled broadly, and although they would not make a straight statement intimated that if such an appointment was made it would be about time for them to hand in their clothes.

HOLLAND AND GERMANY REACH AN AGREEMENT OVER TORPEDOED SHIPS

London, June 27.—An Amsterdam dispatch says several Dutch newspapers approve the agreement between the Dutch and German governments with regard to the seven Dutch merchantmen which were torpedoed off the English coast last February. Holland is to pay Germany a sum equal to the total amount paid for insurance on the merchantmen, while Germany undertakes to replace the lost vessels by the cession of a number of German ships now in the Dutch East Indies. The Telegraaf describes the agreement as a pleasant surprise, and the finest success for Dutch diplomacy since the beginning of the war.

The Handelsbladt admits that the Entente has a right to oppose the agreement, as during the war enemy ships may not be transferred to a neutral nation. If the Allies, says the paper, wish to be unpleasant they will argue that the transfer of insurance money resembles a purchase. The Handelsbladt, however, has reason to believe that the Entente powers will not oppose the deal.

TO FREVENT A REVOLT SPAIN SUSPENDED THE NATION'S GUARANTEES

Madrid, June 27.—Premier Dato said today the Government believed its measures had been well received by the public. (The cabinet decided on Monday on the suspension of constitutional guarantees).

"The ministers had intended to govern as if in normal times," said the premier, "but in as much as, notwithstanding their hopes, the alarm has been sounded everywhere by suspicious elements and as special correspondents of foreign newspapers had come to Spain in the expectation of a revolution, the ministers thought it right to take extreme measures to preserve order.

"Our foreign policy, too, made these measures necessary, in view of the exaggerated comments of our newspapers on the international situation which might well lead to difficulties with other countries and endanger the policy of Spanish neutrality which we do not intend to abandon. All Spaniards must support the Government, as its political opponents already are doing."

The premier asserted absolute calm reigned throughout the country.

GERMANS RETIRING AS THE BRITISH INCREASE SQUEEZE AROUND LENS

Inclosing Movement Pushes Enemy Back To Switch System—Many Prisoners

BY WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS.

With the British Armies in the Field, June 27.—German defenders of Lens retreated today into Avion, behind the so-called "Avion-Mericourt switch line," established in the ruins of the Lens suburbs, as the British continued their inclosing movement.

In Close Touch.

Here behind railway embankments, and slag heaps, the Germans have established machine gun fortresses. British patrols are keeping closely in touch with the retreating enemy in all this section south of the city.

Many Prisoners.

West of Lens the difficulties in the way of the attacking British forces are tremendous, but prisoners pouring back in a steady stream today declared the German deefnders were sorely pressed, and fear the worst. The British now hold all high ground in the entire Lens salient.

LA CROIX ARTICLE WANTS THE CONFEDERATION SMASHED; BORDEN WAR POLICY ATTACKED

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, June 27.—La Croix, regarded as the organ of the Catholic Archdiocese of Montreal, comes out stronger than ever in this week's issue for the smashing of Confederation. Last week is had an article along similar lines. The one this week is entitled, "Let Us Kill the Octopus of Confederation."

"Although the details of the conscription bill," says La Croix, "were not known, no one ignored the brutal principal at its base, which an English majority wishes to introduce in our laws in order to be able to send French-Canadians to the European butchery, and to any other butchery which may happen in the future. They would rather see us buried in some battlefield than working peacefully in Canada developing the country and aiding the civilizing efforts of the church.

Attacks Borden.

"Protestations against this measure are coming from every quarter, but Sir Robert Borden, who received the word of command from London and from the Grand Lodge of England, of which he is a member, and whose reunions he must have attended during his last trip to Europe, will not listen to the language of reason and good sense.

"Assured of the support of his partisans he stops at nothing. The blood of Canadians and the future of Canada count for nothing. He promised to sent 100,000 men more to butchery, and if they want them more will be sent Useless then to go to France to fight the Prussians when there is enough of the Borden and Foster kind here, but thank God our arms are not of this nature."

MASSACRE OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IS NOT THE WAY OF BRITISH

Lord Derby Refuses To Adopt Germany's Brutal Methods.

ALL BOMBING MILITARY

Everything Possible Is Being Done To Prevent the Air Raids.

London, June 26—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—In the House of Lords today, Lord Derby, dealing with the question of reprisals for German air raids, emphasized the fact that our aircraft were daily bombing positions in the enemy's rear. He declared, on the authority of the head of our aircraft service in France, that he would be well within the mark if he said that for every bomb the Germans dropped behind our lines we dropped a hundred behind the German lines. All that bombing was done with a military object, but the idea of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, of massacring women and children, was absolutely repulsive to the British nation.

Will Not imitate Huns.

Lord Derby thought the whole country would associate itself with the suggestion that we should not try to imitate the German brutality. He emphasized also that all reprisals must have definite military objectives, such as the blowing up of bridges and munition works. The military authorities must be allowed to use aeroplanes in whatever way they thought fit in order to bring the war to a successful conclusion. He did not want to see the war waged with kid gloves. We must hit back; but the military authorities should be left to decide where and when we should hit back.

Continuing, the minister of war said that the Government had given the military authorities an absolutely free nand in the use of their aircraft in order to secure the best military results. Everything possible was being done at present to secure the defence of the country by the means of anti-aircraft. There was the closest possible co-operation with the army.

Dealing with the question of giving warning of air raids, Lord Derby stated that the naval and military authorities today were unanimously agreed that giving warning might do more harm than good.

ONLY SIX ARE SAVED FROM NORSE STEAMER SUNK BY SUBMARINE

London, June 27.—A Central News dispatch from Copenhagen says the Norwegian steamship Kong Haakon has been sunk by a German submarine and that only six of the crew were saved. (There are two Norwegian ships Kong Haakon of 2,231 and 874 tons, gross). The Norwegian steamship Maggie, 1,118 tons, gross), has been sunk in the Atlantic. The crew was saved.

London June 72.—The American sailing ship Galina, 391 tons, was sunk by a bomb on June 25. There were no casualties.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS IGNORING BOMB PLOT UNEARTHED BY NORSE

Copenhagen, June 27.—German newspapers generally refrain from bothering their readers with embarrassing details of the German bomb conspiracy at Christiania. They eliminated yesterday from a Norwegian news agency dispatch all reference to German complicity in the plot to sink ships and suppressed entirely today dispatches implicating the German official courier and the German legation.

FORMER LONDON PASTOR DROPS DEAD

LATE REV. A. K. BIRKS.

REV. A. K. BIRKS DIES SUDDENLY AT FALLS

Former London Methodist Pastor Drops Dead.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 27.—Rev. A. K. Birks, pastor of the Morrison Street Methodist Church for the past two years, dropped dead this morning from heart failure while rolling the cinder path at his residence. He was about 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and four sons—Dr. W. H. Birks, Sarnia; Rev. R. T. Birks, missionary in China, and two young lads at home.

Rev. A. K. Birks was well known in this city, having been pastor of the Askin Street Methodist Church until about six years ago. He was previous to that in charge of the Colborne Street Methodist Church. J. F. Maine of the London Life Insurance Company this afternoon received a telephone message from Arthur Birks, son of Rev. Mr. Birks, in which the son informed Mr. Maine that he and his father had been out fixing the roadway to the garage, and that suddenly Mr. Birks turned to speak to his son, and dropped over dead. Death is supposed to have been due to apoplexy.

JURY DISAGREES IN THE WINNIPEG MURDER CASE, AND NEW TRIAL ORDERED

Winnipeg, June 27.—The jury which has been sitting for a whole week hearing evidence in the trial of Oscar Robidoux, charged with the murder of Henri Roch, near St. Claude, last October, failed to agree on a verdict last night, and was discharged by Judge Galt, who ordered that another trial take place. The foreman of the jury stated that they were all agreed that Robidoux committed the murder, but they could not agree as to whether he was insane or not at the time he did the deed.

TINO'S MEN IN MUNICH.

Copenhagen, June 27.—Four members of the suite of Former King Constantine of Greece, including Professor Georgios Streit, formerly foreign minister, arrived at Munich Monday morning. They proceeded at once on the way to their destination which, according to Munich reports, is Copenhagen, but which possibly is Berlin.

CALL TO AMERICANS FOR WORK IN AID OF THE U.S. SAILORS

Meeting Called to Organize Uncle Sam's Folk in London.

THURSDAY AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Men on Fighting Ships Need Helmets, Mufflers, Wristlets Like the British.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

About ten days ago Mr. Prescott W. Robinson of Montreal was in London, and asked me to confer with him relative to the work of the Navy League of the United States, of which Mr. Robinson is the official representative in Canada.

It seems that the men of the American navy require knitted sweaters, helmets, mufflers and wristlets, which are not supplied by the navy department, and, now that the American fleet is active in the North Sea and elsewhere, the requirements have developed very rapidly.

There are, of course, thousands of persons in the United States engaged in making these articles from yarn furnished by the league, and I told Mr. Robinson I thought there were enough people on the other side of the line to take care of all the requirements, and that we in Canada had our time pretty well taken up with the requirements for the Canadian army.

Chance for Americans in Canada.

He stated that it was distinctly understood that the Navy League had no intention to interfere in the slightest degree with any work which is being done over here, but he said there are some Americans living in Canada who had relatives in the American army or navy, or who, for sentimental reasons, would like to do something of this kind, and that this would not in any way interfere with what we are now doing in London.

In Montreal and in Toronto a great many people have come forward with funds and offers of time for this object.

Mr. Robinson could not remain in London, and I agreed to ask you to publish a letter concerning this matter, so that if there are in this vicinity any American citizens who wish to take a hand in this enterprise they may have an opportunity to get together.

If persons interested will meet at the Y.M.C.A. next Thursday afternoon at 5 p.m., any further measure necessary can be arranged for at that time.

WILLIAM R. YENDALL.

London, Ont., June 25, 1917.

GARBAGE DRIVERS GIVEN INCREASE

Impossible To Secure Men at Less Than $2.75 a Day.

The board of works last evening decided to increase the pay of the garbage collectors from $2.65 to $2.75 a day. City Engineer Brazier recommended the increase, as it was impossible to hold good men unless this was done. Earlier in May they were advanced 25 cents a day.

Mr. Brazier recommended certain changes at the incinerator to protect the machinery. One was a concrete floor and another was a screen. This will cost about $850, and the work will be done.

The construction employees of the board of works asked for a half holiday on Saturdays. The matter was referred to City Engineer Brazier.

Mr. Brazier asked for instructions relative to a motion passed by the council at the last session. It said that materials taken from roadways should be placed on other streets, not being paved. Mr. Brazier maintained that a large percentage of the stuff was no good for streets. He was instructed to use his own discretion.

The traffic bylaws will be amended to conform to the Ontario traffic laws. The traffic traveling north and south is now given the right-of-way. The Ontario law says that the vehicle to the left should be given the right-of-way. This will be the rule hereafter.

U. A. Buchner, on behalf of George Fielder, contractor, asked for some money due Mr. Fielder. The matter will be gone into.

SOLDIERS GOING TO ST. THOMAS TODAY

More than one hundred and fifty soldiers of London will, it is expected, visit St. Thomas today on one of the district motor trips being provided by the auto owners of the city for the inmates of the Central Convalescent Hospital. Great preparations have been made in St. Thomas for the reception of the returned heroes. The men will be guests of the city at Pinafore Park in the afternoon, and at luncheon at 5:30. A concert will also be put on in the evening.

The "boys" will leave the convalescent hospital at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and ex-Controller W. W. Gammage will be in charge of the party. An urgent call for volunteer motorists who will provide cars for the occasion has been sent out.

HORSES TRAMPLE GARDENS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I noticed an article under the headline of "Produce More and Consume Less, to Aid the Empire," given in an address by one of the speakers at the band concert in Victoria Park on Sunday evening. I might say as one interested that it is all right to produce all we can. The McClary Welfare Society furnished between 50 and 75 lots, plowed and harrowed them for their men free of charge to help increase the food supply. Now the men are working with a will and endeavoring to produce all they can, but it was very discouraging to have horses and cattle running at large on the nights of the 24th and 25th of June. Three big heavy horses were running at will over these gardens and there were very few that escaped their feet. Now, Mr. Editor, I think that the owner of these horses should do something in the matter; there ought to be some way of getting redress and also putting a stop to this kind of destruction, when we are all endeavoring to increase the food supply.

I remain,

ONE OF THE SEVENTY-FIVE.

SIR ROBERT NOW AND THEN.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

On Tuesday night, August 15, 1911, Sir Robert Borden (then Mr. R. L. Borden), addressed multitudes of the electors of this city in the Grand Opera House. Referring to reciprocity he said, "The Liberal-Conservative party maintained the position that upon so momentous a question the people, and not a parliament elected without mandate, should pass judgment." The parliament at present in session at Ottawa has no mandate from the people for conscription. Is compulsory service a less important issue for Canada than was then at stake? Moreover, the present parliament is not even faintly representative of the people of the Dominion. Our own city is inarticulate on the floor of the House, together with at least nineteen other communities. What has become of the 1911 leader of the Opposition who told us in London that "UPON SO MOMENTOUS A QUESTION THE PEOPLE, AND NOT PARLIAMENT ELECTED WITHOUT MANDATE, SHOULD PASS JUDGMENT"? Was this his "young ambition's ladder" to Prussianism? How will he face the electors of London, having revoked his own democratic principles?

MOTOR CLUB MAKES ORPHANS HAPPY BY TRIP AND PRESENTS

When the weatherman picked Tuesday as the day on which to stage a reproduction of the flood, he did so with the idea that he would "queer" every pleasure excursion scheduled for that date. That he made a mistake is shown by the fact that orphans from the three homes in the city, through the generosity of the London Motor Club, enjoyed one of the best outings of their lives.

More than thirty cars were loaned by the members to take the children, who numbered nearly two hundred, for a delightful trip through the city streets and parks. The party from Mount Hope numbered 110, and was in charge of Arthur H. Keene; that from the Protestant Orphans' Home was in charge of Fred Ross, and that from the Thomas Alway Hall Home, numbering 37, was in charge of Percy Young.

The sudden downpour of rain shortly after the various detachments had got under way made it necessary to curtail the trips somewhat, but ample reparation for this was made when the children had reached the homes once more.

Boxes of candy, the gifts of the motor club members, were distributed, and ice cream also played a large part in this latter part of the program.

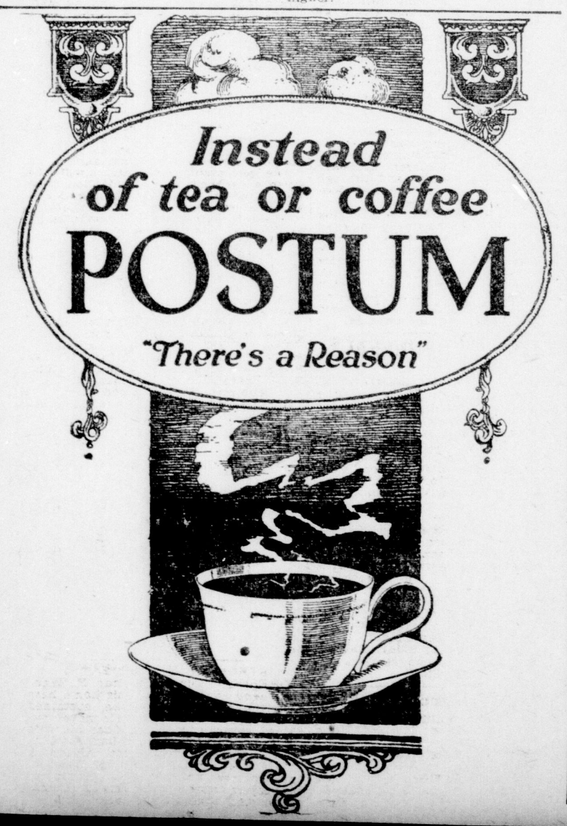

Hearty thanks to the motorists for their generosity was extended by the institution at Mount Hope, the Protestant Orhpans' Home and the Thomas Alway Hall Home.

HIGHEST PRICE FOR WOOL SINCE 1872 IS PAID ON LONDON'S MARKET

The price of wool on the local market today reached the highest level since 1872. The unwashed product sold today for 48c to 50c a pound, and the washed for 60c to 62c. In 1872, a few years after the close of the American civil war, washed wool brought 63½c a pound on the local market.

Only general reasons are given for the increase, such as the scarcity of the product, and the increased demand to clothe the armies of the world. Prices were at a moderate level all winter, but commenced to rise with the arrival of spring advancing two and three cents each week until they touched the present level.

High-water mark has been reached, according to local buyers, and although prices may remain at the present level for some time, they are not likely to go higher.

"TWO MEN AND A WOMAN."

James Morrison, a former Vitagraph star, and Ruybe De Remer, seen in "The Whip," were chosen because of their superb acting in Ivan Abramson's dramatic story, "Enlighten Thy Daughter." Christine Mayo has been in a number of tremendous subjects, while Helen Arnold was selected because of her work in "The Witching Hour," and with Ethel Barrymore in "Egypt," and Guy Coombs, whom everybody knows as a stellar personality of the screen for the past five years.

"Two Men and a Woman" comes from the Ivan studios, stamped as one of those unusual creations, often talked of in advance of its release, but seldom realized. It carries the indorsement of Ivan Abramson himself, which alone suffices to recommend the picture to lovers of the absorbing in dramatic film plays.

The story is in five acts and three hundred scenes.

At the Patricia next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"THE LAD AND THE LION."

A noteworthy cast appears in "The Lad and the Lion," the Selig Red Seal play in E. E. S. E. Reviewers assert that the drama is one of the most realistic and original dramas ever presented. Edgar Rice Burroughs wrote the story, which teems with love and adventure, both afloat and ashore. Vivian Reed, known as "the-girl-with-the-million-dollar-smile," enacts the leading feminine role, that of Nakhla, the princess. In her support is Charles LeMoyne, a noted actor, as was his father before him; Cecil Holland, an English actor; Will Machin, who has appeared in many productions, both on the screen and the stage; Al E. Filson, formerly of the famous vaudeville team of Filson and Errol, and who appeared in George M. Cohan's first vaudeville sketch. "The Lad and the Lion" will be presented at the Patricia Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, matinee and night.

TODAY AND THURSDAY, WILLIAM S. HART AT THE MAJESTIC IN "THE DESERT MAN."

"The Desert Man" is, of course, William S. Hart. It could suggest no one else. The big westerner gives another of his vigorous characterizations in a Triangle-Ince play bristling with action and set in wide vistas of picturesque desert country. Margery Wilson, who appeared with him in "The Gunfighter," is again an influence in directing his course. The story concerns a man of will, who comes to the little town of Broken Hope, so called because of its desolate, dilapidated condition and the hopelessness of its inhabitants. He takes charge of its affairs, drives out the town bully, Razor Joe, and rechristens the place Believinville, denoting a new era in its life.

NEW BUGLE BAND OF SPECIAL SERVICE UNIT FULL OF ENTHUSIASM

Will Be in London Permanently and Is Fifteen Strong Now.

If enthusiasm is one of the essentials of success, the new Bugle Band of No. 1 Special Service Company should, in the near future, take its place among the best bugle bands in this country. The band was organized hurriedly on Wednesday last, but under the instruction of Sergt. A. W. Nanfan, of the camp staff, it was rapidly whipped into shape so that it could accompany the members of cycle corps, who were leaving that day, to the station.

On Friday evening the band was summoned out to accompany the members of the draft of the Canadian Engineers, which was leaving for Ottawa, to the station, and on Monday the members of the band took part in a parade through the main streets of the city. The showing that the members of the new organization have made on these two occasions is sufficient evidence that good progress has already been made, and that much may be looked for from the band in the near future.

Here Permanently.

The Special Service band will be stationed here permanently and will not, like other military bands, be taken away, since the unit to which the band belongs is not one that will be sent overseas. The members of the band are men who have been members of the various overseas units that have been recruited in this district, but who through accidents, or for other reasons, have been prevented from going overseas because of physical unfitness. At present the strength of the band is fifteen men, but it is hoped to raise the strength up to thirty in the near future.

A Fine Record.

While Sergt. Nanfan is temporarily in charge of the band for instructional purposes, the new organization is under the command of Corp. William W. Richards as regards discipline and orders. Corp. Richards plays the cornet and the bugle, and was for three years in charge of the bugle band of the 28th Perth Regiment. He enlisted in the 161st Huron Battalion, but being turned down by the medical board, became a member of the Special Service Company. He is well known for his work with the bugle, and has been called upon to play the "Last Post" at most of the military funerals and memorial services held in this and other nearby cities.

DISTRICT ORANGEMEN TO COME HERE JULY 12

At a meeting of Nassau Orange Lodge on Tuesday evening, a resolution favoring the proposal of Premier Borden for conscription providing he conscripts wealth and resources as well as men was carried. Plans are being made for a monster celebration at Springbank on July 12. All the lodges in the district will be invited to come to London and it is expected that thousands of visitors will be here for the big program of sports. All the bands of the district are expected. The Orangemen of the city will parade next Sunday afternoon to Wellington Street Methodist Church, where a special service will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Ashton. Nassau Lodge at the present time has over 100 of its members on active service.

CONSERVATORY PUPILS RECEIVED DIPLOMAS BEFORE BIG CROWD

Artistic Musical Numbers Are Feature of Fine Program.

VALUE OF LOFTY PURPOSE

Rev. Dr. Silcox Urges All Young People to Develop Ambition.

The Lyric Theatre was filled to its capacity last evening for a charming and artistic event, the annual graduation exercises of the London Conservatory of Music. Adorned with gracefully grouped palms, among which a great cluster of gold and purple iris and bright green foliage, the conservatory colors, was conspicuous, the stage presented a most attractive setting for the fair girl graduates who one by one came out to contribute a part. The colors were also draped in the background, caught in the centre with the conservatory shield, while bands of gold, green and purple lent distinction to the programs.

A Memorable Night.

Apart from all other considerations, graduation night will surely be memorable to the girls who received their diplomas last evening for the flowers with which they were showered, baskets full and bouquets of every shape, size and variety and color, till the arms of the two flower fairies, Peggy Willgoose and Marion Tanton, must have ached with the loads which they carried and passed up to the stage.

At the close the "sweet girl graduates," addressed by Rev. Dr. Silcox, looked like a veritable "garden of girls."

Those Taking Part.

The graduates who delighted by their piano numbers and readings were Miss Verna Dobbyn, the talented young pupil of Thomas Martin, and winner of the Heintzman scholarship; Miss Alice Andrewes, city and Miss Olive Shaddock, Ilderton, pupils of Miss Rennie, and Misses Jane C. B. Metcalfe, scholarship holder, and Ethel M. Reynolds, and Miss Edna P. Lancaster, graduates in elocution, under the tuition of Miss G. Newbury.

Miss Dobbyn was heard twice, in a graceful rendition of "Spring Night" by Schumann-Liszt, and the second and third movements of Mendelssohn's concerto in G minor, played with a fine mastery of technical difficulties, excellent rhythm and assurance. Mr. Martin playing the orchestral part on second piano. Miss Shaddock opened the program by playing brilliantly the Weber "Concertstucke, Op. 79," her teacher, Miss Rennie, giving fine support on second piano.

Miss Alice Andrewes also reflected much credit upon Miss Rennie in her interpretation of a Brahms Rhapsodie, played with fire and color. Miss Metcalfe, who has recently distinguished herself in her elocution examination, was heard in "Godiva," by Tennyson, which was given with excellence of enunciation and good narrative style.

Artistic Work.

Miss Edna P. Lancaster, who has a pleasing personality, and voice, revealed much dramatic and artistic feeling in her presentation of "Within the Law" by Bayard Veiller. It remained for Miss Reynolds to give the touch of comedy, and this she did deliciously in her kindergarten tot number, written by Fred Emmerson Brooks.

A veritable gem, polished, brilliant, aglow with inspiration was the concluding number of the program, the address of Rev. Dr. Silcox, described by Principal F. Linforth Willgoose in moving a vote of thanks, as one of the most inspirational ever addressed to a London Conservatory graduating class.

Speaking especially to the graduating class, Dr. Silcox chose as his subject, "The Value of a Lofty Purpose," calling upon his vast store of knowledge of science, literature, poetry, sculpture and painting for felicitous illustrations.

Personality Counts.

"Personality," he said, "is the great fact in life. Personality is back of all accomplishment. Important as it is to have a good instrument, the pianist and not the piano determines the quality of the music.

My first appeal to you is to make it the aim of your life to develop your personality to the highest reach of excellence. Have a great faith in your own possibilities, and attempt high tasks. Be like Antonn Stradivari, who knew that God made musicians, but that musicians must have violins, and if Stradivari slackened, he would rob God.

Describing the famous Raphael picture of St. Cecelia, who discovered the organ, "the woman with the upward look," the speaker pleaded for this "upward look" on the part of his young listeners. "We needs must love the highest when we see it," he quoted, adding, "but we must see it."

"To begin life without a lofty purpose," he said, "is to doom oneself at the beginning. It is the lofty purpose that makes of iron an engine; that organizes and harnesses the lightning. Shun the levels of mediocrity. The little boy hitches his wagon to an automobile. You must hitch your wagon to a star. My quarrel with young men and young women is that they are content to grovel when they might soar. Have no doubt about the possibilities that are in you. You are more likely to aim too low than too high, to be content riding in a wheelbarrow when you might be riding in your automobile, to be a sputtering tallow candle when you might be a glowing electric light.

Urges Ambition.

Young men and young women are warned against ambition. They are told to be humble, when they ought to be heroic. Ambition thrown away made fallen angels. People warn about the danger of soaring too close to the sun. Better have your wings scorched by the sun than besmirched in the mire. Better to fail in a high aim than vulgarly to succeed. Better to fail in striving to achieve Beethoven than to succeed in ragtime. Endeavor, not success, is all-important. We needs must love the highest when we see it, but to see it, we must have the "upward look."

Diplomas were presented to the following graduates, post-graduates and those completing the teachers' normal course:

Piano—Post-Graduate (L. L. C. M.)—Marguerite Mann, Dutton. Graduate (F. L. C. M.)—Verna Dobbyn, London, winner of Heintzman & Co. scholarship; Lenore Coughlin, London; Alice Andrewes, London; Olive Shaddock, Ilderton; Mildred Granger, London.

Elocution—Graduate (F. L. S. E.)—Jane C. B. Metcalfe, London, winner of $40 scholarship; Ethel M. Reynolds, London; Edna P. Lancaster, London.

Teachers' Normal Course (A. T. L. C. M.)—Piano—Minnie Amos, Alisa Craig; Lewella Smith, Lambeth; Hilda Hooke, London. Violin—Ivy Pray, Dresden.

STANDARD RAISED FOR RECRUITS IN CANADIAN ENGINEERS

Engineer recruits for overseas service from now on will have to be of the very highest type. Physical qualifications and prior civil occupations will be the basis of the selection. The new orders from Ottawa, affecting engineer recruiting, make a stiffer physical examination imperative. At the same time they raise the standard of other qualifications. Only those men who by their civil occupations are considered exceptionally well qualified for engineering work at the front will be taken on for the time being at least.

Major R. W. Bishop, senior engineer officer of the district, declares that the orders mean a hand-picked selection of men in future. "We will be able to take only those men who can pass a rigid physical test and who are qualified tradesmen or men whose work in civilian life has fitted them to carry on the work which is required of engineers to the very best advantage. We are not stopping recruiting, but we can only take the very best of the men who will offer themselves for this interesting branch of the service," says Major Bishop.

In the past the local engineer drafts have been of exceptional calibre, but even the high average attained here will have to be raised in the future. The engineer reinforcements have been brought to completion for present demands, and it is this fact which has raised the enlistment standards so materially. With the ranks filled, only exceptionally good men will be taken on, and the engineer recruit who will be accepted from now on will be of the highest possible order.

ST. MARY'S GARDEN PARTY BEST YET IN ATTENDANCE AND RECEIPTS OF BOOTHS

Large crowds were the feature of the garden party held on the grounds of St. Mary's Church Tuesday evening, and in spite of the unfavorable weather that prevailed in the afternoon, the results of the sale of goods at the various booths, though still incomplete, showed that this year's lawn social eclipsed those of former years both in the number of people present, and the amount realized.

"The country store," the candy booth, the ice cream marquee, and the booth where the soft drinks were dispensed, were all favorites with the crowd, while the booths where the various games were played were besieged with their devotees throughout the evening. The Canadian and British flags, and those of the Allies were prominent among the decorations, which were added materially by a generous use of electric lights. The Marconi Club Band furnished excellent music throughout the evening.

Much interest was displayed in the various articles that were being raffled off, and so large was the demand for tickets that the winners could not be determined until quite late in the evening. The committee are deeply indebted to those who donated the articles, of which the following is a list, together with the names of the donors, and the names of the winners:

CITY DIDN'T HAVE MONKEY WRENCH AT INCINERATOR

Nor a Hammer, Nor a Cold Chisel, According to the Night Engineer.

AND NOT EVEN A BROOM

Fine State of Affairs Revealed by Man Who Says He Wants Fair Deal.

The city spent $50,000 and more for an incinerator, and taxation each year costs a great sum to maintain it—AND THEN—

The city didn't have even a monkey-wrench to tighten up a leaking valve—

The city didn't have a broom with which to sweep out the place—

The city didn't have a cold chisel—

And the city didn't have a hammer.

That is, the city didn't have a hammer at the incinerator until the investigating committee started to look things over. Then the hammer descended, and it may be that the overtaxed citizens of London will get a run for their money—AS LONG AS THEY KEEP THEIR EYES OPEN.

Need Both Eyes Open.

Both eyes, at that. Civic shiftlessness, as shown up in the white light of publicity at the incinerator, may be found in other departments. HOW MUCH ARE PEOPLE GETTING FOR THEIR MONEY?

Isn't it time that someone started to look all departments over? Does the carelessness that falls upon one department fail to reach all the others?

Night Engineer's Story.

J. C. Greason, formerly night engineer at the incinerator, who has been relieved of his duties for the present at least, stated to The Advertiser that he has been done an injustice, and that he was the first to bring to attention the "rotten state of affairs" prevailing at the Ottaway avenue plant. He has applied for the position of chief engineer.

"I have been night engineer down there for about three and a half years," he said. "My duties were to handle the job from 7 o'clock to early morning, and I tell you that the place was in bad shape when I went there. I had practically no help, and wheeled and fired from three to five tons of coal every night. That was enough for one man to do. I never had a fireman, as I should have had.

Working in the Dark.

"What could a man do? The place was dirty and run down, and I was kept going every minute to keep my fires up. The day force was supposed to clean up, but they did not even have a broom for a long time, and there was not a monkey-wrench or a cold chisel or a hammer. When an electric light bulb burned out a man had to wait for weeks and work in the dark until it was put in.

"Finally I brought the facts to the attention of a man connected with the council, and the investigation was started. It has been an injustice to me to suspend me, even temporarily, as I have done the city a service in bringing matters to public attention. I have applied for the appointment of chief engineer and would guarantee to put the plant in good shape."

FOSTER'S FARM IS NOW MENTIONED AS SITE FOR HOSPITAL

Location of Latest Water Supply May Be Bought.

REGARDED AS FINE SPOT

Odell Farm Is Said To Be Beck's Choice for Military Building.

Two sites are now favored for the military hospital. The engineer, who was to look over them and report as to the possibility of draining, has not yet arrived in the city, but will be here shortly.

The Odell farm on the London and Port Stanley Railway, between the Base Line and the Commissioner's road is one site. It contains 47½ acres. Sir Adam Beck has been pulling for this location, and it may be selected. The other much favored location is at London View, the Foster farm. There is plenty of natural drainage, and its location is much better than the other. It is on this farm that the Foster wells are situated, an effort to purchase which has been going on for some time.

Some of the sites mentioned some time ago are not looked on with much favor now, as there is not enough land for the purpose of the commission.

A decision will be arrived at this week.

JUNE WEDDINGS

MAPLETOFT—HUTCHINSON.

A pretty wedding took place at the Wellington Street Methodist parsonage on Wednesday afternoon, when David E. Mapletoft and Ethel Hutchinson were united in marriage by Rev. W. J. Ashton, B.D. The young couple were assisted by Ewart and Janet Mapletoft, brother and sister of the groom. They will reside in London.

LOCAL NEWS

NET RECEIPTS $30.—Three ten-dollar drunks and a couple of juvenile cases occupied the attention of Magistrate Graydon at the police court today for a few minutes only.

KHAKI DANCE TONIGHT.—A committee of the Overseas Chapter of the I. O. D. E. will hold a khaki dance at the Springbank pavilion tonight. The Cortese orchestra will attend.

REPAIRS TO FAIR BUILDINGS.—The Western Fair Association was given a permit today by Building Inspector Piper for repairs to the buildings, amounting to $10,000. This brings the total for the month to $51,000.

PICNIC AT LAKESIDE.—The choir of Wellington Street Methodist Church picnic at Port Stanley this afternoon. The young people and their friends left for the lakeside on the 3:20 London and Port Stanley train.

ACCEPTS U. S. ENGAGEMENTS.—Miss Gladys Comber of this city has been engaged as a piper at La Pier on June 29, and has also been engaged by the United Scotch Society of Chicago to give an exhibition of bagpipe playing at their games on July 4 at Riverview Park.

"JIM" OAKLEY REJOINING FORCE.—Sergt. Jim Oakley, a member of the 12th Field Battery that gained fame and glory on the battlefields of France and who has been recently granted his discharge, will return to his old love, the police force, at the beginning of the month. Oakley was outfitted at the police station today.

WILL ERECT TABLETS.—A series of tablets will be placed in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, to commemorate the former members of the church who have given their lives for the Empire. The first of these will be unveiled on Sunday, and will commemorate Lieut. McLean, son of A. D. McLean, manager of the Bank of Commerce here. Several others are in course of preparation.

CONCERT FOR SOLDIERS.—Much credit is due to Mr. Spettigue for the arrangement of an enjoyable concert given recently to the boys camping at Carling Heights in the new military Y. M. C. A. Delightful solos were rendered by Miss Annie Clark, Miss Edna Weston and Miss Deaina Scott, and readings by Miss McKenzie and Miss Woods were greatly appreciated by the boys, who manifested their approval by vociferous applause. Miss Brennan rendered some violin selections, her accompanists being Miss Jessie Clark and Miss Brennan.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR FALL. — A start was made this morning at the court house in the county court action being brought by F. A. Humpidge of this city against the city of London for $500 damages, as a result of a fall on an icy pavement on Fullarton street, March 3, 1913. Several witnesses were heard by Judge Judd, and the case adjourned till July 6. T. G. Meredith, K. C., appeared for the city; J. M. McEvoy for the plaintiff, and J. B. McKillop, K. C., for the owner of the property, William Morrison.

WALKS AGAINST MOTOR CAR.—A young woman was slightly injured Monday evening, a few minutes before 6 o'clock, at Clarence and Dundas streets, when she walked against an automobile, and as a result of the blow was thrown to the pavement. She apparently did not see the motor car, which was going east, and as she crossed Dundas street from the south, she ran into the side of the car. She was taken into the Cairncross & Lawrence drug store, where a slight cut on her head was dressed, and she was then able to proceed to her home in a taxicab.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Hooper, who died on Thursday, June 21, wish to express their sincere thanks to the many friends, especially the Daughters of England, and the nurses of Victoria Hospital, for their very kind thought, and the manner their mother was looked after during her illness; also in their recent sad bereavement, and for the many beautiful floral designs which were sent.

GIVE ME MY WEINER!

AN AWFUL ODE ON THE HIGH COST OF LIVING BY A MAD ADVERTISER MAN.

I.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
A roll of sausages 'round his neck,
"Father! Father! Father!" he cried,
"The sausages are nearly fried."

II.

"Good work," his father softly said,
"The big sausage will now be dead,
I pity much the poor dead brute,
But weiners are my favorite fruit."

III.

"A fool there was," the boy replied,
"Who for the sake of bumptious pride,
Refused to eat a weiner fried
Or boiled or canned or ossified.
They say I'm not a patriot
To eat a sausage while it's hot,
Because it's made in Germany.
But still it doesn't hurt my pride,
And as long as the thing survives
The waste of war and suicide,
At every feast I'll eat the beast
Without much ceremony."

IV.

At this speech the old man's fancy fondly turned to thoughts of old,
When he got liver for nothing. When a weiner was not sold,
When eggs were thrown at him if he ever rose to spout,
These thoughts unhinged the old man's mind and he began to shout:

V.

"Half a mill! Half a cent! Half a buck higher!
The high cost of everything rouses my ire.
Foods once beneath contempt
Into the sky are sent,
Nothing has been exempt.
Menus are leaner."

VI.

"Peanuts and macaroni
Cost more than alimony.
Give me my old bologna,
Give me my weiner."

REV. R. W. NORWOOD LEAVES TODAY TO CONSIDER $10,000 CALL FROM LARGE CHURCH IN PHILADELPHIA

Deputation Which Came To Hear the Brilliant and Original Young Rector Found His Church Crowded To Overflowing and Could Not Get In.

There is a strong probability that Rev. R. W. Norwood, rector of the Cronyn Memorial Church, will accept a unanimous call which he has received to St. Paul's Church, Overlook, Philadelphia. The pastorate involves a salary of $10,000 a year, it is stated.

For several months it has been known that Philadelphia has had a covetous eye on the brilliant poet-preacher, and that an invitation in definite form would come to him sooner or later.

It is understood that the vestry of the Philadelphia church is backed up by Bishop Whittaker of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, and that he has had some correspondence on the matter with Bishop Williams.

Leave This Afternoon.

Yesterday, Mr. Norwood received a telephone message from Philadelphia, urging his acceptance and asking him and Mrs. Norwood to go over at the expense of St. Paul's Church and consider the situation. They are leaving this afternoon at 4:25 o'clock.

Overlook is an attractive suburb of "The City of Brotherly Love," and bears to it the same relation which Westmount does to Montreal.

The call is an attractive one, owing to the larger opportunities it offers for service, and this consideration will no doubt bear much weight in determining Mr. Norwood's decision. In any case, he will remain in London until September.

Wins Big Following.

Rev. Robert W. Norwood came to London from Montreal five years ago, and in that time, his brilliancy and originality of his preaching and fearlessness of utterance have won for him a large following in the city. To such proportions has his evening congregation grown that there is not room within the walls of the Memorial Church to hold all who desire to attend.

Several weeks ago, a deputation came unheralded and incog from St. Paul's Church for the purpose of hearing Mr. Norwood at one of his regular services, with the idea that this would be a better test than a special occasion, such as one of the Lenten services which he addressed this spring in Philadelphia.

Couldn't Get Inside.

The deputation on Sunday evening proceeded decorously to the Cronyn Memorial Church to be there in decent, respectable time for the opening of the service at 7 o'clock. It was then that the representatives from the American city had one of the big surprises of their life, and also their opinion confirmed that Mr. Norwood was the very man they wanted. Church was so crowded they couldn't find space inside in which to hear the popular preacher in his own home pulpit.

Apart from his pulpit and platform success during the years he has been in London, Mr. Norwood has won wide recognition as a poet as a result of several works which he has published, including the drama woven around biblical characters, in his "The Witch of Endor."

LIEUT. JACK HARVEY IS NOW REPORTED A PRISONER OF WAR

Grandson of Dr. T. V. Hutchinson, Reported Missing, Is Alive in Germany.

Miss Dorothy Harvey, grand-daughter of Dr. T. V. Hutchinson, formerly of London, now of Toronto, whose brother, Lieut. Jack Harvey, was reported missing, has received a cablegram from the war office, England, stating that the young officer is now a prisoner in Hamburg, Germany.

Lieut. Harvey was formerly attached to the 142nd (London's Own) Battalion, and when that unit failed to attain the regular battalion strength, he was sent with a special draft of officers to England, where he was transferred to the Royal Flying Corps. He had not been in France more than a month when he was reported missing, which in the flying corps means either instantaneous death or being taken a prisoner.

It is very probable that his machine either failed to work properly when he was in the air, forcing him to land, or that his engine was hit while sailing over the enemy lines.

The cablegram was a source of relief to the many friends of the young officer.

WANTS CITY TO BUILD VOCATIONAL SCHOOL FOR MEN AT BYRON

Sir Adam Beck will ask the city to establish a vocational training school at the Byron Sanatorium.

The contention is that there will be 150 men there who will have to be cared for vocationally, and he will ask the city to build the necessary school, and provide the teaching equipment.

The matter will come up for discussion later.

CUT HOTEL TAXES IN HALF TO SAVE THEM FROM RUIN

Board of Trade and Temperance Folk Behind the Movement.

The board of trade and representatives from the temperance societies and other organizations, will meet No. 1 committee of the city council to assist the local hotelmen in getting some relief from the burdens of taxation.

The board of trade will urge a reduction in taxes this year of 50 per cent, together with a reduction in assessment for next year. The delegates will also support the request of the temperance organizations, asking that the hotels be given the sole right to sell beers, ales, etc.

It is probable that the committee will recommend this to the council. If this cannot be done legally, a prohibitive tax for selling the goods will be recommended.

FIVE CHILDREN BAPTIZED AT TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. J. MORAN

The tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Moran, 921 Maitland street, was celebrated last evening. An interesting feature of the evening was the baptism of five children, Jack and Willie, sons of J. D. Moran; Mary and Robert, children of Charles B. Moran, and James, son of John H. Moran. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Mackay of New St. James' Church.

The evening was spent in music, after which a dainty lunch was served. A large number of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Moran dropped in to offer congratulations.

HORSE AND WAGON FELL INTO INCINERATOR

While depositing a load of garbage at the incinerator yesterday one of the wagons got too close to the edge of the platform with the result that wagon and horse shot down into the big receptacle that holds the garbage before it is consumed. The animal was there for some time, and a large crowd gathered to watch the efforts to free it. Complaints were made to The Advertiser that the horse was badly used during these efforts. City Engineer Brazier said that nothing regarding cruelty to the animal had been reported to him, but he will investigate.

SOLDIER TELLS OF LONG, LONG TRAIL OVER THE SAHARA

Londoner's Brother Describes March To Khanyummus.

WHERE TURKS BEATEN

Camels and Men Labor Over Burning Wastes of Sand To Objective.

J. Gammell of Robinson, Little & Co. has received a most interesting letter from his brother, Pte. Donald Leitch, M. A., of Glasgow, who is in Egypt with the British forces. He describes the march across the desert from Sheik's Zowaid, through Rafah to Khanyunnies. This is one of a series of marches across the Sahara, and will be repeated several times.

Start of the Journey.

When the morning bugle is sounded, the men gather their bundles, and the camels are loaded for the journey. The route is given by the officers, and off they swing across the loose sand. The sun is over the horizon, large, red and fiery, as if he is preparing his furnaces for the white heat of the mid-day. The bagpipes give the swing to the strides of the men, and sets their minds to the hills of the homeland. With shirts open at the neck, and sleeves rolled up, off they go. There is a clay belt between them and the sea, and on the other side stretches the almost illimitless Sahara.

Making Conquest Sure.

Other columns join at Sheik's Zowaid, where wells give horses and camels drink for the weary day. Parties of Bedouin come to the wells, to secure water. The toot of an engine calls attention to the fact that the British railway construction gangs are following behind the army, and making the conquest sure. The camels keep pace with the troopers for the first part of the journey, but later the men swinging free out-distance these ships of the desert.

This Is a Grim Land.

As the march proceeds, the men become more silent. The sun is getting in its work. Sweat comes very easily, nipping the eyes, and the pack presses heavily on the shoulder. This is a grim land. From every burning sand dune the spectre of thirst rises gaunt and threatening. His water bottle is full, but he exercises restraint, for he has learned, like Burton, who crosses the desert on his journeys to Mecca, that the first two hours gives the mastery. The temptation to smoke at the short rests is very strong, but it is, and must be, restricted. Fortunate is he who has reserved for this journey a small store of raisins or acid sweets from his Xmas parcel.

Lost Count of Days.

"Kinglake in Eothen describes in a brief chapter his camel ride by this route from Palestine to Egypt," says Mr. Leitch. "Here it was, as he swayed on his camel in a dreamy mood, that he had the sensation of hearing the church bells of his native town as they called the people to worship on each day of rest. He had lost count of the days, as we, too, on the sea of sand often forget the date, but when he had time to reflect he found the hour and date of his experience coincided with the hour of his weekly worship in England.

Traveler and Pioneer.

"His was the hurried flight of a traveler across the sand-swept waste, as if afraid lest its terrors might overtake him. Ours is the measured tread of the pioneer who hour by hour, and day by day, meets the difficulties, grapples with them, overcomes them, and lays the way for the advance of civilization."

The sun is in its mid-day splendor. The dust of the desert chokes the way-worn soldier, he feels giddy, totters and falls out, gasping for cool air and the shelter of a rock in a weary land. The Red Cross men are in attendance. A stretcher is rigged up, providing some shade till the appropriate conveyance comes along. This is only for the worst cases. The others who fall out must press in in their own time in the rear of the column. Some who could fall set their teeth and stick it out, for they would feel ashamed to be left behind as the tide of warriors sweep onward.

Where Foe Made Stand.

In sight of Rafa, the captain draws alongside and points to the men the trenches where the enemy made his last stand on the borders. The trench they stood in has become their grave, and the Britishers realize the courage of their comrades who rushed to the attack up that long glacis slope.

Further marches continue, weary and worn, but the mood of the men is shown in the songs, "Dixie," "There's a Long, Long Trail," and other familiar airs. The sun sets, and then darkness comes. In the distance is Khanyumus, and then a longer rest.

PROBE FIRE RATES AT CITY HEARING

Mr. Justice Masten Will Hear Complaints as to Excessive Charges.

Judge Masten, Toronto, will sit at the courthouse on Thursday at noon to hear complaints about the fire insurance companies, and the Underwriters' Association of Canada.

At the last session of the Legislature, Judge Masten was named head of a commission to conduct the investigation. It is contended that the underwriters are a law unto themselves, there being no tribunal to protect the property owners from excessive rates, from discrimination, and from unfairness. It is further claimed that the underwriters place too heavy burdens on the municipalities in the way of fire apparatus.

The commission will investigate all these charges. City Solicitor Meredith will look after the city's interests, and will present evidence also from the board of trade and other organizations.

It is expected that the session will last one afternoon.

SWISS REJOICING AT DEFEAT OF HOFFMAN, AGENT OF THE KAISER

Geneva, June 27.—The election of Gustave Ador to the federal council was celebrated in French Switzerland, as no other event of the time since the beginning of the war. It is regarded not only as a condemnation of the policy of Dr. Hoffmann, but as a success for the Allies. Buildings everywhere were bedecked with flags, cannon thundered, and cathedral bells were tolled.

PREMIER MARTIN TO COME HOME AND GO FISHING WITH "DAD"

Victor in Saskatchewan To Rest With Parents Here.

NEPHEW OF TORY SPEAKER

Hon. Dr. Jamieson Is Brother of Mrs. (Rev.) W. M. Martin of South London.

A telegram announcing that Hon. William Melville Martin had been elected in the constituency of Regina city yesterday in the Saskatchewan Provincial election, with a majority climbing towards 1,000, was received late last evening by his parents, Rev. W. M. Martin and Mrs. Martin, 25 Ridout street, South London, after they had retired for the night.

Referring to this good news, Mrs. Martin stated today: "It seemed strange that our telephone should be out of order for the first time in months, consequently there was delay in the message reaching us, and we had come to the conclusion we would not know the results of the election until the morning."

Wins a Fine Success.

Since entering public life the young premier has literally swept everything before him. On this occasion, however, owing to the strength of his opponent, also a prominent Regina lawyer, whose popularity is increased by the fact that he has rendered distinguished service overseas, the outcome was not so certain so far as Hon. W. M. Martin himself was concerned. The soldiers' vote and the women's vote were new factors with which to be reckoned. At no time did the premier or his friends feel the least doubt about the way the province would go.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are expecting a visit from this brilliant son in the near future, when he will take a well-earned rest after the strenuous duties of the past year and the strain of the election campaign. His idea of a complete rest is to go fishing, and he is trying to enlist his father for the outing. They will set out from London for their fun.

Nephew of Ontario Speaker.

It is an interesting fact that the Liberal premier of the province of Saskatchewan is the nephew of the Conservative Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, Hon. Dr. D. Jamieson of Durham, brother of his mother.

Hon. Dr. Jamieson and Mrs. Jamieson have been recent visitors in the city spending a couple of weeks in the home of Rev. W. M. Martin and Mrs. Martin.

"How is it that your son is such a prominent Liberal when his mother comes from a Conservative family?" Mrs. Martin was asked today by The Advertiser.

Her reply was: "Indeed I have always been a Liberal and all my family also, with the exception of my brother, Dr. Jamieson, who left home early and went to live in a Conservative community."

OFFICER AND PRIVATE 50 FEET APART WHEN STUNNED BY SHOCK

Considerable damage was done by the storm yesterday at Wolseley Barracks and at the Carling Heights camp. The lightning played havoc with the camp telephone lines, and after striking a telephone pole far out toward the Quebec street end of the camp, ran along the wires and made things lively at many points. It even burned out the fuses, and the wires in the headquarters offices at the barracks. Pte. Botting of No. 1 Special Service Company, who was shocked in the ablution room, fully 50 feet from the orderly room tent, where Lieut. Seeds, who was also struck, was standing, and the only explanation seems to be that the telephone wires carried the charge in all directions. Pte. Botting was in the act of shaving, and was standing on the wet floor of the room. The current evidently passed through the razor and through his left hand and arm, the wet floor making the circuit complete.

Both Lieut. Seeds and Pte. Botting were reported to be getting along well at the A. M. C. Hospital today. Lieut. Seeds, who was only slightly shocked, will be discharged from the hospital this afternoon, but Pte. Botting, whose left side was paralyzed, will likely remain there for some days. He is recovering the use of his hand today, and a rapid recovery is looked for in his case.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

ORVILLE H. LEAK BURIED.

The funeral of Orville H. Leak, who died Saturday, was held on Monday to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. H. S. Dougall, Askin Street Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. J. D. Richardson, Empress Avenue Methodist Church. The pallbearers were G. Upshall, G. Hexter, G. Pyman, W. Wilson, W. Atkinson and W. Wright.

DIES OF SCARLET FEVER.

Scarlet fever caused the death of 6-year-old Monica Osena McDonald at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. McDonald, 510 Grosvernor street, on Tuesday. She had been ill but a short time and the case had been quarantined only on June 22. In addition to her parents the little girl is survived by an elder sister.

The funeral was held today, Rev. H. B. Ashby conducting the services at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

15 PASS EXAMS AS OFFICERS, 8 FAIL IN UNIVERSITY TEST

Those Who Applied Selves Are Given Commissions.

QUALIFY AS LIEUTENANTS

List of Subjects in Which Candidates "Fell Down" Is Announced.

Results of the examinations recently tried by the members of the Western University Canadian Officers' Training Corps, as announced by Capt. Cantin, officer commanding the Royal School of Infantry Instruction, show that fifteen young men out of a class of 23 candidates were successful in obtaining their qualifications as lieutenants.

The members of the board of examiners were well pleased with the showing made by the candidates, and taking into consideration the difficulties under which they took the course, the board found the results quite satisfactory. The chief difficulty was the fact that there was a lack of practice in handling men, and a lack of practical experience in drilling troops, and this was kept in view by the board which examined them.

Faithful Ones Won Out.

"Those who faithfully attended the lectures wrote quite satisfactory papers," said Capt. Cantin to The Advertiser today, "and they were successful in passing. Those who did not attend faithfully were not successful. The results show that there is no use in taking C. O. T. C. course, unless one is going to attend every lecture and drill."

The successful candidates will be given a certificate of qualification from the Canadian Officers' Training Corps, which is practically an equivalent status to that of lieutenant. The unsuccessful candidates' names are not given, but the numbers under which they wrote are given, together with the subjects in which they failed.

The Successful Ones.

The following candidates were successful, and their names appear in the order of merit:

E. H. Anundson, D. Fraser, J. P. Moore, R. C. Clark, H. R. Laurie, R. M. Wilson, W. E. Hogarth, J. Lambie, V. de W. Rowell, H. A. Jackson, W. E. Robinson, W. C. Chater, F. L. Field, G. N. Fraser, L. D. McCampus.

Subjects That Tripped 'Em.

He was a former mayor and police magistrate.

COMPULSION IS TO PUT AN END TO COMPULSION

Dr. Michael Clark Says Lloyd George Is Anti-Conscriptionist.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND LABOR

Col. James Arthurs, Who Saw Vimy Battle, Says Men Want Help.

OTTAWA, June 26. — Conscription today was championed by Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, and A. K. MacLean, Liberals, by Mr. Robideaux, a New Brunswick Acadian, and was opposed by Mr. Turgeon, Acadian Liberal from New Brunswick.

The speech by Dr. Clark was delivered in the best manner of that speaker. He came out flatly for conscription, and, like Mr. MacLean, advocated its immediate application. He expressed regret that his leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had not been able to see his way clear to follow the same course, and to support the passage of the conscription measure, and its application on the country. He held strongly that there was need for men, and that this was the one way now to get them for service.

Call From the Front.

A spectator of Vimy Ridge, Col. James Arthurs, continued the debate on conscription, and said that there were no two opinions at the front concerning conscription. If a vote was taken there not a single man would be against it. The only condition the men at the front demanded was that reinforcements be sent forward with the least possible delay. These men did not care what the premier or the leader of the Opposition or any other man said about conscription in 1914.

"At the beginning of the war many of us believed that we were in it in order to assist Great Britain," said the speaker. "This is no longer the opinion. It is a fight to a finish, and Canada is just as vitally concerned as France or Belgium."

In some parts of Canada it was not possible to get more recruits, he said, and one of the reasons was that the men who could go were refusing until they saw the slackers go also. He said the voluntary system was always unfair, and the unfairness became more marked as time went on. The men around the poolrooms and places of amusement were the men at whom the bill was aimed.

Why Quebec Lags.

He described as childish some of the reasons given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in opposition to conscription. One reason was that some men were disarmed in 1780, and another was that the English-born resident more freely because they had not been so long in Canada. He could not see how a French-Canadians of 18 or 20 could have lived any longer in the country than an English-Canadian of 18 or 20. He remarked that out of 221 recruits got by Col. Blondin and Gen. Lessard only 94 were secured in the province of Quebec. He suggested that the reason for the poor recruiting in that province might be the statements which were freely circulated, such as "It is an Englishman's war," and "Let the Ontario men go—so much the better for us."

The true reason why Quebec had not done its duty was because there had been a political campaign against enlistment. In his battalion many French-Canadians had enlisted, but some made excuses in order to procure their discharge, and they gave as reasons anything from lunacy to housemaid's knee. There were also many deserters; they got leave to visit their friends in Quebec and did not come back.

One in Six at Front.

Many had joined Quebec battalions, and, while he did not resent this, it showed the French-Canadians' enlistment had doubled up in those cases. Some French-Canadians in his battalion had deserted three times and enlisted four times. Quebec had enlisted over 5,000, but there was only 1,000 at the front.

W. F. Carroll asked where were the other 5,000.

"I don't know," replied Col. Arthurs, "they probably deserted."

The referendum he described as a farce. Referendum had been tried only once in Canada on the question of prohibition and one province was against prohibition, so Sir Wilfrid Laurier decided that Canada could not have it.

As the military service act would select the men that could most easily be spared, the bill was needed because there were men at the front who had not had leave for over twelve months and many for over eighteen months. Platoons and companies were going up to the front under strength and he agreed with General Hughes that it would be far wiser to have our reserve behind the lines in France than kept in England.

Dr. Michael Clark.

Dr. Michael Clark followed.

"I shall support the Government's measure," he said, "support it with a clear conscience and a stout heart, believing that it is absolutely in the best interests of the country, of the Empire, of the world and of the cause of civilization for which we are fighting.

"I desire to approach the consideration of the question in the cold light of facts and reason, and to avoid altogether the language of passion or recrimination. There is no man in this House or in this country more opposed by nature and by training to compulsion, unnecessary compulsion, than I am. But I think that if there is one lesson which every sensible man has learned in the last three years it is that in the course of a war like this no one can afford to hold on to his previous predilections and to refuse to adapt himself to the circumstances and exigencies of the time. I heard my right honorable friend and leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, criticise, or oppose, conscription, as I understood him, on the ground that the prime minister had said we would never resort to it. Well, I do not know whether the prime minister ever said anything so strong as that. If he did, and is yet resorting to conscription, I am grateful, sir, that he is greater in his gifts of patriotism than in his gifts of prophecy.

Take Lesson From England.

"After all we have seen of the course of this war in England—that true home of freedom and of individualism—the Government has taken mines and forests, farms and factories, and the war is being better prosecuted because they have done it than if things had remained in private hands. We must distinguish very sharply on this question between peace and war, and between conscription in peace and conscription in war. Conscription in peace is part of the machinery of a militaristic state; it is part and parcel of that militarism which we are told on all hands, as we have been told by my honorable friends on both sides of this House; it is the object of this war to put an end to conscription in war. In the expedient of a country which is in dire extremity, and must take the steps necessary to put forth its greatest efforts, I take it that that distinction is perfectly clear, and that the fact that we were not in favor of conscription before the war means that we were not militarists before the war, but being in a war like this, and every man being in it, I believe it becomes the part of commonsense to adapt ourselves to the basis of the moment.

"Tha is exactly the case with Mr. Lloyd George. There is no man in this House who is a stronger anti-conscriptionist than Mr. Lloyd George was; there is no man in the world who is a stronger anti-militarist than Mr. Lloyd George is at the present moment; but he had put aside all his previous predilections and became the chief advocate of conscription, because he realizes that this is a war to end war, and so a man may be thoroughly logical and true to his previous convictions if he adopts conscription to put an end to conscription.

Conscription in United States.

"Exactly the same thing is happening in the United States. Does anyone contend that the United States is turning its back on its whole pacific history? Does anyone contend that the people of the United States today are more pacific than we have been ever they were? We have noted the reluctance with which they went to war, the slow steps by which the president led the people up to the inevitable decision. I contend that the United States is in exactly the same position as Mr. Lloyd George at the present time. They are as pacific as ever they were when they adopt conscription, and by the procession of men on the day when registration took place they must have filled every impartial and thoughtful mind with admiration for that great people. If there is anything to inspire us it is to see those ten million young Americans who left their homes under compulsion, or under the president's call, shall I say, to register their names as citizens of a common country, and soldiers, if need be, to fight and die for that country.

Only Decent Thing.

"It is the only fair method in the last analysis under circumstances such as these we find ourselves in now. It is the only method under which we can fill up the gaps in our ranks. Who can get on the platform in this country and plead that it is fair, that it is even decent, that one family in one district, or one province—and I give no names to them—should be able to shelter in comfort and prosperity beneath the flag that other people, other provinces, and other men, are fighting for? Conscription is the only practical method. In Britain it is notorious that whole battalions had to be brought back from France to Lancashire, which had enlisted under the voluntary principle, because it was found that these men were more useful in Lancashire than in France. That is a very important consideration. Conscription is necessary at this stage of the war to say who shall stay at home, as well as those who should have gone. It is the method by which you are going to organize your nation, and get the last ounce of strength out of the nation, either for service at home or for service abroad, as the wisdom of those making the choice shall dictate.

As to Defence of Canada.

"It is said in some parts of the country—and my right honorable friend and leader rather indicated a predilection for that doctrine I think by the quotations he made from the militia act—that the proper place for a Canadian to fight is on the soil of Canada, in the same quarters of the country where this is said, it is called England's war. As an Englishman with a vein of Scotch in me—Scotch logic, I mean—it is surely permissible for me to ask the question: Is England fighting her battle on English soil? England, sir, is fighting this war wherever she sees the turban of a Turk or a helmet of a Teuton. She is fighting in Egypt, in Mesopotamia, in Macedonia, in Belgium, but she is fighting it most of all in France. It is there that she is pouring out her blood in small rivers.

"My friends will forgive, I know they will forgive me, when I say to them that if there is one consideration that should have made every drop of French blood on Canada course more rapidly, it is the consideration that Englishmen by the million are on the soil where the language of France is spoken, where the literature of France is produced, of which literature we have men as proud in Canada as they are proud of it in France itself.

The Real Recruiters.

"Talk about not sending the right recruiting agents to one part of the country or the other. Who was the recruiting agent that led millions of the Empire to leap to the colors in every portion of the world and to come trooping across the seven seas? I will tell you in one word, it was Belgium. That was the recruiting agent. Belgium, guaranteed her neutrality and independence by Britain, and therefore by the British Empire, guaranteed it also by Germany—Belgium was trodden under foot by Germany and for every full-blooded man under the flag that meant that there was only one course with our last man and our last dollar—fight on the side of the ditch and see that Belgium was restored to all that could be restored to her. If Belgium need no assistance in the way of recruiting agent what shall be said of the Northeast of France? Those who have been on the spot know what is happening in that country, the beautiful fields turned under and the very inside of the earth turned up, villages dislocated. These things have happened, and what is happening there today? I wonder if those who hesitate about what they should do on this bill reflect that at the present moment in France, as the Teuton is compelled to retire, he is taking with him every French female above the age of 14 years, to work, to suffer and God knows what else. These are the recruiting agents that appeal to the wide Dominions of this Empire. May I add, not uncharitably, I hope, that if men will not listen to this, neither would they listen if one rose from the dead.

Battlefront Demands Bill.

"I have referred to Germany's methods of war at the present moment. Do I need to impress upon this House that the events of the moment on the battlefront demand this bill? Have we all read the figures on the bulletin today? Of the casualties in the last raid on London, 150 killed in an open space in Empire where the flag floats that floats over us, and we are as morally bound to act as men in support of the flag as they are in London? It is only because London and the British isles are more keen than we have been in Canada only because they are London and the British isles."

Dr. Clark said that cargoes of Canadian produce going to Britain were being sent to the bottom of the sea at the present moment by the thousands of tons. This was how close the war was to us at the moment. He said that the diplomacy of the Hun today followed exactly the tradition of that old blackguard, "Frederick the Great." At the end of the seven year's war, beaten on the field, past all hope of redemption, he tried to win his way by diplomacy, and unfortunately fooled Great Britain at the moment. History was repeating itself today. There was no doubt that we were gradually getting the better of the Germans, and now they were using the Socialists, whom they hated, to win by diplomacy what they couldn't win by arms.

Fears Inconclusive Peace.

"We are up against an early and inconclusive peace," said Dr. Clark. "That is the greatest danger to the world at this moment, that the war weariness of the nations will compel the people to come together, and we will arrange an inconclusive peace. But from all I have seen of Canadians, I do not think that they will take part in that business. And if we had an inconclusive peace, what would it mean? It would mean that Romanoff would be replaced upon the throne of Russia, that Constantine would probably go back to the throne of Greece, that the Hohenzollerns' hold upon the necks of the German people would be tightened, and that of the Hapsburgs upon the people of Austria. And for ourselves, what would it mean? It would mean that just as surely as the next generation of men come around, this would have to be done again by our children or our grandchildren.

"May I make a personal point? I have a little toddling grandchild on my farm out west today, whose father was stricken with a gunshot wound on the neck two weeks ago. I owe to you, sir, that on my soul and conscience, I support this bill, because I believe it is part of the necessary machinery which will save that little fellow, a born Canuck, and thousands of others like him, from ever going through what his father and his uncles are going through at the present time."

Glories in U. S. Entry.

Dr. Clark said he was surprised at the argument used by Hon. William Pugsley, that there was no need for hurry now the United Stes was in the war. He was proud that the United States was in the field. He said it was a magnificent spectacle to see that great nation at the beginning of the 20th century coming at last to be possibly a decisive factor in the greatest of all world wars. It was a grand spectacle, but it was only 50 per cent of the spectacle.

"The other picture," he added, "is the old mother, who lost the great colony by act of statesmen's folly at the time, reunited once more to her in heart and in spirit and in soul and in purpose, and the two great empires marching out together to save the world's civilization with our Allies in France.

"Is that the moment that I, as a Canadian, am to be told that we should go a little more easily? The majority of Canadians, sir, are not built that way. A great example never deters a well-set-up man in doing his duty. It leads him to do it more strongly and better. Where should Canada be when the British Empire and the United States are marching side by side? She should be where she had been from the beginning—in front of the battle. She will be there. The glories of this little people were not exhausted by Courcelette, by Vimy Ridge, or by any other of the battles where they have won immortal glory for themselves. The glories of this little people are going to be extended, but not by taking advantage of the example of the United States to go a little more slowly."

What Is Labor Thinking Of?

Dr. Clark did not believe that organized labor was opposed to this bill. If it were so, it would be an unfortunate thing for organized labor. Organized labor has only 65,000 enrolled members in this country, and many thousands of these were at the front, and favored conscription. If Germany won the war, it would be bad enough for all of us, but there were none for whom it would be so bad as for organized labor. Labor would get conscription with a vengeance, morning, noon and night, and every day in the year.

He could not understand how organized labor could be opposed to compulsory service, because members of trade unions were considerable conscriptionists. They compelled a man to work the hours of the union, and if he worked when the union did not want him to work he was called a "blackleg." He thought organized labor should be the easiest class in the world to convince that conscription for national purposes was a good thing. He had endeavored to find out what labor men were thinking, and he believed they were not opposed to this bill. If it were the only thing the Government was going to do in the coming months to bring about what was needed at the present moment in organization and mobilization of the moral, material and man-power of Canada, that was what we needed at the present moment.

Charles Wilson of Laval laid on the table this afternoon petitions against conscription signed by over 4,000 persons, A. L. Lapointe of St. James, Montreal, and E. Joseph Demers of St. Jean d'Iberville, also presented anti-conscription petitions.

Mr. Turgeon, Liberal, of New Brunswick, said he believed in the sober sense of the Canadian people, and would support a referendum. He presented the no-mandate and conscription-of-wealth aspects of the case.

Explains Difference.

A. K. MacLean, Liberal, of Halifax, said he would only speak to explain his difference with his leader. Only when a man found himself differing from his party and leader did he realize how strong were the ties that bound him to them. His position had been made the easier through Sir Wilfrid advising every man to follow the dictates of his conscience. That Canada must wait within the boundaries to defend herself was an untenable doctrine. In France, Canada was fighting for her defence as surely as Britain in France was fighting for her security at home. Many people felt that the statement of the Government was not complete, and that a fuller statement of the military necessity for conscription should be made.

Prefers Election.

Mr. MacLean said he would vote against the amendment, and if there was a choice to be made between the two he would prefer a general election to a referendum. He criticized Sir Sam Hughes, whom, he said, assumed all the credit for the results of the voluntary system. In his opinion General Hughes was responsible for much of the turmoil in Parliament today and had been an obstacle to recruiting.

Mr. MacLean favored the immediate application of the conscription measure, accompanied by an educational campaign to convince the people of its need. There had been a good deal of political manoeuvring on both sides, and he held that if the two sides would drop politics and follow his suggestion the application of the conscription measure would be a success.

More Reasonable.

Donald Sutherland of South Oxford held that the bill before Parliament was a more reasonable measure than the militia act. He had confidence in the declaration of the prime minister that there was urgent need for the conscription. Because the French had been long in this country was no excuse for their not going to this war.

The Indians of Canada who numbered a hundred thousand, and who had never seen France had sent 2,500 men to the front. The position taken last session by Sir Wilfrid on the bilingual question had intensified the feeling in Quebec and hurt recruiting there. The prime minister was justified in not inviting Sir Wilfrid to coalition until after conscription had been announced owing to the attitude of Sir Wilfrid on the naval issue.

F. S. Robideaux, French Conservative of New Brunswick, spoke for conscription. He said that the men were needed and that Canada should send them. Conscription was required to supplement the great achievement of the voluntary effort.

HANNA IS PROMISING DIVIDENDS FOR PUBLIC THROUGH FOOD CONTROL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, June 26. — Plans for the immediate conservation of food are under consideration by Hon. W. J. Hanna, food controller for Canada, who was in the city today conferring with some of the members of his advisory board. Just what form the recommendations will take has not been determined, but an announcement will soon be made.

Before leaving tonight for Ottawa, where he will have headquarters, Mr. Hanna made the following statement:

"Our meeting today was to get in touch with the organized citizenship of Canada, as far as we could, here and now. There were present: Mrs. Gooderham, of the Daughters of the Empire; Mrs. N. W. Rowell, of the Y. W. C. A.; Mr. Bishop, of the Y. M. C. A.; Dr. Creelman, commissioner of agriculture, representing the production end of Ontario; G. Frank Beer, who is always interested in this sort of thing; G. A. Putnam, representing the women's institutes of Ontario, and Mr. Barnes, who is here making arrangements for the marketing of British Columbia's fruit crop, which is expected to be large this year.

To the Very Limit.

"The thought was this," proceeded Mr. Hanna. "The Allies need food. Places they can get it from are Canada and the United States. The United States have set themselves to supply that need, in conjunction with Canada. Canada has got to respond, of course, to the very limit."

"What are your plans and what do you hope to accomplish in the near future?" Mr. Hanna was asked.

"What I hope to accomplish would be a bit speculative. There are some things that we can accomplish and will accomplish, but it is altogether essential for the cause that supplies should be handed out and passed along at the same time. That is all I can tell you at present."

"You will have a formal statement, then, later on?"

News in a Day or Two.

"Yes, later on; but not very much later on. We will have something to give out for publication in a day or two."

"Will your headquarters be at Ottawa?"

"Yes; I am leaving for Ottawa tonight."

"That the public and the consumer will get a dividend out of Government measures for food control, there is no shadow of doubt," said Hon. Mr. Hanna.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM FOR ALL RUSSIANS UNDER THE REPUBLIC

Civil Rights Will Not Depend on How One Worships.

REFORMS FOR THE COURTS

Appeal Can Now Be Had From Illegalities of the Central Government.

Petrograd, June 27.—The ministry of the interior has submitted to the provisional government a bill establishing freedom of conscience, in which it is proclaimed that possession of civil and political rights no longer depends on religion. For a change of religion official permission will not be needed.

Up to nine years of age, a child's religion is determined by its parents if there is disagreement, the child takes the mother's religion. Over nine years of age, the religion cannot be changed without consent of the child itself. Over 17 years, religion can be changed without the parents' or guardian's consent. Another important reform provides for courts of administration for the protection of a citizen against illegalities of officials of the central government or of local self-governing bodies. Every county will have at least one court of administration, to which the central government can appeal against illegal actions of self-governing bodies; self-governing bodies can appeal from illegalities of the central government, and private citizens can appeal against either.

Freedom of Teaching.

The minister of public instruction has submitted a bill proclaiming complete freedom of teaching. Heretofore the ministry determined who could and who could not teach on private families. Henceforth families may choose their own teachers. In view of the lack of teachers and professors, the minister of war has agreed not to call to the colors any more teachers who are now in the schools and universities, and to discharge teachers now at the front who are not in the fighting units.

The provisional government has issued a decree giving the right to advocates and attorneys to practice their professions.

CROPS IN ONTARIO GENERALLY APPEAR OF GOOD PROMISE

Pastures Are Fine and Live-stock Thriving.

MILK IN ABUNDANCE

Roots Are Doing Well and Potatoes Have Vigorous Growth.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, June 26.—Following is a summary of the weekly crop reports made by district representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

During the past week considerable corn, beans, potatoes, turnips, buckwheat, and millet were put in, the work being only partially interfered with by the rain and the scarcity of good farm help. Tobacco and tomato planting were also vigorously pushed.

Fall Wheat Heading.

Spring grain fields are looking in fine condition. Fall wheat continues to improve, and is beginning to head out, as is also winter rye.

Early roots look well, and those planted more recently are finding a good seedbed; potatoes are vigorous in growth and never promised better at this stage.

Pastures are most inviting in appearance and livestock on the grass are thriving. Estimates regarding the new hay crop run all the way from a light to a full yield; red clover is about one-third in bloom and some will be cutting this week.

Milk Flow at High Tide.

The milk flow is at high tide and cream gatherers have bigger loads than usual, as much of the surplus is being turned into butter. Cheese factories also are being worked hard.

Owing to the scarcity of grain it is stated that some farmers are not hastening the growth of their pigs, but that this will come on later. The demand for brood sows, however, is said to be very great.

The keen competition in the wool market is the leading feature of the sheep industry. Dufferin reports washed wool as bringing as high as 74 cents a pound.

INGERSOLL CHIEF TO TAKE PARIS OFFICE

INGERSOLL, June 26.—The tennis players of the town have organized and are looking forward with keen interest to a successful season. The meeting was held at the home of F. N. Horton and was well attended. The officers for the year are: Honorary president, J. A. Collier; president, W. T. Carthew; vice-president, W. C. Johnston; secretary, Miss L. Sudworth; treasurer, Mrs. F. N. Horton; manager, C. E. Hessenauer; grounds committee, H. Clark, T. White, H. Yorke, F. N. Horton and G. Bartlett; entertainment committee, Miss Banbury, convener; Miss Boles, Miss Radford, Miss Sudworth and Mrs. Laing.

The funeral took place this morning from her home in West Oxford, of Mrs. Sarah Tucker, who died on Saturday in her 78th year. She had resided in the district for a long period. At the Church of the Sacred Heart a service was held and interment was made in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. John Lenihan, John Kennedy, Daniel Shehan, N. Williams, George O'Callaghan and K. McKay.

The young people of the Baptist Church have elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Honorary president, F. W. Waters; president, Freeman Elliott; vice-president, Miss Effie Smith; secretary-treasurer, Miss Blanche Wills; assistant, Agnes Ramsay; ushers, Gordon Waters and Walter Waite.

It was with general surprise that citizens learned today that Chief of Police Rutherford had sent his resignation to the police committee, having been appointed to fill the vacancy at Paris occasioned by the death recently of Chief Felker. Chief Rutherford came to Ingersoll from the Brantford force. He has been an efficient officer here and is well liked.

BRITISH SOCIALISTS NOT FOR CONFERENCE

London, June 27.—The section of British Socialists led by Henry Hyndman has declined the invitation of the Russian Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates to attend the international Socialist conference at Stockholm. The refusal is based on the fact that the conference will be attended by German and Austrian Socialists, and that it cannot serve the cause of peace or Socialism as long as Germans remain in possession of territory they seized and devasated.

KILLED IN FRANCE FEW HOURS AFTER FIANCEE'S DEATH

Owen Sound Soldier Last Link in Unusual Chain of Tragedy.

GNR. McCAMUS IMPROVING

Son of Ex-President of London Conference Resting Well, Says Report.

OWEN SOUND, June 26.—One of the casualties among the Grey County boys was that of Pte. E. Smith of Eugenia, who has been reported killed in action. There are more sad features connected with this casualty than are usually the case. Pte. Smith's oldest brother has been a prisoner in Germany since almost the first of 1915. His second brother had enlisted and he and a chum came up to Eugenia last summer for a holiday and were both drowned at the Eugenia dam. Now comes the news of this brother's death.

A peculiar incident in connection with that was that his fiancee died in Owen Sound only last Sunday, probably only a few hours after the soldier was killed in France. His mother, who is well known here, has a great sympathy in her sorrow.

GUNNER McCAMUS LOSES EYE.

BLENHEIM, June 26.—Rev. D. N. McCamus received a letter this morning from London, England, stating that his son, Gunner W. R. McCamus, was in St. George's Hospital there, and was doing as well as could be expected. His injuries are in the head, with result that he will lose his left eye. The message came several weeks ago that he had been wounded in the head in action in France, and was in a hospital in England, and word was sent to that effect in reply to a cable inquiry.

Gunner McCamus prior to enlisting was classic teacher in the Leamington high school. The word today has relieved to some extent the fears that the wounds might have been more serious.

WAR IN MESOPOTAMIA FULL OF BLUNDERS, COMMISSION REPORTS

Yet It Has Been Remarkable for Success.

INDIAN GOVT. IS SCORED

Lack of Knowledge and Foresight Shown in Poor Preparation.

LONDON, June 26.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—The report of the Mesopotamian commission, constituting another historic war document, was issued tonight as a blue book of 188 pages. It deals comprehensively with the operations from the time of the origin of the campaign down through the various stages of the advance towards Bagdad and its incidental happenings. It examines at great length the questions which have given rise to public criticism. The main report, embodying the findings, conclusions and recommendations, is signed by all the commissioners except Commander Wedgwood, who presented a dissentient report.

The commissioners find that the expedition was a justifiable military enterprise, but the distribution of responsibility between the India office and the Government of India in connection with it was unworkable. The scope of the objective of the expedition was never sufficiently defined in advance. The report criticises the commanders-in-chief, or their representatives, for failure periodically to visit Mesopotamia. It says the advance toward Bagdad was an offensive movement based on political and military miscalculations, was attempted with tired and insufficient forces and inadequate preparation, and resulted in the Kut-el-Amara disaster.

The responsibility for this untoward advance, says the commission, lies with Sir John Nixon, whose confident optimism was the main cause of the decision. Others responsible, in the order of sequence, were Lord Harding, viceroy of India; Gen. Beauchamp-Duff, commander-in-chief; Major-Gen. Barron, military secretary to the India office; Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for India, and the war committee of the cabinet. The commissioners point out that the last two are responsible as political heads, who cannot secure complete immunity through adoption of the written advice of expert subordinates.

In general, the armament and equipment were quite insufficient to meet the needs of the whole system, and the commissariat was badly organized during the period of the Indian Government's responsibility, although no general breakdown occurred. The authorities at Simla bestowed meagre attention and illiberal treatment upon the war expedition during 1914-15, and the supply of reinforcements was accordingly insufficient.

In connection with the advance towards Bagdad and the Kut relief operations, says the report, the military authorities did not sufficiently realize from the first the paramount importance of river and railway transport in Mesopotamia. Their responsibility is grave. Sir John Nixon is found responsible for recommending the advances in 1915 with insufficient transport and equipment. The transport shortage, beginning in 1916, rendered the Kut relief operations futile.

Dealing with the medical provision the commissioners declare that this was insufficient from the beginning and ultimately resulted in a lamentable breakdown after the battles of 1915-16, and in the most lamentable and heavy services.

The commissioners find that Surgeon-General Hathaway showed unfitness for his office, while the viceroy, Lord Harding, is held generally responsible by virtue of his position. The commissioners proceed:

"The most severe censure must be based upon the commander-in-chief of India, who not only failed to closely superintend the medical provision, but, until the viceroy's superior authority forced him to do so, declined to take notice of rumors which were true."

The commission in apportioning the blame upon the India Government for inefficiency in the management of the Mesopotamia campaign, recognize the Government's anxieties in other quarters. The commissioners also declare that notwithstanding a period of reverses the success of the campaign as a whole has been remarkable. They assert that in the many parts of the world in which the Allies have been engaged no more substantial results or more solid victories have been achieved than in Mesopotamia.

In conclusion, the report seriously censures the India Government for the lack of knowledge and foresight shown in the inadequacy of the preparations and for lack of readiness to recognize and supply deficiencies.

Lift Corns Off With Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Corns and calluses loosen and fall off! Magic!

Few drops of Freezone take all pain and soreness from corns instantly

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

Wonderful discovery by Cincinnati man

This remarkable drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted right off with the fingers.

Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels or rather loosens them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. Try a little and see for yourself. It is surprising.

Few drops stop corn-pain

Take soreness from any corn or callus instantly

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice. If a corn starts hurting just apply a drop. The pain stops instantly, corn goes!

Tiny bottles of Freezone cost but a few cents at any drug store.

A Stitch in time!

CANADIAN SOLDIER'S LETTER

Says Dr. Cassell's Tablets Have Kept Him Fit Through Two Wars.

Sapper A. Hartley of the A Company, Canadian Engineers, whose home address is 906 Trafalgar street, London, Ontario, is one of many who have written in praise of Dr. Cassell's Tablets. He says: "As a constant user of Dr. Cassell's Tablets, I would like to add my testimony to their value. I used them when I was in the South African War, and, finding the benefit of them there, have taken them since whenever I felt rundown. I always recommend them, for I know that they do all that is claimed for them. In my opinion they are the best tonic anyone can take for loss of appetite, poorness of the blood, or general weakness of the system."

A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Limited, 10 McCaul street, Toronto.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are the surest home remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Trouble, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Nervous Ailments, Nerve Paralysis, Palpitation and Weakness in Children. Youthful, Beautiful Skin Easy to Have

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt, are apt to injure any skin, even though the general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercolized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather-soiled film-skin, a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a brand new complexion, a new skin. The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case.

To quickly remove wrinkles, signs of care and age, bathe the face occasionally in a solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half-pint of witch hazel. The result, which is instantaneous, will surprise you greatly. The ingredients are, of course, perfectly harmless.—Advt.

Had Awful Attacks of Heart Trouble

FOR 5 OR 6 YEARS

Diseases and disorders of the heart and nervous system have become frightfully prevalent of late years.

One can scarcely pick up a paper but he will find recorded instances of sudden deaths through heart failure, or of prominent men and women unable to prosecute their ordinary business or profession on account of a breaking down of the nervous system.

We do not desire to unnecessarily alarm anyone, but to sound a word of warning.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitates and throbs, has shooting pains through it, it is time to stop and think.

To all sufferers from heart and nerve troubles Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. Frank Arseneau, Newcastle, N. B., writes: "I had awful attacks of heart trouble for the past five or six years, and as I had tried many kinds of medicine without getting any better I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and to my surprise I found ease from the second dose. I continued taking them until I had used six boxes, and now I feel as well as can be.

"At the present time my sister is using them for nervousness and finds great comfort by their use."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

POINTERS FOR CANDIDATES

The little list of pointers which follows is set forth for the guidance and welfare of the candidates who really are in earnest in their efforts for one of The Advertiser's nine automobiles or other prizes. We would advise you to clip out the list and paste it up where you can read it every night and morning and follow it to the "T."

A new subscriber to The Advertiser at $3.00 a year, will count 7,000 votes. A new subscriber to The Advertiser who pays two years in advance at $2.00 a year will count 15,000 votes. A new subscriber to The Advertiser who pays three years in advance at $3.00 a year will count 25,000 votes. A new subscriber to The Advertiser who pays four years in advance at $3.60 a year will count 40,000 votes. A new subscriber to The Advertiser who pays five years in advance at $2.00 a year, will count 50,000 votes.

Note—All daily papers in Canada are being forced to increase the price of subscription owing to the rapidly increasing cost of paper, therefore we ask our candidates not to solicit subscriptions to The Advertiser for less than three years.

One of the oldest dail... Canada raised its sub... the 1st of May this ... cost of paper go... Advertiser may ... its subscription ... 1919.

Candidates should advise their friends when paying their subscription to The Advertiser to be sure and ask for the ballot.

The contest will close at midnight, Saturday, August 25.

Pay no attention to the other candidates. The time you spend thinking about others might lose you a new subscriber.

The 15,000 extra vote ballot is given (only) for the first new daily subscriber to The Advertiser for a year or more in length turned in.

Don't sit idly by and watch someone else walk off with a prize that could just as well have been yours, if you had made the proper effort to secure it.

Don't let a day pass by without securing some subscriptions and votes. Remember, it will take votes to win the prizes.

People who pay back subscriptions will be allowed votes just the same as ... who pay in advance.

It is not necessary to send in coupons every day. Once a week or once every two weeks is enough. Make them up in parcels and tie securely with cord, and write your name plainly on the top ballot.

Send in all your new subscriptions at once, so that The Advertiser may be started at once.

Mark all subscriptions, old or new, on receipts.

Cash must accompany second portion of receipt form. Otherwise certificate of ballot will not be allowed.

Certificates of ballot will be mailed to each candidate by return mail.

Where a person is taking another paper, which is paid up for three, six or twelve months, a candidate may take their subscription to The Advertiser and date their subscription from the date the other paper expires.

Receipt books will be mailed immediately on request.

The subscription price of The Advertiser was raised to $3 per year on October 1, 1916.

If a person owes for The Advertiser, say, from October 1, 1915, he will owe $2 from October 1, 1915, to October 1, 1916, and then $3 per year from October 1, 1916.

If you have friends living in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia or the Maritime Provinces, the United States or any other part of the world, you are at liberty to solicit their subscriptions to The Advertiser.

A separate receipt must be made out for each subscription taken, whether new or old.

Money may be sent to The Advertiser by check, postoffice order or money order.

Make all orders for money payable to The London Advertiser Company.

The Contest Will Close at Midnight Saturday, August 25

INDEMNITIES.

GERMAN Socialists talk of no indemnities after the war, and their words are echoed by some foolish Russians. But what of the indemnities Germany has already collected?

Belgium has been fined millions upon millions, until she has been bled white financially. These fines are nothing more or less than indemnities wrongfully imposed by the temporary victor on a helpless people and state. They have no basis in justice. Belgium has committed no sin against the Huns for which she should pay; the boot is on the other foot.

Now Rumania is fined 250,000,000 francs. Presumably this is to repay the enemy for his help in devastating the land, slaying the people and robbing the granaries. Another outrageous indemnity.

Before Germany can ask consideration of her plea for no indemnities she must pay back all she has forced from the pockets of the Allies. Even then, her chances of getting off without recompensing them for injuries done are less than slight.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

IT IS INEVITABLE that there will be some delay in the enforcement of conscription, if the measure passes in Parliament, and during this time the suggestion of F. F. Pardee, M.P., that a last vigorous effort be made to obtain the needed recruits by voluntary methods, should be adopted with all earnestness.

As has been pointed out in these columns, there is a tendency now to hang back and wait for conscription rather than continue trying to obtain as many volunteers as possible. Mr. Pardee, while favoring the passing of the conscription bill, sees that this is a mistake, and that there may still be a chance to get the required numbers without enforcing compulsory service. When it was first announced that the Government was about to introduce the measure, there was a rush of recruits, but this decreased as a doubt sprang into existence as to its becoming law. This doubt has almost vanished, and a really strong recruiting campaign now, with the certainty that its failure meant the immediate application of conscription, might work wonders.

This is, of course, no argument against the immediate passing of the bill. Let the lawmakers proceed with that part of the program, and have it ready to enforce the moment it is required. In the meantime, it would be a splendid sign if 100,000 men came forward voluntarily.

TEMPTATIONS.

FOR months a controversy has been raging over the comparative temptations which assail Canada's soldiers in Britain and at home. Some speakers and writers have pictured the soldiers as young innocents cast into the midst of a population of women almost all of whom are seeking their downfall. Others have declared that the soldiers, being away from home and unknown to the residents of English towns, have taken advantage of this to lead a fast and immoral life. Still others admit the temptations, but assert the boys from the Dominion are able to resist them.

Altogether a good deal of nonsense has been written and spoken, and some sound sense. No one who knows England will deny the existence of these temptations; but will anyone who knows Canada pretend they are not plentiful here?

Before going overseas and when stationed in this city or any other in the Dominion, Canadian soldiers meet temptations and, in this respect they differ little from civilians. If they resist and lead a clean life here, there is no reason to suppose they will alter when they reach Britain.

The individual character will determine what the soldier's life shall be. To accuse the forces of going wrong en masse is to place the character and intelligence of the men at a very low mark, and is an insult to the army.

SCOTCHING IT IN DETROIT.

THE DETROIT JOURNAL, which donned the uniform of the Allies' cause when it recently changed ownership, and may now be regarded as the chief spokesman of that cause in the City of the Straits, has run foul of the wolves in sheep's clothing who seek to maintain kaiserism in the United States as they sought to maintain it in Canada long after the war was in progress.

The Journal is attacked by the Abend-Post, a Detroit paper published in the German language, because the Journal chose to regard as believable those stories related of the Germans to the effect that they had dropped poisoned and bacteria-bearing candy behind the French lines. The Abend-Post, after calling the Journal "an Anglophile rag" proceeds to remark that the Journal "cannot without punishment threaten and insult the Germandom of this country."

In sledge-hammer sentences the Journal proceeds to dispose of its Hunnish contemporary by calling, "Who Goes There?" and crushing the egg before it has hatched in greater ugliness. It snaps its fingers at the snapping of "Germandom."

"Let None But Americans Be On Guard Tonight!" is the sentiment of the Journal's rejoinder in an editorial that will rouse much spirit for the cause and aid in stamping out the kind of bacteria that has been dropped in Detroit.

Many months ago The Advertiser fell foul of such "straffers" in Canada. This paper was referred to in the most hymn-of-hateful language, and threatened with extermination, sudden explosion and other dire fates, among which was that of the editor, who was to be marched ahead of a file of Germans through our principal streets. He has not yet been forced to do the "goose step." These foolish plotters are long since in a safe place, no doubt. The Journal is quite as fortunate in the enemies it has made.

PUNISHMENT.

THE subjection of women seems at last to have gone the way of some other conditions supposed to be sanctioned by religion. Another iniquity of the same sort, the flogging of children, is fast becoming obsolete.

Where the parent appeared formerly to the child as a prohibiting and punishing officer, a force of obstruction, he is expected nowadays rather to direct, lead and construct. It seems banal to be always vetoing and chastizing. Monsieur Veto was a French name of derision for the ill-fated Louis XVI, and Monsieur Cat o' Nine Tails would be no less contemptuous. Even one who is not sensitive about administering the rod himself will hate to hear or see another at the nasty work. It hurts the nerves to hear a neighbor's child screeching under a heavy hand. Would not any one able to qualify as civilized be embarrassed to be caught in the act of bastinadoing a little child, "a human creature subject to his blow"?

So often corporal punishment is applied or promised in the heat of sudden anger. Sometimes the trouble is largely misunderstanding on one side or the other. Parents can make the mistake of taking themselves too seriously, being too pompous about their dignity. They think the child owes them everything, whereas they owe the child as much as he owes them. He makes life for them a comedy, a romance and a serious interest all in one, if they have any imagination, and even if they have little of it. Want of imagination is indeed a fertile source of the whippings. If parents used their brains more and their hands less they could devise punishments more subtle, more effective, more adapted to correct the fault, more satisfactory to all parties concerned. A danger here lies in a resort to meanness by way of avoiding brutality. Punishment should be neither brutal nor mean.

"SABOTAGE."

COPENHAGEN dispatches on Saturday told of a German declaration that prisoners of war were plotting to interfere by "sabotage" with war work, and some curiosity has been aroused as to the meaning of the word, which is not to be found in the majority of dictionaries, if, indeed, in any.

Sabotage is the act of destroying existing machinery, either of state or of mechanism, the word having been first used to describe a senseless act of this kind committed in a spirit of revenge. It is a word that has sprung into existence very recently, the following incident being accountable for its birth: A French workman, becoming dissatisfied with his job, took off his wooden shoe, or sabot, and threw it into the machinery with which he labored. This caused destruction of delicate parts of the engine, and the new word was coined.

Now "sabotage" is being quite widely used to describe intentional disruption of business.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

As an imposer of fines, Germany has any magistrate on earth beaten.

German artillery officers seem to have one rule: When in doubt, shell Rheims.

After all its chopping and changing, Greece has to seek M. Venizelos to lead her again.

Belgium has an army of eight divisions at the front, yet Canadians are apt to talk of "Belgium's little army." It's twice the size of Canada's.

Having now no criminal charges hanging over their heads, Sir Rodmond Roblin, G. R. Coldwell and J. H. Howden should speedily regain their health.

The "Tigress Mothers" of Russia threaten dire vengeance on those who are "eating up our country" and fraternizing with the enemy. The threat is worth heeding.

The quiet and perfunctory manner in which the woman suffrage bill passed the British House of Commons would be amazing if we had not got used to stunning events. Mrs. Pankhurst away in Petrograd, quite unconcerned about a foregone conclusion.

A lady asks: "Is there going to be conscription for marriage as well as for war?" With so many eligible men gone and going, husband-hunting will be about as difficult a sport as catching trout in Middlesex. The few unattached men who are not drafted off by the war might reasonably be required to take up matrimony. Or a choice might be offered in some cases between wedding bells and war.

The "white plague" as a synonym for consumption recalls such respectable names as "the black death," "the red plague." A distinctive color lends a tangible personality to a plague. It makes it more tremendous, more odious, more spectral. But no name can be bad enough for tuberculosis. And yet it begins to be controlled, more than can be said of cancer or perhaps pneumonia. The Byron Sanatorium is one of many institutions succeeding in curbing the white plague.

TAKING DICTATION.
[By Earl Reed Silver.]

Mr Francis Vreeland, head of the firm of Vreeland & Co, gazed frowningly at the typed letter he held, and decided that it was a failure Under ordinary circumstances Mr. Vreeland would have wrathfully summoned his stenographer, demanded to know what business agency had the audacity to thrust such an example of inefficiency upon Vreeland & Co., and then would have told the aforesaid example, kindly but firmly, that her services were no longer required.

But Mr. Vreeland did nothing of the kind. Instead, he set himself before his own glittering machine, inserted one of the firm's letterheads, and copied the letter he had dictated but an hour before. The changes having been made, he signed his name and pushed a button on his desk.

Miss Betty Baxter entered the room, and instantly the sun seemed to shine more brightly. In direct defiance of the rules of business etiquette, Betty wore a white dress, with frills at the cuffs and lace at the neck. Her golden hair was drawn back, but not because Betty had any desire to appear businesslike. It happened to be the style most becoming to her. She wore white silk stockings and white kid pumps; and when Mr. Francis Vreeland's eyes rested upon her, his heart beat a lively tattoo beneath his manly bosom.

The head of the firm of Vreeland & Co. was really too young to direct the fortunes of so prosperous a concern. He was twenty-eight, to be exact, and if the business had not been inherited from a hard-working father, he would probably have been laboring his heart away in a downtown office for a salary of something like thirty dollars a week. But Francis, as his many friends called him, was one of those men who have greatness thrust upon them; and so he was the big boss in a big firm, with an income of something like thirty thousand dollars a year.

If he had been born poor he probably would have been president of the East Side Social Club, and captain of the Wannercoopers baseball nine. But having been born with a silver spoon in his mouth, he was president of the Seaside Country Club and captain of the Succassuna golf team. For he was a natural leader and an instinctive mixer. The girls of his acquaintance said that he was a "peach," and the men, without exception, designated him as a "blamed good scout." Which, without doubt, establishes his right to be the hero of a love story.

And Betty Baxter, on her part, made an admirably good heroine. She was pretty, a good dancer, an excellent tennis player and a swimmer of more than local renown. But she was a poor stenographer.

The fact that Betty even attempted stenography is a story in itself. Two years before the Baxters and the Vreelands had lived side by side in one of New Jersey's most exclusive suburbs. Betty drove her own car to meet her father at the railroad station, and in the evening Mr. Baxter and Mr. Vreeland, Sen. sat on the porch of the Baxter home and discussed stocks and bonds, while Miss Baxter and Mr. Vreeland, Jun., wandered off around the corner and talked about the latest dance at the club, or the color of Betty's eyes.

And then something had happened which swept away the Baxter fortune as if it had been a mere chicken house in the path of the Johnstown flood, leaving the father crushed and purposeless, and the daughter stunned with the realization of sudden poverty. Francis had asked her to marry him then, but she had shaken her head rather sadly and told him how impossible it was.

"You are only asking me out of pity," she had said. "I—I must find something to do."

So she had gone to a business school which promises to teach in three months what other schools teach in a year, and having been duly graduated, she was given a position in a Wall Street office. The next day she was discharged. In the evening of that same day Francis decided that his business had grown so much that he needed a personal stenographer, and Betty accepted the position. Since then she had been taking dictation from the man from whom in the past she had been in the habit of taking compliments.

From a social standpoint, Betty was a success. Every clerk in the office fell head over heels in love with her, and if she had only been a little less responsive, her evenings would have been one continuous round of moving pictures, musical comedies and fruit lemonade. But Betty didn't care a whoop for all the clerks in the world. To be perfectly frank, she was head over heels in love with her boss.

Whenever she took his dictation she found herself listening to the deep rumbling of his voice or watching his strong hands as he tapped idly on the desk. When he summoned her into his private office her heart went on a rampage and threatened to disclose itself to the man who had once asked her to marry him. She did whatever work was required of her, but she didn't realize how poorly she did it.

And so she was rather surprised when Mr. Francis Vreeland, having retyped her latest letter, frowned threateningly upon her as she took her accustomed place beside his desk.

"Betty," he said, after a long wait, "do you like your work?"

She looked up, surprised.

"Of course I do," she answered.

"Why"

"Because everybody's nice here, and the work isn't hard, and—and just because I do."

"Is it better than in the Wall Street office?"

"Yes."

"You wouldn't like to change back again, would you?"

Betty employed an old friend's prerogative.

"Why are you petting me through the third degree?"

"I just want some information." Francis leaned forward and tapped on the desk with his pencil. "How would you like to have another job?"

Two bright spots of red suffused Betty's cheeks, and a rather startled light leaped into her eyes.

"Do you mean that I haven't done satisfactory work here?"

"Yes."

Francis spoke rather severely, and the girl before him did not see the twinkle which lay half hidden in his eyes. She caught her breath shaply.

"I'll go now," she said simply.

"No, wait a minute." Francis held up his hand. "Let's be perfectly frank, Betty," he continued. "As a stenographer you're a mighty pretty girl, but as a mighty pretty girl you're a failure as a stenographer. I've known you for a long time, and I'm older than you, and so I'm going to talk to you like a Dutch uncle. You don't like shorthand, do you?"

"No."

"And you didn't make a the other office, did you?"

"No."

"And you haven't here, have you?"

"No." Two Betty's eyes, but ignore them.

"Well, then," Fran say that you weren't cess in the business wo and a new light shone eyes. "You weren't mea tation, were you, dear?"

There was somthing which caused the tears in B to disappear.

"No," she answered, "I'm to it."

"Well," Francis continued, now on you're going to have a Beginning today, I want you to me."

"How can I do that?"

The man smiled.

"Every self-respecting wife it her especial right to dictat husband," he expained. "Are yo ing to take the new job, Betty?"

The girl nodded, and the man over and took her hand.

"Tell me something to do," h "I want to see what kind of bos make."

Very slowly Betty rose to he and held out her arms. Her searched into the very depths of of Francis Vreeland, and found they were searching for.

"Kiss me," she commanded.

And Francis obeyed the

LONDON MILLER HAS GOOD INFORMATION FOR GRAIN PROBERS

Ontario Millers Pay Above Market Quotations

TO ELEVATOR AT GODERICH

Under Circumstances, Elevator Company Justified in Demand.

WINNIPEG, June 26. — Evidence from the milling trade occupied the attention of the board of grain supervisors all Monday.

Mr. Hunt of London, Ont., representing Ontario millers, gave clear cut views. He pointed out that on May 17th Ontario millers were asked 20 cents more per bushel for wheat than the Winnipeg cash price by elevators at Goderich, Ont. This, he explained, was due to the fact that the buyers had purchased at one of the high points of the market and were unable to hedge. It was necessary, he said, that there should be some protection so that Ontario millers might be able to buy their wheat at lake point elevators at a reasonable price over the cash price here. Fixed price at Port William would, he said, be acceptable. It was desirable that there should be an option market, he said, but in the absence of that, a flat price would result in steadying the trade. The witness declared that some kind of regulated market would be the most satisfactory basis for the trade at present.

The board, it was announced today, has under consideration a policy with regard to both available and prospective supplies of wheat, and is in communication with the corresponding authorities in the United States, with a view of endeavoring to reach a policy uniform in both countries. The board will not permit the opening of the market for future delivery in wheat until further notice.

NORWAY REFUSES TO SURRENDER TRUNK AT REQUEST OF GERMANY

Latter's Minister Has Been Recalled Owing To Insistent Demands.

London, June 27.—Reports received here from Norway say that the German legation at Christiania formally protested against the breaking of the German official seals on the baggage of Aaron Rautenfels, a German, who is among those arrested in connection with the conspiracy to blow up seized ships. The legation demanded the surrender of his trunk, but without success. There is no confirmation of the statement printed in Paris that Germany asked Norway to apologize for the breaking of the seals.

The recall of Germany's minister, Michaelis is attributed to Norway's insistent demand. He has been succeeded by Admiral Paul von Hintze, former minister to Mexico and China.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON RUSSIAN FRONT, IS WORD FROM BERLIN

BERLIN, June 26.—The German official statement says:

"Russian raiding detachments were driven off on several occasions."

STETTIN HUNGER RIOT AN ALL-NIGHT FIGHT, WOMEN AGAINST TROOPS

Gothenburg, June 26.—According to further details given the newspaper Tijd by a resident in Gothenburg, who witnessed them, the recent hunger riots in Stettin were of a most serious nature. Several persons were killed.

The riots began June 18. The mob was composed largely of women, although some men took part in the disorders. The outbreak had its origin in rumors that foodstuffs had been exported. The mob plundered shops and broke windows. The police in the outlying parts of the city strenuously fought to quell the riots. One girl was reported to have been stabbed through the body with a sword. In the central part of the city the soldiers used machine guns and bayonets, and several persons are reported to have been killed near the Hansa bridge.

The sound of firing was heard all night. Machine gun detachments were posted at various centres of the city throughout the following day. Work was generally resumed June 20.

Former United States Senator Mason, Pioneer

IN PURE FOOD AND DRUGS LEGISLATION, FATHER OF RURAL FREE DELIVERY SYSTEM

SAYS NUXATED IRON

Increased His Power and Endurance So Much, That He Feels It Ought To Be Made Known to Every Nervous, Run-Down, Anaemic Man, Woman and Child.

Opinions of Dr. Howard James, late of the Manhattan State Hospital of New York and formerly Assistant Physician Brooklyn State Hospital; Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York, and Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago.

From the Congressional Directory published by the United States Government: "Wm. E. Mason, Senator from Illinois, was elected to the 50th Congress in 1887, to the 51st Congress in 1891—defeated for the 52nd Congress, 1892—Elected Senator to the 55th Congress, 1897 to 1903."

Senator Mason is now Congressman from the State of Illinois.

Senator Mason's championship of Pure Food and Drugs legislation, his fight for the rural free delivery system, and his strong advocacy of all bills favoring labor and the rights of the masses as against trusts and combines, make him a national figure at Washington, and endeared him to the hearts of the workingman and the great masses of people throughout the United States. Senator Mason has the distinction of being one of the really big men of the nation. His strong indorsement of Nuxated Iron must convince any intelligent, thinking reader that it must be a preparation of very great merit, and one which the Senator feels is bound to be of great value to the masses of people everywhere, otherwise he could not afford to lend his name to its especially after his strong advocacy of pure food and drugs legislation.

What Senator Mason Says

Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:

I have often said I would never recommend medicine of any kind. I believe that the doctor's place. However, after the hardest political campaign of my life, without a chance for a vacation, I had been starting to court every morning with that horrible tired feeling one cannot describe. I was advised to try Nuxated Iron. As a pioneer in the food and drug legislation, I was at first loath to try an advertised remedy, but after advising with my medical friends, I gave it a test. The results have been so beneficial in my own case, I made up my mind to let my friends know about it, and you are at liberty to publish this statement if you so desire. I am now 65 years of age, and I feel that a remedy which will build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of one at my age, should be known to the world.

Yours very truly,

Wm. E. Mason

Senator Mason's statement in regard to Nuxated Iron was shown to several physicians who were requested to give their opinions thereon.

Dr. Howard James, late of the Manhattan State Hospital of New York and formerly Assistant Physician Brooklyn State Hospital, said: "Senator Mason is to be commended on handing out this statement on Nuxated Iron for public print. There are thousands of men and women who need a strength and blood-builder, but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—to give increased strength, snap, vigor, and staying power. It enriches the blood, brings roses to the cheeks of women and is an unfailing source of renewed vitality, endurance and power for men who burn up too rapidly their nervous energy in the strenuous strain of the great business competition of the day."

Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago, says: "I have taken Nuxated Iron myself and experienced its health-giving and strength building effect, and in the interest of public welfare I feel it my duty to make known the results of its use. I am well past my threescore years, and want to say that I believe my own great physical activity is largely due today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron I feel it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country."

Dr. E. Sauer, a Boston physician who has studied abroad in great European medical institutions, said: "Senator Mason is right. As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders.

"Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of twenty and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking organic iron — Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At thirty he was in bad health; at forty-six he was care-worn and nearly all in. Now at fifty, after taking Nuxated Iron, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change your food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your fod merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgean of St. Elibabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which was used by Senator Mason with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists, and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron, and increase their strength 200 per cent or more in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all good druggists.

SPECIAL TO PHYSICIANS:

Doctor, when you wish to prescribe a true tonic and blood builder, one that puts the real "stay there" strength and youthful vigor into the blood and nerves, try Nuxated Iron. If you have been using the old forms of metallic iron, without success; if you have had patients complain of discolored teeth, upset stomachs, hardened, tied-up secretions, etc., from the use of metallic iron, again we suggest, try Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron will be furnished by any druggist on an absolute guarantee of success or money refunded. It is highly indorsed by such physicians as Dr. Howard James, late of The Manhattan State Hospital of New York; Dr. James Louis Bryea, for fifteen years Adjunct Professor in the New York Homeopathic Medical College; Dr. N. H. Hornstine, for ten years in the Department of Public Health and Charities of Philadelphia; Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago; Former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago; Dr. Ferdinand Kling, New York Physician and Medical Author, and others. In most coses physicians direct the use of two five-grain tablets three times per day after meals.

Loans to Entente From U. S. Exceed the Billion Mark

WASHINGTON, June 26.—American loans to the Allies passed the billion-dollar mark today when the treasury placed $15,000,000 to the credit of Great Britain and $10,000,000 to France's account.

Credits to all the Allies to meet their expenditures in this country now total $1,008,000,000, of which Great Britain has received $550,000,000, and France $210,000,000.

DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP IS WRECKED IN FOG

Block Island, R. I., June 26.—The United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila, ran ashore in the fog, off Block Island, early today. The cruiser was reported in a bad position, with considerable water in her hold. Chief Machinists' Mate William M. Babb lost his life when he was hit on the head by a falling hatch. No other fatalities were reported.

The crew of the Olympia abandoned the ship on orders and were brought to the naval station here. Other warships were standing by her. She was reported to be badly damaged.

OTTAWA, June 26.—The Royal Military College examination entrance results are announced. The successful candidates from London, are: R. C. Baly, W. N. Chatter, J. D. Simon, T. F. Ruddy, R. K. Ruddy, G. L. W. White.

HAIL BREAKS MANY WINDOWS.

CLANDEBOYE, June 26.—An electrical and hail storm passed over this district this afternoon and many windows were broken by the hail. A livery team at St. James' Cemetery were startled by the storm and hail stones and a serious runaway was prevented by the presence of mind of Ivor Bice, who ran and caught them before any damage had been done.

GERMAN SHIPPING AT ROTTERDAM INCREASES

London, June 27.—A dispatch to the Times from Rotterdam says that German shipping there is steadily increasing. Twenty-two German ships from Hamburg and Baltic ports entered last week. Two German ships were torpedoed or mined by British, but traffic was unaffected.

CZAR'S FAVORITE IS SUING PROV. GOVERNMENT

Petrograd, June 26.—Mademoiselle Kheshinksa, the dancer, and favorite of the former emperor, has instituted suit against the Provisional Government for two million rubles, owing to its failure to eject the followers of Nikoli Lenine, the radical Socialist leader, from her palace, which they occupied during the revolution, and the refusal of the military authorities to send troops to evict Leninites. The legal period for the evacuation of the villa expired today, but the Leninites decline to leave.

A dispatch from Petrograd May 29 said that after a long process in the courts, the keys of the palace had been delivered to Mademoiselle Kheshinksa. At that time Kheshinksa complained that furs to the value of 22,000 rubles were missing from the palace.

WELCOMED AT CRAIG.

AILSA CRAIG, June 26.—Despite the bad storm of the early morning and again this afternoon, the rain today was if anything welcomed by the farmers of this district. The rain was needed, and will do immeasurable good, according to reports from the surrounding country.

The lightning was exceptionally severe, but no reports have yet been received.

BEECHWOOD'S CELEBRATION.

AILSA CRAIG, June 26.—Beechwood is holding their annual 1st of July celebration on Wednesday, July 4, this year, and as usual is planning for a big picnic in the afternoon and entertainment in the church in the evening. Mrs. Hugh J. Craig, soloist, and Miss Ada Munro, accompanist, are those from town taking part in the concert, and a number from Sarnia.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM

BY A SPECIALIST.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature grey hair, is a well-known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair, and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair-growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you; 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye it is unequalled for restoring grey hair to its original color.

NOW FREE FROM PAIN

Woman Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound After Three Years Suffering.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time, but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use, and am now free from pain and able to do all my housework." —Mrs. B. B. Zielinska, 234 Woltz avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

Women who recover their health, naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for women's ailments, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company (confidential) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

A PAGE OF GENERAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

"How Do You Dress?"

Woman Writer Points Out Need for Proper Garb at House work.

How few women who do their own housework think seriously of dressing appropriately for it? They have a pitying contempt for the salesgirl or stenographer who goes to the shop or office in tawdry, soiled finery and cheap jewelry, writes Constance Nicolson Lea in Canadian Courier.

"Why doesn't she wear a neat serge business dress?" they ask. And yet how often these same critical women will consider that silk blouse or befrilled skirt that has seen better days, or perhaps a half-worn old-fashioned lingerie dress "quite good enough to wear about the house."

Thank heaven, the days of the slovenly "morning wrapper," so popular fifteen or twenty years ago, have gone (we hope forever) into the shades of the past, and in its place has come the trim, trig, sensible, one-piece house dress. Made of washable material, constructed in a fashion that makes it easily ironed, this is the ideal uniform for the woman who does her own housework. They can be had at prices, too, that come within the reach of the most slender purse—from sixty-nine cents to three dollars—according to the quality of the material, and the style and cut of the dress.

There are, however, women who are devotees of the house dress, and yet never consider it necessary to give the same attention to their feet. An old pair of pumps worn down at the heels can be "finished out about the house." A pair of dress boots, perhaps with French heels, and too shabby for street wear, are quite good enough to do housework in! No wonder the groaning cry of so many house-workers is, "O my poor feet!"

Notice the boots worn by the hospital nurse. She buys shoes specially made for her work—low-heeled, wide enough to be comfortable, and made of material that will stand plenty of wear. If you stop to think of it, you will see that the average housekeeper is on her feet nearly as much as the hospital nurse, and often on hardwood floors, too.

Oh, you weary, foot-sore housewerker, go to your shoe dealer at once and be fitted with a pair of nurse's boots (with elk soles, if possible; they are so nearly noiseless), and always wear them when you are doing your housework.

They are expensive, of course—the nurse's boots. They are something you will never find on the bargain counters and it may cause your thrifty soul a pang to give away or throw away those half-worn pumps and old street boots, but you will be more than repaid by the comfort and ease of being "shod for your work." Your temper will be better, too, and your family will reap the benefit, as well as yourself.

Then there is the matter of corsets. Many women keep their old corsets for wearing in the house. An old corset may be comfortable and easy—very often it is, but sometimes it is not.

Housework is very vigorous exercise. There should be little or no restriction at the waist line, so as to give the muscles of the body free play.

All our great physical culturists advise very strongly that their different exercises for the development of the body be taken with as little clothing on as possible, and insist on the subject or patient being without a corset.

If you are too stout, or have become such a slave to your corset that you cannot possibly do without it, you might try to wear a corsetwaist about the house; but going without altogether is excellent if you can manage it. Perhaps you will have a feeling of "going all to pieces" the first few days, but persevere, and you will find in time that you will accomplish your work with less fatigue, and that the exercise taken in this way has been as beneficial to your health as an expensive course in physical culture.

Just think for a minute of the different motions a woman doing her housework has to make. Take washing, for instance; she bends over the washtub to rub the clothes; she stands erect to wring them; she bends again to the rinsing or blueing water. When she hangs the clothes out she stretches her arms up above her head to the line, then she brings them down again to the level of the clothes-basket, then she raises them again.

Take the cleaning of a room. The muscles of the waist are all used as she sweeps the floor with brisk vigorous strokes. She reaches upwards with her duster-covered broom to remove a cobweb from the ceiling. She bends nearly double to dust the rungs of the chairs, or wipe the polished edges of the floor. She reaches upwards again to dust the mantel shelf, or the piano. Every movement she makes is an exercise. Open any physical culture magazine, or any book on the development of the human body, and you will find that the exercises recommended are not very different from the movements any woman doing her own housework makes every day of her life.

The only reason that we have not a wonderfully well developed and healthy lot of house workers is that the housewerkers themselves don't realize that they are taking physical culture exercises, and their mental attitude toward their work is not that of the physical culture enthusiast, and that they are not dressed suitably for it.

Often, too, the atmosphere of the house is not healthy. Open all the windows wide and fill the rooms with fresh air. Say to yourself, "I'm not drudging at housework, but I'm taking exercise for 'reducing' or for 'developing,'" or whatever is your particular need.

With light, loose clothing, all of which has the weight falling from the shoulders, and with no tight, restricting bands anywhere, with sensible, comfortable shoes on your feet, see if your work does not run more smoothly, and if you are not healthier and happier when you are "DRESSED FOR YOUR WORK."

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

"Dear me! this high cost of living is something awful!" is the exclamation that is on every housekeeper's tongue these days. Of course we know that things are still soaring and that there is not a thing with the exception of salt that has not advanced in price, but still there are a good many little ways in which the housekeeper could reduce her weekly grocery bill. Some of the rules in housekeeping which I am sure would make more than a slight difference are these:

1. Don't run a grocery bill if you can possibly pay cash.
2. Don't use charcoal for fuel.
3. Don't let your butcher send you the cut of meat he thinks you like best; it is generally the most expensive cut, but not always the most suitable to your pocketbook.
4. Only have meat once a day and never throw away "leftovers," as these can be made up into most tasty little dishes that come in just right for supper.

Then there is another big mistake that housekeepers make; they will go to the phone and order their supplies. When the delivery boy brings them it is not what you want. In this case you should speak to your provision dealer and tell him that you pay for the best and you want the best, whereas if you let this slip by from time to time he will think that you are good-natured and do not care and will accept anything that he offers you, and will then be sending you goods that are unsaleable elsewhere. The one thing that I would impress upon housewives is this "charge system." We have to pay for everything we get sometime or other. Why not pay now? Because it is so much easier to say "charge it." You may have the money with you, but you think, "Oh, I'll just let it go till the end of the month." When the end of the month comes and the bill comes in, and of course a month's meat bill with the price of meat these days will not be a small one; in fact, you say to yourself that it is almost a small fortune. You will wish you had paid it then and there. If you want to be a good home-maker you must make housekeeping an actual business.

The Famous Twins

Dear Miss Grey,—May we trouble you to print recipes for one or two summer drinks—nice to serve when a friend drops in? Also one for oatmeal kisses? Thanks in advance We are,

SIAMESE TWINS

Ans.—Oh, you are? Well, I am sorry for you, because it must be anything but pleasant. But possibly you speak figuratively. Here are some recipes I hope you like:

Boston Cream—One and a half pounds granulated sugar, 3 quarts water, 2 ounces tartaric acid, whites of 2 eggs, 1½ teaspoons lemon essence. Boil the water and allow it to get cold, then stir in all the other ingredients (beating the egg-whites stiffly), mix well, and bottle for use. To a tumbler half-filled with cold water, allow two tablespoons of the cream, and a pinch of soda added just before drinking.

Handy Lemonade—One ounce tartaric acid, two pounds white castor sugar, quarter-ounce essence of lemon; mix dry. One dessertspoonful will make a glass.

Oatmeal Kisses—One and a half cups of sugar, 1 tablespoon of butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup of sour cream, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1 teaspoon of baking powder, 2 cups of oatmeal, 2 cups of flour. Drop on the pan.

Wants a Copy.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Can you or any of the readers give me a copy of the piece, "Mrs. Brown's Change and Rest"? It was published in The Advertiser some time ago, but we lost it. It was in two parts, I think. I will inclose stamped addressed envelope for same.

2. Can anyone tell me how to clean a Panama hat that is soiled?

3. How can I remove a light spot in a grey serge dress?

Lastly, how is my writing? Will sign myself, ETOILE.

Ans.—1. Very fortunately, I have saved an extra copy, which I am glad to send you.

2. I fancy you will find this a successful method: Wipe all the loose soil from your hat with a clean, damp cloth. Pour a little peroxide into a saucer, and with a bit of rag or small brush scrub a little of the hat's surface. Then wipe with a rag wrung out of clear water. Go over the hat a little at a time, until all is clean.

3. If the light spot is due to a drop of acid or other liquid which has caused the color to fade, I fear nothing will restore it. If a grease spot, to sponge with gasoline is good. Before applying, rub chalk or magnesia around the edge of the stain, and there is less danger of a "ring" forming.

4. Writing shows promise of improvement as you grow older. Now, do not be offended, "Etoile," if I think your penmanship is in the "transition" period. If I'm wrong I'll apologize.

Here's An Anti.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am returning the two crochet patterns which I received with "Curly Nig's" copy of the butterfly, which was O. K. I was very glad to get them. I know a very pretty round yoke pattern of wheels, and if anyone cares for it, I would copy instructions. It is not difficult. I have been sewing and knitting for the Red Cross, but just now I am very busy in the garden.

"Some of the readers were discussing their favorite books and authors. My favorite author is Dickens. Some books which I have read and like very much are "Thelma," "At the Mercy of Tiberius," "Near to Nature's Heart," "David Copperfield," "Oliver Twist" and the Elsie books.

I do not believe in votes for women. I wonder if "Sylvia P." couldn't convert me? They would vote for Mr. So-and-So "because he has pretty eyes," while the one best fitted for the job would be turned down because they say he doesn't get along with his wife. The only women who ought to vote are widows and maiden ladies who own property. And possibly there might be a few "I. O. G.'s" who intend to settle down to raise chickens and lead a life of single blessedness. However, I'll give that a rest at present, or "Sylvia" will be down on me with both feet.

I could send anyone who recites two or three humorous poems and some pathetic ones. Also the reading "How Ruby Played," which is humorous too. Just a question or two, and I must be off:

1. When a man thanks a girl for a dance, what should she say?

2. Could you suggest a nice way to make a white voile dress?

Thanking you, I am,

134TH HIGHLAND GIRL.

Ans.—Oh, "Highland Girl," what, I wonder, have the poor married women done to be denied privileges granted their spinster and widowed sisters? Would not the two latter classes be rather more apt to vote for the pretty-eyed man than she with a home and family to look after? Especially if the candidate were an "eligible," would it be safe to trust widows and spinsters to vote in their country's best interests? Now, now, Lass, take the joke as it is meant.

I am glad to hear you tell of favorite books. Reading meant so much to me when a girl, and the selection was perhaps not always a wise one. One volume I'm waiting to hear some of you girls mention is "Robinson Crusoe," by Defoe. Now, do not laugh and tell me it is a boy's book, for if girls fail to find it fascinating too I am sorry—for the girls.

Answering your queries: 1. The girl might say "Thanks; I enjoyed it too," or "Thank you, it was very pleasant."

2. A very attractive yet not over-elaborate style, is by making the skirt with two series of wide tucks, say three around the hips and four lower down, the last one leaving a good space above the hem. The blouse has a vestee and broad low collar of any dainty material, is made with a front panel, ornamented with fancy buttons, and two wide tucks at each side, passing beneath the arms and around the back. Sleeves are long, with a few tucks on the inside of the elbow, and finished at the wrist with a cuff to match the collar. Collar and cuffs may be finished with a frill, and dainty ribbon to match the girdle run into a beading.

N. Y. POUNDS ALEXANDER

Pirates Come Strong in Ninth and Almost Beat Reds—Braves Come Back.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26. — New York took first place in the National League race from Philadelphia by winning the first game today, 4 to 3, but the home team regained the lead by winning the second game, which went ten innings, 6 to 5. Alexander suffered his third straight defeat in the opening contest. In the second event New York drove Mayer off the rubber after Philadelphia had taken a lead of three runs in the first inning. The home team rallied in the eighth inning, and tied the score. With Stock on third in the tenth, Whitted was purposely walked, and Stock scored the deciding tally on Rariden's passed ball.

LITTLE SHOW FOR RACING AT ST. THOMAS THIS YEAR

Elgin Driving Association Likely To Go Into Liquidation.

ST. THOMAS, June 26.—At a meeting of the directors of the Elgin Driving Association, Limited, held today, the following resolution was carried:

"That a meeting of the shareholders of the Elgin Driving Association, Limited, be called for Thursday, July 5, to consider the advisability of going into liquidation, as the present outlook, in the opinion of the directors, does not warran carrying on the business of the association further."

Following the adoption of the resolution, a special general meeting of the shareholders has been called for the date mentioned. According to the view taken by the directors, horse racing on the Canadian circuits is for the present a dead letter, and should the majority of shareholders share these views, there will probably be no more race meets held here. The association will go into liquidation and the track sold.

OPENING GODERICH GREENS.

GODERICH, June 26.—The first bowling tournament among the local bowlers will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the new greens of the club on Picton street, which have been put in fine shape for the season. These grounds formerly were a portion of the tennis club's grounds and make fine greens.

Ty Cobb Hits Safe in Twenty-Second Consecutive Game.

INDIANS GRAB OFF TWO

Browns Again Victims of Cleveland—Walter Johnson in Limelight at Boston.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb hit safely in both games of a double-header here today with Chicago, and as a result holds a record of safe hitting in 22 consecutive games. Cobb's phenomenal streak began in New York in the first game of the series there on May 31. He has made one or more hits in each game since then. In today's bill the Georgian made three hits, two of which came in the first game, which Detroit won, 9 to 2. Chicago took the second contest 4 to 3. Scores:

First game— R. H. E.
Detroit ..... 0 3 1 1 1 0 0 0 3—9 16 0

N. Y. TRIMS ATHLETICS FOR SEVEN STRAIGHT

NEW YORK, June 26. — New York defeated Philadelphia here today 7 to 6 for the seventh straight game. After the Athletics had played an uphill game and took the lead in the ninth, New York won in the second half by scoring three runs on a base on balls to Nunamaker, three singles, a wild pitch and a wild throw by Witt. Strunk hit a home run and two singles, scored three runs, and accepted seven chances in centre field. Score: R. H. E.
Philadelphia. 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 3 2—6 16 1
New York .. 3 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 3—7 9 2

MISTAH JOHNSON ARRIVED ON TIME

BOSTON, June 26. — Washington defeated Boston today, 3 to 2, largely through a timely hit by Walter Johnson in the ninth inning, which scored what proved to be the winning run, after Johnson had relieved Pitcher Shaw in the eighth inning, with the score 2 to 1 in his team's favor. Score:

Washington. 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—3 12 1
Boston ..... 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—2 11 1
Shaw, Johnson and Ainsmith; Mays and Thomas.

BROWNS STILL SLEDDING; INDIANS GREASED SKID

CLEVELAND, June 26.—Cleveland took two games from St. Louis here today, 5 to 2 and 9 to 2. Sothoron had Cleveland shut out in the first game until the eighth inning, when a combination of hits and errors by Moore, recruit third baseman, gave the locals five runs. Poor work by substitute outfielders allowed Cleveland to win the second game in the eighth inning. The scores:

First game— R. H. E.
St. Louis ... 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—2 7 3
Cleveland ... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 5 x—5 7 3

Cleveland ... 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 x—6 11 0
Groom and Severoid; Lambeth, Morton, Coveleskie and Billings, O'Neill.

COVELESKIE IS ANOTHER WALSH, SAYS V. GREGG

"Stan Coveleskie is a second Ed Walsh, and easily the best spitball pitcher in the American League, I don't care what anybody says," remarked Van Gregg, former Nap southpaw, but now with the Providence club.

Gregg, by the way, is pitching good ball for the Providence International leaguers. He admits that he possesses only about half the stuff he uncorked when he was in the big show, but adds, "I can get by all right in my league."

Coveleskie has thus far fulfilled all predictions made early this season. Foht is careful not to work him out of turn and there is every reason to believe that when the final bell rings Covey will be found right up among the topnotchers.

HICKSON LOSES PROTEST TO TIGERS

TAVISTOCK, June 26.—A meeting of the representatives of the different teams in the North Oxford Baseball League was held in Hickson last evening to decide the protest entered by the Hickson team against the local Tigers. The claim was the game should have been Hickson's on these grounds:

1. That a certain player, Chester Harris, was not a resident of Tavistock before May 1.

2. That the Tavistock team did unnecessarily waste time and then have the umpire call the game.

3. That the run counted by a forced run by a player being hit at bat when the bases were full.

Tavistock, Innerkip, Hickson, 12th Line and Embro were all represented, but no representatives of Plattsville appeared. Tavistock won the first two points by 3 to 2, but the last point Innerkip did not vote, and the president, G. King gave the deciding vote in favor of the Tigers.

Another game of the series was scheduled for tonight, Embro playing here, but owing to the rain the game

LEONARD-KILBANE SCRAP SHOULD BE REAL BATTLE

The clash of two champions—the best pugilistic attraction of the past five years outside of the heavyweight division—will be staged at Canton, Ohio, July 4, when Benny Leonard, king of lightweights, and Johnny Kilbane, the best featherweight since the palmy days of Abe Attell, meet in what is scheduled to be a 12-round encounter.

This bout attracts interest for the very reason that for the first time in recent years there is an excellent chance of a title changing hands in a limited number of rounds with referee's decision barred.

Not Afraid of Title.

Leonard's acceptance of this match so soon after he annexed the title, shows that we have one champion who is not afraid to risk his title. Leonard is confident that he can defend the crown and is going to give worthy challengers a chance to prove otherwise.

How much difference there is in the action of Leonard and Welsh in this respect. Welsh went almost three years fighting 10-round no-decision bouts, usually against second raters, and he would still be fighting such men in short battles if he had not been flattened by Leonard in a bout in which he hoped to stall through ten rounds. But Leonard, immediately after beating Welsh, accepts a contest with the greatest featherweight of recent years, who has a knockout punch and is fast and clever enough to land it.

Is Rare Fight Morsel.

No bout that could be staged at the present time could furnish the fans with a more choice fistic morsel than this rather unique engagement. Two champions—each clever, fast, a hard hitter, aggressive and the possessor of a knockout wallop—will attempt by a single blow to reach the pinnacle of pugilistic fame.

No greater honor could be earned in the ring than for one champion to win decisively over a rival of a weight near his own, and especially is this true if Kilbane is able to put Leonard away inside of twelve rounds.

But this bout was expected. Kilbane threatened to retire unless he could meet Leonard, while Leonard, like Kilbane, appears to be in a class by himself in his own division. It likely will be the lightweight champion's last battle before he goes to fight for Uncle Sam.

PORT HURON, June 26.—The Shortship races scheduled here for today were postponed on account of rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PITCHING IS BEST

The American League is maintaining a stretch of pitching in the present season that for effectiveness has known no parallel. The Ban Johnson circuit is getting better pitching than the National League. Thirty-eight shut-outs were marked up to the credit of American League flingers to June 15.

Of the four no-hit games which have been registered this season, three have been filed in the archives of the American League. The three one-hit games have all gone to the credit of the American League.

LES DARCY LOST $4,000 IN AMERICA

Probably no promoter in recent years has a record equal to that of Al Lippe, formerly manager of Abe Attell, who is now handling the affairs of Jeff Smith. Lippe has staged boxing matches in all parts of the country, and was one of the first managers to furnish an American boxer for an entertainment in Paris. He was behind Smith when the latter won from Les Darcy in Australia. Speaking of Darcy, Lippe says:

"It was indeed a sad blow for the friends of Les Darcy when he was taken from this earth in the prime of his youth. He was a fine boy, unused to the ways of the world. Whatever mistakes he made were of the head and not from the heart. He wanted to treat everyone right.

"Darcy was the victim of a lot of schemers, who sought to use him in the effort to gain notoriety and attention. They had no right to chase him from one state to another, and the way they treated him was an outrage. When Darcy was matched to meet Smith in New Orleans the promoter was told that he would never be allowed to pull off another fight if Darcy was permitted. The match was at once declared off.

"It cost Darcy $4,000 during his stay in America, but he did not earn a nickel. Those who gave him work failed to pay him and he still has a lot of money due him which should be paid to his relatives. He was a great fighter, and I am sorry that he did not get a chance to show his goods in America."

WEINERT DISQUALIFIED FOR FOULING FULTON

BUFFALO, June 26.—Charley Weinert of Newark, N.J., was disqualified for fouling in the second round of a scheduled ten-round boxing match with Fred Fulton of Minnesota here tonight. Weinert repeatedly, cautioned by the referee, continued to hit low, apparently intentionally. The first round had been about even, with both men taking considerable punishment. Fulton weighed 212 pounds, and Weinert 190.

DEVELOPING TENNIS STARS.

TAVISTOCK, June 26.—The A. B. C. Tennis Club of Knox Church has already begun work on its grounds. One court is finished and the other one will be completed in a few days. The members are already enjoying an occasional game and they expect to have a big tournament in the course of a few weeks. They have two exceptional teams of male players. These will likely play with Wellesley next Saturday if the weather is fine.

ATHLETIC TRAINING HELPED BRITISH ARMY

Says Capt. Ian Hay, Author of "The First Hundred Thousand."

That the British army would not have been able to grin and bear the punishment in the first chapter of the war, when the Germans hurled back five shells for every one, unless the men had been trained mentally and physically by sport, is the message Capt. Ian Hay Beith, of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, brings to the athletes of America.

The visitor is better known as Ian Hay, the author of "The First Hundred Thousand." He has had practical experience of both sport and war. At Cambridge university, in time of peace, he was captain of the St. John's College eight, and was tried in the 'varsity boat, but the combination of his height—6 feet 2 inches—and slight weight—140 pounds—was too much of a handicap.

He played rugby for his college. He learned about war during a year at the front, when things were worst for the Allies.

"Whenever the men get a chance," he explains, "they kick a football around. It is fine exercise for loosening out the muscles and joints, cramped by long confinement in the trenches. During the longer rests we are supposed to get a month in every three to recuperate. The officers organize football competitions like the league, and cup tournaments played in time of peace in English-speaking countries.

"When the American troops begin to arrive there ought to be some interesting sport, with an international flavor, behind the lines," suggested the visitor, with a Lauderlike twinkle in his Scotch eye. "A tug-of-war or boxing match, American vs. Briton, ought to have all the thrill inseparable from competitions between John Bull and Uncle Sam."

BRITISHERS MAKE RAID AND CAPTURE BULGARS

PARIS, June 26.—The French official statement from Macedonia says:

"Eastern theatre, June 25.—Quite intense cannonading on both sides took place in the region of the Vardar and the Cerna Bend, where a strong Bulgarian reconnaissance, which attempted to enter our trenches, was dispersed with rifles and grenades. The British troops carried out to the east of Lake Doiran a successful raid, in which they made about a dozen Bulgarians prisoners."

THIN PEOPLE CAN NOW INCREASE WEIGHT
From 15 to 40 Pounds in 60 Days—Easy and Simple and Perfectly Safe—Just Try It.

All this "eat and grow thin" talk going the rounds nowadays is a merry joke to the thousands of thin, underweight, undeveloped men and women who eat three good, square, hearty meals a day yet cannot put a single pound of healthy, stay-there fat between their skin and bones. Reliable information on how to "eat and grow fat" is what they are seeking for their meals don't seem to do them a bit of good.

Due to recent important discoveries in food chemistry it is at last possible to scientifically turn the fats in the food into fat on the body, and most any thin man or woman can by following this easy system readily and quickly add from 15 to 40 pounds of healthy flesh to their weight. This new flesh-making force is known to physicians and druggists as Saltogyn and the way it increases the weight of thin people is remarkable. Through its regenerative, reconstructive powers Saltogyn gently but firmly induces the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of food and pass them right into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of the body. Saltogyn is not a medicine but a real flesh food and a few grains should be mixed with the food at each meal and thoroughly chewed before swallowing. Notice how quickly after taking the cheeks begin to fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over the entire body, covering each bony angle and projecting point.

Saltogyn is both pleasant to take and harmless and inexpensive as well. A ten days' supply can be obtained here in London from Standard Drug stores and leading druggists everywhere under an absolute guarantee of an increase in weight or money back.

NOTE.—While because of its nutritive action on the nerve cells Saltogyn has been very widely prescribed in nervous troubles and particularly for nervous indigestion, it should not be used for such purpose over five days at a time unless the patient is also willing to increase at least ten pounds in weight.

Kaiser Anxious To Please 'Old Fritz' in Elysian Fields

Urges Troops on Western Front Not to Let Loose Their Hold.

AMSTERDAM, June 26.—Emperor William on June 21 in reviewing troops on the western front made a speech in which, according to a Berlin telegram today, he said:

"I express to the troops gathered here my fullest appreciation of their conduct and fill my firm confidence that they as hitherto, whenever they may be employed, will, trusting in God, do their duty and succeed in gaining the peace for the fatherland which we need for its development."

In conclusion the emperor is quoted as saying:

"I am especially delighted to be able once more to congratulate the well-tried dragoon regiment of Bayreuth of Hohenfriedeberg fame. When in the late summer of 1916 I sent the Borecki squadron to Rumania, I gave it on the way my order to maintain at all costs the old tradition wherever it might be and to gain fresh laureis if possible. The regiment fulfilled the expectations of its supreme war lord and accomplished deeds which will please "Old Fritz" up there in the Elysian fields. May it keep this up. We shall not let loose our hold until a happy peace is granted."

MAY PASS THIS WEEK

Will Allow President to Permit Manufacture at His Discretion.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The administration food control bill passed by the House was re-written today by a Senate agriculture sub-committee so as to give President Wilson the power and responsibility of deciding whether the nation shall be "bone dry" during the war and to place iron and steel and many other products, in addition to food and fuel, under Government control. These and other changes are so satisfactory to many senators who have been opposing the original draft of the legislation that both advocates and opponents tonight predicted passage in the Senate by Saturday.

As a substitute for the House prohibition sections, which, without qualification, forbid the manufacture of foodstuffs into liquor, the sub-committee adopted provisions which would prohibit manufacture during the war of all intoxicating beverages, and empower the president to commandeer existing supplies of distilled spirits, but would authorize the executive in his discretion to permit manufacture of malted, fermented and vinous beverages and fix their alcoholic content.

Opponents Converted.

As re-written, the sub-committee draft will be considered tomorrow by the agriculture committee and probably will be reported at once for Senate discussion without material change.

Senators Gore, Smith of Georgia and others prominent in the bitter fight against the legislation have announced their support for the redrafted measure.

For the House prohibition plan the sub-committee substitute provides:

"That from and after thirty days from the date of the approval of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use in the manufacture of any intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes any perishable or non-perishable feeds, foods or food materials.

President Can Rule.

"Whenever the president shall find it unnecessary to conserve the perishable products named, he is empowered to permit the use of such products in the manufacture of vinous liquors.

"Whenever, in the judgment of the president, the public interest would be subserved, thereby, he is empowered to permit the limited use of the materials mentioned in the manufacture of malt or fermented liquors and to prescribe the alcoholic content thereof."

Another section adopted would authorize the president to take over any or all distilled spirits now in bond, upon payment of a reasonable and just price to distillers, for re-distillation into alcohol for war, industrial or other non-beverage purposes.

BRITAIN WILL NOT TAKE REPRISALS OF THE PRUSSIAN KIND

Former Chairman of Air Board Replies to Query.

MILITARY RAIDS WILL DO

Air Service Is Doing Untold Damage Behind Enemy's Lines.

LONDON, June 26.—No intention of yielding to the widespread demands for reprisals on German towns for the German air raids on England was shown in a debate on the subject today in the House of Commons. The question having been raised by Lord Stratchie, Baron Sydenham, former chairman of the air board, deprecated the policy of reprisals. He said he felt sure that in future years the British would be thankful they had not lowered themselves to the level of the Germans. Furthermore, it was not generally realized that bombing reprisals of a military nature were a systematic and a daily occurrence behind the German lines. He invited the government to tell the country something about these operations.

Not to Imitate Brutality.

In behalf of the government, the Earl of Derby, Minister of War, expressed belief that the whole country would associate itself with the suggestion that England should not try to imitate German brutality. He added on the authority of the head of the air-craft service in France, that for every bomb the Germans dropped behind the British lines the British dropped a hundred behind the German lines. This bombing, he said, had a solely military object and the government considered that nothing should be done to tie the hands of the military authorities in the employment of the aircraft at their disposal in the best way to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

Baron Montagu said it was absolute humbug to talk of London being an undefended town, and he declared that the Germans had a perfect right to raid it. He contended that the system of air defence was at fault. What was wanted was an independent air board under a strong and single central control.

Enemy Flooding Plain Between Avion and Lens

Germans Fighting for Lens Like a Wolf in a Corner.

[By Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.]

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 26.—Realizing his danger, the German commander is fighting for Lens like a wolf in a corner. Lens gone means that a large sector will have to be abandoned. So, inside a salient somewhere resembling the shape of a dog's head, the Germans are hanging on till the last hope goes glimmering.

The Canadians took La Coulotte this morning at 7, their patrols pushing on eastward towards Avion, while other British troops advanced down the eastern slope of Hill 65.

Plains Are Flooded.

The Germans have extended the floods with water from the River Souchez until the plain between Avion and Lens is well covered. The mill city on the western fringe of Lens has been razed by order of the German higher command, so that the machine guns may have a clean sweep at the British as they approach. Lens itself is a mass of ruins. The walls still stand, but the city is roofless.

Whole rows of houses have been levelled, that the field guns may obtain wider ranges. The entire city has been converted into a German fortress, in which each ruined house is a machine gun emplacement, and every cellar and sub-cellar a refuge.

Take Every Advantage.

For weeks the British refrained from shelling Lens, but the German taking advantage of the sentiment, brought their guns into the town, razed houses about the gunpits, and then blazed away safely. Recently, therefore, the British guns have trained their sights on the gun positions hidden in the mining capital. The German losses in the Lens salient are heavy, and new drafts are constantly demanded. Prisoners say that they had been promised peace definitely by September.

NORWAY IS ABLAZE WITH INDIGNATION OVER GERMAN PLOTS

Ton of Explosives Found in All Shapes.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, June 26. — Discovery of the German plot to destroy Norwegian steamers by explosion, unearthed late last week, has appalled the whole nation. The newspapers demand publication of all the facts in the case and of the steps which are being taken to bring the matter to the attention of the German Government.

In all, a ton of explosives has been discovered, concealed in artificial lumps of coal, which presumably were to be placed in ships' bunkers, and in bombs fitted with the most ingenious mechanism.

It has developed that a trunk full of explosives was brought to Christiania in February by a courier of the German foreign office, whose official seal was on the trunk. The trunk was addressed to the German embassy here, and, according to international usage, it was admitted without examination.

After the discovery of the explosives the German embassy declared the trunk was destined for Finland, but no explanation was given as to why it had remained here so long.

The explosives were found in all manner of articles, including glass vials, fountain pens, pencils, cigarettes and tobacco.

At the examination of Aron Rautenfels, a German citizen, and others arrested in connection with the case, it was admitted that explosives were also to have been placed in steamers bound for America.

INCENDIARY SUSPECTED IN BAD WINDSOR FIRE

Home of Friendless Threatened by Blaze, Which Destroys Coal Yard.

WINDSOR, June 26.—Fire thought to be of incendiary origin completely destroyed the extensive feed sheds and coalyard of Louis Kaplan on Wyandotte street east at 11 o'clock tonight, entailing a loss estimated at $4,000.

The Home of the Friendless, which adjoins the Kaplan buildings, was threatened by flying embers and Matron Morphy had a strenuous time with a dozen or more aged inmates, whom she roused from bed and sent out into the streets fully dressed, as it was feared the institution would go. Good work by the firemen kept the fire from extending outside the Kaplan block.

DRINKING TEA UPSET NERVES

Mr. Burroughs Compares Canadian Customs With Those in Old Land, and Tells How Nerves Were Set Right.

Orillia, Ont., April 12.—"How to be well and strong?" is the question many are asking at this time of year, and in this letter you will find the answer.

It tells something of the blood-forming, nerve-invigorating influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great restorative which is causing so much talk here just now.

Nature's way of curing disease is by building up the vitality of the body, and this is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. The blood is made rich and red, and it nourishes the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor.

The experience of Mr. Burroughs as described in this letter is similar to that of hundreds of others in this community who have recently put this well-known food cure to the test.

Mr. George Burroughs, 23 Peter street, Orillia, Ont., writes: "A few years ago, after coming out to this country from England, the change of customs seemed to have some effect on me. In the old country the habit of drinking strong tea was prevalent, and after arriving here I suffered very much from nervousness. If I put my arm down on the table it would shake very noticeably, and while performing my work I would easily tire, and want to sit down and rest. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I secured some and took a treatment. It built me up and made me strong and healthy. I have not had a trace of the nervousness since. I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment also, and find that it heals the skin very quickly. In fact, I find all of Dr. Chase's medicines good."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Gillette

Are You Using the Razor Chosen by the Allied Armies?

ONLY proven efficiency survives in this war. Men, weapons and equipment must make good beyond question—or go to the scrap heap. A year's active service is a sterner test than a decade of peace!

Beyond all question the Gillette has proved itself the Razor of the Great War—in all the Allied Armies, on all the Fronts. Gillette Razors and Blades have gone Overseas in a steady stream from Canada and the United States—by thousands, by hundreds of thousands and by millions!

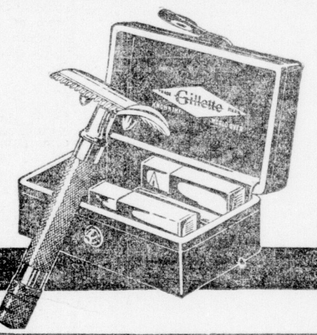

Compact enough for the lightest kit—always keen—always ready for instant action—the Gillette has served with the fighting men everywhere. On the firing lines its clean, smooth, refreshing shave is relished as a bit of home comfort in the wilderness.

To you—the man in Canada—the Gillette Safety Razor offers just the same advantages that have won such favor Overseas. There is not a man living with a beard to shave who cannot shave better with a Gillette—if he will use it correctly, with a light grip and the sliding, angle stroke. If there is a man who is not enthusiastic over the Gillette, it is probably because he has not caught this simple knack of using it.

If you already have a Gillette Safety Razor yourself, you'll appreciate how much some lad you know Overseas would enjoy one as a gift from you. 253

Dyspepsia Man's Greatest Enemy

Is Most Prevalent of All Present-Day Diseases, Declares L. T. Cooper—Victims Are Whimsical and Melancholy, and Suffer Great Mental Depression—Disease Can Be Cured, He Says.

Explaining the record-breaking purchase of Tanlac by the Standard Drug Stores and Lyman Bros. Company, Limited, Toronto, and the leading wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States, Mr. E. C. Harris, representing the Canadian distributor of Tanlac, stated last night that the hundreds of questions now being asked all over London make it imperative that some explanation be made to satisfy public interest.

Speaking of Tanlac, he said: "Thousands of the prominent people—in fact, people representing all walks of life—in the larger cities of the country, where the celebrated medicine has been accomplishing such remarkable results, are even more enthusiastic over Tanlac than Mr. Cooper himself.

"In explanation of this, it should be stated that Tanlac is believed to be the first actually direct specific for catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes and the complications which follow them.

"Catarrh of the stomach is one of the most frequent causes of dyspepsia and catarrhal inflammation of the nose and throat leads to inevitable complications, such as kidney and liver affections, rheumatism, etc.

"Show me a man whose eyes are inflamed, whose sense of smell and hearing is affected, and I will show you a man who is suffering from catarrh. Frequently the lungs become involved by the extension of the catarrhal inflammation or germs to the lung substance. Specialists concede this, but it has remained for Tanlac, and Tanlac alone, to provide the remedy, as has been so conclusively and convincingly proven by the hundreds of thousands who have been relieved by its use."

At this point Mr. Harris quoted from one of Mr. Cooper's recent lectures, in which he said:

"'Of all the distressing conditions that afflict humanity, catarrh of the stomach, or what is more commonly known as chronic dyspepsia, is probably the most prevalent. This most universal malady has baffled the medical profession for years, and the most skilled specialists have been unable to cope with it successfully.'

"Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and physical, of the sufferers of chronic dyspepsia and their failure to heretofore get relief. A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervousness and physical suffering, is the usual condition of the average dyspeptic, and life seems scarcely worth the living.

"Dyspepsia, or indigestion, as the case may be, is caused by the taking of too much food, or unsuitable food, and the mucous membrane of the stomach becomes irritated, and there is set up an acute or subacute gastric catarrhal condition which prevents the proper digestion of the food.

"This food is apt to ferment and decompose, and as a result the familiar distressing symptoms of dyspepsia may arise. In mild cases there is nothing more than an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, with a certain amount of depression, headache, loss of appetite, perhaps belching or gas and occasional vomiting. These may be also accompanying intestinal symptoms, such as pains in the back, colic, etc. There may be only the familiar heartburn, due to the inflammation of the stomach from excessive gases of fermentation or putrefaction.

"In the most severe cases—those that last over a day or two—the symptoms enumerated may be much more intense. The distress may be marked and the general constitutional symptoms more evident. When this stage is reached the loss of appetite, the mental depression and the general uncomfortable feeling in the stomach are much more pronounced. This is particularly true in acute gastritis.

"It frequently occurs from continued errors in diet that this condition becomes chronic, and the symptoms persist for an indefinite period; the appetite is very apt to be varied, although at times very good. Heartburn is frequent, if not constant, the stomach is painful on pressure; the tongue is coated, there is a bad taste in the mouth, and there are changes in the amount of salivary secretion.

"Most cases of dyspepsia can be cured if the diet is properly looked after and with the proper treatment. Proper eating and the proper amount of food are the most important features in the treatment. Most people eat too fast and eat too much.

"There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next, it enables a weak, worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest the food, promoting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle."

Tanlac is now sold in London by the Standard Drug Stores.

HAD BOILS FOR SIX MONTHS

B. B. B. DROVE THEM AWAY

When the blood becomes impure the very first symptoms which manifest themselves are a breaking out of various forms of skin trouble such as boils, pimples, sores, etc., and to get rid of these troubles you must cleanse the blood thoroughly with a good blood remedy.

The best blood cleansing remedy on the market today is Burdock Blood Bitters.

Thousands of people from one end of Canada to the other have used it during the past forty years, and have nothing but words of praise for its cleansing properties.

Mr. Rufus Beers, Upper Main River, N. B., writes: "I want to say a few words about your medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters. I had boils for over six months and sometimes was so bad I could not work. I tried lots of cures, but nothing would drive them away for good until I took B. B. B. In a short time I was all better. It is a dandy medicine. I keep it in the house all the time."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont., but so well and favorably is it known that there are many imitations on the market. See that our name appears on the wrapper.

General Want Wonders

why some people still take the long, hard, round-about way of house-hunting by tramping back and forth through certain sections instead of going straight to the want page of The Advertiser, where a long list of available dwelling places is always found under "To Let Houses."

Desirable vacancies are mostly advertised in The Advertiser.

To meet with certain success, consult The Advertiser each day or place an ad stating the kind of apartment or house you desire. Either way is bound to save you time and bother, and is the right way to go about house-hunting.

Your ad under For Sale Houses or Flats will solve your problem.

PRIVATE FRED YOUNG CHEERS UP AT PROSPECT OF GETTING BACK TO THE FIRING LINE

Interesting sidelights on passing events in England, and elsewhere, are contained in a recent letter from Pte. Fred Young, who again favors Advertiser readers with his whimsical observations on the happenings of the day. The British jacktars have begun to get the upperhand of the U-boats, according to Fred Young's letter, who states that meatless days have been abolished in England, and that fresh meat rations are being issued to the men occasionally. The arrival of a budget of Advertisers brought great joy to the boys in camp, joy that was only clouded when the news of the death of Joe Walters was read.

Pte. Young has again "interviewed" the medical board, with the result that he has been given a higher rating physically, and states that his prospects of going back to France are much brighter. He writes as follows:

News Worth the Price.

Dear Friend,—Although there has been no news of spectacular advances at the front this week, we feel that the sixpence spent in newspapers fully justifies its expenditure.

Cable news from America, announcing the success of registration day in Uncle Sam's land, and reports that conscription was becoming a vital question in Canada, made interesting reading to the boys from the western hemisphere, while the king's birthday anniversary, the personal decoration of heroes by his majesty, and the anniversary of Kitchener's death, were main topics of conversation with the man on the street.

News from France that her rulers had demanded with calm dignity that Alsace and Lorraine must be restored and full reparation be made for damage done in the present war, before a question of peace can be entertained, shows that the Russian propaganda is not taking root on the bloodstained soil of France.

The Socialists who hired a hall in Leeds, Yorkshire, in order to utilize their headgear as megaphones, seemed to belong to the same lodge as the Ford "flivverites," and accomplished just about as much. We have no objection to the word "social" when used in conjujnction with the noun "glass," but outside that there's nothing doing. We feel that the real, present-day, spirit of Britain was expressed by the archbishop of Canterbury, at a memorial service at Folkestone, for the victims of the air raid, when he said that the people of that vicinity would not be terrified by Hun frightfulness, but would prove to the world that they were worthy of the honor of living in that bit of England that was nearest the enemy. No flivverism about that.

Meatless Days Abolished.

Today's papers show that Fritz's daylight air raids are far too costly to him to be repeated very often, as his aviators meet the fate of the zepps of former days. This week's list of vessels sunk by the U-boats show that the old sea dogs of Britain are still gaining on the Hun pirates, food supplies are reaching these shores in larger quantities, and meatless days have been abolished. We get fresh meat rations occasionally, but our irrepressible pal declares that the bovines which furnish the carcasses for army consumption all die of rheumatism, or some equally painful death. Here's hoping that they will soon abolish sugarless tea, cowless milk and springless bedboards. We should feel almost human again if they did.

We regret to report that the deplorable rivalry amongst unscrupulous storekeepers as to who can be the most unpatriotic food profiteers, has shot the price of necessities out of the reach of everyone except munition workers. We have heard of "class distinctions" in England, in which the nobility refused to have any dealings with people who had made their money as tradesmen." At one time we attributed their actions to snobbishness, but actual contact with storekeepers has caused us to change our mind, and we have decided that we will not attend any church where they employ storekeepers as church wardens to take up the collection.

For nearly three weeks our inquiries, re the arrival of Canadian mail, were answered in the negative. Pessimists whined about U-boats, but our unshakeable faith in the British navy was rewarded this week, when home letters of May 1st, 8th and 15th, accompanied by 'Tisers from April 26th to May 18th, inclusive, were placed in our hands. Home news is always eagerly devoured, and the arrival of the home town paper hailed with delight.

News of Joe Walters' Death.

We have sometimes thought that familiarity with carnage and sudden death had somewhat calloused our nature, but a thick mist swam before our eyes as we read that "Joe" Walters, of the 'Tiser staff, had paid the supreme price on the field of honor. Sorrow and pride struggled for mastery in our feelings as we thought of the words of Horatius at the Bridge of Thermopylae.

You will probably be interested to learn that our last interview with the "medical board" raised our category to B III., and we are now posted to full duty at Canadian headquarters, Hastings, "on command." Our chances of returning to France are very much in the ascendancy, and as an old friend you won't mind if we once again reiterate our old slogan that "a fellow isn't beaten till his shoulders touch the mat," will you?

This doesn't mean that we have sold ourself body and soul to militarism. Nix. For nearly three years we have cheerfully and voluntarily borne the yoke of military necessity because we feel that our cause is just.

And we have had the unspeakable privilege of hearing the dying words of pals who freely gave their life that "justice" might be maintained on earth. Some day, perhaps, we shall be able to grip your hand and make you feel the thrill we experience in calling those men "pals," whose dying words breathed the spirit expressed by Kipling, when he wrote:

"I'd not give room to an emperor,
I'd hold my road for a king;
To a triple crown I'd not bow down,
But this is a different thing.

Yours as ever,
FRED YOUNG.

GREEK KING WILLING TO GRANT DEMANDS OF ENTENTE POWERS

Venizelos To Be Premier of New Ministry.

Athens, June 27.—The resignation of Premier Zaimis was occasioned by his decision that he could not assume responsibility for convocation of the Parliament of May 31, 1915, which King Constantine dissolved. M. Jonnart, diplomatic representative of the Allies, demanded the assembling of this Parliament, in which M. Venizelos had a majority. In resigning, M. Zaimis announced that King Alexander was willing to comply with all the demands of the Entente. It is understood that M. Venizelos will be premier, Nicholas Politis, foreign minister of the Provisional Government, set up at Saloniki by M. Venizelos, probably will have the foreign portfolio in the Venizelos cabinet. It is expected Admiral Coundouriotis will be minister of marine, and Gen. Danglis, minister of war, or chief of the general staff.

Neither the archbishop of Athens nor members of the holy synod, who took part in the anathematizing of M. Venizelos, will be present at the administration of the oath. They will resign. Cretan gendarmes will act as a bodyguard for M. Venizelos. Proceedings have been instituted against the ringleaders in the recent demonstration.

ENORMOUS PROFITS IN THE SALE OF SULPHITE BY NEWS PRINT MILLS

Ottawa, June 27.—Before the Pringle commission of inquiry into the newsprint situation today, George Millen of the E. B. Eddy Company was further examined on the question of sulphite, on which it is evident the mills are getting an enormous profit. Mr. Millen stated that his company manufactured for its own use, but did not sell sulphite, but the price would be $70 or $80 per ton. Sulphite costs from $45 to $50 per ton, and is being sold at from $70 to $100. In answer to a question by the commissioner the witness said that in his opinion 25 to 30 per cent would be a fair profit. Mr. Pringle remarked that according to figures quoted by some companies the profit was from 50 to 100 per cent.

PRESBYTERY PICNIC ARRANGED—The London Presbytery will hold its June meeting and annual picnic on Tuesday next at Port Stanley. The presbytery will convene for business at 10 o'clock, adjourning for a picnic lunch, in which wives and daughters of members will participate at 12:30 o'clock. The afternoon will be devoted to sports as usual, Revs. W. R. McIntosh, London; S. H. Eastman, Port Stanley, and W. A. Bremner, St. Thomas, having charge of these features.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Regina, June 26.—The Liberal Government has been returned in Saskatchewan in a sweeping victory.

Premier W. M. Martin was elected in this city over J. F. L. Embury by 926 majority, the vote being: Martin, 3,410 to 2,484.

The Liberals swept Saskatchewan, although Minister of Agriculture Hon. W. R. Motherwell may be defeated in Kindersley.

The Conservatives have won Moose Jaw and Qu'Appelle.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, provincial treasurer, carried Moose Jaw County by five hundred.

Hon. J. A. Calder had a large majority in Saltcoats.

Willoughby Is Elected.

Conservative Leader Willoughby was elected in Moose Jaw by 300, while J. H. Bradshaw, his lieutenant, was defeated in Prince Albert by 500. Donald Macklean, Conservative, was elected in Saskatoon over F. H. MacKenzie by 700 majority.

Lieut.-Col. Glenn of South Qu'Appelle was elected over Railton, Independent.

The Case of Moose Jaw.

Interviewed at Moose Jaw tonight, W. G. Ross, defeated Liberal candidate, said to your correspondnt: "Undoubtedly the cause of Conservative victory in this city was the Labor vote. Of the thousand votes cast for the Labor candidate, 75 per cent would have gone Liberal, as the Martin Government policy was favorable to the Labor men. The federal situation at the present time also had some influence, the Conservative candidates having enjoyed twelve years in this city. Nevertheless, I am not downcast, as, instead, my opponent going to Regina with a clear majority of 102 over all opponents, as he did last time, he now represents a minority.

"Moose Jaw's combined vote against him as sitting member gives a majority against him of 758."

PTE. HARRIS BEATS MISSOURI RECORD

Long-Distance Recruit Came To City From Paris, Texas.

Seeing an Advertiser bulletin to the effect that man had come from Missouri to enlist in the Canadian expeditionary force, Private Harry Harris came into the office to inform the staff that he had that record beaten by a considerable amount.

"I've got that fellow beaten by 500 miles," said Pte. Harris, who then explained that his home was in Paris, Texas, and that he had come from there to enlist on account of an acquaintance he had formed with an officer here some years ago.

Pte. Harris is a member of the Army Medical Corps, and enlisted in Windsor on June 6.

WOODMEN FROM STATES ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

London, June 27.—Ten units of American woodmen, sent over by New England states and organizations, to turn various forests of the United Kingdom into lumber, have arrived in England.

The woodmen brought with them not only the necessary machinery, but were fully equipped in every way, even to lubricating oils. Their arrival found them ready to establish their sawmills and begin work at once.

WOMEN RESPOND TO LADY BECK'S CALL TO HELP "POILUS"

Enthusiastic Workers Organize French Soldiers' Day.

MANY READY TO HELP

Captains of Teams Quickly Volunteer at Meeting Held Today.

Patriotic women of London have decided to do their part in a Dominion-wide effort on "France's Day," Saturday, July 14, to raise funds for the sick and wounded soldiers of the French nation engaged in active operations in many parts of the world, and also for the French prisoners of war.

This decision was reached at a large enthusiastic and representative meeting of women's organizations of the city held today in Cronyn Hall, called together by Lady Beck. Some days ago, Lady Beck, president of the London Branch of the Canadian Red Cross, received a communication from Col. Noel Marshall, chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, stating that having received an urgent appeal from the London committee of the French Red Cross to take part in an Empire-wide appeal for assistance, the executive was advising its branches throughout the Dominion to take such steps as might appear advisable for the purpose of raising funds.

Many in Attendance.

Presidents of patriotic, charitable, educational and church organizations were notified some days ago, and asked to bring their members out in as full force as possible. A splendid response was made, and practically all departments of women's activities were represented, the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire in large numbers, the Red Cross Society and its various auxiliaries, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Women's Canadian Club, the Union and individual school Mothers' Clubs, the Woman's Music Club, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Women's Christian Association and many church societies.

After the object of the meeting was explained by Lady Beck and the urgent need of giving assistance to France, which has borne the brunt of the war since the beginning, it was unanimously decided to hold a flag day on Saturday, July 14th, "France's Day."

Lady Beck Convener.

By unanimous consent, Lady Beck was made convener of the general flag day committee and Mrs. Niven, regent of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., her assistant.

Mrs. A. E. Miller was appointed secretary and Mrs. A. E. Cooper and Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell, joint treasurers.

Mrs. Fred White and Mrs. B. C. McCann were named conveners of team organization and Mrs. J. B. McKillop and Mrs. Spry of the motor committee.

Mrs. D. C. MacGregor is to be convener of the advertising and publicity committee, with Mrs. E. C. Bowker and Mrs. R. M. Graham and Misses Armstrong, Wilson and Hamilton as her assistants.

Volunteer Services.

This meeting differed from other organization meetings for campaigns that have been held even in London. There was not the slightest need to urge anyone to act as a captain of a team or in some other responsible capacity. One after another rose to offer her services.

Unlike the usual "tag day," for which badges are sold in the downtown streets, not a corner of the city will be overlooked in the grand canvass on "France's Day." The city will be divided into districts, and the plan followed which made possible the covering of the entire city in record time in the "Big Heart" house-to-house canvass of Sunday last for the Byron Sanatorium for Tuberculous Soldiers.

Twenty-five teams are already in sight, with the following captains: Mesdames A. T. Edwards, T. G. Dochstader, Gerald Pearson, Gemmill, A. C. Joseph, Marlatt, Donald McLean, Greenaway, Frank Fallon, C. R. Somerville, Cairncross, Dignan, John Stevely, Howard Higgins, C. B. Edwards, Sage, Campbell, D. L. McCrae and Misses O. White, Jean Waugh, McVicar, Gertrude Bapty, Priddis and Wardrope.

In addition Mrs. W. E. Coles will be in charge of a team of returned soldiers.

BATTLE IN COURTS MAY RESULT FROM TAXING BECK'S LINE

Westminster Council Has Assessed Railway Property.

NOTICES ARE SENT BACK

St. Thomas and Yarmouth May Assist Other Corporation in Fight To Collect.

There is the possibility of a legal battle between the township of Westminster and the London Railway Commission over the payment of taxes to the township.

The latter some time ago assessed the property of the commission running through the township, and fixed the tax rate on it.

The notices were sent to the commission, and by the latter referred to City Solicitor Meredith. The latter told the commission to send the tax notices back, and not to pay, as the railway was owned by the municipality. The township, on the other hand, will assert its rights. A peculiar angle is given to the situation in that M. D. Fraser, K.C., of the firm of Fraser & Moore, the township's solicitors, is a member of the London Railway Commission.

The question as to whether or not the city of London does legally own the railway or not will be brought out, if the matter goes to court. It is claimed on one hand that the city's bonds have legally ceased to exist, through lapse of time, and as a result the shareholders, of whom there are many, have claims against the road.

There is a possibility that the city of St. Thomas and the township of Yarmouth may assist the township of Westminster in case of a legal battle.

ALD. DYER GETS RAISE ON JUNK MEN'S LICENSE

Apparently Ald. Dyer is of the opinion that the junk dealers of London are getting wealthy, for he introduced a resolution at the meeting of the police commission Tuesday, and had it passed, which requires that junk and second-hand dealers pay a license fee of $20 per year, instead of $10. Pedlars will have to pay $10 for the privilege of collecting junk, instead of the customary $2.

It was proposed by Mayor Stevenson that the policemen wear numbers on their collars, the same as Toronto cops do. No definite action was taken in the matter.

The Greene-Swift Company was awarded the contract for heating the cheerless cells of those who run foul of the law at about a 40 per cent increase over last year's contract.

FRED SHMULTZ HURT AT BECK'S FACTORY

Fred Shmultz, 425 Ridout street, had his back injured at 7:45 this morning at Beck's box factory when he slipped on a gangway while carrying some lumber. Dr. Tillmann was called and had the man removed to his home. The doctor stated this afternoon that the injuries would not prove serious.

Financial, Market and Commercial Section

THE LOCAL MARKET

Prices were steady on a small local market today. Potatoes were scarce and were in demand at $4 to $4.50 a bag. New cabbages, which are selling for 20c to 25c a head, are having a good sale, and cucumbers, at 12c to 15c each, find a good market. Green onions are selling for 5c a bunch, and asparagus is bringing 7c to 10c. Lettuce is selling for 5c to 7c a head. Both the supply and the demand are good. New carrots are having a good sale at 10c a quart, and parsley is finding a good market at 40c a dozen bunches. Rhubarb is selling for 30c a dozen bunches. Radishes are slow, two bunches bringing only 5c. Spinach is selling for 15c to 20c a peck.

Home-grown strawberries are scarce, and are selling for 25c a box. A few bring as much as 30c. Larger supplies are expected by the end of the week, and it is likely that prices will be lower. Gooseberries are selling for 15c a box.

Butter and egg prices are steady. Single dozens of eggs bring from 35c to 36c, while crate lots sell for 29c to 31c. Basket lots bring 30c to 32c a dozen. Pound rolls of dairy butter retail for 37c to 38c, while wholesale lots bring from 35c to 36c. Creamery butter retails for 42c to 43c and sells wholesale for 39c. Crock butter brings 35c to 36c a pound retail and 34c to 35c wholesale.

Live hogs are slightly firmer at $14.50 to $14.60 a cwt., and fat sows at $12. Small pigs are unchanged at $11 to $15 a pair. The market for them is slow.

Hay is unchanged at $11 to $13 a ton, and straw is steady at $9.50 to $10. Oats are selling for $2.10 to $2.15 a cwt., and wheat for $2.25 to $2.30 a bushel.

Wool prices have made another advance. The unwashed product brings 48c to 50c a pound, and the washed 60c to 62c.

FLOUR

Toronto, June 26.—Flour—Manitoba. Listed quotations at Toronto are: First patents, $13.40; second patents, $12.90; strong bakers, $12.50; Ontario winter, 90 per cent patents, $11@11.10, seaboard.

Millfeed—Manitoba bran, $31 per ton; shorts, $38 per ton on track, Toronto.

Montreal, June 26.—Flour was quiet and unchanged, the demand being only for odd small lots to fill immediate requirements. The demand for millfeed is increasing for July and August delivery and the market is firmer, but millers are not disposed as yet to accept the prices bid. The tone of the market for rolled oats is strong, under an improved demand. A sale of 4,000 sacks of 112 pounds each was made for export account at $5.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, $13.50; seconds, $13; strong bakers, $12.80; winter patents, choice, $13.25; straight rollers, $12.50@12.80; straight rollers, bags, $6@6.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts light; steady and unchanged.

GRAIN.

Chicago, June 27.—Wheat prices showed a decided downward tendency today as a result of assertions that immediate embargo restrictions on wheat shipments from the United States were likely, and that the Canadian surplus would be given preference in supplying European needs.

Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1c lower, were followed by a sharp general descent and then something of a rally, which, however, failed to last.

WINNIPEG TRADING RESTRICTIONS ON

Winnipeg, June 26.—The market was again a restricted one today, and is liable to be more so, in view of the announcement of the board of supervisors that they keep it closed until such time as they see fit to open it. There was a moderate cash trade, mainly on Government account, with good prospects from eastern farmers for contract cars. The report was again general that farmers were holding back wheat, and that but a small percentage of the wheat coming forward is for sale. There was nothing new in the gossip. Weather conditions in the west were, on the whole, favorable.

Winnipeg October closed 1c lower. July oats were ⅜c higher, and October unchanged, with December ⅜c lower. Flax closed with July and October 3c down.

Winnipeg cash prices: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.43; No. 2 northern, $2.40; No. 3 northern, $2.36; No. 4, $2.24; No. 5, $2; No. 6, $1.84. Basis contract: June, $2.42; July, $2.37; August, $2.32.

Oats—No. 2 C. W., 71¼c; No. 3 C. W., 70c; extra No. 1 feed, 70c; No. 1 feed, 68¾c; No. 2 feed, 66½c.

Barley—No. 2, $1.26; No. 3, $1.21; rejected, $1.10; feed, $1.10.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $2.62½; No. 2 C. W., $2.72½; No. 3 C. W., $2.57½.

TORONTO.

Toronto, June 26.—Grain quotations are as follows:

Wheat—Ontario, No. 2 winter, $2.50@2.55, outside, according to location; Manitoba No. 1 northern, $2.60; No. 2 northern, $2.57.

Oats—Canada western, No. 2, 78c; No. 3 Canada western, sample, 75c, at lake ports for immediate shipment.

Corn—American, No. 3 yellow, $1.79½.

Rye—$2.05.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, June 26.—The trade in grain today was dull, and the market was without any new feature to note.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, $1.75@1.80.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 80½c; Canadian western, No. 3, 87½c; extra No. 1 feed, 78½c.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 27—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The probability of easier money conditions as a result of the decision of the treasury department to distribute a large part of the Liberty Loan funds among local banks, imparted general strength to the stock market at today's opening. War shares asserted their recent prominence, many of the more popular equipments rising a point or more with United States Steel. Motors and oils also rallied from their depression of the previous session, and coppers and shippings were more steady. Later, railway shares, especially coalers, became increasingly active at higher levels, Reading gaining a point and Pittsburg Coal 2 points.

Noon.—United States Steel became the dominent issue of the forenoon on its rise of 2¼ points to 132½. Similar industrials also recorded advances of 1½ to 2½ points, and coppers, shippings and petroleums developed greater strength. Inquiry for rails was light, with consequent reactions in that quarter. Studebaker and Saxon motors were among the few heavy stocks with Ohio Gas, but exerted little adverse influence. Activity in Liberty bonds, mostly at a premium of $1 50, with odd lots at $4 50, was the noteworthy feature of the firm bond market.

1:30 p.m.—Increased offerings of Studebaker on adverse reports at an extreme recession of 6 points finally affected the balance of the list. Rails fell back generally, and United States Steel reacted a point from its maximum of the mid-session.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, June 27.—Considering the moderate amount of business, the stock market maintained quite a good undertone, traders regarding the general outlook favorably. Mining and oil stocks and Argentine rails were in demand, while Brazilian issues were strong. Shipping shares attracted more attention and steady investment buying was recorded in the gilt-edged section. Rubbers and American and Russian securities were neglected.

FARMERS SHIP YOUR WOOL DIRECT TO US
The Highest Prices Ever Paid for Wool Are Now Being Paid by Us
Mr. Farmer, you can get more money for your wool by sending it direct to us.
In all probability it will come to us, anyway, at some time, no matter to whom you sell it.
For over thirty years we have been one of the largest buyers of wool in Canada.
We could not continue in business for this length of time if we had not treated our customers fairly and pay top prices.
We send your money the same day as wool is received, only deducting freight or express charges.
We are now paying for wool as follows:
Unwashed fleece, fine.. 53 to 55c per lb.
Unwashed fleece, coarse 52 to 53c per lb.
Washed fleece, fine .... 67 to 69c per lb.
Washed fleece, coarse.. 65 to 67c per lb.
Ship today or write us, telling how much wool you have, if washed or unwashed, and breed of sheep clipped from. We will then quote you a straight price and send you shipping tags with full onstructions.

EXPECT GOOD RESULTS FROM CONVENTION PENSION OFFICERS

Many Problems Dealing With Work Discussed.

Great results may be expected from the convention of the heads of the district offices of the board of pension commissioners, which was held in Ottawa last week, according to D. E. Campbell, of the London office, who returned to the city at the end of the week.

District offices are now open in Hamilton, Barrie, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, St. John, Halifax, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and London. Those in charge of the offices, in all parts of Canada, were able to give much valuable advice to the commissioners, and were in turn instructed in the general policy of the commission, in its attitude towards returned soldiers, and in its interior workings.

Do Not Dictate.

Many people appear to believe that the pension board dictates the scale of pensions, and states categorically what each man shall receive who returns to the country maimed or otherwise disabled in the service of his country. Such is absolutely not the case. The scale of pensions and the amount payable to each man for any given condition is fixed by act of Parliament. The board has practically no latitude in the matter. The board merely administers the act, and as trustee of the public's money it is incumbent upon it to see that it is honestly administered. Every effort is made to see that every man and every dependent gets all that he or she is honestly entitled to. The delegates were impressed with the fact that no effort was too great, no amount of work or time or thought too much to insure that all receive justice. Complaints from any quarter will be given the prompt attention either of the board in Ottawa or of the district offices.

Expedite Payment.

The district offices were formed not only with the object of expediting the payment of pensions, but to be of any assistance possible to pensioners. Any advice or information which pensioners may be in need of will be gladly granted free of all charge at any district office. Many and diverse troubles of pensioners have already been satisfactorily settled in these offices, from the naming of children to the reuniting of divided families, the settlement of mortgages and the choice of occupations of the men. Being in intimate touch through the head office in Ottawa with all branches of the Government, great assistance has been rendered in securing separation allowances, in winding up soldiers' estates, and in all other purely Governmental matters.

The London district office is located in the Bank of Toronto Building, city, and any man in No. 1 Military District not satisfied with his pension, or if his checks are not coming regularly, is privileged to lay his complaint before the head of the office.

WILL BE INDUCTED.

The induction of Rev. D. McKay, formerly of Cowal, into the charge of Dorchester and Crumlin will take place in Crumlin Presbyterian Church on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Stuart and Rev. W. R. McIntosh.

PTE. CUNLIFFE IS NEW SECRETARY OF RETURNED SOLDIERS

Veteran of Old 33rd Elected at Meeting Last Night.

BIG PARADE NEXT MONDAY

All C. E. F. and Returned Men to Turn Out for Celebration.

At the regular meeting of the Returned Soldiers' Association last night Pte. Cunliffe of the 33rd Battalion was elected secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Sergt. J. Struad. Major Baty of the local headquarters staff addressed the meeting, and invited all returned men in the district to take part in the celebration of the Dominion semi-centennial anniversary of confederation to be held under military auspices on Monday morning next. It is likely that a parade of all C. E. F. units in camp will be held, to be followed by a grand review, in which the local returned men will take part, but details will be published in the press later by the local military authorities.

Aid Sanatorium.

The association voted the sum of $50 to the Byron Sanatorium Big Heart campaign for returned tubercular soldiers, and a similar sum is to be donated to the same cause by the C. E. F. Returned Chapter, I. O. D. E. Several complaints were heard regarding the manner in which gifts sent to the patients in the Central Military Hospital were served out.

It was stated that of three crates of oranges recently sent to the hospital but one reached the patients, the remaining two having become hors de combat whilst passing through the staff, and an investigation into this matter was promised, as this is not the first time that such accidents have occurred.

It was decided that the Returned Soldiers' Association would become affiliated with the Ontario Great War Veterans' Association, the name and constitution of the latter organization to be adopted by the local association, which now has over 200 members on the roll. Returned Soldiers' Associations throughout the province in future will be known as Great War Veterans' Associations, which will send representatives to the Dominion Great War Veterans' Association, with headquarters at Ottawa, as the returned organizations throughout Canada are now on a firm footing and have unanimously decided on unity for a common cause.

Sergt. Jimmy Murray, formerly of the 1st Canadian Battalion addressed the meeting. He stated that he was leaving shortly for overseas, although he had spent 22 months in the front line, but was still in the game. He spoke modestly of his work in France, and stated that the good feeling shown him by the returned men here would remain as a pleasant memory to him on active service.

Members of the association spoke highly of Sergt. Murray, and it is likely that a presentation will be made to Jimmy by them before his departure, although Sergt. Murray stated emphatically that all he desired was the good wishes of the boys in London who had done their bit. Those present bade him God-speed and a safe return.

Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles occupied the chair, and Sergt. J. Rawlings acted as secretary.

GARDEN PARTY.

A most successful garden party was held under the auspices of St. Mary's Church in East London last evening. A fine program was enjoyed by a large crowd.

BOY LIFE COMMITTEES MEET ON THURSDAY

A meeting of all committees and workers at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday night will complete the survey of boy life conducted here during the month under the direction of the London advisory committee on boys' work. All reports which have not already reached headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. will be handed in at this meeting. D. H. McDermid will present the result of the investigation of his committee into juvenile delinquency and E. V. Buchanan will make the report of the committee for the investigation of playground conditions.

The portion of the survey dealing with industrial and manufacturing conditions affecting boys has been almost completed. These questionaires, drawn up by the committee and sent to the various manufacturers, although some of the last correspondence sent out, were among the first returned. Replies have been received from the Bell Telephone Company, C. P. R. Telegraph, G. N. W. Telegraph, C. S. Hyman Company, E. Leonard & Sons, London Engine Supplies, London Life Insurance Company, McCormick's, Perrin's, Murray Shoe Factory, National Drug Company, George M. Reid, Sherlock-Manning Company, Smallman & Ingram and George White & Sons.

Reports on Sunday school work have been received from St. Paul's (Anglican), St. Matthew's, Christ Church, King Street Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Chalmers, St. Andrew's, New St. James, Maitland Street Baptist, Adelaide Street Baptist, London South Baptist, Talbot Street Baptist, First Methodist, Wellington Street Methodist, Empress Avenue Methodist, Memorial Methodist, Dundas Centre and Colborne Methodist, First and Southern Congregational Churches.

Individual cards have been returned by every boy between the ages of 10 and 17 in the public and high schools.

Complete returns have been made by the Ridout Street Methodist, St. Matthew's Anglican, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Maitland Street Baptist, Empress Avenue Methodist, First Methodist, London South Baptist, St. Paul's Anglican and the First Presbyterian Churches.

CHIEF WILLIAMS LIKELY TO RETIRE EARLY IN OCTOBER

Chief of Police Williams, who has recently recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia, has applied for and was granted a month's leave of absence to visit his son residing in the south, by the police commission. At the meeting, at the request of the chief, a resolution was put forward by Mayor Stevenson and Ald. Dyer providing for the superannuation of the chief next October, when the head of the local force will have completed his fortieth year as director of police affairs in this city. The commission, after due consideration, decided to let the matter rest until October, when definite action will be taken.

Sergt. of Detectives Thomas Nickle, known throughout Canada as one of the best detectives in the business, is looked upon as the logical successor to the chief, although it is said that Inspector Robert Birrell would not be adverse to directing the affairs of the London police.

Under the administration of Chief Williams the London police force has become one of the most efficient of its kind in Canada, so much so that many constables trained under "the chief," as he is known to hundreds of citizens, have been appointed as heads of other departments throughout Canada.

Don't be too hasty—investigate carefully before you spend any money for a "Talking Machine"—so many people have bought in haste and then repented, because they had not first heard the Wonderful New Edison Musical Instrument. W. McPhillips, 189 Dundas street, London. b

TEMPERANCE FOLK PLEAD FOR HOTELS

Will Protest Against Sale of Near-Beer in Stores.

The temperance forces of the city, headed by the Askin Street Methodist Church Brotherhood, will go to the meeting of the finance committee of the city council, to ask the committee to recommend to the council that the hotels alone be given the right to sell temperance beer, or the 2½ per cent drinks now being vended by grocers and small shopkeepers throughout the city.

It is expected that a large number will attend this meeting. It is claimed that, as the hotelmen pay a license and run standard hotels, the sale of these liquors should be in their hands exclusively.

If the council has no power to pass a bylaw prohibiting the sale of this class of drink, a prohibitive license fee will be suggested. Some want it placed at $500 per annum.

It is as impossible to tell you on paper how wonderful the New Edison is and how truly it recreates music as it is also impossible for this newspaper to prevent the most glowing description of the poorest kind of a "Talking Machine." Webster's Dictionary you see is open to everyone. To know how vastly superior the Edison is, it is necessary that you should hear it, preferably in your own home. W. McPhillips 189 Dundas street, London. b

POINTS TO CONSIDER WHEN PURCHASING A RAILWAY TICKET.

A Canadian Pacific Railway ticket does not represent merely a means of transportation between given points. It, in addition, provides the traveler with every comfort and convenience developed by modern railway science. "Safety first," with up-to-date equipment, unexcelled dining service, palatial sleeping cars, in a word, everything that a railway can provide for the comfortable transportation of its passengers, including courtesy.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN YESTERDAY'S STORMS

No less than 2.16 inches of rain fell yesterday, according to the figures from the local observatory. This is an exceptionally heavy fall. Many of the low lands all through the district are reported under water. A washout of the earth at Carling's creek at Talbot street left a hole in the bank about fifteen feet deep. Last night the river rose considerably as a result of the heavy downpour through the day. During the storm in the afternoon three cows in a field belonging to Harry Farncombe of the fifth concession of London Township were killed by lightning.

C. O. D. BREAD BUSINESS

You do not go into the market to buy butter and eggs or other produce on credit. You do not buy street car tickets on credit. You do not buy postage stamps on credit.

Is it good business for you to continue to keep an open account with your bread baker? You run all the chances of having a disputed account to worry you any day; besides, you are showing a bad example to those who cannot afford to owe accounts.

Help us to change this bad business practice into a clean-cut business system by paying cash on delivery for all bread and bread tickets in the future.

Those who pay cash are more apt to conserve their food supplies.
