57TH YEAR. NO. 22659 | THE LONDON ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 16, 1920. | 112 COLUMNS. | PRICE THREE CENTS

MANY PERSONS KILLED IN GERMAN RIOTS

CITY'S TAX RATE WILL BE AT LEAST FORTY MILLS

Meeting Tonight To Try and Arrive At the Figure — Some Believe That It May Go As High As Forty-Two Mills.

London's rate of taxation for 1920 will begin with the figure "four." Some reports say it will go as high as 42 mills. All are certain that it will be at least 40.

Although the city council remained in session until 1 o'clock this morning it was unable to complete the work necessary to striking the rate.

City Treasurer James Bell, City Clerk S. Baker and Mayor E. S. Little were hard at work on the figures again early today. They were in conference in the treasurer's office all the forenoon in an effort to have everything completed by tonight.

Another meeting of the council will be held this evening, and it is probable that a rate will be determined.

Indications are that the rate for general purposes will go to the very limit allowed by the law, which is 25 mills. This would mean that the school rate was in the neighborhood of 15 mills.

Last year the total rate was 32.50 mills. The general rate was 20.65 mills and the school rate 11.85. The increase in the general rate this year will be at least 4.50 mills. The school rate will be heavily increased by reason of the bonus granted to teachers. The building program will also require provision of a considerable amount for interest and sinking fund on debentures, although it is not likely that all the debentures will be sold this year.

JUMP IN PRICE OF CIGARS IS EXPECTED VERY SHORTLY

It Looks As If the Ten-Cent Smoke Will Soon Be Absent From the Cases—Two For a Quarter Cigars May Be the Minimum.

As a result of the cigarmakers' increase in pay granted last Saturday, and also the fact that higher prices are prevailing in the tobacco market, cigar manufacturers in this city have been forced to raise their prices from $5 to $12 per thousand, or in other words, more money than ever will be going up in smoke.

This means that the retailer in turn must have more money, and cigar prices will jump almost immediately, it is expected. The day of the five-cent cigar has passed, and it looks as if the ten-center will soon be absent from cigar cases.

In the majority of cases, according to a number of retailers interviewed today, ten-cent cigars will be sold at two for a quarter, while the latter-priced smokes will sell for fifteen cents straight, with other prices raised accordingly.

"We would have been forced to boost prices, anyway," stated one manufacturer, "whether the men had asked for an increase or not. Our material is costing us a lot more, box prices are going up, and we have been told that tobacco prices will take another big jump this fall. I wish I knew where it was all going to end."

Most of the retailers declared that they would sell out their old stock at prevailing prices, but that as soon as they had to renew, prices would have to take a hop. They explained that the cost of doing business was increasing, and that in order to live they simply had to pass the extra cost on to the consumer.

MORE BLUNDERS OF U. S. NAVY OFFICIALS DISCLOSED BY SIMS

Rear-Admiral Tells What Little German "Bluff" Could Have Done.

SCHEMES IMPRACTICABLE

Plans Were Suggested That the Allies Had Previously Rejected.

Washington, March 16.—A little "bluff" on the part of the Germans in 1918, at the crucial point of the war, would have paralyzed transportation of soldiers and war materials between this country and Europe, Rear-Admiral Sims today told the Senate naval sub-committee.

Information from authentic sources indicating that the Germans were building two heavily-armored modern battle cruisers for a desperate last hope raid against troopship convoys was transmitted to the navy department, Admiral Sims said, and immediately he was besieged with cablegrams from Washington, outlining various plans of action, all of which, he testified were impracticable, although such a contingency had been under discussion for nearly a year, and there had been ample time to prepare.

"If the enemy had only known," said Admiral Sims, "all he need have done was to make a series of bluffs involving little risk to himself, and we would have done the rest. Shipping would have been paralyzed.

Scheme Was Rejected.

The United States department wishes to land a "solar plexus blow" against the submarine campaign, the admiral said, "and suggested many schemes long before rejected by the Allies. Such a plan was that of sinking old battleships and cruisers in the entrance to all German submarine base harbors. Admiral Sims asserted, and only after he had pointed out that the scheme would require the sinking of 40 battleships and 603 cruisers and six months of preparation, did the department agree to abandon the plan. It took seven months of effort to bring the Washington officials to the final conclusion, he said.

On May 11, 1917, the navy department first suggested the idea of a barrage of mines across the North Sea to trap the German sea forces, Admiral Sims said, and at that time he opposed the plan because the Allies could not afford to divert the large number of men and ships and huge amounts of material necessary to make the project a success, he declared; and also because the old-type mines then in use were not practicable for such a purpose.

Later, when the submarine campaign was well in hand, and a new type of Antenna mine developed in the United States, he approved the idea, he said, and helped to expedite the laying of the barrage. The result, the North Sea mine barrage, was a magnificent achievement, the admiral said, reflecting great credit on the navy and the officers and men who were responsible for the success of the project.

CALL IS EXTENDED TO REV. C. D. FARQUHARSON

Newbury, March 16.—At a joint meeting of the congregations at Wardsville and Newbury held here today, a hearty and unanimous call was extended to Rev. C. D. Farquharson at St. George, Ont. The charge has been vacant since November last, when Rev. James Malcolm was translated to Toronto Presbytery. It is expected that Mr. Farquharson will accept and the call will be presented at a special meeting of the London Presbytery to be held shortly. Rev. G. S. Lloyd of Glencoe is the interim moderator.

DECLARES THREATS OR STRIKES CANNOT AID CANADIAN LABOR

A. J. ANDREWS, K.C.

Winnipeg, March 16.—With an eloquent peroration, in which he stated that it was deplorable that at a time when people had settled to the task of building up Canada after the war and making it one of the greatest countries in the world, the accused and their confederates should engage in a seditious conspiracy to pull down everything, A. J. Andrews, K.C., closed his three-day address to the jury last night.

Mr. Andrews made it clear that the crown had no quarrel with organized labor. The crown said that everything that could be constitutionally done to improve conditions in this country ought to be done, but it also said no changes could be brought about in this country by illegal means, by illegal organizations, by conspiracies, strikes or threats of strikes, or by intimidation.

Today W. H. Trueman, K.C., will deliver the first of the seven addresses for the defence in the state trial which has been in progress for about two months. He speaks for Alderman Heaps.

NAVAL QUESTION MAY FORCE AN ELECTION SOON

Both Political Parties Discuss Issue At Caucuses Today.

COST CAUSES DELAY

Uncertainty of Disarmament of Nations Is Reason for Hesitation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 16.—Both the Government nd the official Opposition held caucuses this morning, and it is understood that the chief topic of discussion before both assemblies was the naval question. The cabinet itself is known to be divided on the matter of immediate action toward implementing any of the recommendations of Lord Jellicoe, though it may be said that practically all of the members of Parliament of both Houses are in favor of the generalu principle of a national navy. Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and naval affairs, is said to strongly favor the framing of some program during the present session. The minister takes the view that, having created a mercantile marine of some sixty ships, it is the further duty of the dominion to provide protection for the trade routes of that quite considerable fleet. It may be also that he is ambitious not only to have the credit for creating Canada's first mercantile marine, but also Canada's first real navy. Among the rank and file, however, it cannot be said that there wts any real enthusiasm with regard to immediate action in the matter. It was contended that apart entirely from financial considerations which weigh heavily, it would be unwise in the present uncertain condition of things, so far as armaments and defence generally are concerned, to launch out upon any considerable program of naval construction or maintenance. The promise of Sir Robert Borden, to the effect that no permanent naval policy would be put into effect until after the people had had a chance by election to declare upon it, is recalled. The Government has declared against an election at the present time. But if a policy were agreed upon at the present session, and Sir Robert's promise were carried out, an election would have to be held. The consensus of opinion, it is believed, was in favor of delay.

Uncertainty Prevails.

Uncertainty regarding the final decision of the United States concerning the league of nations was one argument advanced in favor of delay. It is not known whether the Government gave its followers the benefit of private advices which are not contained in the Jellicoe report or whether the desires of Sir Robert Borden on the matter were made known. There appears to be considerable confusion as to the cost of any of the schemes which Lord Jellicoe advocates. The cost of maintenance has been specified in the report, but the capital cost is a matter for conjecture. Whatever action or lack of action the Government may decide upon, it would appear that the course of the Opposition is fairly clear. It is a Canadian navy which is advocated and it was in favor of a Canadian navy that the national convention of Liberals held in August decided. Opposition members look upon the Jellicoe report as an absolute vindication of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy, which was made an issue by Sir Robert Borden in 1911. On the question, however, as to whether it is now expedient for the dominion to launch forth upon an expensive program with the war over there is different opinion. Four years ago a Canadian navy on the lines laid down by Admiral Jellicoe would have been of inestimable value. Today its value, in view of uncertainties regarding armaments, is questionable, especially having regard for the pressing need for money for other purposes.

MILLIONS IN SUNKEN TREASURE RECOVERED IN BRITISH WATERS

Salvaging Vessels Use New Devices in Operations.

London, March 16.—Sunken treasure worth £50,000,000 has been raised since the war began around the British Isles.

The Restorer and the Reliant, two salving vessels, which were bought by a British concern from the American navy, have a new device, an oxy-acetylene flame which is worked under water for cutting holes in the side of submerged vessels.

Each ship has twenty-five electric pumps, capable of pumping 1,000,000 gallons of water an hour and carries two divers, searchlights, line-throwing guns, electric welding plants, rock drills and other accessories. Each diver is equipped with a telephone. The Restorer last year recovered £1,000,000 in gold from the Laurentic off Lough Swilly, and both vessels are now operating off New Haven, on the channel coast.

WORST BLIZZARD IN YEARS HITS WEST

Railroad Traffic Is Partially Crippled As Result.

Winnipeg, March 16.—As the result of one of the worst March blizzards ever experienced in the west railroad traffic and telephone and telegraph services are still badly crippled. The storm, starting late Sunday night, swept across the prairie from Alberta, reaching Winnipeg at noon yesterday.

West of Winnipeg the storm seems to have hit Brandon hard, while Regina reports the worst tie-up in years.

In Winnipeg the street railway service was being operated under difficulties.

BANNING OF HEARST'S PAPERS FROM CANADA TO BE BROUGHT UP IN PARLIAMENT TOMORROW

Ottawa, March 16.—(By Canadian Press).—The question of placing a ban on entry of Hearst papers and publications into Canada is to be raised in the Commons tomorrow by Dr. J. W. Edwards, member for Frontenac. He will ask for a list of the Hearst publications allowed to enter Canada, and whether it is the intention of the Government to ban any or all of these, and when such action will be taken.

GENERAL AVERESCO COMMISSIONED TO FORM GOVERNMENT

Rumanian Cabinet To Be Under Direction of Military Official.

London, March 16.—Information received in Rumanian quarters in London is to the effect that King Ferdinand has accepted the resignation of acting Premier Kop and that he has commissioned Gen. F. Averesco, minister of the interior, to form a new cabinet, says the London Times.

In the same quarter the fear is expressed that the change in the ministry will render more difficult harmonious co-operation between the supreme council and the Rumanian Government.

IRISH JUDGES GUARDED BY SOLDIERS ON WAY TO BELFAST COURT HOUSE

Belfast, March 16.—Judges Dodd and Gibson, in going to the assizes at Lifford court house yesterday, were escorted by police armed with carbines and revolvers. Soldiers also lined the streets.

The judges' houses are guarded night and day by the military.

Judge Dodd, in opening the assizes, said that his heart bled for the police, to whose courage he paid tribute.

GEDDES FLAYS NEWSPAPERS THAT STIR UP TROUBLE BETWEEN TWO COUNTRIES

MASARYK TO REMAIN PRESIDENT OF CZECHO-SLOVAKIA FOR LIFE

Washington, March 16.—Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, first president of the republic of Czecho-Slovakia, will be permitted to continue in office for life, according to the provisions of the national constitution, recently adopted at Prague. Provisions of the new constitution, made public today by the state department, limit the terms of all future presidents to two successive terms of seven years each.

AT CLOSED SESSION, CITY EMPLOYEES GET INCREASES IN SALARY

Sixteen Per Cent Advance Is Made — Other Requests Are To Be Considered.

Sixteen per cent increase in the pay of all city employees and officials was authorized by the city council at a closed session last night. Aldermen today would give no definite information on the matter beyond admitting that the general increase had been granted. The figures may be made public at the meeting of the council tonight.

Requests for increases were made by the firemen, policemen, and practically every other department. These were all left over for a special meeting. Following routine business last night the council went into committee of the whole, excluded the public and the press, and settled the salary question to their own satisfaction at last.

No deputations were heard.

It is understood that many employees have been granted only small increases, while provision has been made for bonuses at the end of the year if the work of the employees justifies it. This, it is thought, will tend to increase efficiency.

PROFESSOR REFUSES TO REMAIN WITH A GERMAN ON STAFF

Dr. Elder of McGill Declines to Associate With Teuton.

Montreal, March 16.—The reason for Dr. Elder's resignation from the teaching staff of McGill University after 30 years' service, is stated in his letter of resignation, which reads as follows:

"I herewith tender my resignation as assistant professor of surgery in the university. I do so because your board has recently seen fit to appoint a man of German birth, parentage and preliminary training, to the position of professor of pathology. It is with deep regret that I thus sever a long connection with the teaching staff of my alma mater, but I feel that never again can I associate with a colleague of German birth and parentage.

(Signed) "J. M. ELDER."

Efforts were made by the university authorities to induce Dr. Elder to reconsider his resignation, but without avail, and it was, therefore, accepted. At a meeting of the board of governors it was decided that Dr. Elder's letter left them no option but to accept his resignation.

Dr. Elder was a colonel in the Canadian army and served in France.

MASS MEETING IS CALLED FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

East London Ratepayers To Discuss City of London Bill.

MAY HELP COMMITTEE

Efforts Being Made To Protect the Rights of Citizens.

For the purpose of stirring the people of London to action, and for organizing of the ratepayers for protection against alleged violation of their wishes concerning certain bylaws as expressed at the last civic elections, by the city council and other officials, a mass meeting is being held under the auspices of the East London ratepayers' committee, headed by W. Walker and Ald. F. R. Watkinson.

It is thought by those who are behind the movement that in addition to awakening the citizens, the meeting will add weight to the fight that is to be waged by the deputation from the labor representation committee of this city against the City of London Bill when it goes before the House in Toronto on Thursday next. The ratepayers committee is working hand in hand with the L. R. C. in this respect, according to Ald. Watkinson.

More Definite.

While the fight in Toronto will not be against any item in particular, but against the use of the bill for alleged overriding of the people's will, the meeting on Thursday night will take a more definite character. Clause by clause, the bill will be gone into and a fight will be made against those items which were included and which were turned down when presented to the people as bylaws or referendums on the first day of January.

The following proposition have been billed for discussion at the meeting: Increased assessment, the abnormal tax rate, school expenditures, increased water rates, the garbage question, street car question, and all other matters concerning which the voice of the people is said to have been ignored. Ald. Watkinson said that many important resolutions would be drawn up and forwarded to the government.

Know What They Want.

"The people of London are well aware of what they want," he said. "They know in what state the city finances are, and how much they want to spend. If they state when asked that they do not want to spend money on new bridges, the L. & P. S. R., or grant the right to the street car company to increase the fares, surely that should be taken as an answer. They had the right to say what they wanted, and so it is not a square deal on the part of the officials to make use of the London bill to go over their heads."

Speakers are being arranged for, and a well organized meeting was assured, promised Mr. Walker. Besides the problems created by the London bill, a protest will be made against the proposed extension of the present site of the Western Fair.

CIVIL WAR MAY BREAK OUT IN GERMANY AT ANY HOUR OWING TO FAILURE OF EBERT AND KAPP FACTIONS TO REACH AGREEMENT

President Ebert Demands Unconditional Surrender of New Regime—Announces He Will Conduct Country's Affairs From Wuertemburg—Dr. Wolfgang Kapp Threatens Death To Any Who Strike and Interfere With the Operation of Public Utilties.

[By the Associated Press.]

Civil war seems imminent in Germany as a result of the refusal of the Ebert Government, now sitting at Stuttgart, to carry on negotiations with the reactionary regime which seized power suddenly ast Saturday morning. Unconditional surrender of the men directing the new government is demanded by President Ebert, who announces he will continue to direct the affairs of the troubled country from Wuertemburg. The German national assembly will meet in Stuttgart tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Berlin is in the grip of a general strike, called by socialists and labor leaders as a counter stroke to the assumption of power by the government headed by Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, who has issued a decree threatening all strike leaders and pickets with death if there is interference with vital public services. Extreme measures will be taken under the decree from 4 o'clock this afternoon, and it is possible the crisis of the new revolution will quickly follow.

Details of the situation throughout Germany are somewhat obscure, but there seems to be reason to believe the Ebert Government is still holding control in the southern and western sections, while the Kapp regime is rather firmly intrenched in Northeastern Prussia and in Silesia, where many towns and cities are reported to have declared their adherence to the new gorvnement. Fighting is reported at various points throughout Germany, and it is said there was bloodshed in suburbs of Berlin yesterday, but it would seem the clashes so far reported have been between militia units and disorderly crowds.

So far as known armed forces of two governments have not come into collision.

EBERT HOPES TO AVERT REVOLUTION.

Washington, March 16.—Restoration of the authority of the Ebert Government, with sporadic Spartacists outbreaks throughout Germany, are expected by military officials here who interpret dispatches from Col. Edward Davis, military attache at Berlin, as indicating that the coup d'etat is not so serious as had at first been supposed. The calling of a general strike by the Ebert cabinet is regarded here as certain to encourage the most radical elements of the German nation to make another attempt at revolution and overthrow of "capitalistic society." But while the recurrence of violence in the large cities, similar to the Spartacide revolts last year, is looked for, the soviet sympathizers in Germany are said to constitute so small a minority that serious trouble need not be expected.

London, March 16.—During a demonstration at Leipsic yesterday troops fired on a crowd, killing more than 20 persons and wounding about 60, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Central News.

Reports received in Copenhagen the correspondent says, states that fighting continues in many parts of Germany.

THIRTY VICTIMS AT HAMBURG.

Copenhagen, March 16.—Thirty persons were killed, including some women and children, in yesterday's fighting in Hamburg between citizens' guard and Baltic troops, advices from that city state.

FIFTEEN REPORTED KILLED.

Berlin, March 16.—Fifteen persons are reported to have been killed and many wounded in fighting yesterday at Steglitz, in the southwest outskirts of Berlin.

At Charlottenburg, a western suburb of Berlin, four persons are said to have been killed and six wounded as a result of collisions.

Among the killed was Capt. Berchtold, commanding the Baltic troops.

The Hamburg advices report the resignation last night of Baron von Wangeheim, the senior garrison officer there. Herr Lamplar, a supporter of the Ebert Government, succeeded him.

A Munich telegram, received here by way of Berlin, says that quiet prevails at Munich and that the troops are masters of the situation. A new cabinet is being formed. The gas plants, the waterworks, the postal service and the railways are declared to be working normally. It was expected that the tramway service would be partially resumed shortly, it was added.

LUDENDORFF ATTENDS CONFERENCE.

London, March 16.—The new Government at Berlin held a cabinet council last night, which was attended by Gen. Ludendorff, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from the German capital by way of Amsterdam.

STRIKE IS EFFECTIVE.

Paris, March 16.—The general strike is effective throughout Germany and only food trains are running, according to advices. Severe fighting is reported from Dresden, Leipsig, Brandenburg and Chemnitz.

The railwaymen's central committee is moving from place to place, fearing arrest by officials of the Kapp Government.

ALLIES MUST EXERCISE THE UTMOST VIGILANCE OVER GERMANY NOW

London, March 16.—Commenting on the reported compromise between the Kapp and Ebert governments, which it considers was brought about by Gen. Mercken, the London Times says today that the conditions appear to correspond closely with Mercken's proposals, and to approximate much more closely to the demands of Kapp and his associates than to those of the old government. The newspaper repeats that vigilance on the part of the Allies is required.

The Dutch Government has slightly strengthened the guard on the German frontier. A particularly close scrutiny is being made of automobiles. Passengers arriving on the frontier report traffic with Germany considerably interrupted. Dutch laborers who were employed in Germany near the frontier have been sent home on account of the general strike.

NAVAL OFFICERS ARE REPORTED KILLED IN ENCOUNTERS AT KIEL

Berne, Switzerland, March 16.—Encounters at Kiel and Magdeburg are reported in telegrams from Berlin. In Kiel some naval officers have been killed, while in Magdeburg there has been fierce fighting about the central postoffice.

Conservative parties in Germany are declared to be supporting the new government, without, however, being directly identified with it. Westphalian miners are said to take a neutral attitude, the only condition they have laid down being that the republican constitution be maintained.

REFUSE TO NEGOTIATE.

Stuttgart, March 16.—Refusal to negotiate with the reactionary faction headed by Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, head of the new government at Berlin, was decided upon here yesterday by the council of the old cabinet, over which President Ebert presided. Unconditional resignation of the leaders of the new government was demanded by the Ebert cabinet, which arrived here yesterday afternoon by a special train from Dresden. The National Assembly will meet in this city on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

WUERTTEMBERG THE CAPITAL.

Copenhagen, March 16.—President Ebert, in officially notifying Dr. Wolfgang Kapp and his associates in the new German government that no negotiations would be held between officials of the two regimes, declared he would direct the country's affairs with Wuerttemberg as the capital, according to a dispatch received from Berlin.

ERZBERGER ARRESTED.

London, March 16.—Mathias Ersberger, former finance minister of the Ebert government of Germany, has been placed under arrest, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, filed in the German capital on Monday night.

HOLLAND RECOGNIZES OLD GOVT.

The Hague, March 16.—Holland so far is recognizing only the Ebert government of Germany, and is dealing only with the representatives of that regime

ESTIMATES FOR SCHOOLS PASS CITY COUNCIL

$163,730 For South London Collegiate, $274,000 For Public Schools.

SOME OPPOSITION

Two Aldermen Object To Issuing Debentures Pending An Investigation.

School buildings entailing an expenditure of $163,730 for a collegiate in South London, and $274,000 for additions to public schools, was approved by the city council last night. A by-law authorizing a debenture issue to cover these amounts will be introduced.

Chairman Harry Hayman, with several trustees and officials of the board of education, appeared to support the request of the board. No discussion took place on the proposed public school building, but the advisability of a South London collegiate was questioned. Ald. C. G. Moorhead, seconded by Ald. G. B. Drake, moved that no debentures be issued for this purpose until the proposal had been more carefully investigated. They were the only supporters of this amendment.

Ald. E. R. Seabrook thought a portion of the Normal School grounds could be used instead of the proposed site adjoining Tecumseh school. Chairman Hayman replied that the Normal School grounds was already congested, but that the board would be willing to consider the suggestion. Ald. O. I. Cunningham said the two sites were only two blocks apart, and there would be little gained by placing the new school on the Normal grounds. In fact, this would destroy the only bit of open space which South London residents had at their disposal.

Should Not Obstruct.

Mayor Little expressed the opinion that the council should depend on the estimates of the school board, and not question them. "I think they are spending too much money, but at the same time when they decided on a policy, I do not think that we should hold up their work," he said.

E. T. Essery appeared on behalf of residents of York street, east of Queen's Park, to protest against the closing of a lane opposite their property so that the land could be used for extension purposes.

He claimed that such action would depreciate the value of these citizens' property, and that they should be repaid for it. Mayor Little said the advice of the city solicitor was being sought as to whether the city would close the lane, and action would be deferred until his opinion was received.

RESCIND VACCINATION ORDER.

It was officially announced in a telegram received by E. Ruse of the city ticket office of the Grand Trunk last night that the vaccination order and the smallpox ban on travellers entering the United States from Ontario would be lifted at midnight March 19. The vaccination order has been in effect since last November.

PASSED ESTIMATES.

Passing of estimates for the year constituted the chief business of a four-minute session of the board of education yesterday afternoon. Chairman Harry Hayman was authorized to appoint not more than four delegates to the Ontario Educational Association convention in Toronto, Easter week. This was the only other business of the meeting, in addition to the estimates, which were passed without discussion.

City Will Ask Permission to Issue $125,000 Debentures For L. & P. S. Commission

Sir Adam Beck Heads Deputation To City Council—Request Will Be Made in City of London Bill.

Application in the London Bill for authority to issue $125,000 debentures for the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission in place of the $105,000 originally asked, was recommended by the city council last night.

Sir Adam Beck, Philip Pocock and Dr. R. W. Shaw of the commission, appeared as a delegation recommending this change, having determined on a new policy at a special meeting Monday afternoon. No cars will be purchased as planned at the first of the year. Efforts will be made to rent sufficient rolling stock this season.

The money from the debentures, if issued, will be used to purchase a locomotive, $75,000; to pay for a coal ferry dock at Port Stanley, $8,500; weigh scales, $9,500; double tracking at Port Stanley, $15,000; switch points, $4,000; rails, $14,000.

Sir Adam said these expenditures were more necessary than the additional cars, although they were badly needed.

In December the commission asked a debenture issue of $218,000 for these purposes and other capital expenditures. The bylaw was defeated at the municipal elections. Application is now being made in the London bill for the smaller amount on the ground that the expenditure is absolutely necessary.

"Good Business."

Sir Adam told the council that the further investment was good business. He pointed out that the bonds of the road were being retired in thirty years. Private roads never make any attempt to retire their bonds, he said. The road had not cost one cent in taxes and was worth from 50 to 100 per cent more today than when it was taken over by the city.

Additional business was coming and additional equipment would be needed to meet it. The passengers carried yearly now numbered nearly a million, while the road was still trying to give them service with equipment intended for 400,000.

He also asserted that the G. T. R. coal business would soon be returned to the road when that line was taken over by the Government. He claimed that this freight had been diverted from its natural channel by the G. T. R. merely to injure the city of London. If this business were to be obtained equipment must be provided for it.

Philip Pocock said he was fully in accord with Sir Adam's statements. He expressed the belief that the Dominion Government would proceed with improvements to Port Stanley, but said he thought they would be more likely to do so if the city showed it was anxious to make use of the facilities there.

Ald. Drake, seconded by Ald. E. R. Seabrook, moved that the application for the increased account be made. Ald. Cameron Wilson, seconded by Ald. John Bridge, moved an amendment to refer it back to No. 1 committee for further consideration. The amendment was lost on a vote of five to five. The motion carried without opposition.

MACHINE GUN UNIT OFFERS ATTRACTIONS TO YOUTHS

Local Companies Expected to Reach Full Strength Soon.

Recruiting for the local companies of the 2nd Canadian Machine Gun Brigade is still in progress, and the enlistment to full strength is looked for at an early date.

Recruits who were under military age during the period of the war, but who since the armistice have attained the age of 18 years are now eligible for enlistment in the brigade. Ex-soldiers are also being sought.

This unit, which has companies in other Western Ontario cities, but the headquarters of which is in London, promises to be one of the crack units of the Canadian militia. Its attractions are many. In addition to obtaining the general training and the thorough knowledge of the machine-gun, the members of the brigade receive rifle practice on the range at the armories during the spring months and on the Cove ranges during the summer.

Members who prove themselves to be good target shots may be sent to Toronto to compete in the Ontario Rifle Association matches, where cups and money prizes are given. Those passing through these competitions with honors will be sent to Ottawa a little later to participate in the Dominion Rifle Association matches, where the team to reprsent Canada at the famous Bisley matches is chosen.

Improved Vickers .303 guns are now on their way for instructional purposes.

The uniform is a natty one. It includes breeches, British warms and puggings.

On Monday night the first rifle practice will be held. Sergt.-Major Carter will instruct those attending it.

PRESBYTERIAN COUNCIL ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Forward Movement Surplus to Help Needy Churches.

Officers for the year were elected at a meeting of the London Presbyterian Council on Monday evening as follows: President, J. H. Laughton; first vice-president, Rev. W. R. McIntosh; second vice-president, Rev. T. A. Symington; secretary-treasurer, Andrew Miller.

A detailed report of the various churches' givings to the Forward Movement were given by a committee. The total amount subscribed was $75,400. The set objective was $54,800. The money over subscribed will be spent in helping needy churches. A committee was appointed to look into the needs of the smaller churches in the city, and they will be helped accordingly. The council accepted responsibility for liabilities of Chelsea Green, Hamilton Road and Knollwood Park Churches, amounting to $4,300. The committee which was appointed to look into the needs of the smaller churches will report at the next meeting of the council.

OBJECT TO TREES BEING DESPOILED

Ruthless Trimming Brings Protest From Some South Londoners.

South Londoners are especially zealous in perpetuating the trees and other landmarks that serve to mark the road over the south branch of the Thames into the city proper. Hence, a number of voices have been raised in indignant protest at the dismembering of a number of trees which formed a clump just at the extreme northwest corner of the island in the Thames, immediately east of Victoria bridge on Ridout street. Every limb of every tree has been lopped off and the dismantled trunks left standing, mute evidence of the tree-trimmers' relentless atrocity.

"What's the use of town-planning if we allow our beautiful shade trees to be despoiled in this manner?" the South Londoners who daily cross old Victoria bridge demand. "And just to give a better view of an old billboard advertising ready-made clothing, flour and flowergrams!"

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities department pointed out that the island is private property, and there is no law to prevent people cutting down trees on their own property if they see fit to do so. He didn't think the despoliation took place on account of the billboard, however. It was more likely to give a better view of Ridout street and South London from residences at the top of the hill on Talbot and York streets.

ST. GEORGE'S SCHOOL DOUBLED OBJECTIVE

Children Raise $210 To Aid in Rebuilding Egerton Street Church.

The children of St. George's school, who planned last week to raise $100 towards the fund to rebuild the Egerton Street Church, are much elated at having secured $210, instead of $100. C. B. Edwards, school inspector, while visiting the school, highly commended the work of the children.

The money was raised through the sale of papers, rubbers, magazines, and the general junk that the north end housekeepers do away with when spring cleaning. This was collected by the children. Rev. A. C. Bingham expressed his gratitude to the children through the principal, Edward Wyatt.

The amount collected in the canvass last week among the congregation of the Egerton Street Church amounted to $4,000. Some of this was in cash, and the remainder was pledged. On Sunday the Sunday school of the Egerton Street Church pledged itself to raise $600.

Mr. Bingham commented on the generosity of London citizens generally, many individuals having sent substantial checks. Children have emptied their penny banks and various clubs and societies of other denominations than Baptist have sent contributions.

MUST SECURE WORK OR GET OUT OF TOWN

John Cruk, who confessed in police court Tuesday that he had no occupation, and that he had been found asleep in an empty-boarding car on the C. P. R., was allowed to go on condition that he either secure work or leave town. He said that he came from Toronto, and was bound for Windsor. Harvey Jefferies, a C. P. R. constable, found him in the car and charged him with trespassing.

WANTS ADDRESSES OF ALL C. O. T. C. MEN

Major T. J. Murphy, officer in command of the Western University C. O. T. C., is endeavoring to obtain the present addresses of all former members of the corps who qualified ts lieutenants or captains in the years 1916 to 1918, as it is desired to communicate to them matters of interest. Some of these graduates went overseas in the latter part of the war, and others are now scattered throughout Canada from Halifax to Vancouver. All are asked to communicate with Major Murphy, Bank of Toronto Chambers, London.

CHARGES COMRADES WITH ASSAULTING HIM

George Strapholous, a local Greek, has laid an information against four of his countrymen, William Mitgis, Kandis Kochopolis, Thomas Mitgis and Stephen Mitgis, for wounding and assaulting him. The case was to have been tried in police court Tuesday, but owing to the failure of the complainant and William Mitgis to appear the matter was adjourned until Thursday.

In answer to a telephone call the police went to 301 Richmond street on Sunday afternoon and found Strapholous suffering from a cut on the head. His assailants had left the premises, but he swore that the four men who are charged committed the asault.

YORK ST. PROPERTY IS BEING IMPROVED

Property values on York street, in the vicinity of the Grand Trunk freight sheds, are increasing in common with land values all over the city. Marley & Weekes, of The Signry, a short time ago, purchased the land on which a cottage and an old blacksmith shop was situated just east of The Advertiser Job Printing plant. The property was purchased from William Scarrow. Where the cottage stood Marley & Weekes are now erecting a two-story building of substantial construction for sign-building purposes, and the shop adjacent has been re-sold at a further advance in value to William Cooke, who will remodel the premises, make improvements, and enlarge it for a carriage factory.

ASK FOR POWER TO PUBLISH NAMES OF CHEATING COAL MEN

Council Will Petition Legislature For Authority To Take Drastc Action.

The city council decided last night to petition the Legislature for permission to publish the names of coal dealers convicted of giving short weight and to seize the loads of coal on which the convictions are based.

Erastus Hessel appeared as a delegate from the Trades and Labor Council to ask that publicity be given to these merchants in some manner or other. He thought it an outrage to let matters continue as at present.

Ald. O. I. Cunningham pointed out that City Solicitor T. G. Meredith had given his opinion that the council had no authority to take such action.

"I fully agree with the speaker; it is an outrage," said Mayor Little. "I would like to see the law amended so that we could publish the names and seize the coal, the same as we seize short-weight bread. I would suggest that you send a petition to the Legislature asking that the Trades and Labor Council be authorized to take such action and the city council will do the same thing."

ONLY FIVE CASES ARE ON LIST FOR SPRING ASSIZES

All Are Civil Actions—Grand Jury Has Been Selected.

Unless cases are entered this afternoon for the spring assize court, which will be held at the courthouse next week, there will be but five cases on the list. All are civil actions. The grand jury had been selected, but it is not expected that it will have any duties to perform.

Today the case of Annis vs. Annis was entered. James Annis of 82 Woodward avenue, Detroit, is suing Sadie Annis of this city because of an alleged breach of contract. He asks for an account of all moneys received by the defendant, and of all dealings and transactions to which she was a party. He is seeking to obtain whatever money is due him and whatever documents belong to him.

An injunction preventing the defendant from getting, disposing of, charging or encumbering any part of the moneys, credit, property, assets, estate or effects belonging to the business, or from incurring any debts in respect to the business, also in sought.

According to his allegations, an agreement which was made on June 4, 1919, stated that he was to receive one-half of the profits of a business at Port Stanley, and that the defendant could not sign the lease, sublet the premises or sell the place without his consent. He claims that he was to be manager of the business, but that on June 25, she would not allow him to enter the place of business.

The defendant, who is a Greek, claims that she does not speak or understand the English language and that she signed the agreement understanding that it was new lease on the premises.

BETTER CONDITIONS FOR RETURNED MEN

Local Delegation Will Present Resolution At Peterboro Conference.

The Peterboro city council has appropriated the sum of $1,000 for the entertainment of the delegates to the provincial conference of the G. W. V. A., which will be held there Wednesday. Besides giving this amount to the veterans, the city has given them a new building for use as club rooms. The local delegation, which left today, will carry with them a resolution for the betterment of the conditions of returned men, physically. The delegation will push hard for this, as it calls for free medical treatment of all veterans for a period of three years. The doctors are to be of the men's own choosing, and will work under an arrangement similar to that of the workmen's compensation act of Ontario.

COUNCIL WANTS BAN ON HEARST PAPERS

Chief Justice of Canada Will Be Asked To Take Action.

London's city council voted unanimously last night to bar all Hearst publications from Canada. A motion that application be made to the chief justice of the dominion to take such action was brought in by Ald. E. R. Seabrook, and was immediately indorsed without discussion.

"It is time the journals of this yellow viper were excluded from this country, and I feel that we should go on record as favoring such a step," said the alderman.

WILL RECEIVE PAY DURING TREATMENT

All N. C. O.s and men in Canada who served with the imperial officers during the war, and who require medical treatment owing to a recurrence of disabilities and sickness due to service, will receive the Canadian rate of pay during treatment, if they were domiciled in Canada prior to the outbreak of hostilities. This information was received by F. Fisher, unit service officer of the information and service branch of the D. S. C. R., this morning. The new order went into effect on March 8.

Officers and nursing sisters will be paid at the imperial rate of officers, regardless if they were residents of Canada or not before the year 1914, providing they served with the imperial army.

HAVE YOU GOT YOUR SHAMROCK ALL READY?

The celebration of St. Patrick Day on Wednesday will be one of the best that has been held since the outbreak of the war. Book stores all report heavy sales of favors for parties and special cards and decorations. Numerous dances and card parties are planned in honor of the patron saint of Ireland.

In spite of the work of the modern historians, nothing new has been learned concerning the work of St. Patrick. The only authentic story seems to be that he was a Scotch boy who was taken prisoner by the Picts in a raid on Scotland. On reaching the Emerald Isle, he immediately set to work Christianizing the people instead of seeking revenge.

During his work in Ireland, St. Patrick Christianized some twenty-five thousand people and ordained approximately four hundred ministers. Although unauthentic, the old legend that St. Patrick drove the snakes from Ireland, still remains.

During the day all good Irishmen in the city will honor him by the "wearing of the green" and feasting.

INGERSOLL TOWN COUNCIL.

INGERSOLL, March 15.—At the meeting of the town council tonight the resignation of J. F. Stone, a member of the housing commission, was read and accepted, and F. A. Ackert was appointed to the position. The housing situation was discussed at length, but no definite action was taken, pending the conference to be held between the housing commission and the special civic committee appointed recently.

On behalf of C. B. Ryan legal notice was given the council of a claim for $1,000 damages for injuries sustained a few weeks ago in a fall near the new market building.

It was decided to appoint J. C. Hegler, town solicitor, at an annual salary of $50.

Had Eczema FOR OVER 28 YEARS.

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable.

The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood-cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 152 Niagara street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past, and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

VACCINATION BAN STILL IN FORCE AT PORT HURON BORDER

Sarnia Doctors Investigated Reported Smallpox Case At Port Huron.

SARNIA, March 15.—The official health report of the city, made public tonight, shows that there is not a case of smallpox in Sarnia, but according to Uncle Sam's health officials, this will not affect the vaccination ban which will continue indefinitely at the Port Huron border. Sarnia people, working in Port Huron are now issued with vaccination cards and each week are examined for a vaccination, and if that given them has taken a red seal is placed on the holder's card by the officials. The law is most rigidly enforced at this part of the border and, according to word received from Washington, the ban will be in existence for many months. It was stated today that there was an alleged case of smallpox in Port Huron and local physicians are investigating the rumor, and if it is proved true, will, they state, ask the Ontario Health Department to allow them to enforce a vaccination ban on this side of the river also.

ASK WIDER POWERS.

M. A. Sanderson, secretary of the Sarnia housing commission is in Toronto today with a deputation representing various Western Ontario cities and towns, which is consulting with Hon. Nixon, provincial secretary, regarding the housing situation. The conference was arranged by the London housing commission. The deputation urged that further loans be authorized and the act be amended to permit the municipalities to make larger loans to prospective home-builders. It also urged wider powers for the local commissions.

Tonight it was stated that, judging by the small number of applications received, the job of a policeman in Sarnia is not a popular one. The time for receipt of applications expired tonight. The lure of higher wages elsewhere is given as the reason for the dearth of applications.

DIED IN LOS ANGELES.

The remains of the late Miss Francis Shanks, who died at Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in Sarnia today. The funeral will be held from the family residence, Wellington, on Saturday afternoon.

At a meeting held in the armories tonight a number of new recruits joined the local machine gun organization which is now being organized here.

The directors of the board of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting tonight and discussed the housing situation and other important items.

FAVOR HYDRO RADIALS.

Residents of Lambton County in favor of the hydro radial scheme for Western Ontario are considering inviting Sir Adam Beck to visit Sarnia, Walkerville and Chatham, with a view to the discussion of the electrification of the Pere Marquette from these places to Sarnia. A petition is now in circulation to this end.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

INGERSOLL, March 15.—The death occurred very suddenly this afternoon of Nora Wilson, wife of W. E. Cragg. Deceased, who was a daughter of the late C. C. L. Wilson, for many years manager of the Ingersoll Packing Company, had been unwell of late, but her condition was not regarded as critical. She had spent practically all her life in Ingersoll. She is survived by her husband, three small children.

ALLEGE HE PASSED A WORTHLESS CHECK

The youth who appeared as Harry Smith in police court here Monday, charged with having liquor unlawfully in his possession, is wanted by the St. Thomas police, who allege that he passed a worthless check on Harry Genraich, a Railway City businessman, on Saturday, in exchange for an overcoat, giving the name of John Brown at the time.

When the St. Thomas police were informed of his arrest here Sunday morning, Gemraich and his clerk journeyed to London and identified the prisoner as the "John Brown" who purchased the coat. Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon remanded him for one week Monday on the liquor charge, in order that his father in Northern Ontario could be communicated with in the meantime. On final disposition of his case here accused will be turned over to the St. Thomas police for arraignment on the more serious charge. When arrested here he gave his age as 17 years.

WILL LIFT BAN ON VACCINATION FRIDAY

Friday night, March 19, the vaccination requirements at the American border will be discontinued, local passenger agents have been notified. Both at the Michigan and New York state frontiers the immigration officials will stop scanning vaccination certificates at the same hour and date. Until then the restriction will remain in force. The Quebec provincial health department raised the smallpox embargo last week.

BRIDGE ABUTMENT HAS BEEN UNDERMINED

Reports from Waubuno of the undermining of the north abutment of a steel bridge over the Thames River at that point are the first that County Engineer Charles Talbot has received of any damage in the county from high water. The abument is constructed of stone, and if it does not sink the county will repair it in the summer, otherwise the bridge may have to be reconstructed. Meanwhile the bridge will be closed.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO PAY PORTION OF COST OF SURVEYS

London Is Actually Interested in Proposition Now Before Many Cities.

Efforts to secure Government assistance in making proper surveys of Ontario cities are being made, Major D. H. Nelles, supervisor of topography for the geodetic surveys of the department of the interior, stated, following a visit here Monday.

London is actively interested in this proposition, and $5,000 has been placed in the estimates this year to commence such a survey. It is expected that to complete the work nearly $50,000 will be required. It is with the expectation of Government assistance that the city is considering the plan.

No proper topographical survey of the city exists at the present time. This makes it difficult to arrive at the proper levels for streets, sewers and other public works. An effort to remedy this situation was made some years ago, and work was commenced in West London. This has been completed, but as this comprises only a small portion of the city there is much more to be done before the maps can be of any great use.

Major Nelles thinks that if the Government favors the proposition it will likely pay well over 50 per cent of the cost. It would supply the expert surveyors and equipment while the cities would be required to furnish the rodmen and common labor, as well as paying for monuments and other landmarks required in the work.

JUNIOR FARMERS TO MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Junior Farmer Association of Middlesex, which was formed immediately following the short course in farming conducted here during the winter by the department of agriculture, will hold its first meeting on Thursday in the rooms of the department of agriculture on Talbot street. Plans will be discussed whereby interest in better and more scientific methods of farming gained by the members through means of the short course will be kept alive and perpetuated.

A competition to include acre profits, hog feeding and dairy profits has been proposed, and the details of the contest will be worked out at the meeting. A stock judging contest will be conducted by the association at the Western Ontario live stock consignment sale, to be held in Queen's Park on March 23 and 24. Six prizes, consisting of books and a shield, will be given.

A tour throughout several of the counties of Western Ontario during the month of June is planned by the executive of the organization. Inspection will be made of the methods of farming used in other counties.

ALIMONY CLAIM IS BEING MADE BY WIFE

Ethel Downham of This City Enters Suit Against Her Husband.

Ethel Downham of this city entered suit in the county court today against her husband, William W. Downham of East Nissouri, Oxford County, for alimony.

Her claim is that on October 14, 1903, she and the defendant were married by Rev. Robert Johnston of this city. They settled down on lot 7, concession 7, East Nissouri. She claims that it was through her aid that he now owns between $6,000 and $7,000 worth of property and effects.

Within the last year, she claims, he developed a bad temper and a bad disposition, threatening to kick her, and to strike her with a hammer. She alleges that he has been keeping company with an unmarried girl by the name of McWain.

While she, the plaintiff, was in bed suffering from bronchitis, he abused her and used insulting language toward her, she claimed. She left the home.

The defendant claims that it was the bad temper of his wife that made the home a place unfit for living.

Meredith & Fisher are acting for the plaintiff, and J. M. McEvoy for the defendant.

WANTS $5,000 FOR ALLEGED ALIENATION OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

Arthur E. Morley Enters Suit in County Court Against Albert Lewis.

Arthur E. Morley of this city, this afternoon entered suit in the county court against Albert Lewis, another resident, for $5,000, for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

Morley claims that in 1916, the defendant came to his residence on Wilson avenue to collect payments on some goods purchased from one, Alderslade. A little later the plaintiff went overseas. He alleges that the defendant continued to visit his wife at 56 Wilson avenue in a social way, and that by taking her to the theatres and for walks and by gifts of jewelry and clothing, gained the affection of her children, the eldest of whom was 8 years of age, and alienated his wife's affections.

In 1918, Morley alleges, the defendant and Mrs. Morley planned to move to a house at 181 Briscoe street. The plaintiff with his family was living at 99 Bruce street. He protested against the moving. During his absence, however, the household effects were moved, he claimed. In August, 1919, the defendant was said to have come to live with them. Then, Morley claims, quarrels between he and Lewis and he and his wife resulted.

On January, 1907, he claims, the defendant stripped his bed of the clothing so that he, the plaintiff, was forced to sleep with a friend for the night. In the morning when he returned to the house his uniform and civilian clothes were found out in the snow.

The defendant states that he built a double house at 181 Briscoe street, and rented the other half to the plaintiff and his wife. They were to pay him by doing his housework and preparing his meals. He denied all other allegations.

G. N. Weekes is acting for the plaintiff, and T. W. Scandrett for the defendant.

This action will be tried at the assize court next week at the court house.

ASKING FOR $6,000 DAMAGES AS RESULT OF AUTO COLLISION

Patrick and Bridget Clifford Suing C. J. Leach and Walter Vail.

Patrick Clifford and Bridget Clifford, both of this city, today entered suit in the county court against C. J. Leach and Walter Vail, also of this city, for $6,000 damages, which they claim was caused them as the result of an auto crash which they allege was due to the negligence of one of the defendants and the servant of another defendant.

Both plaintiffs claim that on November 20, 1919, they were passengers in a car driven by Vail, and that at the corner of Waterloo and King streets his car collided with a truck owned by C. J. Leach, confectioner. Both defendants, it is alleged, were negligent in so far that they drove at an excessive rate of speed and did not observe the rules of the road.

Patrick Clifford claims to have sustained a fractured skull and injured arm, and to have received such a nervous shock that he was permanently impaired. His wife claims that she was suffering from concussion of the brain and was permanently impaired through shock.

C. J. Leach claims that his car was proceeding at a reasonable rate, and that, therefore, the accident was not the result of his negligence. Walter Vail, a real estate man, asks that the case be dismissed.

Meredith & Meredith for the plaintiff; McKillop & Douglas for Leach, and Bayly & Bayly for Vail.

BANDITS PULL OFF DAYLIGHT HOLD UP ON DETROIT STREET

Stole $5,000 From Cashier of Morton Baking Company.

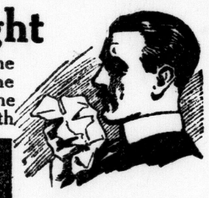

DETROIT, Mich., March 15.—While hundreds of persons passed the spot two bandits staged a bold daylight hold-up in the heart of the city's financial district this afternoon and got away with $5,000 that was packed in a black bag. The money had just been drawn from Peninsular State Bank by Earl Delbridge, cashier, for Morton Baking Company and was for payroll purposes.

As Delbridge stepped out of the bank into the street he felt the push of an automatic in his ribs and heard the command, "Get in that car and keep still." The auto, its engine throbbing, lay aganist the curb, and Delbridge stepped in, the robbers close behind him.

Then a small car drove up alongside, and one of the bandits reaching down took the money bag, and with a laugh tossed it to the new arrival. The little car drove off rapidly in one direction, while Delbridge and his captors drove in another. Five miles out the paymaster was permitted to leave his involuntary associates who drove away. The police have no clues.

CROWN COUNCIL COMPARES IVENS WITH WILHELM

Andrews Asks Difference Between Striker and Former Kaiser.

CRITICISES CHURCH

Says Labor Temple Was Camouflage For Teaching Sedition.

WINNIPEG, March 15.—(By Canadian Press).—Denouncement of William Ivens featured the address of A. J. Andrews, K.C., senior counsel for the crown, at the trial of the seven strike leaders which was resumed today. Following an outline of speeches by Mr. Ivens at various times, Mr. Andrews said.

Is there much difference between William Hohenzollern and William Ivens? Both were impressed with the doctrine of 'Me and Gott.' Both masqueraded under the guise of religion, and both were enemies of society."

The labor church also came in for criticism. It was intended, said Mr. Andrews, as a camouflage for the teaching of seditious doctrines, to fan the flames of discontent. One of the principal speakers at several meetings was the accused Pritchard, who, he said, referred at the Calgary conference to the "late lamented Mr. Christ." Teachings at this church, counsel continued, were intended to make hearers forget all that was taught them at their mother's knee; to put self before country to put before the hearers the vile doctrine of Bolshevism, which teaches duty to class first.

RANEY SCORES O'CONNOR OVER WHITEWASHING

Criticises Board of Commerce For Prematurely Approving Wholesalers.

DISCREDIT ON CROWN

Charges Attempt Made To Question Good Faith of Crown.

TORONTO, March 15.—Attorney-General W. E. Raney has written a letter to the Board of Commerce, criticizing the board for the treatment which the crown witness, A. L. Porter of Hamilton, received at the investigation by the board at Hamilton last week into the alleged wholesale grocers' combine, and criticizing the board for its exculpation of the wholesale grocers before the inquiry had been concluded. Major J. L. Duncan, official counsel to the board, also comes in for some criticism at the hands of the attorney-general, but only incidentally in connection with criticism of the chairman of the board, W. F. O'Connor. In his letter the attorney-general makes six "observations," all strongly critical of the board in its conduct of the investigation.

"A final observation," says the attorney-general, "is that the attempt made at the hearing on Friday, with the apparent approval of the board, to cast discredit on the good faith of the crown, is an unheard-of thing in the judicial records of this province."

Prepared By Itself.

While the attorney-general makes no comment on the board's "exculpatory memorandum prepared by itself in the interest of the wholesale grocers," he suggests that on the resumption of the inquiry next week the board permit A. W. Roebuck, the counsel representing the attorney generals' department "to complete the evidence for the crown in the ordinary way," and adds, "then counsel for the wholesale grocers can be trusted to make a full presentation of their side of the case."

Touching the case of A. L. Porter being called as a witness at the investigation in Hamilton, the attorney-general says that Mr. Roebuck had told the board that Mr. Porter's evidence was only hearsay, and the crown did not intend to call him, and comments thus:

Extraordinary Reason.

"Some extraordinary reason must have operated to induce the board to override the attitude of the crown." Mr. Raney finds fault that Mr. Porter was thus dragged into the light, especially as Mr. Porter's communication to Premier Drury about the alleged combine was confidential. That Major Duncan's questioning of Mr. Porter was not reproved by the board is commented on by Mr. Raney.

With reference to the Government's position, the attorney-general says:

"The implications from the questions of Mr. Duncan of an unfriendly attitude on the part of the Government toward the board can only be interpreted as an impertinence to the crown, both in a legal and a colloquial sense. Indeed, this attitude appears to be implied through the gruelling cross-examination of a citizen who had the hardihood to bring a complaint to the head of the Government of Ontario, right down to Mr. O'Connor's dismissal of the witness (Porter) with the remark to the counsel for the wholesalers: 'He throws the game up. I don't think you need go any further.'"

The assistant deputy minister, Mr. E. H. Scannell, in his preface to the report, points out that a branch of the department of inquiry is likely to be established in London for the manufacture and supply of artificial limbs and appliances to former Canadian soldiers who are located in England.

The deputy minister, Mr. F. G. Robertson, is now in London dealing with this matter. Mr. Scannell also makes reference to the reciprocal arrangements which have been made with the United States Government in regard to training members of the forces of either country now domiciled in the other. The department, Mr. Scannell points out, is also working in close co-operation with the Canadian patriotic fund in administering the relief fund which was provided at the last session of Parliament.

RUTHERFORD SAYS NOTHING OPPOSED TO HALF-MILE TRACKS

Interview Emphasizes Lack of Any Recommendation.

OTTAWA, March 15. — (By the Canadian Press).—In brief interview this morning, Dr. J. G. Rutherford, whose report on racing and betting in Canada was recently tabled in the House of Commons, emphasized that he had made no recommendation for legislation abolishing or curtailing the activities of half-mile racetracks in Canada.

"My report contains no recommendations," said Dr. Rutherford. He then went on to intimate that, as practically all the racing between Windsor, Ontario, and Vancouver, and between Montreal and Halifax, was held on half-mile tracks, a sweeping recommendation of the kind suggested would be extraordinary.

His effort, said the commissioner, had been to collect the evidence and lay it before the Government and the House in a proper form. The evidence was there for perusal and conclusions could be based on it.

The information reached here Saturday night that a man named Harry Smith had been arrested, charged with a violation of the Ontario temperance act. Generaich went to London on Sunday and identified the prisoner as the mysterious "John Brown" who fraudulently obtained the coat from his place of business. As soon as the O. T. A. charge is disposed of in London, Brown or Smith, whatever his name may be, will be brought to St. Thomas to face trial on the more serious charge.

ROBBED A SECOND TIME.

The cigar store of T. O. McKnight was robbed early this morning for the second time this winter. A large amount of cigars and tobacco was removed, but the receipts of Saturday's business had been removed by Mr. McKnight when he closed up on Saturday. The clerk was in the store at 5 o'clock Sunday evening and everything was all right at that time. The lock on the rear door, which is an old-fashioned one, was picked with a skeleton key. The police have no clue.

WINDSOR LOOKS FOR MEASURE OF CONTROL OVER FERRY COMPANY

Provincial Officers Investigating Rapportta Murder Mystery Have Clues.

WINDSOR, March 15.—Definite action by the Government at Ottawa, whereby some control over the operation of the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company will be given the city of Windsor, is expected by Mayor Winter. He informed the city council at its meeting tonight when authorization was given for a deputation consisting of the mayor, six aldermen and the crown attorney, J. H. Rodd, to confer with the Government at the capital regarding the regulating of the service and rate of the company.

Estimates for conducting the Essex Border Board of Health for 1920, as tabled at the Windsor city council tonight totalled $28,300, apportioned on a population basis among the various municipalities.

Application was made to the council by the water board for a loan of $10,000.

POLICE HAVE CLUES.

While no definite connection between the murder of Morris Rapportta, Wyandotte merchant, who was murdered by bandits in his store over a week ago and the shooting fray on Sandwich street, west late Sunday night, has been established at a late hour tonight, Chief of Police Wills told The Advertiser that George Collins of Detroit, now near death in the Hotel Dieu Hospital and Jack McKinsley, also of Detroit, held by police in connection with the shooting may be held in connection with the Rapportta case.

Collins, according to his physician, Dr. Moody, is very weak, and at a late hour it was doubtful if he would survive the night. He was shot near Steppen's Inn during an argument with his companion. Following orders from Toronto, provincial officers Smith and Hanna today started investigation of the Rapportta case and tonight discovered an eyewitness of the tragedy, who furnished several new clues on which they are working. No arrests have yet been made.

To Peel Off Freckled, Blotchy, Pimpled Skins

As March winds, flying dust and dirt, are apt to injure any complexion, this information will be of special value right now. If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in the morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.—Advt.

TRAGEDY OF NORTH REVEALED BY ARREST AT WINDSOR, SUNDAY

Arthur Currie of Chatham Is Charged With Murder of a Trapper.

WINDSOR, March 15.—Arthur Currie, alias Arthur Walker, was arrested late Sunday night by Provincial Officers Smith and Hanna, charged with the murder of a trapper in Ontario's Hinterland on January 29. Currie, who gives Chatham, Ont., as his home, is a halfbreed. He has been working for the Windsor Ice and Coal Company delivering fuel. The provincial officers obtained a description of the man from Toronto, and had been looking for him since he was reported missing from the North. The trapper, who had with him his winter's earnings from fur trading, left Sudbury for the North with Currie, who, the police state, was not seen again in the North after the trapper was reported missing. Provincial Officer Smith took the man to Toronto today. The prisoner is alleged to have told the officers before leaving Windsor that he was ready to confess the entire story of the killing.

Melting ice today partially disrupted telephone service in Windsor, where 50 instruments were out of commission in one block in the business section.

SINISTER INFLUENCE AGAINST CANADA IN THE UNITED STATES

Clipping From Chicago Paper Advises Investors Against Canadian Securities.

WINDSOR, March 15.—Evidence collected by Industrial Commissioner Sclanders to the effect that a sinister influence in the United States was discouraging relations between that country and Canada is being prepared and will be forwarded to the minister of finance, Ottawa, by the Border Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by the plea that some action be taken through Washington to combat the evil.

As the result of a probe quietly conducted by Mr. Sclanders some time ago he today received a clipping from a Chicago publication which in its "Advice to Investors" column said:

"The Canadian Government has, in effect, confiscated a part of the property of the paper mills in Canada. Having made a start, there is no telling how far it will go. For this reason all Canadian securities, including Government and municipal, must be considered speculative."

CANADIAN MISSION COST PRETTY PENNY

OTTAWA, March 15.—Answering A. R. McMaster (Brome) in the House of Commons today, Sir George Foster said the total expense of the Canadian mission in London from its inception to January 31 was $123,410.35.

E. W. Tobin (Richmond-Wolfe) was informed by Mr. Rowell that it had been decided to hold an imperial press conference in Ottawa August 4 to 7, 1920. The officers responsible for the carrying through of the conference were the Canadian Press Association. The amount of Canada's contribution towards the project is under consideration. The Governments of Quebec and Ontario are each dividing $10,000 towards the expense, the Governments of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia $5,000 each.

LIVE STOCK RECEIPTS LIGHT AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, March 15.—Light receipts over the week-end resulted in only 164 cattle, 500 hogs and 169 sheep being unloaded this morning.

Trading this morning was fairly active on the light supply of cattle on hand, the bulk of receipts being composed of common to medium grades of butcher cattle which were taken up at steady prices.

One load of good sheep passed over the scales at $13, while a load of young lambs changed hands at $15.

The hog market was again unsettled, and as there was only a limited number for disposal, bidding was keen, and quotations were fully 50 cents stronger with prospects of a still further advance.

NOMINATED LABOR CANDIDATE.

Montreal, March 16.—Alphetus Matsieu, prominent as a labor man for many years past, and secretary of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, has been officially nominated to be the labor candidate at the federal by-election to be held in the St. James division of Montreal on April 7 next.

Intestinal Indigestion!

A Form of Dyspepsia Usually Resulting From the Inability To Digest Starchy Food.

A great many people are severely bothered with intestinal indigestion due to the fact that the starchy foods, such as potatoes, rice, white bread, etc., are digested in the small intestine and not in the stomach as is generally supposed. To relieve this condition Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are well supplied with an intestinal digestant so that instead of practicing severe diet you may eat these essential, nourishing foods without distress.

In the small intestine the pancreatic juice acts upon the starches and [illegible] narily, in a state of health, possesses the power of converting them [illegible] grape sugar and dextrine, [illegible] must be so transformed before [illegible] can be of use to the bodily [illegible] Remaining as unchanged [illegible] ther passes through the [illegible] nal, and proves a useless [illegible] the system, because it [illegible] or it causes intestinal [illegible], the food products become [illegible] through putrefaction, [illegible] sets up a catarrhal inflammation [illegible] the intestine, resulting in [illegible]

In a complaint of this character many persons use paregoric, bismuth and tannin to relieve the diarrhoea, all powerful astringents and they stop the trouble suddenly, "locking up" the morbid secretions, throwing the toxic intestinal poison back on the system, and often causing auto-intoxication.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS contain among other powdered digescarbonate, which is a mild though effective sub-astringent, and which by its antiseptic properties removes the intestinal poisons that are always present in intestinal indigestion and diarrhoea.

Not only are the starches digested by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, but through the action of other ingredients they relieve stomach indigestion and dyspepsia. Buy a package from your druggist today for 50 cents, and note the sense of relief that follows in short order.

ICE AT MOUTH OF RIVER THAMES STILL SOLID; FLOOD FEARED

Bursting of Sprinkler System Caused $180,000 Damage To Stock.

CHATHAM, March 15.—The ice on the River Thames broke here this afternoon and is floating rapidly towards the lake. The movement of the ice is causing great concern, as to the prospects of a flood, particularly in the neighborhood of Prairie Siding, and the low-lying lands of Dover and Raleigh Townships, as the ice is still intact at the mouth of the river. Farmers along the banks of the river are being urged to take measures to protect their stock.

COVERED BY INSURANCE.

Charles Austin today estimated that stock to the value of $180,000 was affected by water, as a result of the break of a two-inch water pipe of the sprinkler system at his store on Sunday morning. Mr. Austin stated that he is protected from loss under a special policy taken out when the sprinkler system was installed.

Extensive improvements to the buildings at the Chatham fair grounds are planned by the executive of the West Kent Agricultural Society. Among the improvements will be a commodious addition to the present grandstand, new entrances to the grounds and an efficient system for accommodating automobiles and rigs.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY, LIMITED.

London, Ont., Tuesday, March 16.

FOLLOW THE C. P. R.

President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific is a good sportsman. Addressing a reunion of the company's officials at Toronto he expressed his heartiest wishes, and those of his company, for the success of the Canadian National Railways, and declared that he did not anticipate any controversies as a result of government competition. While he was aware that the taking over of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific would tend to make the going harder for his system, he was confident that the C. P. R. would continue to hold its present foremost position as one of the world's greatest transportation companies. That kind of talk shows a fine spirit and gives promise of harmonious relations between the people's system and the world's most powerful railway corporation. Canadians are proud of the C. P. R. because of its magnificent organization and splendid service, and grateful to it because of the stupendously helpful part it has played in the country's development. Mr. Hanna says it is his intention to have the Canadian National Railway operated as if it were a private concern. If it measures up to Canadian Pacific efficiency and usefulness the country will be well satisfied.

A LITTLE REFORM.

One of the greatest nuisances in the effort to enforce prohibition is the medical prescription. It is a nuisance to the public and an annoyance to the doctors of greater intelligance and probity.

A Toronto woman told the police magistrate that the doctors ought to have more sense than to prescribe liquor for her shell-shocked husband. But it seems that there are doctors of neither sense nor science. Or is it possible that there is nothing sure in medicine? Eminent medical authorities inform us that alcohol is good for almost nothing in the ordinary practice. Doctors who issue liquor prescriptions by hundreds or even thousands in the year might have trouble in giving scientific reasons for their treatment or any scientific diagnosis of the cases. They cast a discredit on the whole art of medicine, making it in this appear either an illicit boon companionship or a mercenary business of very low description.

Manitoba moves to limit the number of prescriptions from each physician, but is there no better way? Why not put the Government dispensary in every centre under not a liquor man, but a qualified medical man of approved prohibitionist opinions? And let the doctor define his "patient's" case with medical precision, giving his reasons for prescribing liquor. The cases could then be scrutinized and doctors breaking the law readily punished.

Of course, when manufacture and importation have been stopped, the supply of liquor will not be too great, anyway. But why not a medical expert in charge of the dispensing of so doubtful a "medicine"? It seems that there are doctors yet numerous who prescribe liquor with the ignorance or interested purpose of a quack handling out his patent bottle. They are on a par, scientifically, with the old-timers who qualified their boluses according to the changes of the moon or the indications of a horoscope. Such "doctors" ought to be subject to revision and check by a dispenser of honesty and scientific qualifications combined.

CHAOS IN GERMANY.

Tumult and confusion has gripped Germany. The Ebert Government's resignation and flight from Berlin has been followed by rioting that may develop into a great civil war, with Saxony, Bavaria and the other kingdoms lined up against Prussia. The junkers appear to be in full control of Prussia, while elsewhere the Socialists, Republicans and the working class are dominant. On one side of the abyss which has split Germany wide open stand the socialists of all grades ranging from the moderates to those who are radical to the point of being Red. Facing them across the gulf are gathered the forces of Prussian militarism. The workers are using the powerful weapon of a general strike, while the imperial party holds the capital and other principal cities by force of arms.

The most serious aspect of the situation from the Allied point of view is the possibility that an attempt will be made to restore the Hohenzollerns to the throne. Germany's royal exiles are reported greatly excited. The ex-crown prince is talking about "visiting" Berlin; the ex-kaiser is "restless" and "waiting"; Prince Eitel Frederich is "slated for the throne," according to Copenhagen dispatches. It is not to be supposed that in twelve months' time the glamor of the spiked helmet and the goose-step have been wiped off the German imagination. A powerful demonstration of military force would bring to heel millions of Germans, especially if the new government should succeed in relieving some of the great distress that prevails throughout the country. A restored monarchy would prove embarrassing to the Allies because it would most certainly refuse to carry out some of the treaty conditions. The Allies could, of course, compel submission, but that would mean a new vast expenditure of money and perhaps men and nobody knows better than Germany's new leaders that another struggle is repugnant to the public of the Allied nations. Fortunately the incomparable Foch with powerful forces is close to the disturbance, and conditions of the peace treaty permit of a certain amount of intervention during the period in which Germany is under chastisement. This may enable the Allies to head off a bid for restoration. Again, it may be that for the salvation of Europe generally the Allies may have to throw in temporarily with the new German Government, as the socialists in immense numbers are rapidly going over to the Bolshevists. A great civil war in Germany would be bad enough, but there is grave danger that it may involve actively the Entente nations and bring on another general struggle. The political developments of the next few days in Germany will be of vital interest to the world.

LAURIER AND JELLICOE.

Admiral Jellicoe has placed a splendid wreath on the tomb of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. His recommendation on Canadian naval policy is a complete indorsation of the great statesman's plan in 1910. The Borden-Bourassa policy of 1911-1913 is dead and buried, if it ever was sincerely alive. But "the good men do lives after them"; Sir Wilfrid's patriotic Canadian plan is also Admiral Jellicoe's.

The minimum expenditure proposed by the British expert calls for eight submarines, four local defence destroyers and a few other vessels, including trawler-sweepers. A larger expenditure would increase this mosquito fleet by three light cruisers, one flotilla leader and one submarine parent-ship. It is believed that the Ottawa Government favors the plan thus enlarged, which is almost identical with Laurier's defence navy as projected in 1910. That the present Government and its press jackals should meekly accept the plan which they barked and trampled down in 1911 in order to truckle to the French-Canadian Nationalists, is an irony that will enliven the pages of Canadian history.

The war has shown the importance of small craft both for offence and defence. Little motor boats are useful in various ways, some of them carrying only three or four of a crew. With light draft and such small crews they take all sorts of risks with mines and coast batteries, while they torpedo battleships and cruisers a hundred times their size or deal effectively with submarines.

It may be thought that a navy of smaller proportions than that planned by Laurier should now suffice our needs. The victory has wiped our enemies off the map as maritime powers for the next half century. Why waste money now on naval armaments at all? But the League of Nations needs a police force if it is going to be effective, and we must provide our quota, the more perhaps as the United States is not rushing to lend its naval strength to the purposes of the world's peace. We need also something of a coastal patrol, and a nucleus at least of a naval power for the training of officers and crews. One of the most important features of the Laurier-Jellicoe plan is the provision for trained Canadian officers and men closely associated with the splendid sailors of the British navy. Laurier and Jellicoe would not have Canada drop something in the collection plate, but set her trained men and her ships in the array which is to protect our empire and the peace of the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Don't take 'em off yet!

According to news dispatches, Germany has a bad case of spring fever.

The flood season on the Thames is over, but the flood from Montreal still continues.

Father knows that spring is here. He has just had to shell out for Susie's new spring bonnet.

The naval plan of 1910 is preferred to the knavish plan of 1912; Laurier is vindicated against Borden-Bourassa.

As far as 1 per cent beer is concerned, the "kick" is all from the outside, not from the in, from the drinker, not from the drink.

GREAT SCHEME.

[London Country Life.]

The following letter, dated from Denver, Colorado, and signed "F. C. Webb," embodies a novel proposal, apparently intended for the benefit of Mr. Get-Rich-Quickly and his like. Comment on it is unnecessary: "Knowing that you have some interest in the fur business, I take the liberty of presenting you with what seems to me a most wonderful business proposition, and in which no doubt you will take a lively interest and perhaps wire me the amount of stock that you want to subscribe toward the foundation of the company. The object of this company is to operate a large cat ranch, in or near Oakland, where land can be purchased cheap for this purpose. To start with, we will collect say about 1,000,000 cats. Each cat will average about twelve kittens a year. The skins run 10 cents each for the white ones to 75 cents for the pure black. This will give us 12,000,000 skins a year to sell at an average price of 30 cents each, making our revenue about $10,000 a day gross. A man can skin 50 cats a day for $2. It will take 100 men to operate the ranch, and the net profit will be $9,800 per day. We will feed the cats on rats, and will start the rat ranch next door. The rats multiply four times as fast as the cats, and if we start with 1,000,000 rats we will have, therefore, four rats per day for each cat, which will be plenty. Now then, we will feed the rats on the carcases of the cats from which the skins will have been taken, giving each rat one-quarter of a cat. It will thus be seen that the business will be self-supporting and automatic all the way through. The cats will eat the rats, the rats will eat the cats, and we get the skins. Awaiting your prompt reply, and trusting that you will appreciate the opportunity which I give you, and which will make you rich quick."

ANTIDOTE FOR SOCIAL UNREST.

[New York World.]

The marked increase in the number of marriage licenses issued in New York and other American cities since January 1 may or may not be due to the exercise of Leap Year privileges of proposal. At any rate, what was once a matter of jest has a more serious aspect under the fuller emancipation of women. If they vote and contribute more and more to the economic maintenance of the home, why should they not have a freer voice in establishing it? But the fact of greater significance is the increase of the marriage rate not only here, but in Europe since the conclusion of the war. The conditions here are said to be true also of France and Germany; and could there be a better augury of the world's return to normal conditions? These are not slacker marriages, but marriages entered into for the creation of homes, with all the responsibilities involved. They are the best possible antidote for social unrest, and an earnest of conservatism and stability. When young people, in the face of a higher cost of living, and while still under the influence of the sex freedom of war service, turn to marriage in increasing numbers, the fact is worth citing as against all the forces that tend to disrupt the family.

From Here and There

QUITE A PHILANTHOPIST.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]

"The rich look on us miners with an ignorant and patronizing pity that—that—well, it's like a story."

The speaker was John Walker, one of the leaders of the United Mine Workers.

"A rich young lady," he went on, "was being shown around a coal baron's plant just as a cage of miners, all black from their work, ascended the shaft.

"'What are they?' she asked.

"'Oh,' said the baron, 'they're just miners.'

"A minute later another cage of men came up.

"'Are they miners, too?' asked the young lady.

"'Yes, sure,' said the coal baron.

"'And do you let them out every day?'

"'Yes.'

"'How very, very kind of you that is!' said the rich young lady."

OUT IN KANSAS.

[Pittsburg Dispatch.]

Dr. A. A. Hamerschlag, head of the Carnegie Institute, said at a Pittsburg dinner party:

"I respect that Kansas school principal who forbade the young girls to year silk stockings or to powder their faces. Even in Kansas the young girls are getting altogether too sophisticated.

"I heard the other day of a male drawing teacher out in Kansas who said to a little girl of 12:

"'Minnie, you've neglected your work shamefully, and you must remain with me an hour after school.'

Minnie shrugged her thin little shoulders.

"'Well, professor,' she said, 'if your wife doesn't mind, I'm sure I don't.'"

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE SENATE?

The following letter to the New York Times by Mr. Chester Glass is a strong, searching arraignment of the United States for its stand on the peace treaty:

To the Editor of the New York Times:

The most absorbing public question in the United States today is as to what the Senate is doing with the peace treaty and the League of Nations, and what is the cause of the irritating and altogether unreasonable and unbusinesslike delay in ratification.

We are now one of the richest and most powerful nations in the world, and should be respected by every country and government, but unfortunately at this moment we are not only ridiculed by the rest of the world, but we have lost our prestige and their respect, and we, as a people, do not deserve to occupy this humiliating position.

The Senate carries our honor and our character as a nation in its hands, and it has, I fear, proved recreant to its trust, and has, in effect, announced to the world that while we are rich in dollars we have no real stamina and do not loyally support our allies; that we are represented by vacillating politicians, afraid of their own shadow, and willing to see the whole structure of many governments and the happiness and safety of their people sacrificed in order to make a long-drawn-out campaign issue out of the League of Nations.

It is obvious to any fair-minded man that upon this league depends the existence and financial stability, and even the food of many of the nations of Europe, and our trade relations with them, and still some of our so-called wise senators dare to dally with and split hairs over it when delays are grievously destructive. The American people want the treaty signed and the league put in effect at once, and have wanted it for many months, as appears by the number of petitions presented to and delegations received by the Senate committee from representative bodies all over the country.

Now, what is the difficulty?

The alleged cause of delay is the objection to Article X. of the league. The main purpose of this article is that all the parties to the league shall support the territorial integrity of the others from external aggression. Many of our most prominent and thoroughly loyal Americans think that the original Article X. is satisfactory as it is, and that there is no real danger in adopting it, as in no event could the United States declare war without the authority of Congress; but supposing some explanation of our position is desired by way of reservation, what do we find? Senator Lodge introduced an amendment which did not meet the approval of the mild reservationists, whereupon Senator McCumber prepared one of his own, which was finally adopted by Senator Lodge and passed by the Senate last November. This is the amendment:

> "The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country, or to interfere in controversies between nations—whether members of the league or not—under the provisions of Article X., or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the Congress, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

Senator Hitchcock, the defender of the administration and of the league, submitted another proposed change. The Senate, therefore, has had the original Article X. and three proposed amendments before it.

After months of discussion and wasted time the Lodge reservation, embodying the McCumber amendment, was finally accepted by a majority vote, but that bid not meet the views of a sufficient number of senators, who had the power to defeat the final passage of the treaty.

The situation is that the Senate is merely splitting hairs, and we must search for the motive. As far as I can understand it, there appears to be an underlying intention to make the treaty a party issue in the next presidential campaign, and that a large number of the senators wish to carry out this plan for their personal interests. Many close observers of this bitter contest in the Senate think that the real desire of the Lodge-Johnson-Borah destructive triumvirate is to kill the treaty altogether.

The position is a most humiliating one for the American people. Delegations and petitions of the people representing the whole nation have urged in vain for the passing of the treaty and the league, and not one representative voice has been raised against it.

We were charged as a nation with only wanting to make money out of the necessities and terrible war strain in Europe, but we are proud of the fact that we finally entered the war and held up our end in a magnificent way. After this splendid achievement we are now, to all appearances, deliberately going back on our allies and leaving the world to its fate, without the courage to join in the efforts to prevent future wars and possibly a greater and more disastrous one than that through which we have just passed.

We have earned the suspicion and dislike of the civilized nations. We are giving aid and support to our enemies and building up the strength of Germany in Russia in such a way as to be a menace to the peace of the whole world. The dark cloud of Bolshevism can only be met and dispelled by united action under the league. And why is this? Not because the treaty and league are not acceptable to the American people, and not even because they are not substantially approved of by the Senate itself, for on the one bone of contention, namely, Article X., the Senate has already, by a majority vote, accepted the Lodge-McCumber reservation. If the situation were not so grave and full of peril, it would be a farce, and reminds one of Nero fiddling while a great city was being destroyed and consumed in flames.

If a large number of the senators are using the power delegated to them by the people simply to suit their personal purposes, and absolutely against the expressed will of their constituents, it would look very much like a breach of trust. To relegate this question to become a party issue at the next presidential campaign, and be a football for the politicians, is a subterfuge, and to allow this view of the matter to control his vote for political purposes would appear, I think, to be a prostitution of the great honor and dignity and responsibility of being a senator of the United States. If the Republican leaders do not get together and pass the treaty and league without further delay, it will spell disaster for the party for many years to come.

It is reported that President Wilson would not approve of the league if the Lodge-McCumber amendment is submitted for the original Article X. I cannot believe that any president would take such a responsibility. If he should do so, he would be more harmful to the public welfare than even Senator Lodge, and that is saying much.

CHESTER GLASS.

New York, March 6, 1920.

Love of the Wild

By Archie P. McKishnie

She stooped and looked into his face. "Boy," she said softly, "thanks for the promise; but it's you I love—not him."

Then she ran from the room.

Boy arose. In his heart a song was ringing that set the whole world—his world—agog with joy. Paisley came over and touched him on the shoulder.

"I've asked you somethin' three times," he said. "It's coming mornin', and the rain is done. The scouts are goin' out along the trail. I want to know who is to stay here with you and Mac while the rest of us are totin' up what we'll maybe need for a siege."

"I guess we don't need anybody here," said Boy.

He walked absently about the room and, coming back, put his hands on Paisley's shoulders.

"Bill," he pleaded, "I want t' go with the scouts."

Paisley shook his head decisively.

"No good," he said firmly, "you can't go; that's all."

"Bill," said Boy. "I've give my promise that I won't hurt Simpson, won't that let me go?"

"Nor anybody else."

"Well, I guess that will let you go," chuckled Bill. "I guess it will. Fact is, you're the one who ought to go. You're worth all the others put together at scoutin'. Here you, Lapier, come back here. Boy's goin' along in your place. Your wife's kickin' like everythin' on your goin', so you stay here."

Boy stepped forward and looked into the inner room. On the floor here and there, on furs, lay chubby-faced babies, sleeping sweetly, and on fur shake-downs close beside them the mothers of Bushwhackers' Place lay sleeping and dreaming perhaps of olden days in the retreat, before troubles came to cloud its tranquil skies. He tip-toed across the room and stood beside two sleepers in the shadow. His mother's arm encircled the neck of the girl who had let happiness into his heart. He removed his cap and kneeling kissed the mother's cheek tenderly, then reverently he touched the girl's brow with his lips, and slipped away. And through the faint light a pair of wide-open eyes, mellow with God's earthly happiness, followed him. Boy found his waiting companions outside, and, slapping Declute's narrow shoulders, he bounded down the path toward the creek.

All the world was waking up to spring. The woody doty smells of the Wild crept into his life and stirred his pulse to the symphony of his world. His whole being responded to the waking-time and his kingdom was still his—aye, more than his kingdom was now his. Above his head, a grey streak against the smoky fog, a flock of homeseeking ducks fluttered lazily by. They were flying low and the leader's soft quack sounded to him like a greeting from friends long absent. The creek, washed of its snow, lay still ice-fast, but clear and milk-blue with the tinge of wakefulness upon its face. By night the ice would be broken and the current would bear it, grinding and joyful, out to the open water of the bay, and by and by into the clear waters of the lake. A lone grouse strummed his joy upon a log hidden in a thicket. Down in the fallow a cock-quail was whistling, "Bob-White." Across the creek the heavy snows of winter had carried the flimsy roof of Halibut's mill to the bank. It lay where the current would sweep it out into the open water. The schoolhouse, through the fog, loomed up totteringly, seeming to bend as though imploring the creek to carry it away from the place from which it was estranged.

"Think the ice strong enough to bear us?" queried Declute. "It's some worn, ain't it?"

"It's strong enough," Boy answered. "We'll drag the canoes across. This ice 'll be gone by night."

Quickly the men secured the boats and with two men to a boat they passed across the creek, carefully keeping to the white ice. Once a man broke through, and one of the others, by a quick movement, caught him and pulled him to safety. So, with a laugh and a "now all together," they beached the boats on Totherside and sought the soft wood where the Triple Elm trail lay.

Along the trail the men moved, speaking little, for each was occupied with his own thoughts. To one and all the opening of spring had come as a blessing after the shackles of a long, harsh winter. They all felt its spirit and their steps were springy, their hearts, in spite of apprehension, were glad. Three miles along the trail Boy stationed his first picket.

"You'd better stay here, Jim," he said, "and keep a sharp lookout for Ander. If you hear a high-holder call, you answer it. Then make for Bushwhackers' Place fast as your legs 'll carry you."

Two miles further on Declute took up his station and Boy passed on down the trail alone. In the wood it was deep and still and gloriously restful. Squirrels bounded hither and thither and grouse twittered their joy-notes. A red fox slunk into the thicket and the kittens rolled in front of him in playful dispute. He had to step over them to keep to the path. Further on, a polecat, or skunk as the animal was called by the Bushwhackers, was grubbing for food in a decayed log. Boy knew at a glance that she too had babies sleeping somewhere close by, and he smiled as she cast a look of inquiry at him from her bright eyes and went unconcernedly on with her work.

Three miles deeper into the wood Boy stepped aside into the undergrowth and sealed himself upon a log. All through the forenoon he sat there thinking and dreaming of Gloss and wondering why he had never before thought she cared. He reviewed bit by bit the events of the past four months and strove to piece them together so as to make something of the whole. Why had Hallibut instructed his men to steal Gloss? And why was Simpson one of the gang? He thought he knew the answer to that question.

The forenoon passed and two hours of the afternoon had gone before Boy's ears were rewarded with the sound of hoof-beats along the trail. He crept forward and peered down the path. Colonel Hallibut, astride a bright bay horse, came riding slowly along the trail. His head was low on his breast and he passed so closely to Boy that he might have touched the horse's nose. Boy let him pass, his intention being to drop back into the timber and run ahead of him. Just as Boy was about to creep back into the bush he heard the muffled tread of a man's foot. He waited, his hand fumbling the lock of his rifle. As he peered through the brush he could hardly suppress an exclamation, for Amos Broadcrook, his huge form bent and his face haggard and sunken, crept swiftly past him. Five paces on the man sank on one knee and threw his rifle forward. Boy was quick to divine his motive and just as quick to act. His own rifle was leveled and one second before Broadcrook's rifle cracked Boy's bullet struck the barrel of the other gun and the would-be murderer's bullet went singing into the bush on the right.

The shock threw Broadcrook upon his face, and before he could regain his feet Boy was upon him. In vain the giant strove to shake off that sinewy form. Boy clung to him and held him. He heard Hallibut give a cry of surprise and a moment later Amos was pinned down the more effectively by the colonel's weight. The big man held a pistol at Broadcrook's head and Boy arose and unbuckled one of the stirrup-straps. In another minute Amos was fast bound. Then Colonel Hallibut turned to Boy.

"Seems as though life was very uncertain about here," he remarked. "I understand that animal tried to shoot me, but can't understand why you didn't let him. Suppose you explain."

He frowned at Boy and put his pistol in his belt.

"I understand you Bushwhackers made a threat to shoot me on sight. Why didn't you let him do it?"

Boy's eyes gleamed dangerously.

"It won't do you any good to talk like that," he cried. "I guess if we did shoot you on sight it's about what you deserved. You tried to steal our little Gloss, you and your gang. And you send us word that you intend to drive us into the bay. Well, Colonel Hallibut, you'll find it pretty hard to drive us people anywhere. I saved you from bein' killed just now, but that was only 'cause you wasn't gettin' a chance. Us Bushwhackers are queer. We have a funny way of givin' things a square deal. We don't fire at folks from behind, and we don't try to steal women, either."

The Colonel's eyes opened in surprise.

"What are you talking about?" he thundered. "Do you mean to say that I tried to kidnap one of your women? Young man," he warned, "I'm grateful to you for what you've just done, but don't you try to be funny with me. I haven't been across on your Bushwhackers' Place. I haven't done anything to any of your people, either. I did try to buy your timber, but that's all. My agents have been among you, and a nice way you've used them, I must say. Nearly killed Watson, and stole six hundred dollars of my money from him. Then you up and burn my schooner. That's what I call hospitality with a vengeance."

"You burned your own schooner," cried Boy, "and if Watson and Simpson got rough handlin', it was because they deserved it."

"What had Simpson to do with this affair you speak of?" asked Hallibut quickly.

"He was there with you and Watson the night you tried to steal Gloss," said Boy, his mouth twitching.

"Young fellow, you're crazy," groaned Hallibut. "I tell you if anybody tried to steal the girl I don't know anything about it."

"Your agent, Watson, says you threatened to kill a few of us off," said Boy grimly. "Broadcrook there heard him, didn't you, Amos?" glancing down at the shaggy form on the ground.

Hallibut snorted.

"Humph! and come to think of it, it was Watson heard you say that you would set fire to my schooner," he flashed. "You're Boy McTavish, I guess, aren't you?"

"I am Boy McTavish, but I never said that."

"It was me fired the schooner," said Amos.

"You?" cried the Colonel.

"He as much as hired me to do it," said Amos—"Smythe did. And he hinted as he'd pay me fer doin' fer old Noah, and I did."

"No, you didn't," cried Boy; "Noah is alive and well."

"Then I ain't got no murder 'gainst me," cried Broadcrook, "an' they can't hang me, kin they?"

Hallibut stood biting his lip, his shaggy brows twitching. At last he raised his eyes slowly to Boy McTavish.

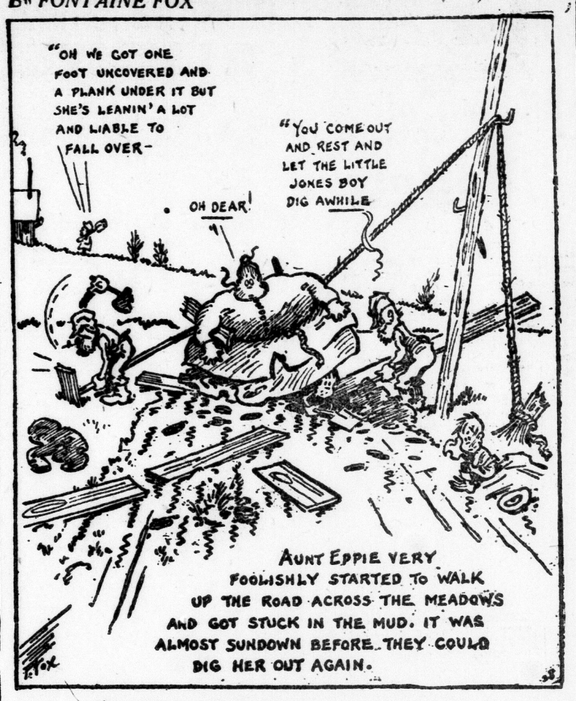

"See here," he said at length, "I can't just make this thing out. I guess I've been making a mistake and I guess you have, too, Boy. I've done you no wrong, neither you nor yours. I came over here purposely to demand that you give yourself up for burning my boat, and I'm glad I came. I want to shake hands with you, if you'll do it, and thank you for saving my life. Then I want to go down to Bushwhackers' Place and shake hands all round. I—I——"

The big man's face was working, and Boy found it difficult to keep his own voice steady as he wrung the Colonel's hand and said:

To be continued.

SHORT OF BREATH

Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N. S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening grey, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so ttractive.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

BESSIE.

(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Bessie is, of course, one of the derivatives of Elizabeth, but so frequently is it given in baptism without any reference to its more proper antecedent, that it has come to be regarded as a separate and distinct name.

Through its association with Elizabeth, it has its source in the old Hebrew name Elisheba, and probably came to be evolved from the shortening of Elizabeth to Beth, whence Bess shortly followed. The first Bess on record is said to have been Elizabeth Woodville, whose mother, Jacquetta of Luxemburg, imported it from Flanders. Shakespeare's Edward IV. called her Bess, and her daughter, Elizabeth of York, was called "Lady Bessee" in the verses which told of the political courtship of Henry of Richmond. "Pretty Bessee" is the granddaughter of Simon de Montford in the old English ballad. "Good Queen Bess" is too well known to need comment, but, through her, Bess had incredible popularity in the English court, at least one out of every three young women bearing the name of the Queen. How Bessie, the endearing form of Bess, came to be spelled Bessie is not satisfactorily explained, unless it is the Scotch preference which gained vogue in England. Bessie is a favorite Scotch name, but Betsey, its equivalent, soon became popular in England, and remains so.

Germany calls Bessie, Lischen. She is Babette in Evance and Betta in Italy. Russia has a form taken from the German, Lisenka.

The flame-hearted ruby is Bessie's talismanic gem. It promises her courage, invincibility and long life. Sunday is her lucky day, and 1 her lucky number. The lily, signifying purity, is her flower.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Women At Home and Abroad

FOLLOW THE IMPULSE WHICH LEADS OUTDOORS IN THE SPRINGTIME.

Haven't you felt it? That incessant tugging of the outdoors, which comes with the first soft atmosphere of spring. Right through door and window pane it comes, defiant of any magic circles which may be drawn before the entrance to your home or heart.

All through winter you have been content to creep into your stuffy shell of a home or office and stay there, cat-like, enjoying the warmth. But not now. As long as you are within doors there's a vague uneasiness in your breast and your feet are restless. At first you don't know what is the matter. You can hardly breathe, and you wonder if you are going to be ill. But a half-day in the country will soon settle that question. Fresh air is the tonic you need and the twitter of birds and piping of the bull frog, the medicine which puts new life into your heart and clears your brain.

Yes, there's a tugging of the outdoors at the heart of everyone in the springtime, and it's a healthy symptom if it impells you to get out into the freshness of a new world. That tugging is all for a purpose and if you follow its impulse your blood will become the redder and your muscles will grow stronger and you will become again a new woman with the rest of God's world in the spring.

MEN MUST SHARE IN HOUSEWORK OR MARRIAGES WILL CEASE.

"There ought to be domestic training schools for husbands, where a man could be taught simple cooking and housework. Some men are so helpless that they don't even know how to make a pot of tea," was the startling statement made by an exasperated housewife the other day. Her theory is that marriages will gradually become fewer and fewer unless the men are taught to help with the housework. She pointed out how impossible it was today for the average woman to get help, even of a charwoman, at the same time declaring that the modern girl was not willing to make a slave of herself.

"If a woman has a little baby she is tied to the house day and night; there is no one to relieve her. Theatres, concerts, visits—all those things which make up a civilized life—are gone. Such a woman might as well be exiled in the backwoods.

"Men will have to take their part in the housework if marriages of the future are to be successful. I know the retort to this suggestion. It will be said that man completes his share of the bargain by getting through his daily job. But there is a limit to his hours of work; there is no limit to woman's duties. In a servantless house the man ought to clean the steps and light a fire while his wife gets breakfast. Each should take it in turn to do the evening work of preparing a meal and washing up afterwards. The day is gone when a young, intelligent woman is prepared to spend most of her life in the kitchen."

Well, what do you think of it? Is she right?

FATS FOR CHILDREN.

Cream and butter are the best fats for children, as they are the most digestible and contain the mysteriously important vitamines, or vitalizing elements, which the cooked fats seem not to have. For the really little ones there is no substitute and they must have the cream and butter, while elders use the substitutes. For school children, peanut butter helps out greatly, for it is less than half the price of butter, and it is a raw fat, containing the vitalizing factors and very nourishing. It cannot, however, be used carelessly, because children tire of it, if they eat too much, and are easily made bilious by it. Used on bread once a day it is an excellent food.

Germany calls bacon, which the children really should have three or four times a week through the winter, if it can be managed. Most meat fats, properly cooked and distributed with the lean meat, and the taste for them, once acquired, is a wholesome taste never lost.

Another way of giving children fats is in gravy. A good, hot brown gravy is wholesome and delicious. It is time that the silly idea that bread and gravy are not good form should be abolished. No child but loves it and few families but privately succumb to their desire for it. It is precisely the same food as biscuit or bread with soup, unless the soup is made wholly without fats. The very best flavor in gravy comes from the juice of a roast. To make it, take two tablespoonfuls of the brown meat juice in the roasting pan, cool slightly, and mix, in two level tablespoonfuls of flour until perfectly combined. To this, add a cup and a half more of the brown meat juice (if it is very fat take half water), and bring to a boil, stirring constantly as it thickens. Add salt and pepper.

The prejudice against fats is due properly to the indigestibility of cold cooked fats, and of carelessly fried foods. Children need a regular amount of cream, butter, peanut butter, bacon and gravy during the cold months.

BETTY AND HER FAMILY.

Part Eleven.

Now, when they had arrived near Betty's old home, Mr. Bear had fallen behind the party, and as soon as Betty and her puppies had passed on he ran away to hide. Mr. Bear was not so sure as Betty was that her mother would be kind to him, for he had been cruelly treated by the circus man, and he did not want to have such a life as his old one again.

How unhappy Betty and her puppies were when they found their old friend had run away from them. The joy of their arrival home was not nearly so great when they knew that Mr. Bear was not sharing it, too.

But Mr. Bear had learned to think a great deal of the family of dogs, and he could not stay in hiding forever. Bright and early the morning after Betty's arrival home with her five sons, Mr. Bear came out of his hiding place and went snooping around the house, where he knew Betty and her family were. The dogs had been tired, he knew, so they would not be stirring so early in the morning. But Mr. Bear figured without Tiny. Tiny, like the lively dog he was, had slept hardly a wink all night, for he missed Mr. Bear and could not sleep for thinking what had become of him. Tiny's quick ears caught the tread of Mr. Bear's feet outside the house, and then what a barking Tiny set up. His four brothers and Betty woke up immediately. They heard Mr. Bear, too, and what a noise they made. Quickly their master jumped out of bed and opened the back door. Then what a scramble there was to get outside.

Poor Mr. Bear was almost swept off his feet by the rush of dogs that came out. Around and around him danced Betty and her five puppies. Betty's master hurried out to see what all the commotion was.

"Why, it's old Bruno come back! Will wonders never cease!" cried Betty's master in surprise.

Sure enough, Betty's master wasn't the young man Mr. Bear belonged to before the circus man stole him. What a surprise the dogs got, and how delighted Mr. Bear was.

Of course, Mr. Bear was allowed to stay, and because Betty's sons were all such good dogs their master did not sell one of them. Tiny and Silker turned out to be great show dogs, and the whole family was admired by everyone.

Autobiography of a Plain Baby—Two Miles of Oxygen.

Remember all the trouble they had with the commissary department when the kid next door arrived? Well, that kid bobs up once more in my diary, I find. Here is my entry for a perfect day: October 20, Sunday.—Raw, cold north wind. Funny thing happened. Mollycoddle kid next door whooping it up when we went for a walk this morning. Her mother told my mother she dared not take the poor thing out on such a day, for fear she might take cold—and she said it in a sort of chiding tone. Mother smiled and made no rejoinder. But later I heard her telling dad, and he said Mrs. Gamp must have been calling on the neighbors. Too bad, too, dad said, as he got ready to roll on the floor with me, too bad that folks get so "soft" in their errors.

They are pretty thoroughly sold on "taking cold" next door. They look on mother and dad as a trifle dotty for "exposing me," as they call it, to all kinds of weather. They consider it remarkably lucky that I have not "taken my death o' cold" on some of the blustery days I've been out for my regular two miles of oxygen. Father says that's why he wants me to get my oxygen every day, regardless of weather—oxygen is always lucky for a baby.

The amusing part of it is that the poor little thing next door is getting to be very susceptible. Her life is just one respiratory infection after another (Dad said if I called 'em "colds" he'd burn my manuscript up). As for me, somehow in spite of the cruelty of my parents in taking me out in all kinds of weather, it remains yet to encounter my first respiratory infection.

The parents of the kid next door assume that the more susceptible a child is to "exposure," as they insist on calling the good old open air, the more careful they must be about letting the child have an airing.

Dad assumes that the more particular people are about seeing that a child gets two miles of oxygen every day in the year regardless of weather, the less susceptible the child will be to respiratory troubles.

I side with dad on this question. What's your opinion?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

No Symptoms.

What are the symptoms of syphilis?

MRS. A. F. S.

Please tell me some of the symptoms of tuberculosis of the kidneys?

MRS. D. B. M.

How do you tell if you've got a tapeworm? What are the symptoms of tapeworm? R. L. L.

Ans.—Symptoms are for the patient to tell the doctor, and I think harm rather than good is done when this arrangement is reversed, as charlatans and other rascals would have it. Persons who harbor tapeworm do not necessarily experience any symptoms, and if they do, there is no symptoms or group of symptoms at all characteristic of the condition. I repeat that no one can tell whether an individual has tapeworm except by finding tapeworm eggs or segments of the worm in the discharges from the bowel.

Whose Old Teeth Are You Wearing?

Is it true that old teeth and gold crowns are remelted and again sold as new gold to the public? If a dentist remelts his own gold from old teeth and uses it for crowns, is it sanitary and safe for the second patient?

W. H.

Ans.—Certainly the gold is recovered from all old dentures, and that gold is quite as sanitary or safe as the virgin stuff from the mine. Don't let the sanitary bug drive you to such absurd lengths.

I was reading in this paper of a lady who tried the Karell regimen for reducing fat. I am 30 years old and I weigh 250 pounds, and would like very much to try it.—Mrs. F.

Ans.—Send stamped, addressed envelope.

Beef Blood.

Is the blood in meat the only nutritious ingredient? Is that blood the uncleansed blood which is left in the veins after the animal is killed? I heard a lecturer describe these things recently, and I have been unable to eat meat since. MRS. M. D. C.

Ans.—The juice which may be pressed out of fresh meat is the least nourishing part. Beef blood is as nourishing as milk, and certainly as wholesome.

Chocolate or Cocoa.

Does chocolate or cocoa dry up a person's blood? Also does the craving for it by an expectant mother have any harmful effect on the child?

Ans.—No. Chocolate or cocoa makes a wholesome, somewhat nourishing, mildly stimulating and usually harmless beverage for any adult. Tea or coffee is slightly more stimulating, not nourishing in itself, and good for the health of most adults.

Children Show Good Judgment.

Can you suggest anything which will even partly serve the purpose of castor oil, something just as effective, but not so disagreeable as castor oil?. My children simply cannot take castor oil. —Rev. K. B. H.

Ans.—Your children probably inherit their good sense from their mother. There is no reason why any child should take castor oil—nothing but solid superstition. Aromatic syrup of rhubarb (U. S. Pharmacopoeia), formerly called spiced syrup of rhubarb, will serve every purpose of castor oil if given in the same doses.

A Fig for That.

I have been eating figs daily for constipation, with satisfactory results. But some say the seeds are injurious to the intestines.—F. A. P.

Ans.—Keep on eating the figs with their seeds. Seeds in fruits never do harm to persons over 6 years of age and often do much good.

Mrs. F. P. Betts, local Girl Guide commissioner for London district, is calling a meeting of the whole Girl Guide Association for 7:15 o'clock on Thursday night at the Y. W. C. At the Thursday night meeting the different guide captains in the city will give reports of their work, so that the general public will have some idea of what they are doing in London.

This meeting will be a public one, and all women, such as mothers of guides, teachers and representatives of women's organizations are urged to attend, so that they may thoroughly understand what the guide movement is doing in London.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Poor Ura Kidd.

Dear Cynthia.—I see where I can be of a little help, so am sending two songs, that were asked for. I've been in the house for a week now with the grippe, and if I don't get out soon I'll start a revolution that will make Sinn Feiners, Mexicans and Bolshevikl green with envy. I'm not a very amiable patient I'm afraid.

Look, Spitfire! See the pretty poem Scottie wrote for me.

To My New Sister Ura.

Here's to you and to me,
To what we've been and are,
Here's to what we are going to be—
Each separate star.
Whatever our paths may be,
Whatever may be our ends—
Here's hoping that when we die
We'll die as we've lived—good friends.
—Scottie Frae Dundee.

Do you think he is as good a poet as Lonely, Spitfire? Are you going to give him away, too?

Well, I'm not writing sense, and the Page is so very highbrow of late, I'll fold my tent and fade away.

URA KIDD.

Here is a wee donation for the C. H. fund.

Ans.—Well, it must be spring, here's poetry sprouting right in the Mail-Box. And really, Ura Kidd, I wish you a hasty and permanent recovery, for from indications you are not a very patient patient. But we are all glad to have you back again, so hurry up and get better. Thanks for your mite.

For Dry Skin.

Dear Miss Grey.—Please send me the stocking-foot pattern. Could you tell me of something that is good for a dry face, also hard dry hands? Sorry to trouble you, and thank you very much. Will send my small contribution.

JUST GREY-HEADED FARMER'S WIFE.

Ans.—Your druggist can supply you with many soothing creams. I am unable to mention the names of same in this column, but if you will send me your name and address, I will try to help you. Thanks for donation.

Wants Victor's Eczema Cure.

Dear Miss Grey.—This is my first letter to the Mail-Box, although I enjoy it very much, and I get much help from it. I saw where Victor had a cure for eczema; I wonder if she would send it, as a lady friend of mine is suffering from same? I would be very thankful for it. Inclosed find 25 cents, 10 for the hospital fund, and the rest to defray expenses of answer. My penname is GRANDMOTHER.

Ans.—I haven't Victor's address, but hope she will see this and send in the cure, and I will forward it to you. Thanks, Grandma, for your addition to the fund.

Will Reader Please Note?

Dear Miss Grey.—Kindly forward the inclosed letter to Reader. If her aid to deafness is the help she claims, then I shall indeed by grateful to you and to her. Many thanks from

ONE WHO IS DEAF.

Ans.—I hope Reader will send in her address, as several are asking for it, and I will gladly send it on.

Calls Again.

Dear Miss Grey.—As I saw my last letter in print I thought I would write again. Well, as it is nearing spring our house flowers are all in full bloom, which I enjoy, as I love flowers. I hope you are still well and haven't had the flu. I would like to correspond with a nice boy 21 or 22 years of age and would like to see this in print, and would like him to write first. I will leave my address with Miss Grey. I remain. E. M. F.

Ans.—Yes, I do believe spring is coming. I saw a robin redbreast this morning and some laddies playing marbles, and as they are two of the best signs, I am quite optimistic.

Cutie Wants to Correspond.

Dear Miss Grey.—This is my first letter to your Mail-Box. I have been a silent yet interested reader of your page. I am interested especially in crocheting and in the corner of goodies. May I ask a question or two? I may be of some help another time. I. Could anyone supply me with the old song "Call Me Up Some Rainy Afternoon"? 2. What day did March 5, 1902, fall on? If it is not too much bother, please forward the inclosed letter to one whose letter appeared in last Saturday's issue signed Mahaska. She says her address is with you.

My sister saw where Glossie's Sister wished to correspond with one of 17. She will correspond if Glossie's Sister will write first.

I hope I haven't worn out my welcome. I will sign myself CUTIE.

Ans.—Song referred to readers. I have forwarded the letter to Mahaska, Wednesday. Indeed you haven't worn out your welcome. Call again—some rainy afternoon.

Granites Blank Tiger Crew, 5--0

Victory Was Easy One and New O. H. A. Champs Early Tied Up Series.

TORONTO, March 15. — Toronto Granites tonight won the senior O. H. A. championship by defeating Hamilton Tigers in their final game here. Tonight's score was 5 to 0 in favor of the locals. In their game at Hamilton last Friday night the Tigers won by 3 to 1, so the score on the round is 6 to 2. The arena was literally jammed full of people, and there was great enthusiasm over the victory of the Granites, that is, among the local fans. Tigers' rooters, who were here in large numbers, were very quiet at the end of the final contest for the championship.

Granites scored first and were thus on an equality with the visitors. Thereafter the local hockeyists seemed to have things their own way and won with comparative ease.

Game Not Rough.

The game was not rough, but there were sly pokes and surreptitious jabs that kept the players on the go. The score indicates the relative merits of the two teams as they performed on the ice tonight—Granites outclassing Tigers in a surprising manner in view of previous Tiger performances this season. Granites not only had a big majority of the shots on goal, but had them from inside the Hamilton defence.

Granites are ambitious to represent Canada in the Olympic games at Antwerp, and their chances of doing so are now regarded as bright.

The line-up:

Granites—Goal, Addison; defence, Fox and Laflamme; centre, Romeril; wings, Aird and Jeffry; subs., Fowler and Watson.

Tigers — Goal, Reaume; defence, Smith and Reise; centre, Reid; wings, Boyd and Cooper; subs., Fisher and Max Smith.

Referees—G. Van Horne and Tom Munro.

BERNIE NEIHA, FORMER CANADIAN BALL PLAYER, NOW BIG LEAGUE STAR

FRANKIE FLEMING OUTCLASSES DICK ATKINS IN MATCH

Fast Bouts Are Staged At Massey Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, March 16.—Frankie Fleming of Montreal, who will probably box Johnny Kilbane in Toronto shortly, gave Dick Atkins of Toronto a boxing lesson in the main bout of the G. A. C. midnight show at Massey Hall last night. Atkins stayed the limit, but he was groggy on several occasions, and was practically outclassed. Irish Kennedy of Hamilton did not appear, and young Brooks, a comparative novice, substituted for him tgain Jack McCracken. They went six rounds to a draw, Brooks finishing strongly after being knocked down twice in the first round and once in the third. Ted Joyce was given the decision over Benny Gould after ten hard rounds, but the crowd thought that a draw would have suited the case and indulged in a storm of boohing. Crompton and Dugout fought four rounds to a draw in the preliminary.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Advt.

Tom Padget, Babe Ruth's Orphanage Side Kick, Killed by Train

HORNELL, N.Y., March 15.—Thomas Padget, who was a pupil at St. Mary's Orphan Home in Baltimore and left that institution with "Babe" Ruth to become a professional baseball player in the Canadian League, was killed by an Erie train here today. Both boys joined the Hamilton (Ontario) team, Ruth later going to the big league, and Padget coming to the Interstate League here. When the league disbanded he went to work as a brakeman and was killed while at work here today.

McClarys Are Champions Of Mfrs. Hockey League

Win From Standard Drug Six by 4--1 Score in Final Clash Last Night At Westminster Rink.

McClarys are the champions of the Manufacturers' League. They accomplished the feat last night in their win over the Standard Drug team in the league finals by a score of 4 to 1, after the Fiends had held them tight for the first two periods, and to what many considered was a 1 to 1 tie, the score of 2 to 1 at the end of the second spasm included a doubtful McClary goal.

Ice Soft.

The McClary band was in attendance, and a big crowd of rooters cheered the two teams through three periods of hard and heavy going. The soft ice looked good to the Drug supporters, and their pets took ever advantage of it in the first two periods, holding the Stovemen out of danger and taking to the slush like young ducks. Brown and Manning were the stars of the losers, while Buchanan and L. Campbell took up the heavy receiving for the new champs.

Brown of the losers was easily the fastest man on the ice, and his rushes during the first period were the feature of that 20 minutes. The Drugs pressed hard, and were pressed hard, but both defences handled all attacks to a scoreless finish.

First Goal.

Early in the second period, Brown got through on a lone rush for the first tally of the game. In five minutes later, Buchanan went down for McClarys' first, and very doubtful counter. The disc apparently bounced off Martin's hand and out in such a position that it could not have struck the inside of the goal. In three minutes more, Campbell went through alone for the second McClary tally.

In the third period, both teams were visibly tired of the going, but kept up the pace. The Standard Drug, had already given notice of a protest with the 2 to 1, and played a defensive game this period. Dr. Campbell was responsible for both the Champs' goals in this period, getting the third tally on a nice swerve from the boards right in on the open nets and behind the Drug defence.

Corker Legg handled the game, and handled it well, considering the scrambles the soft ice caused.

The line-up:

McClarys.	Standard Drug.
Gleason	Goal	Martin
Buchanan	Defence	E. Brown
Delaney	Defence	Manning
Campbell	Centre	G. Brown
Clark	Wing	Connor
D. Campbell	Wing	Crittle
O'Brien	Sub	Graham
Everett	Sub	Scott

Referee—"Corker" Legg.

Summary.

First Period—Scoreless.

Second Period—Brown, 2 minutes; Buchanan, 6 minutes; Campbell, 9 minutes.

Third period—Campbell, 10 minutes; Campbell, 13 minutes.

The boys' hexathlon, which is being run off at the Y. M. C. A., is showing results fully as gratifying as those of the young men. WOODSTOCK READY FOR BIG SEASON OF BASEBALL

WOODSTOCK, March 15.—Woodstock Baseball League was reorganized at a largely attended meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. tonight. Preparations for the coming season's play were discussed and to all appearances Woodstock will have some tip-top city league ball. The officers of last year's club were re-elected as follows: President, Frank Hyde; first vice-president, George Hoskings; second vice-president, James Martin; secretary-treasurer, Russell Sandercock.

Some discussion took place on the question of Woodstock again playing under O. B. A. auspices. All representatives of teams present favored the adoption of O. B. A. regulations again this year, and no doubt this will be done. Four teams, the Bankers, Bains, the Knitters and the Sterling Textile are likely to enter the league. Woodstock intends to do well in the O. B. A. this summer.

Partridge Rubber Defeats Carpet Mills At Guelph

GUELPH, March 15.—Before a fairly large crowd, the Partridge Rubber team defeated the Carpet Mills team here tonight in a hard-fought game by a score of 4—1. By their win tonight the Partridge team earned the right to do a battle with the K. of C. team for the championship of Class A, the play-off of which will take place Wednesday night, the winner to meet the G. W. V. A. team champions of Class B. The ice was in good condition, and both teams battled all the way through. Although inclined to be rough at times the game was well handled by Referee Pitman, and there were very few penalties handed out. Only the brilliant work of the Carpet Mills goalkeeper prevented a much larger score.

GALT WINS FIRST OF FINAL GAMES FROM PALMERSTON

GALT, March 15.—In a good exhibition, considering the soft ice, Galt tonight defeated Palmerston in the first of the Northern League senior finals 4 to 3, and only for bad shooting should have had more goals, as they had two-thirds of the play. In the first period the visitors got away to a good start and had most of the play, leading off in two minutes 2 to 1. After that, however, the locals settled down and scored three to the visitors one, Rooker and Root on defence put up a fine game, while Kemp at left wing proved the best of the forwards. Watts was the star of the local defence, and George or the forwards. McCulloch, Galt's regular centre, who is ill, was much missed. The largest crowd of the season was on hand, despite rain early in the evening. The visitors came down by special train, accompanied by 250 rooters. They are confident they will win in return game Wednesday night and retain the satisfaction. The teams:

World's Hockey Series May Start Saturday Night If Coast Champs Can Make Ottawa

MONTREAL, March 15.—The Stanley cup series may start on Saturday night instead of on Monday. President Frank Calder today received word from President Frank Patrick of the Pacific Coast League, stating that the latter was endeavoring to make arrangements with the Canadian Pacific Railway whereby the winning club could leave Vancouver immediately after tonight's match between Seattle and Vancouver, and not wait until tomorrow as was previously planned. If this is done the team should arrive in Ottawa Saturday morning and start the series that night. Cooper Smeaton was appointed referee for the entire series today, and this appointment was accepted by the Coast League.

Publicity At This Time Appears To Be Last Thing Private Members Desire—Senators Must Not Tread On Sacred Ground, Either.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 15.—Private members of the House had their innings in the Commons today, and it was the role of ministers to sit tight and say nothing, and if they did to act on the defensive. Back-benchers of all three official parties combined and concentrated their energies upon the small, but devoted band on the treasury benches and generally speaking political differences were forgotten.

At the opening of the House, however, the members, at the request of Mr. Speaker, went into private session the press and the public being debarred. In spite of the new spirit of democracy which is sweeping the world the Commoners are apparently destrous of securing a more complete exclusion from the inroads upon their sanctuary of Senators, pressmen and constituents, so Mr. Speaker has declared the lobbies in front, and alongside of the chamber sacred ground, which in session must only be trodden upon by the duly-elected representatives of the people, and by nobody else.

It matters not that the lobbies at Westminster and Washington may echo with the tread of the correspondents and of the priviliged visitors. Those who desire to converse with members in the Canadian House must search for them among the bewildering mazes of their rooms, or loo kin vain for them in the deserted lounging rooms. This afternoon Mr. Speaker sought confirmation of his exclusion order from the members. Speaking for their three respective parties Sir George Foster, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and Hon. T. A. Crerar could do no other than concur.

In these days when Canada has reached a new status among the nations of the world, it is meet and fitting no doubt that the House of Commons should also insist upon more exclusive prerogative. Publicity in these times would appear to be the last thing which the average member desires. It may, however, be stated that today's attendance in the House was of the slimmest, and that the immunity decided upon this afternoon may later be challenged.

MANY HAVE ACTED IN BORDEN CABINET

Sir George Foster Tables Report of Those Who Have Tried Portfolios.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Mr. E. W. Tobin, Richmond-Wolfe, brought out some interesting information when he asked in the House of Commons today how many acting ministers had been appointed since December 17, 1917. Sir George Foster hesitated that while there was a lot of material in it, there was every little information, so the question was changed to an order for return and the answer tabled. It showed that there had been 38 appointments of acting ministers since the date mentioned.

Hon. Arthur Meighen had administered the departments of trade and commerce, justice and finince, and acted as secretary of the privy council.

Hon. G. C. Ballantyne had been acting postmaster-general.

Hon A. K. MacLean at various times was in charge of the department of justice, postmaster-general, agriculture, and marine and fisheries, and naval affairs, militia and defence, and trade and commerce.

Sir George Foster, secretary of state for external affairs.

Hon. J. A. Calder, agriculture, health, militia and defence, railways and canals.

Hon. Frank Cochran, secretary of state, railways and canals, and public works.

Hon. Martin Burrell, militia, trade and commerce, agriculture.

Farmer-Labor Caucus

TORONTO, March 15.—The Farmer-Labor members of the Legislature began a caucus this evening that lasted until midnight. It is understood that the chief matter of discussion was the proposed new election act, which is intended to simplify the machinery of preparing for elections by doing away with enumerators, except in the unorganized sections of the province, and using the municipal voters' lists in provincial elections, as was done some years ago.

Premier Drury will lead in the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne in the Legislature tomorrow.

INCREASE INTEREST RATE GOVERNMENT BANKS PAY, IS FIELDING SUGGESTION

Considerable Discussion Is Aroused by Proposal—Drayton Evades Question, But It Will Likely Come Up Later.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Considerable interest attaches here to the recent suggestion in the House of Hon. W. S. Fielding, former minister of finance, that in view of the fact that money is growing dearer, and is likely to continue dear for the next number of years, the Government should increase the rate of interest in the Government Savings Banks to 4 per cent. The rate of interest at the present time is 3 per cent and is the same as that given by the chartered banks for the people's savings. Should the Government decide to increase the rate in the Governments Savings Banks, the chartered banks would be forced to follow suit.

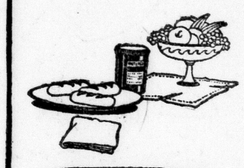

The suggestion was made in connection with the discussion on Sir Henry Drayton's bill to make Government annuities more attractive, by increasing the amount of such annuities and by increasing the interest to be paid on moneys invested from 3 to 4 per cent. The minister admitted that to some degree the Government in doing this was out to make money and would compete with the insurance companies. It is apparently the idea of Mr. Fielding that he might as well also go into competition with the banks.

Sir Henry evaded discussion of the latter question, however, and the debate on the first stage of the resolution closed without Mr. Fielding having received any answer. The question will likely come up again, however.

The Ease of the Chalmers Engine Has a Story

Quality Firm

WHEN you sit behind the wheel of a present day Chalmers you will long remember the rare ease of its engine.

It responds to the slightest call without effort. At high speed you are conscious of no great activity under the bonnet. When you lag along at slow speed you note no "breaking," no "missing," no jerky action—but a quickness, a silence that is smooth and expressive of high efficiency.

There's a story back of this. Most troubles in a car come from vibration. In a Chalmers there is so little vibration as to be negligible.

Its crank shaft and reciprocating parts are balanced to a fraction of an ounce, both static and in motion.

More than this. Hot Spot vaporizes the raw gasoline into a "fog" and Ram's-horn supplies each cylinder with an even "charge."

This provides double insurance against vibration, and generates an ease of action not often found in a motor car.

Once you experience this you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

CALLS UPON UNION GOVERNMENT TO CARE FOR WIDOWED MOTHERS

Capt. C. G. Power of Quebec C ites Instances of Mothers of Soldiers Suffering Through Inadequate Pensions — Rowell Under Cross Fire On Moving To Shelve Eight-Hour Law.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 15.—The majority of the day in the House of Commons was taken up by a discussion upon a motion of Capt. "Chubby" Power of West Quebec, which called for a fixed rate of pension to widowed mothers of the war, regardless of what their own private income or circumstances might be, and upon a resolution of William Duff of Lunenburg condemning the "monstrosity" which members of the Canadian navy who served during the war are asked to wear upon their lapels as a badge.

Judging by the testimony of men on both sides of the House, there are very many cases of real hardship among those who happened to be left widowed, and without support because of the war. It is contended that in many instances pensions, after having been awarded on a fixed basis, were pared down almost to nothing on the plea that the pensioner had private means, or was earning money in a position. In fact, as W. F. Cockshutt of Brantford pointed out, if the paring was continued in some cases the unfortunate widows would be in debt to the pensions board.

Rowell Asks Distinction.

The president of the privy council desired that a distinction must be made between the act as passed by Parliament, and the administration of that act by the pensions board, to which he paid tribute. Under the act as amended last session, he pointed out that it had been decided that earnings should not be taken into account.

But if no regard were taken for private fortunes he estimated that the additional cost of pensions would be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. He moved finally that the whole matter be referred to the pensions committee, which will sit once again this session.

Took Responsibility.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of naval affairs, took full responsibility this afternoon for the fearful and wonderful device which members of the Canadian Navy, who served in the war are called upon to wear on their lapel. From the descriptions given of the "badge" by members on both sides of the House it would appear that Mr. Ballantyne felt that if the navy in question were small and unpretentious, the badge designating service therein should be at least noticeable. Mr. Mowat of Parkdale likened it to the regalia of the "grand lodge of the order of pelicans." MacMaster of Brome compared it to the Cairngorm Brooch which Highlanders wear upon their "shawls," and was promptly called to time by McKenzie of Cape Breton, who looked upon the comparison as an insult to the brooch, and who informed his Lowland friend from Brome that they were not shawls, but plaids.

Duff of Lunenburg called the badges "monstrosities," which he would not have his dog wear about with him. One type consisted of a huge design with two "fouled" anchors (a most disagreeable suggestion to a seafaring man), with a large scroll, and with a massive crown on top. The badge was glaring white in character, and of a substance which appeared to be a combination of zinc and tin.

Labor Under Handicap.

It appears that the naval veterans are laboring under a handicap as compared with the veterans of the junior branch of the service who wear the well-known bronze button of the returned soldier, inasmuch as the securing of a position very frequently depends upon recognition of service through that button, and inasmuch as the "monstrosities" of the naval service are not known when worn, and very infrequently worn at best, the minister was advised to scrap the ornaments and to have issued to the naval men a badge similar to that worn by their brethren of the land armies.

J. A. Burnham of West Peterboro undertook during the evening to withdraw his motion with regard to the eight-hour day, following a speech by Hon. C. J. Doherty, in which the minister mostly pleaded that the federal authorities had no jurisdiction. Mr. Burnham withdrew "in deference to the members of the privy council who didn't appear to know where they stood on the matter."

Quoted Instances.

Mr. Power quoted instances of pensions being cut down when it was found that widowed mothers who had lost their sons in the war had some other small income from another source. If she managed to pick up $400 a year, her pension was reduced by just so much, and Mr. Power urged that no distinction be made in awarding pensions between the widowed wife and the dependent mother of dead soldiers.

Mr. Hume Cronyn of London and Major D. L. Redman of Calgary supported the motion, the latter stating that it was simply going a step further than last year, when mothers were taken care of for the first time. It was now intended to include widowed mothers with sources of income other than the pension.

Cockshutt Supports It.

W. F. Cockshutt of Brantford, who also strongly supported the motion, criticized the pension board, which body, he said, was either held up by red tape until it was helpless or did not know how to do its duty when its duty had been pointed out to it. He had been almost forced to tears, he said, by some of the cases brought to his own personal notice. Another grievance he had against the pension board was that when a member had struggled for months to get a case attended to the settlement was often upset in a few months.

"When a home has given a son, a father or a husband to the country's service it is the bounden duty of the country to see that want does not exist in the house, and I don't believe the people of Canada wish that want should exist there," he said.

Mr. E. W. Nesbitt of North Oxford remarked that the pensions board was merely an administrative body which could merely function within the powers of the act. Is the act was unsatisfactory, then it was the business of the House to change it. It was unfair to blame the board of pensions commissioners for a failure to act.

Increase All Round.

Major Andrews, D.S.O., member for Winnipeg Centre, thought the only solution to the pensions question was to make an increase all round. The whole scale at the present time, especially that covering widows and orphans, was entirely too low.

Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell stated that it was the intention of the Government to appoint a committee at this session to deal with returned soldiers' questions, because, he said, several very important questions on this matter would have to be dealt with.

Mr. Rowell and Capt. C. G. Power (Quebec South) paid tribute to the board of pensions commissioners, which during the debate was warmly criticized. "They are all men who have been at the front themselves, and I am sure have every sympathy with their returned comrades, said the former.

On his promising that the committee would be appointed this session, Mr. Powers withdrew his motion to amend the pensions act so as to bring in all widows, irrespective of any private means they may have, or any salary they may earn in addition to their pension.

The House then took recess.

House Restaurant.

The speaker, at the opening of the evening session, read a message from the Senate that a special committee had been appointed by the Upper House "for the purpose of considering and reporting upon a scheme for the placing of the new parliamentary restaurant, when completed, both as to equipment and administration on a parity with a first-class club or hotel dining-room."

The House was invited to appoint a like committee to sit jointly with a special committee of the Senate.

Mr. Duff, (Lunenburg), raised the question of service badges for Canadians who had served in either the Canadian or Imperial naval service and in Canadian or overseas waters. The men who had served in the naval forces he said, were not satisfied with the badges issued by the naval service department.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne said that special medals had been struck for ex-service men of the navy after careful consideration had been given the advisability of distinguishing the naval men from military men. He gave some figures of Canada's contribution to the naval forces. Five thousand Canadians served in the Royal Canadian Naval Service in the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans. These men were properly proud of their connection with the senior service and wanted a medal which would distinguish them as belonging to the navy. Three medals of silver had been struck, corresponding with the three classes of medals issued by the militia department.

Big Shining Discs.

H. M. Mowatt said that the ex-naval men were undoubtedly dissatisfied with the big, shining discs which they were asked to wear, and which, unfamiliar to the general public, might well distinguish them as members of some "ancient order of pelicans."

E. W. Nesbit (Oxford North) said he would give the men the same badge as was given the soldier if they so desired.

Mr. Redman (Calgary), A. R. McMaster (Brome) and D. D. McKenzie (Cape Breton) also spoke, and Mr. Duff, closing the debate, said the present issue of badges should be recalled. He wanted to know who asked for them. Was it the sailors or the officials of the navy department?

The minister had sent him over a design of the badge. It included two fouled anchors. Surely the minister knew that a vessel when she fouled her anchor went adrift. There was no need to set these men adrift, even without putting such a monstrosity as this on their lapels.

If the Great War Veterans' Association were agreeable he would urge the minister to scrap all the different issues of badges and have one for both services. The motion was carried.

The motion was carried.

Ministers' Resignations.

Sir George Foster said he wished to reply to the question which Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King had asked on Friday regarding the resignations of cabinet ministers since the last session of Parliament. In order to answer this question, he proposed to lay on the table the correspondence between the prime minister and the ministers in question, Hon S. C. Mewburn and A. K. MacLean. Sir George accompanied this with the statement that the resignations had not been the result of any differences with the policy or policies of the Government. The letters of resignation of these members will be printed in Hansard, the House having agreed to this course.

Hon. Mackenzie King questioned the acting prime minister regarding an Associated Press dispatch from London, which stated that the status of Canada's representatives to Washington had been decided upon by the British and Canadian Governments. Sir George Foster replied that the correspondence on this question was still proceeding. When that was completed it would be tabled.

J. H. Burnham's resolution on the eight-hour day law was again brought up.

Not in Position.

Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell said that the Government was not in a position at present to frame legislation on this question. "An important constitutional question was involved, the explanation of which for the benefit of the House would be made by the minister of justice. In answer to a cross-fire of questions from every part of the House, Mr. Rowell explained that, first, the official report of the Washington labor conference containing its recommendations for eight-hour day legislation had not been received by the Government; second, they might find that the federal Parliament would have to refer the question to provincial authorities; third, the Canadian Government was not compelled under the peace treaty to accept the recommendations of the labor conference and the vote of Parliament would govern the adoption or rejection of such legislation.

Donald Sutherland (Oxford South) was puzzled to know why the peace treaty defined agriculture as separate from industry. Hon. Mr. Rowell said if the convention did nothing else it was well worth while, because it had caused Japan already to bring in a measure to shorten the hours of labor in that country. It was proposed to start with a nine and a half hour day in Japan, and give all employees one day a week rest. The Japanese Government had agreed to this.

Opposition From Orient.

"If we can realize that the opposition from a labor standpoint is, in the future, coming from the Orient, this feature is very important for Canada and the United States. Japan has also practically promised to come to the principle of an eight-hour day within five years, and that will mean a great deal when China wakes up with her millions of workers," he said.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, in reply to several queries, laid stress on the fact that the resolution contained the words "subject only to the right of express private contract." Thus, he urged, legislation based upon the resolution was outside the jurisdiction of this House. It would presume interference with the general law of Canada. This law came under civil rights and was purely a provincial matter. If, however, it were a question of keeping faith in an international agreement then the Federal House would have jurisdiction.

Had Not Power.

A further lengthy discussion of the rights of the Dominion Government to enact such legislation followed with the minister of justice, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Burnham taking part, then Hon. Mackenzie King brought matters to a head by asking, "Has this parliament the power to enact an eight-hour day?"

Hon. Mr. Doherty replied that in his opinion it had not. In answer to further cross-firing he intimated that the only way it could be done was for the Government to make it a criminal offence to keep an employee working more than eight hours a day. He did not think any such action as that was desirable.

The amendments to the opium and drug act and the civil service superannuation act will be before the House tomorrow. The House adjourned at 10:35 p.m. until tomorrow.

Teeth Are Ruined

By a Film—Millions of Them

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Free A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent, to show you how to end film. See below.

On Your Teeth Now

There is now on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush alone doesn't end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So month after month it stays there and may do a ceaseless damage.

That film is what discolors — not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Most tooth troubles are now traced directly to that film.

Dental scientists have for years sought a way to end film. They have known that brushing could not save teeth if it left that film upon them. Now that film combatant has been found. Convincing tests, under able authorities, have proved it beyond question. The method is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we supply it free for testing to anyone who asks.

The Way to End It

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Now activated pepsin can be applied, night and morning, to combat that film.

Leading dentists everywhere are now advising Pepsodent. Countless people have already adopted it. And trial tubes are offered everywhere to show others what it does.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Let your own mirror show you what Pepsodent means to your teeth. Then decide for yourself about it. Cut out the coupon now.

Increases Your Weight, Restores Lost Strength, Prevents Illness

Every day come new converts to that great army of men and women who rejoice in new-found health that came to them through the use of that wonderful blood-renewing preparation called "FERROZONE." Very simple how it acts. All you have to do is take two small chocolate-coated tablets with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

Ferrozone is a marvel. It contains just what thin blood lacks—lots of iron, but mark you, the kind of iron your blood is able to absorb. Ferrozone puts life and vim into the blood. Makes it rich, red and nourishing. Naturally the body is better fed and grows stronger day by day.

Of course digestion must be improved, and probably the stomach will require aid as well. Ferrozone serves the purpose admirably. Those who use it enjoy appetite and digestive powers far beyond the ordinary.

That tired feeling is replaced by the buoyant, joyous sensation of health and vigor. Day by day as your strength increases, you feel new energy surging through your veins, and know that a great tonic of great merit is at work.

No remedy more nourishing or uplifting, no treatment so sure to bring lasting health, good spirits and contentment. Ferrozone contains just what run-down folks need; it cures because it supplies more nutriment than you can get in any other way. 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

SCHOOL CHILDREN CARRIERS OF GERMS

Every Child Should Be Protected From Colds—They May Lead To Flu.

Medical health officers have found that in many cases children who are themselves healthy are carriers of disease. Children mix so freely and so informally with their playmates that the danger of infection is a real and constant one. These facts show conclusively that parents cannot be too careful in paying prompt attention to symptoms developed by their children. At the first sign of a cold in the head immediate measures should be employed to allay the symptoms, particularly as it is well known that many dangerous diseases such as 'flu first appear in the form of a "simple cold."

To break up a cold, tone up the system and reduce the inflammation that accompanies such symptoms there is nothing so good as Grip-Fix. This remedy which has many successful years behind it, is prepared from the formula of a well-known physician. This formula appears on every box of Grip-Fix. You owe it to your children and to yourself to buy the remedy that honestly displays the names of all its ingredients.

All you have to do is to follow directions carefully—Grip-Fix will do the rest. In a single night even a bad cold will be relieved.

Grip-Fix may be obtained at all drug stores for 35 cents a box.

Brantford Druggists Warned Against Sale of Certain Patent Medicines.

BRANTFORD, March 15. — During the past ten days many people in this city who had sent orders to Montreal for whiskey have had their money returned. Chief Slemin has warned some of the local druggists against the sale of certain lines of patent medicines to a number of police court frequenters. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

SCARCITY OF HAY IS FORCING PRICES STEADILY UPWARDS

Firm Market For Dressed Hogs — Roads Impassable in Many Sections.

The scarcity of hay is still forcing the price higher. Hay sold on Monday at $30@33, but has now taken an upward trend and is going at $33@34.

Live hogs are slightly firmer, selling at $18 50@18 75.

Straw is scarce and firm, going at $14@14 50 per ton.

Unless there is an easing up on the live hog market, dressed hogs are expected to take a firmer stand.

The roads at present are impassable for heavy loads. This has brought about a great scarcity of oats. The only oats offered on Monday were four loads, which came from the outskirs of the city.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 16—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Prompted largely by the reported collapse of the German revolution and the rapid improvement of foreign exchange, stocks rose vigorously at the lively opening of today's session. Gains of 1 to 5 points attended the initial trading in steels, motors, equipments and oils. An early reaction of 2 points in Texas Company was soon replaced with an actual gain of 8 points. Leather, food, textile and chemical issues, as well as numerous miscellaneous shares, helped to sweep the large volume of operations in the first half hour. Investment rails also displayed moderate improvement.

Noon.—Substantial advances were made by Crucible Steel, General Motors and Texas Company, kindred shares also rising 2 to 5 points. Extensive realizing was invited by the sudden advance and much of this advantage was lost, Crucible falling back sharply. Reactions were partly offset, however, by free buying of the more stable issues, especially shippings, equipments, coppers, tobaccos and oils of the Mexican group. Maintenance of the 9 per cent rate for call money provoked further selling before noon.

SYRIANS PROCLAIM INDEPENDENCE WITH PALESTINE A PART

Emir Fisal Is Selected As King.

Beirut, March 8—(Via Constantinople, March 15).—By the Associated Press.—The independence of Syria was proclaimed here today by the representatives of the Syrian people.

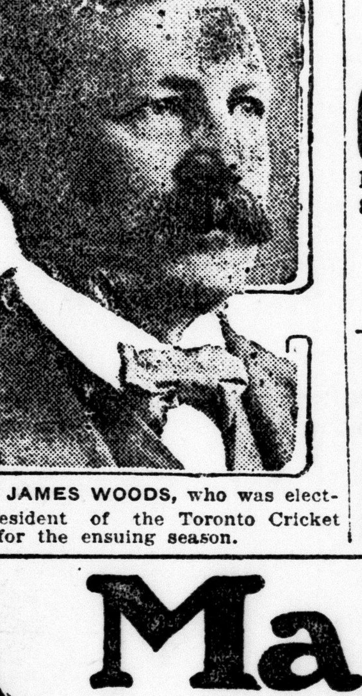

Emir Fisal was declared king, with Palestine part of the kingdom.

The Syrian banner consists of a seven-pointed white star placed in the red field of the Hedjaz flag. Two similar stars placed in the same way will compose the pennant of Mesopotamia, which is reported also to have declared its independence with Emir Abysmal as king and Emir Zed as regent. They are the third and fourth sons of King Hussein.

Lebanon has adhered to this program and apparently a sort of Arab federation has been arranged.

Emir Fisal, in accepting the kingship, said he purposed disinterested service.

The flag was raised and 101 guns were fired. Then the army passed in review. The new monarch will take the oath tomorrow as King Fisal First of Syria.

SIR JAMES WOODS, who was elected president of the Toronto Cricket Club for the ensuing season.

QUARANTINE STILL EFFECTIVE.

Detroit, March 16.—Dr. P. L. Prentis, chief of the local immigration service, said today he had no information concerning the recommendation of Toronto health authorities that the smallpox quarantine imposed along the Michigan border against Ontario, be lifted. The quarantine is still being rigidly enforced.

Why Has the Farm Tractor Industry Grown?

Importations of tractors grew from 477 in 1915 to 19,000 in 1919. Why? Continued shortage of farm labor in the face of need for increased production necessitated labor-saving machinery. There are over 720,000 farms in Canada! 50 per cent could use a tractor with 60 per cent more efficiency; 300,000 tractors needed in Canada alone!

2. The existing debenture debt of the said city is as follows:

General debentures	$2,446,985.40

HELENE'S MARRIED LIFE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

XXVII.—Helene's Discovery.

Fear clutched me. And I screamed. But my feeble scream seemed to be instantaneously smothered. The unknown man kissed me again—and yet again.

I swung my right arm free. With all my strength I struck out at him.

"Helene! It's I, Tony!" Indignant protest came from somewhere in the vicinity of my right ear. My aggressor freed me.

"Tony! You—you beast!" I was beside myself with indignation. "How dare you—you of all people—to presume—"

"Helene, darling, don't be angry with me! I didn't mean to frighten you! Upon my soul I didn't!"

A wisp of moon appeared, so that now I could see his face. It was a good-looking young face, but lacked the magnetism of Jim's. And it held a curiously shifty look.

All that I'd recently heard about this youth came pouring back into my mind. He—he, and none other—was responsible for the painful quarrel between myself and Jim. He it was who had forged the check—who had definitely incriminated Jim—who had ruined all my happiness.

And now he actually dared to come and make violent and impertinent love to me!

Of course he didn't know I was Jim's wife! But the other counts against him were sufficient for his condemnation. Brought up as Jim's foster-brother, deeply indebted to Jim's family, he yet had volunteered to throw no light on Jim's identity, nor to communicate with the parents of my husband.

This silence was proof positive of his guilt!

A desperate impulse came to me, to denounce him there and then. Words—hot, angry words of accusation—came trembling to my lips. It was with difficulty that I suppressed them.

But expediency assured me, in a small, insistent voice, that I must in the meantime crush down all my feelings.

"Your manners and your methods are a shade peculiar!" I said stiffly taking a step backward away from Tony, and facing him squarely. "By what authority do you dare to seize me in your arms and kiss me—violently—"

A lump of outraged pride came into my throat, so that the words died in a little tremble of indignation.

"Oh, Helene, I am sorry! You—you're so beautiful! You—you go to a fellow's head—like wine—"

"Have you been drinking?" I asked, frigidly. Distaste was written on my face.

He gave a little, rueful laugh.

"Yes! At the shrine of beauty—till I'm quite intoxicated!" Tony took a step toward me, as though he would attempt again to touch me. "Dearest—"

"Young man," I cut in sharply, "you and I must come to a definite understanding—"

"That—that's just what I want, Helene! A—a definite understanding! Helene, will you marry me?"

"Marry you? Good heavens! No—Tony—not if you were the last man on earth!"

"Helene, for God's sake don't make fun of me!" An imploring note was in his tones.

"Make fun of you? Why, I despise you!" I said quickly. I turned to walk away.

But Tony in two strides was beside me. He caught me by the arm.

"Someone has been making mischief!" His voice was hoarse.

I flung him a sarcastic glance. But I refrained from comment. I didn't wish to help him out.

"Someone has been making mischief!" he repeated. "Helene, I can't bear it if you turn against me!"

I laughed—a cynical laugh that wasn't pretty.

"I'm going straight back to the house," I said in clear, cool tones. "The invalid's mother has arrived—Mrs. St. Aubyns. Won't you come in and meet her?"

The atmosphere was tense before he answered:

"I—I'm not in the mood to meet anyone tonight, Helene!"

I smiled at his prevarication. Tony never had been straight and downright like Jim.

"And I'm not in the mood, either. So excuse me, Tony" I turned off at right angles from him.

"Helene! There are some things that I must say to you! Just let me walk with you a little way!"

No answer. He strode along beside me.

"Won't you tell me what you've heard?"

Again I smiled. Tonight I refused to be drawn into any discussion of his present, past or future. I was much too tired and worried over Jim.

"You won't condemn a chap without a hearing?" went on Tony's plaintive voice. I hate him in a suppliant, whining mood.

"I desire no hearing," I rejoined sharply. "The evidence of my own eyes is good enough for me!"

This was a "facer." Tony momentarily was taken aback. Doubtless he was wondering vaguely to the problematic extent of that evidence of which I spoke.

A strained silence fell between us. Tony was summoning all his diplomacy to his aid. It would be interesting to learn what he would say.

"Helene, you think I care for Alice Anstruther! But I don't! I—I'm only amusing myself in that quarter! I—"

"Amusing yourself? You ought to be horsewhipped!" A wave of red came surging to my cheeks. Anger encompassed me like a garment.

But Tony—conceited as ever—mistook my emotion.

"Helene, you've got no cause for jealousy!"

"Jealousy? I—jealous?" I laughed aloud. "Oh, Tony, I could only feel jealousy where a real man's concerned—not an insignificant little hanger-on like you!"

I thought that that would hurt him. But it didn't. Tony's complacency is colossal. His skin must certainly resemble the rhinoceros.

"You're overwrought, Helene," he answered smoothly. "The excitement of the last few days has been too much for you! You always were a high-strung, excitable sort of girl. I'd hoped these few days in the country would rest you—do you good. But I'm afraid—"

"Don't talk to me," I cut in sharply, irritated.

In silence we proceeded toward the house.

Then Tony said:

"I don't think I ought to visit the Anstruthers again, until—"

"Until poor dear Alice gets over her infatuation for you? Is that it?" I spitefully supplemented.

Tony bowed.

"Precisely! You put it in a nutshell, lady fair!"

I could have slapped him for his vanity and egotism.

A sidedoor opened at that moment, silhouetting Alice. She was obviously seeking someone. She stole out quietly, her slinky draperies trailing across the lawns toward the glow of Tony's cigar.

"Tony!" she whispered as she approached us. It was evident she did not notice me. "Oh, Tony, I've been longing for this moment, when I could steal out alone and have a cosy talk with you!"

To morrow—Alice's Confession.

At The Theaters

AT LOEW'S.

Love of woman and lure of gold—what earthly chance has mere philosophy of merer man against such odds? "Victory," a Famous Players photo-drama, the feature film at Loew's the first half of this week, has much of the unusual about it, and until the end promises something entirely different from most photoplays in the line of plot, moral and denouement. But it ends up in a thoroughly popular and orthodox romantic fashion, which nine out of every ten theatregoers secretly prefer, although at times they may wax a little facetious in harping on the dearth of really different endings, and that's why practically all those who saw the play last evening were very well pleased with it.

There may have been a few individuals who will ask just why did the quietism and pacifism of the hero, Heyst, played by Jack Holt, have to be made subservient to the love and death philosophy of the ending, in which three die, that two may be happy in the usual romantic fashion of love and marriage. For those, about the only answer that can be given, is that the world just isn't ready yet for the halcyonic existence that certain philosophers known in the Harvard category as culturists look forward to. Heyst's father was one of those, and Heyst planned to spend his days with his father's books, his father's pacific philosophy, and an even-tempered quiet-loving tabby cat in a far Pacific island. Fate intruded to demand that he rescue a woman from annoying circumstances, and Karma followed fast. The mysterious Mr. Jones had no scruples about pillaging hidden gold, but racial instincts forbade him to permit his lieutenant, Ricardo, to steal a woman.

He shot Ricardo, and Pedro whom Mr. Jones once spared from Ricardo's knife, slew him. There was then nothing left for Heyst, the pacifist, to do, but to shoot Pedro and talk soft endearments ever afterward to the woman in the play in the tropical night lit up by the glare from the volcano which didn't submerge the island in lava after all. "Victory" is a play that fascinates, allures and thrills from beginning to end, despite the quietest flavor of its beginning.

Fatty Arbuckle appears in a better-than-usual comedy, "The Hayseed," and there's a snappy and nicely diversified vaudeville bill. Jesson and Jesson have a vivacious musical offering; Johnson Brothers and Johnson are a capable minstrel trio; Murphy and Klein please both with their silent jokes and their songs; Russell and Devitt are a pair of high-class jazz athletes; and Julian Rose has a Yiddish monologue that is a whole show in itself.

AT THE ALLEN.

Katherine McDonald has only appeared in pictures at local theatres a few times, but each time she has been appreciated highly. She is possessed of great dramatic ability, and in the leading role which she played in "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" she captivated her audience completely at the Allen Theatre last night.

Her marriage to a man whom she doe not love, at the wish of her father, causes all her unhappiness. The extravagant wealth of the church wedding shown is wonderful and the scenes are vividly depicted. At the marriage ceremony after she takes her vow she faints before a crowd of people who are jammed to the church doors. The honeymoon is one of unhappiness from the moment of the couple's arrival at the inn where they spend the first evening of their married life. Katherine is only wife in name to the lord she has married.

The journey to Egypt and here he has arranged to meet an old flame of his with whom he flirts considerably. Before Katherine's marriage, she was deeply in love with an explorer, but through some little misunderstanding they became temporarily parted, and he left on a long tour of exploration to the Arctic Circle. It was during his absence that Katherine was forced into the loveless marriage.

He, too, turns up in Egypt, and meets Katherine. It is at this juncture that all sorts of unexpected things happen. This picture is one which every movie fan will enjoy.

A comic picture, which will disperse blues, and some films which are of an educative nature, and scenes from the world over complete an excellent program. The splendid music which can be always enjoyed at Allen's must not be forgotten either. This bill will be repeated today and on Wednesday.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Two-Gun Betty," a comedy-drama starring Bessie Barriscale, was shown at the Majestic Theatre last night. The story is of a girl who makes a bet that she can pass as a boy on a western ranch. Though dressed in the regular cowboy regalia, all the westerners easily distinguish her as being one of the fairer sex, and preparations were made to show her the "wild and wooly west," which prove exciting for her and for the wild west boys.

A scenic news film completes the picture program.

The vaudeville, a man impersonating a woman in a singing act, was poorly received. It must be mentioned in justice, however, that the artist arrived only a few minutes before the act was scheduled to appear and was unable to arrange for the settings.

The performance will be repeated today and on Wednesday.

ENGLAND INVADES CANADA — FIRST PRODUCT OF LORD BEAVERBROOK'S FILM ENTERPRISES TO BE SHOWN IN LONDON.

While editors, clergymen, members of parliament, educational leaders and the general public are calling with might and main for British productions, comes the news that a big British attraction "Twelve-Ten" is to be shown for the first time in Canada at the Majestic Theatre, in London. This phenomenal production has the distinction of being the first British production to appear at the Capitol, New York, America's largest amusement palace, to develop overnight into a sweeping, crushing success that Broadway will remember for months.

In accordance with the wishes of the board of directors of the British and Colonial Studies, "12-10" will be shown for the first time in Canada at London, Ont., all next week. The Toronto critics at a private screening have nothing but praise for this production, and it is a foregone conclusion that "Twelve-Ten" at the Majestic next week will be one of the outstanding successes of the season.

AT THE GRAND.

"A Regular Girl," the feature film which was shown at the Grand Theatre last night, had perhaps one of the most novel and interesting plots ever contained in a moving picture. This fact, coupled with the acting of charming Elsie Janis, the star, and the variety afforded by the film, pleased a large house mightily. Besides the feature picture five excellent vaudeville acts and an unusually long comedy film, which provided many laugh-provoking situations, were included in the all-star bill.

"A Regular Girl" tells the story of one Elizabeth Schuyler (Elsie Janis), a daughter of a wealthy New Yorker, whose chief delight is the providing of enjoyment for her. She sets out to prove to the world that even women of the butterfly type can serve their fellow beings equally as well as the opposite sex. How she does this, besides winning the love of the "only man," provides one of the most entertaining stories ever shown here on the screen.

The picture is replete with unusual situations and scenes strongly in contrast with each other, which at times verge on the spectacular. The story carries the characters from society scenes among the fun-loving idle rich to the battlefield of Europe, through hospitals filled with suffering, back to America to palatial surroundings once again and then to life in a boarding-house, and at last to an ending in a circus tent.

Of the five excellent vaudeville acts a comedy talking and singing skit by Earle and Edwards perhaps appealed to the audience to the greatest extent. The many funny stories and song parodies kept the house in laughter and they received many encores.

The eight Vassar girls provided an excellent singing and musical act. They provided a great variety of entertainment that was beautifully staged.

Jack and Pearl Hall offer what is unquestionably the best sharp-shooting act ever shown in this city. The Canon Trio are Chinese jugglers, who present new and novel ideas in this form of art. Collins and Dunbar, a man and woman, dance well and provide a dainty and refreshing act.

A Pathe Review, Topics of the Day and a reel of Kinograms complete an excellent bill which will be repeated today, tomorrow and Thursday.

TYRONE POWER IN "THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE."

The presentation by Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, of the eminent English actor, Tyrone Power, at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday, in a revival of Charles Rann Kennedy's famous morality play, "The Servant in the House" will doubtless be received with keen interest by local theatre-goers, for Mr. Power is well known throughout the entire Dominion. It was in Montreal that Tyrone Power made his debut in the role of Brutus, a triumphant portrayal which was hailed by the leading dramatic critics of Canada and the United States as the finest of the generation. He has played Brutus for over two years, and has also played the remarkable role of "The Drainman," in "The Servant in the House." The seat sale opens this morning.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

OUR RURAL SCHOOL SYSTEM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Our rural educational system is inefficient for present day needs. We have outgrown our present system of education, and I very much doubt if it ever were efficient.

As citizens of rural districts, we are just beginning to come into our own rights. We seem to be just waking up to our just rights and showing a willingness to assume our rightful responsibilities.

Perhaps our greatest weakness in performing those duties is in the lack of sufficient scholastic education. If this is true, then it is our duty to see that we do not place our children in the same condition that we now find ourselves, but give them the needed education to fit them for the duties that may be placed upon them.

Let us look into the present system and note some of its most serious defects. First of all, why not teach our children such things in the school as will be of most use to them in their after life in rural districts. Second, much of the depleted rural population has been caused by our school system requiring that our children be sent to the towns and cities to finish their education in their early teens. This requires that they board with strangers at a time when they should be under the immediate care of their own parents that their habits and characters may be so established as to fit them best for the stern realities of Christian citizenship. Sending them away from the rural homes at that tender age before they have developed and established in themselves a knowledge of what they are best fitted for only tends to sow the seeds of discontent and a desire for a fast life in the cities and towns. Thus they are drawn from rural to urban life, in many instances, which would not happen if that needed education were obtained in the rural districts.

Then it behooves us to find a system which is fully adequate and retain our brightest young men and women in our rural communities.

We should have a system that is available to the rich and poor alike. We have seen by late events that the citizen belongs to the state, that we are no longer our own custodians, but must come and go as the state directs. In fact, we are slaves to the state; then, if the state is our custodian, it should in all fairness, give an equal chance to all children, whether they be rich or poor. But under the present system it is not so. The poor man's child in the rural district gets only a very limited education.

Its education has to stop at the very entrance of high school, while the poor man's child in the urban district may avail itself if a high school education because the expense of boarding away from home is removed and his child has the home influences and does not run wild in the streets. Why this discrimination between the rich and poor? Why this discrimination between the rural and urban poor? Why should the child of the poor man, who helps provide food and clothing for both rich and poor of urban districts, not have the same chance in life?

The consolidated school has been much encouraged by the minister of education (in our late Provincial Government) and leading educationalists, and truly, theoretically it looks very adequate and efficient.

But upon close examination it has its serious faults. First of all, it is not suited to the health of young children, particularly those who have to walk a half or three-quarters of a mile to get to the public conveyance. True, there is to be an inn provided for them to wait in until the conveyance comes, but that small child who has to go the full distance has to arise very early, and must hurry to get to the inn in time, for it must not be late, or there will be no school for him that day. Then take such a winter as this, with severe cold and drifted roads. The small child who has to walk a half-mile or more, by early rising and hurrying along the partially broken road, arrives at the inn in proper time, but the conveyance, on account of heavy roads, may be ten, fifteen or twenty minutes late. Yet this child must wait in a perhaps heated condition or until it has become chilly, and then ride for five or six miles in bitter cold. Who wants their children, either large or small, to pass through such conditions? It certainly is not conducive to good health.

True, a graded school is better than a school where there is but one teacher for all classes that are in a rural school, but the expense of building and equipping consolidated schools all over the province and carrying pupils to and from school is no small item. Particularly at this time, when wages and everything are so very high, I doubt whether it could be done for less than $6,000 a year. Can we, as a province, stand the expense, with the national debt that now hangs over our heads? I think we must look for something less expensive, and when properly worked out, just as efficient. I will offer a sketch of a plan which I think would be feasible and efficient. Let our school sections and schoolhouses remain as they now are, with competent teachers to teach such subjects as would be most useful to them in rural sections. That the pupil should remain in this school until qualified to pass an examination similar to high or collegiate entrance.

Then, I would say, have a centralized high school every eight or ten miles apart each way, say, every eight miles each way would give 64 square miles to each centralized school, and, properly equipped, would not cost any more than a consolidated school for four school sections. Have a barn or stabling at the school sufficient for the conveyances of those who lived beyond walking distance, say, those having farthest to go take four or six others, each helping defray the expense, which would be much less than the consolidated system, or the present way of going to towns and paying board, even if for a few years each pupil had to pay a tuition of $50 per year to help pay the initiative cost. In cases where this expense is too burdensome the township should help bear the necessary expense. In the centralized school the standard of certificate should qualify to teach in the smaller or rural school. I would say that the school age be 16 years. The distance of the farthest residence from a centralized school could be traveled in one hour. Pupils having the means and desire to obtain a higher education or take up some profession could then go to a school adapted to their special desire. Children educated in such schools and brought up under proper home influences will produce statesmen of such a type that there would be no need for standing armies and navies. We want no military drills taught in any of our schools. We have seen and had enough of militarism. Let us prepare for peace and have peace, for what we prepare for we will have. Did not Germany prepare for war, and did we not have it? Or have we not yet had enough of war? Why ape after Germany? Now that we are allowed freedom of speech, I would say, let those who advocate military drill in schools or compulsory training to fit our young men for war, be put in irons, and kept there until he is restored to sanity. We want statesmen produced under such conditions that they will make laws under which we can obey the commands of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. "Thou shalt love thine enemies," and "Pray for them that despitefully use you." Do we love our enemies? Have we been loving them? Who knows best, Lord Jellicoe or the Lord Jesus Christ? Whom shall we obey, the militarists and Lord Jellicoe, or God our Father and Jesus Christ? M. K. MUMA.
