TRUE DEMOCRACY DEMANDS TION OF LIEUT-GOVERNOR,

Provincial Member for City Claims Such Election Would Cost Very Little-Could Be Held in Conjunction With HAVE Municipal Elections — Appointive System Opportunity For Ignoring Service of People.

That true democracy calls for the election of a lieutenantgovernor of the province rather than for the present system of appointment by the Dominion Government was the dictum pronounced by Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.P.P., for London, in conversation with The Advertiser last night.

A chance meeting of Dr. Stevenson and a staff reporter led to a discussion of several matters, during the course of which the reporter commented on the death of the Hon. Lionel H. Clarke, lieutenant-governor of Ontario, and casually asked: "Have you any idea of the possible successor of Mr. Clarke, doctor?" GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENT.

"None whatever," replied Dr. Stevenson. "That, you know, is an appointment made by the Government at Ottawa and concurred in and confirmed by the governor-general. But I am of the opinion that the post should be an elective one, in which the whole electorate of the province should have a say. Such a course would be in line with true democracy."

"But an election of such kind would be an expensive matter,"

"But an election of such kind would be an expensive matter," Not at all Expensive. "Not at all." replied Dr. Stevenson. "It could be arranged so that it take place at the same time as the municipal elections and all the additional cost there would be would be the printing of the necessary ballots, which could be placed in the ballot boxes with the municipal ballots and counted at the same time, each municipality anaking a report of the result in its jurisdiction to Ottawa, where the final count would be made and the result announced. The governor-general could then confirm the choice of the people, or in event of justifiable cause withhold it, a course which would be to my mind very exceptional. Number of Good Men. "There are a number of good men be.

"There are a number of good men in the province capable in all ways of filling this post, who would, I believe, if given a chance, be quite willing to who under the present system stand little or no likelihood of being given an opportunity of serving their province. I believe also that such a plan would assure the position being filled by a man who would really have the best interests of the province at heart.

Committee Will Investigate Conditions Stated by the Petitioners.

That the council must adopt some method of controlling the type of house and other buildings erected in this city is the opinion of Ald. G. B. Drake. The question was discussed at some length at a meeting of No. 2 committee of the city council on Tuesday night. Petitions are continually being received by the committee from different sections of the city, where the citizen object to the erection of certain types of houses which they believe will prove detrimental to other property on same street. The committee on Wed-nesday night was called upon to deal with two such petitions.

Can Do Nothing. While the majority of the member believed that something should be done to protect property holders, they discovered that they could do nothing Building Inspector Piper informed the committee that the city had no power estrict building outside of the fire

"There are certain restricted areas he said, "but the value and the class of buildings erected is only controlled by clauses contained in the deeds. Any person selling a piece of property may stipulate the value of the building which at any time be erected upon it."
"Something must be done then," said Ald. Drake. "If necessary, we must include the whole city in the fire limits."

"That would bar all frame houses," eplied the building inspector. "Well, we couldn't do that," Ald. Drake said. "We mustn't do anything that would make it harder for a work-ingman to build homes. Something must done, however."

of Canada," the whole country was a dense bush, and Indian paths and deer tracks were the only roads.

Records available show that in the sighties, migrations of settlers from Ekfrid took blace to lowa and other western states and sprovinces.
One of the oldest official records preserved is that of an annual meeting of the township, in 1833. The officers then elected were: Duncan McLean, clerk; Christopher Sparling and James Mchrye, assessors; D. McLean, collector: John McIntosh, John Campbell, William Sparling, Hugh McAlpine, John Galbraith, Robert Parker, James Jic Lellan, Andrew Wilson, Malcolin Galbraith, Aaron Gough, John McCallum, Alexander McIntyre and Peter McDonaid McIntaggert (McTaggart), Joseph Provo, wardens; John McLachiln and Robert Hudson, poundkeepers. The township expenditure for 1836, three years later, is recorded as £8 19s 6d, of which £7 10s was paid to Hugh McAlpine for three scrapers.

Name is Lost.
Ekfrid Village, a name since lost, was the business centre of the township in 1838 had a population of 200. There was a cheese factory, a stave factory, a turning mili, two sawmilis and carriage and wagon shops, besides blacksmith shops, stores, two hotels, a shoemaker, and a millinery store kept by Mrs. Powell. Fire swept the village in 1858 and destroyed among other buildings, a planing mill. A New Connexion Methodist Church was erected in 1870 at a cost of 5760.

Beautifully Curly, Wavy Hair-In Three Hours!

Girls, have you tried the silmerine method of curling your hair? It's simply grand! Gives you the most beautiful, natural-looking curls and waves within three hours—keeps the hair soft, silky and glossy—and nothing harmful or messy about it. The curls will last the longest time—in spite of heat, wind or dampness. You won't have to be continually fixing and fussing with loose, thying hair. It's foolish to singe and blister and deaden your tresses with a hot curling iron—and altogether unnecessary now.

Declares Workers Who Slow Up Are Economic Charlatans

TORONTO, Aug. 30 .- About 150 of the leading educationists of the province and city were the guests today of the directors of the National Exhibition at their daily luncheon, and the principal address was delivered by Dr. H J. Cody, former minister of education for Ontario, who said that education would supply the answer to most of the clamorous demands of this unsettled period. Education, he said, would teach the need of greater production.

"The man," he said, "who takes the view that there will be more money to go around if he works more slowly or produces less is an economic charlatan."

Dr. Cody commended the adolescent attendance act, and declared that up to the age of 14 it was impossible to give a child all the culture and training that should make it intelligent and at the same time fit it for its life work.

The highest price yet received for Virginia crops is 65c per pound, and the lowest 15c. Pay for High Grade.

This company dried and graded all the tobacco sent there, and only the highest grade received the 65 cent price. One of the lower grades received good price also, owing, no doubt, to the increased demand for this variety.

If the company at Kingsville proves a success this year in bringing a good price for tobacco, most of the growers believe that the tobacco companies who buy large quantities in this district will have to pay a good price this year to secure the amount they require. LONDON'S POPULATION.

There appears to be a decided lack of system in declaring the populations of the various cities in Canada, according to the new census. For example, the population of Halifax is given in the official returns just issued as 70,203, but the actual figures are only 57,674, owing to the fact that the population of Dartmouth, a suburb on the farther side of the bay, has been included. In the case of London precisely the opposite procedure has been followed, the population being given at 53,592, when in reality more than 60,284 people reside within the limits of the city, the bureau of statistics having failed to include Ealing, Pottersburg, Knollwood Park and Chelsea Green as incorporated parts of the city. An immediate protest from the Chamber of Commerce brought the official explanation that the London returns had been inadventently published before the neighboring census districts had been added, but it is felt

In the old days scandalous statements involving the reputation of a neighbor were whispered behind closed doors or discussed at lonely street corners; but at the present time there is another medium, namely, his majesty's mails. Those attacked are young in years, with lives full of promise, and the letters they have been receiving are of the most abominable kind. They are, of course, anonymous, and are apparently written by a person who is actuated by jealousy or by some ulterior motive yet to be discovered. Of course, no name is signed to any of these wretched epistles, as the writters of such, like lurking assassins, take cover behind the hedge of anonymity. One who endeavors to take away the character or to ruin the happiness of another by such means is quite capable of using more deadly weapons. AN EARLY SCIENTIST.

Considerable interest has been excited among scholars by the deciphering of an old thirteenth century M.S. found a few years ago at Parma. It seems probable that the M.S. was the work of the English Franciscan, Roger Bacon, and his already high reputation for intellectual attainments is materially enhanced. For it would appear that Bacon had a larger knowledge of lenses and their use for magnification than was formerly supposed.

Cotton embroidery in fine stitching, the lines of the stitching used so close together as to form a solid motif is a form of trimming that is used by some of the best French milliners. Especially Rose Descat and Jeanne Lanvin employ this, but, of course, for Jeanne Lanvin, this is not new, as it is the same type of embroidery done in white same type of the laces are beginning to assumd quite a little usage for the new season. Sports sets of stamped or embossed leather are being shown by London houses. These sets are composed of little vests with Peter Pan collars and soft sports hats. Another English firm is making up soft hats of suede in all of the pastel and brilliant colorings, and tribming them with tiny feathers or a ribbon cocarde.

There is no doubt that panne and hatter's plush are the favorea fabrics for the making of hats just now, and these are almost entirely in black, although it is thought that later on the brilliant colors in velvet will be wanted, especially to brighten up the fur wraps and suits.

Large Spanish sailors, either straigh of brim or slightly relled on the edge, are beginning to be shown, and these in many cases are trimmed in ostrich, laces in smart back or side drapes, glistening ornaments of gelatine to imitate sphinx, jet or iridescent effects, and of the latter, there are many of the sunburst types noted.

Eve's bewildered glance roamed to the mantelpiece. And there it halted. For at one end, behind the mirror, peeped a of folded papers.

A small, triumphant smile lighted her shallow little face. Miss Mary Drewparagon of goodness, clevern general attraction-would have and general attraction—would have to explain the presence of this roil of bills. Carrington Bellairs' glance followed Eve's. He was thoroughly angry with the presumptuous girl. How dare she speak of Mary Drew and of himself as she had done? To think that such a little pennile'ss nobody would be so utterly impertinent! Her underhandedness, too annoyed him greatly.

Mary Drew had told him of her midnight visitor. It had either been Miss Eve—or that confounded black servant of Vandaveer's, the Cingalee. He'd fling Vandaveer and the Oriental out at once—yes—and Eve, too, if she an-

This was a stroke of luck for Julian and Eve, the plotters. At a sign from Julian Eve ran up the stairs to find her guardian. She hadn't drawn him to for this spot—he'd gone there of his own volition. He must be within close range of the roll of stolen bills!

She hurried down the corridor that led to Mary's room. The door was open and rays of bright morning sunshine fell aslant the carpet.

Carrington Bellairs was standing near the little fireplace. He was arranging a great sheaf of frown and gold chrysanthemums in a vase.

BOSTON RED SOX BADLY DARNED WHEN THE TECS WIN ON A 5-3 COUNT

Hugh Duffy's Men Find Delotelle's Hurling Hard Going-Champs Collect Dozen Hits Off Sox Pitchers, Karr and Thormalen.

[By See S. Gee.]

The Boston Red Sox lost their way in the "sticks" over at Tecumseh Park yesterday and were wandering around at the wrong end of a 5 to 3 score when discovered, Rain closed the proceedings in the Boston half of the ninth, just after Stuffy Molnnis had collected a single to left off Delotelle's delivery, the eighth hit the Sox had managed to gather in.

What really happened was that the major league troupe received a thrashing, even though a listless one in spots, at the hands of the London Champs. It served top rove that even a major batting order, with Class B pitching won't win against class AA pitching and the near major brand of support "Old Twenty" had the old sound-prof wrappings on the visiting striped hose gents, turning them back in threes in the first four frames without so much as the semblance of a hit, though there were several loud raps in the second

There were no opening ceremonies yesterday to give the locals time to get stage struck and the Red Sox didn't look unlike the old gang led by Knotty Lee and halling from much closer home. It turned out too that the Big Sox made their little boners and that further helped out the psychological squad of the Tecs considerably, so that when they faced Karr, they weren't wearing blinkers and seeing smoke where there wasn't any.

They hopped on Karr lightly for two raps in the first and kept up the jarring note through to and in the fifth, having reached the point where rain insurance expires, with ten hits and a sizeable bag of five runs. Thormalen, giant left hander of the Sox, loomed up into the air, for the start of the sixth, and while touched for two smashes, one a double sired by Doc. Shay, permitted no further scoring.

A whole ball park full of fans saw Pittenger and Neitzke in the big companee, lead offs in the batting order. Ernie played middle field and had four put outs and one bad throw to the plate chalked up against him. Pitt. didn't have to look any better than he did last year to have fitted in with the Red Sox infield, famous as it is. He only had one put out and buted in on two other affairs, with assists.

In the third, Stutz singled and Shay's on through Del Fratt's error on a backer hit into a double of at first and second and Stutz shed home from third. Donnelly's fouble preceded Malmquest's out. With one gene in the fifth, the Tecs following their procedure of making trouble every other inning, started on a small-sized spree. Shay dropped a hump-backed double behind first. Schaefer jammed one out to Nettzke, Shay beat Ernle's wide throw with time for a sleep on the way and Schaef, landed on third. Donnelly came-through with his third hit, a triple to right scoring Schaef., and Malmquest's sacrifice fly to eentre scored Donnelly.

It was on the boards that the Tecs were to stop here and it is suspected that Big Thormalen did most of the tacking when the sign was put up. He had a fast breaker that had the Tecs in a subdued state.

Dee pitched magnificent ball in the first four innings—hurling that would have had any major league aggregation looking for cover, and he was given magnificent support. Smart infield work, featured by a smash Stutz picked off his left ear for an out, kept the Sox looking more like the Brants than ever. Del Pratt's double in the fifth broke the even surface and he was on third with two gone when a fast one got away from Curry. Scott was an infield out to close this session out.

Christy Is "Warming" Up; Is Driven To See the Barber

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Christy Mathewson appeared on the street of this village today for the first time since his arrival here several months ago in quest of health. Mrs. Mathewson drove him in an automobile from their cottage to a barber shop in the village. The famous pitcher of the Giants appeared to be in normal weight. Today's trip was the first step in increase of exercise and rapid return to strength, his friends say.

Soccer May Become Big Scholastic Game in Western Ont. This Year

Will Be Organized With Rugby by Western Ontario Schools Association-Track Meets Proved Desire For Athletic Competition Amongst Highs and Collegiates.

Soccer promises to be the big item on the fall athletic program to be initiated by the Western Ontario Schools Association when it meets.

Rugby has a big future under the new plan, but it is believed soccer will benefit at it.

The directors will meet soon, though no definite date has been set yet. The idea of forming an interscholastic rugby section for the Western Ontario collegiates and high schools, it is believed, should be popular. Soccer, however, will have a more general appeal in that many of the places which cannot enter rugby squads will be able to muster soccer elevens.

The Hough cup series has done much for scholastic soccer, but is hardly comprehensive enough and does not develop new material, and this is where Rugby will be naturally limited to the larger collegiates now playing in the O. R. F. U. scholastic series, such as Sarnia, Brantford, St. Thomas, London, Chatham and Woodstock schools. It is, moreover, a game that cannot be introduced easily, because of its very complexities, and the fact that rugby coaches rarely are found wandering at large in the average high Soccer has none of these difficulties, however. It resembles hockey very much, and there are few towns in Ontario which at some time or other hasn't taken a whirl at soccer.

The response of the high schools and collegiates of Western Ontario was 50 encouraging in the case of the track meets, both indoor and outdoor organized by Coach Mel Brock, of Western University, during the past two seasons, that little difficulty should be array of schools into line on soccer and rugby organization.

Moplahs Armed With Looted Railway Officials in Confer-Carbines Fought For Five ence With Commissioners At Ottawa.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, Aug. 30 .- A conference between the presidents and officials of the Canadian railways and the railway commission occurred behind closed doors today. It will be continued. No official rebel Moplahs outside Pukkatur. The enemy was armed with looted carbines, announcement as to the result has yet been given out. It is understood, how- The Moplahs showed their traditional ever, that whatever decision is reached on general rates, an early reduction will be ordered in the rates on wheat.

Increases in freight rates in Canada followed increases in railway wages ordered by the United States wage boards during the war and adopted simultan eously on Canadian roads. A decrease of twelve per cent in railway wages was recently ordered by the Chicago wage board and a similar decrease was ordered by the Canadian Railway Association, effective July 15. Expected Arbitration.

On the Canadian roads, however, it was in the nature of a "hold-back" pending the result of the conference with the unions or of a probable arbitration. This being so the railway com-panies may claim it to be unfair to decrease railway rates until after the decrease has been made permanent. No doubt this phase of the situation was placed before the commission

Whether the commission will permit the argument to weigh in the matter remains to be seen. But it is believed that the board will insist upon an immediate reduction in the rates on wheat so that the big crop of the West may be moved East as early as possible and be able to compete with the American exportable surplus on whatever European markets may be available.

Extravagant Demands of Unemployed Cause Trouble

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(By Canadian Press.)—Payments to the present hosts of unemployed by the different authorities in the poorer quarters of London are causing the payers of local taxes extreme disquiet. In the boroughs of Islington and Camberwell it is alleged the authorities are making grants exceeding what the recipients earn when working, and even more generous than in Poplar, where councillors are threatened with imprisonment through inability or contumacy in levying local taxes.

The unemployed in Hackney and Shoreditch are demanding even more extravagant payments, and in Woolwich the unemployed are demanding "adequate relief." They define such relief as equal to the wages of unskilled arsenal workers, and threaten if the terms are not granted to enter the workhouse in a body and remain until their claims are satisfied.
