Fear Patient's Death After Accidental Acid Rub

VICTIM OF ERROR IS INCOHERENT IN THE HOSPITAL

S. S. Tobias Suffers Severe Injury. Physicians State.

SOUGHT ALCOHOLIC RUB

Nerve Specialist in Error As To Contents of Bottle Taken From Shelf.

S. S. Tobias, 25 years old, believed to be a salesman for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., 316 Hyman St., is in Victoria Hospital suffering from carbolic acid burns sustained at 2:00 p.m. Monday, that will probably result in his death, according to hospital physicians in charge of the case.

Dr. D. C. McFarlane, who treated the injured man at the hospital, states that he is in a serious condition.

Professor A. Laudle, nerve specialist, at 130 Albert street, explains that he was about to give the patient an alcoholic massage and pulled down from a shelf what he thought was a bottle of alcohol. It developed, he states, that it carbolic acid. He claims that he did not know that he had any of the latter in his office.

He poured it in his hand and rubbed it on the man's back.

Hospital authorities report at 3 o'clock that at the present time Mr. Tobias is suffering to such a degree that it is impossible to obtain any coherent statement from him.

Scott, deputy superintendent general of Indian affairs, to the Canadian public.

COAST PEOPLE DIE INSTANTLY CROSSING LINE

British Columbia Minister of Public Works Attempts To Save Girl.

PREMIER IS PASSENGER

Mother and Son, and Prominent Dairy Farmer Are Among Victims.

Vancouver, B. C., May 8.—By Canadian Press.—Six people were instantly killed early today when the automobile in which they were traveling near Mission City, 40 miles east of here, was struck by the Kettle Valley train of the Canadian Pacific Railway, westbound, at the Nicomen level crossing of the Dewdney trunk road.

The dead were: Oliver Deroche, prominent dairy farmer, after whom the town of Deroche was named; Mrs. Rose McDonald, wife of D. A. MacDonald, of Deroche, and Alex. MacDonald, her son; Bert Gregory, a farm hand; Miss Margaret Pentland, Mission City, and a man known as "Shorty."

The locomotive of the train hit the automobile, hurling it against a box car on the siding.

Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works for British Columbia, who, with Premier John Oliver, was a passenger on the train, gave medical attention immediately after the accident. He said that five occupants of the automobile had been killed instantly, and that Miss Pentland lived but a few minutes.

SOVIET WANTS 35 TIMES CASH POWER OFFERS

GLOOM PERVADES GENOA

Authorities Believe Break-Up Will Come in Form of Adjournment.

BULLETIN.

Paris, May 8.—"France," said a high official of the government today, "will not recognize the Russian soviet government even if the United States does.

"France has kept a free hand in this matter and it makes no difference what action the Genoa conference may take."

Genoa, May 8.—Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy addressed today a strong appeal to the Russian representatives at the conference here, urging them to accept the allied memorandum in its main points and promising Russia an international loan with the understanding that the leading countries would thus provide funds for the reconstruction of Russia.

The allies would claim the right to make sure, however, that the money loaned was actually invested in work of reconstruction.

The Russian delegation had previously issued a statement denouncing the efforts it alleged France and Belgium had made to wreck the conference. The statement called attention to the fact that these powers, which were predicting that Russia's refusal to accept the memorandum would break the conference up, had not themselves signed the memorandum.

It was asserted in well-informed circles that the proposed loan would amount to 300,000,000 gold francs, the equivalent of $60,000,000.

It has been declared that the Russians are asking 35 times as much as the allied offer.

The fifth week of the conference will, however, see the end of the remarkable conclave, it is generally believed. An atmosphere of gloom pervades conference circles, in view of the apparent irreconcilability of the portions of Great Britain on one hand and France and Belgium on the other over terms on which the reconstruction of Russia would be undertaken.

Admirers of the resourceful British prime minister believe he may yet show some trump card, but in other quarters no such hope is felt, although it is conceded that several deadlocks have been broken when dissolution seemed certain.

Those who predict a breakup think it will take the form of an adjournment. If the soviet reply, which is expected within two days, is unsatisfactory to the powers. These people say another note will be dispatched to the Russians, embodying the powers' minimum terms and giving the Bolsheviki a stated period for consideration and final reply.

France said yesterday through her chief spokesman, Vice-Premier Barthou, that she will not go on with the negotiations unless the Russians give a categorical answer to the memorandum. A dilatory reply, one which meant merely "playing for time," said M Barthou, would bring the instant withdrawal of France. This would include refusal to consider the non-aggression pact proposed by Mr. Lloyd George, as such a pact would be impossible unless there was an arrangement with Russia.

Meanwhile the Italian leaders continue their role of peacemakers, and Foreign Minister Schanzer is devoting all his attention to the problem of finding some formula which will satisfy the French and Belgians. Little hope is held out, however, that this is possible, and Czecho-Slovakia is said to be leading the way in negotiating a separate conference accord with the Russians in lieu of the collective agreement, which seems improbable of attainment.

Rotarians Playfully Ask London's Hydro Knight To Tell His Name

SIR ADAM BECK, who is a member of the London Rotary Club, but whose activities have required him to spend the bulk of his time in other centers of the province was in attendance at the club luncheon Monday noon.

Noting Sir Adam seated at the table, President Jared Vining said: "We have with us a member of our club, who is almost a visitor. It is so long since he has been with us that he had better get up and tell us who he is and where he comes from. I mean Sir Adam Beck."

In reply Sir Adam said: "I do not need to introduce myself. If you believe half of what you hear you will know I am a 'no account' and a 'has been.'"

This short speech brought down the house.

Demand League of Nations Decide Indian Status

By RUSSELL F. BOYD.

CHIEF DESKAHEH'S HOMESTEAD, Six Nations Indian Reserve, Ont., May 8.—Disgusted with the treatment accorded them by the Indian department, leaders of the Six Nations Indians of the Grand River have decided to bring their plea for independence before the League of Nations, and let that body decide their fate.

Already, through American representatives, Switzerland and Holland have been requested to lend their aid in bringing the matter to a decision, Chief Deskaheh, a Cayuga, and chief speaker of the Six Nations' Indian Council, revealed today.

A. G. Chisholm, K. C., of London, counsel for many Indian tribes in Ontario, believes the wisest course would be to bring the matter before the privy council for a decision, but Chief Deskaheh declares that he is opposed to such a move, for he fears that such a case would have to go through the Canadian courts to get to the privy council, and if he was forced to admit the jurisdiction of the courts he would be admitting himself to be a Canadian subject instead of an ally of the crown.

On May 6, 1921, under authority of the Six Nations Council, a deputation from the reserve, of which Chief Deskaheh (Levi General), Chief Geo. Nash, Chief David S. Hill and Chief William Scott, went to Ottawa to see thhe minister of interior, then Sir James Lougheed, to seek their rights, under the Treaty of Haldimand of 1784, which, they claim, gives them the status of a free nation for all time to come.

Scott Rejects Plea.

They were told, Chiefs Deskaheh and Hill claim, that the minister would not be back for a week, and that they had better see Duncan C. Scott, deputy superintendent-general of Indian affairs, as he was in control of their affairs. They claim that Scott then flatly refused to grant them an interview.

This deputation had been granted power by the Indian council in Oshwegan, on the reserve, to proceed to England, and they therefore asked for

EXPECT DECISION IN CASE OF FORMER JAIL MATRON

Officials Look For Developments Regarding Miss Harris On Return of J. M. McEvoy, K. C., to City.

Although Sheriff Graham reports "everything unchanged," interesting developments are anticipated respecting the case of Minnie Harris, former assistant matron at the county jail, following the return to the city of J. M. McEvoy, K.C.

Although more than five weeks have elapsed since Mis Harris received her notice of dismissal from the sheriff, she still defies the "powers that be," retaining her living quarters at the county buildings.

While the county authorities have allowed the problem to remain unsolved apparently, it is now understood that the sheriff will move for drastic action by seeking from the county judge the necessary documents that will empower him to direct one of his aides to evict her from the premises.

In the interim, however, efforts are still being made in other quarters to have the question reconsidered by the provincial authorities, and a settlement one way or the other is fully expected this week.

JAIL INMATES PRODUCE RIOT

Chicago, Cook County, Prison Scene of Four-Hour Outbreak.

Change in Visiting Regulations Caused Prisoners To Start Bediam.

Chicago, May 8.—A four-hour riot in the Cook county jail was quelled early today, when Wesley Westbrook, warden, and thirty guards removed the ringleaders from their cells, one at a time, and whipped them. Displeasure of the prisoners over a change in the method of admitting visitors led to the outbreak.

The riot started on the fourth tier. Flaming blankets were dropped to the ground floor. Dense smoke almost suffocated many inmates.

With steel strips torn from their bunks, the prisoners beat upon the bars of their cells, the Bedlam being heard for blocks. Crowds gathered at the jail entrance and police were called to drive them away.

The women's ward is just above the fourth tier and close to the center of the disturbance. One woman, about to become a mother, was reported to be suffering a severe nervous shock.

Warden Westbrook said that after each of more than 900 prisoners had a visitor on a recent visiting day packages left mounted so high it required the entire jail force nearly all night to sort them. The result was that guns, saws, files, drugs and all manner of contraband came into the jail, he said.

The warden then decided to divide the jail into four sections and permit only one-fourth of the prisoners to have visitors at a time.

Believes Toll Gates Would Halt Rum Running

Tustin Champions Plan.

"WE were hitting it up at 60 miles an hour along the fifth concession and they were leaving us behind in a cloud of dust, so you can well imagine how fast they were moving. They were not stopping to say 'howdy' to anyone," related George Tustin Monday, commenting upon the week-end activities of rum-runners in Western Ontario.

Mr. Tustin has been assisting Provincial Officer Arthur Palmer during the past few weeks, and has gained considerable knowledge of the ways and means employed by the enterprising gentlemen who direct convoys of liquor-ladened trucks and high-powered automobiles from Kitchener and Waterloo, through London and vicinity, to Windsor and other border points.

He points out that with the advent of spring and the general improvement of both provincial highways and county roads, the fleets of cars en route with consignments of contraband ale and whiskey are daily increasing.

That the most effective method to curtail the evident wholesale transportation and successful delivery of liquor would be by the installation at strategic points of the old-fashioned toll gates, such as have disappeared generally from Western Ontario's roads these many years, is Officer Tustin's opinion. Strongly constructed obstacles of this nature, he believes, would bring the speeding whiskey runners to a prompt halt with subsequent detection and arrest.

"As it is now," explained the officer, "but little can be done apparently. There is not a car in London, in my opinion, that is fast enough to catch them, and they certainly won't stop for us if we only wave at them. We might as well stop along the side of the highway and blow peas at them through a pea-shooter."

Daredevil For Speed.

A member of the county force related Monday also that he was acquainted with one of the most

RANEY ORDERS WHISKEY HELD

Hamilton, May 8.—Chief of Police Whatley this morning received instructions from Attorney General Raney not to deliver to the owner 60 cases of whiskey seized on a truck owned by H. T. Guess, Bridgeburg. Judge Gauld last week quashed a conviction by Magistrate Jelfs and held that in transporting this liquor to the border for export, Guess had not violated the O. T. A. The attorney general is entering an appeal against Judge Gauld's ruling. The magistrate had held that there was not only a violation of the O. T. A., but also of international law, since the United States was under prohibition.

A LOAN TOMORROW IS MUCH BETTER THAN BORROWING

YOU will find that lending to tomorrow is far more profitable and satisfactory than borrowing from it.

If, the day's work being done, you discover that you have a little time left on your hands, try using it in doing part of tomorrow's work.

That gives you a little start on the day when it comes. Perhaps it will help you to save still a little more time to lend to the next tomorrow.

And by and by you may get ahead a reserve that will be really worth something.

The best investment in this tomorrow-lending is the drudgery which is unpleasant, and from which you get very little benefit.

Get that part of tomorrow's work done today if you can. Then you will have more time for the interesting duties—the duties in the performance of which there is real development.

There is drudgery in all jobs—the poet's and painter's as well as the bridge builder's and engineer's.

The more of that drudgery you can get done ahead the more time you will have for work that requires deep thought and planning.

Do not be afraid that your employer—if you have one—will figure that he is getting all the value out of this time that you lend to tomorrow.

He may profit by it, it is true, but never forget that all the intelligent effort you put in on any task is of more benefit to you than it can be to anybody else.

The employer gets only the results of it. His brain derives no benefit from the thought that goes into it. Yours does.

The man who is always a little ahead on his task is saved a great deal of worry and annoyance. He owes no debt to the future that must be paid off before he can begin to work in the present.

He does not have to get rid of a lot of "back work" before he can start even.

You may not be paid—now—for what you lend to tomorrow—but you will be paid for it by and by—perhaps by an entirely different employer. What he will buy at a better price is not the actual work that you turn out but the far better work that you are doing, because in turning out that extra work your brain grew and developed and found out how to make a better product.

FOUR DIE WHEN CANOE UPSETS

New Liskeard Outing Party Ends Fatally During Sudden Squall.

Searchers Fail To Find Any Trace of Victims' Bodies.

NEW LISKEARD, May 7.—One of the saddest tragedies in the history of the North Country occurred this morning when four young persons were swept under the waves and drowned when a sudden squall on Lake Temiskaming turned over their birch canoe about a mile and a half from shore.

The dead are: Norman Montgomery, aged 16, son of the manager of the Nipissing Central Railway; Percy Wall, aged 18, and James Wall, aged 21, sons of Mrs. Hoover, New Liskeard; Marshall McQuarrie, aged 18, a visitor in New Liskeard from Montreal.

The unfortunate party was on a fishing trip, and had set out on what looked like a fair morning for Dawson's Point, a distance of about three miles from the town. Their craft was a birch-bark canoe.

When they had proceeded about half way to their destination a sudden squall arose, and turning, the boys made a strong attempt to reach the New Liskeard wharf. Captain Reynolds, who was watching the canoeists from his window, stated today that they were 300 yards from shore when they were hidden from view by the tops of the roofs. This is the last glimpse that is known to have been secured of the four. Although a thorough search has been made by Mr. Montgomery in his motor launch along the shore between here and Haileybury, and to the east of the wharf, no sign has been found of either the bodies or the canoe. It is said that the northeast wind which was blowing here all day would deposit the light craft on the east side of the lake.

FREES SHUPE OF CHARGE OF OBTAINING TOO MANY 'PERS'

Magistrate Claims Evidence Insufficient To Show Liquor Improperly Disposed Of.

F. J. Shupe was charged with obtaining orders for liquor from doctors by unlawful means, in police court Saturday, but after hearing all the evidence the case was dismissed by Magistrate Graydon.

Dr. C. J. Karn said Shupe had obtained an order from him on May 2. Witness thought Shupe needed the liquor or he wouldn't have prescribed. Shupe got the order in the forenoon.

Dr. Pennecott of Hamilton road, said he had given a "per" to Shupe on the afternoon of May 2.

"He told me he was suffering from his usual complaint, and had just come in from Ingersoll.

Shupe, it was said, was suffering from debility and nervousness.

"There is no case," stated Albert Judd, for the defence." "Both doctors thought he needed it. There is nothing in the act to prevent him from getting two orders."

"Doesn't it suggest that getting two orders in one day could not be for medical purposes?" inquired Mr. Graydon.

Shupe, in the witness box, stated that he took the bottle he received on Dr. Karn's order to his boarding house room and had a drink. He left the bottle on the dresser, he said, and on returning from a trip down town, the bottle had disappeared. Witness had gone to Ingersoll and was so sick on the way home that he called at Dr. Pennecott's and got an order. It was refused at the licensed vendors.

"There is no evidence that Shupe sold the whiskey or improperly disposed of it," said Mr. Graydon, in dismissing the case.

Will Seek To Protect Port Stanley Residences From Annual Looting

In an effort to induce the authorities at Port Stanley to afford them some protection against the persistent looting of summer homes which takes place every year, about 140 Londoners, owners of lakeside property, will journey to the village Monday night in a special car on the London and Port Stanley Railway, leaving London at 7:20 p.m., to attend the council meeting, at which they propose to impress upon the officials the serious condition which has arisen, caused by insufficient police protection, on account of which the pilferers apply their nefarious trade with great vigor.

Several cases have been reported this spring where the residence has been entirely cleared of everything removable, therefore, the property-owners have decided to take concerted action to insure their being afforded a certain degree of safety with respect to their belongings.

The delegation will return by special car, which will await the conclusion of the meeting. It has been announced that commutation tickets will be accepted from any wishing to travel with the delegation.

KING GEORGE TO VISIT BELGIUM

British Ruler and Queen Mary To Make Trip On Invitation of Belgian Royalty.

Will Inspect Soldiers' Cemeteries and Scenes of Battles.

LONDON, England, May 7.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary leave for Belgium early on Monday. Their suite includes Earls Beatty and Haig, who are making the journey at the special desire of the King of the Belgians.

The diplomatic functions will mainly occupy the first two days. King George then enters upon a round of self-imposed duty, proceeding to Ypres to inspect cemeteries stretching over great spaces of the country-side.

The greater part held by the British in the great war will be traveled with several halts on the way. The journey will be extended to Mons, where a fine monument shows the British entering amid the acclamations of the people. King George here will find preparations for setting up a line of twenty-eight memorial stones to mark the farthest limits of the German invasion, which line is to be extended through France to the Swiss border.

His majesty desires that the visit to the war graves shall be the simplest and most private character. He will live two days on the special train provided for the party, and on it will proceed to a point nearest the cemeteries. The king will then motor to those spots "which are forever England," there to pay tribute to the glorious dead. The tour ends at Boulogne, where the king and queen will lay wreathes on a cemetery high on the cliffs above the town. Representatives of the French army will attend on this occasion.

It is anticipated that during their stay in Brussels, their majesties will visit the scene of Nurse Cavell's death.

PREDICTS BEAVERBROOK WILL EFFECT BIG MERGER

Northcliffe Says Hulton Newspapers Standard Would Be Improved As Result

London, May 8.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Lord Northcliffe, in a long article in the Daily Mail, one of the string of newspapers owned by him, with regard to his resignation from the Newspaper Proprietors' Association and disassociation from the movement to reduce printers' wages, says that many people predict that Lord Beaverbrook will effect a merger of the Hulton newspaper interests. He says this would be an extremely good thing for the tone of some of Sir Edward Hulton's publications.

Lord Beaverbrook owns the Daily and Sunday Express of this city. Sir Edward Hulton entered London some years ago from Manchester, where he had been highly successful in newspaper production. He now owns the London Evening Standard and the Daily Sketch.

THINKS END OF WORLD IN SIGHT

Hamilton, Ont., May 8.—Preaching on "current events in the light of prophecy" in St. George's Anglican Church last night, Rev Canon F. E. Howitt declared that the Russo-German pact portended the reconstruction of the old Roman empire in a tenfold form and the formation of a German-Rusian-Turkish combination outside the empire with great possibilities for conflict in the future. This was the fulfilment he said, of the prophecy contained in Ezekiel 38, and was a sign that these were the last days and the coming of the Lord was an event near at hand.

OUTDOOR BILL IS FINE SUCCESS

Talbot, Ealing and Lorne Avenue Schools Tied, Winners.

Lions' Club Managed Saturday Competitions in Splendid Manner.

"The most interesting and instructive program that I have ever seen," was the comment of many who witnessed the Boys' Day Out-of-Doors, staged by the Lions' Club at Queen's and Thames Parks on Saturday afternoon in connection with the "Better Boy Week" in London.

Bands were in attendance at both parks and provided plenty of musical entertainment during the afternoon. At Thames Park a fairly large crowd witnessed the events, but at Queen's Park there were very few people, and the only regret of Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham was that more citizens, and especially the fathers and mothers of the boys, were not there to see the London school boys compete in some of the most novel athletic events ever held in London for the benefit of the boy.

A great deal of credit is due to the Lions' Club and especially to Col. Graham, for the enthusiasm they inspired in the boys beforehand by visiting the schools and explaining the day's program, and also for the capable manner in which the events were handled at both parks.

Talbot street school won the honors at Thames Park by three of its boys capturing first prizes in three events: F. Gowers in the seed planting contest, Carl Perkins in the rose bush planting contest, and Allen Patch in the chickencoop-making contest. The latter was a father and son contest, but on account of Allan's father being unable to come the boy rolled up his sleeves, and entering alone, won first prize.

The camp fire, potato planting and tree planting contests were called off on account of the rain. The judges were the members of the Lions' Club, the parks superintendent and his foreman, and Mr White, manual training instructor of the public schools.

At Queen's Park, Ealing and Lorne Avenue schools divided the honors, by each winning two first. The results were: Seed planting contest, Wm. Knowles, Ealing; rose planting contest, R. Wright, Ealing; chickencoop-making contest, H. Hogarth, Lorne Avenue; 110-yard dash, prize, the model chickencoop, Jack Rolland, Lorne Avenue; tree planting contest, G. Wilson, Lord Roberts.

The Chesley avenue team consisting of Master Powell, Purdy, Livermore and Demmick, won the relay race. The potato planting and the camp fire contests were cancelled on account of rain.

The Boy Scouts of this city and the Boys' Naval Brigade gave excellent exhibitions of scout and naval drills at both parks.

RELEASE LARKIN ON $15,000 BAIL

New York, May 8.—James Larkin, Irish labor leader, who was released on Friday from Great Meadow Prison on $15,000 bail, on a writ of reasonable doubt for his conviction of criminal anarchy, was re-arrested Saturday at Comstock, N. Y., on a bench warrant issued pursuant to a second indictment charging criminal anarchy. He was taken to the Tombs Prison, where two federal warrants, both charging him with violation of the immigration laws, were served.

Larkin was sentenced May 3, 1920, to serve not less than five nor more than ten years, following his conviction as a criminal anarchist.

Upon issuance of the writ of reasonable doubt, Larkin's bail was fixed at $15,000.

CAPE TOWN, May 7.—The estimated expenditures of the South African union for the year 1922-23 total approximately £29,000,000, which is £1,500,000 below the revised estimates of 1921-22. The cost of dealing with the recent Rand disturbance, however, is not included.

TURKS ISLAND, Bahamas, May 7.—The British schooner B. R. Tower, bound from Lemerara, British Guiana, in ballast, was totally wrecked last midnight on a reef northeast of Grand Turk Island. The crew was rescued.

PARIS, May 7.—The Seine River continues to rise. The overflow is causing much damage. Navigation is at a standstill, and many wharves are flooded. The famous Bercy docks and cellars, containing thousands of casks of wines of all vintages, are under water.

BERLIN, May 7.—A new series of movies of the Genoa conference has opened in a Berlin theatre. The audience registered what it thought of some notables in this manner:

Richard Washburne Child, the American ambassador to Italy, applauded by two persons; Chancellor Wirth and Dr. Rathenau the German delegates, dead silence; M. Barthou of France, hissed; Premier Facta of Italy, light applause; Prime Minister Lloyd George, great applause; M. Tchitcherin, head of the soviet delegation, thunderous applause and cheers.

A paper comments: "Vox populi is right again."

PANAMA, May 7.—The British explorers Mitchell Hedges and Major Fitz-William, have just returned from a trip into the San Blas and Chucunaque River country, being the first white men, it is said, to succeed in penetrating that section of the Isthmian jungles.

They brought back with them a large collection of Indian idols and primitive weapons and pieces of cloth woven by the natives. These objects are said to resemble in many ways those produced by the ancient Egyptians. The explorers were received by President Porras today.

LONDON, May 7.—Covent Garden is once more the home of a grand opera company, after having been reduced to motion pictures and boxing contests for several years.

The dissolution of the old Covent Garden Company during the war left London without grand opera of the first order, and Sir Thomas Beecham, millionaire music lover, made a gallant attempt to put the garden on a paying basis with native talent, but found the burden too heavy. Now the British National Opera Company, financed by popular subscription and composed exclusively of British artists and conductors, has been formed and has opened the famous old playhouse, after several weeks of tryouts in provincial cities.

ROME, May 7.—The Rome Year Book giving the list of diplomatic representatives accredited to the Vatican for 1922, issued today, shows the name of Alexander Lissakowsky as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Russia. He was appointed by Alexander Kerensky while the latter was president of the provincial government which preceded the Bolshevist regime.

Lissakowsky presented his credentials Sept. 30, 1917. Several times he has expressed a desire to withdraw, but decided to remain at the earnest request of the Holy See.

Some of the Rome newspapers today called attention to the fact that Russia, but not the soviet government, was represented at the Vatican.

SEEDING OPERATIONS PROGRESS.

Regina, Sask., May 8.—Seeding is now well under way in Southern Saskatchewan, although in many sections the work has been retarded by water-soaked land and a shortage of farm help.

TRUSTEES OBTAIN $5,000 BY SALE

More than $5,000 has been obtained by the board of education through the sale by public auction on Saturday last of four of five lots on Grand avenue, South London. Satisfactory arrangements are being made, it is explained, for the sale of the fifth lot within a day or two.

In the meanwhile the names of the purchasers are withheld by the school authorities pending the complete sale of the property, the proceeds of which will be devoted toward further payment upon the Tecumseh avenue school debenture issue.

IF FROST KEEPS AWAY, FRUIT PROSPECTS BRIGHT

R. A. Finn Finds, in County Survey, Raspberries Wintered Worst of Fruits.

If old "Jawn" Frost will confine his operations to the north pole or the frozen north in general, Middlesex County as well as other counties in Western Ontario will harvest a bumper crop of tree fruit this year.

R. A. Finn, of the local branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, after a survey of the county last week, stated on Monday that prospects for a heavy yield of tree fruit had never been brighter.

Farmers on Springbank hill state that there is double the showing of blossom this year. Apples, pears and plums are laden with blossom, and if a frost did not come the crop would be well over the standard. Cherry trees that did not fall prey to the recent ice storm show many pois-som buds.

The outlook for raspberries is not so bright, the growers state. Winter killing is quite noticeable in the majority of patches. This is attributed to the fact that there was very little snow during the winter, which left the bushes exposed.

If the present warm weather continues strawberries will be out in blossom by the end of the week. Growers who mulched their patches report that the plants wintered in good shape.

CHARGE TWO GIRLS DEFRAUDED PUBLIC

REMANDED FOR DAY

Pair Alleged to Have Been Collecting Money From Chinamen "For Hospital."

Sarnia, May 8.—The Sarnia police effected a smart capture Saturday afternoon when two young women from Toronto were taken into custody charged with defrauding the public. It is said that the pair worked their game in Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener and London before they came to Sarnia.

The girls, Margaret Allen, 120 Pembroke street, Toronto, and Hazel Blue, 13 Homewood avenue, Toronto, had been visiting Chinese restaurants and laundries in the city and collecting sums ranging from $1 to $5 "for the hospital." Becoming suspicious that the appeals of the young women might not be in good faith, one of the Chinese communicated with the police. Acting Detective Byerley and Constable Chapman went out on the case and were accosted by the young women on Front street. They asked the way to the Y. W. C. A., but were taken instead to the police station, where they were identified as the women wanted in the other cities.

They explained that they left Toronto on Monday morning last and intended to visit Windsor before going back to Toronto. It is understood they admitted they were inspired to enter the "game" by two other women in Toronto who had made a success of it.

The two were smartly dressed in blue tailored suits and it is not strange that they succeeded in making an impression with their appeal for money.

The women appeared in police court this morning and remanded one day.

Police are seeking another bird of prey. It is reported that a man wearing the badge of the U. S. police has been holding up motorists on the London road and making a search of their cars. It is believed that he is making a search for liquor, but no such search has been authorized, and the fake officer will be arrested if the police can locate him.

WAGE CLAIM CASE IS POSTPONED

Hartwell Alfred claimed in police court Monday morning that Clifford Lewis owed him $222 in wages, while J. M. Donahue, counsel for Lewis, stated that Alfred was being sued in division court for damages totalling $65.

"Mr. Lewis claims that Mr. Alfred damaged his property to the extent of $65, and I have instituted proceedings in the division court against the complainant in this case," said Mr. Donahue, who asked that the police court case be postponed till after the division court action had been heard.

Magistrate Graydon was reluctant to do this, stating that Alfred might need the wages which might be coming to him. However, the plaintiff stated that he was satisfied to have the case adjourned till after May 17, and the adjournment was accordingly made.

TRUSTEES FORFEIT OPTION ON LAND

At their regular meeting Tuesday members of No. 2 committee of the board of education will consider a communication from the city solicitor intimating that the owner of property adjoining the Dakin Street School site, does not intend to go to the expense of perfecting the title for it.

The board held an option for this land, which is being returned, however, and the forfeit lost. The trustees had contemplated the purchase of another two acres or more to be used when the Dakin school, if erected, would be enlarged from time to time in the future. It appears, however, that the clear title to the land is a matter of question, and that considerable time and expense would be necessary to unravel the tangle.

BRITISH MAILS

Hangs Self From Branch of Apple Tree in Garden of Home in City

DESPONDENT from continual brooding over the death of his wife two months ago, Charles Killingsworth, 45 years old, of 113 Rectory street, hanged himself from the branch of an apple tree in the garden of his home early Sunday.

The body was found by two neighbors leaning in an upright position against the tree, the feet just touching the ground.

It is believed the victim climbed into the tree and winding a rope around the branch, then tied it tightly around his neck, throttling himself until he became unconscious and fell to the ground.

Detectives Bolton and Harper accompanied by Coroner J. Ferguson, after a thorough investigation, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

CITY DISCHARGES TEN GARBAGE MEN

Engineer Orders Dismissals on Changing to Summer Collection Schedule.

WERE ON WINTER FORCE

Two Trucks Will Be Converted to Use of Other Departments.

Ten garbage collectors have been laid off the city force today by Superintendent W. Dodd, on the order of the city engineer.

This is the result of the decision to change from the winter to summer service immediately.

During the winter the service calls for one garbage and one ashes collection each week. On account of the heavy ashes collection and the time taken to collect them, the force is always increased in the winter. The summer collection consists of two garbage collections weekly.

Ten men with the assistance of two trucks made up the extra service during the past winter. With the extra men laid off, the two trucks will be put back at their other tasks, one street flushing and the other on the works department.

It will take the department two weeks to get the service reorganized from the winter system to the summer, and it will be about that time, according to the engineer before the regular two collections of garbage weekly will be in force.

The reduction will cut the garbage department salary roll $225, plus the charges for the wages of the truck drivers, which will now be charged to other departments.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We will rejoice in Thy salvation and in the name of our God we will set up our banners: the Lord fulfill all thy petitions.—Psalm 20:5.

STARRED forget-me-nots smile sweetly,

Winning eye and heart completely
Sing, robin, sing—

Where the brook its music hushes,
Bright the colopogon blushes—
Laugh, O murmuring Spring!

TO CONSIDER WAGE CUT PROPOSED

Members of the London local of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees in regular session Monday night in the Imperial Bank building, will consider the recent demand of the railroad companies for a readjustment of their wage and working agreement.

Although it is reported that negotiations have already opened at Montreal between the Grand Trunk representatives and the railroad clerks and stationmen, no delegates have as yet been in attendance from London yards.

The C. B. of R. E. claims a membership of nearly 20,000 throughout the Grand Trunk System in Canada.

FEEL NO ANXIETY OVER COAL STRIKE

C. P. R. Officials in City Feel Secure For Six Months.

125,000 TONS STORED

Legislation Provides For Railroads To Seize Fuel in Transit If Necessary.

It will be six months at least, London representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railroad assert, before the coal strike will create for them any good reason for alarm.

Between Toronto and Windsor the company has stored approximately 125,000 tons of coal, and three steam shovels are kept busily engaged at the present time loading gondolas for various points on the London division.

Although it may not be generally known, the railway act provides that any railroad corporation, if it deems it imperative, may seize any or all coal in transit, and devote the same for personal use, whether the coal be destined for an individual citizen or private corporation.

The company officials report, however, that they do not anticipate such drastic action, only in the event that the strike remains in progress for several months. In the meanwhile, the occasional car of coal that does come over the division for London or elsewhere is allowed to proceed to its destination unmolested.

SARAH MURDOCK CHARGES HUSBAND WITH BIGAMY

Magistrate Graydon Remands Young Couple Alleged To Have Gone Through Form of Marriage.

Gordon Murdock and Jean McPherson, charged by Sarah Murdock with bigamy, were remanded to jail for a week when they appeared before Magistrate Graydon in court Monday morning.

"You are charged that on March 3, being already married, that you did unlawfully go through a form of marriage with Jean McPherson," said Mr. Graydon, addressing Murdock.

"I would like to be remanded for a week," stated the prisoner. "I telephoned Mr. McEvoy to be here, but he has not come."

"Very well. I will not ask you to plead this morning," replied Mr. Graydon.

Jean McPherson was charged with going through a form of marriage with Murdock, knowing that he was already married.

"Do you want to be remanded, too," questioned Mr. Graydon.

"Please," was the reply.

Both prisoners are quite young, and were arrested by detectives on Saturday.

Bird Bulletin

Issued by the MacIlwraith Ornithological Club.

Saturday, May 6, was marked by the arrival of the White-Crowned Sparrow, a bird of the size of the well-known White Throat, and similar in colors, but the general tone is greyer, against the brown of the White-Throat, and the white of the crown is more conspicuous. In the song, there is a great difference, the White-Throat having a rather wheezy whistle, with phrases somewhat resembling those of the Meadow Lark, and entirely unlike the triplet song of the White-Throat. The present species goes farther north for the summer, also, James Bay and north, while the song of the White-Throat may be heard in summer even down to Lake Erie.

The Crested Flycatcher chose May 6 for his arrival, and announced in no uncertain language his advent. This and the Kingbird are the proverbial Irishmen among the birds, always going around with a chip on their shoulder, and if a scrap is going on, there is never an inquiry as to whether it is a private one or not, the Flycatcher sails in, so as to be in time before peace is announced. The Crested is a bird of the woods, and rather seldom, the orchards. She nests in a cavity in a tree, and has attained celebrity from the use of snakeskins in the nest.

The last new species for the day was an unusual record. In an overflowed piece of ground, where the Solitary Sandpiper was observed a few days ago, a tiny Sandpiper was noted, much smaller than the Spotted. It could be nothing but a Least or Semi-Palmated, with the probabilities strongly towards the latter. The thickness of bill, and color of legs, the two best field marks for these species, are matters that require a very good view for certainty, and all the observers could do was to make the best guess possible from the rather distant glimpse.

W. E. SAUNDERS.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT made two runs Sunday afternoon. The traction bridge, which had become ignited, was the cause of the first run, and a roast of beef burning on an electric stove at the residence of Van Loon, Wharncliffe road and Evergreen avenue, caused the other alarm. No damage was done in either case.

ACT PROVIDES FOR SCHOOL OFFICER

Dr. Weir Declares Vocational Educational Bill Insures Provision of Part Time Courses.

London Authorities Urge Co-operation Between Employers and Trustees.

Apropos of the recommendation from Dr. George S. Weir, London's public school attendance officer, that the board of education should endeavor to co-operate with employers with respect to the establishment of part-time courses in city schools, it is further explained by the department of education that section 12 of the vocational educational act provides for the actual appointment by the trustees of officers for this specific purpose.

Sub-section 5 states that an advisory committee of trustees may direct special persons to make all necessary arrangements for the conduct of these classes as ordered by the provincial department to be instituted September next for adolescent children to the age of 16 years.

School authorities hope by action and a campaign of education at this early date to win the co-operation of those employers who now and in the past have employed children of the age that will be affected by the new provisions of the act.

The general complete census of the children which will be taken this month will reveal the fact that there are children of this age engaged in some occupation, that have left school in the third and fourth grades. The part-time classes of instruction are designed, the department rules, to furnish these children means of training in the duties of citizenship and in the proper use of hours of leisure.

The courses should tend also, it is stressed, to abolish as far as possible, the abrupt break which occurs in their lives by interlocking, to a certain degree, the activities of school with those of industry.

MAGISTRATE REMANDS TWO YOUTHS, BUT HATES TO DO IT

Boys Have Relatives in Montreal, But They Have No Money, They Claim.

Howard Carroll and Alfred Williams, two youngsters, who gave their ages as 19 and 18 respectively, and who looked as if they ought to be attending school, both pleaded guilty to trespassing on the G. T. R. when they stood up in police court Monday morning. They were remanded to jail for a week by Magistrate Graydon.

"We were sleeping on a snowplow of the G. T. R.," said Carroll.

Williams said that they came from Montreal. He had no relations there, but had some friends.

"My mother died in Winnipeg nine years ago," said the boy. "I worked in Montreal for 18 months. We came up here looking for work."

Carroll said that he had relatives in Montreal.

"You better get in touch with them," suggested the court.

"No use," replied the youth. "They haven't got any money."

"What's going to happen to you?" asked the court. "You don't look like bad boys. I wish I could get you some work. I don't want to see you go to jail. You look like two respectable young boys. However, I'll remand you for a week, and see what can be done."

WILL GIVE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE IN CITY ON ROME

Charles Upson Clark Will Address Londoners in Catholic Club Hall, May 9.

Londoners will have an opportunity of hearing for the first time, on Tuesday night, May 9, Charles Upson Clark, Ph.D., F.R.H.S., a lecturer and writer of international repute, who comes to this city to deliver a lecture in the Catholic Club auditorium on "Rome, Capital of the Caesars."

This lecture will trace the development of the little settlement on the hillocks over the Tiber into the stately city which ruled over all civilization from Land's End and Cape Finisterre to the Sahara, the Euphrates and the Black Sea, and passed on to us from the Greeks by far the greater part of our culture. The slides will show not only the monuments which conect Rome of today with that remote past, but illustrate how the Romans of that day lived, and what they were interested in.

Dr. Clark's studies have led him to know intimately the works of the great men who made Rome the center of the Western Church. He is the editor of Pope Gregory the Great's "Dialogues" for the Vienna Corpus of Church Fathers, and few living men are so conversant with the Vatican Library or Rome's early churches.

SAYS SCHOLARSHIP APPLICANTS SLOW

Applications for scholarships are coming in slowly, Dr. K. P. R. Neville, registrar of Western University, reported Monday morning. These are the matriculation scholarships for which application must be made before the 15th of May.

London Collegiate has been somewhat tardy this year, the registrar states, in forwarding applications for scholarships.

MIDDLESEX FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION TO MEET

Exfrid Body Gathers in Appin Tuesday Afternoon at 2 o'Clock.

The Ekfrid Farm Loan Association, the first farm loan association formed in Middlesex County, will hold a meeting at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Appin, to receive applications from farmers desiring to borrow amounts up to $1,000 which can be used for the purchase of seed, cattle, implements, or the carrying on of any legitimate farm work.

The association was formed several weeks ago by thirty farmers of the township. R. Coad was elected president; D. Eddie, first vice-president, and Duncan McIntyre, secretary. W. Irvine represents the farmers on the board of directors, while R. A. Finn of the local branch of the department of agriculture, and B. Galbraith represents the provincial government. James McCrae and D. McDonald are the township members of the board.

Under the farm loan act passed by the Ontario government, 30 representative farmers of any district must put up $100 each, with a $10 cash payment when an association is formed. The township contributes $1,500 and the province another $1,500.

The loans are made for one year, and carry interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

GIVES VAGRANT CHANCE TO GET AID FROM GODERICH

Magistrate Graydon Remands David Foster For One Week.

David J. Foster, who claims Goderich as the old home town, pleaded guilty to being a vagrant when he was arraigned before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning.

When David was asked to give an account of his wanderings, it was found that he had spent a term in the reformatory and one in the industrial School.

"They deported me from the States on April 22," said Foster, who does not look to be over 20 years of age. "They brought me here," continued the prisoner, "and left me here.

"I don't know whether my mother is in Goderich or not. My stepfather is there and I have friends there. I was in the Victoria Industrial School in 1917, and after that I worked on the C. P. R. up north of Schriber, leaving there for the west.

"I served a term in the Ontario Reformatory for two years less one day for obstruction on the railway, and got out in April, 1920."

"I'll remand you for a week," said Mr. Graydon. "You seem to be fairly intelligent, and should be able to make a living. You can communicate with your friends in Goderich. Maybe they can do something for you."

Believes Officer With Watch Rather Than Motorist With Speedometer

Constable George Tomlin swore in the witness box at police court Monday morning that Roy Garrett had driven his Ford car on Ridout street from Elmwood avenue to Bruce street in sixteen seconds, or in other words, the car was traveling 28 miles an hour, on May 2, at 6 o'clock in the evening.

"I wasn't going more than 20 miles," objected Mr. Garrett. "I remember the occasion well, and I was not exceeding the limit. It is not possible to turn two corners and make a block at 28 miles an hour. I don't think it is reasonable."

"It might surprise you," mildly observed Mr. Graydon; "the constable has a stop watch and swears to the time."

Mr. Garrett said that the measurements submitted by Chief Birrell were not correct, being six feet short, although that was not here nor there.

"The distances are supplied by the city engineer," declared Chief Birrell, "and are supposed to be correct."

Mr. Garrett said that he had turned the corner of Grand avenue almost at a halt.

"I can turn a corner going at fifteen miles an hour," declared the chief.

"The majority of people think they are going twenty miles an hour when they are really going faster," stated the court.

Mr. Garrett said he was always looking at his speedometer, but later modified the statement to "off and on."

"This time you must have been off," opined the magistrate.

Recalled to the witness box, the constable said that Garrett had made the block in less than sixteen seconds, but he had made it sixteen. The correct time was 15 1-2 seconds.

"That's not very good judgment," declared Mr. Garrett.

"Five dollars and costs," said the court. "He's wrong, and the stopwatch is wrong, but according to you, Mr. Garrett, the speedometer and yourself are infallible."

Four Innocents On Walk Looked Like Crowd and "Crock" to Sleuths

Every move of the citizens of this fair city is being watched by both the long and short limbs of the law these days. This was proven satisfactorily at least to four persons on Sunday evening.

After attending evening church services four young men who are quite prominent in social circles decided to enjoy the cool, soothing zephyrs of a spring evening, and so strolled down Dundas street, where the after-church crowds all wander on a Sunday evening.

Nearing Clarence street, one of the quartet, wishing to light a "fag," and having only one match, conveniently used his friend's spring coat to prevent the breeze from playing havoc with the lighted lucifer.

Not twenty feet away, and unknown to the young men, were two stalwart limbs of the law, one long limb, a sergeant, and a shorter limb, a plain "cop." Their eyes trained to see things unnoticed by the average man, their minds trained to the nth, of perception, and no doubt having visions of the proverbial "crock," the officers without a moment's hesitation followed their quarry.

Back and forth on Dundas street the two vigilants of the peace strolled always keeping their prey in sight.

After a while others began to take notice of these strange and weird proceedings, among the others being a friend of the four. That gentleman warily informed the unsuspecting ones what was in the wind.

Suddenly stopping and turning around the young men decided to wait for the officers and get all the facts in the case. But the sergeant and the plain "cop" acted differently. Evidently convinced by this time that they were on the wrong scent they wheeled about and strode rapidly down a side street. The young men involved enjoyed a hearty laugh at the expens of the law.

A Wise Course.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN must not be taken too seriously when he claimed in the house at Ottawa that the government should be in a position to announce right straight off just what it intended to do with railway rates, one of the most far-reaching and complicated matters that faces the house right now—if not the greatest of all questions.

The premier suggested the formation of a parliamentary committee to deal with the matter first from the several angles on which it is necessary to secure exhaustive information. The more one looks into the question the more apparent is the entire reasonableness of the proposal made by the premier.

Suppose he should have stood up and announced that the rate of 1897 was to be restored in July on the C. P. R. in the West. It would mean that the National lines would have been called upon at once to meet this rate, and the earnings of the road would have been decreased right away. If the National lines did not meet the rate the C. P. R. would get all the business, and National cars would go thundering through the West light and almost empty. Again, were this rate given to the West, is it to be supposed that Ontario interests, manufacturing and agricultural, are going to sit back and be content to pay their present rates on the lines in this part of the country? It is a fact that farmers and manufacturers alike in Ontario feel the burden of railway and express charges, and it is a certainty that they would be asking more urgently than they have done in the past for some measure of relief.

These are only a few of the things that will have to be considered. The government at Ottawa is there to do business for the whole Dominion, and its investigations must be Dominion-wide before any definite action can be taken. In the house at Ottawa are representatives from every section of the Dominion, who are familiar with local conditions, and these men can bring a wide range of information to bear on this question. The solution of this problem becomes at once a bigger thing than a party matter, and the KING government did exactly what it should have done when it refused to be stampeded into action that might have been ruinous in its workings to some sections of the Dominion.

There is nothing in the attitude of the government to suggest that it is begging the question or hedging on the carrying out of the lines it proposed when it placed its case before the people of the Dominion at the last election. It wants to secure all possible information from members who are sitting in the house, and after securing all the facts, the country will be justified in asking the government to stand up on its own initiative and tell the people exactly what it proposes to do.

The attempt of HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN to drive the government into precipitate action in this matter failed, as it deserved to fail, and the government showed its strength by adopting the course that it did.

The Clean-Up Season.

NOW THAT we are at the season of the year when the clean-up spirit comes and dwells in our midst, why not clean up on this list?

The man who spits on the sidewalk.

The chap who cuts across the lawn.

The girls who cut their skirts eight inches from the waist.

The man who throws lighted matches and butts any place without looking or caring.

The fellow who drops into your office for no reason and spends an hour.

The wise man who wants to tell you where the best bootlegger in town resides.

The resident who is always going to paint up and fix up his premises, but never does it.

Of course, you can add to the list as occasion warrants.

Let's Have the Facts.

IS ANOTHER public school absolutely essential for the southeastern section of the city?

School Inspector Greer, with the undivided support of the board of education, states most emphatically "Yes," while members of the city council, with equal emphasis, exclaim "No."

Obviously, somebody has achieved a miscalculation.

To the average ratepayer, who evinces a desire to witness a little action now and again by civic bodies, even in the matter of schools, there has been altogether too much time frittered away in seeming endless discussions and debates, while no real attempt has been made, apparently, for the two opposing factions to get together in a friendly manner and determine once and for all what is needed in the way of increased school accommodation, if anything.

If it so develops that the school inspector is right no further time should be lost. It is now May, and the latter has acknowledged that even should construction commence this week, the school would not be ready for actual occupation by September next.

The issue is by no means an unfamiliar one. The trustees directed that plans be prepared so many months ago that the public had commenced to believe that the school was nearly built. As early as last September the inspector sounded his warning, and the board of that day approved of his suggestion.

Since that time, however, with ample opportunities at their disposal, the trustees have evidently become hopelessly divided amongst themselves, and rarely a meeting passes but they argue pro and con upon the relative merits of one-story, two-story or four-room schools.

In the meanwhile, aldermen, in casual interviews, apparently treat the entire problem as a joke, and the trustees themselves as joke-smiths of no mean ability.

The council passes the board's debenture requisition to the civic commission for a first reading. Members of the former body state confidently that it doesn't make any difference what the commission does in the matter, as they will quash the issue when it reaches them again for final sanction.

Thoughtful citizens are commencing to tire a trifle of this continual bickering one with another, when the relative intellectual abilities of various councillors and trustees are awarded the centre of the stage, and the chief issue—the proposed Dakin street school—is unanimously relegated to the background.

Strange, isn't it, that the man with a bad temper always thinks people should make allowance for him?

With all their new-fangled cars in Toronto they do tell they're still rearin' a good-sized crop of strap-hangers.

Our idea of a thrifty wife is one who looks over the early strawberries and then orders a quarter's worth of prunes.

A little pile of crumbling bones.
He might be well and strong today—
But he shed his woolen shirt in May.

Our early conception of things is all wrong. The Irish used to be pictured as a lot of people who were sitting around on the banks of rivers picking away at harps or smiling at each other, and saying: "The top of the morning to you." They either fooled us when we were youngsters or the Irish have changed since.

A pertinent point is raised in connection with the case of LOUIS STANDER, a foreign leader in Brantford, who for years has been the go-between from the foreigners and the police department, making a nice fat rake-off on all his cases, and flim-flamming the foreigners to the limit. The chief of police and the magistrate are out of their positions in Brantford for less offences than were lodged against this man STANDER. It is mighty poor business to let him drop out of sight while piling punishment on others for indiscretions for less serious.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1897.

MAY 8, 1897.

The house committee of the Western Fair board met in the secretary's office this afternoon. Among those present were: H. Wade, Toronto; A. S. Rawker, Woodstock; T. Evans, sen., St. Marys; J. Rosser, Clinton; G. A. Scott, J. Kenney, Ilderton; and J. H. Wilson, city.

This morning's market was an extremely large one, and the usual plethora of butter and eggs was on all sides. A feature of the market, however, was the large quantity of green stuff brought in—letuce, onions, radishes, rhubarb, watercress, etc., all of which found a ready sale. Bulbs and flowers were in great demand, and tomato and cabbage plants by the box found a quick sale.

A ship social was a novelty that drew a crowded audience to the Knox Church lecture hall last night. The pastor, Rev. J. G. Stuart, presided. The entertainment derived its name from the fare of hard tack and water which was handed to the audience, and which created great amusement. The program was as follows: Chorus, the choir; solo, Mr. F. G. Westlake; duet, Messrs. Murray and Givens; solo, Mr. J. Wilson; solo, Miss Templeton; solo, Mr. Givens; chorus, the choir. Mr. Fred L. Evans was the accompanist.

T. C. Thornhill, watchmaker, etc., knowing times are hard, will on March 1 lower his charges on watches, etc., to benefit the laborer, because of machinery and monopoly. 402 Talbot street.

At a joint vestry meeting of St. George's Church, Walton, and St. John's Church, Brussels, held recently, it was unanimously decided to ask his lordship the bishop of Huron to appoint as their incumbent Mr. George J. Abey, student of Huron College. The bishop has acceded to their request, and Mr. Abey accepted and will take charge tomorrow.

Fireman Taylor, who was seriously injured at the fire at Reid's Crystal Hall, is progressing very favorably at the city hospital.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE.

WENT TO SEE A DOCTOR

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

PREVENTING sickness is a whole lot cheaper in every way than remedying it.

It is becoming quite the proper and common thing in this country to visit a physician from time to time for an examination even when in the best of physical condition.

Parents, too, are learning how much less expensive it is to send or take their children periodically to the doctor, just to be looked over.

This is a very wise precaution, for often something slightly wrong may easily be corrected which, if allowed to run on, might be beyond human power to cure.

Exact rules prescribing just when to call a doctor in illness or injury cannot be made to cover all cases, but some help may perhaps be given.

If an illness comes on suddenly with high fever, considerable prostration, and headache, a doctor is needed. He is also needed in case of severe headache or pain in the abdomen, especially if these are present after an injury. All injuries of the head and abdomen have very serious possibilities. Croup is so terrifying that the doctor is usually summoned at once by the frightened mother. Severe sore throat may be diphtheria, and you need the doctor at once. An eruption with fever, often means a contagious disease.

Some diseases which come on slowly should not be neglected. Mouth breathing means adenoids. Loss of considerable weight means something wrong. Persistent coughing is a danger signal. Any deformity should be shown to a doctor. Deafness may often be improved or cured if given early attention. Running from the ear is a bad business and should be attended to.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 208—APPEALING TO THE INSTINCTIVE TYPE.

Most characterologists refer to this type as the "feminine" type, and its antithesis as the "masculine." But this seems hardly fair. It is better to call them the "instinctive" and the "logical." For, while it is true that there is a difference in the proportion of the two types in the sexes, there are plenty of each type to be found in both men and women. Furthermore, the "instinctive" type of man is not necessarily a "sissy" any more than the "logical" type of woman is devoid of true femininity.

You know from previous articles that the "instinctive" type of person has small hands and feet, fine-textured hair and skin, shorter and more tapering limbs, larger hips, more curve to the back, and, if weight has been taken on, would be described by "plump" rather than "heavy" or "husky." And, of course, in estimating these characteristics, you must make allowance for the fact that women, for instance, naturally have larger hips than men. You have to vary the scale of your measure a bit.

But the point is, how can these people best be influenced?

Give them personal attention. Be on the jump to anticipate their wants and needs. Remember the little things they like and dislike. Discuss personalities with them. It flatters them to receive your confidence, and to have you sympathetic with their own. You'll do well in transacting business with these people to hold strickly to a policy of personal friendship. For, while not necessarily unreasonable, there are times when they can chuck all logic and reason overboard in response to the appeal of personal friendship or affection.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

THE INHERITANCE OF JEAN TROUVE. By Nevil Henshaw. Indianapolis. The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

THIS is another of those books in which a character tells of his boyhood and early manhood, but though it deals with the impressions of a young boy and his struggles to work himself up in the world, with his father and mother dead and his grandfather his enemy, it is a book which will hold the attention of any reader. The story is by far one of the most interesting of the season of its particular type.

John's father was disowned because he married against the wishes of his family. John, at the age of fourteen, when his father dies, finds that he is not welcome at the home of his grandfather. Like father, like son, is the idea of the book. John assumes the name of Jean Trouve and struggles along until the day comes when, like his grandfather, he is a planter, but John is as set in his ideas of living his own life as his father before him had been.

In devious ways General Marsh, John's grandfather, endeavors to force the boy to return to him. The general brings much sorrow into Jean's life through his arbitrary actions and his interference in the relationship between Jean and Toinette. Monsieur Dugas, the villain, and Le Bossu, Jean's best friend, prove to be very interesting and human characters. The love story is a pretty one, full of tragedy and tests of the depths of Jean's and Toinette's love for one another.

The scenes are set in New Orleans, with true French atmosphere and characters, in Book One on The Rue Bourbon, Book Two at Bayou Portage and Book Three at Boise Berard.

Jean is not what one would call a precocious youngster. We have in many cities newsboys who rise to be heads of large business enterprises, while Jean lives among the fishermen and trappers until ready for the opportunity to study and become a planter. Then he forges ahead in the business of his choice, as does our city newsboy, whose tale of success has always been of interest.

Defends Teachings and Career of Founder of Theosophical Society

Valiant defence of the career, personal character and teachings of Madame Blavatsky, founder of the Theosophical Society, was offered by Albert E. Smythe, of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian section of the society, in an address before the London lodge on Sunday evening.

Reference was made by the president of the London lodge, R. H. Cronyn, in introducing Mr. Smythe, to recent utterances of Bishop David Williams, head of the Anglican Diocese of Huron, who in his charge to the annual meeting of the Synod of Huron, referred to the founder of the theosophical movement as the "notorious Madame Blavatsky."

"The unity of life and the universal brotherhood of man, is the basis of theosophy," declared Mr. Smythe. "Love God, and love your neighbor as yourself—this is the religion of theosophy, this is the true religioon. Of course, there is also a science and philosophy behind theosophy, and theosophists do not progress very far before they come to realize the principle of universal causation in all nature and life.

"Theosophy also seeks to establish the underlying truth beneath all religions," said Mr. Smythe, who also declared that it had inspired great scientists and prompted many recent scientific discoveries. Among its members it claimed, or had claimed, Thomas Edison, Sir William Crookes and Sir Oliver Lodge.

Daughter of Royal Blood.

Madame Blavatsky was the daughter of a Russian nobleman of royal blood, who married an aged general on a wager, ran away from him, traveled extensively with her father, met an Indian mystic or master, at the London exhibition in 1851, on his advice sailed to Canada, landing at Quebec, penetrating into the Labrador wilderness, subsequently crossing Canada, and going to South America.

"Lines of occult force" are found very strong in Canada, and in fact throughout both of the Americas, the western hemisphere being geographically older than the so-called old world, said Mr. Smythe.

The Laurentian Mountains constitute the oldest mountain range in the world, according to geologists.

Returning to Europe, Madame Blavatsky actually fought in the Italian revolution, was reported killed, but really only wounded, recovered in hospital, but became thereafter, according to a relative, seemingly an entirely different person.

Returning a second time to America, she traveled steerage, having exchanged her first-class ticket for two steerage tickets in order to give one to a poor widow who had been sold a worthless ticket by a ticket fakir. She landed in New York in 1874, founded the Theosophical Society in 1875, and wrote "Isis Unveiled" in 1877.

Confuse Story of Career.

Those who seek to belittle her character, declared Mr. Smythe, never read her books, and maliciously confuse the story of her career with the lives of two other women named Blavatsky, one a circus rider and the other a music hall singer.

Reference was also made to forged letters for a time alleged to have been written by Madame Blavatsky, admitting that so-called miracles she had worked in India were faked. After even the Psychic Research Society had lent itself to assist in falsely defaming her, a handwriting expert of the imperal German court, proved that the letters alleged to have been obtained throuogh Christian missionaries in India, were absolute forgeries, declared the speaker.

"It is on this kind of evidence that the Bishop of Huron bases his statements,' said Mr. Smythe. "Madame Blavatsky's mission was to usher in a new phase of consciousness for humanity. Like the goldsmiths and silversmiths of Ephesus, the bishops and missionaries naturally cried out, 'Our crafts are in danger.'"

Mr. Smythe also claimed that the theories of Einstein were forevisioned by Madame Blavatsky in her book, "The Secret Doctrine."

URGES BOYS TO LIVE CLEAN LIVES

Rev. Denny Bright Preaches Inspiring Sermon To London Youths.

LIKENS MAN TO SHIP

Declares Human Full of Power Which Must Be Controlled.

In keeping with the fact that Sunday was the day of the "Boy and the Church" of the Boys' Week which was held throughout the city during the six days preceding, the evening sermon in St. Paul's Cathedral, preached by Rev. Denny Bright, was full of inspiration and guidance for young men and boys.

The sermon was taken from the text, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto."

"During the past week," Mr. Bright commenced, "men of the city have lent themselves to the task of aiding the boy to realize the importance of discovering how to be healthy, how to be happy, and how to be useful not only to himself but to his community and his country, and of offering him an opportunity to find for himself the answer.

Concerns One's Future.

"To ask the question, 'How shall I cleanse my way?' more properly means, 'How shall I clear my way?' and it is the more necessary to ask it of oneself since there are so many questions concerning the future which seem of so much more pressing and immediate importance, and modern life seems full of a decided tendency toward life which has no determined course, but one is rather tempted to follow the inclination of the moment.

The greatest need of a young man's life is keen realization of the importance of asking, "Have I any plan for a clean, noble, useful life, and any theory of life which I can put into practice? Youth still has the opportunity of molding life and determining its course. In youth life is still so much clay to be molded. A fearful ordeal awaits the boy who steps across the boundary of childhood to youth. Parental authority is relaxed, there is the increased tendency to yield to the manifold temptations which present themselves, insidious temptations which, fair of exterior, are yet revolting and poisonous when plumbed to their depths.

"Youth is like a splendid ocean liner, full of the power and energy to make its way, and yet bound to drift hopelessly without the guiding hand of the pilot. Youth must have its pilot, and conscience alone is not sufficient, for conscience serves only as an indicator for right and wrong, and of itself, has no power to aid youth in a world full of inducement to do wrong, full of wrong things, which seem right, and where to sin seems manifestly easier than to do right.

Must Be Controlled.

Men are creatures made for self-government, and like the ship must be controlled. "Stronger is he that ruleth his own spirit than he that taketh a city." And yet how inadequate, for the task of guarding and guiding ourselves is our own watchfulness. If we are to map out our future, and to determine our course, making it straight, noble, clean and pure, we must rely on the great Pilot for strength and guidance, looking backward for forgiveness and gazing steadily ahead for the power to keep faithfully on the straight course of life.

BOYS DOMINATE SERVICES IN ALL LONDON CHURCHES

As a fitting termination to Boys' Week in London for the year 1922, special services were held both morning and evening in early all the city churches, and in the majority of cases, the services were conducted by boys, for boys.

In some churches the sermons were about boys, while in others the boys preached themselves. There were boy choirs, boys took up the offertory, boys read the prayer services; in fact, in all the houses of worship in London on Sunday the spirit of the boy prevailed.

So, the Boys' Week was brought to a close, and on account of the special services on Sunday, the youth of our city were made to realize that the church-going should not be looked upon as a fad or a whim, but, on the contrary, a conscientious duty, and that spiritual education was worth far more to the boy than all the riches or the honors that this world could bestow on him.

Parents as well as boys came out of church on Sunday with a fuller understanding of the meaning of the word "boy," and of the responsibility which fell upon their shoulders as parents.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian, all the services were of a special nature for boys and young men. The Rev. F. W. K. Harris was the preacher at both the morning and evening services, taking as his subject in the morning, "And Jesus Increased in Wisdom and Stature, and in Favor with God and Man."

The Excelsior Young Men's Class conducted the entire evening service at Knox; boys sang in the choir, boys acted as ushers, and took up the offertory, and boys read the prayer service.

At New James also there were special services for the youth of the congregation.

Boys also officiated at Empress Avenue Methodist, at Wellington Street, and at Robinson Memorial churches.

At Maitland Street Baptist Church, Rev. A. T. Sowerby preached in the morning on "Give the Boys a Chance," a large percentage of the boy congregation being in attendance.

At many other churches, Sunday schools, and religious meetings also, the conclusion of Boys' Week was fittingly observed at both morning and evening services.

SHOWS ANTIQUITY OF COMMUNISM

Communism, according to Gregory Aristoff, who on Sunday morning addressed the Social Psychology Society in the Higgins block, is older than civilization. Primitive man practiced communism without understanding it. His natural instinct of preservation imposed it upon him.

Religious orders set apart from the world in monasterics practiced it. Why should it then be regarded as a terrible undertaking for sectarian society to attempt to establish it in the outside world? asked Mr. Aristoff.

He pointed out that there are two quite distinct schools of communism, anarchistic communism, aiming at independent decentralized communes, and state communism, which includes various schools of socialism.

The first Socialists called themselves Marxian communists.

Communism will not come all at once, declared the speaker, but little by little through political changes.

He did not understand communism as standing for the abolition of classes or institutions, but rather for the substitution of common ownership for private ownership in industry.

An interesting discussion on wide divergencies of religious belief, ancient and modern, was led by Frank Crockford, who pointed out how great a number and variety of teachings, all doubtlessly sincerely and earnestly held by their respective devotees, revolved around "the idea of God."

ADVISES BOYS TO OBSERVE SABBATH

Special observance of Boys' Week was made at the morning and evening services in Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church Sunday. In the morning the music was rendered by a boys' choir. The Adair Quartet, of father and sons assisted.

Rev. R. J. McCormick, pastor of the church, spoke on "The Blue Ribbon" in the morning. He strongly stressed the need for a strict observance of the Sabbath in his words.

At the evening service Lloyd Houlding, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A., spoke on "Manhood in the Making," urging the fourfold development of the youth of the land, physically, mentally, morally and socially.

Parents, he said, should be prepared to make great sacrifices that their sons might have able leadership and training.

The music in the evening was furnished by the church choir. E. Wilbur rendered a solo at this service.

STRESSES NEED FOR WELL-DOING

"With well-doing you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men," was the text of the sermon delivered at Cronyn Memorial Church on Sunday morning by Rev. Quintin Warner.

The minister in his opening remarks stated that a firmly established order is never threatened with disturbance, since by well-doing all foolish opposition is quelled, but any worthy organization earns its place through its ability to display wisdom and power.

"The Christian Church," continued the pastor, "was once regarded as ignorant and foolish, but it gained its position by well-doing, but now it is the established order in religion.

"In religion, evidence of force is more or less neglected or unemphasized, and those who take a negative attitude against the church cause this power to be brought forth. Any sect that gains a place in the minds of many must have within it some great truth. Those organizations which lack this may live for a time only on the foundation that they are supposedly truthful. There is nothing else that the multitude will submit itself to like the truth. It is not always fundamental, but where it claims devotion the underlying principle is the imminent truth."

The pastor pointed out that there were several ways by which the church could demonstrate its well-doing, and suggested that it show its power within itself, and claimed that this accounted for the place it has today, saying: "The church would have been useless if it had only shown the falsity of other gods, and had not shown life within itself. If Christian Science has done anything, it has drawn attention to something that has been unemphasized in a section of the Christian Church, and that is the power of Christianity to heal, but the attitude to take, regarding Christian Science, is to prove that the church is unchristian and unscientific, and there is only one answer to that church—by well-doing you put aside the ignorance of man.

"The church should welcome the emphasis placed on something that has been forgotten. Another way is to give credit for sincerity. Ignorance cannot live, no more than disease, in sunshine, if placed in the right surroundings. Honor and love are also necessary. There is nothing lost in honoring a person if there is love."

Rev. Mr. Warner suggested as a last solution that of "Fear God, honor the King," and said: "Fear God not with a dread, but with the sense of being afraid to undertake anything without his place in it."

INVOKES BOYS TO LEAD GOOD LIVES

Father McKeon Preaches Eloquent Sermon At St. Peter's Cathedral.

IMPRESS BY ACTIONS

Observe Sunday As Boys' Day in All City Catholic Churches.

Sunday, the concluding day of boys' week, was marked by a large turnout at the 8:30 and 9 o'clock masses in the Catholic churches of the city. The boys met and marched to the different churches in a body, receiving holy communion.

At each church a special appeal was made to the boys by the speaker of the day, the topic in nearly all cases being based on the day's epistle, one of St. Peter's letters to the Gentiles. The Romans were persecuting the Jews. Many Gentiles were suffering as well. St. Peter appealed to them to make their lives known by their actions.

As Monsignor McKeon told the boys at St. Peter's Cathedral, it was an appeal to the Gentiles to be good citizens, to live true Christian lives and this was his message to the boys.

There was a very large turnout of boys at the cathedral. St. Mary's was attended by about 70 and St. Michael's by about 100 boys. "There were also good showings made at St. Martin's and St. Patrick's Churches.

At St. Michael's, the mothers' unit of the parish, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Griffin, prepared breakfast for the boys in the basement of the church. The tables were nicely decorated with scout colors and presented quite a gay appearance.

Society Reorganized.

In the afternoon the Junior Holy Name Society was reorganized and the scouts of St. Mary's marched to St. Michael's to attend the reception of the new Holy Name members. The event was marked by a large turnout of north end lads.

Rev. Father Tierney delivered an instructive sermon scandal at the high mass at St. Michael's.

He was speaking on St. Peter's Epistle, with particular reference to the following excerpt: "Having your conversation good among the Gentiles, that whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may, by the good works which they shall behold in you, glorify God in the day of visitation."

The Jewish nation, he said, was in rebellion against the Romans, and the latter could hardly tell the Jews from the Gentiles. A realization of this brought about the epistle, explained the speaker. It was an appeal to put down sin, and Father Tierney declared: "Would to God that all Christians would put down sin. Would to God that all Christians would put down scandal."

The speaker said that it was his intention to deal with the sin of scandal, not scandal as it was generally understood, "the staple product of our conversation," but scandal as the church saw it.

Scandal he described as doing something that would lead another to sin, through word, deed or omission of deed.

Scandal, as generally accepted, related to tales told about others.

Scandal Went Further.

However, Father Tierney said that scandal as understood by the church, went further. Scandal existed often as a bad example that led another to sin. This was quite removed, he admitted, from the ordinary conception. It need not be a story that would become public. There need not be any particular stir about it. As an instance he pointed to the lazy father who lay in bed on Sunday morning nd did not go to church. This was a bad example. It was a sin of omission, an act of negligence.

The speaker here instanced the most terrible warning issued by Christ on earth to those who scandalized his little ones.

It might be contended that a person is not his brother's keeper. That if his brother follow his bad example, it is his own lookout. Father Tierney said that careless example which causes others to sin cannot be escaped. However unintentional, it may lead others astray. And this, he said, particularly applied to Catholics in the matters of religion. They were at a moral anchorage in the true faith that others had not. They possessed the fundamental notions of right thinking and right living while others, accepting this belief and then changing, did not possess.

There was a moral standard for Catholics to set, said the speaker, and they would be held responsible for it. He urged them to accept the advice of St. Peter to the Gentiles. Resolved not to give scandal and to put into practice the words of Christ, "Let your works shine before men" and "Glorify your Father who is in heaven."

Must Find Contact Between Christian Teaching and Industrial Practice

Addressing an appreciative audience at the Labor Forum on Sunday afternoon on the connection between "Religion and Industrial Economy," Ald. Henry B. Ashplant referred to the recent comments in the Toronto press respecting the remarks of Sir Auckland Geddes to the Pan-American Women's Congress at Washington, where the latter is reported as having laid stress on the menace to society at large, particularly in America, of "public ignorance of economic issues."

At the close of the councillor's address several questions were asked by members of the audience, to which the speaker replied, with evident satisfaction.

"Sir Auckland Geddes is right," Ald. Ashplant declared, "and I believe that in common with other prominent exponents of British public opinion, as Professor Keynes and Hartley Withers, he is quite sincere in his fears for the immediate future, if the menace of this gross ignorance of economic law is not overcome by more intelligent action based on clearer insight and more correct teaching.

"A survey of the world situation, and a careful study of our own local practice in mercantile economy, reveals colossal ignorance of the point of contact between Christian teaching and industrial practice. We see on all hands a gross infidelity on the part of those in control of our commercial organizations. The practice of these so-called leaders must be judged by its fruits, in accord with accepted Christian teaching; and its present day harvest is economic ruin in Europe and creeping paralysis in Canada and in the United States. Hopeless inefficiency is everywhere in evidence, and it is quite clear that our industrial economy is in the control of men who show clearly by their practice that they have no real faith in the power and economic efficiency of the teaching of Jesus to 'Seek first the principle of righteousness.'

"Instead of rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, we are being forced by our economic leaders to render unto Caesar more than belongs to him.

"To bring order out of chaos, it is as essential today as in the creation of the physical world to have light; we need the open book and the open vault. Christian teaching calls for a recognition of the principle of brotherhood, not servitude as an inferior class; and my personal experience in the industrial economy of both Europe and Canada is that practical infidelity is in control, and there is gross ignorance of the point of contact, for the application of the Christian teaching to the internal economy which determines the relations of those who combine in social activities to produce wealth in a Canadian industrial organization.

"We are not getting out as much as 50 per cent of the capacity of our industrial equipment, because of the reaction on that equipment of an infidel economy. The majority are kept in the dark by this anti-Christian policy, and only a tiny minority see the truth which all should have the same chance to see."

In reply to a query as to a remedy for the situation, Ald. Ashplant said: "We need to recognize more fully in the movement the religious character of the problem. I personally believe in the complete efficacy of the teaching of Jesus, and I think that we should demand that the sixty church organizationes in the city get on their proper job and make London famous for its righteousness. Let us demand the truth as it was in Jesus, and organize study classes to discover the point of contact."

IS PROBLEM FOR CHURCH, STATE

A special boys' service was held in First Congregational Church Sunday morning. Members of the Trail Rangers' organization were present, and four of the older boys, Will Reid, John Clarke, Charlton Reid and Edgar Kelly, assisted the pastor, Rev. M. Kelly, in the service.

The pastor chose as his text Rev. iii:12: "Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." His subject was the boys of the Bible, and he pointed out that a pillar has two qualities: (1) It was erect, (2) It was polished, and then he showed that these two qualities were revealed in the characters of the boys of the Bible.

He then referred to Boys' Week and the varied programs carried out during the week by the boys' work board of London. He commented favorably on the splendid work that was being accomplished by the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs in this city, who were acting the part of big brothers to about 80 under-privileged boys of the city.

The minister said that there must be about 900,000 boys in Canada, and the problem of the state and the church was the saving of these, our future citizens, and furthermore few men could help a boy to a good life without being made better themselves by so doing. The greatest need of the times was for fathers and mothers to assume their full responsibility in the rearing of their children, he said. The boys required precept, it is true, but what they needed most is example. We have just closed a week's campaign for better boyhood in London. We now need a better father campaign week, said the pastor.

WINDSOR, May 6. — Gordon Thompson, son of Chief of Police Daniel Thompson, was formally arraigned before Acting Magistrate Ellis in Windsor police court today on a charge of criminal negligence, arising out of the mishap Tuesday night when his automobile ran down three persons at London street and Crawford avenue. A plea of not guilty was entered, and at the request of Roscoe Rodd, counsel, a remand of eight days was granted without an election for trial being taken.

John H. Rodd, K.C., will defend the chief's son at the trial. The charge against Thompson was formally laid by Sergt. Brumpton at the request of the chief.

DOUBLE DROWNING FATALITY OCCURS

ARNPRIOR, May 7.—A double drowning fatality occurred here today when Edward Lesage, aged 22, and John Murray Pountney, 10, lost their lives in the Madawasca River at a camping site near this town.

They were sailing when their boat capsized. Irvine Pountney, an older brother of one of the victims, made an heroic attempt at rescue, but when he succeeded in struggling to shore with his brother, it was found that the little lad was dead. Lesage's body has not yet been recovered.

BOARD RATIFIES JOINT RESOLUTION

CLEVELAND, May 6.—The advisory board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers met here today with President Warren S. Stone and ratified the joint resolution adopted in Chicago, February 22 last, at a conference of representatives of union miners and railway unions for a closer alliance between miners and the sixteen standard railroad labor organizations.

'TEEN AGE TIME TO BUILD CHARACTER

The Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers of the Centennial Methodist Church took charge of the service Sunday evening. Three of the leaders in the activities or the boys in the church spoke on subjects pertaining to boys' work, which has grown to such splendid proportions in the city.

W. R. Tourney, member of the Centennial Tuxis Boys, spoke on the value of the training received by the Tuxis Boys to the community. He stated that the training of the boys followed the life of Jesus Christ, and referred to a verse in the lesson of the evening, St. Luke ii., 52, "Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man."

The verse, Mr. Tourney stated, was the aim of the Tuxis Boys' training. It had for its purpose the patterning of the boys after Jesus Christ in catering to their intellectual, physical, devotional and social betterment.

Mr. Tourney pointed out that the program of the Trail Rangers was along the same lines, with the work somewhat modified to meet the needs of the younger lads.

The boys, he pointed out, needed to develop a strong mind and a strong body. Unless these were developed they would not be the value to the community which they should be.

The speaker referred to the activities in the Tuxis and Trail Ranger groups, physical, mental, social and devotional. Each group sent a representative to the Boys' Council, from which was elected mayor and comptrollers to govern the various city groups.

The interest which was being shown in the boys' work was evidenced, the speaker pointed out, by the interest being taken by the businessmen in the boy life. It was recognized that the 'teen age was the best time for character building in an age which required sturdy manhood to negotiate the difficult hills of life.

Harry Boylan, leader of the Trail Rangers, spoke on the "Relationship Between the Boy and His Mother." He pointed out that mother means a great deal to her boy and and the boy to his mother. Many boys, he pointed out, failed to recognize just what their mother meant to them until she was taken away.

Speaking from the standpoint of the boys, he pointed out that mothers ofttimes are disappointed in their boys. She cannot seem to get them to do the things that she wants. There was no bad in the little boy, however. If it cropped out later it was because of "some saphead, who thought he was smart."

Wilmer Reed spoke as a boy on behalf of the boys. He told why the program was being followed and why there was need of co-operation of the adults.

The one thing that was most needed by Canada at this time above anything else was a fuller sense of brotherhood among the men of the Dominion, the speaker declared. The present was the greatest age the world had ever seen, but at the same time it was the worst age. The boys must be shown the right and wrong way. At the present time, he stated, the world appeared to be pleasure crazy. The boys must have their pleasure, but they must be taught that pleasure was not the object of life.

The C. S. E. T. program would make a four-sided man, the speaker declared, in closing. He appealed to both mothers and fathers for co-operation in the work which meant so much to the youth of Canada.

BIG NEED IS RACE OF BETTER MEN

In Robinson Memorial Church Sunday evening the minister, Rev. W. L. Hiles, preached on the subject, "Better Boys, Better Men." The text chosen was Isaah xiii., 12, "I will make a man more precious than fine gold." Mr. Hiles remarked that we are slowly, too slowly, coming to appreciate the words of that modern prophet, John Ruskin, who declared that the true veins of national wealth are purple—and not in rock but in flesh—and that the final outcome and consummation of all wealth is in the producing of as many as possible full-breathed, bright-eyed, and happy-hearted human creatures." The cry of our own land today and of the whole great groaning world is for a race of better men. But the boys of today are the men of tomorrow. And the only way to have a race of better men is to grow a race of better boys.

This business of growing better men is the greatest business in the world. "My Father worketh hitherto and I work," said Jesus. "And when Jesus was on earth His first interest was not in things but in men. He knew what was in men, and it was to seek every man who was living unworthily, and give him a chance to be his best that Jesus came to earth. But He has called us to be partners with Him in this great task. He calls us to follow Him and invest our life in lives.

What are we living for? So many of us just living for the toys of life. How much of pleasure can we have; how much of gold; how much of honor or of power? At the end of the day we will discover how empty such life is, and the life that is worth while is the life that has been invested most in other lives. Jesus had not much in a material way to show for the years he lived on earth, a cross and a borrowed tomb, but His is "a name above every name." He made His investment in human lives.

In the growing of better men we must take into account every phase of the life of the developing boy. Of Jesus it was said, "The child grew in wisdom and in stature and in favor with God and man." We should rejoice for the many agencies at work in these days to develop the physical, and mental and social life of the boys. But the hardest and most important task of all is to bring each boy into a living fellowship with God through Jesus Christ. "Only with best man, can man's best be reached and Jesus is best man." To introduce a boy to the society of Jesus and make him in a real way to love Jesus as his Saviour, brother, chum, is the most worth-while achievement of any man. But he who would accomplish so great a task must himself have a real passion for his Lord. For the only way to lead a boy to Christ is to be a man of Christ.

TALKS TO BOYS ON KIWANIS MOTTO

The members of the Kiwanis Club, with their sons, and a number of under-privileged boys, attended the morning service at the First Presbyterian Church in a body Sunday as a fitting close to Boys' Week.

The Kiwanians and boys entered the church from the rear, and were placed in seats reserved for them in the center aisle.

Rev. William Beattie, the pastor, preached a special sermon, taking as his subject, "Building," from the Kiwanis Club motto, "We Build."

He used as analogies the construction of Solomon's temple, speaking under the headings of place, material, preparation, building and time element, declaring "The material from the quarry of heredity is shaped in the workshop of environment, and it is here that the Kiwans "Daddy" and all that would influence the character of others, come in.

"The child's environment has a tendency to become a part of himself. This confirming us in the conviction that a child is not necessarily damned by its heredity," stated Rev. Mr. Beattie.

"Man is not the creature, but the architect of circumstances, if he will to labor with God in the building of his character. The materials found in the quarry of his heredity may be fashioned into a character noted for honesty and uprightness.

"In chiseling a stone the workman frequently comes upon resisting spots of hard material, but he doesn't on this account throw away the stone. So if in our work for others we find some tough spots that require the chisel of patience ask the great master builder for His counsel. Help for life is unmanageable without him."

In closing his sermon the pastor appealed to the boys present to remember four things—fight all that is evil, work hard, pray and read the Bible, and stand up for Jesus through everything.

Rev. Mr. Beattie made reference to the passing of C. B. McLean, one of the church's most valued members. "He was a man of high honor and strong integrity," stated the pastor.

Urges Boys' Growth Be Natural Without Fuss of Present Age

"Too fussy," was the term applied to the attitude of the modern parent with regard to the boy by Rev. W. R. McIntosh in his sermon at King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. Mr. McIntosh took for his topic, "Keep Off the Grass," and warned that the proper method of training Canadian youth is by example, and not continual lectures.

In his plea for better boyhood, the minister said: "Maybe we do too much for the boy. Boys grow as grass grows, pretty largely by leaving it alone. That is to say, other forces are at work besides what we call direct teachings.

"The sunshine and showers produce grass and what we do is keep off and give them a chance. In the case of boys who are growing it is a great deal the same." He then pointed out that teaching is far better than commanding boys.

"We forget that it is indirect things that make character," Mr. McIntosh informed his congregation. "There is the atmosphere where the boy gets among nature and her work, which makes an appeal to his feelings. Then there is food of the intellectual type. Books, newspapers, lectures are feeding the boys in addition to what we do by direct teaching.

"Light means leadership, which a boy receives from his parents, his teachers, his mentors, ministers and public men and women, and particularly what he sees in Jesus Christ."

Continuing, Mr. McIntosh asserted that the boy obtains a vision by example in his daily environment at home, on the street, or in school.

"Exercise is also necessary," he said, "the boy obtains it in self expression lessons from day to day. The thing for us to do is not to lecture him but give him work to do that will develop his character and efficiency. That is the four-fold training to give boys and girls today to encourage the development of their best qualities.

"Most people overdo the so-called lecturing and talking to boys, forgetting that boys grow like grass by giving them their actual places and protecting them from evil influence.

"I think we have been too fussy," concluded the minister, "with too many features and airs for boys. Let nature do the developing instead of getting him away from school so many times, for these boy features, as has been the practice."

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

"How much is sparrow-grass this morning?"

That was the most popular question at the week-end market Saturday.

"Sparrow-grass," according to the vernacular and prevailing pronunciation, was in for the first time for Sunday dinner. It was there in quantities, and, considering all things, fairly reasonable, two bunches for twenty-five cents.

The first cutting took place on Thursday, so far as could be learned. In any case, Thursday was dedbut day in grocery stores and fruit shops, and market gardeners were authority for the statement.

"Couldn't I grow asparagus in my own back yard?" asked the persistent marketer.

"Certainly," replied the gardener, as he handed her back seventy-five cents change out of a dollar. "Once you get an asparagus bed properly started, it is good for forty years."

"Easy as all that?" queried Aunt Maria. "I'm going to start an asparagus bed right away and retire from hard work.

You can't retire for a few years on an asparagus bed," said the gardener. "You see, you shouldn't start cutting it for three years. Then, you should stop cutting about the end of June or the beginning of July, otherwise, you will spoil the roots. Like everything else, asparagus roots need rest and time to recuperate, after too severe a strain of work.

"How do you start a bed? Get the seed and sow it early in the spring in good rich soil, putting about six or eight inches in the ground. Of course, you must see that the ground is properly fertilized before you put the plants in. After that asparagus will take care of itself."

Thirty-five or forty years of early "sparrow-grass," straight from the garden, with no weary annual recurrence of bed-making! Truly there are things in the world that make life worth living.

Lots of "Salad-Sass."

Wonderful what a difference a few weeks make.

Aunt Maria was back after an absence of three weeks from the Saturday market—visiting in a far-away market one Saturday, fighting flu germs the next. In that time, the old Covent Garden Square had thrown off its winter habits and put on its gayest spring-summer garb of flowers, plants nicely started for gardens, and appetizing piles of "salad-sass."

Crisp, bunchy lettuce was "ten cents each, three for a quarter"; radishes, two for fifteen cents; water cress, fifteen cents for two bunches (if you would pay it), five cents a bunch otherwise. And the cress, it was whispered in one case, came straight from a clear, gushing spring.

"But, is there danger of weeds with the cress grown outdoors wild?" asked a purchaser.

The ingenuous answer given was, "It is said if weeds grow near cress, the cress will have a taste of the weeds, just as rhubarb will."

Gone are the delicate, slender, smooth stalks of the hothouse and grown-in-the-cellar rhubarb of winter and early spring. Replacing them are sturdy, husky, outdoor Canadian bundles.

How much?

That depends. One place they were two for a quarter, another, three for a quarter, still another, two for fifteen cents. One woman asked seven cents a bunch for nice, rosy rhubarb, and, before leaving, Aunt Maria heard an offer of three bunches for ten cents. There you are. You pay your money and you take your choice.

Fresh garden onions were five cents a bunch—and what is nicer than onion tops to add to the soup?

Not a particle of waste. But onions of the sedate, grown-up variety held their own at twenty-five cents a quart on the market, while now the precious "weepers" are putting themselves in the "by the pound" class in grocery stores and butcher shops.

Berries, Forty Cents.

Strawberries added a festive touch in many stalls. In one, the boxes were so full they had been pressed flat on one side. The vendor wanted forty cents for these, thirty-five for the scantier boxes (alleged quarts).

But, why more for the berries flattened on top?

"So many more in the box and better quality," he replied, "the top layer will be fine for strawberry short cake."

At forty cents a box, however, people who will buy them usually prefer them "straight." The explanation given of so many strawberries in sight Saturday was the arrival of a whole carload from the south.

Potatoes may have looked stuffy and uninteresting in such an environment, but they are good old reliables, as every consumer knows, and the price was still holding at $1.50 a bag.

When a farmer offers to let you pick out the most disreputable and suspicious looking potato in sight in his collection and himself suggests he will cut it in two to prove it is white and sound to the heart, you may depend upon it that the bag is worth a dollar and a half. But, take him at his word, see, for yourself, then pay your precious coin and trust that chance has played you no pranks.

My, what industrious hens live in London district! Baskets upon baskets upon baskets packed solid with eggs, every last one of them laid in the past week. And the prices ranged from twenty-six to thirty-five cents a dozen.

Lots of butter, too, priced thirty-eight to forty-five cents, with emphasis on forty and forty-two.

There were "chickens," a few of them, one at least frankly over a year old. They sold by the price, not by the weight, anything from $1.75 to $2.50. Now, why, prithee tell me why should people look as if you were adding insult to injury when you ask them the weight of poultry they are offering for sale?

Finds Baby Rabbits.

A few weeks ago a little London girl took a box to market with ventilation holes punched in the top to be the nest for a nice-sized child rabbit she wanted for Easter. But no bunny answering the description could she find.

Had she only known it, Saturday was the time and the place. But there was no girl, that is, not the little girl of the story. There were any number of other little girls, however, and little boys, too, not to mention big ones, who exclaimed and chuckled with delight over a box of cudly wee rabbits, soft furry things with their eyes still closed, scarcely old enough to wiggle their ears and wiggle their noses. There were mites of Belgian Hares, and, snuggling up beside them, shiny black Siberian hares. They were 25 cents a piece, so their young master said.

Out in the market square an older and less dependent Belgian hare was discovered that would just fit that Easter box. And the price asked was only 15 cents, though Master Belgian had acquired the gentle art of feeding himself and otherwise looking after his own welfare.

"Hunting for things for my garden," seemed to be a universal game, whether things hunted for were little parcels of perennial roots, two for a quarter; boxes well started of asters at 35 cents and 40 cents a box, containing a dozen and a half plants; tomato plants at 40 cents to 60 cents; salvia, pinks, sweet william, rose bushes, 15 cents each; raspberry bushes in packages of a dozen or twenty-five.

If you don't see what you want, ask for it on the week-end market, and chances are someone will direct you to it.

Will Archery Revive?

For the first time this year, at least, "The Song of the Bow" was heard in Covent Garden Square. It was the genuine, old-time bow and arrow of William Tell, Robin Hood, of the days when England truly was merrie, and before Indians took to shotguns.

"The Song of the Bow" was sung in this case by an intelligent young Indian from Muncey, who drew attention to the whiteness, suppleness of the bow, its steel-like firmness, the beauty of the finish, all made by hand from hickory wood. Where the boys were concerned he didn't even need a musical voice to sing his song, or enchanting flute or fiddle to aid. The Pied Piper faded into insignificance before his hypnotic power when he held up an arrow nad obligingly showed how to draw a bow without actually letting it go.

A woman looking on sighed: "I remember," she said, "when archery was all the vogue in London. It was such a graceful exercise for lawn fetes and garden parties. I wonder it has never been revived." And all the time an angel youngster was critically examing a bow and arrow. He looked like Dan Cupid, but he sounded too modern and sophisticated when he casually remarked: "Not too bad at all, but why didn't you have feathers on the ends of the bows to finish them up?"

Personals

A large number of Londoners motored to the Caledon Club Friday to attend the opening for the season.

A merry party gathered at the station Friday evening to bid Miss Cassie Jeffrey and Miss Alice Brown bon voyage when they left on a holiday trip abroad, showering them with last-minute traveling gifts. They are sailing from Montreal for Glasgow on the Anchor-Donaldson line. Miss Brown intends returning at the end of three months, Miss Jeffrey looking forward to at least a year abroad.

Much to the regret of their old friends in London, as well as the many they have made during their residence here, Major-General H. A. Panet and Mrs. Panet are leaving the city sooner than had been at first expected. They leave the barracks the 27th of May for Toronto, where General Panet has been transferred as O. C. of No. 2 military district. Owing to the fact that living quarters are not provided there as at Wolseley Barracks, Mrs. Panet has been in Toronto during the past week house-hunting. For the present they will take up their residence in Alexandra Apartments.

Mrs. Howard Higgins was the hostess Saturday afternoon of a delightful bridge and tea given at her home in Dundas street in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of the Lord Elgin Chapter, I. O. D. E., of which she is the regent. The rooms were effectively decorated with spring flowers, red and yellow tulips decked the tea table, where Mrs. Fred. White presided, and pink roses, tastefully arranged, were used in the living rooms. Among the guests dropping in at the tea hour were Mrs. C. T. Campbell, first vice-regent of the chapter; Mrs. E. B. Smith, regent of the Municipal Chapter; Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. J. S. Niven. Assisting in the tea room were Miss Eleanor Higgins, daughter of the hostess, and Misses Olga Millar and Ruth and Marjorie White.

PHYLLIS ASKS FOR HELP.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am writing to you again to see if through your kind Mail-Box I could get some assistance, as my husband has had only six weeks work this winter, and we have had such a lot of sickness that we are in need of clothes. My little boy has had his tonsils removed, and that is a lot of extra expense. I cannot work at present, as the little boy requires all my attention. PHYLLIS.

I published your last letter asking for help, but will put this one in, as apparently you have not received any assistance. I am sorry to hear you are in poor circumstances again, as things were starting to look bright for you, were they not?

"Deal with that when it comes up. Frankly, don't believe it ever will. Don't mean to give Linda any reason I can avoid."

"What you mean is, you really love—!"

"I mean," he cut in sharply, "whatever my shortcomings, I respect Linda, I won't hurt her if I can help it."

"How charming of you!"

For all acknowledgment she received a silent inclination of his head; and she began to laugh dangerously, the heat in her cheeks shaming their rouge.

"Well, I'm glad I've come to understand you before we went any farther!"

"Amen to that."

"And so all your love-making has been simply—"

"The same as yours, Amy."

"Then why did you ever make love to me at all, please?"

"Because you let me see you wanted me to."

The brutal truth of that lifted the woman to her feet. "I don't think I care for any more luncheon," she said in a shaking voice. "If you don't mind . . ."

Bellamy rose, bowing from his place. "Not at all."

He offered to help with her fur, but she wouldn't have that, threw the garment over her arm and flung round the table, then checked and looked back. "You understand—this ends it—for all time?"

"I couldn't do you the injustice of thinking anything else."

She made a tempestuous exit through the curtains.

Bellamy consulted his watch. Just on two; Linda's luncheon party would be in full swing. He had nothing better to do, might as well look in at the Ritz. Linda would like it . . .

V.

TO the luncheon-hour mob that milled in the foyer of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Lucinda Druce presented the poise of a pretty woman who has never known care more galling than uncertainty as to her most becoming adornment.

"But I never dreamed you three knew one another!" she was exclaiming in the surprise of finding Fanny Lontaine with those whom she had bidden to meet her. "Fanny, why didn't you tell me—?"

"But I didn't know—your Nelly Guest was Ellen Field married."

"That's so; I'd completely forgotten you both come from Chicago."

"Hush!" Nelly Guest gave a stage hiss. "Someone might hear. And all these years I've tried so hard to live it down! It's not fair . ."

Six years married, Fanny retained, and would till the end, whatever life might hold in store for her, a look of wondering and eager youthfulness. Romance trembled veritably upon her lashes. She had a way of holding her lips slightly apart and looking steadily at one when spoken to, as if nothing more interesting had ever been heard by the ears ambushed in her bobbed, ashen hair. Her eyes of a deep violet shade held an innocence of expression little less than disconcerting. Her body seemed never to have outgrown its adolescence, yet its slightness was quite without any angularity or awkwardness, it achieved roundness without plumpness, a stroke of physical genius.

"It's heavenly," she now declared, coolly staring at their neighbors—"simply divine to be home."

Fanny launched into a startling detailed account of London's latest fad in "treatments," and Lucinda's thoughts turned back to her other self.

How to go on, how to play out this farce of a life with Bel when faith in him was dead?

Strange that faith should have been shattered finally by such a minor accident as her overhearing that morning's treachery.

Her cheeks kindled with indignation—and blazed still more warmly when she discovered that she had been staring squarely at Richard Daubeney, who was lunching with friends at a nearby table.

But Dobbin bowed and smiled in such a way that Lucinda's confusion and her sense of grievance were drowned under a wave of gratitude. She nodded brightly.

Good old Dobbin! She had never appreciated how much she was missing him till he had turned up again last night and offered to take his old place in her life.

What a pity!

But was it? Would she have been happier married to Dobbin? Was it reasonable to assume that Dobbin would not have developed in the forcing atmosphere of matrimony traits quite as difficult to deal with as Bel's?

Fanny caught Lucinda eyeing her and smiled.

"What under the sun are you thinking about so solemnly, Cindy?"

"You, dear. I want you and your husband to dine with us—say next Thursday?"

"I don't know. That's one of the exciting things about being married to Harry Lontaine, one never knows what tomorrow will bring forth. We've got to go to Chicago soon, because father relented enough to leave me a little legacy, nothing to brag about, but nothing people in our position can afford to despise, either."

"I do want to meet your husband."

"You will, soon enough. He's lunching some men down in the grill, a business luncheon, cinema people."

"He's interested in the motion-picture business, then?"

"In a way. He has secured options on the rights to some Swedish productions."

Lucinda turned round to the waiter. "You may bring coffee to us in the palm room."

VI.

FANNY'S husband came in shortly after Lucinda and her guests had settled down to coffee in the palm room.

Tall and well made, Lontaine had the good color of men who care enough for their bodies to keep them clean of the rust that comes of indoor stodging. The plump and closely-razored face seems perhaps a shade oversize for features delicately formed. He affected a niggardly moustache, and when he spoke full lips framed his words noticeably. His habit was that of a man at ease in any company, who sets a good value on himself and confidently looks for its general acceptance.

"WHY, HELLO, LINDA. WHAT'S THE HURRY?"

He talked well, with assurance, some humor, and a fair amount of information. He had pottered a bit with the cinema at home and he might jog out to Los Angeles and see what was to be seen in that capital of the world's motion-picture industry. England, he didn't mind admitting, had a goodish bit to learn in the cinema line. If you asked Lontaine, it was his considered belief that the really top-hole productions of the future would come of combining brilliance of photography and investiture with European thoroughness in acting and direction.

This forecast was uttered with an authority that impressed even Lucinda, elaborately uninterested as she was. She had maintained a half-smile of amiable attention which would have deceived a sharper man, and let her thoughts drift on dreary tides of discontent.

Hour by hour the conviction was striking its roots more deeply into her comprehension that life with Bel on the present terms was unthinkable.

Tears started to her eyes, she jumped up hastily lest her friends should see, mumbled an excuse, and made her way out to the foyer, turning toward the women's cloakroom.

The foyer was still fairly thronged; she was almost in Bel's arms before she saw him, so near to him that she caught, as she started back, a heavy whiff of breath whiskey-flavored.

She heard him say: "Why, hello, Linda! what's the hurry?" and cut in instantly with a gasp of indignation: "What are you doing here?"

Colored Lace Frocks For Evening

BUY yourself a new lace frock. It's the season's uniform for evening. Are you against the idea? Wear the dress anyway. Choose it in a style that Mrs. Smith can't possibly wear, in a color that makes Mrs. Jones look at least ten years older.

Chantilly, Bohemian, Spanish, cire and eyelet are some of the laces you may choose. Most of them are sheer and silken—some are wool, which proves one never can tell.

If you prefer black it will be given to you, but you'll hardly be feminine if you don't succumb to the golden and lemon yellows, the sapphires, the jade, watermelon and periwinkle shades.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE TWO KINGS

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

When King Indig saw King Verdo, he scowled.

BACK over the seven valleys flew Nancy and Nick and the dove, the magic Green Shoes making better time than the fastest express. After them came King Verdo, who had made a sail of his long beard.

Princess Therma, who had been watching from the tower of her Castle of Mirrors, saw them coming, and made a signal to the furious falcon who guarded the gate of King Indig's palace.

For the first time in a thousand years, the furious falcon forsook his post and flew to a tree near her window.

"The falcon's gone—the falcon's gone!" cried the people, and instantly there was a chase to catch the ancient bird. The falcon, with his steel feathers all sharply barbed, had been King Indig's only army.

"Quick! Catch him!" called King Indig, forgetting all about playing hopscotch and joining in the chase himself.

Everybody ran and by and by they came to the park where they found the falcon resting outside Princess Therma's window.

But before anyone had time to climb the tree there was a noise in the air and Nancy, Nick and the dove arrived, followed in a moment by King Verdo, who looked like a flying machine.

When King Indig saw King Verdo he scowled, and when King Verdo saw King Indig he frowned. My, how those two hated each other!

Princess Therma looked at them both and shuddered. Then she stroked the white dove which had flown to her window-sill,

"Oh, I can't marry either of them," she sighed. "They are both so ugly."

Suddenly the falcon cried out, "Silence everybody! It is now to be decided which of these two gentlemen is the finer looking. Longhead the Wiseman has decided, and his words are on a record which the Twins brought here where all can hear."

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphus for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Advt.

They consist of nickel-plated steel grids. The positive plates have round tubes which contain nickel ovide as the active material. The negative plates have thin rectangular pockets, hydraulically pressed, perforated and corrugated, containing iron in a very finely divided state.

The electrolyte for these batteries is a 21 per cent solution of potassium hydrate mixed with a small amount of lithium hydrate. The cells are contained in a steel can, which is electrically welded together. They are connected to form a battery by means of copper connectors.

How It Works.

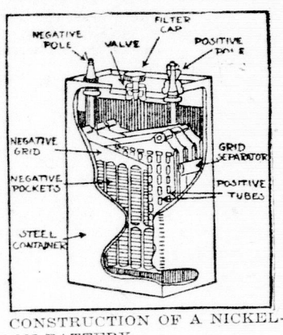
During the charge of the battery the oxygen is transferred from the iron to the nickel electrodes. During the discharge the oxygen is returned.

In the case of the lead cell one uses a hydrometer to measure the specific gravity of the fluid. But the specific gravity of the electrolyte in the nickel-iron cell never changes. Therefore the only way to measure its state of charge is by using an ampere-hour meter.

This type of battery is very durable and will stand a considerable strain. The full charge of such a battery is usually 1.2 volts per cell. It should be recharged when the voltage drops below .9 per cell.

The charge voltage of a lead cell is 2.08 volts. It should never be discharged below 1.8 volts.

Never permit a battery to be over-



CONSTRUCTION OF A NICKEL-IRON BATTERY.

charged nor drop below its normal discharge.

Care of Battery.

A well-kept battery will last for years if given proper care. The best way to treat it is to keep it working. Discharge and recharge it often, for if it is kept idle its strength and durability will become weakened.

But never charge or discharge it too rapidly. About the worst thing that one can do to a battery is to have a wire on each terminal and then touch, or almost touch, the ends together to see the spark. Some dealers do this to show the purchaser that the battery is O. K. But it is a poor practice.

Always keep the level of the electrolyte ½ an inch above the plates. Keep flames of all kinds, at all times, away from the battery. Keep all terminals and connections tight and free from corrosion. Keep the battery clean and dry and do not allow any impurities to get into it.

The Radio Editor: What is the best material to use in the construction of a coil in making a crystal set?—W. E. H., Parkhill.

Answer: Cardboard is preferable. Wood or a non-metallic substance can be used.

"Don'ts" for Radio Fans

1. Don't try to experiment with your receiver during a lightning storm.
2. Don't fail to throw your lightning switch to the outside ground when not receiving.
3. Don't fool around outside wires that you know nothing about.
4. Don't think that any wire is dead—those are the kind that carry the deadliest current.
5. Don't let your antenna wire touch any other wire.
6. Don't let your antenna cross under or over any electric light or power wire carrying a current of more than 600 volts.
7. Don't ever experiment with an electrical carrier unless you are absolutely certain of what you are doing.
8. Don't get too curious—leave well enough alone.
9. Don't forget that no loss of life or property would ever be sustained if the ordinary precautions were taken.
10. Don't think that there is any danger of installing or operating either a receiving or transmitting set. There isn't if you remember these "Don'ts" and do not violate them.

IMPERIAL OIL, LIMITED

IMPERIAL OIL BUILDING

TORONTO, ONT.

G. H. SMITH
VICE PRESIDENT

January 13th, 1922.

The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association,
Excelsior Life Building,
Toronto.

Gentlemen:-

We have been regular users of advertising space in most of the important newspapers in Canada for several years, because we recognize the fact that such advertising is a most effective and economical way to reach the millions of users of Imperial Oil products throughout Canada from Halifax to Vancouver.

We manufacture and market in Canada, a wide and diversified line of petroleum products. Imperial Polarine Motor Oils and Imperial Premier Gasoline are extensively sold to motorists, but we have, besides, lubricants for factory and farm purposes, household specialties and many other lines. There is scarcely a farm, a factory or a home in Canada in which or on which many Imperial products are not used throughout the year. Our market is as broad as Canada, and while we use other good mediums regularly, it is probably very logical for us to rely on Canadian newspapers to form the backbone of our advertising campaigns for many of our lines.

It is, of course, difficult for any firm with an organization like our own, embracing sales and distribution branches in all of the larger centres and with thousands of dealers, to trace results directly to any particular advertisement or any particular advertising campaign, but, while we believe that Imperial Oil products are used mainly because of their quality and because of the satisfactory service which goes with them, we do not hesitate to say that advertising in Canadian newspapers has played an important part in increasing and maintaining the demand for Imperial Oil products.

Yours very truly,

IMPERIAL OIL, LIMITED.
G. H. Smith
Vice President.

Why speak to the few when you can reach the millions and pay less for the privilege? Imperial Oil's market is as broad as Canada and the company has reached it successfully through the only logical channels—the daily newspapers, which carry a sales message to every boundary, every day, reaching farm, factory and home.

ZINN BLANKS BEAVERS 6--0 IN REVENGE HUNT

(BY C. S. G.)

Our new Mister Zinn was chosen by Buzz on Saturday to take the role a Sicilian gentleman looking for his second cousin's uncle who had once mstrung the family goat, the object, a dreadful vengeance on the visiting avers for their uncalled-for humiliation of the Tecumsehs on Friday last. nn combined the dispatch of the Mafia with the sureness and silence of the mbers of the Silken Cord Tong, and when the rain and game was over, d the Beavers lying in orderly rows and the count 6-0.

Rain halted the performance two-thirds of the way through the 6th ning after the Londoners had scored three runs and with Malmquest ddled on second base, Fisher about to bat. These three counters had me off Glynn's delivery, he having relieved O'Connell, who hadn't been guilty any greater crime than allowing a hit in each of the last four frames, hich were turned into runs on only two occasions. For this, however, Connell was sent to the showers. Glynn, for his very weak performance, dn't get any wetter than the rest of the athletes when the heavenly show- s were turned on the whole proceedings. After a 25-minute wait, the cas was started again, and Fisher got a delayed single off his chest and ored Malmquest with the fourth run of the chapter and sixth and last the game.

Played Into Hearts.

Defensively and offensively, the new- ners played their way into the hearts the fans. True, they made three splays, even with the Beavers on s score, but they did perform so ll elsewhere that these didn't count the criticism of the scoring.

Brown put the first big noise into proceedings when he tripled to in the third and was brought home Malmquest's sacrifice fly to center d. In the fifth again Malmquest was iked, went to second on a wild pitch, d was brought home by Fisher's gle center, for the second tally the affair.

While they had been nibbling at Connell, Tex Irwin unwittingly pro- ed a lunch when he introduced Glynn start the sixth. A walk, a sacrifice, ee successive singles, an error and stolen base was the meal the gang ffed away before the rain came to sh it down.

Splendid Support.

On the defensive end Zinn was given pport with no inlaid ivory trim- ngs. Brown, who hadn't much to on Friday, handled nine chances thout a slip-up, and when the ball s wet enough to provide fairish his, too, and got some wicked heaves d pegs across the diamond that had ck Boyle feeling for footholds on slippery loam around first sack.

One wild heave and six free passes re the only muddy tracks on Zinn's eet when the game was over. Third se was as unmolested by the Beavers Spitzbergeners by mosquitoes in cember, and only two were permitted get the view from that vantage nt.

Zinn had his foot half-way in a par- ularly muddy hole in the third, with Connell on third base and Roche wn at second, which he had pil- red. There were two gone. Regan, tting, grabbed one and wrote right ld on it. It was sailing per direc- ns, when Malmquest, running in to- rds first, leaped high in the air, and e ball was struck in transit. It was pretty piece of fielding, the nicest the two games so far.

VEAN GREGG.

AMERICAN League may have its Babe Ruth as a drawing attraction, but the Pacific Coast League isn't jealous. It has Vean Gregg, elongated left-hander, who made history while with Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox. Gregg, after three years' voluntary retirement from professional baseball, is essaying a comeback under an early tutor, Walter McCredie, of the Seattle club.

Thus far Gregg has sustained all advance notices. His pitching has been of a high order, wild streaks few, and his old curves still piling up strikeouts in emergencies.

GALT TERRIER O. B. A. NINE HANDS WOODSTOCK DEFEAT

GALT, May 6.—The baseball season was officially opened here Saturday, when the Terriers gave the Woodstock Senior O. A. B. A. nine a real trouncing, 16 to 1 in an exhibition match. A good crowd was on hand, and all of the Terriers of last year who gave the Guelph Leafs such a royal battle were on hand. On the coach lines appeared Bob McWhirter, the well known Toronto coach last year with Oslers Toronto finalists, who has been engaged to handle the Galt team. He handled the local team and injected a lot of pep into their play, and under his direction this did some nice work on the paths. He does not officially take charge until Monday.

SAINTS STOP WIN STREAK OF VEHICS

Bad Start of Flint Hurler in First Frame Did Damage.

FLINT, May 7.—Flint lost the final game of the series to Port Huron here today by 6 to 3. One bad inning, the first, did it.

Two passes and a wild pitch by McCaffery, Young's error and Lyon's home run with two on netted four runs. McCaffery added only one run thereafter, the other coming off Churlow, who had relieved in the ninth. Horne pitched tight ball all the way for the visitors.

A bombardment of cushions and pop bottles, directed at Umpire Hines, stopped play for five minutes in the ninth, when he called Worley safe at the plate, though the runner was blocked off by three feet by James.

First Player Hitting Into Matrimony To Get $15 Bouquet.

WOODSTOCK, May 7.—The fans of this city take a great interest in the city baseball league, and special prizes have been offered to the players making anything from the first home run to an error, and unique premiums have been offered. A local florist, however, came across on Saturday with an announcement that will hold the other donators for a while. This offer has set the fanettes in the city buzzing, and there promises season gets far advanced. The offer made is a $15 bride's bouquet to the first player in the league who makes a fielding average of 1,000 in "catching" a bride and getting into the matrimonial lineup during the playing season.

OLD JESS BARNES ALLOWS NO HITS

One Walk Mars Perfect Game For Veteran Against Phillies.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Jesse Barnes, veteran pitcher of the New York Nationals, almost duplicated the perfect game pitched by Charles Robertson of the Chicago Americans just a week ago, when he pitched a hitless game today against the Philadelphia team, the Giants winning 6 to 0. Only one base on balls marred Barnes' great performance, Williams being the recipient of the pass at the start of the fifth inning. Only twenty-seven men faced Barnes, as in Robertson's game of a week ago. J. Smith, a Philadelphia coach, asked for the ball with which Barnes had been pitching, at the end of Philadelphia's half of the seventh inning. He showed Umpire Hart where there were several cuts in the ball, and Hart threw it out.

VEHICS KEEP UP STREAK.

FLINT, May 6.—Flint kept up her winning streak in the M.-O. League by beating Port Huron for the third straight time today, 10 to 5. Stout batting and strong pitching by Lefty Geigert in the pinches turned the trick, the fielding being wobbly, due to a heavy rain before game time. Lyons cut off three runs for Flint by sensational fielding. The Port Huron centre fielder went to the back fence on two occasions to spear drives one handed. Brown led the batters with four out of five, while Rooney's double and triple accounted for four runs. The score:

OXFORD RIFLES LOSE TO VETS 1—0

WOODSTOCK, May 7.—The Oxford Rifles team lost to the G. W. V. A. team Saturday afternoon in a city league fixture by score of 1—0, Tom Fleming kicking the winner counter in the first half.

The Rifles went on the field two or three men short, and claimed they were only playing an exhibition. However, the soldiers looked on it as a league fixture. The league executive will deal with the matter. If they decide that it was a regular fixture the win will give the G. W. V. A. the championship and possession of the Dunlop trophy.

As may have been generally hoped, but hardly expected, the Grand Trunk Senior Wasps turned the tide of defeat on the W. O. R.s and claimed victory by a score of 3 to 1, Saturday at Carling Heights.

The Trunks showed superior class and combination to what they had hitherto displayed at any former event, and their win was well earned. W. O. R.s had been conceded the district edge, and it make Trunks' win all the more creditable.

The play in the opening period was considerably slowed by the strong north wind which was effective in breaking up the combination, and which caused a large number of throw-ins. The regiment team had the better of the play at the start, and got three corners in succession on the Wasps, but without result. The Trunks broke away soon after and missed a chance to score, Fuller making a good stop. Although it rained, the ardor of the players was not dampened any, and after a lively struggle the Whiteshirts got their only tally at the end of the period, the ball oozing into the Wasp's goal from a scrimmage.

The breathing spell lasted long enough for the teams to change ends. The trunks set the pace and Hazelwood made some brilliant drives at the posts. W. O. R.s, however, forced the play and nearly got one, the ball hitting the bar. Knowles was kept busy for a spell until the Wasps got their combination into effect and brought the battle into the Whiteshirts' goal area. Noble awarded Trunks a penalty off Dennis, who claimed that the ball did not touch him. Hazelwood took the shot and drove the leather past Fuller, which touched his left hand in its course, but was too stiff to stop. The score even, the Wasps gained spirit and made repeated attacks on the regiment team. Things came to a climax for the W. O. R.s when Ince, their captain, struck Lownie a hot one square on the chops, for supposedly stepping on his heels. Lownie is the oldest footballer in the city, and his tactics have always been clean. The attack appears to be founded on the referee's penalty decision more than any dirty work on Lownie's part. Ince displayed poor sportsmanship, and the cause for his assault from the spectator's viewpoint was unfounded.

Noble put Ince on the sideline for his conduct, and it proved that he was forced to see his team f

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, May 7.—A slick operator is reported to be at work on the London road this week, with the assistance of an American police badge, and is being hunted by Provincial Constable Atkins today.

This man's method is to hold up motorists, flash his badge, and thereupon search the car, presumably for liquor. Several complaints have been made to the police, but in no case has any money been asked for, according to the report. This nature of fraud became fairly common last summer, the masquerader usually asking for a penalty for alleged speeding. Police state that in connection with the present hold-up liquor is apparently the object of the search.

CONDEMNS ACTION OF LABOR LEADERS

Annual Conference Will Protest Members Holding Privy Councillorships.

RESIGN OR LEAVE PARTY

Declares Coalition and Labor Parties Have Brotherly Bond For Wiping Out Liberalism.

LONDON, England, May 7.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The labor party's annual conference will be occupied with resolutions from all parts of the country condemning the labor leaders for holding privy councillorships. All the resolutions are very similar, demanding that the leaders either resign their councillorships or clear out of the party. There are six laborites against whom this attack is leveled, namely: William Henderson, M.P.; J. R. Clynes, M.P.; J. H. Thomas, M.P.; W. Adamson, M. P.; J. Hodge, M.P., and Thomas Richards, former member for Ebbe Vale. G. N. Barnes, M.P.; C. W. Bowerman, M.P., and William Brace, former members for the Abertilly division of Monmouth, are also privy councillors, but they are not now members of the labor party.

Some time back, J. H. Thomas won a libel action against the Communists, his privy councillorships forming a particular matter of discussion. The Communist allegation was that Thomas could not honestly advise the King and labor party at the same time. Mr. Thomas asserts that the present attack is being engineered by the Communists as a kind of return for his success in the courts of law.

The Liberal Magazine, the semi-official organ of Independent Liberalism, declares that the coalition and the labor parties have a brotherly bond for wiping out Liberalism.

"We will fight the Laborites whenever they oppose us in a constituency where we think we have a reasonable chance of winning," says the publication. "We dislike the fundamentals whereon their party is based, and despite an agreement on some primary and important questions we disagree with them on many particulars, but we do not regard the labor party as insidious, corrosive and a danger to society. The peril wherein the nation stands is the threat of the reactionary caucus."

SENIOR PARTNER OF J. P. MORGAN COMPANY DIES

Henry P. Davison Succumbs During Operation Performed at His Country Home.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Henry P. Davison, of J. P. Morgan & Co., died on the operating table Saturday.

Mr. Davison was placed on the table for a second operation to remove a tumor resting on the auditory nerve. The operation was performed in a special room fitted up in his country home at Peacock Point, in Locust Valley, Long Island.

Five members of the Morgan firm, keeping vigil at the offices in Wall street, received first news of his death over a special telegraph wire. A short time before news of the death came, reports had been circulated in Wall street that Mr. Davison had passed successfully through the ordeal and was expected to recover.

A few minutes after the flash of Mr. Davison's death reached the Morgan offices.

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
Staff Correspondent The London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, May 7.—Immediate steps will be taken by the government to appoint the special committee on the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. It is generally understood that the committee will consist of 27 members, seven of whom will be appointed by the Progressives and six by the Conservatives. The chairman will be Hon. A. K. McLean, it is expected.

No time will be lost in investigating both sides of the case. Officials of the Canadian National Railways and the C. P. R. will give evidence of the effect the resumption of the agreement would have on the railway situation generally, while the shippers of the West will also be given a hearing.

Forecasts are being freely made about the probable outcome of the investigation. Members of the Progressive party feel fairly confident that the Crow's Nest Pass agreement will be resumed, but in other quarters the belief is prevalent that the agreement will be considered obsolete, and that instead a recommendation for lower rates affecting all sections of the country equally will be substituted.

It is said that Mr. McLean is among those who believe the old agreement to be obsolete.

WHEN Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, during the railway debate of last Thursday, tried to belittle the government, and at the same time, play a few notes on the proverbial horn for his own party, by accusing the Liberals of indecisiveness and of lacking courage to adopt a policy without shifting the onus to a committee, his wit met its match in the replies of Hon. George P. Graham of South Essex, and of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King.

"There may be a difference in the way the present government comes to a decision, when compared to the late government," Mr. Graham declared. "But the difference is that while the government led by the honorable leader of the opposition took advantage of war measures to do everything themselves, we intend to let Parliament as a whole have something to say."

Premier King said: "The Hon. Mr. Meighen's idea of a responsible government is a body of supermen who reach decisions in secret session and then force them through Parliament by the weight of a following, no matter how secured."

IT IS often said that old-time party methods have vanished from the House of Commons, but the vote on the railway resolution showed that in so far as the party whip is concerned the statement is false. Every party in the house, including the Progressives, was whipped into line.

The senior whips of the three parties are all tried members who were in the house in the old days when men were supposedly either with the government or against it. Any independent leanings which might crop up in those times were dealt with by what almost might be said to be force. Canada listened to a verbal denunciation of the "party whip" during the recent election campaign and thought that such a thing as "whipping members into line" had vanished from the political field. But the vote of Thursday shows beyond a doubt that the whip still lives, and is one of the vitals of the party.

G. W. Kyte, chief Liberal whip, had the biggest job. Out of 119 members he had the magnificent total of 109 in their seats when the vote was taken, and the returns proved that they were lined up solidly. He was ably assisted in the work by James Malcolm, member for North Bruce, who, although without previous parliamentary experience, showed qualifications and adaptation that promise to take him a long way in the political world.

W. A. Boys (South Simcoe), the Conservative whip, had more trouble. It is an open secret that some of the Conservatives wanted to run away from the vote fearing that the government would be defeated, and they were thinking lovingly the while of the $4,000 annual indemnity. Mr. Boys, however, knew his business and had enough supporters on hand to save the face of the party.

Fred Johnston, the Progressive whip, learned his business as a Liberal member of the house. He managed to line up all the party supporters except five and of those present all but two voted with their leader.

TO SEEK legislation enforcing the marking of all frozen mutton offered for sale in Canada, five prominent sheep-raisers from Western Ontario waited upon Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, last week. The deputation consisted of Col. Robert McEwen of London, H. J. Harding of Thorndale, Duff Brien of Ridgetown, George L. Telfer of Paris and Robert Wade of Toronto.

It was pointed out to the minister that frozen mutton imported from Australia and New Zealand was offered for sale on the Canadian market in large quantities the year around. Sold as fresh mutton it offered a serious competition to Canadian-grown meats. If some means could be adopted to distinguish the imported flesh from the Canadian product it was felt that sheep-raising in Canada would be given a great boom.

The minister informed the deputation that the question was a delicate one, and one on which no promise of action could be given. He promised to take the matter under consideration, however.

IN MORE than one way an effective color scheme is followed out in the magnificent House of Commons in the Canadian Parliament buildings. At desk 238 on the Conservative side of the house sits Frank White, member for London, and beside him, at the same desk, George Black, hailing from the white trails of the Yukon, holds forth.

Sometimes the assistant clerk of the house in calling the names gets White mixed with Black, and then the tenseness of some debate is broken with a ripple of amusement. Such a mixture occurred during the railway battle Thursday night. In view of the fact that the debate had been long and for the most part dry the suggestion of someone that the mixture should have been Black and White was considered unkind.

IN A REPORT of the meeting of a deputation from Goderich with the minister of public works in reference to harbor improvements, William Black, member for South Huron, was erroneously reported to have presented the case of the Western Ontario farmer regarding shipments of Western feed grain. J. W. King, member for North Huron, who headed the deputation, should have been credited with the speech. Mr. Black accompanied the deputation, but did not speak.

WANT FEWER IN FIRST CLASSES

Balaclava Street School District Circulate Petition To Remove Congestion.

Has Been Necessary To Hold Two Classes in Grace Church.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, May 7.—A petition for relief of the present congested conditions in the primary classes is being circulated among residents of the Balaclava Street School district. While crowding of the children is almost unbearable in the city schools, considerable criticism has been directed at those who proposed the petition on account of a possible detrimental effect on the technical school bylaw. Others believe that agitation of this kind by parents of pupils in the city will serve to bring the seriousness of the situation to the attention of the ratepayers.

The latter view is taken by Inspector J. W. Taylor. Should the technical school be erected, he said, the domestic science department at the Balaclava Street School will be discontinued, and the rooms now used in that course will accommodate the lower classes. It has been found necessary to hold two overflow classes in Grace Methodist Church, and the residents in that district feel that in any case something should be done at once to relieve the situation.

Many prominent citizens have expressed disapproval of kindergarten classes, and think that no children should be allowed to attend under the age of six years.

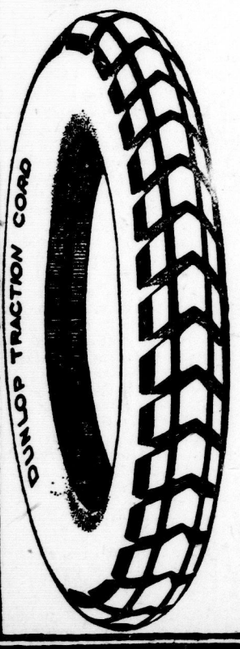
LOOK TO DUNLOP FOR "CORD" SUPREMACY

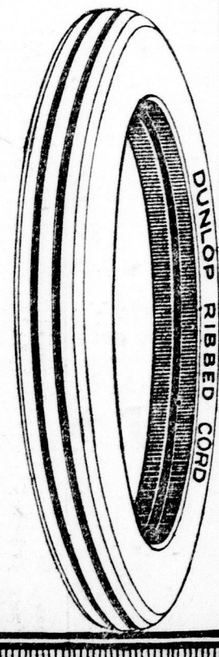
A man who owns three cars and who has driven an automobile almost since the inception of the "gas buggy" remarked to one of our directors the other day:

"I have been getting such dandy service from Dunlop Tires that I think your claims about mileage are far too modest. As far as my experience goes, you cannot talk too big."

1922, 1921, 1920, 1919—Dunlop Cord Tires came into existence in 1919, and the transformation in mileage year by year that followed their use by motorists has been most striking. 1920 surpassed 1919 to be, in turn, surpassed by 1921; and here's 1922 producing testimonials like this:



"I have just returned to you a 37x5 Dunlop Traction Cord Casing which has gone 24,500 miles. The Casing was used on the rear wheel of one of my Cadillac cars, covering 11,000 miles, and was then transferred to the front wheel and covered 13,500 miles after the change was made. I consider this exceptional mileage, indeed, and, needless to say, am more than pleased with the service rendered."



It is important to note that the tire referred to above was on a livery car, and, therefore, could not possibly have been subjected to a more severe test.

BLAMES SCOTT FOR PLIGHT OF BRANT INDIANS

Chief Deskaheh of Six Nations Council Asks Dismissal of Ottawa Official.

ASKS TRUST FUND QUIZ

Seeks Merely Rights Under Haldimand Treaty of 1784.

BY RUSSELL F. BOYD.

CHIEF DESKAHEH'S HOMESTEAD, Six Nations Indian Reserve, Ont., May 7.—"Let them fire one shot to kill an Indian first, and not one of the party will return to Brantford."

Thus Chief Deskaheh, chief spokesman of the Indian Council of the Six Nations of the Grand River, which meets in Ohswegan, the capital of the reserve, spoke today in regard to newspaper dispatches intimating that Brantford authorities are awaiting the arrival of mounted police reinforcements before again attempting to invade his people's territory to evict an Indian, George Vise, from a farm to which his right has been upheld by the Six Nations Council of Chiefs.

Blame Ottawa Official.

Entire blame for the present passive resistance of the Indians to the operation of Canadian laws is laid by the chiefs at the door of Duncan C. Scott, deputy superintendent-general of Indian affairs—indeed, all the people on the reserve are apparently determined to place the onus of all their difficulties in the past few years on Mr. Scott.

Since his appointment to office in 1913, by the Borden government, while Hon. Arthur Meighen held the post of minister of the interior, the people claim their troubles have been endless.

Theirs is a pitiful tale of poverty and starvation, and of a gradual loss of their lands until now the reserve has an area of but 50,000 acres, whereas it originally covered 800,000 acres.

It is a remarkable fact also that they entirely absolve the present Liberal government from having had any hand in their plight, but insist that Scott and other officials of the Indian department are alone to blame.

"There is just enough land left to bury the poor Six Nations Indians" is the way Chief David Hill describes the present situation. "Why should it be so?" he asks. "We are a self-supporting nation. We don't get one cent from the dominion."

A visit to the reserve is ample proof to an outsider that many of its inhabitants are destitute.

"Fire Scott. Investigate the trust fund of the Six Nations which has dwindled in recent years, and give us our rights under the Haldimand Treaty of 1784, and the matter is forever settled. It's easy enough," declared Chief Deskaheh.

In that year, the chiefs claim, Frederick Haldimand, captain-general and governor-in-chief of Quebec and territories depending thereon, and general commander-in-chief of his majesty's forces in that province and the territories depending on it made the following treaty with the Six Nations:

"Whereas his majesty has been pleased to direct in consideration of the early attachment to his cause manifested by the Mohawk Indians and of the loss of their settlement which they thereby maintained, that a convenient tract of land under his protection should be chosen as a safe and comfortable retreat for them and others of the Six Nations who have either lost their settlements within the territory of the American states or wish to retire from them to the British; I have at the desire of many of these, his majesty's faithful allies, purchased a tract of land from the Indians situated between the Lakes Ontario, Huron and Erie, and I do hereby in his majesty's name, authorize and permit the said Mohawk Nation and such other of the Six Nations Indians as wish to settle in that quarter, to take possession of and settle upon the banks of the river commonly called the Ouse or Grand River, running into Lake Erie, allotting to them for that purpose six miles deep on each side of the river, beginning at Lake Erie and extending in that proportion to the head of the said river, which they and their posterity are to enjoy forever.

"Given under my hand and seal of arms at the Castle of Saint Lewis at Quebec, the 25th day of October, 1784, and in the 25th year of his majesty's reign."

"FREDERICK HALDIMAND.

"Countersigned by H. E. Command.

"R. MATHEWS."

This treaty defines the present status of the Six Nations Indians, the chiefs and warriors maintain.

They produce innumerable writings to show that they have since, from time to time, been referred to as Allies of the Crown and not subjects of the Dominion government, by various officials.

Given Other Lands.

For sharing in various battles, they were awarded tracts of land at various times, Chief Deskaheh and Chief Hill stated. After the Battle of the Thames, they were given land near Amherstburg, and following another engagement awarded territory on the Ottawa River. They claim that the deed to this latter strip has been mislaid by one of their legal advisers.

Mr. Scott, the Indians assert, acknowledged prior to 1914 that the Six Nations were Allies of the Crown, but later reversed this ruling.

"Now none of the Indians trust him," Chief Deskaheh declares. "I would not walk five feet down the road with him."

The people claim that when they released their holdings in the American States a trust fund out of the sale of their land was secured for them. First an Indian agent, a direct representative of the crown administered the fund, and when the Dominion of Canada was formed, the fund was held in trust by the Dominion government.

This fund totalled $1,000,000 originally, but now has dwindled to $670,000, the Indians claim.

Only Used Interest.

The capital was not supposed to be touched, the residents of the reserve declare, only the interest money was to be used for the Indians.

The interest semi-annually was in the neighborhood of $37,000, Chief Deskaheh points out.

He charges that the Indians have not received one cent of interest during the past two years.

Although the people have been starving upon the reserve the Indian department notified the Six Nations Council that it would not honor any relief order issued by the council unless it was indorsed by the Indian office in Brantford.

The Indians also protest against the Indian department making the soldiers' settlement act apply on the reserve, claiming that Indian and school land is exempt.

Will Aid Veteran.

The council of the Six Nations is willing to aid the returned soldier, Chief Deskaheh declared. The council was even willing to take the money out of the trust fund, and give the Indian veteran as much as $2,000 gratuity or buy a farm for him and pay all the money back to the fund later.

The council's objection to the soldiers' settlement act being applied to returned Indian soldiers on the reserve is that these veterans are given a fee simple to the land if they pay off the mortgage, and then they can sell the land to a white man or any one else if they choose. If they fail to pay the government takes the land under the mortgage.

"Scott wants to break up the reserve," the Indians claim.

"We are law-abiding people," declared Chief Hill. "When a murder occurred here some years ago Chief Levi General (Chief Deskaheh) and I and some 300 others combed the bush for the murderer.

Fight Land Issue.

"We do not object to the criminal laws of the land, but we do object to Canadian courts deciding our land questions. Our council was given that power, and it must stay with the council."

When the council meets in the council house at Ohsweken at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning it will deal with a matter that has troubled the Indian and disturbed his peace of mind. It is a statement recently read to them.

A few days prior to April 15 a number of the chiefs on the reserve received an invitation to a meeting in the Indian agent's office at Brantford. They were not told what the nature of the business was to be, except that it was important, they say. During the meeting, at which Gordon L. Smith was chairman, the following in substance was read:

"The department assumes that the Indians of the Six Nations are subject to the laws of Canada. The contention that the Canadian government has no jurisdiction on the Tuscarora Reserve is not admitted. The appeal which was recently made to the British government was referred back to the Canadian government, thus definitely deciding the question at issue in favor of the basic assumption above mentioned. We take it, therefore, that all parties must now admit the sovereignty of the Canadian government over the Indians on the Tuscarora Reserve, and the Canadian government intends to maintain that position at all costs.

"Starting out then, from this standpoint, the department wishes to say that it has received information that the Six Nations council, either directly or indirectly, has been encouraging violation of the laws of Canada as contained in the Indian act, with respect to the landed possessions of certain of the returned Indian soldiers. The department wishes to say to the council that, while it is ready to consider in a sympathetic way the whole question of amending the Indian act, it will in no way permit interference with or violation of the law.

"While not anticipating any serious trouble, steps have been already taken to see that the law shall be strictly observed, and that any offenders shall be severely dealt with. Sufficient forces are being provided to preserve law and order.

"Finally the department wishes to say to the Six Nations Council that the Canadian government will be glad to listen to any representations as to desirable amendments to the Indian act. Efforts along this line are entirely right and proper on the part of the council, but forcible violation of the existing laws, either at the instigation of or under instructions from the Six Nations Council will be severely dealt with."

Predict Hot Protest.

Chiefs predict that a letter of warm protest will be sent to the governor-general regarding the matter.

During the war the council of chiefs fought conscription, not because they did not want their men to serve, but because the treaty calls for the great war chief in person to come or send a messenger asking for the aid of his allies, the Six Nations. In spite of this the Indian enlistment was large, greater in proportion than Brantford, which claims the Dominion record in proportion of enlistments to population.

In August, 1921, Chief Deskaheh personally went to the foot of the throne to appeal to King George for recognition of the Six Nations as allies, by treaty, of the British crown.

The appeal was not presented to the king, but it was presented to Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, whose reply was that the matter was one for the Canadian government to deal with, and the communications, petitions and documents were forwarded to Ottawa to be handled there.

Meanwhile all is quiet on the reserve this afternoon, the chiefs, their wives and children having gone to the playing field near one of the long houses to watch the young warriors indulge in a game of lacrosse.

RUSSIAN CHIEFS SURPRISE GENOA

Five Soviet Delegates Prove To Be Men of Great Intelligence.

Wear Fashionable Clothes and Speak Several Languages.

Special to London Advertiser.

GENOA, May 7.—The biggest shock of Genoa has not been alone the spectacular things the Russians have done—but what they look like.

World diplomats here expected to see wild-eyed men with long hair and matted whiskers, with knives in their teeth and pants in their boots. And they were shocked to find the Russians were not freaks at all.

When the Russian delegates first arrived in Genoa there were many jokes at their expense and a disposition in some quarters not to take them seriously. Now, needless to say, the attitude toward them has changed entirely. From the moment they announced their treaty with Germany they have shown diplomatic cleverness and have proved their right to be treated at least as equals in one of the greatest diplomatic games ever played in Europe.

They have occupied the center of the stage and the spotlight has never left them.

Fashionable Raiment.

Far from being disheveled fanatics, the Russians in appearance rank well up toward the top of all delegations. Almost without exception they are well dressed, and on formal occasions their attire is strictly proper to the last detail. The propaganda effect of this has been very great, for adherence to convention means much in European official circles.

In total quantity, whiskers among the Russians are much less than in many other delegations.

The five leaders of the Soviet delegation—Tchitcherin, Krassin, Litvinoff, Joffee and Rakonsky—are all men of the highest education. Their linguistic abilities are amazing. All speak Russian, German, French, Italian and English, and some several other languages. They not only speak these languages, but speak them correctly.

Tchitcherin a Bachelor.

Tchitcherin's English is flawless. At the opening session he read his speech in Russian, and translated it into French, then into English and finally into Italian.

The five chief delegates are all about 50, and of distinguished appearance. Tchitcherin, a nobleman in the old regime, was in the czar's diplomatic service. He was educated in Russia and in Berlin and Paris and has a doctor of laws degree. He is one of the most powerful members of the Soviet government. Alone of the five delegates, Tchitcherin is not married. He is above average height, slightly stooped, wears a closely cropped mustache and imperial, and looks like a college professor.

Krassin for 25 years has been one of the leading electrical engineers in Europe. He was born in Siberia. While a prisoner there for political activity he helped build the Trans-Siberian railway. He was one of the original founders of the Bolshevist party in 1903 and has been active in it ever since.

Rakonsky's Career.

Rakonsky, one of the most interesting of the group, was born in Bulgaria and educated in Swiss, German and French universities, obtaining a bachelor of laws degree from the University of Paris.

He has been a Socialist since he was 15 years old, and has been expelled from Bulgaria, Germany and Russia for Socialist activity.

He was one of the leaders of the Russian revolution in 1905, and was jailed in Rumania for Bolshevism in 1917.

He was rescued by 35 Russian soldiers, who took him to Russia, where he became one of the Soviet leaders.

Now Rakonsky is president of the Ukranian Soviet Republic. He is short and stocky, with smooth face, and a keen sense of humor. He is in charge of Soviet propaganda at Genoa—and he's a past master at the job.

Litvinoff, a college professor, taught many years in the Berlitz School of Languages in London. He is one of the most remarkable linguists in Europe, speaking practically all languages. He is of average physique and has neither mustache or beard.

Joffee is a lawyer of high standing, having a doctor of laws degree from the University of Munich. His whiskers are white and luxuriant. Litvinoff and Joffee are Jews, but the other three are not, though there are several among the subordinates of the delegation.

Their ability to speak languages gives the Russians a great advantage at the Genoa conference. Another great advantage is the fact that, excepting the British, they come better prepared with documents and figures than the other delegations. They insist on taking time to answer proposals and questions, but when they answer they back the answer up with such facts and figures that allied delegates are dazed. Some of the facts and figures won't stand analysis, but the Allies are kept busy finding the weak spots.

Hardest Workers.

The Russians, from Tchitcherin down, are the hardest workers at the conference. They are at it night and day, holding conferences among themselves, with the Allies and with the Germans, and the rest of the time searching records and preparing documents.

The amount and character of the propaganda they turn out is amazing. There is always something for the journalist at Russian headquarters, and always somebody there who can speak any language. The other day one of Rakonsky's assistants gave a statement to English, Spanish, German, French and Italian correspondents in succession, and each correspondent said his language was spoken perfectly.

If Russia succeeds in getting the full recognition she demands, it will be due in a great measure to the character and ability of the men sent here from Moscow.

Blames Sweet Clover For Death of Young Cattle in Dorchester District

Special to London Advertiser.

INGERSOLL, May 7.—In view of the fact that young cattle in North Dorchester Township died recently under circumstances which indicated blackquarter, a dreaded disease, a warning is being given to stock men. Subsequent developments have led to the opinion that the animals died from eating sweet clover. The danger of feeding sweet clover in excessive quantities or when it is mouldy, it is understood, has been referred to in a bulletin issued by the Dominion veterinary department. As the animals that died, as well as others that were sick in the Dorchester district, had been eating sweet clover, it is held responsible for the difficulty. Other cases have been reported in Western Ontario, where animals have died following the dehorning operation, because of the fact that sweet clover had so thinned their blood that it would not coagulate.

JURY IN JOHN PARIS CASE FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

Man at St. John Held on Charge of Murder of Little Deformed Child.

ST. JOHN, N. B., May 7.—After a trial lasting eleven days, the jury hearing the evidence in the case of the crown vs. John Paris, charged with the murder in this city on Aug. 2, 1920, of little deformed Sadie McAuley, failed to reach a verdict after deliberating ten hours over the case, in their jury room Saturday. The final vote was seven to five for conviction.

At the first trial the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction; the second jury brought in a verdict of guilty, but a new trial was ordered on technical grounds. Altogether 28 men out of 36 comprising the three juries, have pronounced Paris guilty. With this preponderating vote against the prisoner, Attorney-General Byrne says he will again try the case. It was hinted today that the attorney-general might ask for a change of venue.

PREDICTS BIG CROPS IN WEST

WINNIPEG, May 7.—Conditions are the most favorable for a general good crop that they have been in many years, according to Charles Murphy, general manager of western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who returned yesterday from an inspection trip as far west as Moose Jaw. Practically seeding has been finished in Southern Manitoba, and in many instances the grain is up two inches. Eighty-five per cent of the seeding has been completed in Southern Saskatchewan.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF LATE JOHN M'DERMID

Special to London Advertiser.

SEAFORTH, May 6.—The funeral of the late John Duncan McDermid, who died from peritonitis at the Clinton Hospital on Wednesday after an illness of five days, took place today from his late home, lot 10, Huron road. A large number of friends were present to pay the last token of respect to one who was well known and highly respected.

Mr. McDermid complained of a pain in his side, but nothing serious was anticipated, and he was about as usual until Saturday last when the suffering became more acute and medical aid was summoned. On Monday he was taken to the hospital in Clinton, where an operation was performed which, although it relieved his sufferings, proved of no avail.

The deceased, who was in his 42nd year, was a son of the late Angus McDermid of Hullett Township, where he had lived all his life. Four years ago he married Christine McGregor, second daughter of the late Daniel McGregor of Seaforth, who survives him, along with his mother and three sisters, Miss McDermid, who lives with her mother in Seaforth, Mrs. John McDermid of McKillop, Mrs. Briggs of Cleveland, and one brother, Malcolm, also of Hullet.

LIBERALS AGAIN NOMINATE NORRIS

ALEXANDER, Man., May 7.—For the tenth time at a Liberal convention in Lansdowne constituency, Premier T. C. Norris was yesterday afternoon nominated as Liberal candidate for the constituency, which he has represented in the Manitoba Legislature for twenty years. The premier described the group form of government as impossible. Stable government was essential and to have that, one group must have a majority in the Legislature.

BABY INJURED IN WOODSTOCK CRASH

DRIVERS' DISPUTE BLAME

Llewelyn Somers Fined as Result of Accident to P. McDonald.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, May 7.—A collision which resulted in two badly smashed up automobiles and injuries to two occupants of one of the cars occurred here Saturday. John McIntyre, a taxi driver, was turning on to Riddell street, when a car driven by John Whittrick of Drumbo smashed into his car. Mrs. Whittrick was shaken up, and her baby, which she held in her arms, was badly cut about the face, the wounds requiring several stiches. Both drivers blame the other for the accident.

Llewelyn Somers, the 17-year-old boy who was driving the car which knocked down and injured Peter Mcdonald, clerk of the surrogate court, appeared in court Saturday and was fined $10 and costs for driving without a permit. The boy's father was also called upon to pay Mr. McDonald's hospital bill, which amounted to $72.

The father was the victim of an auto accident a short while ago, and the boy had just driven his father to the doctors for treatment when the accident to Mr. McDonald took place.

The farmers in this neighborhood report prospects for wheat, clover and other spring crops as having improved 50 per cent during the past week. The sowing season was ideal, and the spring work is now away ahead of the schedule. That the fruit crop will also be a bountiful one is indicated by the heavy showing of buds. The market on Saturday was a big one. Eggs were plentiful at 26 to 28, while butter was 40 to 43 cents a pound. Seed potatoes sold at $1.50 to $2.25 a bag, while hay brought $17 a ton.

Long Distance puts the Big Warehouses at your Elbow

"No, I won't load up with a big stock" — said the enterprising but cautious dealer — "if they sell as well as we hope, I can easily get in touch with your house by Long Distance and order more of them."

Re-ordering by Long Distance makes it entirely practicable for dealers to carry small stocks, thus keeping down their capital investment, and yet not lose sales by being out of stock. The wholesaler's and manufacturer's warehouses are virtually at the dealer's elbow. The goods are often shipped the same day. "Sure, we'll ship on the 4.40", comes back the answer, making it certain that customers will not be disappointed.

It also enables dealers to try out the novelties and new styles people have been reading about and are asking for, on which the margin of profit is usually greater than on staple lines.

ROTARY HOLDS SUGGESTION DAY

Members, At Luncheon, Offer Varied Advice For Club's Activities.

Decide To Stage Picnic For Themselves and Families During Summer.

Suggestions for community activities during the ensuing year were the order of the day at the Rotary Club luncheon, held in the Tecumseh Hotel Monday noon. While no action was taken, the suggestions will go before the club committee for consideration, which body will make recommendation to the club proper at a later date.

Rotarian Frank Cody submitted a list of suggestions, which, if adopted, will keep the club fairly busy during 1922. He urges that Rotary support efforts to obtain a new union station, a new city hall, a new Y. M. C. A., a band-stand in Victoria Park, and a shelter in front of Victoria Hospital for persons awaiting a street car.

To Boost London.

Bert Hunt suggested that a Rotary committee be formed to boost London, declaring that there are many discontented citizens, who would not be so if the good points of the Forest City were drawn to their attention. He also suggested the formation of a city band of amateur musicians who would give concerts gratis, provided that their uniforms and instruments were provided.

A Rotary recreation park for children, or addition of equipment to present city playgrounds, obtained by funds raised in the Rotary Club by members enjoying a cheaper luncheon at present dinner prices was the idea submitted by Rotarian J. Walker.

C. B. King sponsored a Rotary educational fund to aid promising young men to obtain an education, and he included a plan for this undertaking with his suggestion. Duncan McDermid opined that "It wouldn't be a bad plan for Rotary to get behind the Y. W. C. A."

George Wenige gave notice of motion that no director of the club be allowed to succeed himself in office, thereby giving each of the 156 Rotarians of London an opportunity to become directors. Rotarian Ben Brick suggested that Rotary take up the cases of crippled children in London whose parents cannot afford to have surgical treatment instituted.

He further suggested that a Rotary Ward for such cases be organized and maintained in the new hospital for sick children here. Dr. A. J. Grant pleaded for a greater interest in boys' work on the part of the Rotary Club, and J. M. Watt followed up by suggesting that a central committee of all clubs interested be formed to continue boys' work in London.

Give Motor Rides.

Rotarian Bill Christianson recommended that the club devote more time to the entertainment of inmates of the orphans' and aged people's homes by motor rides and treats. President Jared Vining suggested that the second Monday of each month be set aside for informal discussion of club business, with no special program to interfere.

The members decided unanimously to stage a picnic for themselves and families this summer, and the date will be arranged and committees appointed in the near future.

CLAIMS PASNIPS ARE HARMLESS

Ottawa, May 8.—"It cannot be too emphatically stated that the true garden parsnip is perfectly harmless as a vegetable diet," says Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion botanist, in a statement which he has prepared following an examination of samples of the root from eating which seven members of the Lacroix family in L'Orignal met tragic death.

These roots Dr. Gussow found to be water hemlock, which he says is the most poisonous plant growing in Canada, and the most rapid in action. The botanist's statement regarding the harmless nature of the parsnip is calculated to reassure many persons who might otherwise be afraid to eat that vegetable, on account of the water hemlock having at first been taken for a variety of parsnip.

H. M. Scots Guards' Band Includes Many Famous Works In Program

Under the distinguished patronage of Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Byng, General Sir Arthur Currie, K.C.M.G., K.C.B., etc., and a host of other prominent citizens, the famous band of H. M. Scots Guards, which has been under the direction of Lieut. F. W. Wood for so many years, will undoubtedly score a grand success throughout the tour, for the programs that have been arranged contain more famous works than has ever been attempted by any military band here previously.

The compositions of Elgar, Wagner, Sullivan, Puccini, Tschaikowsky, Beethoven, Bizet, Bach, Sibelius, Saint-Saens, Weber, Mendelssohn, Greig, Schubert and Delebes are just a few of the world-famous works that will be played by the band, while in addition there will be special Scotch airs, and selections by the pipers as well as Highland dancing—surely enough to attract capacity audiences in themselves, apart from the fact that the concerts are being given for such a worthy cause as to benefit the G. W. V. A. of this city.

The Scots Guards will give two concerts in London on May 11 and 12.

SOUTH AFRICA IS WELL ADVANCED

Social Service Workers Finds Social Legislation In Canada Familiar.

WILL ADDRESS MEMBERS

Women's Canadian Club Will Hear Mrs. McMurrich Monday Afternoon.

wherever I go. But I really do not think there is a great deal that I have learned about social legislation here that can be adapted in South Africa. You see, we have all these measures there."

The speaker was Mrs. McMurrich of South Africa, who on Monday afternon addresses the Women's Canadian Club at 4:30 o'clock in the Normal School. Her answer to a question from the press was accompanied by a laugh, but that didn't alter the fact she was evidently very proud of the progressiveness of her own "overseas dominion," from which she has traveled far aeld in the past two years, studying social service methods in France, England, Scotland and Canada, thanks to a traveling scholarship from the South African government, bestowed in recognition of her services in connection with child welfare, etc., to her adopted country.

A few sentences from Mrs. McMurrich, and no doubt is left that South Africa is a land of adoption, though she loves it well. Her Scottish birth is revealed in her speech, as in that of Miss Scott of Edinburgh, her charming traveling companion, who manages the lantern slides in the illustrated lectures.

In addition to wide travel and opportunity for observation, she had her powers of observation trained in earaly girlhood in newspaper work, subsequently contributing to South African publications, after taking up her residence there.

After a year of social service field work in Scotland, England and France, she arrived in Toronto last August in time for the meeting of the Imperial Teachers' Conference, joining South African friends there. She elected to take a course in the social service department of Toronto University under Professor J. A. Dale.

"I have just finished my examinations," she said to The Advertiser. "Think of it, writing on ten examinations — one every day for ten days."

And since then she has been kept busy with lectures in Hamilton, London and other cities, giving Canadians a peep into the beauties and development of South Africa with her lantern slides, opening their eyes with regard to the advancement of "such an out-of-the-world country."

She goes to St. Thomas to speak Tuesday evening, and is leaving the end of the week for Montreal, making a trip from there through the Canadian west to Victoria. She purposes sailing for Africa the end of July.

LADY ASTOR WILL NOT VISIT LONDON

Lady Astor, invited by the Local Council of Women to speak at a luncheon, which would mark the opening of the big drive for funds for the new Y. W. C. A. building, has wired her regrets that she will be unable to accept the invitation. The wire, received by Mrs. E. B. Smith, president of the council, reads: "Deeply appreciate invitation, but literally every hour of my too brief visit in Canada, is already engaged, and not humanly possible for me to come to London.—Nancy Astor."

In spite of the fact that they deeply regret Lady Astor's inability to come, and are disappointed in the keen anticipation with which they have been hoping for her acceptance, the local council have decided to continue in their plans for the luncheon, which will be held some time during the month of May at the Kennels, and prominent women secured as speakers.

prominent drivers who brings his cargo through Middlesex to the border at regular intervals. That he is a "dare-devil" for speed, and will take some catching seems the general concensus of opinion around the county building.

County officers explain incidentally that in their opinion they cannot be compelled to participate in any rum-chasing expeditions unless they so desire. There is a special department for that particular endeavor, they assert.

The officers say that the bootleggers with through shipments usually avoid traveling through the city. Up until quite recently the fifth concession was the favorite route, but this highway has been abandoned during the past few nights. Stretches of road, however, such as the Longwoods road, are generally utilized, they say, as they will allow their passage at a terrific speed.

LABOR FACES TWO BIG DECISIONS

First Is Organization of Second Branch of Canadian Labor Party.

TAKE UP EDUCATION

Consider Establishment of Workers' Educational Association in London Friday Night.

Two questions of the utmost importance to the labor men of the city will be considered at a special meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Labor Party scheduled for that purpose Friday night next at the Labor Temple.

In the first instance, an effort will be made to organize a second branch of the party. The secretary reports that nearly 100 applications are at hand, all individuals who are not now affiliated with any particular unit. At the last provincial convention it was ruled that these persons could be admitted at any point throughout the province. Friday will mark the first attempt to increase the membership in this manner.

As the second item of business, the members will be asked to consider the proposed establishment in London of a branch of the Workers' Educational Association, which is famous throughout the United Kingdom for its hundreds of branches and thousands of members of all classes. The latter organization is non-sectarian, non-political etc., and already the Western University authorities have expressed interest in the movement.

REQUEST LEAGUE STATE INDIA STATUS

$500 from their trust fund of several hundreds of thousands of dollars, which they received from the sale of land when they abandoned their homes in New York State after the United States had gained its independence, and which is now administered by Duncan C. Scott, to help defray expenses of the trip. They were willing, they say, to return the money to the fund later.

An official named McKenzie, Chief Deskaheh claimed said to them: "You can't go to England for you haven't any money nor passports."

Sold Their Live Stock.

Determined to lay their case before the king, the Indians on the reserve sacrificed their live stock to obtain $2,000 to pay for the trip to England.

The passport problem was easily overcome. Asa Hill, secretary of the Indian council, was instructed by the council to issue a passport for Chief Deskaheh. It was the first time that the Six Nations of the Grand River had done such a thing.

Armed with this passport and a copy of the treaty of 1874, the latter as proof that the Six Nations Indians were a free people and qualified to issue passports, Chief Deskaheh proceeded to New York State. Here he met W. D. Decker, millionaire attorney, who accompanied him to New York City.

At the immigration office an official told Chief Deskaheh that he had a wire from Ottawa to prevent him from sailing for England.

"But you can't," replied the chief. "Here is my passport. I'm going to sail."

Allowed to Sail.

After the matter was taken up with the British vice-consul, the chief was allowed to sail.

In England the authorities placed the stamp of approval on the passport, and told him that it was the best passport to England they had ever seen.

Alhough he did not appear in person before King George, Chief Deskaheh submitted his plea to Winston Churchill, and received a written reply from the King to the effect that the matter was one for the Canadian government to settle.

Chief Deskaheh was more pleased with the written answer than he would have been had he received an oral one from the lips of the King.

If he had come back without an answer in black and white, he declares, the Indians would have been dissatisfied and would have regarded their money as having been wasted.

As the Indians did not see fit to take their claims before the Canadian government, as the British King advised, they have taken the other course, that of appealing to the World League, through friends in the United States.

Babe Unhurt After Fall of Forty Feet.

CALGARY, Alta., May 7.—The 18-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haflam fell 40 feet to the ground from a second-story window in the Louise Apartments, 1026 Second street east, today, and when picked up was found unhurt.

The baby had crawled up onto a box near the window.

The place where the baby alighted was a sort of cinder walk, which may account for the miraculous escape.

Oats—May, 37c; July, 39⅜c.

Chicago, May 8.—Power to rally from the recent setback on prices for wheat became evident today durin gthe early dealings. Bulls contended that a reaction was due, that them arket had been over-bid, and shipments from here on Saturday were larger than receipts. On the other hands, arrivals today totaled 400 carloads, and there were fresh deliveries of 169,000 bushels. The opening, which ranged from ½c decline to a like advance for May, was followed by a slight general sag, but then by an upturn all around to well above Saturday's finish.

Corn and oats tended upward with wheat. After opening a shade off to ⅛c to ¼c higher, the corn market scored a moderate general gain.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c lower, and later made a slight general advance.

MONTREAL STOCKS

Montreal, May 8.—Although a great many stocks were traded in during the opening trading on the local stock exchange this morning, nothing of a startling character occurred, and prices for the most part were practically unchanged. The paper issues all received attention. Abitibi registered a decline of ¼ to 55¼, while Brompton was up a fraction to 32¾, as was also Laurentide at 89. Wayagamack was the strongest of this group, strengthening a point to 55. Howard-Smith and Price Bros. unchanged at 69¾ and 44 respectively. Other stocks were quiet. Among those appearing during the early trading were Bell Telephone unchanged at 113, Brazilian up ¼ to 45½, Canada Steamships down ¾ to 23½. Consolidated Smelting unchanged at 23¼, and Steel of Canada down ¼ at 71¼.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, May 8—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Reflecting the uncertain tone of developments over the week-end, especially in the international situation, stock market prices were rather mixed at the opening of today's session. Mexican Petroleum, last Saturday's reactionary feature, dropped 1½ points, and Associated Oil lost 3 points, while Studebaker eased 1 point. Missouri Pacific was heavy, and profit-taking in the steels effected reversals of large fractions in Vanadium and several allied shares. American Tobacco featured the strong specialties, rising 1¼ points, and Standard Oil of New Jersey rose 1¼ points on announcement of additional price advances for crude and refined products.

1:30 p.m.—Concern over the outcome o fthe Genoa conference, which was reflected in lower prices for foreign exchanges and bonds, coupled with bear selling, caused another sharp dip in the afternoon. Distributive sales were also more affected in lowering prices, and the market took on an appearance of considerable weakness in spots. The oils, Baldwin, Studebaker and Consolidated Gas were foremost in the decline. Later Crucible Steel went to a new high record for the year at 68¾, which infused some steadiness to the list.

BOWMAN PREPARING BILL CONTROLLING STREAMS

Expected To Minimize Disputes Between Lumber and Power Development Companies.

Toronto, May 8.—Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of lands and forests is introducing a bill into the Ontario Legislature to codify the laws respecting the control of rivers and streams. It provides for a controller who will decide disputes between lumber companies, power companies and other interests arising out of the changing of levels of rivers. The bill is expected to have a far reaching effect owing to the many disputes that arise when two or more lumber companies drive logs down the same stream, also where the interests of the lumbering firms clash with those of power development. It is not the intention of carrying the bill through this session. It is thought advisable to have it printed and during the recess a committee or commission will hear representations regarding it from the interests affected including railway companies whose bridges are liable to injury by raising water levels. It is hoped that in this way the bill will be in readiness to pass its final stages the following year.

CANADIAN PACIFIC FAST TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAIN, "TRANS-CANADA LIMITED."

Commencing Sunday, May 21, the "Trans-Canada Limited," the fast trans-continental train of the Canadian Pacific, will operate between Toronto and Vancouver daily, this in addition to "Vancouver Express" now operating, making two trans-continental trains daily between Toronto and Vancouver. "Trans-Canada Limited's" time, Toronto to Vancouver, is 80 hours, this being the shortest time scheduled for any trans-continental train on the continent. It carries first-class sleeping car passengers only, and the schedule is so arranged as to provide for convenient hours of arrival at the different principal points, and gives the Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountain scenery in daylight. A business day is saved on the trans-continental trip, as the businessman has had his breakfast and is ready for business the second morning in Winnipeg, the third morning in Calgary, and the fourth morning in Vancouver.

The Canadian Pacific will this summer have four transcontinental trains each way every day over the mountains. tf-zxv

MAY TAX ONLY ANNEX INCOMES

Intimated Solicitor's Opinion Will Limit City Rate to Incomes.

Firms Will Be Charged At 15-Mill Rate On Business.

It is intimated in city hall circles that when the city solicitor's opinion in regard to the proposal to collect business and income taxes in the annex at the full city rate, is received, it will rule that the changes in force already this year in regard to income taxes are as far as the city can go under the present interpretation of the annex agreement.

Some time ago the question of charging business and income taxpayers in the annex 15 mills or the full rate came up. Dr. Douglass, who raised it, asked that the solicitor's opinion be secured. Another point was whether or not the assessment should be on the basis fixed by the agreement or on the assessment which Mr. Grant has on his books.

It is intimated that Mr. Meredith will set up that the order of the railway board, setting up the annex agreement, says that the land and buildings "shall not be assessed for a greater sum than, etc." Thus the assessment will be whatever such a sum is, and the business tax is based on the assessment. It is said that Mr. Grant's actual assessment cannot be taken as the assessment for business tax, and the one on which the 15-mill rate is levied must be accepted.

As to income, it is stated that the opinion will hold that income taxpayers in the annex will pay but 15 mills. In this regard the city is changing the system whereby an increased return in taxes can be secured, and this, by assessing residents of the city proper, working in the annex, for income ,at their place of residence. However, partners in all annex business will escape, as in this regard, it is pointed out, the act says they shall be assessed at their place of business.

Thus the only gain which can be made in the annex tax battle will be the move already under way by Mr. Grant, to change the place of income assessment to bring large annex salaries earned by city residents under the full tax rate of the city.

CITIZENS HAVE ALREADY PAID $30,000 IN TAXES

Although First Installment Is Not Due Until June 1, Many Are Making Initial Payments.

Though the first installment of the 1922 taxes is not due for three and a half weeks yet, or June 1st, close to $30,000 has already been sent into the tax collector's office, and as the time for making the initial payment draws near, the checks through the mail grow heavier. Saturday saw $9,000 taken in.

Some persons have gained the wrong impression as to the amount of discount they are allowed if they pay their taxes in full on or before the due date of the first installment, with the result that in making out checks for their full taxes some are taking off quite a liberal slict.

The second tax installment is due Aug. 1, and the city allows 1 per cent per month discount. The second installment is due four months after the first and 4 per cent is allowed here, making 6 per cent in all, or, as both the second and third installments are the same, a net discount of 3 per cent. This, Mr. Bell points out on the tax note, is at the rate of 12 per cent per annum. Many of the taxpayers in making out the check take this as meaning that they are allowed 12 per cent, and just slice 12 per cent off their total tax bill.

THE RUGGLES MOTOR Company has filed a suit against the St. Thomas Motor Sales Company asking for the sum of $112.94, alleging the same to be the balance of the purchase money for goods sold and delivered.

Flour Milling Shares Are Advancing

If you read the papers you will have seen that the Shares of Milling Companies have recently shown a steady advance.

The reason for this is the fact that the Flour Milling Industry has come through the greatest period of business depression without affecting its earning powers or reducing its dividend rates.

In the case of the Copeland Flour Mills, Limited, the business since the Mill commenced operations has exceeded all expectations. Orders are far ahead of the expected—the quality of the Flour is excellent and they are milling at a cost per barrel considerably under the original estimate.

All of which helps to make for good dividends on the Common Shares, now being given away as a bonus to buyers of the 8% Preferred Shares.

And, Remember, the Maple Leaf Milling Common Shares which are now worth about $136 each were originally bonus Shares.

Our offering of Copeland Milling 8% Preferred Shares at the present price of $100 with 30% in Common Shares is now largely subscribed. We recommend you to buy soon if you wish to be certain of securing an allotment.

MAY 8.

Taurus, the sign of the Bull, governs this birthdate, and if the Taurus individual will overcome his passion and be honest and truthful to his better nature, he can perform a mighty work. To know the right, yet to dally with the wrong, is the philosophy of death.

Remember that the greatest of all conquests is the conquest of self. Have an open mind for all new discoveries of human progress and hope and you can have at your command, vast intellectual power.

A union between the Taurus born and those born in Capricorn, is apt to prove harmonious, and the children of these signs, will be physically strong and robust.

SEIZE WHISKEY LEFT IN GARAGE

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, May 7.—While P. C. Burgoyne was wending his way around his beat on Friday evening he casually looked into the garage of the Belmont Hotel, owned by William Fraser, and espied a suspicious looking pile of cases. Upon a close examination he found that it was 21 cases of assorted whiskeys. He at once called the police station and informed Acting Chief Donnelly of his find, who at once responded to the call and seized the liquor. Police officials state that Mr. Fraser will be charged with a breach of the O. T. A. in the police court in the near future, and decline to discuss the case.

It is alleged that the liquor was the property of some of the ball players, and that they were storing it in the garage.

Charles Robson, a farmer, was charged yesterday with a breach of the public health act in the police court, County Constable William Taylor having reported that a large horse, dead, had been found on Robson's farm, right near the river, opposite Slingsby's, and that the carcass had not been buried. The farmer explained that the animal was not his, and that it must have been carried there by the flood.

In remanding the case, Magistrate Blake said that County Constable Taylor had proven his case, and that it was now up to the farmer to make a successful defence. So that the farmer could bring witnesses, and prove that the horse was not his, the remand was made until next Wednesday.

Robson was ordered to bury the dead quadruped by the court. This he promised to do. He is to tell that it has been done when he appears next Wednesday.

REPORTS SEEDING WELL ADVANCED

WINNIPEG, May 7.—With ideal weather conditions, wheat seeding in Southern Manitoba has been completed, it was said tonight by J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture. Farmers in the southern part of the province are well on with their oat seeding, he added. Wheat seeding is not so far advanced in the northern districts, but is proceeding satisfactorily, Mr. Evans stated.

SEES NEED FOR SPEED IF LEGISLATURE ENDS JUNE 1

TORONTO, May 7.—All the contentious government measures have now been given first reading in the Ontario Legislature, according to the best information. The sessional menu is substantially that announced from time to time as bills have been brought down, and with the program laid out before them, the conviction in the house is that only by hustling can prorogation come by June 1.

Outside the possibility of the commencement on Tuesday on Premier E. C. Drury's hydro-radial bill, the public accounts committee's sittings should provide the most interesting discussions this week.

T. H. Lennox, K.C., proposes on Tuesday to proceed with his investigations concerning Ontario temperance act enforcement.

CHATHAM, May 6.—The Central Baptist Church, that has stood for so many years at the corner of Wellington and Centre streets, and a well-known landmark, is to be torn down to make way for a modern automobile and tourist service station.

RAIN QUENCHES BAD FOREST FIRES

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 6.—Forest fires which promised yesterday to become serious in the central and southern portions of the province have been stamped out for the time being by the heaviest rain which has occurred in New Brunswick since last autumn. The rain has been general all over the province, according to reports reaching here this morning. While a considerable territory was burned over in the several fires in Sunbury County, and in the southeastern corner of the Parish of St. Mary's, York County, the total loss from fires was not large.

VISITORS LAUD LONDON PARKS

Delegation of St. Catharines Officials Inspect Civic Recreation Grounds.

Party Visiting Various Centers To Study Plagrounds System.

Declaring that they had a reputation of their own to sustain in this respect, and learning, they said, that London was well advanced in its park and playground system, a delegaton of St. Catharines councillors and officials were visitors here Saturday.

"Springbank Park was a revelation to us," commented President Burgoyne of the St. Catharines Horticultural Society, and the remainder of the deputation were of the same accord.

The party included Aldermen E. H. Lancaster, Charles Taylor and J. D. Wright, Superintendent J. M. Cameron of the St. Catharines Cemetery department, H. B. Burgoyne and H. L. Walsh.

As the guests of the public utilities commission, the visitors were entertained at the London Hunt Club preceding their visit to Springbank Park and Thames Park, where the "boys' week" program was in progress. They were greatly impressed with what they saw.

"We came to London," Ald. Lancaster explained, "to see what other cities are doing with regard to parks and playgrounds. We have a reputation to sustain, and we heard that London had made remarkable progress, and that the public was behind the program. We desire the same spirit at home, and came here to see how it is gained."

The representatives from the "Garden City" stated that they have in view identical prospects for Decews Falls, near their city, as prevail at Springbank. They left Saturday night for a brief visit to Kitchener, Galt and Brantford. Before their departure they expressed themselves in the highest terms relative to the general assistance and hospitality rendered them by members of the local commission, Commissioners Jared Vining and T. W. McFarland and E. V. Buchanan, general manager.

Returns To Grand

HARRY TATE.

LONDON audiences will find many new and pleasing features in the new edition of "Hullo Canada," in which Harry Tate returns to the Grand Theatre today.

HARRY TATE TO PRESENT NEW FEATURES AT GRAND

Noted English Comedian Will Include Many Innovations in Farewell Program.

Many new and pleasing features will be found in the new addition of "Hullo Canada," which Harry Tate and Albert de Courville will present at the Grand Theatre Monday and Tuesday. This being their farewell engagement here on their way back to England.

Harry Tate's "Motoring" and "Fishing" skits will be retained in the new edition, owing to the numerous requests which he has received from his admirers on their hearing that he will return to visit them on his way back to England. In addition to these two inimitable characterizations he will present his newest and most humorous satire, "The Critic," the action of which revolves around the doings and conditions in theatrical circles today.

One of the most sensational numbers in the revue will be the famous "Roulette," which caused such a furore in Paris and London last season, as well as "Grandma Days," another surprise guaranteed as a sure cure for the T.B.M. Miss Connie Browning, an ingenue of no mean ability, will help in the presentation of this second edition of "Hullo Canada."

Among those who will be remembered when they played here the last time will be found Deane Tribune, Billy Holland, W. Wania, Henri Rosen, Harry Gibson, Harry Beasley, Ronald Tate, Len Mense, Isobella Dorothy, Marie Dayne and Molly Molteno.

BELLEVILLE YOUTH GETS FREE TOUR

W. Clark, 19, Makes Extended Trip at Expense of Railroad Companies.

SENTENCED IN DETROIT

Will Serve 5 Years For Purloining $52 Found on Store Floor.

From New York to Frisco, and from New Orleans to the Great Lakes as the uninvited guest of the big railroad corporations is the record of William Clark, 19 years old, of Belleville, Ontario, whose migratory career was abruptly terminated Saturday in the Detroit recorder's court, when Judge Thomas M. Cotter sentenced him to the state reformatory at Ionia for from two to five years.

Driven from home at Belleville by alleged cruel treatment accorded him by relatives, the prisoner told Michigan police that he finally ran away to the States. Unfitted for skilled labor, he easily drifted into the ranks of America's huge army of "floaters," and worked for periods ranging from a few hours to a week or so in practically every state in the union, and most of the cities of any size or distinction.

Reaching Detroit a few days ago by fast freight from Ypsilanti, he found employment at a Jefferson avenue chop house when he was subsequently arrested. While mopping the floor the second afternoon he encountered a purse containing $52, which he immediately appropriated, taking no person into his confidence. Although the customer who had dropped the money returned and questioned him concerning the same, he denied all knowledge. The purse was found beneath his shirt when he was taken to police headquarters.

U. C. T. A. INITIATES 32 NEW MEMBERS

City Organization Receives Many Applications For Entrance to Society.

CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Plan To Hold International Picnic at Port Stanley.

Thirty-two candidates were initiated into the United Commercial Travelers' Association at a largely-attended meeting Saturday afternoon. A campaign for new members was waged during April, and through the whole-hearted efforts of the membership committee at the end of the month 50 applications for membership were secured.

The eighteen remaining candidates will be enrolled at the next meeting, June 3.

H. R. Hooper, secretary-treasurer of the organization, stated Sunday that when all the candidates are initiated the membership will reach 150, which is an excellent growth for the one year the association has been in existence. The officers of the association are: Senior counsellor, F. W. St. Lawrence; junior counsellor, W. E. Thorpe; past counsellor, G. W. Price; secretary-treasurer, H. R. Hooper, conductor, R. F. Magee; page, F. F. Oakden; sentinel, G. W. Pulling; executive committee, two years, A. Thompson and O. H. Gidley; one year, F. S. Charters and F. E. Harley.

No further arrangements have been made as yet for the proposed international picnic of the United Travelers' Association, on account of the illness of J. C. Doidge, chairman of the general committee in charge of the arrangements. This picnic will be held at Port Stanley, and members of the association from Buffalo, Cleveland, Toronto, Detroit and other cities will be invited to attend with their bands. The general committee in charge of the picnic plans consists of J. C. Doidge, chairman, O. H. Gidley, W. E. Thorpe, R. F. Magee, G. T. Hair, G. W. Price and F. F. Oakden.

FORMER OXFORD RESIDENT PASSES AT DAWSON CITY

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, May 7.—William Taylor, pioneer prospector, found dead in his cabin in Dawson City on Friday, was a native of these parts. He was 85 years of age, and was born in East Oxford Township, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, who were among the original settlers of Oxford County. For a time he worked on the farm, but when quite a young man the rush to the gold mines of the West began, and he was among the first to leave these parts in search of a fortune. This was about 55 years ago. Little was heard of him until about 20 years ago, when he made his first and only visit to his relatives here. He is survived by three sisters, Misses Jennie, Bessie and Annie Taylor of this city, and one brother, Andrew, of Michigan. The sisters received a telegram Saturday informing them of the death of the brother, together with the information that the Pioneer Association of Dawson City, of whom the deceased was an honored member, has taken charge of the body, and would conduct the burial in that city.

How many perscriptions for intoxicating liquors were issued for the same period in each of the following cities: Ottawa, Guelph, Kitchener, Hamilton, Toronto, Stratford, Windsor and Kingston? What was the total amount of intoxicating liquors sold by the license commission in the same period?"

Official Declares Auditors Will Probably Furnish Report Within 24 Hours.

MONTREAL, May 7.—Auditors at work on the books of the Delorme estate, at the request of the provincial department of justice, Quebec, are within twenty-four hours of making a report of their findings to the deputy minister of justice, Charles Lanctot. This information was given out today by an official in close touch with developments in the Father Delorme case. It has taken three months to examine the books kept by Father Delorme, acting in the capacity of executor at the request of his half-brother, Raoul Delorme, for whose murder the priest is awaiting trial at the June term of the court of king's bench. Authority to look after the estate of the dead student was declared by Father Delorme to be vested in him by Raoul.

The auditors, it has been stated, have had a difficult task allowing for the known expenses indicated by receipts and a just estimate of expenses for which they have no record.
