Has London a juvenile court? The city council says "Yes"; other important civic organizations answer an emphatic, "No." Nobody seems quite sure.

There is a room on Carling street across the road from the police station, which has been rented as quarters for the city's juvenile court, and Magistrate Marshall Graydon is acting as judge.

But this court is not operating under the juvenile deliquency act. It has not received the sanction of Attorney-General Raney, and until it receives that sanction it cannot ction, as an official juvenile court. All this mystery dates back some weeks ago, when local organizations approached the council and demanded that a juvenile court be established. The council replied that they would ask provincial permission for one right away, on condition that Magistrate Graydon were appointed judge. But the attorney-general refused to proclaim the act. He explained that it was "inadvisable at the present time

The rented quarters, however, have never sheen used and at present all youthful delinquents are being tried in a private office of the police court. it cannot be said that the city has a juvenile court at all How did this situation come about? Why did the attorney-general refuse to proclaim the act?

When the council asked for action from the attoreny-general, they insisted that Magistrate Graydon should receive the appointment, and rivic organizations such as the chant per of commerce, Rotary Club, etc., seemed equally in favor of the police magistrate.

Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M. P. P., however, made representations to Mr. Raney that a woman should be warded the post. He opposed Magistrate Graydon's appointment, and others were equally antagonistic.

Raney Compromises. Thus, the attorney-general, caught between two fires, compromised refusing to give permission for the establishment of a court at all.

Board of Education Scores City Fathers for Interference With Plans.

Stray thrusts at the city council of 1922 for their efforts to stop the program of the board of education for this year-outlines of things they hope to do in the coming year-good fellowship and good things to eat, were the highlights in the banquet tendered Friday evening by the Secondary Teachers' Federation of London to the board of education. The event was held in the main diningroom of the Tecumseh House.

The after-dinner speaking was helpful and bright, Teachers told of their hopes and aspirations, of the interest they had in their pupils, and what they were striving to attain. Board of education members paid tribute to the worth of the staff of the schools and expressed a sincere desire to co-operate in every way with the reaching staff in the year 1923. It was, in fact, a fitting close for the work of the year, and a happy opening for the new year's en-deavors. W. A. McWilliams was

He outlined briefly the program that was in the minds of the board of education at the start of the year, but which had been spoiled by a city council that "was noted at that time for economy and efficiency," a remark which brought forth a good-sized laugh. He admitted that he had neither participated in the move for a reduction of salaries nor had he taken part in the vaudeville that followed. The board of education was a spending body, and was elected as such. He urged the board for 1923 to lay out a reasonable program after they had secured their estimates, and then say to other bodies "hands off." When a city council started to dictate on the

There were many speakers, councilmen and men of the city. All of them knew John Cousens, and all spoke of the sterling qualities of heart and hand that had made him an efficient leader and sure friend, the pivot upon which the council turned, and the warm heart that had endeared his fellow-workers to him.

J. C. Elliott, K.C., whose name Dobbin refused for some reason to budge in spite of all the driver's persuasion of voice and whip. Along come the bus, there was a blood-curdling shriek from its siren impatiently demanding the right-of-way, and poor old Dobbin, scared from his passivity, plunged into a youthful stride that required all the strength of his Jehu to check.—A was coupled with the toast of "The Empire," referred briefly to the time when, together with the present warden, he had been associated with warden, he had been associated with the inception of the uplift movement in this county, the credit of which was due, he said, more to Mr. Cousens than to any other one man. Regarding the subject of the toast, he was emphatic as to the great and present difficulties that lay before the empire, but these, he claimed, are the very essence of success if and the man and his bicycle went down in a tangled heap, sliding

"You members of the council," he continued, "have just such another problem on your hands as the great-est legislative bodies in the land. The principle is the very same. Board of Trade Committee To Request City Council To Increase Grant.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, Dec. 9.—It was announced here yesterday that a committee of the local board of trade would wait on the next regular meeting of the city council and also the December meeting of the county council for the purpose of urging these two bodies to increase their grants to the Northern Ontario fire relief committee. The Kitchener council has only granted $500 to the relief of the fire sufferers in the north, and nothing has been granted by the county. The representatives of the board will endeavor to secure substantial grants from both these bodies.

Lambton Council Increases J. Dodd's Salary For Frustrating McMullen Escape.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, Dec. 9.-The Lambto County Council, in session yesterday afternoon, voted a sum of $1,000 to the Ontario fund for the relief of the Haileybury fire sufferers, and also decided to increase the salary of Governor James N. Dodd of the Lambton jail by a sum of $100 a year, in recognition of his courageous ac-tion in preventing the jail escape of Edward McMullen, the convicted Wy-oming bank bandit, in September last.

Inquiries made this afternoon revealed a probable keen contest for the office of reeve of the county in the January elections. Names mentioned include Reeve Fred Jennings of Thedford, Reeve Nicholas Sitter of Bosanquet and Reeve W. E. Parker of Warwick. Council members now claim that a previous unwritten law, that the office of warden be occupied one year by a liberal and that the office of warden be occupied one year by a Liberal and the next by a Conservative, has now been dis-carded and that political affiliations are no longer considered.

Lloyd George, in the First of Thirty Articles for The Advertiser, Replies to Clemen ceau-Denies That England Broke Faith.

"SATAN NOT THROUGH WITH EUROPE"

By DAVID LLOYD GEORGE. (Cabled to The Advertiser.)

London, Dec. 2.—M. Clemenceau, in the remarkable series of speeches he has been delivering in the United States of America, implies a breach of faith on the part of Great Britain in reference to the pact for the guarantee France against the possibility of German aggression.

England has no better friend in the whole of France than M. Clemensau. Throughout a strenuous but consistent career, he has never varied in his friendship for England. Many a time has he been bitterly assailed for that friendship. French journalists are not sparing of innuendo against those they hate. They hate flercely, and they hit recklessly, and M. Clemenceau, a man of scrupulous integrity, at one period in his stormy political life, was charged by certain organs of the Paris press with being in the pay of England. If, therefore, he now does an injustice to Britain... I am convinced it is not from blind hatred of our country, but from temporary forgetfulness of fact. He states the fact with reference to the original pact quite fairly. It was proffered as an answer to those who claimed that the left bank of the Rhipe should be annexed to France.
"The River of Blood."

There was a strong party in France which urged M. Clemenceau to demand that the Rhine should be treated as the natural frontier of their country, and that advantage should be taken of the overwhelming defeat of Germany to extend the boundaries of France for that fateful river. For unknown centuries it has been fought over and across—a veritable river of blood. If French chanvinism had its way this time, the Rhine would within a generation, once more overflow its banks and devastate Europe The most moderate and insidious form this demand took was a proposal that the German provinces on the left bank of the Rhine should remain in French occupation until the treaty had been fulfilled.

That meant forever. That meant forever.

for peace which a far-seeing nature ror of annexing territory which has always been purely German, M. Clemengeau knows full well that Britain has been ready at any time during the last three years, up to a few months ago, to take upon herself the burden of that pact, with or without the United States of America. At Cannes, early this, year, I made a would be a constant source of trouble and anxiety to the French government whilst it would not merely provide an incentive to Germany to revide an incentive to Germany to renew war, but would justify and digney war. ister of France. I was anxious to opean situation and establish real peace from the Urals to the Atlantic seaboard. French suspicions and French apprehensions constituted a serious difficulty in the way of set-tlement and I thought that if it were made clear to France that the whole strength of the British Empire could be depended upon to come to her aid, in event of threatened invasion French opinion would be in a better questions which agitate Europe.

With a great country like France to which the issue of the war ha pation is terminated, will there be a ministry or a series of ministries strong enough to resist the demand put forward without cessation in the French press that the occupation should be made effective?

Upon the answer to these questions, the peace of Europe, the peace of the world, perhaps the life of our civilization, depend.

Aristide Briand was premier of France, and was at Cannes when he hurriedly returned to Paris to meet the crisis brought about by severe criticism of his action in agreeing to meet the Russians at Genoa, and of his agreement with Lloyd George as to the terms of an Anglo-French alliance.

Briand's resignation came with dramatic suddenness in the Chamber of Deputies after it had been thought that he had converted the critics in his cabinet to his viewpoint. All this, however, is leading me away from an examination of M. Clemenceau's suggestion that Britain did not keep faith in the matter of guaranteeing France against German aggression. The offer was definitely renewed at Cannes, and M. Poincare has not accepted it. I have my own opinion as to why he has not done so. Poor Mr. Average Consumer Still Pays Up For Clothes IS PUNCTURE PROOF

But London Merchants Show Most Other Commodities Are Sliding Back to the Days of 1914—One Pessimist Says Twenty Years Yet.

Comparison of living costs in London for 1921-22 with those of 1914 reveal some extraordinary facts and interesting anomalies that have occurred within that period.

Wholesale and retail grocers, clothiers, milliners, druggists and other merchants, interviewed by The Advertiser, were united in stating that no extreme modification of ent prices is anticipated. There however, a slow but nevertheless definite trend toward an approximation of conditions as they existed in 1914. Prices, of course, will never universally return to pre-war figures. What merchants emphasized is that each commodity is gradually assuming its 1914 status. That is to say, they will shortly return to those places in the commercial world which that occupied before the war—to that economic scheme of things which past abnormal conditions virtually destroyed.

tually destroyed. Groceries today are selling at slightly more than 50 per cent. over prices of 1914. Wm. Turnbull, of a wholesale grocers' house, stated that the depreciated value of the dollar, higher duties and taxation, notably the sales tax, accounted for this con-

There are, of course, certain exceptions. Wheat sold at $1.45 a hundred-weight this time eight years ago; potatoes fetched 90 cents a bag, oats $1.03 a cwt., and dressed hogs about $12. These figures are nearly simi-lar to present quotations for the same articles. Sugar is practically the same as in 1914, and but one-third of the price prevalent in 1920. These mmodities, however, are excep-ns, and most grocery lines are above pre-war rates.
Want Tinned Goods.

The popularity of apartment houses has immensely increased demand for packages and tinned goods, although costs have ascended in no greater proportion than in other lines. Luxuries such as olives, lob-ster, anchovies, etc., have registered no large demand, but others such as dates, figs, nuts and sugar are de-sired more than ever. Illustrating this, Mr. Turnbull said that four carloads of Persian dates and two car-loads of Brazil nuts had been consumed in this city within the past onth. In 1914 it would require largely the result of the efficient service which the public has been taught to expect from the grocer. Nowadays we must have cloves from Zanzibar, cinnamon from Japan, figs from Persia, and every corner grocer thousand new desires have been created. That is why the humble laborer of today lives in infinitely greater luxury than did Queen Elizabeth. She did not own a mirror; she had never seen a furnace, and didn't know the meaning of moving pic-tures and telephones."

Consumption of sugar per capita has increased from 50 to 94 pounds in less than ten years, and yet sugar to-day is lower than it has been in four years. In women's garments prices have come down since 1921, as indicated when it is shown that the average price for a woman's dress last year was $45. In 1914 the same dress would fetch $20 to $25. Milliners stated that the workmanship and general quality of modern dresses is inferior to those of the earlier date, when to those of the earlier date, when longer hours and less machinery were in operation.

Clothing men advised that there will likely be no change for some time. In a few years clothing may drop considerably, but it shall not reach 1914 prices this decade any-

It may be said that in almost all lines certain reductions have been made since last year. Few of these have been over 50 per cent., and the majority less than 20 per cent. Men's clothing is the only delinquent, and causes for its obstinacy are said to be high labor costs.

Loan Not the Solution.

Sir Joseph Flavelle has been taken to task by the manager of the provincial savings banks for expressing the opinion that a province should keen out of the banking business, and raise any money needed over its income by the sale of securities.

It would be interesting to know, that cannot be done now by the banks in existence

Dealing in loans to farmers may come as a help to many an agriculturist, but it is not going to be the solution of his trouble.

The ideal state is when the farmer arrives at that place where he does not have to go to the bank as a borrower. An extension of loans is this help becomes an obligation upon maturity. If farmers were getting a profitable price for the things they have to sell, they wouldn't need the provincial bank or any other bank bothering about the length or size of their loans.

An Important Gathering.

J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., is on his way to the annual gathering of that body in Toronto, and along the path he stops to the organization.

There is nothing wrong about members of the U. F. O. themselves would welcome a very clear-cut statement and idea of just where they do stand in regard to political action now and in the future, and understanding with others.

This, of course, brings up a point it in repair. about which there will be some very plain speaking, all of which will not hurt, as a plain statement never beclouded any issue.

One point made by Mr. Morrison than by a provincial body, and that | ments in use on the each riding shall control its own lines." affairs. Mr. Morrison seems to have broadened out a little there, unless he spoils it by insisting that the candidate be none other than a rural resident, in which case he would simply be inviting urban assistance without extending full membership. He further claims that a large provincial organization is not wanted after their own interests. The large provincial organization, to use the words of J. It is as having done something. Action of this sort would give the annual meeting more prestige than days of discussion on political developments. likely or unlikely.

What Is the Next Step?

What is going to be done about the London Street Railway? Ratepayers voted to leave it alone, not by a large margin, but by enough to kill the purchase bylaw. Explanations are numerous for the adverse vote. It might be interesting to recount them, but post-mortems are generally gruesome things and seldom preach sermons we care to listen to.

The Advertiser believes a mistake was made in defeating the purchase avowed intention of ending up in

When that bylaw was first made no person thought of bus lines. Was it the intention of that agreement to allow competition on existing lines by other carriers? One section (51) seems to throw some light on this

"Exclusive right of company, subject to this bylaw-The company are, so far as the council of the corporation have power to grant the same. exclusively authorized to construct, maintain and operate, subject to the conditions and agreements in this bylaw contained, a surface electric street railway on the streets and portions of the streets mentioned in the next preceding section hereof."

Apart from a legal interpretation The manager of the provincial of the phrase, it would appear that bank replies that the new bank is the intent of the agreement in the first place was that the company should have the exclusive right to Bread should be dipped in the soup cent more interest to depositors, and | London where their tracks were laid | swooping motion. and their cars in operation.

Today we have the busses, for the most part on the same streets as the street cars, competing keenly for perhaps, by the reproduction of a traffic. As a general thing a bus specific case, where the new bank seeks to keep slightly ahead of a can perform a service for the farmer street car, and the temper of the public is best shown by the fact that passengers generally take the first thing that comes along, car or bus. The citizens have provided the pavements for the busses, for which they have paid nothing.

Now, has there been a breach of the contract on the part of the railway? The answer comes from sereral different, quite definite sources, going to help for the time being, but and is an emphatic "Yes." In the army and can't discharge them for matter of paving the section between the tracks there are many instances In section 10 of the bylaw 916 it is provided that when it is necessary putting down the revolution. to pave streets "the track allowances shall at the same time that the naving or repaying is being done on the adjoining portions of the street be paved by and at the expense of the company with the like materials." bylaw. As a result of the defeat we have not moved one inch nearer the solution of a very present trouble.

Today we have the street railway company on one hand and the city council, as representatives of the people, on the other. Between them, and forming the only plank for passing from one camp to the other, is the famous bylaw 916. It is not a very desirable or attractive walking to the solution of a very present trouble.

Hon. Charles Stewart has been at Brantford again. Every time he goes to see the Indians he visits the reserve and has his picture taken along with the braves. The Daily Story MARY'S ELOPEMENT.

By H. Irving King.

The only fault you could find with Mary Lisle was that her pretty little head was all cluttered up with rohead was all cluttered up with romance. Henry Wardman, on the other hand, was a matter-of-fact young man to whom life was as devoid of the frills of romance as a problem in Euclid. Romanticism was to him as the fourth dimension—and he did not bother his head about it.

"Henry," said she one evening when they were calmly considering whether to start housekeeping in a city flat or a house in the suburbs.
"Henry, let's clope!"

"Why?" asked the astonished Henry.

Who is going to part us?" said

"Who is going to Henry." "father and Willie Cameron have been having long, secret conferences together of late. Oh, Henry, suppose father should force me to marry Willie Cameron!"

"Nonsense," cried Henry; "your father is trustee of the Cameron o

She cribbed that bodily from the last

She cribbed that bodily from the last novel she had read.

"Great Scott, Mary," said the bewildered Henry, "what in the world are you driving at? We are going to be married in two months, anyway—you set the date yourself. Where'd you get this elopement bug?

"Oh, there! It is just as I have feared!" cried Mary. "You do not love me—oh, my poor broken

When they had finally kissed and made up and the conversation had returned again to normalcy the young man took his leave, expecting to hear no more about elopements, "Just one of Mary's little spells," he thought. But he was mistaken. Mary return to the charge again and again until at last Henry said: "Well perhaps you are right, my dear. Say we do elope—it might not be such a bad idea after all. What date would you suggest for the little adventure" "Oh," faltered Mary. "I don't know about fixing any particular date. Couldn't we just elope?"

"Can't be done," replied Henry, "I have been studying up on this clope-ment business and find there is always a definite date fix for the lover to come under the young lady's window and catch her as she falls window and catch her as she falls down the rope ladder. You don't insist on a high window and rope ladder, though—do you? Your dog Rover bites, and might interfere with my helding the ladder. my holding the ladder steady for chewing my underpinnings during operation. What do you say to a touring car and a flight into country? I know a dandy inn out at Melchester where they serve the best fried chicken in the state. We'll motor out early, stop at the town clerk's office and get our license

"Oh, Henry!" interrupted Mary, "do we have to get a license? That is so commonplace "It is, it is," said the young man,
"but it is one of the many forms of tyranny to which young love is subjected—look at it in that light and it will suit you better. As I was saying—we will be married by some available Melchester parson have your wedding breakfast at the inn while awaiting parental orgiveness. I have to go on to New York tonight on business. back a week from today. Meet me at the drug store down the block at half past nine sharp, the mornof my return.

Henry's brisk, business-like man-ner had a way of denaturing the most romantic proposition. Mary looked doubtful. But when he added: "Now. don't mention this to a soul; it's a dark secret; let anybody suspect and we are lost!"—then Mary brightened up and rewarded his excursion into anticism with many kisses. All the following week Mary with a mysterious and melancholy mien, varied by occasional flashes of high spirits and gayety—and her parents, watching her, put their heads together in whispered conferences. The day and the hour of Mary's elopement arrived; she was at the drugstore on time and there was Henry awaiting her. He assisted her into an expensive touring car, at the wheel of which sat a liveried driver, and away they went: winding through the city streets and at last bowling along the pleasant country roads. A first Mary was all animation and filled with delight in her adventure; began to grow thoughtful, and at last said: "Henry-do you suppose we are doing right?

"Why not?" answered Henry. "It was your own idea, you remember.' "Yes," admitted Mary. "I know it haps we had better not go on. Idon't want to elope any more. Please take me back. "Nonsense," said Henry. "I have ordered the wedding breakfast and secured the parson by telephoneyou wouldn't disarrange everything -would you?"

"Yes, I would!" cried Mary; "please tell him to turn around and girl-and a silly one, too, Henry But in spite of her commands, in spite of her pleadings, and in spite of her tears. Henry stornly insisted upon going on with the elopement. When they finally reached the inn at Melchester, Mary was very redeyed from weeping and very rebel-lious and unromantic as to temperament. She had not spoken to Henry for the last five miles, and when she had addressed him it had been to state emphatically that, as soon as they reached Melchester she should telephone her father that she had been abducted by a villain. But as she ascended the steps of the hotel piazza she stopped in amazement. In comfortable rockand Mrs. Lisle, Mr. and Mrs. Wardman, William Cameron, Mary's most intimate girl friend, Florence Boyd. "Just in time, young folks," cried Mr. Lisle cheerfully. "Here's the parison and the breakfast will be eady by the time we are. present or accounted for ron is best man and Florence is bridesmaid. The old folks all reat idea this of Henry's for a country wedding. How did the touring car run coming out? That's my wedding present, children.

"CANADA'S GREATEST PIANO"

By JAMES C. RAIT.

The season of gift-giving is upon us. Our lists of names of those to whom we wish to express our good wishes are complete, and as we go down these lists the question, "What shall I give?" keeps repeating itself. Each repetition of this question makes the answer harder to find, that is if our gifts are to express truly our good wishes and are to bring pleasure and happiness to those who receive them.

It is a very easy matter to run

This applies to our selection of gifts just as much as anything else: if it's worth our while to give them right. In this way, not only will our gifts be more appropriate and bring more happiness, but our purses will also benefit. They won't be quite so slender after our selections are made.

that is if our gifts are to express truly our good wishes and are to bring pleasure and happiness to those who receive them.

It is a very easy matter to run into the nearest store, pick out the first thing that catches our eye, and without a second thought, purchase it, address it to some dear one or friend, and then "pat ourselves on the back" with the feeling that that's another job done. We may feel we have done our duty, but has it been accomplished satisfactorily?

Gifts Chosen Well.

Gifts Chosen in this manner show little or no real sentiment, and invariably are poor carriers of our expression of good wishes. The gift so chosen may please our eye, it may suit our purse, but—and here's another question that is just as important as the first—"will it fully convey the message of love or friendship we expect of it; will it leave a permanent impression of these good

The electrical store of recent years seems to be endeavoring to find out ways and means to lighten the burden of our wives and mothers who "keep house" for us. Electric washing machines, iron, carpet cleaners, toasters, sewing machines etc., are all ousting the old-fashioned methods. Housekeeping is being remade from an endless drudgery into a pleasant after careful consideration, and we find ourselves next in an Art Store.

It takes fine discrimination to select the right picture or other work of art; our tastes in this differ so greatly. We cannot jump into this store and jump out again if we are to do justice to our selection. I believe it takes even greater care in selecting our art gift than any of the others, due for the most part to our general ignorance on the subject.

Still, the exercise of a little patience and the application of a little patience and the application of a little 'horse sense," and we are bound to find something that is absolutely right, that will bring more joy in its possession to the recipient than any other gift we could conceive. And again we make our selection. Completing our list, we turn our steps homeward with the knowledge of a pleasant task well done, and that on Christmas morn our gifts will tell in no uncertain words the message.

"I think," said he, "that we are in better condition from California to New England than we ever have been. We have better hall clubs, a better spirit of sportsmanship, a better clientele and few failures. Here and there clubs do not meet with sufficient response to enable their owners to maintain them, but that is usually the result of non-success on the part of the team itself. It is the sequel to the lottery of trying to put together a successful ball team. It is very difficult to conduct a successful club in a small city unless the players show considerable measure of success on the field, and where teams are maintained from season to season without much success, it is because usually the owners are willing to keep the club going merely for the love of the game.

"I look forward to splendid results in

A. A. U. of C. Amendment Would Not Allow Holding of Club Executive Positions.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Resolutions Passed Calling For Immediate Start On Olympic Teams.

Montreal, Dec. 8.-Discussion of the roposed amendment to the constituon of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, which had as its aim the exclusion from organizations affiliate with the union, of other than officers and members who are in good standing, was a high light in the opening ing, was a high light in the opening session of the annual meeting of the union here today. Ontario delegates sponsored the proposed amendment as a clause fundamental to the spirit of amateurism — that only recognized amateurs should be members of the executives of the amateur organizations, and that former professionals should be excluded. Strenuous objection was lodged by western delegates, who pointed out that they had received much valuable assistance from ex-professionals and the discussion was aded out that they had received much valuable assistance from ex-professionals, and the discussion was adjourned till tomorrow's session.

W. J. Smith, Toronto, led the battle for the adoption of the amendment and E. G. Murphy, representing the Thunder Bay district, was chief among the opposition.

E. G. Murphy, representing the Thunder Bay district, was chief among the opposition.

Award Souvenirs.

A proposed amendment, also sponsored by the Ontario delegation, suggested that souvenirs might be awarded to amateurs taking part in any team game, but in no case were such scuvenirs to exceed in value $100, and prizes should not be of such nature as to reduce the cost of living of the recipient. This matter was also left over for tomorrow's session.

Further steps towards frustrating the "camouflaged" amateur were taken with the pasisng of an amendment to the constitution preventing employees of any organization competing under the colors of that body, though if good amateur standing they may compete with a club not paying them.

Two proposition of Dominion importance were adopted one empowering the union to take over the control of women's athletics throughout Canada, and the second calling for an immediate organization of the Canadian Olympic committee and an immediate start in preparing a Canadian team.

Lacrosse Coming Back.

The report on lacrosses, given by Secretary Crowe, stated Canada's national summer game was coming back, and they looked forward to a banner year in 1923. With the Mann cup now handed over to the lacrosse authorities, Dominion championship play-offs should be a feature from now on.

Chris H. Goulden, Montreal, in his report for the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, said that for the first time a water polo team would be represented at the Olympic games in 1924.

Dominion play-offs in amateur baseball was assured by W. J. Smith, To-the Royal Canadian Regiment playing the Western Ontario Regiment the first game, and Western University C.O.T.C. who have already decided on Florida game, and Western University C.O.T.C. playing the 1st Hussars in the second game.

There are five teams in the league, and each team will meet the other teams twice during the schedule. Major W. T. Lawless, D. S. O., president of the association, will officiate at the opening ceremonies when the league commences. There is some speculation as to the strength of the various teams, but it is conceded that Western University C.O.T.C. will have a strong line-up. The Machine Gunners should have a good team since they have signed up a large number of the collegiate students. They will be a light team, but they can probably make up for this in speed.

The schedule is as follows:
Dec. 19—R.C.R. vs. W.O.R.; C.O.T.C. vs. 1st Hussars.
Jan. 2—W.O.R. vs. Machine Guns; R.C.R. vs. 1st Hussars.

GALT INTER-COUNTY NOT FORMED FOR 1923 YET

t, Dec. 8.—The Inter-County ue held another meeting here to-but failed to organize. Word League held another meeting here tonight, but failed to organize. Word received from Hamilton was most encouraging for a team to be entered in the inter-county, but it will be a few days before a definite decision will be given. The meeting, after deciding in favor of a six-team organization with five applications now in, Guelph, Kitchener, Galt, Preston and Brantford, adjourned until Friday next.

Jack Dempsey is the heavyweight champion of the ring; Strangler Lewis holds the heavyweight wrestling honors.
What chance would Dempsey have against Lewis in a mixed match? Would the sleep-producing wallop packed by Dempsey prove more effective than the bone-breaking holds of Lewis?
This question has been revived by the recent wire report that Dempsey was not averse to meeting Lewis in a mixed match.
A year ago, when Stanislaus Zbyszko Larks—

A year ago, when Stanislaus Zbyszko was the champion, the argument was raised as to the superiority of the wrestler and boxer if two champions of the same class met in a mixed bout.

The question was put to Dempsey, and Jack's answer was most emphatic.

Easy Picking, Says Jack.

"I'll knock out Zbyszko and a half dezen other champion wrestlers in the same ring on the same ring of the sam dczen other champion wrestiers in the same ring on the same night.

"All that would be necessary for me to trim Zbyszko would be to sink a couple of punches in that bay window of his, cross a couple of right handers to the jaw, and it would be all over.

A good wrestier hasn't a chance with an equally good fighter."

The question of a match with Dempsey and what he thought of his chances was put to Zbyszko.

In a match with Dempsey I would immediately force him to the floor," said Zbyszko. "That would enable me to get my deadly holds working and thereby render Dempsey's best punches far less effective.

The proposed match aroused so much comment, a score of the leading sport writers were asked for their oinions. Only one conceded Zbyszko the margin. Later, the idea was tried out in a half dozen matches between fighters, and wrestlers possessing merely local reputations. In every case the wrestler was victorious was victorious.

A match between Dempsey and Lewis would settle no momentous question, but it would prove mighty interesting while it lasted, regardless of who was the

THE indomitable folk of Northern Ontario deserve your practical sympathy. Remember, eighteen hundred families have been burned out-and must start all over again. These wonderfully rich farms, mines and aggressive young towns will re-build and come back to their own-but it takes time. And in the meanwhile they must live, they must have temporary shelter and there's nobody to give it to them if we don't.

$9.00 will feed a Family for a week. $5.00 will provide Needles, Thread, Buttons, Scissors or Yarn and Knitting Needles, etc. to help outfit a Home and Family. 12. $1.00 will feed and supply a child for a week.

Make Christmas come back again

Picture a Christmas in a nearly bare shack in a burned out town in a Northern winter. Hundreds of children up there, remember. Make a money contribution now and show your northern fellow citizens that the Christmas spirit lives and has a real meaning in Ontario. All they ask is bare necessities—they deserve at least that much.

Now it is up to you every public spirited citizen and charitable organization. Spare one dollar, five dollars, one hundred dollars or whatever you can. Spare something from your Christmas cheer. Make Christmas up there a little less than a grim tragedy. Remember, not comforts, but bare necessities in the grip of a northern winter, is all that they ask. Send today? Make cheques payable to-

Commission Stirs Up

Will the members of the 1923 city council interfere with the present personnel of the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission is a question that must be decided at their question that must be decided at their inaugural gathering in January.

This commission is a selective body, comprising four members, each serving two terms, with two of them retiring at the termination of each

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the o-Electric Power Commission and Percy Moore are the two mem-bers of the L. and P. S. commission whose term of office does not expire until the close of 1923. The only difficulty that may present itself, however, would be whe-ther Philip Pocock and Frank E. Harley, the other commissioners, should be allowed to remain in office until that date or should they be responted or should others be select-

Both men have served but one year on the commission, as they re-placed members who were compelled of the city council of that day— Mayor J. C. Wilson, then alderman, and John Bridge, also a city councillor at the time. As Commissioners Pocock and Harley have actually served but one half of the customary two-year term, the timely question has been asked: "Will the new councillors allow them to finish the term, or wil they direct their resignations, and subsequently re-appoint them, or will choose others to supplement

Incidentally, it is definitely known t the city hall that members of the 1923 council will battle for the pasthe election of the London and Por

"The ratepayers would be surprised to know the truth about how these commissioners are appointed" was the charge hurled from the platform several times in East London by candidates for the council, who subsequently elected and who now freely intimate that "there will be something doing" when this question is again introduced for discussion, as

TIGER NOT DAUNTED

There is nothing to prevent the milk dealers getting together and establishing pasteurization plants or a system of inspection if they wish It is well for the public to re-ember, however, that pasteurized milk should be consumed shortly after delivery, or otherwise it should be kept at a very low temperature. If this is not done, it develops a more virulent form and greater numbers of bacteria than unboiled milk, be cause heating the milk kills not only the bacteria but also the "anti-bodies" which both within and with-out the human system prey upon, the harmful bacteria.

Truly a solemn word of warning is needed, for as sure as the night fol-lows the day, as sure as water runs down-hill, so also a nation that feeds the majority of its children ignorantly is inevitably headed for destruction, and before long its civilization will crumble in the dust. And just as surely a nation sprung from healthy infants will overcome it, be they yellow or white or black. CHARLES LUSH, London.

NEW DISCOVERIES MADE AT KNOSSOS

Illustrate Daily Life, Religion and Sports of Closing Minoan Period.

The chief objectives of the new attack on the palace site of Knossos, a begun in the middle of February and only just concluded, were clearly marked out, writes Sir Arthur Evans in the London Times. By means of indications, followed with singular flair by my foreman, Ali Baritakis, it was possible to trace out the massive lines of an outer bastion by the north entrance, while an early magazine for huge oil jars that came out within this threw a new light on the use of this area as a depot for stores brought into the building by its sea gate. The neighboring northeast house, also rich in evidences of storage, produced an inscribed seal impression of an official who had charge of vessels in precious metals, attack on the palace site of Knoss impression of an official who had charge of vessels in precious metals, while a minute examination of literally thousands of fragments of clay seal impressions from the "treasury" area of the palace itself enabled me to restore a series of types affording new illustrations of the religion, sports and daily life of its closing period.

Below the Minoan paved way that led to the north palace region from the west, the "magazine of the arsenal" was further excavated by means of a deep cutting, and an abundance of bronze arrow-heads and some more inscribed clay tablets brought to light. It was found to overlie an earlier building of the same kind with cist-like cavities for storage in its basement floors. The west porch of the palace, again, afforded a fresh development. Its real inner lines, hitherto encumbered with fallen blocks, showed—opening out of what was clearly a reception area where the priest kings sat in state—a sepwere used in the manner above de-scribed, and horses and bicyclists were tumbling everywhere. Surely, lamentable judgment was displayed by someone in authority. ten, as being inspired by a desire to do good to both horses and mankind was clearly a reception area where the priest kings sat in state—a separate lodge for a warder, a characteristic palatial feature. Interesting evidence, moreover, accumulated that the porch itself had been preceded by a worse arcient entrance "DOCTORS AND BABIES."

Dramatic Finds.

The corridor, with the remains of processional frescoes to which this state entrance, as it existed in later times, gave access, had originally taken a turn east to a propylacum on the south, from which again a broad flight of steps led to the great columnar hall of this section of the palace. Many new evidences of this approach were brought to light by the present investigations, but it was the present investigations, but it was on the north borders of the hall that the most surprising new developments took place. Here the "piano nobile" consisted of an elongated space, approached from the central court by a stanged rection of which court by a stepped portico of which the remains of a second column base now came to light belonging to its uppermost steps. Blocks and slabs, either lodged on the wall-tops or sunk into the basements, showed that the portico had led on the left to a portice had led on the left to a corridor giving on the great hall and on the right to what had been the main staircase of the west palace wing; slightly broader than that of the "domestic quarter" on the east. The elements of reconstruction were The elements or reconstruction were indeed so full that I have been able to restore twelve steps of the first flight, so that, with the upper steps of the portico also completed, the of the portico also completed, the whole has become one of the most prominent features of the site. For the first time we have direct evidence of a second storey to the west wing, and so full are the materials that Mr. F.G. Newton has been able to draw a detailed elevation of this section of the facade, overlooking the central second and bendering the section of the facade, overlooking the central court and bordering the room of the throne.

But the most dramatic revelations came out in the course of further excavation within and about the south east palace angle. Interest on this side was whetted by the reon this side was whetted by the re-sults of the further exploration of a house on the east border of this angle, belonging to the beginning of the late Minoan age. Progressive Party Entitled To Official Leadership.

Toronto. Dec. 8.—A Winnipeg dispatch to The London Advertiser says Right Hon Arthur Weighen is signed.

London, Dec. 9.—Admiral Archibald James Pocklington, who recently died in his 72nd year, was one of last survivors of the Abyssinian expedition of 1867-68 for the punishment of the fierce but able and ambitious chieftain Theodore, who had made prisoners of the British consul and all the Europeans he could seize in his territories. The admiral was a midshipman in the Octavia, screw frigate, the flagship of Commodore Leopold Heath, commanding the East Indies Squadron, who, in addition to the work of his ships, organized a naval brigade for service on shore. Theodore's strong-hold at Magdala was carried by storm on Easter Monday, April 13, 1868, the recalcitrant monarch himself being found dead shot through the head. on Easter Monday, April 15, 1505, the recalcitrant monarch himself being found dead, shot through the head, evidently by his own hand.

Pocklington, who was awarded the Abyssinian medal, was then in his seventeenth year, having been born on June 9, 1851, and having entered the navy when he was thirteen Prothe annual stipend of $10,000 attached thereto.

Robert Forke, M.P., the dispatch continues, is in a different frame of mind than Hon. T. A. Cerar, whose salary as president of the United Grain Growers has more attraction to him than the emolument of the official leadership of his majesty's loyal opposition. Mr. Forke, well aware that he leads the second largest group in the Commons of Canada, will make this fact the basis for his being appointed the official leader of the opposition, thereby depriving the former premier of a notable "plum." Confirmation of the Progressive members.

FORKE'S ATTITUDE.

Winnipeg, Dec. 9.—"I don't see any reason why the official opposition in the federal house should be changed," deolared Robert Forke, M.P., Progressive leader, in a long-distance telephone conversation from Piperstone, Man., with a local newspaper today, regarding the Toronto report that Right Hon. A. Meighen was "in danger of losing the official leader in the federal opposition, with the annual stipend of $10,000 attached thereto."

"We can and always could have claimed this title, our majority over the Conservatives at the last division of the house being fifteen," Mr. Forke said.

Asked whether a meeting of the Progressives would be called to consider the proposed change, Mr. Forke said no meeting was contemplated prior to the session.

ALL OVER LONDON

Family after Family Adopts New Vapor Treatment for Colds

Last winter, for the first time, London druggists introduced here the external vapor treatment for all cold troubles, known as Vicks VapoRub. While this preparation has made a great success in the States, over 17 million jars being used annually, it was new to Canada. Therefore, in order to prove that Croup, Colds, Catarrh, Sore Throat, etc., could be treated externally, each London druggist gave away a dozen packages of Vicks to his customers, with the understanding that each customer would give this new treatment a careful test and report the results.

We are giving below a few reports from London people. Vicks is particularly recommended to mothers with small children because it is externally applied and, therefore, can be used as freely and as often as desired without the harmful effects which frequently accompany much internal dosing.

Six London Experiences

Mrs. Rebert Allan, of 433 William St., London, Ont., writes: "I have used Vicks VapoRub for colds, sore throat, and for a very painful, sore knee. I was so pleased with it, I've told my friends to try Vicks."

Miss Margaret Hooley, of 69 Chesley Ave., London, Ont., says: "I am pleased to say Vicks VapoRub has done me a lot of good, as I am subject to colds in winter. I also found at a great re-lief to my throat when I had tonsilitis. Also my mother finds it good for head-aches. I would not be without it."

Mrs. C. N. Perrin, of 352 Adelaide St., London, Ont., says: "I find Vicks Vapo-Rub everything it is recommended to be. It is surely a good household rem-

Mrs. W. Strong, of Route No. 3, Thedford, Ont., says: "We like Vicks Vapo-Rub and think it is the best thing for a cold in the head. Rub it across the forehead and nose and it soon relieves the cold. It is just splendid."

Mr. C. Phoenix, of 755 Grey St., London, Ont., writes: "I am very pleased to recommend Vicks VapoRub. I am a hunter, trader, and trapper, also a fisherman. I use Vicks VapoRub in place of liniments, because it is very handy to carry, and gives such quick relief for small animal and insect bites, and for chapped hands and lips. My boots would blister my feet, and I rubbed it on them, and it made them just right. When I go trapping next fall I will have pienty of Vicks VapoRub in my kit. I call it the Trapper's Friend. I have not had a cold all winter, and I go out all the time and sometimes stay out all night with my traps."

Mrs. Llly Waghern, of 126 Elliott St., London, Ont., says: "I am pleased to tell you I have never found anything to equal Vicks VapoRuv. My daughter had a terrible cold and sore throat. I rubbed it on her forehead as her head was aching and got her to bed. Next morning she was nearly well. I think it's the best yet for colds or chest trouble, also catarrh in the head, as it loosens up the air passages so quickly."

Absorbed through the Skin-Inhaled as a vapor

Some years ago, a North Carolina druggist discovered a process of combining in salve form the old, timetried remedies for colds-Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine and certain other volatile oils. This remedy, known as Vicks VapoRub, has a double action, both external and internal.

When Vicks is rubbed on over throat and chest, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster. At the same time, its volatile ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat, and inhaled with each breath into the nose, throat and lungs.

This double direct action gives remarkably quick results in any congestion or inflammation of the air passages. Many a cold vanishes over night. Threatened eroup may be avoided by an application at bed-time. Deep, heavy colds are promptly loosened. Melted in a spoon and inhaled, Vicks clears the head instantly.

If you prefer to test Vicks before purchasing, cut out this coupon 6B and mail it to the Vick Chemical Company, 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q., and a free test size package will be sent you promptly.

Life and Character Reading. The governing sign of this date is Sagittarius, the sign of the Archer, and the last sign of the Fire Triplicity. The governing planet is Jupiter, and the birthstone is a dia-mond. The astral colors are red, gold and green.

These people are unwilling to wait for proper times and seasons, and desire to rush through every piece affliction; therefore, Sagittarius peoin their determination to finish what in their determination to finish what they commence.

These people are very decided in everything they do. They frequent-ly jump at conclusions, but manage through adroitness to get out of dif-ficulties. Nearly all of these folks are blunt and outspoken for what they feel is true. Probably you need window sashes, door jams, weather strips, or storm windows put on your home. Why not consult the Want Ads for the Life and Character Reading. DECEMBER 10.

There is a power about people of this birthdate which makes their words strike home, even though the persons addressed are unwilling to admit their correctness. When these words are entirely free from anger and resentment they compel attention, and often reformation; but the impetuosity of those born under this sign is very apt to dim or spoil the effect of the truth.

The governing sign of this date is Sagittarius, the Archer, and the last sign of the Fire Triplicity. The governing planet is Jupiter, and the birthstone is a turquoise. The astral colors are red and green.

These people cannot bear to see suffering, and they will go to any sacrifice to relieve it, but, strangely, it is often repaid by unappreciativeness. DECEMBER 10.

Automobiles are being laid up for the winter months and probably you desire to have yours overhauled be-fore it is put away. The Want Ads will direct you to the best mechanics in the city.

Minister of Highway Declares Elora-Fergus Road Complete For Traffic.

LARGE SEED EXHIBIT

President of Winter Fair Reports Entry List Double That of Toronto.

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, Dec. 9 .- Guelph is once ore connected with the north by means of a direct route, the new concrete highway running between the city-limits and the junction of the Elora and Fergus roads being officially thrown open to traffic today after having been closed all sum-

The honor of declaring the high-way open went to Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public highways, who, with a party of government officials, arrived in the city shortly before 11 o'clock. Met upon his arrival in Guelph by city officials, representa-tives of the chamber of commerce, Guelph Township officials and county councillors, the Hon. Mr. Biggs motored to the entrance of the highway at the city limits where, in the presence of a large gathering, he cut the two white ribbons, which had been stretched across the pavement to take the place of the harrigades. to take the place of the barricades which have held the road closed to vehicular traffic for the past few

There was very little ceremony.

There was very little ceremony in connection with the opening, the only speaker being Ald. F. C. Greenside, who formally thanked Mr. Biggs of behalf of the city, and expressed th pleasure of the citizens of Guelph at feature of this year's show is the exhibit in the seed department, where following an exceptionally fine grain growing year, are to be seen a large and wonderful display of the products of Ontario farms. Alfalfa Prominent. Alfalfa and red clover seed are more prominent than ever before, which fact gives promise to the farmers that they will be able to secure Canadian-grown alfalfa seed, which is considered the best in the world, although hard to get in recent years. Extensive growing of alfalfa and red clover also is an indication that these small seeds are not being ousted entirely by sweet clover. The commercial seed classes are also an attractive display, there being 19 entries of 10 bushels each in oats alone, and almost an equally large entry in barley and potatoes.

POINCARE TO OFFER SETTLEMENT PLAN

French Premier Arrives in British Capital For Conference.

MORATORIUM

Reparations Question To Be Fully Reviewed At London Parley.

London, Dec. 9.-Premier Poincare has come to London to suggest a "reasonable and just" way out of the long-standing reparations problem and he believed that Great Britain in the interest of preservation of the heartedly indorse his suggestions. Such is the view expressed by the French delegation this evening upon its arrival for what the French government believes will be the most important meeting of allied premiers since the armistice was signed. The suggestions of M. Poincare form the basis of the much-heralded plan which the French premier is said to be reserving for the proposed Brussels conference, and their adoppourparlers in the Belgian capital. Demands Guarantees.

Briefly, they are: A two or threeyear moratorium for Germany in recertain definite guarantees, such as the temporary taking over of the mines and forests of Germany and the collection of certain customs as a means of forcing Germany to arry out reforms.

A loan of 100,000,000 gold marks to be used to stabilize the mark under the strict supervision of the reparations commission. There will be continuation of deliveries of coal and wood during the moratorium period. Reduction of the German indemnit

o about 40,000,000,000 gold marks i England cancelled the French debt, or, failing this, an agreement to set or, tailing this, an agreement to set aside for a long term of years all question either of trying to collect this debt of the so-called "reparations bonds." The latter would, in effect, mean a reduction of the indemnity to well under 50,000,000,000 gold marks. old marks..

The Brussels conference, according the French plan, should be called as soon as possible, probably on Dec. 18, so that details of settlement could be worked out before Jan. 15.

Met by British Premier.

M. Poincaire is described as frankly skeptical about the efficacy of his threatened. threatened independent military action in the Ruhr in the event of failure to agree with Great Britain. He is said to be willing to forget about this military action if Premier Bonar Law consents to the imposition of economic guarantees in turn for a moratorium, the guaran-tees to be imposed more as coercive measures than as revenue-producing neasures. Reports have been heard here that the United States might unofficially intimate that she would not ask for payments on the war debt for the duration of any moratorium decided upon, this being the United States contribution to a settlement of the On his arrival in London, M. Poin care was cordially received at the station by Premier Bonar Law. WATFORD CHURCH PLANS

Special to The Advertiser. Watford, Dec. 9.-The members of Trinity Anglican Church are planning big doings for Dec. 19. Early in the evening of that day they will gather at the church for the annual supper of the congregation and Sunday school, after which they will adjourn to the Lyceum, where the Sunday school will put on its Christmas entertainment. The young people are putting in some real strenuous preparation and will undoubtedly have a very enjoyable program in readiness for the double event. In connection with the forthcoming elections for the board of education two of the retiring members have now declared themselves. Dr. George N. Howden has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election, while William Harper announces that he will not be a candidate. Harper has given twelve years of splendid service as a member of the board, and claims that he has earned the right to retire. Other members whose term of office expires at the end of the year have not yet finally declared themselves. The teachers of the Congregational Sunday School at a recent meeting decided not to plan for a Christmas entertainment this year. Instead they propose to provide an additional treat for the scholars in connection with the annual supper of the Sun-day school, which takes place early in the new year. Just what from the special treat will take they are keeping secret at present. BIBLE STUDENTS

IF BACK HURTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Too Much Meat.

No man or woman who eats lots of meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much meat may form uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble. nervousness, constipation, dizziness. sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy from 2 to 3 o'clock for the purpose and take a tablespoonful in a glass of connecting up the city gas lines of water before breakfast for a few to a new main. The main has almost days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes There is no change in the mental irritation, thus often ending bladder

* Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good. Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz, bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

It is a face that reveals an extraordinary alertness rather than depth of thought. Poise and repose are not present to any marked degree.

I have seen Henry Ford at work and at play. I have been with him on occasions when he was facing the ridicule of the world, and again when he was receiving its applause. But ir spite of a long and fairly intimate acquaintance with him, I have not one mental picture of him, as I have already intimated, of which I can say, "This is as he is, or as I know him." His executives came to recognize an outward physical change, such as I have just described, with its corresponding mental attitude, as the signal of a storm—sudden and terrible as those which break over the tropics. As a rule not many days would elapse before the organization would be in the throes of one of its periodical convulsions. And only a Ford man who has gone through them has any idea what these convulsions are like. New policies are set up. Departments are turned inside out and upside down, or altogether done away with.

Henry Ford possesses the most elusive personality of any man I have ever known.

My observation has been that all about him are those who have very slight acquaintance with him, whose contact with him has been very superficial, or who have come in contact with him not at all, but rest their judgment of him on what others say whose first-hand know-ledge is as limited as their own. He has another guess coming who imagines that Henry Ford is a sort of unsophisticated farm and shop product—just a country boy grown to To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active life. should win the right to be well by refreshing their bodies with the new, rich blood of health that so promptly transforms them into healthy, attractive women.

There is no other medicine can supply this rich, red blood so speedily

There is no other medicine can supply this rich, red blood so speedily and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Through this medicine thousands of tired, suffering women have found new health. For example, Mrs. F. Lane, Paris, Ont., says: "A few years ago I was in a badly run down condition. My appetite was poor, I fell off in weight, and could with difficulty do my housework. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good until a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had only taken a few boxes of the pills when I began to feel stronger, and I continued using them until I had taken ten boxes, when I felt as well as ever I did, and had regained my lost weight. My husband and children have also used the pills with good results, and I would advise anyone who is rundown to give them a fair tral."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post-paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medi-cine Co., Brockville, Ont.—Advt.

There rages in him an endless conflict between ideals, emotions and impulses as unlike as day and night—a conflict that at times makes one feel that two personalities are striving within him for mastery, with neither able to win a final decision over the other.

These variations in mental moods and attitudes are generally accompanied by outward changes in physical appearance. Today he stands erect, lithe, agile, full of life, happy as a chilid, and filled with the child spirit of play. Out of his eyes there looks the soul of a genius, a dreamer, an idealist—a soul that is affable, gentle, kindly, and generous to a fault. But tomorrow he may be the opposite. He will have the appearance of a man shrunken by long illness. The shoulders droop and there is a forward slant to the body when he walks as when a man is moving forward on his toes. His face is deeply lined, and the lines are not such as go to make up a kindly, open countenance. The affable, gentle manner has disappeared. There is a light in the eye that reveals a fire burning within altogether unlike that which burned there yesterday. He has the appearance of/a man utterly wearied and exhausted, and yet driven on by a

Why Not Earn Extra Dollars in Your Spare Hours?

Women Everywhere Do It-Making Socks the Auto Knitter Way

Their leisure hours used to be wasted, or spent on fancy work. Now their spare time occupation brings them extra dollars for more clothes and hats, or new comforts and pleasures for the home. Wouldn't you like to turn YOUR spare hours into dollars?

"The Chaque from Terrotis" is eagerly welcomed in hundreds of homes, for it adds many comforts and pleasures that the family income could not buy before it started coming.

EVEN though you may have no L actual need to earn money, how pleasant it would be to do so, wouldn't it? To sit down for a couple of hours in the evening at a light occupation that is really more fascinating than embroidery or crocheting, and to know that every bit of standard work you turn out has a steady, always-ready market waiting for it—that is real satisfaction!

That is the advantage which a host of women, yes and men too, now enjoy because they have learned to make a standard pattern of allwool socks on a handy little homeoperated machine called "The Auto Knitter."

If you too had an Auto Knitter you could turn your spare moments into steady earnings that would rapidly grow into really worth-while sums of money-to be used for clothes, home-furnishings, savings, or any of the hundred-and-one needs and wants that keep presenting themselves-often unexpectedly, when your family income is already strained by regular expenses. When an Auto Knitter owner needs extra money, she simply gets busy making standard socks on her machine, sends a shipment of them to the Auto Knitter Hosiery Company-and in a few days she has the money—in the form of a "cheque from Toronto."

"The cheque from Toronto" is a welcome visitor in thousands of merican homes-and it pays for all sorts of extra comforts, pleasures and little luxuries. This money is used to help pay for new homes—to buy new furniture -to start bank accounts-to help educate children-to pay vacation expenses-to buy vacuum cleaners. kitchen cabinets, washing machines, phonographs and farm machinery - to start mushroom and chicken raising businesses.

Young Wife Makes $115 in Four Months

"The Auto Knitter paid for itself in a short while," writes Mrs. S. H. Bird of Ontario, "and has earned for me the nice Ontario, "and has earned for me the nice little sum of $115.00 clear of the price of the machine in four months. Now I have a start, I intend to save all the money the Auto Knitter brings in, and use it to buy a home of our own and I think it will be grand some day to say that the wonderful little money-making Auto Knitter paid for this, OUR HOME, and it will, for it will knit my spare time into dollars."

Made $325 in Five Months

Mr. Arlington Frazer, who lives in Ontario, had long been trying to find some paying work to do in spare time. Finally he solved the problem by Auto Knitting. Part of his letter follows:

"I have had my machine only five months and made $325.00 with it in my spare time. To anybody in the same circumstances that I was in I would recommend the Auto Knitter to help them out. There is nothing better for home use."

Each Worker Protected By a Contract

You are given a signed 5-year Work Contract, guaranteeing you a market for every pair of standard Olde Tyme Socks you produce, and fixing a definite price which you will be paid for your work, in addition to which you will be furnished with yarn to replace, pound for pound, that which you send us in the form of socks.

You can work as much as you please or as little as you please—and the standard product you complete can be disposed of promptly and profitably to the company. You are not compelled or obligated in any way to send any part or all of your work to the company unless you wish. You can make socks and sell them to your friends, neighbors and local trade. But if you prefer not to canvas or do any selling, then it is always your privilege to send your standard socks to us and receive our fixed rate of payment, together with replacement yarn.

Do You Want A Share of This Money?

Would you like to receive cheques in your mail, paying you for spare time effort at home Would you like to have a portion of this money that is being paid to Auto Knitter workers? Would you like to be one of the successful Auto Knitter owners who have banished their money worries and who have always at hand a means of turning their apare moments into money?

Send for Fact-Stories and Full Information

If you have the slightest desire to earn more money-if you want to turn your spare hours into cash, then send the attached coupon today for full details of our offer, with stories of success telling what others have done and how you can get into the work.

Don't delay. Send the coupon today. Get the facts. Then decide for yourself. You do not want to postpone the day when you can have extra money-so don't postpone sending the coupon. Greek met Greek and there was no tug-of-war. Miss Helen Campbell of the dairy branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture wound up her visit for educational purposes in London on Friday afternoon by ad-dressing a meeting in the London In-stitute of Public Health, under the dressing a meeting in the London Institute of Public Health, under the auspices of the ladies' board of the London Child Welfare Association. Her subject was "The Food Value of Milk." Dr. H. W. Hill, dean of the Institute of Public Health, who has been widely guested of late with re-Institute of Public Health, who has been widely quoted of late with regard to his views on milk as food (and misquoted in some particular instances, according to himself) was present in the audience. There were no fireworks. There was greater peace and accord than prevails at many a prayer meeting. many a prayer meeting.

Miss Campbell was moderate in form for writing letters and how to expression, but very definite in insisting that milk is discontinuous and the human race.

tinctly beneficial to the human race, man, woman and child; is, in fact, one of the best, if not the best food known. This is only true, she added, when the milk is pure and clean. She strongly advocated pasteurization to destroy malicious germs. Answering a likely question before it was asked, she stated with emphasis that milk is just as good food after it is pasteur-ized as before. It deteriorates in no way in food value. It loses only vitamin C soluble in water, which is one of the three classes of vitamins on which scientists have been able to put their hats. Vitamin C, soluble in water, she added, is to be found in so many other foods its presence will not be missed in the milk assembly.

Dr. Hill at the close expressed his warm appreciation of Miss Hill's address and the work she has been do.

"I belonged to a family of seven. I was the smallest of them, and we were never milk drinkers," said the interested inquirer.

"I don't know what you would have been had you taken milk," said Miss Campbell, to the accompaniment of laughter from the audience, laughter in which she herself joined heartily.

Drink Milk, Grow Big.

In her address the speaker made mention of the fact that the Chinese and Japanese, quite sturdy races, scarcely know milk as food. While racial and climatic conditions were always important factors in deter-mining development, Miss Campbell mining development, Miss Campbell would place diet as also of very great importance. "In Japan and China." she said, "the children are fed on mother's milk for a long time before weaning. After that they get very little milk. The Japanese are small, if strong people.

"An interesting fact has been noted in connection, with the Japanese."

in connection with the Japanese in California. More milk is used by them in California, and the second generation is larger physically. So far as the California climate is concerned, it is less stimulating than that of Japan. The Arabs, who have fine physique and fine intelligence, and are a very hardy and aggressive people, use a large measure of milk products in their diet and a moderate amount of meats. They use a large amount of sour milk products. In Sweden, where the people are very hardy, there is said to be one cow for every two people. In Switzerland the proportion of cows is relatively high. An eminent scientist was quoted at this point to the effect that quoted at this point to the effect that wherever dairy animals abound in proportion to the population fine physical development is the result. Herbert Hoover had stated, she added, that milk had proved the greatest weapon for fighting undernourishment in middle Europe.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT—NO. 76.

D'ARIUS the Mede, head of the great Persian Empire, aimed to conquer the Greeks; but first he had made an expedition across the Danube against some more ancient enemies, and had extricated himself with difficulty.
The pleasure and interest had gone out of the European expedition of Darius. He returned to Susa, leaving an army in Thrace, under a trusted general, Megabazus. This Megabazus set himself to the subjugation of Thrace, and among other states which submitted rejuctantly to Darius was a kizgdom which thus comes into our history for the first time, the kingdom of Macedonia, a country inhabited by a people so closely allied to the Greeks that one of its princes had already been allowed to compete and take a prize in the Olympian games.

Darius was disposed to reward Histiaeus by allowing him to build a city for himself in Thrace, but Megabazus had a different opinion of the trustworthiness of Histlaeus, and prevailed upon the king to take him to Susa, and, under the title of councillor, to keep him a prisoner there. Histiaeus was at first flattered by this court position, and then realized its true meaning. The Persian court bored him, and he grew

The twistings and and the defeat of a Greek fleet at the plicated to follow here. It is a dark and intricate story of treacheries, cruelties and hate, in which the death of the wily Histiaeus shines almost cheerfully. The Persian governor of Sardis, through which town he was being taken on his way back to Susa as a prisoner, having much the same opinion of him as Megabazus had, and knowing his ability to humbug Darius, killed him there and then, and sent on the head only to his master.

Cyprus and the Greek islands were dragged into this contest that Histiaeus had stirred up, and at last Athens. Darius realized the error he had madin turning to the right and not to the left when he had crossed the Bosphorus and he now set himself to the conquest of all Greece. He began with islands. Tyre and Sidon were subject to Persia, and ships of the Phoenicians and of the Ionian Greeks provided the Persians with a fleet by means of which one Greek island after another Little Jack was tired of Santa Claus. Little Jack was quite concerned about it, as Santa Claus had always treated him well. Joan said, "I know, I read in a book of a magic carpet. Whenever you stood on it and wished, what you wished would surely come true." So with this the three children went into the cellar, brought an old carpet up into the dining room, and stood on it and wished very hard, but found it would not work; so kept going downstairs and bringing old carpets and rugs until the dining room was very dirty and muddy. They then decided that Santa Claus was the best after all.
